Eichmann Guilty

Adolf Eichmann, who herded millions of Jews into Nazi death camps in World War II, heard a special Israeli tribunal in Jerusalem declare him guilty of crimes against the Jews, crimes against humanity, war crimes and membership in Hitler's elite guard and security police machinery.

Judges Conclude Eichmann Verdict

JERUSALEM (AP) — The special Israeli court concluded the reading of its judgment on Adolf Eichmann today with a summary finding the former Gestapo colonel guilty on all 15 counts of an indictment handed down last April.

The summation, preceded by detailed examination of Eichmann's role in the extermination of six million Jews in Europe, was a blanket verdict of guilty. The maximum penalty under a special Israeli law is death.

The three-man court convicted Eichmann Monday of capital crimes against the Jews, then proceeded to outline its views on the details.

The conclusion supported every claim that Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner placed against Eichmann after the former SS officer was captured in Argentina, flown here, interrogated, indicted and then tried.

At no time during the long reading did the judges say a good word for Eichmann and there was no evidence of mitigation in the entire 100,000-word judgment.

The counts charged Eichmann with joining the Nazi conspiracy to exterminate the Jews as a race, killing non-Jews as part of the forced labor program in Poland, contributing his help to the murder of Gypsies in the Hitler racial plan, helping to round up the children of Lidice in revenge for the assassination of Gestapo chief Reinhard Heydrich, plundering Jewish property and deliberately joining the Nazi SS, security police and Gestapo and full support of all such activities.

The defendant himself sat motionless as a statue. He heard over two days one judge after another destroy his defense that he was an unimportant cog in a big wheel and replace it with blanket conviction of Eichmann as a giant in a giant conspiracy.

The judgment determined that Eichmann, 35, knew of Hitler's plan to slaughter the Jews as early as June 1941.

The court said Eichmann helped to organize the extermination plan, was associated with the first murder squads and later with the supply line that shipped a special gas to the death camps.

Race Ruling Draws Mixed Reactions

Southern officials generally found little, if any, significance in the U.S. Supreme Court decision overturning the conviction of 16 sit-in demonstrators, but Negro leaders viewed it as the dawn of a new day for their race.

Jack Gremlinton, attorney general of Louisiana where the case originated, said it seemed to him Monday's unanimous ruling was based merely on grounds of lack of evidence.

"The constitutionality of Louisiana's so-called sit-in laws has not been passed on and so far as the state is concerned, they are valid legislation," he said.

The Negroes, all students of Southern University at Baton Rouge, were convicted under a Louisiana law making it a breach of the peace to "act in such a manner as to unreasonably disturb or alarm the public."

The ruling left unanswered broad constitutional questions raised by the sit-ins, including freedom of expression and equal protection.

Numbing Cold Holds Texas In Icy Grasp

By The Associated Press
Unexpected, numbing cold took over in Texas Tuesday as clear skies replaced snow, sleet and freezing rain across the state's northern sections. Wintry weather claimed at least two lives.

Losses from broken pipes, frozen radiators, destroyed plants and livestock were feared to be high. Generally, most minimum temperatures were from 10 to 20 degrees below predictions made Monday afternoon.

The state from Austin northward was in a deep freeze as day broke with the temperature at Dalhart 12 degrees below zero at 6 a.m.

Other temperatures included: Amarillo 3 below zero, Lubbock 6 above zero, Midland 23, Alpine 28, Dallas 22, Abilene 16, Fort Worth 20, Waco 27, Austin 32, Brownwood 21, Wichita Falls 16, Texarkana 29, San Antonio 38, and Brownsville 75.

The Weather Bureau said the freeze line extended east-west across the state from Palestine to Austin to Kerrville. Forecasters said clearing skies would continue Tuesday night with South Texas getting colder, continued cold in North Texas becoming not quite so cold by Wednesday.

The intense cold promised to keep glazed highways dangerously slick at least part of another day.

A hard freeze was in the forecasts for Tuesday night with temperatures expected to dip as low as 5 degrees below zero in the northern Panhandle, to 10 above in North Central and Northeast Texas and as low as 20 in extreme southwestern portions of the state.

While all main routes remained open, the Highway Department had appealed for travelers to make only essential trips in the Panhandle and elsewhere across Northwest Texas.

Up to 3 inches of snow in the northwest corner of the Panhandle around Dalhart and a mixture of freezing rain and sleet iced streets and highways. The icing occurred nearly everywhere in an area north of a line linking McKinney, Abilene, San Angelo and Midland.

In Dallas, a car skidding on iced paving hit a high line tower and the driver, identified from papers as Lee W. Ray, 41, of Dallas, suffered fatal injuries early Tuesday.

West of Roby in West Central Texas, Richard M. Gilbert of Macon, Ga., was killed Monday when a car slid across U.S. 180 in front of a truck. Five other persons suffered injuries.

Traffic became a nightmare in numerous cities hit by the ice storm.

Spectacular pileups were common in Fort Worth, where one accident left debris on two of the three levels in a traffic interchange. Two of the vehicles involved were a police car and an ambulance answering the same call. Thirty-five children escaped injury in a school bus accident.

The numbing cold hampered workmen trying to repair ice-snapped power lines near Lubbock in the Lubbock area, where schools closed for lack of electricity. It also slowed efforts to restore telephone service between Muleshoe and Littlefield, where 10 of 15 circuits failed.

Snow blanketed most of the Texas Panhandle with 1 to 3 inches before it stopped falling about nightfall Monday. Wind blew much of the snow off well traveled routes, however, and left them in surprising good condition.

BUT CITY GETS SETBACK

County, State Settle Row

Howard County Commissioners settled their problems with the State Board for Hospitals and Special Schools Monday, but the Big Spring City Commissioners received another setback.

Both city and county commissioners have been negotiating with the state board on problems connected with the local Big Spring State Hospital. The county had a problem of right of way for US 87. The city's problem concerns water rates and additional water supply.

The State Board decided Monday not to renegotiate a new water contract with the City of Big Spring for supplying the State Hospital with water. The board decided to keep working under a contract now in effect which calls for the state to pay 10 cents per 1,000 gallons for water piped into the hospital.

The city had asked for approximately 40 cents per 1,000 gallons under a new contract, after the legislature had passed a resolution saying that a new contract could be negotiated for additional services. The attorney general also ruled that the board could negotiate a new contract for "new and adequate services."

CAN'T DO IT
Under a state law the city cannot sell water to one customer at a lower rate than other customers when bonds are voted to finance water and sewer expansion.

The hospital had requested almost double the amount of water now being furnished under the contract, or 350,000 gallons per day, as compared to 175,000 gallons now being furnished.

The city commission, in the Master Plan bond program, took the position that the hospital would need more water in the future, and planned to provide adequate facilities. A new elevated storage tank in the north part of the city and a 12-inch line to the hospital gate were included in the bond program.

W. G. (Cotton) Kirkin, vice chairman of the board, said: "The way I see it, we have a contract with those people right now. If they want to they can introduce legislation at the next regular session of the legislature seeking permission to sue the state."

Mayor Lee O. Rogers said Tuesday morning that he felt the city commission would proceed under the existing contract until the latter part of 1962 when the 25-year period of undated contracts with the state would expire.

TERMINATES
"Courts have held that undated contracts could be terminated in 25 years," Mayor Rogers said. "Under the present contract the city's hands have been tied. We have acted in good faith in planning additional water for the hospital at the board's request and have already let contracts for more storage and bigger lines under the bond program. We cannot supply the additional amount requested and at the same time lose money and penalize other customers."

City Manager A. K. Steinheimer said the board's decision would be discussed at the city commission Tuesday night and a possible decision made on future plans.

The state board's approval Monday of the bid of T. A. Welch, Big Spring contractor, for moving two residences on Big Spring State Hospital grounds was hailed with satisfaction by Howard County officials.

LAST PROBLEM
The action gives the county the go-ahead signal and winds up the last major right-of-way problem on US 87 and clear the way for the Texas Highway Department to award contract for rebuilding the road into a four-lane highway.

Welch's bid was $7,405 for moving the two residences back from the road. The county has earmarked $7,500 to pay for the job. Earlier bids, based on the state board's original requirements, ran double the amount available to pay for the job. The state recently modified its requirements and as a result, the new bid is within the money.

The Big Spring Hospital is giving the land—about 13 acres—but was insisting the two residences

Sun Returns, But Cold Is Still With Us

The sun came back Tuesday but it was having a hard time breaking the back of the biting cold which prevailed in this area.

Temperature dropped to an icy 20 degrees on Monday night and was still at that level at 8 a.m. Tuesday. At 11 a.m. it had climbed to 25 degrees and then dropped back to 24.

The cold will hold on throughout today and tomorrow, the U. S. Weather Bureau forecast said. Low tonight should be in the lower 20's and the high on Wednesday is slated to reach 35 degrees.

There was no moisture Monday night and what icicles on trees and shrubs are the relics of Monday's day of dampness and drizzle. A few fleeting snowflakes fell Monday morning.

High reading Monday was 32 degrees.

Stock tanks on ranches were coated over with ice better than a quarter of an inch thick. No hardship stories were heard relative to cattle or sheep. The cold spell has not been of sufficient duration to cause any suffering and the stock, it was pointed out, is in excellent physical condition. A few early lambs have been dropped and shepherds are having to keep an eye out for these.

