Program May Curtail Some Wage Boosts

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman Friday accused the Republican Congress of a "blind disregard" of quickening inflation.

"Lasting prosperity is not assured," the Chief Executive declared in calling anew for laws to "forestall a business collapse." Such a crash may come, he said, as a sudden climax to the leapfrog game of wage and price increases.

Truman threw a whole book of economics at the special session. It was his midyear economic report, 115 pages long.

Dixiecrats May Offer Resolution

Dixiecrats and Truman-Barkley Democrats may compete for power in the Midland County Democratic convention at 10 p. m. Saturday in the district courtroom of the Midland County Courthouse, it was learned Friday.

An effort may be made to get the county convention to adopt a resolution calling on the State Democratic Convention and Gov. Beauford H. Jester to place a referendum on the August 28 primary ballot so Democrats may determine whether the state's electoral votes will go to the Democratic nominee for President and vice president or to the nominees of the Dixiecrats.

In Democratic precinct conventions here last Saturday, Democratic presidential electors and delegates to county and state party conventions were freed of all shackles and pledges. The precinct conventions decided electors are not required to support the nominee of the party for President and vice president.

Interest in party affairs has increased rapidly here during the week and heated discussions may result at the county gathering.

(NEA Radio-Telephone) John Mark, Cambridge University athlete ignites the Olympic flame in London. Thousands lined the roads to see the Olympic torch carried by torch bearers on the closing stages of its 1,500-mile, 12-day journey from the foot of Mount Olympus in Greece where the classic originated.

Dixie Democrats Challenge Constitutionality Of Bill

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Republicans sat happily on the sidelines Friday while Dixie Democrats carried their filibuster against the anti-poll tax bill into its second day. The rebellious Southerners had no opposition even from their own party regulars as they plodded through legal arguments that Congress lacks the constitutional right to regulate state election laws.

Republicans Will Convene Saturday

A delegate and an alternate to the State Republican convention in Waco next month will be named at the Midland County Republican convention at 2 p. m. Saturday in the commissioners courtroom of the courthouse. All members of the Republican Party are invited and urged to attend.

A county chairman and a secretary for the coming year also will be named.

At a joint precinct convention last Saturday, Richard L. Hugston was elected a delegate to the county convention, and Mrs. Edelle Daily was named alternate.

Resolutions favoring a secret ballot for Texas and calling upon all duly qualified voters concerned with the importance of preserving the two party system and interested in the principles of the Republican Party to attend the county convention last week.

Lee Flood was named precinct chairman to serve at the county convention. O. A. Kelly is the Midland County Republican chairman, and Mrs. R. L. Hugston is secretary.

SMALL TWISTER CAUSES DEATH
CHICAGO—(AP)—Cooler weather moved into parts of the mid-West Friday after a series of small tornadoes struck rural areas in Wisconsin and Iowa Thursday night.

The twisters killed a child and caused some crop and property damage. They hit near Madison and La Crosse, Wis., and near Luzerne and Blairtown, in north-eastern Iowa.

Tito Re-elected To Head Yugoslavs
BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA—(AP)—Premier Marshal Tito is still the boss of Yugoslavia's Communists Friday, despite Cominform demands for his scalp.

Senator Russell (D-Ga) is directing the filibuster with a squad of 20 other senators from 11 Southern states ready and willing to jump into the talk-fest.

Senator Stennis (D-Miss) opened the first round and was followed by Stewart of Tennessee.

City officials denied the charge and an American military government spokesman termed it "a lot of poppycock."

The American spokesman said neither the city government, nor the three Western military governments had placed any hindrances in the way of Russian food or forbidden any Western Berliner to accept such food.

He said the Russians were miffed by the apparent failure of their feeding gesture and now are seeking to inspire a public revolt against the elected city government to advance their schemes to gain Communist control over all Berlin.

