Truman Calls Back GOP Congress

Russians Threaten Air Ferry

BERLIN—(AP)—The Russians threatened through their official newspaper Thursday to interfere with U. S. and British planes bringing supplies and food to blockaded Berlin.

German newspapers said the city government is planning to declare a state of emergency, perhaps during the day.

The possibility of a state of emergency being declared came soon after the Soviet refusal to relieve the siege of Berlin, now in its fourth week.

Taegliche Rundschau, the official Soviet newspaper, printed this threat to the American-British air ferry service.

"Obviously the time has come to regulate the problem of air corridors," it said.

REDS PUT NEXT MOVE UP TO WESTERN ALLIES

LONDON—(AP)—Russia has refused to lift the blockade of Berlin, leaving the next move in the diplomatic duel Thursday up to the United States, Britain and France.

The Soviet also said they were willing to negotiate with the Western Allies if the talks concern the administration of all Germany and not just Berlin.

It was reported in Washington and Berlin that the Western Powers now may take the issue to the United Nations.

The Russian reply to the American note of July 6 demanding that the Berlin blockade be lifted was broadcast Wednesday night by the Moscow radio several hours after it was delivered to the State Department in Washington. Similar replies also were sent to the British and French, the broadcast said.

Dies Thursday

General of the Armies John J. Pershing, World War I leader and America's highest ranking military man, died early Thursday in Walter Reed Hospital, Washington. He had been ill since February, 1938.

John J. Pershing Dies In Washington

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Gen. John J. "Blackjack" Pershing, who led American troops to victory in World War I, died early Thursday at the age of 87.

Announcement of the general's death was made by President Truman through White House aides, after he had learned of it upon his return from the Democratic National Convention at Philadelphia.

The aged former chief of staff had been ill since February, 1938, when he was stricken at Tucson, Ariz., by a form of rheumatism which affected his heart muscles. He came close to dying at that time, but rallied with a display of fighting spirit which amazed his physicians.

Since then he had lived at Walter Reed Hospital here, in recent years staying in a wing built especially for him.

Death was caused by a blood clot which reached his lung.

MAJ. Gen. George Beach—the hospital commandant, who met Truman at the train on his arrival from Philadelphia—reported that the underlying cause was "arteriosclerosis" and "auricular fibrillation."

At Pershing's bedside were his son, Warren; his sister, Miss May Pershing; and his longtime physician, Maj. Gen. Shelley Marietta.

As general of the Armies, Pershing was the nation's highest-ranking military man. Only one other American, George Washington, has held that title.

All during the second World War, Pershing received a full report twice a month from Gen. George C. Marshall, his aide of 1917. Pershing had warned that the United States might become embroiled in a second European war as early as April, 1937.

GOP Cries 'Politics' At Session Call

By The Associated Press

President Truman's call for a special session of Congress July 26 promptly drew cries of "cheap politics" Thursday from many Republicans of the GOP-controlled House and Senate.

Even some Democrats differed as to whether it was a wise or unwise political move and as to whether good would come of it or not.

Almost without exception Republican Congress members attributed the step to political motives and the criticism of "cheap politics" came from several.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), the president of the Senate who has worked closely with the Administration on foreign policy, expressed doubts that "any good to the country" would come of the session.

"This sounds like a last hysterical gasp of an expiring Administration," said Vandenberg, Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairman. He added that the move "obviously stems solely from political motives."

Many of the top Republican leaders who shape their party's congressional policies either refrained from commenting or provided no definite reaction to the special session call.

Hospital Plans Are Completed

Plans and specifications for the Midland Memorial Hospital have been completed and approved, according to Administrator E. R. Andres who, with Dr. John B. Thomas, president of the Midland Memorial Foundation, returned Wednesday night from Houston where they reviewed the plans in the office of Wyatt C. Hedrick, architect.

A set of the plans Wednesday was forwarded to government officials for final approval. The foundation early this year received a $375,000 federal grant to be used in constructing the 75-bed general hospital. Plans then were revised to meet government specifications.

Andres said prompt government approval is expected. The construction work should be in the hands of interested contractors soon after August 1. The contractors will be given 30 days in which to submit bids on the large project.

The construction work should be underway early this Fall if plans proceed on schedule, officials said.

Ken Regan Receives Bouquet From Truman

WASHINGTON—President Harry S. Truman took time off Wednesday from his duties of running the nation and watching proceedings of the Philadelphia convention at a distance to send a basket of beautiful flowers to Rep. Ken Regan of Midland, who for some weeks has been a patient at Bethesda Naval Hospital.

Regan was deeply appreciative. In expressing his thanks he noted how busy the President must be and said that made him appreciate all the more Truman's thoughtfulness. Regan was visited with the President at the White House on several occasions. On one of these occasions, he presented the President with a pair of fancy cowboy boots from West Texas.

Regan is considerably improved now and although he will have to remain quiet for 30 days or more, he expects to leave for his Midland home Saturday.

Cominform Sends New Blasts At Yugoslavia

LONDON—(AP)—The Cominform, in a second blast at Yugoslav Communist leaders, accused Premier Marshal Tito Thursday of conducting a "regime of terror" in Yugoslavia.

The new criticism was published in the Cominform Bulletin, now printed in Bucharest.

The Bulletin said the Yugoslav Communist Party's forthcoming Fifth Congress will be packed with Tito's "intimidated" henchmen unable to speak for the "real will of the masses of party members."

The Congress is scheduled to start in Belgrade next Wednesday.

Truman Running Mate

Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, who served as keynote at the Democratic National Convention, was chosen unanimously late Wednesday night as the party nominee for vice president.

Dems Split Up As President, Barkley Receive Party Nod

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—President Truman countered a Democratic civil rights split Thursday with a dramatic call for a July 26 special session of Congress and a smashing attack on what he termed the "poppycock" of Republican promises.

Truman asked for action within 15 days after the lawmakers meet on anti-inflation and housing legislation. An hour before he took the stage of Philadelphia's Convention Hall early Thursday morning to fling a challenge at the Republicans to make good on their Dewey-Warren platform pledges, Truman had been nominated by his party on the first ballot.

The vote, indicating the wide breach opened in party ranks by the bitter, last-ditch fight over civil rights was:

President Truman, 947 1/2
Senator Richard Russell of Georgia, 263
Paul V. McNutt, 1/2 vote.
Not voting, 23.

The convention, after a 38-minute session for the President, gave Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, 70-year-old minority leader of the Senate, a unanimous vote for vice president.

Fighting Acceptance

Unanimous, that is, except for a group of Mississippi and Alabama delegates who had walked out earlier over the racial issue, and the Texas group, who missed the roll call while holding a caucus outside the main convention chamber.

But Truman took the bit in his teeth in a fighting acceptance speech.

"He said he will recommend that the GOP-controlled special session among other things act on civil rights legislation."

While embattled Southern delegations sat silent, the arm-waving Chief Executive told the delegates: "Everybody knows that I recommended to the Congress a civil rights program. I did so because I believe it to be my duty under the Constitution."

"Some of the members of my own party disagree violently and bitterly but they stand up and do it openly. People can tell where we stand. The Republicans all profess to be for these matters, but the 80th Congress failed to act. x x x"

Challenges Republicans

Declaring at the start that "Senator Barkley and I will win this election and make these Republicans like it," Truman said the special session will show whether the Republicans "can fool the people with such poppycock" as he said was in their platform.

As his party members thundered their approval, the President told the delegates: "Now, what that worst 80th Congress does in this special session will be the test. The American people will not decide by listening to mere words."

Hitchhiker Confesses Hijacking

John Leonard Sims, Fort Worth youth arrested on Main Street here about 9 a. m. Thursday, confessed at noon that he was the hitchhiker who shot and wounded R. P. Adams of Abilene on the highway between Roscoe and Lorraine Tuesday night.

Sims was picked up in Midland Thursday morning by Chief of Police Jack Ellington and Deputy Sheriff Ed Edwards and Bill Felts. Officers here had been notified to watch for the youth. As he was being taken to the county jail he told officers he had "been in penitentiary" and "not scared."

When Deputies Edwards and Felts went up to the jail to feed prisoners at noon, Sims told them he was the wanted hitchhiker. However, he said, he did not intend to shoot Adams, a 40-year-old school teacher and special student at Hardin-Simmons University. Adams "shot himself," the youth said, as the pair wrestled over a .22 rifle belonging to Sims.

Spent Night in Midland

Sims spent Wednesday night in Midland with a half-brother whom officers did not identify. He carried Army discharge papers showing he was born Feb. 25, 1927; the discharge record showed he had been released from the Army for "bad conduct." He was described (Continued on page 9)

Presbyterians Award Church Annex Contract

A contract for enlarging the main auditorium and erecting a two-story annex at the First Presbyterian Church here has been awarded to Houston Bill, Midland contractor, Frank Stubbeman, chairman of the church's expansion committee, said Thursday. Cost of the project is $212,304.

Materials are being assembled and the work will get underway as soon as possible, Stubbeman said. Haynes and Kirby of Lubbock are the architects.

The annex will house education and fellowship quarters and will provide space for women's and young people's departments. Construction will be of brick, and will conform with the present structure.

Rapid Growth

The church's main auditorium will be extended south to the sidewalk, allowing room for the installation of additional pews. Other remodeling work also will be done.

The expansion program has been in the planning stages almost two years, officials said. The rapid growth of the church and its Sunday School has made present facilities inadequate, they stated. The new quarters will relieve the congested and overcrowded situation in all departments of the church.

A campaign to finance the expansion program has been underway since last Fall. Robert L. Wood is chairman of the finance committee, and W. J. Sparks is treasurer.

The Rev. R. Matthew Lynn is pastor of the church and Miss Louanna Roach is director of religious education.

Harry S. Truman: He Will Have To Run On His Own Record

By PETER EDSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—President Harry S. Truman must run for reelection largely on the record of his administration since April 12, 1945, when he was sworn in to succeed Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

This record may not be the thing that Candidate Truman will talk about most in his campaign. He would much rather talk about what the Republican Congress has failed to do for him in the past two years. But it's his own record that should count most.

Two days after Truman took the oath, he went to the Senate for lunch. Later he went to the House for lunch. Eight Republican senators called on him in the White House office to offer him their support. Even Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in New York sent him a letter pledging "fullest support in every action you take in the interest of winning the war and establishing a sound and permanent peace."

On May 1, Truman cut back the budget 600,000,000. Things looked great.

This honeymoon lasted less than three weeks. On May 3 his troubles began. He had to settle coal mines to end a strike, the Russians charged the U. S. was violating the Yalta pact on reparations to displaced persons, and Senator Robert A. Taft took a crack at the State Department for propagandizing in favor of Roosevelt policies.