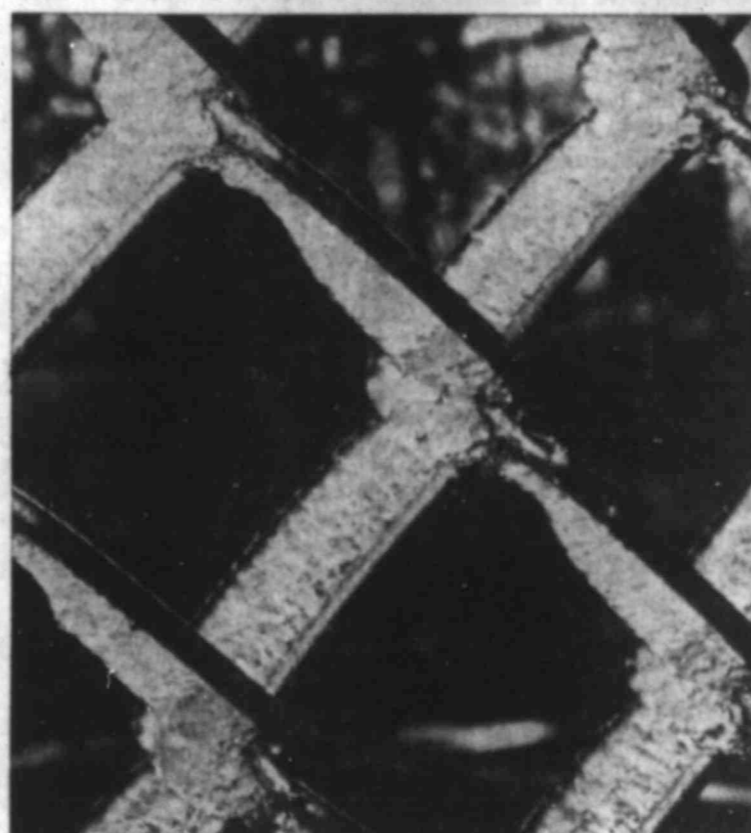

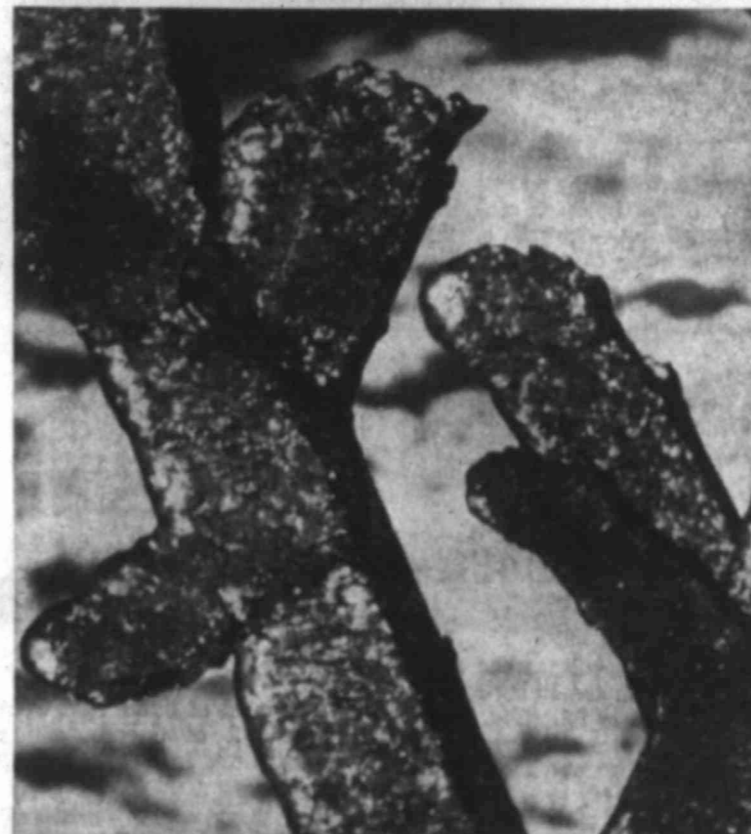

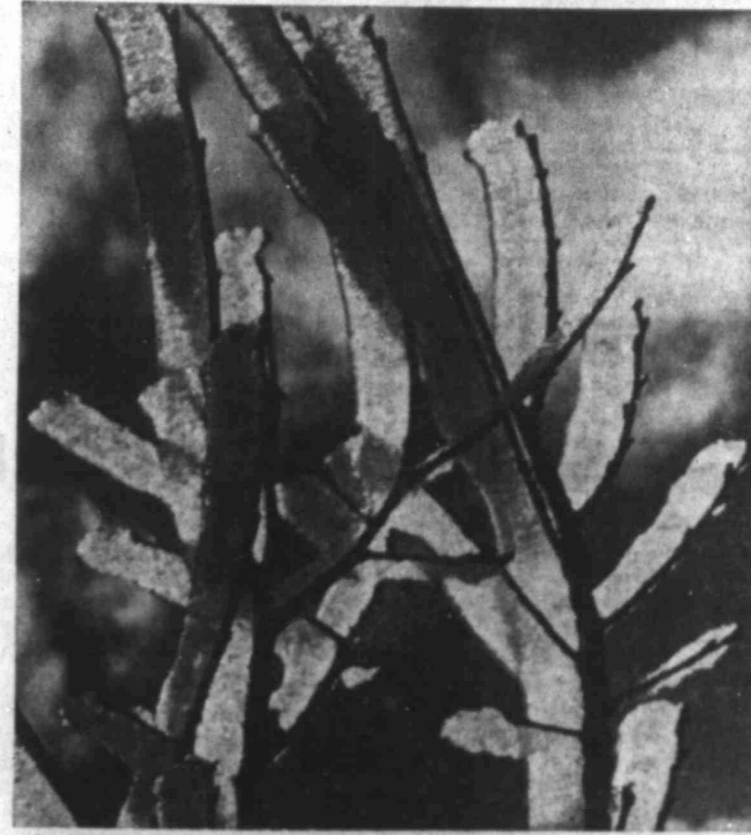

A break in a transformer on IS 20 put a part of Big Spring out of electric service from 6:30 a.m. to 7:20 a.m. today, the Texas Electric Service Co. reported. The break occurred in the transformer station west of town and TESCO said that the blackout area was not as extensive as the one early Monday.

Cotton farmers are waiting to ascertain just what the cold has done to the late cotton. There is no question that it will bring maturity of late bolls to a halt. It has also defoliated the remaining leaves on plants.

What effect the freeze will have on the unopened bolls is yet to be evaluated. There is a possibility that too much moisture may have been in the bolls and they will rot rather than open as might be the case otherwise.

Americans Like To Look

CINCINNATI (AP) — More than half the population ranks sightseeing first as a vacation activity. A survey conducted by the Executive Inn chain of motor hotels found that 54 per cent of vacationers prefer to sightsee. Swimming was the second preferred pastime and resting third.

Nature's Designs

On field and fence, Nature played a game of unusual modern art with ice and snow during the city's first wintry blast. Ice-covered limbs gave the tree a sculptured look (top) and a closeup made one limb appear as though it were carved from glass. The link fence (bottom) glistened in a shadow-box effect with its extra layer of ice. (Photos by Keith McMillin)

Mexican Congress Awaiting Bills

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Congress began the last 20 days of its 120-day session Monday with the first law still to be passed. Only one measure, dealing with study scholarships, has been introduced. That was in the Senate. Legislators said they are waiting, as they traditionally do for the president to send down the laws he wants passed.

G'water Slaps Reserve Beefs

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, returning to Washington tonight, leaves behind a sharp criticism of U.S. Army Reservists who complained because they were called back to duty during the Berlin crisis.

The Arizona Republican, in a news conference Monday, said those who complained were "a hitching bunch of freeloaders." He noted that they had signed up to receive pay for regular drills while in Reserve status, but then squawked, as he put it, when called to active duty.

Goldwater is a brigadier general in the Air Force Reserve. He came to Spain with Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., and Jack R. Miller, R-Iowa, also Reserve officers. They inspected U.S. bases in Spain and visited Capt. Gen. Augustin Munoz Grandes, head of the Spanish armed forces.

A group of American high school students in Spain, some wearing "I Like Goldwater" buttons, saw the Arizona senator today.

U.S.-Stationed General Is 'Trial' Target

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government demanded today that the United States hand over West German Gen. Adolf Heusinger, chairman of the permanent North Atlantic Treaty Organization military committee in Washington, for trial in Moscow as a war criminal.

The demand was made in a note delivered today to the U.S. Embassy and publicized before cameras and bright lights at a Foreign Ministry news conference.

Heusinger was accused of war crimes, crimes against the peace and crimes against humanity.

The Soviet government charged that Heusinger, who was chief of operations for the German general staff until the 1944 bomb plot against Hitler, "organized bloody reprisals against the civilian population" in the Soviet Union and that he issued instructions for punitive detachments "which sanctioned every possible atrocity in regard to the peaceful population."

Michael Khariamov, press director of the Foreign Ministry, told the news conference Heusinger is now quartered in the Pentagon.

In Bonn, the West German government rejected the Soviet accusations as completely false and said it would never consent to his being turned over to Soviet authorities. A Foreign Ministry spokesman said the government had cleared Heusinger long ago and "this is just another Soviet propaganda move—another in a long series directed against West Germany in an attempt to blacken our reputation and alienate our allies in this time of international crisis."

Officials in Washington, commenting privately, took much the same line. They said it is a long-standing Soviet practice to try to cause trouble and "stir the pot" before the regular December meeting of the Atlantic Community Ministerial Council. That NATO group gets together in Paris Wednesday.

Heusinger was arrested by the Western Allies after World War II, interned until 1948, but never brought to trial on war crimes charges. He has been a frequent Soviet target since he became the first chief of staff of West Germany's new armed forces in 1955. Heusinger, 64, became chairman of the NATO military committee a year ago. Before that he was general inspector of the West German army, and helped draft plans for the new postwar army modeled along American lines.

Copters Readied For S. Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —U.S. Army service troops today began readying some 40 U.S. combat helicopters for use against the Viet Cong rebels.

The helicopters, with nearly 400 U.S. Army pilots and ground crewmen, arrived in Saigon Monday aboard the converted U.S. carrier Core. They reportedly will be ready to start flying missions in about two weeks.

The U.S. crews manning the helicopters will fly Vietnamese troops and equipment to attack positions when Communist rebels are sighted. The Vietnamese ground forces have had great difficulty trapping the roving Viet Cong units because of the lack of speedy transport over the jungle.

It will be the first time U.S. personnel have flown such missions against the rebel forces.

The helicopters are part of expanded U.S. military aid to South Viet Nam agreed upon a week ago.

Union Chiefs Set Minimum Wage Goal

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP)—AFL-CIO chiefs today set $1.50 an hour as organized labor's new goal for the federal minimum wage.

A policy statement cleared by the resolutions committee for expected approval by the AFL-CIO convention also urged Congress to raise the minimum wage to $1.25 immediately instead of in 1963.

As part of President Kennedy's program, Congress earlier this year raised the required pay level for about 25 million workers engaged in interstate commerce from $1 to $1.15 per hour, with the proviso the minimum should go to $1.25 in September 1963.

The AFL-CIO resolution says that as soon as the $1.25 figure becomes effective, it will shoot for another boost to $1.50.

"The need of America's working poor for fair labor standards," the resolution said, "has by no means been fully met."

Extension of the law's coverage to 16 million additional workers was also urged. Many such workers, the resolution said, "are paid excessively low wages and work excessive hours." The law requires overtime pay for hours worked beyond 40 a week.

This and other resolutions called for a drive both by legislation and in labor contract negotiations with employers to accomplish a reduction in the present 40-hour week.

Other developments at the 12.5-million member AFL-CIO's biennial convention included:

Feuding building trades and industrial unions stood as far apart as ever in negotiating a peace formula for labor's internal wars. The building trades rejected a dispute settlement formula favored by Walter Reuther. It was indicated that AFL-CIO President George Meany was siding with the building trades and preparing for an open convention break with Reuther.

Differences over civil rights policies also appeared about to reach a boiling point. A. Philip Randolph, Negro union leader, readied an appeal to convention delegates to cancel a two-month-old statement of censure from fellow AFL-CIO leaders that accused Randolph of stirring up racial prejudices among workers.

Negro integrationist Martin Luther King told the convention Monday that Randolph had not deserved to be so rebuked and wiped out racial discrimination in unions King said "your conduct should set an example for others, as you have done in other crusades for social justice."

Dairy Suit Nears End

DALLAS (AP)—Trial of a $507,113 anti-trust suit of Metzger Dairies, Inc., against the 2,300-member North Texas Producers Association is expected to end Wednesday.

An Oklahoma dairyman testified Monday in federal court that the producers association received legal advice while it allegedly boycotted products of the Dallas Dairy.

Board member N. W. Terry of the association testified under cross-examination by Charles Storey, who represents Metzger Dairies.

Terry, of Gate, Okla., said the legal advisor for the association advised the board members in 1958, during the alleged boycott, against certain types of boycotts and also against the use of force in boycotts.

Asked if the association's counsel gave any reason for the advice, Terry answered, "no, he didn't."

Attorneys for the dairy alleged that the North Texas Producers Association refused to sell milk to Metzger after they protested the price hike and later ordered a general boycott of their products by all association members when the dairy began importing out-of-state milk.

Chemical Society Meets Wednesday

The December meeting of the Permian Basin section of the American Chemical Society will be held Wednesday night at Hotel Scharbauer, Midland.

Two papers will be read. Dr. C. H. Connell, Professor of Sanitation and head of the Department of Preventive Medicine and Public Health at the Texas Medical Branch, Galveston, and M. C. Forbes, Technical Director of Aquatrol, Inc., Galveston, will discuss "Waste Water As An Industrial Supply."

Players Will Wear Shoes

HONOLULU (AP)—Rural high school officials on Oahu Island have decided to put shoes on their football players.

