NEW SAFETY WORK SUIT FOR BIG EMPLOYEES DESIGNED

The oil industry has a very creditable safety record for its employees. It is constantly working to improve that record.

One of the latest developments which is calculated to improve the safety factors around drilling operations is a specially designed white suit for all drilling rig workers.

That new item of work clothing was displayed at the Third Annual Drilling Industry Safety Clinic in Dallas last week.

The clinic was sponsored by the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors.

The new white suit for drilling crew members was designed by W. P. (Tex) Rickard, of Houston, with Shell Oil Company, Inc. It is fitted with an action back, raglan sleeves and extra seat and leg room for squatting pressures.

Suit legs and sleeves are cuffless and fitted with grip fasteners to keep them snug around ankles and arms. Reinforcements are at elbows and knees and reflecting "Scotch lite" is attached to sleeves to indicate the rig position of night workers.

It was pointed out at the clinic that new safety devices now available for use on drilling rigs do not slow down operations. Practically all the new items have been developed by field men who have seen serious accidents happen and who feel that the new features will prevent re-occurrence of such accidents.

BASIN PIPE LINE SYSTEM TO START MOVING CRUDE

Permian Basin crude oil is due to start moving into Wichita Falls Monday, through the new Basin Pipe Line System.

The new line is completed from Jal, N. M., its point of origin, to Wichita Falls. It goes by the way of Wink, Midland, Westbrook, and Graham.

The carrier will ultimately be built to Cushing, Okla., and on to Salem, Ill. It is expected that it will be about six months before the northern end is ready to transport oil.

In the meantime the line will move crude from Jal, Wink and Midland, to Wichita Falls.

Some of the fluid will be taken south through existing pipe lines and other quantities of the oil will be shipped to northern and eastern refineries in railroad tank cars.

Two loading racks have been finished at Wichita Falls which will have a capacity of 400 cars per day. It is expected that the full use of the racks will be made to get as much as possible of the Permian Basin oil to hungry processing plants up the country.

The line from Jal to Midland is 20-inch pipe, and from Midland to Wichita Falls it is a 22-inch conduit. It is owned by the Texas Pipe Line Company, Shell Pipe Line Corporation, Sinclair Refining Company, and Empire Pipe Line Company, an affiliate of Cities Service Oil Company.

TEXAS OIL ROUND-UP—

Major Oil Company Official Sees Gasoline Price Hike

By MAX B. SKELTON Associated Press Staff

Before the year is out motorists may be digging deeper into their pockets for gasoline money.

Said a high ranking official of a major company last week: "Price increases by the end of the year are inevitable."

The reason: prolonged continuation of the struggle for balance between supply and demand.

Accompanying this struggle is continuation of practices of some purchasers to wipe out a differential price or bonus in excess of the prevailing posted crude oil prices.

Oil companies, both large and small, in the Texas area in recent weeks have announced several price "adjustments" for crude postings in specified fields. The hike generally has hit around two cents per barrel.

West Texas independent producers last week petitioned purchasers to wipe out a differential in prices between West Texas crude and other areas in the state.

Present West Texas postings average around 13 cents lower than in other Southwest areas.

HOUSTON GAS COMPANY GETS 225 MILES OF 31-INCH PIPE

Maeda Oil Company and associates have extended the Ringwood field, Midson County, Okla., a half mile to the west with the No. 1 Wightin flowing at from 25 to 30 barrels hourly. Reports make it the best well in the area.

Officials of the Navajo Agency have announced a July 26 sale of oil and gas leases on over 2,000,000 acres of land in New Mexico.

Tennessee Gas Transmission Company, Houston, has obtained 225 miles of 30 and 31 inch pipe originally destined for the Trans-Arabian Pipe Line Company's line in the Middle East. The pipe will be shipped to Texas for use in completion of a loop between Wharton, Texas, and Natchitoches, La.

GASOLINE PROCESSING IS UP FOR SECOND STRAIGHT WEEK

Crude oil production is on a decline for the first time in nearly two months but gasoline processing figures have hit a new high for the second consecutive week.

Gasoline output climbed to 18,041,000 barrels for the week ending July 3, an increase of 103,000 over the previous week, the American Petroleum Institute reports.

Despite the record jump was accompanied by a decrease of only 33,000 barrels in gasoline stocks, thus permitting the industry to enter the July 4 holiday high demand period with peak supplies available.

The latest crude production for the week as dropping 10,100 barrels daily to an average of 5,483,800. Oil and Gas Journal, Tulsa, estimated production at 5,471,730 barrels daily, a drop of 22,720 from the previous week.

Committee Named To Sponsor Bill Murray Candidacy

A district campaign committee to sponsor the candidacy of William J. (Bill) Murray for the Democratic nomination to the Railroad Commission of Texas is being set up for a six-county area surrounding Midland.

The steering committee includes Phil Yeckel, W. D. Lane and H. E. Chiles, Jr., all of Midland. Counties in the district are Midland, Martin, Glasscock, Reagan, Upton and Andrews.

The committee is organizing sub-committees in each county.

Murray was appointed to the Railroad Commission in January 1947 to fill the unexpired term of Beauford H. Jester, who later became governor. Murray now is seeking election for the two years remaining of the six-year term.

Supporters of Murray point out he is the first petroleum engineer to serve as a member of the commission, which regulates the oil and gas industry in Texas.

He is a West Texan, having grown up in Coleman, Eastland and Taylor counties. He is a graduate of the University of Texas and held several important positions in the oil business before being appointed to the Railroad Commission.

Oil operators say Murray is due much credit for progress in eliminating gas flares and for the general petroleum conservation program of the state.

NW Sterling Deep Wildcat To Start Drilling At Once

Contract has been let for the start of drilling, early in the week, on a 2,000-foot wildcat in Northwest Sterling County.

This prospect will be Ray A. Albaugh, of Midland, and Progress Petroleum Company of Texas, No. 1 Mrs. Nellie Cannon Farnmore. It will be 600 feet from north and west lines of section 30, block 28, W&N survey. That puts it about 30 miles northwest of Sterling City, and 30 miles southeast of Big Spring.

Guy Mabey Drilling Company of Midland, is to dig the project, using rotary tools. Material is now being moved in to the derrick.

This venture is on a block of about 32,000 acres assembled in that region by Albaugh. He sold spreads aggregating about 12,000 acres to several major companies and to some independent operators. He still has approximately 18,000 acres of leases in the block.

Among the concerns which have acquired protection in the area are Standard Oil & Gas Company, Magnolia Petroleum Company, Phillips Petroleum Company, Hunt Oil Company, and others.

Albaugh made a deal with Progress Petroleum Company, whereby that concern will drill the prospect, and he will have an interest in it. Progress is understood to have acquired some of the Albaugh leases in taking on the obligation to drill the deep wildcat.

The projected destination of 9,500 feet is calculated to take the development into the Ellenburger.

CSOC TO DRILL VENTURE TO 4,500 FEET IN SECTOR

Cities Service Oil Company No. 1 Foster is to be a 4,500 foot wildcat to test into the San Andres-Permian in Southeast Ector County, eight miles southwest of Odessa. It will be 1,900 feet from west and 600 feet from north lines of section 9, block 43, TP survey, T-3-S.

Drilling with rotary tools is to start by July 14. The exploration is about two miles from the nearest production in the South Cowden field.

APOC COMPLETES DISCOVERY IN CENTRAL COCHRAN AREA

Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation No. 1 is a 4,500 foot wildcat, east of Central Cochran County wildcat, four and one half miles south of Lehman, and several miles from the nearest commercial oil production in the west extension to the Levelland field, has been officially completed as a new discovery.

The project made a daily pumping potential of 65.14 barrels of 27 gravity oil, plus 30 per cent water from pay in the San Andres-Permian at 4,949-4,960 feet.

That zone has been treated with a total of 5,000 gallons of acid. The well showed a gas-oil ratio of 569-1, but it would not flow consistently, and a pump was installed.

3,000-FOOT PROSPECT STAKED IN NW KIMBLE

J. C. Rentro, of San Angelo, has filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas, requesting a permit to start operations by July 18, on a 3,000-foot wildcat in Northwest Kimble County.

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1-E Wilson Bryant, 14 miles south of Midland in Central Midland County, and 600 feet from north and 1,900 feet from west lines of section 36, block 39, TP survey, T-3-S, had reached 11,615 feet in a lime and shale section. It is understood still to be in the Pennsylvanian.

The Texas Company No. 1 Scharbauer, about 19 miles southwest of Midland, in West Midland County, and 600 feet from south and west lines of section 20, block 40, TP survey, T-3-S, had drilled to 8,291 feet in black shale, and lime, and was making more hole.

The Richardson & Bass prospect to 12,000 feet, No. 1 Neal, has been drilled to 8,430 feet, and was being drilled through a formation of lime and shale.

Shallow Wildcats Staked In Eddy And Roosevelt Counties

HOBBS, N. M.—Locations for shallow wildcats in West-Central Eddy County, and in Northwest Roosevelt County, were reported Saturday.

Resler and Malco No. 1 Nickel-son-State, is the Eddy County venture. It will be 330 feet from north and 900 feet from west lines of section 17-215-24e. That puts it about 20 miles west and slightly north of Carlsbad.

This project is to dig to 1,000 feet, using cable tools.

W. J. Peterman No. 4 Frank and Ala M. Taylor is contracted to be a 1,200-foot prospect in Northwest Roosevelt County, 25 miles west of Portales.

The derrick is 330 feet from south and east lines of section 22-30e. Operations were due to have started during the past week.

Will Test After Shot Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-W State, 27 miles west and north of Carlsbad, in West-Central Eddy County, and 600 feet from south and 1,900 feet from east lines of section 16-215-22e, which bottomed at 11,312 feet in granite, after drilling through a barren Ellenburger, was preparing to shoot the zone at 2,240-2,355 feet with nitro glycerine and test.

That zone had shown some slight signs of oil in the drilling samples. The hole is now plugged back from total depth to 2,355 feet in lime.

W. H. Black Drilling Company No. 1 Shildene, Southwest Chaves County wildcat, 15 miles southwest of Hope, and 2,001 feet from north and 600 feet from west line of section 24-16e-20e, drilled to 7,011 feet, and bottomed in granite.

It did not encounter any signs of oil or gas, and has been plugged and abandoned.

An Exciting Show
The Democratic nomination may be in the bag for President Truman, and probably is. But anyone who thinks the impending Democratic National Convention will be an anti-climax to the Republican choice of a candidate may be in for a surprise. Even if you like Truman as the winner at 1-to-100 odds, it's a safe bet there will be some fireworks.

A lot of voters can't remember any pre-Roosevelt Democratic conventions. But those who do will recall that some of them were pretty exciting shindigs. The party has always had a wide variety of political thought, and its maneuvering has tended to be of the open-field, not the smoke-filled-room, variety.

Roosevelt changed all that. His popularity, and the Democratic successes it produced, left his delegates with little to do except cheer. It was only in 1940, when the convention yelled for Paul McNutt for vice president and booted Roosevelt's choice, Henry Wallace, that an open rift was apparent briefly.

But this year some bitter differences are almost sure to come to the surface. Their causes are well known and well publicized. Southern conservatives don't like Truman's civil rights program. Northern liberals object to what they consider a too-conservative domestic record, or to foreign policy decisions. Labor leaders seem rather lukewarm. And so on.

All these objections may seem to be aimed personally at President Truman, but they probably aren't. It is reasonable to suppose that a lot of the grumbling has its origin in the discomfort that several groups of Democrats feel after 18 years with some very strange political bedfellows. The Wallace third party has removed most of the far-left element which clustered under the Democratic standard in the Roosevelt days. But that standard still covers some very opposite philosophies within the regular party ranks.

Roosevelt had the sure and astute touch which somehow made many of these different elements think that they were getting just what they wanted.

Now it looks as if the varying groups may try to get what they want—if not in a candidate, at least in a platform—though by doing so they would widen present rifts even farther. A common rallying point is not apparent at the moment. Even the record of the 80th Congress, which almost surely will be the prime objective of the Democratic attack, cannot be sure of a unanimous Democratic fustillade. For not a few of the party's members supported the Republican-sponsored measures which will be most roundly assailed.