Thus, before the Truman family moved into the White House on May 5, 1945, the President's troubles began. That was the day the Russians liquidated 14 Polish leaders and began uninterrupted trouble making.

At home, Truman still tried to put on the happy face to cut across the taxmen's plan to cut income credits about a heavy 16,000,000,000, though everyone has forgotten about that now. He called in Herbert Hoover and Alf Landon to Capable word-picture biography of Harry S. Truman, from his Missouri childhood to the presidency, begins with the baby photo (at left) taken in Lamar, Mo., where he was born May 6, 1894. . . . In subsequent portraits (second from left) he already wore glasses and bow tie. . . . His first farming career was interrupted by World War I, in which he served as an artillery captain (center). . . . when postwar haberdashery venture (second from right) failed in 1921 but, . . .

His friend Tom Pendergast, late Kansas City political boss, made him a Jackson County court judge (which involved supervising highway construction rather than sitting on the bench). . . . he was elected to U. S. Senate in 1934, specialized in railroad labor legislation until he swung into spotlight in war production probe. . . . became F. D. R.'s running-mate in 1944, and F. D. R.'s successor on April 12, 1945, when he took oath (right) from Chief Justice Stanley in the White House Cabinet Room a few hours after President Roosevelt's death.

policy that he has stood for, more or less unchanged, ever since.

The amazing thing about President Truman's domestic program is that Congress has seen fit to approve only half a dozen of his requests. There were liberalized payments to veterans, the start of a stockpiling program on scarce materials, a modified plan for government reorganization, a watershed down full-employment bill and unification of the armed services.

There was one other. Truman said he thought congressmen should be paid $20,000 a year. They raised their pay from $10,000 to $12,500, plus $2,500 expense money without accountability.

The things Congress has not given Truman include: Increased unemployment compensation, increased minimum wage, caution on removal of wartime controls, limited tax reduction so as to reduce the national debt as rapidly as possible, a long-range housing bill, a permanent Fair Employment Practices Commission, creation of a scientific research foundation, development of river valleys on the TVA pattern, broadened social security, universal military training, a health program, aid to education and holding down inflation.

There was nothing particularly new about any of these proposals. Most of them had been advanced in the Roosevelt years. But they became the Truman Administration policy.

The President was given a bum steer right at the outset by a bad prediction prepared for him by the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion, then under John Snyder, now Secretary of the Treasury. This report predicted there might be 8,000,000 unemployed by the Spring of 1946, due to cancellation of war orders and downing in re-converting industry to peacetime production.

This slump never developed. Because it never developed, it was less serious than the stand-by controls Truman wanted to keep. It also led him into declaring a wage-price policy that was vulnerable to attack. As first stated, wages would be raised without increasing prices to give labor an adequate wage under a reduced work week. Then it was revised to permit wage increases that would relieve inequities. Business would have none of it. The result was a two-year war of strikes.

The President's labor management conference in the Fall of 1945 called at the suggestion of Senator Vandenberg—failed to find any way formula for industrial peace. The President then asked for a law to establish fact-finding boards, ban jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts. Congress instead passed a much more severe Glass-mountain postwar labor disturbances over wage increases reached a climax in the rail strike of May 1946, when the angry Truman went to Congress and asked for a law to draft strikers against the govern-went into the armed services. The House passed such a bill within an hour. It was stopped in the Senate by a list of all people—Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio—the man who was to be principal author of the Taft-Hartley Labor Management Act of 1947. Truman vetoed that later act but it was passed over his veto.

Truman—

 President Truman now is severely criticized by union labor leaders for enforcing the bill he tried to kill.
 He has had two other principal battles with Congress—a continuous fight over housing legislation and an almost continuous row over anti-inflationary controls.
 The Democratic Congress in 1945 passed the Feinsman Veterans Housing Act. This program brought William Wyatt to Washington as Expediter. It did much good, but the controls that it called for met with small approval from the Republican Congress that came to town in January, 1947.
 President Truman threw his support behind the bi-partisan Taft-Wagner-Blender long-range housing bill. It passed the Senate but was watered down to practically nothing by House Republican majorities that listened largely to arguments of the real estate and building lobby.
 Month in and month out, Harry Truman has shouted into unhearing ears the dangers of high prices and inflation. In only one sector of the economy have controls been kept on, however, and that is on rents. On everything else, prices have gone steadily upward. But so have wages. Under such conditions it is difficult to prove hardship, and the psychology of the situation being what it is, controls are unpopular.
 Truman's constant warning against inflation has been that it can only lead to an eventual crash. Time can still prove him right, though the line he preaches is unpopular with the voters as long as the boom lasts. The same is true of his opposition to tax cut.
 As Truman has stuck to his guns, insisting on his reforms, his unpopularity with Congress has increased. This warfare with Congress reached its high when the President took to the road early in June for a transcontinental speaking tour in which he blasted the Republican majorities as "the greatest special privilege Congress the country has ever seen." Whether the President is right, or Congress, is something for the voters to decide in November.

Your kids wanna be veterinarians? They'll love this new toy, featured at New York's Toy Guidance Exhibit. It's a fuzzy little mother dog, with three fuzzy little puppies inside its fuzzy little stomach. A zipper lets them out. Louise DuRona, 3, plays with it.

Your kids wanna be deep-sea divers? They'll love this new toy, one of 500 on display at a New York toy show. In a tube full of water, the diver cavitates, and the young operator can pump air to the submerged hero all day long. Eddie Scanlon, 4, is the pumper.

Paraguay Government Wants Texan Twice Reported Dead

ASUNCION, PARAGUAY —(AP)—There's a government warrant out for the arrest of George Lohman, but that's nothing to worry a man who's been reported dead twice.
 Lohman, a lanky Texan who came here in 1912, is a legendary figure on the lonely Paraguayan Chaco. He lives 95 miles from the nearest town. He is rich.
 He thinks he has about 80,000 head of cattle and his friends say there are a quarter million acres of land in his home ranch. The Indians, nomads who kill their old people, call him "The White Chief."
 Right now, Lohman is charged with aiding the rebels who maintained a seven-month civil war last year. Specifically, the government says he supplied cattle to feed the rebel troops. Lohman's friends say that if he did, it was only to keep the rebels from taking them by force.
 Anyway, neither they nor his family are much concerned. The part of his family which lives here says "he'll be in pretty soon to fix this thing up."
To Find Fortune
 The fabulous cattlemen came here with Tex Rickard in 1912 to find a fortune. Richard soon went back to New York and found his as a boxing promoter. Lohman stayed on and never has been back to the states. With Robert Stewart, another Texan, helping him, he started out with 12 head of cattle on a few acres of rented land.
 Stewart died last year, but Lohman is still active. He has been reported dead twice. Once during the Chaco war Indians brought in word that he had been killed. They said they had seen his body. It turned out to be the body of somebody else. Just last year word

Man Keeps Missing Ear Home In Ice Box
 ALBUQUERQUE —(AP)—Fidel Sanchez wasn't a bit surprised when his sheriff's deputies asked where his other ear was.
 But the officers were at least mildly startled when he replied, "home in the icebox."
 Deputy Ignacio Zamora said Sanchez explained that a "misunderstanding" developed while he and a friend were in a barroom. And before the issue was settled Sanchez' ear was bitten off and his false teeth were broken, Zamora related.

Four Candidates For Senate Pool Support In Collier

By The Associated Press
 Fresh from his homecoming rally, George Paddy, candidate for U. S. senator, lingered in the Houston area Thursday, spreading confidence in his campaign.
 "I am going to win," he told the rally at a Houston park Wednesday night. "I would like to get it over with next week but I am looking with the greatest of anticipation to four weeks of August campaigning against whichever opponent might be unlucky enough to get in a runoff with me."
 Lyndon Johnson spoke at Tyler to a crowd estimated by the Courier-Times at about 4,000. He arrived there from Kilgore after an all-day session of speaking in small towns between Tyler and Port Arthur. Tyler was his 24th stop of the day. Johnson outlined his platform of "preparedness, peace and progress," and said he favored the increase of the present 27 1/2 per cent oil depletion allowance to 30 per cent to provide the incentive for greater exploration for oil.
Water Conservation
 In East Texas, Coke Stevenson stressed the importance of extensive soil and water conservation programs.
 "East Texas needs water and soil conservation as badly as does the more dry West Texas areas," he said at Madisonville. "Water storage is needed in West Texas to supply irrigation. In East Texas the program needs to include drainage of soils to make them suitable for cultivation and for homes."
 Four lesser-known candidates for the U. S. Senate met with 27 voters at Dallas Wednesday night. The four had decided one of their number should carry the race against the "big three." Their plan: each would make a 10-minute speech and the audience would decide the winner.
Artificial Legs
 The winner: Roscoe H. Collier of Dallas, who had two artificial legs as the result of the second World War. The other three minor candidates pledged to support him. They are Dr. F. B. Clark, College Station; Terrell Sledge of Kyle and Cyclone Davis of Dallas.
 Case March, candidate for governor, told a crowd at Kilgore Wednesday: "When I'm elected I propose to do everything in my power to get the independent gas producers of Texas 10 cents per cubic foot for natural gas. "Natural gas is now leaving Texas at a ridiculously low price."
 Roger C. Elyne, another candidate for the office, carried his campaign Thursday to Fort Arthur, Orange and Beaumont.
 James Griffin, candidate for state agriculture commissioner, Thursday visited Hamilton, Gatesville, McGregor and Waco.

Zachary Taylor wanted to appoint Abraham Lincoln governor of the Oregon Territory but Mrs. Lincoln disappeared.

Back General Clay!

It is obvious that the Anglo-American-French entente must do something about Russia's attempt to push us out of Berlin by brute force. It is not so obvious just what we should do. Maybe that is why we have been so patient.

Gen. Lucius Clay has said that nothing short of war will force us to get out. Our moral, ethical and legal right to remain is unchallengeable. Yet there are some who fear that Clay may be forced, by orders from on high, to eat his words.

That would be fatal. Large, important segments of the world are resisting Soviet aggression only because they think—or at least they hope—that the United States, with backing from Great Britain and maybe from France, is strong enough and courageous enough to act as a buffer against the Soviet Union.

If it should prove that we are not strong or courageous enough to keep Russia from physically throwing us out of Berlin, then there would be no reason for any other nation to take the terrible risk of saying "No" to Stalin. If we won't fight for our own dignity and national security, surely we can't be trusted to fight for the future peace and welfare of the world at large.

