Caused By Fire

Damage

A fire which broke out at a Rexformer unit at the Cosden Pe troleum Corp. refinery shortly before 11:30 p.m. Wednesday did considerable damage to some equipment, insulation, and electrical wiring and controls. No one was injured in the flame which was caused by a gasket leak in the unit where gasoline was being distilled. Hot oil being used for heating caught fire at the leak.

'SCIENTIFIC' RESEARCH Alabama Out To Prove Negro Race Is Inferior

Van Fleet Apologizes

For Adlai Statements

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)-The State of Alabama has hired a retired medical school professor and a lawyer to try to prove, the lawyer says, that white persons are superior to Negroes intellectually.

The Montgomery Advertiser reported that approach to the race issue in today's editions

The newspaper quoted attorney Ralph Smith of Montgomery, retained by Gov. John Patterson to represent him in racial litigation, as giving these details of the arrangement

Smith, with Patterson's approval, entered into an agreement last February with Dr. Wesley Critz George, retired member of the University of North Carolina School of Medicine faculty, to make a detailed study of anthropological differences between the races.

A newsman made the matter public after noticing a $3,000 payment to George from the governor's emergency fund.

Smith said he and Patterson felt that "we should explore every avenue in our efforts to preserve racial segregation."

He added: "I think that many people in the South sincerely believe that the mental capacity of a Negro is inferior to that of a white, yet these same people think that science has proved to the contrary. Actually, scientific data supports the contention that the white race, intellectually, is superior to the Negro, and that is the point we seek to make with this study.

The report now is in draft form. It is entitled "A New Look at the Race Problem. In his introduction to the study. Smith said: "The Supreme Court has attempted a solution of the race problem with out having scientific evidence before it. Having so erred, the court will undoubtedly one day take another look. I was retained as a practicing attorney to prepare for that day.

Says Press Reports Were Not Accurate

FT. MONROE, Va. (AP)-Gen. James A. Van Fleet has apologized to Adlai E. Stevenson for statements concerning the United States ambassador.

The general, who had been quoted as saying he would have, fired Stevenson for his role in the ill-fated U.S.-supported Cuban invasion, said Wednesday night in a telegram to Stevenson: "My information from several sources regarding Cuba was evidently erroneous.

Van Fleet had been reported as saying Monday night in Lakeland, Fla., that U.S. air cover of the Cuban invasion was called off at Stevenson's insistence. Stevenson telegraphed Van Fleet on Tuesday, asking him to correct what he called a "totally false" statement.

"In view of your telegram, which I am glad to have," Van Fleet replied, "I stand corrected and am sorry for press statements which were, in fact, not accurate and completely out of context.

The Tampa (Fla.) Tribune had reported Van Fleet also said Berlin and Laos were lost to communism, there was a 50-50 chance South Viet Nam would be lost and neither West Germany nor France will fight for West Berlin and the United States shouldn't fight for them.

Thursday morning

The rains began falling around dark and continued most of the night. There was little wind and the moisture, for the most part, soaked into the thissty earth. Some parts of the county have had no measurable moisture since last July and the rains were most welcome.

In general, it was anticipated the rains would cause little harm. Howard County cotton is already graded as light spotted and if the moisture was followed by more damp days, there is a probability the lint could drop from strict middling to middling.

The bright sun which came Thursday on the heels of the rains was welcomed. Farmers felt that if the clouds are gone for a few days, there will be no damage of importance from the showers.

WORRY

The worst worry was in the weather forecast for tonight and tomorrow.

The Weather Bureau foresaw local freezing weather and a freeze now with the cotton bolls soggy would be a major calamity.

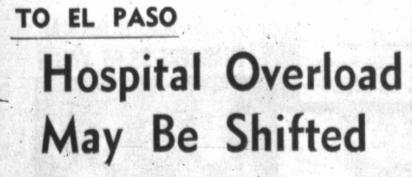

"A "dry" freeze would do little harm-perhaps even be of benefit in some fields. A wet freeze, which would be the kind if the forecast is borne out, would be destructive.

WASHINGTON (AP) - President and Mrs. Kennedy treated Harry S. Truman of Independence, Mo., to a very nostalgic evening at the White House. And the 77-year-old former president had such a good time he even sat down at the piano himself and entertained some 40 dinner guests Wednesday night with a rendition of Paderewski's Minuet in G.

The visiting Trumans - Bess, Harry and Daughter Margaretgot an unusual treat for an expresidential family, a night at their old home, the White House. And the dinner party the Kennedys staged in their honor brought together many old friends and former officials of the Truman administration and stirred many memories.

Among the guests was former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Harry Vaughan, who was Truman's military aide.

