Billy Jean Jones Is Active In Waco Summer Theater

Miss Billy Jean Jones, Midland High School graduate and now a junior drama major at Baylor University, Waco, is a member of the Southwest Summer Theater Staff in Waco.

She recently won critical acclaim for her portrayal of Pagan, lead feminine role in J. M. Sygne's "Playboy of the Western World," which opened this year's Summer Theater season in Waco.

Her next appearance will be in Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which will open July 15 for a six-day run. Miss Jones will portray Hermia, one of the leading female roles.

Interested in the theater since childhood, Miss Jones was an active worker in high school days. During her high school years, she won second place in the State Intercollegiate League declamation contest and was chosen best actress in the regional meet.

Midland theater-goers will remember her for her sensitive interpretation of Bernadette in "Song of Bernadette," which the Community Theater produced several years ago.

The Southwest Summer Theater is the only summer stock company in the Southwest. Actors are assembled for the company from all parts of the nation, and only the most skilled are chosen for the lead roles.

The theater now is in its fifth year. It has attracted so much interest and critical praise that Mayor J. E. Hawkins of Waco declared a Southwest Summer Theater Day June 15.

Opening June 17, the theater will close August 21 at the conclusion of its five-program schedule. The performances are held in the Baylor Theater.

An invitation to take "Playboy of the Western World" to Waxahatchie July 6 for a one-night performance has been accepted.

Community Theater Scores Another Hit With Comedy

What would you do if you had death trapped up in an apple tree? That was the problem facing the players Thursday night in the Community Theater play, "On Borrowed Time."

A charming and really different comedy, "On Borrowed Time" held the close attention of its audience throughout the evening.

A fanciful mixture of folksy comedy and the supernatural, the play concerned the efforts of Gramps, a salty but soft-hearted old man, to keep his orphaned grandson from the clutches of the boy's Aunt Demetria, a "good, Christian woman." Aunt Demetria is aghast at the

Little Make-Up Brightens Eyes

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The time when eye make-up is a help in need is when the sparkle in a woman's eyes grows less vivacious.

Yet make-up must be so cleverly used that no one can suspect that lids are shadow-lined, eyelash-color is accentuated.

Only the merest touch of eye shadow needs to be used to give lids the appearance of a livelier flesh tone. A tiny speck of shadow—for the older woman almost any tint is a good choice except brown—should be filmed so carefully over lids that only a suspicion of color remains. What-ever faint tint survives should almost disappear when foundation and powder are applied to the entire face.

Mascara needs to be as subtly applied as eye-shadow. No older woman wants to advertise her artifice by wearing spikes or clumps of mascara. For the subtle effects required, lashes should be lightly coated for color accent only. A more natural-looking effect is achieved when two shades of mascara—black and brown—are used. The severe effect of coating of brown mascara goes over it.

Ask The Kids: Is There An Ideal Parent?

AP Newsfeatures GREENSBORO, N. C.—Parents, your children want to be taken into your confidence and given a share in running the home. That's one of the conclusions in a study of compositions on "The Ideal Parent" written by students from the third grade up through high school.

A class of 29 girls studying to be teachers at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina here asked the youngsters to write about the ideal parent. Some of the answers may surprise you.

A tenth grader wrote "Some parents restrict the child too closely until he is about 14 and then they are not strict enough and the child goes wild."

All the youngsters said they'd listen to mom and dad, but any punishment should be fair and reasonable, not nagging and fussing. And, add the eighth and ninth graders, don't you parents "fuss with each other in front of the children" if you want to measure up to the ideal.

But the seventh grader knows parents can't be perfect. He says "the ideal parent should be patient with the modern child, but it isn't always possible."

The answers add up to this from a tenth grader: "Parents should be the kind of persons they want their children to be when the children grow up."

Needless to say, Gramps soon notices Mr. Brink into the tree, but only Gramps and Pud can see or hear Mr. Brink, and it is not long before Gramps is regarded as a madman by those he takes into his confidence.

