Reds Offer Counter Plan To JFK Ideas

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union sought today to counter President Kennedy's peace appeal with an eight-point program billed as a cure for international tensions.

* That Soviet proposals—mainly a restatement of earlier ones put out by the Kremlin—were submitted to the U.N. Wednesday night with two other memoranda dealing with the nuclear test issue and colonialism.

The eight-point plan, promised by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's policy when he spoke to the General Assembly Tuesday, included such Kremlin favorites as:

A nonaggression pact between the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Warsaw powers, renunciation of use of atomic weapons, withdrawal of foreign troops from alien soil and measures to lessen the danger of surprise attack.

The Soviet Union was beaten decisively Wednesday in its attempt to have the assembly plunge into a disarmament debate without prior consideration by the main political committee. A Soviet proposal for such procedure was defeated 53 to 11 with 29 abstentions. The assembly then voted 69 to 9 with 19 abstentions for the regular procedure of debate in the committee, with recommendations going to the assembly for ratification.

ACTION IDEAS

Kennedy's statement to the United Nations Monday on "general and complete disarmament in a peaceful world" contained several ideas which U.S. officials said could be acted on at once. They included an offer to sign a nuclear test ban treaty.

The Soviet memorandum on nuclear testing ignored this. It repeated Soviet insistence that "under the present conditions its proposal to resolve the question of a nuclear test cessation on the basis of general and complete disarmament is the sole correct and practical suggestion."

The Soviet memorandum on colonialism would set up a U.N. committee to supervise and con-

Cold, Rains Push Across Texas Border

By The Associated Press

Thundershowers hit North-Central Texas early Thursday as lightning cracked in the overcast skies above.

A giant mass of cold air pushed the thundershowers across the Oklahoma-Texas border between Wichita Falls and Paris about 3 a.m. and they continued in a southerly direction about 10 to 15 miles per hour.

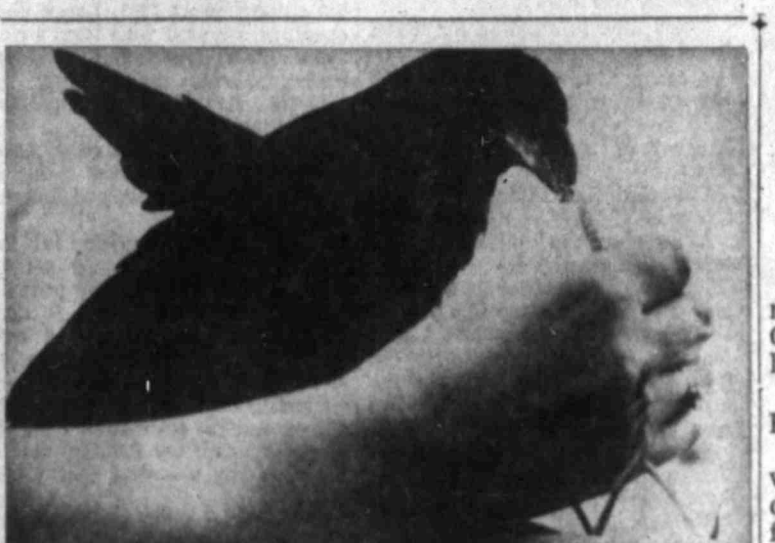

The heaviest shower activity occurred in the Sherman-Denison area where a police dispatcher said there had been a brief but hard rain accompanied by lightning.

The Weather Bureau reported that the cold front had reached a line from near Shreveport, La., to Waco in Central Texas to Alice in South Texas.

Skies in front of the cold mass of air remained generally clear while overcast skies covered the northeast part of the state.

Syrians Revolt Against Nasser

But Negotiations May End Strife

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Army officers in Syria mutinied today in an apparent attempt to break away from Gamal Abdel Nasser's three-year-old United Arab Republic.

Nasser called the revolt more serious than the 1956 British-French-Israeli invasion of Egypt.

A few hours after Damascus radio proclaimed the revolt, a communique broadcast from the Syrian capital indicated opposing military factions might attempt to negotiate.

It said the revolutionary command had met with Field Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer, the Egyptian who commands all U.A.R. forces, and worked out an understanding. Damascus broadcasts said the situation had returned to normal, but did not explain what that meant.

Cairo newscasts ignored the communique, however, leaving in doubt whether anyone had yet gained a victory.

Fighting was reported to have taken place in Damascus streets. Telephone communication with Damascus was cut immediately after the revolt broke out. Gates changed shut at the Lebanese-Syrian border.

The revolt broke out only two days after Abdul Hamid Serraj, a former Syrian intelligence chief with strong man ambitions, broke with Nasser and returned to Damascus from Cairo, where he had been a vice president in the U.A.R. government.

ONLY ONE

His resignation left but one Syrian in a high post in the U.A.R. government, emphasizing Egyptian predominance in the union of the two countries proclaimed in February 1958.

Serraj was reported to have resigned being "kicked upstairs" to the vice presidency last month, because it involved a loss of power in Syria and a corresponding increase in authority for his rival, Amer.

It was not yet clear what role, if any, Serraj played in the revolt.

In what was called a "United Arab Republic broadcast," Damascus radio said the situation returned to normal "because of the wisdom" of Amer and Gen. Gamal Faisal, the Syrian army commander.

With his prestige and authority seriously challenged, President Nasser ordered the 15,000 Egyptian soldiers in Syria to crush the uprising.

Grieving that "Arab blood will be shed by Arabs," he said in a broadcast from Cairo. "It is impossible that I could join the enemies of nationalism and announce the dissolution of the United Arab Republic."

ARRESTED

At one point, the Damascus radio claimed that Amer, Nasser's chief reliance in crushing the revolt, had been arrested in the pre-dawn uprising.

It also declared all ports and airfields had been closed—to prevent reinforcement of the Egyptians—and that the rebels were "fully in control of the situation" in all parts of Syria.

The revolutionaries also claimed the support of the U.A.R. air force commander in Syria and the army commanders in western and southern Syria. Northern tribesmen around Aleppo were reported backing Nasser, however.

Then Damascus radio announced that the revolutionary command had met with Amer and worked out an understanding.

"Military questions have now gone back to their normal course, with reliance and trust in the wisdom of the commander in chief of the armed forces and the commander of the 1st (Syrian) army, about carrying out the objectives of the armed forces and of the United Arab Republic," the communique said.

LUCKY

"We are lucky to achieve the aims of the United Arab Republic armed forces command," the communique added.

The broadcast said the rebels had submitted the problems and aims of the army to Amer who "expressed understanding of the true state of affairs of the army and took adequate measures to solve these problems."

What the problems were was not explained.

Nasser had warned the rebels earlier in a Cairo broadcast that he had issued orders for the 15,000 well-armed Egyptian soldiers in Syria to march on Damascus, the Syrian capital, and stamp out the uprising. Broadcasts from Aleppo in northern Syria said northern Syrian tribes were standing by Nasser.

Swedes Give Dag A King's Funeral

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Sweden today honored Dag Hammarskjold with a solemn ceremony unmatched in pomp for any commoner in this nation's long history.

The bodies of the late United Nations secretary-general and nine others who perished with him in a plane crash in the Congo arrived here escorted by eight jet fighters.

Hammarskjold's saddened countrymen received him with honors usually accorded only to a king who has fallen in battle.

More than 300 soldiers paraded. A 43-man army band played the royal death march at Stockholm's Bromma Airport, the airport from which Hammarskjold departed with a solemn ceremony to take up his post at the United Nations.

As the band started playing with muffled drums, Hammarskjold's coffin was carried from a hangar and placed on a catafalque in the center of a square formed by soldiers and Red Cross personnel standing at attention.

A chilly breeze fluttered the flags of five nations—the United States, Sweden, Haiti, Canada and Ireland. Those are the countries of the other victims of the plane crash that took Hammarskjold's life.

Twenty-one Swedish soldiers carrying blue and yellow Swedish flags and the United Nations banner formed the background as the coffins of the other victims were carried to other catafalques wrapped in the flags of their countries.

Ambassador Johan Beck-Fris placed on each of the coffins a green wreath with a blue and yellow ribbon—the monogram of the Swedish king. That was a tribute by the royal family to the victims of the Ndola crash, which killed eight other Swedes besides Hammarskjold, three Americans, one Canadian, one Irishman, one Haitian and one Swiss. Five of the coffins of Swedish victims were delivered in Malmö, hometown of the crew of the Hammarskjold plane.

Premier Tage Erlander put a large green wreath with white lilies on the coffins of Hammarskjold and the other victims.

A state funeral for Hammarskjold will be held Friday at the ancient university town of Uppsala. The ritual follows that reserved for Swedish royalty and never accorded to a commoner in this century.

3 Guardsmen Fail Physicals

Three of the original 81 National Guardsmen of Battery A, 3rd Artillery Howitzer Battalion, 132nd Artillery of the 49th Armored Division, failed to pass their physical examinations, according to Capt. Dewie Stevenson, commander.

Two of the men are from Big Spring and another is from Colorado City.

There have been four requests for deferment from duty and the status of these requests should be known before Oct. 15.

Orders placing the unit on active duty have been received, according to Capt. Stevenson, but they are blanket orders and not the individual orders expected.

The men will go on duty Oct. 15 and are expected to remain in Big Spring about 10 days before they leave for Fort Polk, La. While here they will have the option of billeting at the Army or in their homes, Capt. Stevenson said.

Next scheduled meeting is Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Army. The Guardsmen will participate in regularly scheduled training.

Football Ticket Sales Booming

Ticket sales for the Big Spring-Sweetwater football game here Friday night are booming.

Don Crockett of the school business office said 675 adult tickets had been sold at 11 o'clock this morning. The tickets went on sale Wednesday and will remain available to the public at the business office, 602 E. 13th, until 2 p.m. Friday.

Crockett also stated that the entire middle section of the east stands at Memorial Stadium, representing 1,134 seats, had been made available to the Sweetwater fans, along with 500 student duals.

The adult tickets are priced at $1.50 each.

Transient Says He Was Beaten

Aubrey Standard, deputy sheriff, is skeptical of a tale told last night by a transient that the latter had been beaten by two Latin-Americans and dumped at the side of US 87.

Standard said that the man, identified as Robert Dan Harp, 33, who claims Amarillo as his home, was picked up seven miles north of town by a truck driver at 9 p.m. Wednesday.

The trucker brought the man to the 87 Truck Stop on Lamesa Drive and police were notified. Because the man said he had been beaten up in the county, Standard answered the call.

The deputy said the man was scratched and cut but not seriously injured. He told Standard that he had been released from the jail at Post Wednesday morning and had made his way to Big Spring. Later, he said, he obtained some money and bought some wine.

He caught a ride, he said, with two Latin-Americans and he claimed they attacked him and threw him out of their car.

"We patched him up with band-aids and left him in the Salvation Army citadel for the night," Standard said. "He was too vague on details for us to do any further investigating."

Street Damage Being Repaired

Reports of street damage following Sunday's heavy rainfall, included a section of North Ohio, one block south of North Twelfth needing flares at night, and a section of Birdwell Lane between Third and Fourth sinking. Both were getting repairs by street crews Tuesday morning.

Work was also scheduled to start Thursday morning on eliminating the flooding on Wason Drive at the main entrance to the Lloyd Curley's addition. W. D. Caldwell reported to the city manager, A. K. Steinheimer, Thursday morning that it would take him about two days to complete the work.

The lieutenant turned in a perfect score on simulated "kills" during the month; he would have destroyed every aircraft intercepted by him in combat.

The award is a part of the pilot incentive program involving aircraft recognition, emergency procedures, aircraft and air defense tests and the scores on intercepts and kills during training.

Lt. Van Steenberg has more than 600 hours in fighter aircraft, and holds the ADC rating of "Skilled Pilot."

Freedom Forum Planning Set

James Capc, chairman of the Jaycee Freedom Forum Committee, said Thursday morning that 57 people had been invited to the meeting.

"The Brownfield men took an active part in staging a forum there recently and will meet with us to work out plans," Capc said. "Their aid in steering us away from any errors they may have made at Brownfield will be invaluable to us in planning our own Forum. They can also tell us what success they had with their own planning."

Governors Elect Tennessee At Conference End

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Southern governors have elected Tennessee's Buford Ellington as their conference chairman and ended one of their most harmonious meetings in years.

Ellington, who succeeded Gov. Price Daniel of Texas, termed the four-day conference "one of the busiest we've ever had, as far as work is concerned."

Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus was named vice president, after he averted a floor fight for the chairmanship by asking that his nomination for the top post be withdrawn. "Let's not make this conference an arena of conflict," he said.

The governors accepted an invitation from Gov. Farris Bryant to hold their 28th annual conference in Florida next year.

The resolutions adopted by the conference were routine and non-controversial. They called for greater protection to Southern industry from foreign imports, more selectivity in industry recruiting and greater stress on civil defense.

Ellington was elected governor of Tennessee in 1958 following a campaign in which he described himself as "an old-fashioned segregationist" and a conservative.

In the three years since, he has moved closer to the view of Southern moderates.

A close personal friend of Vice President Lyndon Johnson, Ellington is a strong advocate of federal aid to education and similar forms of federal assistance to the states.

