U.S. LEAPS FORWARD IN SPACE RACE

Ape Orbits Twice, Returns Safely

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States rocketed Enos the space ape into orbit today, then recovered him alive from an Atlantic Ocean landing place after trouble in his capsule forced early termination of the 17,500-mile-an-hour flight.

"appeared to be normal." Although Enos came through all right and the recovery demonstrated perfect ground control of his craft, the flight raised questions as to whether a crash program now will be launched to get a man into orbit before the year's end.

The clock fired the rockets at 1:08 p.m. When the decision was made to bring the capsule down, the chimp reportedly still was in excellent condition and performing his tasks, receiving banana pellets and sips of water as his reward.

The attitude control system relies on electronic detectors to determine whether the spacecraft is on the proper course. If it is not, signals are sent to hydrogen peroxide-driven jets on the side of the capsule. The jet action returns it to the proper course.

The freckle-faced astrochimp, a 37½ pound native of Africa's French Cameroons, zipped away from Cape Canaveral at 10:07 a.m. (EST) atop a thundering Atlas rocket. The huge Atlas performed perfectly and blasted the two-ton, bell-shaped capsule into an orbit ranging from 99 to 146 miles high. The speed was about 17,500 miles an hour.

There was no indication that his ability was stemmed in any way by the crushing force of blastoff or by the initial entry into the weightless state which was to last for all but a few minutes of the 81,000-mile flight.

Enos was named for the pioneer flight Tuesday after a final series of physical and behavior tests. Rocky, a 31-pound male, was named backup passenger in the event something should happen to Enos—an adolescent 5½ years old and 38 inches tall.

Enos was reported in excellent condition as he waited out the long hours for blastoff on his 17,500-mile-an-hour flight. The 37½-pound chimp was confined in a space capsule atop the powerful Atlas missile. He was placed there at 4:14 a.m.

Judge Is Ordered From Death Stays

AUSTIN (AP) — The Court of Criminal Appeals issued today an order permanently restraining Dist. Judge Cullen Briggs of Corpus Christi from further staying the execution of Howard B. Stickney.

being so, no other court of this state has authority to overrule or circumvent its decisions or disobey its mandates. It is apparent that only by granting of relief such as prayed for may the original jurisdiction of this court in habeas corpus cases be enforced," the opinion said.

Stickney, of Houston, is under death sentence on a conviction of murdering Mrs. Shirley Barnes on Galveston Beach in 1958, when he was 20. Her husband, Clifford Barnes, was also found murdered, and Stickney was charged in his death. However, he never was brought to trial on that charge.

Sam Rayburn Library May Go Under GSA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Services Administration may soon begin administering the Sam Rayburn Library in Bonham, Tex.

Rep. Albert Thomas, veteran Democratic congressman from Houston, proposed Tuesday that the government provide money for the library's operation "until the local people can get organized."

GSA already administers the Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower libraries as federal projects.

Thomas estimated the cost "wouldn't be more than $15,000 to $20,000 a year."

The Texan, a long-time member of the House Appropriations Committee, made the suggestion in informal remarks at a ceremony in which Lawson B. Knott Jr. was sworn in as deputy General Services Administrator.

Addressing Dr. Wayne C. Grover, archivist of the United States, Thomas said, "Professor, do you think we can work out something to take care of the Sam Rayburn Library?"

"If anybody can, you're the man to do it," Grover replied.

After the ceremony, Thomas said he planned to present the proposal to Congress if it is not taken up by GSA as a budget matter before Congress convenes in January.

Knott, a veteran of 26 years government service, was sworn in by J. H. Macomber Jr., general counsel of GSA. The audience included Mrs. Knott and their son, Gregg.

The new deputy is a native of Wendell, N.C. He had been deputy commissioner of GSA's public building service since 1959.

Soviets Press U.N. Leader

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union, in a letter published Tuesday, pressed acting Secretary-General U Thant to explain on what authority U.N. officials approved a cease-fire between Katanga and U.N. forces.

U Thant replied that U.N. officials ratified the agreement last month as a military necessity under the general authority of past U.N. resolutions.

