U. S. Shelter Plans Listed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal Civil Defense program to be sent to Congress next month will cost about $700 million and include incentive payments for construction of fallout shelters in schools, hospitals, and public welfare institutions.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatrick disclosed details in a news conference today.

The program provides federal guidance but no money for individual, home shelters.

The federal incentive program, Gilpatrick said in a statement, is planned on the basis of aid for construction of shelter spaces for about 20 million persons in the fiscal year, beginning next July 1. It would make eligible for incentive payments projects started after Jan. 1.

A booklet on fallout shelters will be available to the public in early January and to news media sooner, he said.

A "fact sheet" issued in connection with the news conference gave a look at the government's philosophy about the possibility of all-out attack on this country.

"The likelihood of such an attack is very small, but it is possible," the sheet said. "If it comes, we know its consequences would be terrible. Therefore, we must take what steps we can to protect ourselves through an organized, long-range, sensible program of Civil Defense."

Gilpatrick summed up the federal government's views about its responsibility for civil defense in this fashion:

"An effective civil defense requires the participation of every citizen. It calls for advance planning at every level of government—local, state and national. This planning must be flexible enough to adapt itself to changes in enemy weapons and tactics. It must be comprehensive enough to cover people living under widely different conditions from ranch houses, to apartment houses, to frame cottages.

"The primary defense obligation of the federal government is to build and maintain enough deterrent power to make any enemy attack unlikely. This deterrent demands a major effort in men, money and organization, now and for the foreseeable future."

The fact sheet said there was no panacea for protection from thermuclear attack, that "in a major attack, on this country, millions—and probably tens of millions—of people would be killed."

But an effective civil defense program, it said, could save large numbers of people who would not otherwise survive.

Train Smashes School Bus In Colorado; 20 Are Killed

Bailey Slain In Fight At State School

Robert Lonnie Bailey, 15, was killed this morning during a fight at the Gatesville State School for Boys.

The youth was sent to the school earlier this year from Big Spring after he admitted killing Mrs. S. A. Hathcock, 85, a pioneer resident and mother-in-law of Mayor Lee O. Rogers.

Supt. O. F. Perry said Bailey and another youth got into a fight as they left the dining room following breakfast and that Bailey fell and struck his head. Perry declined further comment until completion of an autopsy and investigation by District Attorney Byron McClelland.

Mrs. Hathcock was found dead at her home Sept. 23 and police arrested Bailey that same evening. He had been employed by Mrs. Hathcock to do yard work.

Bailey was taken to the training school the following day and District Attorney Gil Jones said that Bailey would be returned here to face trial when he reached 17, legal age at which a person may be tried for a felony.

Officers report that Bailey was often in trouble while a resident here and had previously served a term at Gatesville for burglary. He was on probation at the time of Mrs. Hathcock's death. His record lists several arrests, all for burglary.

Angelo Woman Wins Custody Of 'Gift' Child

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A baby who was given away by a man in a tavern has been placed in custody of his grandmother, Mrs. F. G. Probst of San Angelo, Tex.

Juvenile Court Judge Dorothy Young awarded the child, 7-month-old Mark Montgomery, to Mrs. Probst and her husband after a brief hearing.

No trace has been found of the boy's father, James Edward Montgomery, or Montgomery's wife since a stranger in a bar gave him the child. He identified pictures of Montgomery as the man who handed over the baby.

Mrs. Probst said she believes the boy's father is dead.

Scene Is One Of Tragedy And Hysteria

GREELEY, Colo. (AP)—A school bus was struck by a streamliner passenger train in northern Colorado today and at least 20 persons were killed.

Coroner Ross Adamson said 20 bodies were taken to a temporary morgue in Greeley. Apparently all the dead were children.

A number of children were taken to a hospital at Greeley. Adamson said he was told there were 30 children on the bus.

Sheriff's officers said the driver of the bus apparently escaped serious injury and was given shelter in the county jail.

He was identified as Duane Harms.

The train was a Union Pacific Railroad streamliner which was traveling westbound. The bus was struck at a crossing two miles east of Evans, which is a short distance south of Greeley.

Greeley is about 50 miles north of Denver. After the accident the train was run on to La Salle, another small community near Greeley.

RURAL FAMILIES
 The bus was one of several from the Greeley School District serving Greeley High School, a junior high school and an elementary school, all in Greeley.

Officials said all of the children aboard the bus were from rural families.

The weather was clear with temperatures below freezing.

The crossing is marked by a sign but has no flashing lights to signal the approach of a train, an official said.

The bus, traveling northwest, apparently drove into the diagonal crossing just as the train approached.

The train struck the bus at its rear end and knocked it about 100 yards.

All parents known to have children on the bus were taken to the sheriff's office at Greeley. The temporary morgue was established at a former armory in downtown Greeley.

ALL ON BUS
 All of those killed and injured were aboard the bus.

Officers told the Greeley Tribune they decided to give the bus driver shelter in jail for his own protection. Later, the state highway patrol declined to discuss this angle, but said the driver was not being held officially and no charges had been filed.

The scene at the crossing after the crash was one of tragedy and hysteria.

Mothers and fathers of school children from all over the area rushed to the crossing. A number (See BUS, Pg. 8-A, Col. 4)

POLICE WON'T INITIATE ANY ACTION

No Blue Law For Big Spring

The Sunday blue laws, aimed primarily at discount stores, will not be enforced in Big Spring as far as the police department is concerned.

Checks with other major cities in Texas reveal that Big Spring is not alone, as other police departments are taking the position that no funds were provided to put on extra men to make investigations, watch, and file charges.

"I have had no calls from anybody about closing the places," Chief Jay Banks said Thursday morning. "If anyone files a complaint we will make investigations and turn our findings over to the proper authorities, but we are not going to initiate any action."

The consensus of police departments over the state is that any person wanting to initiate action to close the stores should ask the district attorney to file an injunction to close them.

A petition bearing some 25 names was submitted to the city commission Tuesday night, but the commission took no official action because of the unpopularity of the law and because of the beliefs, in other cities, that it cannot be enforced with the men available.

Porter Randall, Noted News Commentator, To Speak Here

Porter Randall, news commentator on radio and television, will be the speaker for the annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce Jan. 12, according to Carroll Davidson, Chamber manager.

The 45-year-old newscaster has spent 23 years behind the microphone and has been with KFJZ radio and television in Fort Worth the past 19 years.

"Randall is an outstanding man in his field and we feel his comments will be worth hearing," Davidson said. "He will choose his own subject, but it will be related to the need for a voice for business, which is one of the primary jobs of the Chamber of Commerce."

Randall has been cited for his contributions to newscasting, including a commendation by the Texas Association of Broadcasters for a 32-hour marathon broadcast on the scene of the Waco tornado in 1953. One of his first assignments for his network was a 54-hour stand at the microphone after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, which sounded the drums of World War II.

In 1945 Randall developed the idea of broadcasting the passenger lists of troopships returning home after the war. He obtained the lists in advance and brought listeners the first word that their servicemen relatives were coming home.

He is a graduate of the University of Missouri and has broadcast from all parts of the world, including the interior of Soviet Russia. He has written a book, "Excursion Into Adventure," based on the political tensions between Israel and the Arab world in the Middle East and is now working on a second book dealing with his travels through the Orient, India and Russia.

Although Randall has almost given up making personal appearances relating to his hobby, he and Mrs. Randall were once well-known for their performances of magic.

The banquet will be held in the cafeteria at Goliad Junior High School at 7:30 p.m. Reservation blanks are being mailed to Chamber members to give them first chance to buy. Reservations will be open to the public later.

Arrangements have been made for about 800 persons. Tickets to the affair are $3.50 each. The menu has not yet been arranged, but a buffet style supper will be served, Davidson said.

Other activities at the annual meeting will be installation of new directors, recognition of the Ambassador's Club and its new lifetime members, the award by Jaycees to the young man chosen for distinguished service during the year, and speeches by incoming and outgoing presidents of the board of directors.

On the planning committees for the banquet are John Currie, ticket committee; Mrs. Clyde Angel, decoration committee; Jim Lewis, food committee; Rad Ware, general arrangements, and R. W. Whipkey, publicity.

6 Colleges Receive Grants

HOUSTON (AP)—Six universities and colleges in Texas are among 266 institutions which will share grants totaling $1,900,000. The grants, made by the Esso Education Foundation, were announced by M. J. Rathbone, chairman of the foundation and president of Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey).

Texas institutions receiving the money are Rice University, Baylor University, Hardin-Simmons University, Southern Methodist University, Texas Christian University and Howard Payne College.

The amounts of the grants were not announced.

USE CHRISTMAS SEALS AND HELP FIGHT TB!

Don't Be A 52-Timer

A 52-timer is a Herald reader who has trouble every week digging up change to pay his newsboy.

On the other hand, a ONE-TIMER is a Herald reader who sends in his check to have the paper delivered to his door for all of 1962, and never worries about it again.

Thing about it, he not only is happier about saving time and making his newsboy happier, he saves real money—more than 10 per cent, in fact.

The ONE-TIMER has to send in his check this month, though. It comes to $18.45 (newsboy's share included), plus a sales tax of 37¢ to help take care of the state. That's a total of $18.82.

Tom Green May Close Vets Office

AUSTIN (AP)—Tom Green County can discontinue operation of its veterans service office, Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled today.

The opinion was requested by District Attorney Justin Kever. It said that the commissioners court of Tom Green County was authorized to discontinue both the operation of the office and the services of the veterans officer by a majority vote of the court, if a public necessity no longer exists.

More Attacks

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—Indian bombers and Swedish jet fighters swept over Elisabethville today to bomb and strafe Katanga troop positions.

More To Seek Public Office

Three candidates for political office have definitely declared themselves during the past week.

Ralph White, county commissioner from District No. 2 and L. J. Davidson, commissioner from District No. 4, have announced they will seek re-election to their places on the county commissioners court.

Mrs. Roberta Oldfield, who is now secretary to the Howard County Commissioners Court, has said that she plans to be a candidate for the office of county clerk. Mrs. Pauline Petty, presently county clerk, has also announced that she will seek re-election.

Harvey Hooser Jr., formerly county attorney and a member of the Howard County bar, is contemplating getting into the political picture.

It appears likely, if he decides to take action, that he will be an opponent to Ralph W. Caton for judge of the 118th District Court. Caton has already said he would seek re-election.

Hits At 'Censorship'

Edwin A. Walker, speaking in Dallas, blasts what he called "censorship" of U. S. military leaders and "subversion of national interests by one-worlders." S. officials and attempting to influence soldiers' votes.

Farm Bureau Says U.S. On Road To Socialism

CHICAGO (AP) — The convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation said in a resolution today that the United States in the past year has moved far into socialism and toward Communism.

The statement was made in a resolution criticizing what was called a trend toward increased centralization of power in the federal government.

The resolution, as written by a platform committee, was identical to one adopted by the federation a year ago which stated that present trends, if left unchecked, "will lead to socialism and thus to Communism."

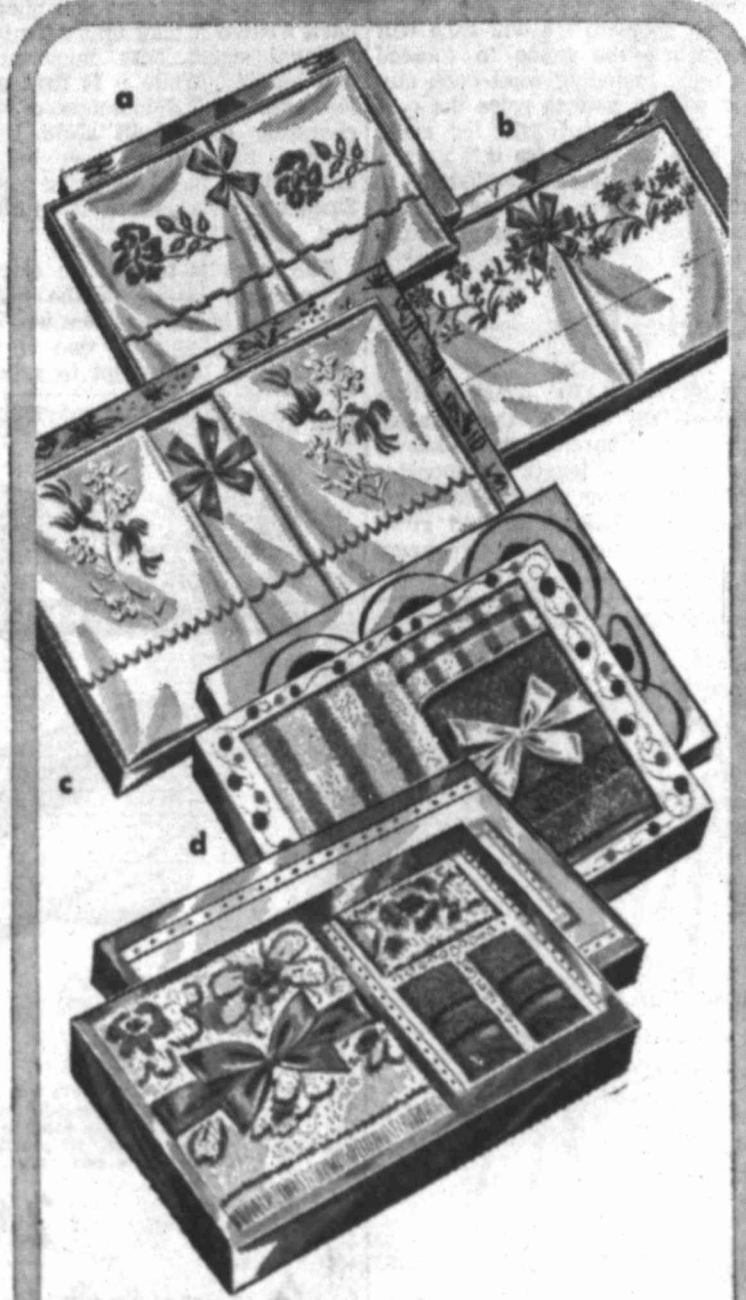

But changes offered from the floor Wednesday changed this to read that increased centralization of power in federal hands "has led us far into socialism which is the stepping stone to Communism."