Junior varsity players have been playing without shoes for years. They even kick the pigskin without shoes.

Wai'alea High School, near Honolulu, has fielded a barefoot team since 1957. They won the junior varsity last year. And at Kahuku, on northern Oahu, a team of players mostly of Samoan ancestry not only play football without shoes, but call defensive signals in Samoan instead of English.

Bankers Claim Institutions Being Used As Cannonfodder

DALLAS (AP)—Banks of Texas are being used as "cannonfodder" in a game of political warfare, the Texas Bankers Association said Monday.

This comment was in a statement prepared by TBA President L. S. Goforth in reply to Gov. Price Daniel's proposals for applying an escheat enforcement law to banks and other banking institutions.

The letter was backed by both the TBA's legislative committee and its administrative council, convened in regular fall session at Dallas.

An escheat enforcement law, requiring all businesses except banks and savings and loan associations to report to the state treasury accounts dormant for seven years or longer, was enacted at a called session of the legislature earlier this year. It requires them to advertise in quest of owners of the accounts and makes the accounts subject to reversion to the state.

Gov. Daniel now has called a third special session to convene Jan. 3 and consider applying the law to banks and other banking institutions.

In a letter to Goforth dated Nov. 23, Daniel urged the TBA chief to "assume the responsibility of working out a proposal which the Texas Bankers Association can support at the special session," but stipulated these three "minimum provisions":

1. That no bank deposits of lost owners or missing heirs shall be transferred to the profits or capital of any bank or otherwise be reduced by charges or assessments while in a dormant condition.
2. That after depositors have been lost or unknown for more than seven years, reasonable diligence should be made to locate them, including the advertising of their names at least once in a local newspaper.

3. That any remaining deposits on which owners cannot be located for more than seven years shall be reported to the state and conserved by the state, still subject to delivery to owners or missing heirs who may be located at any time thereafter.

Goforth said in his reply:

"We were met at the outset by the 'minimum requirements.' . . . A proposal by the Texas Bankers Association which included these . . . would be, essentially, an acceptance of premises which the association has determined are not in the public interest."

FOLLOWERS of GOD

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher, Church of Christ, 2000 West Highway 88, P. O. Box 1282.

"Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children . . ." (Eph. 5:1, 2).

On the road of life we feel the need of a hand to lead us that is stronger than our own. The journey we make from the cradle to the grave is a strange one. We have never traveled it before, and will never travel it again. Too often men follow leaders who cannot see the way ahead any better than themselves.

Bitter Cold Hits Western Mountain Area

By The Associated Press

A blanket of bitter cold weather lunged out of Canada and sent temperatures below zero today in the western mountain country.

The thermometer registered -31 at Havre, Mont., at 1 a.m.

Temperatures ranged in the teens from Oklahoma northeastward through northern Missouri, Iowa and into the upper Great Lakes area. South of this line, the readings moderated with rain, sleet and snow. In the Gulf states, readings were in the 70s.

A low pressure center over southern Illinois and another in the Kentucky-Tennessee area created havoc in the weather around the Midwest.

Heavy snow warnings were issued for Wisconsin, northern Michigan, Iowa, Minnesota and northwestern Illinois, with up to 10 inches predicted for Iowa.

Rain mixed with snow glazed thoroughfares throughout northern Illinois, Indiana and Michigan. Rain also fell from central Texas northeastward through the lower Mississippi Valley into Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York.

The unruly weather started out of Canada early Monday. Snow fell all day long over portions of Kansas and Missouri, depositing up to 10 inches in north central Kansas and from 3 to 8 inches in the western portion of the state.

At Des Moines and Waterloo, Iowa, 6 inches of snow had accumulated by nightfall, and 7 inches were recorded on the ground at Omaha, Neb.

Three tornadoes were reported Monday in Alabama and Louisiana. A small twister struck the community of Deridder, La., causing some damage to property. Similar twisters struck Jacksonville and Marion, Ala., with total damage of around $100,000.

Showers hit most of the South Monday. Heavy rains fell over Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and the Carolinas.

Cardenas Heads Development Plan

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Leftist-leaning ex-president Lazaro Cardenas was sworn in Monday as executive director of the Balsas River project. He is one of seven former presidents nominated by President Adolfo Lopez Mateos last week for executive positions.

The Balsas River project is a huge plan to develop through irrigation and power dams a potentially rich area of the tropical basin.

Jap Assassination Plot Is Smashed

TOKYO (AP) — Police today claimed to have smashed an ultra-rightist plot to assassinate Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda and other leading members of Japan's pro-American government. Thirteen men were arrested and weapons and uniforms seized in pre-dawn raids.

Police said the conspirators planned mass murder because they felt Ikeda's government was incapable of preventing a Communist revolution in Japan.

Authorities said a Japanese industrialist apparently financed the plot.

Arrests are 90 per cent complete, police said, and an attempt is being made to learn if there is "a man behind the scenes."

Daikichi Imoto, chief of public safety, said the conspirators apparently were given a spur by the success of the South Korean military junta that took over the Seoul government in May.

Unconfirmed reports circulated that the plan called for attempts on the life of Ikeda and 16 Cabinet members and bomb attacks on police headquarters, the giant leftist Sohyo labor union and Communist party headquarters.

Officials said the 13, who included a prewar general, tried to win over members of the nation's 240,000-man self-defense force but failed.

Police raiders in Tokyo and at various places on the island of Kyushu in southern Japan seized rifles, gas masks, swords, helmets and work uniforms of the type worn by the self-defense service.

The plotters hid their activities behind a study group known as the Society for Japanese History, led and financed by Toyosaku Kawanami, 59, president of Nichinan and Kawanami Industrial Co. Three hundred helmets and 150 gas masks were found in his Tokyo home.

A top leader of the group was Tokutaro Sakurai, 64, a former lieutenant general in the pre-

World War II imperial army. Another member was Taku Mikami, 56, a former lieutenant in the imperial navy who served 13 years in prison in connection with the 1932 assassination of Prime Minister Tsuyoshi Inukai. Mikami now is president of Eiko Industrial Co. in Tokyo.

Police said they learned of the plot in September and mapped an earlier crackdown. Plans leaked and the raids were called off.

Ikeda showed no outward concern over the plot. He walked in his garden as usual after awakening today and later attended a routine Cabinet meeting.

Akira Hatano, chief of the metropolitan police security section, said the police were still investigating whether the conspirators had any connection with other ultra-nationalist organizations.

Police estimate that Japan—scene of 17 major assassination plots against government leaders in the past 100 years—still has about 1,000 dangerous rightists banded together in some 20 organizations.

Postwar victims have included Socialist party chairman Inejiro Asanuma, who was stabbed to death by a 17-year-old disciple of the Greater Japan Patriotic party in October 1960, and Premier Nobusuke Kishi, who was wounded in the thigh by a rightist fanatic in July 1960.

Twin Problems

Twins Sue, left, and Mary Arnold, of Lubbock, fell and broke their arms within 30 seconds of each other. Sue fell from her bicycle while riding and as Mary went to get help, she too fell from her bike. "Identical twins—identical fractures," said the doctor. About six months ago, both girls closed a car door on their left hands within two minutes of each other, receiving almost the same injuries.

Judges Rap Eichmann As Worst Criminal

JERUSALEM (AP)—The Israeli court which convicted Adolf Eichmann of capital crimes against the Jews said today the former Gestapo officer was a worse criminal than the underlings who actually operated the gas chambers.

Judge Benjamin Halevy continued the reading of the 300-page judgment for the second day.

"He who delivers a soul for extermination bears a legal and moral responsibility even greater than he who does him to death," he declared.

This harsh indictment was written into a section of the opinion which explored how Eichmann rounded up millions of Jews and meticulously conducted the complex task of transporting them to the death mills.

Judge Halevy, presiding Justice Moshe Landau and Judge Izhak Ravch expected to complete the reading of the judgment late today. Monday they found Eichmann guilty of crimes against the Jews, crimes against humanity, war crimes, and membership in hostile organizations.

On the first three counts he can be sentenced to hang. The fourth is punishable by a prison sentence. The sentence will be handed down later this week or next Monday at the latest.

The special tribunal today assessed documents and evidence of witnesses it said proved:

1. Eichmann's main task was to feed the extermination camps, as the Gestapo's principal operating officer "for Jewish affairs" and "the final solution of the Jewish problem."
2. Eichmann extended his authority even into the death camps by delivering at various times specific orders stepping up the mass slaughter.
3. Eichmann kept in his hands considerable authority over the Bergen, Belsen and Resenstadt camps "up to the very end," as proved by evidence from the International Red Cross.

The court brushed aside Eichmann's denials that he had any connection with the death camps as "implausible and patent falsehoods."

The judgment also convicted Eichmann of an intimate role in the slaughter of 2 million Jews, partisans and gypsies by the notorious "Einsatz commandos," the murder squads which followed the Nazi armies into the East.

The court found that evidence proved Eichmann's bureau in the Gestapo received the detailed reports from the murder squads and distributed them to other Gestapo units.

The court also rejected Eichmann's contention that he was only an order taker. Judge Halevy emphasized an order from Eichmann to the SS in Warsaw to include foreign Jews as well as Polish Jews in evacuations from the ghetto—"evacuations meaning extermination."

"This proves the accused was a decision maker as well," the opinion noted.

The tribunal decided it would rather believe Rudolph Hoess, Auschwitz camp commandant who was hanged by the Poles, than Eichmann in determining the truth of Eichmann's role in that infamous extermination camp.

Hoess, the opinion said, testified before his execution that Eichmann brought him orders, discussed methods and in all visited Auschwitz five times.

Eichmann also was linked to the Treblinka camp which was for extermination purposes only. The court said letters he brought the camp authorizing the death of 250,000 Jews in 1942 provided the tie-in.

"Insofar as the accused took part in the preparation of these letters and their transmission, he, too, was active in regard to the continuation of the slaughter in the camps of the east," the judgment said.

Carter Heads New Water Panel

AUSTIN (AP) — Joe D. Carter, chairman of the Board of Water Engineers, has been elected chairman of the new Water Pollution Control Board.

The board held its first meeting Monday and reviewed the legislation creating it. Members agreed to accept decisions by the State Health Board on sewer specifications and by the Board of Water Engineers on injection of waste materials into the ground.

The board also decided the State Health Department shall continue until July, 1963, to be the state agency receiving federal aid for pollution control.

David Smallhorst, executive director, said he would place proposed rules and regulations in the hands of board members before they meet again Jan. 18. He submitted drafts of permit application forms and permits to disposition of waste in state waters.

"If we can get this permit show on the road in the next 18 months, I think we'll be doing quite a job. I've been awfully worried about the particular area of just who should be required to have permits," he said.

Associate Justice Joe Greenhill swore the members in. They were congratulated by Gov. Price Daniel.

Members besides Carter are Dr. J. E. Peavy, state health commissioner; Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission; Sam Wohlford of Stratford, representing agricultural and soil conservation interests; C.M. Shigley of Freepport, assistant general manager of Dow Chemical Co., representing industry, and J. S. Hudnall of Tyler, representing oil and gas producers.

The board was created in the first called session of the 1961 Legislature.

They were on a crew dismantling a pipeline for scrap when the explosion and fire occurred. They were flown to John Sealy hospital here for treatment after care at Crane, near where the accident occurred, and at Odessa.

A third workman, L. D. Koonce, 45, was burned but was not flown here.

Plane Overshoots Runway, Hits Mud

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A Southern Airways DC3 overshot the Jackson Airport runway while coming in for a landing Monday and plowed into thick mud. No one was hurt.

The pilot said he couldn't get any braking action on the rain-swept runway and couldn't get the airliner's tail down because of a tailwind.

