Tshombe signed an eight-point declaration which was presented formally to the United Nations. Its text, announced by the central Congo government, was brief and in skeleton form. It said:

"1. Accepts the application of the fundamental law of May 19, 1960, (the Congo's provisional constitution under which Katanga is a province and not an independent or autonomous state).

"2. Recognizes the indivisible

The ONE-TIMER has to send in his check this month, though. It comes to $18.45 (newsboy's share included), plus a sales tax of 3¢ to help take care of the state. That's a total of $18.82.

Weatherman Breaks Rules, Winter Coming In Warm

The weatherman, who seems always to be breaking the rules, is supposed to usher in winter at 8:20 p.m. today. But somehow it sort of sneaked up ahead of him and passed on through. It may not even be down to freezing tonight.

The first 32-degree or below weather this year was recorded on Nov. 15 when the thermometer took a slide to 30 degrees. There were four days of freezing weather in November.

How Long Will This Truce Last?

By COLIN FROST
LONDON (AP)—It was 5 p.m. one day last September, and the sun's fury was dying in the city of Elisabethville, capital of Katanga Province.

The usual evening crowd sat at the pavement tables of the Palace Tavern. Smart young white people sipping aperitifs, middle-aged women with their coffee, the most affluent Africans drinking sima beer.

Peaceful enough—and at the same time sinister. Sinister because no one was talking.

Instead they gazed fixedly across the street at the gray post office with its clock stopped at 6:55.

The building's windows were gone, shattered by the same bullets that stopped the clock. In their place were sandbag emplacements. Through chinks in the sandbags poked the snouts of machine guns and behind them peered the unwavering eyes of the Gurkha soldiers.

Hatred smothered the scene.

SOON BE BACK

This was Elisabethville in the cease-fire of late September, and at once you could see that war would soon be back.

It came back this month.

Two events were decisive in stretching tension beyond the breaking point.

One was the United Nations resolution of Nov. 24 calling for vigorous action to end the secession of Katanga.

The other was a fire-breathing reply to this resolution by Katanga's President Moïse Tshombe, calling on his people to take arms against the expected battle.

Both sides had a lot to lose.

For the United Nations, failure could mean the end of the late Dag Hammarskjöld's dream of an international force capable of pacifying the world's trouble spots and so reducing the dangers of global war.

For Tshombe, defeat could mean the end of Katanga as an independent state, a state of great wealth by African standards.

MINERALS

This wealth lies in the copper, manganese and cobalt which the giant Union Minière Co. extracts from the southern strip of Katanga lying near the border with British-ruled Northern Rhodesia.

Until the summer of 1960 the company provided roughly half the governmental revenue of the entire Belgian Congo.

In June that year Belgium declared the Congo to be an independent republic. A month later the Congo was in chaos, with its army mutinying and its prime minister, Patrice Lumumba, flirting with the Soviet bloc.

Tshombe chose that moment to declare Katanga an independent state. He dissolved the mutinous force publique and in its place recruited a national army largely officered by whites taken over from the Belgian army.

SIMPLE CHOICE

As Tshombe put it, the choice before Katanga was simple—join with the rest of the Congo and dissolve into chaos and eventual communism, or through independence seek a prosperous state where white and black could work together.

The beginnings of such a state existed in Katanga. Whites and blacks shared restaurants, bars and even swimming pools without tension.

But Katanga after July 1960 was never exactly the oasis of calm which Tshombe's government attempted to present to the outside world.

In the north of Katanga, an area the size of France, dissident Baluba tribesmen took arms and forced Tshombe's administration into civil war. To win that war he brought in white soldiers, men who fitted the definition of mercenary much more closely than the Belgian officers in control of his regular army.

STRANGE ARMY

These mercenaries formed one of the strangest armies of modern times. At their peak they totaled perhaps 200 men.

Some were French regular off-cers who had skipped Algeria after their abortive general's plot against De Gaulle. Some were South Africans and Rhodesians with a lust for adventure or a straightforward urge to get rich quick. Some were pilots.

Perhaps a dozen were British. Men like Dick Browne, brother of a member of the House of Commons, who insisted that in Katanga he was fighting the same Communists he had fought in Malaya.

Or Peter Wickstead, Tshombe's helicopter pilot, who had flown for Nasser in Egypt and Castro in Cuba.

In August the United Nations demanded Katanga expel more than 500 whites in military or paramilitary positions. On Aug. 28 U.N. troops—Indians, Irish and Swedes—disarmed more than 400. They were repatriated, the great majority to Belgium.

In September, a full-scale war broke out—a war launched by the United Nations ostensibly to get rid of 104 remaining mercenaries. This was the fighting which brought Dag Hammarskjöld's death in a plane crash.

NEW FIGHTING

The fighting ended in a cease-fire which recognized Katanga's right to defend itself against attack "from the exterior." Within weeks the Congolese national army invaded Katanga. The United Nations said any Katanga air attack against the invaders would be regarded as a breach of the United Nations planes were brought to Katanga's borders to support this judgment. The Congolese troops reached Albertville, Katanga's northern capital, and according to British eyewitnesses embarked on a campaign of looting and rape.

Despite these military reverses, Tshombe's principal weakness had been his poverty of political support.

Not one government had recognized his regime as a legally constituted state. Britain, France and the United States kept consuls in Elisabethville but they treated Tshombe as a provincial representative of the Leopoldville government.

KATANGA LOBBY

In Europe his most vocal supporters were about 30 members of the British Parliament, known as the Katanga lobby.

They won enough support to prevent the British government from sending heavy bombs to the United Nations force. Their advocacy of Tshombe's cause put the spotlight on the interest of Belgians, British, French and Americans in Union Minière and its annual take of 300,000 tons of copper.

Some members of this group have a declared interest in British concerns which control roughly a quarter of Union Minière. Some have charged the United States, as a main financial backer of the United Nations, with actively trying to disrupt Katanga's economy to help American copper holdings.

Their influence and their anger can be expected to grow with the events of the past few days.

HOW LONG?

The latest United Nations operation officially was aimed at restoring United Nations lines of communications among its garrisons in Katanga.

But United Nations planes, according to newsmen in the town, strafed a hospital in Jadotville nearly 100 miles from the nearest U.N. soldier.

After two weeks' fighting, once more it seemed a cease-fire was on the way.

This, like the September cease-fire, would be aimed at an agreement between Tshombe and his fellow politicians among the Congo's leaders. And soon the crowds would be back on the pavement before the Palace Tavern, watching the clock stopped at 6:55 and the U.N. troops on the street outside.

After two weeks' fighting, a cease-fire of sorts prevailed in Elisabethville, and Tshombe agreed with Premier Cyrille Adoula of the central Congo government to end Katanga's secession. But the agreement must still be put into force, and Tshombe last June repudiated another peace treaty with the central government as soon as he returned to Elisabethville.