At the height of last week's Security Council debate on giving more strength to U Thant's directives in the Congo, Soviet delegate Valerian A. Zorin wrote the secretary-general and asked him to name the U.N. officials involved in the cease-fire. The United Nations then published the exchange of letters.

The dinner is expected to be attended by most of the Texas congressional delegation and oilmen and friends of the representative.

Dollar Bill May Lose Silver Lining

WASHINGTON (AP)—The silver certificate, a familiar item of currency since 1878, will disappear from circulation if Congress approves President Kennedy's new silver policy.

All $1 and $2 bills are silver certificates, as are some $5 and $10 bills. All of these would be discarded during the next 25 or 30 years, to be replaced by Federal Reserve notes which are backed by gold.

While Congress would have to approve this part of the Kennedy plan, the President ordered Tuesday an immediate end to Treasury sales of silver at artificially low prices.

This will lead at once to an increase in the market price of silver, which perhaps will rise from the old pegged rate of 91.5 cents an ounce to $1 or more. As a side result, manufacturers are likely to increase prices on jewelry, silverware, photographic film and other items with a high silver content.

The Kennedy program would represent the most important national change in silver in many decades. In effect, the President wants to end silver's status as an important monetary metal and make it a freely traded commodity, like copper or soybeans.

The program, drafted at the Treasury, also would end the recurrent and often bitter political battles over silver. The metal would have no more political appeal, under the new plan, than any other mining product.

Kennedy's decision stemmed from a steady decline in the Treasury's supply of "free silver" not needed for currency backing. This supply dropped from 123.5 million ounces on Jan. 1 to 22 million ounces as of Monday night.

The stockpile of free silver has declined because of purchases by silver users at the Treasury's sales price of 91.5 cents an ounce and because of silver withdrawn for use in coins.

Kennedy directed the Treasury to stop using the stockpile as a source of supply for coinmaking. He said that henceforth silver needed by the mints should be withdrawn from monetary reserves, with an equivalent amount of silver certificates pulled out of circulation at the same time.

The Treasury will begin at once to withdraw $5 and $10 silver certificates in order to tap reserves needed for coinage. Before it can withdraw $1 and $2 certificates, Congress will have to authorize Federal Reserve notes in these denominations. Kennedy said he will ask Congress to do this early next session.

The President also announced he will ask for repeal of silver purchase laws enacted in 1934, 1939 and 1946.

These laws put a floor under the market price of silver by requiring the Treasury to buy any new U.S.-mined silver at 90.5 cents an ounce. The stockpile of free silver was built up during times when this purchase price was artificially high.

The 1946 law also gives the Treasury the power to put a ceiling on the price of silver by allowing sales of free silver to users. The department fixed the sales price at 91.5 cents.

In recent years, the Treasury has bought virtually no silver because mine operators could get a better price elsewhere. The Treasury has sold silver steadily, however, because the 91.5 cent ceiling was abnormally low in view of market conditions.

Kennedy said silver should eventually be demonetized, except for use in coinage, and be traded in commodity markets. Trading would be possible only if Congress repealed a 50 per cent tax on trading profits in silver, as Kennedy will request.

Alluring Prospect For Russian People

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

President Kennedy's interview with Ivestia will reach a small but highly important segment of the Soviet population, and it unquestionably will present to them an alluring prospect.

In committing Ivestia to print the text of the interview with Premier Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei, the Kremlin probably recognized the risks involved.

The longing for peace and prosperity is strong among the Soviet people. The risk is that the President's words will help generate even more pressure from the Soviet people to satisfy their growing urge for normal conditions.

REWARD

The reward to be gained from this bold sally into journalistic competition may lie in the prospect of entrenching Khrushchev in his battle against the diehard Stalinists who insist that war is inevitable and that the Soviet Union should embark upon a much tougher course.

Ivestia as the organ of the Soviet government is distinct from more powerful Pravda, which is the official organ of the 9-million strong Soviet Communist party.

Ivestia is read by government officials, factory managers, top-ranking economic personnel, collective farm officials, professional people and others of that stamp throughout the Soviet Union. Its circulation of 4½ million probably means that it is read by 20 million or more people.

The words of President Kennedy likely are being read avidly. Soviet readers are hungry for such reading matter and—as Adzhubei himself said—accustomed to reading long newspaper stories.