The voting delegates also gave tentative approval to a farm program which would use a voluntary soil bank payment program to siphon out of production crop land which now produces surpluses that depress farm prices and pile costs on the federal Treasury.

World Responds To Boy's Tragedy

IONIA, Mich. (AP)—Five-year-old Richard Munsch has never been out of Michigan, but he has friends all over the world.

Ever since Oct. 16 when sparks from a trash barrel ignited his shirt and burned him badly, Richard has been deluged with gifts and letters from this country and abroad.

Army and Navy units all over the world have sent Richard enough foreign stamps and coins to start a first-class collection.

His first card came from the USS Intrepid and was signed by 3,000 men. Later mail deliveries brought paper money from the Phil Nam, Turkey, England, the Vietippines, France, Belgium and Italy, letters from Germany and an article from a French newspaper, telling his story.

It all started after Richard's paternal grandparents in California were notified of his serious burns. They got word to his uncle, W. E. Raine, who is stationed with a military communications outfit in Italy.

No one knows just how Raine got word of Richard around the world, but he did.

Blodgett Hospital at Grand Rapids, Mich., where the boy was taken for skin grafts, was deluged with cards, letters and gifts.

An 18-year-old girl in Panama described how she was hurt badly when she was seven and still has scars. She told him to have courage and faith in God.

A French girl, burned badly during the World War II bombings, said Richard was lucky to live in a country where they have good hospitals.

Richard was made an honorary pilot of the 39th Troop Carrier Squadron, and he has a red pilot's cap complete with wings and patch. They were sent by a lieutenant colonel in France.

He also was made an honorary member of the 76th Radar Squadron, basketball team of North Bend, Ore., and has free tickets to all games.

Richard's father, a pharmacist at Ionia County Memorial Hospital, and his mother, who have five children, are trying to decide how to thank all the people.

Daniel Grants Stay Of Execution

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Price Daniel granted a stay of execution from Dec. 19 to Jan. 19 Wednesday for Adrian Johnson, a young Negro under death sentence for a 1959 icebox slaying.

The Board of Pardons and Pardoners said the stay was issued to maintain a definite date of execution pending final action on a writ of habeas corpus, which will not come before Dec. 19. The District Attorney in Harris County made the request.

Likes Individuality

Dianne Foster believes that individuality is a girl's greatest asset. In today's Hollywood Beauty, she discusses weight, complexion and how to evaluate advice from others.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Wrong Advice Gave A Bad Beginning

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — When Dianne Foster came here, via London, she was young and insecure, and at that time Hollywood's idea of glamour was to copy another star. "It takes time, trial and error to find the image that is right," Dianne confessed the other afternoon. "I have listened to advice, from very important people, that was wrong for me."

"Because I was young and inexperienced, I tried to follow the advice of those who had been in the movie industry a long time. When you try to please everyone, you end up pleasing no one. The only rule to follow is to keep an open mind but accept nothing that you feel is not right for you. The most important asset is individuality, and I had a few unhappy conflicts with people who were trying to make me a carbon copy of another person."

"Parents should encourage their children to be individual, to express their own taste. Children should be guided but not controlled, and if they insist on something that the parent knows is wrong, I think they should be allowed to suffer from their mistakes. Experience is the greatest teacher."

"People used to frighten me! I was so shy that I always waited to be spoken to. This type of reserve can be mistaken for snobishness. One day I realized that I would have to correct this impression or I would never have any friends. I sat down and wrote all the reasons that made me afraid to take the initiative. When I analyzed my list, I found that what was inhibiting me was the fear of failure."

"Fear is destructive. So I began to think positively and made up my mind to take the first step toward overcoming my fears. The Chinese have a wonderful proverb that does something like this, 'A thousand-mile journey begins with the first step.' And I can remember my first step was the hardest. I made conversation with a total stranger! It wasn't unpleasant, and soon I was able to conquer my shyness."

"Another thing I've learned," Dianne continued, "is not to take good things in life for granted. Health is so important. To have good health you must take care of your body. When you are young and strong, you think you can do anything and it won't hurt you. But you pay for it. I did."

"I didn't get enough rest, and I ate the wrong kinds of food. My skin broke out for the first time. My doctor told me I was run down. He said that I should plan my meals carefully and have more sleep. It sounds stupid, but I had never realized that by undisciplining my health, I was destroying my appearance."

"My complexion is clear now because I changed my health habits. And also I have a routine that really works well for me. My skin is dry and sensitive so I can never use soap on my face. Once a week I give my face a good steaming to be sure all the impurities are out of my pores. I boil water, add salt to it and hold my face over a pot of this with a towel over my head to keep the steam in. When my face is perspiring, I close the pores with lots of cold water."

"The best time to use creams is before your face becomes dry and wrinkled. I like one that is absorbed quickly and doesn't have to be massaged in. I don't believe in facials. If you rub your face the wrong way or too hard, you can pull your muscles down."

"When we talked about diets, Dianne had this to say: 'The only sure way to control your weight is to eliminate from your menus all the things that you know are unhealthy or too rich, and always leave the table feeling that you could eat a little more.'

"I watch my weight," Dianne went on. "When I have to reduce, it is only a pound or two. When it comes to dieting, procrastination can cause you a lot of hard work. It is so easy to say, 'I'll start dieting tomorrow.' Especially when you are looking at delicious meals."

"And some people need much encouragement from those they love to stick to a diet," Dianne said in conclusion. "It is pretty hard for them to eat carrot sticks when those around them are having strawberry pie. But it can be done, if the pie eaters praise the dieters for having will power."

ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

NELL BROWN returned Tuesday from a business trip that began as a six weeks stay and lasted through four months. Called by her employer, Ray Albaugh, to Tionesta, Penn., to do the paper work on leases, Miss Brown had left here in early September. She found that in Pennsylvania the records weren't kept the way Texans keep theirs and the procedure was long and tedious. However, the native Texan did enjoy the changing season in the Quaker State.

Two events took place in Texas during that time. One was the Big Spring High School homecoming, and the other was the Baylor homecoming. However on the way home she attended the wedding of the daughter of a Baylor friend, Mrs. S. L. Calhoun, in Leland, Miss. She also went to Huntsville, Ala., and visited a cousin, and in Tennessee she found many more relatives. She rented a car to drive the 90 miles from Huntsville to Nashville where she was to catch a plane and forgot about the winding roads and her love of visiting. . . . as a consequence she missed her plane by five minutes. She also had 200 miles on the car.

C.

WIC Party Follows Dinner

A dinner-party for Women in Construction took place in the Cosden Club's Blue Room Tuesday evening, with 13 members in attendance.

Swirls of gold ribbon, spruce and red baubles were used with red tapers for the table decoration.

Following dinner, members went to the home of Mrs. B. M. Hogue for a dessert course and gift exchange. The dessert table featured a red and white Christmas cloth and Santa, his reindeer and sleigh.

D. M. Bardwell's name was drawn as the project winner. Mrs. A. C. Eitzen gave a reading, "The Christmas Story," after which gifts were exchanged. The next meeting is scheduled for Jan. 10, and will be held at the Wagon Wheel.

SECT vs. SECT

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher, Church of Christ, 1000 West Highway 88 P.O. Box 1255

Yesterday I started quoting from a long letter of protest received from the pastor of a popular denomination. Today, I reply to that quotation. He said that we seem to set ourselves over against others, as if all who are "not of the sect known as the Church of Christ are not legitimate churches."

I do not set one sect against another. I am against every form of sectarianism. While I am not against the people in these sects, I must be against the idea of having sects. Sects mean sections, parties, divisions, heresies. Paul reproved the Christian at Corinth because heresies (footnote, "sects") were developing within the congregation. (1 Cor. 11:17-19). He also said, "Now I beseech you . . . that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you . . ." (1 Cor. 1:10).

Thus, according to the Apostle, no sect is legitimate; and this truth remains unchanged, even if it can be proved that I am a member of a sect.

Welcome to our mid-week preaching service tonight, 7:30.

Caroling Featured In HD Christmas Program

New Council Officers

Mrs. Neil Norred (left), was installed Wednesday as the new president of Howard County Home Demonstration Council. Vice president for 1962, Mrs. Ray Swann, (right), was also installed, with Mrs. Delaine Crawford, HD agent, conducting the installation in the SUB Parlor at Howard County Junior College. The Christmas tree was a feature of parlor decorations.

The SUB parlor, HCJC, was the scene for a Christmas party of the Howard County Home Demonstration Council, Wednesday. Caroling preceded the program and gift exchange.

Sixty members were present and joined in singing Christmas songs with Mrs. Alton Underwood, the leader, and accompaniment by Mrs. Neil Fryar at the piano.

The Rev. Robert F. Polk, pastor of the First Baptist Church, in a devotion taken from Luke II, stressed verse seven. Don Ford, education director at the First Methodist Church, sang "Sweet Little Jesus Boy," "O, Holy Night," and "Infants Lowly, Infants Holy," with piano accompaniment by Patricia Fowler.

A refreshment table, spread with a red cloth, was centered with a gold candle having gold and silver baubles and ribbon swirls clustered at the base.

The Christmas tree, decorated for the occasion, featured multi-colored baubles and handmade ornaments including devil claw birds, gold and glittered mesquite beans, cotton burrs, cockle burrs and feathers, all gilded and glittered. About the tree, gifts were exchanged.

Mrs. Delaine Crawford reviewed the year's work, recognizing committees and chairmen for their efforts during the year, after which she conducted the installation.

BPO Does Make Plans For Holiday Parties

Plans for holiday festivities were discussed at a meeting of the BPO Does Wednesday evening at the Elks Hall.

The group will assist with the Christmas party at the state hospital, Dec. 22, and will help Sunday at the Elks Hall in trimming the Christmas tree. Work on the tree will begin at 2 p.m.

Tuesday evening, the Elks will give a party for families beginning at 7 o'clock, with gifts planned for the youngsters.

During the session Wednesday evening, Mrs. Joe Flock served as first counselor, and Mrs. Jim Harper was junior counselor.

The name of Mrs. Frank Ruthford was called for the attendance prize; since she was absent the prize is to be held over for the next meeting, slated for Jan. 10, 1962.

Four Members Added At NCO Wives Meeting

NCO Wives Club met Tuesday in the ballroom of the NCO Club, where plans were discussed to help with the toy distribution for the Salvation Army on Dec. 20-21.

Also, it was decided there would be no social meeting in December, and the next regular business meeting announced for Jan. 9.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. William Peterson and Mrs. Allen Payfair.

The club prayer was led by Mrs. J. D. Leonard, president, after which roll call was answered with tips on gardening.

Mrs. W. F. Taylor, projects

den Country Club and all garden club members have been invited to attend.

Mrs. South introduced Mrs. Smith who gave the program on "New Trends in Flower Arrangements." Mrs. Smith stated "We are getting away from the rule-bound form of arranging and using a method more conducive to self-expression." She made several arrangements to demonstrate the new abstract type of arranging, using wood, metal, rock, glass, plastic, and one plant material.

Taylor Circle Has Collection Of Gifts, Clothing

Members of the Maye Belle Taylor Circle of the First Baptist Church collected clothing and Christmas gifts for a local needy family when they met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bob Capps.

Mrs. Bill Johnson was elected chairman of the circle and her place as mission study chairman will be taken by Mrs. J. D. Deavenport.

Mrs. Capps and Mrs. Deavenport brought the program which dealt with hints on how to entertain foreign students in their homes. This, according to the speakers, is an effective way of showing one's love for Christ.

Mrs. Wayne Bartlett worded the call to prayer for the six who attended.

Welfare, Fun For GS Troop

Girl Scouts of Explorer Troop 300 met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Clyde Thomas for a Christmas party and gift exchange.

Book satchels and school supplies were mailed to children in the Andes Mountains, and plans were made for assembling a basket for a needy family to be presented Dec. 23.

The girls will also give a party for patients at the Crippled Children's Center at some date next week, it was decided.

Red satin covered the tea table, which held a pink glittered snowman as the centerpiece. Sandwiches, served as part of the refreshments, were in the shape of Christmas cards.

International Club Honors Mrs. Goff

Mrs. Frank Goff was presented with a charm bracelet by members of the International Club when they met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Sammie Mellinger. She will leave soon for England to visit her parents.

Twelve attended the party when plans for the Christmas party, slated for Dec. 16 at Webb AFB pavilion, were discussed.

Mrs. Eldon Hager was the winner of the telephone call to be made to her home; games of bingo entertained the group.