2 Missionaries Accident Victims In South America

NEW YORK (AP)—Fatal injuries to two missionaries, one a Texan, in an auto accident involving a 1,500-foot plunge in the Andes Mountains of Bolivia is reported by the Methodist Board of Missions.

The victims were the Rev. Murray Dickson, 46, of Hillsboro, Tex., and Dr. Louis Tatom III, 34, medical missionary from Gainesville, Fla.

The Missions board first reported the Rev. Mr. Dickson had been found dead in his car, presumably from effects of the Andean altitude on his bronchial condition.

A spokesman said later, however, that information was erroneous and gave this account of the accident which happened last Saturday:

The two missionaries were driving on a narrow mountain roadway northeast of La Paz, the Bolivian capital. Their car was forced off the road by a truck and dropped down a 1,500-foot cliff to a railroad embankment. Tatom apparently was killed instantly. The Rev. Mr. Dickson crawled from the car and climbed back to the roadway. He was found there, placed on a train to La Paz and died during the trip.

The Rev. Mr. Dickson, a missionary to Bolivia since 1943, was executive secretary for all Methodist work in that nation.

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—President Nazam el Koudsi has chosen a conservative, Said Ghazzi, to form a new government free from Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic.

Ghazzi, 64, one of Syria's best known lawyers, served as premier before Syria joined with Egypt in the U.A.R. The union was broken by an army revolt in September.

India Cleans Up Captured Enclaves

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Indian army engineers today continued clearing road mines and restoring communications and transport facilities in Goa, Damao and Diu while the Indian government made plans for civil government in the three fallen Portuguese enclaves.

Official reports reaching Bombay claimed Portuguese troops carried out a scorched earth policy in Goa, blowing up bridges, roads and buildings before resistance collapsed late Tuesday after a 48-hour attack by Indian troops, tanks and planes.

The reports claimed the invading forces caused only negligible damage to port installations and public buildings.

A Defense Ministry spokesman said that conditions were fast returning to normal in Goa, where the defenders offered their strongest resistance and that "most of the Portuguese soldiers have laid down their arms."

The ministry earlier claimed that stragglers were still being rounded up.

Goans arriving in Belgaum, Indian command post for the invasion, said native Goan soldiers and police virtually welcomed the invaders while the outnumbered Portuguese troops resisted the advance with all that they had.

They said residents of the three enclaves lavished hospitality on the Indian troops.

The government declared that Portuguese colonial officials and captives were being well treated and that other Portuguese casualties, earlier reported as small, were being given medical aid.

Gen. Manuel Vassalo e Silva, the Portuguese governor general, was reported captured in a small house at the Mormagoa naval base. A Defense Ministry spokesman said he was "being accorded the normal courtesies and consideration."

Official sources said the government planned to bring all three of the territories under the control of civilian administrators soon. A government spokesman announced that R.C.V.P. Noronha is now acting as chief civil adviser to the military governor, Maj. Gen. K. P. Candeth, who commanded the infantry division that captured Goa.

Government sources said an official of the Reserve Bank of India will make an inventory of the assets of the Portuguese administration and that Indian economic survey teams will later draw up a five-year plan for development of the three enclaves. India started its third five-year plan last April.

The government also announced that it would allow newsmen to enter Goa from Belgaum, where more than 50 journalists had gathered during the assault.

In New York, Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon arrived at U.N. headquarters to defend the Indian military action but the matter was not raised in the General Assembly before it recessed for Christmas.

Menon told newsmen that he had expected the U.N. to be jubilant over the Indian seizure because "as more colonies go out, the stronger it (the United Nations) becomes."

Immediately after his arrival, Menon conferred for half an hour with Adlai E. Stevenson, the chief U.S. delegate to the U.N., who had severely criticized the Indian action. Informants said they exchanged opposite viewpoints.

In Lisbon, Portuguese Prime Minister Antonio Salazar gave no indication of what plans the Portuguese government may have, and a sampling of public opinion produced varied reactions. Some Portuguese recommended quitting the United Nations and dispatching new military forces to India, while others said it marked the beginning of the breakup of the nation's vast overseas colonial network.

Bids Tabulated

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Highway Department has tabulated bids totaling $20.1 million on 379 miles of highway construction. Low bidders on projects in various counties Wednesday included:

Nolan: Interstate 20, 4 miles west of Sweetwater to 3 miles east of the city, 5.7 miles, grade, structures, flexible base and two course surface treatment, T.M. Brown & Sons, Inc., Abilene, $258,440.

Feed For Cattle

A cover of ice and snow forced Panhandle ranchers near Amarillo to feed herds of cattle, while green wheat and other grazing were hidden under the white blanket. Don Gabel is throwing feed bundles to his livestock.

Does Goa Spell The End For U.N.?

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The case of Goa has brought home a sobering fact to many U.N. diplomats: the United Nations of today is not the organization they knew 10 or even 5 years ago. The change prompts some of the alarms that are being sounded about its future.

The flood of Asian and African countries into membership has introduced new concepts, new codes of conduct. Some Western diplomats express concern that the group's growing influence may so transform the U.N. that the West can no longer accept it.

In the Goa case, for example, the Soviet Union was not alone in opposing a cease-fire. The Security Council's three African-Asian members—Ceylon, Liberia and the United Arab Republic—joined the Soviets.

Going even further, these three demanded that the council reject Portugal's complaint and call on Portugal in effect to turn over the areas to India voluntarily.

This was a factor in Adlai E. Stevenson's pessimistic statement Tuesday. He said the Soviet veto on colonial questions. The two groups make a formidable coalition in the 104-nation General Assembly. The Asian-African group, not even an organized bloc 10 years ago, now has 50 members. The Soviet bloc has 10 members plus Cuba. Between them they come close to a two-thirds majority.

Stevenson and other Western diplomats seem fearful that the Asian-African attitude may lead to extreme measures which could discredit the United Nations or force the withdrawal of the Western powers who were its chief founders and still furnish its chief financial support.

An AP News Analysis

was consistent "but I find the attitude of some other members of the council profoundly disturbing. "We have witnessed tonight," he went on, "an effort to rewrite the charter, to sanction the use of force in international relations when it suits one's own purposes. This approach can lead only to chaos and to the disintegration of the United Nations."

The combination of Asian-African and Communist support for India convinced the Western powers that it would be futile to follow the usual practice of going before the General Assembly in the face of a veto. They did not relish the prospect of being slapped down by a whopping vote.

One of the things that has shocked Western diplomats is the frankness of many Asian and African delegates in declaring that the use of force is permissible if used to free a dependent territory.

There is some fear that this line of thinking might lead to a wave of violence, particularly against territories held by Portugal and South Africa—the main targets of Asian-African criticism.

The possibility is striking in view of the support the Soviet bloc gives Asian-African countries

Susie Now Drinks Milk

Two-year-old Susan Lynn Reuter holds glass of milk and snuggles with Indianapolis police sergeant Maurice W. Fischer. Answering a "sick child" call last week Sgt. Fischer found Susie, suffering from malnutrition, in a vacated storeroom used as living quarters by two families with seven children. Susie wasn't given any milk because the meager supply was needed by her 10-month-old brother. The tough cop was moved. He and his wife are providing groceries for the family with plenty of milk for Susie.

