Vandenberg Asks Speedy Action On Aid Plan

Democratic Heads Use Wallace 'Decoy'

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON—(P)—The Truman Administration tried Monday to deflect some of the heat of the Southern Democratic revolt by turning new fire on Henry Wallace's Third Party.

This strategy, as outlined by a party official who asked not too be named publicly, is to try to minimize intra-party differences over the President's civil rights program.

Many of the Southerners are as opposed to Wallace and what he stands for as they are to Truman's racial views. Thus on the Wallace score, at least, they think alike with the national Democratic organization leaders.

Senator McGrath of Rhode Island, the Democratic national chairman, sounded the new Administration note in a weekend speech at Indianapolis. He said "a third party has as much place in American politics as does a third party on a honeymoon."

McGrath added that if Wallace goes on with his campaign, he and his supporters "will rather waste their votes or xxx give aid and comfort to reactionary candidates."

McGrath did not mention the President's civil rights program specifically.

Administration supporters thought for a time they had a potent Southern ally in their new party strategy.

That was because Senator Connally of Texas also aimed his main fire at Wallace and steered clear of the civil rights issue in the formal address he prepared for a Jefferson-Jackson day dinner at Raleigh, N. C.

But Connally, one of the few Southerners who didn't boycott the party dinner here last month which Truman addressed, apparently changed his mind on the way.

He departed from his advance text to take strong issue with the President's call for anti-lynch, anti-poll tax and anti-job discrimination laws.

Declaring that Truman's civil rights program threatens a lynch of the constitution, the Texas senator added: "We shall resist it. We shall not take it lying down."

Visitors Attend Opening

A steady stream of visitors from Midland and other points of the nation called at The Reporter-Telegram's new building during open house hours Sunday afternoon to view and inspect the new plant and equipment of the newspaper.

The attendance was estimated at more than 2,500.

Members of The Reporter-Telegram staff explained the operation and functions of the various departments and their equipment.

The new 18-page tubular press and the Linotype machines attracted considerable attention.

Flowers sent by scores of friends of the newspaper were displayed throughout the building, and were admired by the visitors. Many congratulatory messages were received.

Opening delayed by rain.

The Reporter-Telegram occupied its new quarters at 221 North Main Street late in January, but the (Continued on page 7)

ERP Called Way To Stop World War III

WASHINGTON—(P)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) urged the Senate Monday to "light the beacon" of economic aid to Europe before "aggressive Communism" knocks on the New World's door and threatens its freedom.

Beginning debate on the $5,300,000,000 Marshall Aid Plan, the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee told his colleagues:

"This act may well become a welcome beacon in the world's dark night. But if that beacon is to be lighted at all, it had better be lighted before it is too late."

Across the capitol, the House Foreign Affairs Committee decided it will wrap foreign aid for Europe, China, Greece and Turkey into "a single package."

With about 50 senators listening intently, Vandenberg asked that Congress "help stop World War III before it starts" by approving the European Recovery Program.

Denouncing "treacherous Moscow propaganda" that has "charged us with iniquitous American imperialism," Vandenberg said the 16 Western European nations must be saved from economic chaos.

"This vast, friendly segment of the East must not collapse," he said in a prepared address.

The Communist Conformism, the Michigan senator said, is frankly calling on it adherents to wreck the Marshall Plan.

Yet Vandenberg said there is nothing in the proposal to help Western Europe economically that "threatens the Soviet police empire with any sort of consequence which she does not herself choose voluntarily to invite."

Peace With Justice

"Peace with justice is our utterly paramount concern," he declared. "Any thought of another war is abhorrent to our soul."

Yet Vandenberg took the floor there were indications that the Senate will approve the recovery program in about the form voted by the Foreign Relations Committee—after 10 days or two weeks debate.

Vandenberg said he has no quarrel with those who disagree with the plan to make American funds available over a 52-month period to aid European nations to rebuild.

"But I am bound to say to those who disagree that they have not escaped to safety by rejecting the plan," he said. "They have simply fled to other risks and, I fear, far greater ones."

The plan, he said, "strives to help stop World War III before it starts."

Some members, including Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Republican Policy Committee, have said they will vote to cut the $5,300,000,000 limitation on aid spending for the 12 months beginning April 1.

Defending this amount, Vandenberg said it is better to "start with figures which enjoy the preponderance of supporting evidence rather than to arbitrarily slice off what might be the difference between success and still-born failure."

He noted that Congress will be called upon to review the whole program next January. That is not too long, he said, "to wait for the accounting with so much at stake."

