Why Work And Worry?

When we oldsters were not so old, children, they used to tell us that America was the land of opportunity. But they also used to tell us that we should put in an honest day's work for a day's pay.

Of course, children, that was vicious propaganda. Today, as you all know, everything has been changed for the better. America is still the land of opportunity.

Today you can be comfortably rich and briefly famous without working and without knowing very much. If you can guess the answer to "Who was called the Father of his Country?" the man is likely to come up and put in your little fat hand as much money as Joe DiMaggio gets for playing baseball all Summer on a bum heel.

Think what it would have been like if you kids had been born before American genius gave us the radio quiz and give-away shows. Why, you probably would have had to sweat and slave for three years to earn as much as the lady got the other night for knowing what to say when they stopped the music on "Stop the Music."

Maybe you tend to be slightly morose. That's all right, too. You don't need to know anything beyond your name and a smattering of English. For radio has lent to the tawdry practice of begging a glamor that it hasn't enjoyed since Ott Skinner played Hajj the Beggar in "Kismet."

You might try a program like "Strike It Rich." All you have to do is want money and be able to tell the jolly man at the microphone why you want it. The other night an ex-sailor wanted a tattoo removed from his arm because his wife objected to the scantily-attired figure thereon. He got $185. Two longshoremen from Brooklyn had told their sister that she acted like a debutante. So she wanted to walk and talk like one. She won $50, and a free course at a "success school."

To the poor unfortunate lover, tired of courting his young lady in her parents' combination living room-bedroom, went $100 to buy a separating door. Hooray for privacy and hooray for love! There was an old woman who lived in an old-fashioned house with an old-fashioned bathtub. She got $200 to buy a shower. Viva el sanitation!

Why work and worry? Why study and strive? Just dream a dream of money and then head for the big city, the broadcast studio, and a great big slice of fortune on the house. Or, if that's too much trouble, pick a different program and wait for the telephone to ring.

There's only one flaw in our pretty picture. Some folks have stirred up trouble in paradise by working. What's worse, they're working the quiz winners. You probably heard about the $39-a-week man and his wife who hit the quiz jackpot for $7,800. The real estate agents and charity solicitors and just people with their hands out descended on them like locusts. For a few horrible hours the young couple actually thought of giving the money back.

But these are little bugs in our utopian machinery that can be easily worked out. Surely the combined advertising brains of this country, which have thought up such various and clever ways of giving away money, can devise a publicity campaign that will put down this work nonsense in short order.

What's that, Tommy? You're going to be a radio contest winner when you grow up? Well, that's a fine ambition for a fine big boy. You watch Tommy, children, he'll go far. Yes, sir, he's got the modern American spirit.

The trombone player seems to be the only fellow who can get any place just letting things slide.

Politics Or No, People Could Gain Through Special Session

WASHINGTON—Results of the special session of Congress alone may decide whether Harry S. Truman or Thomas E. Dewey will be President the next four years.

As Governor of New York, Dewey could perhaps be pardoned for keeping his neck in and expressing no opinion on tough questions of domestic policy. But, in his new role as GOP candidate for the presidency, it is he who is on the spot as well as the Republican Congress. This will give the voters just the opportunity they need to compare the two candidates in action, and not just on campaign promises.

The special session may also backfire to make Harry S. Truman and the Democrats the targets instead of the trigger men. Take the civil rights issue. The Republican platform calls for all the reforms President Truman has asked. Republican majorities in Congress plus liberal Northern Democrats should be able to slant through the whole program.

The danger comes through the possibility of a filibuster from about a dozen Southern states' rights senators, including W. Lee O'Daniel of Texas, John L. McClellan of Arkansas, Richard B. Russell of Georgia, John H. Overton of Louisiana, James O. Eastland of Mississippi and Otis D. Johnston of South Carolina, all Democrats.

So, at the worst, there is the possibility of a two week's session in which nothing would be accomplished and for which the Democrats would get the blame. Senator Johnston's idea of having Congress vote to adjourn as soon as it convenes would definitely show that the congressmen were afraid to face the issues of unfinished business on which the people have a right to demand constructive action.

Adjournment of Congress before anything is accomplished would be an excellent cue for the voters to throw all the rascals out and elect a new bunch in the hope it would do better.

Of course, it was politics that prompted President Truman to call Congress back. But, if the American people gain something out of this session in the way of housing or anti-inflation legislation, what difference does it make if the motive was sordid politics?

The program on housing should be fairly obvious. If it is nothing more than the Taft-Wagner-Henderson bill, it will be enough. This bill has already passed the Senate but will have to be fought through the House again.

Fight On Inflation Is Complex. The problem on inflationary controls is more complex. If the President asks for the unpassed seven points of his original 10-point program, the outlook is doubtful. Desirable as rolled-back prices might

Good Attendance Is Reported At Paisano Meeting

The Rev. Vernon Yearby, returning from the Paisano Baptist encampment to conduct Wednesday evening services at The First Baptist Church, reported approximately 1,000 persons were led on the encampment grounds Monday night.

Mr. Yearby said there now are about 1,800 persons at the encampment. The Rev. Raymond Hall, associate pastor of the First Baptist Church, appeared on the encampment program Tuesday morning as a vocal soloist. Friday night the First Baptist Harmony Choir is scheduled to sing.

Highlight of the Friday night service will be Dr. E. C. Lee of Memphis, Tenn., preaching his famous sermon, "Pay Day, Someday."

Doctor Lee has delivered this sermon almost 400 times in 40 states to more than a million persons. Once a year he delivers it in the Memphis City Auditorium to a packed house of 17,000. Many are turned away each time.

The Midland First Baptist Church has one of the largest single church delegations at the encampment. Attending from the church are Mr. Hall, Tom Wingo, Mrs. Brown, Johnnie Murray, Kenneth Wright, Michael Dunagan, Walter Dunagan, Ralph Powell, Rip Griffith, Dub Hagler, Mr. Yearby, Mrs. Yearby, Rosanne Yearby, Harriett Yearby, Mrs. E. R. Powell, Mrs. J. S. Griffith, Mrs. Raymond Hall, John C. Dunagan, Vern Lee Gools, Wilda Drake, Nellie Clark, Martha Scharbauer, Mrs. Dub Hagler, Swan Hagler, Lynn Griffith, Peggy Caffey, Marilyn Dunagan and Jane Rae Neill.

Special DDT Fog Jobs To Be Done By City Machine Each Thursday. Midlanders who want to get on the list for a special DDT spray job from the city for machine may do so by calling the Midland-Ector-Howard County Health Unit (telephone No. 178), giving their names, residential and mailing address, it was announced Thursday.