Galaxie Gives Appearance of Actual Motion

Galaxie gives the appearance of actual motion to its unmistakable classic Ford lines. This appearance of movement is emphasized in the recessed Thunderbird-like rear window, and in the forward thrust of the roof itself.

While the new Galaxie is slightly shorter and fractionally narrower than the 1961 model, the large passenger compartment is the same size as 1961. Large door openings, coupled with Ford's convenient two-position door stops, make entering and leaving the Galaxie an easy and natural movement.

The dimensions and easy steering of the 1962 Galaxie result in greater parking ease and maneuverability.

There are 12 models in the Galaxie and Galaxie 500 series: Galaxie 2-door and 4-door sedans; Galaxie 500 2-door and 4-door sedans and hardtops; a convertible; the 4-door 6-passenger Ranch wagon, 4-door 6- and 9-passenger Country Sedans, and 4-door 6- and 9-passenger Country Squires.

The Falcon Squire is a smart, four-door, six-passenger station wagon with simulated wood exterior trim that imparts a custom-crafted look. Lined oak rails (made of fiberglass) follow the body side contour lines, go around the tail lamps and across the luggage. "Fiberglass planked" walnut-grained paneling appears between the rails.

The Station Bus, Club Wagon and the new Deluxe Club Wagon are versatile "family fun vehicles" designed to carry eight passengers, easily convert to a camping unit, a home on wheels,

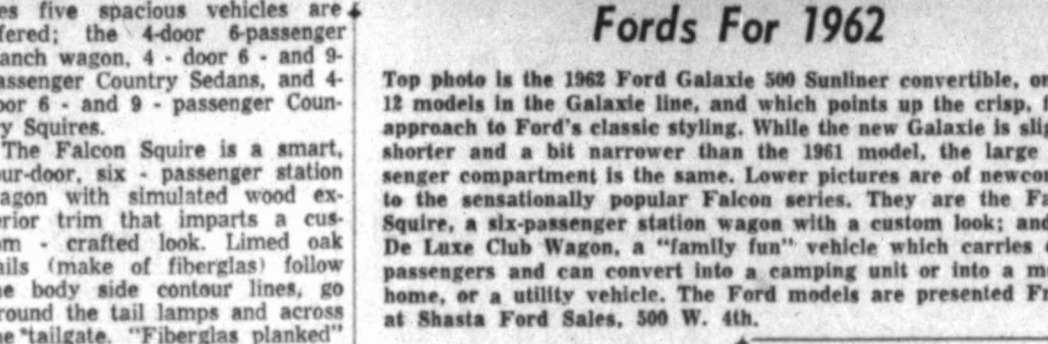

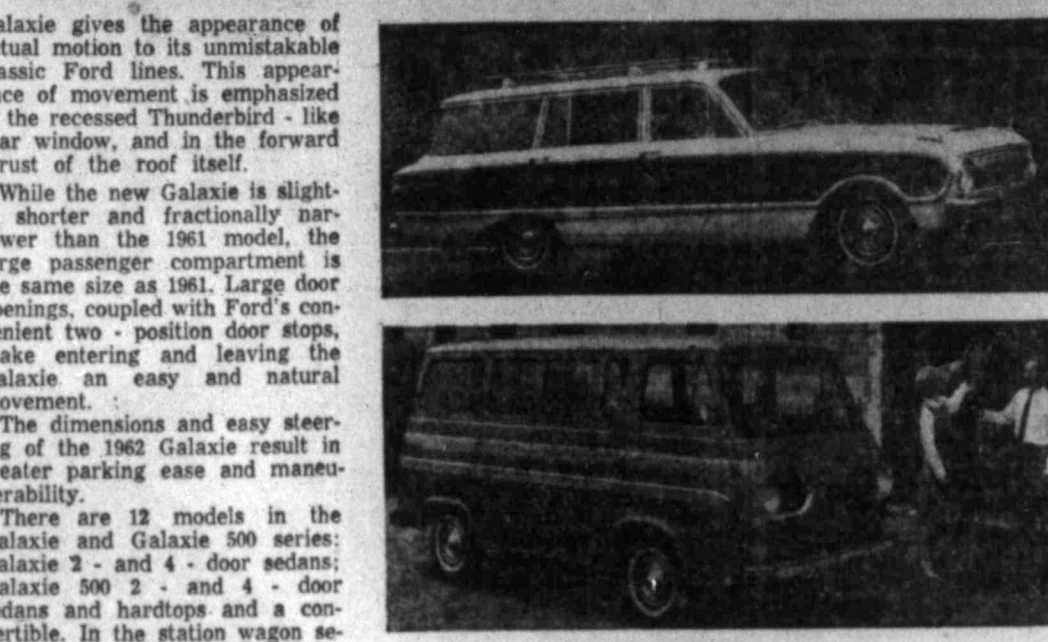

Over 60 engineering improvements have been incorporated into the 1962 models.

Included in the Falcon line of 13 models being offered for 1962 are — standard and deluxe two- and four-door sedans, two-door Futura, standard and deluxe two- and four-door station wagons, four-door Squire station wagon, Station Bus, Club wagon, and Deluxe Club wagon.

Plan Objections

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Newspaper Publishers Association will file objections before the Federal Communications Commission to proposed increased rates for leased wire services.

Top photo is the 1962 Ford Galaxie 500 Sunliner convertible, one of 12 models in the Galaxie line, which points up the crisp, fresh approach to Ford's classic styling. While the new Galaxie is slightly shorter and a bit narrower than the 1961 model, the large passenger compartment is the same. Lower pictures are of newcomers to the sensationally popular Falcon series. They are the Falcon Squire, a six-passenger station wagon with a custom look; and the De Luxe Club Wagon, a "family fun" vehicle which carries eight passengers and can convert into a camping unit or into a mobile home, or a utility vehicle. The Ford models are presented Friday at Shasta Ford Sales, 500 W. 4th.

City Named After Chapel

MISSION, Tex.—This thriving Rio Grande Valley city got its name and beginning from a tiny chapel that still stands and is in daily use.

And around it is a bit of Texas history. For instance, the first orange trees in the valley, brought from Spain through Mexico, were planted within its shadow.

Nestled in a grove of trees between the Rio Grande and a levee, the chapel is on a piece of land willed to the Oblate Fathers of the Catholic Church a hundred years ago by an early settler named Rene Guillard.

Legend has it that the Oblate Fathers built the chapel as they pushed inland up the Rio Grande. On the property they had a store and a ranch house. They raised horses, cattle and goats. Their gardens of grapes, bananas and figs attested to the fertility of the soil.

The fathers called their chapel La Lomita after a nearby little hill. The chapel is of masonry and is 15 by 30 feet. It has a double-door entrance, two shuttered windows on either side and a tiny belfry with a silver-toned bell.

The chapel was once partially destroyed, but was rebuilt by Latin-American families. On its grounds is the grave of Juan Davis Bradburn, the first steamboat impresario of the Rio Grande.

Near the chapel stands St. Peter's Novitiate, an old picturesque structure. It is now used as a finishing school for young priests of the Missionary Society of the Oblate Fathers, one of three such schools in Texas.

And a little way up the Rio Grande is Penitas, one of the oldest towns in Texas. It was the site of a Tejon Indian village as early as 1625. It later was occupied by the Spaniards.

From this humble beginning, Mission has grown to be one of the most progressive cities in the Rio Grande Valley with a population of more than 14,000.

Sgt. Mercer Goes To German Post

While at Webb, he was a member of the NCO Club's board of directors. The Mercers have five children: John, 13, played Little League baseball for three years and was a participant in the Teen-age Bowling League last season.

Damage Suit Lists Auto Accident

Jess Bailey has filed a suit asking $180,682.44 damages of Elza O. Ellington. The petition was lodged in 118th District Court Wednesday.

Both the Monterey and the Comet cars go on display tomorrow at Truman Jones Motor Co., 403 Runnels.

The Monterey this year offers 12 models in the standard and new Custom series. The Monte-reys have been lengthened an inch over last year to 215 1/2 inches, but the wheelbase remains 120 inches.

Both Monterey series will have the "cushion-link" suspension which improves riding comfort by permitting wheels to move rearward as well as upward under road shocks. Both series also make extensive use of body sound-insulation and include a wide variety of engine-transmission combinations.

Items which reduce expenses for operating include:

- Oil change cycle increased from 4,000 to 6,000 miles; Extended-life radiator coolant which normally takes care of anti-freeze protection for two years; New fuel filter with replaceable element good for normal service of 30,000 miles; Chassis pre-lubricated at factory requiring no major grease job for 30,000 miles; Use of regular-grade fuel in all but the highest compression engine.

The most dramatic appearance change in the 1962 Monterey is in the rear view. The styling borrows from the jet age with cone-shaped taillights repositioned on newly designed fender panels.

The front is marked by a new aluminum grille. The roof is four inches longer and extends forward from last year's model to provide better headroom and eyesade. The side appearance is noticeably different in sheet metal lines and trim.

Interiors are restyled with a new instrument panel, new trim materials and colors, and more use of bright-finish metal for such items as turn signal, gear shift lever and control knobs. Electrically operated windshield wipers clear 20 per cent more area.

Additional sound deadening material has been added to the car for quieter performance. Improved mountings where the body and engine are joined to the chassis reduce road vibrations and result in a smoother ride.

A six-cylinder engine with 223-cubic-inch displacement and 138 horsepower offers maximum economy for the standard Mercury Monterey. Overhead valve V-6 engines are: 292 cubic inches with 170 horsepower, 332 cubic inches with 220 horsepower and 390 cubic inches with 300 horsepower.

Nine engine-transmission combinations are available. Manual transmissions are available with all except the 300 horsepower engine. Automatic transmissions are offered with all engines. The dual-range or Multi-Drive Merc-O-Matic is available with all but the six cylinder engine.

There are 12 models in the two Monterey series. Both the standard and Custom series offer four-door sedans, two and four-door hardtops, and six and nine passenger four-door station wagons. The standard series also includes a two-door sedan while the Custom series includes a two-door convertible.

Lost On Mexican Trip? Just Pick Up The Radio

By JACK RUTLEDGE
MEXICO CITY (AP)—You're in the Mexican tropics in your own car, lost on a winding mountain road barren of road signs and service stations for the past 50 miles. You're hungry and it's getting late. What to do?

Just pick up a two-way radio and say: "Hey, Jose, where am I and when do we eat?"

And you'll get an immediate answer over the radio—if you're a member of an experimental new type talkie tour for timid tourists or those who just want to relax and enjoy the landscape without worry.

Called "caravans for fun," the new tour works like this:

No less than 10 or more than 25 cars sign up for the tour, leaving Brownsville, Tex. (and, if successful, other border points later). Each tour has a trained bilingual guide and a mechanic.

When you get to the border, two-way radios are installed in each car. It takes just a few minutes.

The caravan takes off. The guide gives you continual information about the history and customs of the country, points out places of interest.

And at any time you can interrupt him for vital information. The tour is designed to elim-nate worries about whether you are on the right road, where to stop for gas and food, what to do if you have car trouble, and to help you with your Spanish.

The cost is $25 a day per couple, and includes hotels, food, high-test gasoline, car insurance, special parties.

Bob Peacher of Mexico City, an importer-exporter who came here four years ago from Tacoma, Wash., is mainly responsible for the idea, which has spread among businessmen both north and south of the border.

Headquarters is now at the Sandy Retreat Hotel on South Padre Island, Tex., near Brownsville.

If the idea clicks, similar tours may be arranged in reverse—for Mexicans to visit the United States.

Insurance Leader Blasts Statements On Storm Claims

DALLAS (AP)—One of the nation's leading insurance executives has slammed back at Gov. Price Daniel and Sen. Ralph Yarborough for statements made shortly after hurricane Carla passed across Texas.

"Unfortunately, before we were ever given a chance to get down to work, we were greeted by blasts from some of your elected officials in high office," John R. Barry, president of the Corroon & Reynolds group of insurance companies of New York, told Dallas Downtown Rotarians Wednesday.

"These blasts were the typical political blasts. They were unwarranted. They were unnecessary. And the timing of them was unfortunate. They added to our burden, and I'm afraid they will add unnecessarily to the problems of the insured."

Barry did not identify either the governor or the senator in his speech, but insurance industry officials named them afterward as the officials to whom he referred.

Daniel issued a statement Sept. 15 warning insurance adjusters and companies that he would ask the State Board of Insurance to check any reports of "fine print exceptions" being used to escape or reduce payment of hurricane and windstorm losses.

Dallas insurance men said Yarborough had been quoted as saying he would see to it that Carla victims were not treated unfairly by the insurance companies or he would help them find the services of a lawyer.

Focus On Health

By The Associated Press
Danger at home for unwatched children, marrying cousins in Japan, and the great American sick call are subjects for focus on health:

Danger At Home

Mother, if you're holding down a job and have young children at home, beware!

A study shows that children of working mothers are more likely to become accidentally poisoned by swallowing drugs, cosmetics, insecticides or other dangerous household chemicals. In over 400 cases, 80 per cent involved children of working mothers.

Other findings: peak age of danger was 29 months. Boys were more often the victims than girls. Aspirin and other drugs were the poison agents in two-thirds of the cases. Peak danger hours were between 10 a.m. and noon, between 3 and 5 p.m. Danger areas were the kitchen, bedroom and the bathroom.