Gen. Walker Makes First Talk Tonight

DALLAS (AP)—Edwin A. Walker, who resigned his major general's commission after the Army reprimanded him in a dispute over troop indoctrination, makes his first public address as a civilian tonight.

Walker indicated at a news conference Saturday he will defend himself against the Army's accusations that he had criticized former high government officials and tried to influence the voting of soldiers under his command.

The speech, in the 11,000-seat Dallas Memorial Auditorium, is the first of a series the former Army officer is expected to make in his fight against what he terms "the anti-anti-Communists."

Publicists for the event say 10,000 persons will assemble from over the state to hear the 51-year-old Texas-born Walker. Sponsoring the address is "Texans Welcome Gen. Walker." It is an organization headed by former Gov. Coke Stevenson, a longtime leader of conservative forces in the state.

As result of the Army investigation, Walker was reprimanded and relieved of his command of the 24th Infantry Division in Europe. He was reassigned to the Pacific Theater and then resigned his commission.

Military historians say Walker is the only high officer in recent times who quit the Army by resigning. Others, after disagreements with superiors, chose retirement. In resigning, Walker forfeited retirement pay amounting to about $12,000 a year.

At his news conference Saturday, Walker declared: "I have been charged with nothing and found guilty of nothing and have been punished for nothing."

Walker also had praise for the John Birch Society, in which he has acknowledged membership. Among the points in his dispute with the Army was an accusation that his educational program for troops coincided in part with the Birch Society line.

Solons In Battle Over Liberty Isle

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer

A quiet, gentlemanly squabble is rippling in Capitol Hill over whether a New Yorker should continue to represent Liberty Island. A New Jersey representative claims it should be part of his domain.

Caught in the middle of the dispute is the 12-acre island in New York Harbor from which the Statue of Liberty lifts its torch.

Rep. Leonard Farberstein, D-N.Y., who represents the area of the famous Lower Manhattan skyline, also officially represents Liberty Island. He can point out chapter and verse in the law books to support his claim.

Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher, D-N.J., says this shouldn't be. "After all, he says, Liberty Island—formerly Bedloe's Island—actually is within the city limits of Jersey City and is carried on its tax rolls.

Besides, he argues, Liberty Island is closer to New Jersey than it is to New York and its utilities come from the Garden State.

What is Farberstein's reaction to this? "He's a very nice fellow and I like him," the New Yorker said of Gallagher. "But we're not giving up the Gateway to the New World so easily."

Farberstein said the Statue of Liberty has always been in his district, still is and will remain there.

As far as votes go, Liberty Island is insignificant. Gallagher said 13 people who maintain the island and statue live there. But its prestige value is immeasurable.

Gallagher voiced his claim to the island last year when he found out the Census Bureau would continue to count Liberty Island residents as New Yorkers.

But his appeal fell on deaf ears as far as Robert W. Burgess, then Census Bureau director, was concerned. He cited an 1834 law which spelled out New York's jurisdiction. He said there was nothing to indicate New Jersey ever claimed the island.

Gallagher was undismayed. He wrote to the Library of Congress but got a similar answer.

The library said the island was turned over to the federal government by New York during the last century on condition the Empire State retain some of its legal rights there.

The island was then called Bedloe's Island after its first owner. It became Liberty Island by a 1956 law.

Still undaunted, Gallagher recently wrote to Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall urging him to visit the Statue of Liberty which as a national monument is administered by the Interior Department. Gallagher referred to the island as part of his congressional district.

The proposed visit is intended to convince Udall that a national park should be established on the Jersey City shoreline and a causeway built from it to the island.

The only way to reach the island now is by ferry boat from New York.

Udall hasn't answered the letter.

B.B.'s Ex Is Ready For The Censors

PARIS (AP)—"I am going to the United States to make certain that not one frame is cut of the derriere of my ex-wife, Annette Stroyberg."

The speaker is Roger Vadim, young French movie director who made the world realize that B.B. stands for Brigitte Bardot.

Vadim is off today for New York to take a few bows next week at the premiere of his controversial movie "Les Liaisons Dangereuses." He said he expects a battle also with U.S. censors.

"There are a few erotic shots in the film," said Vadim, "including one of my ex-wife's bare derriere."

"But I'm going to insist that not one frame is cut. I am against censorship. American audiences will either see all of my ex-wife, or not at all."

If American censors insist on snipping, Vadim said he will pack up the movie and bring it home. A classic of French literature, "Les Liaisons Dangereuses" has been transferred to modern times and recounts the bedroom adventures of a French diplomat. Until a few months ago French officials banned its export, contending it presented France in a bad light.

Vadim discovered Miss Bardot, married her, lost her, married Miss Stroyberg and parted with her. Earlier this year he directed Miss Bardot in a new film.

The director said there's no violence or sadism in "Les Liaisons Dangereuses"—the audience "won't want to kill their grandmother or push the little sister down the stairs."

"And if my movie makes a boy want to kiss his girl, well, is that bad—like the atom bomb?"

Casals Breaks Anti-Franco Vow

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—In a break from his long-held pledge not to appear in public in countries recognizing Franco Spain, Pablo Casals announced plans Monday night to conduct concerts in New York and San Francisco and in Europe and Israel next year.

The decision followed his recent widely acclaimed playing at the White House at the invitation of President and Mrs. Kennedy.

The cellist-conductor, who will be 85 next month, said he plans to conduct three concerts in San Francisco next April, plus two concerts in New York following next June's Casals Music Festival here as part of a "personal crusade for peace."

DEAR ABBY

The Mold's
Already Set

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently visited our daughter at the State University. We were amazed at the freedom these college girls are given. After their freshman year they have almost no supervision. No wonder so many of our young people get into trouble. Is this the new trend? What is wrong with our universities?

MOTHER OF A SOPHOMORE DEAR MOTHER: Nothing is wrong with our universities. It's our homes. A child comes to the university with the moral code and set of values he has learned at home. One should not expect an academic institution to do the job that should have been done by parents years before.

DEAR ABBY: A man in our office is the world's biggest heel. He's the type who'll make time with a girl in the evening and talk about it the next day.

He is now trying to con a sweet little 22-year-old farm girl into letting him drive her home for the Christmas holidays. It's a 500-mile trip, which I'm sure he doesn't intend to make in one day—if you know what I mean. This little kid started working here in June and might accept his offer in order to save the plane fare. Who should wise up the girl? Or should someone tell the boss? Don't suggest talking to the man. He thinks he's a gift to women.

IN THE OFFICE DEAR IN: A kiss-and-tell reputation gets around an office fast. Either the girl doesn't know better (in which case YOU should tell her) or she isn't the "sweet kid" you think she is.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law used to make a very delicious cake. There was NO flour in it, but she used a half cup of meal. It was the best cake I ever tasted. Everyone wanted the recipe but she never gave it out. She carried it in her head. Well, she died, may the Lord rest her soul, and she took the recipe with her. I can't find a recipe like it anywhere. It stood as high as an angel cake and she folded the egg whites and yolks separately. Can you or any of your readers help me?

MRS. L. DEAR MRS. L.: I think I have your recipe. Send me your name and a self-addressed stamped envelope and it's yours.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HOME-SICK: You are married to a VERY sick man. Tell him that he either goes for psychiatric help or you will not continue to live like a prisoner in your own home.

Everybody's got a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of The Big Spring Herald.

Sheppard & Co., local agents for the units turned back by Mutual Construction Company, said that FHA representatives had been making an item-by-item survey of 50 houses for rehabilitation. It is possible that FHA may ask for bids within a few weeks for these as an initial project. An additional 25 units are due for a survey this week as a probable second project. Plans call for installation of new roofs, repairing the exteriors, providing new interiors, lowering some drives, installing retaining walls, landscaping, yards, etc. When renovated, the homes will be offered on the market for occupancy by owner. None will be sold for rental property. When the first units were turned back Aug. 18, the FHA made a study of courses of action, including transfer of the structures to other areas. However, the repossessions are not grouped in solid blocks—each house is under a separate loan title, and on the contrary are spotted in different parts of the addition. Contracts, when let, are due to be under the federal General Services Administration. The tentative schedule calls for 75 to 100 of the homes to be renovated and offered for sale during 1962, and others in smaller project groups in subsequent years until all units taken back are rehabilitated. Originally there were 300 units in the Monticello area built under a National Defense Housing program. Mutual (Larry Blackmon and associates) has sold a reported 112 of these units, but some of these may be returned.

John Connally, Navy Chief, To Seek Texas Governorship

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — John B. Connally, President Kennedy's first secretary of the Navy, will leave his post Dec. 20, come back to Texas and run for governor.

He disclosed his decision Monday. The President appointed Fred Korth, a Fort Worth banker to succeed Connally as civilian head of the Navy.

Connally, 44, is a Fort Worth attorney. As a friend and confidant of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn, he long has been a background power in Texas politics. His move promised a scramble for Democratic party leadership in the state.

In Korth, 52, Kennedy picked another Democrat known to associates as "a cool veteran of Washington politics."

Last June 2 Korth became an aide to Secretary of the Army Elvis S. Stahr Jr., primarily responsible for liaison with civilians on Army policy and missions.

Also a lawyer, Korth served with the Air Transport Command in World War II, attaining the rank of lieutenant colonel. He was named deputy counselor for the Army in 1951 and served as assistant secretary of the Army in 1952-53.

Korth received the Army's outstanding civilian service award in 1959. He was appointed a director of the Panama Canal Co. this year.

President Kennedy considered Korth for secretary of the Army but he declined. He said the Defense Department should not have two men from the same city in key posts, as would have been the case with Connally running.

"That situation, of course, has changed now," Korth said. "I feel this is a tremendous challenge and presents an opportunity to do a job which is extremely important."

Connally has been a campaign manager or consultant for Johnson since the vice president first ran for U.S. representative in 1937.

His departure is the first top-ranking personnel change at the Pentagon since Kennedy became president.

"The great threat we face is a Communist challenge to our political, economic, moral and spiritual institutions," Connally said in announcing his political plans. "This (the state) is a vital front today, and this is where I think I can best serve."

"In announcing for governor, I do so with the conviction that military strength alone cannot guarantee our security and our way of life," Connally said.

Connally's move clearly took Texas Gov. Price Daniel, now serving a third term, and State Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, an announced Democratic candidate for governor by surprise.

No News Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will not have a news conference this week.

A crowd of Dominican listeners hears 4-year-old Bolivar Hernandez Diaz give his views in a street corner political talk in Santo Domingo. The youngster drew crowds who listened as he talked from various street corners lauding the Union Civica Nacional, main opposition party to the government.

Katanga Mines Included In Scorched Earth Policy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A U.N. military expert says French mercenaries have drawn up plans to dynamite the huge Union Miniere mining complex in Katanga if U.N. forces join with the central Congo army in an offensive to bring the secessionist province under the control of the Leopoldville government.

Indian Brig. I. J. Rikhye, acting Secretary-General U. Thant's military adviser, told a news conference the United Nations had captured the secret plan, which he said also was to be used if the Congo army attempted an invasion alone.

Rikhye said Katangan army units already have employed parts of the plan in the week-old fighting with U.N. troops in Elisabethville, capital of the province.

The Indian army officer claimed that 12 French veterans of campaigns in Indochina and Algeria had drafted the plans for dynamiting the Union Miniere, a $400-million Belgian-British firm whose taxes provide the largest measure of support for President Moise Tshombe's regime and the chief reason why the Leopoldville government wants control of Katanga.

Rikhye said a Maj. Bousque and a Maj. Faulque, are in charge of Katangan strongpoints in the current fighting and that stores of dynamite have been accumulated by Katangans for use if the demolition plan is ordered.