The Western Berlin press reported that in three days of registration only 3,800 Western Berliners had solicited ration cards in the Soviet sector. The three Western sectors have a population of more than 2,000,000 who are being fed through the British-American air lift.

U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith is back in Moscow after strategy talks in London and Berlin. It is believed Smith will take the leading role in the prospective talks with Molotov concerning the possibility of opening negotiations.

Berlin's anti-Communist Socialists have urged that the Western powers, in any talks with Moscow, hold out for iron-clad guarantees against a recurrence of the Soviet blockade.

New Currency Plan Announced For Europe
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Economic Cooperation Administrator Paul G. Hoffman Friday announced a new plan of European currency clearance which he termed "a milestone in real cooperation among the European countries for economic recovery."

The system, designed to free the currency jam which obstructs intra-European trade and production, has been approved in principle by the United States and the Marshall Plan countries. Hoffman told a news conference.

School Bells To Ring Here September 7

Midland public schools will open the 1948-49 term Tuesday, September 7, it was decided Thursday afternoon by trustees of the Midland Independent School District. All students will report to their respective schools on that date. The trustees previously had announced September 1 as a tentative opening date.

Members of the faculty will report here Wednesday, September 1, for a three-day orientation course preceding the opening of the regular term.

Midland Memorial Stadium was decided upon as the name of the new football field now being erected in Northwest Midland, in memory of former students who lost their lives in World Wars I and II.

New Teachers
The trustees elected 17 new faculty members after accepting the resignations of four teachers, Theresa Klapproth and Mrs. Emma Rowland of high school, and Norma Middlebrooks and Kathryn Hanks of South Elementary.

The new teachers are: high school—Fannie Reeves, Galveston; Elizabeth Cope, McCamey; Jane Jordan, Beckville; and Carl Knox, Arlington.

Junior high—Ruth Blair Webb, Uvalde; Virginia Gurney, Cisco; and Dale I. Scott, Clyde.

South Elementary—Charlene Cook, Gorman; Emille Long, Eastland; Alva Jean Slocum, Cresson; Charles E. McDonald, Canyon; Mary Strother, Ballinger; and Mrs. Wilson Blanton, Lufkin.

Charles H. Hixson of Kermitt was named principal of the North Elementary faculty, and Mrs. Lena Payne Gilmore of Denton will teach at West Elementary.

Fynas W. Titus and Maxine Jones Muldrow will teach at the Carver School.

Republican May Propose Curbs On Credit Buying

WASHINGTON—(AP)—New curbs on "dollar-down" buying and on bank credit were reported Friday as possible Republican answers to President Truman's demand for inflation controls.

City Manager H. A. Thomson said the new tower is specially designed for use in a new FM frequency modulation system to be installed soon for use by city and county officers and firemen. But, until the new system is adopted, the tower will give present radio equipment greater effectiveness, he said.

In addition to serving the city's radio communication system, the new tower also will be used by firemen as a drill tower. And the fire siren will be moved from its present location on the roof of the city hall to a platform on the tower.

Appointment Of School Superintendent Urged

AUSTIN—(AP)—Appointment instead of election of the state superintendent of education was recommended Friday as the Gilmer-Aikin Committee met with its statewide advisory groups.

The recommendation of this highly controversial matter was presented formally by Dr. J. W. Edgar, co-chairman of the sub-committee on state organization of the public school system.

Hungarian President Abdicates Post Under Communist Pressure

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY—(AP)—President Zoltan Tildy abdicated Friday. The Communist-dominated government had accused his son-in-law, Minister to Egypte Victor Csomorky, of espionage and treason.

Tildy, a Methodist minister, belongs to the Smallholder Party, which had an elected majority before the Communist coup in May of last year. He was the first president of post-war Hungary and retained that office after the coup.

Tildy, however, had been under Communist pressure for a year or more.

