JOHN MYERS SIGNS VENUE ORDER
... as Defense Attorney Hartman Hooser watches

Myers Murder Trial Transferred To Rusk

District Judge Ralph W. Caton, 118th District Court, ruled late Wednesday that it would not be possible to obtain a jury here to try John Edwin Myers, 33, for the murder of Arthur Lee DeKraai, 34, an Ottumwa, Ia., plumber, who was a hitchhiker. He had been given a lift in Fort Worth by Myers, who was traveling in a stolen car with Donna Marie Stone, 13, his girl friend. The pair had already killed three persons in three days, they admitted, at the time they gave DeKraai a lift.

chairs unoccupied and the court decided there was little hope that a jury could be obtained. Only two veniremen were examined at the Wednesday afternoon session of the court. Most of the afternoon was taken up in recesses during which the court contacted other counties in an effort to find a suitable place to which the case could be sent. It was agreed that the incident had received such widespread publicity, due to its sensational nature, there was no point in trying to place the case in any West Texas county.

attorneys, from the Rusk County Bar as counsel for Myers. It is probable, the Cherokee County jurist said, the case can be set for trial during the second week in February. Hartman Hooser and John Richard Coffey, Howard County attorneys who had been named to defend Myers here, will be relieved of their responsibilities. Warren Burnett, Odessa attorney who appeared with Hooser and Coffey as an additional volunteer defense lawyer, also, is stepping out of the case.

ADMITS SHOOTING
A short distance out of Big Spring on IS 20 west, Myers said he shot DeKraai in the back of the head as the latter dozed in the car seat. His body was left in a mesquite thicket on the Lomax road some eight or 10 miles from where he had been shot. The slaying, Myers said in his statement, was to obtain money the Chicago pair thought that the Iowan had, DeKraai had no money.

JURY POSSIBLE
Judge Moore told Judge Caton he believes a jury could be seated in Rusk. The case is not so widely known in that community as in this part of Texas, he said. Rusk is in extreme East Texas not too far from the Louisiana border. Cherokee county has a population of 33,000 and Rusk is a town of 9,000.

JONES WON'T QUIT
Jones said he had no intention of retiring from the prosecution although it would be possible, technically, for him to do so. "I'll be in Rusk and I am happy that Brown will be with me at the state's table," he said. The decision to end the effort to try Myers here was no surprise to court room observers. It had been evident from the outset that many veniremen would have to be examined if a jury was to be found.

PROSPERITY KILLS SHOW
DENTON, Tex. (AP)—Prosperity has killed the college show that helped launch the careers of Pat Boone, Don Cherry, Ann Sheridan, Linda Darnell, Joan Blondell and Nancy Gates.

NOT ONE JUROR
Judge Caton's decision to order a change of venue on the court's own motion came after 12 veniremen had been exhaustively examined and not a single juror had been seated in the box.

INEVITABLE
Jones said that the action of the court was inevitable. "Naturally," he said, "a case as sensational as this was heavily publicized by the press, the radio and television and everyone was familiar with its details."

LESS RESISTANCE
There was less resistance to the state's query as to the feeling of the veniremen about inflicting the death penalty than was anticipated. Regardless, the three days work in the court left the jury box

This organization is one of 12 that are supported by your contribution to the United Fund, a drive that is currently under way in Big Spring.

Donna May Be Sent To State School

Donna Marie Stone, 13-year-old Chicago girl, companion of John Edwin Myers, 33, may be sent to the State Training School for Girls at Gainesville.

HELD SINCE ARREST
She has been held in the juvenile ward in the Howard County jail since the morning of Sept. 2 when she and Myers were arrested in Midland by a highway patrol officer.

Jones has kept the girl here because he wanted to use her, he said, as a witness in the prosecution of Myers for the murder of Arthur Lee DeKraai, 33-year-old hitchhiker, shot to death on IS 20 on the night of Sept. 1.

INDICTMENT
In Illinois, Donna Marie is under indictment for first degree murder for the slaying of George Ballard, 47, and his daughter, Carol, 11. These were the first two persons of four Myers and Donna Marie admitted killing.

TO CONFER
However, Jones said, as soon as the judge of the 148th District Court in Rusk selects attorneys to defend Myers at that city, he will confer with the lawyers named.

Here's Another Change Made By Legislature

Operators who require pumps, scales and other measuring devices in their businesses are finding out that the retail sales tax wasn't the only charge to come out of the late legislature.

Service station operators are obliged to pay 50 cents per pump for testing by the weights and measures division of the Texas Department of Agriculture. Store operators face a $1 charge for each scale tested.

There is one consolation—the fee may be collected only once a year. The pumps or scales could be checked a dozen times after that without charge.

Arlton DeVaney, Midland, is making checks here now and in many instances has found that businessmen are not familiar with Article 5728 of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas (as amended). This sets a fee of 50 cents for each gasoline, kerosene and diesel fuel pump tested; $1 for scales weighing up to 999 pounds; $2.50 for scales weighing up to 5,000 pounds; $10 for those weighing over 5,000 pounds. The fee for testing butane and propane measuring devices is not to exceed $5 for each measuring device tested.

The law requires that each measuring device be sealed off if inaccurate until it is corrected, or to be sealed off until the fee is paid. Failure to conform is a misdemeanor which may be punished by a fine of $50 to $200.

DeVaney, who was reared at Coshburn and is a graduate of Coahoma High School, says that explaining the newly imposed fees is the most difficult task he has faced since joining the department in 1959.

His work includes inspecting pre-packed meats and eggs as well as measuring device checks. In the case of scales, official weights are put on the scale to check it at various levels to insure accuracy at any weight. To check pumps, he runs a certain amount, usually five gallons, into a precisely gauged measuring can. Then he checks the meter reading on the pump against the reading on the can. If the volume is under, the operator is required to have the pump repaired before using it again; if it's over, he generally sees to it that the pump is recalibrated promptly.

S. M. Milstead Dies Tuesday

S. M. Milstead, long time resident of Fort Worth, died Tuesday. Mr. Milstead had been an employe of Burton-Lingo Company since Oct. 1, 1914, and at the time of his death he was vice president and purchasing agent. He was also a director of the Kemp Lumber Co. of Roswell, N. M.

X15 Flight Proves Space Pilot Can Fly With Wings

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—In the most dangerous X15 flight yet, a pilot set a world's record for going up—to prove this important point about coming down:

That an astronaut doesn't have to ride back to earth as a prisoner in a falling capsule—but can fly safely through the earth's atmosphere in a winged craft and land where he wishes.

Air Force Maj. Bob White Wednesday set a new world's altitude record for winged flight, 40 miles, and then made a belly-flopping re-entry into the atmosphere which cracked the windshield of the rocket plane.

The plane dropped spread-eagle into the atmosphere the way a diver belly-flops into a swimming pool. The stress and friction heat would have torn a conventional plane apart.

The method spreads the heat of re-entry over a large area of the plane. Wednesday's successful flight proved techniques which may be used in re-entries on future flights.

Cancer Drug Tricks Cells

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The cancer control drug used in the treatment of House Speaker Sam Rayburn attempts to trick a hungry cancer cell into accepting a chemical which looks like food but is really a poison.

The drug is 5-Fluor-Uracil. Dr. Charles Heidelberger, 40, of the McArdle Memorial Institute for Cancer Research at the University of Wisconsin, directed the scientist team which developed the drug in 1954. He said it is a deterrent to further cancer growth rather than a cure.

The drug has undergone extensive clinical applications at the University of Wisconsin under the direction of Dr. Anthony Currier, professor of surgery. He said the drug has proved satisfactory in the treatment of a number of kinds of cancer, but has some side effects such as changes in blood pressure and blood cell count.

'PEACEMAKERS'

Marquis Childs Has New Book.

Marquis Childs, the famous newspaper correspondent whose three-times-a-week column on national and international affairs appears in the Herald and more than 150 other papers throughout the U.S., Canada and five foreign countries, will find himself in the public eye as an author, as well as a journalist this week.

His latest book, "The Peacemakers," was published by Harcourt, Brace and World, Inc., Wednesday and is simultaneously featured as the cover-story in the Oct. 14 issue of the Saturday Evening Post, as the magazine starts an eight-part serialization of the book.

"The Peacemakers," described as "a novel about the high-level, but quite human, diplomats on whose discretion . . . or indiscretion . . . rests the fate of a world at the edge of nuclear war," has won unusual pre-publication praise from two men who know the complex problems of international negotiations about which Childs writes.

America No Longer A Dream? Not To Kin Of Camel Driver

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—Bashir Ahmad has sworn on the Koran before his wife and four children that he will not look at another woman during his visit to the United States.

But the 44-year-old camel cart driver is having trouble convincing other jealous members of his clan that he won't go astray on the trip he is making at the invitation of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. And his good fortune has aroused considerable jealousy among his associates.

Armed police have been posted outside Bashir's hut since he reported receiving death threats. Bashir is all set to leave by plane Saturday, but his relatives think he will come home with the big head. They fear that in the foreign land he will eat pork and ham and drink intoxicating liquor—all forbidden to Moslems. They threaten to ostracize him on his return.

Bashir's three sons and his daughter are excited about his journey—but not his wife. She's afraid he will marry a "maim"—a Western woman.

"What will happen to my four children and who will support me and feed them if he brings another wife with him?" she moaned.

So Bashir took an oath that he would remain faithful and he promised his children he would bring back a cap and a pair of shoes for each of them as a present.

Johnson noticed the gray-haired camel cart driver on the roadside during the vice president's visit to Karachi in May. Johnson suggested Bashir visit the United States and a Pakistani newspaper seized on the idea. A group of American businessmen agreed to finance the trip under the people-to-people program.

Texas Weather Fair And Mild

By The Associated Press
Fair and mild weather prevailed in Texas Thursday in the wake of earlier downpours that brought nearly six inches of rain to some sections of the state.

South Texas bore the brunt of heavy rains and high winds early Wednesday. The heaviest rainfall reported was 5.70 inches near Pecos.

Light scattered showers continued in widely scattered sections of the state during the day but the U.S. Weather Bureau said no measurable amounts were reported.

There were patches of cloudiness in Central and South Texas early Thursday but elsewhere skies were clear. Beaumont reported an early morning ground fog.

Pre-dawn temperatures ranged from 41 at Dalhart to 74 at Galveston.

The forecast called for mostly fair weather during the day with only a few scattered showers. A gradual warming trend was predicted for the western part of the state.

By T. H. Tarbel, preacher,
Church of Christ, 2000 West Highway 86
P.O. Box 1385

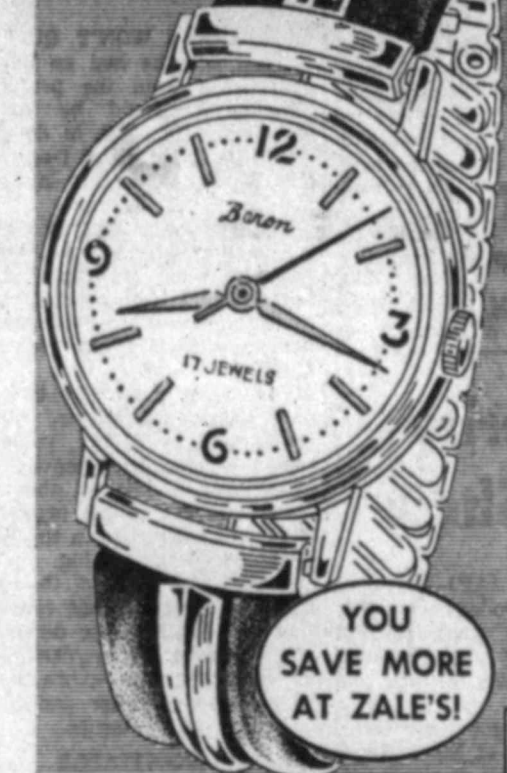

When we invest in real estate, we always have the title examined before turning over our money. This is good business. O, that every man regarded his soul as important, even, as his financial investments! It seems that men will base their hope of heaven on almost anything their preacher tells them. They seldom make an investigation for themselves.

When Paul began to preach in Borea, it was said, "These were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the Scriptures daily."

whether those things were so" (Acts 17:11).
Paul did not resent having these people check up on him to see if his preaching was Scriptural; and the Lord called them noble for so doing.
The faithful gospel preacher will be open to questions.
And the noble man will examine his title to "mansions in the skies."
Welcome to our mid-week service tonight at 7:30. Howard Swinney will preach. —Adv.

Vail Portraits Top Fair Draw

DALLAS (AP)—One of the outstanding attractions at the State Fair of Texas this year is probably the biggest one-man exhibition of portrait art in the world. It's the eighth annual exhibition of portraits by artist Dmitri Vail in the State Fair Music Hall. This tremendous one-man art show, containing many portraits of stage, screen and television personalities, includes about 80 portraits. It takes up about three city blocks of exposition space in the Music Hall's U-shaped lobby. Among nationally known personalities and stars represented on canvas by the dynamic Vail are Emmet Kelly, the circus clown; Maurice Chevalier, the French entertainer; Actress Shirley Jones, pianist Liberace; actress Anna Maria Alberg, often hailed as the world's most beautiful woman; comedian Jack Benny, singer Jeanette McDonald, actor Jack Carson, and Japanese actress Isumi Yukimura.

FCC Warns 'Bad Boys'

DALLAS (AP)—A Federal Communications Commission member has warned American Broadcasters "to regulate yourselves and make the bad boys behave."

Otherwise, Commissioner Robert T. Bartley said Wednesday, the FCC can be expected "to show a great deal of strength when we feel it necessary."

Bartley, addressing the concluding session of the two-day fall meeting of the Texas Association of Broadcasters, said only a few in the industry have brought criticism but those few must be regulated. "The FCC can be expected to show a great deal of restraint, but also (it may show) a great deal of strength when we feel it necessary," Bartley said. The necessary regulation was an outgrowth of the past "quiz show scandals" and "payola" which caused much talk in Congress. "When Congress talks," Bartley stated, "we (the FCC) listen."

not warrant undue public concern, nor initiation of public action designed to limit the intake of radioactive substances," Surgeon General Luther L. Terry said. The service said its announcement was based on analysis of milk in six cities—New Orleans, La.; Atlanta, Ga.; Charleston, S.C.; Jackson, Miss.; Tampa, Fla., and St. Louis, Mo.