There was a hope among party leaders that something would happen to gather their voters into a compact and enthusiastic unit. But, on the eve of the convention, that something doesn't seem to have come off.

Anyway, it will be interesting to see what happens at Philadelphia. And whatever does happen is bound to be interesting. The cheers may sound as loud and long as ever. But it is certain that when the convention does reach agreement, the result will be no rubber stamp of approval.

Non-Riding Winner Is Thrilled With B&PW Saddle And Blanket

Mrs. Velma Beddie, winner of the handsome hand-tooled saddle and Navajo blanket given by the Midland B&PW Club as a prize at the national biennial convention of Business and Professional Women's Clubs in Fort Worth last week, was "thrilled beyond speech." Mrs. J. B. McCoy of Midland said Saturday upon her return from Fort Worth.

The awards were made at a rodeo given for delegates at the Circle R Ranch outside Fort Worth.

Mrs. Beddie, who has paid three brief visits to Texas, had never before seen a western saddle at close range. Although she owns a farm with four hundred head of cattle, she has no horses and does not ride, Mrs. McCoy said.

"I think the saddle is beautiful," Mrs. Beddie said. "I own a factory building with a large display window and I think the saddle and blanket will make an interesting and unusual window display."

She added she would include a card with the display telling who gave the saddle, where she got it, and what she plans to do with it. "Later on," she said, "I will use the saddle in some manner to raise money for scholarships for young people financially unable to attend college."

She plans to keep the blanket, however, for use as a rug in her bedroom.

Mrs. Beddie said that the rodeo was the first she had ever witnessed.

May Propose Lottery To Democratic Meet
PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—A delegate threatened Saturday to carry to the floor of the Democratic convention a proposal for a U. S. sweepstakes lottery to raise federal revenue.

He is former Lieut.-Gov. Francis E. Kelley of Massachusetts, a delegate-at-large from his state. Kelley laid the proposal before the platform drafters Friday, but the latter indicated they would not go for it.

Shower Here Friday Night Measures .22
A brief shower Friday night added a welcome boost to Midland County crops and pastures which were revived by a drouth-breaking rain earlier in the week.

At the City Barn the rain was gauged .23 inch. At Midland Air Terminal the CAA measured only .02 inch. The Jay Floyd ranch, 16 miles southeast of the city, received about a quarter of an inch, and a similar report came from the Bohannon ranch, which is approximately the same distance from Midland on the Andrews highway.

★ WASHINGTON COLUMN ★

Cominform's Blast At Tito Doesn't Mean He's Reformed

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON—It is very easy to be led astray by wishful thinking over this mix-up between the Russian Communists and Dictator Tito of Yugoslavia. It would be nice if Tito would really defy the Cominform hierarchy and set up a Balkan bloc to balk Russian expansion. But American experts say that is far from being in the book.

Those who have had time to analyze carefully such information on the split as has come out of Moscow, Prague, Warsaw and Belgrade find a number of points which must be kept clearly in mind.

First, this is no open personal row between Stalin or Molotov and Tito. Neither of these two top Russians has made any official statement in the case, though they may be behind it.

Second, this is no row between the government of the USSR and the government of Yugoslavia. Diplomatic relations have not been broken. On the contrary, within the past weeks Yugoslav Foreign Minister Stanjko Simitch was in Warsaw at a conference called by Molotov to work out plans for opposing Allied unification of Western Germany.

Communist Move Harbors Trouble
Where the trouble lies is entirely within the world communist movement. The blast against Tito was issued by the Cominform—the Communist Information Bureau set up in Belgrade last October. Communist parties from nine countries took part—France and Italy included. Their purpose was to fight the so-called "U. S. expansion and aggression in military, strategic, economic and ideological spheres."

Real target was the Marshall Plan. American observers have been unable to find that Tito has backed out on this. In September, 1947, Yugoslavia signed a four-year, $100,000,000 trade agreement with British and U. S. zones in Germany, but this has been a barter deal of mutual advantage.

Settlement of Yugoslav claims for release of $60,000 in gold and blocked funds in the U. S., as against some $40,000,000 American claims for lend-lease, shooting down of planes, killing of U. S. citizens and confiscation of American property in Yugoslavia represents merely the end of two years of painful negotiations. It is not to be taken as any concession to capitalism by Tito.

Tito has had difficulties in carrying out his five-year, $5,000,000,000 reconstruction plan. Russian promises to help have not been carried out in full and he has had to look elsewhere. Last January, for instance, Yugoslavia asked the World Bank for a $500,000,000 loan. It was not granted, but the mere application would no doubt be considered hereby by the Russians, who are not bank members.

90-Year Treaty Held
In 1945 Yugoslavia and the USSR signed a 90-year treaty of friendship which has not been breached. Next year Yugoslavia signed another agreement to let the Russians rebuild Yugoslav war industries and re-equip her army. In 1947 there was a barter treaty. Texts of none of these treaties has been made public, so it is impossible to know how they have been carried out.

One of the first Cominform charges against Tito is that his government showed "an undignified policy of underestimating Soviet military specialists." . . . Soviet specialists were put under guard.

Other complaints are political and economic. Normally Yugoslavia produces enough food for its own use and a surplus for export. Last year Tito "hoarded" 30,000 tons of wheat to Rumania and Hungary, then asked the U. S. for relief. The U. S. replied that Yugoslavia didn't need wheat, but did send 50,000 tons of surplus potatoes.

If Yugoslavia is long on food this year, its peasants must be producing. One of the Cominform charges is that these peasants are not properly communized, but are allowed to own land, hire labor, sell crops. This is about as specific as any of the charges get to prove that Tito is leaning toward the West.

Most of the complaint against Tito is international Communist politics which only a highly skilled mechanic on Cominform ideological machinery can understand. But when taken apart, it shows little real evidence that Tito has reformed in any way. As his own reply to charges indicates, his principal aim is to establish a completely socialized regime in Yugoslavia, not a democracy.

FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS

Joe Heidelberg, who farms about 17 miles southeast of Midland, came up with the grand champion rain story after last Monday night's deluge on his land.

He didn't measure the downpour, he said. However, he knew it was coming a flood when a gunny sack sat on a fence filled up with water.

O. C. Collins, farmer southeast of Midland, got an estimated seven inches of rain Monday night. He had just installed an irrigation pump in an 80-acre field, according to a report, when the rain came. The field was about two inches deep.

Pat calves and yearlings went at $27 to $30, medium ones $23 to $26. No fat cows attended the auction. Receipts totaled only about 300 head. The market was active and considerably stronger than the previous week, however, with most cattle selling around 75 cents to $1.50 per hundredweight higher.

Pat bulls, as well as fat cows, were absent. Medium bulls went at $18.50 to $20.75. Stocker steers calves and yearlings brought $25.50 to $28.25. Stocker heifers brought $23 to $25.50, and cows and calves $180 to $230 per pair.

Jay Floyd, who has lived here all his life, says he never before saw as much water standing on his ranch in miles Southeast of Midland on the Garden City Highway. A rain of five inches or more, Monday night formed a lake near his house. A man can still dive into it and swim for a long way, he said last weekend. Though the water is gradually receding, he'll have a pond there for the rest of the summer.

Arthur Phillips, prominent Crockett County ranchman, was a business visitor in Midland last week; he said his country and livestock are in good shape.

Ed Guy Branch of Rankin reported here he had received about 1 1/2 to 2 inches of rain on his ranch.

After five years of summer grazing experiments to test various ways of handling grazing land, so as to develop information which will increase the productivity and value of native grass, the Spur experiment station has released the following summary of findings:

Stocking pastures at the average rate of one steer to 5.04 acres for a 146-day period to utilize 40 per cent of the native grass has increased acre gains from 27 to 29 pounds, and steer gains from 98 to 148 pounds per head when compared with pastures stocked at the rate of one steer to 3.4 acres to utilize 75 per cent of the forage.

At the close of the grazing season, 47 per cent of 71 head of yearling steers used on lightly-stocked pastures for six years graded "low good" or higher in fleshing. But, only three per cent of 108 steers used on heavily-stocked pastures graded "low good" or better.

On lightly-grazed buffalo grass pastures, contour listing on 39-inch centers increased annual acre gains six pounds, or 23 per cent. Contour listing did not increase gains on heavily-grazed buffalo or tobosa grass pastures, but it did increase the vegetative cover.

Rotation grazing on native buffalo and tobosa grassland has not increased gains or improved the grass cover.

Pastures with a predominance of tobosa grass that occupy flatter areas have produced greater gains per acre than pastures with a predominance of buffalo grass on sloping land.

Removal of a moderate stand of mesquite has increased acre gains 9.88 per cent and steer gains 22 pounds per head when compared with pastures left in brush.

Bottomland pastures that are occasionally flooded have produced 96 per cent more gain per acre and 80 pounds more gain per steer than upland pastures.

The greatest gains by yearling steers at the station during summer months are made in April, May and June. 80 per cent of the total gain for the season is made by July 1; 72 per cent is made by August 1; and 84 per cent by September 1.

Buffalo and blue grama grasses have high nutritive value in Spring and Summer, but without moisture tend to be low in protein, phosphorus and palatability in the Fall. Clippings made of buffalo and blue grama grasses at monthly intervals show that 84 per cent of forage is produced by August 1.

Arabs Challenge Fate In Refusing Extension Of Palestine Truce

By DEWITT MACKENZIE, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The refusal of the Arabs to join the Jews in renewing the truce in the Palestine truce indicates that the former believe they can win the conflict.

Without challenging their undoubted capabilities as fighters, one is moved to remark that they are venturing out on a mighty shaky limb.

The battle for the Holy Land has become a much broader issue than merely the establishment of a national home for the Jews or the maintenance of the Arab status quo. The fate of Palestine is of vast moment to the whole world. This is true not only in that it is sacred to Christianity, Judaism and Mohammedanism, but in the political, economic and military sense.

The Holy Land is the strategic heart of the land bridge connecting three continents—Asia, Europe and Africa. It is vital to the defense of the Suez Canal; and a few miles to the eastward are the great underground seas of petroleum which play an increasingly important part in oiling the wheels of the world.

Two Alternatives. Britain reportedly has been warning down upon their heads the condemnation of the United Nations. However, hopes of achieving a permanent settlement have been pretty thin. Many observers incline to the belief we may have reached the point where only two alternatives remain for solution of the problem.

Either the United Nations must enforce peace, using troops if necessary, or the Arabs and the Jews must be allowed to fight to a finish.

The second alternative would be too terrible for contemplation. And apart from all other considerations, it would be a firebrand which might set the whole world aflame again.

The Southern Democratic Rebellion may band around Gov. Fielding Wright of Mississippi as a presidential hope. Wright, one of the most outspoken critics of Truman's Civil Rights Program, has been mentioned as a "Dixiecrat" candidate. denial and vice presidential candidate for southern voter support in the election if the Democratic convention nominates President Truman. The states' rights organization, launched by Gov. Fielding L. Wright of Mississippi, has headquarters at Jackson, Miss. The Socialist, Prohibition and Greenback parties are known as "minor" parties rather than third or fourth parties. Third and fourth parties are offshoots of the two major parties—Republican and Democratic. Henry Wallace, presidential candidate of this year's third party is a former Democratic vice president. Back in 1896 William Jennings Bryan was the presidential nominee of both the Democrats and the Populists in the race against the Republican candidate, William McKinley. The Populists, composed of disgruntled Democrats and Republicans in the western farm areas, were a strong third party. Didn't Like Platform A number of conservative Democrats didn't like Bryan's free silver platform and bolted the party. Some formed a fourth party called the Gold Democrats and nominated Gen. John Palmer of Illinois for President. He failed to get any electoral votes. Nonpartisan political observers say that a southerner nominated by states' rights Democrats might win a number of electoral votes in the south this year. The 10 states comprising the so-called "solid south" have a total of 127 among the 531 electoral votes in the whole country. There were four parties in the 1860 presidential race, shortly before the onset of the Civil War. Stephen Douglas of Illinois, was the candidate of the so-called regular Democratic organization against Republican Abraham Lincoln. A third party was composed of Southern Democrats who split with Northern Democrats on a slavery plank in the party's platform. Their presidential candidate was John C. Breckinridge of Kentucky. A fourth party composed of remnants of the old Whig and Know-Nothing parties called itself the Constitution Union Party. It met at Baltimore and nominated John Bell for the presidency. None of the four presidential candidates received a majority of the popular vote, Lincoln being first and Douglas second. Lincoln, however, had a majority of the electoral vote. Breckinridge, strong in the south, stood second in electoral votes.