The 2,000-word interview will not feaze Soviet readers. They will gobble up every word.

Kennedy put his finger on a point that worries Soviet officials. Russians—apart from high-ranking Communist leaders—obviously relate their hopes for increased living standards and prosperity to good relations with the United States.

When these relations are bad, Russian hopes sag. When relations have a prospect of improving, Russian hopes go up. Official Soviet propaganda has been careful not to slam the door on those hopes. When it speaks of the threat of war, it concentrates much of its fire on Germany, the source of the last scourge. It tries to suggest that President Kennedy is being hoodwinked by West German generals and "warmongers in the Pentagon."

Now the Russians have it from the President of the United States himself: An American controls NATO and West German forces are integrated in NATO. West Germans have only nine divisions and these under NATO control. They have no nuclear arms and little prospect of getting them. They have practically no navy and only a small air force. They are no military threat to the Soviet Union.

REAL THREAT

The real threat, the Russians are told, comes from unwarranted pressures in such areas as Berlin, in violation of postwar agreements. That pits one powerful country, the United States, against another, the Soviet Union, with the resultant threat that both systems could be destroyed.

Many a Russian will ponder those words, and these days public opinion in the Soviet Union is coming to mean more and more with regard to the activities of the Kremlin. Today's conservative educated Russian, generations removed from Bolshevik revolution, is unlikely to want to risk all he has and all he hopes for just to push the idea of communism on the rest of the world.

Despite the relatively small audience in a country of 210 million, the Ivestia interview could prove to have historic impact.

HELL

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher,
Church of Christ, 3300 West Highway 80
P.O. Box 1282

"Forsaken by God at the judgment"; is this what the Bible calls hell? "The grave"; is this what the Bible calls hell?

The answer to both questions is, No.

In the common version of the Bible, the word is used in two senses, being translated from two different words. One of these words does not refer to the final abode of the wicked. The other word always does.

Hell, in the sense of being the final abode of the wicked is called "hell fire" (Matt. 5:22). Men shall be cast into it (Matt. 5:22; Lk. 12:5). Some cannot "escape the damnation of hell" (Matt. 23:33).

Also, without using the word Hell, the Bible describes this place as a lake of fire and brimstone, where torment goes on day and night for ever and ever (Rev. 20:10-15).

If people have come to your door confusing your mind with their doctrine of "no hell", contact us. Let one of us show you the fallacy of that doctrine. Have Bible; will travel.

Mercury Meteor

Introduction of the Mercury Meteor—a completely new car in a new size—will be accomplished Thursday at Truman Jones Motor Company. The Meteor, a companion of the Comet and Monterey in the Mercury line, has clean-lined styling, and attains a distinctive appearance. The six-passenger Meteor is offering a suspension that provides a big-car ride and engine performance which challenges the economy of the compacts. The two-door Custom sedan shown above is one of four Meteor body styles.

New Mercury Has Features Of Compacts, Bigger Cars

A completely new car embodying the characteristics of compacts and big cars in one package—the Mercury Meteor—will be introduced here Thursday at the Truman Jones Motor Co.

The Mercury Meteor is made to appeal to consumers who desire a car challenging the economy of the compacts, the interior room of the regular-size cars and the riding comfort of the bigger cars, according to Ben D. Mills, vice president of Ford Motor Company and general manager of the Lincoln-Mercury Division.

The new standard-sized Meteor rounds out Mercury's offerings for 1962 with three distinct cars in three sizes. The new Meteor is 203.8 inches in overall length—nine inches longer than the Mercury Comet and 11.7 inches shorter than the Mercury Monterey. The 116½-inch wheelbase is 2½ inches more than the Comet and 3½ inches less than the Monterey.

Built as a full-proportioned family car, the Meteor has extra head-room front and rear and generous luggage compartment room. Its styling theme blends Meteor's own distinctive lines with identifiable Mercury appearance features. Engineers developed a suspension system for the Meteor which utilizes Mercury's "Cushion-Link" principle in both front and rear suspensions to give a soft ride. The Meteor suspension permits both vertical and horizontal movement of the wheels to reduce the harshness from bumps and road irregularities.