Heavy Fighting Reported In Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A military leader of the Cuban revolution, now in exile, said bloody fighting has involved rebel guerrillas and 25,000 Fidel Castro troops in central Cuba's mountains.

No confirmation of major conflict came from major Cuban exile groups or U.S. officials in this country, or from Havana. The Cuban radio ridiculed the statement made by Maj. Eloy Gutierrez Menoyo.

Gutierrez Menoyo called a news conference Wednesday and said that fierce combat was in progress in the Escambray Mountains between rebel units and Castro militia trying to stamp out their increased activities.

"Just today," Gutierrez Menoyo said, "we received word of bitter fighting that has left many militiamen dead at Obispo near Sancti Spiritus."

In 1959 Gutierrez Menoyo led the second front of Escambray, an army that cooperated with Castro's forces in overthrowing Cuban dictator Fulgencio Batista. Gutierrez Menoyo, a supporter of Castro after the latter took over in January, 1959, fled into exile in January, 1961, and charged the bearded revolutionary with being a Communist.

Gutierrez Menoyo said two former comrades of the Escambray army are in the field leading rebel forces there now. He identified them as Capt. Everardo Salas and Lt. Elio Balmaseda.

"The guerrilla movement was formed in the Escambray Mountains last Nov. 10," Gutierrez Menoyo said. "Our force is made up of anti-Communist Cubans from every walk of life—students, soldiers and even militiamen who have defected from Castro."

Cuban exile leaders in Washington said they got no reports of major clashes between Castro and insurgent groups. But they said there have been signs of some minor contacts between the guerrillas and Castro troops trying to hunt them down.

U.S. officials said they had no word of unusual activity in Cuba. In Havana, AP correspondent George Arfield said there has been no indication of major fighting on the island. Arfield said there are constant rumors of skirmishes but such reports seldom are confirmed.

Havana radio called Gutierrez Menoyo's report "a maneuver in view of the coming conference of ministers" of the Organization of American States.

"Gutierrez Menoyo represents nothing in all this," Havana radio said. "The Department of State and the Central Intelligence Agency are the ones who planned it."

U.N. Raps Soviets, China To End Assembly Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly recessed its 16th session early today for Christmas after denouncing Soviet domination over Hungary and Red Chinese oppression in Tibet.

The two resolutions were passed over bitter opposition from the Soviet bloc, which accused the United States of dredging up cold war issues that have remained dormant since the last time the U.N. acted on them in 1959.

The 104-nation forum approved 49-17 with 32 abstentions a resolution deploring "the continued disregard" by the Soviet Union and the Hungarian regime of assembly resolutions concerning the situation in Hungary.

NOT FORGOTTEN

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson warned the Soviet Union and Hungary that the U.N. had not forgotten the 1956 revolt stamped out by Soviet armor.

Earlier, the assembly voted 53-11 with 30 abstentions for a resolution expressing grave concern over violations of human rights in Tibet, now under Chinese domination. Only the Soviet bloc and Cuba voted no.

Soviet Delegate S. G. Lapin claimed the entire Tibetan issue had been fabricated to cover actions "of the Anglo-American colonizers" to create a military base against Communist China.

The session, which opened in September under the shadow of Dag Hammarskold's death on a mission to Katanga, recessed until Jan. 15 a few hours before word reached New York that Katanga President Moise Tshombe had agreed to end his province's secession from the central Congo government.

KEY DECISIONS

Despite the Congo crisis, the session included a number of key decisions triggered by agreement between the Soviet Union and the United States.

Behind-scenes talks between Stevenson and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian E. Zorin brought accord on such knotty issues as arrangements for negotiations on disarmament and outer space and the choosing of a successor for Hammarskold.

These agreements were considered especially significant because they showed Soviet willingness to shelve for the time being Premier Khrushchev's troika principle of equal representation of Western, Communist and neutral nations.

After weeks of bargaining, the Soviets dropped demands for a three-headed board to run the secretariat with a built-in veto. They agreed to let U Thant of Burma head the organization, leaving the choice of advisers up to him.

NO TROIKA

The Soviets also abandoned insistence that committees to negotiate disarmament and outer space questions be formed on the troika principle.

A signal triumph for the United States was the assembly's sharp rejection of Red China's bid for a U.N. seat—an issue the United States decided to meet head-on this year after keeping it shelved for 10 years.

American circles also hailed assembly approval of President Kennedy's proposal that the next 10 years be declared a "U.N. decade of development" with special effort to spur the economies of underdeveloped countries.

One of the most important developments was the assembly's approval, over Soviet opposition, of a $200-million, 25-year bond issue to save the world body from bankruptcy.

The session pointed up the increasingly dominant role played by the Asian-African group, which now totals 50 nations or nearly half the U.N. membership.

The group gave a vivid demonstration of its strength early in the session when it rammed through the assembly an unprecedented vote of censure against a policy speech made by South African Foreign Minister Eric Louw.

The group often split on political issues but usually acted as a unit on racial and colonial questions. They proved that with Soviet bloc support they could form an unbeatable combination against the Western powers.

WANTS RECOGNITION

By E. H. Farber, preacher, Church of Christ, 2000 West Highway 88 P.O. Box 1282.

"Why can not you recognize other evangelical bodies as legitimate churches? We all believe in the Bible as the word of God. We believe in Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior and seek to follow and serve Him. But we are imperfect. We are sinners, yet saved by his grace." (Letter from a denominational pastor in the city.)

Legitimate, means lawful or legal. "The perfect law of liberty," the New Testament is the standard for determining legality (Jas. 1:25; Jno. 12:48). Thus, to be legitimate is to be Scriptural.

Now, it is certainly legal (scriptural) to believe in the Bible and in Jesus Christ; also to seek to follow him.

What is not Scriptural, is to have man-made churches (Matt. 15:13). The pastor admitted that Christ established only one church (see Tuesday's article). Then, all other churches are man-made, and constitute additions to the word of God. That is not lawful (Rev. 22:18, 19).

True; we are imperfect; we sin. But we must repent of our sins as we learn about them.

Welcome to our preaching service tonight, 7:30. —adv.

Mahon Cites Issues, Trends Before U.S.

LUBBOCK—A report to his district on various political issues and trends has been issued by Congressman George Mahon.

Rep. Mahon closed his Lubbock office this past weekend, and immediately after the holidays will be on duty in Washington, preparing for the opening of the Congressional session in January.

While at home during the past few months, Mahon has visited extensively over the district. A part of his report is on findings from these visits, and a part of it is a report on items of interest to the people. He made the following comments on subjects which he said appeared to him to be uppermost in the minds of most West Texans:

WAR — "A war between the United States and Russia would be an atomic war. In over all strength the U. S. is stronger than Russia. Soviet leaders know they could not win. Their country would be set back by decades.