The Soviet Union resumed nuclear testing Sept. 1. Since then, according to President Kennedy's disclosure Wednesday at a news conference, the Soviet Union has fired more than 20 nuclear explosions into the atmosphere.

Iodine is a source of potential concern because physicians say extensive overdoses might result in cancer or other injury to the thyroid. Three weeks ago, the top-level Federal Radiation Council cut sharply its recommended maximum safe limit on the intake of radioactive iodine 131. The cut was recommended particularly for the protection of children.

Under the old standard, a daily intake of up to approximately 1,300 micro-microcuries was considered acceptable. A micro-microcurie is a measure of radioactivity.

Islanders Flee Volcano, Say Goodbye To Homeland

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — The entire population of volcano-stricken Tristan da Cunha sailed sadly toward the 20th century today.

The Dutch liner Trisadane Wednesday night rescued the 260 men, women and children who had fled the island for refuge on nearby Nightingale Island, an uninhabited rock, after Tristan was shaken by earthquakes and volcanic eruptions.

The liner is expected at Cape Town Tuesday.

The Tristanians wept on bidding farewell to their primitive homeland in the South Atlantic where they have lived an 18th century existence virtually cut off from the rest of the world.

Hard To Please

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A young man entered Lew Lipton's restaurant, said he was broke and asked for a free meal.

Lipton said, "What'll you have — name it."

"Waffles," said the young man.

"No waffles at this time of day," said Lipton.

"I'll go somewhere else then," said the young man. And he left.

10,000 More Air, Ground Troops Ordered To Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — An additional 10,000 air and ground troops have been ordered to Europe to bolster the Allied garrison manning the line between West Germany and the Communist East.

They are in addition to the 40,000 Army troops beginning to deploy abroad in the first phase of a program to increase conventional war capability against possible Red aggression. By year's end, U.S. forces in Europe will total about 300,000.

About half the 10,000 are Army men, the other half Air National Guardsmen.

Aviator Survives Mountain Crash

ALPINE, Utah (AP) — A pilot who huddled four days near the wreckage of his plane with a broken hip was rescued in sub-freezing temperatures early today from a snow-covered mountainside.

Rescue crews slogged through three miles of knee-deep snow to bring out Joel T. Honey, 52, of Needles, Calif., pilot of a single-engine craft that slammed into rugged Mt. Timpanogos in central Utah Saturday.

The crash killed William Royal, also of Needles.

When rescuers got to Honey, they heard an amazing story of a man crawling around in snowstorms with a broken hip in order to keep alive.

At times Honey said he heard search planes flying overhead, but he couldn't attract their attention. He crawled painfully from the smashed plane to soak rags with gasoline and tie them on sticks to be used as flares.

He even packed snowballs in the hope he could roll them down the slope below to attract attention.

A search plane finally spotted a blinking searchlight in the wreckage.

Honey joked and occasionally winced while rescuers carried him to safety on a stretcher. He was taken to a hospital.

Honey said he was unconscious for almost 45 minutes after the crash. He came to and found his companion dead.

The crash occurred at the 8,500-foot level of the 12,000-foot mountain.

Nearly two dozen searchers began climbing the slope Wednesday night. Two paramedics parachuted into the crash site.

DEAR ABBY
Forget The Scissors, Mom

DEAR ABBY: When the newspaper comes, my mother gets it first and cuts out all the pictures she thinks my 14-year-old brother shouldn't see. This includes pictures of girls in bathing suits, and low necklines and so forth. When my father sees the paper all cut up he blows his stack.

I am a girl, 16, and have tried my best to explain to my mother that she is making a big mistake trying to hide these things from my brother. He knows more than I do, and I don't think I'm stupid. Will you please put something in your column to convince my mother that she should leave the newspaper alone?

SIS

DEAR SIS: If your father "blows his stack," and you have tried to appeal to your mother's reason, and she still "censors" the newspaper hoping to keep your 16-year-old brother wide-eyed and innocent, I fear my efforts will be futile. But I'll try: Dear Mom: A 14-year-old boy today is sharper than your scissors.

DEAR ABBY: My father and I were having an argument, and I thought you might be able to solve our problem. If teen-age children drive the family car, does the insurance go up?

TEEN-AGE GIRL

DEAR GIRL: And how!

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and he is 25 and I am very much in love with him. We went together almost a whole year, and we spoke of being married in two or three years. It has been a month since I last heard from him, and he lives right in this town.

A mutual friend told me he went back to his old girl friend. I can't understand it. We didn't have a fight or anything. He just said goodnight after a date and I never heard from him again. I hate to crawl to him, but I know if I saw him again we could straighten everything out.

My friends say to forget him, but it's not that easy. I love him.

Please tell me if I should call him up. I can't eat or sleep.

JILTED
DEAR JILTED: Your friends gave you good advice. Take it!

'62 CORVAIR MONZA

NEW FACE, SAME SPORTING HEART

We might as well tell you straight off: Corvair's the car for the driving enthusiast. Think that lets you out? Maybe. Maybe not.

Until you've driven one, you really can't say for sure, because Corvair's kind of driving is like no other in the land. The amazing air-cooled rear engine fits as you please, in complete control. You whip through the sticky spots other cars should keep out of in the first place. (Especially this year, now that you can get Positraction as an extra-cost option.) You stop smoothly, levelly with Corvair's beautifully balanced, bigger brakes.

And Corvair's found other new ways to please you this year. A forced-air heater and defroster are standard equipment on all coupes, sedans and both Monza and 700 Station Wagons. So are dual sunshades and front-door armrests and some other goodies. You'll note some new styling, inside and out. Nice. And safety-belt installation is easier, too, and cheaper. Another extra-cost option well worth considering is the heavy-duty front and rear suspension; it turns a Corvair into a real tiger and really multiplies the fun.

So you can see we haven't really done much to Corvair this year. Why on earth should we? If this car, just as she is, can't make a driving enthusiast out of you, you'd better take a cab.

Panel Says Ideas Could Save Money

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Research League says its advice could save state government almost $35 million.

Some, but only some, of the league's recommendations have been adopted by the state and its agencies.

What is this organization that has a hand in shaping the policies and programs of Texas' $1.5 billion a year government?

The league, which has its headquarters here in a modern brick and glass building, calls itself "a citizen-supported, non-profit, non-political educational corporation engaged in objective, factual research into the operations, programs and problems of Texas government."

Editorials have called it "an authoritative agency, independent of political ties" and "one of the most efficient and dedicated organizations in the state."

An editorial critic complained that it is "one of the most influential organizations in the state... accepted almost as an official state agency."

A league report shows that during the recent legislative sessions the research organization staff was called upon 140 times by 55 different legislators. League studies on taxes, welfare, fiscal administration, state parks and game and fish conservation had a hand in producing new legislation this year.

Technically, the league consists of more than 700 members throughout the state. Some members are corporations and some are business and professional individuals. The league has a 72-member board of directors and in turn a 10-member executive committee. Alvin A. Burger has been executive director since the beginning in 1953.

The Texas organization follows in some respects other citizen-supported governmental research movements such as the New York Bureau of Municipal Research organized by the late Dr. Charles Beard.

Backers of the league deny it is a lobby group. Staff members appearing before legislative bodies stress that they appear only as professional researchers without taking sides. The league's work is financed entirely from funds contributed by firms and individuals at no cost to the state.

In making the $35 million economy recommendations, the league figures that state tax needs can be reduced by almost $1.5 billion by placing senior patients in nursing homes instead of state hospitals and by modernizing child support and parental responsibility laws. It estimates more than $22 million can be saved in the administration of the state school program. The two big items of this recommendation—school consolidation incentive payments and elimination of teacher credits in local financing—were approved by the legislature this year. Improvement in record keeping and tax collecting procedures could result in an $186,000 annual economy, the league says. More than $500,000 could be saved, the league says, by improving governmental housekeeping operations.

Victim

Charlie Applewhite, Fort Worth singer, was critically injured recently in an airplane crash at Midland. His wife, Nancy, and Midland oil man Robert J. McGannon were killed. Midland hospital authorities reported that Applewhite has been removed from the critical list, and has been told of his wife's death.

Medics Study The Human Factor In Air Disasters

HOUSTON (AP)—A coroner's verdict attributed a recent plane crash near Amarillo to an "airplane accident."

But a Federal Aviation Agency medical investigation disclosed the pilot didn't die in the crash.

"He was dead before the plane touched the ground. An autopsy showed he died of a heart attack," said Dr. Harry Gibbons, flight surgeon.

The case illustrates one of the aspects of the FAA's new medical branch, which was discussed recently during a three-day seminar at the Texas Medical Center at Houston. The 40 Texas physicians who attended are certified aviation examiners for the FAA.

In addition to examining civilian pilots they also participated in medical investigations of private plane crashes.

The human factor in such crashes has been ignored until recently, according to Dr. Verme Stemberge, pathology professor of Southwestern Medical School, Dallas.

He noted that thousands of hours have been spent reconstructing a crashed plane but no attention has been paid to the pilots.

"As planes fly higher and faster, more accidents are due to the pilots," he said.

A medical investigation, he continued, can determine whether a pilot was alive or dead when the plane hit the ground. We can tell if he was affected by lack of oxygen, decompression sickness or drugs.

Dr. Stemberge said tranquilizers and antihistamines can make a pilot dizzy or dull his senses. Alcohol already has been branded as an increasing cause of private plane crashes.

"Not long ago I investigated a crash where a couple had made the rounds of night clubs and then decided to go for a plane ride at 3 a.m.," Dr. Stemberge said. "The alcohol level in the pilot's blood was almost twice that needed to produce intoxication."

The research phase was emphasized by Dr. Paul Smith, chief of pharmacology, biochemistry branch of the Civil Aeronautics Research Center, Oklahoma City.

This center was established recently to investigate civilian flight problems never studied before.

Dr. Smith cited dangers of insecticides used in crop dusting. He said insecticides formerly used had a lasting effect on the crops but they were a threat to the consumer. This led to development of an insecticide that safeguards the consumer because it doesn't last for long.

But the more modern bug killer also is more dangerous to the crop duster who applies it.

"It can cause nausea, weakness, impaired vision and even severe muscle spasms," said Dr. Smith.

If this happens when a pilot is in the cockpit, chances are he'll crash, Dr. Smith said, for "crop-dusters have no margin for error."

Cold Front With Rain, Hail Slows Harvesting, Seeding

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—A cold front that lashed some areas with rain and hail has slowed harvesting and seeding of crops in Texas.

Good weather of the two previous weeks was a big help to farmers and ranchers, John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reports. Farmers made real progress with harvesting, plowing and seeding. Sheep shearing is nearly done and ranchmen were busy. Hutchison said, shaping up their herds for the winter. Ranges were in good condition, he added, with only spots needing moisture.

In far South Texas, the western half of the district is still dry. Spots are too dry for field work. Pastures deteriorated.

Southwest counties of the South Central Texas need rain. A small amount of cotton and corn remain to be harvested. Plowing for small grain, flax and clover plantings is on. Pastures are improving since the recent rains except in the dry counties. Livestock generally are in good condition.

The cotton, corn and hay harvests are about over in East Texas and moisture ranges from adequate to short. Pastures and crops are in good condition and planting is underway where moisture is adequate.

Outdoor operations were halted in Central Texas by showers. Adequate soil moisture exists over the area. The cotton harvest was in the last half, yields were cut by root rot and lack of moisture during the growing period. Pecans are maturing and crop prospects are good. The pecan crop will be spotted. Major activities will be harvesting, plowing and seeding. Pastures were mature but good. Livestock conditions are normal.

Moisture for pastures and grains would be beneficial in Central West Texas. Cotton farmers would like to see open weather for harvesting, which is just starting. Pastures and livestock are in good condition and screwworms are decreasing he added. Sheep shearing is near completion and ranchmen are busy shaping flocks. Farmers are preparing land, seeding grains and defoliating cotton.

Moisture is generally adequate in all far West Texas counties except west of the Pecos. General rain would help fall grasses and crops. Cotton, grain sorghums, carrots, sesame, hay and silage crops are being harvested with good yields. Livestock are in good condition and ranges in eastern and southern counties were very good.

Moisture in Northeast Texas ranges from adequate to short. The cotton, corn and sorghum harvests are past the halfway mark but were slowed by weekend rains. The sweet potato harvest is continuing and soybeans and pecans are maturing. Pastures are making good growth and plowing is well along.

Farmers are working long hours to complete harvesting crops damaged by the hurricane in the upper Gulf Coast area. Stalk destruction and plowing has started and the cotton harvest was reaching the peak in the northern counties. Cattle from the low coastal pastures are weak and some feeding is being done. Cattle and pastures in the upper areas are in good condition. Pecan trees dam-

This Boy Really Swings: 'Most Everything Floats'

By MOLLIE BLAKE
Bryan Daily Eagle Staff
Written For The Associated Press

BRYAN (AP)—Marvin Monk really swings. Monk is a 38-year-old English teacher in the high school division of Allen Academy in Bryan. His bed swings from three hooks in the ceiling in his unusual room.

"The original purpose was to get my bed off the floor, simply because my aunt lives downstairs right under me, and to keep the bed noises—the squeak and squeaks of an old metal bedstead—from going through the floor," he says.

Monk said he found it so easy to sweep and mop under, and one thing led to another until now he has only a rolling table and swivel chair on the floor.

His bed, desk, lamp and bookcase are suspended on steel cables and his dresser and shoe rack are bracketed to the wall.

The bed is an ordinary, single with a single slat attached at each end. The cables are threaded through holes drilled in each end of these slats. A fifth cable keeps the bed from banging the wall.

"Otherwise the bed is free to sway back and forth quite nicely," he says.

The two cables at the foot go to a single hook. At the head of the bed the cables are separated by a metal pipe and cross-threaded with cotton twine to form a headboard "so the pillow won't get lost." The electric blanket control is attached to this.

A multiple switching arrangement goes up one cable so he can control all the lights and the radio from his bed. Similar switch panels are by the door and set in the desk top. Also in his desk top is a multiple switch controlling all the lights from the carport to his room.