Grandma Moses, Noted Artist, Dies At Age Of 101

HOOSICK FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Grandma Moses, the spirited 101-year-old primitive artist whose work has appeared on 100-million Christmas cards, died 12 days before Christmas.

When she died at 3:15 p.m. Wednesday, her physician, Dr. Clayton Shaw, told newsmen. She had been in an oxygen tent most of the day, the doctor said. Grandma recently expressed a desire to go home, he said, but she was "sort of indifferent to her surroundings lately."

They settled first in Virginia but later returned to upstate New York. The couple had 10 children. Her husband died in 1927. Later in life, her doctor ordered her to give up farm work. She chose as a hobby the weaving of pictures out of yarn. Eventually, arthritis made it impossible for her to hold a needle. Grandma then turned to painting.

Her first materials were some discarded paint she found in a barn on her farm. She never took an art lesson. Her paintings first were exhibited at county fairs. But it was her jams and preserves that won prizes, not her art. In 1939, an art collector, Louis Calder of East Orange, N.J., saw her work on display at a Hoosick Falls drugstore. He bought several at $3 to $5 each and took them to New York, where three were displayed in the Museum of Modern Art.

The six, members of a special commando unit of SS, were identified as Dr. Alfred Filbert, a Berlin banker; Gerhard Schneider of Hannover, a government employe; Bodo Stuck, a detective chief inspector, also of Hannover; Wilhelm Greifenberg, of Toeging, a clerk from Munich; and Heinrich Tunnat, a business manager, of Oldenburg. All were caught in 1959 and have been under detention since. The trial is expected to start next spring.

Tshombe Invokes Ancestors In Battle Against The U.N.

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—President Moise Tshombe called again Wednesday night for Katanga's ancestral tombs to rally a shower of poisoned arrows on United Nations forces threatening his secessionist regime.

U.N. forces had "launched a generalized attack." Dispatches from Elisabethville this morning, however, made no mention of any all-out U.N. offensive.

In a speech in Elisabethville, Tshombe called once more for total war against the U.N. and pledged his government "will never leave the national soil." Meanwhile, American G-10 bombers flew in fresh U.N. troops in what appeared a buildup for an all-out U.N. offensive. (Katanga's delegation in Belgium Wednesday night reported it had received word that superior

Tshombe's speech was virtually a duplicate of one he made just before the fighting broke out 10 days ago. This time he told his people: "The tom-tom must beat this night to call our warriors to the fight. Everywhere in the bush the army of warriors must answer this ancestral call of our war tom-toms. Then poisoned arrows will shower on their opponents, each 'onsien' (U.N. man) will be a corpse. It will be total war. "If necessary we will transform Elisabethville into a mass of ruins. It is not because we will have lost a scorched earth that we will have lost the war. The battle will continue in our cities and in the bush. "Every U.N. soldier will be a powerless body. No longer will any quarter be given. It will be an all-out fight and we are sure to win." U.N. jets attacked Elisabethville's southern suburbs Wednesday but there was no report of casualties or damage. At the U.N.-held airport 700 Ethiopians

But they were below the normal levels as the season's longest cold snap continued.

2 Flu Outbreaks Ring Alarm For This Season

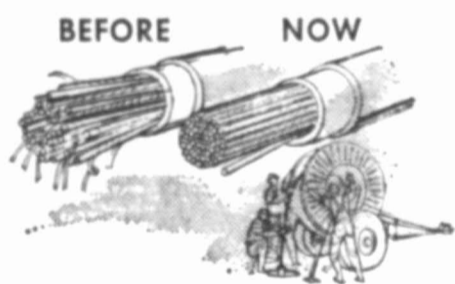

By The Associated Press
A lot of people on an island off the coast of Alaska and in Potosi, Mo., have the flu and chances are the United States faces a siege of it. "These outbreaks are occurring right on schedule—this is about the time for them to start," a spokesman for the Public Health Service said in Washington. The service predicted some time ago there will be a considerable increase in flu cases this winter. "This spread faster than any flu outbreak I can remember in 38 years of practice in Potosi," said Dr. George S. Cresswell, county health officer. "It hasn't produced severe cases and many of the children are almost well now. The virus is just starting to hit the adults. The children are hit first, then the adults, then the old folks." Potosi's schools closed Monday when 800 of the 2,400 pupils were absent and will not reopen before

Telephone service never stops improving

These 8 communications improvements, now in effect in many communities, are representative of the hundreds that are being made each day. Many are in themselves little things. But big or little, all have only one purpose — to give you the best possible telephone service at the lowest possible cost.

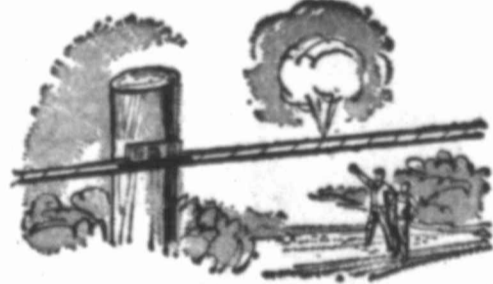

Direct Distance Dialing permits you to dial your own Long Distance calls as quickly and easily as you do local calls. This service improvement is spreading rapidly. By the end of the year, one fourth of our telephone customers will be able to dial Long Distance this faster, easier way.

Plastic Insulated Cable improves your service two ways. First, plastic insulation gives better protection from the weather, helps prevent impairment of your service. Second, each wire is color coded, providing faster installation and repair service.

Automatic Line Test is made periodically on most telephone lines. This equipment tests your line and your telephone for electrical defects. If it locates trouble, information is recorded so that the trouble can be promptly fixed and disruption of your telephone service prevented.

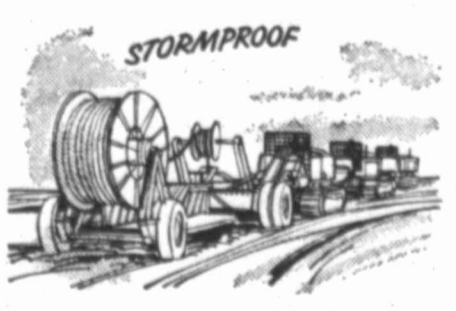

Pumping Air in Cables helps keep your telephone trouble free. Air pressure in the cable holds out moisture should a small leak occur. Reduced pressure as air escapes provides warning of leak so it can be repaired before it affects your service.

Electronic Voice Boosters keep your voice at a strong, clear conversational level, prevent fade-out caused by distance. Loss in transmission has been cut nearly in half in the last five years. Today, you hear better than ever.

Electronic Machines help speed Long Distance calls you dial direct. Part of this equipment is an accounting machine capable of automatically recording 100 calls at the same time. This machine records on tape your telephone number, the number you are calling and the length of your conversation, accurately and speedily.

Burying Telephone Cables makes them weatherproof, gives you more trouble-free service. Today, 55 percent of telephone wire is underground, providing stormproofed express routes for your local and Long Distance calls.

Recorded Announcement helps prevent lost calls. Should someone forget to hang up an extension or accidentally knock the receiver off the hook, a recording reminds you to hang up the receiver. This enables you to be reached once again by those trying to call you.

Historians Dig Into Story Of Bosque John, White Indian

WACO (AP)—The Texas Rangers were dicker with the Indians for return of Bosque John McLennan, virtually reared by the Indians.

"Why don't you want to give him up? Is he such a good warrior?" one of the whites asked.

"No," said the chief after considering a while. "He is not my best warrior."

"Is he such a good hunter?" the white man persisted.

Again a period of thought. The Keechi chief finally answered "No, I've got better."

"Well then," the white man said, "Why don't you want to give him up?"

"He's hell on stealing horses," answered the chief.

But the white man succeeded and returned Bosque John to his uncle, Neil McLennan for whom McLennan County was named. And it was something of a job civilizing him.

For instance, it was some time before he could be persuaded to cut his waist-long hair. He finally slashed it himself and hid the severed portions in a tree, apparently so no enemy could get it and hex him.

Bosque John was kidnaped by the Keechi Indians when he was 6 years old, in 1836. He was returned to his family in 1845 when he was 15 or 16.

The kidnaping took place on his father's farm in Falls County. The Indians killed his father, tomahawked his mother and thought they had killed her, burned the farm, and took John's wounded mother, John and two younger children prisoner.

The mother died near Comanche Peak, a hill in North Central Texas; the youngest child died and the other boy was sold to traders and returned to his family.

But the Keechies kept John to make an Indian out of him. They did a good job.

Historians are re-examining some of the recorded stories of Bosque John. The historians include Roger Conger, Dr. L.W. Helm of Waco, Bosque John's granduncle; and R. Henderson Shuffler of Texas A&M.

The almost-Indian joined Sul Ross' Ranger company, and then settled down, marrying a Falls County girl, Berilla Reed, described by Dr. Helm as a brunette beauty. One of Ross' Rangers, Charley Killgore, sitting around a campfire, boasted one night about an Indian fight. "A big, painted Indian came yelling and screaming like a demon right ahead of our man. I don't know whether I hit him or not, but I killed his horse and got his bows and arrows."

Bosque John jumped up and said, "Charlie, was that Injun riding a claybank horse with flax mane and tail?"

"Yes," said Killgore.

"Well, you killed the horse all right, but you never hit the man. I'm the boy that was riding that claybank. I rolled about 30 feet when the horse fell, lost my bow and arrows, but I was-a-running and hid in the bushes until dark."

It was at Torrey's Trading Post that first reports of a white boy among the Keechies were heard.

At first he was thought a survivor of the famous Parker raid when Cynthia Ann Parker was captured to start legends throughout Texas.

But Elder Isaac Parker saw the boy and said he was not one of his family.

Neil McLennan heard the story looked at the youth and recognized him as his nephew.

Neil had taken good care of the estate of his brother—John's father—and turned it over to John, making Bosque John a relatively wealthy man.

Dr. Helm recalls stories told him by his grandmother.

"She said my grandfather's Indian friends would drop in to see him once in a while and then they would go off together hunting. She never knew whether he would come back, but he always did."

Bosque John did not pine away with homesickness for his Indian friends as did Cynthia Ann Parker. He fitted in well with his own people.

He was a particular favorite with pioneer Wacoans, and this led to his death at the age of 36. When he stayed in town overnight, he was permitted to sleep in the courthouse, the only two-story building in town.

One night in the summer of 1866, he slept in his usual place on the second floor. The next morning he was found dead under one of the windows.

Some say he walked in his sleep, but the actual reason for his fall will never be known.

He left seven children and his widow, but his property left them in good shape financially.

Bosque John is buried on the McLennan property, but his remains will be moved elsewhere because of a new lake.

Food Requests Still Coming In

The time for making application for Christmas food baskets from the Salvation Army officially closed Tuesday evening, but more applications are being received, according to Maj. Robert L. Short, commander.

"We closed out Tuesday with 236," he said at noon, "but so many more have applied this morning that we have not been able to get a correct final total. Persons are still applying."

Applications will be checked by the Salvation Army to determine need and to avoid duplication of giving by the organizations which participate in this or similar programs at Christmas.

Emergency cases of need will be cared for, he said, but the time for registering is officially over.

JACK HACKNEY

Jack Hackney Resigns Post

Police Sergeant Jack Hackney, who has been with the police department in Big Spring for about three years, has resigned, effective immediately. He served as a peace officer in Waco and McClellan County for 20 years, and was with the Howard County Sheriff's office for 18 months. In his letter to Chief Jay Banks, Hackney said his resignation was due to his physical condition which made him unable to work. Banks said that he regretted losing Hackney. "He was a good officer and well trained. He took his work seriously, and I hate to lose him," Banks said. Hackney was injured in the knee two years ago from a gunshot wound, and recently received a neck and back injury in an automobile accident, both times in the line of duty. He has been receiving treatment for several weeks. Hackney was with the Waco police department for 12 years; served as Constable of Precinct 1, McClellan County, for three years; and was chief deputy sheriff of McClellan County for five years. He started his last hitch with the Big Spring police department Oct. 12, 1959, and was promoted to sergeant April 20, 1960.

TIPRO Seeks Import Curbs

DALLAS (AP)—Legislation to restrict oil imports will be sought by the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Association, its leaders decided Wednesday.

They pledged cooperation with any other groups seeking the same goal.

TIPRO oil imports committee formally settled on this goal in a daylong discussion. The group stated its cooperative intent with reference to the Independent Petroleum Association of America, which decided here only the day before that a legislative approach probably would be necessary to protect the domestic oil industry from imports.

A resolution drafted by former TIPRO President John Hurd of Laredo, said the organization "thoroughly endorses going before Congress to acquire legislation for effective imports restrictions."

The TIPRO and IPAA conferences were called here after President Kennedy issued a Dec. 2 order continuing the present oil import controls program without change for six months pending a study by the Office of Emergency Planning.

Producers from Oklahoma, North Dakota and Kentucky attended the meeting along with those from Texas.

Venezuelan Pinks Netted For JFK Tour

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Police Wednesday night launched a round-up of agitators trying to stir up trouble during President Kennedy's weekend visit.

Authorities announced the arrest of 50 persons accused of painting "Kennedy No" signs on walls and said nightly roundups of others trying to stir up disorder would continue under a special police command set up for that purpose.

The crackdown followed the planting of four crude bombs in various parts of Caracas Wednesday by terrorists bent on spoiling Kennedy's trip here to boost his Alliance for Progress program for Latin America. Only one of the bombs exploded, injuring two persons.