"In order to lessen the likelihood of war by miscalculation on the part of Russia, the U. S. has more firmly defined its position and is increasing its nuclear and conventional war capability. Prospects of avoiding war are excellent. A continuation of disturbing developments in many areas of the world seems inevitable."

FALLOUT SHELTERS—"If the Cold War continues, we must have a shelter program in which the federal, state and local governments and individuals participate. Requirements are not yet sufficiently well defined and people should not rush into a program of shelter construction. Russia does not have a large stockpile of operational intercontinental ballistic missiles as yet, and this is not the time of greatest danger. There is time for deliberate planning as the greater danger period approaches. Much better information will be available in the near future."

FARM LABOR—"A crisis in farm labor is upon us as a result of the new bracero law which restricts tractor driving by braceros. In the House we were able to pass a simple extension of the law, but crippling amendments added in the Senate and which could not be wholly eliminated have made the new law intolerable. A further threat is posed by the unsympathetic administration of the law by officials of the Labor Department."

"The prospect of inadequate farm help poses a serious threat not only to individual farmers, but to the economy of many farm areas. I shall continue to work aggressively with organizations and farmers in an effort to prevent disaster to farmers who have been forced to rely on braceros for tractor drivers."

SPENDING—"Non-defense spending continues too high. To discourage spending and inflationary trends, and for other reasons, I voted in the last session against the depressed areas bill, the big housing bill, backdoor spending proposals, federal aid to education, minimum wage legislation.

"The authoritative Congressional Quarterly rates me as having voted with the administration 59 per cent of the time in the recent Congress. I am a loyal Democrat, but the national interest requires that Democrats and Republicans put the welfare of the country above party consideration. This is in the long range best interest of our country and our two-party system."

CONSERVATIVES vs. LIBERALS—"The trend among the people toward conservatism in government continues. I am encouraged by this trend. Both political parties, in my judgment, lean too far to the left. This is reflected in national platforms adopted last year which are significantly similar. There are large blocs of conservatives and liberals in both the Democratic and Republican parties.

"Citizens can best serve by working actively within the party of their choice for the goals in which they believe. They have the responsibility and duty of trying to influence the party to follow a course which they regard as best for the country."

RECIPROCAL TRADE—"The extension of the present reciprocal trade program or substitute legislation will be high on the list of legislation to be considered by the next Congress. I have always supported the reciprocal trade program despite the fact that some industries are adversely affected. This area has a big part in the exportation of about five million bales of cotton per year and much is at stake.

"American industrial and farm commodities are being priced out of world markets. Unless labor and industry and government can do more than is now being done to make this country more competitive, we are in deep trouble. My vote against the minimum wage increase was based in part upon my concern about this basic problem."

OIL IMPORTS—"Excessive oil imports continue to contribute to the slump in the domestic oil industry. Admittedly, trade is a two way street, but I favor an aggressive program—not to eliminate all oil imports, but to bring the import program within the bounds of reason and prevent stagnation in the domestic oil industry."

FARM LEGISLATION—"Trends in farm legislation are unpredictable. However, I do not anticipate any drastic change in farm laws during the next session of Congress."

TAXES—"I expect the next Congress to pass legislation tightening up revenue laws in some fields, but a significant increase or decrease in taxes generally is not likely."

DEFENSE—"I estimate that the next Congress will appropriate $50 billion to continue the defense program. We are the world's most powerful nation and we will remain so. We need not take a back seat to anybody and we can win the Cold War if we have sufficient strength of purpose and if we think we can. I think we can and will. Communism has its basic weaknesses; Freedom has its basic strengths. Democracy and freedom will prevail in the long run."

The Army said it was a routine exercise under careful supervision. It has withdrawn all grenades of the same lot number pending a formal investigation.

Killed were Sgt. George A. Barnes, 30, a member of the permanent garrison, and Pvt. Anthony Cesta, 23, of Mount Vernon, N.Y. Cesta was in basic training.

Injured slightly was Sgt. Solomon Tyson, 35, also a member of the garrison.

The Army said a preliminary investigation indicated that a grenade thrown by Cesta exploded immediately after leaving his hand.

Feed Program Announcement Is Surprising

Announcement in Washington Tuesday that farmers wishing to take part in the 1962 feed grain program will register during the period Feb. 5 through March 31 came as a surprise to the office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee here.

Gabe Hammack, manager, said that the ASC knew the program would be started soon after the first of the year but that no date had been provided the local office.

He said that no schedule or formula is on hand as yet to guide the ASC in assisting those grain farmers who desire to take part in the program.

The Washington dispatch said that the program pays farmers to retire at least 30 per cent of their corn and sorghum grain land. They can, Hammack said, retire as much as 40 per cent of their land if they so desire.

Those who join in the program will become eligible also for price supports. The program, which is similar to one in effect this year, is supposed to reduce the surplus of feed grains. The government is seeking ways and means to lessen the heavy expense that storage of this surplus imposes.

Hammack said that he would announce the base and other details of the registration as soon as the information reaches his office.

No Sun In Drivers' Eyes

Two traffic signals have been installed at the intersection of East Third and Benton, with sun shields attached. Only one light has been used at the intersection until recently and west-bound drivers could not see the signals, except from the south lane, when the sun was low. City Electrician Roy Rogan and his crew installed the two lights with shields to eliminate frequent collisions at the intersection of two highways.

Selling Book Brings Sentence

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—Samuel Yudin, a book store operator, has been sentenced to six months imprisonment on charges stemming from his sale of the novel "Tropic of Cancer."

Yudin was convicted by a jury of violating Maryland's obscenity law. He gave notice of appeal and was freed under $5,000 bond.

Assumed Name Notices Mailed

Pauline Petty, Howard County clerk, has mailed notices to 1,000 persons in the county who are concerned in the recent changes in the state "assumed name" law.

Mrs. Petty said that the new law makes it imperative that any person operating a business under an "assumed name" has to acquire a new certificate.

The postal card notices which the clerk sent to those who are concerned read:

"Under the provisions of Article 5924 as amended by the 57th Legislature, you are required to file with the county clerk a new certificate to transact business in Texas under an assumed name on or before Dec. 31, 1962.

"All certificates to transact business under an assumed name on file prior to Aug. 28, 1961, shall terminate after Dec. 31, 1962 unless a new certificate is filed prior to that date. New certificates to be issued are to be effective for a period of 10 years."

The bulk of the estate goes to the widow, Mrs. Patrice Wymore Flynn.

A few fortunate Big Springers are proudly displaying a special sort of scratch pad sent them by a local resident.

This pad, neatly printed with the legend "Texas Scratch pad" is provided with a sheaf of "leaves" — each leaf being a brand new crisp $1 bill.

Naturally the circulation of these scratch pads is limited. However, the banks of the city report there are many residents who are receiving new bank notes as Christmas gifts.

Many employers are making bonus presents to employees at this season and they request the banks supply uncirculated bills.

One teller said that she estimated she has paid out at least $8,000 in recent days in new bills.