Last Survivors

(NEA Radio-Telephone) Last survivors of the violent explosions that shook the I. G. Farben chemical plant at Ludwigschafen, Germany, are escorted to a waiting ambulance by French and American rescue workers. An estimated 900 persons died in the blast and another 2,500 were injured.

Contract For New T&P Station Here To Be Let Aug. 31

Sealed bids will be opened and contracts awarded August 31 for construction of the new Texas and Pacific Railway station in Midland, company officials announced Friday at its Dallas headquarters.

Plans and specifications now are in the hands of interested contractors. W. S. C. Hendrick is the architect.

Officials said construction of the new building should be underway by early fall. The structure will be located on railroad right-of-way between Loraine and Colorado Streets. It will be the most attractive and most modern depot in the Permian Basin area.

Coahoma Seergeant Saves Several Lives At Disaster Scene

MANHEIM, GERMANY—(AP)—Sgt. Julius H. Fox of Coahoma, Texas, says his buddies, saved several lives by quick action Thursday while he aided in rescue work at the scene of the I. G. Farben plant explosion at Ludwigschafen, across the river.

Fox said after he returned to the Mannheim ordnance depot to rest:

"I volunteered with my bulldozer to pull a highly explosive tank car filled with some dangerous stuff—I don't know what—that got off the fire area. Buildings were burning all around. We got it out, but it was mighty hot."

Another GI added:

"I'll bet a couple of bucks there would have been more names on the death list if Fox hadn't pulled that car out."

Warning! Dynamic Caps Could Injure Children Here

Midland children are in danger of serious injury from dynamic caps which they have picked up at the site of construction of the new high school building.

Reports have been received of small boys carrying around the dangerous caps.

Despite efforts of the construction company to keep the caps from the children who do not realize their danger, some of the caps have gotten into the hands of children.

Boys and girls of the city are warned to not pick up anything of the construction site for their own and the safety of others. The cooperation of parents is urged.

YEARS OF SUFFERING RELIEVED BY RETONGA

Wife of California Oil Man Tells Her Story Of Suffering With a Happy Ending. Gives Retonga Full Credit.

"Anyone who is suffering as I did is missing a bet if they don't try Retonga," declares Mrs. Inez Mitchell, of 811 Funston Ave., Norwalk, Cal., whose husband is a well-known oil man. "I don't suppose I was any more miserable than lots of people with acid indigestion," continues Mrs. Mitchell, "but I certainly suffered tortures. I had to be very careful about what I ate or I would have become so bloated with gas that I couldn't seem to get rid of it. I was made miserable by a stubborn case of constipation and had to take strong laxatives regularly every other day. I seldom got a full night's sleep. I felt so awfully jittery and run-down that what little housework I had the energy to do was only half done. "I thank my lucky stars for the day I started taking Retonga, for in just a short time I began to get relief from the discomforts that had hounded me for years. Today I can eat anything I like. I sleep soundly and have been relieved of my constipation. I've got plenty of pep and energy, too, and can do all my housework the way it should be done. Retonga deserves all the credit for the way I feel today." Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, borderline Vitamin B-1 deficiency, and constipation. The active ingredients of Retonga are purely herbal, combined with Vitamin B-1. You can get Retonga at all good drug stores, including Midland Drug Store.—Adv.

Texas Demos Lock Horns Over Electoral Votes

By The Associated Press Wright, Morrow, Texas national Democratic committeeman, says he favors a referendum by Texas voters on the party's national ticket of Truman and Barkley.

In that attitude Morrow differs from Robert W. Calvert, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, and Gov. Beauford Jester.

Calvert and Jester are against such a referendum, which has been suggested for the party's second Democratic primary August 28 by the faction organized as "State's Rights Democrats."

The attitudes of the three men—expressed by Morrow and Calvert in statement's Thursday and by Jester earlier in the week—pointed up a fight sure to wage in Saturday's county conventions and in the party's state convention at Fort Worth September 14.

Morrow's statement said he did not hold with the idea a referendum on the question would be "illegal or extra-legals" or "faithless" to the Democratic Party.