Munich should have taught us the fallacy of appeasement. Yet Munich was only the most dramatic and convincing in a long line of retreats by the democratic world from authoritarian force—a long-continued program of shutting our eyes and backing away, hoping that the bully in front would get sick of the game and go home without hitting us.

There were many occasions, starting at least as far back as Hitler's timid reoccupation of the Rhineland, when we had only to bare our teeth to have prevented World War II. Now, by a long series of capitulations to Stalin's expansionism, we are lacking blithely down the same road that Hitler first followed us down.

It ought to be established now, once for all, that we are going to back General Clay to the limit. It ought to be our national policy that we shall feed and supply Clay's staff if we have to do it at bayonet point.

That could mean war. It would mean war only if Moscow is firmly resolved to fight. If that is the case, we might better find it out now than to let things drift while the USSR strengthens herself and maybe perfects an atomic bomb.

Many smart diplomats do not think it would mean war. They feel that, much as we hate and fear war, the Russians are even worse prepared for a struggle. They think that if we insist on our full rights, and demonstrate that we are ready to back every word with a blow in case of need, Moscow will back down. We believe that.

But even if we are wrong, even if Russia would fight, even if she could beat us now, we have passed what air-men call the "point of no return." It is less dangerous now to bull it through than to turn tail and run. If we're going to be buried under a bullet hole, let it be in the forehead, not in the back.

For every person who brags about being bright there are dozens ready to do the polishing off.

Carelessness is why beauty spots, when they become picnic spots, cease to be beauty spots.

When school let out it ruined the three Rs for moment, relief and relaxation.

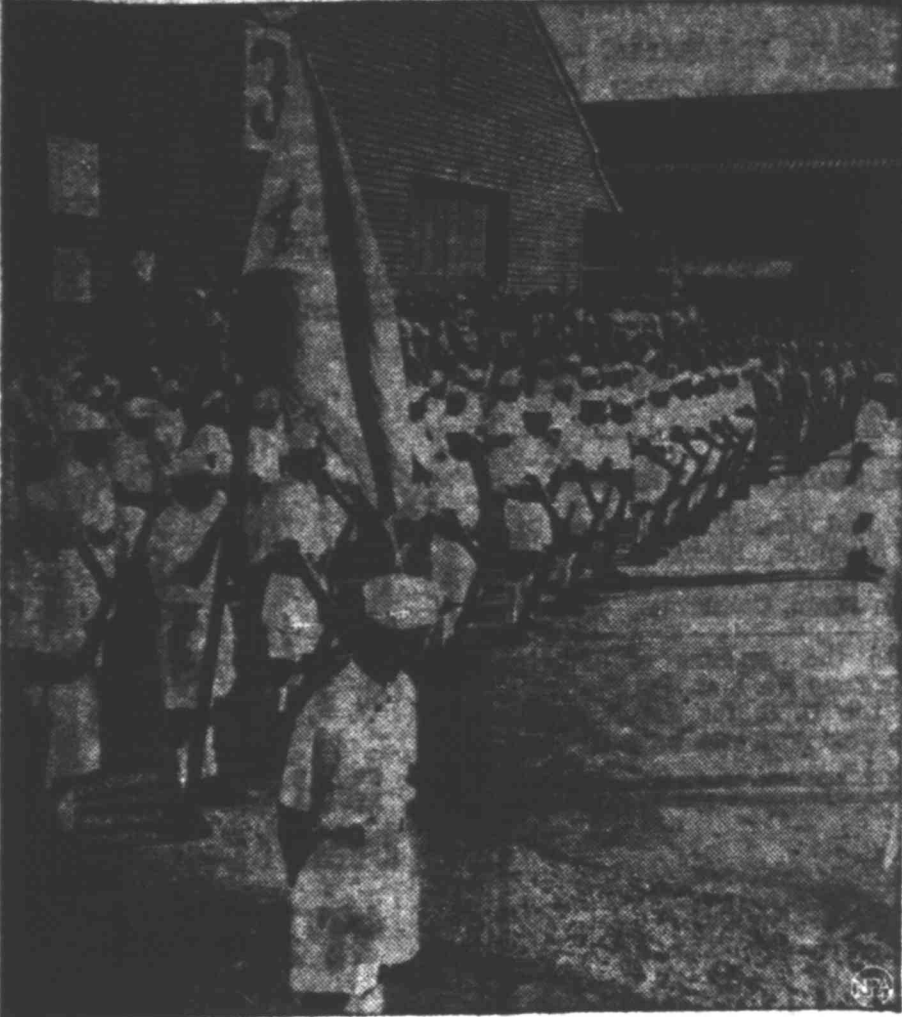

There's a big difference between forgetting what you ought to know and knowing what you ought to forget.

Israeli Navy Makes Its Bow

Jews, Arabs Cool To Idea Of New Truce

CAIRO — (AP) — The Jews said Thursday Israeli troops have encircled Haifa from three sides and struck heavy blows at Arab armies in the Jerusalem area. Both the Jews and Arabs seemed cool to the idea of a new United Nations truce in their Palestine war.

Jewish sources in Haifa said Israeli units now were within striking distance of Haifa, main northern Palestine base of Fawzi Pasha Al Kaukji's irregular Arab volunteer army.

A report from the Arab-controlled city of Jerusalem said the Arab Legion and tribal fighters of Trans-Jordan had started a fight for Mount Zion south of the walls. Jewish positions on the mountain threaten the Arab left flank.

Crops that are planted in ground that is too rich may run to foliage instead of fruit.

Cool Front Moves Into Panhandle, East Texas

A half-hearted cool front moved into the Panhandle Thursday and was expected to give the northern part of East Texas a little relief from the latest heat wave by Friday morning.

Temperatures dropped to 85 Thursday morning at Amarillo and Pampa, in the Panhandle. The only lower reading was 84 at Mars, in the Big Bend country.

A 51 shower, the only rain reported in the state Wednesday, robbed Presidio temporarily of its best championship. The top there was a relatively cool 88, while Leado took high honors with 103.

Midlander Finds Pups Hanged On Back Porch

J. J. Black, 601 West Kansas Street, believes somebody in Midland has a macabre complex about dogs.

Otherwise, Black asked Thursday morning, what is the explanation behind the case of the hanged pups?

Wednesday, Black said, he found one of his pedigree wire-haired fox terrier pups almost strangled to death, hanged by a length of clothesline. He rescued the pup, which was about two months old.

About an hour and a half later, he discovered the same pup, and another one as well, hanged to death on his back porch.

CIO Union Prepares For Ford Plant Strike

DETROIT — (AP) — Representatives of the Ford Motor Company's 118,000 auto workers were expected to demand strike action Thursday in reply to a "final" Ford offer of a 13-cent hourly pay raise.

The National Ford Council of the CIO-United Auto Workers, made up of union delegates from 46 plants, was scheduled to go into session Thursday to debate the offer. The rejection and strike call were considered mere formalities. The matter of setting an actual strike date would be placed in the hands of Ken Thomson, UAW national Ford director.

Sandstormers Will Sponsor CAP Unit

Organization of a Civil Air Patrol unit for Midland, sponsored by the Sandstormers, a pilot club, will be perfected at a meeting scheduled at 8 p. m. Thursday at Skyhaven Airport.

The meeting will be held in the Sandstormers' club room at the airport.

All airplane owners, holders of any aviation rating and others interested are invited to be present.

First Lieutenant E. J. Cavnar of the CAP will conduct the meeting. The meeting is one of several to be held in Texas to organize CAP units.

acted in such military engagements as the Apache campaign in New Mexico and Arizona in 1886, the Sioux campaign four years later, the Spanish American War of 1898 and the Filipino Insurrection in 1913.

His appointment to the command of the American Expeditionary Force in 1917 was preceded the year before by command of the U. S. forces sent into Mexico after Benito Pablo Pacheo Villa.

In response to Pershing's long-time wish, he will be buried Monday in Arlington National Military Cemetery where so many of his comrades-in-arms.

Southern Rebels Call Rump Meet

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Gov. Fielding Wright of Mississippi issued a call Thursday for "every man and woman who believes in states' rights and who opposes Harry S. Truman and the things he stands for" to meet in Birmingham Saturday.

Some but not all the rebel Southern Democrats—slapped down on the race issue Wednesday at their party's national convention—packed off for the Southern city Thursday, there to name a "grass roots, states rights" candidate for president and write a states' rights platform.

Wright said the object to the Birmingham meeting is to select a candidate for president—not Harry S. Truman—"so that those who believe in states' rights can vote for him with confidence in November and remain within the Democratic Party."

Radio Operators To Meet Here Thursday

The Radio Club of Midland will be host Thursday night to amateur radio operators of the Permian Basin at a 7:30 p. m. meeting of the Texas Electric Service Company warehouse. More than 50 persons from Winkler, Ector, Andrews, Midland and other area counties are expected to attend.

J. V. Ogle of Wink will address the group, following which a discussion of radio problems will be conducted.

Jim Price is president of the Midland club, and Sam Salt is secretary-treasurer.

Texas Republicans To Organize State

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Texas Republicans will organize the state "down to the last precinct," Henry Zweifel, state campaign manager for the Dewey-Warren ticket, announced Thursday.

Campaign headquarters will be established in Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Lubbock, San Angelo, Dallas, Houston, San Antonio, Waco, El Paso, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Galveston and Austin.

TWO GOLD SMUGGLING DEFENDANTS MAKE BOND

EDINBURG, TEXAS — (AP) — Two of three men charged with smuggling gold from Mexico into the United States were enroute to New York City Thursday after being released on bond.

The third of the trio arrested at the Hidalgo port of entry early this week remained in jail, unable to make bond.

27 DALLAS RESIDENTS CHARGED IN HOUSING PROBE

DALLAS — (AP) — Federal Judge William H. Atwell Thursday set $500 recognizance bonds for 27 Dallas residents, mostly contractors and real estate men, indicted in a probe of veterans housing.

The 27 were indicted Wednesday on charges of false swearing to the Veterans Administration regarding sales prices of houses to veterans.

Give Your Living Room Charm Of Old Southwest

If you're looking for something distinctively decorative as well as superlatively enduring and comfortable in the way of living room furniture, here's a suggestion: See the California-type suite on display in the window of Barrow Furniture Company at the corner of Colorado and Texas Streets. This suite is of mellow maple finish, colorful yet far from garish. It's a rich-hued wood that neither exhausts nor bores, but whose warmth suggests luxurious comfort, radiant hospitality.