Bankers said that a lot of new money comes to their establishments regularly — particularly new dollar bills. There is some increase, they say, in the requests for new money at this season but there is a brisk demand for this sort of money the year around.

Grenade Blast Kills 2 Soldiers

FT. DIX, N.J. (AP)—Two soldiers were killed and a third was injured Tuesday when a hand grenade exploded prematurely during a training exercise.

The Army said it was a routine exercise under careful supervision. It has withdrawn all grenades of the same lot number pending a formal investigation.

Killed were Sgt. George A. Barnes, 30, a member of the permanent garrison, and Pvt. Anthony Cesta, 23, of Mount Vernon, N.Y. Cesta was in basic training.

Injured slightly was Sgt. Solomon Tyson, 35, also a member of the garrison.

The Army said a preliminary investigation indicated that a grenade thrown by Cesta exploded immediately after leaving his hand.

CHRISTMAS STORY AS SEEN FROM HEAVEN

God's Way Prepared

EDITOR'S NOTE — The message went forth from the heavens — and on earth it was a message of joy. This is the third of four articles on the Christmas story, with its setting in the divine realm, based on scriptural allusions.

By GEORGE CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

Across the mystic span, the messengers sped. Through the tenuous veil between the immortal and the mortal, they passed. Out of the heavens, they traveled to earth.

They bore a message to man. The glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together.

Into the ears of prophets and seers, the divine emissaries whispered the amazing intelligence. Through the secret channels of dreams, they poured the gracious report.

It was enigmatic and elusive to the human mind. And he will lift up an ensign to the nations from afar . . . And a highway shall be there and a way . . . The redeemed shall walk there . . . the ransomed of the Lord.

Through the discerning, heaven-inspired spirits of the earth through Isaiah, Joel, Malachi, Micah, Amos, Zechariah, Daniel, Jeremiah and others, the visiting harbingers conveyed the Deity's intent.

"Behold, thy King cometh unto thee: He is just and having salvation: lowly and riding upon an ass . . . His dominion shall be from the sea even to the sea, from the river even unto the ends of the earth."

CENTURIES OF PREPARATION
The preparation went on over centuries of terrestrial time.

The help decreed for man diffused to all disposed to respond to it, in the flesh or previously gone from it.

"The Lord whom ye seek shall come suddenly to the temple . . . And He shall sit as a Refiner and Purifier . . . He shall be as a hiding place from the wind, a covert from the tempest."

To the Archangel Michael, of the four chief princes of the Creator's imperial regime, and to the head of the cherubim, Gabriel, went commanding duties in the early expedition.

They led an angel army in disseminating the story. Let all the nations be gathered together and let the people be assembled . . . His name shall lead them . . . His name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor . . . the Mighty God . . . the Everlasting Father . . . Prince of Peace."

It was Gabriel, the intercessor who overcomes resistance to the wiles of Lucifer's dominions and powers of the lower air, that a special task was given in the new move for mankind.

He was to enlist direct participation of several members of its own genus, including a young Jewish maiden of Galilee.

EXPECTATIONS LOOSED
But before that was done, enhanced desires and expectation had to be let loose among the somnolent populace. Wilting hopes had to be lifted.

To man, engulfed in materialism, the higher realities had receded from his ken, although they interpenetrated his earthly framework, fashioning and sustaining it. But man's consciousness had become ravaged by misuse. He could not make out the spiritual world that co-existed with the physical, all part of an inter-related continuity.

To him, the universe was split by distance, and life shattered by time. He considered God's province remote and far away, and felt that events and experiences lasted only so long as embodied in their material setting.

Only material effect registered with him. It was his scope and his standard. Without it, fact escaped him. His insights were marred; his impulses shrunken. He could not see that the past could be preserved and perpetuated, even as its material manifestations dissolved.

In his warped view, it was a fragmented, barebones existence, shut in by length, breadth and

Third X15 In Flight

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A third X15 rocket plane has taken to the air and made the first test of new controls for space flight.

Pilot Neil A. Armstrong of the U.S. space agency flew the ship at 2,454 miles per hour and to an altitude of 80,000 feet in an 11-minute maiden flight Wednesday.

There was no attempt to go higher or faster. The two other X15s hold the world records for both speed and altitude.

The flight tested a computer-like device that automatically adjusts jets in the nose and wings to correct deviations in space flight faster than a man can think. Heretofore the pilot has had to operate the control jets manually. They are needed because of the rare atmosphere at high altitudes. Armstrong expressed satisfaction with the performance.

prefer a longer course and this may be established for the future if found necessary, she said.

Receiving certificates of achievement for having completed the course were Mrs. Dorothy Henderson, Mrs. Arlene Huntziker, Mrs. Barbara Hines, Mrs. Leta Metcalf, Mrs. Altie Hooser, Mrs. La Homa O'Brien, Mrs. Dorothy Smith, Mrs. Mona Hush, Mrs. Billie Mize, Mrs. Margaret Lawhon and Mrs. Dorothy Oakes, all personnel at the VA Hospital.

smell. It was a dying chain of successive occurrences, rather than a consecutive, inter-connected unity.

HEALING NEWS BROUGHT
But to short-sighted humanity, the vitalizing spirits brought God's healing news. Although the highest formative forces, the "things that are not shaken," remained changeless, the lower orders were subject to renewal.

"He shall feed the flock like a shepherd. He shall gather the lambs with His arms and carry them in His bosom and shall gently lead."

The auguries were couched in imagery and intimations, for the full import could not be communicated at once to man's limited concepts.

"Every valley shall be lifted up, and every mountain and hill shall be made low, and uneven ground shall become level, and the rough places plain."

Gradually, step by step, the word was spread, the people readied, though many scorned and killed the prophets that relayed the information. Yet others listened, wondered and hoped.

"But thou Bethlehem, though thou be little . . . yet out of thee shall He come forth . . . that is to be Ruler . . . whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting."

Other hints also were dispersed, many of them difficult for man to adjust to his notions of success. "He was despised and rejected by men, a man of sorrows, acquainted with grief . . . He was wounded for . . . transgressions. In all their afflictions, He was afflicted, and the angel of His presence saved them; in His love and in His pity, He redeemed them."

The tenderly shaped plan had a directness and profound simplicity that heaped unstinted love and acceptance on earthly beings.

"Behold a virgin shall conceive and bear a Son, and shall call His name Immanuel."

GABRIEL'S ANNOUNCEMENT
It was to her that Gabriel made the announcement, as well as to her kinsman, Zacharias, whose wife was to bear another son, John the Baptist, to serve as a forerunner to God's manifestation.

Gently, Gabriel approached the innocent girl of Nazareth as she knelt by a well. "Hail, thou that art highly favored. The Lord is with thee: blessed art thou among women."

She was understandably startled and disturbed, and he reassured her. "Fear not, Mary, for thou hast found favor with God. And behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb and bring forth a Son, and shall call His name Jesus."