The Trumans broke the usual rigidity of the receiving line in the Blue Room by kissing and hug-

ging old friends. When Truman and his wife drove up in late afternoon to begin their visit they were met by the Kennedys and applauded by some 50 employes who had worked under Truman and still hold White House administrative posts

Truman seemed so much at home that he took Kennedy's arm and guided him inside.

Connally To Speak

BROWNWOOD (AP)-Secretary of Navy John Connally will speak at a joint luncheon of civic clubs here Dec. 12.

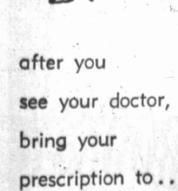

This one was on the road to success right from the start. You get a new kind of solid simplicity blended with the economy and dependability you know you can count on from all the Chevrolet family. Beneath the hood ... a frugal 4- or satiny 6-cylinder engine (there's a choice in most models) that's downright miserly on gas. You can choose from nine new-sized different models...including sedans, wagons, hardtop and the soon-to-be-available convertible. Like to see and try one? It's easy ... just follow the crowds.

If you're looking for sensibility at its Sunday best-drop in at your Chevrolet dealer's and join the celebration. It's Chevrolet's golden anniversary year, and this new Chevy II is making it a year to remember. A full line of nifty new models built especially to save you money on service and maintenance. You'll also get Body by Fisher comfort that makes many a full-size car wonder how it's doneroom for six solid citizens, bag and baggage, in all sedans and two-seat wagons. And, thanks to new Mono-Plate rear springs, you get a remarkably smooth ride that rivals much higher priced cars. Want to hear more? Get the full story at your dealer's.

Basden Plans To Continue Court Effort

Wayne Basden, attorney for Rudy Gonzales, said Wednesday he would continue his efforts to save his client from going to prison for 50 years for murder. The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals Tuesday handed down a conviction of Gonzales for the 1956 slaying of Herman L. Curtis, a Lamesa filling station attendant

Basden said that he was amazed the court had affirmed the conviction against his client. "I will file an application immediately for a rehearing," he said. "I will renew my original points and also introduce some dditional items."

Meantime, Gonzales is in Dawson County jail where he has been held since his arrest on Nov. 19, 1960. Lamesa county officials said they planned, unless new developments arise, to remove the prisoner to Huntsville as soon as the mandate from the appeals court is received.

Gonzales was tried last April in Lamesa: He was indicted for the five-year-old slaying with two other men. The case records indicated that he was in the car with the other two who, he said shot Curtis during a holdup. He contended that he had knowledge they intended to rob the filling station but that he had no direct part in the murder He expected to share in the loot. he said.

The appeals court said "the killing was a natural and probable consequence of such a common plan and design," in up holding the conviction.

A Devotional for Today

I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters, shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions. (Joel 2:28.)

PRAYER: Lord God, who revealest Thyself to men, we pray that Thou wilt grant unto us the vision of a world redeemed through Thy Son, Jesus Christ our Lord. Keep us, we pray, obedient to that vision, for His blessed name's sake. Amen.

Parasites Within The Body Business

According to a story in the Los Angeles Times, one billion dollars is the figure for the nationwide loss suffered by American business and industry employers from theft of goods, merchandise, parts and materials by their own employes. This does not include a multibillion-dollar loss suffered by retailers through activities of shoplifters.

Concerns which suffer the heaviest losses are those making or handling small items. For instance, electronics concerns are plagued because transistors, tubes, etc. may be stuffed into a pocket, purse, etc. and smuggled easily to the outside. Moreover, it is difficult to identify these once they are removed from the premises.

It is difficult to identify sand, gravel, brick, concrete blocks, switches, wiring, etc., so builders and suppliers are frequently tapped for these products. The most common thefts involve postage stamps, stationery and unpaid telephone calls

Dishonest workers within a plant or a warehouse often out do professional crooks more than five to one in getting away with parts and merchandise, according to the article. These daily driblets mount into sometimes staggering figures and may easily be the difference between profit and loss. The problem is so serious that theft by employes is now regarded along with fire as the chief cause of business loss.

What are the attacks against such a rathole? Industry has taken steps to reduce the temptations, then to set up systems that will help discourage or discover thefts. These are not altogether effective, moreover they are costly. What about a conscience - stricken America intensifying its teachings on the virtues of common honesty?

Around The Rim The Struggle With 'The Bill'

Our modern civilization is so much dependent on credit, that it's difficult to conceive of a time when ample credit-indeed, maybe too much-did not exist. But such a time did exist and it wasn't too long ago. My first excursion with credit was when I was in the second grade. The memory of such incidents is, as they say, indelible.

We bought our groceries at a little neighborhood store around the corner, and the grocer was considered very wellto-do. After all, he owned his own house and everyone else was renting. Besides, his son had the freedom of the candy counter, and his friendship was courted by every youngster in the neighborhood, including myself.