The suite is manufactured by Robert Brothers of Los Angeles, nationally famous for this particular type of furniture. Available pieces at Barrow's include divans which fold out to make beds, or sectional divans; cocktail tables, occasional tables and chairs, lamp tables; step tables, and end tables. You can buy floor and table lamps which match the furniture. And a special "floating" rocker, suspended entirely on steel springs, must be used to be appreciated. It rocks laterally as well as forward and backward.

Upholstery of this suite combines beauty and durability to a remarkable degree. Altogether, it's a kind of furniture which fits ideally into the Southwestern home, capitalizing on the peculiar charm which sets the Southwest apart from all the rest of the world.

ROOF PROBLEM SOLVED
BERLIN — (P) — Shortages of building materials caused by the war have forced the Germans to use all sorts of substitutes in an effort to provide homes for millions of bombed-out families. The latest innovation is in roof construction. Joists being difficult to obtain, salvaged steel pipes are welded together as a frame to support tile roofing.

Peppermint In Ice Cream Is Delicious

How's this for a hot-weather whipper — peppermint stick ice cream!

As you know, the Cottage Maid Ice Cream Shop, 102 North Big Spring Street, periodically features home-made ice cream in special flavors.

Currently, the featured flavor is called Peppermint Stick. Its ingredients include ground-up peppermint candy. To say merely that it's good is to become a candidate for honors as the year's most inarticulate mortal.

Famous Formulas
All ice creams at Cottage Maid Ice Cream Shop are made right in the shop, of formulas famous the world over for deliciousness, purity and wholesomeness. Among regular flavors for sale there are cherry nut, lime, vanilla, chocolate and strawberry.

Russian Women Begs 36 Polar Animals
MOSCOW — (P) — Dawn of the East tells how a woman hunter, Many Nysenbut, returned from a one-woman hunting trip into the deep north tundra with the following which she herself had killed and brought home:
Fourteen white polar bears. Ten seals. Twelve polar foxes.

Women entered the hunting business during the war. Many of them proved excellent shots and hunters and remained in the business.

SOLDIERS USED HANDS ON FIRST SERGEANT
CHICAGO — (P) — A woman witness in Felony court was a deaf-mute. But Frank Denardo, a rookie policeman, solved the problem of taking her testimony by communicating with her in sign language. "Where did you learn to talk with your hands?" Judge Charles S. Dougherty asked when the hearing ended.

Barney Grafa Plans New Additions To Grafaland

When enthusiastic Midlanders sometimes compare newer residential sections of their city with the most attractive additions now under construction in any metropolis, they may know what they're talking about.

Not long ago, for example, a Dallas citizen remarked that Grafaland, in Northwest Midland, compares favorably with any development under construction in his own city.

Travelers passing through Midland have asked for plans of homes in Grafaland. Residents in San Angelo and other neighboring cities have made the same request. Building contractors and developers of additions in various parts of the Southwest have studied Grafaland with a view toward attempting similar construction or development.

Barney Grafa began developing the Grafaland addition some two years ago. Now, the addition includes 64 homes already occupied by owners, and eight more are under construction or about to be started. One of the unique features of the addition is that no lots there are sold for speculation purposes; to obtain a homestead there, the buyer must convince Grafa he is going to build an attractive home and live in it himself. This assures bona fide purchasers of homesteads they will not be surrounded by empty lots being sold for profitable resale.

Homes now standing in Grafaland were built at costs ranging from $12,500 to $18,000. The number of those in the lower price extreme is a slight percentage of the total number.

Buoy Is Honey Of Place For These Bees

BRISBANE, AUSTRALIA — (P) — An Australian work party fought a 5-hour battle with bees in Moreton Bay, Queensland, before they could restore the light on a floating buoy. A swarm of bees made a forced landing on the buoy and entered the lantern through air vents. Their bodies extinguished the pilot flame and the repair party was driven off by angry bees. The party returned, reinforced with insect sprays.

NY Subway Motorman Roars After Fast Cat

NEW YORK — (P) — Subway Motorman Victor Klepacki was heading his three-car train into a Brooklyn station recently when he saw green eyes down the tracks. He jammed on the brakes. There was a kitten on the track. As Klepacki climbed down to pick up the kitten it fled. Back into the car went Klepacki and the pursuit was on.

Whenever the cat paused, the train stopped. Klepacki got out of his cab and the kitten took off. After four or five stops, Klepacki and the kitten were gasping for breath and the passengers, crowding into the first car, were cheering both of them on.

The kitten gave up first and was captured. Klepacki took her to the Times Square station, where she was fed with milk and bologna, escorted to the street and released.

Bitter Reprieve

By Drexel Drake

THEY SPOT: Playboy Marcus Sterling has stolen his wife's diamond necklace and handed it over as security on a $10,000 pawn ticket to racketeer Harry Blake. To cover the theft, professional gambler Steve Simpson, who is a professional burglar, has then gone to Edgewater Country Club to spend the night and establish an alibi. Along with the necklace, he has also taken a sealed packet from his wife's safe. This packet contains a check for $10,000 which Simpson had withdrawn from the bank to give him.

Next morning Police Lt. Talon arrived at the Sterling household. Mrs. Sterling has been found sleeping in bed. The wall safe in her room has been ransacked and everything points to robbery. Talon discovered a diamond necklace, with a stub dated the previous day made out to $10,000 cash. The maid, Stella Nelson, tells him Mrs. Sterling kept her diamond necklace in the safe.

XVI
THE shrill jangling of the bell aroused Marcus Sterling from a torturing dream into which it had lulled him with perfect synchronism. He raised himself abruptly, unable at once to shake off the unreality of the dream. . . . vague dodging of pursuit, glaring lights seeking out his hiding places, the ear-splitting alarm of a siren.

He needed a moment to remember that he was in a room in the Edgewater clubhouse. . . . that he had asked to be called at 7 o'clock. He had been in bed little more than two hours. Sleep had not come. . . . Only stifled growling with startled awakenings.

Out of bed now, Sterling found reassurance in the flood of daylight that brightened his room. His legs were not too steady but he seemed fully awake, his brain alive, not greatly aware of the loss of sleep.

At his mirror in the bathroom, there was no denying the drawn, haggard appearance of his face. He attacked that with dousing into cold water, rubbing until his cheeks stung. Then the shower. He loitered under it. When again he examined his face in the mirror, he was satisfied that shaving would complete necessary repairs.

From his bag Sterling laid out the clothes he would wear on the golf course. Then he remembered the money.

He'd have to do something about the money, just as he had done something about the dirt-stained shoes and flashlight. He could afford no mistakes, no carelessness now. He took Miriam's note from the chest of drawers and watched it turn to ashes in the ashtray on the small table—mixed the blackened ash thoroughly into the ashes of cigarettes he had smoked. He put the money on the dresser. He'd have to take care of that.

STERLING shaved. . . . got into his golf clothes. By the time he was dressed, he'd decided what he could do with the money.

It was near 8. Maybe he could still get Shaw in his room. . . . tell them to get going and he'd join them on the 10th tee. He could tell Shaw something had come up. . . . he had to make some phone calls, wait for some callbacks.

The telephone brought no answer from Shaw's room. Probably at breakfast, Sterling thought. Well, he'd find them in the grill, if he hurried, before they went on to the locker room. He slipped the envelope of money in the inside pocket of his jacket.

Both Shaw and Crabfield were at breakfast in the grill, at a table over near a window. Sterling walked over to the table. The grill was deserted.

"You'll have to do some fast eating if you're teeing off at 8:30," Shaw said.

Sterling explained his pretended dilemma. Both men were sorry. Sterling sat down with them. The two older men had finished and gone on before Sterling's breakfast arrived.

After a second cup of coffee, Sterling went out to the desk. The main foyer was lifeless. He recognized the attendant as a youth of endless tasks and errands in the locker room.

"Well, Bob, you've been promoted up here, have you?"
"Only in the mornings, Mr. Sterling. Nobody else around here wants to get up that early. Anything I can do for you?"
"I need two envelopes, Bob. Both large, but one larger than the other. Think you can round them up?"

The young man took one long stride to a drawer and jerked it open. "There must be six or seven sizes here, Mr. Sterling," he said. "Maybe you'd want to come around back here and pick out just what you want."

STERLING selected two long envelopes, one of which would fit inside the other with considerable room to spare.

"I see you have a roll of gummed tape in there," Sterling said. "I can use a piece of that."
"Why not, Mr. Sterling? Anything else?"
"I'll need some stamps, but I'll wait until I have the package ready and weigh it. Lucky for me you have that scale."
"You'll need some paper?"
"Of course. I forgot that. Thanks, Bob." He accepted a profligate gift of club letterheads, for none of which he had any intended use.

In front of the desk again, Sterling nodded toward the large mail box at one end. "What time do they pick up the mail?" he asked.

"The first time around 9:30, Mr. Sterling. Just about when Johnny Geer shows up to take over this job." The youth glanced up at the clock. "You got about 25 minutes, anyway."

Sterling decided against mentioning that the clock was fast. He went to a writing desk in a corner of the foyer, where even young Bob Davis in his spot behind the clerk's desk was out of range. He had the place entirely to himself.

McKenney on Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Our lesson hand today comes from Mrs. Sadie Machlin, who was formerly my financial secretary and is still associated with the American Contract Bridge League. She is the sister of the well-known national tournament director, A. M. Sobel.

Mrs. Machlin brings out a fine lesson in today's hand, not only in execution of an endplay, but also in winning a loser at the same time. After winning the opening lead of no more hearts in the West hand. Now she cashed the other two high diamonds, East showing out on the third round of diamonds. The six of diamonds was led from dummy, declarer discarding her four of clubs. She knew that West would not have a spade, a heart or a diamond to lead back. The only lead he could make was a club. Right into the ace-queen.

Although this is not a difficult hand to count down, too many beginners would make the mistake of fumbling on the club finesse too early.

the diamond jack in dummy with the queen, she saw that she had a loser in the four of clubs, and if the club finesse was wrong, that also would be a loser. Of course, if the diamonds broke three-three, that would take care of one of the losers.

The first thing she did was to take three rounds of trumps. Before cashing the two high diamonds, however, she must strip her hand and dummy of hearts; so she cashed the ace and king of hearts and ruffed the nine-spot. When West dropped the queen, Mrs. Machlin was sure there were

INDIANS SWEEP DEL RIO SERIES

Sports Invade To Play Four

The Midland Indians open a four-game series with the Sweetwater Sports at 8:30 p. m. Thursday in Indian Park. A single game is booked Friday night and a doubleheader Saturday.

Harold Webb's Midland Indians took the second and sweeper game of a two-tilt series with the Del Rio Cowboys Wednesday night in Indian Park, winning 6-1 with the greatest of ease behind Leland Crisman's four-hit pitching.