Demos Lash At House Tax-Cut Bill

WASHINGTON—(P)—House Budget Director James E. Webb urged Monday that Congress look at the "hard fact of international life" when deciding about cutting income taxes.

"Those 'hard facts,' he said, do not give much hope for big cuts in government spending in the next two years.

Webb testified before the Senate Finance Committee, which is considering the House-passed bill to cut income taxes $6,500,000,000 this year.

Before Webb took the committee's witness chair, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder and stiffly opposed the House bill.

Snyder said that instead of passing it, Congress should adopt President Truman's plan for a 40 "cost of living" tax credit for everyone.

Fairer To Everyone

He said Truman's plan is fairer to everyone and would mean no increase in the government's budget because higher taxes on corporations would make up the difference.

Referring throughout his statement to the House bill by its number—HR 4790—Snyder's statement said:

"HR 4790 would exempt $300,000 from income taxation in comparison with the 10,000,000 exempted under the President's program."

"Moreover, 13,000,000 additional taxpayers with the lowest incomes would receive more tax reduction under the President's program than under HR 4790."

The full Senate plans to start debating the question about mid-month.

A check among the seven Republicans and six Democrats on the committee indicate they'll recommend holding the tax increase at $1,500,000,000 less than the House voted.

Train Bombing By Jewish Gang Kills 27 Soldiers

JERUSALEM—(P)—The Stern Gang said Monday it set the triple blast which wrecked the railroad sleepers Sunday, killing 27 British troops and injuring 33.

"This is our answer for last Sunday's Ben Yehuda Street crime," the Jewish underground group declared. It referred to the Jerusalem bombing which killed 54 Jews, February 22.

Haganah, Jewish militia, said it had "unconfirmed reports" that British troops had arrested 24 Jews at Mikve Israel, near Tel Aviv, and had turned them over to an Arab mob as retaliation for the train attack.

Fourth Mine Is 'Dud'

Lt. Gen. G. H. A. MacMillan, commander of British forces in Palestine, said three mines shattered the wooden troop cars southeast of Tel Aviv. They were jammed with soldiers returning from leave in Cairo.

MacMillan said a fourth mine failed to go off. Had it exploded, he said, the toll might have been 80 or more.

Sappers who dismantled the dud said it contained 100 pounds of explosive and was connected by a 40-yard wire to an electric plug.

Czech Cabinet Talks New Farm, Worker Subsidies

PRAGUE—(P)—Czechoslovakia's new Communist cabinet, Viado Clementis, under secretary of state for foreign affairs, told a Communist youth audience Sunday the foreign press "has started a campaign against us."

He said it was the worst since that of Paul Joseph Goebbels, Hitler's propaganda minister.

Communist Premier Klement Gottwald, addressing a farmers' rally, promised up to 120 acres for each of those working the land. He urged the output of more food to help workers fulfill an industrial two-year plan.

Julius Duris, minister of agriculture, laid down a broad farm aid program of land, loans and subsidies to be accomplished by Independence Day. Land taken from churches, he said, will be paid for.

He spoke to farmers in Wenceslas Square. The Communist-controlled government radio had predicted Saturday that 120,000 farmers would take part in the rally. Less than a quarter of that number did.

Gottwald told the farmers Czechoslovakia would not institute Russia's plan of collective farms, known as kolkhozes.

Truman Dodges On 'Jackpot' Question

KEY WEST, FLA.—(P)—President Truman refused to discuss his own candidacy and attributed to 1948 politics Monday the failure to get speedier settlement of foreign and domestic problems.

Speaking in a palm-shaded yard of this submarine base where he is vacationing, the Chief Executive gravely declined to talk about Soviet pressure on Czechoslovakia and Finland or the continued disorders in Palestine.

He did say he had been in daily communication with Secretary of State Marshall through the State Department, but he said he could not answer in each case when reporters asked:

"Did he think the time has come to form a military alliance in Western Europe?"

"Were there any conditions under which United States troops might be sent to Palestine?"

Truman said he had been too busy with affairs at home and abroad to do any thing about his own candidacy when reporters asked the "jackpot question" whether he was running for reelection.

He would not talk about the threats of revolt by Democrats in the South, and even called Virginia Gov. William M. Tucker's proposal to keep his and other names off the ballot in that state a return to the old constitutional approach in selection of delegates.

"The President said flatly the Russians have made no overtures looking to a meeting with Premier Stalin in Stockholm or anywhere else."