In Elisabethville, Tshombe claimed that U.N. planes heavily damaged facilities on the big copper and cobalt company in a weekend raid at Kolwezi, site of a Katanga air strip 150 miles northwest of Elisabethville. He said the attack also knocked out the town's fuel supply, scoring hits on diesel oil and water tanks.

Tshombe condemned the raid and disputed a U.N. declaration that the U.N. military action is a defensive one aimed at restoring law and order.

From Brussels, Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak sent a message to the Big Three Western foreign ministers meeting in Paris urging them to ask Thant to arrange an immediate ceasefire in the Katanga fighting.

Dr. Conor Cruise O'Brien, former U.N. chief of operations in Katanga, urged in a British television interview Monday night that the United Nations should not once again go looking for a ceasefire in Katanga. "I think they should continue until they have established clear superiority," he said.

Recruiter Tells Of Leave Policy

Again, as in the past, a Christmas leave policy is being offered by the U. S. Army. According to Sgt. Willis Brown, U. S. Army recruiter, men enlisting from Dec. 11 through New Year's Day may request as much as 15 days leave before reporting for basic training.

With this leave policy young men can enjoy the holiday season with their families and still draw full pay and allowances from the U. S. Army. Those who desire more information on this leave offer and other benefits available to young men should contact Sgt. Brown at 207 1/2 W. Fourth Street, or phone AM 4-8940.

De Gaulle Still Resisting Joint Negotiations Plan

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle today was reported still resisting all Allied efforts to draw him into joint negotiations with the Soviet Union on Berlin. But French officials said their leader does not intend blocking another American-led attempt to come to terms with Moscow.

The French position was reported as foreign ministers of the Big Four Western Allies moved into the second and final day of their conference seeking a unified policy, particularly on Germany.

Informants emphasized no announcement was likely of the plan for renewed American-Soviet exchanges until the matter is thoroughly aired in the North Atlantic Council of Foreign Ministers, beginning a three-day parley here Wednesday.

But the word from the French was that De Gaulle would not oppose a resumption of talks in Moscow between the Russians and U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, who expected to be entrusted again—as he was early in the fall—with the job of trying to hammer out main points of an East-West Berlin compromise.

Prospects for such a compromise appear slight. Even if Thompson does shape up a deal with the Russians, it would have to clear the veto France holds as one of three Western occupation powers in Berlin.

Donna Marie May Fight Extradition To Illinois

If Donna Marie Stone, 13-year-old girl friend of confessed slayer John Edwin Myers, is returned to Illinois it will be after she loses out in a fight to evade extradition. The girl told Bob Darland, county juvenile officer, Monday that she did not want to be taken back to her home state and that she would have to be extradited if she is returned there. Last week, Gil Jones, district attorney, indicated he might agree to let authorities from Belleville, Ill., have custody of Donna Marie. She is being detained here as a possible witness in the trial of Myers. She cannot be prosecuted in this state for her part in the murder in this county for which Myers stands indicted. She is a minor and minors in Texas cannot be indicted for crimes. In Illinois, where she and Myers were together in a double slaying, the laws are different and

Donna Marie is under indictment for murder. Until recently, Donna Marie has said she wants to go back to Illinois. Her home is in Chicago. Now, it seems, she has changed her mind and prefers to remain here. But county officials are not happy at having Donna Marie as a semi-permanent occupant of one of the county jail juvenile ward cells. She was sent to the Gainesville State Training School For Girls but that institution, after a relatively few weeks, asked that the girl either be sent on to Illinois or returned to Howard County. She was returned here. As matters now stand, it may be March or later before Myers will be tried which would mean the county would have to keep Donna Marie here for at least three more months. Jones said that he had been advised that Illinois has a witness return law similar to the Texas statute and that if Donna Marie is taken back to Belleville, she could be brought again to Texas if her testimony is needed in the trial of Myers. Jones told Darland that he would advise Illinois authorities of Donna Marie's new attitude relative to being taken to Illinois. Meantime, Darland has a letter from Mrs. James Stone, Donna Marie's mother. In this letter, Mrs. Stone said the entire Stone family—the father, Mrs. Stone, Sharon, 12, James Jr., 10, Bruce, 8, Debbie, 6, Jeff, 5, and Tamie Ann, 2, and possibly Mrs. Theodore Lischman, the grandmother, plan to be in Big Spring the week of Dec. 17 for a Christmas visit with Donna Marie. The parents and the grandmother visited here briefly soon after Donna Marie and Myers were arrested. They talked to the girl recently by telephone. The Christmas visit was planned at that time.

Softness Is Scored

CHICAGO (AP)—Americans, living in a push-button age, are going soft physically, says a researcher at the University of Illinois. Dr. Thomas K. Cureton, director of physical fitness research, says this softness can be overcome by hard physical work and the addition of wheat germ and other nutritionally high supplements in the diet. His observations highlight a report on the training methods of Olympic athletes just readied for publication. He gives four reasons why U. S. athletes seldom win in the 1,500 meter, 10,000 meter, steeplechase and marathon runs. Youngsters do not compete in endurance events in high schools. They are careless about diet in relation to performance. Physical education emphasizes fun. American Physicians discourage endurance work for American youth.

Iron Horse On Bridle Path

CHICAGO (AP)—Old 2908, a giant steam locomotive donated by the Santa Fe Railway to the Museum of Science and Industry here, arrived by way of a bridge path. The 340-ton railroad engine was inched toward its destination by repeatedly laying fourteen 38-foot track sections that were removed after the locomotive passed over them. A tractor-drawn winch pulled the huge locomotive and an air compressor mounted on the tender supplied pressure for its braking system.

Trustees To Inspect New Construction

Trustees will meet at Lakeview High School to inspect the new addition before the regularly scheduled board meeting tonight, according to Sam M. Anderson, superintendent of the Big Spring Independent School District.

The inspection will be made at 6:30 p.m. and the board meeting will follow at 7:30 p.m. at the administration building, 100 E. 10th. Action may be taken at the board meeting to accept or refuse the building.

Pat Murphy, assistant superintendent - business; Jimmie Fox, architect; and Anderson made a preliminary inspection Monday afternoon.

"It looks in fine shape," Anderson said.

Another matter concerning Lakeview which will be taken up by trustees is the agreement with the YMCA for use of the old Lakeview Elementary School property. Trustees voted April 25 to donate the building to the Y and lease the site for $1 a year plus any assessments which might be made against the property.

Other business will include review of applications for the post of superintendent upon expiration of Anderson's contract July 31, 1962, resignation and employment of personnel; appointment of a textbook committee; and review of reports.

Local Drive Leads Area

Big Spring stacks up well in the latest report from the Texas United Fund headquarters.

With 104.8 per cent of its current goal raised, the Big Spring campaign, headed by Marvin Miller, led the area. Close behind was Midland with 104.2 per cent raised.

Among other points in the area (some are just getting going with their campaigns), reports showed: Lubbock 103.7, Abilene 95.0, Odessa 90.1, San Angelo 83.9, Colorado City 71.2, Lamesa 71.1, Sweetwater 62.8, Snyder 24.0.

The Big Spring figure ranked eighth in the entire state. Only Cross Plains, Monday, Eastland, Fort Hood, Denton, Fort Lavaca and McCamey were ahead of it.

Grace Prepares To Ship Ammonia

Anhydrous ammonia for fertilizer will be shipped through the Big Spring branch of W. R. Grace and Co. nitrogen products division as soon as demand requires it, according to Paul Lowery, sales manager.

No delivery date has been set, Lowery said, but shipments may begin in about a week. Demand will be supplied from products stored in the tank recently completed on the site of the new plant west of Coaden's Refinery on US 80 east. The plant is expected to be ready to go on stream about the middle of 1962.

Sheep Raisers Hold Meeting

FORT WORTH (AP)—A threat of marketing orders and labor problems occupied members of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association at its 46th annual convention Monday.

A resolution stating the association's opposition to any referendum aimed at the lamb market was passed.

"We got a fight ahead of us," said Jerry Puckett of Fort Stockton, who presided over a subcommittee meeting.

The labor subcommittee directed its president to appoint a committee to organize with the Farm Bureau and the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association to defend their labor departments.

The ranchmen said those who employed Mexican workers will lose them if pending action by the Department of Labor is passed. "The labor department is trying to unionize our domestic labor," said O. D. Dooley of Bracketville, who presided at the labor session.

Governors Okay Shelter Plans

NEW YORK (AP)—The governors of New York, California, Washington and Florida have endorsed a proposed federal program of aid for community fallout shelters and other civil defense measures.

While withholding specific comment until the federal plan is finally approved and announced by the President, the governors expressed pleasure Monday that the program "will emphasize ways in which the federal government can help state and local organizations in the construction and stocking of community shelters and strengthen the standard programs of warning, radiological monitoring, training, education and family shelters."

A Devotional for Today

Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; let him return to the Lord, that he may have mercy on him, and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon. (Isaiah 55:7. RSV.)

PRAYER: Our Father, Thou knowest our hearts and our desires. Give us the conviction and courage to prepare ourselves to receive Thy Son anew this Christmas season. Show us what we must abandon that we may make ready for the Christ, Thy Son, in whose name we pray. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Thorns In Utopia

Even the roses in the Communist utopia seem to have thorns. For instance, Russia has just broken off diplomatic relations with Albania, a cocklebur in the Red orbit.

This is not at all surprising in view of the verbal blistering Khrushchev dished out for Albania at the recent Communist conclave. At that time Red China took the side of Albania, but it doesn't follow that China will break off relations with Russia, or vice versa. At the worst, Peiping likely will issue more blasts against the Khrushchev line, utter a few words of sympathy for Albania. Right now, wanting to get into the U.N., Red China could ill afford to lose the backing of Soviet Russia. Moreover, with internal troubles aplenty, Red China is in a better position to talk than to act.

Still, the rift is there. Whereas recently Russians took the line (in statements at least) that they were not committed to outward, forced expansion of communism, Red China came out with a bellicose statement in support of Red revolutionaries everywhere. Adding substance to this position was a State Department release of secret Communist war plans calling for an attack in the mountainous areas of South Viet Nam, followed by an invasion of the lowlands this winter or next spring. Such plans could not exist or succeed without the backing of Red China.

Now, if Khrushchev is to be the effective leader of the so-called Communist bloc, what will or can he do about this situation? Probably nothing.

Lock That Car

Police give sound advice when they urge you to be doubly careful about leaving anything of value in your automobile while doing your Christmas shopping.

If you must, be doubly certain that all the windows are up tight and that all the doors are locked.

Still better, whatever you buy, put it in the trunk and make sure that it is securally locked. This way it will not only be out of sight, but it also will be more difficult to get. Thieves may kick in a window or jimmy a glass panel, but they can't work over a trunk quite so easily.

So take just an extra moment and keep some thief from having a merry Christmas at your expense.

Marquis Childs Finland Walks The Tight Rope

HELSINGFORS, Finland—As the early dusk settles down, the lights in the gaily decorated shop windows come on and the crowds of Christmas shoppers pour in and out of the big department stores. In this capital, which might be that of any Western country, the events that were set in motion on Oct. 30 seem to have left no mark.

ON THAT DATE the Soviet Union reopened the question of military consultations with Finland. Northern Europe, according to the Soviet note, was the object of a new German threat with the North-Norway, guilty of warlike measures in collaboration with the West Germans. Here it appeared was a new threat to Finland's hard-won independence, with the possibility that the powerful neighbor just next door would demand bases on Finnish soil.

When the note was delivered, President Urho Kekkonen was sitting on the beach at Waikiki in Honolulu toward the end of his official tour of the United States. After he talked with his office in Helsinki on the telephone he turned to members of his party and said, "Well, let's go for a swim." The rest of the tour, including visits to military bases in California, was carried out as scheduled.