Brig. Gen. Antonio Briceño Linares, Venezuelan minister of defense, told newsmen that the Caracas military garrison had been reinforced and that he would call up additional troops as necessary to "preserve national honor and dignity by all possible means in guaranteeing President and Mrs. Kennedy's personal safety."

Officials of both the Venezuelan and U.S. governments continued to express hope that there would be no repetition of the violence that greeted Vice President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon on their visit here in 1958. A hostile crowd stoned and spat on the Nixons as they motored into the city.

An employee of the U.S.-Venezuelan Cultural Center, operated by the United States, discovered the first bomb—its wick fizzling—on the porch in front of the center

Insists On Guilty Plea

Mrs. John F. Byrne, posing in her home in Kansas City with her four children, has refused to let an indictment charging income tax evasion against her be dropped. The U.S. district attorney's office offered to have the charge against Mrs. Byrne dropped if her husband pleaded guilty. Mrs. Byrne refused although her husband pleaded guilty. He said the family planned to give up their citizenship and leave the country. From left: Jan, 16; Bill, 20; Mrs. Byrne; Eddie, 10; and Ellen, 14.

but the fuse went out before it could explode. Another bomb hidden in a garbage can went off in the parking lot under a downtown landmark.

the 26-story towers of Centro Bolívar. The parking lot attendant was critically injured and a driver suffered less serious injuries.

Other bombs were found outside a shopping center used by U.S. citizens in the Las Mercedes section and in the Caracas Zoo, but both failed to explode.

Bands of youths roamed Caracas Wednesday night pasting stickers on car fenders picturing Kennedy with fangs over the words "Kennedy Fuera" (Kennedy get out), and unconfirmed reports told of the burning of several buses in a working class district.

Most Venezuelans appeared to be looking forward to the visit by the U.S. President and his attractive wife. U.S. flags flew over the city and pictures of Kennedy appeared on display.

As anti-Kennedy agitators splashed walls with their messages, pro-Kennedy demonstrators followed writing "Jackie Si (Yes)." Newspapers featured articles and pictures of Kennedy and family.

Informed sources said they believed the terrorists—apparently Communists and Castro sympathizers—would cause further disturbances prior to Kennedy's arrival but that they would probably limit their protests to shouts after his arrival. These sources speculated that the bombings were aimed at discouraging Venezuelans from turning out to greet

Cuban Exiles Set Invasion

MEXICO CITY (AP)—An army of Cuban exiles is preparing to invade Cuba for a second time, now under command of former president Carlos Prío Socarras, the president of the Cuban Revolutionary Party said Wednesday. Jose Maximo Santana, head of the PRC, said as a prelude to the new invasion thousands of anti-Castroites already are fighting in the Escambray and Crystal mountains and in the provinces of Oriente and Occidente.

He said the uprisings started Sunday.

"Cuba will be the tomb of Communism," Santana shouted at a news conference.

"As soon as we set foot on Cuban soil we'll restore individual guarantees, free some 150,000 Cubans now imprisoned by the Communist tyranny of Fidel Castro and break the so-called cultural and trade relations now existing with the Soviet Union and Red China."

He also said relations with the United States and Latin America would be restored by the invaders.

More Rain For Texas

By The Associated Press
Low hanging clouds gave gloomy promise of more moisture Thursday nearly everywhere in Texas.

Light snow shower or two peppered El Paso on the state's far western tip early in the day. Light rain fell at Lufkin and it was drizzling again at San Antonio and Laredo.

Temperatures held to more moderate levels after two days of bitter cold in many sections.

Before daybreak the mercury stood at 23 degrees in Dalhart. Childress and Lubbock recorded 25 degrees, Amarillo and Marfa 26 and Wichita Falls 29.

It was above freezing elsewhere with readings from the middle 30s up to 42 at Brownsville.

Forecasts called for occasional rain across most of the south and central portions of Texas through Friday. A few showers were due during the day in far West Texas and they were expected to spread eastward by Friday into the South Plains.

Slightly warmer weather was predicted in the north part of the state and little temperature change in the south the next couple of days.

NATO Ministers Study Defenses

PARIS (AP)—The top cabinet ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization today put aside the controversial issue of negotiating with the Soviets on Berlin and turned to the state of Western defenses.

Defense chiefs of the 15-nation alliance took over from the foreign ministers to review progress toward the goal of 30 combat divisions fixed seven years ago but still not achieved.

U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe, told the Western European Union Assembly Wednesday that a strength of 25 divisions will be reached by the end of this year and possibly 23 of them will be fully equipped.

While the military buildup has quickened since the Communists walled off Berlin, he said more must be done to bolster the Allied forces.

It will take "time, effort and money," he declared. "There is no way out of it."

The assembly, drawn from the parliaments of European NATO nations, endorsed Norstad's annual call for a NATO force of 30 divisions, which the NATO strategists say would be sufficient to meet a Communist attack without resort of nuclear weapons.

The assembly also urged the NATO council to give greater authority to Allied commanders to deploy their forces and determine their own supply requirements. This now is entirely in the hands of the individual nations, and the Allied commanders have the power only to advise and coordinate. Need for greater standardization of NATO arms and equipment was also expected to be discussed. There has been much criticism about the growing number of armament projects based mainly on narrow national considerations.

Another important military issue likely to be raised is NATO control over the use of nuclear weapons, now exclusively in the hands of President Kennedy.

3 Minnesotans Killed In Crash

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP)—Three Minnesotans were killed Wednesday when their small plane crashed and burned on a fog-shrouded mountain peak about 9 miles southeast of Monterrey.

They were Harold Sjölseil, 35, the pilot, and Knute Sjölseil, 32, both of Elbow Lake, and Roy Anderson, 43, of Starbuck.

Abilene Flood Plan Approved

DALLAS (AP)—The U.S. Corps of Engineers approved Wednesday a proposed flood protection project in the Abilene area at an estimated cost of $38,600,000.

The engineers recommended that the federal government be responsible for $31,200,000 of the cost with the non-federal cost placed at $7,400,000.

The engineers also recommended a hurricane protection program in the Port Arthur area at an estimated cost of $33,400,000.

Court Intervenes In Sheriff Case

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Supreme Court has held unconstitutional an act giving exclusive criminal jurisdiction to the Criminal District Court in Jefferson County.

The decision came in a unanimous opinion in which the court agreed to intervene in a series of legal actions involving an indictment against Jefferson County Sheriff Charles H. Meyer.

The court ordered Criminal District Judge Owen Lord to proceed with a writ of habeas corpus hearing granted Meyer to determine the legal status of the grand jury which indicted him.

Meyer was indicted Nov. 1 of false swearing under the state election code by a grand jury empaneled in District Judge Harold Clayton's court. Meyer filed, in Lord's court, an action alleging the indictment was illegal on the grounds that Clayton had no jurisdiction to empanel the jury, or that it was illegally selected.

Lord ordered Meyer released on bond and set a writ of habeas corpus hearing. However, Clayton then issued a temporary restraining order against Lord halting action on the hearing.

The action by the Supreme Court was a response to a request by Beaumont attorney Gilbert Adams asking the court to order Lord to continue with his hearing.

Chief Justice Robert Calvert said a previous decision by the court foreclosed the contention that the Criminal District Court had exclusive jurisdiction in all the county's criminal business.

"We specifically held that the legislature could create special courts... and could confer on such courts concurrent jurisdiction over the subjects mentioned in... the Constitution. It could not deprive regular district courts of the jurisdiction conferred upon them by the Constitution."

"Neither do we agree that in creating the 136th District Court the legislature created a special court, as distinguished from a regular or constitutional court, with jurisdiction limited to civil matters only. The 136th District Court is in all respects similar to the 58th and 60th District Courts," the opinion said.

The Supreme Court ordered Lord to proceed with the writ of habeas corpus hearing and said in the event he did not proceed the high court would issue a writ of mandamus requiring him to do so.

Fallout Shelter Survey Slated

W. D. Berry, Civil Defense Coordinator for Big Spring and Howard County, reported to the city commission Tuesday night on details of a national fallout shelter survey to be started in this area some time in February.

"The survey will be made under the direction of the U. S. Corps of Engineers, Albuquerque District," he said. "The survey will include present buildings, both business, public, and residential. Owners will be asked for permission for inspection during the survey, but surveys will only be made where those owners volunteer."

"No one will be compelled to have his business or home surveyed," Berry said. "Letters will be mailed out early in 1962 so that residents and business people may indicate their wishes in the matter."

Berry said that when the survey is completed, an evaluation of all buildings included would be made to determine how many people could be protected with available shelters. Then an estimate of the number for which shelter is unavailable will be made and a move to establish additional shelters started.

"All buildings, the use of which is volunteered, will be marked, and they will be stocked with a five-day supply of food and water for their quota of people at government expense," he said. "The Big Spring area has been listed by the Civil Defense administration as critical and critical areas will be surveyed first."

DEAR ABBY

Your Right To A Seat

DEAR ABBY: As the holiday season approaches and Christmas programs will be given at schools, I would like your opinion on "saving seats" for people who are not present. In the past, I have come to school auditoriums and have sat down only to have someone chase me out of the seat saying, "Sorry, but this seat is saved."

I have seen people save a whole row. I've stood for an entire two-hour performance while some of the "saved" seats remained unoccupied. I am referring to free programs. Thank you.

TIED OF STANDING
DEAR TIED: Haven't you ever heard of "squatting rights"? Just squat and tell the "seat saver" that he is entitled only to the seat on which he himself has squatted. You might get a dirty look, but it's better than standing for two hours.

DEAR ABBY: I've been trying to get a date with a swell kid for two months. He finally asked me for a date, but things didn't turn out very well. He took me parking and, to let him know I didn't appreciate it very much, I acted very cold toward him and we fought and argued the whole time. I don't call this much of a date. I suppose I sound silly, but I would like to go out with him again. I mean on a real date. I think he would be a swell boy friend. How can I get another date with him?

PARKED
DEAR PARKED: This "swell kid" is obviously interested in a girl for parking purposes only. You apparently "angled" for the first date with him. Don't angle for another unless you want history to repeat itself.

DEAR ABBY: My mother has a system. Every time I leave something where it shouldn't be, she puts it in a box. Before I can get anything back I have to keep my room in apple pie order for a week. I left a library book under my bed and she put it in the box. It is overdue. How can I get it back?

IN TROUBLE
DEAR IN: By keeping your room in apple pie order for a week!

CONFIDENTIAL TO LINDA AND CAROL: Your mothers DO trust you — they just don't trust the world.

Everybody's got a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Builders Design Shelter Home

By LYNDA CHAPMAN
Plainview Daily Herald Staff Writer
(Written For The Associated Press)

PLAINVIEW (AP)—In this age of the fallout shelter, a group of builders in this Texas South Plains city is showing how it should be done.

Thus they are building an elaborate underground home, complete with four bedrooms, fireplace and a choice of views out the window.

Excavation already has been done and the concrete shell in which the house will rest is in the construction stage.

FIRST SUCH HOME
Erik Sollid, program officer of shelter design at Civil Defense Headquarters in Battle Creek, Mich., says it is the first underground home under construction to his knowledge.

As oldtimers know, underground residences were a way of living to early settlers in portions of Texas where building materials were scarce.

But these were called dugouts and citizens crawled out of them and into above-ground residences as soon as they could.

Jay Swayze of Plainview designed and is building the structure in accordance with all fallout shelter requirements.

The home is named "The Atomitat," formed from "atomic habitat."

The home will be an elegant showplace outside the city limits near an exclusive residential addition.

Entirely underground except for the double garage, sun room and storage area, the home will contain a special equipment room.

Included in this room will be an auxiliary power unit to supply the normal voltage needed to maintain the home in any emergency, the home's own water well with a submergible pump, and a sewage lift.

CONCRETE SHELL
"The Atomitat," a name being copyrighted, will be constructed inside a 3,400 square foot concrete shell with 2,800 square feet inside the house.

The floor will be 13 feet underground with an 8-foot ceiling.

Trusses will be installed between the ceiling and shell for added protection, all topped by three feet of soil.

Between the shell and the home will be 18 inches of space which enables a counter-flow air system to operate, thus creating an authentic breeze when the windows are raised.

Another feature will be a wood burning fireplace which is being added to enable the gravity air circulatory system to operate.

The fireplace will serve as an exhaust vent for circulating air which enters the home through fallout filters. The exhaust outlet will be through a rock garden above ground.

When window curtains are open, the viewer will see a scenic mural on the retainer wall outside, lighted by fixtures to be installed over the windows.

Swayze pointed out that a person will be able to see snow-covered mountain or beach scenes whenever desired.

The furnished show home will have four bedrooms, three baths, living room, den, kitchen, dining room, large pantry, utility room and special equipment room.

A patio is located off the den to be used for shuffleboard, ping pong or other recreation.

ALL CONVENIENCES
Every convenience will be available including television, with antenna on the garage. An extensive stereo speaker system is to be included in "The Atomitat." The designers fear that otherwise the extreme quietness underground will be unsettling.

Entry will be through a door in the center of the double garage.

The stairway leads down through steel doors to the front of the house.

Attention here will be focused on real flowers and plants growing in several stone planters around the front of the house under ultraviolet lighting.

Swayze cited numerous advantages for living underground. No cooling and very little heating will be necessary to maintain a pleasant living temperature, since the average reading 13 feet below the ground is approximately 65 degrees.