W. M. Howard, sanitarian at the unit and supervisor of the city-conducted spraying campaign, said that operators of the machine will devote each Thursday to spraying premises of citizens who have requested the special service. On other days, the machine will be used along city alleys and streets.

However, if a resident who has asked for the special spray job happens to live along the route taken by the machine on other days than Thursday, it frequently will be used along city alleys and streets. Service Charge. A charge of $3 will be levied by the city for fogging city property. Suburban dwellings and yards will be sprayed on the same amount, plus mileage, will be charged for rural homes, yards and buildings.

The city will send recipients of this service statements once a month, and payment will be remitted to the City of Midland, Howard said.

Midlanders Observe Birthdays At Paisano. PAISANO, TEXAS.—(P)—Harriett and Rosanne Yearby, daughters of the Rev. and Mrs. Vernon Yearby of Midland, had a joint birthday celebration Wednesday in the Midland First Baptist Church cabin on the Paisano encampment grounds. Others in the cabin were guests for the occasion.

Harriett was nine years old Wednesday and Rosanne will be 11 Friday.

The DOCTOR Says

Excessive Sweating Is Usually Not Sign Of Serious Disease

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D. Written for NEA Service. Many people complain of excessive perspiration. This may be confined to the hands, feet or some other region of the body, or involve the entire body. As a rule this complaint does not mean the presence of some serious disease.

Occasionally, general sweating of the body is caused by some disorder such as obesity, toxic goiter, an exhausting illness or abnormality of the nervous system. Excessive sweating at night can occur in such conditions as tuberculosis or undulant fever.

The nervous element certainly enters into the question in many cases. Our sweat glands are controlled by what is called the sympathetic and para-sympathetic nervous systems, which are not under the control of the brain. These systems are, however, disturbed in those who are not particularly stable, nervously.

Localized sweating of the hands, feet, or some other area is more common in the younger years and often tends to improve by itself on growing older. Sometimes soaking the hands or feet in hot water gives temporary relief.

Where body odor as well as sweating is bad, avoidance of foods containing onions or garlic may be helpful. Some drugs also contribute to perspiration. Excessive exposure to sunlight, and frequent bathing, are sometimes recommended.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS. By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D. QUESTION: "Is a lipoma of the breast a malignant tumor? If removed should it give cause for further worry?"

ANSWER: A lipoma is a tumor made up of fatty tissue. It is not cancerous. After removal there should be no cause for further worry.

helpful. Some drugs also contribute to perspiration. Excessive exposure to sunlight, and frequent bathing, are sometimes recommended.

Q—Upon what old custom did Whittier base his beautiful poem "Telling the Bees?"

A—This poem was founded upon an old custom brought from the old country, and which prevailed in some parts of New England. On the death of a member of the family, the bees were at once informed of the event and their hives draped with mourning. This ceremony was supposed to prevent the swarms from leaving their hives and seeking a new home.

Q—What is the origin of the word "fidio" as applied to a dog? A—it is derived from the Latin word "fidus," meaning faithful and loyal.

Q—Who built the Great Wall of China? A—The great warrior, Chi-chiang-ti, who was Emperor of China about two centuries before Christ. For the purpose of putting a stop to the incursions of the Tartars and other tribes from the north, he caused the Great Wall to be erected along the northern frontier of his dominions.

Health Officer Urges Physical Examinations For School Children

AUSTIN—With the report of 77 new cases of chicken pox, 11 cases of diphtheria, 220 cases of measles, 73 cases of polio, and 189 cases of whooping cough occurring in the state in the week between July 10-17, Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, has made an appeal to all parents to have their children undergo a thorough physical examination before entering school.

"It is a medically established fact that a child's health has a direct bearing on his progress in school," the health officer said.

Dr. Cox said that since the child spends most of his time indoors with large groups of children, it is imperative that he be immunized against communicable diseases when such protection is possible.

A year's output of tin plate from U. S. steel mills would make a can 1 1/2 miles high and large enough in diameter to enclose Pittsburgh.

Francis Bacon: He's one school's... Dr. Giles Dawson: He's in the middle. He made two famous paintings of Shakespeare showed that they were paintings of the Earl of Oxford.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN WASHINGTON (NEA)—Last Summer the investigation of Howard Hughes provided the capital city with its stellar, hot-weather attraction.

He made two famous paintings of Shakespeare showed that they were paintings of the Earl of Oxford. He said a coat of arms which had been painted over the one by Ashbourne proved it to have been a portrait of the Earl.

China Revives Her Plan For Vital Rail Link

NANKING—(AP)—The prospect of U. S. aid has revived an old dream of Chinese leaders—forging a railway link between the riches of China's west and the coastal cities of the south.
 The construction, reconstruction or completion of rail lines from the port cities into the virtually untouched interior, therefore, appears to be the only way to assure a continued flow of supplies.
 "The cities which would be linked to railways already functioning south of the Yangtze under the Chinese plan are Chungking, the wartime capital, Chengtu to the northwest, and Kunning, a major U. S. base during the war in China's southwest.
 What is needed is steel for rail bridges and other equipment with which to push the completion of "utility" rail lines already operating south of the Yangtze.
 Some leaders intend to argue for a railway between Kunning and the South China railway known as the Hunan-Kwangsi-Kweichow line. This latter line is 300 mountainous miles east of Kunning at its nearest approach.

 The government, while fighting the war from Chungking, had plans drafted proposing to connect that wartime capital with the Hunan-Kwangsi-Kweichow line.
 Others gave a more ambitious plan for construction of an all-China route from Kunning to the sea.
 Add diced frankfurter or crumbled bacon and slices of hard-cooked egg to potato salad when it is to be the main luncheon or supper dish; mix the frankfurter or bacon right into the salad with the dressing and celery, but use the hard-cooked egg sliced as a garnish.
 Hong Kong is a rocky island about 11 miles long in the South China Sea.

Philippines Seek Amity With Peron

MANILA—(AP)—President Quirino has urged closer relationship between the Philippines and Argentina.
 Aboard the Argentine training ship, Argentina, at a luncheon given by Capt. Alberto Leonardi, the president said:
 "Having had the same mother country, the Philippines and the Argentine are closely linked in culture, language and religion. We should bolster and strengthen such ties that bind us."
 Captain Leonardi replied that President Peron of Argentina professed great love for the Philippine republic because Peron's aim "is peaceful and friendly relations to all peoples who want to be friendly."
 Victoria is the capital of the island of Hong Kong.

Fresh pears have an affinity for blue or Roquefort cheese. Serve them together as is or peel the pears, halve and core, and arrange or water cross or shredded lettuce with a mixture of French dressing and the crumbled blue or Roquefort cheese in each cavity.
 The French language grew from the colloquial Latin of Caesar's legions combined with Celtic, Germanic and Gallic words. It was not called "French" until the 11th Century, when it took its name from the small kingdom of France around Paris and Orleans.