The body is of fully unitized construction with structural components designed as an integral part of the basic body. For greater durability a total of 136 pounds of galvanized steel is used for rust protection. New interlocking door latches provide unusually firm door closings. Extensive use is made of a variety of insulation materials for sound-deadening. Self-adjusting brakes are standard on the Meteor. Tandem electric windshield wipers which leave no center blind spot are standard, with two-speed wipers optional.

The latest techniques in foundry precision molding have been utilized to develop a new light-weight V-8 engine of 221 cubic inches which is offered as a Meteor option. A 170-cubic-inch six-cylinder engine is standard.

The short-stroke, low-friction Meteor V-8 is a ruggedly designed overhead valve engine which gives top performance with standard fuel. Hydraulic tappets provide quiet valve operation and eliminate the need for adjustment. Horsepower of the new V-8 is rated at 145. The six-cylinder engine delivers 101 horsepower.

Three-speed manual transmission is standard and automatic transmission is optional with both engines as are power brakes and power steering. Overdrive is available with the V-8 as an option. The chassis is pre-lubricated at the factory and requires no major grease job for 30,000 miles. The oil change and oil filter change cycle is 4,000 miles. Radiator coolant takes care of antifreeze protection for two years, and fuel filter lasts for 30,000 miles.

Bus Burner Juror Arrested

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Federal officials have announced the arrest of one of the jurors in the recent "Freedom Rider" bus burning trial on a charge of perjury.

U.S. Atty. Macon Weaver identified him as Lewis Martin Parker, 59, of Hartselle, Ala. Weaver said the federal complaint charged that Parker gave false answers when asked about present or past membership in the Ku Klux Klan.

The trial of eight men charged in the burning of a bus carrying an integrated team of segregation-testers ended in a mistrial at Aniston, Ala., earlier this month.

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret's baby will be named David Albert Charles, Clarence House has announced.

The names will be formally registered today when the local registrar of births goes to Clarence House, the royal residence near Buckingham Palace.

Cocktail Hour Should Produce Comma, Not Coma

DENVER (AP)—The cocktail hour, Dr. Clyde B. Stanfield claims, is here to stay.

But in spelling your day, it should be only a punctuation mark before dinner—an "nah uh woa! sentence."

The Denver psychiatrist suggested limiting it to two to three cocktails after the day's work, "to put in a punctuation mark before dinner, to relax and unwind."

He frowned on martinis at lunch "to get through the day," and on drinking after dinner to lubricate conversation or induce sleep; in short, using alcohol as a drug.

As a gag, he displayed to the American Medical Association his invention, "the drinking man's filter."

This contraption would limit the drinker to one swallow each 15 minutes and, through a timer device, not operate until half an hour before dinner.

He and other speakers examined medical aspects of various American habits.

Looking at the coffee habit, D. E. Chester Ridgway of Cody, Wyo., said Americans drink so much of it—100 billion cups a year he said—that it's bound to produce some illness, in nervousness, irritability, insomnia, stomach upsets, speedier heart rate.

Looking at pets in the home, Dr. Francis T. Caudin, Denver veterinarian, said dogs and cats often reflect their owners' behavior, including anxieties. He suggested cooperation between physicians and veterinarians could give some insights into what ails humans, or their pets. As for sex, no "sound scientific conclusions" can yet be drawn from various studies, said Dr. Bradford Murphy of Denver.

Dr. Stanfield told reporters he takes a pre-dinner cocktail but "drinking in the daytime is unhealthy."

Mankind, he said in his speech, long ago adopted the "lubricant of social drinking—for good or ill. Its remarkable endurance and progression throughout history appears to testify to some function well enough served to justify its persistence."

With drinking, "the jokes seem funnier, the conversation wittier, the painful realities remote. Man, for a time, escapes the regimentation imposed by reason and restraint through the glass-enclosed tranquilizer," Dr. Stanfield said.

"Our only recourse is to reckon with it—if possible to render the hazard non-toxic, or even slightly beneficial."

Formby Says Texans Tired Of Inaction

PLAINVIEW (AP)—An avowed gubernatorial candidate, Marshall Formby says "Texans are tired of fence straddling and dilly-dallying on state problems."