His desk, a four by six foot sheet of 3/4-inch plywood, originally was braced to the wall. But when he put new walls in the room he moved the desk and suspended it from the ceiling. It is so cross braced with cables that it takes a hefty push to make it move.

His "bookcase" is eight feet wide, with 11 shelves of 1x10 inch pine. They hang from the ceiling on four evenly spaced cables.

The dresser is simply an old three-drawer oak chest. From which he did not even remove the legs before lifting it about eight inches off the floor and bracketing it to the wall.

Homecoming Plans Near Completion

Plans for the observance of Big Spring High School's homecoming here Oct. 19-20-21 are rapidly nearing completion.

There will be a big pep rally at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 19 back of the gymnasium; a parade downtown at 4 p.m. the following day. Other highlights this day will include a chili supper sponsored by the Band Boosters from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the high school cafeteria; the big feature—the football game with Cooper High of Abilene at 8 p.m.; and finally on Oct. 21 the BSHS dance at the gym at 9 p.m.

Several of the class groups are mapping informal get-togethers, but so far no plans have been developed for a general meeting of the exes.

Special activities are in store at school all next week. For instance, sophomores will wear their black and gold beanie during the entire week to point up the special season.

Jean Jordan and Karon Koger are general chairmen of homecoming. Other committee chairmen are: Pat Armstrong, field; Jimmy Hinds, orchestra; Marilyn Gum, awards; Katherine Hepner, radio; Kathy Johnson, parade; Tommy Gentry and Mrs. Lucille Pickle, publicity; Deane Mansfield, Jerry Young, dance decorations; Mrs. Clara Zack, coffees, teas and receptions.

Den 4 Makes A 'Fire Hunt'

Den 3, Pack 63 observed National Fire Prevention Week with a tour of Fire Station No. 1 Wednesday, according to Den Mother Mrs. Dick Brooks.

Firemen took the scouts on a tour of the living quarters and the station, highlighting the visit with a demonstration of how they slide down the pole at the station in case of an emergency run.

The Cubs returned to the club house and practiced their grand howl to be used as the opening ceremony for the next pack meeting Monday night.

Refreshments were served to Terry and Ryan Walker, Roger English, Gregg Ryan, Terry Sickling and Brent and Noel Brooks. Assisting Mrs. Brooks was Mrs. J. E. Sickling, assistant den mother.

sort of reception or get-together are asked to notify the high school office so the information will be available to all.

The class chairmen include: Clara Pool, 1904-16; Mrs. George White, 1917-27; Joe Pickle, 1928-31; W. L. Thompson, 1932-36; Mrs. W. L. Thompson, 1937-39; Bruce Frazier, 1940-44; George Oldham, 1945-48; Mrs. Paul Sheedy, 1949-52; Darlene Agee Dabney, 1953-58.

The routing on the parade calls for a beginning at Sixth and Main, proceeding north to Second, west to Scurry, south to Sixth. Organizations, business firms are invited to enter floats or decorated cars. The bands will march in the parade and homecoming queen candidates will be featured in various cars, during the halftime at the football game, the homecoming and football games will be crowned along with the band sweetheart.

Federal Judges Divide Duties

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The three federal judges for the Western District of Texas have agreed on how they will handle cases.

Adrian Spears, sworn in Tuesday, will handle all cases in the Del Rio Division, half of those on the docket in Pecos and the civil cases on the San Antonio docket.

Ewing Thomason will handle all El Paso cases and half the Pecos docket.

Ben Rice Jr. will hear all cases in the Austin and Waco courts and the criminal portion of the San Antonio docket.

Two Coahoma brothers were recently given promotions in the U.S. Navy. They are Roy Griffith, 19, and Harold Griffith, 20, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Griffith, Coahoma.

Harold is an aviation electrician's mate, third class petty officer. Roy is aviation structural mechanic, third class petty officer. The boys joined the Navy with four other young men, and the two have been stationed together since enlistment. They are now at Lemoore, Calif.

Debate Burns On Farm Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—A debate is on over the effectiveness of a Kennedy administration program to reduce costly livestock feed grain surpluses.

The administration — accepting figures of this week's crop report as conclusive — claims the program is a success. Not so, says a leader of the American Farm Bureau Federation, who labeled the claim "ridiculous" and "a sort of Alice in Wonderland type of thinking."

Under the program, the government will pay farmers about $768 million for reducing acreages of corn and sorghum grain about 19 per cent this year. In addition, it offers participating farmers price supports about 13 per cent higher than last year.

Base Demand

TUNIS (AP)—President Habib Bourguiba demanded today that France agree to the principle of quitting its giant Bizerte base. He laid this down as a condition before Tunisia will sign any political or economic agreement with the French.

Model-T Makes 350-Mile Trip

DALLAS (AP)—Dick Watson of Lubbock reached Dallas this week after a 350-mile trip he made in 15 hours of driving in a 1918 model-T Ford.

The car had no trouble except for drowning out in front of a Fort Worth motel during a rain, Watson said.

He and his friend, Erle Thompson Jr., had to push out the front windshield so they could see when rain became heavy. The two-seater has no windshield wipers.

The car, still carrying its original California license plates, got about 14 miles per gallon and used up a radiator of water at least once.

AFL-CIO Chiefs Predict Exodus From Hoffa Unions

NEW YORK (AP)—AFL-CIO chiefs forecast today a substantial membership exodus from James R. Hoffa's Teamsters Union now that the federation has hung out a welcome sign.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said he was already busy processing affiliation applications from about 100 of the nearly 900 Teamsters locals.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council voted 24 to 2 Wednesday to authorize Meany to issue charters to locals defecting from Hoffa's rule. Federation officials said they have no idea how many Teamsters may thus decide to switch allegiance, but expect a sizable number.

Hoffa can be relied upon to fight back. He has said he will meet head-on any AFL-CIO threat to his union and is confident that "we'll come out on top."

Meany declined to speculate to newsmen whether the open bid for a Teamsters rebellion will result in a labor war.

"We don't go in for headbusting," Meany said. "You'll have to ask Mr. Hoffa about that."

Ape Faces Irradiation

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Memphis scientists plan to expose a monkey to continuous low-level radiation soon to determine whether it impairs its ability to perform physical feats.

The monkey will be placed in a rotating plexi-glass cage at the University of Tennessee medical unit. The rotating speed will vary, exercising the animal slightly, or running him to the point of exhaustion.

The scientists said daily comparisons of the monkey's stamina and performance should show how it is being affected by low-level radiation such as fallout from the Soviet Union's nuclear bombs.

2 Families Now Big, Happy Tribe

CARMEL, Calif. (AP)—When Heien North was married a month ago, more than one veteran housewife gasped at the 31-year-old widow's prospects for domestic tranquility.

Mrs. North, the mother of eight, married Navy Chief Warrant Officer Francis Louis Beardsley, the father of 10. The children range from a diapered 18-month-old to 17 years.

"Before the couple went on a short honeymoon, the Beardsley home was being doubled in size with the kitchen geared to restaurant-style operations.

"Well," a reporter asked Tuesday, "how are things working out?"

"I'm enjoying myself," she said.

As she explained it, her day works out something like this: Up a bit earlier than the average family—about 6 a.m. The children take care of the main breakfast chores—"They all have their assignments."

During school days, 12 attend classes, leaving six at home "who get along fine." On other days, the older children again take over much of the burden.

The children also take care of the housekeeping and help with the shopping.

And what does Mrs. Beardsley do?

"There's the laundry. And I like to make desserts during the day. It is nothing like I expected. I'm enjoying myself."

And she added:

"I defy anyone to tell which ones are Norths and which ones are Beardsleys now."

Just before the wedding ceremony, someone asked the bride what she thought about taking on such a large family.

"I would love to have another child. It would be pitiful if we didn't have any children of our own," the blue-eyed brunette said.

Hotels Are Happy

MEMPHIS (AP)—Guests in hotels aren't pilfering towels and soap like they used to, Shelby Evans of Memphis told a regional convention of hotel room clerks here.

"Perhaps better economic conditions prevent them from taking these small items," was the theory advanced by U. G. Fayard of New Orleans.

Evans said, "I think people are better educated and know more about how to conduct themselves away from home."

SOUTH PACIFIC JOURNEY

Isle Is U.S. Show Window

By HOUSTON HARTE
PAGO PAGO, American Samoa—If the story in the Reader's Digest about American Samoa was the work of some smart public relations man in the Department of Interior, it has had its effect.

An emergency deficiency appropriation of $4.5 million has passed the committee in the House of Representatives. A regular appropriation of $5.5 million has the approval of the subcommittee on appropriations which considers such expenditures.

Samoa is about to get $10 million, more than five times the amount of money we have spent on the islands in an average year in the past. Instead of an American apology, Samoa is soon to be a show window of American colonial administration.

The Pago Pago harbor is one of the most beautiful in the world. It is an old volcanic crater with an opening to the sea. Sheer cliffs surround more than three sides. Winds rush in from the sea and at other times come down the mountain sides and out of the harbor mouth. It can be a navigation accomplishment to put a ship the size of the Mariposa up to the dock.

GOOD BUSINESS
The city begins on the dock and extends along to the narrow end of the harbor. On the green in front of the administrative buildings native handicraft was on display in two lines of eager salesmen a hundred yards long. This is a territory of the United States and to us anything purchased here was duty free. It must have helped business.

There are two factories here as well as the home handicraft weaving and carving. The largest is the Van Camp Chicken. Of the Sea tuna-canning plant. It had a hard time until the Van Camp people brought in Japanese fishermen. They knew how to catch the tuna and have made it profitable.

Fishing is done on long lines from boats about 40 to 50 feet long. The fishing boats are supported by a "mother" ship with a refrigeration plant aboard. As a fishing boat shoved off, music from a radio or phonograph made us all feel at home. These Japanese went to sea to the tune of "Home on the Range."

Another plant here makes breadfruit chips. Breadfruit is not like anything else. It grows on a tall wide-leaf tree. The fruit looks like a grapefruit and is not more than four inches in diameter. It is peeled and boiled then allowed to dry. In this condition it looks a good deal like a peeled potato. In the home it is sliced and fried like potato chips or boiled in grease like French fries.

The plant is a native operation giving employment to a dozen persons. Honolulu and the West Coast of the U.S. buy most of the plant's production. It is marketed in the cans or in cellophane bags such as we use for corn chips or potato chips.

NEW AIRPORT
A new airport is under construction about 15 miles from Pago Pago. Like most airports in the South Seas it is being built on a coral reef. Sand is pumped into the coral base, covered with crushed rock and rolled with macadam. The runway is to be 9,000 feet long. Ultimately it will get a concrete slab for the biggest jets. Despite its 200 inches of rainfall a year Samoa will someday be a vacation resort. It is a South Sea island dream. It is just what you have imagined the South Sea islands to be.

A new hotel has been laid out at the airport near a small white sandy beach. It is hoped it will be ready for the Southeast Asia Conference which will meet here next spring. The U. S. hopes to have the island spruced up for this conference.

The United States' interest in the seven islands which make up Eastern or American Samoa began with the report in 1842 of Capt. John Wilkes, the explorer. Commander Richard Meade made two "friendship and commerce" visits to the islands and following these in 1872 reached a commercial agreement with the Samoan chiefs.

U. S. PROTECTORATE
In 1899 we entered into a "convention" in which we divided with Germany the supervision of the Samoan Islands. In 1900 the President placed Samoa under the jurisdiction of the American Navy, which wanted Pago Pago harbor for a naval base. In 1951 Samoa was transferred to the Department of Interior.

There are three divisions of the Samoan government—executive, legislative and judicial. Its latest constitution was adopted by a constitutional convention on April 27, 1960 and signed by the Secretary of Interior on the same day. The constitution provides for a governor appointed by the secretary of interior, a chief judge, appointed by the secretary and a bicameral legislature.

Like all South Sea Islands, government is carried on at the local level by family groups or tribal chiefs. The 15 members of the upper house are elected in open village meetings of the families who hold the land. The lower house is elected by secret ballot under universal suffrage. The legislature meets every year in sessions not to exceed 30 days. Extra sessions of not to exceed 15 days can be called by the governor.

The courts are presided over by the chief judge. He has four native associate judges. The duties of the Upper House is that of advisor to the governor.

PLEASANT CLIMATE
The village, which at one time consisted of a tribe, constitutes the basic governing unit of Samoa. The treaty with the United States affirmed the ownership of the tribal lands to the members of the tribe. Management of the lands is vested in the chief or matai. It is possible for an individual to acquire property of his own, but the land, which constitutes most of the wealth of these islands, is communal.

American Samoa had a population of 20,051 in the 1960 census. Samoa is just 14 degrees below the equator on the 170th meridian. The climate is tropical but pleasant. It never freezes here and humidity is almost constant at 80. The temperatures range from 70 to 90 degrees Fahrenheit.

If you can amuse yourself Pago Pago is an ideal place to retire. Your social security will take you farther here than any place in the world. You are not isolated. Island ships and airplanes are in Pago Pago almost daily.

You can grow your own frangipani leis in your own back yard and pick mango off your trees. The sea is full of a dozen varieties of fish. The ground produces any vegetable any season of the year. The people are friendly, generous and fit.

Focus On Health

By The Associated Press

What to do if you get the flu, how throat swabs may help stop some heart disease, and a new aid for heart surgeons are subjects for Focus on Health:

Flu This Fall?

Health experts warn another flu season approaches. While the chance of an epidemic cannot be predicted, certain protective measures can be taken. Pregnant women, the elderly and people with chronic diseases should be vaccinated.

Here are other suggestions from the Connecticut State Department of Health:

Stay away from sick people. If flu breaks out, keep away from crowds. Be sure to wash your hands well before eating — and don't use glasses or other utensils that others have used. Get plenty of sleep. Avoid being chilled. If you do get sick, call your doctor and go to bed—for your good and the good of others.

Medical Messenger

A new attack against rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease involves the Post Office Department.

Chicago doctors are getting throat swab kits suitable for mailing as the latest aid to diagnosing the disease that brings on rheumatic fever. Caught in the early stages it can be cured.

A type of streptococcus germ sets the stage for rheumatic fever. Doctors will be able to take a throat swab from a sick patient, seal it in an envelope and mail it to a laboratory where the type of germ can be identified.