The home will be secure against tornadoes as well as hail or the spring dust storms, frequent in this area.

Swayze stressed that the owner will never have any exterior maintenance problems except for the garage. He also noted that this type home would never need leveling since there would be no settling movements of the home due to temperature changes which are only approximately 4 degrees the year around.

Swayze said he was influenced by the idea expressed in Civil Defense classes of having to turn away friends in event of a fallout disaster, when many may try to crowd to a 6x8 foot fallout shelter which is adequate for only six people.

Reserves On BSHS Cage Team

Steers Leave Today For Del Rio Meet

Boasting a 7-1 won - lost record and a 55-point scoring average, the Big Spring Steers take off today for Del Rio and a weekend basketball tournament. The Longhorns will stop off at Ozona for a workout, at which time their B team will scrimmage the Ozona regulars. Big Spring has drawn Brackettsville, a Class A team, in the first round of play at Del Rio. The two teams clash at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow.

LOOKING 'EM OVER With TOMMY HART

Zeroing in on the football winners this weekend: WICHITA FALLS 28, Galena Park 14. The Coyotes won without Mike Kelly last week. Apparently, the Wichita Falls quarterback will be back in top running shape this week. Galena Park, no doubt, is much better than everyone thought but, quite probably, Wichita Falls' great line and Larry Shields will be too much for the Yellow Jackets. The Coyotes seem to get stronger as the season progresses.

DUMAS 22, Nederland 16. It's hard to go against a Nederland club that has a tradition for winning the tough ones. However, this Dumas team has started a tradition of its own and isn't likely to be denied, now that it is standing next to the throne room. Dumas apparently boasts a tougher line than does Nederland and in Max Boxwell has one of the finest backs in the state this year.

QUANAH 26, DONNA 13. There's no use now to desert the Quanah handwagon. The Indians have met every challenge. Donna beat a good Brady club last week but the Redskins have lost a couple of games this season and apparently can be had. Quanah looked very good last week in vanquishing Jacksboro, which some thought was the best AA team in the state.

ALBANY 33, Hull-Daisetta 14. The Lions probably are like their namesakes of the jungle which haven't eaten for two days. They've been here before. Hull-Daisetta will need a few breaks to make it close. Even then, Albany figures to win.

And on the bowl front: BLUEBONNET BOWL—RICE 21, Kansas 16. Kansas had its ups and downs all year. So did Rice. Rice is always better toward the end of the season. Kansas came very close to winning the Big Eight championship, a lot closer than Rice did to dominating Southwest Conference play. However, the Owls can be a very rough ball club when they catch fire. And will be crowd upwards of 70,000, most of whom will be home folks, will be there to try and light the fuse Saturday. It could be a colorful game, especially as long as Kansas has John Hadl to offer in the way of a threat. As usual, the line play will decide the winner and the Owls apparently have a better primary.

LIBERTY BOWL—MIAMI 16, Syracuse 13. Syracuse offers the Heisman Trophy winner, Ernie Davis, for public viewing but Miami, if it can untrunk in the cold, has the better attack and a rock-ribbed defense. After losing a heart-breaker to Pittsburgh in its opener, the Miami team fought back for a very respectable 7-3 season. The Hurricanes beat some very good ball clubs along the way, among them Kentucky, Penn State, North Carolina, Northwestern and Florida. Penn State was the only opponent to beat Syracuse by as much as a touchdown but Miami has played the tougher schedule. This one winds up post-season activity, by the way, until a Christmas Day outing between the North and South All-Stars at Miami, Fla.

Jaycees Schedule A Turkey Shoot Here Sunday At 1:00

Some area marksmen are going to be able to put Christmas turkeys on their tables merely by sighting on and firing at a target Sunday. The Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce is staging its annual pre-Christmas turkey shoot starting at 1 p.m. on that day at the Western Sportsman's Club range northwest of town.

Odessa To Play Jacksonville Five

Odessa — Odessa College, winner over Eastern Arizona by a score of 83-65 here Tuesday night, plays Jacksonville JC here tonight. The Wranglers, now 4-3 for the season, open Western Conference play here next Tuesday against Lubbock Christian College.

Everyone who can pull a trigger can enter the meet. A party can enter as many divisions as he wishes, simply by paying $1 for each division. Competition will be held in the calibre 22 rifle, 22 pistol, high powered rifle and shot gun. Over-ready turkeys will be offered to winners.

When the last such meet was held several months ago, the Jaycees gave away an estimated 40 turkeys.

Two Texans Sign
HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston Oilers of the American Football League have signed two Texans to 1962 contracts. They are Ken Bolin, a University of Houston halfback, and John Thomas, a guard at McMurry College.

Virus Attacks 'Bama Team

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—A tiny bug has accomplished what ten big football teams had been unable to do this fall—it put a big chunk of Alabama's undefeated and untied football team flat on its back. Nineteen members of the national championship team were put to bed with a virus infection Wednesday. It's a mild illness but it put a crimp in drills for the Crimson Tide's New Year's Day date with Arkansas in the Sugar Bowl. Dr. W. C. Baty Jr., team physician, kept 10 players in the University Infirmary overnight. The other nine were confined to dormitory beds. Baty said they would miss practice today but would be allowed to go back to work Friday. All of the ill players live in the same dormitory but Baty said there was no indication of widespread infection. "I think this thing is under control," he added. All of the ill players are receiving medicine to combat nausea and diarrhea—the two most common symptoms—and all are on a strict diet. A few of the students ran temperatures a degree or two above normal. Bill Battle, a 6-2, 197-pound end, was among those who caught the bug but he was released by the doctor Wednesday night. "He was feeling good and he had a test he wanted to study for," Baty said. Others missing practice because of the illness included ends Jimmy Dill, Dale Layton and Tommy Brooker; tackle Steve Wright; guards Bob Petty and Steve Allen; fullbacks Larry Wall and Ed Versprille; and halfback Gary Martin. Fullback Mike Fracchia and end Butch Henry are still out of practice recovering from injuries received in the Auburn game Dec. 2.

Hawks Invade Athens, Paris For Contests

The Howard County Junior College Jayhawks, still undefeated in seven starts, are in East Texas for two basketball games, the first of which will be played in Athens tonight against Henderson County Junior College. Originally, the Hawks were to have played in Tyler against that city's Apaches but the contest was cancelled at the suggestion of the Tyler coaches due to the fact that HCCJ has two Negroes on its team and Tyler is still a segregated school. Rather than play without the Negroes, coach Buddy Travis said he'd rather cancel the contest. The two boys, Ernest Turner and Lou Balenton, have been among the mainstays on the local club. The Jayhawks move on over to Paris Saturday night for an engagement with the strong Paris JC Dragons. The game will be held immediately following the championship contest in a high school contest here and is down to start at 8:30 p.m. Henderson County could pose a threat to the locals, although the Athens team recently lost a decision to Odessa College in the Temple Tournament. Paris, recent loser to the Baylor Cubs by a score of 59-50, was to have played Conners, Okla., last Tuesday night but the game was called off due to bad weather. Paris had previously defeated the Sooners, 80-59. Paris' long suit is defense and the Dragons are always tough to beat at home. HCCJ probably will start Walter Carter, Ernest Turner, Larry McElyea, Jerry Tillman and Elvis Spradling tonight. In their last outing, the Hawks came from behind to defeat Eastern Arizona JC of Thatcher, Okla., 74-51. The locals won't be seen in action here again until Dec. 23, at which time they open play in their own tournament. Sid Gillman of San Diego will be head coach of the Western All-Stars. Wally Lemm of Houston or Mike Holovak of Boston, whichever team wins the Eastern Division title, will coach that squad. There will be 29 players on each squad, the first 22 to be selected by a poll of league coaches. Then each of the head coaches may name seven other players.

Rockets Lose To Midland

MIDLAND — Big Spring Lakeview Junior High absorbed its second basketball defeat in three starts here Wednesday night, yielding to Midland by a score of 54-44. The Rockets return to action tonight, at which time they oppose Runnels JH in Big Spring. P. Sherrod wrecked the Rocket defense for Midland, bucketing 24 points. Curtis Flewellen hit 12 for Big Spring while Sam Evans had 11 and Johnny Johnson 10. Midland also won the B game, 30-17. Hubert Perkins counted five points for Lakeview while J. Hodge had six for Midland. Big Spring trailed at half time, 14-9. BS LAKEVIEW (44)—Curtis Flewellen 15-21; Johnny Johnson 8-18; Paul Thomas 1-2-4; Sam Evans 3-11; Robert Green 6-12; Martin Clements 2-1-3. Totals 16-32-44. MIDLAND (34)—Raymond Merritt 2-4-4; M. Just Cutting Up

Roger Maris of the New York Yankees is a victim of necktie cutting by teammates Mickey Mantle, left, and Whitey Ford at New York's Biltmore Hotel. It was just a gag as the trio appeared at the promotion of wearing apparel merchandising and endorsement venture in which they'll be engaged. Maris is holding an electric cloth cutting machine. Mantle In Fold, Maris Is Due To Sign Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Roger Maris, batting behind Mickey Mantle for a change, makes his biggest salary pitch today while his slugging New York Yankee teammate fondles the "best contract I ever got."

Maris, who hit a record of 61 homers last season, also will ask for the best contract he ever received during a conference with General Manager Roy Hamey. The hard-hitting outfielder was paid about $45,000 last season. "I expect no trouble from Roger," said Hamey after signing Mantle for an estimated $82,000

Wednesday, a raise of about $10,000. "I wouldn't be surprised if he signs right away. I spoke to him briefly earlier this week and he didn't sound tough to me."

Mantle signed after a brief meeting with Hamey, who said, "Mickey has reached Babe Ruth's figure." Later, he admitted, "it's a little over $80,000."

Mantle thus became the second highest paid player in Yankee history. Joe DiMaggio received $100,000 in 1951. Ruth got his $80,000 in 1932. "It's the best contract I ever got," Mickey beamed. "I only hope I can live up to it. I'll be satisfied if I have another year like the last one."

Mantle had 54 homers, finishing second to Maris. He drove in 128 runs and his .317 batting average was the fourth highest in the American League.

"I figure Rog's home run record will stand for a while," the boyish Oklahoma said. "I had my shot at the record last year and couldn't make it. I think we'll both hit our share and it'll be another close race."

The switch-hitting outfielder predicted the Yankees would win the pennant again in 1962.

Mantle was the first Yankee to sign. Mickey, who lives in Dallas, Tex., and Maris, from Raytown, Mo., are also in New York on either business. They closed a deal with a clothing manufacturing firm Tuesday.

Friars Await Major Test

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Providence Friars, winning solidly if not spectacularly, are still a week away from their first of two big tests in a bid for ranking near the top of the nation's college basketball teams.

The defending NIT champions, boasting one of the nation's biggest front lines, takes on touring San Francisco Friday, then next week makes a trip to DePaul and Xavier of Ohio.

That trip marks the first big hurdle for Coach Joe Mullaney's ambitious team. The Holiday Festival in Madison Square Garden the following week is the second.

So far the Friars have been playing — generally — just good enough to win. The only exception on their unblemished 4-0 record was a 75-51 rout of Mount St. Mary's. The next largest margin of victory was seven points, Wednesday night's 80-73 triumph over Brown.

Duke and Seattle, the only other ranked teams in action Wednesday night, also won. Seattle, No. 10, whipped Idaho State 76-64. Duke got a phenomenal shooting performance from Art Heyman in a 76-69 victory over previously unbeaten South Carolina.

Heyman hit on 16 of 19 field goal attempts and all seven free throws in racking up 39 points.

Another outstanding shooting exhibition was turned in by Holy Cross' Jack Foley. He scored 43

Littlefield Gets Managerial Post

DALLAS (AP)—Dick Littlefield, veteran lefthanded pitcher, will manage Dallas' Fort Worth in American Association next season. He also plans to take a turn on the mound.

Littlefield pitched and did some coaching with Dallas-Fort Worth last season. He was named skipper by Ray Johnston, the club owner, Wednesday to succeed Walker Cooper, who was not rehired.

Although Littlefield has never managed a club before, Johnston said he considered him "prime material." He played with 10 major league clubs in his 17-year professional career.

HELPS ATHLETES

Soviets May Talk About Medicine

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—The Soviet Union has a group of doctors who have developed what they call sports medicine. They may tell American coaches and trainers about it here next summer.

Payton Jordan, coach of Stanford University's track and field team, is director of a meet scheduled here July 21-22 between the United States and the Soviet Union track and field teams.

Jordan has been corresponding with Gavriil Korobkov, coach of the Soviet national track team.

The Soviets plan to send a party of 78 men and women here nine days before the meet opens. Jordan said Wednesday there is a good chance the Soviets' track experts will conduct a pre-meet clinic on their sports medicine.

The United States dominated track and field until the 1956 Olympic Games, when the U.S.S.R. won at Melbourne. They won again at Rome in 1960.

Soviet men set three Olympic records at Rome and Soviet women set five Olympic track and field marks.

The United States set seven Olympic records in track and field at Rome in 1960, and Wilma Rudolph of the United States set the women's record for 100 meters with 11.3 seconds.

Jordan said there are doctors in the Soviet Union who are assigned by the government to study training techniques, diets and the psychology of athletes.

They analyze youngsters, their physiques and bone structures and recommend the sports and events they should concentrate on.

"By studying these things, including the particular emotions of the individual athletes, they often avoid the years of trial and error which many of our athletes often go through before they find the events for which they are best suited," Jordan said.