Kissing Cousins

Is there danger for offspring of marriages between first or second cousins?

University of Michigan geneticists have made a study of such blood line marriages in Japan. They say, "While we are not recommending that you marry your cousin, in Japan, at least, the results are not as bad as people thought." The study, growing out of earlier work with atomic bomb victims in Hiroshima and Nagasaki, traced the death rates of children from blood line marriages.

Sick Call

The average American lost 16 days from work or other usual activity due to illness or injury in the year ended June 30, 1960.

Six of those days were spent in bed, the U.S. Public Health Service reports. Geographically, the lowest number of lost days were reported in the north central United States, the most in the South. Women lost more time than men. The higher income groups lost less time than the low income groups.

Ounce Of Prevention

With fall and cold winter weather coming on, public health experts advise you to have your heating units checked to minimize the danger of leaking carbon monoxide.

Carbon monoxide, which smothers from within by taking the place of needed oxygen in your blood is also produced by automobile engines or any fuel-burning device.

For safety, the Connecticut State Department of Health warns: Always keep a car window open if your engine is running. Don't run your auto engine in the garage with the garage door closed. Have the exhaust system checked for leaks.

Rusk Still In Dark Over Soviets' Berlin Intentions

NEW YORK (AP)—Seven days and two meetings after the start of his talks with Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, Secretary of State Dean Rusk does not know whether the Soviet government has any intention of negotiating a compromise settlement of the Berlin crisis.

But he still hopes to find out and will make another attempt Saturday morning.

CLASSIC GAME

Gromyko for his part appears to be playing the classic game of Soviet diplomacy. In private talks he is sticking to the hard line of public statements by Premier Khrushchev for a change in the status of West Berlin. If he intends to give ground in order to get agreement on negotiations, he is expected to wait as long as possible while pressing Rusk for all possible concessions.

It is now apparent that both Rusk and Gromyko are as interested in sounding each other out on the results of possible negotiations as they are in finding a formula to get negotiations started. Rusk wants to know, for example, what guarantees Khrushchev means to offer when he talks of "guaranteed access" to West Berlin after he signs a peace treaty with Communist East Germany.

Gromyko evidently is trying to determine whether the Western powers can be pressured into modifying their Berlin stand to accommodate some or all of Khrushchev's demands.

The two men first met a week ago when Rusk invited Gromyko to lunch. They talked for 4½ hours. They met a second time Wednesday when Rusk went to lunch with Gromyko at Soviet headquarters in a brick and stone mansion on Park Avenue. They were together four hours.

GOOD TALK

When Rusk emerged, accompanied by Gromyko, he said the two had a "very good lunch and a very good talk." He declined to say whether any progress had been made toward agreeing on negotiations, saying only: "We'll see." Both men, who appeared relaxed and smiling, said they had

Nixon To Enter Governor's Race

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Richard M. Nixon's decision to run for governor of California in 1962—and not seek the presidency in 1964—provided all the makings today for a slambang campaign.

The 48-year-old Republican who just missed the White House last year set a militant tone in his long-awaited announcement on Wednesday night. But so did his opponents, both Democratic and Republican.

Nixon sized up Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown as "that amiable but bungling man." He promised a campaign that would "beat Pat Brown to a pulp."

"The government, that State House in Sacramento, is in a mess and somebody has to clean it up," he told a televised news conference.

Stung by a question on his personal finances, Nixon said he had been threatened and warned that "every dead cat and every old story would be thrown up and used against me."

WON'T SCARE

"Let me just say that nobody is going to frighten me. Nobody is going to drive me out of this contest."

Accepting Nixon's challenge, Brown declared his candidacy would galvanize majority Democrats into "a fighting crusade." Democrats held a 1.4-million lead in registration.

"I welcome the opportunity to confront Richard Nixon in a campaign that once and for all will retire him to private life," Brown said in a press statement.

The governor said Nixon's announcement "means simply that he will be a candidate for president again in 1964"—midway in the four-year state term.

Nixon said flatly, "I shall not seek the presidency in 1964," but he did not absolutely remove himself from another try.

He was asked whether he would make a Sherman-like statement that if nominated again in 1964 he would not accept.

NOT CANDIDATE

His reply: "This is the Nixon statement. It means just what it says. I shall not be a candidate in 1964 and I know that the people of America will take me at my word."

There was no immediate response from national GOP leaders to Nixon's decision to seek the governorship.

State Republican leaders, openly backing Nixon over three other announced GOP candidates, were plainly jubilant that he had agreed to run. But they faced the prospect of intraparty strife over the gubernatorial nomination.

Former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight gave notice he's in the GOP race to stay. So did the Assembly minority leader, Joseph C. Shell of Los Angeles. The fourth candidate, former Lt. Gov. Harold J. Powers, was unavailable for comment.

Knight, who gave way to former Sen. William F. Knowland's Nixon-supported candidacy and withdrew from the race for governor in 1958, gave this advice to Democrats in a televised interview: Register Republican next year so you can vote against Nixon in the June primary.

NO CROSS-FILING

California will be able to vote only for their own party candidates in that primary for the first time in modern history. Cross-filing, which allowed office-seekers to run on both tickets, was repealed by the 1959 Democratic legislature.

Nixon, brisk and confident and nattily in an all-blue ensemble, told newsmen that he actually didn't decide until Tuesday night that he would go after the $40,000-a-year state job.

Only five people knew of his plans in advance, he said. They were his wife Pat, daughters Julie, 13, and Tricia, 15; former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Kyle Palmer, retiring political editor of the Los Angeles Times.

Nixon opened the news conference with a 10-minute statement in which he struck hard at Gov. Brown and his Democratic administration.

"California needs a new governor," he said. "It needs a new leader."

RESTIVE

Nixon said that after 14 years as a California congressman (1946-50) and senator (1950-52), then vice president of the United States, he found himself restive

Here's everything a car fancier could want. Fresh-minted style that comes to a climax in the sportiest sport coupe you've seen yet. A road-gentling Jet-smooth ride. A new choice of V8 skedaddle. Rich Body by Fisher interiors. Beauty that's specially built to stay beautiful. Here in '62 is more than ever to please you from the make that pleases most people.

If you've wondered what owning an expensive car is like, here's where you find out—without the expense. Check it over from its clean-thrusting prow to its rakish rear deck. Look inside the deep-well trunk and imagine the mountain of gear it'll gobble. Step through one of those wide-opening doors and plump down on a seat the size of a sofa. Then—head for the open highway. That sittin'-on-satin feeling you get is Chevrolet's famous Jet-smooth ride at work—with a pliant Full Coil spring cushioning at each wheel. The standard six and V8 are triggered to do special things on regular gas, and for real hair-trigger reflexes you have a choice of four optional-at-extra-cost V8's with output all the way up to 409 hp. ■ Hard-working helpers (like the new steel front fender underskirts that provide extra protection against flying stones and corrosive salt) give this '62 its built-for-keeps beauty. Even the heater and defroster come as standard equipment this year. This is the kind of car that will make you feel luxurious all over, and your Chevrolet dealer will be only too happy to show you how easy it is to have one of your own.

Corvair Monza Club Coupe

THE '62 CORVAIR MONZA

The car that puts sport in the driver's seat!

If you want to get a road-relishing run for your money (while neatly ducking a big run on your bank account), you've come to the right place. Step right up and meet the latest version of the car that's proved its mettle in the fiercest competition going—'62 Corvair. Bigger new brakes team up with Corvair's renowned rear-engine traction for just about the surest footed going on the road. A new Monza Station Wagon makes its debut—and you can have bucket seats* in it up front if you like. And all models sport freshly tailored upholstery inside matched by sassy new styling accents outside. Yet Corvair is still as sparing as ever on gas—and an absolute teetotaler when it comes to things like antifreeze!

This jim-dandy's got the stuff that drivers dote on. ■ Backstage you have a standard aluminum air-cooled engine that turns up 80 hp. (or if you like more razzamatazz, one that uncorks 102 hp.*). Then for lading out the power just the way you want it, you can pick from a 3-speed Synchro-Mesh transmission, a 4-speed* or Corvair Powerglide.* ■ Sure enough, there's independent suspension on all four wheels to keep the ride as amiable as ever. And there are refined brakes with more lining surface for clean on-the-spot stops. Inside, you'll see that some smart-looking things have happened. And you'll also find a heater and defroster, cigarette lighter, dual sunshades, front-door armrests and automatic choke as standard equipment on the 500 Coupe, 700 Coupe and Sedan, Monza Coupe and Sedan, Monza and 700 Station Wagons. ■ There are lots of reasons for liking what's new—and tried and true—in the '62 Corvair. And your dealer's eager to tick 'em off for you. *Optional at extra cost.

Chevy II 500 2-Door Sedan—sensibility at its Sunday best

HERE'S THE NEW CHEVY II

It's the car just about everybody's been trying to build. But it remained for Chevrolet—the make more people depend on—to build it the way it should be built. Here are all solid, time-tested virtues you know you can count on from all the Chevrolet family—plus some surprises you've never seen on any car before. A full line of saucy new-size models, each built a new way for easier service and maintenance. Thrifty? Choice of a frugal 4- or spunky 6-cylinder engine (in most models). Roomy? Sedans seat six solid citizens, bag and baggage. Easy to drive? Just wrap your hands around the wheel and boss this one around for a little while. Price? That's one of the most pleasant surprises of them all!

This plucky new Chevy II comes about as close as a car can to perpetual motion. Beneath that fetching, fresh-shaped bonnet you'll find the kind of long-lived dependability that has always been Chevrolet's special stock in trade—a frugal 4- or a satiny 6-cylinder engine. ■ All nine models (station wagons, a hardtop, even a convertible will soon be available in the lineup) are designed to save you money and service. Major front-end sections, including fenders, bolt on for easy replacement in case of damage. More savings: The heater and defroster are yours as standard equipment. And every Chevy II rides on tough, durable—but ever-so-gentle—Mono-Plate rear springs that flex as a single unit, eliminating the friction of old-fashioned multi-leaf springs. ■ Maneuverable and sensibly sized as this Chevy II is, it gives you the kind of passenger and packing room that'll make many a "big" car wonder how it's done. Yet the price is just as sensible as the car itself, as a few well-spent moments with your dealer will convince you.

See the '62 Chevrolets, the new Chevy II's and '62 Corvairs at your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's

Indians Had 1st Missiles

By JAMES W. ALTGENS
DALLAS, (AP) — The principles followed in developing modern guided missiles may have been discovered by Indians before the time of Christ, a Dallas archaeologist says.

Lloyd Harper, 59, a member of the Dallas Archeological Society, drew this conclusion from an intensive study of Indian arrowheads, of which he has a catalogued collection of about 10,000. In addition, he has about 5,000 Indian artifacts of fossils, rocks, beads and other articles.

"I am not a relic collector," explains Harper, who also is a book shop owner and retired minister.

"Preserving information about the artifacts is the most important part of collecting these items," he added. "This is the work of an archaeologist. A relic collector is one who collects an article just as it strikes his fancy; its history is not important."

Some Indian tribes, by their nature, were nomadic warriors. Some were peace-loving farmers. This is not to say that any one of them wouldn't fight. However, the warrior tribes, in order to conquer their foe, obviously had to use the best and most modern weapons they could forge.

Harper continues to study the Indians in the era before Christ, the Indians—warriors and farmers alike—thrust their arrowhead spears by hand. Later, warriors fashioned a thong device for launching bola stones (shaped like a builder's plumb) at the enemy. This weapon is described as a kind of missile weapon consisting of balls of stone, iron, etc., attached to the ends of a thong or cord, used for hurling at and entangling an animal or human being. This weapon was later improved to become what we know as a sling shot.

This was probably the beginning of a projectile system that has led us to the development of our present day missiles, Harper said. Fighting an animal or foe from a distance held a distinct advantage among the Indians then just as it holds true for civilization today. The new sling projectile gave more force, distance and accuracy than hand-thrown spears.

Harper has been a member of the Dallas Archeological Society for only a short time. Therefore, he said, his contributions to the club have not been extensive. The club, organized in the early 30's, has made a primary study area of the Trinity Basin, and has 175,000 properly identified artifacts from this area.

At present, Harper is spending much of his time studying the flaking of Indian arrowhead points found in the Dallas area. Flaking is the method by which an arrowhead is made.

Indians made these projectiles by pressure and percussion methods. Pressure, applied by a deer antler, for example, was used to shape the stone. Percussion, by

Amateur Archeologist

Lloyd Harper, 59, retired minister, book shop owner and amateur archeologist, has a catalogued collection of 10,000 arrowheads and about 5,000 fossils, rocks, beads and other historic specimens. Harper holds a bison bone found in Yellow Horse Canyon at the Paleo site near Lubbock, estimated to be 9,900 years old. The small items and bottle of beads are recent sample findings from the Tawakoni Indian site in Rains County. Harper lives in Dallas.

do Indians were mostly farmers, but would fight when pressed to do so.

Harper added that he believes it is possible that some day in the future, archeologists may study the remnants of our own missiles in an attempt to understand the culture of our day. However, he points out, if they really want to know more about how and when missiles were created, records will clearly show that the Indians did this first many centuries ago.