The question, said Morrow, is "do the Democrats of Texas still desire the electors they named at the (May 26) Brownwood convention to cast their votes for the nominees named by the national Democratic Party at its Philadelphia convention or do they prefer them to cast their votes for some person or persons who profess publicly and believe in the principles of the Democratic Party as announced in the resolutions of the Brownwood convention."

Calvert asserted: "Those who do not wish to vote for Truman and Barkley for president and vice president of the United States are not without remedy."

"If they do not wish to vote the Republican ticket, they can form a political party of their own."

After forming their party, they can place the names of Thurmond and Wright on the ballot."

Maybe Men From Mars Are Finally Here

PORTLAND, ORE.—(AP)—Now about those mysterious objects Americans again are seeing zipping about the sky:

Pruett is an al director of the American Meteor Society, was referring to the silver "ball" that central Washington residents reported they saw in the western sky. Venus normally appears in that portion of the sky.

Moulton B. Taylor, manager of a small airplane factory at Longview, Wash., and a former Navy commander in charge of the guided missile program, was not so sure.

These serial objects could be the first reconnaissance flights from satellite planes," he said.

Shabby, Somber London Home Of First Post-War Olympics

The queue remains an integral part of English life. With goods hard to get because of the export drive and the ration, a chance to buy carpets and nylons at the shop in London brought out these shoppers who waited all night.

LONDON.—(NEA)—It is a different London, a postwar capital still feeling acutely the pinches and privations which winning the late unpleasantness has ironically brought upon one of the major victors.

Many Americans are seeing London for the first time, and therefore are unable to make comparisons. Others are returning to familiar scenes known during the war years of No. 1 and No. 2. Others are paying their first visit to the capital since years before World War I.

It is those who knew London before the blitzes who will note the tremendous change in the old town.

They will be astonished at the shabbiness of the clothes of the once usually immaculate British.

They will see the shabbiness of the buildings; a result of the bombings and lack of money and materials with which to improve and brighten things up. They will see the bombed-out open spaces, the queues, the tremendous task of transportation lines in coping with their inadequate rolling stock and the millions who want to travel hurriedly.

Many of the shops are crammed with fine goods for sale, which Britons cannot understand because of the export drive, or lack of coupons—not money, although the average Englishman definitely is suffering from the shorts on the financial side.

Prefabricated Houses Old London Town and its suburbs, Americans will come across many little encampments of prefabricated houses, one and two stories high, erected after the war as an emergency measure to accommodate expatriating but citizens, and designed to stand the wear and tear of 10 years.

In many parts of London, notably in the suburbs, a semi-cabbed is imposed after midnight to save electricity, but the general street lighting has been vastly improved since the end of the war.

Piccadilly Circus, in the west end, thought still far from presenting its dazzling pre-war self, has redone part of its famous costume of twinkling electrically-lighted signs. Once, in nocturnal brilliance, Piccadilly Circus vied with New York's Great White Way, but today it has a long way to go to reach the brilliance of the good, old days.

Struggling about London, Americans will queue for buses and trolleys (trams, to the Englishman) just as the English do. The queue became an integral part of Britain's daily life during the war, and has remained, an expediting but practical and fair means of sharing the limited transportation accommodation.

Buses of the London Passenger Transport Board suffered heavily during the war. Thousands of motor coaches, or char-a-bance, client by 10, 10:30 or 11 o'clock, according to the district, there are night clubs available, but they can sell intoxicants only until midnight. Bottle clubs are available for late drinking to those able to afford prices stiffer than a cat's back, and can get themselves introduced by a member or square the doorman. A bottle club is an establishment at which, if you are known, you may order your own bottle prior to the regular closing hours, and to which you may repair, with your friends, to drink after hours.

In London shops, visitors find notices proclaiming that a vast variety of wares, from clothing to china and glass, can be supplied to them for export—in the case of fabrics, without clothing coupons.