If the specimen is the dangerous kind, the doctor can find out quickly before rheumatic fever has a chance to develop. The mail-in system was devised by the Chicago Heart Association and Board of Health.

Heartbeat Trigger

In the heart there is a critical bundle of nerves which controls the heartbeat.

Some children are born with defective hearts. For surgeons trying to repair those hearts, the heartbeat center is often a hazard.

An operation in which surgeons try to mend a hole between two chambers of the heart comes dangerously close to the heartbeat trigger. Injury occurs in perhaps 10 per cent of these operations and may lead to death.

Now a new electronic instrument can exactly locate the center in a matter of minutes. Developed at the Children's Hospital Medical Center, Boston the device is expected to completely eliminate the possibility that the heartbeat trigger will be injured during open heart surgery.

Red Blood Cell

The life of a normal red blood cell in your body is about 120 days, say Weizmann Institute Scientists.

They are so tiny that if you stacked 25,000 of them one on another, they would stand less than an inch high. With new laboratory techniques and the electron microscope, scientists are studying the complex lives of these cells, the changes from youth to age in the cell's structure and life processes. Perhaps, they suggest, the studies may provide clues to how man himself grows old, and even how to slow the aging process.

Fear Of Disease

Illness of relatives or close friends with cancer, heart disease or other serious illness can make some people sick, particularly if they are over 40.

The diseases aren't contagious, but the fear of getting them can be. And that fear can bring on symptoms of illness, remark Dr. Jackson A. Smith and Lester H. Rudy of the Illinois State Psychiatric Institute.

Such persons may become nervous, short of breath, feel their hearts racing, their ears ringing, and get indigestion and other troubles. Cure lies in recognizing and getting rid of the anxiety.

Dying Too Soon

Most Americans live to retirement. But at least a third of all U.S. deaths occur before the age of 65. And the death rate in early life is almost twice as high for males as for females.

For the ages of 15-24, accidents cause three-fifths of all male deaths, one-third of all female deaths. And the second highest killer for the ages 1-24 is cancer, mainly leukemia.

Neither Sleet Nor, Etc., Etc.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Firemen and spectators still surround David Lippitt's apartment house, nearly destroyed by flames.

The mailman arrived on his rounds, pushed through the crowd, stepped over hoses and puddles, left the mail in the box and went on.

Fly Later

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—When the men of the 138th Tactical Fighter Squadron of the Air National Guard left for active duty, they left by bus.

Kennedy Sees No Early End To Tensions

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy sees no easy or early halt to East-West collisions which have pushed mankind to, as he views it, the gravest danger point in all history.

"There still are very major differences," he says, between the Western powers and the Soviet Union.

The talks he and Secretary of State Dean Rusk have had with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in the last few weeks have failed to produce immediate hope of achieving agreement on Berlin, Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday.

"Our ambition is to protect our vital interests without a war which destroys and doesn't really represent a victory for policy," Kennedy said. He added that Americans are rightfully concerned in this age of annihilate-weapons because: "We happen to live in the most dangerous time in the history of the human race."

ON LIVE TV

A crowd of 300 newsmen and visitors attended the news conference, which also could be seen across the country via live television. It was the chief executive's 10th news conference in Washington, the first in nearly 1 1/2 months and the first opened to television as it happened since March.

Kennedy, wearing his usual news conference dark blue suit and purple tie, provided a few chuckles but for the most part was solemn in tone and manner.

Declaring "we move through a period of maximum hazard," he ticked off steps his administration has taken in an effort to build up the country's nuclear and conventional forces. That buildup has dashed hope for a tax cut next year, he said. The government still aims for a balanced budget—an aim he said is threatened only by further demands for defense spending.

Kennedy made no promise against a tax increase but said he wouldn't want to saddle the country with a tax burden that would strangle its economic resources.

Asked if he was disturbed by Republican criticism of his foreign policy—particularly in which former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has participated—Kennedy said "everyone is free to make any attacks they want." He would prefer constructive suggestions, Kennedy said, "but I would never suggest that the battle of the mimeograph machines between the Republican committee and the Democratic committee should cease."

OTHER ITEMS

In other fields, Kennedy took these positions: Nuclear tests—The U.S. pattern of keeping its tests below ground, without spreading dangerous radioactive particles in the atmosphere, is consistent with its security interests. He did not, however, rule out the possibility of some day firing test shots in the atmosphere.

He said the United States would be glad to renew negotiations with the Soviet Union toward an effective test ban treaty but would not suspend its test program during negotiations. And he disclosed the Soviets have set off more than 20 atmospheric blasts in their current series. The United States has announced only 19 specific detections.

Shelters—by mid-November, the government hopes to suggest measures every homeowner could take to furnish some protection against radioactive fallout. Speaker—it would be unwise for anyone outside the House—to suggest a preference if it becomes necessary to elect a successor to Speaker Sam Rayburn, seriously ill with cancer.

Foreign aid—The United States is not using aid as a weapon to force needy countries to adopt its policies. "In general, our object is that they maintain their independence," he said.

Discrimination — He approved the decision of his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, to withdraw from Washington Metropolitan Club, which has a policy against Negroes as members or guests. Asked whether other members of his administration should belong to the club, he said each must decide for himself.

U.S. Intervention In South Viet Nam Looms As Gen. Taylor Sets Asia Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility of direct U.S. military intervention in South Viet Nam appeared to be sharpened today by President Kennedy's decision to send Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor on an urgent mission to assess the growing Communist threat to the Southeast Asian country.

Taylor, a top Kennedy military adviser, is scheduled to leave Sunday, make a fast survey of the increasingly dangerous situation, then give Kennedy an "educated military guess" on the size of the Communist menace and steps that could be taken to meet it. Officials said the U.S.-supported government of President Ngo Dinh Diem is coming under very heavy Red pressure.

In essence, well-informed officials said, the situation is this: The Diem government has had a problem of fighting Communist-led guerrillas for several years.

It has received extensive economic and military aid from the United States. In the last 10 years, including the time Indochina was still under French control, the United States has spent about $2 billion to keep what is now South Viet Nam from falling to Communist rule.

Earlier this year, while supporting anti-Communist forces in neighboring Laos, the United States began trying to build up

Diem's forces with more modern weapons and better training in guerrilla warfare tactics.

About three months ago Communist North Viet Nam began moving heavy reinforcements into South Viet Nam. As a result the strength of the Viet Cong, the Red guerrilla force against Diem, has increased from about 7,000 men to 17,000 by U.S. estimate. Diem's government puts the size of the enemy force at about 30,000.

Bids Tabulated
AUSTIN (AP) — The Highway Department has completed tabulation of low bids on 181 miles of construction work on Texas roads. The low bids totaled $11,152,920 in two days of lettings.

Beautiful Holmes

As smartly beautiful as the admiring lady above is the Conquista carpet she reclines on. Conquista is made by Archibald Holmes & Son after years of experimenting and testing. It has been awarded the Good Housekeeping Seal and is being shown exclusively at White's, 202-204 Scurry.

Smartly Beautiful

Well, it's on view at White's Auto Store furniture department. It is beautiful Holmes Conquista. The fiber is a new acrylic named "Creslan," fresh from the distinguished laboratories of American Cyanamid Co. "Creslan" — with exceptional color clarity, cleaning, wear and resilience characteristics. Here's a carpet that is deep and rich, with a hand-crafted-look textured pattern, that comes in glorious, ringing colors. Yet Holmes Conquista has a built-in ruggedness that's unbeatable, (thanks to 80 per cent Creslan acrylic fiber combined with 20 per cent modacrylic fiber). "Conquista resists soil and crushing," says Troy Ray, White's department manager. It promises years of satisfying wear and lasting good looks. Conquista has earned the Good Housekeeping Seal as a result of careful testing. Best still—this carpet is priced moderately. But you would never know by the simple elegance of the design which was inspired by the new Spanish feel-

New Location
Relerece Jones, long-time service station operator in Big Spring, invites all his friends and customers to visit him at his new location, the Standard Service Station at Third and Nolan. ## Santa Claus Has Arrived Early

Santa Claus seems to have come early this year—and his first stop was Cecil Thixton's Motorcycle and Bicycle Shop, 908 W. 3rd. There's hardly room on the floor to display the bright, shiny bikes that youngsters have been dreaming of and hoping for at Christmas. Schwinn Manufacturing Co. has really outdone themselves this year in providing you with a big selection of over 50 models to choose from. A new feature on the better model Schwinn bicycles is the Bendix automatic gear shift. This transmission and power brake assembly is the safest bicycle brake ever developed. Its power brake effect makes bicycle riding safe for even the littlest rider. It shifts gears simply and quietly merely by pack-spacing the brake pedal and is permanently adjusted at the factory so that it requires no further attention on your part. Schwinn has been generous with the use of sparkling chrome, radiant colors and two-toned saddles. Prices start at $39.95 for a sturdy bike with twin bar frame. Perhaps you are buying your child's first bike or giving a fine youngster the best you can afford. Cecil Thixton can help you with either. You can see the display at 908 W. 3rd and put that bike in lay-away now for Christmas giving.

Uses Economy In Fashion

Elizabeth MacCrae, former fashion model, stresses the economy of recognizing fashion trends. "Keep an open mind," she advises, "and you can wear your clothes season after season." She is to appear in Columbia's "Everything's Ducky."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

She Changed Style, Manner Of Speech

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—Elizabeth MacCrae came into the Polo Lounge of the Beverly Hills Hotel looking chic in a new fall suit with the skirt hitting the middle of her knees, latest fashion in short skirts; when I mentioned it to her she said:
"When I was a model in New York, I learned not to say 'no' to the new trends. I don't follow fashion slavishly, but I do try to follow it with an open mind. And I've found I am able to wear my clothes longer. If I went in for extremes I would merely get used to a style when it would be on its way out."

"What else did you learn about fashion?" I asked Elizabeth, who is from North Carolina.
"At home, we wore more feminine and frilly things than they do in New York. I love the way Southerners dress, but in a big city, it wasn't suitable. And I learned that you can't feel well in a favorite dress if it doesn't fit the occasion. Your whole personality can be hindered by not feeling well-dressed."
Elizabeth came to the Coast for Columbia's "Everything's Ducky." I asked her if she had learned anything to enhance her appearance.
"I've discovered much about applying make-up," she replied. "The make-up men here are wonderful. And I love doing my eyes, but there is not much point calling attention to the eyes if they are not rested and sparkling. I have been shown how to clear them when the smog is bad."
She showed me a little bottle with a small eye-cup attached. "I carry this with me in case my eyes get tired. It can be used over the eye without disturbing my mascara."
"You've lost your southern accent," I said.
Elizabeth confessed she had worked on her speech to great extent.
"I went to a class and had to talk with a cork between my teeth. I had to repeat many difficult tongue-twisters. But aside from losing my accent, the course helped me to speak more distinctly. Now, I notice how unattractive it is when people slur their words," Elizabeth concluded.

Apple Supplies On Increase As Fall Comes On

By The Associated Press
This is the peak of the apple season. Wholesale prices, even lower than last week, are in keeping with the huge harvest. Volume shipments prevail. Watch for apples, advised the USDA Agricultural Marketing Service.
Other best buys among fresh fruits include grapes and Texas Valencia oranges.
Pumpkins are in liberal supply. Honeydew melons are ample. Coconuts are priced some higher.
Shipments of cranberries are increasing. Cantaloupe supplies are tapering.
Look especially for good buys on cabbage, carrots, celery, greens, green onions, lettuce, peppers, round red potatoes, radishes, sweet potatoes and tomatoes.
Celery and dry onions are higher. Cabbage and potatoes are lower. Considerable Brussels sprouts arrive regularly.
High-protein items in particular abundance include turkey, broiler-fryers, beef and cheese. Pork supplies are increasing as the huge spring pig crop comes to market.

Bridal Shower Is Given In Forsan For Mrs. Harvey

FORSAN (SC) — Mrs. Paul Harvey Jr. was the honoree at a miscellaneous bridal shower Monday afternoon in the Music Room at the school.

She is the former Bonnie Yeaden, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kubecka.

Mrs. Joe Hoard and Mrs. C. V. Wash, two of the hostesses, alternated at the bride's book. Mrs. O. W. Fletcher and Mrs. M. M. Fairchild served refreshments. Other hostesses were Mrs. T. R. Camp, Mrs. J. H. Cardwell, Mrs. S. C. Cowley, Mrs. D. W. Day, Mrs. D. L. Knight and Mrs. A. P. Oglesby.

A corsage of roses tied with ribbons and tiny wedding bells was presented to Mrs. Harvey by the hostesses.

The tea table, covered with a lace cloth over orchid, was centered with a reflector which bore a bridal couple amid sprays of pastel blossoms, flanked by white tapers.

Attending among the 35 guests were Mrs. J. E. Thompson and Mrs. Joe Carlson, both of Big Spring.

NCO Wives Plan Pot-Luck Supper

Non-commissioned officers and their wives will have a pot-luck supper Monday evening at the NCO Club.

The supper is sponsored by the NCO Wives Club.

Ulreys' Guest

Mrs. R. D. Ulrey, 420 Dallas, has returned from a visit in Racine, Wis. Coming home with her was her sister, Mrs. H. E. Rhodes, who will be here for an indefinite time.

Fall Flower Show Is Interest Of Gardeners

Plans for the coming Fall Flower Show, to be sponsored by the Big Spring Garden Clubs were topics of conversation at meetings of local clubs Wednesday. The exhibition will be given Oct. 28 at Howard County Junior College gymnasium.

PLANTERS CLUB

Mrs. Dick Collier was hostess for the Planters Garden Club Wednesday afternoon, with a program presented by Mrs. E. O. Sanderson and Mrs. J. W. Trantham.

Distributing spring-flowering bulbs to the group, Mrs. Sanderson told of the origin of tulips in Holland and gave their history. She discussed the planting of bulbs, which should be done from now until early December, she stated. Mrs. Sanderson recommended that bulbs be refrigerated before being planted.

Mrs. Trantham explained the cultivation of perennials and biennials, stressing the planting of delphiniums and daylilies; she cautioned against planting delphiniums at too great a depth and recommended well-rotted fertilizer mixed with sand and bone meal for the lilies.

Mrs. C. O. Murphy was welcomed into the club by the nine members present; it was announced that the club will be responsible for one of the Hawaiian tables to be displayed at the flower show. Mrs. Donald Hine is head of the committee to arrange the setting.