Harper also is a member of the Tarant County, South Plains and Texas State Archeological societies and the Oklahoma Anthropological Society.

Cultural values are easy to determine by close inspection of arrowheads, he said. Indian farmers used crude type arrowheads because they didn't have to rely on them. Buffalo hunters and warriors, on the other hand, took pride in their weapons and fashioned the sharpest and most durable arrowhead known in their day. From these arrowhead findings today, an archeologist is able to locate areas where Indian tribes fought and lived.

"Points found in Central Texas are generally better than those found in East Texas; those found in Central Texas appear more war-like too. This is borne out by the fact that the Comanche and Apache Indians, warring tribes, roamed through West and Central Texas. In East Texas, the Caddo Indian points are found. The Cad-

IMMIGRANTS NOT WELCOME

World Changes Bring New Problems To Australians

By HOUSTON HARTE
CANNBERRA, Australia — Our shrinking world appears to add new problems as it attempts to solve the old.

Australia is looked down upon by the over-populated, underfed, poverty-stricken races of ancient Asia and the Malay peninsula. Just across the Torres Strait, 85 miles above Cape York, is Papua, an Australian mandate island. It joins Dutch New Guinea on the east. A hundred islands to the north and east link New Guinea with Asia.

A few months ago the British Commonwealth threw South Africa out of the "Commonwealth Club" over apartheid, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan tried to keep the race matter off the Commonwealth agenda, but the Commonwealth today is down to but three Anglo-Saxon nations, Australia, New Zealand and Canada. The others are six fervent members of the Asian-African block.

Like the United Nations, the white man's liberalism has brought neither security nor friendship nor brotherly love. With Eisenhower at Suez all we did was lose the canal and deprive our French and English Allies of prestige and control of the world's most important waterway. We should have made friends of the Arabs, but what has Nasser and the rest done to us?

A look at the map of the globe shows how close Australia is to South Africa. In the airport at Melbourne the other night they called a plane for Perth and Johannesburg. This caused us to get up and look at the map on the wall. It was no further from Melbourne to Perth than from Perth to Johannesburg. It explained the Oxford-speaking African's presence in the Melbourne airport.

Australia always has been selective in its immigration. It does not want this Anglo-Saxon land to become the melting pot of the Far East. It has no laws which discriminate against anyone on account of race or color or creed. But just try to get into Australia and you will find that even an American tourist must secure a visa to land on this continent.

According to a spokesman of the Department of Immigration here there are no statutes or other laws, nor any publicly available executive regulations which advocate or require exclusion of Orientals or members of the African block from Australia.

There is a clause in the Migration Act of 1958 which tightens the visa regulations making it mandatory to describe the purpose of your stay as well as its length. Persons who do not have such a permit or visa may be excluded from entry by the Department of Immigration. It is generally recognized that Australia uses this method of excluding all those it does not desire to become permanent visitors.

Just now the newspapers are full of stories over the attempt to deport Daru Ben Saris and Jaffa Madunne, two Malaysians who were invited into the country when the pearl industry was thriving in the Darwin area. Peering, as it is called, is no longer profitable and these men are being asked to go home. Petitions have been sent to Canberra asking Prime Minister Menzies to prevent the Immigration Department from deporting these men who have been in Australia 12 years.

There are no public policy statements which refer to white Australians. There is nothing official which says anything about the exclusion of any members of the African-Asian block of nations. The government does take a positive approach advocating the growth of a "homogenous, European population."

Official immigration statistics do not list nationals of Oriental countries who have migrated to Australia. Approximately 4,100 Orientals, 1,700 Chinese and 1,500 Japanese arrived in Australia in 1960 on visits of one kind or another. The largest number came as students. There were approximately 10,000 Asian students including 6,050 Chinese at the close of the year. The rest came for the most part as diplomatic and consular personnel or on business. It is estimated there are a thousand Japanese and Chinese in the country on business all the time.

JAPANESE BUYERS
Japan is buying prebred cattle here. At Keera, the Queensland cattle station, we saw a number of Japanese names on the guest book. Keera had two Japanese "jackroos," that is, students learning the station managing business. In the Australian Hotel in Sydney there were a dozen or more Japs attending the wool auctions. Japan was the largest purchaser of Australian wool in 1960.

Australia is the closest source of raw materials for Japan. It is also a new market for Japanese manufactured goods. Australia considers Japanese trade as a sort of two-edged sword. It wants the market for its raw materials, but Australians do not want to give up the Commonwealth market advantage.

Japan is the best market for Australian coal and iron ore. The 22-year-old provision against the export of iron ore was removed last year, just to take care of Japanese desire for iron. A new iron ore discovery in the Northern Territory has attracted the Japs. They have offered to develop it, provided they get a long-term contract to move the ore to Japan.

TRADE PROBLEMS
Australian newspapers, however, call attention to the fact that by 1970, just eight years away, a great flood of products from Japanese factories will be on the world market, including the Asian markets which Australian manufacturers must penetrate if Australia is to find a market for its own export trade. This places Australia in the dilemma of how to preserve its Anglo-Saxon homogeneity, and at the same time find a market for its raw products, which it fears it might lose if Great Britain joined the European Common Market.

Away off down here where no one has any fear of an atomic bomb, where it is 10,000 miles to New York or Washington and 10,000 miles to Southampton or London, in a continent all its own, Australia no longer can get away from the problems which concern us all. The pressure is not on Canberra yet, but those who labor in its Department of External Affairs know these problems will have to be faced — and not too long hence.

DEAR ABBY

Stop Those Fringe Benefits!

DEAR ABBY: The other day my husband said, "There is nothing wrong with taking a nice girl out for dinner!" This remark was made during an argument we had over his taking his secretary out because he wanted to do "something nice" for her. She receives a good salary and a Christmas bonus check, which I think is enough, don't you? He has also bought her (and her child) birthday gifts. I am not narrow minded, but I don't think all these "extras" are necessary. Am I wrong?

JUST HIS WIFE
DEAR JUST: Your husband's idea is becoming more commonplace. No good has ever come from it. The time to nip such fringe benefits in the bud is NOW!

DEAR ABBY: What do you do when a fellow asks you to dance and, instead of concentrating on his dancing, he carries on a running conversation with you? This happens to me a lot with fellows who ask me to dance just to get acquainted. I like to dance, but I can't dance very well while someone is talking to me.

Would it be rude to tell the boy that, since he asked me to dance, we should dance? Or should I tell him, if he wants to talk, we should sit down.

LIKES TO DANCE
DEAR LIKES: It's a compliment to be asked to "dance" as a way to "get acquainted." If you step on his toes occasionally, he won't mind, just put your best foot forward while you get to know one another better.

DEAR ABBY: Tonight my mother went to an 8:00 p.m. meeting, and my father was scheduled to bowl with his league at 8:30 p.m. At 8:15 p.m. some "friends" "dropped in" unexpectedly. My father just stood up at 8:25 p.m. and told them he was sorry but he had to go bowling. I know they were hurt. My father is a school teacher, and should know how to handle situations like these. Did he handle it right?

THE SON
DEAR SON: He did. People who "drop in" unexpectedly have no right to expect others to change their plans for them.

How can you be sure you're getting a '62?

Don't worry. You couldn't buy a new '61 VW if you wanted to; there are none left.

Besides, there are some sure-fire ways to tell the '62 from any other year. It takes just a little looking. The taillights are half an inch bigger. And the new VW also has a gas gauge. But most of the changes can't be seen. You feel them. VW put new heater outlets both front and rear for more even heating.

Braking takes less pressure. Brake, clutch and steering parts that once needed maintenance, don't any more.

Nothing on the VW can shut better. So VW made a few things stay open better. Doorstops that work. A spring to hold the front hood open.

In all, there are 28 significant changes. But not one of them makes last year's model obsolete.

And that's the way it'll be in '63, too. That's why you should buy a '62 VW now.

House Sniffs At Senate Over 'Trick'

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders have taken a "let 'em holler" attitude toward stormy Senate complaints about the wind-up of the congressional session.

The 1961 session came to a whirlwind—and angry—close early Wednesday morning. The House quit two hours before the Senate, forcing the Senate to go along with every detail in a big money measure. Any change would have killed the bill and forced President Kennedy to call a special session to get the needed funds for several government agencies. House leaders disclaimed any intention of denying the Senate a chance to alter the bill if it wanted to.

"ASSURED"

But they said they had been assured at a conference attended by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and nine members of the Senate Appropriations Committee that the compromise was acceptable and would be passed by the Senate in short order. Mansfield later called the House adjournment outrageous.

"Let's find out whether the House of Representatives can afford the Senate," thundered Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois before the Senate finally passed the measure and adjourned.

Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., told a newsman "they got caught in their own trap."

Cannon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, added: "Mansfield knew all about it. We understood that the Senate would go along with the bill. They knew we were going to quit as soon as we passed it."

UNFORTUNATE

"It's unfortunate," commented Rep. Albert Thomas, D-Tex., the House floor manager of the bill. "All their members on the committee that worked out the compromise were unanimous."

A top House spokesman who didn't want to be identified because of "the comity" between the two branches, said he suspected the cries of anguish from the Senate were the result of "offended dignity more than anything else."

"For years they have called the shots on adjournment," he said. "They have let the House sit around for hours with nothing to do while senators made longwinded speeches before adopting a final adjournment resolution so we could go home. This year we got the jump on them and it apparently has hurt their feeling of superiority."

Off-the-record comment of some House leaders threw another light on the situation, which threatens to make less friendly future relations between the two branches.

DAYS MORE

They suspected that some senators didn't like the compromise and planned to try to reject it and force another Senate-House Conference, which could have kept Congress in session days more.

Three items in the compromise were particularly objectionable to some senators. One made it clear that House members could send free mail to constituents without addressing it to specific individuals. The Senate knocked the item out of the bill originally but it was restored in the compromise agreement.

Another item eliminated more money the senators had voted for their own clerical hire.

The third retained in the bill House language prohibiting Treasury advances, known as back-door spending, to finance the depressed areas program and some housing programs.

Club Money Is Stolen

Autry Moore, treasurer of the Winters Hot Rod Club, reported to police at 11 p.m. Wednesday that $32 of the club's money was taken from his car while parked on the east lot at Big Spring High School. He said he parked the car on the lot about 8:30 a.m. Wednesday, placed the money under the dash and went to school. When he looked for it at 5 p.m. it was missing.

Other reports of theft, vandalism and disturbances included: Boys reported taking flares at Sixth and Owens were throwing rocks at them instead; Big Tex Pipe Co. reported theft of materials and gasoline for the past two weeks.

More boys were reported to be breaking windows in vacant houses on Monticello; boys were throwing rocks at each other on North Aylford.

Disturbances were investigated at the rear of a rent house on the North Side; two girls fighting over a boy friend in front of Casa Grande were later arrested and charged with affray when they fought again in the 400 block of Northwest Third.

Chamber Groups To Hear Springer

Members of the retail committee, the civic development committee and other interested persons will meet today in the Chamber of Commerce conference room to hear Marvin Springer, city planner.

Springer is to discuss parking problems and other items of immediate concern regarding the Master Plan for Big Spring.

The civic development committee met Tuesday but adjourned after informal discussion, until today in order to hear Springer. One of the ideas tossed out for reaction Tuesday was that of converting the rodeo arena into a coliseum.

Members present were Jimmy Piper, Edward Sellers, Tommy Tanner, and Jackie Tibbets. The Den plans to attend the pack meeting tonight at 7:30 in College Heights School.

Georgia Negro Couple Due Good Citizen Honors

TALLAPOOSA, Ga. (AP) — A humble Negro couple born into slavery will be honored as "shining examples of good citizens" in a citywide ceremony Saturday.

Overwhelmed by "all the fuss," are 100-year-old John Collins and his 108-year-old wife, Elizabeth, who modestly claim they aren't worth all of the attention.

But their friends and neighbors in this northwest Georgia town of 4,000 disagree. They plan to be deck the couple in new clothes and take them in an open convertible to the town square for a special ceremony. Another service is planned later at the Mount Sinai Baptist Church, the community's oldest.

Mrs. Collins was born in 1853 as a slave of the Pittman family in Randolph County, Ala. Her husband was born on a nearby plantation. They were married 90 years ago on the Pittman farm and soon after Collins started farming on his own.

As the years passed, Mr. and Mrs. Collins won the respect of all who knew them.

"They have been excellent citizens," said Dr. C. W. Pope, in charge of the ceremonies. Pope retired recently as executive secretary of the Tennessee Baptist Association and returned to his native Tallapoosa.

Explaining why Mayor R. J. Simonton proclaimed "John and Elizabeth Collins Day," Pope said: "We want to honor them because they have been good citizens all of their lives. They are not only an honor to their race, they are an honor to the community. We are proud of them and of the lives they have led."

Police Issue 96 Warrants For Offenders

Police are cracking down on traffic violators who have ignored tickets issued for various offenses in the past two weeks. Ninety-six warrants have been issued since Monday. The failure to appear carries a minimum fine of $5 plus the fine for the violation.

Tickets are still being issued at a stepped-up rate for wrong-side parking and other traffic violations. The wrong-side parking has abated to some extent, the traffic division spokesman said Wednesday, but some who were issued tickets last week continued to come in.

