Bulldogs Batter Big Spring 11-7

BIG SPRING—The Midland High Bulldogs won a 3-AA baseball game here Friday dropping the Big Spring High Steers 11-7.

Frank (Poncho) Roberson pitched the win with some fine fireman help by Marion Tredaway, who toiled 1 1/3 frames and put out the Steer blaze.

Webb Acquires Hurling Talent

Harold Webb, owner-manager of the Midland Indians, acquired some talent on a recent "ivory hunt" downstate.

New Indians are Leland Crissman, right-handed pitcher, and Sam Van Hoozer, also right-handed pitcher.

Crissman tried out with the Oklahoma City Indians this Spring and then went to Marshall in the Lone Star League, where he won one and lost two. He pitched last year for Ardmore (Class D), winning 11 and losing 14. He is on option to Midland from Oklahoma City.

Van Hoozer pitched for Greenville before coming here. He hurled in one game for San Angelo this year and was in on a 9-6 win over Sweetwater. He limited Dallas to three hits in three innings and Buffalo to two hits in six frames in Spring training games this year.

Webb is expecting Aubrey Davis from Oklahoma City any day. Davis is sent by the parent Indians. He played utility last year and so far this campaign with Oklahoma City. He is an infielder.

Recently released by the Indians were Ken Jones, catcher; Jerry Strauss, pitcher; and Lefty Connell, pitcher.

Texas A&M Wins SWC Track Meet

HOUSTON (AP)—Texas A&M successfully defended its Southwest Conference track and field championship here Saturday, but the performances of two individual stars stole the show for a crowd of 5,000.

Clyde Scott, University of Arkansas footballer, scored 17 points while taking firsts in three events, third in another and tying a ten-year-old record for the low hurdles.

Tiny Jerry Thompson, great distance man for the University of Texas, duplicated Scott's three first place victories and broke his own record set last year for the mile run.

Texas A&M, anticipating a close battle with Texas for the team title, took an early lead that ultimately developed into 64 1/2 points to 57 for the Longhorns.

Arkansas, primarily on Scott's all-around efforts, placed third with 31 1/2, followed by Rice with 19 and Southern Methodist with four points.

Baylor and Texas Christian did not place in any of the 16 events.

Scott opened his afternoon's activity by coming within one-tenth of a second of the conference records in both the 100-yard dash and the 120-yard high hurdles.

The Arkansas speedster beat out Texas' Charley Parker, the favorite, in a thrilling century distance race with a time of 95.6, and won the high hurdles going away in 14 seconds flat.

He had to come from behind three men for the finish, however, in the 220-yard low hurdles to edge

SWC Considers Texas Tech As Member; Tightens Purity Code

HOUSTON (AP)—Expansion of the Southwest Conference to include Texas Tech was indicated Saturday at the Spring meeting of the Conference Faculty Committee. There now are seven members.

The conference's governing body also adopted stiff penalties to be assessed for violation of the NCAA "Purity Code" and moved to limit bowl game participation by whacking at the amount of money a participant would receive.

A committee to study possible expansion of the conference was named to report next December. Texas Tech, which has had an application on file for a number of years, was not represented officially at the meeting but a delegation of Lubbock citizens appeared and after talking with the committee, the special committee was named.

Conference officials said this move was the most definite action ever taken toward acceptance of the big technological school into the circuit. Previously the matter always has been tabled although several other delegations have appeared in the interest of Tech.

To Curb Bowl Games Indirect action was taken to curb bowl participation. The faculty committee didn't say any school could not participate in a bowl game but decided that any school so doing in the future would have to pay the conference 25 per cent of all net receipts or $10,000—whichever is greater. Members of the conference still have to ask permission to play in any bowl game other than the Cotton Bowl to which the conference champion is pledged. The new receipts rule also applies to the Cotton Bowl.

James H. Stewart, conference executive secretary, made his recommendations as to penalties for violation of the rules recruiting and financial aid to athletes. Adopted were penalties that range from probation of conference schools to expulsion and provide that individual athletes may be suspended a year with loss of athletic eligibility for that time or could receive permanent loss of eligibility.

Specific penalties listed are: Against schools—probation for a year for initial violation; suspension for a year with playing privilege but with no chance for championship for subsequent violation; expulsion for flagrant violations or continued violations.

Against individual athletes—first offense, suspension from all athletic activities for a year and loss of year or varsity eligibility; continued violations, permanent loss of eligibility.

Small Home Provides Utmost In Comfort

THE CALVIN

This attractive two bedroom home, providing the utmost in functional convenience and comfort within an area 28 by 30 feet, is the small house reduced to the irreducible minimum. Its floor space is 780 square feet and it contains about 10,000 cubic feet. Although the house is small, there is no cramping of room sizes. The living room with its open fireplace is a grand room. There is a separate dining space. The house conforms to FHA standards, and its electrical layout is approved by the National Adequate Wiring Bureau.

Special Care Should Be Exercised In Selecting And Fitting Of Doors

By HENRY J. WINGATE
Nationally - Known Architectural Engineer

The doors of a home have one primary purpose—to provide a means of entrance and exit. In addition, they contribute to the design and decorative aspects of the house. For these reasons, special care should be exercised in their choice and fitting.

Exterior doors require particular attention. They are an integral part of the facade and should be in complete harmony with the house design. A heavy, ornate door that is proper for an English Tudor house, for example, is completely out of place on a modern, ranch type house of simple lines.

Especially important is that all exterior doors fit properly. If not, they admit cold air causing drafts and heat loss. Since no door can be made to fit tightly at all points at all seasons of the year because of normal shrinkage and swelling of the wood under varying humidities, weatherstripping is required.

A door is no better than the frame in which it is hung. The frame must be true and square or the door will stick. Settling of the house often twists and warps frames slightly out of line, but the use of metal frames both for inside and outside doors will minimize this difficulty. It is usually necessary to have a carpenter refit many of the doors in a new house after the first change of season.

Infinite Choice
There is an infinite choice in door design, but the solid flush-type door is preferred. It will resist fire much longer than the door with thin center panels, costs only a few dollars more, and for modern interiors with straightforward lines, plain doors without panels are a must.

Door hardware is important and the few extra dollars needed for top-quality latches, locks and hinges are well-spent. Three hinges instead of the usual two will eliminate much of the annoyance of sticking doors. Back and side doors should be equipped with locks equally as strong and burglar-proof as the front door.

Interior doors should be hung so they do not block traffic or collide with each other. This is especially important in the small homes being built today where every inch of space must be saved. Hanging a door on the opposite side of the frame so it swings in a different direction often saves valuable wall space. Sliding doors are again becoming popular because they are space-savers.

FHA Assistance Not Effected By Recent Housing Act Change

WASHINGTON — "The availability of assistance in the financing of residential construction through the long-range program of the Federal Housing Administration is not effected by the expiration on April 30 of Title VI of the National Housing Act," Commissioner Franklin D. Richards said. The long-range insured mortgage system of the Federal Housing Administration is continuing to be utilized by private lenders and builders in home production throughout the nation. Under this plan, provided for by Title II of the National Housing Act, mortgage insurance is available for financing existing dwellings and the construction of new residential properties. There is also continuance of the insurance of property improvement loans and loans on small homes under Title I of the National Housing Act.

Cutting Corners On Roof Expensive Method Of Curtailing Building Cost

A roof is the symbol of protection, security and comfort. It must be good looking, and yet stand up under relentless attacks by the weather.

Home building experts agree that the roof is no place to skimp in building or remodeling costs. If a home is worth preserving, it is worth a roof made of tested and proven materials, but even the finest of material will not give satisfactory service unless it is properly applied. The best guarantee of a good roof is a good workman who strictly follows the manufacturer's instruction sheets. The wise home builder or owner familiarizes himself with the various kinds and grades of roofing materials before making a selection, and studies the manufacturer's instructions so he will know something about the correct way to apply the material.