The angel paused, discerning her qualms, soothing her spirit from the bounty of his own. "He shall be great and shall be called the Son of the Highest. . . . Of His kingdom there shall be no end."

The girl, uncovering her face, looked up imploringly. "How shall this be, seeing I know not man?" Gabriel explained softly, "The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee, and the power of the Highest shall overshadow thee. Therefore, the Child to be born will be called holy, the Son of God."

It seemed a normal sort of transmutation to Gabriel, accustomed to full spiritual correspondence and interchange. What was unusual was the entry of God into man, bodily. He realized that the phenomenon was strange to individually isolated human beings. "With God," he said, "nothing shall be impossible."

The girl bowed her head. "Behold the handmaid of the Lord. Be it unto me according to thy word."

Pro-Integration Action Cited In Prof's Dismissal

DENTON (AP)—English professor Jesse Ritter Jr. reports he has been told his North Texas State University contract would not be renewed in June. He said he was warned to discontinue activities with student integration groups "or be summarily dismissed."

He said two other professors were given the same warning but those men would not comment. Dr. J. C. Matthews, president of NTSU, said of Ritter: "He has had a verbal message that he will not be invited back next year but he has received nothing in writing."

Matthews said the message was given "for a number of reasons." Ritter defended his actions with student integration groups, saying he and the other two professors attended a number of student meetings and "restrained several of the more 'hot-headed' students. But I guess this has been overlooked."

At present a moratorium on stand-ins by students has been declared because, according to Ritter, Dr. Matthews "promised to do something about integration."

North Texas has about 300 Negro students — one of the largest integrated student bodies in Texas.

Matthews said the last stand-ins by students took place last Thursday but had stopped not because the administration told the students to stop but because he had told the student leaders the situation "could become explosive because outsiders are involved in it."

Moss Hart Dead At 57

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Playwright Moss Hart, a child of poverty who could have written nothing more remarkable than his own success story, is dead of a heart attack.

Hart, whose genius brought him from the gloom of New York's slums to the glamor of its Great White Way, collapsed Wednesday at his winter home in this desert resort.

Hart, 57, had been suffering pain in his jaw and was going to see his dentist. "Mr. Hart was walking to his car when he fell straight back," said his agent, Irving Lazar. "He was taken to the house and the doctor came to give artificial respiration and an injection. But Mr. Hart didn't respond."

His death came only six months after that of George S. Kaufman, with whom he collaborated on such classic theater comedies as "The Man Who Came to Dinner" and the Pulitzer Prize-winning "You Can't Take It With You." Hart also was a director of such Broadway musical successes as "Camelot" and "My Fair Lady," both still running—the latter since 1956.

It Was Real

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Postal clerks noticed a batch of 40 Christmas cards, each bearing a 50-cent stamp. Postmaster Richard D. Eddy checked with the woman named in the return address. It was no mistake, she informed him. She had some of the 50-cent stamps on hand and wanted to dress up her cards.

Show Stopper

PARIS (AP)—The show at the Casino de Paris Wednesday night was terrific—for the guys outside. A fire broke out in the rigging backstage and the girls fled to the street in their scanty stage attire. Firemen reported the flames under control 90 minutes later.

Debate Shelved

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U. N. Political Committee has shelved debate on Cuba's charge that the United States is planning military aggression against Fidel Castro's regime. Committee Chairman Mario Amadeo of Argentina proposed that debate not take place because of lack of time as a result of the Christmas recess. There was no objection.

Secretarial Workers Finish Special Terminology Study

Nineteen secretarial workers completed a course in medical terminology last week at the Veterans Administration Hospital, according to V. J. Belda, director. The course is a regular part of training for VA Hospital secretaries, Belda said, and for the first time the course was offered to the general public. It is especially useful to persons who must take dictation, write medical reports or prepare correspondence which involves the use of highly specialized medical terminology.