We also bought our groceries "on the bill," which is to say, we used credit. Once a week, the bill was to be paid.

BUT IN THOSE days, a family occasionally fell on evil times and there was not enough money to pay the bill. This was a difficult situation to be sure as "the bill" is all that kept many families with beans on the table.

At our house, I could tell when things were bad. No one said anything, but all of a sudden, I would be sent regularly to the store with a written note for all the grocery buying. And I read enough to make out the sentence at the bottom of the meagre list.

"I'm sorry, but we'll have to put off paying again this week, because Sometimes, the grocer would write a little note on the back of the list and have me carry it back. Then a pall of gloom would cover the house and mealtimes would be a bit skimpy.

BUT THE, GOOD times would return and the bill would be paid. No more notes, and the grocer should greetings half - a - block away. The paid - up bill seemed to lift the house into a new world of security and happiness.

The regular cycles of "paying the bill" were often bewildering to children, but I don't remember this being a subject of conversation between games of "cowboy and Indians." I think everyone in the neighborhood knew when other families might be a bit pressed, but it was not openly discussed in mixed company.

FL

I REMEMBER. ONE fellow of those times who would appear at school regularly with no lunch pail. He also refused the free school lunch. He claimed eating in the middle of the day was not healthy and actually convinced several fellows to miss their lunches as well. It was not until many years later that I learned of the destitute situation that forced his decision to miss lunch.

Actually, things generally were not that hard. But these were depression times and the job that looked good one day, turned out to be worthless the next. Meanwhile, they struggled along with "the bill" at the grocer's.

I SUSPECT that the grocer was held in more esteem than the president and other government leaders who tried to help people out of sometimes destitute situations. To the many in our neighborhood, the bill at the grocers was all the help wanted.

After all, everyone expected the next day to bring good times; seemingly, always just around the corner. In that respect, those unenlightened days were brighter than these.

2. Was there any other $780 million in the entire $89 billion budget that might have been saved instead and a decision made in favor of national security?

3. What right has a President to refuse to spend money appropriated by law for national defense?

Just twelve years ago-On Oct. 31, 1949 -when Harry Truman was President, this correspondent wrote:

"MUST A PRESIDENT of the United States obey the mandate of a law of Congress and spend the funds it authorizes for the Armed Services? Or may a President disregard the instructions given by Congress and withhold expenditures as he sees fit?

"A precedent of far-reaching importance is involved in Mr. Truman's announcement that, although he signed the military appropriation bill which provides funds for a 58-group Air Force, he will not spend the extra $648 million and will allow only a 48-group Air Force . . .

"The Congress made a mistake in voting for a 58 instead of a 48-group Air Force, but the law is on the statute books and if the President didn't like it he should have made clear that he would veto the bill and Congress would have had the choice of overriding the veto or amendbill to meet the President's ing the wishes.

Less than nine months after the foregoing was written the Korean War broke out and America was in need of every bit of military strength in the air that it could mobilize. Looking back now many a military expert in air power would say that the United States cut its budget too much before 1950 and handicapped itself. The point is that guessing what will or will not ensure national safety on the military side is a hazardous matter.

THERE ARE TODAY 600 B-52 heavy bombers in inventory-the real backbone of the U.S. Strategic Air Command. They fly 10,000 miles without refueling, carry bomb loads estimated at 50 megatons to targets in Russia. Production will reach 744 planes by August next and will be halted. Then there's the B-70 supersonicbomber program. It is still in the development stage. Congress has urged an

This in an era of great uncertainty as to the prospect of war. The House Armed Services Committee last May said:

"WITHOUT IN ANY way intending to minimize the importance of the intercontinental ballistic missile, and with full realization that it may represent our highest order of deterrent and offensive capability at some time in the future, the committee has posed to itself and poses the question to the House:

"'Are we proceeding too rapidly in the area of what is essentially an unknown weapon at the cost of weapons whose capabilities are tried and known?

Congress decided, not to take a chance. It reasoned that "it's better to be safe than sorry." Now the administration has returned to the risk-taking doctrines that were proved mistaken when the Korean War broke out in 1950.

MILITARY MEN are not convinced that man will ever be replaced in war or that missiles can be absolutely depended on to hit their targets. Manned bombers can be turned around, can switch targets and can do their own reconnaissance.

Where, it may be asked, is such a right given in the Constitution to impound funds, except in the provision which requires that the House and Senate be notified of a presidential veto within ten days after legislation is passed so Congress, as a co-ordinate branch of the government, may express its will? WHAT OTHERS SAY

One might guess that the whole long misunderstanding arose because of some little embarrassment involving King Charles who, according to dramatists, often crossed the surprising paths of his patriotic sea lord. Perhaps the king demanded to know why, since Mr. "Peppiss" was right in the next room, he did not answer when the king called. And the quick-witted Samuel may have replied that he thought the king was calling someone else because Samuel's name was "Peeps."