Jim Prince Still Batting King

By the slender margin of one point, Jim Prince of the Midland Indians retained his Longhorn League batting lead through games of July 6, statistics from the loop statisticians reveal.

Prince hit for a mark of .391 to edge Pat Stacey of the Big Spring Brones, who posted a percentage of .380. For regular batters, Fernandez of Big Spring had .371 as did Bob Cowser of Odessa. Gann, a Sweetwater pitcher, was up there with .364 in 39 games. Calota of Del Rio had a mark of .358. Julian Fressley of Midland, a thrower, had a mark of .357 in four games. Other big 10 batters included: Brinkopf of Odessa .356, Williams of Ballinger .354, McCaskey of Vernon .351.

Melillo and Clay of Midland were 300 hitters with marks of .306 and .303 respectively. Jakes dropped to .287 and Wupp to .275.

In team batting, Sweetwater topped the circuit with an average of .338. Midland was in fourth place with a team percentage of .312. Vernon led in team fielding with a .449 mark. CONDITION IMPROVED
The condition of E. N. Spiars, 1208 West Kansas Street, who injured his back recently while loading equipment, is reported to be "much improved."

White-tailed deer especially like second growth trees and shrubs or thickets.

With the coming of Ralph Ketcher, pitcher, and who is billed as ambidextrous, to the Longhorn League, it might bring up switch hitting and switch pitching.

A batter can change, right or left, any time before the pitcher gets into position. But if he changes from one batsman's box to the other after the pitcher takes the rubber, he is automatically out, according to Rule 44, Section 10.

Similarly, a pitcher may change from southpaw to a right-hander or vice-versa in the middle of a game, or even after he has rung up a count against a batter.

There has been no ambidextrous pitcher in the modern history of the majors.

Byron Nelson, Mister Golf himself, will play an 18-hole exhibition at the Odessa Country Club July 29. Lord Nelson will present a demonstration clinic at 1:30 p. m. that day and at 2 p. m. he will tee off partnered with Bob French of Odessa against Lloyd Watkins, Midland pro, and Red Roden of Odessa. Gallery fee for the day is $1.50.

Kruger Jewelry Company of Midland comes up with a plan whereby the "Player of the Week" can be selected by Midland fans and thus receive a watch from the firm.

Down

Came home from a week's vacation and found my Indians, your Indians, Webb's Indians skidding on a road trip, which was closely akin to disastrous.

After a gloomy consultation with those here who follow them closely, our diagnosis is: There is nothing wrong with the Indians that a clean sweep over Odessa won't cure.

The Tribe should have "stood" in bed what with this happening to it on a 11-game swing down country. Won four, lost seven. Beat Vernon three out of four then was swept by Big Spring three straight, then lost three of four to Sweetwater including a twin killing.

We find most of the runs which beat Midland on the trip were unearned. The pitching was satisfactory. The fielding was not so hot. A little of the Irish variety at a point or so and the results would have been vastly different. A realistic pixie reminds us, too, that holding onto the ball at a time or so, or breaking up a double play once in awhile, or perhaps a timely hitting attack, a squeeze play for a change, MIGHT have done what luck didn't.

Quian sabe? (yes, who knows). Anyway, Odessa is here. Boys, for somebody's sake, take those Odessa. For, as we first diagnosed, there's nothing wrong with the Indians a string of victories on this home stand won't cure.

Midland's new pitcher is Dale (Lefty) Grove, wrong-hander of last season with the Indians. Grove left Midland for Henderson another loop, wound up at Clovis and thence came here.

As a 1947 Indian, Grove won nine and lost 12. He had a lot of stuff with plenty of hook at times and at others he was as wild as home brew.

Here is Grove's pitching record with us last season: games 28, completed games 11, won 9, lost 12, innings pitched 179, at bat 762, runs 159, hits 201, earned runs 116, bases on balls 118, hit batters 8, strikeouts 197, wild pitches 10, balks 0, earned run average 5.83.

He hit for a mark of .347 and fielded .950.

We needed a left-hander and we needed one bad. Lefty Grove could be the difference when the roll is called out yonder in September. We hope he comes through.

Strong American Olympic Track Team Completed

EVANSTON, ILL. (AP)—Two mighty sprinters, Barney Ewell and Mel Patton, and a middle-distance double winner, Mal Whitfield, won the right Saturday to lead one of the strongest of all American Olympic track teams to the games of the fourteenth Olympiad in London starting July 29.

A series of disasters, however, eliminated some of the greatest names of trackdom.

Charles Fournville of Michigan, who has made 58 feet 1/4 inch in the shot, almost a foot better than the world record, will be left behind, as will Gil Dodds, the peer of the milers. Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace, regarded as the best hurdler in the world, qualified for the 100-meter dash but quit in despair in the hurdle final.

Despite these blows, Head Coach Dean Cromwell was happy and confident. "We will win seven or eight firsts for sure," he said, and named a total of 14 events in which America has good chances.

Long-striding Pat — Mel Patton from the University of Southern California won the 200-meter final by a yard from Ewell, the 31-year-old Penn State alumnus, to reverse the order of finish in the 100-meter dash. Thus both became double qualifiers.

In all, 23 places were filled in 11 final tryout events before a crowd of 20,000 in Dyche Stadium, rounding out the team which comprises three athletes for each 2 track and field events, plus two relay teams.

Whitfield, representing the Army and Air Force team and a student at Ohio State, was the only double winner. He took the 800 meters in 1:50.4, and then 600 meters in 46.8. Both are the fastest times made by an American this year.

Among the marks that sparkled in the tryouts boxing well for London were: Verne McGrew, Rice, and George Stanich, Los Angeles Athletic Club, six feet 8-1/4 inches in the high jump and Francis Delaney, San Francisco Olympic Club, 55 feet 1-3/4 inches in the shot put.

Texas Softball League Enters Last Six Weeks

The Texas Softball League is moving into its final six weeks of play. Lubbock's Bluebonnet Laundry entry is assured of a Shaugnessy playoff spot with a 19-3 record.

Bert Hester, San Angelo Ragdale entry, has the loop batting lead with a mark of .351. Ralph Barhart of Bluebonnet, who has led the hit parade throughout the season, dropped to .347.

Jackie Noel of Bluebonnet is the leading hurler with 167 strikeouts in 11 games he has won.

Out of more than 130 men who have competed with the nine teams in the league, only nine are hitting over .300.

There have been 39 shutouts in 92 games played.

The standings:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Bluebonnet (L)	19	3	.864
Monahans	11	7	.611
Baldrige (L)	12	10	.545
Odessa	11	11	.500

Yanks Beat Senators In Overtime Contest

WASHINGTON (AP)—Johnny Lindell's two-run single highlighted a three-run tenth inning rally Saturday that enabled the New York Yankees to beat the Washington Senators 5-3. Vic Raschi went the route for the winners to post his tenth victory.

The score: R H E

In the tryouts boxing well for London were: Verne McGrew, Rice, and George Stanich, Los Angeles Athletic Club, six feet 8-1/4 inches in the high jump and Francis Delaney, San Francisco Olympic Club, 55 feet 1-3/4 inches in the shot put.

Umps Draw Fire As Tribe Ruled Loser, 13 To 7

The Midland Indians and the Odessa Oilers meet at 4 p. m. Sunday in Indian Park for the second battle of a three-game series. Lanky Sam Van Hooser, six wins and one loss, is slated to face the mound for the Indians.

By TANNER LAINE

Umpires Tondrick and Ehlers drew booming boos of disapproval from the fans Saturday night as the Odessa Oilers "gained" a 13-7 decision over the Midland Indians in Indian Park here.

The howling disfavor with the officiating grew to thunder in the ninth inning when Midland protested the ball game.

Time after time decisions were called against Midland. Some were glaringly wrong and in the open, others were the covered kind like one which brought the Indians to a fever temp in the eighth ninth.

This is it: Wells of the Oilers hit a foul ball. Specht, Midland catcher, ran after it and his mitt dropped. The umpire awarded Wells a triple scoring Rheingans, who had been hit with a pitched ball. Here is what the rule book says: If the batsman hits a ball which a fielder hits with a thrown glove, cap or mask . . . the batsman is credited with a three base hit . . . and all resulting runs count. "As we and 1,000 fans saw it—Specht did not hit the ball with his mitt. Umpire Tondrick said he did or else how could Umpire Tondrick rule a triple?"

On several occasions prior to this the umpires were under fire. Once when Collins was called out at first, once when Jakes was hit by a ball, which the plate umpire ruled a hit ball and Jakes was thrown out at first, and on three or four other calls.

As the game went, errors (eight of them) hurt the Indians but not as much as the umpiring, one fan said. We heard plenty of amens to that.

Midland got a run in the first when Jakes homered. Odessa came back with two in the second and Midland countered with two in the third. Odessa added one each in the fifth and sixth frames, three in the seventh, one in the eighth and five in the fatal ninth. Midland tied up the game with four tallies in the seventh.

Fans swarmed after the umpires when the game was over but they were whisked away with police protection.

Committee Recommends Municipal Golf Course

The temporary committee which had been appointed to investigate possibilities of building an 18-hole golf course in Midland met at Frank True's office Friday night.

The committee recommended that a public meeting be held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in the high school auditorium, when the advisability of establishing a municipal course will be voted upon. Thus, at the Wednesday meeting, those in attendance will vote whether to petition the city to call for an election to see if citizens favor a municipal course. Such an election would decide whether voters would support a bond issue for a "park improvement program," including the course.

Members of the committee, including J. P. Carson, Jr., Harry Rhoads, Henry G. Krauss, Alan Lopez and Ray Trammell.

Home Insulation Meets Challenge

By DONALD C. WILLIAMS
AP Staff Writer
STATE COLLEGE, Pa. — Most condensation a new public enemy. Condensation puts captive moisture between the interior and exterior of your home, says the Pennsylvania State College Engineering Experiment Station where preventative measures and cures are being studied.

The newer, better-built, compact and easy-to-heat homes are especially susceptible to condensation's attack — to saturate and rot the structure. This is due to the sealing of cracks and crevices with insulation, explains F. G. Hechler, director of the Penn State experiments.

"When we design a home today," says Hechler, "we're interested in keeping the heat in and the cold out, and vice versa. The Penn State engineer declares the moisture indoors exerts a great pressure to go outdoors. It penetrates the porous interior wall. If the moisture seeps through the exterior wall as rapidly as it enters from the warm side, no serious damage results. But if the moisture does not escape it causes condensation."

Hechler has these suggestions for reducing condensation in your home:

1. Place a barrier to the passage of vapor within the wall, somewhere near the warm surface.
2. Ventilate your attic regularly.
3. Eliminate sources of excess humidity. Never dry laundry in your home.
4. Paint porous interior walls.
5. If you have a crawl space under your home, cover the ground surface with asphalt roofing to reduce the amount of water evaporation.

Modern home builders, who found the economically heated home also uncovered a new and very serious problem in condensation, Hechler declares.

Moisture Barrier
Insulating batts are now available with a moisture barrier on the face. Mineral wool batts come complete with moistureproof paper. Some combine the reflective insulation of aluminum foil with the blanket insulation of batts. Metal foil naturally forms a vapor barrier.

Ventilation of crawl spaces is highly important. Such ventilation should not be closed in cold weather. Ralph R. Britton, engineering adviser to the Housing and Home Finance Agency, made a study of condensation damage and reported:

"Wood has rotted away, steel has corroded badly, insulation has deteriorated, and there have been many paint failures in outside walls. We have also experienced deterioration of inside plaster finishes, and in some cases total collapse of ceilings."

Mix chopped tongue and hard-cooked eggs, season with salt and pepper and mix with salad dressing for a sandwich filling. Serve sandwich on a plate with shredded cabbage and cucumber topped with Thousand Island Dressing.

Compact And Attractive Dwelling

This attractive and compact dwelling is complete with a four-room living unit on the first floor and a basement with heating system. The house may be expanded by adding two bedrooms and bath upstairs when desired. A staircase with door at top may be built during initial construction. It has clapboard exterior walls and plastered interiors. Many built-in conveniences are featured.