London is loaded with fine theatrical productions, the most popular of which is Annie Get Your Gun. Oklahoma is almost next. Katherine Dunham, her dancers and musicians, perhaps is third. Edward, My Son, starring Robert Morley and Pauline Letts, and coming to New York this Fall, is the top heavy. And vaudeville never died here.

But it's a somber London just the same.

have been pressed into service to augment the unusually high double-decked buses, but even with these and the peculiarly-square little taxicabs, rush-hour travel is difficult.

And the taxi situation still is far from satisfactory. Getting a cab during the rush hours continues to be a major operation. Once obtained, however, the taxi is one of the comparatively cheap luxuries left to Londoners, the fare being nine-pence (18 cents) for the first two-thirds mile, plus three-pence (six cents) for each additional third of a mile.

The fare is comparable to that of New York cabs, and the drivers are a much more courteous. When you don't understand the money, they even give you an honest count.

Speaking of the English taxicabs and their polite and honest operators, take into consideration the fact that gasoline costs the fare being nine-pence (18 cents) for the first two-thirds mile, plus three-pence (six cents) for each additional third of a mile.

London's narrow streets are crowded with traffic, not, of course, of a volume comparable to pre-war days, but considerably heavier than a couple of months ago, when Britons were permitted to draw only a small quantity of petrol for pleasure driving throughout the summer months.

Visitors expecting gay night life are disappointed. You could shoot a cannon down any one of the white ways at midnight without hitting anyone.

Beverly Farrow Weds Duane Schnaubert In McCamey Ceremony

MCCAMEY—Miss Beverly Farrow and Duane Francis Schnaubert, popular members of the younger set, were married here July 23.

The rites were read by the Rev. W. I. Lee. The attendants were Miss Joie Schnaubert, sister of the groom, and Bobby Dell of Rankin, ar 1 Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Schnaubert of Fort Stockton, cousins of the groom.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Farrow of McCamey. The groom is a member of one of the pioneer families of Upton County. His grandfather and grandmother lived in Rankin many years.

The father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Schnaubert, Jr., have lived here since early boom days. The bridegroom graduated from McCamey High School, and attended A&M College at College Station two years. He now is employed by the railroad company. The young couple will be at home in McCamey.

Next Story Hour Tale Has Basis In Chinese Legend

"The Story on the Willow Plate" by Leslie Thomas will be read by Mrs. J. C. Heald at the Children's Story Hour at 10 a. m. Saturday in the Children's Room of the Midland County Library.

The story is an adaptation of an old Chinese legend explaining the Blue Willow china-ware design. A plate with the design will be borrowed from the museum to illustrate the story. Another installment of "The Wizard of Oz" will be read if time permits.

The Children's Room is located in the basement of the courthouse.

Sunlight Affects Lipstick's Color

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Do you know how strong Summer sunlight affects the color of the lipstick you wear? Or the way you apply it? Or why more frequent touch-ups are needed in Summer than in Winter?

Because lipstick is usually the only make-up aid a sun-drenched young skin needs, a junior should know all the answers in order to obtain the most flattering her cosmetic efforts.

Under the powerful rays of the Summer sun, pastel lipsticks seem to become more pale. Deep bluish-toned lipsticks which are designed to hold their color under subdued lighting are apt to look harsh and garish when subjected to the searching light of the sun. Colors which stand up better bright in the sun are the brilliant coral shades and the clear, true reds.

So much for lipstick shades. As for Summer-time application, you will be rewarded for taking a few extra minutes, if necessary, to define lips with a clean, sharp line of color. Nature's searching spotlight makes especially noticeable any uneven application or amateurish attempts to deviate from the natural lip-line.

More frequent touch-ups are required because heat and perspiration encourage lipstick to melt to form spikes of color around the mouth. Before re-rouging, however, use a tissue to erase any residue left on your lips.