The next session will be held in the home of Mrs. Doris Carr, 1305 Tucson, on Nov. 9, which is a change in the announced date.

FOUR O'CLOCK CLUB

Members of the 4 O'Clock Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. J. E. Fort Jr., 3301 Drexel, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Joe Horton was co-hostess.

Speaker for the afternoon was Johnny Johansen, who talked on "Care of Shrubs in Fall and Winter." He instructed the group on fall planting of bulbs and flowers, and then conducted a question and answer period.

A business session was led by the president, Mrs. Horton. Reports on the forthcoming flower show were given by Mrs. J. R. Solomon and Mrs. Bill Tubb, and the group decided to sell Christmas gift wrappings as a fund-raising project.

Mu Zeta Has Party For Rushees

Autumn tones were featured at a Coke party Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Richard Cook, when members of the Mu Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, entertained rushees.

Hostesses were Mrs. Johnny Lewis and Mrs. J. R. Redden. Games were played, and refreshments served from a table laid with a beige organdy cloth. An arrangement of autumn leaves and flowers formed the base for a gold container, which held gilded bottles of Coke.

A cake decorated in corresponding colors bore the name, "Mu Zeta."

Mrs. Don Bailey, one of the rushees, was awarded the special prize.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Conard Davis, 1417 Sycamore, at 7 p.m. Monday.

the president, Mrs. Horton. Reports on the forthcoming flower show were given by Mrs. J. R. Solomon and Mrs. Bill Tubb, and the group decided to sell Christmas gift wrappings as a fund-raising project.

Hostesses for the next meeting in November will be Mrs. Glenn

Leopard and Mrs. Jesse Pharis.

OASIS CLUB

In the absence of Mrs. J. D. Leonard, president, Mrs. W. F. Taylor presided for a meeting of the Oasis Garden Club, Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. Paul Kionka, 1610 Pennsylvania.

Mrs. W. R. Douglas and Mrs. Kionka served coffee to the 15 members present and the meeting was opened with the club prayer. Roll call was answered with tips on gardening.

Letters of resignation were read and accepted from Mrs. F. H. Talbot and Mrs. C. D. Martyn. Committee reports were given by Mrs. Carl B. South, year book chairman, who discussed the feasibility of guests at the January meeting when Bob Boydston will speak on "Proper Uses of Insecticides."

Mrs. Taylor, program chairman, asked each member to select her home project to be reviewed at the home pilgrimage. She announced the Big Spring Flower Show to be held Oct. 25, at the Howard County Junior College.

Also she told of a lecture on Christmas decorations and ideas to be given by Mrs. Don Warren of Waco, at Lubbock from 2 to 4 p.m. Nov. 10, and from 9:30 to 11 a.m. Nov. 11.

The Southern Zone meeting was announced for Nov. 8.

The meeting concluded with a program on "Art of Home Landscaping," given by Mrs. M. Nugent.

Homemaking Class

WESTBROOK (SC) — Seven-teen members of the Homemaking Class and their sponsor, Mrs. Charles Maughon, attended the District Four Homemaking meet in Big Lake Saturday. Theme for the meet was "Realities, Not Dreams." The Rev. Don Walker was guest speaker. Other events of the day were a book review on "Stripes and Snails," and two skits, "Dating Planet Earth," and "Dear Gabby."

P-TA Has District Meeting

"Signals For Safety Through Your P-TA" was theme for a workshop and panel discussion held by the 16th District of P-TA, Tuesday at Highland Heights Methodist Church, Sweetwater.

The district president, Mrs. Chester McDonald, presided. Mrs. Dewey Nelms, district safety chairman, and Mrs. Clifton Flynn, president of the Nolan County Council of Sweetwater, presented the program.

Invocation was given by H. H. Gates, minister of Highland Heights Church. Mrs. Nelms gave the welcoming speech and Mrs. Chesley McDonald of Sterling City, talked on "The Right Road." "Caution Lights" was Mrs. Clifton Flynn's subject.

Those who took part on a panel were Mrs. Marion Byler, Paul Rogers, Jerry Smith, Mrs. Elmer Payne, H. D. Morris, Elmer Sandusky, Eudora Hawkins of Abilene, and Steve Forgay. Mrs. Nelms was moderator.

Following the summary, a skit and film were presented. Talks were made by Dan F. Nowlin and Herman Seale, Mrs. Garland Conway and Mrs. Frank Mullican.

Sixty-five members attended the meeting and were served lunch at the church.

Couple Is Wed In Lamesa

LAMESA (SC)—The chapel of the First Methodist Church here was the scene Tuesday of the wedding of Donna Jean McMullen and James Arnett Whited Jr.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McMullen of Montreal, Canada, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. J. A. Whited.

Dr. E. D. Landreth, pastor, performed the single ring rites. The bride wore a two-piece aqua wool ensemble with black accessories. She carried a bouquet of white carnations; a pair of diamond earrings, a gift from the groom, was worn for "something new."

Mrs. Geron Holder of Dallas, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, and Jimmy McCormick of Lubbock, an uncle, was the best man.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple will reside in Lamesa where the bridegroom operates a cafe.

Brownies Name New Officers

Brownie Troop No. 205 elected officers Wednesday afternoon when a meeting was held at the home of the leader, Mrs. D. W. Holcombe, 1604 Scurry. Mrs. Holcombe was assisted by Mrs. Mel Stinson.

New officers are Pat Stinson, president; Becky Easley, vice president; Jill Forrest, secretary; Wynonne Holcombe, treasurer.

Fourteen members were in attendance and made plans for a field trip on Wednesday next week to the Brown community cotton gin.

The United Council of Church Women will meet at the First Methodist Church Friday at 10 a.m., it has been announced. Members are urged to attend.

ROUND TOWN
With LUCILLE PICKLE

October is such a wonderful month for doing things . . . every weekend has a fine game to see, or some group is in convention which takes someone from somewhere to be the delegate and it all adds up to good times. Of course, some of us find our entertainment at home or the Y, and during this month a number of us are striving to improve our bridge by attending night classes at the YMCA. Counting points is a very simple thing, our instructor tells us . . . Just a matter of elementary arithmetic . . . and that's right. A player would never have to count higher than 40 . . . It's just that some of us are so far behind in bridge playing we still think of Gerber as baby food.

On their way to a meeting of the American Banking Institute in San Francisco are MR. and MRS. J. R. HENSLEY. The couple boarded a banker's special train in Dallas Wednesday. The plans are for the train to stop at points of interest such as Salt Lake City for the conventioners to rest from the train trip and do a little sight-seeing. The Hensleys will be joined by friends from South Texas for a boat trip to Hawaii following the meeting. They plan to be on the island a week before flying back home.

The T. A. ROGERSES are making plans to build a home on their lots 21, miles southeast of Llano where they may make their permanent home. The couple has lived in Big Spring approximately 30 years; he retired from his place with Texas Electric Service several years ago and now wants to live closer to his fishing spot.

MR. and MRS. WILLIAM J. T. ROBERTSON left Wednesday by air from Midland for Nashville, Tenn., to be with their son, Jimmy, who is critically ill. They plan an indefinite stay and may be reached by 2915 McGavock Pike in Nashville.

MR. and MRS. F. D. REECE, parents of MRS. JOE MOSS, planned to return today to their home in Austin after spending several days here with the Mosses.

MR. and MRS. C. W. HARPER of El Paso are visiting in the home of the C. C. JONESSES. Mrs. Harper and Mrs. Jones are sisters.

MR. and MRS. DAN CONLEY were in Dallas last weekend on a combined business and pleasure trip. They visited their son, Jimmy, and his wife.

The coffee Tuesday morning for MRS. H. A. REQUE was such a delightful affair no one wanted to leave. It was a real gathering of old-time friends and a scattering of new ones. The Reques were to leave today for their new assignment in Greenville, S. C., after living in Germany for several years. Mrs. Reque, the former Connie Cushing, is a sister of MRS. H. C. STIPP, who was hostess for the coffee at Cosden Country Club.

New Circle Meets In Haines Home

A newly-organized circle of Crestview Baptist Church, the Mary Jane Robertson Circle, met Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. Andrew Haines.

A program on "The World at Our Doorstep" was presented by Mrs. Haines, Mrs. Billy Scott and Mrs. M. O. Griffith. The group plans to meet each week in homes of members.

Shorteses Have Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Shortes of Knott have returned from Philomath, Ore., where they visited their sons and their families, the John Shorteses and the Durrell Shorteses. A deer hunt, during which Durrell shot a deer on the John Shortes ranch, was a highlight of the trip.

Tyler Eye Bank

Tyler Hospital Seeks Eye Donors

TYLER (AP)—The Tyler Medical Center hospital has established the first eye bank in East Texas, and one of the very few in the entire Southwest.

Every group will be made to provide eye tissue for all patients in this needy group. And no charge will be made to patient or surgeon for corneal tissues provided for sight restoration.

Elaborating on the delicate corneal transplant, Pearson noted the eye must be removed within three hours of the donor's death if it is to be of use.

Even if the eye cannot be removed from the deceased within the three-hour period required for a successful operation, it is still

Genetic Fallout Damage Long-Term, Doctor Hints

By W. JONES MACFARLAN WASHINGTON (AP)—Any genetic damage caused by fallout from the current series of Russian nuclear explosions will be so slight, in the opinion of a Public Health Service physician, that it may not be discernible even after several generations.

The physician in the service's division of radiological health gave his views to this reporter today but declined to permit identification by name.

He said the radiation dose to reproductive cells from radioactivity of levels measured in this country since Sept. 1 will not be as large as that received over a long period from natural background radiation.

There is a considerable variation worldwide in the amount of natural background radiation. For instance, the expert said that in the Monazite Sands areas of India it is possibly 20 times the usual maximum in this country.

The official said it is not thought that any genetic changes caused by radiation of the levels recently recorded in this country would show up in the nation's younger people or in their immediate offspring.

"If changes do occur in far-distant generations, they may be

Doctor-Dentist Draft Coming Up

AUSTIN (AP)—State draft headquarters said today that beginning in November all physicians under 26 and non-father dentists under 26, classified 1-A, will be drafted.

The physicians will go to the Army, Navy, and Air Force; the dentists to the Army, Navy, and Air Force. "Earliest possible induction dates for those now available have been specified beginning in November, notwithstanding the fact that some doctors and dentists may already have applied for commissions," said Col. Morris Schwartz, state draft director.

Pet Sparrow Stays At Home

TYLER (AP)—Larry Raney's interest in birds gave him a new pet—a wild sparrow.

"Her mother just pushed her out of the nest or something when she was a week old," said Raney.

Larry, who has read every bird book at his elementary school, started the bird he named Twinkles on a diet of dog food and sugared water. Three weeks later, the diet was changed to birdseed.

Raney hung a birdcage from a tree in the front yard over Twinkles. When she was old enough to feed herself, they turned her loose one morning.

The family thought that was the end of Twinkles. But that afternoon, while Mrs. Frank Raney, the boy's mother, was in the backyard, the bird landed on her shoulder and began pecking at her ring.

"She was hungry," Mrs. Raney said. Now it sometimes takes more than birdseed to lure Twinkles to shoulder or finger.

"You've got to kinda whistle too," said Larry. The youngster's interest in birds started several years ago with an injured mallard and a wood duck. Larry nursed them back to health.

Abilene Crowd Cheers Cox

ABILENE (AP)—An overflow crowd of 200 cheered Jack Cox, Breckenridge oil man, Wednesday when he spoke at a breakfast sponsored by the Taylor County Young Republicans.

Cox got an ovation at the start and close of his talk and was cheered several times between as he expounded his beliefs on individual principles and party practices.

He said he had changed from a Democrat to a Republican because he did not want to follow blindly the liberal leaders of the New Frontier any longer. He also said a change is going on all over the state at the grass roots level and that the people are becoming more conservative. Cox urged the audience to do more work at the local level. He said a great many more offices exist at the county and city levels than at the state level.

Popular Apple Pie Gets New Flavor With Sugar

Among the applause apples get throughout the year, the apple's appearance in autumn pies still commands first place. Perhaps the first frost reminds us of the fragrances that come from an oven that's baking apple pie. Maybe it's just because there is nothing quite like an apple pie. For a new slant on this old favorite, try the recipe for "Brown Sugar Apple Pie."

The flavor is best when the pie is made with the most tart apples available, while the special taste of brown sugar flatters the flavor of apples and adds a rich, appetizing color to the pie. Grated Cheddar cheese and brown sugar in the topping provide the crowning touch.

You will want to serve the apple pie while it's still warm from the oven. Wedges of cheese are in order if you want to accent the cheese flavor in the pie itself.

BROWN SUGAR APPLE PIE
 1 unbaked 9" pastry shell
 6 to 7 cups thinly sliced, pared and cored tart apples (or 1 No. 1 can apple slices)
 1-3 cup brown sugar
 2 tbsps. quick-cooking tapioca
 2 tbsps. lemon juice
 1 tsp. cinnamon
 1/2 tsp. nutmeg
 1/2 cup brown sugar
 1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese
 1/2 cup flour
 1-3 cup butter

Combine apple slices, 1-3 cup brown sugar, tapioca, lemon juice, cinnamon and nutmeg. Arrange in pastry shell. In small bowl, mix 1/2 cup brown sugar, grated cheese and flour. Cut in butter, using pastry blender or two knives. Sprinkle over apples. Bake at 425 degrees F., 40 to 45 minutes or until apples are tender. Serve warm with wedges of cheese.

Sauce For The Guests

Planning a noontime committee meeting? This dish will put your guests in a good mood!

ASPARAGUS, CHEESE SAUCE
 2 tbsps. each butter and flour
 1 tsp. dry mustard
 1/2 to 1 tsp. sugar
 1/4 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
 1/4 tsp. paprika
 1 cup milk
 1 cup (3/4 lb) sharp cheddar cheese (finely grated)
 Tabasco sauce
 1 bunch (about 2 lbs.) large asparagus (cooked)
 8 slices buttered toast

Melt butter in a saucepan over low heat; stir in flour, mustard, sugar, Worcestershire sauce and paprika; add milk; cook and stir constantly until thickened.