Gain Needed Space By Modernizing Old Fashioned Kitchen

Today's housewives have learned the advantages of a small, modern kitchen as compared with the large, old fashioned kind of another day. In the latter, the equipment usually is so spread out around the room that many tiresome steps are required for preparation of a single meal. In the modern type, compactness saves steps—and compactness is a direct benefit of space-saving innovations in home equipment, such as built-in cabinets and completely recessed heating units.

Most owners of older homes, perhaps, prefer such a modernized kitchen, yet do not realize they can have one at comparatively little cost. By simply dividing the present large unit into two or more rooms, a home owner can have a modern kitchen, plus an extra room or two for other purposes.

Porch May Be Dropped To Cut House Costs

A porch is the first thing you can leave off a house when the plan gets beyond your budget. It also is one of the easiest things to add later.

Porches are expensive to build. They cost from half to two-thirds as much as a room of equal size. Building costs usually are figured by the cubic foot. Open porches are counted for half of their cubic content. Screened porches often figure at two-thirds of their cubage. Porches glassed-in cost about the same as a complete room.

Face-Lifting Is Recommended For Old Dwellings

CHICAGO—With millions of new homes dotting the nation, houses built in past generations tend to show their age all the more by contrast. This is particularly true of dwellings which have been abused through neglect or excessive weathering. To put these shabby shelters on terms of social equality with their newer neighbors, building experts recommend a modern face-lifting treatment.

The specialists to consult, the experts advise, are craftsmen versed in the application of new siding materials. New siding, combined with simple structural modernization and landscaping, will work wonders in transforming an antiquated house into an attractive, modern home.

Materials developed within the last two decades make exterior rejuvenation of homes an easy and economical procedure. Among the materials most in demand is asbestos cement siding.

An asbestos re-siding treatment provides many benefits, including protection against wind infiltration and heat loss, fire protection and economy of upkeep.

Takes $44,300 Step For Last Half Building

Midland took a $44,300 step in construction in the week ending Saturday to start the second half of 1948 with a total of $2,258,625 in building permits.

Largest permit of the week went to R. K. Kimberlin for construction of a $11,000 brick and frame residence at 1808 West Louisiana Street. Size will be 50 by 24 feet.

Joe Hunt was issued a permit for $10,000 to build a brick veneer residence at 300 South Marfield Street. This will be a duplex and the size is 37 by 28 feet.

Other permits listed:

Howard L. Stanley, $6,800, brick and tile residence at 1897 West Louisiana, 47 by 22; O. M. Darr, $6,000, frame residence with attached garage at 302 West Estes, 45 by 32; G. G. Ponder, $6,000, frame residence with asbestos siding at 208 West Cowden, 25 by 51, garage attached; Guy Spinks, $1,500, alter frame residence at 2400 West Holloway, 14 by 30; Steve Streun, $1,000, alter frame residence at 409 South Minola, 14 by 28; Nathan Heidelberg, $1,000, alter frame residence at 812 South Colorado, 12 by 12; Mrs. Dovie Bell Taggart, $400, alter frame residence at 1508 South Big Spring, 24 by 24; Mrs. J. T. Ragsdale, $300, alter frame residence at 409 North Marfield, add 4 by 8 room; Romaldo Mendoza, $300, frame residence at 913 North Lamesa Road, 20 by 36.

Tombstone's Boothill Epitaphs Tell Stories

TOMBSTONE, ARIZ.—(AP)—Epitaphs in Boothill Graveyard here tell some of the story of early Tombstone—the town "too tough to die."

President Truman gave national prominence to the Western lore of the cemetery when he paraded his White House efforts to the life of a cowboy whose headstone reads "Here Lies Jack Williams. He done his damndest."

Many of the original epitaphs of the men who died with their "boots on" were collected by souvenir hunters before a watch was kept over the graveyard.

Boothill's first group of graves mark the climax of the famous Clanton-Earp feud which ended with "blazing gun play" 37 years ago. The single marker reads: "Tom McLowery, Frank McLowery, Bill Clanton — Murdered on the streets of Tombstone." That's the quoted opinion of Clanton sympathizers.

Then there's George Johnson who had a sad demise. He was—"Hanged by Mistake," or so his marker reads. Other hangings weren't accidental with an 1884 head board attesting to the legal execution of Dan Dowd, Red Sample, Bill DeLaney, Tex Howard and Dan Kealy. Trial of the five, accused of killing four townspeople during a holdup, was conducted legally, but mob justice had its say.

"Died of Wounds" ends one man's story, with "Ambushed by Apaches" and simply "Killed by Indians" vividly telling another Western history chapter. Dumped unceremoniously in his final resting place, a cowboy's epitaph tells of his death: "John Blair. Died of smallpox. Cowboy thrown rope over feet and dragged him to his grave."

Don't Let Gadgets Stunt Your House

Don't worry about gadgets when building a home.

Gadgets are changed and improved constantly, so the smallest number built into a house, the better.

Since most of these accessories are powered by electricity, the important thing is to have adequate outlets.

Radar is an abbreviated form of the phrase "radio direction and ranging."

TEXAS BOYS RANCH GETS TOO BIG FOR ITS BRITCHES By HAROLD V. RATLIFF AMARILLO (AP)—Boys Ranch is getting too big for its britches. Cal Farley, the man who founded it a decade ago, is doing a tailoring job. He's making it in name what it has become in fact—a national institution. Today there's a railroad station in the mesquite-studded foothills north of this Panhandle city with the sign "Boys Ranch." So there will be a post office with the same name. Boy's Ranch, where youngsters get another chance, is only a few miles east of this town on the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad. You reach it on a winding rocky road out through the sagebrush. Boothill Cemetery, one of two reminders of old Tascosa, cowboy capital of the Texas Panhandle in the 1870's, greets you as you approach the ranch. Men who died with their boots on the buried there. The second monument to the ghost town that knew Billy the Kid and other heroes is a building that once was the courthouse of Tascosa. It is the main building today of Boys Ranch. In 1938 Julian Bivins, a rich cattleman, deeded 120 acres of land to a group including Farley, Chanlor Weymouth, a rancher, and Tom Wingate, owner of a bottling company. Farley then was a rising business man of Amarillo. He had come here in 1923 to play baseball but came to operate a garage that became a big general store. He always had worked with boys and in Amarillo soon was in it up to his neck. Sold Business In the Spring of 1938 six boys were taken to the ranch with its one building. Today there are 22 buildings and 103 boys. These youngsters come from 13 states. And there's a long waiting list. Cal Farley sold his business last year and does nothing but except work with Boys Ranch. The Maverick Club and other enterprises in Amarillo having to do with helping underprivileged kids also help. The project has properties worth $750,000—all as the result of contributions from the people of the Panhandle country and from over the nation. Farley himself puts about $5,000 a year into it. There are 1,500 acres at the ranch. South of Dimmitt, Texas, is a 1,400-acre irrigated farm given to Boys Ranch by Mr. and Mrs. Dwight G. Axtell. Some of the boys are the "hired hands" at the farm. At the ranch the boys take care of 87 head of beef cattle, 27 horses, 35 hogs, 16 head of dairy cattle and 250 chickens. So far as food is concerned the ranch and farm are self-supporting. The 50-year-old Farley, once a professional wrestler and still a hearty physical specimen has no fears that Boys Ranch will ever run itself out, even when he has passed on and his dynamic leadership is lost. "It is firmly grounded and will never fall because its results are too valuable," he says. Boys Ranch really is a town. The youngsters go to church and school, ride horses in rodeos and do everything other boys do or would like to do. They also must work. Boys Ranch takes only boys no one else can do anything with except send to reform school. "We are not concerned with a record," said Farley, who is president of the enterprise. "We could make one by choosing the boys. If we took only those who needed food and financial help, we could click 100 per cent. You know, most organizations won't take bad boys to begin with." Freely Geed The record of Boys Ranch, however, is pretty good anyway. Out of 388 boys who have gone there, only 11 of them have been counted as "lost." "We could have handled half of those too if we had the manpower," Farley declares with a firm jut of his square jaw. Farley is pushing Boys Ranch forward nationally because he very frankly wants more contributions so that the scope of the project may be enlarged. He knows it is impossible but if he had his way about it, Boys Ranch would take every boy in the nation that needs rehabilitating. If you don't think he's sincere about it all just consider this fact: he sold a business that was paying him more than $60,000 a year so he would have nothing to interfere with his work with boys. Today he has no income; he's just living on what he has accumulated in a quarter of a century of business in Amarillo. "It's not a rich man but I have enough," he says. Here's an example of the type boy the ranch is giving a chance in life: Dortha Kelley, Farley's secretary, was helping one day at the ranch while a physician removed the tumor of one of the newcomers. He was a skinny kid who showed evidence of having been beaten around frequently before the ranch got him. "When the boy came out from under the influence of the anes-

CIO Ford Employees Will Take Strike Vote DALLAS (AP)—A Dallas CIO union official said Saturday that some 100,000 CIO employees of Ford Motor Company have been ordered to take a nationwide strike vote in support of wage demands. Ben F. Tyra, regional secretary of the CIO United Automobile Workers Union, said about 1,150 professional and maintenance workers at the Dallas Ford plant would participate in such an election. He said balloting probably would be held Wednesday. Longfellow Birthplace Wrecked By Youngsters PORTLAND, ME. (AP)—The birthplace of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow—often called the children's poet—has been ransacked by youngsters, police said Saturday night. Framed pictures were slashed and broken. Statues were broken and fragments were scattered in the rooms. Furniture was overturned and smashed. Books were torn and windows broken. French Broken X-Ray Joy Goes To Jail LE HAVRE (AP)—A doctor has been sent to jail for a year for X-raying patients with a machine that wasn't working. They became suspicious when they received bills for radiography, but no X-ray photographs. They enlisted the help of another doctor, who sent his assistant in the guise of a patient. He discovered a broken filament. In addition to the year in prison the Havre Criminal Court sentenced the first doctor to pay 225,000 francs (about 750 dollars) damages to his duped clients. Some Thieves Are Too Well Prepared TULSA, OKLA. (AP)—A Tulsa motorist thought his idea for keeping his automobile safe from thieves ingenious. Every night he placed a heavy chain through one of the wheels, looped it around a tree in his yard, and then looked the ends together with a large padlock. But one morning he awoke to discover his car missing. Officer Jim Osborne reported someone removed the wheel, replaced it with a spare, then drove away. Moses lack vascular tissue, and hence rarely attain great size. The vascular tissues provide a system of pipes or tubes for transport of water and food. Young New Zealand cuckoo birds fly across several thousands of miles of open ocean to winter quarters in Polynesia, with no older birds along to show them the way.

Laughs at His Former Captors

Itzak Valentchik, Irgun fighter in Tel Aviv, who escaped from the British prison at Acre, Palestine, laughs derisively at the "Wanted" poster which pictures him and fellow fugitives. Valentchik had his face remodeled and his hair dyed to prevent detection. He claims all 40 who escaped with him are still free. (Photo by NEA-Acme staff correspondent David S. Boyer.)

Families—

rest a man simply because his wife calls and asks them to throw him so far back in jail he can't hear train whistles. One of the combatants has to sign a complaint unless, of course, the other has committed mayhem or something close to it.

Age-Old Observation
And officers frequently are impressed with the truth of the age-old observation that the best way in the world to find yourself fighting two people is to try to separate a fighting married couple.

Not long ago, a woman called Midland police and wanted them to arrest her spouse right away. She had caught her beloved out night-climbing with a girl friend. She signed a complaint, and the husband was arrested. Thirty minutes after the wayward hubby was jailed, the wife showed up with enough money to bail him out. Police shrugged philosophically. They have learned to expect such things.

A man came into headquarters and wanted police to do something about his wife. It seems every time he went home with a paycheck his wife took it away from him. Then, she and her relatives spent it for beer.

Wife's Kinfolk
Another one appeared at headquarters last week with a pathetic story about his wife's kinfolk. They were numerous, he said, and all had moved into his house. He didn't even have a place to sleep.

Then there was the case of the husband who wanted officers to do something about a man who kept hanging around his wife. Every time he went home from work, he said, there was the other man, always lounging around in the way.