Flenty of Nails
Two common causes of premature roof failures are applying the shingles over a poorly constructed roof deck and skimpy use of nails. Asphalt roofing manufacturers, for example, generally specify the use of six nails in asphalt strip shingles. If only four nails are used, as is too frequently the practice, high winds are apt to damage the roof, and leaks may develop in a few years, even though the shingles themselves are in good condition.

When remodeling, it often is advisable to lay the new roof over the old. This reduces the cost of application, eliminates mess and dirt, and adds insulating value. While protecting the house from the onslaughts of the weather, a roof also should protect the dwelling from fire. Until recently, flam-with the increasing use of fire-resistant roofing, particularly asphalt shingles, has cut the number of fires originating in flammable roofing more than 70 per cent.

Jester Ripe For Plucking, Says Baylor Professor

AUSTIN—(AP)—A new prospective opponent for Beaufort H. Jester for governor appeared Saturday. One hundred Baylor University law professor, who said he believes Jester is "ripe for plucking" and that Jester's "people's path"—no new taxes and something for nothing—is a dead end. Jester's name on the ballot by petition to Robert W. Calvert, of Hillsboro, Democratic Executive Committee chairman. They accompanied it with 100 one-dollar bills, the required filing fee. Jester said if he could get that kind of support from people all over the state, he would resign his professorship and get in the race. He has until June 7 to decide. An earlier petition put the name of Roger Evans, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, on the ballot for governor. He hasn't made up his mind whether or not to run. Opponent For Giles William T. Marshall, Austin real estate dealer, announced he would run against Bascom Giles, the incumbent, for state land commissioner. He said the people "are entitled to a new deal in the General Land Office at least once every ten years." March proposes repeal of the state property tax and a two cents per thousand cubic feet levy on gathering of natural gas. He figures this would bring $5 million dollars a year. If he runs, he said, his platform would propose distributing this at the rate of 10 million a year each for better teachers pay, immediate aid on farm to farm market roads, to start a veteran bonus and to replace revenue lost by repeal of the property tax. March ran for governor in 1946 and got 20,000-plus votes in the first primary. Jester's vote in the first primary was above 445,000.

Bananas May Save His Life

Critically ill with a rare disease in a Berlin hospital, 19-month-old Peter Buescher munches bananas, which doctors prescribed, because Peter cannot digest most other foods. His mother, Lieselotte Buescher, watches her son's fight for life. Bananas are scarce in Germany, and, despite an appeal by authorities in the American zone, only 79 were located, and rushed to the baby's bedside. ### THEY'LL BRING HIM BACK—

Grows Of Ohio Vet Win Him Title Of Texas Hater No. 1

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

MADISONVILLE, TEXAS (AP)—The grows of an Ohio war veteran Saturday won him the title of Texas Hater No. 1 and the privilege of being killed by kindness in the Lone Star State.

Ray F. Halloran, former Texas trainee and Jap captive who says Texans gave him a worse time than the enemy, was announced as winner of a national contest sponsored by the famed Madisonville Sidewalk Cattlemen's Association.

Object of the competition was to find the veteran with the worst opinion of Texas—and then change his mind. Halloran's jaundiced views, expressed in a scathing letter, will be corrected—or else. The Sidewalk Cattlemen will bring him to the big state May 20 and for 11 days Texans will pounce on him happily and bring forth the wonders of the Southwest for his critical gaze.

No Pretty Girls
Wichita Falls, stewing because the Ohlean said it had a terrible climate, no scenery and no pretty girls, is straining at the tether to get at the guy.

Wichita Falls can't do anything about its climate and scenery, powder, but it's going to show Halloran some purty gals if it has to import them from Amarillo, Papijote, Pecosdadio or Wink.

Halloran will land in Houston May 20, and will be feted and fed, paraded and pampered in every section of the state, and folks down in the Rio Grande Valley are even going to drag him across the border into Mexico.

Theater Starts 'On Borrowed Time' Tryouts Tuesday

Paul Osborn's imaginative comedy, "On Borrowed Time," which became so successful on Broadway and in a later Hollywood version, will be Midland Community Theater's June 25-27 production, with tryout readings slated Tuesday and Wednesday nights of this week in the City-County Auditorium.

All roles are open to anyone in the Midland area. The casting sessions, to be conducted by Loretta Marsh, Joe Kogler and Bill Engle, are informal and open to the public.

"On Borrowed Time" will be staged here in a somewhat simplified one-act version as it was produced at the Cleveland Playhouse, Director Art Cole stated. "The setting, however, will offer a challenge to theater set-makers." Work on the stage setting will begin at 7:30 p. m. Monday in the City-County Auditorium. Everyone interested in backstage work is urged to attend this session.

Large Male Cast

The casting committee will be faced with the problem of obtaining a male cast of eight men. The most difficult of these is that of the seven-year-old boy, Pud, one of the lead roles. The child does not have to be exactly seven, Cole pointed out, but must be quite small. "Pud," the role that brought stardom to Dudley Digges in the New York production, is perhaps one of the best character roles ever offered in Community Theater plays to date. Lionel Barrymore long will be remembered by movie audiences for his excellent characterization of "Gramps."

Sir Cedric Hardwicke portrayed Mr. Brink in the movie version. The play offers five other smaller male roles, and three feminine roles, the grandmother, young Marcia and Aunt Demetria.

"On Borrowed Time" is the well-known story of a little boy and his grandfather chasing Death up an apple tree.

Rankin Student Is Featured In Magazine Story

RANKIN-David K. Workman of Rankin, a student in Texas Tech at Lubbock, is featured in an article appearing in a recent issue of The Insurance Record, which is published in Dallas. The story is reprinted as follows:

"Having learned his alphabet on a fire insurance policy and having planned to go into the fire and casualty insurance business, David K. Workman, a student in Texas Tech at Lubbock, recently completed a classroom assignment by getting some valuable and interesting information about insurance.

"The assignment was to interview 100 persons on a subject of his own choice and bring back the results. David, whose mother has an insurance business in Rankin, fixed up a questionnaire on automobile insurance, and interviewed persons in the 30 to 50-age bracket. These people, in the middle and high economic classes, represented 79 different trades and professions and in only two instances were as many as three persons in the same occupation.

Damage Insurance

"He discovered that 67 per cent carried physical damage insurance on their cars and that 17 of the 100 had been in an automobile accident in the last five years. While 86 per cent said automobile owners should be required to carry liability insurance only 58 per cent actually carried it themselves.

"As compared with other costs, 38 per cent thought insurance costs had increased on an average with other necessities while 36 per cent thought insurance costs had increased more than average and 10 per cent thought the increase had been less than that of other items. Sixteen per cent said they didn't know.

"Sixteen different makes of cars were owned of which 47 per cent were post-war cars and 77 per cent were 1940 models or later.

"Workman attends classes in the mornings and works for the Lubbock agency of C. A. Sanford & Son in the afternoon. After being graduated in June, he will work full time for the Sanford agency."

Ocean Flying No Longer A Luxury; Passengers Can't Afford Ship Travel

Not millionaires and movie stars, but people who find it cheaper than ship, make up bulk of today's ocean air travelers.

By S. BURTON HEATH

NEW YORK - (NEA) - Those who fly the oceans today are most-ly the people who can't afford to travel by ship.

"There still is an aura of romance about flying down to Rio, or flying to Paris or Rome or Cairo, or flying to Honolulu or Shanghai or Sidney. The airlines still hint, discreetly, at such romance, and still talk in terms of comfort and even luxury.

"But that's just a hangover from pre-war days. It isn't even a very smart hangover, now that the country is jam-packed with ex-GIs who have flown all over the world and can testify that long distance flying is boring and tiresome.

"When you fly an ocean, there is a fair chance that your fellows will include some rich, powerful, famous persons, to whom it would mean nothing to spend $1,000, fare and incidentals, for first class accommodations on the Queen Mary.