The rest of the play deals with the dilemma Gramps faces. Should he release Mr. Brink and thus enable Demetria to get custody of Pud, or should he submit to internment in an institution? The resourceful Gramps manages to solve his problem almost as fast as they occur.

As Gramps and Pud can see or hear Mr. Brink, and it is not long before Gramps is regarded as a madman by those he takes into his confidence.

Young Elvin Weatherbee, Jr., provides much of the comedy with his lively Lovable Pud. Leonor Valdes gives Mr. Brink the proper quality of mystery and suggestiveness. He endows his character with a suave and restrained quality which is most effective.

As Aunt Demetria, Myrtle Ratcliff makes her characterization properly detestable and mean-spirited. Gramp's sweet but too easily influenced wife is well played by Louise Showalter. Billie Reid makes Marcia Giles an appealing ingenue.

The rest of the cast is more than adequate. Special attention should be called to the skillful performances offered by Bill McMorris as Dr. Evans, Art Cole as Mr. Pilbeam, Jack Menish as Mr. Griffes, and Don McKibben as Sheriff Burlingame.

Skilful and imaginative handling of the difficult stage settings the play called for, especially the enchanted apple tree, contributed much to the enjoyment of the play.

Dewey

Dewey began his crusade against the alliance between politics and crime. At 35, he best Tammany and became district attorney of New York County. At 36 he lost the New York governorship to Herbert Lehman, the best vote-getter the state's Democrats ever had, by 40,000 less votes than Lehman got. At 38 he went to Philadelphia with the biggest bloc of pledged delegates, but lost the GOP presidential nomination to Wendell Willkie.

At 40, he won the governorship of New York. At 42 he was GOP candidate for president. At 44 he was re-elected governor of New York by the biggest majority ever given any candidate of either party.

Now, at 46, he's back again after the presidency. Every record is broken some time, but his supporters like to point out that he never yet has won a major goal on the first try—nor lost it on the second.

Eileen Hutt turned down his first proposal, then became Mrs. Dewey.
He lost the first attempt to convict Jimmy Hines, Tammany district leader and intimate of President Roosevelt, but won the second.
He lost his first race for the governorship, won the second.
He lost his first shot at the GOP nomination, won the second.
He lost his first campaign for the White House. The story will be completed in November.

Convention

Connecticut sensed it quickly and went hunting for others who might feel as he did.
He found a willing companion in Senator Irving Ives of New York, a Dewey backer. They got together with Ferguson of the Michigan delegation and Senator Knowland of California. Senator Frontias Cooper of Kentucky, a Vandenberg rooster, went along.
It didn't take long to settle the issue.
Dewey took his nomination in stride—as though it were an old story to him.
He had done just about what his campaign strategists had said he would on the first ballot.
Sixties Peace Chord
After the third ballot had sealed the issue, he strode into the convention accompanied by his pretty wife.
Dewey struck a peace chord in his 15 minute talk, to be followed sometime later by a formal campaign opening speech.
"As long as the world is half free," he told the vigorously-fanning delegates, "we must peacefully labor to help men everywhere achieve liberty."
Then, of the choice of a running mate still ahead, Dewey said: "I come to you unfettered by a single obligation or promise to any living person, free to join with you in selecting to serve our nation the finest men and women in the nation, free to unite our party and our country in meeting the grave challenge of our time."

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Is it error which is restoring an essential element of Christianity—namely, apostolic, divine healing? No; it is the Science of Christianity which is restoring it, and is the light shining in darkness, which the darkness comprehends not" (page 347).

These little girls are indulging in one of the oldest and most fascinating pastimes of humanity—building air castles. They are dreaming of the time when they will preside over their own beautiful homes or will achieve success in some other chosen field. These dreams of childhood and youth are often the inspiration for future achievement.
Some day they will learn that they must work and think and pray and trust in order to translate their youthful dreams into reality. Fortunate are those boys and girls who are taught from their childhood that God can give substance and reality to their dreams, and that the Church and the Bible are the best guides to successful living.
The little girls in the picture will soon face life's realities. The beautiful dreams of childhood may fade. But with God as their guide, life may be happier and even more beautiful than their dreams.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

XXXIX
LUCY came home on the 15th as planned. Tom changed his shift at the rubber factory so that he could be with her that day. Such a different Lucy, hiding her face from everyone and refusing to speak to Jessica for those first few days, clinging to Tom, never mentioning her mother. Had Tom told her what had happened here?