Fines totaling $848 were paid by 139 persons since Monday morning. Sixteen of these, for drunkenness, ran to $400, and 91 for wrong side parking totaled $192. One person was fined $50 for selling beer on Sunday, one $15 for disturbance, and one $25 for vagrancy, totaling $90. The balance of $358 was paid for traffic violations.

Warrants for failure to appear were issued to 48 on unspecified charges. Other warrants were issued for failure to control speed, improper left turn, no valid license plates, 14 with no driver's license, seven for excessive noise, four for running red light, two for following too closely, three for speeding, racing, improper backing, failure to control speed to avoid an accident, permitting unlicensed driver to operate a motor vehicle, expired driver's license, driving on the wrong side of the street, wrong way on one-way street, no operator's license, improper start from stop, and improper change of lanes.

Chevrolet Now Has Three Lines

The wide range of choices offered by Chevrolet in 1962 is hinted in this three-car photo. Pictured to compare the over-all length are (top to bottom), the 150-inch Corvair 4-door sedan; the 152-inch Chevy II 4-door sedan, a newcomer to the line this year; and the Impala sport sedan which measures 209.6 inches. They are representative of 32 passenger car models now in the Chevrolet line. They go on display Friday at Pollard Chevrolet, 1501 E. 4th.

1962 MODELS SHOW FRIDAY

Chevy II Joins Others In Expanded Chevrolet Line

Chevrolet's passenger car line-up for 1962 features extensive restyling and major mechanical changes for its standard models, plus a new complete line of smaller cars to be known as Chevy II. This will bring the company's 1962 passenger car offerings to 32 models — highest in its history — available in Corvair, Corvette, Chevy II and standard Chevrolet lines.

The cars will be on display Friday, and can be seen at Pollard Chevrolet, 1501 E. 4th.

The new Chevy II is larger than the Corvair but smaller than Chevrolet's regular car. Station wagons, a hardtop sport coupe and a convertible are included among nine models in the new line which emphasizes simplicity in styling and maximum functionalism in design.

Although the Chevy II design is basically conventional, it offers new front-mounted four- and six-cylinder engines, integral frame and body construction with bolt-on front end and an industry exclusive in tapered plate rear springs. Both three-speed manual and automatic transmissions will be available.

From a styling standpoint, the standard Chevrolet for 1962 reflects the greatest change, although Corvair models and the Corvette will also feature a number of appearance changes as well as new exterior colors and interiors.

The new standard Chevrolet features a crisp, tailored look. The 1962 models have completely new sheet metal, grille work, bumpers and ornamentation, as well as new exterior colors and restyled interiors. New roof lines for sedans and the Impala sport coupe also highlight the new styling.

A number of mechanical changes and modifications will improve performance, durability and economy of 1962 models.

Among the major changes are a new 327 cu. in. V8 engine, a new weight-saving Powerglide automatic transmission and tires with advanced two-ply design.

The new V8 engine is rated at 250 horsepower. It replaces the 348 cu. in. engine except for use in heavy trucks. Its performance equals the 348, but fuel economy and engine operating efficiency are both improved.

The redesigned Powerglide will be used with the new V8 engine and both the four- and six-cylinder engines of the Chevy II line. Extensive use of aluminum helps save 85 pounds of weight. Heaters and built-in front seat belt anchors are standard equipment on all 1962 Chevrolet cars. A limited slip differential and air-conditioning are also available throughout the line of 32 passenger car models.

Adding to its fresh styling appearance, Corvair will have new twin ornamental grilles in front plus restyled emblems, tail lights, and engine exhaust grille. As a result of the strong popularity of the sporty Monza models, the Corvair 500 station wagon will be replaced by a luxurious Monza station wagon with optional bucket seats.

Corvette for 1962 will display a different look through a new body side cove treatment, as well as new radiator grille and emblems. The higher powered 327 cu. in. V8 engine will replace the 283 cu. in. engine in this popular American sports car.

The new Chevy II, while being slightly larger on the outside than the Corvair, is designed to give passenger car and luggage space more nearly equal that of the standard Chevrolet. The car is 183 inches long and has a 110-inch wheelbase. It is 70.8 inches wide and 55 inches high.

How Do Diplomats Fight? They Don't, Scribe Finds

By SAUL PETT
NEW YORK (AP)—What is a diplomatic luncheon like in the cold war?

It is four hours long. It is half small talk, half big talk and half of the second half is taken up with translation.

The food is good, the wine chilled to perfection and everyone is well-mannered and polite. The tone of their conversation never reflects the fact that both countries involved have rockets with nuclear warheads aimed at each other.

Nobody at a cold-war diplomatic luncheon loses his temper. Nobody raises his voice. Nobody even implies the other man may be a liar although nobody assumes he isn't.

Nobody takes stenographic notes because these are purely informal exploratory talks between two adversaries, but the moment the party breaks up both sides rush back to their offices to record everything they can remember to report to their governments.

It was that way Wednesday when Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet foreign minister, played host to Dean Rusk, U.S. secretary of state, in their continuing talks on the Berlin crisis. Each man had six aides and an interpreter with him.

The scene was the brick home of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations, on Park Avenue and 68th Street, a neighborhood best known for capitalists and psychoanalysts. Across the street stands Hunter College, on the side of which is inscribed in huge block letters the line from Ralph Waldo Emerson: "We are of different opinions at different hours but we always may be said to be at heart on the side of truth."

That's what it says across the street. At the Soviet mission, Gromyko was the first to arrive, in a black Cadillac limousine. He elbowed his way goodnaturedly through newsmen and entering the vestibule discovered three more reporters. Said Gromyko, smiling: "How do you do? I see you penetrated." They were quickly depenetrated.

Others arrive promptly at one, Rusk and the other Americans began to arrive, also in black Cadillacs. Adlai E. Stevenson had some trouble getting in since the Soviet attendants had just slammed the door on photographers and were not immediately convinced this was the U.S. ambassador to the U.N.

Inside, the Americans were led up a broad circular staircase to a reception room, darkly paneled and abounding in overstuffed furniture whose period can be best described as Aunt Martha's hand-me-down—comfortable if not chic.

There was time for one drink, the favorites being orange juice, vodka and cordials, separately. Clowning for cameramen, Gromyko held up three fingers to ward Stevenson, symbolizing the Soviets' troika plan for the U.N.

"Three of a kind are only good in a poker game," said Stevenson. "Then how about three vodkas?" said Gromyko. "I'll take one," said Stevenson.

BOFFO HUMOR

In diplomatic luncheon circles, this is considered boffo humor. Much better than the big chuckle of last week's American lunch for the Soviets wherein it was discovered that Gromyko and Rusk had similar suits.

Gromyko led his guests into a high-ceilinged dining room, where the silverware and china sparkled but the landscape oil paintings on the walls had an inspirational quality usually seen only in chain hotels.

The participants were seated around a round table, places for 14, each including four glasses for water, vodka, white wine, red wine and cognac. For openers the diplomats ate smoked salmon, black caviar, tomatoes and cucumbers.

Thinking of the table as a clock, this was the seating arrangement: Gromyko, the host, at 12 o'clock; Rusk at 11; Charles E. Boylen, special assistant secretary of state, at 1; Valerian A. Zorin, chief Soviet U.N. delegate, at 6; Stevenson at 8; and elsewhere around the table alternating Americans and Soviets, including one interpreter for each side.

BIGGEST LAUGH

There were boxes of Soviet cigarettes on the table, one of which produced the biggest laugh of the lunch. The brand was labeled "Troika," and the box showed three horses pulling a cart.

Said Gromyko to his guests: "You will notice that the horses are all pulling in the same direction." The crack did not quite cover

Den 2 Completes Harvest Plans

Cub Scout Den 2, Pack 14, met in the home of Mrs. O. R. Gilliam, Den Mother, Tuesday afternoon. The meeting opened with the Pledge to the Flag, followed by the singing of America.

Plans were completed for the Harvest Fair to be held at the pack meeting Thursday night. Douglass Brandon, Den Chief, gave a talk on character building and good manners. Games were played and refreshments served by DeWayne Peters, to the 19 Cubs present. The meeting closed with the Living Circle and Cub Scout Promise.

President Kennedy's objection to troika. It was the President who pointed out to the U.N. Monday that three horses might provide one direction but would three drivers?

For more than an hour, the diplomats ate, sipped and made small talk about their home towns, their common experiences in Europe, the weather, noncontroversial aspects of the U.N. and, in one case, professional baseball.

NOT OVERWORKED

The interpreters were not overworked during the light lunch dialogue. Gromyko, in his gentle basso, spoke English with Rusk. Most of the others communicated in English or Russian and when that failed got by in German. It sounded like a seminar at Berlitz.

But once the chit-chat ended and they got down to serious business—Berlin—each side reverted to its own language and used interpreters so that their meanings could be precisely understood. Rusk and Gromyko did most of the talking. They addressed each other as "Mr. Minister" and "Mr. Secretary." Nobody here used first names.

They talked almost two hours, half of this taken up by translation. They talked seriously and took no side tracks into idle diversion or humor. It was completely businesslike, according to an American, but not completely grim or without an occasional smile.

At the close, they shook hands perfunctorily. Gromyko saw Rusk to his car. As newsmen closed in on the sidewalk, Gromyko spread his arms and said, "What you want, boys?" as though he were helpless putty in their hands. He wasn't.

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Donald Soper, ex-president of Britain's Methodist Conference, voiced the suspicion Wednesday that more than half the church members are drinkers.

He said he also has reason to believe that perhaps 30 per cent of Methodist preachers tinkle a bit.

In an article in the church magazine Methodist Recorder Dr. Soper added: "I respect a minister who openly disagrees with teetotalism, and says so to his congregation. What bothers me is the person who keeps his occasional glass to himself."

Fighting Ohio Clan Gave Much To Cause In Civil War

By TOM HENSHAW

A 17-year-old boy, dying on the bloody field of first Bull Run, turned his eyes to an older man and cried: "Father, I will never surrender to a rebel!"

They were the last words of Pvt. Charles M. McCook, 2nd Ohio Regiment, Union Army, a member of the Civil War's fightingest family—the McCooks of Ohio.

When the war was over and the McCooks tallied up their score, they found they had contributed to the Union cause: three major generals, four brigadiers, six lesser officers, one private and a surgeon.

Four were killed in action.

The clan McCook stemmed from one George McCook, a Scotch-Irishman with revolutionary tendencies who fled County Antrim in 1780 a few steps ahead of the English constabulary.

Old Irish rebel George died long before the Civil War broke out, but his stalwart sons and grandsons carried on in the fighting tradition.

Son Daniel, who sired the five sons of the "tribe of John," and who was a physician of note before the war, served as a volunteer surgeon in the Union Army.

Edward, eldest of the "tribe of John," was a major general commanding cavalry during Gen. William T. Sherman's Atlanta campaign.

In his most notable exploit, he led 2,100 men slipped through the enemy lines, destroyed Confederate Gen. John B. Hood's entire transport train of 800 wagons and 3,000 animals and fought their way back, swimming the Chattahoochee River to rejoin Sherman.

John, "tribe of Dan," served at Perryville, Stone River, Chattanooga, Chickamauga and The Wilderness before he was severely wounded. He was a lieutenant colonel at age 19.

Daniel Jr., "tribe of Dan," was a 23-year-old colonel when he was fatally wounded leading his Ohio infantry regiment in a charge up Kennesaw Mountain. He made brigadier before he died.

Alexander, "tribe of Dan," the only West Pointer of the lot, saw action at Perryville, Stone River and Chickamauga as major general commanding the 20th Army Corps.

Anson, "tribe of John," was brevetted a brigadier general for gallant and meritorious service with Sherman during the Atlanta campaign.

Robert, "tribe of Dan," a brigadier general, was wounded at Mill Spring, Ky., in 1862 and killed when Confederate guerrillas fel upon the ambulance that was carrying him from the field.

Of John McCook's other sons, Henry was a lieutenant-chaplain of an Illinois regiment; John J. was a lieutenant in the First Virginia (Union) Volunteers; and Roderick was a naval officer.

Other members of the "tribe of Dan," included: Latimer, a major who died after the war of injuries suffered in the Vicksburg campaign and Sherman's March to the Sea; George, a brigadier general; Edwin, who reached the rank of major general; Charles, the private killed at Bull Run.

Lily Pons Name Missing At Met

NEW YORK (AP)—For the first time in 30 years, Lily Pons' name is missing from the roster of the Metropolitan Opera.

The petite, French coloratura last sang at the Met on Dec. 12, 1930, when she closed a gala benefit show by singing "Caro Nome" from "Rigoletto."

The Met's annual roster was announced Wednesday.

The lovely singer's 30-year reign is a house record for a soprano, although in recent years she has given but one performance a season. In 1959 she missed even one performance because of illness.

Miss Pons' manager says she'll continue to sing "now and then" at something that appeals to her. She will take part in a San Francisco opera gala next week.

Armored Vehicles For GIs In Germany

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army hopes to have its foot soldiers in Germany fully equipped in about five months with armor-protected vehicles designed to move them swiftly and safely into battle zones.

Officials estimated today it will take about 2,000 of these vehicles to outfit the 3rd, 8th, and 24th Infantry Divisions.

