An Opportunity

In the Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch Fund Campaign, now underway in 15 West Texas counties, citizens have an opportunity to do something for the youngsters who in the years to come will be leaders in this territory.

These youths will carry on what we have started. Our futures will be in their hands. So, as has been said, it is well to pay some attention to them.

Leaders in Scouting claim the council, which embraces Boy Scout activities from Pecos to Sweetwater, including Midland, needs a rugged outdoor area for camp life. They assert Scouting essentially is dependent on an out-of-doors program. The ideals of Scouting have been proclaimed for years. Participating in this program by boys is entirely voluntary.

So it must have an appeal to the boy and also an appeal to leaders of boys. The out-of-doors provides a beautiful, invigorating, rugged and challenging appeal and the Scout movement's entire strength rests on this appeal.

Midlanders and West Texans have been generous to Scouting. They have given funds and time to the movement. But for some reason, especially in recent years, it has lacked the sparkle of outstanding success. Something has been lacking. No one can challenge the principles of Scouting.

Men have been busy. Many claim they have not had sufficient time to devote to the Scout program. True, they have been busy—busy in their professions and occupations. But regardless of material things, America and West Texas must not neglect the boys and girls.

Studies have been made and many citizens have given thorough consideration to the problems encountered by Scouting in this area.

The result is the Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch Fund Campaign. To purchase and properly develop this ranch of 6,000 acres in the Davis Mountains, 65 miles Southwest of Pecos and 24 miles from Balmorhea, $200,000 is asked. Scouting experts have approved the plan and are active in the campaign.

Citizens of the 15 counties served by the Buffalo Trail Council have been asked to provide the $200,000. The drive is on. Campaign leaders have been appointed and are at work.

Midland again is called on to lead the way as it has in worthwhile undertakings in this area for many years. It is the capital of this vast empire. Our neighbors look to us for leadership. They want to know what Midlanders are doing.

To assure the success of this campaign, leaders in Scouting are making their gifts first.

Our area has abundant natural resources which provide security and contentment. But a greater opportunity for development is provided by the youth of this area. An investment in youth pays untold dividends. Self-reliance and unselfish service are the keynotes of Scouting. They are an asset to any boy.

Boys who live by the Scout oath become real assets in West Texas.

Roof Garden On White House Proposed Instead Of Balcony

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Whoopie! Building of a roof garden on top of the White House, instead of that balcony on the south portico, has been proposed in all seriousness by Harold R. Sleeper, president of the New York chapter of the American Institute of Architects. "For relaxation and comfort far from the public gaze," says Sleeper, "a roof garden, invisible except from the sky, would furnish all the amenities. Such a device would leave unaltered those important elements which constitute the integrity of the building." This is the payoff of the whole balcony dispute. It is also nuts. The roof would be too hot for daytime occupancy. Washington Summers being what they are, so it would have to be a night spot. Names that might be applied to it are suggested by Sleeper's own remarks. Above it would never do to call it just "Harry's Place." So call it, "Club Amenities and Integrity." Sounds French. The decor should not include any of this "ham and egg art" the President has paid his respects to. There would be a piano, of course, and a stock ticker in the men's lounge, so Dr. Graham, Ed Pauley and other big shot guests could keep abreast of the market between floor shows. There should be a real slick dance floor, with a connecting chute to the ground floor. This would be for facilitating the exit of Marriner Eccles, James M. Landis, Henry Wallace and other unwanted characters, when given the bounce. Staffing the spot should be no extra burden on the taxpayers. For entertainment and comedy numbers, what more fun could you ask for than that very model of a modern major general, Harry Vaughan. Anyone who has never seen the general put his foot in his mouth has really never laughed. In favoring the roof garden over the balcony, architect Sleeper says that Thomas Jefferson himself designed the south portico and that's why it shouldn't be changed. What old Tom would think about a roof garden, the office ouija board doesn't record. Sleeper may also be a little confused about the Washington skyline. The White House roof isn't as "invisible except from the sky" as he thinks. The Treasury and Old State building upper floors look down on the White House roof. And, on clear nights, it might be seen from the Hay Adams Hotel top stories, or the hot pool competition on the Washington and Roger Smith roofs. The great fuss kicked up by President Truman's proposal to build the second-story balcony—culminating with this crazy roof garden idea—entirely overlooked the real reasons for its need. The general idea that the White House should be kept as the President's private residence is a good one in theory, but it isn't even approached in practice.

Dallas Plumber Survives 13,000 Volts

DALLAS —(AP)—Thirteen thousand volts of electricity "sure hits hard," exclaimed Glennis Clardy. The 33-year-old Dallas plumber received the terrific shock Thursday while working on a water tower, 100 feet above the Southern Methodist University campus. His physician late Thursday night said he was in a "much better condition" than when first taken to the hospital. Clardy was standing on a narrow catwalk, lowering a steel measuring tape to a worker on the ground. A gust of wind whipped the tape against a 13,000 volt power line. Two policemen made a rope saddle and lowered Clardy to the ground after the shock. Clardy was treated for deep burns on his hands, legs and chest.

Church in the Hills

The little frame church in this snow-blanketed mountain village lifts its tall spire above its rugged environment like a sentinel guarding a sacred trust or a lighthouse on a rockbound coast.

Wherever man has pushed his habitations—in the bleak wastes of the polar regions, under the blazing tropical sun, or in the milder climates of the world—he has built his churches dedicated to the worship of God.

The fact that no community seems complete without its house of worship bears eloquent testimony to the universal recognition of man's need of religion.

The village church plays a vital part in the life of the community. The spiritual standards of the people are fashioned there; marriage vows are spoken at its altar, and the honored dead sleep in its sacred soil.

There it stands in every community—the little frame church—pointing the people to God, teaching them the way of life, giving them strength and faith for every need.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For the sake of his children's sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