Jordan was director of the 1960 Olympic track and field trials, held here at Stanford's 90,000-seat stadium. He was an assistant coach of the U.S. track team that defeated the Soviets in Moscow in 1958.

Meany Retains Union Post, Gains Power

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP)—George Meany emerged today with a new two-year term as organized labor's top leader and important new tools for dealing with labor's internal and racial problems.

Meany, 67, came out of the week-long AFL-CIO convention with his authority over the 12.5 million member federation more solidly established than ever.

His major accomplishment was in persuading rival building trades and industrial unions to agree on nailing down a tough new disputes settlement system as part of the AFL-CIO constitution.

"This will free us," Meany told the final convention session Wednesday, "free our energies and our time and our money to turn to the real problem, which is to defend the people we represent."

"We have come a long way, but we are still threatened by those who toy with the idea that America would be a better place if we had had no unions, or impotent and weak ones worse than no unions."

Besides establishing the new disputes-handling procedure there were other convention highlights.

Arrested

Tokutaro Sakurai, 64, right, handcuffed to a policeman (handcuffs are hidden under overcoat) comes down a plane ramp upon arrival in Tokyo, Japan. Sakurai, a former lieutenant general in the pre-World War II Imperial Army, was arrested in Fukuoka, southwestern Japan, as one of the leaders of the ultra-rightist plot to assassinate Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda and members of his cabinet. Twelve others have also been arrested.

Callup Cost May Pass $500 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The callup of reservists and National Guardsmen is expected to cost more than $500 million by next summer.

This is not the whole cost of the stepped-up mobilization begun last summer on President Kennedy's order.

The rest of the estimated $4 billion increase in the military budget, originally proposed last January, is for equipment, reopening of bases, expansion of the services through other means and for other items.

One of the biggest single cost items in the callup is for the two federalized National Guard divisions, Wisconsin's 32nd Infantry Division and Texas' 49th Armored Division.

The Budget Bureau estimates this outlay will run to about $300 million, of which $160 million is for personnel costs, such as pay and subsistence, and $140 million is for operation of the two divisions.

In all, about 119,500 Army reservists were recalled. This includes about 21,000 men in the two Guard divisions, 22,000 other Guardsmen in other units and ready reservists. In addition, the Air Force and Navy put about 36,500 Guardsmen and reservists on active duty.

New estimates on costs for the recall, other than those for the two divisions, were not available. However, when the mobilization program was submitted to Congress last July, a preliminary over-all estimate for Army personnel cost was $495 million. This figure included costs of building up Army strength through recruits as well as reservists.

The Air Force uses a $164 million estimate for personnel, saying this represents primarily the callup of Air Guard and reserve fighter and transport units, together with retention of units which had been planned for disbanding before the Berlin crisis developed.

The $164 million is only for personnel and a relatively small amount for refurbishing bases for the units called up. It does not cover aircraft maintenance, fuel and other operating expenses.

A rough estimate for the Navy's cost in manning ships and aircraft squadrons with approximately 8,400 recalled reservists is about $42 million. Again, this estimate does not cover operating and other costs, still being calculated.

The operation and maintenance cost for all the services and for regular as well as reservist units has skyrocketed by an estimated $981 million since pre-mobilization days. This was disclosed last October in a mid-fiscal year estimate by the Budget Bureau.

Best Retirement Saving? Yourself, Expert Avers

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The best thing to save for retirement is yourself, says an expert on the subject.

Joseph R. Murphy, who has advised people on retirement for 25 years as manager of the Atlanta office of the Social Security Administration, is getting ready to retire himself Dec. 31.

"Unless you have your health and good life expectancy when you retire, you've defeated all your other purposes," he says.

"Too many people are afraid to retire because they don't have all the income they want. These people never retire until it's too late to enjoy it."

Murphy says it's a wonderful feeling to approach retirement, but to a large extent the whole thing is a myth.

"There's no such thing as retirement," he said. "Rather there is a sudden change in the demanding duties and fixed schedules."

But, he warned, many people don't know what to do with themselves once they collect that last paycheck. One man he spoke to recently said he planned to return to farming after 37 years away from it; another planned to spend all his time in Florida fishing.

"They don't know how tired they'll get," he said.

"A lot of people plan to travel all the time after they retire. It's nonsense. They've forgotten how hard living in a hotel can be. These things are dessert; they won't do for all the time."

The Murphys plan to stay at their home in Atlanta, close to relatives and friends. They both have hobbies and he plans to work parttime as an accountant. It's a mistake for retired couples to move off to a new state and a totally new way of life, says Murphy.

What about money? Income from Social Security and company retirement plans should be only the base of a retired person's financial structure, Murphy said—"they must be augmented by other income from investment, interest, rent, etc."

As for himself, "We're not going to make radical changes," he said. "The one thing I'm afraid of in retirement is running off looking for rainbows that aren't here."

Christmas Tree To Eat Will Delight Your Guests

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

We guarantee that tuna pate, in Christmas tree form, will be a big success at any holiday gathering. When we served this hors d'oeuvre to a party of 16, everyone on hand thought it was delightful to look at and delicious to eat.

If possible, make up the pate the day before the party. If you can't manage this, use the speedy chilling method given at the end of the recipe.

Once the pate is very cold, it may be molded (with your hands) into a pyramid form well ahead of serving time, covered tightly and refrigerated.

You can also get the trimmings ready: Dry the pimiento on paper toweling and cut it into strips for the garlands, and cut out the star for the top of the tree. Dry the capers too. Have the parsley sprigs ready. Then shortly before your guests arrive, add the coating of mayonnaise and apply the decorations.

If you don't want to do this last-minute fussing, go ahead and coat and trim the "tree" several hours ahead of serving and refrigerate it uncovered. The mayonnaise will dry a bit and change its uniform ivory color to shades of pale yellow. This doesn't affect the taste and the shadings give a certain tree-like quality!

One caution: If you don't work speedily enough when you are "trimming" the "tree," the pimiento garlands may slip down! In this case, just secure the ends of the pimiento strips with toothpicks and refrigerate the shaped and trimmed tuna pate so the coating and trimmings will set. Remove the toothpicks before serving.

With the "tree," offer an assortment of plain salted crackers. You'll have a conversation piece!

CHRISTMAS TUNA PATE
1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese
2 tbsps. chili sauce
2 tbsps. minced parsley
1/4 cup minced onion
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1/2 tsp. tabasco sauce
3 cans (6 1/2 or 7 oz. each) tuna
3 to 4 tbsps. mayonnaise
Pimiento
Capers
Parsley sprigs

With an electric beater, beat together the cream cheese, chili sauce, parsley, onion, Worcestershire and tabasco.

Turn tuna into a colander or strainer to drain; gradually add drained tuna to cream cheese mixture, beating until thoroughly blended. Chill 8 hours or overnight in tightly covered container.

To shape tuna pate into Christmas tree shape, mold tuna mixture on serving plate into a pyramid. Cover with the mayonnaise, using a small spatula.

Make garlands around tree by alternating pimiento strips and capers in two rows around tree. Cut star out of pimiento with miniature star cutter and secure with toothpick on top of tree.

Arrange parsley sprigs around bottom of tree. Makes 4 cups tuna pate.

NOTE: If you want to chill the tuna mixture speedily, spread it in a shallow pan and place it in the freezer, but do not freeze.

Edible Christmas Tree

The yule tree with its garlands of pimiento, capers and parsley is as delicious as it is festive. Fashioned of tuna, cream cheese and seasonings, it will probably be the conversation piece of your party.

FOOD FOR SURVIVAL

National Retail Grocers Make Supply Available

As a service to consumers and food retailers, National Association of Retail Grocers of the United States (NARGUS) has prepared the enclosed guide to "Foods for Survival in a National Emergency."

It is the intention of the nation's community food retailers, represented by NARGUS, to encourage consumers to be systematic and reasonable in their purchases to avoid unnecessary and wasteful hoarding.

The proposed foods for the family survival cupboard are foods families are used to eating, selected for appetite appeal and nutritional balance. All are regularly available at food stores. None requires cooking or refrigeration.

The "shopping list" indicates quantities for a two-week period and suggestions for increasing amounts to accommodate family size. You will note there is a sample menu for one day, totaling 2,000 calories and containing 60 grams of protein.

General information on providing meals with emergency food supplies includes "tips" on preparation, such as:

"Canned vegetables may be made more palatable with the addition of French dressing, mayonnaise, Thousand Island dressing, or chili sauce."

Copies of this pamphlet have been distributed from the checking stands at Piggly Wiggly store on 11th Place. However at the present time the supply is depleted. Copies are available from NARGUS.

Green Beans Get Gourmet Touch

The gourmet touch is given to green beans when the cook adds nuts and mushroom soup to the good vegetable.

GOURMET STRING BEANS
1 lb. string beans
1-3 cup walnuts
1 10 1/2-oz. can undiluted condensed mushroom soup
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 tsp. melted butter or margarine

Cook beans in small amount of salted water until barely tender. Drain. Chop walnuts. Mix walnuts with undiluted soup and beans. Turn into 1-quart casserole.

Toss crumbs with butter and sprinkle over top. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, 20 to 25 minutes until top is browned. Serves 4 to 5.

Mushrooms Make Chicken A Dish To Serve Proudly

For those who like chicken but would desire deviation from the baked and fried dishes, mushrooms add zest.

CHICKEN WITH MUSHROOMS
2 large chicken breasts
3 tbsps. olive oil
1 medium-sized onion (thinly sliced and separated into rings)
1/2 lb. mushrooms (thinly sliced lengthwise)
Salt, pepper, water
Cooking sherry (if desired)

Wash and dry chicken breasts; cut each in half and trim off any small bits of overhanging skin.

Heat olive oil in large (about 10 inches) skillet; add chicken and brown well on both sides. Remove.

Add onion to drippings in skillet and cook gently until wilted; add mushrooms.

Cook over moderate heat until softened, stirring often. Add a little butter to the skillet if needed.

Place chicken breasts over onions and mushrooms; cover and cook slowly until chicken is tender. Add a few tablespoons water to the skillet as necessary and turn chicken a few times.

If desired, a little cooking sherry may be added before serving. Season with salt and pepper. Makes 4 small servings.

Many Look Forward To Treats Made By Mrs. Chester Matheny

Friends and family of Mrs. Chester Matheny, 407 Pennsylvania, look forward to her gifts of candy, cookies and cake at Christmas.

"I suppose that I was brought up in the kitchen, and I remember one of my first tasks, as a child, was to chop the fruit and nuts for the fruitcakes," Mrs. Matheny recalled. "My mother, Mrs. Harvey Rix, always mixed her fruit cakes in dish pans, so you can imagine the ingredients called for."

"Christmas cooking at my grandparents, the L. T. Deateses and the B. C. Rixes, was wonderful and their houses, only a block apart, smelled heavenly with all the baking and roasting," she continued. "In those days the recipes listed ingredients only, and from there you were on your own."

Mrs. Matheny, whose grandparents were pioneer families of Big Spring, is an employee of some 14 years in sales accounting with Cosden Petroleum Corp. Having no family of her own to cook for, she receives much pleasure in cooking for nephews, Tommy, Gary and Paul (Wiggy) Pickle, sons of the Joe Pickles.

Mrs. Pickle declares the butter-scotch patties which her sister makes, are the best. For many years the patties along with fudge, divinity and oatmeal cookies have been made by Mrs. Matheny as Christmas treats for associates at the Cosden office, as well as for relatives.

Also, the Loaf Nut Cake has become traditional in the family Christmas fare. This, an old recipe, came from a book compiled

Christmas Treats A Specialty

Christmas cookies, chock-full of dates and nuts, were served with coffee when the Herald photographer, Keith McMillin, visited this week with Mrs. Chester Matheny. Candies and cake are also Mrs. Matheny's contribution for the family Christmas. The china set is one which she, as a child, was allowed to use for tea parties. It belonged to her mother, the late Mrs. Harvey Rix.

ipe, came from a book compiled to raise money for the Big Spring Cemetery Association. Again, there are no detailed directions for mixing nor oven temperature, however, Mrs. Matheny has filled in with her own method of baking.

LOAF NUT CAKE

- 1 cup shortening
 - 2 cups sugar
 - 3 cups flour
 - 1 cup sweet milk
 - 7 egg whites
 - 2 egg yolks
 - 1 tsp. soda
 - 2 tps. cream of tartar
 - 1 tsp. vanilla
 - 1 pint chopped pecans
- Sift all dry ingredients; cream sugar, shortening and add egg yolks and vanilla. Add flour and milk alternately and mix thoroughly.
- Sprinkle about 1 tablespoon flour over the pecans before adding to the cake mixture; add the egg whites which have been beaten until stiff.
- Bake in moderate oven, about 350 degrees for 1 hour. Bake in stem pan which has been well greased and dusted with flour.

Substitute Another Fish If You Like

Finnan haddie is called for in the following recipe, but you may use another variety of smoked fish.

- #### SPECIAL FINNAN HADDIE
- 1/2 lb. finnan haddie
 - 2 tbsps. butter or margarine
 - 2 tbsps. flour
 - 1 1/2 cups milk
 - 1 1/2 tps. lemon juice
 - 2 tps. minced parsley
 - 1 jar (4-oz.) pimientos
 - 4 hard-cooked eggs (sliced)
- If you want the finnan haddie to have a mild flavor, soak in cold water to cover for about an hour and drain.