Can't Spare Time

They may be with you because they can't spare time for even the Queen Mary's five-day trip, each way. Or they may be there because they would rather suffer for a night in a plane, so as to have longer off dry land at either end of the trip.

Most of your fellow passengers won't be rich, powerful or famous. They won't even be salesmen, executives, newsmen traveling on expense accounts. They will be folks to whom any transoceanic trip represents a big investment, who are flying because the money cost is little more than by ship, while the value of time saved is much greater.

To illustrate this point, take the manifest of a typical London-bound clipper with 41 passengers. It showed a writer, to whom time is important; a State Department code clerk, a UN clerk, a lawyer on his way to the war crimes trials. There were a few business men and salesmen. But more of the passenger list was typified by a rigger and a bulldozer operator on their way to Syrian oil fields, each accompanied by his wife; four Norwegian seamen returning

School Bids Will Be Opened At Kermit

National Home Show Exhibits Offer Improved Design For Living

Structural glass blocks assembled with a simple interlocking device instead of a cementing agent make the free-standing partition in the room above. Blocks are self-supporting and the wood frame is used only to give the partition a neater appearance. Front panels, which are available in clear or translucent glass, are easily removed to permit the use of different decorative effects.

Zipper join together the three sections of the mattress shown above. By simply separating the sections, the housewife is able to turn or to air the bulky mattress with a minimum of effort.

NEW YORK —(NEA)— Whether your home is a 20-room mansion, a one-room apartment or a castle in the sky, housing innovations introduced at the recent National Home Show are designed to make it more functional and attractive.

Visitors flocking to the show at the Grand Central Palace applauded exhibits that ranged from compact mattresses to new building materials which include build-them-yourself glass walls.

Structural glass blocks, 20 inches square and about four inches deep, offered spectacular proof, for example, of what a set-up partition can do to make one room look like two. The blocks are joined vertically and horizontally by a simple interlocking device which eliminates the need for a cementing agent or permanent installation. Inserted in each block are two panes of tempered glass, which supports more weight and is much harder to break than ordinary glass. One pane is permanently sealed in place. The other is removable, making it possible to achieve imaginative decorative effects by interchanging clear or translucent panels.

No less eye-opening was an exhibit of a come-apart mattress. The three sections of this inner-spring mattress are joined together by zippers. By unzipping the three-part mattress a section can be turned without back-breaking effort. As easily, sections can be shifted around to even up wear. This arrangement also permits space-saving storage.

More space-savers included chromium finished bridge chairs which may be stored by stacking one on top of the other like a nest of tables.

A streamlined wood cabinet for staple groceries with covered glass drawers for see-through visibility was a feature representing Sweden's contribution to the exhibit.

Claiming the attention of home builders were modular building slabs which promise cheaper and faster construction. The slabs are made from chemically treated wood chips mixed with Portland cement and shaped under pressure into standard sizes. The material can be used for interior or exterior walls. It withstands fire and moisture and has good insulation and sound absorption properties.

A new type of aluminum window forecasts better ventilated rooms. The top sash of the window is lowered automatically as the bottom sash is raised which steps up the circulation of air. Screen mesh inserts are placed at the top and bottom of the windows.

Does Stomach Gas and Bloat Make You Feel Miserable?

If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in treating your stomach from this nervous distress. It works this way: Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must be normally broken-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment, sour food, acid indigestion and gas trouble, play better, feel better, work better.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better.

Avoid punishing yourself with over-doses of acid and other alkalis to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles of SSS Tonic is SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

AMAZED AT QUICK ACTION OF MERTO

"For the past ten years I have been troubled with severe gas pains which seemed to grow against my heart and made it difficult to breathe. I had a pain under my heart that was almost unbearable at times," writes Mrs. Alma Cunningham of Waco.

"My food would not digest and soured on my stomach. I had had dizzy spells and when these attacks occurred I felt all puffed up. My appetite has greatly improved and I can now eat lots of things that I couldn't eat before taking this wonderful medicine."

"Since taking Merto I feel like a different person. It certainly is wonderful to get up in the morning and do a day's work, without that tired, worn-out feeling. I certainly was amazed at the quick action of this medicine."

Cover-Up Ensembles Of Cotton Go Bareback For Summer Comfort

Versatile cotton fashions, above, can be stripped down for country comfort, covered up for town wear. A short, flared bolero buttons modestly over the low-cut décolletage of the mauve-colored dress, left. Under the bolero jacket of the dark green bird's-eye pique line—which makes its strip-tease act a complete surprise. The Victorian appeal is also stamped by trimming, such as old-fashioned white soutache braid which is used to fleck dark cotons with touches of Summer frost.

White soutache, for example, embosses a primly-buttoned bolero jacket of dark green pique. This jacket completely puts under cover the backless top of a matching backless sundress. On it the overlay motif of soutache embroidery is repeated in a knee-deep hemline border.

Another primly-buttoned bolero, styled like a Victorian flyaway, tops a matching sundress of mauve-colored cotton damask. This jacket whisks off to give a sweltering gal the cool comfort of a shoulder-strap dress which displays the full charm of a swirling skirt below its snug-fitting waistline.

The damask used for this ensemble is a new Hope Skillman-designed fabric which highlights cotton's de-lustered surface with unexpected gleam. This textile innovation also appears for Summer in crisp, full-surfaced chambrays which glisten with "satin" stripes. Margot, designer of junior frocks, puts this shimmering chambray to high styled use in a swirl-skirted Summer dress with a bow-tied keyhole neckline that unites for comfort when the thermometer climbs.

High School Choir Performs Excellently Before Small Crowd

If members of the Midland High School A Cappella Choir were disappointed at the small audience which heard them at a concert in the high school auditorium Friday night, they did not reflect it in their performance.

All who heard the concert agreed it was so well balanced and ably presented as to make possible a favorable comparison between the high school group and a professional choir.

Under direction of Don Moore, the 35 boys and girls comprising the choir sang four groups of songs. In the first group were "Come, Soothing Death," "Beautiful Savior," and "How Shall I Pity Meet Thee?" The second group included "Praise Ye the Father," "Torrents in Summer," and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Betty Bobo and Virginia Breedlove, under direction of Miss Verna Harris, presented a one-act play "Midnight Fantasy," after which the choir continued with "Climbing Up the Mountain," "Sit Down, Servant," and "Mary Had a Little Lamb." The last group of songs from the choir included "Whiffen-poop Song," "When Day Is Done," "All the Things You Are," and "Now the Day Is Over."

The concert was sponsored by the Midland Kiwanis Club.

Retiring Interscholastic League Head Roy Bedichek Has Colorful Life

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
AUSTIN — Tart-tongued Roy Bedichek, the driving force of the Texas Interscholastic League, retires to private life June 30. He will leave the greatest organization of its kind in the world as a monument to more than 30 years of effort.

The name Roy Bedichek has been associated with scholastic activities so long he always got the credit or the blame for everything done by this far-flung coalition of schools. Most times that was correct, but some occasions, such as enforcing the amateur rule which was written into the books by the State Executive Committee, he was the "fall guy."

Mary Alice Nelson of Abilene has been named chief hostess for Pioneer Air Lines effective, June 1. C. R. She will be in charge of 30 hostesses who travel Pioneer's 2,200 route miles in Texas and New Mexico.

Jay-Kay Paint Co. Is New West Texas Industrial Concern

SAN ANGELO — A new West Texas industry turning out a product designed for West Texas usage is the Jay-Kay Paint Company of San Angelo—which now is setting up departments in Midland and other cities in this section.

D. J. Kreager is the owner of the plant which started operations several months ago. Kreager says his firm is a West Texas concern which he hopes will develop with the area it serves.

The plant is one of the most modern in the Southwest, and was planned from the ground up for efficiency in paint manufacturing. Mixing facilities are centered on the third floor, with the process carrying downward to the ready-for-market product on the ground floor.