IN THE RATHER austere summer residence of the President on an arm of the Baltic, Kekkonen speaks tersely of what he believes he achieved in his confrontation with Premier Khrushchev in Novosibirsk in Siberia last month. His view is that of almost all Finns, both in and out of government, with whom the visitor talks. If it is a line stoutly taken to try to convince the world that all is well, then it must be said that these stout-hearted people seem themselves to have accentuated its validity. Briefly it is as follows:

FINLAND'S independence is untouched. There was no demand for bases. Clarification of certain clauses of the peace treaty of 1945 insures that consultation on the threat of war must be mutual. The initiative lies with us and we decide if there is a danger of war.

Naturally, so the prevailing view goes, we would be concerned over the feelings of our neighbor, the Soviet Union. After all, there is between Finland and the U.S.S.R. an undefended border nearly 1,000 miles long. It is true that the formation of a joint German-Danish command has changed the situation in the North. But this should not be sufficient to bring the machinery of military consultation between the U.S.S.R. and Finland into motion.

WHETHER THIS is convenient rationalization or not, Kekkonen is a stern realist. He uses words sparingly, with a caution born out of the delicate political balance in Finland and, far more important, the Finns have had to learn by harsh necessity how to preserve their national

How Did Russians Take JFK Interview?

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's only one unknown remaining about President Kennedy's interview last month with a Soviet newsman.

What effect, if any, did it have on the Russian people or, rather, the Russian people who read it? There's no doubt about the effect on the Soviet leadership, which would have been predictable anyway, since Kennedy pictured a peaceful America confronted with a trouble-making Russia.

The leadership, through its controlled press, ripped Kennedy's views apart. The interview was

Hal Boyle More Conclusions

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Fat women are more generous than skinny women—at least to panhandlers. They are more likely to fall for a hard luck story. I never trust a man who is too fond of those gooey cocktail canapes. Any man who can really enjoy that kind of food must have a deficiency of judgment or character in more important matters.

Nurses make the worst of all hospital patients, because they know how much a doctor doesn't know—and suspect some of the things he thinks he does know. I never intend to name a cat in my will until, when I have a fever, one of them spends a sleepless night putting its paw to my forehead to take my temperature. A boy gets a deeper thrill out of learning to make a shrill whistle through his teeth than a man does the day his bank account tops a million dollars.

The great virtue of much modern art is this: It gives as much pleasure to a blind person as to one who can see. The least impressive executives to me are the ones who, when you phone them, have secretaries who invariably demand, "Who's calling, please?" What difference does it make who's calling? They're either there or they're not there.

You're a real married veteran if, no matter what your wife says to you, you figure she's picking on you. No man has a really happy life who has to start every morning off by taking bicarbonate of soda or a fizz tablet in water. Whenever I meet anyone who is a chronic good loser, I don't particularly admire him. I think he's merely punchy from defeat—and ought to get out of the game for a while, no matter what the game is.

It isn't true that no one ever said a memorable thing at a party after midnight. But for every memorable remark a man makes at that hour, he usually spends two days wishing he had said something less memorable.

You hear a lot of jokes about the waiter who puts his thumb in the soup, but in all my life I have never seen this happen. Nor can I recall ever seeing a waiter spill hot soup on a patron. The most annoying borrower in the office isn't the one who asks you for money. It's the one who is always fresh out of both cigarettes and matches. A man who runs out of cigarettes ought to at least have a match in his pocket.

Few things make a man feel more like a public benefactor than giving away a two-bit cigar to someone who really appreciates it. I instinctively like a man who wears a vest and carries an old-fashioned pocket watch in it. They give him an air of sturdy independence, a disdain of the opinion of the mob.

You're middle-aged if you have to make two trips to the front door to fetch in your big Sunday newspaper. A man who never does anything to excess in public always raises the suspicion in others that he is practicing a secret vice of some kind.

Never bet on a racehorse with short legs in a long race. A man with a hole in both his socks needs either a wife—or a divorce.

printed in full in Ivestia, the Russian government newspaper. But Ivestia, in a country of 220 million people, has a circulation estimated at 4 to 5 million.

IF THE KENNEDY interview made a good impression on some of them, the leadership has ought to dissent. Even if the impression on all who read it was excellent, there isn't much they can do or say.

Since Kennedy's views are not going to appear at much length very often when they are critical of Russia, this interview can hardly be considered of much impact in the long run.

Even if the final score shows no hit, no runs and no errors—no run in the long run—last—the interview was at least on both sides one more effort in their long-winded propaganda war.

KENNEDY COULD consider it an achievement that his views—those he found time to express in the interview—were printed in full in the Soviet press.

At the same time the Russian government gave itself a chance to say its press isn't entirely closed to the outside. As a matter of fact Russia would have been in an embarrassing spot if it hadn't printed the whole interview.

THREE TIMES this year Premier Khrushchev got his views across in great length to people in this country by giving interviews to American newsmen who journeyed to Russia to see him.

This gave the lively Kennedy a good opening to look for the full treatment in return, in Russia, by giving a Soviet newsman an interview.

The interview was arranged at the request of the White House and Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei, editor of Ivestia, did the questioning. The result wasn't quite the same as American interviews with Khrushchev.

The Americans simply asked questions and let him do the talking. Adzhubei also asked questions but he sandwiched them in between long speeches giving Soviet views on problems Kennedy discussed.

To Your Good Health Clean Your Toenails To Prevent Thickness

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. "Dear Dr. Molner: What causes the toenails to grow thick? I apply baby oil frequently. I also file them. — C.A.D."

Toenails are a special type of extension of the skin. Nature's device to protect the tips of the toes (or fingers).

Thickening of the nails is fairly common on the toes, but doesn't occur very often on the fingers. Why? Because infections, especially of the fungus variety, and continued pressure are two chief causes of thickening. Neither is as likely on the fingers as on the toes. Likewise there may be thickening of the toenails in people with faulty circulation. Usually, of course, this takes place in older people.

Baby oil doesn't help. The nail, once grown, does not change. It is a horny type of tissue devoid of nerves—which is why cutting doesn't hurt.

However, an accumulation of skin under the nail can harden in time and produce the equivalent of a thickened nail. Therefore cleaning the toenails just as you clean under the fingernails can be important.

The things you can do yourself are few but well worth the effort. Be sure that shoes and socks are not too tight — and don't mislead yourself by saying, "These aren't too tight; I've been wearing this size for years." Remember, SOMETHING is making the nails thicker. It has taken years to do it. So try a half-size larger with shoes and socks.

Next to that, careful pedicure is important, cleaning, as I said, under the sides and keeping the nails suitably short. Long nails will usually be under more pressure.

(In addition, remember that toenails should be cut straight across, or nearly so, and not with a curve as in the case of fingernails. The purpose: To prevent ingrown nails. Likewise take care that the edge of a nail doesn't cut into the flesh of an adjoining toe. This doesn't have anything to do with thickening, but only with foot health and comfort. Careful use of nailfile and clippers for a few minutes pays dividends.)

As for infections, there's little you can do yourself that will help much. Once a fungus gets started, the warm, moist darkness inside the shoe encourages it.

Changing shoes and socks at least daily, for the sake of dryness, and regular use of foot powder for the same purpose, is advisable.

Getting rid of the fungus requires medical aid. An antibiotic (griseofulvin) that is effective against many fungi, especially of the ringworm type, has at last given us a medicine that can be given by mouth and provide real results. But whatever treatment is used, remember this: It takes many weeks to grow a toenail; nothing except actually cutting away part of the nail is going to make it thinner at once. You must first achieve a healthy condition; then you must wait for a new nail to grow, of normal thickness.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Why do some people notice their own feet? — E. K."

Usually because they are tense, both mentally and physically.

TO R.P.J.: The "rice diet" is essentially a form of low-salt or low-sodium diet. It is quite useful although not as urgently needed now that the newer diuretic drugs are so well-developed.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is, and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner is happy to receive readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in his column. However, due to the great volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets he cannot answer letters individually.

Around The Rim Disillusionment By Lamplight

It just occurred to me that it was right here in this town that I was deprived of the most cherished illusion of tender childhood.

Yep, right here in Big Spring, Howard County, Texas, I found out (all by myself) that there wasn't any real Santa Claus and that the fellow who filled in for that delightful (if non-existent elf) was my father.

It was far too long ago for me to remember just where this tragedy occurred. I know we lived in a small house. There were three rooms. The room at the west end was the kitchen, the middle room was the family bedroom and the east room was a combination living room, library, music room, et cetera.

IMMEDIATELY adjoining our lot was another house, much of the same design. The living room window of this house looked into the kitchen window of our house.

One Christmas Eve, my mother took me by the hand and led me to this neighbor's house. It was dark and the lamps were lighted. I couldn't figure out why this sudden insistent demand that I go visiting our neighbors. I suspected something was up, and I decided to investigate.

I sneaked into the neighbor's living room and pressed my nose against the cold glass in the window. I should see into our kitchen. The kerosene lamp was burning brightly on the dining table.

AS I WATCHED, I realized there was someone in our kitchen. My first impulse was to run and tell my mother. Then I had another thought — this was Christmas Eve, Santa came calling on Christmas Eve. Maybe that mysterious individual moving about in our kitchen was jolly old St. Nick.

SO, MY HEART pounding, I kept looking.

And finally the person in our kitchen crossed the room to the table and came in clear view. He had his arms filled with bundles which he deposited on the table. The packages were wrapped in fancy paper. Undoubtedly they were Christmas gifts.

But what about the bringer of these gifts? No white beard, no red suit, no shiny black boots.

No, indeed. It wasn't Santa as I had been told he looked. It was just my Dad, coming home from his work and bringing in the Christmas things which had been kept at the store to keep them safe from my prying little hands.

I WAS BOTH PLEASED and disappointed. Disappointed, of course, that I had discovered there was no real Santa Claus. Pleased, if you can understand it, because I had found out something that other kids of my age apparently did not know.

And what did I do with my exciting new knowledge?

Why I became the busiest missionary you ever saw.

In no time at all, I had planted the seeds of doubt in the tender minds of all my playmates. They should have killed me. —SAM BLACKBURN

Nothing Wrong With Us Twisters

When President Kennedy came to New York last week and, in a masterly speech, urged each and all of us to get up off our self-upholstery, exercise, improve our muscle tone and even walk, I felt mighty low in my mind.

"WE ARE underexercised as a nation," he said. "We look instead of play; ride instead of walk."

In shame, my head hung from my flabby neck. Here was a clarion call to action to one (me) who has been longing with all her heart to do something, anything for her country. But, honestly, I am simply too old to learn to play touch football.

ONE MINUTE of touch football, and I would be a basket case. It occurred to me that for the first time in my life there is a President who is my junior. It was bound to happen eventually, but even before that psychic shock has worn off, he is urging me not only to pay my taxes and support lower tariffs but simultaneously to do push-ups and head stands.

All of a sudden, I felt like (perish for-bid!) a senior citizen. I began to wonder what in the world had ever happened to my gym bloomers. Then, in a spirit of reckless derring-do, I decided to see if I could still touch my fingertips to the floor, even in three-inch spike heels.

WELL, I CAN. Yes, I can, but my husband had to help me straighten up. As a Republican, he just laughed and laughed.

Now the point of all this is that I might have brooded overtime about the nation's physical well-being if my husband and I had not given a dinner party the other evening. Since then I have realized that this nation is as tough as nails physically and that both Mr. Kennedy and I live rather isolated lives, out of the main stream.