Sells New Motors, Fixes Broken Ones

The length of service you get from an electric motor depends in large part on the care and skill with which the motor is used and maintained.

It depends also on the quality of materials and workmanship which go into the motor when new parts must be added.

These are reasons why Tommie's Electric Shop, 207 South Pecos Street in Midland, is a good place to take your motor troubles. Tommie and his helpers specialize in electric motors. They know how to find what ails one if it stops running, and they know how to fix it so it will give maximum service after they've repaired it.

New Motors
New electric motors of all sizes may be purchased at Tommie's Electric Shop. All sorts of parts necessary to the use of such a motor also are stocked, so if you need a certain kind of belt or pulley in using a motor you can be sure Tommie will have it for sale or will know where to get it for you in the shortest possible time.

In addition to selling motors and parts and repairing all kinds of electric motors at the shop, Tommie maintains a pickup and delivery service which makes it convenient as well as astute to call his shop when your motor fails. The telephone number is 1222. Call the shop to have a man come after your motor, take it to the shop for needed parts and repairs, and bring it back and install it where it belongs. Or, if it's merely a new belt or some minor part that's needed, call to have it brought and installed.

Comfort All Year With Single Unit

If you are opposed to the idea of different equipment for heating your home or office in Winter and cooling it in Summer, you'll be interested in the Chrysler Airtemp combination unit which is distributed in this area by Neill's Sheet Metal Company, 603 West Missouri Street, in Midland.

In a single, compact, modernistically-designed unit, Chrysler Airtemp gives you perfect "weather," scientifically controlled, all the year round. It heats in Winter, cools in Summer, and filters air, gently circulating it and controlling its humidity for maximum health and comfort.

Neill's Sheet Metal Company also sells and installs the Mueller unit; it, too, gives year-round comfort, heating, cooling, and filtering air.

Modern Marvels
The company stocks all types of evaporative air conditioners and is able to install and maintain them in residential or commercial buildings.

Lennox heaters, modern marvels of efficient home or commercial heating units, are featured at Neill's. Included in this line is the Stowaway, which fits out of sight in the attic, the Hi-Boy which fits into a hall, closet or odd corner, and the attractive standard model Air-Flo.

Neill's Sheet Metal Company does general sheet metal work as well as specialty jobs with stainless steel or copper. The firm maintains the largest stock of heater and air conditioner parts and automatic heating and cooling controls in this part of the country.

Inflation Pays For Few Chinese
SHANGHAI—(AP)—The Chinese inflation has made it possible for a lucky few to eat their cake and have it too.

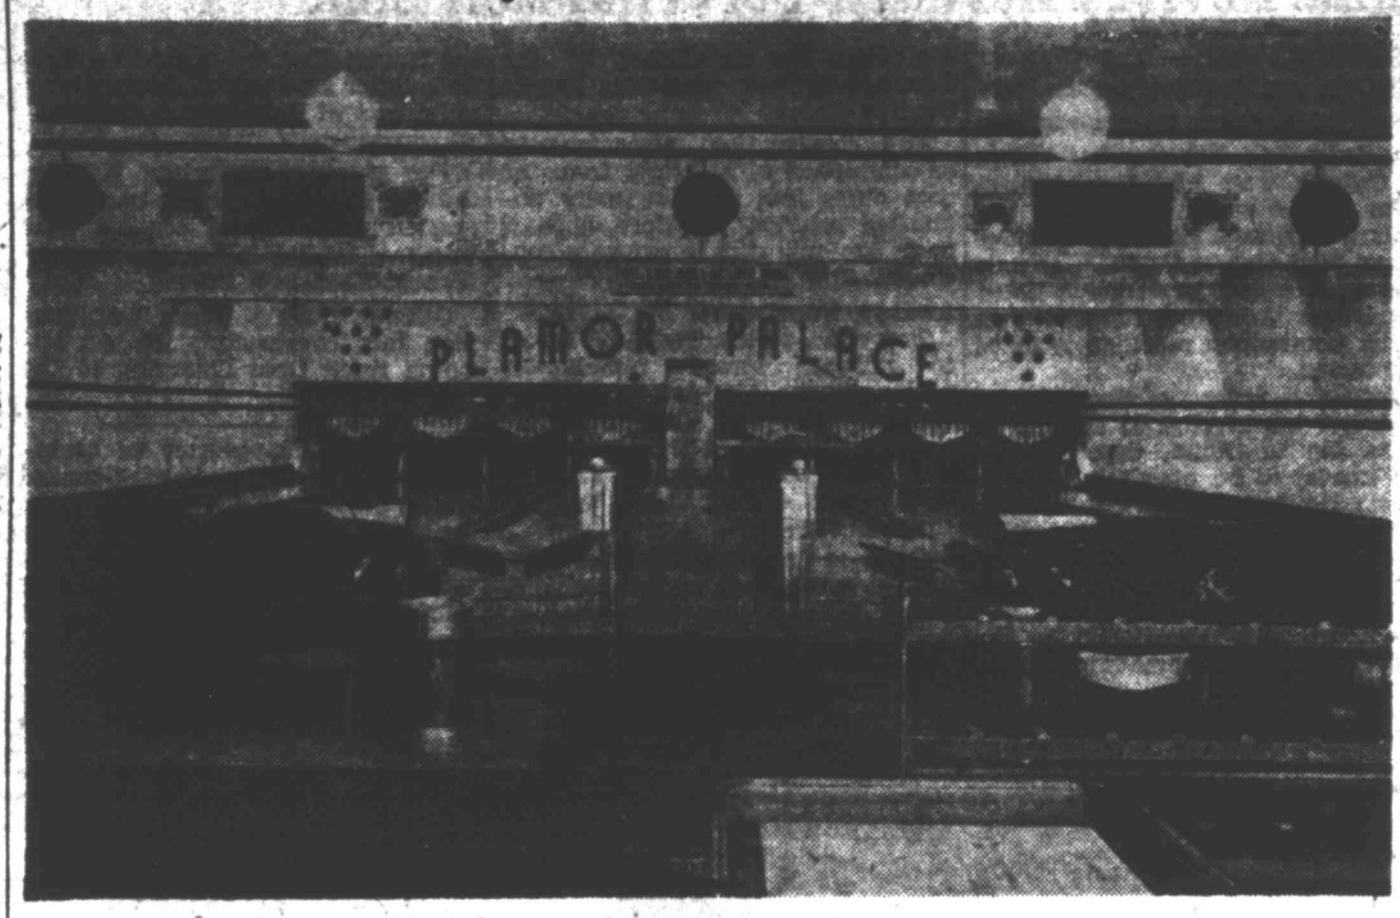

The latest wave of high finance shows how it's done:
A man contracted to buy a suit for 80 million dollars Chinese and paid the tailor 30 million deposit. He changed the remaining 50 million dollars into 80 U. S.