He has not changed his position that if there is to be another "Big Three" meeting, it must be in Washington.

March Howls In With Dust, Hail, Floods, Thunder

By The Associated Press

March howled into Texas Monday with a display of floods, thunderstorms, lightning, hail and dust storms.

The floods were on the Trinity, the thunderstorms in all Texas except the far West and the coast, and the dust storms in West Texas.

Lightning put a radio tower out of commission in Dallas and hail was reported in the Garland and Gainesville areas.

At noon dust storms were reported in the Wink, Midland, Big Spring, Abilene and Lubbock areas, with visibility at Lubbock cut to two miles.

Strong winds were reported throughout West Texas with El Paso reporting a 42-mile-per-hour wind with gusts up to 51 miles per hour.

The Upper Trinity River continued above flood stage Monday with prospects of still more rain in the watershed.

The Dallas Weather Bureau said that if Monday's rains were heavy, "a very serious condition" would take place along the stream.

Thunderstorms developed Monday morning in the Big Spring area and were expected to move from West to East over most of Texas east of that section.

The thunderstorms were expected to be followed by slowly clearing skies.

Communication lines over a large section of the state were affected by the weather. The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company reported several interruptions on some of its lines because of static electricity.

Somewhat cooler weather was expected for Texas Monday night.

Baptists Vote To Relocate Property

Members of the First Baptist Church, at a membership meeting Sunday, voted to re-locate the church property and building, and to purchase a location for a new church on West Illinois Street east of the Midland Memorial Hospital property. Members also voted to sell the present property at the corner of Main and Illinois Streets after a firm sale price has been obtained and brought back to the membership for a final decision.

The educational building will be sold first.

The vote was about four to one in favor of re-locating the church property.

Ballois last week were sent to church members for use in case they could not be present to cast ballots in person at the Sunday meeting.

Signs Point To Signing Of Pact By Finns-Russia

HELSINKI—(P)—Discussions began within the Finnish government Monday on Prime Minister Stalin's proposal for a Finnish-Russian treaty of friendship and mutual assistance.

President Juho Paasikivi, it was learned, will be told Wednesday of the final decisions of major political parties on the idea, which is expected to be submitted to Parliament. The government's official statement on the subject is not expected before Wednesday night.

Well-informed sources said the president is in favor of signing such a treaty.

Press and radio here published Sunday the text of Stalin's letter to Paasikivi, dated February 22 and closing, "with deep respect."

Well informed sources said now that the letter is published, getting the pact has become a point of prestige for the Soviet Union. They said they believe President Paasikivi feels that to turn down the Soviet bid would aggravate Russian-Finnish relations to a dangerous degree. To accept it could mean Finland might get the favorable conditions as possible toward keeping national independence.

Three Shot When Sailor Tires Of Juke Box Melody

NEW YORK—(P)—Continual playing of the tune "Civilization" on the juke box in a Manhattan bar early Monday led to the shooting of three persons.

The victims, police said, were red-haired Josephine Ostoloco, 20, who had fed nickels for the same song for an hour; a seaman who objected and the bartender, Nemesis Callesen, 47.

Police said Filipe Torres, 30 the sailor, shot the woman and then the bartender when the latter tried to pick her up from the floor. Torres later was wounded and seized in a gun duel with police on a subway platform.

Bullets flew when the woman changed a $1 bill at the bar and walked toward the juke box after she had played "Civilization" over and over again.

The victims were reported in serious condition at Roosevelt Hospital.

