Nation Shocked At Passing Of Leader

PRAGUE — (P) — Jan Masaryk, non-party foreign minister in the new Communist government of Czechoslovakia, killed himself Wednesday in a leap from his third floor office, the government announced. He was 61.

Gen. Lev. Prchala, a Czech resistance leader in London, commented: "Suicide? It is possible." Masaryk was the son of Thomas Masaryk, founder and first president of the republic. His death took from the Communists the use of the distinguished name. The controlled radio said Masaryk "must have been seriously *aggrieved and wounded by the malicious attacks made upon him by the Western press." Officials of the Foreign Ministry, after a period of reluctance to confirm the report, finally announced Masaryk had died at 8 a. m. The government broadcast at noon officially announced the death. It followed the announcement with the solemn requiem music of Anton Dvorak, the great Czech composer. The government delayed without explanation foreign news agency, telegraph circuits for 30 minutes. Masaryk last appeared publicly Sunday. He looked harassed, haggard and worried. The controlled press had quoted him as telling Czechoslovak army officers last Thursday:

"You can count on me. I am one of you. x x x We must have unity with the Soviet Union, Our place is at their side. We must be grateful if Russia allows us to be there We made a bloodless revolution and have entered a new phase of history. Blow To Non-Communists

Even while Masaryk's body was borne from the courtyard where he fell, Dr. Prokop Drtina, who was minister of justice in the previous cabinet with him, was convalescing from head injuries sustained in what police said was a three-story plunge from his villa.

Czechoslovaks gathered in little knots discussing Masaryk's death. It was a shock to those who regarded him as a possible balance wheel for the country. It was a blow also to those who believed he might be helpful in getting them out of the closely-guarded country legally. Masaryk once helped 5,000 Jews escape from German

For Mailing Of Easter Seals For Handicapped

Easter Seals, part of a nationwide campaign to provide services for handicapped persons, will enter the mails this weekend so that deliveries may be expected early next week, stated officials of the Children's Service League, Midland's sponsoring organization.

Sixty per cent of these mail proceeds will remain in Midland County, with 75 per cent of the school packets, for use for hospital, surgical and convalescent care, corrective shoes, braces, crutches, special medicines, doctor bills and transportation to hospitals and clinics. Easter Seals are the sole source of income for helping crippled children in this county, according to Mrs. Robert Dewey, campaign chairman. Anyone is included in this aid, regardless of race, color or

SMOKING SMELL

The sense of smell is probably responsible for the original idea of smoking. According to the Encyclopedia Britannica, this sense was much keener in primitive man, and along with the pleasure he derived from the aroma, he probably experienced a sense of mystery at the sight of the smoke rising up into the air.

The Chiropractor and You...

No. 2 in a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of Chiropractic. WHAT IS CHIROPRACTIC?

The Chiropractor teaches that brain and nervous system are the root of health. From the brain, nerve energy is distributed through the nervous system to all parts of the body. When this nerve energy is shut off even slightly between brain and body (by bone displacement in the spine), one or more body functions are interfered with and ill and spinal adjustment the Chiro-

Shower Fetes Book Review At Meet Mrs. M. E. Barton, English Guest

Honoring Mrs. M. E. Barton, who returns this week to her Nottingham, England, home, a food shower was given in the home of Mrs. C. G. Cooper, 611 West Storey Street, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Barton, who describes Amercan hospitality as "second to none," has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Travis Womack.

Entertaining room decorations were attractively carried out in the British colors, red, white and blue. The dining room table's white linenlace cloth was centered with an arrangement of blue cornflowers, accented with white stock and red fern, with red, white and blue streamers extending from the centerpiece to the corners and sides of the table.

Assisting at the silver services at either end of the table were Mrs. Horace Rankin and Mrs. Frank Living room decorations were highlighted with Spring floral arrangements.

Food gifts for Mrs. Barton were rolled into the room in large market baskets cleverly adorned with red, white and blue streamers.

The guest list included Mrs. Frank Downey, Mrs. M. H. McKinsey, Mrs. Charles Green, Mrs. Robert Jones. Mrs. Horace Rankin, Mrs. Carl Covington, Mrs. Alfred Tom, Mrs. Freeman Ward, Mrs. John M. Hills, Mrs. Roy Beckman, Mrs. Victor Nelson, Mrs. T. D. Latham, Mrs. Travis

When you lift your telephone receiver, a light appears on the switchboard in front of several operators. Normally at least one of them can respond quickly. She picks up one of the cords in front of her and plugs it into the switchboard. This connects here with your telephone and she says, "Number, please?" But nowadays the switchboard is temporarily crowded, serving many people who otherwise would not have service. Many more telephones are in use than ever before, and calling is at an all-time high. The switchboard at times is literally ablaze with lights—and if you should call during one of these busy times, it is possible that every one of the operators who could answer your call is busy. When that happens, a few extra seconds may elapse until you hear the familiar "Number, please?"

As soon as much-needed equipment can be obtained and installed, we'll be ready to handle your calls quicker and better than ever before. Meanwhile, if at times your call is not answered at once, you'll know that nimble fingers will reach it as soon as they possibly can. We appreciate your patience and understanding.

Last Spring the Longhorns seemed to have a cinch to continue their winning ways in track and field. But, no, the Texas Aggies came up to nose out their ancient rival by taking the last event on the agenda, the mile relay.

After Rice fell flat in the 1947 SWC football race. Texas was pushed as the team to beat or else Texas would take the bunting. Texas had said he already has signed a great team. But SMU and Doak Walker edged the title-bound Steers in a lulu of a ball game.