Cover with cold water and simmer, covered, about 10 minutes or until fish flakes easily; drain.

Remove skin and bones and flake; there should be a generous cupful.

Make a white sauce with the butter, flour and milk; add lemon juice, parsley and pimientos (drained and cut into wide strips).

Serve creamed finnan haddie on toast and garnish with sliced eggs. Makes 4 servings.

Casserole Dish For Quick Meal

- Fast, but fancy way to deal with leftover turkey—tasty, too—
- #### CHEESE 'N TURKEY CASSEROLE
- 1 can refrigerated biscuits
 - 1 cup diced cooked turkey or chicken
 - 1 can (10 1/2 oz) cream of mushroom soup
 - 1/4 cup milk
 - 1 1/2 cups cooked, drained peas
 - 1 cup shredded cheese
- Combine turkey, soup, milk, peas and half of cheese in 2-quart casserole. Arrange biscuits around edge.
- Bake at 40 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes until golden brown. Sprinkle remaining cheese on top; bake 5 minutes longer. Serves 4 to 6.

Creamy Rich Topping Is Boast Of Dessert Prunes

Prunes are good enough for company when they're prepared in this interesting way.

- #### DELMONICO PRUNES
- 1 pk. (1 lb.) large prunes
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1 cup dry red wine
 - 1/2 stick cinnamon
 - 2 bay leaves
- Rind of 1 lemon (removed in long strips without white membrane)
- Soak prunes in cold water to cover overnight; drain, placing prunes and 1 cup of the soaking liquid in a saucepan with the remaining ingredients.
- Boil gently about 20 to 30 minutes or until prunes are tender. Chill. Remove cinnamon and bay leaves.
- Serve with whipped cream or dessert topping.

Adding a well-liked fruit to a standard recipe makes this dessert a festive one.

- #### CHERRY TAPIoca CREAM
- 1 can (1 lb) pitted dark sweet cherries
 - Tapioca Cream
- Drain cherries thoroughly. Make tapioca cream according to package directions, using the amounts of egg, sugar, milk, tapioca, salt and vanilla called for; let stand 15 to 20 minutes; stir.
- Spoon alternate layers of tapioca cream and cherries into 6 sherbet or parfait glasses. Chill. Makes 6 servings.
- Note: Syrup from cherries may be made into a sauce to serve over white cake squares or cottage pudding.

A Devotional for Today

To all who received him, who believed in his name, he gave power to become children of God. (John 1:12, RSV.)

PRAYER: Our Father, we give Thee thanks for sending Christ into the world to reveal Thy nature unto us. May we receive Him in our hearts in a manner acceptable unto Thee, and pray as He taught us, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

(From "The Upper Room")

Pieces Are Falling Into Place

The pieces in the 1962 gubernatorial race are apt to fall rapidly into place. There has been some speculation for weeks that John Connally would resign his Secretary of Navy post to make the race for the Democratic nomination. His decision to do this will bring to a head other decisions. Already Marshall Formby, Plainview, former State Highway Commission chairman, had indicated previously that he would make a formal announcement in January, and Attorney General Will Wilson already has said he was running. Rep. Jim Wright and Gov. Price Daniels have been mentioned as potential candidates, but for practical purposes the Connally announcement may freeze the field to three major contenders.

Although offering for a state elective office is a new role for John Connally, he is by no means a novice. From his student days at the University of Texas, he has been conversant with and frequently active in state politics. He also has a background of business at Austin, and more recently as an oilman at Fort Worth before being appointed to the naval secretariat.

Until now he has been a behind-the-scenes organizer, managing and supporting campaigns of others. In this field he has shown considerable aptitude, energy and effectiveness which reflect a practical understanding of the mechanics of public affairs. From all accounts, his service in the top naval post has been similarly distinguished. Aside from bringing the candidate field quickly to a head, John Connally may also impart a quickened tempo to the impending campaign.

Leave The Deadwood Out

Few people can fail to sympathize with those workers who lost their jobs under a congressional mandate that 350 employees be fired from the Agency for International Development.

Fewer still will have any sympathy with congressmen who are deluging the AID with complaints against specific dismissals and asking reconsideration.

If congressmen were not aware that their constituents and even some political cronies would be dropped from the AID payroll as a result of the retrenchment requirement, then they deserve no sympathy. If, on the other hand, they thought that the jobs of their constituents or cronies would be safe, despite the order to clear out 'dead wood,' they still deserve no sympathy. The retrenchment seems wise, so let the dispossessed seek employment elsewhere without pressuring their congressmen to pressure someone else.

David Lawrence Intervention In The Congo

WASHINGTON — Those who at times envisage the United Nations as a time of superstate are getting considerable satisfaction out of the military operation of the U.N. Which is supported by this country. For there is an intervention in the Congo's internal affairs today with the excuse that the U. N. is obligated to "restore order" when requested to do so by a central government involved in that disorder.

GREAT BRITAIN has been reluctant to allow its bombs to be shipped to the Congo for the U. N. forces to use. There have been a lot of conferences held and euphemistic statements issued contending the U. N. is merely fulfilling the request of the Central Congolese Government.

IN THE FACE of such a confused situation, it seems hypocritical for the U. N. to claim that it has a legal right to go into the Congo. It may have a paper record of such requests, but it is ignoring the will of a large bloc of people in the Congo's richest province.

The present activities of the U. N. are based on a resolution adopted by the Security Council on Feb. 21, 1961. France and the Soviet Union abstained from voting. The U. N. Command was authorized to use force, if necessary, to prevent a civil war in the Congo.

PRESUMABLY the U. N. Security Council majority could, with the consent and even with the inspiration of the Soviet Union, call some day for U. N. forces to prevent "civil war" in Hungary, Rumania, Czechoslovakia and the other satellite states as long as the Soviet-controlled government in each of these countries requested it. The right of a people to determine for themselves—by arms, if necessary—what form of government they should set up has long been recognized in democratic countries as worthy. But today, if the political alignments inside the U. N. favor the existing government against which a justified revolution might be directed, then presumably the entire military strength of those U. N. members which wish to contribute to such a venture can be mobilized.

THE UNITED STATES is in a rather difficult situation. If the U. N. had been in existence in 1776 and the British government had made a formal request for military help, maybe the American Revolution wouldn't have succeeded. The right of peoples to choose their own form of government has always been supported by the United States. It has never used force—openly at least—to assist any government suffering from an internal disorder. Whenever the United States has intervened in Latin America as a rule, it has done so to protect the lives and properties of American citizens and not to interfere with the right of the people to establish any regime they wish.

Not long ago the United States was on the verge of intervening in Cuba but never made public the legal basis for its contemplated action, though it did have plenty of legal right to land troops to

A FAMILIAR RING?

Garth Jones Legislators Unhappy Over Special Session

AUSTIN (AP) — A lot of Texas legislators with a lot of 1962 political campaign plans are unhappy with Gov. Price Daniel's Jan. 3 call of a special session.

The filing deadline for candidates, both Democrat and Republican, is Feb. 5, just four days after the end of the session. All 181 posts of the legislature will be voted on next year.

"I think the special session will, for the most part, hurt incumbents in the legislature," said Rep. Reed Quilliam, Lubbock, in answering an Associated Press opinion poll. "The session will spotlight their political stand on certain controversial issues and just before election time. The tendency will be for their detractors to emphasize the incumbents' votes in the special session and lessen the possibility of the legislators' overall work being evaluated by his constituents."

"The session will probably favor the incumbents unless some bad mistakes are made," said Rep. Charles Whitfield, Houston. "It sets the stage for the governor to run for a fourth term in my opinion."

"Every member will be subject to the governor's demagoguery," said Sen. George Parkhouse, Dallas.

"I do not think a special session will have any appreciable effect on the coming campaigns," said Rep. Roy Harrington, Port Arthur.

Rep. C. W. Pearce, Temple, said the nearness of the 1962 voting probably will have an important effect on the issues submitted, "therefore making the passage or failure of certain issues more unpredictable."

"The session will only hurt everyone," said Rep. Ben Jarvis, Tyler.

Hal Boyle The Woes Of Wifehood

NEW YORK (AP)—It's getting so you have to make an appointment in our house to be sick.

Not that I'm a hypochondriac, but I do have my pet little aches and pains I like to trot out into the limelight now and then. The trouble is, the limelight is usually already occupied by the big aches and pains claimed by other members of the family.

The juiciest cold I ever had coincided with a case of chicken pox contracted by our daughter. Instead of being able to take miserably to my bed I was forced to spend my days at her bedside reading dry fairy tales punctuated by wet sneezes.

I can't even have a headache in peace. Before the aspirin has time to open negotiations with the small hammer pounding inside my head my two children are hitting each other with large hammers in the first fight they have had in weeks.

There was the time I persuaded my doctor to let me go home from the hospital a day early, on the promise that I would stay in bed and be waited on. Well, that was the night both my husband and son came down with sore throats and temperatures alarmingly in the red. I spent the night commuting from one bedroom to the other as nurse instead of nurse.

The day that I burn my hand while cooking dinner is inevitably the one when nobody else can possibly do the dishes. Hubby has a household in taking a music lesson and a suddenly studious son has an important test coming up the next day.

While back, though, I really had it made. I had been chewed on by a king-size virus bug and for once I was sick enough for even my family to take notice. In fact, I was so leaden in the feet and light in the head I did something I'd never done before—called my husband at the office with a feeble plea for help.

"Hang on, honey," he offered encouragingly. "I'll be home just as soon as I can get there. Then you can just take it easy while I take over."

"At long last," I thought smugly as I waited, "now I'll be coddled and fussed over."

Soon I heard a jaunty step, followed by a cheery greeting.

"Now," said my husband, "everything is under control—you just—"

Suddenly he paled and shot out of the room. Sometime later he reappeared, dragging himself weakly to the bedside.

"Move over," he muttered shakily. "Looks like I've got the virus too."

Guess who took care of whom that day?

—JOY STILLEY (For Hal Boyle)

sydney (AP)—What is a curate's friend?

A columnist of the Sydney Morning Herald asked the question after a curate's friend was reported sold at auction. It wasn't mentioned in dictionaries and even the Museum of Applied Arts did not know.

The answer came from readers, including clergymen:

The curate's friend is an antique three-tiered cake stand.

In the good old days it would stand by the curate's chair at afternoon tea parties. He could help himself unobtrusively to the goodies.

Around The Rim Good Public Relations On The Beat

It was a coincidence, but it points out something that many of us often forget. Monday, when the streets were slick and motorists and pedestrians alike were skidding about, I happened to see two instances of police courtesy that is fast becoming the earmark of the local Department.

The first occurred in the vicinity of a school and a youngster—he couldn't have been more than eight years old—skidded on his bike and wound up in a heap of books, lunch pail and bike on the cold curb.

A PATROL car was parked at the corner watching for speeders. I suppose, and from the front on the windows, it was obvious the car heater was working and all was snug inside. The officer got out of his car, and walked across the street to help the lad back on his way, dusting the light snow off his clothes and helping him gather up his belongings.

The second event, to which I was a witness, forms the coincidence and it happened about 15 minutes later on another side of town.

The patrol car was following me and I figured I was about to be hailed down and given a ticket for something or other. We passed a corner at which an elderly man was standing, waiting for a chance to dodge across the slick street. The patrol car stopped, an officer stepped out, and escorted the man across the street, giving him a firm handhold to insure he didn't fall.

BOTH INSTANCES are relatively minor occurrences, and we might admit that anyone might perform these courtesies. But this time, a policeman did them and many other passing motorists had an opportunity to help, but didn't.

We think of police as guys with guns, handling a drunk, or chasing a speeder, or figuring out who killed somebody. All of this is a part of police work too, of course, but there is the other side which may be just as important.

This last mentioned comes with pride of work and interest in the job. It is important as all the rest and gives all of us a better opinion of the policeman, who at best, has a difficult eight hours to put in every day.

Couple Of Books To Shake Us Up

Two books on my recent reading list have stood me in good stead of a pre-holiday permanent.

Both Dr. James B. Conant's "Slums and Suburbs" and T. H. Tetens's "The New Germany and the Old Nazis" are enough to curl the hair of any conscientious citizen.

"SLUMS AND SUBURBS," only 147 pages long, is a shocker, a time bomb that ought to quicken responsible Americans into compassionate and resolute aid—"rescue" is not too strong a word—for slum children. Although it is the shoddy, inadequate education of children in slum districts that Dr. Conant exposes, what he has really written is a terrible indictment of slum conditions in the richest nation in history.

THIS BOOK is the latest in Dr. Conant's extremely valuable and continuing study of American public school education, a study made possible by the Carnegie Corporation. What he has to say about the contrast between public school facilities in the well-to-do suburbs of this country's 10 largest cities (most of them in the North) and their slum counterparts makes a mockery of our boast of "equal educational opportunities for all."

In his round about indictment of slums, Dr. Conant says what every intelligent person knows: "The community and the school are inseparable. It has been established beyond any reasonable doubt that community and family background play a large role in determining scholastic aptitude and school achievement. Anyone who thinks they do not simply has not visited widely among American schools."

AGAIN, DR. CONANT writes, "For example, I have walked through school corridors in slum areas and, looking into classrooms, have seen children asleep with their heads on their hands. . . . The children asleep at their desks have been up all night with no place to sleep or else have been subject to incredibly violent family fights and horrors throughout the night.