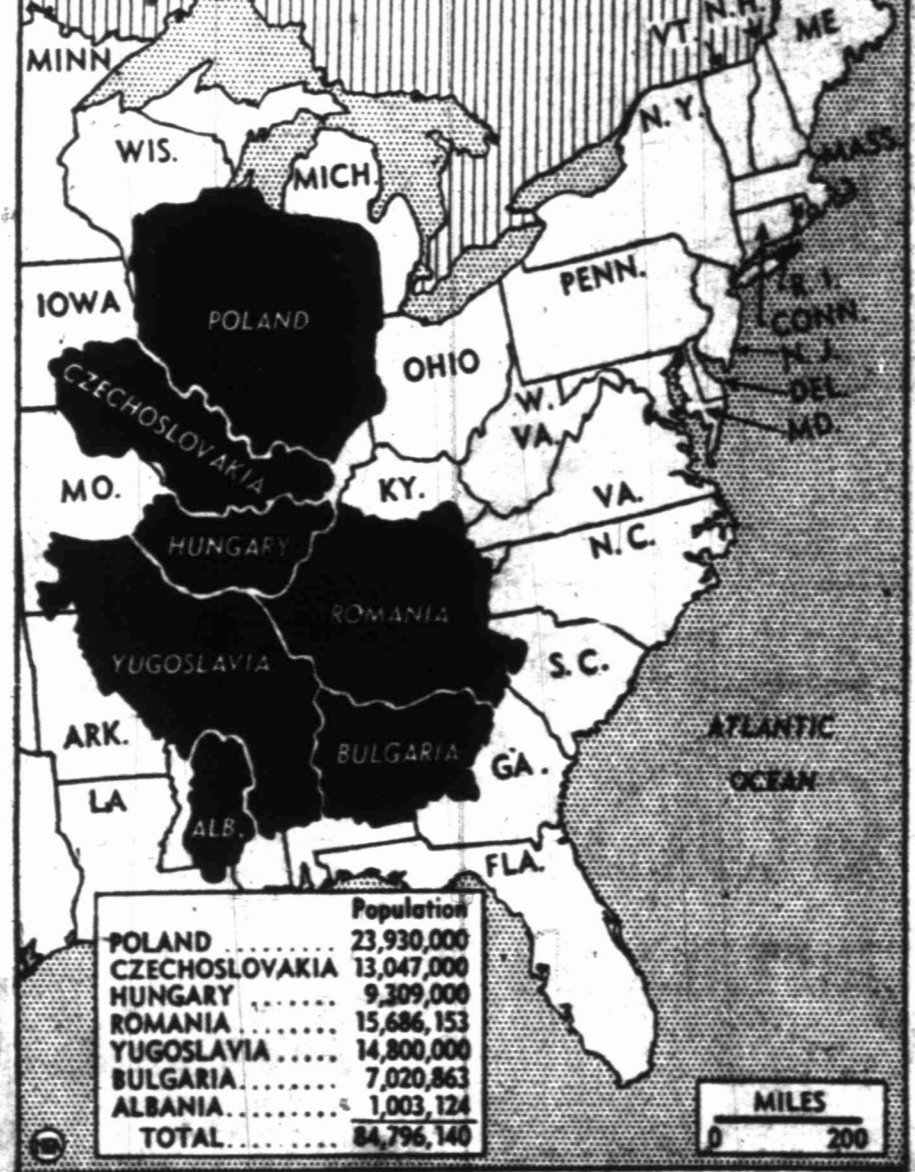

Dallas Child Dies Of Crash Injuries

DALLAS—(P)—Johnny W. Schwab Jr., eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Schwab, Dallas County, died Monday of injuries suffered Friday when he and three other children were struck by a hit-and-run driver.

The children were hit by a light truck as they walked along a highway three miles north of Dallas. An Oklahoma City nurseryman was arrested and charged with driving while intoxicated and failure to stop and render aid. He was released on $2,500 bond.

Private U. S. Loans To Franco Rumored

LONDON—(P)—Spanish Republican sources declared Monday United States policy is being revised to permit private loans to Generalissimo Franco's anti-Communist government of Spain, who are opponents of Franco, declined to be quoted by name.

They said their information was that a banking mission would leave Spain within two weeks to arrange $500,000,000 loan from private United States banks. The reported change in the official attitude of the United States was attributed to a fear that, without help, the Franco government might fall and open the way for a pro-Communist regime.

DiMaggio Aims At Williams' Batting Crown

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA. — (AP) — Joe DiMaggio has served notice on Ted Williams that he is out to wrest the American League's batting championship from the slugging outfielder of the Boston Red Sox.

The star centerfielder of the New York Yankees, who nooded out Williams for the league's most valuable player award last year, says he thinks a 350 percentage can do the trick. At least that is the figure he has set his sights on for 1948.

"I'm really looking forward to a fine year, one of my best," said DiMaggio Sunday. At one time or another Joe has led the league in batting, runs batted in, home runs, triples, hits and runs scored.

"I feel as good right now as I ever have at the start of Spring training in all my years with the Yankees," he said. "My arms and legs are in great shape. My weight is okay. I'm just itching to get a bat in my hands."

Senator Morse Urges ERP

Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon has taken issue with some of his Republican colleagues by advocating a European Recovery Program with no economic or political strings attached. There is a lot of sound sense in his stand.

The idea persists in some congressional minds that we should not permit the use of ERP funds in nationalized industries. If such an amendment is tacked onto any ERP bill, Morse thinks that we will be pleading guilty to Communist propaganda about the program's objectives.