The Plainview lawyer and businessman added Tuesday night in a talk for the home folk that the voters "are going to demand a strong leader in their next governor."

Formby, a Democrat and a former Highway Commission chairman, addressed about 700 persons at a barbecue in his honor. He said that "no matter who announces for governor," he will make a formal announcement for governor in January.

One of the barbecue sponsors, Kermie Ashby, noted that it had been planned for the National Guard Armory. But he said that the adjutant general's office had ruled that no political or religious meetings could be held in the armory.

Ashby added that Gov. Price Daniel "was the principal speaker at a huge senatorial district political rally in the same armory 'three years ago."

Formby quipped that one of the many reasons he would like to be governor was so that he could speak in an armory.

Formby, bothered by laryngitis Tuesday night, told the crowd in city auditorium that he would run for governor "on a platform favoring a progressive growth of Texas."

He said tax laws should be simplified in Texas and "Texans should get back on a cash basis and stay there."

Formby said that while he did not want to go into details of his platform before January, he favors a maximum speed limit of 70 miles an hour on four-lane, divided highways.

"It's silly to build four-lane, divided highways and have the same speed controls as on the two-lane, narrow highways."

He said the merit insurance law for auto drivers "is the most ridiculous law I ever heard of."

Formby said his organization had key persons working in every county on behalf of his campaign. Persons from about 20 area towns attended the free barbecue.

Building Unions Fire Salvo At Rivals But Hint At Peace

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP)—Building trades unions fired a return salvo today at their longtime industrial union rivals in the AFL-CIO, but attached a hint of a peace bid.

President C. J. (Neil) Haggerty of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department submitted a report for the opening session of his department's three-day convention, blaming the industrial unions for labor internal wars.

Only a few weeks ago the industrial unions, headed by Auto Workers chief Walter Reuther, blasted the building trades and demanded a peace plan to submit all inter-union disputes to final and binding arbitration, with the decision enforceable in the courts.

Reuther's plan was rejected by the building trades, whose leaders let it be known today they are working on a plan of their own. They gave no details.

It appeared likely that at least two, or perhaps three, disputes settlement plans may be put before the AFL-CIO convention here next week.

Al Hayes, president of the Machinists Union and chairman of an AFL-CIO committee trying to map a solution, announced last weekend that his group "has developed a procedure for final and binding settlement of disputes."

Building trades spokesmen said their camp knew nothing of any agreement by the Hayes committee. In fact, Haggerty's report said the last meeting of the Hayes committee broke up in August with Reuther specifying that "nothing as yet had been agreed upon."

The feud concerns overlapping union work jurisdiction—a fight that has been going on for years but has been made more acute by heavy unemployment in many areas.

Just as Reuther sniped at the building trades at the industrial unions' recent convention, Haggerty fired potshots today at Reuther's union group. Haggerty said peace efforts during the past two years have been marked "by retrogression, rather than progress."

Haggerty said a 1958 peace plan had been abandoned by the industrial unions which tried "to nullify it unilaterally." Moreover, Haggerty claims Reuther broke a promise not to freeze the building trades out of major construction and repair work at the big auto companies.

The building trades convention has three pending resolutions demanding a walkout from the AFL-CIO because of the internal squabble. The resolutions were offered by building-construction councils in Massachusetts, North Carolina and Roanoke, Va.

Reuther similarly has said the AFL-CIO cannot stick together long without a peace settlement.

Unitarians To Organize Here

A Big Spring Unitarian fellowship will be organized at 7 p.m. Sunday in the home of Guy Chapman, 2513 Lynn Drive. Chapman explained that a fellowship is a lower level unit of the Unitarian Church, designed for communities where membership is too small for organization of a regular church.

West Eyes Berlin Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western powers are considering making proposals to the Soviet Union early next year for a settlement of the Berlin crisis. They will be designed to strengthen the security of West Berlin against Communist pressures and to assure free access to the city from West Germany.

The proposals may embrace a plan for creation of an internationally controlled highway corridor between West Berlin and West Germany as suggested by President Kennedy in an interview published Tuesday in the Soviet Union.

CONFERENCE

The prospective Western plan for Berlin, coupled with new exploratory talks with the Soviet government, is expected by authorities here to lead an East-West foreign ministers conference in a few months.