"Homework has little relevance where home is a filthy, noisy tenement."

Dr. Conant believes that one of the most dangerous and explosive situations in the United States is the lack of employment for slum children, whether they finish high school or drop out before graduation.

"SLUMS AND SUBURBS" is the kind of book that has caused revolutionary changes in our social mores in the past. If it were not for our preoccupation with atomic doom, I believe this book might force us to do something about the socioeconomic and educational doom of so many Americans.

As for "The New Germany and the Old Nazis," it is a shocker in another field. In the past decade, any well-read news has been aware, through good news reporting, of the resurgence of the old Nazis in Germany's political, judicial, educational and economic life.

SO THE IMPACT of the book is not really in its novelty but in the factual and documented record, with 237 pages, of the return of the old Nazis to power in every fact of German life. It is the facts and figures, cited chapter and verse, that act like a sledge hammer on the reader of "The New Germany and the Old Nazis."

While the United States poured billions into Germany and looked the other way, the old Nazis returned home, often from prison, to be welcomed as heroes and awarded good posts in municipal, state and federal government. Anti-Semitism is always just under the surface.

THIS IS A BOOK that will not make either Adenauer or our State Department happy. But it is one that Americans ought to read, if only to know what we may have to deal with after "Der Alte" is gone. It may even offer valuable clues to Khrushchev's intransigence and suspicion or the German question.

Holmes Alexander Our Military Aviation Policy

WASHINGTON — Military personnel traveling in aircraft chartered by the Defense Department are part of the American public, but a special part.

Officers and troops who are assigned to travel on chartered aircraft, and are customarily given tickets by a military transportation officer, do not have any choice as to their conveyance. They deserve double protection.

THE FIRST protection is due them as part of the American public, whose government provides Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) inspection of airplanes and air crews and Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) examination of the financial integrity of the airlines companies.

The second protection due to air-transferred troops comes from the Defense Department's Military Air Transport Service (MATS), which is staffed and equipped to make check-rides.

THIS WEEK is scheduled to see the opening of two investigations, one by Congress and one by the Federal Government, of military aviation fatalities and the policy behind them. The sharpest spur in the flank of public probers is public attention, and I hope these columns will sharpen that spur. The Congressional probe is to be conducted by a three-member House special subcommittee. The members are extraordinarily proficient and admirable: Reps. Hardy, Van Zandt and Brewster.

YET IT IS necessary to say that pressures and temptations will be put upon these men. Airlines of all sorts and sizes resist investigation because it hurts business, and they resent any regulation (of which there is already a great deal) because it is expensive and inhibitive. The Independent Airlines Association sent a long telegram of protest on President Kennedy when the Defense Department took additional safety measures as a result of the November 8th crash at Richmond, Va., which killed 74 Army recruits. The telegram read in part:

"WE REALIZE the seriousness of the recent accident at Richmond and recognize the detrimental effect on the public of the biased presentations by certain communications media. However, an important segment of the nation's air transport industry representing the only uncommitted emergency airlift should not be destroyed as the result of one accident for which even the cause has not yet been determined."

Another typical pressure group is the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association

(AOPA), which is on record in its official publication as follows:

"THE MEMBERS of Congress who frantically raced the act (the Federal Aviation Act of 1958) through the legal ramifications sounded like a bunch of screaming fans at a football game. The tide of hysteria was running high, and Congress couldn't be bothered with the mere rights of a few civil pilots."

So, both business rights and individual rights will be well represented at these Congressional probes, but it's up to the press and informed persons to watch out for the rights of the American public.

THIS BRINGS us to the investigation of independent airlines (particularly those doing business with the Defense Department), which is to begin tomorrow (December 15th), by joint action of the FAA and CAB. The same business and special interest pressures will be present, as they were in the Congressional probe. But there is an additional pressure which happens when government-inspects-government. If the government is at all at fault in the Richmond and other such crashes, then the public must be wary lest government - whitewash - government.

FOR THE RECORD, and in fairness, it needs to be noted that Secretary McNamara has already made it safer for troops to ride in airplanes. Back in March, McNamara ruled that troops would no longer be transported in so-called Part 45 carriers, or what amounts to "tramp" airplanes. He did this, however, more to build up a modern reserve fleet rather than to reduce risks. After the Richmond disaster, the Secretary ruled that MATS inspectors must check-ride all (not just some) airlines which carry troops. He also decreed that ticketed military travelers should normally use the regular commercial airlines.

On the surface, all looks well for a military airlift policy. But there are many hidden factors later to be discussed.

To Your Good Health Rehabilitation Helps Stroke Victim

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, MD

"Dear Dr. Molner, My sister, in her late 50's had a stroke. She hasn't spoken for two months and has lost the use of her right arm and leg. I am quite frustrated. Any information you can give will be appreciated. — R. H. A."

This letter comes from a city that is particularly noted for its medical achievements. It has, among other fine institutions, a modern rehabilitation center.

And yet, somehow, here is still another case of a stroke victim not being given the advantages of rehabilitation treatment.

Let me hasten to emphasize that I am not saying this in a critical tone. For centuries we have been able to do very little for stroke patients except put them to bed, feed them, and hope that they recover.

However, in the last 10 years really substantial progress has been made in rehabilitating stroke victims.

A stroke, of course, is the result of damage to arteries which serve the brain, either a clogging of an artery, or bleeding from one. Certain parts of the brain therefore are damaged.

In today's case the combination of consequences, loss of speech and loss of the use of the right arm and leg, is not unusual, because the speech center of the brain is located on the opposite (left) side, which governs muscular activity of the right side. It is possible that physiotherapy can restore the lost faculties to some extent; again, it may be that the damage is too severe. But the thing to do is find out — and it is at the rehabilitation center that the extent of the damage can best be evaluated.

(Incidentally, the sooner this can be done, the better. Damage many times can be minimized by immediate treatment. If not, it is advantageous in any event to begin learning to use the abilities which remain.)

A stroke of large proportions is a somber thing, but one should not dwell on the lost faculties. Rather, hope and happiness lie in exploring the positive values that remain: What CAN we do? Not the opposite.

Therapists frequently can teach a patient how to achieve understandable speech even though some of the muscles no longer respond. Paralysis of the right arm is simply the signal to learn to use the left. Maybe this sounds Pollyannish, but believe me, patients brighten up amazingly once they pass that psychological hurdle and concentrate on what they CAN do instead of what they CANNOT.

Loss of speech does NOT necessarily mean that the patient has any impairment of hearing, reasoning or thinking.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am a widow in my late 50's. Am in good health except that for the last six months I have been menstruating regularly after an absence of five years. Should this cause alarm? — Mrs. R. M."

Yes. Or rather, if not alarm, it should send you to your doctor to find the cause. It isn't natural. I think I should add that I know of many, many cases in which nothing of any great seriousness was wrong. But treatment was necessary.

NOTE TO MRS. A.D.: I can't help what your sister says I don't know of any reason why cream in your coffee will be "hard on your liver."

Bed-wetting is a distressing problem. If your child has the habit, write to Dr. Molner in care of Big Spring Herald for a copy of his helpful booklet, "Enuresis—Ten Ways To Stop Bed-Wetting." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner is delighted to receive letters from his readers, but regrets that because of the great number received daily he cannot answer them individually. Whenever possible, Dr. Molner uses readers' questions in his column.

A Calorie-Shy Salad Made With Fall Apples

Colorful salad for a holiday table combines unpeeled red apples and grapefruit sections in a sweet yet tangy gelatin mold. In the interest of weight-watchers, this appealing salad has been calorie-streamlined to just one-third its usual calorie count. The secret is the use of a non-caloric sweetener, rather than sugar. Each serving of this calorie-shy salad contains only 69 calories as compared with 198 calories when sweetened in the ordinary fashion. Best part is, non-dieters in your family will appreciate the salad's sweet, natural-tasting goodness every bit as much as the dieters. So do try this good and low-calorie recipe:

APPLE-GRAPEFRUIT JELLIED SALAD (Low-Calorie)

2 tbsps. (or envelopes) unflavored gelatin

¼ cup lemon juice
1 cup boiling water
2 tbsps. sweetener solution
1 1-lb. can unsweetened grapefruit sections
2 cups diced, unpeeled red apples

Soften gelatin in lemon juice; add boiling water, stirring to dissolve. Add sweetener. Drain grapefruit; measure liquid, adding water to make 2 cups liquid. Add to lemon gelatin; chill until mixture begins to thicken. Fold in grapefruit sections and diced apples; pour into a lightly oiled 5-cup mold; chill until set. Unmold at serving time on salad greens. Makes 6 servings. Each serving contains 69 calories; 3.5 grams protein; trace of fat; 14 grams carbohydrate. If made with sugar, each serving would contain 198 calories.

APPLE-GRAPEFRUIT JELLIED SALAD
2 tbsps. (or envelopes) unflavored gelatin

Fruit Cake Is Made With Honey
A golden honey fruit cake that is moist and delicious adds fruit juice for the liquid.
GOLDEN HONEY FRUIT CAKE
3 oz. candied lemon peel
¼ lb. candied cherries
¼ lb. walnut meats
¼ lb. pitted dates
¼ lb. candied pineapple
¼ lb. preserved citron
½ lb. seeded or seedless raisins
½ cup flour

Preparation of fruit: Cut fruit strips; halve cherries and dates; cut nut meats in quarters; cut pineapple slices in eighths. Dredge combined fruits in ½ cup flour. Batter: 1 cup butter, 1 cup honey, 5 eggs, ½ or ¾ tsp. salt, 1 tsp. baking powder, 1 tsp. allspice, ¼ tsp. ground cloves, ¼ cup orange juice or grape juice.

Sift dry ingredients together. Cream butter. Add honey gradually, blending thoroughly. Add eggs, beating well. Add flour and orange juice alternately, beating after each addition. Fold in fruit mixture. Pour into two 9 x 5 x 3 inch loaf pans which have been lined with waxed paper and greased. Bake in a slow oven (250 degrees F.) 3 to 3½ hours. Makes 2 cakes, 2½ pounds each.

Your Family Will Like Liver If You Use This Recipe
Make sure the liver you buy is extremely fresh; prepare it this way, and the chances are your family will enjoy it immensely.
LIVER, ONION GRAVY
1 lb. beef liver (sliced ¼-inch thick)
¼ cup flour
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. white pepper
¼ tsp. paprika
½ tsp. dry mustard
2 tbsps. each butter and oil
2 medium onions (cut into thin strips)
1 bouillon cube dissolved in 1 cup boiling water
Cut liver into strips about ¼-inch wide and 2 or 3 inches long. Mix flour, salt, pepper, paprika and mustard; roll liver in mixture reserving leftover amount—about 1½ tablespoons.
In a 10-inch skillet cook onion in butter until golden; remove with slotted spoon.
Add oil to skillet; heat; add liver and brown slightly, cooking to desired doneness.
Remove liver and keep warm. Stir reserved flour into drippings in skillet over low heat; add bouillon; cook and stir until boiling and slightly thickened.
Strain through a fine mesh; add onions and reheat; serve with liver. Makes 4 small servings.

Egg Nog With Few Calories
An egg nog with fewer calories is made of dry milk with a hint of rum flavor.
HOLIDAY EGG NOG
(Makes about 2 quarts egg nog)
3 cups water
1½ cups nonfat dry milk powder
6 egg whites
½ cup sugar
6 egg yolks
1 tsp. vanilla extract
½ tsp. artificial rum extract
Nutmeg
Mix water and nonfat dry milk powder together; chill thoroughly. Beat egg whites until almost stiff enough to hold a peak; add sugar gradually; beat until stiff and glossy, but not dry. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored; fold into egg whites. Gradually fold in liquefied dry milk and extracts. Pour into punch bowl or individual cups; sprinkle top with nutmeg. Serve.

Olive Puffs For Open House Fare
Cut refrigerated biscuits into quarters. Wrap around stuffed olives and roll in Parmesan cheese. Bake at 450 degrees for 6 to 9 minutes. (Make ahead and reheat in aluminum foil.) Makes 40.

Cherry And Cheese Is Salad Combo

A tangy salad to complement turkey, ham or beef is the good black cherry and cheese mold with pecans and stuffed olives.

CHERRY CHEESE MOLD
1 pkg. black cherry gelatin
1 cup hot water
Cherry juice and water to make 1 cup
1 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese
1 cup chopped drained canned Bing cherries
¼ cup chopped pecans
¼ cup sliced stuffed olives.
Dissolve gelatin in hot water.

Brush The Crumbs
So many cooks forget to brush the crumbs from a cake before frosting it.

Plug-In Picnic Plan

This modern electrical age we enjoy has made living simpler and pleasant; makes savory food for a crowd quick and easy to prepare with the aid of an electric grill.

Broil juicy hamburgers and frankfurters, basting them with a beer-tangy barbecue sauce kept warm on the grill shelf. Serve with a hot, German-style potato salad, buttered buns, and mugs of chilled, refreshing beer.

BEER BARBECUE SAUCE
½ cup beer
2 tbsps. vinegar
2 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce
2 tbsps. lemon juice
1 cup chili sauce

Combine all ingredients in a small saucepan. Keep hot on gridle shelf of broiler, using to baste hamburgers and frankfurters during grilling. Yield: Approximately 2 cups.

1 tsp. sugar
½ cup beer or ale