Another many "family" calls come from the negro and Latin American quarters of the city, though there are more than enough from other sections, too.

Male Hog-Tied
From down in the "flats" came a frantic call from a wife who wanted officers to take charge of her mate. But a neighbor woman reached the scene before police could get there. When officers arrived, they found the two women had hog-tied the man with baling wire and were administering a veritable thrashing of blows, kicks and strong language.

A woman called headquarters saying she'd be only too glad to sign a complaint against her husband. He had beaten her, she said, and she wanted him to be surrounded by bars. When police went to the home to pick up the wife, and the lady asked them to mind their own business. She had called her husband a dirty name, she said, and he had a perfect right to whip her whenever she called him that.

Down in the Latin American quarter, members of the force say, it is not uncommon for a man to pile his wife's clothes out in the front yard and make a bonfire of them when he comes home for a meal and finds his mate gone and no food on the table.

Matrimonial Melee
Sometimes, a matrimonial melee actually results in a vacation in jail for the belligerent member of the family. For example, a husband was incarcerated after his wife had signed a complaint saying he had treated her in a manner not indicated in the marriage ceremony. She was at headquarters when the man was brought in and escorted to his cell.

"Don't worry," he said bitterly from behind the bars. "I'll get even some day. The law of averages will take care of me."
"That's exactly what I've always told you!" screamed his wife. "The average law will take care of you!"

war service standards and that real progress has been made. "I can assure you that the situation at Midland does not arise from management neglect or from lack of interest or effort on the part of the operating force, but is due principally to the unprecedented nationwide demand for both local and long distance telephone service, which demand, unfortunately, we have been unable wholly to meet and to the difficulties we have encountered in maintaining a seasoned force at Midland."

The situation nationally is illuminating. As of September, 1945, there were over two million orders for service on Bell System waiting lists. By the end of May this year, nearly three years later, there were still a million four hundred thousand unfilled orders, this despite the fact that in that period the system had increased the number of telephones in service by over eight million.

New Equipment
"Before the war, the Western Electric Company, our manufacturing department, was operating plants principally in three locations. During the war when production was mostly for army and navy use, these plants were expanded somewhat and at the end of the war employed 85,000 people. Since the war, in an all out effort to catch up with civilian telephone demand, Western Electric has expanded until it now operates factories in more than 25 locations and has a force of about 135,000. In general, these factories are working on a multi-shift basis, some of them seven days a week. They are putting out enough equipment each week to serve an entire city the size of New Haven or San Antonio or San Diego."

"I'm sure you will be interested in knowing how Midland has fared as to equipment allocations through this period of shortages. By the end of 1945, we will, in a two-year period, have increased the number of toll circuits terminating in Midland from 88 to 144, an increase of 111 per cent. This percentage increase is more than double the increase in the state as a whole, which is 50 per cent, and as it is attained should result in a progressive improvement in toll service. We have installed or are installing fifteen positions of switchboard and associated equipment in that time enabling us to increase subscriber line equipment by 60 per cent, which again is more than double the increase for the state as a whole. We have also added substantially our toll and associated equipment outside exchange plant in Midland, which plant provides the means of connecting new customers to the central office equipment. The number of telephones in service in Midland has increased from 1,765 in September, 1945, to 6,118 at the end of May, an increase of 83 per cent, as compared with 40 per cent for the state. This latter comparison will be more pronounced shortly when equipment now in process of installation at Midland is complete."

Telephone Problems
"From these comparisons I hope you will appreciate that not only is Midland one of our fast growing communities but that it has received proportionate equipment allocations. Altogether, the above installations to improve and extend Midland's service represent a total expenditure of over a million dollars. Midland's telephone problems, of course, are not as yet solved. The company has taken substantial action in its effort to meet the unusual and rapidly increasing demand for telephone service in the area."

"I assure you that all levels of our organization in Midland and throughout our territory are vitally interested in the kind of service provided for all of our customers and will continue to put forth every effort to provide wholly adequate service at the earliest possible time. Our feeling is that the members of our force at Midland are doing a creditable job in a situation that, unfortunately, it is not possible to completely correct immediately, but you may be assured of their interest and desire to serve you to the best of their ability."

"Rendering telephone service is a cooperative undertaking. I am confident that with the projects and plans now in the process of completion, steady improvement will be noticed and we are hoping we may have the patient support of the Chamber in our efforts."

Funeral Rites Held For Carole Landis

GLENDALE, CALIF. —(AP)—The body of Carole Landis was committed to a grave in Forest Lawn Cemetery Saturday as scores of film-dom great and would-be great watched through tear-dimmed eyes. Bishop Fred L. Pyman of the Evangelical Orthodox Church at Santa Monica officiated at the services for the 28-year-old actress, who ended her life with a sleeping potion last Monday.

Army Plans Striking Force Of 18 Units

NORFOLK, VA. —(AP)—Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall said a mobile striking force of 18 infantry and armored divisions is planned for the Army by 1949.

Royall said the divisions, six of which would be National Guard divisions, would be fully manned and equipped.

The cabinet member revealed the Army's plans in the commencement address of the Armed Forces Staff College here.

"We have been forced by circumstances—by bitter actualities—to spend a substantial part of our national effort on the expansion of our armed forces," Secretary Royall declared. "We had no alternative other than to take a dangerous chance as to the survival of our nation, its form of government and its way of life."

"It is our duty to see that the money—and above all the men—which America has entrusted to our care are not wasted."

Crime Does Not Pay; Neither Does Law

BANGKOK —(AP)—When you call a policeman in Bangkok, be sure you get a $2 a month man, not a two-bit one. One group joins the force voluntarily. These make 30 ticals a month. That's slightly less than two U. S. dollars. The rest of the force, about 6,500, are conscripts assigned by the Army. They are paid four ticals a month—about 25 cents.

The police director-general, Major General Luang Chatrakarn Kosol, says this disparity in pay makes the conscripts unsatisfactory policemen. He asked the finance ministry for more money. The budget boys turned him down.

'Booze And Bullets' Binge Costs 15 Lives

BANGKOK —(AP)—Latest reports from a "tiger gang" party in North Siam sound more and more like a Hollywood script writer on a binge.

That was the party at which Siam police wined and dined with 1,000 guests, then started shooting it out with the hosts—chieftains of the notorious "tiger gang" of bandits.

One host was killed on the spot. But his brother took to an elephant's back and crashed off into the jungle via pachyderm.

Altogether the booze and bullets binge—held to warm two fancy new houses the "tigers" had built—cost 15 lives, 10 gangsters and five villagers, including two children. Four police were seriously wounded.

FLOYDADA YOUTH DROWNS IN FLOODED CALICHE PIT

LUBBOCK —(AP)—H. A. Copeland, Jr., 14, was reported drowned Saturday in a rain-filled caliche pit near Floydada, northeast of here. His body was not recovered.

The youth was the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Copeland, Sr., of Floydada.

Fire Great Cause Of Accidental Child Death

AUSTIN —(AP)—Fire is the greatest cause of accidental death of children in the home, says Fire Insurance Commissioner Marvin Hall.

Hall said parents can do much to save their children from burning to death. He urged that inflammable materials be kept out of the reach of children, that they not be allowed to play with matches, and that they be constantly reminded of the danger of getting too close to gas heaters.

Of the 109 fire deaths reported during the first five months of this year, 38 were of children under 15, Hall said.

Mrs. C. W. Chancellor, Jr.

Miss Tela Flynt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Flynt and niece of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Hubbard, became the bride of Charles William Chancellor, Jr., in a beautiful ceremony Saturday evening in the First Methodist Church. The couple will reside in Midland.

Tela Flynt, C. W. Chancellor Jr., Married In Impressive Ceremony

Before an altar banked with baskets of pink gladiolus and Marooni daisies, and ferns, the marriage of Miss Tela Flynt and Charles William Chancellor, Jr., was solemnized in an impressive ceremony Saturday evening in the First Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Flynt and the niece of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Hubbard. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Chancellor, Sr., 1710 West Missouri Street.

Woodwardia trees and candelabra formed the background of the altar arrangement. Tapers entwined with fern and studded with pink Marooni daisies topped the chancel fall.

On the organ was a large arrangement of pink gladiolus, feverfew and Marooni daisies, and fern. The pews for relatives and the wedding party were marked with pink satin ropes and bows, and the other pews with pale pink carnations and ribbons.

Mrs. Holt Jewell played traditional wedding music before the ceremony, which was read by the Rev. Howard H. Hollowell. Miss Faisy Lou Arrington sang "I Love Thee," "All for You" and "Wedding Prayer." Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of angel blush pink satin designed with a deep square neckline of sheer illusion, long fitted sleeves which tapered to points over her hands, and a fitted bodice in scalloped panels embroidered with seed pearls in front. The very full skirt swept into a formal train.

Her full-length veil of imported French bridal illusion fell from a heart-shaped bobnet of angel blush lilies of the valley. She carried a white orchid in a bouquet of gardenias framed by lilies of the valley and tied with white satin ribbon and streaming lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Norma Jean Hubbard, and the matron of honor, Mrs. Leon G. Byerley, Jr., wore gowns of pink organza fashioned with deep scooped necklines and wide tapered collars, puff sleeves, fitted midriffs, and very bouffant gathered skirts.

Their headresses were matching pink hairbraids, bonnet-shaped and with scroll details at the back. They carried cascading bouquets of pink carnations tied with pink satin ribbon and streaming bouvardia.

The bride's other attendants were Miss Phyllis Chancellor and Miss (Continued On Page Four)

Pennsylvania Dutch Oven Treats

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor

Most interesting of the many new cook books that keep coming into my kitchen are the ones devoted to regional cooking in this country. There's an especially attractive "Pennsylvania Dutch Cook Book" by Ruth Hutchison, published by Harper and Brothers, New York. As is becoming a custom in regional recipe collections—and one to be cherished—this cook book combines folklore and cookery, by including interesting and informative comments at the beginning of each chapter.

One American custom I am personally glad to see in every part of the country is the practice of serving fruit pies with ice cream! As for the fruit pies themselves, the author of "The Pennsylvania Dutch Cook Book" says that if they were invented in New England then it is at least apparent that the Pennsylvania Dutch have developed them to their last possibility! One of the good things about this cook book is its old-fashioned recipes. Take this one, for instance, for Huckleberry Pie. Nothing could be simpler—no better. Bake the pie in the early morning, before the heat of the day descends, buy a package of ice cream before dinner, and let this luscious combination beguile you in the cool of the evening.

Huckleberry Pie

Rich pastry, 4 cups huckleberries, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, nutmeg.

Line a pie dish with the pastry, pour in the berries and sugar, mixed. Sprinkle the flour and salt over the huckleberries and add a little nutmeg. Cut air holes in the top crust, seal carefully, and bake in 350 degrees F. oven for about 40 minutes, or until crust is golden brown. Makes one 8-inch pie.

Shaker Nut Cake

One-half cup butter, 1 cup brown sugar, 2 beaten eggs, 1/2 cup water, 1 1/2 cups sifted flour, 1 heaping teaspoon baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup chopped hickory nuts.

Sift the flour into a bowl with the salt and sugar. Cut in the butter. Mix lightly. Stir in the egg yolk. Add water. Chill. Roll out lightly on a floured board. One tablespoon of lemon juice may be added if preferred, for fruit pies. Makes one 8-inch crust. Chill again before filling.

Of course just as delicious as pie-a-la-mode is cake-a-la-mode. If you can get your hands on some hickory nuts and really want to taste something good, then make the following cake and frosting from "The Pennsylvania Dutch Cook Book" and top it off with vanilla ice cream.

Hickory Nut Icing

One cup brown sugar, 1 cup sour cream, 1 cup chopped hickory nut meats, butter the size of a walnut.

Cook the sugar and cream together for a few minutes until it thickens. Add the butter and simmer until the mixture forms a soft ball if dropped into cold water. Remove from stove and cool. Beat until of a fudgelike consistency. Mix with the hickory nuts and spread quickly on the cake.

Britons Drink More Milk Than Before War

LONDON (AP)—Britons are drinking nearly twice as much milk as they did before the war when they can get it. May sales, unrationed for the last half of the month, set an all time record for consumption: 145,000,000 gallons, the National Milk Marketing Board reported. These sales were 80 per cent higher than in May, 1939. Milk rations for adults are two and one half pints per week.