Pointing out that the durability of paint depends primarily on weather influences on the mixed ingredients of the finished product, Kreager said Jay-Kay paints are formulated to meet climatic conditions peculiar to this section of West Texas.

An official of a Philadelphia varnish company who visited the plant here recently said, "As the paint is more thoroughly proven up to public satisfaction, in keeping with the climatizing theory of Jay-Kay, I have no doubt but that the new industry will become one of West Texas' most important."

No Repeat Performance

(An Editorial)
As the last few days of school draw to a close it is easy to want to "coast" the rest of the way. But this is not the best procedure as the last few days are often the determining ones.

They not only can determine whether you fail or pass but also whether your grades will be acceptable in the college of your choice.

Be alert in your class room and resist that impulse to prop your feet up. Take advantage of these last few days so you will be sure that you won't be doing a "repeat performance" next year.

Editor's Notes

Monday Enid remarked she needed five bottles of aspirin to overcome her headache. Berneal wasn't sure he heard distinctly so he asked, "Five bottles of what?"

In a senior English class last week the students were studying diction. When explaining the word vanity, Miss Boyd answered a question as to how a compact is sometimes called a vanity. She explained when you look at yourself in a mirror it is sort of vain. Lew knows it isn't vanity when he looks in a mirror. It is only nauses.

Since Mummy was in charge of a cabin of fun in Ruidoso she earned the name of "Mama." But you'd better ask her about the person known as "Papa!"

Midland Seniors Proclaim Great Weekend Trip

By BETTY JOYCE GERALD
"Beer, beer for ol' Midland High." With the same songs the seniors entered Midland late Sunday afternoon as they had left May 7. However, instead of nicely starched shirts and picnic lunches there were slightly dirty shirts and jeans and no food (save several bottles of cherry cider). Bob English, Ruidoso, N. M., is probably also drawing a much deserved breath of relief. The stables, bowling alleys, pool rooms and restaurants were crowded with MHS students as well as Odessa, Seminole and other students.

Many students marveled at the length of the days there. Most began the day about six in the morning and ended it late in the night. Horse back riding proved to be a favorite past time, followed by low moons and groups about a'ring limbs. Scratches and nettle irritations were incurred by many as they followed the call of the mountains.

The coldness of the streams allowed no swimming, but a few dared their feet to the water until they became blue.

Saturday night the seniors of Ruidoso gave a dance for all the visiting schools. It was held in their gym and a large crowd attended.

The mornings and nights were cold so the sweaters and coats taken were appreciated.

Since the cabins were equipped with kitchens, many "cooks" were discovered. However, some of the food prepared was edible. The members of one cabin even invited another cabin over for a dinner which was a howling success.

The cabins housed groups numbering from five to 14. They were all situated close together, but at a distance from town, as many discovered by walking back and forth several times a day.

All in all it was a happy, tired class that returned Sunday after a weekend of experiences never to be forgotten and with a group of classmates that will always be remembered.

School is almost out! Or have you seen certain people ripping their note books apart with that strange gleam in their eyes?

As you know the senior boys ate lunch Thursday with the Rotarians. Mickey McGee wondered if they couldn't eat with knives and forks.

New Coiffure Fashions Keep 'At Home' Glamor Intact

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Is your "at home" hair-do one which makes you want to cover your tousled locks and run when unexpected visitors call? There is no reason why a woman can't be caught looking charming even if she's caught scrubbing floors says Eve Wygod, New York hair-stylist. She proves her argument with the three "at-home" hair styles shown. Take the pig-tailed hair-do, which as shown right is as simply-styled as a child's. What, however, is calculated to make a child's "mom" look much more fetching, if she wants to heed Miss Wygod's suggestion, is to braid each pigtail with a full strand of bright woolen yarn. Such a hair-do has not only pertis criss-crossed in front and hoisted high at the back of the head by means of a rubber band. A ribbon is bow-tied to conceal the rubber band, and loose ends of hair are brushed under—or they can as easily be cradled in a net—to achieve simple neatness. The hair-do, shown center, is one designed to give a gal a glamorous headstart in the morning before she hops out of bed. Tuck combs and a ribbon pulled out of the drawer of a bedside table can be used to anchor this simple but steadfast arrangement. Hair is parted at the side in front, but is equally divided from a back center parting before swinging it into its asymmetrical line. One section of hair is swung up to make two neat rolls which are lodged securely to one side of the head. The remaining section of hair is swung to the side of the neck and tied tight with a ribbon.

appeal, but, according to its creator, it keeps hair out of a scrub-lady's eyes. The other arrangements shown are examples of what a simple twist of the wrist and a bright ribbon can do to keep up your glamor rating at home. The hair-do dangling off the sofa, left, is designed to deflect a death look to the scragged-up top-knot too often caught off-guard in the American home. Replacing that unbecoming "do" is a simply-styled arrangement for which hair

Midland FFA Chapter Entertains Fathers, Guests At Barbecue

Midland Future Farmers of America, high school boys whose inclination and training toward agricultural knowledge leads also toward high scholarship and good fellowship, were hosts to their fathers and other guests at an annual father-sop barbecue at Cloverdale Park Friday night. J. R. Cuffman, chapter advisor, and 42 members of the chapter here entertained 23 guests. After all had dined, Bobby Evans opened the meeting with the invocation. Howard Bennett, chapter president, was chairman of the session. He called upon Marion Treadway to outline the year's activities of the chapter and name outstanding achievements of various members. He announced that Billy Seals and Billy Evans had won scholarship awards. Odessa Speaker

James Lands introduced the guest speaker, Sammy Terrell of Odessa, Area II vice president, who was accompanied by the Odessa advisor, R. R. Callaway. Terrell discussed values and objectives of FFA work. Citing the importance of FFA activities to members, young Terrell stressed the necessity of close supervision of chapter advisors and the moral and financial assistance of fathers to successful participation in Future Farmer work. Darlene Livingston and Marie Olive, chapter sweethearts, were presented with blue jackets. Bobby and Billy Seals, Marion Treadway and R. D. Jones, members of the chapter string band, entertained the group with a musical program that won loud applause.

Monument Guard Says He Is 'Walking Man'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Richard Mansfield, 67, night guard at the Washington Monument, thinks he might have been a good candidate for the "Walking Man."

He has trotted down the monument's 898 iron stairs at least five nights a week for the last two and a half years. And he said he makes it in 10 minutes. Why doesn't he take the elevator? The answer dates back to 1929. A Vermont woman spent the night on the monument stairway and then complained of "involuntary" imprisonment. So Mansfield is taking no chances with his inspection. Once he starts down, he never stops to rest. But he adds: "I'd quit tomorrow if I had to walk up."

Idaho's first official highway took three years to build and was 624 miles long.

Chicken Risotto Is Sunday Special

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Powl gives more meat for the money. Rice cooked in chicken broth gives more flavor. So combine these two ideas into Chicken Risotto for a flavorful, economy Sunday special.

Chicken Risotto
(Serves 4)
One onion, chopped, 2 tablespoons chicken fat, 1 quart chicken broth, 1/2 cup rice, 1 1/2 cups cooked chicken, salt.

Cook the chopped onion in the fat for a few minutes, add the broth. When broth comes to a rapid boil, sprinkle the rice in slowly. Cover the pan and simmer the rice for about 25 minutes or until grains swell and become soft. Shake pan from time to time to prevent rice from sticking but do not stir unless necessary. By the time the rice is done, it will have absorbed the broth and the grains will be large and separate. Then add the small pieces of chicken and salt to taste.

In buying a stewing chicken, watch these points: Some are older and less tender than others. The highest grade for dressed stewing hens is US AA. Then come Grades A, B, and C. Grade AA birds are full-fleshed; that is, all bones covered with a good layer of flesh. Thighs, back and breast are well covered with a layer of fat. They will be well dressed and free from pin feathers. Grade A hens may be narrower-breasted with bones not as well covered with flesh and fat.