But U.S. officials say the negotiations thus foreseen will be prolonged and extremely difficult and no compromise solution of the Berlin dispute is in sight.

The Kennedy interview with Alexei Adzhubei, editor of the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia and son-in-law of Premier Khrushchev, dramatically illustrated the complete conflict of aims on Berlin issues with which the Soviet Union and the West are approaching negotiations.

The conflict of aims developed in what was really an exchange of views between Adzhubei and Kennedy. Adzhubei is believed here to have chosen this technique so that when the full record of the interview was published in Izvestia its readers were presented with the Soviet as well as the Western viewpoint.

LIMITED NUMBER

Kennedy said that the desire of the Western powers is to maintain "a very limited number" of U.S., British and French troops in West Berlin and "to have, for example, an international administration of the Autobahn (German superhighway) so that goods and people can move freely in and out."

With those purposes secured, Kennedy said, "we can have peace in this area for years." At another point he said that there has been peace in Europe for 15 years and "the problem now is to see if we can reach a negotiation which can settle this matter for another 15 years."

Adzhubei said that the Soviet aim is to sign a German peace treaty—with West Germany and Communist East Germany as separate governments—and then to guarantee "freedom for West Berlin by every means—by troops of the four powers, by United Nations troops."

SIMPLE MATTER

As to the problem of access Adzhubei said it was a simple matter because all that is necessary for the transport of people and goods across East German territory is to "ask permission of the GDR (East German government)."

Kennedy told the Izvestia editor—and through him the Soviet people—that he understood the Soviet Union would give the East German authorities "the power to interfere" with Western traffic to East Berlin. He said the West could not rely upon assurances that the East Germans would not interfere with the traffic flow.

Kennedy made the Berlin problem the central concern of most of his discussion with Adzhubei, although he said the great long range "threat to peace" is the Kremlin's effort to push the Communist system outward, taking over one country after another.

Stickney Aides Demand Trial In Barnes Death

RICHMOND (AP)—Howard B. Stickney's lawyers filed a motion in district court here Tuesday asking that he be tried for the murder of Clifford Barnes.

Stickney, 23, has been convicted of killing Barnes' wife, Shirley, and is under a death sentence. He has been granted stays and has claimed the full truth didn't come out during his trial in Houston for her murder.

The couple died on Galveston Beach in 1958. A month later Barnes' body was found by rabbit hunters in Fort Bend County.

Cardinal To Speak At Meeting

DALLAS (AP)—Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, Vatican secretary of state, is scheduled to make the principal address of the meeting here Wednesday at the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine.

Most of today's sessions of the congress will be taken up with workshops and forums with a general session tonight.

The cardinal's speech in Dallas Memorial Auditorium is expected to be a high point in the four-day meeting. The cardinal is second only to Pope John XXIII in the Roman Catholic hierarchy.

Yesterday, Cardinal Cicognani delivered a blessing in the Pope's name and Thursday night he will be the celebrant at a pontifical mass.

Other Catholic notables attending include Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, James Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles and Joseph Cardinal Ritter of St. Louis.

Cardinal Spellman also will address the assembly Friday.

Cardinal Cicognani Tuesday praised Texas for its leadership at a formal ecclesiastical reception held for him.

"Now," he said, "Texans are taking the leadership in an international event, not from material things, but for the kingdom of God."

Bishop Thomas K. Gorman of the Dallas-Fort Worth Diocese yesterday received a telegram from President Kennedy in which the President said "It is particularly satisfying to give my greetings and welcome to so many delegates from Latin America who are participating in this congress."

Kennedy said that "at a time when this nation must face the challenge of delinquency and selfishness by some youths... the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine's grass roots program of reminding American youth of their high spiritual heritage is certainly to be commended. This program accords with the highest traditions of this country and gives promise of a healthy future for our nation."

Kiwanians To Hear Refugee

political refugee from Fidel Castro's regime in Cuba, will be guest speaker at the ladies night dinner of the Big Spring Kiwanians Thursday evening.

The dinner is to be at 7 p.m. at the Big Spring Country Club. All Kiwanians and their wives are urged to be present.