LET ME interpolate here to say that I

Holmes Alexander Chester Bowles And Agrarian Reform

WASHINGTON — Chester Bowles, one of whose new assignments is as a specialist on Latin American affairs, has a fascinating comment in the July-August issue of the Latin American magazine "Combat." At a time when he was Under Secretary of State, the number two policy-maker on foreign affairs, Bowles told his readers in Latin America:

"WHETHER HISTORY will record Cuba's Fidel Castro as an earnest patriot or as a fellow-traveling adventurer is anyone's guess. But one fact is already clear. His land reform program... is undeniably in line with Latin American sentiments."

Well, we'd better hope not. Indeed, we'd better hope that Bowles' glib and approving statement on Castro's agrarian reform is just another of the accumulated proofs that a number of buffoons were appointed to high office during 1961—Bowles, Adlai Stevenson and G. Mennen Williams lead the troupe—and are currently being moved off the center stage into side shows.

TO TAKE BOWLES'S statement as a serious comment, made by a competent Administration spokesman, would be more than Americans should be asked to bear.

Communist agriculture in general, and Cuban agriculture in particular, are well documented as frauds and failures. In Russia, in Red China, in Yugoslavia, the farmers have refused to act like factory hands, which they are not. Crops have not come off collectivist assembly lines like manufactured goods, which they are not. It is unbelievable that a prominent American foreign affairs spokesman should even mention Communist agriculture except in denunciation and disgust.

CUBAN AGRARIAN reform is virtually identical with the master Communist copy. Castro's farm policy is not an occult subject. To my desk this morning came the weekly edition of the Cuban Information Service, distributed free of charge to newsmen in the U. S. A., Canada and Great Britain in English and in Spanish all over Latin America and in Spain. On Page One is this item: "The moment that Fidel Castro took power, a concerted drive was begun to destroy the concrete and poultry industry." The story tells of breeding herds slaughtered for am a little late in any discussion of the twist. Every other writer who has access to print has discussed this new social phenomenon ad nauseam. Since I eschew charity balls as the devil does holy water and have never been to the Peppermint Lounge, the high temple of the twist, I had never seen this new craze, described to us by one of our perceptive friends, as a re-enactment of old fertility rites.

However, one of our guests the other evening definitely belongs to the younger generation. Apropos of nothing, he said it was very easy to do the twist.

"JUST PRETEND," he began, "that you are stubbing out a cigarette with each foot and rubbing your back dry with a towel after a shower."

That did it. It sounded so simple, really. And, after all, we are each younger than the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, who are said to be devotees of the twist, as well as Elisa Maxwell, who has any number of laps on us, and no pun intended.

BEFORE YOU could say "physical fitness," every guest was stubbing out cigarettes on the parquet. And then one guest, carried away by this stubbing, said, "Can't we have towels?" So I raided the linen closet and distributed the towels.

"Try stubbing out one cigarette first!" cautioned our young friend. "And it isn't your shoulders you're supposed to rub dry," he added delicately. "Lower, lower! No, not the waist, either. Lower."

THE EVENING pointed a powerful moral to me: This nation, far from being flabby, is in the pink. Any country that is twisting from coast to coast and border to border can lick its weight in King Kong.

Honey, hand me that towel! Two more lessons and I'll be asking Santa for a football. (Copyright, 1961, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

meat, and hens indiscriminately sold overseas. Cuba soon lost self-sufficiency in both these food sources.

IN THE HEARINGS of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee there are numerous references by witnesses to the communication of Cuban agriculture. In the best book yet published on Castro's Cuba, "Cuba: First Soviet Satellite in the Americas," Dan Juba reports the agrarian reforms in detail. Bowles had no excuse for being misinformed.

THIS LAW was literally the first major attack on Cuban capitalism. And no wonder—considering both the need for land reform on the one hand, and the authors of the Law on the other. They were Che Guevara, the Kremlin's number one boy in Cuba, and two harmless geographers. Ostensibly the Agrarian Law destroyed landlordism and gave farms to the peasants. Actually, the government became the landlord. The peasant was transformed into a serf of the State. He cannot plant what he chooses, or change his employment, or move elsewhere to work, or educate his children where he pleases, or make purchases save at the "people's stores" of the State-operated National Institute of Agrarian Reform.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Simple Recipes Are Her Beauty Helps

By LYDIA LANE HOLLYWOOD—Lory Patrick and I were talking about the difficulty that many actors have trying to get a foothold in the entertainment industry. "I was lucky to be chosen for 'Wells Fargo,'" Lory began, "but I was surprised to find that good luck arouses jealousy in others. I try not to be envious of anyone. It is one emotion that is hard to conceal and it is a destructive force. Working in a series with my face covered so constantly with make-up is a challenge," Lory went on. "I have to work hard to keep my pores from rebelling. I have tried many ways of cleansing my skin, but the old-fashioned remedies seem to do me more good than the modern methods. I clean my face first with an oil that is soluble in water. It has the same fresh feeling as soap for it makes a little lather when I rinse it off. Then I make a paste of coarsely-ground corn meal and melted honey. I blend the honey and meal with the back of a spoon and when I have it well mixed, I spread it over my face with the tips of my fingers. I work it well over my face and then rinse it off with tepid water. The friction caused by the corn meal helps to remove any stale make-up that may be left in the pores. "To be doubly sure that my pores are not clogged, I give myself a yeast facial once or twice a week. This is the most," she exclaimed. "I take two cakes of yeast and dissolve them in warm milk or cream and work this all over my face. I leave it for five minutes and then rinse it off with warm water. Try it. You'll see a difference after the first treatment." OLD-FASHIONED RECIPES You'll find an assortment of unique beauty treatments in Leaflet M-99, "Grandmothers' Recipes From The Old World." AFB Chapel Scene Of Buffet Party

Gold ornaments decorated the Christmas tree for a Saturday afternoon party given by members of St. Francis Cabrini Altar Society in honor of the Missionary Sisters of Our Lady of Victory. Held at Webb AF BChapel annex, the party included a buffet. The Rev. Sister Eilan, Sister Alita, Sister Chrystom, Sister Melita and the Rev. John L. Howard received gifts which were presented by the club's president, Mrs. Dan Long. The buffet table featured a candlelit miniature tree. Mrs. James Green and Mrs. John Subma were those who served as hostesses. Game prizes were won by Sister Alice, Mrs. Donald Fisher, Mrs. Dan Long and Mrs. John O'Brien and following games, the Rev. Father Howard entertained with piano selections. He also led in group singing of traditional carols. Mrs. Donald Goss and Mrs. James Schafer were in charge of entertainment, with Mrs. Richard Casimiro and Mrs. Dan Long, in charge of decorating. A nativity scene at the chapel entrance lent an atmosphere of reverence, as members arrived and received their name tags.

Designers Continue Outstripping Contest

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON NEW YORK (U) — How deep can a neckline creep? Costumes created by couturier Arnold Scaasi have gone about as far as they can go, short of eliminating the bodice altogether. In what seems to be an unofficial contest among American designers to see whose décolletage designs can outstrip the other's, Scaasi's dresses top them all. Or, as some of the buyers for his spring collection today expressed it, they don't quite top enough. Designer Rudi Gernreich probably started the race earlier this year by making much of his evening type, one-shoulder dresses. Later Celi Chapman did him one shoulder strap better—or less—by concentrating on strapless fashion. Then Jacques Tiffreau of Monte Sant-Prusian drew a deep breath and dropped the décolletage some more. Now Scaasi's strapless dresses are worn by models who seem to have outgrown them. But his publicity director assured an inquirer that they were intended to stop where they did. "Very feminine," she explained, a reply which no one could debate. What he calls the keynote to his line for spring are parade suits—crisp waist-clinching, brass buttoned jacket suits that fairly boom "Seventy-six Trombones." But under those militant jackets are sleeveless, neckless, nearly nothing at all blouses. More shock treatment are his "suddenly" skirts sewn on zigzag waistlines they flip outward like fins on a pretty fish. His "dandy" suits, color percussion in broad red, or green and white, stripes, are reminiscent of the suits worn by the gay blades of the Gay Nineties. Not surprising, but puzzling are Scaasi's "foldover" coats that look exactly the same, coming or going. Then providing a pause in this delightful fashion violence are some shadowy neutral dresses for daytime, a shock because of their quietness. Not a ruffle, not a pleat, not a jewel are on these superprim sometimes pin-striped dresses.

ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE One of the prized possessions of MR. and MRS. H. C. STIPP is a silver coffee urn that was presented to Mr. Stipp's grandfather for raising a lot of corn. The presentation was made to the young man of 16 at the Illinois State Fair in 1860 for raising the most corn on 20 acres in the state of Illinois. The urn has been replated and is in good service. Coffee is kept hot by means of an alcohol burner. Mrs. Stipp completes the service by adding a creamer and sugar bowl set which is quite old, a gift from an aunt. The Stipps, incidentally, will be part of a number of Big Spring people who are planning to spend Christmas in Houston. They will visit their son and his family, MR. and MRS. LOUIS STIPP. Holiday Party Given For Club At Apples

A festiveness of the season prevailed Monday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Apple when members of the Credit Club met for their business discussion and a Christmas party. Prior to the meeting the 22 members served themselves from a lavishly laid buffet table that was centered with a large red and white candle with angels in red feather skirts about the base. Places were set at foursome tables and were marked with lipstick holders that were tied with gift tags bearing the members names. Hostesses with Mrs. Apple were Fyrie Bradshaw, Mrs. Caribel Laughlin, Mrs. Bill Draper, Mrs. Mrs. J. D. Benson told an original story, "My Childhood Christmas" when members of the Esther Circle of the First Christian Church met Monday in the home of Mrs. L. T. King. Gifts were exchanged among the nine members, a guest, Mrs. S. V. Jordan, and a new member, Mrs. Baldrige.

Mrs. Benson Is Program Speaker

Special guests were Rev. and Mrs. Dewitt Seago. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. N. W. McClesky, Miss Nell Hatch, Mrs. A. C. Bass and Mrs. Clyde Lowry. Cover Eggs Eggs should be covered during storage because they absorb odors and lose moisture through their porous shells.

Toastmistress Club Observes The Season

Silver frosted pine cones with pink and blue baubles decorated the dinner table for a meeting Monday night of Toastmistress Club, held in the TV Room of the Officers Club, Webb AFB. Centering the table was a white sleigh filled with silver and red ornaments and sprigs of evergreen sprinkled with glitter. Mrs. Ronald Storz gave the invocation and announcement was made of the local speech contest which begins in January. Also announced was the Toastmistress Council meeting which is to be held in Big Spring, next year in April, with Mrs. Hollis Smith, the chairman. Mrs. B. F. Meacham gave a parliamentary evaluation, after which "grab-bag ideas," were presented by Mrs. Robert Cepholis, topic mistress. The ideas were then discussed. "Gates and Doors," a poem by Joyce Kilmer, was given by Mrs. Meacham and Mrs. Philip Smotherman gave Charles Tazewell's "The Littlest Angel." The program was concluded with Christmas carols with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Leland Younkman.

Music Of Christmas To Be Given

Mt. Bethel Baptist Church Choir, under the direction of Jo Hazel Williams, will present its first service of Christmas music at 7:30 p.m., at the church. The first half of the program will consist of "Ave Maria," with Shirley Hillman, soloist; "Carol of the Bells," a mixed ensemble; "The Holy City," duet by the Rev. and Mrs. Melvin Montgomery; "Silent Night," chorus; "O Holy Night," Essie Person, soloist. The second portion will be a Christmas cantata, "Child Jesus" by Clokey and Kirk. Bass narrators will be James Edward Woodruff and L. L. Merlin Jones; soloists, Lottie Morgan, Lillian Viola Merritt, and James Edward Woodruff. Piano accompaniment will be by Patricia White.