WeTheWomen

By RUTH MILLETT

NEA Staff Writer
What qualities in a husband make other women say in all sincerity, "I don't see how his wife puts up with him?"

Well, here are some of the husband-types who usually bring forth that remark:

The husband who knows it all and gives his wife a verbal slap in the face every time she ventures to express an opinion he doesn't recognize as his own.

The husband who can't resist the temptation to make a pass at every attractive woman who comes along.

The husband who is stingy in money matters, so that his wife can never buy anything without wondering what he will say about it.

Great Egotists

The husband who insists that all family life revolve around his going and coming and his comfort.

The husband who is a show-off and gets his loudest laughs at his wife's expense.

The husband who takes no responsibility but pushes everything off on his wife.

The husband who is a mama's boy and is forever letting mama interfere in his life.

The husband who, either because he is impractical or downright shiftless, never gives his family the security he could.

The husband whose ego has to be fed constantly by his wife, and who never bothers to give her any build-up at all.

Flynt Rites—

Dorothy Faye Holt. Both wore dresses and hats identical to those of the honor attendants and carried cascading bouquets of pink Easter Reed daisies tied with pink satin ribbon and streaming backward.

Carol Ann Douglas, flower girl, wore a frock fashioned like those of the bridesmaids. Her headpiece was a halo of split pink carnations and she carried a pink umbrella basket filled with pink rose petals.

Groomsmen Listed: Bob Chancellor of New York City, brother of the groom, was best man. Other groomsmen were Leon G. Byerley, Jr., David S. Googins, Jr., and Harold Chancellor, another brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Bob Holt, Camden Chalk, Allen Wemple and Fred Wemple.

Candlelighters were Orman J. Hubbard, cousin of the bride, and Stuart Chancellor, brother of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Flynt chose a white chiffon dress fashioned with a high, round neckline and cap sleeves sprinkled with silver sequins, and a full skirt. Her accessories were silver and orchids made up her corsage.

A blue crepe gown designed with a V-neckline, short sleeves and a lace draped skirt was worn by the bridegroom's mother. Her flowers were sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Hubbard was gowned in pale blue chiffon with a deep V-neckline, cap sleeves and bodice dotted with gold sequins, and a full skirt. Her corsage was of orchids.

Reception Held: Immediately after the ceremony, a reception was held in the Crystal Ballroom of the Hotel Scharbauer. Guests were received by the bride and groom.

An all-white motif was carried out for the serving table, which was covered with a satin cloth and had a centerpiece of gladioli, lily of the valley, Maroon daisies and feverfew.

On one end was the five-tiered wedding cake and on the other the silver punch service. Silver candelabra completed the appointments.

Fern topped with a white satin bow encircled the mirrored rear wall, and the wall lights were accented with pink Ester Reed daisies and maine nosegays tied with pink ribbons.

Box wood, fern, ivy and artificial grass decorated the bandstand, which was flanked with basket arrangements of pink gladioli and Maroon daisies. Similar basket arrangements outlined the room.

House Party Members: Members of the house party received white carnation corsages.

Serving the cake were Mrs. Ruth Scharbauer, Mrs. Guy Cowden and Mrs. Joe Youngblood. The punch service was presided over by Mrs. Tom Nance, Mrs. Essie Stafford and Mrs. Watson LaForce. In charge of the guest register were Mrs. Dayton Bliven, Miss Shirely Culbertson and Miss Mary Lee Cowden.

Music was furnished by Mrs. Holt Jowell and Mrs. Frank Miller. Other members of the house party were Mrs. Roy Parks, Mrs. J. Howard Hodge, Mrs. L. G. Byerley, Mrs. C. G. Campbell, Mrs. Frank Cowden, Miss Elizabeth Ann Cowden, Mrs. George Glass, Miss Monte Jo Glass, Mrs. M. C. Ulmer, Mrs. Lee Cowden, Mrs. Frank Williamson, Mrs. Bill Saunders, Mrs. Duke Jimerson, Mrs. Ben Black, Miss Alma Faye Cowden, Mrs. Tom Sealy, Mrs. Jack Wilkinson, Mrs. Frank Miller, Mrs. De Lo Douglas, Mrs. Al Cowden, Mrs. Jimmy Walker, and Mrs. Clyde Cowden.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harrell Flynt of San Angelo, Frank Flynt of Ballinger and Miss Annette McBride of Dallas.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to New Mexico and Colorado, the bride was wearing a softly tailored, light colored gabardine suit fashioned with a long fitted jacket, self-covered buttons, and a slim skirt. Her blouse was brown, and her accessories were beige and brown. Her hat, also brown, was softened with veiling and a feather trim.

Watch Out for That Chow Hound

Ice cream's awful nice on these dog days, two little Woodlyme, N. J., girls agree. But every dog likes ice cream as much as the girls. So, with 2-year-old Lela Volpe watching, Janet Brooks, 6, has her cone licked by the dog.

Home Demonstration Club Discusses Ways Of Simplifying Work

Directions for making a dust cloth especially suitable for West Texas were given by Mrs. E. W. Vanderpool at the meeting of the West-side Home Demonstration Club Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Guy Craghton, 1409 West Louisiana Street.

Mrs. Vanderpool suggested dissolving two tablespoons of Kerosene in one quart of warm water and mixing the solution thoroughly. After the dust cloth has been soaked in the solution, it should be wrung out, dried, and placed in an air-tight jar until it is used.

Mrs. Vanderpool's suggestion was made during discussion of the program topic on work simplification which she led.

The program was preceded by a short business meeting and roll-call. The members answered by giving new ideas for vegetable cooking.

Present at the meeting were Mrs. Vanderpool, Mrs. L. F. Moncrief, Mrs. Joe Chastain, Mrs. Leslie Brown, Mrs. Creighton, and two guests, Mrs. O. B. Jackson and Mrs. L. N. Shorck.

Combine sauteed mushrooms and diced cooked ham in a cream sauce for a supper dish; flavor with finely minced green pepper and a few teaspoons of prepared horseradish.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drugstore and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Barcostrin. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoons three times a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reasonable pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Lost 47 Pounds: "When I commenced to take Barcostrin, I weighed 212 pounds. I now weigh 165. I lost 25 pounds on the first two bottles. I think it is a wonderful medicine and thanks to Barcostrin."—Mrs. George Greuz, Chalmers Courts 4, Apt. 1, Austin, Texas.

Lost 20 Pounds: "I lost 20 pounds taking four bottles of Barcostrin and I feel fine."—E. M. Colton, 212 26th Street, Corpus Christi, Texas.

WE THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

Women spend about a quarter of their lives—or about 17 years—shopping, says a commercial designer.

That's a pretty staggering estimate, considering that all time spent shopping is tiring, and much of it is pretty frustrating.

So why don't we women cut down our shopping time? We don't have to try on a dozen dresses, if the first one we try on suits us.

We don't have to buy articles that we know full well will be returned the next day. Yet look at the shoppers who make a practice of returning merchandise.

We don't have to drive or walk from one end of town to the other trying to save a few pennies on a purchase. Such tactics eat up time and energy, which is worth a few pennies, too.

Plan Gifts Ahead

We don't have to spend half a day looking for a birthday present for Aunt Maggie. We should make notes on what our relatives and friends say they want, or what our eyes tell us they actually need.

We don't have to lengthen our shopping trips, by being vague to sales clerks. A good clerk can help a customer in a hurry, if the customer knows and says exactly what she wants and sets a price limit on it. Plenty of women waste their time looking at things they could never afford to buy.

We women may spend a quarter of our lives shopping, but we don't have to, if we practice efficiency.

More than 150 kinds of cheese are made in the United States and Europe.

Every Baby Has Its Own Personality, Say Experts On Children's Behavior

AP Newswriters
NEW YORK—The doubting Thomas who pooch poos a parent's proud claim that his baby is different from others may have to change his tune now.
Babies are different, says Dr. Arnold Gesell, noted child specialist and founder-director of The Clinic of Child Development at Yale University. Even during the first year of life they have personalities of their own.

Dr. Gesell has just written a book, "Studies In Child Development," in which he reports the results of a five-year study on the human infant.
Using motion pictures to record every movement of the infant, Dr. Gesell says that as early as the ages of 8 and 12 weeks, he was able to discern the highly dynamic personality of "Boy D." After a full year of observation, he was able to characterize "Boy D's" individuality as "quick active, happy, friendly, well adjusted, vigorous, forceful, alert, inquisitive. Although he was definitely extroverted, he showed at the early age of 24 weeks a surprising discriminativeness in reading the facial expressions of his mother. By the age of 28 weeks he had developed a moderate temper technique for influencing domestic situations which did not altogether please him. He was able to shift quickly in his emotional response from smiling to crying to achieve a desired end."

Dr. Gesell warns that "our findings must not be over-generalized, but they strongly indicate that certain fundamental traits of individuality, whatever their origin, exist early, persist late, and assert themselves under varying environmental conditions."

Parents should "enjoy their tots," says Dr. James L. Hymes, Professor of Education and Coordinator of Early Childhood Education at the State Teachers College, New Paltz, N. Y.

In a pamphlet issued by the Public Affairs Committee, entitled, "Enjoy Your Child—Ages 1, 2, and 3," Dr. Hymes asserts that parents can learn quite a bit about children from children. In fact, they can learn more than they can teach because babies know what is best for them.

A child wants to do only what needs to be done, explains Dr. Hymes. When his bones and muscles are strong enough—the age depends on the individual and not on the calendar—he will begin to walk, to talk, to feed himself, to dress himself. There is nothing you can do to speed up this process.

"Some parents," says Dr. Hymes, "hold out on their children too much because they are afraid they will spoil them. They comfort them too little, hold them too little, joke with them too little."

Don't ask your child what he thinks are foolish questions, such as, "Don't you want to pick up your toys, dear?" Dr. Hymes emphasizes. The most important word in his vocabulary is "No" and that's the answer you'd probably get. What seems like a stubborn streak will probably vanish if you make flat statements instead, the booklet says. Better still, skip the talk and do what you want the child to do.

"If it is time to pick up toys, pitch in and begin picking them up," Dr. Hymes says. "Children 1 and 2 and 3 are fast learners, but they are not yet verbal. They are action people. They respond better to what you do than to what you say."

"If you tell a youngster too often that he is bad or naughty, he can come to feel that he has lost your love. And once that happens he has lost his most important reason for wanting to be good."

Parents interested in teaching their children music can do so the "play way," say Lottie Ellsworth Colt and Ruth Bampton in "Follow The Music," a book for four-to-nine-year-olds, just published. Educationally speaking, say the authors, they help to develop in the mind and body of the child a feeling of co-ordination, quick response, alertness and cooperation in group participation.

Winning Combination

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON—

Doldrums Hit Capitol Hill

By TEX SABLEY
 WASHINGTON (AP)—The doldrums have hit Capitol Hill. "I've never seen so little mail as we're getting now," said Mrs. Julia Lynch Pickard of Huntsville, secretary to East Texas Rep. Tom Pickett. "I suppose most people keep up pretty well on the doings of their congressman, and know when he's down home."
 That's the way it is in most of the Texas congressional offices, with only one or two secretaries remaining in each. Other secretaries are back in Texas to run the legislators' offices.
 Mrs. Edith Welborn Henderson for example, returned to handle the secretarial work in Palestine, for Representative Pickett. The congressmen will spend much of the Summer in their home towns, but they will also get out to the other towns in their districts to keep the political fences mended. They know constituents want them to keep in close touch with problems in every community, and do a lot of handshaking and visiting. If they have opponents they have to do it; if they don't they usually do it as a good means of forestalling opposition.

One of the few Texas congressmen still here is the tall and colorful Rio Grande Valley Rep. Milton West of Brownsville.

He is in the Army's Walter Reed Hospital, almost completely recovered from a serious throat infection that has bothered him for several months.

Once a Texas Ranger on the border, West came to Congress in 1933 to succeed John Nance Garner, when Garner became Vice president.

West is not seeking reelection. On the final day of the recent session of Congress, he was overwhelmed by tributes paid him by members of both sides of the aisle.

The eulogies started when Rep. George Mahon of Colorado City, as chairman of the Texas delegation, arose to note that West had recovered sufficiently to show up for the closing session.