Stir in cheese, off heat, until melted. Add tabasco to suit taste. Arrange hot asparagus on toast; pour cheese sauce over. Makes 4 servings.

NOTE: After breaking tough ends from asparagus, pare fibrous outer covering from stalks before cooking in a small amount of salted water in a skillet just until tender-crisp.

Pinch-Penny Soup Recipe

This version of a popular soup is made more economically than many recipes.

MUSHROOM SOUP
 1 lb. (about 16 large) mushrooms
 1/2 cup (1 stick) margarine
 1/2 cup flour
 1 envelope (1 1/2 ozs.) onion soup mix
 1 quart boiling water
 3 cups skim milk
 Salt and pepper

Wipe mushrooms with damp cloth; separate caps and stems; slice caps thin; chop stems.

In a kettle (about 3 quarts) quickly wilt mushrooms in melted margarine; stir in flour, then onion soup (just as it comes from envelope) and gradually the boiling water; mix well.

Simmer 10 minutes. Add skim milk and salt and pepper to taste; refrigerate over night to blend flavors; reheat.

Makes about 2 quarts—8 servings.

Changes Flavor

Ever spread a cut of freshly-cooked corned beef with prepared mustard, sprinkle with brown sugar (light or dark) and bake in a moderate oven until lightly browned? If you like, you can insert whole cloves in the top surface of the corned beef at 1-inch intervals before glazing.

Skewered Meat, Hawaiian-Style

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
 Associated Press Food Editor

Broiled over charcoal or just in a regular kitchen range, this way of serving beef is one we can highly recommend.

First the meat, cut kebob size, gets two treatments. Meat tenderizer is used to make a thrifty cut easy under the knife. Then a Hawaiian-type mixture is used as a marinade to give savory flavor.

For broiling, the kebobs are strung on skewers with pineapple and tomato. Quite a tasty dish! You can use boneless round or chuck steak in the recipe; we've tried both and our preference is the latter for its flavor. If you choose the chuck, get an extra supply of it and use the meaty pieces with least sinew for this recipe. Use the pieces of chuck with more sinew for stew; or have them ground for hamburger or some other dish. This is a particularly practical idea if you have a freezer.

We think rice is a "must" with this skewered beef. You can add a salad, if you like, or corn on the cob, or if appetites are hearty, you can serve both.

HAWAIIAN KEBOBS

2 pounds boneless round or chuck steak (cut in 1-inch cubes)
 Unseasoned meat tenderizer
 1/4 cup soy sauce
 1/4 tsp. ground ginger
 2 tbsps. salad oil
 1 tsp. sugar
 1 can (14 ounces or 1 pound, 4 ounces) pineapple chunks
 1 basket egg tomatoes or 3 medium or large tomatoes
 Sprinkle the meat cubes with the tenderizer and pierce with a fork to allow tenderizer to penetrate. Mix soy sauce, ginger, oil, sugar and 1/4 cup of the syrup drained from the pineapple. Marinate meat in soy sauce mixture for 1 hour at room temperature, turning occasionally; if you want to prepare meat several hours ahead, refrigerate meat-in-marinade after the hour. Thread beef cubes on 6 long skewers, alternating with drained pineapple chunks and egg tomatoes or quartered medium or large tomatoes. Broil until done as much as desired, turning skewers to brown meat on all sides. Probably not all the pineapple will fit on the skewers; it may be heated in a skillet in a little of the marinade and served with the skewered meat and cooked rice.

NOTE: If fresh ginger is available, some slivers of it may be used instead of the ground

Bean Sprouts, Beef A Supper

1/2 pound flank steak (lightly frozen for easy slicing),
 2 tbsps. cornstarch
 2 tbsps. soy sauce
 1 tsp. sugar
 1 small clove garlic (crushed)
 2 tbsps. peanut oil
 1 chicken bouillon cube dissolved in 1/4 cup boiling water
 2 cans (1 pound each) bean sprouts (well drained)

Slice meat across grain so strips are about 1/4-inch thick, 1 inch wide and 3 inches long. Stir together the cornstarch, soy sauce, sugar and garlic in a small platter; add meat and turn so it absorbs mixture.

Heat oil in a 10-inch skillet until very hot; add marinated steak in one layer and brown well and rapidly on both sides; add bouillon and cook and stir constantly until thickened.

Add bean sprouts, mix and reheat quickly. Sauce should be like a glaze; if thicker than desired, stir in 2 to 4 tbsps. hot water. Makes 4 servings.

 2 tbsps. cornstarch
 2 tbsps. salad oil
 1/2 cup each finely chopped onion, celery and green pepper
 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
 Seasonings
 Omelet

Drain mushrooms; stir mushroom liquid (about 1/2 cup) with cornstarch until smooth; reserve. In hot salad oil in saucepan over moderate heat, cook onion, celery and green pepper about 5 minutes. Add tomato sauce and drained mushrooms. Add pinches (to taste) of preferred seasonings or use sugar, ground mustard and basil.

When sauce is very hot, mix cornstarch mixture; stir constantly until thickened and bubbling.

Serve over omelet made with 6 eggs, 1-3 cup milk and salt and pepper to taste. Makes 4 servings.

Tempting Cereal Parfaits Excite Teeners' Appetites

One spot where teen-aged girls don't often catch up with teen-aged boys is at the breakfast table. Boys aged 14 to 17 eat much that they usually fill breakfast-time nutritional needs as easily as they kick an extra point at a football game.

But among teen-aged girls, statistics tell a different story. Only about half eat adequate breakfasts, in spite of the fact that they are growing more rapidly than at any time in their lives. They are tired and touchy at mid-morning. Too often they snack instead of breakfasting and wonder why they don't lose weight.

Why no breakfast? More than likely, because "It's boring!" So, to a sophisticated teen, most things are. Mothers report that their daughters want something exciting for breakfast. Cereal itself takes on a new appeal when presented as parfaits, for instance.

Cereal parfaits? Once they hear me this gay breakfast trick, boys will find bed-time and snack-time excuses to repeat their favorites. Favorite parfaits of the teen-aged daughter of a New York food editor include layers of corn flakes or ready-to-eat high protein cereal flakes and berries or grapes and milk; oven-toasted rice cereal or ready-to-eat oat cereal with banana or peach slices and milk; hot whole wheat cereal with applesauce, raisins, and a whipped topping; steaming farina with maple sugar and butter.

The prize teen parfait holder is a tall, slim rickey glass or a stemmed goblet. Long-handled iced tea spoons add to breakfast fun.

The fact that they are bringing up important protein, B-vitamins and minerals adds even further to cereal parfait appeal.

 1/4 cup (1/2 pint) orange juice
 2 1/2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
 1 tsp. orange extract
 Salt
 3 to 4 tbsps. hot milk

In a small mixing bowl beat together thoroughly the sugar, sugar, orange extract, a dash of salt and 3 tablespoons of the hot milk. Add enough more milk to make good spreading consistency. Use to frost top and sides of cake baked in an 8 by 8 by 2-inch pan.

A Devotional for Today

Godliness with contentment is great gain. For we brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we can carry nothing out. (1 Timothy 6:6-7.)
PRAYER: Gracious Father, grant us grateful hearts. Open our eyes for the great gain to be ours in godliness with contentment. Give us the divine compulsion to seek the spiritual blessings, which we need more than anything else. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.
(From The Upper Room)

Pretty High And Useless Tribute

Americans are the most pyrotechnical people on earth. We burned up $1,544,200,000 worth of property in all fires during 1960. It was a record dollar loss according to the National Fire Protection Association, which collects such data. The previous record was the $1,439,640,000 loss in 1958.
The NFPA records $2,123,860 fires of all sorts last year, as against 2,114,360 the year before. Most if not all of them were the result of carelessness, complacency, or indifference.
Residential fires alone in 1960—$27,100 of them—accounted for $415,900,000 in property damage. The national fire death toll runs at the rate of about 11,500 a year.

These are especially sobering facts to ponder at the beginning of another Fire Prevention Week. Of course, the NFPA, fire marshals and chiefs, and firefighters everywhere like to think of every week as fire prevention week. Even so, this one week is set aside for a special effort in safety education, demonstration, and inspection.
Professional fire safety educators tell us that there is no such thing as an accidental fire. Most combustions are still started by a match or a defective wall socket. Spontaneous combustion—so-called—is usually a result of carelessness or ignorance.

Newspapers Seek Fairness

Rep. Steven B. Derouin, New York Republican, chose his words carefully when he said "most newsmen, especially in Washington, are pro-administration and do not report on the mistakes the President and the Democrats are making."
Those with a memory will recall the other half of the picture, the charge by President Harry S. Truman that Republican publishers prevent their reporters from reporting the truth.
Nevertheless, most responsible newspapermen are troubled by any charge of bias. Most of them try sincerely and conscientiously to report news objectively. If, in spite of their effort, bias is revealed to some (if not to others), then they renew their efforts to achieve the ideal, which is seldom possible, of true objectivity.
Newspaper editors have from time to time, particularly during election campaigns, sought to remove the possible charge of bias by giving contending candidates exactly the same amount of space and the same "play" in every edition. But most of those editors found in the end that you cannot edit a newspaper with a ruler. A candidate who makes a significant statement, by the very definition of news itself, is entitled to a more prominent headline and greater space than his opponent who does little more than string platitudes as he would beads.

Newspapermen still try patiently to explain to laymen the mechanics used in making up a newspaper page, particularly the front page. Here the crucial question of news judgment is involved. Most editors can agree on the most important stories of the day—a comparison of newspapers published on the same day in New York, Chicago and even San Francisco will reveal a startling amount of agreement on the most important news of the day. But on lesser stories one editor may put a story on page one, another consign it to the inside pages and still another reject it entirely. The question of whether the story is favorable to Democrats or Republicans rarely enters the editor's head.
Through the years, complaints of bias and partisanship against newspapers have been examined in detail by outside organizations specifically commissioned to make such a survey. In some cases clear bias has been discovered. But in a large proportion of the cases apparently undue emphasis on one side of a question or candidate is balanced by equal emphasis at some other time on the other side. The sum total is reasonably fair to all. This is about as much as can be expected of newspapermen who are subject to the same frailties as their fellow men.

David Lawrence Tribute To A Great American

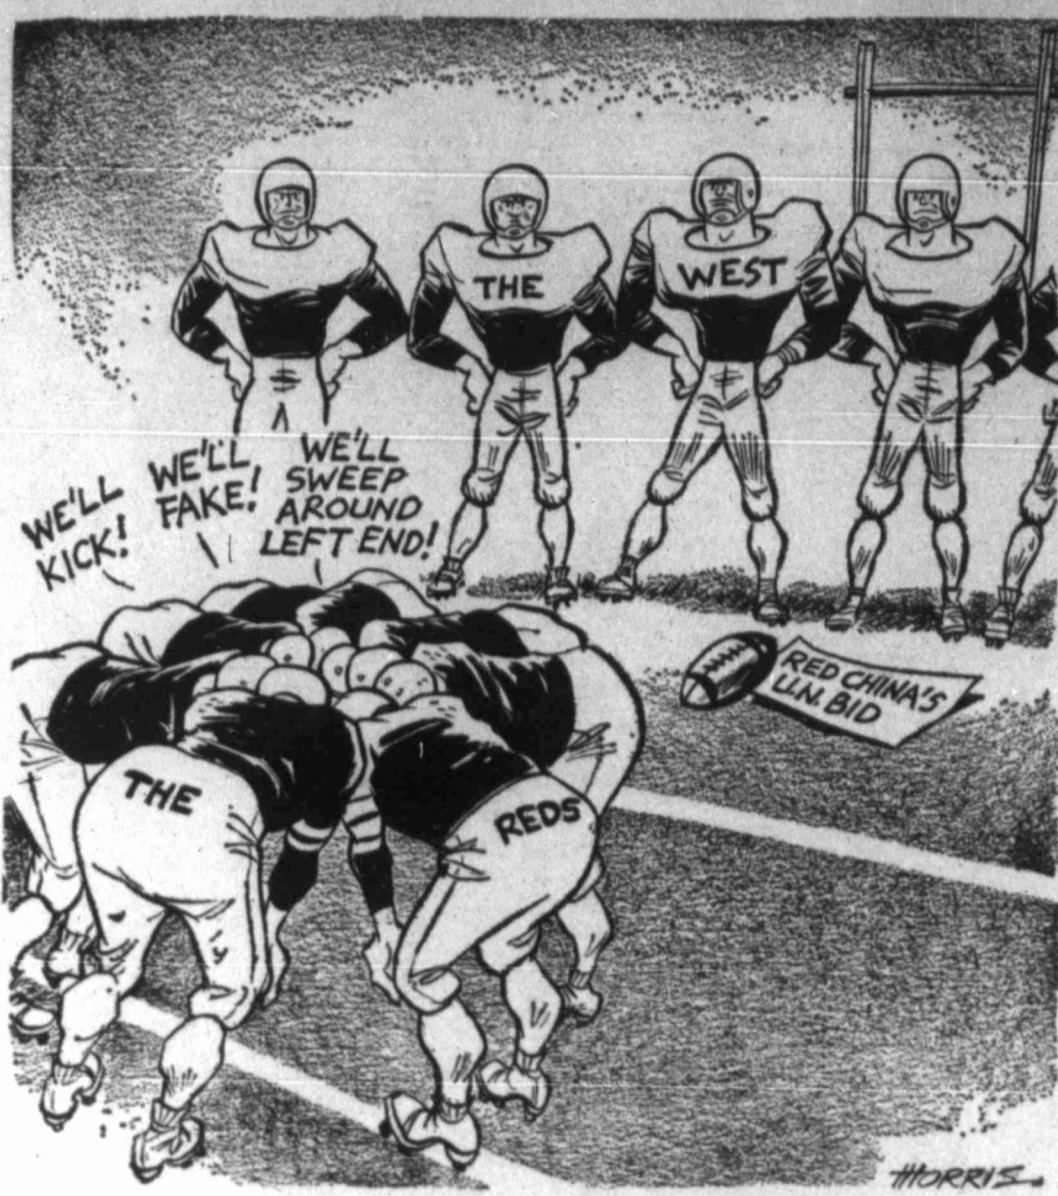

WASHINGTON—Once again a President of the United States goes to the sick bed of a valued member of his administration to say farewell. Mr. Eisenhower's parting with his secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, three years ago was a sad moment. Today tragedy recurs, and President Kennedy has made a flying trip to the hospital at Dallas where Speaker Rayburn is slowly moving to the end of his life.
Just two weeks ago, Sam Rayburn gave what may be his last interview. He gave it to W. B. Ragdale of the staff of "U. S. News & World Report," whom he has known for many decades. Mr. Ragdale waited for nearly a week at near-by Dallas before Mr. Rayburn felt strong enough to talk at his home in Bonham. After the interview was transcribed the next day, he went over it carefully. The concluding paragraphs may well prove to be Sam Rayburn's parting words to posterity:
"I HAVE ABSOLUTE faith in the American people. I believe that more than 95 per cent of the American people have more good in them than bad. And, when properly appealed to, they will respond now as they have in the past.
"The American people have never failed to respond to the best interests of the country when this country was in danger and in a crisis. I just know they will do it again if they are called upon.
"The great body of the American people is sound, patriotic and willing to sacrifice to the limit to preserve, protect and to perpetuate the great future of this great country.
"I have never doubted the patriotism or the willingness of the American people to sacrifice and do the right thing. I think we will come through in a fashion that will make us all proud.
"SO I LOOK FORWARD to living in this country at peace. I hope, and in friendliness for all good peoples of the world. We want other people to have their real life, and we want ours.
"We do not want to interfere with the affairs of other governments. And we want to stay at home and attend to our own business, and to build our own structure without interference from anybody else."