Anyway a member of the Pepys family stated the other day that if the noted diarist called himself Peeps, he was the first and the last to do so in a long line of Pepyses. Notwithstanding the Encyclopaedia Britannica's calling them Peepses. let alone generations of literary professors, playwrights, actors on stage and off, we are now authoritatively informed that the name is pronounced Peppiss.

How does a mistake like that continue on its somewhat snobbish way down the ages? Only the marvelous detachment of a British noble family can explain the fact that the popular pronunciation has gone unchallenged until now. What explains it being challenged at this particular moment is nothing more momentous than a traffic ticket. It was issued to Lady Paulina Pepys, pronounced Peeps by the magistrate who fined her ladyship, and pronounced Peeps by the magistrate who fined her ladyship, and pronounced right back by her as Peppiss.

Eventually, adults who belong to the shelter group will be supplied with identity cards, children with dog tags. Thus will the membership, in case of nuclear holocaust, gain admittance to the shelter. "Of course, even if their parents didn't belong, we'd try to take in as many kids as possible," Buettner added, as I asked what would become of the 250 children in the Highlands Elementary School just across the road from the shelter. Marguis Childs A Delicate Surgery, Indeed

WASHINGTON-In the roar and rush of a Presidential campaign a great many things are said that in the sober light of dawn have an odd sound. It was just a year ago that the Kennedy-Nixon campaign was moving to its climax in that night of torturing, hair-breadth decision.

Candidate Kennedy had been saying over and over again that under the Eisenhower administration the United States had fallen behind in military power. The "missile gap" had for months been the theme of Democratic speeches in Congress and on the hustings, with the charge that this country was entering a period of grave danger far in arrears on the allimportant missile side of the ledger.

IN PHILADELPHIA a year ago candidate Kennedy was recalling that candidate Nixon, when he was running for vice president in 1952, said that the nation had lost its military superiority and the support of most people in the world. To a wave of cheers and applause the Democratic candidate for president said he would never make a statement "as reckless and irresponsible as that."

Last week the able and courageous Secretary of Defense, Robert McNamara, announced that he would not spend on big bombers and the development of new super planes an additional $780,000,000 that Congress had appropriated. The reason was that the country would have "a nuclear capability several times (two or three times) that of the Soviet Union." This was with "the buildup of our bomber and missile forces which was recommended by the President and approved by the Congress."

BUT, OBVIOUSLY, no such confident statement could have been made on the basis of a buildup ordered only a few months ago. Under McNamara's direction the Pentagon has carried out a new evaluation of Soviet strength, greatly downgrading the Soviet's missile capacity.

The McNamara order follows the precedent set by former President Eisenhower when he refused to spend an additional $500,000,000 voted by Congress for more bombers. And in the politics of defense, which plays fiercely on the themes of national security and military suprem-evident. Gov. Nelson Rockefeller in a speech last week called for testing nuclear weapons in the atmosphere. He implied that the U.S. was behind due to no testing

Rockefeller is a principal contender for the Republican nomination for President in 1964. He has consistently advocated increasing the defense buildup, including a large-scale shelter program.

The governor of New York was answered on the Meet the Press television program by Glenn Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, who said that the United States was ahead of the Soviets. Furthermore, on the basis of this conviction he said he would approve a treaty which, with adequate inspection and control, would end all nuclear testing. The puzzled citizen must inevitably ask: Who is right? Seaborg, a renowned scientist, a Nobel laureate, surely has all the information that anyone could have. But Rockefeller through his own extensive resources, including the battery of experts engaged by the Rockefeller Brothers Fund to expertise the Rockefeller Reports. must also have broad knowledge.

THIS IS ONE of the deeply disquieting aspects of the politics of defense. It has led observers here to consider whether some way cannot be found to take the issue out of partisan politics and to avoid the king of "We're strong" and "No." we're weak" that gets into the emotional heat of a campaign.

There is increasing concern over the way in which the more than $50 illion of defense spending is enmeshed in the political and economic life of the nation. Congressmen fight over defense plants and unions go to bat for defense payrolls. A warning signal came from General Eisenhower in his farevell address as President when he spoke about the need to guard against the unwarranted influence of the military-industrial complex.

How to take defense out of politics is like asking how to take the old pork barrel of rivers and herbors out of the political grab. Certainly the judgment cannot be left to the military services since, and perhaps inevitably, they are conditioned to get all they can for their own show by any means available. But if war,