The lower grades—B and C—are progressively less well-fleshed, have less fat and may have considerable skin abrasions and pin feathers. But lower grades make good eating if you allow plenty of time

Missing Sidewalk Case Looks Tough

PONTIAC, MICH.—(AP)—Howard Keating told police someone stole a sidewalk in front of his office. The case looked tough. But the local officers figured it wasn't any harder than the one he'd by Deerfield, Mich. police, 70 miles to the south. The Deerfield police arrested four persons who admitted stealing nine manhole covers from streets. They sold them to a scrap dealer. Advertise or be forgotten.

Mine Detector Seeks Body

MEET THE CANDIDATES—

Dewey, Governor Of New York, Is Not Known By Many As A Person

By HENRY LEADER

ALBANY, N. Y.—(AP)—Millions know Thomas E. Dewey as the man with the mustache who wants to be president, but few know the New York governor as a person.

Enemies, and admirers, react strongly to Dewey's personality and describe him accordingly.

Dewey never lets his hair down in public. Seldom in private, social or business contacts, either, and then only part way.

It would run counter to his character, which traces back to his boyhood in Owosso, Mich., and he insists on not doing anything that doesn't come naturally.

Press photographers can cite many instances of Dewey's refusal to pose for pictures in roles he would not customarily portray.

For example, a photographer at a county fair urged the governor to remove his coat, roll up his sleeves and try to ring the bell atop a slab-like pole with a mallet. Dewey refused, explaining he did not indulge in such a pastime.

Yet at a fair in Springfield, Mass., last year he offered no objections when a photographer snapped him feeling a cow. Dewey owns a big dairy farm at Pawling, Dutchess County, and examining a cow is not out of character with him.

Dewey dresses neatly and conservatively and has that well-scrubbed look. He won't usually take off his coat in public, no matter how hot the weather, except at baseball games, which he attends occasionally with his sons, John and Tom, rabid diamond fans.

People just don't slap Dewey on the back, no matter how well they know him. He isn't the type. Nor does the governor do any back-slapping on his own account. Neither does he kiss babies.

To woo voters, he refers instead to the accomplishments of his administration, using superlatives.

Dewey has been trying for several years to develop a more winning public personality. His associates believe he is succeeding.

He smiles and waves frequently, extends cordial handshakes on reception lines, poses patiently for amateur photographers, chats with railroad men, hotel help and other ordinary citizens concerning their personal problems.

He has a flair for showmanship. At Saratoga Springs in 1946 he waited in his automobile outside the convention hall until it was time to go on the radio with a speech accepting renomination.

Thomas E. Dewey

He then entered the hall to the accompaniment of ringing cheers, applause and mand music, all of which went over the air waves.

Dewey is no Lord Fauntleroy. He takes an occasional drink, plays poker or rummy once in awhile and smokes cigarettes—from a holder that has a butt ejector.

But no scandal, public or private, has touched him or the men and women he has appointed to state posts.

Now 46, and somewhat worried about his paunchy middle, Dewey tries to keep his weight down by eating less than he wants. He plays golf when time permits, which is not often. He frequently works far into the night on state business.

"It's the home work that makes this job tough," he says. If beaten for the nomination or the election, Dewey will not be heart-broken, associates say. They don't expect defeat for the man with the mustache.

Scientists Off Bermuda Record Noises Of Fish

HAMILTON, BERMUDA—(NEA)—The weirdest fish story of the season has nothing to do with the one that got away. It's what the fish said that's hard to believe.

Dr. J. B. Hersey, an oceanographic expert from the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Hole, Mass., has proof that the tropical fish is no creature of silence. He got them to make a transcription.

He played the record for Skeptical reporters when the marine laboratory's expedition ship, the 907-foot ketch Caryn, put in at Hamilton the other day. The platter was labeled "Fish Noises, Bermuda, 1948."

Hersey said the recording was made 15 miles off St. George's by lowering a microphone 200 feet into the sea and hoping the fish would get the idea.

They did. The reporters heard the fish sing, hoot, whistle, moan and burp.

The trouble is there is no exact way of translating the singing, hooting, whistling, moaning and burping. The scientists on the Caryn said it could be anything from the mating call of a wild guppy to a chorus of frustrated mermaids.

Record Valuable

Even so, the record is of important new scientific value, says Dr. Duquand Brown, head of the Bermuda Biological Station, which is working in conjunction with the Woods Hole expedition. Of greater value, however, is the detailed study of the ocean floor which the expedition is making.

Augmented next month by a second ship equipped with trawling gear, the oceanographers will comb Bermuda waters for samples of aquatic life thus far unknown to science.

Long a paradise for marine scientists, Bermuda's waters contain more varieties of fish than found anywhere else in the world. Dr. William Beebe classified 602 species during his bathysphere expeditions.

Besides getting more information on what the fish are saying, this time the scientists hope to find out something about the curious creatures sports fishermen keep finding inside the tuna they catch off the outer banks.

Marine Air Corps Reserve Reaches 93 Per Cent Of Authorized Strength

While a pilot watches, ground crew members of the Marine Air Reserve give the engine of a fighter plane a final check. Both aviators and ground forces of the Air Reserve are at 93 per cent of authorized strength.

CHERRY POINT, N. C.—(NEA)—The three-year-old "weekend warrior" arm of the Flying Leathernecks has reached 93 per cent of authorized strength, officer and enlisted.

This civilian combat-ready force was created to bring the regulars to full fighting strength of men and planes within 10 days.

During maneuvers, the 17 East Coast units cut this to one day when they gathered here for two weeks of training. Bad weather and longer distances held up the West Coast units. They took three days to assemble at El Toro, Calif.

No Fatalities

The East Coast units had 87 1/2 per cent of their planes ready for tactical flying every day of the two weeks they were here, and flew 5,235 hours without a single fatality or accident of any consequence.

They flew 3,500 hops to get in their gunnery, bombing, rocket-firing and tactical exercises supporting ground troops. A third of the 1,500 men involved were teen-age recruits with no war experience.

Defense Secretary James Forrestal recently defined the Marine Air Arm's primary mission as supporting Marine ground troops in amphibious operations. Their secondary mission is to furnish replacement squadrons for carriers.

The reserves now fly the Corsair fighters like those they used during World War II. Pilots and ground personnel are to be trained to fly and service newer types of jet planes as they become available to the corps.

The reserves get the equivalent to two months' training a year. Two weeks of this is at maneuvers. The rest is in training sessions held on alternate weekends at bases assigned to the reserve.

Texas Cities Seek To Ease Growing Pains

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN—(P)—Ease for their growing pains is being sought by Texas cities in a series of regional meetings over the state during May.

The first was held at Big Spring last Tuesday under auspices of the League of Texas Municipalities.

No matter what is said or done at the eight regional meetings of city officials arranged by the executive committee of the League, the final medicine will have to be made by the state legislature. The meetings bring the difficulties of municipal government into focus, but nothing is ailing Texas municipalities that more money will not cure. More Revenues

Many cities—such as Austin—already have tackled the problem with tax reevaluation programs that are bringing more revenue from levies on real property. Many cities are doing all they can to seek out and add to their tax rolls personal property which previously has not been taxed, although it was taxable.

But they feel that isn't the entire answer. Most city governments feel the legislature should provide additional sources of revenue above and beyond real or personal property. The demands the cities will probably make on the legislature will probably be made known at the annual meeting of the league in El Paso October 3-5-8.

Urban Growth

This state is now more urban than it is rural in population. That gives the cities more political weight than they once had, and chances are good they will throw influence to get up with other states when the legislature meets next January in regular session.

The trouble is, the cities have grown fast, demands for municipal services have increased rapidly, but income has not kept up with output. Naturally, the purchasing power of the city government's dollar has shrunk and it has to pay its employees more, to keep them from starving to death.

The league of municipalities, in announcing the regional meetings, urged city officials to bring their state senators, representatives and candidates for the legislature.

Midland Soil Conservation Office Closed

The office of the Midland Soil Conservation District Work Unit was closed Friday, Warren Skaggs, local supervisor of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District, announced Saturday.