Midland was ragged afield, committing five errors. But the Tribe was tight in the clinch and served up two snappy double plays.

Big Jim Prince returned to the Midland lineup and slashed out two doubles. Crisman added his own cause with a mighty triple in the second inning which scored Specht ahead of him.

Errors Produce Scores A run came to Midland in the sixth as Mellilo hit a long fly with the bases loaded and one out. Specht (walk) scored the run from third. Midland's last run was gained in the seventh. Jakes filed out. Presley hit and went to second on a wild pitch. Prince walked. Nipp errored on scoring Presley. Perry walked. Specht filed out. Crisman hit a fielder's choice and Perry was out at second.

Del Rio notched its tally in the eighth. Two errors by Midland allowed Pilder to score from third. The box score:

Golfers Study Plans Of New Course To Be Built Within A Year. A group of Midland men interested in seeing an 18-hole public golf course built here met in the high school auditorium Wednesday night to hear H. L. Winkler of Dallas describe the course he and Walter Thompson of Houston plan to build here.

Plans of the course, as drawn up and approved by noted golf course architects, were shown the group. Winkler and Thompson have obtained - 240-acre tract Northeast of the city from Frank Frothro, and the plan calls for greens and fairways comparable to those on the Southwest's most popular courses.

Cats Rebound After Licking By All-Stars

By The Associated Press. The Cleveland Indians and the Boston Braves, each striving to win its first major league pennant in years, open long road trips Thursday, but the prospect of playing before hostile crowds doesn't faze them.

The victory stretched the Cats' lead over Tulsa to three and one-half games. The Oilers dropped a 11-1 decision to San Antonio.

In other games, Oklahoma City downed Houston 6-1 and Beaumont, squashed by Dallas 3-2.

Dee Fondy and Manager Bobby Bragan paced a 14-hit Fort Worth attack off two Sport pitchers. Fondy hit four for four and Bragan three for three.

Ray Murray hit two home runs and Precher Dorsett scattered seven Houston hits as Oklahoma City won easily. There were seven double plays in this game, just one shy of the league record.

Clarence Ioff, making his first start for Dallas since being purchased from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League, cut losses with a wild pitch in the ninth inning and Chuck Sweeney raced home with the winning Beaumont run.

Eleven hits helped San Antonio to a one-sided victory.

Road Trips 'Duck Soup' To Major Leaders

By The Associated Press. The Cleveland Indians and the Boston Braves, each striving to win its first major league pennant in years, open long road trips Thursday, but the prospect of playing before hostile crowds doesn't faze them.

Invading Philadelphia for a twilight-night doubleheader with Connie Mack's amazing Athletics, Cleveland boasted a remarkable 758 percentage on foreign fields. The Indians have lost only eight games on the road while winning 25. At home they have split, winning 20 and losing 20.

The Braves, starting their Western trip with a doubleheader at Chicago, have won 24 and lost 13 on the road. This is a .648 clip compared to the Braves' home mark 23-18 for .560.

INTENSE RESEARCH ON Polio

ORTHOPEDIC SURGEONS, general practitioners, pediatricians, anatomists, physiologists and pathologists have long studied—and continue to study—poliomyelitis (Infantile Paralysis) and all proposed prevention and treatment. POLIO is an infectious, acute virus disease that occurs most often in children, but respects no age group. It produces varying degrees of injury, to the central nervous system. There is no known method of restoring destroyed cells, but close cooperation between patient, physician and physical-therapist in treatment is accomplishing seeming miracles. 50% of all victims recover completely; 20% to 30% are left with only a slight disability. If more suspected cases are treated earlier, severe crippling will decrease. Efforts are directed to preventing spread of the virus; preventing damage to those exposed; increasing individual resistance against the disease; prevention of deformities; restoration of function of partially paralyzed parts; rehabilitation of the patient. Physicians advise such precautions against Polio as avoiding over-tiring, chilling, bathing in polluted waters, protection of food from flies and rodents, being sure of safe water and milk supplies.

Growth Changes May Cause Polio

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
NEW YORK — (AP) — Discovery that certain changes in the rate of growth make children more likely to catch infantile paralysis was reported to the first international polio conference here.

The change that precedes polio is a slowdown in growing. Not just any slowdown, such as all children have from time to time, but the kind in which the youngster seems to be changing his basic body shape.

In this study, made at the University of Minnesota, it was found that from the start in babyhood, a child is one of three types, and is unlikely to shift to either of the other classes.

The study was made on about 200 children who had infantile paralysis, about 200 of their brothers and sisters and 600 of their playmates. Among those who polio, nearly 70 per cent had within the previous year or 18 months shown a growth change. They had slowed down and tended to veer to a thinner type.

Only 25 per cent of the other 800, who had no infantile paralysis, this growth change had appeared in only about 25 per cent.

Further study on a larger number of children showed about 50 per cent of those with polio had suffered one of these shifting growth changes at some time in their lives. Of the non-polio in this larger study, only 20 per cent had the growth changes.

The doctors who made the study warned that feeding a child to ward off polio will not work, because feeding seems not to be the cause of the growth shift.

There is a widespread saying that it is the healthiest children who get infantile paralysis. Even some doctors say this. The Minnesota study failed to find the slightest justification for this belief.

Eichelberger Sees Last Review in Japan

Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, left, commanding general of the Eighth Army, stands with Gen. Douglas MacArthur on the reviewing stand in Tokyo, watching his last review in Japan. Eichelberger will leave Japan Aug. 4 for the U. S., prior to his early retirement. Since he had been mentioned as a possible successor to MacArthur, observers believe the Allied supreme commander will remain in Japan.

Among the other 800, who had no infantile paralysis, this growth change had appeared in only about 25 per cent.

Further study on a larger number of children showed about 50 per cent of those with polio had suffered one of these shifting growth changes at some time in their lives. Of the non-polio in this larger study, only 20 per cent had the growth changes.

Vegetable Dish For Light Meals

Fresh vegetables baked with cheese sauce, garnished with stuffed eggs, make a substantial main course.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

For luncheon, or for a light dinner, combine vegetable and cheese into a baked main dish.

Vegetable Garden Special
(Serves 6)

Twelve small new potatoes, 1 cup green onions, cut in 1/2-inch pieces, 2 cups fresh peas, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 3 tablespoons flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 1/2 cups milk, 1 cup grated cheddar cheese (4 ounces).

Paré potatoes and cook for about 15 minutes. Add green onions and peas to potatoes; continue cooking about 15 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Arrange vegetables in well-greased heat-resistant glass 1 1/2-quart baking dish. Melt butter in top of double boiler. Stir in flour, salt and pepper. Add milk; cook over boiling water until mixture is thickened and no starchy taste remains, or for about 30 minutes. Stir in grated cheese until it is melted. Pour sauce over vegetables in baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 15 minutes. Serve with deviled egg salad and vegetable relishes.

Here's another substantial vegetable dish:

Fried Eggplant With Cheese Sauce
(Serves 4-6)

One medium-sized eggplant, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon water, 1 teaspoon salt, 3/4 cup dry bread crumbs, 1/3 cup fat.

Slice eggplant into thin slices and peel. Beat egg slightly with water and add salt. Dip eggplant in egg and then bread crumbs; fry in hot skillet in part of fat. Add fat from time to time as needed. Keep slices of fried eggplant hot by placing on a pre-heated 15-inch heat-resistant glass platter.

Cheese Sauce: One can mushroom soup (10 ounces), 1/2 cup water, 1 cup grated Parmesan cheese. Heat soup and water together in a saucepan. Add cheese and cook until melted, stirring constantly. Serve eggplant on glass platter, accompanied with hot cheese sauce.

Newfoundland Air Base Goes Modern

ERNEST HARMON AIR FORCE BASE, NEWFOUNDLAND—(AP)—With 91 years to go on its long-term lease, the United States is turning this important base into a modern, permanent part of the continent's eastern air defenses.

Newfoundland civilians swarm over the hilltop overlooking the runway, erecting gleaming white modernistic buildings. Soon the bleak wartime structures of tarpaper will disappear completely.

Early in the war years, army engineers transformed 8,000 acres of cow pasture, bogland and rocky coastline into an efficient air field. Harmon, leased from Britain, sets among a semicircle of hills and opens to the sea. Weather isn't too bad and fog closes the field less than four per cent of the time. It is an air transport command field, but it is also an alternate airport. Last November, for instance, it was used by 141 commercial airliners of sixteen different lines.

Active In War

During the war it handled as much as 1,400 aircraft, 17,000 passengers and 8,000,000 pounds of priority mail in single month.

The field, along with two others equally strategically located, has turned Newfoundland into a sort of Gibraltar of the air. Soon it will also be a comfortable army post.

Nearing completion are barracks, dormitories, family quarters, mess halls, a theater recreation hall, hospital, warehouses and a headquarters of concrete, wood and shingle siding. More runways and landing facilities are being constructed.

Two hotels have a bed capacity of 150, good accommodations for transients. The passenger terminal is more impressive than those of many municipal airports. But to the men at Harmon, its proudest possession is a non-commissioned officers' club, said to be the finest anywhere—built by the NCO's themselves.

The base was named for Capt. Ernest H. Harmon, killed in a plane crash in 1923, his sixteenth year with the air forces. It is under the command of Col. W. P. Sloan, a command pilot who has been in the air arm of the service since 1927.

One of the principal missions of the base is search and rescue. Planes, dogs, crash boats and all sorts of emergency equipment are ready at all times to start off on a mission of mercy.

Voters Approve But Wedding Must Wait

BATTLE CREEK, MICH.—(AP)—When William P. Casey, a widower, popped the question to Miss Sylvia Shore, of Milwaukee, Wis. Miss Shore said she needed time before making up her mind.

Now, nominated for marriage by the Michigan State Board of Election, Casey expects to be elected next Spring.

Casey, a lawyer and a resident of Battle Creek, Calhoun County, Michigan, do hereby respectfully petition and beseech Miss Sylvia Shore to assume and faithfully fulfill the office of legal and spiritual wife and helpmate to William P. Casey, a single man.

The petition was signed by 250 of his friends.

Receiving the petition, Miss Shore replied: "Marry him? Yes, I'll marry him in the Spring."

ELIZABETH, N. J.—(AP)—Albert Benemann, who has a birth certificate to prove he's 95 years old, says the soft life isn't for him—he wants to get out of the Elizabeth General Hospital and back to work.

Doing odd jobs in a local restaurant, Seaman slipped and broke an ankle.

"I've worked since I was 10 years old," he told perplexed hospital authorities, "and I'm tired of taking it easy here."