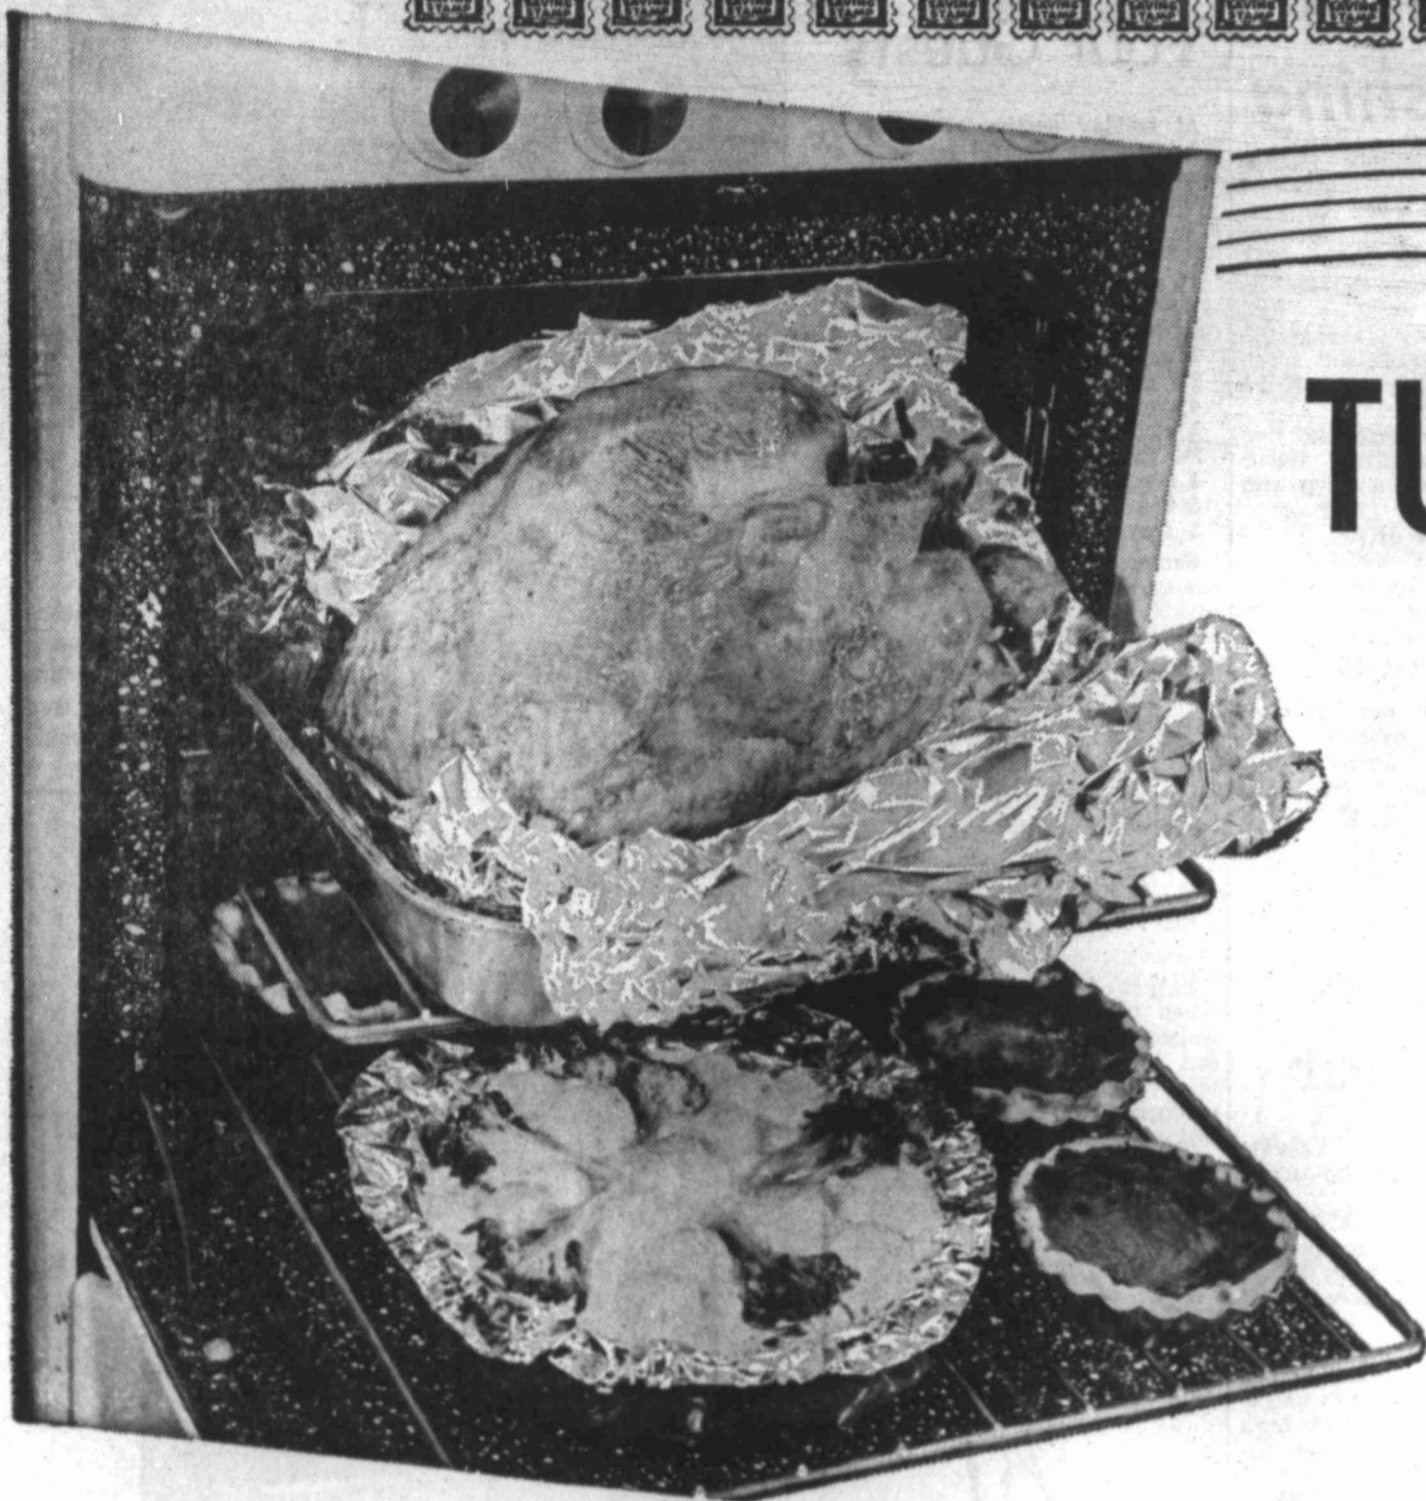

It included words and terms used frequently by members of the medical profession, a tour of laboratory facilities, films, and lectures by doctors on the various parts of the human anatomy. Mrs. Fred Pace taught the eight-day course. Comments by students indicate that they might prefer a longer course and this may be established for the future if found necessary, she said.

Receiving certificates of achievement for having completed the course were Mrs. Dorothy Henderson, Mrs. Arlene Huntziker, Mrs. Barbara Hines, Mrs. Leta Metcalf, Mrs. Altie Hooser, Mrs. La Homa O'Brien, Mrs. Dorothy Smith, Mrs. Mona Hush, Mrs. Billie Mize, Mrs. Margaret Lawhon and Mrs. Dorothy Oakes, all personnel at the VA Hospital.

DEAR ABBY
Better Hire Someone Else

DEAR ABBY: I have tried laughing, weeping, cursing and going home to mother, but I can't get my husband to finish the marble-topped coffee table he started three years ago. It's true, he has never finished anything he started, so I suppose I should be accustomed to it, but after 15 years this is ONE thing I want him to finish.

It is a lovely green marble which he bought in Spain, and would be perfect in our living room. He has the necessary tools, materials, ability and time.

If you print this, go ahead and use my real name. We have Air Force friends scattered over three continents who will know exactly who he is anyway. Hopefully.

STEVE'S MAGGIE

DEAR MAGGIE: Chip away at him, Honey. If it isn't finished by the first of the year, hire someone to do it.

DEAR ABBY: Tonight my love affair ended. I've read your column with mixed feelings because I know what it is to hunger for someone who can't be legally yours. I have something to pass on to those unfortunate mixed-up people (that's what we are) who try changing jobs or moving away but somehow always find a way to get together again.

I have a devoted husband, wonderful children and a full life. So why did I get myself into a situation which could destroy all this? I don't know the answer, and I don't think anyone does.

I am not a religious person, Abby, but I prayed to God to help me WANT to end this thing. And, while praying, I really didn't want anything to change.

Tonight I sit here in amazement and I can't explain it. God must have worked the ending through my lover. I saw him today at our little meeting place. It became obvious to both of us that the desire for each other was gone. I suddenly feel differently about him. He is just "another man" when for so long he was "everything."

He took me back to my car and we hardly said goodbye. On the way home I knew I had to talk this over with someone so, Abby, you filled a real need for me. I think I got this out of my system for good. Tell others in the same situation that when friends, ministers and psychiatrists can't help, try prayer and be patient.

Thanks, Abby, for letting me tell you this. I'm signing my real name but please don't use it.

Sincerely,
MRS.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is in her early teens. Several years ago her Daddy died on her birthday. I have wanted to give her a nice birthday party every year, but because it is also the anniversary of her Daddy's death, it spoils the day for all of us. Some say she should have no birthday party at all. Others say to pick another "birthday." If anyone else has had this problem I wish they could tell me how they solved it.

DEAR NO: Your daughter shouldn't have a party on the anniversary of her father's death. But there is no reason why she

Mexicans Protest River Saltation

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Senate has agreed to ask "firmer action" by the government on charges the United States is allowing the Colorado River's salt content to rise so much that crops are being destroyed in the valley of Mexicali. Sen. Gustavo Almada of Lower California said 43,000 hectares of wheat have gone to waste.