Two weeks later, the tailor delivered the suit; the customer changed his thirty American dollars back to Chinese, getting 130 million dollars because of the increased exchange rate.

Paying the tailor the 50 million dollars due, he now has his new suit and the 80 million dollars he set out with.

Use moderate heat when making croutons on top of the range. To prepare cut cruts from bread slices, dice and saute in butter or margarine in a large skillet or wide-based saucepan, turning very frequently until a golden brown.

Stevenson's Tomb On Hill Still Revered

APIA, WESTERN SAMOA—(AP)—Robert Louis Stevenson's tomb, a whitewashed monument on a high hill overlooking this beautiful South Seas port, draws as many as 800 visitors yearly.

Samoans wonder at the interest of the papalagi, or foreigner. The first-hand memory of the laird of Vallima, who lived here his last four years, is fading fast. It is 84 years since Stevenson's Samoan friends, chanting dirges, carried the wasted body a last time up Vai Hill to his resting place "under the wide and starry sky."

Samoans labored all night cutting a path straight up Vai Hill to the crest 600 feet above sea level. Legend has it that pallbearers were paid a shilling for each step. Today, recollections of this deluge of shillings impress younger Samoans far more than the abundant output of Stevenson's pen.

A new trail has been cut for visitors, less steep than the old. But it is sharp enough, a stiff 40-minute climb and the visitor is likely to find himself more willing to rest than view the beauties from Stevenson's bier.

Soviet Burns Up Tobacco Output Mark

MOSCOW—(AP)—The Soviet tobacco industry produced 74.3 billion cigarettes in 1947. This, says a letter from the tobacco workers of the nation, represented an increase of 46 per cent over 1946 output. The letter, published in all important newspapers, says that in 1946 production was to be 80 billion cigarettes, or 21 per cent over 1947.

Try Banner's Sherbet For Tops In Summer Desserts

Banner Creamery, 300 East Texas Street, invites your attention to the most delightful of all hot weather desserts, namely, sherbet.

Sherbet, with less butterfat than ice cream, is a summer dessert you can enjoy without fear of losing that svelt' shape. It's cooling and soothing. If there's anything you can eat which will make it easy to imagine you're lolling in some cool climate such as that atop Pike's Peak, it's sherbet.

Three Flavors
It is made by Banner Creamery in three fruit flavors—lime, pineapple and orange. Any or all these are available at grocery stores, drug stores and cafes. You can enjoy a dish with your downtown meal, or you can buy it in quantities to serve at home.

Of course, this is not to imply Banner's ice cream is not as available as ever. Just now, the creamery is featuring peach and duneberry cherry flavors. To say merely that they're delicious is to fail to do them justice. Other ice cream flavors made from high-quality formulas at Banner Creamery include, of course, chocolate, vanilla, strawberry and all the other popular ones.

Banner Creamery ice creams and sherbets meet the high standards of quality and purity that distinguish the firm's other dairy products and for which Banner has become famous everywhere.

Glass Shortage Hits Television

NEW YORK—(AP)—The television industry's spectacular expansion is being held in check by a bottleneck of pure glass, but prospects are it will be broken before the year is out.

The bottleneck is in the supply of the plain glass tubes or "blanks" from which television tubes are made.

Manufacturers who convert the glass blanks into television tubes haven't been able to get enough blanks from the glassmakers to keep up with the mushrooming demand. This in turn has held down some set manufacturers who could produce even more sets if they could get enough viewing tubes to go into them.

However, the Corning Glass Works of Corning, N. Y., the biggest supplier of television tube blanks, say it hopes to be able by August or early fall at the latest to supply all the blanks anybody wants.

Rich Home-Made Sodas Delight

Treat the family to a deluxe hot-weather surprise with home-made coffee-peach ice cream sodas.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Looking for Summer drinks that will keep the family on their own front porch? Here are four de luxe answers:

Coffee-Peach Ice Cream Soda
(Serves 4)

One cup sliced peaches, 1/2 cup sugar syrup or light corn syrup, 2 cups strong cold coffee, 1 cup light cream, 1 pint coffee ice cream, sparkling water.

Cover peaches with sugar syrup. Combine coffee and light cream; divide equally among four tall glasses. Add peaches and syrup to glasses. Add ice cream. Fill glasses with sparkling water. Stir gently to mix.

Coffee-Peppermint Soda
(Serves 4)

Two cups strong cold coffee, 1/8 teaspoon peppermint extract, 1 cup light cream, 4 teaspoons powdered sugar, 1 pint peppermint or vanilla ice cream, sparkling water.

Combine coffee, peppermint extract, light cream and sugar. Divide equally among four tall glasses. Add ice cream. Fill glasses with sparkling water. Stir gently to mix.

Coffee-Marshmallow Flip
(Serves 4)

Four cups strong cold coffee, 2 cups marshmallow whip, 1 cup milk, 1 cup heavy cream, 2 teaspoons brandy flavoring.

Chill all ingredients. Combine and beat with electric mixer or rotary egg beater until foamy.

Ice Coffee Havana
(Serves 4)

Four cups strong cold coffee, 1 cup light cream, 4 teaspoons powdered sugar, 1 pint coffee ice cream, 2 teaspoons rum flavoring.

Combine coffee, cream, rum flavoring and sugar; mix well. Chill. Pour into tall glasses. Add coffee ice cream and top with whipped cream.

They Gave Him What They Had

LOS ANGELES—(P)—John Wilson, 47, overlooked bulge made by badges, handcuffs and revolvers recently as he stalked Plain Clothes Officers R. G. Church and G. L. Glenn.

In an alley, the officers said, Wilson came up behind them, simulated a gun and demanded: "Give me what you've got!"

He got it—two real guns in the ribs, handcuffs on his wrists and a booking on suspicion of robbery.

Qualifications
For Filibuster
Senator Strict

WASHINGTON—(P)—A senator expressly designed for filibustering would have an iron constitution, a tin ear, and a steady disregard for other people's feelings. Brazen lungs might help, but they aren't absolutely essential. There have been official rulings that a senator might hold the floor even if he mumbled in tones hardly audible to his seatmates. The rules say he's got to keep talking to hold the floor, but they don't specify how loud he must talk.

Filibustering, or the science of drowning legislation gently in a foam of words, has been practiced for at least 123 years in the United States Senate. John Randolph of Roanoke was one of the early expert practitioners.