Two out of every three American soldiers who reached France in World War I participated in battle.

Man, 95, Wants Back On Restaurant Job

CHRISTCHURCH, NEW ZEALAND—(AP)—The Franz Josef glacier in the southern Alps, which had been receding for several years, is now moving forward more than 21 feet weekly. The reason for the sudden spurt has not been determined, and snowfalls in the higher ranges have not been considered heavy enough to have had any effect.

At its present pace of three feet daily, it would take about two years for the glacier to reach the spot some 600 yards downgrade from where it began to recede in 1932.

Mock Blind Flights Test Plane Lights

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—(AP)—College students are flying blind on long, make-believe cross-country flights in studies to make night flying safer. They fly in a Link trainer, guided by instruments lighted with different colors and different intensities of light. The purpose is to learn how much or how little light is needed to light airplane cockpits efficiently, and what colors may reduce fatigue.

While a pilot needs enough light to read his instruments quickly, the light should not be strong enough to interfere with his ability to see objects outside the cockpit.

The project is headed by Dr. S. D. B. Sprague, assistant professor of psychology at the University of Rochester, and was undertaken for the Air Materiel Command at Wright Field.

Solution To Mexican Labor Problem Sought By West Texas CC

ABILENE—Solution of the Mexican seasonal labor problem is seen in a request made this week by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to the Texas Good Neighbor Commission in seeking executive action by the governor. This action would include a proclamation by the governor, calling on all mayors and Chambers of Commerce in every city in Texas to use their efforts to prevent discrimination.

The WTCC group also would have the governor issue executive orders to the Texas Employment Commission to exercise greater control over movement of the Mexican workers, to prevent exploiting by "jefes" and otherwise causing overloads on communities unprepared for the influx of hordes of D. A. Bandeen of Abilene.

The cast is a large one and all residents who have a "yen" for play-acting are invited to try-out for parts. The try-out dates will be announced soon.

Persons wishing to read the play in view of trying out for roles may obtain copies from Joe Hoegler at the Midland Floral Company.

'Painless Childbirth' Provokes Controversy

LONDON—(AP)—Dr. Grantly Dick Head, leading British obstetrician, scoffs at the theory that painless childbirth may destroy mother love.

He said in the "British Medical Journal" he had never known such a case in 30 years of practice. But on the other hand, he said, mothers frequently felt resentment at the child because of the agony of prolonged labor.

An argument on the subject was touched off by an article in the "Journal" by Dr. J. A. Hatfield, London University lecturer in psycho-pathology. Doctor Hatfield said there is evidence that the pain of childbirth is what stimulates the mother instinct. He suggested an investigation of whether anaesthetic lessens this love.

Recorded Doctor Head: "It is not pain in labor which 'unlocks' the door of mother love.' Anaesthesia of itself does not inhibit the maternal instinct. When a child is born, the sight of it, the sound of it, and the touch of it open up the flood-gates of mother love."

Siam May Discontinue Observance Of Sunday

BANGKOK—(AP)—Sundays may soon go by the board in Siam. The Siam Cabinet Council is considering a switch to the Buddhist calendar, which celebrates as religious holidays the beginning and the end of the waxing and waning stages of the moon.

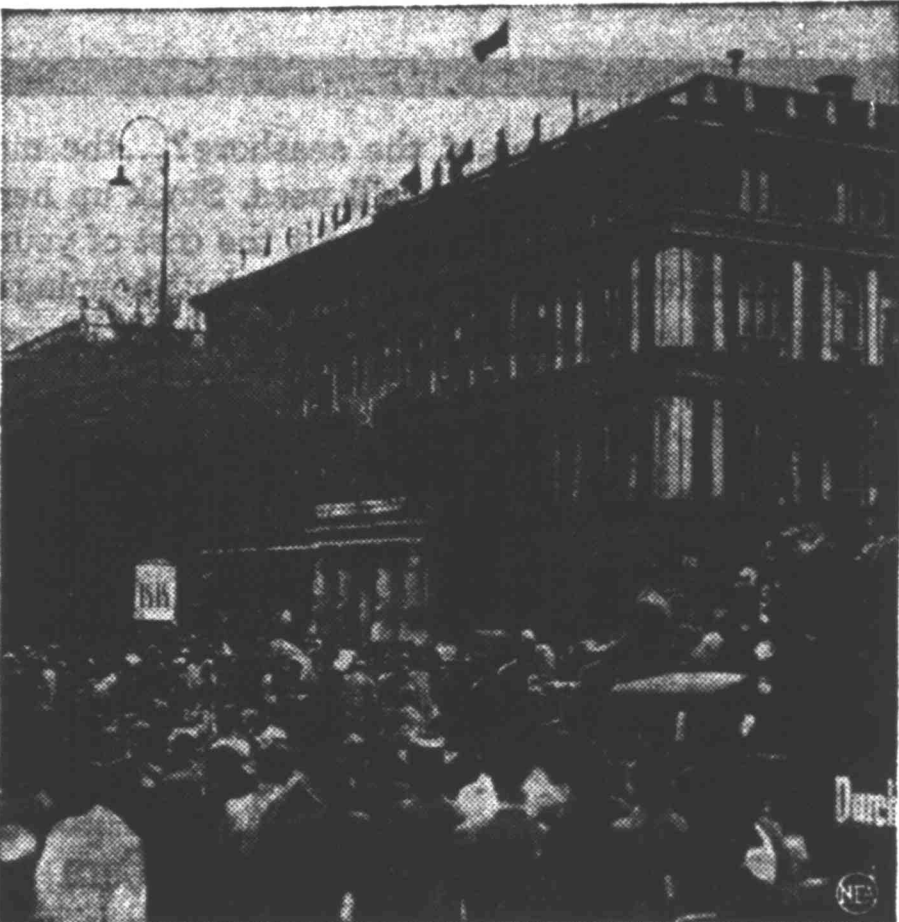

The Buddhist system, adhering to the country's religious traditions, is used now in many schools and offices in the provinces. One argument for its official adoption is that government office workers and school children would be able to attend special services and observe Buddhist rites.

Vienna, 1948: The Music Of Walztes Is Drowned By The Cost Of Listening

On their way for a weekly shopping expedition, this is the distasteful side of a middle-class Vienna family. To fill the market basket will take two-thirds of the income.

Not so long ago, Springtime in Vienna was a songwriter's dream. This is Vienna's 1948 Springtime as Communists gather outside red-starred Soviet headquarters for a May Day celebration with speeches instead of waltzes.

VIENNA, AUSTRIA—(NEA)—Vienna, erstwhile "city of beautiful nonsense," is a city of drab reality in its fourth post-war Summer. The music of Viennese waltzes is all but drowned out by the cost of listening to them.

The roses still bloom in the public gardens, but they bloom in the midst of rubble and unkept lawns. Vienna's pretty girls still swing down the streets in light Summer dresses, but their shoes are down at the heel and they wear no lipstick, gloves or hats. The cafes where Old Vienna sat over coffee with whipped cream, or cool steins of beer, are still in business, but the coffee is ersatz and creamless, the beer is weak, and the violins are silent. Food still is the crucial problem for Vienna—and all Austria, even though it fared better than other Nazi-occupied countries.

Viennese housewives with small incomes, like Carlotta Schmidt, wife of a Vienna janitor, have to spend two-thirds of their income on food alone. Here is what Mrs. Schmidt gets in her weekly market basket for herself, her husband, and two children over 14:

Black bread, six pounds; flour, one pound; canned horsemeat, eight ounces; sugar and cornmeal, eight ounces each; milk, one pint; potatoes, five pounds; paprika, one-half ounce.

There has been no distribution of fresh meat for several months, but on rare occasions Mrs. Schmidt splurges on black market meat at two to three dollars a pound. Butter and cheese are for babies and pregnant women only; Mrs. Schmidt is luckier than many on this score because she has relatives in the country who send her dairy products now and then.

Right now there is a bumper supply of eggs, vegetables and fruit, which helps to augment the normal consumer-ration of 1700 calories daily.

Every two months, eight ounces worth of bread tickets can be exchanged for four ounces of ersatz coffee. Beer, at 25 cents a quart, and ordinary wine, a dollar a quart, are unrationed.

For the traveler who comes to Vienna on business (there are no visas for tourists because all the large hotels are requisitioned) a fairly good restaurant meal costs three dollars. Breakfast of ersatz coffee, buttermilk, and toast with a dab of butter and a spoonful of preserves, adds up to better than 100 schillings—more than a dollar.

Except for foreigners who patronize the few cabarets, Viennese night-life is limited to beer gardens outside the city, where young people go to dance and sing and drink the year-old wine. But most people save up for the price of a weekly seat at the opera or concert.

Most popular Allied installation is the American Information center, where newspapers, illustrated weeklies, and other periodicals are available to Austrians. Newsstands usually do not carry foreign publications because they are too expensive, but the one outside the Hotel Bristol, where "very important persons" stay, had a bundle of three-month-old American news magazines on sale at 10 cents a copy.

American automobiles and jeeps outnumber by far those of the other occupation forces on the streets, but I was told a large number of the American cars are Russian-owned. These are driven mostly by civilian-clothed Russians; except in their own sector, there are few uniformed Russians around.

Vienna's attitude toward the occupation forces is negative. The Russians are frankly feared. The French are unpopular, save with the bourgeoisie, and the British rank second on the basis of least resentment.

Collector Has 2,000 Presidential Buttons

SEATTLE—(AP)—E. C. Glickert is a specialist in the "button-eye view" of presidential campaign history.

His hobby is collecting presidential campaign lapel buttons. While others wait for political speeches, he waits for campaign buttons. "There should be some mighty interesting new buttons coming out," he says.

From previous campaigns he has almost 2,000. He collected more than 20 during this year's pre-convention campaigning.

His oldest is a faded tintype worn by Stephen A. Douglas supporter when Douglas ran against Abraham Lincoln in 1860. Large pins and ribbons were the order of the McKinley-Bryant era, but the buttons really reached their hey-day, says Glickert, in the Roosevelt-Willkie campaign of 1940.

"That's when bitter sarcasm in slogans became prevalent and people forgot many of the political niceties, if any," he said. He said about 800 different types of pins were issued during that campaign and he got about half of them.

Glickert, 55, a former quarantine officer with the city health department, gets his pins from friends and by swapping with collectors throughout the country.

Russians Build Gas Burning Cars

MOSCOW—(AP)—Russia is again making automobiles that run on gas. The machines were being manufactured before the war but this was halted with the German invasion.

Dawn of the East, which recently reported resumption of this work, said a second tank having compressed gas and a reducing agent, is necessary to operate an automobile normally running on gasoline by gas. No other changes are needed in the car. Waste from the coke-chemical industry is used as fuel for the gas burners.