Speaker Rayburn has been present at many a conference of party leaders that President Kennedy has held at the White House and, indeed, at many held by President Eisenhower. Presidents, irrespective of party, gave him their confidences because they knew he would respect them. He was always objective in his comments. Though inclined toward the conservative side, he frequently repressed his own political feelings as he steered legislation through Congress that President Franklin D. Roosevelt sought. He helped the New Deal immeasurably. He was also a close friend and co-worker of President Truman. He favored Lyndon Johnson for the Democratic presidential nomination at the 1960 convention at Los Angeles, but quickly announced his support of Sen. Kennedy when the latter won the nomination.
MR. RAYBURN has served as Speaker of the House longer than any man in history. Had anything happened to sweep away a president and vice president, he was next in line for the presidency. Up until illness took him away from Washington this summer, his age—79 years—was not regarded as a handicap. It was rarely mentioned. He looked vigorous and acted accordingly.
The Texas congressman has been a natural leader, a capable public servant, and he has won the respect of both parties. He has always been a man of his word—something that is deeply respected by members of Congress, so many of whom know the wiles and equivocations of party politics and maneuvers.
Mr. Kennedy's trip to Dallas is symbolic of the interest of the nation in the man who has served the people so well in the House of Representatives these many years. Lots of men aspire to the presidency and some achieve renown because they hold the highest office in the land. Speaker Rayburn will live long in the history of his country as a constructive leader of the House of Representatives. While he may not have been known by as many people as acclaim a President of the United States, Sam Rayburn will be remembered in the annals of the national capital as a great servant of the best interests of the United States.

Bob Thomas Our Movies Aren't Making Friends

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Vincent Price is back from six months of European film making with an alarming view of how foreigners judge us by our movies.
Says Price: "Whatever good will Americans have engendered over the years is virtually wiped out by the kind of picture we are sending to Europe nowadays. We used to give them entertainment. Now we send them problems."

"We are giving them a sort of America. This is not America as all of us know it.
"But Europeans don't know it, because they judge us by our movies. I had people over there ask me if the United States was undergoing a bad depression. They had gathered so because of our downbeat pictures. It was all I could do to try to convince them that we are more prosperous than ever."
"What has happened to the glamorous movies Hollywood used to make, especially at MGM? They may have been somewhat fanciful, but they were closer to reality than today's downbeat films."
"AND THEY did a better job for us. In those days, every European wanted to come to America. Now they don't."
"The ideal picture for us to send abroad is 'Oklahoma!' Price remarked. "It is cheerful and beautiful and vastly entertaining. True, it doesn't show a picture of contemporary America, but you also judge a nation by its art."
"What we know of ancient Egypt comes from its architecture, its art and its writing. A great deal of how foreigners consider us stems from what kind of art we send them. 'Oklahoma!' is a wonderful example of basically American art form."

Hal Boyle Machine Marriages?

NEW YORK (AP) — Marriages are supposed to be made in heaven, but young psychologists here believe machine-made matings have a better chance for survival.
"They do as much as possible to eliminate chance," said Dr. Eric Riss, 32, who feels a scientific approach to marriage pays off in greater wedded bliss.
Dr. Riss, a Brooklyn College faculty member, is board chairman of Scientific Introduction Service, Inc., which puts his theories into practice—for a price.
"Sociologists have known for years the factors that go into making a happy marriage, but little was done about it," he said.
How does a scientific approach to marriage operate? Dr. Riss and his assistants submit each marital prospect to an exhaustive interview to find his likes and dislikes, family background, and goals in life.
Some 70 personality traits are indexed on a card for each person. The cards are then run through an electronic sorter.
The machine acts as a preliminary, not a final matchmaker. It picks out the people who, according to scientific theory, have the best chances for a successful marriage.
"They are then introduced—and it is up to them to decide whether the machine is a prophet, or merely a push-button mechanical busybody."
"We look for personality factors that complement each other as well as those that are alike," Dr. Riss said.
"People don't look for someone just like themselves, but for a partner who can fill their needs. For example, a man with a stern outlook on life might need and want a wife with a more relaxed nature."

Here are some of Dr. Riss' findings:
"Perhaps 15 to 20 per cent of people don't really need marriage. They don't have room for it in their lives. They are too much in love with their work, their hobbies — or themselves."
"The most important factor is this: Both partners must have the same basic values in life, and share the same philosophic goals, besides being physically attracted."
"Women are more concerned about character than appearance in men. They want a husband they can respect and who is brighter and more successful than themselves. They have a very difficult problem for the very superior woman. Such men are hard to find."
"As for men, if a woman isn't physically attractive to them, they aren't particularly interested in her other values. They don't take the trouble to find out."
Does the system work?
Based on hundreds of cases since 1956, Dr. Riss claims:
"The divorce rate for the United States as a whole is one for every seven marriages. There has been less than one divorce for every 500 marriages we have helped arrange on scientific principles."
"This is not a cold method—but a real ally to romance. Those who fall in love do so head over heels."
Dr. Riss and his wife, a former medical social worker, have a young son. His card won't go into the marriage machine for some years.

To Your Good Health Marriage Of Cousins Is Risky

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.
"Dear Dr. Molner: Recently you wrote a column concerning the marriage of first cousins.
"At that time I had no problems, but since then my daughter and my cousin's son have fallen in love and want to get married. Could you give me your advice on this?
"They are sort of 'doubled,' as the boy's grandfather and my mother are sister and brother, and the boy's grandmother and my father are half-sister and half-brother.
"Is there any danger of their children having deformities? Please give me a straight-forward answer.—Mrs. A. W. B."
I shall give you the plainest answer I can. It will not be a yes-or-no answer because that is impossible.
Every child possesses a mixture of characteristics—some from the mother, some from the father. Some characteristics skip generations, so grandparents are important, too. Characteristics are transmitted by genes, tiny but powerful "chemical patterns." There are dominant genes, and recessive genes. The dominant ones tend to assert themselves. The recessive genes tend not to reproduce themselves unless they happen to appear on both sides of the family.
This seems to be Nature's way of protecting its creatures. If a fault in the body comes from a dominant gene, and this same dominant gene appears on both sides of the family, the fault becomes stronger and the tendency diaper their babies at the age of three and even four years.—R. S."

I think they're doing a frightful job, needless to say, because they haven't spent the necessary time to teach the little ones better.
NOTE TO MRS. R. L.: Vegetables in general are "low purine" foods, hence suitable for gout sufferers. Lentils, being high in purine, should be avoided. Fruits and vegetables of all kinds are low, and so are bread and cereals, except the whole grain types which are of moderate purine content, as are asparagus, lima, kidney or navy beans, peas, onions, mushrooms, cauliflower, kohlrabi, oatmeal.
What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? For answers, read Dr. Molner's helpful new booklet, "How To Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Herald, enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.
Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.
"Dear Dr. Molner: What do you think of young mothers who still

Around The Rim What Ever Happened To The Bottletop Game?

I saw a few kites back during the spring and summer, but I have yet to see, in recent years, young boys gathered around a big circle scratched in the caliche and steadfastly shooting marbles.
Maybe they still do, but I haven't seen any of them doing it.
And while on the subject, what happened to such games as "Wolf over the River?" Perhaps it sounds a bit calm when compared to Mat Dillon on TV, but the way we used to play it, it was as rough as football. We used sidewalks for boundaries and being latched on that cement was no joke. Hardly a Scout meeting was ever held but what a game of "Wolf" was played.
NEEDLESS TO SAY I never excelled in any of these pursuits. But I enjoyed them just the same. My particular forte was "bottletops."
In those unenlightened days, a milkman made the rounds daily with a horse-drawn wagon. He left bottles, (real glass bottles), of milk at practically every house on the street. The milk was held in the bottle with a stopper, a round piece of cardboard.
Some genius of that era invented the game of bottletops.
It was simple and the rules uncomplicated. One youngster put a bottletop on the ground. A competitor threw a cap on the ground in an effort to cover the first one. If it did, he retrieved both caps, putting him one ahead.

THE GAME proceeded in that manner until one fellow either lost all of his caps or started a fight, alleging chicanery. The latter was more often the case. Any number could play and there were a world of bottletop millionaires in our school.
Despite the simple procedure, there was real art to the game. For instance, a brand new stopper was almost worthless in this game. When thrown down, it had a tendency to rebound. The best kind were old worn stoppers that would "stick" where thrown. The boy with the best throwing eye could win consistently with such a stopper.
Many of us would take new caps, grind them in the dirt, bend and wrinkle them, until they became like to those that would "stick."
AN ACCUMULATION of stoppers would reveal caps of many different brands of milk and some of them, the rare ones, were often sought as collector's prizes. They were even traded at various ratios, two to one, five for one, and I remember a purple stopper that was traded for nine common caps plus a real "sticker."
Frankly, the whole game seems rather ridiculous in these times when milk comes in boxes and youngsters have more important things to pursue. But in those days, it was a game of champions, for the few weeks of the season.

Autumn Also Moves To Poetry

A poet is a lovesome thing, God wot. But with rare exceptions poets have concentrated on spring and its insinuating fevers. Hi-ho, the merry-go! And off—with many a change of shift—to the road, a-gypsying at the first pussy willow in the meadow.
Or, for that matter, off with the first pussy willow beckoning to the open road as it leers from the window of a city florist. With modern transport what is it, from country meadow to city window is no more than a 48-hour journey for any pussy willow today.
AND A CITY FATHER, who has not forgotten his country boyhood (don't all New Yorkers come from the Midwest?), can, if his hand has not lost its cunning, contrive a willow whistle in five minutes if the pussy willow is fresh.
But there must be others than myself who are afflicted with autumn fever. Now, if ever, come perfect days in the American Northeast. Spring is apt to pass us by with scarcely a curl nod. By the time she reaches us, spring has emptied her cornucopia of beauty in other regions and has scant favors left for us.
But autumn — barring a hurricane or two — loves us. She blesses us with a long, lovely Indian summer as if to make up for our interminable winters, our chilly, wet springs, and summers as hot as the hinges.
RIGHT NOW, with the days still warm and long and golden, I'd tie up an extra dress in a flour sack and be on the road, if only I had a flour sack. The trouble with New York, as I discovered when I first settled here years ago, is that no one ever buys flour in 50-pound (or were they, to be exact, 48 pound?) sacks in this city.
Kitchens are compact in New York, and a 10-pound paper bag of flour is a big deal. Even a five-pound bag is boasting. The two-pounders fit more readily into a kitchen canister. And there are even one-pound bags.

WHEN I FIRST arrived in New York and discovered this frightful situation, I wondered where dish towels came from. I had never heard of anyone sufficiently crazy or extravagant to walk into a store and BUY dish towels. Dish towels in Idaho were either made from flour or sugar sacks. Sugar came by the hundredweight. Nice people didn't buy lesser quantities. I am glad that grandmother was never humiliated by the knowledge that I have bought it in a one-pound package!
But here I am, unable to obey that regular autumnal impulse to run away, to take to the open turnpike, tollbooths and all, for lack of a decent flour or sugar sack. Agents in New England say the foliage has begun to turn. There is gold in them that hills to fill the soul, and scarlet banners running through the maples.
THOMAS NASH, who loved not England's autumns, wrote an unhappy sonnet to them in the 16th Century, and South Africa's Roy Campbell holds autumn in scarcely more esteem.
But since John Keats wrote "To Autumn," the season has needed no other celebrant. With the current revival of interest in Lord Byron, it is now respectable once again to read the lyric poets.
So, with no flour sack available, I sublimate my itch to run away along the flaming highways by reaching for Keats and "To Autumn." Whoever better described this rich, abundant harvest time: "Season of mists and mellow fruitfulness Close bosom-friend of the maturing sun."
And how truly he asks:
"Where are the songs of Spring? Ay, where are they?
Think not of them, thou has thy music,—"

Holmes Alexander Loss Of Freedom Means Lesser Service

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Socialized medicine in Britain, under the National Health Service (NHS), is not as abominable as its detractors sometimes say—but it is abominable enough, and is getting progressively worse.
Its cardinal virtue, as seen from the American viewpoint, is that the 13-year history of NHS looks like the gaunt skeleton of a chicken-hawk nailed to the farmer's barn—a deadly warning for other predatory birds to stay away.
Nationalized health in Britain has taken place in a time of history when costs of construction, of administration, of manufacture and research of medicines, have all gone up. So have the figures on longevity, use of dentures and hearing aids, tranquilizers and other wonder drugs. It tranquilizers and other wonder drugs. It would be manifestly unfair and illogical to blame NHS for inflation or to credit it with new medical discoveries and concoctions.
A FORTHCOMING STUDY of British health, by the private enterprise Institute of Economic Affairs in London, says that the physical well-being of Britons is no better, no worse than that of Germans, Scandinavians and Americans. Neither the medical month of Britain, nor the free markets elsewhere, has produced the cure-all, the elixir for everlasting life, or the fountain of youth. The labor force still loses about the same number of work hours from sickness. For every killing disease that has been vanquished, another has increased its annual toll of human life.
Where, then, is the abomination of socialized medicine? Well, it has not cursed men's bodies in Britain, but it has devoured their peace of mind and fettered their souls. It may be possible to make a shaky but respectable case for the Central Government as a monopolistic purchaser of medical care, but it denies the individual his sovereignty of choice. As a corrupt tree, it has brought forth such diseased fruit as:
1. THE CLAPTRAP argument that people desire and are entitled to health. Truthfully, most people who smoke, drink, overeat, overwork, travel by air, sea and highway do not set the highest store upon their health and longevity. As to entitlement, people certainly have a greater inherent right to purchase the best their purses can afford, whether in food, housing, clothing, entertainment or medical care. Socialized medicine deprives people of some of this freedom.