Then came the basketball season. There too, the Longhorns were figured as the best. They had experience, skill and a long win list to protect. Baylor, almost a darkhorse, came through to knock Texas off to such an extent Arkansas did it, too. Baylor took the

Cowboy Taylor

The last time John L. Lewis walked out of the American Federation of Labor he announced his departure with this brief message: "We disaffiliate." But when Senator Glen H. Taylor walked out of the Democratic Party the other day he was not content with such a simple valedictory. He had a lot to say-perhaps even one sentence

The singing cowboy from Idaho confessed that he felt good to be free of the big-city bosses. He was glad he was not obliged to follow a program laid down "by Mr. Pew, Colonell McCormick, Senator Taft and the National Association of Manufacturers." He rejoiced that he could "come out swinging" as Henry Wallace's running mate "without fear of stepping on the prejudices or privileges of some unsavory associate-no Pauleys, no oil, no Wall Street, no generals."

Probably Taylor should have stopped there. But in the press conference that followed his radio address, reporters asked him about the report that Communists were flocking to the third party standard.

"I'm glad to have their vote. I'd be glad to have the votes of bank robbers if I can get elected to do what I think is right," he replied.

What Taylor thinks is right is obviously what Taylor wants to do. So let us put his statement this way: "I'd be glad to have the votes of bank robbers if I can get elected to do what I want to do." There is the essence of the worst type of political bossim. And we are not twisting Taylor's words to state it. Ask any boss, "Do you think that what you are doing is right?" and how many do you think would answer no?

Taylor now thinks himself free of "unsavory associates." But he and Wallace surely know that if they were elected, their bank robbers and Communists and assorted ragtag and bobtail would expect something in

A political candidate half as high-minded as Taylor age is relieved, allocation of scarce dent says the government should be presents himself to be would reject the support of the criminel the disloyel and all other unsavory characters. If materials like nails and plumbing authorized to buy up a lot of these fixtures, more research and some mortgages in areas where there are inal, the disloyal, and all other unsavory characters. If he had the only true gospel of political salvation, as Wallace and Taylor think they have, he would never make the government's housing business such a statement as the Idaho senator's.

The truly high-minded candidate wants the support range permanent basis. The trouble of like-minded people. He cannot avoid the practical was that the message had to be read for private enterprise to build largeaspects of politics. But he can promise the great majority by a lawyer and a housing expert to scale housing projects. He would do of the electorate only that he will carry out the general understand what it was all about. program that he has offered and that they subscribe to. His object is to keep that promise after election, not to get ground was in some of his fancy lender housing bill. THE STORY: The sound Ann heard was not Tommy but Rush. She goes into his arms, blurts out her tright. Rush misunderstands her. He thinks she knows what happened while she was away. That Tommy went to wind the great grandfather clock—the clock Ann always wound herself—and that it fell over on him, killing him.

THE sudden and shocking death of Tommy Bishop was accepted in the town with a lethargy that was surprising when you considered how avidly most details about the Forresters were hashed and rehashed. Tommy's engagement to Laurie (if you could even call it that) had never been a for-mal one; to most of the townspeople he was simply "that nice young man that stays out at the Forresters." There was a general feeling of sympathy, a genuine regret that it had happened but the entire affair was accepted quietly.

Sam Blanding, the sheriff, was of the oginion an inquest wouldn't faint question in his voice but she that any fool could see that much so what was the use to put the county to the expense of an inquiry?

"That's all right, Sam," she said quickly and opened the screen door and came out onto the porch. "You understand I got to do some checking? Just formality, of course, but that's what the county pays me for." Sam Blanding gave her his slow gentle smile. "And I'm real sorry to have to bother your sister, Mrs. Bancroft, but I'm afraid I'll have to ask her a question or two."

"Of course. Surely," she said. "It won't amount to much," he assured her. "Seems t'be pure accident, all the way through." She wondered if she heard a would not come. She lacked the

The only way the contract could be held to six was for West to discard the nine of clubs on the third trump.

Horse's Owner Fined For Neglect Of Care

MONTROSE, PA. - (AP) - A farmer who testified he bought a "special, secret medicine" for his sick horse, but consumed most of it himself, was fined $9.13.

Peace Justice Philip J. Longergan found Elmer Greene of South Montrose guilty of "wilful and cruel neglect" of the horse. Greene was arrested on a humane society agent's complaint.

The former Prince of Wales introduced and made popular suede shoes for men.

PLEASE USE LESS GAS-NOW!

Cffective right now, West Texas Gas Company appeals to you and every other gas user to cut down some in the use of gas.

This is another one of those severe storms which this winter have overtaxed our capacity. Folks are using the gas from our mains faster than our pipe line system from the sources of supply can replace it. Our system does not have enough capacity to supply the demand, if unrestrained, placed upon it during extraordinary weather such as we are having.

If every gas user—homes as well as businesses—will cut down some in the use of gas, we should be able to supply enough to meet the essential needs of all.

- WHAT YOU ARE ASKED TO DO! 1. Shut off, and do not heat, some of your rooms. Keep temperatures only high enough to avoid hardship. Never use the oven of your kitchen range for heating. Pull window shades down at night.
 - 2. Do no more cooking than really necessary. Use as many prepared foods as you can. Use only one range burner.
 - 3. Postpone laundry work and hot baths a day or two until the weather moderates. Do not waste hot water by letting taps run, or otherwise.

YOUR HELP WILL ACCOMPLISH!

In this emergency, reasonable and neighborly cooperation by all gas users will, barring breakdowns, make it possible for homes and businesses to have gas for essential needs. We ask you to please do your part. Your cooperation will be a service to your neighbor and yourself.

Please cut down on your use of gas immediately.

Please Conserve Gas In Every Way You Can Until The Emergency Is Past