AUSTRALIA TO HAVE PICTURES BY WIRE

MELBOURNE—(AP)—A 4,000 mile wire-picture circuit is being set up in Australia in time for the Royal Visit next year. Post Office officials have purchased equipment in England which will make it possible to send pictures between all major cities from Brisbane to Perth.

GRADUATION TALK PACKS POWERFUL PUNCH
CHICAGO—(AP)—The audience at Darwin school heard the briefest—and probably most provocative—of all commencement orations. There was only one speech. The full text: "Ice cream and cookies now will be served in the gymnasium." The graduates, clutching their kindergarten diplomas, hurried from the stage to the tables.

CHILDREN IN BAR HAVE TIDY PARTY
CHICAGO—(AP)—A dozen children, each carrying a balloon, trooped into a west side saloon. They climbed up on stools and ordered pop. The afternoon habitues asked: "What goes?" The bartender explained. This lady was giving a birthday party for her son. She wanted to treat the guests to a television show. She didn't have a set. The tavern did. So she made arrangements to bring the youngsters over for 20 minutes.

Add Fizz Water To Baked Fish

Baked fish with sea-breeze dressing—a summertime delicacy.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Baked fish fits into the budget menu and makes an especially good hot weather main dish. Every serving carbonated beverages with it? Good. And here's a new discovery—a little carbonated beverage added to the stuffing improves the flavor.

Baked Fish With Sea-Breeze Dressing (Serves 6)

Two and one-half to 3 pounds salt water fish, dressed whole; 1 bottle (7-ounce size) lithiated lemon-lime soda. 3 tablespoons chopped onion, 3 tablespoons bacon drippings or other shortening, 2/3 teaspoon celery salt, 1/8 teaspoon thyme, 2/3 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1 1/2 cups soft bread crumbs, firmly packed; 1/4 teaspoon salt, sprigs of parsley, 6 lemon slices.

Chill carbonated beverage in refrigerator before uncapping. Oil or grease bottom of shallow baking pan; place well greased brown paper or cheese cloth in bottom (The paper helps to remove fish without breaking when done.) Set oven at 400 degrees F.

To prepare fish for dressing: rinse fish in cold salted water; drain or wipe dry.

To prepare dressing: saute onion lightly in the drippings; blend in celery salt and thyme. Remove from heat; add parsley, bread crumbs, salt and mix lightly. Blend in one-third of the bottled lemon-lime soda; recap bottle and return to refrigerator until needed.

To stuff fish: two-thirds full with dressing. Close with toothpicks or skewers and lace with string or heavy thread.

To bake: place fish in baking pan. Bake 10 to 15 minutes; then pour over remaining lemon-lime soda. Continue baking 10 to 15 minutes or until done. To serve: carefully lift fish from baking pan and transfer to platter or serving platter. Remove skewers and lacings. Garnish with parsley and lemon slices.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, ready-to-eat cereal, soft-cooked eggs, whole wheat toast, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

U. S. On Long End Of Russian Trade

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States got $2,594,831 more goods from Russia than this country shipped to the Soviet Union in April when the clampdown on such exports first took full effect.

U. S. shipments to Russia in April totaled only $3,861,784—less than half of the March figure—while April imports from Russia were $6,576,625, only $468,000 below March.

Usually, Russia buys far more from this country than it sells here. Last year, Russia bought $149,000,000 and sold us $77,100,000 worth of goods. The Soviets pay off the trade difference in dollars or gold.

Slight Drop Seen April figures, just compiled, showed Russian buying here was only $900,000 below the previous three-month average despite a virtual ban on licensing industrial goods for export to Russia after March 1.

Officials said the total was swelled by the fact that an exception to the licensing shutdown was allowed for items ordered before the clampdown policy was adopted, provided these goods were loaded on ships or planes by April 6.

The Russians rushed their loading during the first week of April, they had throughout March, to clear out as much as possible before the deadline, the officials said. The export trade restrictions were imposed to prevent shipment of war potential goods to the Soviets.

U. S. imports from Russia were higher in April than in any other month this year except March, indicating no immediate attempt by Moscow to retaliate for the tightened American controls.

Philosophy Of Plenty Prevails In New Farm Law

By ROBERT E. GEIGER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Department of Agriculture officials say the new long-range farm law, approved in the closing hours of Congress, moves toward a philosophy of plenty. The law, known as the Agricultural Act of 1948, works this way:

It continues, with some changes, the present high wartime price supports through 1949. Then the long-range plan, with lower price support, goes into effect. After 1949 the more abundant the crop, the less support the farmer will receive. The government may provide this support by making loans, purchasing crops or other means.

Department spokesmen say the purpose is to give some support to abundant crops, but not so much support that the man who has to buy food has to pay prices too high for his pocketbook. If prices start sliding downward because of an oversupply, the federal aid money to farmers will be increased. This may encourage them not to cut crops too sharply. This use in price support with the law of supply and demand. The experts hope it will create abundance without waste. They say this is the first time there has been such an arrangement covering major crops.

New Method
The new law has a new method of figuring parity prices. The parity formula attempts to define the buying power of farm products during a period of fair farm profits. Then it attempts to insure the farmer the same buying power today. (As an instance, if two bushels of wheat in a given period, bought a pair of shoes, today's price for wheat would be set so that two bushels would be sufficient to buy a pair of shoes, although in dollars the price is twice as high. More than 900 items the farmer buys are used in determining the price he should receive for products he sells.)

The new parity will be based on prices in the 1910-14 period. But in addition it will attempt to take into consideration changes that have taken place in farming practices and demand for farm products since then. For instance, it costs less to produce grain today than it did in 1910-14 because grain planting and harvesting machines have been invented, reducing farm labor. Also the demand for grain has changed. The new law averages prices for all farm commodities during a recent 10-year period. Then this average is used, as one stage of figuring, to establish a "modern" relationship among the crops and the profits they bring.

Farm officials say in general this will tend to reduce grain prices and increase prices for livestock and dairy products.

The law spells out the way the secretary of agriculture may support prices of the "basic" commodities—corn, wheat, cotton, peanuts, rice and tobacco. He may support other products at his discretion. The tobacco price will be set at 80 per cent of parity indefinitely. The other five basic commodities may be supported at from 60 to 90 per cent of parity. The level will be determined by the abundance of any commodity. The price may be set at 90 per cent of parity when the size of the crop is 70 per cent of normal but it may be reduced as low as 60 per cent of parity if the size of the crop reaches 130 per cent of normal. In the case of tobacco the price will be 80 per cent of parity whenever marketing quotas are in effect to control the size of the crop.

Wool prices will be supported at 80 per cent of parity until production reaches 250,000,000 pounds a year. At present it is 300,000,000. White potatoes will be supported at from 60 to 80 per cent of parity. Other farm products, including poultry, may be supported at from zero to 90 per cent of parity.

The secretary of agriculture may establish marketing restrictions on the basic commodities when supply is 115 per cent of normal or prices are below 70 per cent of parity and supply is less than normal.

Dalton Knows Enough Jesse James Answers To Confuse Lore Authority

ATLANTA, GA.—(NEA)—Joe B. Browder is trying to decide whether he helped bury or raise Jesse James.

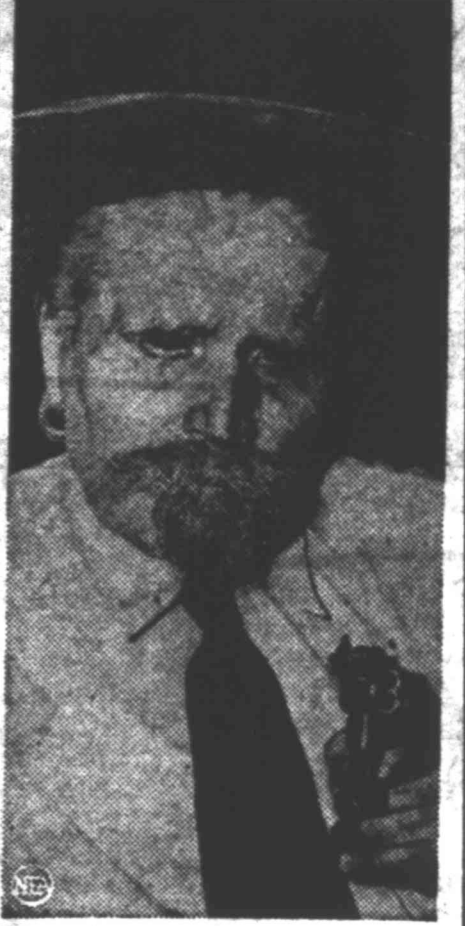

Browder, an Atlanta lighting engineer, is the great-grandson of one of Jesse's bank robbery victims. His great-grandfather, banker Nimrod Long, also helped finance the education of Robert James, Jesse's father, for the Baptist ministry.

This Browder, who is pretty well steeped in the lore of one of the James brothers' escapades, was pretty sure he could prove 100-year-old J. Frank Dalton was an impostor when Dalton turned up in Lawton, Okla., recently with the claim he is really Jesse James and very much alive.

Browder wrote Dalton a batch of questions about details of the are the ones he answered correctly.

The answers to Browder's cross-examination-by-mail came from Orvus Lee Howk, a friend of Dalton's who has taken the old man to Pueblo, Colo., because the altitude in Lawton was too high.

Frank Dalton: But there's a lot of loot still buried.

Opened By Key

Browder figured he'd catch Dalton by asking how the James boys got the combination to the vault when they robbed Nimrod Long's bank in Russellville, Ky., in 1882. Actually, the vault was opened by a six-inch iron key. Browder knew it, because his brother still has the key. Dalton knew it, too.

Dalton knew the other answers, as well as Browder. He remembered the name of Browder's grandfather—Nimrod Long—for instance; the name of the bank, but hedged a bit on the question as to what Jesse did with his share of this particular loot.

Browder says Jesse returned his share to Nimrod Long when he discovered Long was the man who had educated his father. Dalton's answer, via Howk, is somewhat evasive, but will make treasure hunters hungry.

"He (Dalton) says in many instances they would bury most of any loot and return for it later... but they did divide this one in parts and scattered in various directions. He states there are still a good many loots never dug up all over the country and adds that it is nobody's business what he did with his share of the loot."

While Browder tries to decide, on this Q. and A. evidence, whether the man he thought was an impostor is really Jesse James after all, other people are likely to be getting out shovels.

New Insecticide Increases Cotton Yield 10 Times

By MURRAY NEAL

WACO.—(AP)—Some dramatic results have been obtained through use of two new cotton insecticides recommended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and tested and perfected here.