Democratic and Republican members alike arose to a man and applauded. Then at least a score or more asked for recognition to voice their sentiments.

Clever Tucks Adjust Petticoat Hemlines

By EPSIE KINARD
 NEA Fashion Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—Bright idea in petticoat design which should win rousing feminine "whoo's" of approval is the flexible tuck by which hemline length can be adjusted.

The tuck which allows for easy hoisting or lengthening of a petticoat by means of ribbon lacings or buttons-and-loops is the inventive trick of Thea Tewi. Long famed for innovations which wed the functional with the glamorous in lingerie, Tewi believes that the petticoat which adjusts its length to the varying hemlines of dresses is needed in today's wardrobes.

Her designs showing the tucks that oblige in their two phases of operation are pictured in new 32-inch length petticoats which are available in a wide choice of costume colors. At left is a crepe petticoat richly edged with ecru lace which, as shown, has its button-up length let out to a full 34 inches. As shown in the close-up, top center, excess length folds into a tuck when a row of tiny pearl buttons encircling the hemline meet matching loops.

The scalloped petticoat, right, shows length let out from a tucking device which makes use of velvet ribbon lacings and embroidered eyelets. The close-up, lower center, shows the lacing procedure which ties up with criss-crossed ribbons a neatly folded two-inch tuck.

Gags Aren't Pulled Nowadays Like Buster Keaton's Classic

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
 NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—This, in a way, is another Hollywood re-issue of a classic. It happened 27 years ago when Hollywood was turning out great movies and great practical jokes.

Hollywood still makes an occasional classic movie but the art of elaborate practical jokes in movietown has been forgotten.

So today I give you Buster Keaton, one of the screen's great comedians of all time, and Hollywood's classic practical joke of all time. Buster still acts occasionally—he may play a baseball coach in

"Take Me Out to the Ball Game"—but his title at M-G-M now is gag specialist. He sits behind a desk with that still frozen pan and writes down little notes which, when filmed, leave people hysterical.

Top Gag Of All Time
 Now about Hollywood's all-time classic practical joke.

Buster, Sid Chaplin, Patty Ar buckle and some other fellows dreamed it up and spent weeks working it out back in 1921.

It was inspired by a very rich man in Hollywood who kept a well-stocked cellar of fine brandies, rare wines and champagnes, but when Buster and Arbuckle and his other cronies came around he served them only cheap liquor.

"We talked for months about a way to make that guy crack open his cellar," Buster said, "and finally a newspaper story gave us our cue. The story said King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium would visit Hollywood for two days. That did it—we went to work."

The rich man with the well-stocked cellar was notified on "official" Belgian embassy stationery (stolen for the occasion) that he had been selected to entertain their majesties at a formal Hollywood dinner party.

Extras Rehearsed
 He was told that the king and queen would arrive secretly in Hollywood by plane from Santa Barbara, Calif., the day before their announced arrival. The dinner would be held that night, with all of Hollywood's top stars, including Keaton and Arbuckle, as guests.

Two extras who closely resembled Albert and Elizabeth were hired and rehearsed for the greatest roles in their careers.

An airplane was chartered to transport their "majesties" from a field in the San Fernando Valley to a field near Hollywood.

Tremendous Build-Up
 Buster hired six other extras to play the roles of secret service men to guard the "royal" visitors.

Meanwhile the rich man was spending a small fortune for the "royal" dinner—a terrific, 15-course affair, with, naturally, the finest of the finest of brandies, champagnes and other wines from his carefully guarded cellar.

"King Albert" and "Queen Elizabeth" arrived at the airport on schedule. The "secret service men" were there to insure their safety. The victim was there, bowing and beaming.

Then they all drove off to his home, where the dinner guests, all in on the gag, soon arrived.

"It was one of the finest parties I ever attended," Buster said. "The extras played the role of king and queen to perfection. They were so good we tipped them $100."

"The host was the happiest man I've ever seen. It was weeks before any of us could convince him that he didn't entertain Albert and Elizabeth. The gag cost us about $1000. But it was worth it. We finally got that guy to crack open his cellar."

Officers Expected Any Driver But Collie Dog

IDAHO FALLS (AP)—Officers William Naef and Ray Jones pursued a truck they saw weaving down the highway.

It was quite a job to get the driver to stop.

Ready for a drunk driver, an argumentative driver, a sleeping driver, an inexperienced driver or almost any other kind, the officers still weren't ready for what they found when they pulled the truck door open—a Collie dog on the driver's seat, his paws on the wheel.

The vehicle had no other occupants.

Some time later, after a search of the neighborhood the officers solved the mystery. Two youngsters, flushed from their hiding place, admitted they had taken the truck for a spin, saw the officers coming, and jumped out, leaving their dog to do the driving.

Tombstone Textbook

Roxanne Price: Her textbook is an 18th century graveyard.

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEWPORT, R. I. (NEA)—An old New England cemetery with its rows of crumbling tombstones is an inspiring classroom, for young Roxanne Price.

Roxanne, 24, is one of the few women in the world who has mastered the ancient and difficult art of stone-cutting. Because hand-carved tombstones are a rarity in this mass-production era, Roxanne turns for design inspiration to the weathered masterpieces of the 18th century found in the cemeteries around this Summer resort.

A former advertising design student, the slim, brown-haired girl explains her career switch simply. "Advertising" is too commercial. I found I was much more interested in inscription carving.

With pride and pleasure she points to her work on a granite slab. Deep, brilliant letters cut with mallets and chisels offer sharp contrast to the soft, dull natural finish of the stone. It takes about four or five days for Roxanne to chisel out a design and letters on a slab.

"Almost all the lettering you see in cemeteries now is done by machine," she says sadly. "The worst faults of machine work are, I think, that the letter forms are bad and that the stones are rubbed smooth until all the character of the stone is lost."

Proof that Roxanne has mastered her craft is that she was recently made a business partner by John Howard Benson, who is said to be one of the world's leading stone-cutters.

Truman Is One Of Seven Who Inherited Job

By The Associated Press
Harry S. Truman is one of seven vice presidents who stepped into the White House on a President's death. Of the six others four merely filled out their part terms in office. The two who went on to serve an additional term on their own were the most recent in history.

The six were John Tyler, Millard Fillmore, Andrew Johnson, Chester A. Arthur, Theodore Roosevelt and Calvin Coolidge.

Tyler became President in 1841, when William Henry Harrison died after having been President only a month. Tyler's tenure was marked by constant bickering with Congress, and while he was renominated by an irregular Democratic convention in May, 1844, he withdrew from the race the following August.

Fillmore, who went into the White House in 1850 when Zachary Taylor died, was turned down for the nomination by the Whigs in 1852. Four years after the Know-Nothing Party named him and the Whig Party endorsed him. He carried only one state, Maryland.

Andrew Johnson was perhaps least fortunate of all. He became chief executive when Lincoln was assassinated in 1865, and resulting feuds with Congress led to House impeachment proceedings against him. He was acquitted, but in 1868 his party denied him renomination.

Arthur succeeded the assassinated James A. Garfield in 1881 and historians now credit him with having done an able job. But when he tried for the Republican nomination in 1884 he was passed over for James G. Blaine.

Theodore Roosevelt did better. He served three and a half years after President McKinley was shot in 1901, and then was renominated and reelected for four years on his own in 1908. In 1912, he tried for the Republican nomination, and when he started his own Bull Moose party and ran for the office. He was unsuccessful, however.

Coolidge served out Warren G. Harding's term when the latter died in 1923, was renominated and reelected in 1924, and was considered a possibility for nomination again in 1928 when he issued his "I do not choose to run" statement.

Truman served as vice president less than three months when Franklin D. Roosevelt died in his fourth presidential term in April, 1945.

Crane Stork Shower Honors Mrs. Grimes

Hostesses were Mrs. W. G. Pettit, Mrs. W. H. Pettit, Mrs. W. A. Majors, Miss Maxine Omo and Miss Joyce Sharp.

The pink and blue motif was stressed in all decorations. Refreshments of pink cherry nut cake and pink punch were served from a crystal bowl surrounded by a pink aster bouquet on a lace covered table. Blue nut cups, pink mints and miniature dolls were favors.

The gifts were laid on a white cloth and surrounded a pink and blue stork. The guest register was white silk edged in lace and lay on a pink aster centered table.

Twenty-six guests attended.

Six, was assisted by Mrs. Flynt and Mrs. O. J. Hubbard, her sister. The guests were served at individual tables decorated in a pink and white color scheme and centered with miniature white wheelbarrows containing pink sweetheart roses.

Cards decorated with tiny buttonholes marked the places and each guest received a corsage similar to those on the place cards.

Attending were Miss Norma Jean Hubbard, maid of honor; Mrs. L. G. Eberly, Jr., matron of honor; and Miss Dorothy Faye Holt and Miss Phyllis Chancelor, bridesmaids.

Others present were Carol Ann Douglas, flower girl; Mrs. Holt Jowell, organist; Miss Patsy Lou Arrington, soloist; and Mrs. De Lo Douglas.

Crane Lions Club Installs New Officers

CRANE—The Lions Club banquet Friday night was followed by installation of new officers.

District Governor M. O. Woolam of Andrews was the principal speaker and installing officer. He awarded keys to members Dr. C. Gordon Smith, Leon Neesley and Roy Ward.

New officers are: District president, R. E. Westberry, first vice president, Isidore Leeman, second vice president, Al Wood, third vice president; Dr. Smith, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. A. E. Galloway, sweetheart.

Mrs. Galloway accompanied Mary Alice Goodenough who sang "Tonight We Love" and "Manana," and Lawrence Le Bouf in a violin rendition of "Dark Eyes."

There were 45 persons present.

Most Crashes Laid To Law Violations

CHICAGO (AP)—What causes fatal automobile accidents? A joint study released by three agencies listed these points:

Seven out of 10 drivers involved in fatal accidents were violating traffic laws at the time.

One out of six had been drinking.

Persons 16 years of age drove 2,300,000 miles per fatal accident while a comparative statistic for persons 45 to 49 years was 21,900,000.

When persons pass the age of 50, their accident record again becomes worse as their physical abilities decline.

Approximately six per cent of the drivers involved in fatal accidents are women. However, women drivers account for only about one-sixth the mileage of male drivers.

The report was prepared by a joint committee of the American Association of State Highway Officials, the American Public Works Association and the Institute of Traffic Engineers. It was published by the Public Administration Service.

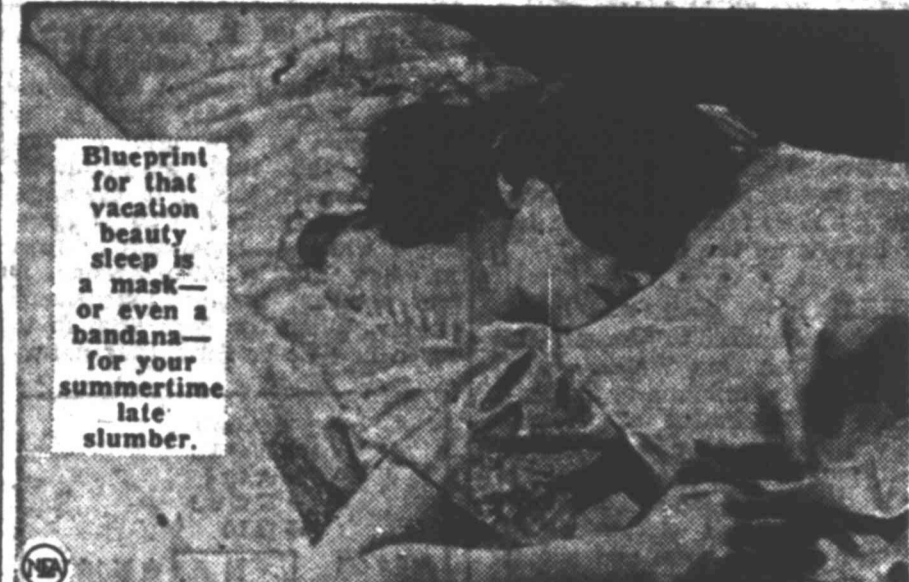

Among recommendations of the committee were that more attention should be paid to the mental and physical characteristics of the driver in designing highway facilities.