2. The demoralization of the medical professions. In the 1950's British doctors suffered a one-fifth loss of their living standards, while the general population was gaining one-fifth. Dentists have had it much worse. A minority report of a Royal Commission says: "It would be difficult, even by searching the records of periods of violent economic upheaval, to find a parallel case where the standard of living of a whole occupation has swung about so wildly as it has for dentists in this decade."
3. THE THICK SKULL of bureaucracy. The Willink Commission of 1955 was formed to consider the future supply of doctors. For the period of 1961-71, it predicted that the British population would increase by 4.5 per cent (it is now increasing by seven per cent); that a NHS doctors' retirement scheme would not significantly affect the doctor supply (so many doctors retired that the increase of new physicians, which was 256 in 1956-57 fell to 55 in 1958-59); that few doctors would leave Britain (the emigration of doctors has been high and is increasing). The committee estimates were so wrong that chaos is now the forecast for 1961-71.
4. The hard heart of bureaucracy. The British central government has not been nearly so generous in medical care as a supply-and-demand market would have been. In 1949-50, British ministries made average spendings of 225 million pounds for electricity, 67 million pounds for coal, but only 26 million pounds for health service and virtually nothing for dental schools.
It is an awful record — an awesome warning.

Teeth Like Pearls
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Skindiver James Baker saw something pearls glistening at the bottom of Bargaintown Lake, but it wasn't a pearl.
It was a set of false teeth that apparently had only been in the water a short time, Baker said. He took them home to hold for a possible claimant.

Pie Like Mother Made Easy For Mrs. Shortes

The problem of so many young brides, a pie "like Mother used to make" was quickly solved by Mrs. Larry Shortes, 1604 E. 5th. She had cooked "a little" before their marriage, and learning that chocolate was her husband's favorite kind of pie, she promptly consulted a cook book and prepared one.

Story Hour Wasted

The story being read by Mrs. Larry Shortes to her two youngsters, Chris and Connie, was wasted when The Herald photographer appeared with his camera, which was much more interesting than listening to Mother. The Shorteses, who live at 1604 E. 5th, have purchased a trailer house in which they plan to live in Louisiana while he is on duty with the National Guard.

stiff. Brown in hot oven, 425 degrees.

PINEAPPLE CHESS PIE
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 2 cups sugar
 1-3 cup flour
 3 eggs
 1 small can crushed pineapple
 Juice from pineapple and milk to make one cup of liquid
 1 tsp. vanilla
 Combine sugar, flour, butter and eggs; beat until blended. Stir in liquid and add pineapple and vanilla. Pour into unbaked pie shell and bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, one hour. Makes one large pie or two small ones.

BLONDE BROWNIES
 Measure 1 cup sifted flour; add 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon soda, and 1/2 teaspoon salt and sift again. Add 1/2 cup chopped nuts and mix well. Set aside.

Seafood Supreme Newburg Christine

2 packages (each 1 1/2 ounces) frozen lobster newburg
 1 can (6 1/2 ounces) king crabmeat
 4 tbs. finely grated Parmesan cheese
 Paprika
 Turn lobster newburg into top of double boiler; thaw over simmering water, stirring gently occasionally. Drain crabmeat; remove cartilage but leave large pieces of crab intact. Gently mix crab with lobster newburg; some of crab will be in shreds.
 Spoon into scallop shells; cover and refrigerate. At serving time sprinkle with Parmesan and paprika; place in moderate (350 degrees oven) until extremely hot—about 20 minutes. Serve at once or keep hot briefly on electric tray. Makes 6 to 8 servings, depending on size of scallop shells.

Bouquet Chicken Is A Meal In One Dish

Copper lends itself admirably to cooking, as copper is an excellent conductor of heat. A favorite of many cooks, copper skillets are now made in such lovely shapes that they are a great addition to a buffet table.
 Made in a copper skillet or on the range, this recipe is an excellent meal-in-one, as the vegetables can be cooked along with the chicken.

BOUQUET CHICKEN
 (Serves 2)
 1 2 1/2- to 3 lb. chicken, split into halves
 2 tbs. butter, salt, pepper and paprika
 1 cup chicken stock or white wine
 1/2 cup tomato paste

1 cup fresh or frozen peas
 1 cup tiny whole carrots
 1/2 cup sliced scallions
 1-3 cup sliced water chestnuts
 1 tsp. chopped pimiento
 Split chicken into halves. Melt butter in skillet. Sprinkle chicken halves with salt, pepper and paprika.
 Brown chicken halves in butter. When well browned on both sides add chicken stock or white wine mixed with tomato paste. Cover tightly and cook over a low flame until chicken is almost tender.
 Add peas, carrots, scallions and water chestnuts. Cover and cook until vegetables are tender. Sprinkle with pimiento. Serve with hot biscuits.

Bouquet Chicken

Chicken cooked with peas and carrots makes a delicious dinner that can be prepared and served in the same copper skillet. Copper is popular with many cooks today as it is an excellent conductor of heat, and is easy to keep shiny and bright with a paste polish.

Noodles Basic Food On Countdown Diet

This countdown diet, like that of the astronauts, is based on the theory of low residue, calculated to get you ready for a great occasion fast. It counts not only calories but sodium content. Sodium which exists in salt and also in many unsalted foods, determines how much liquid we retain in our tissues.

Foods in this diet will surprise you unless you happen to know a lot about nutrition and food chemistry. The basic ingredient is egg noodles which you probably always thought were fattening. Actually there are only 105 calories per cup and unsalted noodles contain no substantial amount of sodium.

The fruit contributes vitamins and bulk and doesn't suffer from the omission of salt. Cheese adds protein. Ricotta and unsalted cottage cheese are very low in calories and sodium and both add calcium.

Parmesan flavored crisps take the place of cheese crackers or nuts, as nibblers. These may even be served as canapés when not on a diet. The cinnamon flavored version tastes remarkably like cookies.

You prepare the noodles for a day or two at a time. Then follow the basic pattern as suggested in the October issue of McCall's magazine, with any of the variations, to the tune of three square meals a day, or any number of meals you care to make of the same amount.

Eat these foods each meal three times a day and seven pounds can be lost within a week.

1 cup cooked egg noodles, 105 calories
 1 cup fruit or tomatoes and juice (fresh or canned dietetic - pack may be used), 46 to 100 calories
 1 heaping tbs. ricotta or unsalted cottage cheese, 30 calories
 1 tsp. toasted sliced almonds, 25 calories, or 1/4 cup crunch, 43 to 75 calories
 Coffee or tea (no sugar or cream)

Flapper's Pralines

For a very sweet but flavorful cookie, try this recipe adapted from a cookbook of the 1920s.

PRALINE BARS
 1/2 cup sifted flour
 1/2 tsp. each baking soda and salt
 1 large egg
 1 cup firmly-packed light brown sugar
 1 tsp. vanilla
 2-3 cup finely chopped pecans
 Sift together the flour, baking soda and salt.
 Beat egg until thick and ivory-colored; gradually beat in brown sugar, then vanilla.
 Gradually fold in sifted dry ingredients and pecans. Spread evenly in buttered baking pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches).
 Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until browned and top looks crisp—18 to 20 minutes.
 Cool in pan on wire rack; turn out; turn right side up on flat surface; while still warm cut into bars; tops will have some cracks.

Don't Avoid Potatoes

Potatoes have had an "A-OK" rating ever since early explorers discovered their fine eating qualities in South America.
 They receive that rating because they're tops on many counts: Easy to prepare, good tasting, versatile, suitable for any meal, reasonable in price, and rich in important food nutrients.

Potatoes have some calories, too — that's body energy. A medium-sized potato — boiled, pressure-cooked, or baked—provides about 100 calories, approximately the same as a large apple or orange, or half of a large grapefruit.

Of course, fried potatoes or potatoes served with rich gravy may provide two, three or even four times as many calories as boiled or baked potatoes.

It's also worth remembering that potatoes offer much more than calories. In fact, nutrition-wise, potatoes give a high return for money spent on them. One medium-sized potato can furnish as much as one-fifth of our daily vitamin C needs, and important amounts of thiamine and niacin. That same potato also provides worthwhile amounts of minerals like iron, phosphorus and potassium.

For All Occasions

BUTTER COOKIES
 2 1/2 cups sifted flour
 1 1/2 tbs. double-acting baking powder
 1/2 tsp. salt, nutmeg
 1/2 cup butter
 1 cup sugar
 1 egg
 2 tbs. milk
 1/2 tsp. vanilla
 1/4 tsp. almond flavoring
 Extra sugar
 Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and a pinch of nutmeg. Cream butter and 1 cup sugar; beat in egg thoroughly; beat in milk, vanilla and almond flavoring. Stir in sifted dry ingredients gradually; chill.
 Roll out on prepared pastry cloth to 1/4-inch thickness; cut out in desired shapes; sprinkle with extra sugar. Bake on buttered cookie sheets, about 1 inch apart, in moderate (375 degrees) oven until edges are lightly browned—about 6 minutes. Makes about 8 dozen thick cookies if 2-inch cutter is used.

Add Black Pepper

Ever add a pinch of black pepper to spice cake or spice cookies? This idea originally popped up in old-fashioned German recipes for spicy Christmas cookies and it's been adopted for other recipes.

For Pizza

Baking pizza? Some cooks like to grate Mozarella cheese coarsely, rather than slice it, to add to a tomato topping.

Seasoning

Mincing dried green onions are available in small jars ready to add to many dishes.

Half An Egg

Note to brides: If you are halving a recipe, and you want to divide an egg do it this way. Beat the egg until the yolk and white are combined and measure the whole thing; then use half the measure.

Substitute

If a cake recipe specifies shortening and you want to use butter instead, decrease the amount of liquid called for by 1 tablespoon for every 1/4 to 1/2 cup shortening called for.

Bewildered

Fingers to her forehead, Mrs. Alexei Golub, wife of a defected Soviet chemist, walks toward a plane and flight home to Russia at Amsterdam's airport. Earlier Dutch state police and Soviet officials engaged in a fight at the airport when police believed she was coerced into returning home. Golub has asked for asylum in Holland.

A Bit Late

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Ormond Dees is chairman of the Columbus Day celebration committee for Lakeland's Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Dees got up bright and early Tuesday. With the help of a work crew, he placed more than 100 American flags at strategic spots in the city.

Calls flooded city hall, police headquarters and news media switchboards asking why the flags were out.

"I just somehow got the dates mixed up in my mind," said Dees. Today is Columbus Day.

Bomb Damages Spanish Consulate

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — A plastic bomb of the sort frequently used by right-wing European activists slightly damaged the Spanish consulate Tuesday.

The bombing followed a weekend decision by Madrid authorities to keep a closer watch on fugitive right-wing French activists who have taken refuge in Spain.

Lunar 'Rover Boys'

"Porkie," held by Mrs. Judith Wrona, a secretary of the American Rocket Society, and "Dumbo," standing on its own "legs," are two of the strange moon devices introduced by RCA's Astro-Electronics at the show which the American Rocket Society opened in New York. The strange looking devices are known as "lunar rovers" and are being developed to provide locomotion techniques for moon explorations.

Going Rocketing? Save Your Money

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—If your children are eager to go rocketing into space, tell them to start saving their money. Commercial manned space flights could be a reality by 1975-80, a space researcher predicted today. Space transportation techniques are expected to develop rapidly in the next 20 years, greatly reducing the cost of a round-trip from earth into an orbit, or to the moon, said H. H. Koelle of the George E. Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala. This could be the timetable, Koelle told the space flight report to the nation sponsored by the American Rocket Society: Large, orbiting space stations carrying men in 1969-69. A permanent, manned station on the moon, 1970. A lunar settlement by 1975. Manned expeditions to other planets starting in the 1972-74 period. Round-trips from earth to low latitude orbits involving 5,000 men every year by 1975. Several men would be involved in each trip. About 500 annual man round-trips from earth to moon by 1975. Commercial manned space flights developing in the 1975-80 period. "It will be witnessed by the middle-aged generation of today, with the younger generation of today taking an active part in it," Koelle suggested. His prepared paper did not estimate the cost of the round-trip ticket into orbital flight or to the moon. But he said space flights could become relatively economical, with commercial interests developing in it, through bigger launching rockets, greater reliability of such rockets, return of the rockets so they could be used again, more efficient propulsion systems, and eventual use of resources outside the earth. Koelle said his study should not be taken to mean such capabilities are planned or would necessarily be desirable from the national viewpoint. But he said "one can conclude that the outlook for economic space flight is promising." Koelle is director of the Future Projects Office at the Huntsville center.

Customs Change At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some changes were evident as President and Mrs. Kennedy entertained at the first official White House reception of the fall season. Guests at Tuesday night's affair—honoring members of the Supreme Court, judiciary and other top officials—wore informal clothes, instead of traditional formal dress. The reception began at 6 p.m. instead of the usual 9 p.m. starting time.

100 Openings In Texas DPS

AUSTIN (AP) — Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety, said the DPS has more than 100 openings in its uniformed service for men between 21 and 35.

Applications for entrance in the next 16-week student patrolman school here will be accepted until Oct. 20. Garrison said the salary while in training will be $331 per month and either $395 or $412 per month, depending on assignment, after graduation from the DPS law enforcement academy.

Applicants must have a high school education or the equivalent, be between 5-foot-8 and 6-foot-4, and be in good physical condition.