Previously used only on an experimental basis, the new insecticides are being placed in widespread usage for the first time this year.

The new bug killers have some tongue-twisting names about as long as some of the scientific names for the bugs they kill. The USDA Laboratory, Division of Cotton Insects, Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, knows them as benzene hexachloride (called benzene hex for short, or just BHC), and chlorinated camphene.

K. P. Ewing, chief entomologist of the laboratory here, takes a middle of the row view of the new insecticides. He warns they are not a "cure-all" for the bugs that eat a seventh of the Texas cotton crop every year, but that they are "superior" in many ways to insecticides formerly used for cotton pest control.

Recommended Program

Ewing supervised the tests and mixtures first tried out on experimental fields, and in cooperation with the Texas A&M extension service and other farm agencies, has set up a recommended program for use of the new poisons.

"They will kill many different kinds of insects commonly found on cotton, but only when they are used in the right way or according to recommendations will they give economical and satisfactory control of the major pests," he said.

While effects of the new insecticides used on a large scale this year are yet to be determined from the harvesting of the 1948 cotton crop, the test fields last season showed really dramatic results. A controlled field near Waco, the untreated section of the cotton produced only 144 pounds of seed cotton per acre. In the rows right next to this untreated cotton, another section of the field was given five applications of a mixture of five per cent DDT and benzene hexachloride containing three per cent of the gamma isomer. The treated cotton produced 1,248 pounds of seed cotton per acre. This was almost 10 times the yield of the untreated cotton.

Chinese Seek Support Of Peasants In Fight

SIAM, CHINA.—(AP)—The government is trying to win the support of the peasants in its fight against the Communists in this section of Northern China.

The peasants appear to be skeptical. They ask why the government, which has been fighting a civil war for two years, hasn't done this before. Maj. Gen. Chang Ming, deputy director of the Ministry of National Defense, said he couldn't answer that question. "Nationalist troops used to carry their own rations," Chang said. "When they ran short they took food from the peasants, often without paying for it. From now on, they will get their food from the peasants and pay for it."

At several villages the peasants sullenly refused to provide the troops with water. No attempt was made to force them. At other villages the peasants grumbled loudly when asked for water and food. When they were paid for it they appeared bewildered. The government also is using an effective method of praising the peasants.

"Without the help of the peasants," says General Chang, "we can't beat the Communists, even with American help."

POLISH PEASANTS JOIN LEFTIST PARTIES

WARSAW, POLAND.—(AP)—Peasants of Poland are joining leftist political parties in increasing numbers.

Organizers for the Polish Socialist party reported a total of 123,800 peasants had joined. These peasants who have thus signed up with the Socialists soon will be Communists—at least technically. The Socialists are merging with the Communist Workers party on or about October 1.

20,000,000 Gallons Of Whiskey Disappears

CINCINNATI.—(AP)—Each year enough aged and aging whiskey to load a freight train 23 miles long vanishes virtually without trace. It is lost in leaks, evaporation and absorption in the barrels in which it is being aged, explains Carl J. Kiefer, production vice president for Schenley Distillers Corporation.

Kiefer says federal reports show that during the past 10 years the average annual loss of aged and aging whiskey by the industry was 20,000,000 gallons (100 proof) gallons, which compared with 71,000,000 withdrawn for bottling.

Reds Maintain Watch On Austrian Officials

VIENNA—(P)—A high Austrian government source says Russian military authorities have made increasingly stiff demands upon local civil authorities in their zone of occupation for detailed reports on almost every phase of public life in certain sections.

Although Russian troops had been removed from some of the areas nearly two years ago, Russian officers recently approached local Austrian officials with verbal orders to list all former Nazis and all foreigners residing in the area, to report on all political parties and their activities and to report three days in advance on all public meetings to be held—even traditional religious processions.

The Russian officers also asked for complete local police rosters and demanded that any changes in personnel be reported immediately. They wanted lists of all hotels including details as to their capacity and the names of their owners. Post offices were told to submit lists of newspapers coming into the area and the number of each distributed. All lectures and speeches by public officials had to be reported verbatim and they also demanded that each political party secretary give detailed account of the activities of his party on tenth and twentieth of each month. And local officials were told to turn over lists of all trucks and other vehicles, all garages and names of their owners.

Farming On Top Of Penthouse Takes Time, Work

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK—(P)—Do you know how to tell if an orchid is happy? This is one of the many tidbits of horticultural knowledge picked up by a friend of mine who operates a penthouse farm for fun atop an eleven-story-Manhattan apartment building.

Growing orchids in his electric refrigerator is just a sideline with this ardent rooftop burbank, whose real love is his orchard outdoors. He puts the orchid pot atop the refrigerator in a pan full of gravel and water.

"The heat from the motor gives the orchid just the humid vapor it needs," he said.

"Once a week I give the plant a sponge bath and dry it off with a cloth. The green in the leaves and the stem really shines then. That's how you know the orchid is happy. If it's discontented, the green doesn't shine at all."

Heavy Work

After playing nursemaid and psychiatrist to an orchid this amateur coddler-breaker in the clouds really gets down to the heavy work.

"Why the farmer in the country doesn't know what real hardship is," he said, showing me around his terrace ranch. "It takes more than a green thumb to raise things in the city."

"You got to start from the concrete and build up. First, you have to order the earth. I bought four tons at $20 a ton. The man who delivered it wanted to dump it on the street."

"There it was eleven stories below where I needed it. So I got fifty gunny sacks and kept loading them with my tonsil and brought 'it all up in the service elevator."

"This, of course, put him in solid with the apartment house manager right away."

"Next," my friend continued, "I had to have some containers to grow things in. You just can't throw earth around on top of a roof. Along comes a heavy rain and where's your farm? Down the drain."

Storage Problem

"He solved the problem by buying up dozens of wooden egg crates and butter tubs and lining them with tar. Then he found he had to buy sand, peat moss, humus and fertilizer. Storage became a big problem, and his wife pointed out that being married to a penthouse farmer is something of a trial, too."

"One morning I woke up and became aware of a rather unusual sound in the room," she said, finally looking under the bed and there was a nice bag of fertilizer."

"Only place I could find to put it," he said.

"Some husbands," she replied, "bring their wives perfume."

Peruvian Air Line Hauls Large Shipment

NEW YORK—(P)—One of the largest shipments of furred-and-feathered life ever flown to Lima, America was completed recently by Peruvian International Airways.

The cargo included 3,000 baby chicks from New Hampshire, destined for Havana, 200 golden finches and 100 doves from Amsterdam, Holland, also bound for Havana, and 100 rabbits from Mexico for Lima, Peru. An airline official said the chicks would be raised for resale and that the finches and doves were for South American collectors and zoological gardens. The rabbits, shipped to a Peruvian leader, arrived in Lima approximately 24 hours after leaving New York.

Russia's Military Forces Are World's Strongest

In terms of armies ready to march into action, Russia is the world's strongest power today—while the U. S. is weaker than at any time since the war. Map shows disposition of Red armies according to basic Soviet defense policy. In armored units alone, Russia now has in being three more divisions than the 18 armored and infantry divisions Army Secretary Royall says the U. S. may have by the end of 1948.

Expert Tells How To Cook Duck

By GAYNOR MADDOX
 NEA Staff Writer

There's a lot of misinformation about duck cooking that needs to be junked, reports Madox. Steamer, home economist, who has just completed a long research on duck cooking. She advises you to forget the following old-fashioned ideas that have no basis in fact: (1) Roast at 420 degrees F. to 450 degrees F. (2) Roast for 30 minutes per pound. (3) Prick skin well before roasting or basting. (4) Do not add any fat to dressing for duck.

Now that we have junked those false ideas, let's listen to Miss Stegner further and learn how to cook duck for the best eating results. How To Prepare Duck For Cooking
 Remove and wash giblets from duckling. Push back skin around neck of duck and cut off neck. Cut off wing tips and remove pin feathers with tweezers. Wash duck thoroughly, inside and out, with cold water. Dry carefully. Fill with favorite stuffing or roast unstuffed.

To Roast
 Place duck, breast side up, on a rack in a shallow baking pan about 12x14 inches and not more than 2 inches deep. Do not prick the skin since this allows some of the meat juices to run out during roasting.

fat from a hot roasting pan containing a duck hardly seems worthwhile. To Roast Stuffed Lightly fill body cavity of duck with about 4 cups of desired stuffing. Do not pack too full. Insert several small poultry pins from one side of vent to other. Loosely opening with light twine. It is not necessary to truss a duck since the legs are short and the wings lie close to the body.

To Roast Unstuffed
 Place a few celery leaves and a few slices of onion inside the duck for flavor. Discard the vegetables after roasting.

Internal parasites of livestock cause an annual loss of 125 million dollars.

Tons Of Fruit Salad Litter Katy Railroad

ATOKEA, OKLA.—(AP)—Tons of fruit salad littered the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad right-of-way north of here in the wake of a 16-car derailment.
 The cars were in the after section of the 85-car Texas fruit train carrying oranges, lemons, and watermelons to St. Louis.
 A section worker, Dock Bailey, 68, said he saw "something drop onto the roadbed from the carriage of one of the cars" and then one after the other of the cars hurled off the track at an estimated 55-miles per hour. No one was injured.

Ann Arbor Loses Manholes Under Asphalt

ANN ARBOR, MICH.—(AP)—This college town has lost its manholes. So it's trying to find them again.
 A man has been hired to wander about the streets with a mine detector in search of them.
 City officials explained streets recently received a new coating of asphalt. All manhole covers were covered. When the mine detector locates one, city crews dig off the coating.
 Not a single bird in Africa has become extinct.

Skeletons May End Missing Men Mystery

MCCALLEN—(AP)—University of Texas archaeologists may examine the bones of five skeletons unearthed near here.
 M. E. Ayala found the fifth skeleton recently as he was excavating for a sewer line on his farm.
 The tip of an arrowhead was found with the skeleton and beads also have been found. It was believed that the bones may be those of Indians buried in a shallow mound.
 Some oldtimers have recalled that Manuel Estapa, a prominent Edinburg businessman, and several associates disappeared in 1915 without a trace. At the time they were thought to have been killed by border bandits.
 Joe Estapa of Edinburg, son of the missing man, was investigating a theory that the bones may be those of his father and the other men.

ITALIAN FILM BOOM
PARIS—(AP)—The French movie world is amazed by the activity shown by the Italian studios, and Rome, they predict, will soon become the European Hollywood. Movie directors from many parts of Europe are in Rome making or preparing six films.