Dr. Menendez, who fled from Cuba when Castro seized control of power, will speak on his adventures and observations during the time before he escaped from the island.

No luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club is planned for Thursday. The evening meeting will take the place of the regular weekly meeting.

J. C. Pickle is the chairman for the program. Ernest Welch, president, will be presiding officer at the dinner.

Several Moves Under Way To Restrict Bracero Use

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several moves are under way to restrict the movement of Mexican workers into the United States.

The Labor Department has called a hearing here Dec. 8 on admittance of Mexican farm laborers.

Attention is directed to a provision of law permitting the department to ban Mexican recruiting if it is found to affect adversely the wages and working conditions of U.S. workers.

The Texas State AFL-CIO has filed a federal suit here to enjoin the Justice Department and Immigration Service from permitting Mexican workers to commute regularly from their homes to U.S. jobs, particularly at Laredo and El Paso.

The moves are generally aimed at keeping out Mexican and Canadian contenders for jobs wanted by Americans. They could result in raising considerably the labor costs in nonfarm employment in U.S. communities along both borders and in U.S. farm areas generally.

The Kennedy administration lost an attempt earlier this year to get Congress to amend the Mexican Farm Worker Import Law to require payment of wages to Mexicans substantially the same as the wage levels paid to domestic farm labor.

Kennedy then signed with reluctance a two-year extension of the Mexican Farm Labor Law to Dec. 31, 1963. The President said Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg had assured him every lawful means would be used to prescribe recruitment standards to protect U.S. farm employees.

This apparently is what Goldberg intends to make clear at the Dec. 8 hearing. It will also cover amendments made to the law providing that farm employers offer the same "working conditions" to domestic workers as offered to Mexican workers. Another amendment bars Mexicans from certain types of farm machine work and from other than temporary or seasonal work.

Goldberg said recently that the Mexican farm labor program requires "careful implementation." It is necessary, he said, to "bear in mind that domestic farm workers are not denied employment or exposed to unfavorable conditions in the competition for jobs."

Daniel Asks Efforts For Tourist Trade

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel has asked for legislative efforts and a statewide civic organization to increase Texas' tourist trade.

Daniel spoke to a daylong conference here today.

"The object of this conference is to focus public attention on the imperative need for tourist advertising and to combine in a common united front the efforts of those best qualified to explain the benefits of this program," he said.

"I hope we are here not only to think and to talk, but also to act."

"I hope that as a result of this conference, you will decide upon a program of action through which contacts will be made with your elected legislators — to let them know of the need of tourist advertising, the benefits of it, and the statewide interest in it."

"It is also my hope that this conference may plant the seeds for a new statewide civic organization to work with and support the state tourist attraction program. Sound organization is the key to the successful development and promotion of a prosperous tourist trade. We must be organized at the community, area, and state levels and I hope that out of this meeting will grow an organization of this nature."

The governor said Texas ranks third among states with major industries but 13th in the tourist trade.

He said that in the last four years Texas' annual number of visitors has dropped by more than 1 1/2 million and "We have lost untold millions of dollars to our economy and uncounted thousands to our state tax coffers."

DEAR ABBY Time To Get Some Action

DEAR ABBY: What would you say about a man who has taken up a woman's time for 14 years "talking about marriage, but using every excuse in the book to avoid it?"

"That is the story of my life, Abby. First, he couldn't leave his widowed mother. After she died he came down with allergies, and it took him two years of doctoring to discover he was allergic to ragweed and sunflower seeds. Now when I get after him to set a date he drives me around to "look at" houses and to "pick out" furniture, but that's as far as it goes. I will be 40 soon, and he is 46. Do you see any hope for marriage here? Please help me.

TIRED OF WAITING
DEAR TIRE: You boy friend still has an "allergy"—orange blossoms. Give him until Christmas to marry you. If you wind up with a stocking full of ex-cuses, accept the fact that this man is "I do-proof," and act accordingly.

DEAR ABBY: We have an office problem that has become impossible for us to cope with. Just how do you handle a 29-year-old female idiot? She "hates" men unless they can dance. She bought a pair of shoes and upon returning to the office, discovered they were both for the left foot, but she wore them dancing that night anyway because they were "new."