The office is being moved to the newly organized Gaines District with headquarters at Seagraves. E. J. Hughes, district conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service, said. Included in the transfer are H. D. Clayton and W. C. Fuller, representing the Soil Conservation Service, who render technical assistance in planning and applying a complete conservation program.

Midland County farmers and ranchers will continue to receive district assistance from the work unit located in Stanton. A. E. Pittman is the conservationist in charge of the Stanton office and will give assistance to land owners upon request, Skaggs stated.

Increased Interest

Interest in soil and water conservation planning may be measured by the participation of farmers and ranchers in the Soil Conservation district program, sponsors said. According to recent reports from the board of land owner supervisors, over 75 per cent of the farmers and ranchers in Midland County have entered into cooperative agreement with the district by using the technical assistance available for developing complete programs based on the needs for controlling soil erosion and maintaining soil fertility.

The closing of the office here is a result of wide spread interest in the organization of new soil conservation districts throughout the state and the security of Soil Conservation Service personnel to staff the new work units.

Area Youths Selected For NROC Training

Three area youths, Willis H. Gilmore, Jr., of Midland, Vernon Lester of Monahans, and Donald Clark of Big Spring, are among 118 Texas boys selected for entry into the Naval Reserve Officers Corps in the 1948 Fall term of college, according to a Associated Press release from Washington.

The selectees will be assigned to the 52 colleges where units of the NROTC are established. The program gives the successful candidates four years of college education at government expense. Upon graduation they must accept a commission in the Navy or Marine Corps and serve from 18 months to two years on active duty.

Youth Center Gets $171 Check From Play-Readers Club

The Play Readers Club presented to the Midland Youth Center Friday a check for $171.75, according to Mrs. George Putnam.

The check represented silver offering proceeds from the club's April 21 coffee in the Tucson Theater. Mrs. Merrill Patton was featured reader at that event.

Social Situation

SITUATION: You become friendly with a group of persons who have much more money than you have.

WRONG WAY: Try to give them the idea that you have as much money as they do.

RIGHT WAY: Don't try to put up a false front. Give the group a chance to like you for what you are, not for what you pretend to have.

Sixteen-Year-Old Artist Wins National Recognition

PITTSBURGH—(NEA)—Hanging prominently in the galleries of Pittsburgh's famous Carnegie Institute is this painting of a house. And in Erie, Pa., its 16-year-old creator, who has plenty of reasons for being out celebrating, stands at his easel painting more pictures.

Howard Billings Ellsworth, who is one of 14 grand winners in the National Scholastic Art Awards competition, isn't content to rest on the laurels of just one major prize. He has worked at being an artist since his kindergarten days, and has no intention of stopping now.

Ellsworth's intense preoccupation with creative art—he has few other interests these days—puts him in an unusual class for teen-age boys, but he is a fairly representative example of the 13 other high and junior high school students whose work also occupies the Carnegie Fine Arts Galleries right now.

One Of 125,000

His painting of a bleak, mansard-roofed mid-Victorian house was one of 125,000 entries in this year's competition, sponsored among schools in the U. S. and possessions by Scholastic Magazines. But it is not the first time he has won recognition.

He has had a showing of black and whites and oils at the Erie Museum, and another is scheduled there in the near future. He won three keys for achievement in the Kaufman exhibition of scholastic paintings in Pittsburgh with a showing of fine paintings.

A student at Erie's Technical High, he studies painting under Joseph Plavcan, an artist of note in his own right who has a long list of scholastic art awards credited to his pupils.

Ellsworth is an orphan who has been raised by his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Nellie Billings, and it was she who encouraged an interest in art when she noticed his crayon efforts in kindergarten days.

TWO BOTTLES OF MILK!

Or two cartons of milk, look very similar on your grocer's shelf. Maybe a chemical analysis of these two would bear out the same similarity. Suppose they are about equal from a standpoint of health and nutrition.

IT STILL MAKES A VITAL DIFFERENCE TO YOU AND YOUR FAMILY... which bottle you take home.

The bottle or carton of milk which is produced, processed and distributed in Midland County is backed by a total taxable investment of more than two million dollars. It represents an overhead expenditure of more than $800,000 annually in payroll, taxes, etc. right here in Midland County.

Your choice of the bottle of milk is vital to you and your family, be you an employer or a wage earner. You cannot prosper unless business is good in Midland and Midland people prosper generally. # Nobody Loves Forever

By Margaretta Brucker

THIS STORY: Jessica Blake has almost forgotten the gay, carefree life she once knew in the drab, monotonous existence she shares with her husband's mother and sister, Lucy, while she waits for Tom Blake to return home from overseas. The only bright spot in her two-year-old daughter, Betty's, memory has been Jessica Gordon, home from finishing school in June of '43 to find her already married. She was overjoyed with soldiers from a nearby camp. One of them—a tall, blond Texan—looked like following her everywhere. Tom Blake, "the one you love," said Mary Belle, her best friend. Jessica tried to discourage him at first, but when they were out driving one day Tom kissed her. Her heart raced with joy. "I love you—and you love me," he told her triumphantly.

IV
SHE denied it and he kissed her again. He was articulate for the first time. He was masterful, almost brutal, but the next minute tender. He was no longer shy or afraid of her. He had broken through her defense. Her pride was shattered. He had given her a taste of happiness she had never experienced. She turned her face against Tom's uniform coat and clung to him. She pulled his face down and shamelessly kissed him. Drying back to open she closed her mind to the reckless promises she had made Tom. She was mad, of course, she told herself after he left and she was back in her own room. Physical attraction—that explains what you feel for Tom, you should hate him. After that, she had given to arrange meetings with Mary Belle present, much to Tom's disgust. "You scared of that big brute?" Mary Belle teased. Even Mary Belle guessed how serious her feelings were. Luckily, no one else knew and then suddenly everyone knew. One evening after dinner, when her father had been cool and aloof and uncommunicative, he called her into his study. "Come in and close the door," he said curtly.

"Please don't." She was terrified that he might run into her father. She consented to meet him in a few minutes at an appointed spot several blocks away.

THE night was warm but she snatched up a short, light coat. She shivered as she stepped through the darkness. Luckily, the door to her father's study had been closed. She felt relief when Tom's big figure appeared against the shadow of a hedge. "Hello," she said.

He reached out and pulled her to him. All her resolutions to forget him vanished as his eager lips touched hers. Tom released her. "This is it, baby," he said. "You mean—?" "I'm being shipped out," Tom was saying. "I have a few days furlough so we'll have to get married right away." She stared at him blankly. "Married?" "Of course. You planned to marry me, didn't you?" She hadn't planned that. "You told me that you loved me." "Yes, I do, but—" He laughed. "Just for a minute you had me scared. But I didn't believe you'd stand me up. My friends think I'm a fool to hang around a girl like you. They swear you're just having fun and will forget me when I'm gone. But I fixed that." "How?" "A buddy of mine is picking us up in a few minutes. They make everything easy for you here in Kentucky. You and I are going to get married—now, tonight." A rickety car swept up to the curb and a man in uniform sang the wedding march off key. Tom lifted her into the back seat and a gum-chewing girl who sat beside the driver said, "Don't be scared, honey." DONT GO, her better judgment told her. Refuse and humiliate Tom and let his friends think what they please, but don't do this. Then she thought, Haven't I told Tom I loved him? Did I lie? Can I make a laughing stock of a man who is going into danger? (To Be Continued)

Today's hand is a great example of teamwork in bridge. The bidding was normal enough and most pairs experienced no difficulty in making four spades, with one exception. In every case where the king of clubs was opened West did not trump. But when the queen of clubs was opened West trumped with the five of spades. Then he

Blasting Goosefoot From Marshes Makes Puddleducks Happy

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Blast the millet and bladderwort, the goosefoot and spatterdock out of your marshes and make the puddleducks happy. This is the sober advice of the Fish and Wildlife Service—even if it does sound like double-talk. Breeding populations of waterfowl, says the agency, have been increased by experimental dynamiting of potholes in vegetation-clogged swamps of Iowa and Maine. The artificially-established open water proved especially attractive to the puddleducks—mallards, shovellers and the like. Diving ducks such as the redheads, canvasbacks, ruddy ducks and ringnecked ducks, showed some interest but in general still preferred to make their nests near deeper water. Dr. Maurice W. Provost has provided the Fish and Wildlife Service with detailed reports on the blasting of Iowa marshes. "Throughout the prairie regions of the United States and Canada there are many small, shallow kettle-holes," says Provost. "At their best these small ponds can support tremendous concentrations of nesting birds. Unfortunately, they often remain choked with vegetation." Usually the grasses creep in when the muskrats, nature's pool-vegetation eradicator, are killed off. In addition to making marshes attractive for nesting ducks, dynamiting improves the living conditions for muskrats and invites them to return. "The added catch of muskrats alone," said Provost, "may defray the expense of blasting."