The original suggestion on this subject was that American money should not be used for the purpose of nationalizing industries now in private hands. But that is a long way from the idea of withholding aid from industries already nationalized, simply because we don't like socialism.

The first suggestion, we believe, is legitimate. Money meant for relief and speedy recovery should not be used for other purposes, unless it could be proved that the results will be the same. England's troubles with nationalization make it seem doubtful that such a guarantee could be given.

But to deny assistance to countries like Britain, France and Sweden, which have freely voted for semi-socialism, because we disapprove of their choice is to apply Russian methods.

The Soviet government aids and supports only those countries whose governments it approves and, in most cases, has hand-picked. It is the prime purpose of ERP to prevent a repetition of this practice in the remainder of Europe. ERP will not achieve that purpose by substituting imposed American concepts of government and economics for the imposed Russian variety, even though the American brand is superior.

If we insist that the object of our assistance must agree to private capitalism and specific freedoms as the price of help, we will be practicing the very thing that we preach against. We cannot set ourselves up as advocates of a system of government which assures its citizens a free choice of action, and then deny the citizens of another country that very choice.

Speaking of the whole European aid program, Senator Morse said, "We should go into this on a pure, hard, economic basis, not use our money to force on people convictions that they do not have."

The whole point of American policy toward Russia is that we can live in the same world with Russian communism, and live peacefully, so long as Russia does not force communism on other unwilling peoples. If we can do that—and in that lies the best hope of lasting peace—then surely we can live in the same world with modified socialism which has been chosen by free citizens.

If our way is superior, let us prove it by example, not ultimatum.

Consolation Prize

Quite a bit has been made of Harold Stassen's boldness in challenging Senator Taft in his home state, by entering the Republican popularity contest in Ohio's May primaries.

Well, Ohio is tied with Virginia for the honor of sending the most native sons to the White House. Maybe Stassen figures he can get enough delegates there to qualify at least as a stepson of the midwest Mothers of Presidents.

Between the political parties, we'll soon be learning how prosperous and how poor we are at the same time.

NLRB Pilots Plan To Settle Jurisdictional Union Disputes

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Most interesting development in the first six months' experience under the Taft-Hartley Labor Management Relations Act has been in the field of jurisdictional fights between unions. NLRB itself has taken no cases nor has it handed down any decisions in this field, though the law sets up very specific machinery for handling such disputes.

Whenever a jurisdictional dispute charge is made to NLRB its regional examiner is now required to investigate immediately. He must give all interested parties 10 days notice of intent to hold a hearing. If the dispute isn't settled in that time the hearing is held before an NLRB officer. The record is then forwarded to Washington without recommendation. The board is thereupon required to issue an order settling the dispute, awarding the work to whichever union the board believes entitled to have it.

If unions and employers do not comply, a second hearing must be held before an NLRB trial examiner. The order resulting from this hearing is enforceable in Circuit Court of Appeals and an injunction may be issued to enforce compliance. Jurisdictional strikes are the cause of one of the oldest headaches in labor relations. Members of the NLRB and its general counsel would like to duck them if they could. They realize that they aren't technical experts qualified to make fair decisions in cases of who does what work. Board Chairman Herzog and General Counsel Denham, therefore, moved some months ago to see if they could not get jurisdictional fights settled before they become NLRB cases.

Most jurisdictional disputes occur in the construction industry between rival AFL craft unions. Denham and the board approached the trade associations of general and specialty contractors as employers, and the AFL Building Trades Council as representatives of the workmen. The government proposition was that these private groups set up their own machinery to handle such cases.

The results are promising. Draft of an agreement has been prepared to create a National Joint Board for the Settlement of Jurisdictional Disputes. It will come before the AFL hierarchy for final ratification on March 8. It should begin to function shortly after that date.

The plan calls for creation of an eight-member board of trustees. Four will represent the building trades unions, two the general contractors, two the specialty contractors. This board will then select an impartial chairman for the five-man National Joint Board.

NLRB itself has taken no cases nor has it handed down any decisions in this field, though the law sets up very specific machinery for handling such disputes.

Whenever a jurisdictional dispute charge is made to NLRB its regional examiner is now required to investigate immediately. He must give all interested parties 10 days notice of intent to hold a hearing. If the dispute is settled at that time the hearing is held before an NLRB officer. The record is then forwarded to Washington without recommendation. The board is thereupon required to issue an order settling the dispute, awarding the work to whichever union the board believes entitled to have it.