The matter becomes of immediate practical interest with the Republicans' announcement that they are going to call up the anti-poll tax bill for Senate debate. Or try to, anyway.

Southern States Rights Democrats who bitterly oppose such legislation couldn't have jumped into action any quicker if Robert E. Lee himself had sounded "charge" on a brass bugle.

A full score of them are ready to lay down a rolling barrage of adjectives, expletives and other assorted parts of speech if that is what it takes to beat back the bill. None of the men from Dixie claim to be the perfect filibuster. Most even disclaim any intention to do more than expound a reasonable, logical explanation of the issues. Straight-faced, they add that these explanations may take considerable time.

The way to run a successful filibuster is to get a head start on the opposition, stiff-arm every parliamentary effort to take the speaker off his feet, but agree readily to overnight recesses with a firm understanding that the current orator be allowed to continue his work the following day.

The surest way to beat a filibuster is to apply the closure or debate limitation rule. That takes a two-thirds majority, however, and it has been held that it applies only to debate on a bill, not on a motion.

Wide Loophole
That ruling leaves a wide loophole for the filibusters. In recent years they have embraced the device of "amending and correcting" the journal of the previous day's proceedings. This is a process which in expert hands can stretch out for days—or weeks—or months. Senate business simply can be brought to a halt while the member who has the floor talks about anything that comes to mind.

The Journal is a straight-away account of the Senate's doings. Normally it isn't even read at the appointed hour.

But when it is, there's usually a reason: and the reading then is complete with punctuation.

That means someone can move to substitute a semicolon for the first comma; with a long-winded explanation of why the comma in that instance is incorrect.

Or there can be long argument on whether the verb should be "was" or "were" or whether the "senator from _____" should not be referred to as "the esteemed senator."

And so it can go, for hours and days on end.

Little Frictions Turn Mankind Into Fractions

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(P)—This is the tale of the piece of burnt toast which back-fired.

Wilbur Peoples awoke with a bad taste in his mouth. It was late. "Just sawtooths," Wilbur gaww-ed.

His loving spouse, Trellis Mae, translated this to mean her roommate didn't want to wait for his ham and eggs. She had the coffee steaming ready when he hit the breakfast nook. But the toaster was stuck.

Wilbur fiddled impatiently. Little curls of smoke rose from the toaster. Then up clicked the toast. Burned.

"Ugh-h-h-a-a-row-w-w-r-r-r-r," said Wilbur, making soo noises. But there was no time to wait for more. He gulped his coffee and left. His annoyance grew. It didn't help any when his secretary, Miss Alice Squelch, reached the office 15 minutes late.

Here Trouble
"I don't mind your not knowing how to spell," Wilbur greeted her, "but aren't you old enough to tell time yet, either?"

Miss Squelch didn't answer. She just flounced down to the drug store to get some orange juice and coffee—against all office rules.

"Out late with your boy friend last night," said the counterman cheerfully.

"Save that guff for your wife, Baldy," snapped Miss Squelch. When the dairymaid came in an hour later to deliver his milk, the counterman bewled him out for being alive.

And so it spread from person to person throughout the day. The dairymaid dropped a case of milk on the foot of the man who owned a grocery store where Mrs.

Peoples traded. The owner later bewled out his delivery boy.

Sam Shines For Wilbur
Back in his office something had happened to change Wilbur Peoples' whole outlook. The boss had called him in and given him a raise.

Wilbur came out grinning. "Take the rest of the day off, Miss Squelch," he said cheerfully. "I'm giving my two weeks' notice now," she told him surlily.

When Wilbur paused downstairs for a soft drink, the drug store counterman told him sourly: "Awright, mister, you see I only got two hands, don't you?"

As Wilbur parked before his home, the delivery boy emerged. "Good afternoon," said Wilbur. "What's good about it?" said the boy.

Entering his door, Wilbur met his wife. "That smart-aleck delivery boy?" she exclaimed. "Always full of lip. And now I suppose I have to drop everything and get your dinner.

Why don't you come home at the same time every day—like a normal husband?"

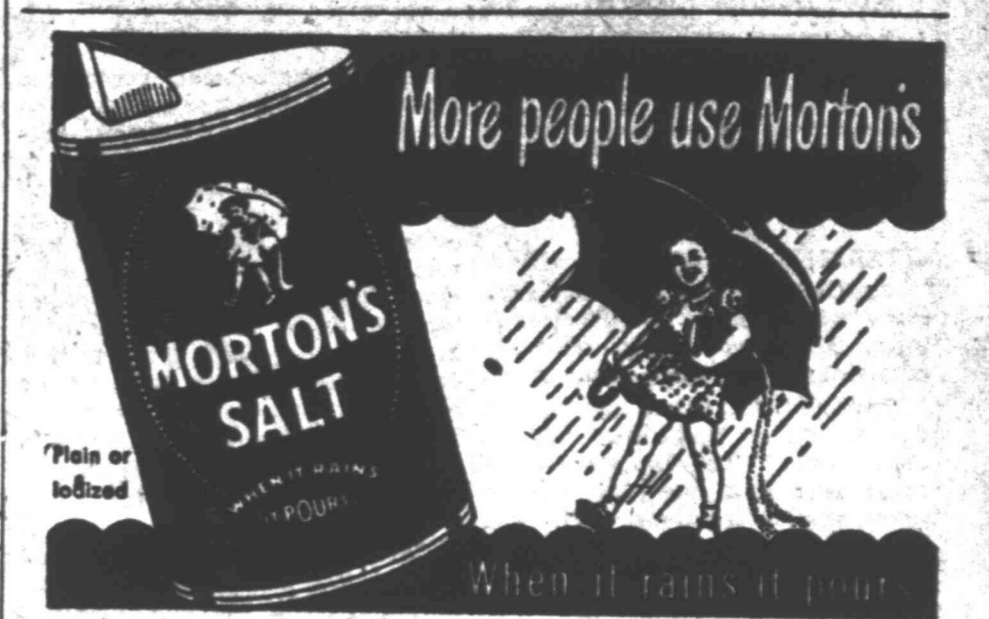

"What's the matter with everybody today?" Wilbur demanded crossly. "Has the world gone crazy?"

He didn't even remember the piece of burnt toast that started it all.

Bitter Reprieve

By Drexel Drake

THE STORY: From the funeral home, Sterling phones Miss Wilson to meet him at Wolvert's Floral Shop. He tells her to bring along the packet he had mailed to her from Edgewater Club.