DDT Being Sprayed Over City As Battle Against Flies Begins

Opening skirmishes in Midland's battle against flies and mosquitoes began Thursday when DDT was sprayed in the business section of the city and at Midland Air Terminal.

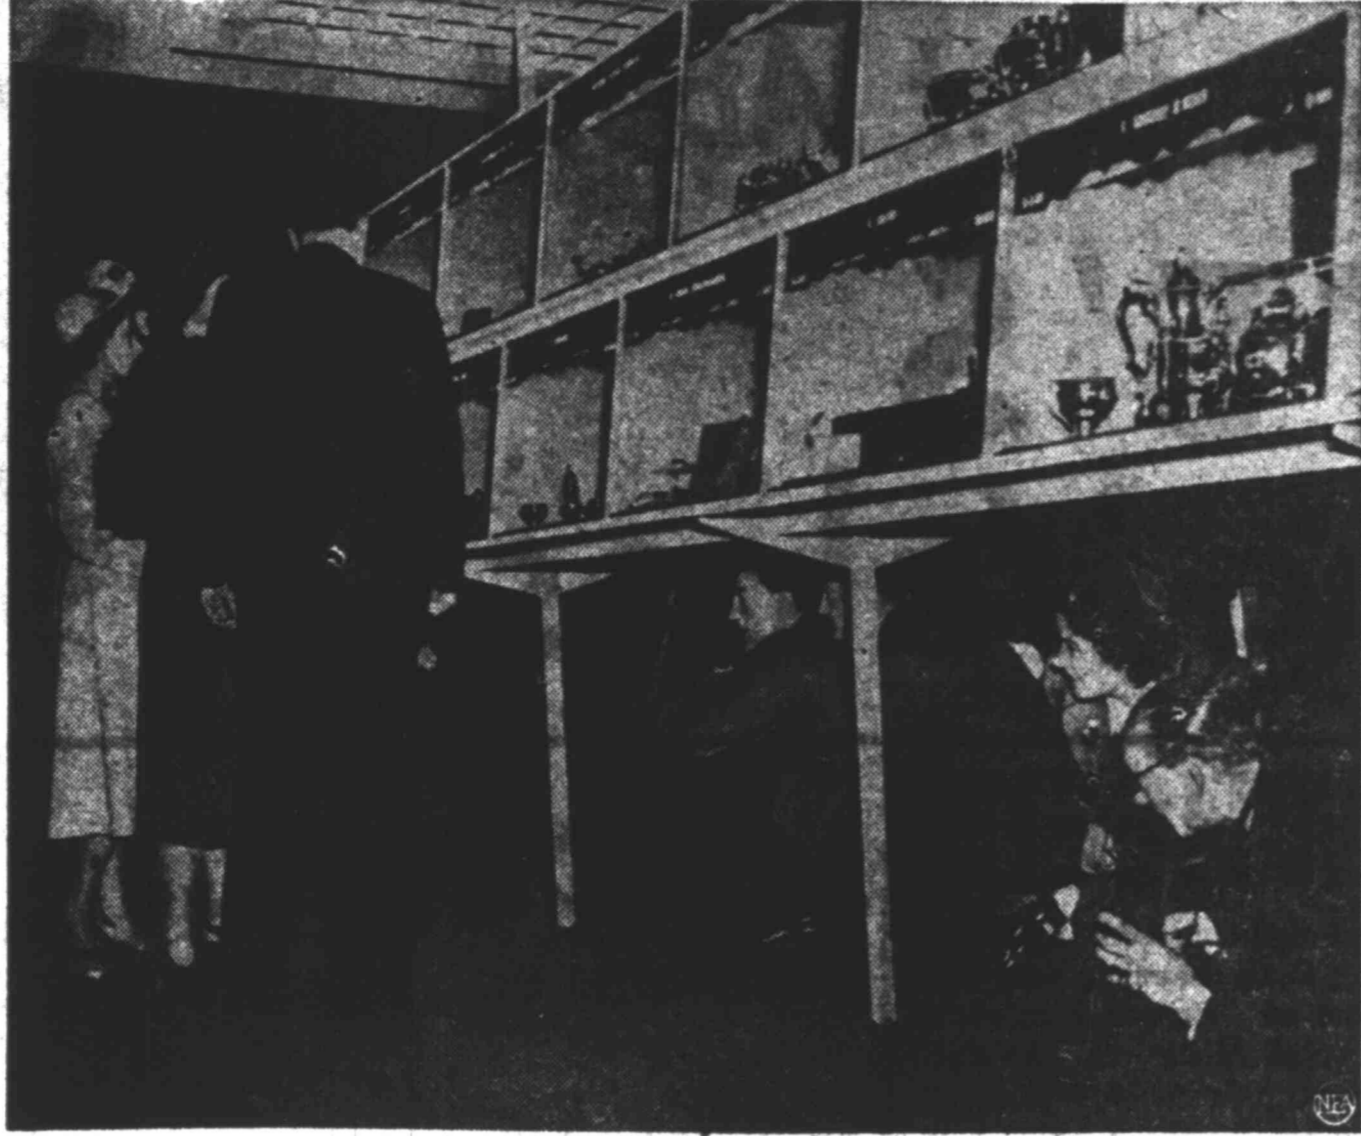

Friday spraying continued in the residential section. W. M. Howard, sanitarian with the Midland-Ector-Howard County Health Unit, said approximately 400 gallons of the insecticide had been spread through the city by noon Friday, and that spraying will continue for several days.

With a special machine owned jointly by the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Big Spring chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, an insect-killing fog is rapidly swirling through the city. The city furnishes half of the DDT solution, oil, a truck and two employees. The health unit supervises the spraying.

In treating alleys with the fog it has been found some residents have failed to co-operate with the May cleanup campaign here, Howard said, and he repeated an appeal for citizens to tidy up backyards and use painted, covered garbage cans. Many residential food-handling establishments already have complied with requests to build screened garbage "houses," and other are doing so, he said.

Houston Grocer Perfects Device To Assist Forgetful Shoppers

HOUSTON—(AP)—When Herschel H. Shugart was a kid he often was scolded by his mother for failing to remember what she had asked him to purchase at the grocery store.

Now Shugart—the groceryman—has perfected a device which he says will save little boys such embarrassment and also offer a restful means of shopping for mothers, grandmothers or even forgetful husbands.

Several years ago Shugart set about building a machine which parades all the merchandise in front of the customer.

Today, customers who enter Shugart's Relax-N-Shop, Houston, need no list of desired purchases.

You simply take your place at any one of a number of comfortable chairs, sip a coke, light a cigarette, and do your shopping!

Within Easy Reach
A large conveyor belt carries more than 1,000 items of merchandise past your chair and within easy reach.

At each chair is a small pad with numbered sheets on it. As the grocery shelves pass by, you choose the items you want, put a number with them and place them on a second conveyor belt which passes down to the cashier.