If unions and employers do not comply, a second hearing must be held before an NLRB trial examiner. The order resulting from this hearing is enforceable in Circuit Court of Appeals and injunction may be issued to enforce compliance. Jurisdictional strikes are the cause of one of the oldest headaches in labor relations. Members of the NLRB and its general counsel would like to duck them if they could. They realize that they aren't technically qualified to handle such decisions in cases of who does what work. Board Chairman Herzog and General Counsel Denham, therefore, moved some months ago to see if they could not get jurisdictional fights settled before they become NLRB cases.

Most jurisdictional disputes occur in the construction industry between rival AFL craft unions. Denham and the board approached the trade associations of general and specialty contractors as employers, and the AFL Building Trades Council as representatives of the workmen. The government proposition was that these private groups set up their own machinery to handle such cases.

The results are promising. Draft of an agreement has been prepared to create a National Joint Board for the Settlement of Jurisdictional Disputes. It will come before the AFL hierarchy for final ratification on March 8. It should begin to function shortly after that date.

The plan calls for creation of an eight-member board of trustees. Four will represent the building trades unions, two the general contractors, two the specialty contractors. This board will then select an impartial chairman for the five-man National Joint Board. When a jurisdictional dispute

The important point is that this agreement for self-regulation is being reached after more than 50 years of feud and fight in the construction industry. The loss to labor and management has been great and annoyance to the public has been greater. In that light, the new plan is a real achievement.

It is a victory for the Taft-Hartley Law. The mere presence of the law, with its tough jurisdictional strike bans, is enough to make bad actors on both sides get together.

There is a ready-made test for the new plan waiting in Hollywood, where AFL unions have been tied up in a bitter jurisdictional fight for nearly three years.

AS LONG AS I LIVE

THE STORY: Terror-stricken Ann Bancroft is convinced someone in her own household is trying to murder her and make it appear an accident. The household includes her husband, Rush, a bacteriologist; Gay, Rush's attractive young assistant; Laurie, Ann's headstrong 18-year-old sister; Tommy, Laurie's dancer and friend; Ann's old friend and houseguest, Ann has just narrowly escaped a kidnapping from the gay Breggins in her room during the night, thanks to Rinda. Next day she tries to get Rinda to tell her about it. But Rinda brags. Finally Rinda admits being awakened by an unusual noise and coming out into the hall to find Tommy sucking a bottle of whiskey to his room. Ann tells Rinda that she and Rush have worried about Laurie's marrying Tommy. She also tells her that, according to her father's will, she can control Laurie's money if she doesn't approve of Laurie's marriage.

"Well, how does he happen to be here? At Tophill?"

"That's a story of its own. He had a small apartment somewhere downtown but the landlord wanted it. I guess that's the only way people can be evicted these days. Tommy couldn't find a place to live. So you know Laurie, she just said, as casually as you'd offer someone a cigaret, why not come out to Tophill until you find something. It's a big house. Can't you hear her?" Ann smiled faintly. "So be come. Last January."

"JANUARY! Why—and do you mean he's not looked for anything since then? Never suggested leaving?"

"Well, of course Laurie and he keep busy. I don't think they've looked at all lately. Of course, it's Laurie's house, too, and it's big enough. That part doesn't matter. It's his—his—"

"Has it become an actual issue? Is Laurie trying to force your hand?"

"We haven't come to blows yet. Rush has talked to her and he has some influence, she listens to him. Of course, you see, she has a point: the will is unfair. It enrages her, naturally."

"It may work out," Rinda said. "Tommy may wake up some morning eaten up with ambition. They could be married and go to school—it's being done everywhere, you know."

"But if he isn't willing to show any inclination before he gets his hands on several hundred thousand dollars how do you think he'll act when he does? I've never noticed that suddenly getting a lot of money was any inducement to work."

"There aren't any strings at all! I mean, you just give them your blessing and it's all theirs? There isn't any middle course?"

"Not if they get married. If I don't approve I have to go on reand then she gets an allowance until she's thirty."

"It seems to me a will like that could be broken."

"That's what we thought. We'd have been glad if it could have been. I hate it."

"Well, then—"

"But I know what Dad had in mind. If I said yes go ahead, now, I'd feel as though I were letting him down."

RINDA opened her mouth and then closed it again. She drew her gloves on slowly, tugging each finger into proper position. And then she said, "There's another angle, Ann. Suppose I hadn't found you last night? What would have happened to the money?"

The porch floor tipped gently under Ann's chair. She held onto the arms of the chair to steady herself.