Model Homes Display New Lighting Tricks

Young woman can enjoy 'sun bath' while she washes her face, thanks to sun lamp over bathroom basin.

Window in front of this built-in dressing table and fluorescent lamps at each side supply excellent make-up light.

By KAY SHERWOOD NEA Staff Writer

HARTFORD, CONN. —(NEA)—New techniques in the use of electric light for better visibility, improved health and more attractive decoration demonstrated in the recent Community Homes exhibit here offer practical tips to anyone who is planning to build or renovate a home.

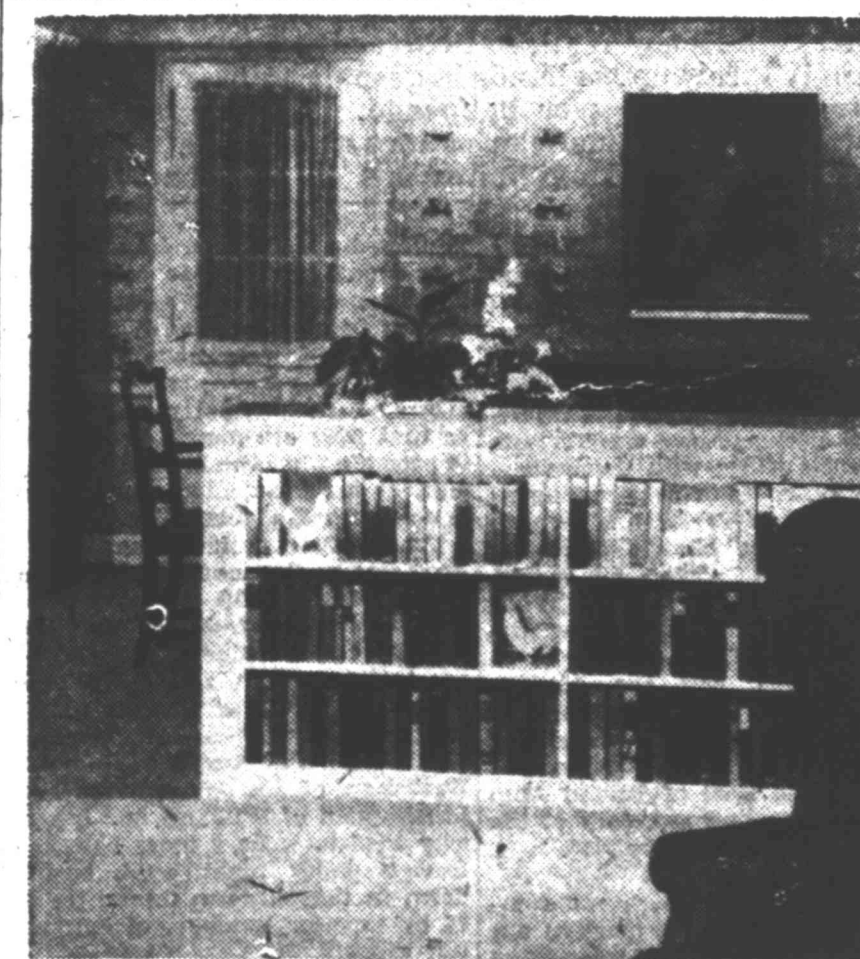

With a sensible eye on average budgets, experts of the large electric company who planned the model illumination used standard lighting equipment which is available to the average home owner.

One illuminating device that caught the attention of feminine visitors to the four model homes featured the use of strips of fluorescent light. This was used to heighten the decorative appeal of a bookcase partitioning one 94-foot living-dining room. For this a single 96-inch fluorescent tube concealed under the top of the case was used with light directed downward to accent colorful book bindings. In addition, shorter fluorescent units set in a 14-inch glass-covered recess on top of the case beamed light upward to point up decorations placed on the glass. Ceiling covings at each end of the room and over the windows concealed 30-inch fluorescent units.