Shipment of the latest model M113 troop carriers already has begun and the Army has contracted for speeded-up manufacture of more of them.

The Army long has sought to mechanize its infantry in Europe where the terrain is relatively flat and where a fast moving force has an advantage. The Soviets are known to have mechanized many of their divisions.

The Berlin crisis, and its threat of a U.S.-Soviet clash of arms, has given impetus to the Army's plans for mechanization.

Perhaps two-thirds of the 2,000 personnel carriers will be the modern, aluminum armored M113, the rest the heavier and shorter range M59s. Eventually the Army hopes to replace the older models.

In the past, infantrymen have marched to the front or have been carried-up in trucks affording little or no protection from shell fragments and small arms fire. Also, trucks have had to stay pretty much on roads.

The new troop carriers are not dependent on highways. Their tractor-like treads permit them to strike out across country and keep up with fast traveling tank elements. With such transportation, ground troops are in better position to exploit breakthroughs in enemy lines.

The infantry's fighting still would be done on foot. The carriers would get them to the scene of action much quicker.

The M113 and the older M59 are shielded all around — top, side, front and back. Army experts consider the top protection especially important because it prevents heavy casualties from air bursts of high explosive weapons.

These experts say such carriers would be valuable on a nuclear battlefield. As they explain it, the carriers would give troops a measure of safety from contamination in riding through an area poisoned by radiation.

The M113 can move through water. It is light enough to be airlifted—an important factor in these days of quick, long-range deployment.

The new carrier has a 200-mile operating range on the ground, as compared with the 120-mile range of the M59. It weighs 10 tons, less than half the weight of the steel armored M59. Both carry a squad of 12 men.

Though designed to move troops these carriers can defend themselves, if need be, with the machine guns they mount.

Venue Change Attempt Fails

EL PASO (AP)—Attempts by a Coolidge, Ariz., father and son team of accused airliner hijackers to have their trial moved from El Paso and to be tried separately failed Wednesday.

Federal Dist. Judge R. E. Thomson denied both motions offered by the court-appointed lawyers of Leon Bearden, 38, and his son, Cody, 16.

The change of venue was sought for the elder Bearden on grounds that he couldn't get a fair trial in the El Paso area.

The attempted hijacking of the Continental jet airliner was thwarted here Aug. 3.

Their lawyers told Judge Thomson the two planned to plead innocent to charges of kidnaping and transporting a stolen aircraft across state lines.

The judge set Oct. 16 as a tentative date for their trial.

Liberians Seek Communist Agent

MONROVIA, Liberia (AP)—The government launched a search today for Booker T. Bracewell, once pardoned by President William V. S. Tubman in an assassination plot. Bracewell is accused of trying to get Soviet money and arms to overthrow the government.

In announcing that Bracewell had been charged with treason the government said he headed a group bent on setting up a Communist state.

Paper Work

Noss-Wilkerson Vows Exchanged In Evening

Marriage rites uniting Carolyn L. Wilkerson, 210 W. 20th St., and Kenneth L. Noss, 3590th Hq. Sq., Webb AFB, were performed Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock. Wilkerson is the son of Mrs. Helene Noss, Lansing, Mich.

MRS. KENNETH L. NOSS

The double ring service was read by the Rev. S. E. Eldridge at the First Assembly of God Church. On the altar were floor-length fern and red roses, accented with white satin streamers and flanked by candelabra holding white tapers.

Ed Wilkerson sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" with Mrs. S. E. Eldridge, organist, accompanying.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin, fashioned with a square neckline, moulded bodice and bouffant skirt. A large satin bow accented the back of the skirt which was floor-length and extended into a cathedral train. Her veil of white illusion net was secured by a sequined bandeau, and she carried long stem red roses and Frenched white carnations.

Mrs. Bill White, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor and her sister, Barbara Wilkerson, bridesmaid. They wore identical blue satin dresses styled with bell skirts and fitted bodices. Each carried a single rose.

Allan Weismantle of South Dakota served as best man to the bridegroom. Ushers were Tommy Wilkerson and Charles Miller.

Deanna Wilkerson, sister of the bride, was flower girl, and train bearer was Sharon White, the bride's cousin. Eddie Wilkerson, brother of the bride, was ring bearer. Candles were lighted by Preston Mealer and Stina Wilkerson.

A reception was held afterward in Fellowship Hall at the church. In the receiving line were Mrs. Wilkerson, Mrs. Noss, Leonard Wilkerson, Mrs. White, Barbara Wilkerson, the bride and bridegroom.

A linen cutwork cloth covered the refreshment table which was centered with the bride's bouquet of red roses and white carnations. The three tiered cake featured a miniature bride and groom.

Melba Clark was in charge of the register and those in the house party were Mrs. Charles Miller, Mrs. Colbert Frazier, Mrs. Fred Wilkerson, Norma Graves and Kay Leatherwood.

Sandra Cain of St. Johns, Mich., was among the out-of-town guests attending.

After a wedding trip the couple will return to make a residence in Big Spring.

The bride attended Big Spring High School. A graduate of Lansing Eastern High School, Lansing, Mich., Noss was employed with the American Bank and Trust Company at Lansing before entering the Air Force. He has been stationed at Webb AFB since November, 1959.

ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

Oh joyful time of the year for people who admit to liking television! Imagine three shows in a row and all of them new. Just when we had completed committing all the lines of the returns to heart and could follow the action from any point in the house, along came Fall and some new shows.

Everyone is sympathetic with the producers about presenting the shows until they new round gets started, but when the tape has been run so many times the splicing begins to project, it is monotonous. Wyatt Earp got ready and fought the Gunfight at the OK Corral so many times it was ridiculous... and his hat never even got tilted.

It's too bad we can't have more shows like Victor Borge and Carnegie Hall's Salute to Jack Benny.

Since I learned KATHY MCCREE and LINDA MILAM are roommates in Albuquerque, N. M. I can't help thinking how fortunate are the students in the schools there where these personable young teachers are employed. They are the daughters of the W. R. McRees and the J. Max Milams.

MR. and MRS. ALTON UNDERWOOD have returned from a 10-day visit with their son, JAMES LEE, who makes his home in Corpus Christi. The Big Spring couple also visited in Baytown.

MRS. E. W. BURLESON got an early morning call Wednesday telling her of the arrival of a new grandson, Christopher Paul, the second son of MR. and MRS. AARON COON of San Antonio. The baby weighed seven pounds and was born at the Nix Hospital. Mrs. Coon is the former BETTY BURLESON. Mrs. Burleson plans to go to San Antonio in several weeks.

San Antonio will be the attraction for other Big Spring people over the weekend. MR. and MRS. W. R. YATES and their daughter, MRS. W. H. REED, plan to leave Friday for the Alamo City. Center of interest will be the daughter who was born Sept. 20 to CAPT. and MRS. JAMES MICHAEL. The baby has been named Terri and is the second child. Her brother is two years of age. Mrs. Michael is the former Jodi Miller, daughter of MR. and MRS. LEONARD MILLER. Mrs. Miller has been in San Antonio for a week and will return Sunday with the Yateses.

Warm Fresh Bread No Weight Problem

HOLLYWOOD — Sheree North came to visit me carrying a loaf of fresh bread that was still warm from the oven.

"I stopped at a little Swedish bakery in Beverly Hills," she explained. "They bake with whole-grain flour." We toasted the bread for tea, and it was coarse-grained and had a sweet, natural flavor.

"Remember what a weight problem you used to have?" I reminded her.

"I have completely revolutionized my eating habits, and my weight rarely fluctuates any more."

"You have completely revolutionized everything," I commented, admiring the courage she had shown in refusing to continue her career as a carbon copy of Marilyn Monroe.

"The studio told me that if I didn't stay blond they would not pick up my contract." Sheree revealed. "But my mind was made up. I wanted to be myself and I needed to explore to find out who I was. Letting my hair go natural was an outward symbol."

Now Sheree is married to a professor and she divides her time between her family, her university life and her career.

"I have been working since I was 15," Sheree confided. "I left school and danced in night clubs. I lied about my age and it pleased me to be accepted as a part of this jazzy adult life.

"I really didn't belong there, and that was my conflict," she said, pointing out that her fight with overweight was emotional eating.

"I have no cravings for sweets at all any more. But I think that this always happens when you work out a problem and put yourself on balanced menus. If some people would recognize overweight as being an escape from something and not try to lose until they know why they are stuffing themselves, there would be none of this frustrating dieting," Sheree concluded.

FOR EMOTIONAL EATERS

If you have a desire to lose and yet cannot bring yourself to the point of not eating, here is a leaflet designed especially for you! Leaflet M-3, "The Mental Side of Dieting," will help you stop worrying and start doing something about your weight. For your copy of this important leaflet, send only 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood beauty. Big Spring Herald.

S'West Teams Face A Rugged Weekend

By The Associated Press

Southwest Conference teams drilled through hard mid-week workouts Wednesday mindful of a rough weekend ahead. Six inter-sectional and one conference battle round out the schedule.

For the most part, coaches worked their squads long and hard. This was especially true at the Texas Christian camp.

TCU coach Abe Martin, whose team faces the No. 3 power in the nation Saturday, Ohio State, expressed dissatisfaction with the Horned Frogs Wednesday.

"The team got real high for Kansas. Now they're dragging," he said. They outlasted Kansas 17-16 last week.

The Frogs also lost Lynn Morrison, junior letterman end, and Dick Kercheville, sophomore center, for the season. Both are due knee operations.

Southern Methodist's Mustangs, who got the weekend rolling with Southern California Friday night, boned up on their defense Wednesday. The Pones, fresh from a 14-6 loss to Maryland, hope to shake a 13-game losing streak.

Texas A&M coach Jim Myers put his Aggies through an extremely heavy workout.

Myers, who emerged satisfied, said, "It was the most contact work we've done in some time." He predicted a tight ball game with Louisiana State in Baton Rouge Saturday.

Texas Tech and Texas get the conference season rolling in Austin.

The Texas Longhorns drilled hard on passing offense in a brief workout. Coach Darrell Royal paced his men on patterns and routes, and said he is pleased with the aerial game.

But the mentor said he was unhappy with the Longhorn goal line defense and their punt protection looked poor.

At the West Texas camp of the Texas Tech Red Raiders, J. T. King stressed pass offense and defense. King was pleased to say he had no major injuries.

Texas, favored over Tech, scored an impressive 29-3 victory against California in their opener. Tech lost to Mississippi State 6-0. The Baylor Bears looked sharper in all phases of offense Wednesday during a final hard workout before meeting powerful Pittsburgh Saturday.

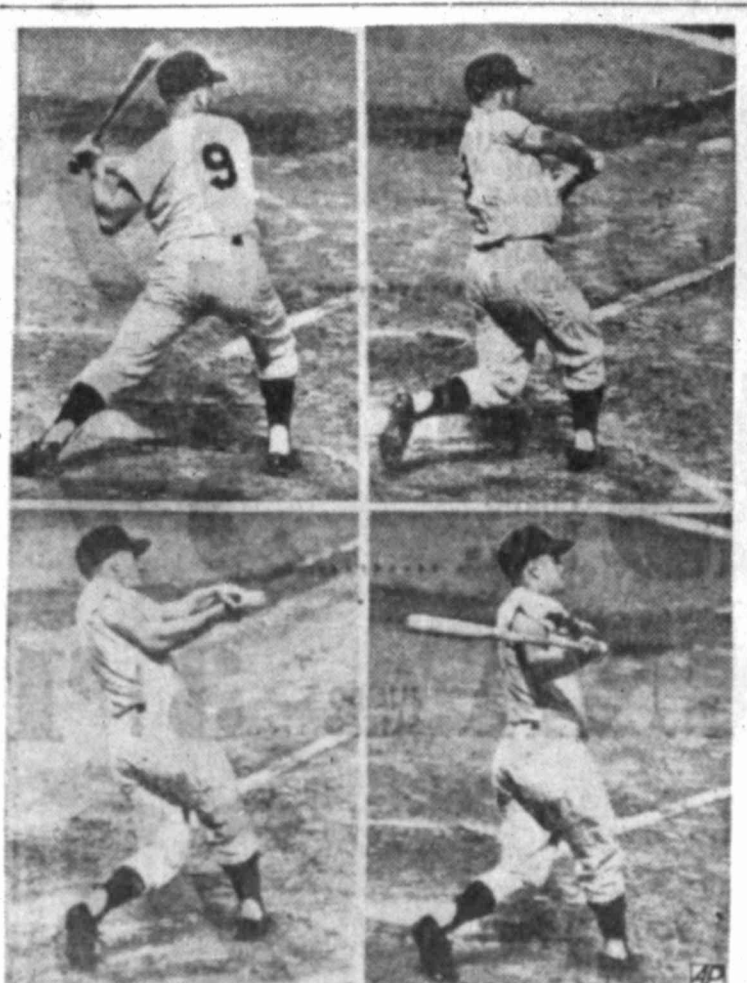

Frost of a 31-0 licking handed Wake Forest last week, the Bruins leave early Friday for Pittsburgh.

Rice will be out for a second big win Saturday when they tangle with Georgia Tech in Atlanta. But the Owls will be without the services of starting right end Gene Raesz and second team right guard Walter Ligon.