MEXICALI, Mex. (AP)—Up to 500 persons are demonstrating in front of the U.S. consulate here night and day in protest over the salt content of the Colorado River, police report. Most are farm laborers who are being told of the alleged dangers of the salt content by men with loudspeakers.

Publisher Claims Taxation Censorship

LONGVIEW (AP)—A sneak attack on freedom of the press "threatens to nullify the nation's productive processes and reverse the technological advances of industrial research," says Millard Cope, publisher of the Marshall News Messenger.

Cope, past president of the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association, will sound the warning in the January issue of East Texas magazine, official publication of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Saying no politician would be so bold as to attack the constitutional safeguard of free speech, Cope declared that hostile bureaucrats in Washington are trying to achieve the same end through burdensome taxes and restrictive legislation. This, he says, is "censorship by taxation."

He calls attention to a ruling by the Internal Revenue Service which holds that expenses for engaging in matters of public controversy, even if the controversy threatens the life of a business, is not deductible as a business expense.

"The Internal Revenue Service, sitting both as judge and jury, has determined which advertisements of privately-owned power companies are a business expense," he writes.

"Advertising, as a means of informing the public, is held not to be a legitimate expense when these companies defend free enterprise, seek to preserve their own life and oppose the wholesale issue of tax funds to competitors who pay no taxes.

"These segments of private enterprise, in effect, are denied the right to defend themselves. By taxation, they are forcibly prohibited from telling the public that continued expansion of tax-supported transmission systems will enable more users to obtain power at subsidized rates, gradually forcing investor-owned utilities out of business."

The Internal Revenue Service is not the only offender, Cope said. "Other government agencies and bureaus adopting such restrictive measures that have the force of law," he writes, "include the Veterans Administration, Department of Interior, Interstate Commerce Commission, Federal Trade Commission, Immigration and Naturalization Service, Post

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., Dec. 21, 1961 11-B

Office Department, Tax Court and Department of Agriculture.

"In this Washington witch hunt, advertising has become the whipping boy, and the example trickles down to state and local levels where efforts pyramid to tax, restrict and control advertising."

"Under the guise of social improvement these paternalistic bureaus assume the prerogatives of all branches of government—executive, in carrying out decisions; legislative, in making rules to their own liking; and judicial, in interpreting their self-made regulations."

Cope deals briefly with legislation advocated by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., who has recommended that all drug companies be required to use only the generic names of drugs in promotion, striking out brand names.

"Thus the Tennessean would eliminate all drug advertising at one broad stroke, brand identification having been eliminated," Cope writes.

The Marshall publisher reports that Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., is seeking congressional action to relieve American business of the muzzle imposed by bureaus. Boggs' measure has won committee approval.

Co-Op's Sales Reported Up

Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, Inc. has exceeded last year's record of power sales, the November operating statistics reveal.

Sales of power amounted to 2,669,296 kilowatt hours in November, which boosted the year's aggregate to 50,305,398. This is well ahead of the 46,550,239 for the first 11 months of 1960 and is substantially over the 48,076,327 purchased in all of 1960.

November sales compared with 2,082,824 in November of last year. The system purchased 3,380,290 KWH in November, considerably above the 2,504,600 for November of 1960. Purchases for the 11-month period amounted to 55,983,835 as compared with 53,838,270 in the same time last year.

At the end of November, there were 2,271 miles of line energized in the Cap Rock system, a gain of three for the month. There were 4,856 members connected, also a gain of three.

Widow Admits Poison Death

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Detectives say a widow has admitted poisoning her sister and brother-in-law but said she regretted their deaths were "so slow and painful."

Officers filed murder charges against Eunice Beynon, 63. She was held without bond.

Mrs. Beynon's brother-in-law, Frank Pahman, 68, an insurance man, died Nov. 20. His wife died nine days later.

Capt. R. A. Benfer said Mrs. Beynon signed a statement admitting she put rat poison in jars of water kept in the refrigerator at the Pahman home, where Mrs. Beynon also lived.

She said her sister had been opening her mail and eavesdropping on her telephone calls.

Clear And Cool Weather Prevails

By The Associated Press

Clear and cool weather prevailed over most of Texas again Thursday.

The only clouds were around San Antonio and along the south half of the Texas coast, where the overcast kept temperatures mild.

Readings were down to freezing or a little below at some points in West Texas.

Before dawn Dalhart and Lubbock recorded 28 degrees. Childress and Wichita Falls 30, El Paso 31 and Junction 32. Temperatures elsewhere ranged up to 56 at McAllen.

Forecasts called for clear to partly cloudy skies and slightly warmer weather throughout the state during the day, and somewhat cooler temperature in the Texas Panhandle overnight.

Supporters, Opponents At Trinity River Hearing

FORT WORTH (AP)—Proposals to make the Trinity River navigable drew expressions of support and opposition at a six-hour hearing Wednesday.

The U.S. Corps of Engineers, which has drawn plans for a $712 million development program in the river basin, heard spokesmen for numerous interests testify.

About 1,400 persons attended the six-hour hearing. Maj. Gen. Robert Fleming Jr. of Dallas, Southwestern division engineer, said the size of the crowd far exceeded any he and others could recall at a watershed conference. The engineers had expected no more than 400.

Farmers, government representatives and other businessmen joined Fort Worth and Dallas industrial leaders in hailing the project as one giving promise of economic upsurge throughout the Trinity River Valley and neighboring areas. They particularly applauded the barge canal plan.

Speaking against the transportation phase were representatives of railroads and of three cities in the Texas Panhandle-Plains—Amarillo, Childress and Lubbock. Spokesmen said cheap water shipping rates could compound economic woes of the railroads.

To assure time for all witnesses, Col. R. P. West, the Fort Worth district engineer, kept the hearing in session without a luncheon break from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

"There's one thing we know for sure now—there's plenty of interest in this project," West said.

Business executives from Dallas speaking for the Trinity plan included Presidents E. B. Germany of Lone Star Steel Co., Lester T. Potter of Lone Star Gas Co., L. H. True of Magnolia Pipeline Co. and W. W. Lynch of the Texas Power & Light Co.

Appearing for the railroads were Gilbert Smith, special counsel, and Walter Caven, general counsel, both of Austin, and B. V. Reynolds of Dallas, traffic research director, all on the Texas Railroad Association's staff.

Other statements opposing the waterway came from Robert Reedy of Lubbock, Jeff Henderson of Childress and James Eubanks of Amarillo. Each appeared for his city's chamber of commerce. While Trinity navigation would mean lower shipping rates for Fort Worth, Dallas and other basin points, they said it also would increase competition with their cities for new business.

At the outset, Mayors John Justin of Fort Worth and Earle Cabell of Dallas spoke with unreserved favor for the comprehensive program.

"Let me emphasize at this point," Cabell also said, "that Dallas strongly supports the contention of Fort Worth that the terminating point of the navigation channel should be in Fort Worth. We are pleased to see that this point is contained in your tentative recommendations."