The cashier takes each item off the belt and places those bearing the same number together. Prices of the various items are added up and your bag of groceries is ready and waiting when you appear at the cashier's desk.

Shugart isn't kidding when he says he received many scoldings for forgetting what his mother sent him to the grocery store to purchase. Mother, Is Customer
"I used to get so busy looking at the merchandise I'd forget," he explained.

Shugart said his traveling grocery store has a 47-foot counter that is pulled by a one-third horsepower motor. The conveyor belt which carries the groceries to the cashier is pulled by a one-fourth horsepower motor. The counter moves nine feet a minute.

At present he is working on a 100-foot conveyor which will include a meat counter.

Shugart currently is waiting for a patent on his invention, which he says has created interest throughout the country. He says he has a number of orders on hand for purchase of his "mechanical groceryman."

He smiles when he recalls what one of his customers recently told him.

"She said ever time she comes in the store for just one item she leaves with a whole bagful of groceries," he explained. "But I told her I probably was saving her steps since she would have to come back for the other items anyway."

Shugart keeps his mechanical store open from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. daily.

Dogs Are Used To Protect German Police

BERLIN—(AP)—German police who formerly used police dogs solely to help track down law breakers are now beginning to use the dogs to protect themselves.

According to press dispatches from Cottbus, in the Russian occupation zone, this has become the shon with railway policemen, who've one of the toughest professions in postwar Germany. They have to cope with irritated passengers on overcrowded trains and often are assaulted by mobs of cold and hungry people attempting to plunder coal and goods trains.

The long-suffering "bahnpolitist," loathe to fire upon his own people, is now using dogs to protect himself against hot-tempered passengers and to help carry out his orders. In one instance railway police at Cottbus had orders to clear several cars on a train of passengers "to use them for other purposes" (presumably for use of the Russian occupation power).

The German passengers proved recalcitrant and when they began to pummel the police with fists, the cops brought their dogs to coerce the passengers into compliance.

Copy Boy On KC Kansan Staff Is 86 Years Old

KANSAS CITY, KANS.—(NEA)—Anybody who has seen a movie about newspaper life knows that when a city editor wants a messenger he shouts "Copy boy," or just "Boy," even though the boy is likely to turn out to be a bobby-soxer journalist.

But not at the Kansas City Kansan. There 86-year-old Harry G. "Pop" McKee, probably the nation's oldest "copy boy," has been answering the call for the last five years with a record most of his bobby-soxer counterparts would find hard to match.

Pop has not missed a day of work and never has been late in those five years. He is on the job six days a week, reporting at 7:40 a. m., 20 minutes before his scheduled starting time.

Newcomers to the Kansan find it hard to believe the age of this amiable and agile copy boy. His hearing is good, and he wears spectacles only for reading. He has smoked a pipe daily for the past 17 years.

After more than 40 years of farming in Kansas, Pop worked for 12 years as a foreman in a soap plant. The next 12 years were spent in retirement.

To "Help Out"
Pop sought his present job to "help out" during the war. He went to C. H. Nohs, the Kansan's city editor, and asked if he could substitute for an employe who had gone to war. He replaced a teen-ager who joined the air forces. When the boy didn't want to return to his job after the war, Pop stayed on.

Now he takes care of all mail coming into the Kansan building, runs general errands for the editorial staff, files cuts and pictures, nurses the teletype machines, checks NEA comics and other features and news material for use and the return of news material to contributors. He works meticulously and constantly.

With his wife, Pop has kept a flower garden for 20 consecutive years. In the Spring and Summer, blooms from the garden decorate desks of the Kansan city room.

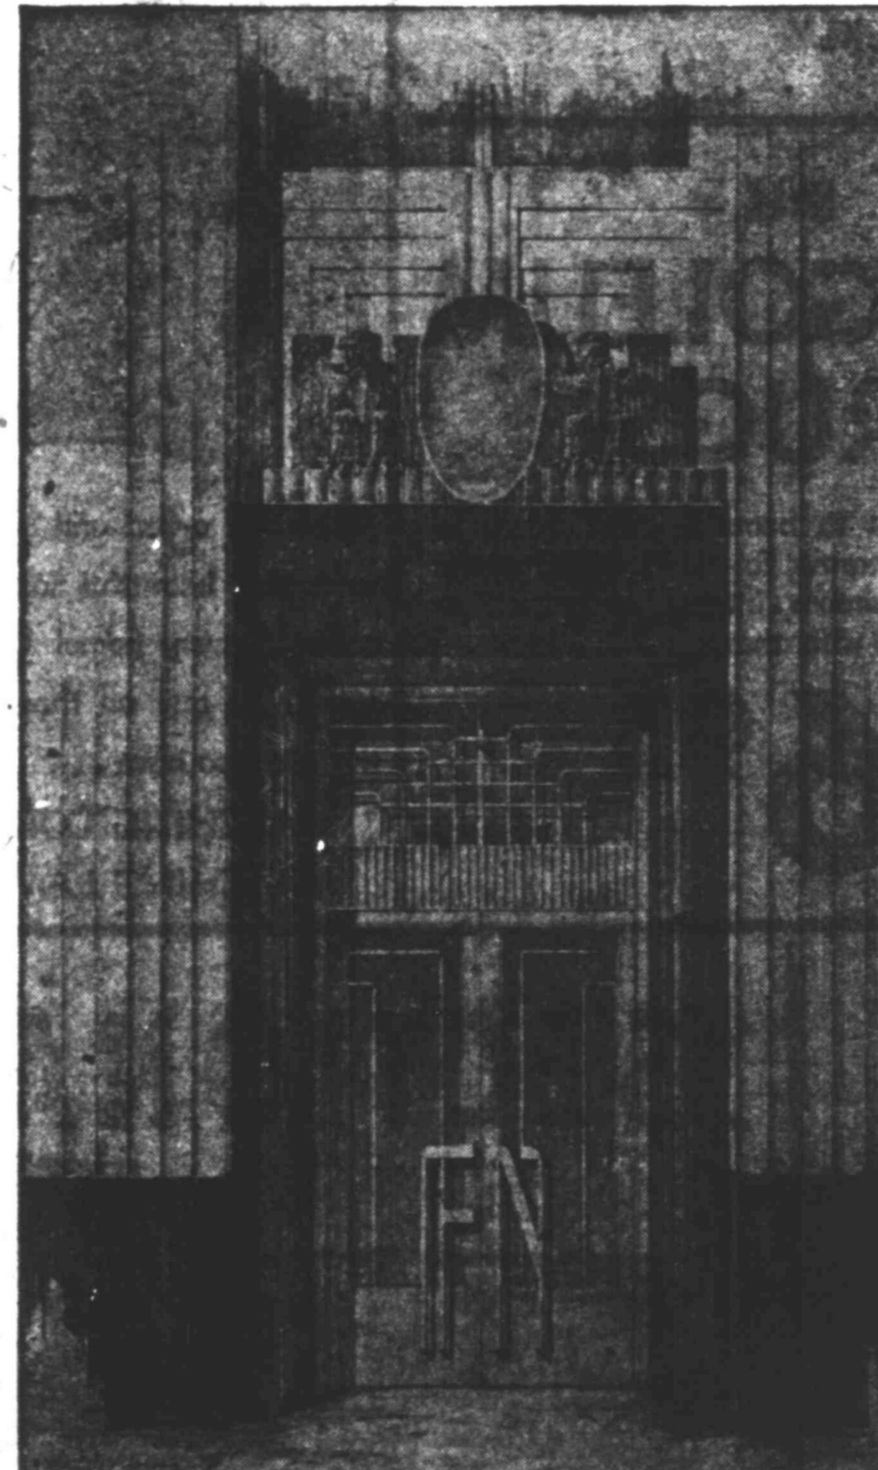

The bobby-soxers will have to wait a long time for Pop's job. "Those 12 years of retirement were the hardest of my life," he says.