Raesz broke the middle finger of his left hand in last week's Louisiana State game and Ligon hurt his knee. The Owls went on to beat LSU 16-3.

Michael Cissell, a fullback and place-kicker who was Arkansas' leading scorer last year, sprained an ankle in practice Wednesday and will probably miss Saturday's game with Tulsa.

But Arkansas is an overwhelming favorite over Tulsa and should have no trouble winning, even without Cissell's services. The Razorbacks fell to Mississippi last week.

Entering A Select Class

Yankee slugger Roger Maris whips the bat around to connect with the ball and send it into the right field stands at Yankee Stadium for his 60th home run of the year. Roger joined Babe Ruth in the select class, becoming only the second man to hit 60 in one major league year. (AP Wirephoto).

Pro Bowl Club Is Up For Sale

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The San Antonio franchise in the National Professional Bowling League is up for sale.

The San Antonio News said Wednesday Col. Bruce Carright, the first franchise holder to post the $5,000 entry fee in the league, was no longer associated with the team.

The News said the franchise will go to the first city that wants it.

Dale Hall Has His Worries With Cadets

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's enough football talent at Army this year for two full units, but don't count Dale Hall's blessing just yet. He also has more than enough worries with inexperienced sophomores and injuries.

The Cadets, which last week opened their season with an unimpressive 24-6 victory over Richmond, have 21 sophos on their 50-man squad this year, and seven are in the first two units.

Hall started Tech Kempinski, a 213-pound soph tackle from Wilkes Barre, Pa., against Richmond, and had the others on the alternate unit.

"But," he said today, "wouldn't you know it, 'wouldn't you know it' scored our three touchdowns, while our No. 1 unit got only the field goal."

"We had to use Kempinski on the first unit," he went on. "It was the only way we had to solve a tackle problem, and while he and the other sophos make mistakes, we can only hope that none will hurt us at crucial times."

However, even with his problems, Hall still has a potent back, built around the running of quarterbacks Dick Eckert and Joe Blackgrove, the latter just off the injury list, and fullback Al Rushatz. He also has a pair of strong ends in Paul Zumida and John Ellerson.

Texas Christian, which faces Ohio State Saturday, lost end Lynn Morrison and center Dick Kercheville for the year with knee injuries while Notre Dame counted out with injuries soph quarterback Bill Pfeiffer and end Steve Kolski for its nationally televised game against Oklahoma.

West Virginia, loser of its last 17 games, lost key mighty Syracuse Saturday without Gene Heeter, a No. 1 end who is out for the year with a knee injury, and end Bob Timmerman, with a similar injury.

Handball Tourney Scheduled At Y

The YMCA's first handball tournament will be staged starting Friday, Oct. 6.

Competition will cover four days. The Y is dark on Sunday, so play will not be completed until Tuesday.

Entry fee will be 25 cents, which will be used toward the purchase of trophies. Awards will go to both the champion and runner-up in each of two divisions—Class A and B.

Entries can determine which division they want to enter. Players can signify their desire to enter simply by signing a sheet which will be posted in the locker room.

Joe Leach, director of the tournament, says a doubles tournament would be staged following the singles meet.

Sunland Season To Open Friday

EL PASO—Racing in the grand style returns to the Land of Enchantment Friday as Sunland Park, America's newest turf resort opens its doors for the 85-day "Million Dollar Season."

With some of the nation's outstanding racing stables set to campaign at Sunland this fall, indications point to a banner meeting. The stable area has reached near capacity as the exodus of top horses from the fair circuits have begun arriving.

The first shipment of Reggie Cornell's powerful 42-horse string, now campaigning at Pomona, Calif., will arrive by weekend.

Meanwhile, the inaugural week-end opening on Friday promises to produce one of the finest cards ever assembled at Racing's Place in the Sun. Racing secretary Steve O'Donnell has programmed a sparkling 10-race curtain raiser with the $3,000 Inaugural Handicap headlining the card.

The names of seven outstanding sprinters passed the entry box for the inaugural to be decided at six furlongs with last year's sprint champion Sleepy Ned and the 1960 Inaugural winner, Yes More, poised to match strides.

The not-so-sleepy Ned racked up four straight wins here last spring and then continued his winning ways by posting five victories at the recently concluded Ruidoso meet. The swift 6-year-old son of Taj Akbar has been honored with high-weight of the field at 121 and must spot his six rivals from five to 12 pounds. The capable Galie Mower will be in the saddle.

G. I. Martin's stakes-winning Gainsworth looms a potent factor as he defeated some of California's finest at Golden Gate Fields last year. The classically bred son of Hyperion has also turned in winning efforts on the Rocky Mountain Circuit, winning in top fashion at La Mesa Park. Trainer Jack Phillips has given the riding assignment to Don Lewis.

H. G. Wells' Turkson, who has proven himself to be one of the Southwest's top sprinters, will be given strong consideration in the inaugural. Nicely weighted at 115 pounds, he is given a royal chance to upset the dope.

Dark horse of the race appears to be the Northwest invader, Jet Journey. The Am-Can Stable's color bearer was highly regarded at Longacres and ran a powerful

Ford, O'Toole Slated To Be Foes in Series

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Barring a change in plans between now and next Wednesday, the opening game pitchers for the 1961 World Series will be left-handers Whitey Ford (25-4) for the New York Yankees and Jim O'Toole (18-9) for the Cincinnati Reds.

The managers—Ralph Houk of the Yankees and Ned Haney of the Reds—have indicated they will employ no more than three starters in the series, even if it goes the limit of seven games.

Right-hander Ralph Terry (15-3) will pitch the second game for the Yankees. Joey Jay, another right-hander with a 21-9 record is expected to be Hutchinson's second game choice. The first two games, starting Oct. 4, will be played at Yankee Stadium.

Right-handers Bill Stafford (13-9) of New York and Bob Fur-key (16-12) of Cincinnati will be the opposing pitchers in the third game at Cincinnati's Crosley Field on Saturday, Oct. 7. After that, it will be Ford against O'Toole again.

"I see no reason why I can't go with three pitchers," Houk said today. "With the days off after the second and fifth games, it means three pitchers can go every four days. I've been using my pitchers, more or less, every fourth day during the season and I see no reason why I should change my method, especially since it has proved successful all year."

"Of course, if a particular pitcher looked bad or if he were forced to pitch extra innings and his arm became stiffer than expected, I probably would be forced to change my thinking. Otherwise, I will go with three pitchers."

In line with this kind of thinking, Houk plans to pitch Ford, Terry and Stafford in that order, against Boston in the final series of the year, starting Friday night. None will be allowed to go the distance.

Houk said he probably will use right-handers Jim Coates, Roland Sheldon and left-hander Bud Daley as his "long men" in relief, thus preserving his relief ace, Luis Arroyo, for the final innings.

"Long man" is a term baseball people use for relief pitchers who are called upon in the early innings. A "short man" is a bullpener of the type of the Reds' Jim Brosnan and Jim Henry, and also Arroyo, who are not sum-

MEN IN SERVICE

Ronnie Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Anderson, 300 E. 4th, has graduated from Navy recruit training, and is home on a 14-day furlough. He enlisted June 9, and holds the rating of airman apprentice.

He is a graduate of Big Spring High School and enlisted under the Navy's high school graduate training program which assured him of a Navy school. He will attend Aviation Guided Missile school for six months at Memphis, Tenn., and the advanced phase at Damneck, Va. Anderson enlisted through the Big Spring Navy Recruiting Station.

Phone Numbers To Be Changed

LAMESA (SC) — A telephone number change is planned for some 800 Lamesa subscribers, according to Wayne King, district manager for General Telephone Co.

King announced that all city phone customers whose numbers begin with a "4" will have a number change on Jan. 28, 1962, the date the new telephone directory is to be put into use.

Telephone numbers currently in the 4,000 group will be changed to 7,000. Only the first digit of the numbers will be changed.

The Lamesa office serves as master exchange for several small area exchanges including O'Donnell, Aten, Nelms, Punkin Center, Hatch and Patricia.

Constitution Lacks Cited

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas government is weighted down with a constitution tailored to the bitter reconstruction era, and needs an up-to-date basic document, a Texas government scholar says.

Dr. Dick Smith, head of the Department of Social Sciences at Stephen F. Austin State College in Stephenville, says there just isn't much point in the missile age of authorizing the governor to call up troops to fight hostile Indians. The present constitution gives him this power.

One Family's Fate

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Twin Des Moines boys whose father is out of work went to school for the first time. When they returned home on Friday their mother told them they wouldn't have to go back Saturday or Sunday.

One of them inquired, "Are we laid off already?"

K-BEST
Carousel

Smith made his criticism of the constitution and appealed for a thorough rewrite in "Public Affairs Comment," a publication of the University of Texas Institute of Public Affairs.

The present constitution was ratified in 1876. Since then it has received 144 amendments, inflating it to 40,000 words. One of the more streamlined state constitutions, that of Alaska, is just 12,000 words long.

"If Texas is to take the place in the union that its population, natural resources, industry, wealth, etc., would indicate, it cannot delay much longer a thorough rewriting of its fundamental law," Smith said.

"If a prediction can be made," Smith said, constitutional revision "will be accomplished only when a strong, popular governor furnishes the necessary leadership and creates a public opinion favorable to the idea, or else a great catastrophe incites the general public to action."

"Until then, the state will, of necessity, have to patch up its inadequate constitution continuously, thereby making it longer and more complex than ever."

Conspiracy Charge

CHICAGO (AP) — Stewart B. Hoppes, internationally known insurance executive and financier, faces conspiracy charges in New York alleging evasion in Texas of $4 million in income taxes, interest and penalties.

Decision Brightens Rockefeller Hopes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon's decision to bid for the California governorship brightened the prospects today of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

The former vice president's announcement in Los Angeles on Wednesday night that he will seek the GOP nomination for governor does not necessarily eliminate him as a contender for a second presidential try.

Nixon pledged to serve a full four-year term if elected governor. But while declaring himself out of the 1964 presidential race he declined to say he would not respond to a draft. He was asked specifically about a draft and replied: "I shall not seek the presidency in 1964."

Nixon made it clear several weeks ago that if he ran for governor and was elected, he would not expect to enter any state presidential primaries in 1964.

His chances for the presidential nomination thus would be dependent on the development of a nationwide draft movement in his behalf, with the hefty California convention vote serving as the basis of his strength.

Rockefeller, who already has announced for re-election next year, might find himself in a position in a second term where he could enter such primaries. And Sen. John F. Kennedy proved in 1960 they furnish valuable momentum toward a presidential nomination.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., the spokesman for party conservatives who is mentioned as a third possibility for the nomination, also faces a dilemma in the primaries.

He will have to decide whether he wants to risk damaging his chances for re-election to the Senate from Arizona in 1964 by taking a flyer in the presidential popularity tests in other states. Goldwater has the feeling that Arizona voters might regard any such venture as an indication he is tired of the Senate—which he is not.

Nixon's decision ties him largely to California issues for the more than a year that will elapse until the November 1962 election. This will mute the voice he has been using as titular head of his party on national and international issues.

If he is elected, he is likely to have his hands so full with a hostile Democratic legislature there won't be much time for the detailed homework necessary to stay abreast of the ins and outs of national and world problems.

Rockefeller, on the other hand, would be likely to have a Republican legislature and be relatively freer to make out-of-state speeches on major issues and push the organizational work needed to win a nomination.

As governor of California and a former national GOP standard bearer, Nixon would have a strong position in the party, where he retains far wider support than Rockefeller has yet been able to assemble.

But Republicans are likely to remember that while Nixon carried California last year, he could not make the grade in New York and didn't win the presidency.

NO FLUKE

If Rockefeller is re-elected by a substantial majority he will have proved that his popularity hasn't waned and that his 1958 victory in New York was no fluke. The New York prize will look big to the convention delegates in 1964.

Nixon—and Rockefeller for that matter—could wait until 1968 to try for the nomination, provided both won in governors' races in 1962 and 1966. But if either appeared to be avoiding a collision with Kennedy in 1964 because the President appeared to be in a strong position for re-election, Republicans might look elsewhere in the next four years.

Nixon obviously faces a more difficult fight to get elected in California than Rockefeller does for re-election in New York. Democrats have a 1.4 million bulge over Republicans in California registrations.

Defeat for either, of course, would wash up their political careers.

Cuban Army Reorganized

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba has reorganized its army into three main corps as a defense against new invasions, Prime Minister Fidel Castro said Tuesday night.

Addressing a graduation ceremony for 400 militia officers in Matanzas, Castro said his revolutionary army no longer is a collection of guerrillas but is composed of "companies, battalions, divisions, armies and army corps."

He again accused the United States of preparing a new invasion of Cuba but said his forces would "inflict on our enemies an even bigger defeat" than in the April invasion that was crushed at the Bay of Pigs on Cuba's southern coast.

A group of officers of Cuba's armed services, including military school commanders, stood behind Castro during his speech, which was broadcast by TV.