For days Lucy barely touched her food, refusing the trays Jessica struggled to prepare, closing her eyes and feigning sleep. Moody, morose, difficult. Then, one morning, when Jessica was busy in the kitchen, Betsy stole upstairs and presently Jessica heard voices above.

Lucy! It wasn't possible. But when she raced up to Lucy's room, she found Betsy clambering across the bed.

"Let her stay, please." These were the first words Lucy had spoken to her.

Betsy had done what even Tom could not do, brought a faint smile to Lucy's disfigured face, a spark of interest to her lovely eyes. Betsy, who said frankly, "What's wrong with your face?"

Lucy did not cringe or shrink away. She reached out and caught Betsy's chubby fist and held it. "I got hurt," she said briefly.

"Poor Aunt Lucy," Jessica slipped away. She passed the door of that other room which always stood open now, as neat as when Mrs. Blake bustled about hunting for dust. Even she could not criticize my housekeeping, thought Jessica grimly.

It was almost Christmas. Christmas gave Jessica an excuse to delay her preparations for leaving. When Tom suggested that she might have plans to make she said evasively, "There's too much to do right here to think of my own plans. Besides, there's Christmas."

Whatever happened later, she wanted Betsy to have a real Christmas with all the trimmings. Three nights before the holiday Tom brought home a tree. "It's on the back porch," he told Jessica. "Come out and see it."

He held her arm as they tiptoed through the door and closed it behind them.

"Like it?" he asked eagerly. The tree was beautiful. Tom said, "I'll make a stand in the basement and we can bring it in on Christmas Eve."

They were conspirators, planning for Betsy.

Jessica took a deep breath of the spicy fragrance of the tree. "Betsy will love it." Her voice almost betrayed her. She wanted to turn and fling herself into Tom's arms and beg him not to make her go away. The very touch of his hand made her heart sing.

She wanted to stay here alone with Jessica and the table. The very day routine: supper, putting Betsy to bed, listening for any sound in Mrs. Blake's room, thinking again of the consequences to this household should there be any radical change in her condition.

TOM'S voice from the doorway startled her. "Jess!" She turned quickly. Tom said, "There's something wrong with Mom."

During one of the sessions of the recent Ohio State tournament in Cleveland, Ohio, I was kibitzed by John McCormick, the new manager of WTAM, and Harold Gallagher, who has been associated with that broadcasting station for more than 30 years.

After the tournament we played a little rubber bridge, during which today's hand came up. In connection with his opening bid, Gallagher said he recollected an old theory of mine that with the declarer-type of hand, you do not need two and one-half tricks to open the bidding.

If I had opened a club in response to my partner's bid, Gallagher would not have had much trouble. I gave him a tougher opening, however, in the king of hearts and East won with the ace. He had no diamonds to return. He led back the king of clubs. Gallagher won this trick in dummy, picked up the trumps, then led the six of spades and played the jack from dummy.

My partner made a good defensive try by refusing to win this with the king. But Gallagher simply cashed the ace of spades and conceded a diamond trick. If he had won the first trick with the ace of diamonds, his contract would have been defeated easily.

HOME TALK—

Indians Dropped By Vernon Dusters 4-2

VERNON—The Vernon Dusters beat the Midland Indians 4-2 here Thursday night in a tight Longhorn League battle which opened a two-game series.

Rookie pitcher Trip of Vernon sat the visitors down with six hits, two of them by Big Jim Prince. Vernon got eight hits off Levi Clay and Dick Willenberg. Clay started for Midland but couldn't go. It was his third loss this season against seven wins.