Paraphernalia Catchall Gift For Teen-Ager

Every student's room needs an official catchall which he or she can use instead of piling miscellaneous material helter-skelter. Into it can go newspapers, themes, programs, souvenirs and other paraphernalia that needs a shelter before being put into a more permanent place or discarded. A useful shape for the catchall is a large V with a flat bottom. This can be made at low cost in the home workshop of 1x2-inch lumber covered by Masonite 1/4" Tempered Presdwood. For solidity, join the top of the V at the ends with pieces of lumber. Make the wooden framework two or three feet long, depending on the expected content, and 24 or 30 inches high. Sides and bottom are nailed to the inside of the framing. Handholds can be made near the top of each side to make the catchall readily movable. While ends aren't essential, pieces of presdwood can be nailed on readily, so that the device is fully enclosed. Decorate the catchall by applying a primer followed by two coats of suitable paint or enamel. The name of the owner can be added in the form of a decalcomania or painted stencil.

EVANS-MOFFETT HOSTESS

Women Of The Church Observe Yule Season

Women of the St. Paul Presbyterian Church met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. James Cape and Mrs. John Fariss in Edgemere Addition. Members of the Evans-Moffett Circle were co-hostesses for the annual Christmas meeting and party. Twenty-eight were present. Mrs. Al Seddon directed the opening prayer and Mrs. Jim Layman presided during the brief business session. Announcements were made of the Christmas cantata, "Night of Miracles" by John W. Peterson, to be presented by the adult choir, Sunday, Dec. 17th at 7 p.m.; the annual Church School party, Friday, Dec. 22; and the Joy Gift program to be presented by Youth Fellowship groups on Sunday, Dec. 24. Bible study based on the second chapter of Epistle of James was given by Mrs. Jim Engstrom. Mrs. Engstrom's topic was "Snobs are Judges," with the general idea that if we have truly accepted the law of love in our hearts as the rule of all our relationships, then there is no need for many laws to govern our conduct. A brief period was spent with the women divided into circles to plan their duties during the month of December. The Peggy Potter Circle will honor the choir with a coffee following the presentation of the Christmas cantata. A social period followed during which time a gift exchange was held with Susan Cape playing "Miss Santa Claus" at the decorated Christmas tree. Mrs. L. B. Edwards, seated at the organ, led the group in singing Christmas carols. "Silent Night" as a duet was sung by Mrs. Linwood Johnson and Mrs. Dick Hoover. Refreshments, all made in the Christmas motif, were served from a table done in gold and white. The centerpiece was a large white candle surrounded with gold balls and leaves. Mrs. Al Seddon was at the tea service.

Sorority Has Dinner And Party

Beta Omicron Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi had its annual Christmas dinner Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Waymon Clark, 2406 Morrison. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Joe Horton, Mrs. Tom Mart, Mrs. Johnny Berry, and Mrs. John Fort Jr. The 28 members attending revealed secret Phi-pals and gifts were exchanged. This was followed by the buffet dinner and entertainment, consisting of bridge and canasta. The next meeting will be held Jan. 11, 1962.

Ella Barrick Circle Meets

Members of Ella Barrick Circle met in the home of Mrs. T. A. Norman Monday, when the regular session was opened with prayer, offered by Mrs. H. L. Stamps. Lesson topics were "Jesus the Light of the World" and "Love Came Down," both from the book of James, and led by Mrs. R. V. Middleton. Topic for discussion was "Annuities and Relief," read by Mrs. Stamps. Six members were present and joined in repeating The Mizpah, closing the program. Radio Club Collects Toys

S.Sgt. Jonathan P. Beauchamp, left, and Charles Burks, show a pickup load of toys collected by the Howard County Citizens Band Radio Club for needy children. The toys will be a part of those to be distributed Dec. 20 by the Salvation Army after being repaired, clean up, and painted by Big Spring firemen.

C-City Council Gets Report On City's Housing Project

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Colorado City Council reapportioned J. C. Pritchett, Jess Craddock and R. E. Baker as commissioners of the Housing Authority of Colorado City, Monday night and the three were sworn in by City Attorney John Worrell. A. W. Hubbard, local director of the project, gave a brief progress report on the low rent housing project which was completed in May, 1961. Hubbard reported that 26 of 50 units were rented and that the total rent paid by present tenants averaged $27.27 per month per tenant. Water bills are paid by the housing authority, but the tenant is responsible for other utilities.

Firemen Get Good Response

"We received good response to the call for help in dressing dolls for Christmas distribution," Fire Chief H. V. Crocker said Tuesday morning. "We appreciate the liberal help volunteered, but we can use a few more women and girls in making dresses and dressing the dolls. We really have a pile of them to be finished." Crocker also said firemen had completed work on, and delivered, 50 bicycles to the Salvation Army warehouse for Christmas distribution. He said they expect over 100 before the Dec. 18 deadline.

Honor Society Holds Yule Party

The Delta Kappa Gamma women's honor society held its annual Christmas party Monday night at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Paul C. Young, Silver Heels Addition. Hostesses were Mrs. Mildred McFall, Agnes Currie and Mrs. Young. About 50 persons were present, including guests from Stanton, Sterling City and Coahoma. The group sang Christmas carols after a buffet supper. Mrs. Mary Arnold Hefley reviewed the Christmas story.

Assault Charge Is Filed After 2-Car Collision

A charge of aggravated assault with a motor vehicle was filed in Howard County Court Monday against Clifton E. Woodard, 20, stationed at Webb AFB. The charge followed a two-car collision at Seventeenth and Gregg Saturday night in which Woodard, a driver, his passenger, Carla Jo Hughes, 16, of Rt. 2, Big Spring, and Hubert Joe Heard, 17, driver of the second car, were hospitalized. Woodard and Miss Hughes were X-rayed, treated, and released from Malone and Hogan Hospital Foundation. Heard is still in the hospital but was reported to be doing well Tuesday morning. Heard, who had stopped for a red traffic light while headed west on Seventeenth, started across Gregg after the light turned green, police said, when his car was struck by the car driven by Woodard, who was traveling north and failed to stop for the traffic light.

Cars Scrambled

Three persons were sent to hospitals and two cars were total losses in this accident at Seventeenth and Gregg Saturday night. Hubert Joe Heard, 17, driver of one car is still in Malone and Hogan Hospital Foundation, but doing well Tuesday morning. The other two were treated and released Saturday night.

Scholars Go Back To Class

Attendance in Big Spring public schools was back to normal today following increased absences Monday because of inclement weather, according to attendance reports. "The sun came out today and so did the students," Roscoe T. Newell, principal at Rummels Junior High, said. He reported normal attendance with about 40 absences compared to 153 Monday. Goliad Junior High was still a bit above the normal absentee rate, according to S. A. Walker, principal. There were 57 absent for classes this morning, compared to about 40 on a usual day. There were 90 students absent Monday. The Senior High School reported 60-65 absences. The number Monday had almost doubled, going to 110 absences. Many of the absentees in secondary schools were from the rural areas. K. A. Morrison, Elementary school reported 67 absences Monday and 39 today. This is only slightly higher than normal. Washington Elementary reported about the same number on both days, with decreased absenteeism in several classrooms.

Driver Charged With Mischief

Hilario Ramirez, 24, was charged in County Court with malicious mischief after he was found in a home on Marshall Drive last Friday morning. His bond was set at $1,000, which he posted. He is charged with entering the house and damaging personal property before being found in a closet of the home when the owner returned. A city water truck, which he was driving, was parked in front of the house. The man ran from the house after he was discovered and was arrested by police a few blocks away. He had abandoned his truck and was walking when apprehended.

Richardson Plant Back On Stream

The Sid Richardson Carbon plant fired up almost a week ahead of predictions, according to John Hogg, plant manager. Crews went back to work Monday. Production of carbon was halted more than a month ago. It resumed on a limited scale and presently only HAF carbon black is being produced, Hogg said. "We are going to produce at a rate required to keep up with demand," he said, "hoping it will not be necessary to shut down again. Sales are picking up and we are optimistic." Despite below capacity production, all crews are back to work, he said.

Motorists Drive With Special Care

Big Spring police had a comparatively light 24 hours through Tuesday morning, in spite of icy streets. Reports show only one accident and no injuries. In the 300 Block of Main a collision was investigated. Drivers involved were H. O. Hudgins, 1908 Howell, and Raymond Valencia, 306 NE 9th. Traffic was snarled in a place or two when traffic lights failed to work. One was on Rummels between Third and Fourth, and another was at Tenth and Johnson.

Test Scores

Achievement test scores have been returned for the eleventh and twelfth graders in the Big Spring Independent School District and have been given to the students. Wayne Bonner, high school counselor, reminded parents that he is available to consult with them regarding the scores. He suggested that parents consider the scores of their youngsters and call the school to plan a discussion of the results.

New Item On City Agenda

The city commission will consider action of the State Hospital Board in refusing to renegotiate a new water contract during tonight's meeting. A short agenda had been announced earlier in which the commission would consider recommendations of the planning and zoning commission in rezoning a half-block west of Nolan between Eighth and Ninth streets, and a quarter block at the intersection of US 87 north and the Andrews Highway. The third reading of an ordinance annexing Ike Robb's Highland South No. 2 Addition will also be considered.

ON THE SHELF

By The Associated Press
SCENES FROM THE BATH-HOUSE. By Mikhail Zoshchenko. Translated from the Russian by Sidney Monas. U. of Mich. Press. $5.95.

It is an interesting experiment, in these days of great curiosity about the other side of the Propaganda Curtain, to have a look at Russian humor.

It appears that Zoshchenko is not exactly a typical Russian humorist; although some of his articles have appeared in the Soviet humor magazine, Krokodil. He was bounced out of the Union of Soviet Writers in 1946 on charges that he was a literary tramp and a "brainless and pornographic scribbler," but there is not much ideological heresy in his pages.

His principal themes revolve around the idea that human nature is bound to be human nature, even in a "socialist" state. He pokes fun at such things as bureaucratic inefficiency, bad architecture, ridiculous work assignments and Soviet notions about marriage. But his method is not so much direct criticism as it is a satirical, and rather cynical, illumination of human fallibilities.

Typical of this collection is an anecdote about the old woman who became very unhappy when the miserable building in which she lived was wired for electricity. The bright light gave merciful exposure to the patched walls, the tattered furniture, the bedbugs and the dirt. She cut the electric wires and went back to her kerosene lamp.

The central figure in many of these sketches is the little guy who can't win. He is the little cog in the Soviet machines, and his fate is to get no consideration as a human being.

Very important to the reading of this book is an introduction by the translator Monas. Its interpretations give meaning to many puzzling passages and point out the significance of others.

Monas notes, for example, that the three sketches about a bath-house in this book were written many years apart. The first is more or less straight humor. The second slyly discloses some of the stupidities of its bureaucratic management. The third shows the place as being better managed, but gives away the fact that the younger generation lacks ambition and the older generation has learned that saving money is of little importance in Soviet society. —MILES A. Kennedy Plotter Ready For Trial

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)— Richard P. Pavlick, 74, of Belmont, N.H., says he is ready to stand trial on a charge of plotting to assassinate President Kennedy.

Pavlick was arrested a year ago in Palm Beach, Fla. Pavlick told officers who found several sticks of dynamite in his car and motel room he planned to kill Kennedy because of "the underhanded way he was elected."

Pavlick has been held at the Federal Prison Medical Center in Springfield, Mo., under a law that permits an accused person to be held until he is mentally competent to stand trial.

An attorney filed in U.S. District Court Monday a petition asking that Pavlick be returned to Florida to stand trial, claiming he is mentally competent.