"I—"

"She swallowed hard and cleared her throat. Rinda said slowly: "Then it does make a difference?"

"Difference? What a difference! My death changes everything. My father had a mind of his own and he had no intention of letting the Forrester money get out of the family. If I should die—"

"Her voice was husky—"when I die everything goes to Laurie. Out-right. My share too."

"Good Lord! But why—"

"I have no children," Ann's voice was thin. "If I had children, they would inherit from me. But it doesn't stretch to husbands."

"You mean Rush would—"

"Oh, no. I didn't mean to say that, Ann. It's just that it seems so—so unfair."

"It is." She forced herself to smile at Rinda. She was shaking. "Don't let it upset you. We're all used to it. It's a family joke. Laurie and I each have plenty and if she insists upon marrying Tommy we'll give in gracefully. I truly wouldn't mind. Rinda, if they weren't so young and if it weren't for the drinking," She kept on talking, mousing words. She didn't dare let Rinda see how the error had taken full possession of her. Dear God! How could she have been so blind?

His four heart bid, leaving it up to South to decide whether the hand should be played at four hearts or four spades. Obviously they would have not, done well at no trump, especially if West opened a spade and East shifted to clubs.

On the opening lead of the queen of clubs dummy's king was played and West won. The deuce of clubs in dummy with the ace, then he led the ten-spot, and led the club jack, which Abramsohn ruffed. He ruffed with the nine-spot. He realized his only possible chance of making the contract was to establish the diamond suit, but he had to watch out for a possible four-two split.

So at this point he cashed the queen of diamonds and led the queen of hearts, overtaking in dummy with the ace. Then he led the four of diamonds and trumped in his own hand with the king of hearts. Thus he established his diamond suit.

To pick up trumps he led the deuce of hearts. East played the seven, and knowing it was the only way to make the hand, Abramsohn finessed the eight of hearts. When it held he led the jack, and all his diamonds were good. At the end he gave up the ace of spades.

One of the most popular of major tournaments is the Southeastern Regional Championships, held annually in Florida. It will be held again this year at Hollywood Beach Hotel April 10-13.

Phil Abramsohn of Hollywood, Fla., one of the outstanding Life Masters of the country, will defend the Southeastern men's pair title this year, which he holds with Don Farquharson of Canada. Abramsohn's name is engraved on practically every one of the Southeastern championship trophies. He is a great believer in percentages. Today's hand is typical of his style.

Sitting North, Abramsohn did not think his hand would be of much help to his partner at no trump. That was the reason for

Finland No Setup For Russian Coup, According To Best American Opinion

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Russia is expected to have a much more difficult time forcing Finland into the Eastern European Communist bloc than it had with Czechoslovakia.

American officials predict that the resistance of the Finns will be much greater than that of the Czechs. They say it may, in fact, succeed in preserving for Finland some elements of liberty.

There no longer is much disguising the fact that authorities here were privately shocked and distressed at the speed with which the Czechs gave in to Communist demands.

Reports now reaching the State Department tend somewhat to explain this. These are in line with press dispatches from Prague. They state that President Benes had few powers of resistance left when Communist Premier Klement Gottwald made his bid for a Communist-controlled government.

These authoritative accounts, on which American policy toward the new Czech government must largely be based, summed up the situation this way:

The Communists threatened and berated Benes with words of abuse. They pictured Czechoslovakia ripped with internal strife and stained with blood of political warfare. The Communists, moreover, had the power to cause such trouble if they wanted to, and Benes' own physical weakness, plus his knowledge that the situation was extremely dangerous, caused him to give in. The Communists thus came to power in a legal manner.

The case of Finland is considerably different.

The Finns have been through two wars with the Russians in the last 10 years, and such experiences are toughening as well as enlightening. Since the end of World War II, when they managed to turn against the Germans, the Finns have pursued toward Russia a policy of friendly caution and complete correctness. They came out of the war owing the Soviet Union $300,000,000 in reparations to be paid actually in goods. The greatest concern in the Finnish nation has been to meet those payments on schedule.

They run until 1952 and give Russia during that time virtually the power of life and death over the Finnish economy—but not, authorities insist—over the Finnish spirit.

The Finns are well aware they are trapped by geography. Equally they are aware they have certain legal and treaty rights. Perhaps most important of all, their Communist Party is a small minority of their voter strength, even though 51 of the 200 members of Parliament are Communists. The real power in the country has never fallen into Communist hands.