Campaign Literature Put In Wrong Precinct

DALLAS (AP)—Pierce McBride, newspaper reporter on leave to run for justice of the peace, hired three youths to pass out his literature recently.

They came for their pay, bragging, "We plastered Oak Cliff top and bottom." There was one hitch, said McBride. His precinct isn't in the Oak Cliff section.

Vacationer Enjoys Longer Sleep If Eye Shade Blocks Out Light

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer
Does your vacation offer you the alluring promise of more sleep than you usually get during the other 50 weeks of the year?

If so, watch out for a sleep thief which is frequently encountered away from home. That is light. As many an unhappy vacationer has discovered, light is not always screened out of bedrooms by adequate window drapery or dark shades.

If you don't want to take chances on being awakened at the crack of dawn by a bombardment of light, carry your own sleep shade with you. These so-called sleep shades are domino-like goggles of black cloth which, because they are featherlight, can be slept in comfortably.

Such accessories which guarantee better sleeping while you are on vacation are easy to pack and take up very little space in luggage.

An alternate solution to the problem of blocking out light, of course, is to tie a bandana around your eyes before you go to sleep in a window-shadeless room.

IF STOMACH BALKS DUE TO GAS AND BLOAT

Help Get Food Digested to Relieve Yourself of This Nervous Distress

Do you feel all puffed-up and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in helping your stomach do the job it should be doing—in the digestion of its food.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment, sour, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent acidulating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good dose of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with over-doses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait until you are ailing, millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Bitter Reprieve

By Drexel Drake

THE STORY: Playboy Marcus Sterling has stolen his wife's diamond necklace and headed it over as security on a $10,000 gambling debt to racketeer Harry Blaine. To cover the theft, perpetrated while his wife slept, Sterling makes it appear a professional burglary. He then goes to Edgewater Country Club, spends the night and establish an alibi. Along with the necklace, he has also taken a sealed packet from his wife's safe. This Marcus discovers later, in $10,000 cash which Miriam had withdrawn from the bank to give him. Next morning, Police Lt. Talent arrives at the Sterling household. Sgt. Gable shows him over the disarranged library.

ever sat here didn't smoke," he said. "At least, the ashtray's clean. But there seems to have been a drink... ring on the side-table."

Mention of that item caused the lean detective to glance across at the bar. "Nice liquor supply," he said. "Used glasses. Well, Sergeant, maybe your Stella Nelson will be able to give us a little help in here later. Where to now?"

Ben Gable's answer was delayed by a loud hubbub of noises from the front hall... a smattering of voices. "Upstairs, Lieutenant," Gable said. "If the doc's out there, he's just in time. Sounds like the picture boys are here too."

Talent noticed that a cluster of wall lights at one side of the arched doorway leading into the hall glowed brightly.

"You put on those light!" Talent asked Gable.

"No. They was on."

"Oh! Well, maybe the maid." Talent was cataloging the room.

"Three of these chairs sat in since the cushions were straightened," he said. That seemed to be primarily for Ripley, whose pencil stub was busily engaged. Talent poked a long finger cautiously into the ashtray, heaped with cigarette butts, beside one of the chairs.

"Whoever sat here must have been a chain smoker," he commented. "All Camels."

Talent crossed to the chair beside the low coffee-table, its cushions clearly showing the imprint of a recent occupant. Again the long finger probed the nearby ashtray. "Cigar smoker here," he said, "who stopped halfway through his cigar." Something among the small mounds of fine ash arrested his attention: a small, tightly pressed wafer. Talent fished it out, smoothed out a crinkled red and gold cigar band, careful to avoid tearing it. He studied the flattened band briefly, then put it meticulously into a pocket of his vest. "Don't recognize the brand," he commented. He went to the third chair that interested him. "Who-around to the far side of the bed. Talent looked on from where he stood in the doorway. His stomach wasn't too good for this sort of thing... not all at once.

"Plain, ain't it, Lieutenant?" Gable said in almost a whisper. "She heard the burglar working on that open wall safe, reached under her pillow for that little gun, he heard the move, flashed his light on her, picked up that heavy stand maybe from the little table there, and let her have it on the forehead."

COULD have been that way, Talent admitted to himself. He was watching Doc Walker, bent over the body, immune to the terrifying disfigurement of a once finely chiseled human face. A cruel jagged opening just above the bridge of the nose... a smattering of brown, dried blood spread over both eyes and across the nose and completely covering one cheek and down on the neck, spreading into dried rivulets toward a half-exposed breast...

The position of Miriam Sterling's body, twisted under her side, bore mute evidence of her last moments of life. The coverlet had been folded back, down to her waistline, as if she had been preparing to get out of the bed, or had freed herself of the covering in the act of turning. Her right arm was crooked sharply at the elbow. Just beyond the rigid fingers of her right hand, as if it had slipped from their lifeless grasp, lay a small pearl-handled revolver. In the folds of the coverlet lay the heavy candlestick that had occupied a place on the teakwood stand beside the bed.

Lieutenant Talent was beside Walker when the medical man raised himself from his task.

"How long dead, doc?" Talent asked.

"Can't say too close. Six hours anyway. Maybe around seven."

Talent looked at his watch. Eight-forty. That would make it between 1:40 and 2:40, he calculated. That would fit in with the little electric clock downstairs... stopped at 1:31.

"Better allow leeway... could have been longer," Walker amended.

ally get into a discussion of hands. In connection with today's hand, Sanford justified his seven no trump bid by saying, "It was the last hand of the game, and I knew I had to get all the points to win." However, at rubber bridge I do not think he was too optimistic.

East made the natural opening of the king of hearts. If the queen of hearts had been opened, Sanford thinks he would have been on the spot. But when he saw the king of hearts, he felt sure he was going to make the contract. He did not think that East, who was a very conservative player, would

French Require Three Days To Think Clearly

PARIS—(AP)—The French Parliament has agreed it takes three days to think clearly.

The assembly, resembling the House of Commons and the House of Representatives, passed a bill authorizing release of a number of government workers. The bill was passed after 32 hours of debate and sent on to the Council of the Republic for review. The Council of the Republic can't veto a bill, but is described as a "reflective body," whose opinions on laws passed by the assembly must be given attention.

The assembly demanded that the bill be treated as "urgent," and be acted upon by the council in the same time as the assembly. The council denounced such pressure tactics and refused to think so fast. A constitutional crisis was threatened.

Finally joint body of the two organizations met and decided that the council could take three days to reflect on a bill. Only after that would it become law arbitrarily. Moreover, it was agreed that the council doesn't have to think on Sunday. If Sunday intervenes as one of the three days, it doesn't count.

Latin America's Favorite Comedian Talks With Elbows, Pleads With Face

By CARLOS E. ESCUDERO

NEW YORK—(AP)—This fellow Cantinflas is "a blabbermouth trying to stay afloat in a flood of words."

That's Mario Moreno's description of himself. Moreno is Cantinflas, Latin America's favorite comedian. On his way home to Mexico from Europe he paused to look carefully at New York and Broadway to talk about Cantinflas.

The Mexican comedian has ways that are very much his own. Cantinflas burbling full speed ahead sounds like the tea party in "Alice in Wonderland," all by himself.

In a few months Cantinflas will go to work in Hollywood, but he does not make any more sense in English than he does in Spanish. He talks with his elbows, he pleads with his face. His language is in gestures rather than in words. The words are a sort of juggler's act with sound. His hard, dry thrusts come in stilted starts, half sentences and wordy bursts.

Master of Pantomime.

Some critics say he is a master of pantomime in a class with Charles Chaplin. He is popular from California to New York by way of Texas, from Mexico to Argentina and in Spain. The Brazilians know him too.

"I'm Dubbed Portuguese," he says. "I just have a different kind of mouth."

Mario Moreno was a law student in Mexico City before he took to the boards. His confused first performance as emergency replacement for a missing actor was a success, he ad-libbed desperately, coming up for air with a wisecrack when he could think of one. The name he chose, Cantinflas, represented his idea of inflated singing.

Slight, of medium height. His eyes are expressive, his large mouth curves upward. His ears are large, set high.

He can be impertinent and deceptively meek. The character he represents is the Mexico City "Pelado," a man-in-the-gutter type.

Point of Disaster

His costume is a pair of dirty trousers always on the point of disaster, a collarless shirt of cheap muslin, perhaps a vest, and a straw hat. Often he wears sandals rather than shoes.

A tenement dweller or sleeper-in-doorways, his business is manual labor or dubious business in general.

Moreno says Cantinflas is not like Chaplin's little man. He is happy. His philosophy is that "he does not give a mother," a Spanish expression which means roughly "well, what the heck!"

He will argue about anything and gets tangled up in big words. He can spot a phony miles away. He will steal anything not nailed down. But he will steal that if he has a hammer. All in all, Moreno says, "Cantinflas is a good Joe."

Three Months As NSLI Policy Holder Qualifies You For GI Insurance Melon

Familiar wartime scene was enacted countless times as soldiers (and sailors and marines) got their names on the dotted line for GI insurance. Last November NEA's Douglas Larsen broke the news that the boys who signed up like this were in for a dividend out of the VA's growing insurance surplus. Now Larsen brings veterans up-to-date with more news on the insurance melon they've cut.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Every World War II veteran who has had a GI insurance policy in force for at least three months—whether the policy is in force today or not—will receive a cash dividend from the government.

This is the first time that the three-month qualifying period for a dividend on National Service Life Insurance has ever been officially announced. It was revealed exclusively to NEA Service by a top VA insurance official who declined comment.

More than 14,000,000 veterans are expected to benefit. The size of the government's insurance surplus-kitty which will be divided among them has been estimated at between $1,500,000,000 and $2,000,000,000.

The average veteran will receive approximately $100, depending upon how long he has kept his policy in force, his age and several other factors.

This announcement will soon be followed by the start of the biggest accounting job ever attempted in insurance history. Some of the experts even claim that figuring GI insurance dividends is the biggest single accounting job ever tackled by the U. S. government.

The start of this staggering book-keeping task was delayed until now to await a Supreme Court decision on a case which could have wiped out the surplus. The recent decision was in favor of VA, however, which makes it possible to start on the project of handing out the dividends.

There are several explanations for the huge surplus. Outdated mortality tables were used to figure rates when NELI was created at the start of the war. And, although GI life insurance is the cheapest in the country, vets still paid too much for it.

Another reason given is that an unexpectedly large number of veterans let their policies lapse. They paid millions of dollars worth of premiums, never got any benefits, and now the government doesn't have to keep any money set aside for the event of their death.

On top of everything, all the extra premium money which collected in the fund has been drawing three per cent interest in the U. S. Treasury.

Since GI insurance was created at the start of the war, more than 20,000,000 policies have been taken out by close to 17,000,000 service men. A man can have more than one policy as long as the total of his insurance is not more than $10,000.

This means that 20,000,000 different policies will have to be carefully audited to determine just who is eligible for dividends.

There are more than 30 possible different official actions which could have been taken on each policy, including such things as waiving premiums while a man is sick.

Each action of this sort will have to be carefully checked. They may determine whether a policy qualifies for a dividend or not, or they may determine just how big the dividend will be.

In addition, a preliminary check has revealed hundreds of errors which can exist on the accounting record of each lapsed policy. Some of the errors were made by the service when the premiums were being deducted from a man's service pay. Some have since been made by the VA. Settling the questions which arise from these errors also is necessary before the exact size of the dividend on a policy can be fixed.

That audit is only the preliminary step in finally figuring the dividend each veteran will get. The exact size of the surplus which will be divided into the dividends isn't known. The total NSLI fund is $6,700,000,000. How much the VA has to keep aside for the payment of claims and other items has to be computed and deducted from that.

The final job, after every policy is audited and brought up-to-date and the size of the surplus is determined, is to figure up just exactly how much each veteran should receive.

That job alone is expected to take 2,700-man-years of work—the equivalent of 2,700 persons working one year.

According to the best estimate of VA officials, if they get money from Congress to do the job and there are no unexpected snags, the first checks should be mailed to veterans during the Summer of 1949.

GREASE CAKE PAN
Many cooks like to grease and flour a cake pan before using. To do so cover the bottom of the pan lightly with a film of fat (it is not necessary to grease the sides), then put a few teaspoons of flour into the pan. Tip and shake so the greased surface is covered with a film of flour; then invert and shake out the surplus flour.