One morning she came to work and tried for at least 30 minutes to light an electric heater with a match before someone told her it was electric. No one here can understand how she is able to hold a job. How does one act around such a ninny?

Genetics May Be Big Help In Screwworm Eradication

WASHINGTON (AP)—A newly developed black screwworm fly may help in efforts by the Agriculture Department to eradicate the normally blue-green screwworm flies.

These livestock pests have caused losses of hundreds of thousands of dollars when they infested herds.

The black color shows promise of a genetic marker, a distinguishable physical characteristic that is heritable, the Agriculture Department reports. This would

Upward Trend In Oil Ends

TULSA (AP)—U. S. oil production ended a four-week upward trend last week, falling 17,000 barrels daily, the Oil and Gas Journal reports.

The Journal said average daily production was 7,299,560 the previous week. It was the first decline since Oct. 21.

Texas is averaging 2,523,000 barrels daily this month. Louisiana is producing 1,210,750 and New Mexico 319,000.

Other states with little change last week included Colorado 126,100; and Arkansas 79,050. Oklahoma production was 506,200 barrels a day, down 12,774.

prevent recurrence of a problem that slowed eradication of the pest in the southeast.

In that successful effort two years ago, vast numbers of male screwworm flies were sterilized by exposure to radioactive cobalt-60 and released. These flies mated with wild flies, but the eggs produced by the female flies did not hatch.

Since there was no easy way to identify the released flies, it was difficult to determine the progress in eradication. Irradiation does not alter the appearance of screwworm flies, and they are not radioactive when recovered in traps. Dye or other markings are not sufficiently permanent for accurate identification.

An easily distinguishable genetic marker, such as the black color, could eliminate this problem and speed progress in future eradication programs, the department said.

The first black screwworm fly was found at the department's Kerrville, Tex., laboratory in a colony obtained from a laboratory at Orlando, Fla. Since these flies had not been irradiated, the black one is believed to be the result of a naturally occurring mutation. A sex-linked recessive gene is involved.

Several generations of the black screwworm fly have since been produced. Entomologists are now conducting studies to determine how the genetically marked flies compare with wild flies in mating activity, longevity and flight range.

Earlier this month, the department said that it had been discovered that chemicals also prevent reproduction in insects, such as the screwworm. It said that chemical sterilization has potential advantages over sterilizing radiation.

Harmon Trophy To X15 Pilots

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has awarded the Harmon International Trophy for aviators to the three test pilots who have been flying the rocket-powered X15 at fantastic speeds.

Awarded jointly for the first time in its history, the trophy was presented to Joseph A. Walker, A. Scott Crossfield and Air Force Maj. Robert M. White "for outstanding and extraordinary feats of individual piloting."

In a White House ceremony, attended by former winners and top government and industry officials, Kennedy called the flights of the X15 at over 4,000 miles an hour and an altitude of 215,000 or 220,000 feet an "extraordinary achievement."

Webb's First Enlisted Man
Leaves For College TDY

T. Sgt. Wayne E. McDade, of the 420th Field Training Detachment, is the first enlisted man at Webb to be authorized "final semester TDY" by the Air Force under Operation Bootstrap. He left Friday for the University of Omaha where he will be working toward a bachelor's degree in business administration. He is currently enrolled in a special six-week course to begin this week, and will enter the spring semester for his finals.

A graduate of South Akron (Ohio) High, Sgt. McDade has compiled 111 credit hours since joining the USAF in July, 1945. He did residence work at the University of Maryland, Ankara, Turkey, 1951-54; Orange County Community College, Middletown, N. Y., 1954-56; and at Canisius College, Buffalo, N. Y., during a tour at Niagara Municipal airport in 1958-60.

The University of Omaha has added to his educational file a total of 12 credit hours for college-level examinations completed through the USAF Institute at Madison, Wis. He gained this

Sgt. McDade will return to Webb upon completion of his TDY. He is assigned as an instructor in electronics systems.

Mexico Plans To Open Farms

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The government is planning a development program for vast areas of the southern states of Chiapas and Tabasco and the region of the isthmus of Tehuantepec that is expected to open almost a half million acres to cultivation.

The government said engineers would be sent into the area at once to plan natural resources control.