Vernon notched two tallies in the bottom of the second inning. Midland duplicated with a couple in the top of the fourth.

Then with the war all even, Zeke Strange, Duster outfielder, singled to left field and the ball got away from Clarence Haggard as Strange went to second. Cotton McCaskey, first base, was next batter and doubled, scoring Strange with the winning run. An icing run also came in this frame.

Harvel Jakes hit a double for Midland. The Indians performed two double plays.

Strike Outs Scarce

Pitcher Trip was not a demon at strike outs. He got only one. But he managed to get the Indians out. Clay struck out one. Willenberg fanned three.

DOWN SPORTS LANE

with TANNER LAINE

It's not too early to be asking why can't the fans be allowed to pick the Longhorn League players for the All-Star Game July 20.

Last year the managers picked the players and the players in turn named all-star managers.

This time we would like to see the fans pick the players. It could be done with each member city's newspaper collecting the ballots.

This year's game will be played in the Odessa park. The West line-up will include players from Midland, Odessa, Del Rio, and Big Spring against an East lineup from Sweetwater, Ballinger, San Angelo and Vernon.

Midland should put two or three boys on the West outfit. Jim Prince is a cinch. Harvel Jakes is apt to make it. Eddie Melillo, provided he continues his sensational play and at that, should make the grade. Pitchers Levi Clay and Leland Crissman, may be selected.

But there we go picking the players when we opened with the suggestion the fans should name them.

Coach Barnes (Foots) Milam is just back to home base Midland after attending a coaching school in cool Colorado.

Coacher was a student at the Colorado Coaching School held at Alamosa. Tutors were Frank Leahy of Notre Dame and Fritz Crisler, another great mentor.

Milam saw Jack Mashburn, Midland coach who summers in Colorado, at the school. Also, Aubra Nooncaaster, former Midland coach and now at Pampa, was a student.

Noon is going to college in Colorado this Summer taking post-graduate work, any fishing after that.

Yanks, Macks Crowd Tribe In AL Scuffle

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Manager Lou Boudreau's Philadelphia Phillies have lost their first crucial series of the year and Bob Feller shows no signs of returning to the form that made him one of the greatest pitchers in baseball.

The Yanks came into Cleveland Monday night three and a half games out of the pace. They knocked off southpaw ace Gene Bearden, lost a 5-2 game to Sam Zoladak Tuesday, beat Don Black in 11 innings Wednesday and Thursday thrashed Feller 4-0. Cleveland now has lost eight out of its last 12 starts.

Feller allowed the Yanks only five hits, but three of them were home runs.

Philadelphia's third place Athletics pulled to within two games of the Indians by nocking out the Browns 6-5 at St. Louis.

The Boston Red Sox divided a double-header with the White Sox in Chicago, winning the second game 8-5 after Bill Wirtz pitched the White Sox to a 3-1 victory in the opener.

Reds Pull Close

Ted Williams smashed his fourteenth and fifteenth homers of the year and drove in four runs to spark the Red Sox's nightcap triumph.

The St. Louis Cardinals stormed to within a half game of the first place Boston Braves in the National League by trouncing the Braves 11-2.

The Brooklyn Dodgers dumped the Pittsburgh Pirates twice 6-2 and 8-6 at Brooklyn.

The Chicago Cubs and the Giants did a twin bill, the Giants winning the first game 3-2 and the Cubs the second 11-2.

George Dockins, who took over as skipper at Fort Worth when Les Burge was fired, is battling 1,000 in the managerial ranks and the Cats again are knocking lustily at first place in the Texas League.

Dockins has been headman of the Cats for three nights and no one could ask better results—three victories. Thursday night Fort Worth beat Shreveport 4-2 to advance within a game of the top.

Houston took over the lead after being out of it for two nights as the Buffs trimmed Tulsa 13-3. It dropped Tulsa to second place, just five percentage points ahead of Fort Worth.

San Antonio dominated Oklahoma City 3-0 to cling to fourth place while Dallas remained a half game back by edging Beaumont 2-1.