Inspiration Of Benes May Be Spark That Redeems Czechoslovak Republic

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Czechoslovakia's Democratic government is dead, a victim of aggressive Communism. For the second time in a single decade, her people are under the bondage of an autocratic dictatorship which denies God and arrogates unto itself the power of life and death.

However, while Democratic government is dead in ancient Prague, I am one of those who believe the spirit of Democracy still lives there. Having had long acquaintance with Czechoslovakia and her citizens, I haven't the slightest doubt that this spirit is strong in their fiercely independent hearts and needs only the right spark to set it in action once more.

So on the basis that where there is life there is no reason to despair.

friends of Czechoslovakia have reason to hope that some fortuitous circumstance will produce that spark.

Affection And Faith

And what will be the nature of the spark? Well, it strikes me that it may well be an intangible thing—an inspiration. It might, for instance, come from their deep affection for President Eduard Benes and their faith in the principles for which this wise old revolutionary risked his life to help build the republic.

Now I don't mean to suggest that this inspirational spark might be the result of direct action by Benes. He is in no position to take direct action. The inspiration will come from what he has done in days long past, rather than in what he may do now. But come it will, in due course.

McCamey School Bond Issue Is Approved

Crane News

CRANE — Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bowen have gone to Iran for a visit. They will return accompanied by their son, Eddie.

Mrs. H. F. Fortenberry and son, Charles, of Wichita Falls are visiting her mother, Mrs. J. H. Barnett, and sister, Mrs. J. R. Bell.

A son was born Thursday morning to Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Thompson.

Raymond Stephenson received burns Thursday morning when gasoline being used in cleaning at the Gulf Pipe Line station ignited. Treatment was administered at the Robinson hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Parker and children, Joyce and Dwayne, were recent visitors in O'Donnell in the home of Mrs. Parker's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Lovelace, Billie, and Charles, returned from Fort Worth Wednesday after a several days visit with relatives while Mrs. Lovelace went through a clinic.

Mrs. Clara Kolster of San Angelo has been added to the nursing staff at the Robinson hospital.

H. O. Waters was dismissed from the hospital Thursday.

Mrs. Dora Nunn and Mrs. Bill Owens went to Lubbock Wednesday.

Without Benes we never would have had the republic.

In 1914 he joined in a political conspiracy against the Austro-Hungarian government. When World War I started, Masaryk went to Switzerland to carry on the work which was to make him father of his country. Benes remained in Prague and led an underground organization. Just as the Austrian police were about to arrest him, he escaped to Switzerland and joined Masaryk.

Republie Born In 1918

There he two conducted their heroic campaign for the establishment of a Czechoslovak republic. This was created out of former Austro-Hungarian provinces in 1918, when it was recognized by the Allies, with President Woodrow Wilson sponsoring it.

Benes became first president of Czechoslovakia and Benes was his foreign minister for seventeen years until 1935, when Masaryk resigned because of ill health. Benes followed in the presidency, which he has held ever since, barring the German occupation and even then he was head of the Czechoslovak government in exile.

The Chiropractor and You...

No. 1 in a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of Chiropractic.

WHAT IS CHIROPRACTIC?

The Chiropractor teaches that the brain and nervous system are the root of health. From the brain, nerve energy is distributed through the nervous system to all parts of the body. When this nerve energy is shut off even slightly between brain and body (by bone displacement in the spine), one or more body functions are interfered with and ill health results. By X-ray, analysis and spinal adjustment the Chiropractor is able to relieve nerve interference and restore normalcy to the affected part. No drugs. No surgery. Nature is the healer.

CASE HISTORY No. 621 — A middle aged woman in a state of serious, nervous exhaustion. Suffered severe headaches and, in her own words "wanted to be in a dark room and left alone." A variety of treatments had failed to help her. Finally, she turned to Chiropractic. The spinal displacement which was the cause of her trouble was located immediately and a series of adjustments led to this woman's complete recovery.

CASE HISTORY No. 92 — A victim of sinus headaches for several years. Suddenly stricken with pain one morning, he called upon a Chiropractor whose office he was passing at the time. A spinal adjustment brought relief from the pain in less than three minutes. Within half an hour the pain had gone entirely, and there has been no recurrence of the sinus condition since.

CASE HISTORY No. 356 — A young woman who for seventeen years had been having as many as ten to fifteen convulsions daily. Treated for epilepsy without avail. Under special treatment for seven years without benefit. All hope for recovery had gone, when a friend advised Chiropractic. A spinal X-ray revealed a marked disarrangement of the neck, the result of a fall suffered when a child. Adjustments were commenced and after only four months she was 95 per cent better.