STERLING was engaged with a florist in the back of the large store when Isabel Wilson joined him. She was a tiny, seriously countenanced woman, wearing a blue dress and a white collar. Sterling introduced her to the florist. "I've had Miss Wilson come here," he explained, "to make sure that you have all the necessary instructions, with the time so unfortunately limited." To his secretary, Sterling added, "I'm sure you can help me greatly in selecting flowers for the piece. It's something I'm wholly ignorant about."

"I'll do my best, Mr. Sterling." When the florist turned toward a large glass case, Miss Wilson opened her bag . . . held out to Sterling the packet he had mailed to her. "You wanted this."

"Oh, yes. Thanks." It was still as he had mailed it, in the outer envelope he had inscribed to her, just torn open at one end. Taking it from her, Sterling said, "Stick along here, please, while I use the telephone booth. I'll be back with you."

Inside the telephone booth, standing against the glass door to conceal his activity, Sterling took a flat cardboard box from inside his coat. Before starting from home, he had emptied some ties from it into a dresser drawer. He also had brought a piece of white wrapping paper and some twine.

He slit open one end of the inner envelope and extracted the packet of one hundred dollar bills from its wrappings of Edgewater letterheads. He put the money in the box, making use of the sheet of tissue that was still in it. He wrapped the box in the white paper and bound it with twine.

"There was yet another step in Hotel is, just around the corner from your office?"

"So?"

"Anybody know you there?"

"Never been inside the place in my life. It's a dump."

"Fine. I'll send a young woman there to deliver a package to you. At 11:30."

"And how will she find me?"

"Be in the lobby. She'll have you paged."

"Mal! Me paged in that joint. Am I dumb?"

"Keep your shirt on, Bindle. I'm thinking 'way ahead of you." A name had flashed conveniently into Sterling's mind. He had used it before with Miss Wilson. It would serve excellently. "The young woman will be looking for a Mr. Davenport. Remember that name and answer the page."

"Okay. I'll do it. Eleven-thirty. Don't keep me waiting."

"Now for the rest, Bindle."

"Oh, there's something else."

"I want you to turn the necklaces over to the young woman when she gives you the money."

"We should examine everything right there in the lobby?"

"Listen, Bindle, don't be a child. The young woman won't have the slightest idea what she's delivering to you, or what you give her for me. Have you got some of last night's newspapers handy?"

"In my office, yes. All of them, I guess."

"Fine. Make a big roll of three or four different papers and tie it up. Put the necklace inside of one of the inside folds, so it can't possibly fall out. Tie the roll tight. The young woman will think you are just giving her a roll of newspapers for me."

"Okay. I'll do it. That name again? Just so I'm sure?"

"Davenport . . . D-A-V-E-N-P-O-R-T."

"Okay."

Sterling looked pleased when he replaced the telephone instrument. Miss Wilson would be only too glad to attend to an errand for him. The incriminating money would be permanently out of his hands. He could wait until Monday before bothering further about the necklace.

McKenney on Bridge

Bridge teachers tell me that with concentration, anyone can learn how to bid in a reasonably short time, but they agree that the play of the hand is difficult for most people. I can well understand this, because there are no set rules.

Take today's hand, for example. If dummy holds the K 9 7 2, and you hold the A Q 10 5 3, the correct play to keep from losing a trick is to lay down the ace. Then you will be able to finesse either hand out of the jack.

But that is because you hold the ten-spot. When you are missing the ten, as in today's hand, a study of the situation will show you that you cannot lay down the ace. If the four trumps to the jack-ten are in the West hand, you never can pick them up. And if they

Spaniards Overjoyed At Jail Sentence

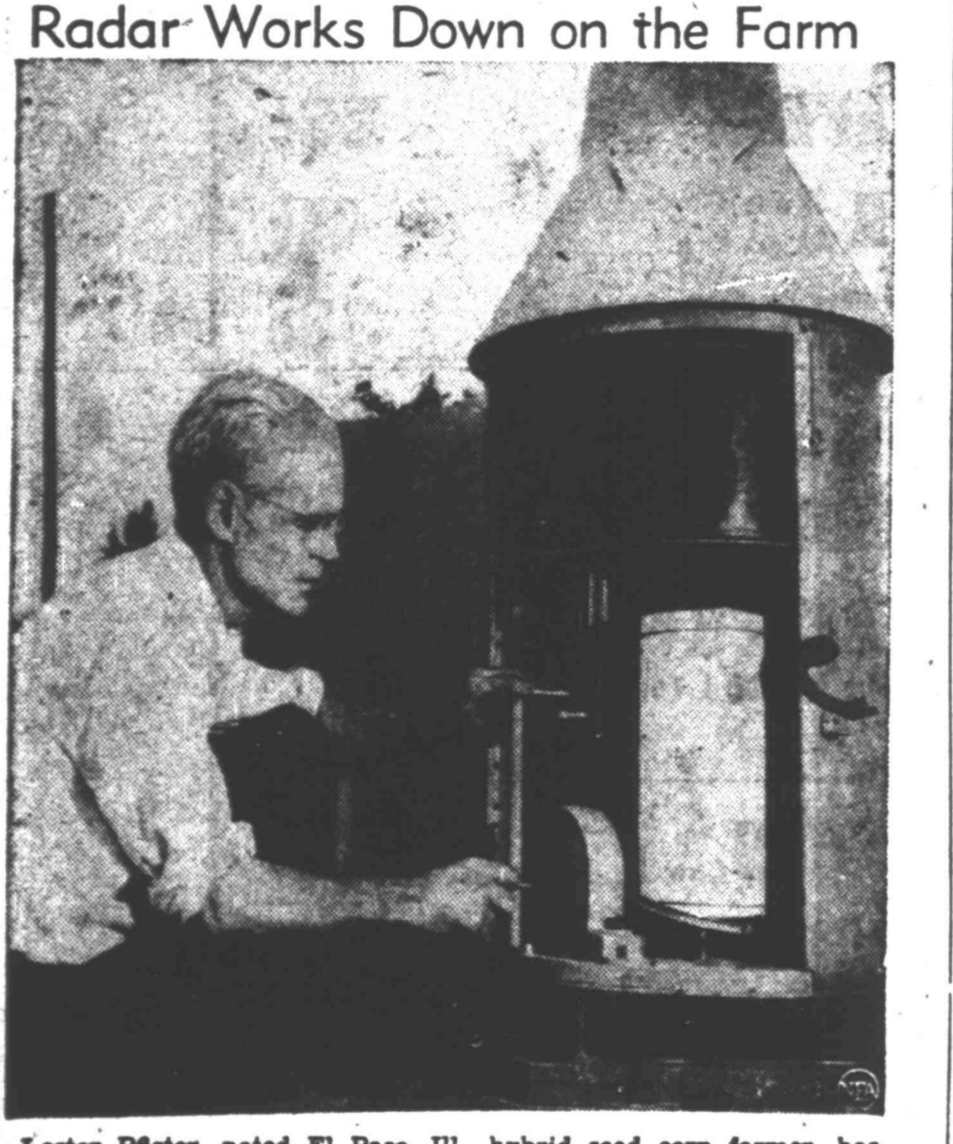

NORFOLK, VA. — (AP) — Three Spaniards, hailed into federal court as stowaways, were tickled pink when Judge Sterling Hutcheson sentenced them to six months in jail.