Please That Collegian With Homemade Food

"Oh, great! A box from home! I hope it's something to eat!" He still eats, your young world-beater, who entered college just days ago, to become a doctor, lawyer, bridge builder or student of humanities. Sure the school feeds him, but it doesn't taste or smell like home. That's why ever-hungry youth can hardly wait to cut the string on a package of cookies, cakes or candy from the family. It's that tantalizing, home-baked aroma of such things as real vanilla, that alerts the taste-buds and promises to satisfy the inner man.

Here are recipes for those goodies to put in the mail. These recipes have been selected because they ship well and stay nice and fresh if snugly wrapped in metal foil or waxed paper. If wrapped sweets are tucked in a cellophane bag, this makes it much easier to store them at the dormitory. But, then, they won't last long enough to make storage a problem.

It would be a mean trick to bake all these delicacies for the absent member of the family and let the stay-at-homes sniff longingly without their share. That's why you might as well make two batches of everything as you go along.

FUDGE CUPCAKES

¼ cup shortening
2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate
1 cup sugar
½ cup water
1 tsp. vanilla extract
½ tsp. soda
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ tsp. double-acting baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1 egg
½ cup sour milk
Melt shortening and chocolate together. Turn into a mixing bowl and add sugar, water, vanilla extract and soda. Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Stir into the chocolate mixture. Beat in egg and milk with a slotted spoon or wire whip. (The batter is thin, but do not add more flour).

Turn into 2-inch cup cake or muffin pans lined with cupcake papers. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 minutes. Remove from oven, cool and cut into bars. Store in a tightly closed box. Yield: 24 bars.

QUICK VANILLA FUDGE

2 pkgs. (12 oz.) chocolate bits
1.3 cups sweetened condensed milk
2 tbsps. water
4 tps. vanilla extract
1-3 cup blanched almonds
Melt chocolate bits over hot (not boiling) water. Stir until smooth. Stir in condensed milk, water and vanilla extract. Spread immediately into a greased 9½ x 6¼ x ¼-inch disposable aluminum pan. Press almonds into the top. Chill until firm. Cut into 24 pieces. Yield: 2 pounds.

BROWNED BUTTER FROSTING

¼ cup butter or margarine
3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
3½ tps. light cream
1 tsp. vanilla extract
Brown butter or margarine in a saucepan. Add confectioners' sugar alternately with light cream and vanilla extract. Mix until well blended and smooth. Spread over tops of fudge cupcakes.

VANILLA DREAM BARS

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ cup sugar
½ cup (1 stick) butter or margarine
Combine flour and sugar. Add butter or margarine and mix until very crumbly. Pat into an ungreased 13x9x2-inch pan. Bake in a preheated slow oven (325 degree F.) 10 minutes. Remove from oven and cool in pan.
Topping:
2 eggs, separated
1 cup brown sugar
1½ tps. vanilla extract
2 tps. flour
1 tsp. double-acting baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup angel flake coconut
Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored and combine with sugar and pure vanilla extract. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and add. Stir in nuts and coconut. Beat egg whites until stiff. Fold into the mixture. Pour over the baked crust and spread uniformly. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 minutes. Remove from oven, cool and cut into bars. Store in a tightly closed box. Yield: 24 bars.

Cold Soup Good For Variety

A cold soup and main course with a hot dessert makes a refreshing different menu.

Those Pie-Pickin' Hands

Kathy Jo Harrell took privileges not yet allowed when helping herself to handful of chocolate pie, which her mother was slicing to serve. Kathy Jo, 5½ months, has been kept to a more or less bland diet and could give no opinion on her mother's cooking.

Cooking A Pleasure To Mrs. W. F. Harrell

Favorite room in the W. F. Harrell residence is the kitchen, and Mrs. Harrell's chief occupation—cooking. Having a family of five necessarily results in kitchen overtime; however, she does not find this objectionable. What with homemaking, school, P-TA, and activity in the East Fourth St. Baptist Church, she has little time for anything else but grocery shopping. Mrs. Harrell is quite active in Elbow 4-H Club work, as well as the Elbow HD Club and P-TA.

Harrell is maintenance foreman for Big Spring theaters. Their children are Ann, 12, Richard Larry, 8, both students at Elbow School, and Kathy Jo, 5½ months.

Richard's favorite dessert is chocolate of any description but particularly chocolate pie, therefore this is frequently served at the Harrells. Cupcakes are also baked often for school parties or for family fare.

Although Mrs. Harrell has a cooked since she was very young, she had never made cookies until Ann's first week in school when a note was sent home requesting cookies for the forthcoming P-TA meeting. Coconut cookies were mixed, baked and delivered to the school and this same recipe used for P-TA cookies during the seven years following.

Ann has shown no interest to speak in the field of cooking. At the present time she is predominantly interested in basketball and cheer leading. Nevertheless, she is proud of and has great appreciation for her mother's cookies and cupcakes.

MEAT BALLS

1 lb. ground beef
1 onion, chopped
1 can mushroom soup
Salt and pepper to taste
Brown meat balls and add 1 cup mushroom soup and 1 can water. Simmer about 15 minutes.

GOLDEN GLOW OF QUALITY

That's what Skinner Macaroni has. A rich appetizing color. A difference you can see and taste. Skinner uses only 100% amber durum wheat... the very best for macaroni products. Next time you buy macaroni, buy Skinner. It tastes better, cooks better, looks better. SKINNER

Sauce Simple-To-Make For Salmon Steaks

Broiled salmon steaks, simple-to-make sauce, a mixed green salad and instant whipped potatoes can fill the bill-of-fare at your house and provide leisure-time for the cook too! The fish sauce is made from one of the new chive cream cheese bars. The tested recipe combines seasonings, chive cream cheese, lemon and onion juice. Whip these ingredients together and be rewarded with a tantalizing sauce.

In addition to salmon steaks, other fish also respond equally well to this treatment. Frozen fillets of white fish, (less costly than salmon steaks and more immediately available in many markets) will substitute nicely. Serve the delicately browned fillets topped with plenty of this tastefully seasoned sauce.

Here is the recipe:

SIMPLE SALMON SAUCE

(Makes 1½ cups)

- 2 (6-ounce) Chive Cream Cheese Bars
- 2 tps. lemon juice
- 2 tps. grated onion
- 1 tsp. parsley flakes
- 1 tsp. capers (optional)
- Dash freshly grated pepper
- Dash garlic salt
- Dash tabasco sauce

Let cream cheese bar soften at room temperature. Add lemon juice. Whip with fork until light and fluffy. Add other ingredients. Blend well. Serve as a sauce for broiled salmon steaks or with cold boiled salmon.

Unwanted Chicken Makes Main Dish

LENTILS PLUS

2 hambones
Gizzards, hearts and wing tips from 2 broiler-fryers
6 cups water
1 small onion, diced
2 carrots, pared and diced
2 ribs celery, sliced
1 small bay leaf
1 cup lentils
Salt and pepper to taste
In a kettle, bring to a boil the hambones, chicken parts, water, onion, carrots, celery and bay leaf; cover and simmer for 1 to 1½ hours.

Remove hambones, chicken and bay leaf; there should be about 5 cups stock and vegetables. Add washed lentils; bring to a boil; cover and simmer until lentils are tender—about 1 hour. Dice any meat on hambone and the gizzards and hearts; add to lentil mixture with salt and pepper. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

After Dinner Treat

(If you use espresso-type coffee (instant style) to serve after dinner in small cups you can vary it by adding a dollop of sweetened whipped cream dusted with cinnamon instead of serving it black with a twist of lemon peel.)

STAYS FRESH LONGER

Eggplant Parmesan Is Hearty Meatless Dish

American cooks pay ready tribute to the sleek royal-purple eggplant.

Italian cuisine has worked out such savory ways to use this vegetable that, when it is available, many of us follow suit.

Eggplant Parmesan (Melanzana alla parmigiana) is a top favorite in Italian-American restaurants. A meatless dish, it's fine for a family lunch or supper, and so rich tasting that it's also quite at home with company.

Although this dish has Parmesan as part of its name, more Mozzarella than Parmesan cheese goes into it. Fortunately nowadays Mozzarella cheese is widely available in supermarkets.

Eggplant Parmesan needs nothing more than crusty bread and a green salad as accompaniment.

EGGPLANT PARMESAN

2 cans (each 1-lb. 3-oz.) whole tomatoes
 1/2 cup tomato paste (Italian-type)
 1/4 cup (about) corn oil
 1 small clove garlic, minced or crushed
 1 tbsp. minced onion
 2 tbsps. minced parsley
 1/2 tsp. crushed dry oregano
 1 tsp. salt and pepper to taste
 1 medium-size eggplant (1 1/4 to 1 1/2 lbs.)
 2 eggs, slightly beaten
 1/2 to 3/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
 1/2 lb. Mozzarella cheese, thinly sliced
 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Turn tomatoes (including liquid in cans) into a large saucepan; break up tomatoes. Add tomato paste, 1/4 cup corn oil, garlic, onion, parsley, oregano, salt and pepper. Bring to a boil; simmer, covered, stirring occasionally, for about 40 minutes or until sauce is reduced to 1 quart.

Meanwhile pare eggplant; cut into 1/2-inch thick slices; dip into egg; then dip in bread crumbs.

Give Veal Loving Care

Can you cook veal chops to perfection? Do they have a light, flavorful, crisp coating? Is their meat tender and not too dry?

To accomplish this worthwhile feat, treat the chops with tender loving care.

If you use loin chops, as suggested in the following recipe, follow directions for making them neat and tidy. Such compact shape makes the chops easy to turn in the skillet.

The crumb coating is delightfully different — it's made from small cheese crackers. When you crush the crackers make sure the crumbs are fairly uniform in size. And do give the chops time to stand, after they're crumbed, to set the coating. Some cooks like to refrigerate the chops during this stay because this chilling helps to set the crumbs.

GOOD VEAL CHOPS

4 loin veal chops (about 1 inch thick)
 1 cup cheese-cracker crumbs
 1/2 tsp. salt
 1/4 tsp. crushed marjoram
 1 egg
 2 tbsps. water
 2 tbsps. butter

Trim chops if necessary. Pin boneless ends to chops with small skewers or wooden picks.

Mix crumbs with salt and marjoram. Beat egg slightly with water. Dip chops in crumbs, covering both sides; dip in egg mixture; dip again in crumbs.

Heat butter to sizzling in a large skillet; add chops and brown on both sides.

Cover and cook over very low heat, turning if necessary, until tender—35 to 40 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

NOTE: For the crumbs, use one-inch cheese crackers and crush between waxed paper with rolling pin; about half of a 6 1/2-ounce box will be needed for the 1 cup crumbs called for.

Spicy Cobbler Gets New Topping

Good old apple cobbler is given a new pastry topping.

SPICY APPLE COBBLER

5 cups thinly sliced pared cooking apples
 1/2 cup sugar
 3/4 cup sifted flour
 1-3 cup enriched cornmeal
 1/2 tsp. salt
 1-3 cup shortening
 3 to 4 tbsps. cold water

Mix apples and sugar in a baking dish (about 8 by 8 by 2 inches).

Sift together the flour, cornmeal and salt; cut in shortening until particles are fairly fine. Stir in water, a tablespoon at a time, until pastry can be formed into a ball.

Turn out on lightly floured board or prepared pastry cloth; roll to form 16-inch square. Place over apples; turn edges under, flute, prick top well.

Bake in hot (425 degrees) oven 25 to 30 minutes.

Serve warm with nutmeg-flavored lemon sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Do-It-Yourself

Ever broil shrimp with shells on? Bring plenty of melted butter to the table and let eaters shell and dunk! Have lots of paper napkins on hand and, if you like, serve the shrimp on paper plates.

Poach Plums For Unusual Dessert

Purple plums gain in flavor when they're poached in a sugar syrup and flavored with vanilla.

POACHED PLUMS

1 1/4 lbs. large purple plums (Italian plums)
 1 cup each sugar and water
 1 tsp. vanilla

Wash plums; cut in half and remove pits. In a 12-inch skillet stir sugar and water over low heat until sugar dissolves; bring to simmering; simmer 5 minutes.

Add plums, skin side up; cook gently for 2 or 3 minutes; Turn plums so skin side is down; cook a few more minutes. (Syrup should be a pretty rose color and plums should be soft with skins adhering.)

Cool about 10 minutes, then stir in vanilla. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Bunwiches Italiano Are Ready To Go

The next time your teen-ager dashes in with last-minute picnic plans, suggest "Bunwiches Italiano" — they're easy to make and far different from the ordinary school-day sandwich. Assorted relishes, fruit, baked goods you have on hand, and a can of shoestring potatoes top off the menu. Simply wrap each item separately in the new, clear economy sandwich wrap, and your busy teen is off for another happy time.

BUNWICHES ITALIANO

1/4 cup tomato sauce
 1/4 cup coarsely shredded process American cheese
 1/4 cup finely minced hard salami or drained canned tuna or salmon
 1 tablespoon finely minced onion
 Hamburger buns, Vienna or poppy seed rolls
 Butter or margarine

Combine first five ingredients; mix. Makes enough for two sandwiches. Split buns or rolls in half, and spread cut surfaces with softened butter or margarine. Spread bottom half with filling. Close sandwiches, and wrap individually in new lunchbox wrap.

If you use tenderizer on lamb shanks they'll be sure to be tender. Toast them in a slow oven—about 1 1/2 hours if each shank weighs about a pound.