"They wish to thank you, Your Honor," an interpreter told Judge Hutcheson as he pronounced sentence.

The prisoners, glad to stay in the U. S. A. even as little as six months, smiled broadly.

Midland Fire Department Increases Paid Personnel

By STANLEY FRANK

Jim Walker, Midland fire chief, is proud of his department. He thinks it's about the best part-paid, part-volunteer force in Texas.

Maybe Jim's right. Midland's fire insurance rate is one of the lowest in the state. Now 26 cents, the rate was 37 cents when Jim started chasing smoke here August 1, 1927.

Not that the fire chief claims his department deserves all the credit for the city's low fire insurance rate. More paved streets, increased water supplies and other factors have contributed to the economy of fire insurance here.

The type of construction going into Midland homes and commercial buildings, too, have influenced the rate.

The Midland Fire Department includes 19 paid men and 11 volunteers who are paid $2 for each call they answer and $2 for each weekly practice session they attend.

Paid men include Walker, Fire Marshal Bill Klatt, Capt. M. S. Beauchamp, Capt. E. D. Fitzgerald, Jesse Brooks, fireman and clerk, Drivers Leon Griffith and Johnny Bourk, and Firemen Walter Wesson and Corbie D. Friday.

Volunteers include J. T. Baker, secretary-treasurer of the group, Grady Brown, Newell Beauchamp, Ben Biggs, Charles Black, T. A. Cole, Bill Greenwald, T. B. Fuller, Lee Thomas and O. E. Reed.

A year ago, the department had only four men employed on a full-time basis. Four more were added last November, and two others were employed early this year. The force has five trucks at its disposal. They range in models from 1917 to 1946.

One of the old trucks is kept at Midland airport, but will be moved to the city when a sub-station now in the planning stage is built. The biggest unit is an American LaFrance 750-gallon-per-minute pumper, a 1936 model machine capable of tackling any size fire; the newest machine in the department's rolling stock is a 1946 model Chevrolet pumper capable of throwing 350 gallons per minute.

Walker will have been with the force 21 years, come Sunday, and the most tragic fire in his career occurred this year. This was when the Gordon Blanton family, including Mr. and Mrs. Blanton and their three children, burned to death in their farm home five miles west of Midland on the night of April 28.

The costliest fire of the 114 which the department has been called to fight in 1948 was that which totally destroyed the Log Cabin Inn early this year. Last year's costliest fire was that which destroyed downtown studios of KORS.

But the costliest fire in the chief's entire career was one which should not have caused more than $100 loss. This one happened several years ago, on a Sunday afternoon. Jim was the only full-time fireman on the force at the time, and it seems virtually every volunteer was out of the city that day.

The fire was in a downtown dry-goods store. Jim rushed to the scene in a pumper. He got his hose laid from the truck to the front door of the store, and then strung hose down the street to the fire-pump and turned the water on so he'd be ready for business when he got back to the store.

Bystanders Help? But innocent bystanders, of which there was an unusual number, beat him to it. By the time Walker reached the store, some of them had taken up the hose, kicked in the front door, and were directing a powerful stream of water into the smoke-filled building. In fact, they literally washed dry goods from the front of the store to the back of it before Jim could turn the water off. He went into the store and extinguished a small blaze at the back. The store owner collected in the neighborhood of $47,000 from an insurance company.

One of the strangest fires, or rather series of fires, in Jim's experience occurred here this year. St. Stinson's home, on Holloway Street, was being remodeled when a water heater caused a blaze which caused loss totaling several thousand dollars. That was February 17. On April 14, firemen were called to the same address. Defective wiring caused a loss about equal to the first one. The second fire started less than three feet from the water heater that caused the first one.

Most fires occur in winter, Jim says, and most Midland fires occur in the Latin-American and negro sections. He believes fires in those quarters will decrease when natural gas becomes generally used for cooking and heating there.

Numerous Calls Though there have been 114 fires in Midland since the first of the year, only half a dozen have been of serious nature. At least 95 per cent of the fire alarms received by the department are calls to extinguish trash fires.

One thing about Midland which Chief Walker and his men appreciate is that they very rarely receive a false alarm turned in by a trickster. They answer a false alarm now and then, but it's practically always because somebody sincerely believed he had seen a fire. Midland is not plagued with many persons who turn in fire alarms just to see the hook and ladder wagon in action.

Cold War Blocks United Nations Program Of Work

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The working committee of the United Nations Commission for Conventional Armaments (those apart from atomic weapons) finally has decided armaments can't be reduced, and controlled until the big powers agree on a UN police force, atomic energy is leased and peace treaties are made with Germany and Japan.

The blunt fact is that the United Nations can't function as a peace controlling agency until the cold war between Russia and the democracies has been settled.

It can't function until the issue of world revolution for the spread of Communism has been dealt with. A British viewpoint of the fundamental difference between Russia and the West is summed up, by the weekly publication "Time And Tide."

Russian Strategy "The issue is whether Russia means to carry on with or abandon her plans for the destruction of the democracies. If she will abandon them, there is no issue between Russia and the West which cannot be peacefully solved. The argument as to whether Russia wants war is beside the point."

"In all possibility she does not want it now. From Russia's point of view a 'shooting war' is not to be undertaken until the process of internal erosion in the democracies has reached the point where only the very slightest push from without would be necessary to topple over the whole structure."

That's the story. The battle of Berlin, and the innumerable other cold hostilities all hangs on Russia's efforts to communize the world. We shall get an assessment of the German imbroglio, and the hundred and one other difficulties encircling the globe, if and when the Russians decide that they have carried their aggression about as far as they can for the present.

New Orleans Whooping Cranes Only Captive Ones

NEW ORLEANS —(AP)— Zoo officials are making wedding plans for a couple of whooping cranes here, the only known pair in captivity.

The two birds are not attracted to each other, and may be of the same sex.

The rarest specimens of American birdlife left in the world are at Audubon Park—one for seven years, the other since December, 1947.

U. S. Wildlife agents recently discovered another whooping crane living in the marshes along the Southwest Louisiana-Texas border. This solitary fellow, they say, seems to be one of those hermit-like individuals who refuse to leave even when other members of the flock fly northward each Spring.

Hopes For Mate Zoo Supt. George Douglas will send the two birds to Arkansas County, Texas, where they will be placed in an open-top enclosure. He hopes one or both will find a mate—perhaps the wary hermit, or one of the remaining 25 members of the one-great flock.

These cranes were numerous years ago. But an adult crane, weighing between 30 and 40 pounds and the flesh of the young bird was considered a delicacy. Only 28 of the great birds are known to remain.

In 1941 a hunter near Eunice, La., found a wounded crane and delivered it to conservation agents. They gave it to the zoo. For a long time it was the only one in captivity and had a reported value of $10,000.

Last Fall, another wounded crane was found, this time at Gethensburg, Neb. The bird was given to the St. Louis zoo. Later the St. Louis bird was brought to New Orleans and placed with the first crane.

Douglas says, "We consider the whooping crane one of the greatest attractions that we or any other zoological collection has."

Harold E. Talbott, New York and Dayton, Ohio, industrialist, is the new chairman of the Republican national finance committee. He served as Governor Dewey's finance chairman before the GOP convention.

Big Spring Rodeo Opens Next Week

BIG SPRING—More than 200 head of Earl and Jack Sellers fideo stock begin moving into Big Spring this week from the Sellers' Seven Cross Ranch near Del Rio in preparation for the 15th Annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo, August 4-7.

Last of the booster trips to nearby towns also will be completed this week and store front and street decorations will be finished as Big Spring prepares for its largest reunion in history.

Both cowgirl riding and cutting horse contests will be held in conjunction with the five main events, with $200 added to entry fees in each of the special contests. The others will offer $600 added in each event.

The tough Sellers stock, featuring belligerent Brahmas that were ridden only five times in 40 attempts at Kerrville recently, will include two scores of the famous bulls, 70 bucking horses, many of them newcomers to the rodeo arena, 60 roping calves, 25 saddle horses, and 35 bulldogging steers including the noted red Armandice steers from Mexico.

The nation's deepest lake is Crater Lake in Oregon. It is 2000 feet.

For Easy Cooking, Serve Broiler Meals

The broiler in your stove can be a joy to you this summer for quick and easy cooking! Broiled meats make delicious entrees and the rest of the main course can be cooked right in the broiler, too. A typical broiled dinner might include hamburgers, tomato halves and potato wedges (as pictured above). Round out the menu with a tossed salad, hot rolls, iced tea, fresh fruit in season and cup cakes.

If you're one of those handsome broiler platters, broil the food right on it and bring to the table to serve.

How to Prepare Broiled Hamburgers

For tender, juicy and well flavored hamburgers, purchase beef chuck, and have it ground by your meatman. Season with 1 teaspoon salt and 1/8 teaspoon pepper to a pound of meat. Shape into patties about 3/4 inch thick. If desired, add some chopped onion, celery salt or garlic salt to the meat mixture. Brush with barbecue sauce, chili sauce or melted butter. Arrange on broiler rack and broil 4 minutes on each side for rare, 6 minutes for medium done, and 8 minutes for well done.

General Broiling Directions

The broiler is usually preheated before using. Consult directions given with your stove for mechanical adjustments to give best results. If there are none available, preheat broiler for 10 minutes with unit turned to "broil."

If you are using an electric stove, leave the broiler door ajar for preheating and during broiling. Before preheating broiler, remove the rack and broiler pan from the stove. In this way you'll avoid having the meat wire-marked from the broiler rack. To prevent meats from sticking during cooking, grease the rack of the broiler with a bit of fat. In preparing steaks and chops for broiling, wash the very edges of the fat with kitchen scissors or a sharp knife, cutting a bit on the bias. This snipping keeps the steak or chop smooth and flat. As salt draws out the juices from meat, do not season until each side is cooked.

Cuts for Broiling

Beef—Sirloin, club, T-bone and porterhouse steaks, ground beef patties.

Lamb—Rib or loin chops, shoulder chops, ground meat patties.

Pork—Ham slices, bacon, pork sausage links and patties.

Variety Meats—Veal and lamb liver; veal and lamb kidneys; sweetbreads (pre-cooked).

(Pork and veal chops should be broiled and not broiled.)

Broiler Meals

1. Steak with tomato halves topped with an onion ring and a mushroom cap. Brush tops of mushrooms and onions with butter or margarine and place beside steak when it is turned.
2. Lamb chops with green beans heated in bottom of broiler pan to catch the rich drippings. Halves of sweet potatoes brushed with butter or margarine, and pear halves filled with mint jelly. Place beside chops when they are turned.

Mother Earth Gets Checkup By Soil Scientists' Gadgets

EAST LANSING, MICH.—(AP)—Soil scientists have wired up Mother Earth for tests like a human patient getting a complete checkup. They take her temperature, in the air above the earth, and from half an inch to 60 inches below the surface. They know how deep the earth is frozen. They have a finger on her pulse, of life-giving water. They know how much rain or snow falls, how much rain has rolled away, and how much precious topsoil was carried with it.

They know how much energy the sky and sun scatter over the patches of earth they are measuring. They know how much wind blows. What they're learning will benefit farmers and city folk all across the frost belt of the northern tier of states. It will help control Springtime floods, and tell road builders, pipe-layers, and construction men things about frost depth that they need to know, in a hurry.

Set Of Instruments

It's done with an amazing set of instruments, which are almost completely automatic. The work is the Michigan Hydrologic Research Project of the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service. Heading it up are Dr. V. R. Gardner, experiment station director, Dr. C. E. Miller, head of the department of soil science, and George A. Crabb, Jr., Hydrologic Research Project Supervisor.

The main purpose is to learn how freezing and thawing of soils affect run-off of water, erosion, and flood flow under different conditions of land use.

The tests are run on three plots, one a woods, the other two bearing different crops in different years.

Floods spilled forward this Spring, because the ground was frozen so deep. When snows melted and the top surface of the ground thawed, the water seeped down. But at a depth of 18 inches the soil still was frozen and the water began to flow downhill. The soil temperature measurements, spread over wide areas, could give warnings of prime conditions for floods. And the soil studies may show how land use in the frost belt can minimize flood dangers.

The amount of moisture in the soil at different depths is obtained by means of gypsum blocks wired with two electrodes. The amount of resistance to current depends on the wetness and temperature of the block. Daily records are obtained from 84 points below the surface.

One electrical device measures the direction and velocity of the wind. Another tells the total miles of wind that pass over the ground during the day.

How much energy radiates from the sun and sky to the earth is measured by pyrheliometers. Such exact knowledge can help farmers in choosing varieties of crops that will do best.

Rain gauges tell how much moisture falls. Barfies and flumes situated at the low points on each of the three plots show how much soil goes with it.