To dispense the year-round health benefits of ultra-violet rays was the function of a sunlamp installed above a bathroom mirror. The swivel fixture which contains the sunlamp bulb is easily adjusted so that a "sun bath" can be taken while washing a face or soaking in a tub.

More health benefits were promised by the installation of four germicidal lamps in the forced-air heating system in two of the model homes. Air circulating through the ducts was forced through a radiation chamber in which lamps were placed. The germ-killing rays destroy infectious bacteria which may be present in the air.

Also provided in the model homes were silent light switches, weather-proof lighting fixtures for the terrace.

Fluorescent lights concealed in the top of the bookcase and in ceiling coving are used for decorative effect and for general illumination in this living-dining room of a model home.

The Communist Problem

The arrest of the top American Communists compounds the confusion that already surrounds the status of their party. They are accused of heading a society which advocates the overflow of our government by force and violence. Yet this has always been the accepted goal of the Communist Party. And the Communist Party is a legal entity in the United States.
 The arrested men were described by a government attorney as "the Communist Party's governing board. They run the party. They make the policy and decide what it will do."
 But do they really make policy or do they follow policy already made in Moscow? Louis Budenz, former Communist big-wig, says that the party takes at least part of its orders from Russian superiors, and that the orders are delivered by agents in this country. And the parallel between Russian Communist policy and that of the American Communists certainly suggests that the domestic Marxists are not the sole masters of their actions.
 If this is so, will not other leaders rise up to take the place of those arrested and do Moscow's bidding? If this is so, then are not all members of the Communist Party equally guilty of working for the American government's destruction?

Except during the war years, the home-grown Marxists have been preaching and advocating revolution for 30 years. Their purpose does not seem any different today than it ever was. So it must be that the Justice Department feels that Russia's present attitude of belligerence makes the American Communists more dangerous, and offers them more likelihood of success.
 But the arrest of leading Communists will not destroy communism in the United States. What these leaders are accused of is simply the promoting of the permanent and unchanging objective of communism here and in other non-Communist countries—revolution and a "dictatorship of the proletariat."

If the courts should find these accused Communists guilty, then it would almost be necessary to find their party and its members guilty also. And that would call for an outlawing of the party. Yet such an action would present difficulties which have long been recognized.
 The party would almost certainly crop up under another name. Then it would be necessary to pass a progressive number of laws declaring each succeeding form of the Communist Party illegal, or else draft a statute so inclusive as to make any support of the Marxist objectives illegal, no matter what name or form an organization to carry them out should take.
 This seems to be the purpose of the Mundt-Nixon Bill, which the House has passed and the Senate has not acted on. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and many others have seen in that bill the danger that a person might be punished for his thoughts and sympathies rather than for his actions.
 In spite of the contradictions and dangers, some declaration or action on the whole subject of communism in America seems inevitable in the wake of the forthcoming trial of its leaders. What form the declaration or action will take cannot be determined now. Only one thing seems clear at present—the Justice Department evidently agrees with the stand taken by Governor Dewey in his debate with Harold Stassen, that present laws are adequate for the control of communism without recourse to the broad scope and powers proposed in the Mundt-Nixon Bill.

Consider the tack and the auto tire—and don't go around blowing yourself up.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Progressives' Platform Deludes Henry's Misguided Followers

By PETER EDSON
 NEA Washington Correspondent
PHILADELPHIA—Anyone required to sum up, in one sentence, the Henry Wallace Progressive Party convention could only throw up his hands in despair and say it was the darndest thing that ever happened. There hasn't been anything like it in American politics since 1936, when the Townsendites and Coughlinites met in Cleveland to express their forlorn hopes.
 The Wallace convention beat all that, with campaigning revival singing by Brooklyn hillbillies; with Wallace's fantastic press conference in which the working reporters kept their mouths shut and the bleeding heart crusaders took over and beat their breasts all over the place; with the barbershop wailing of vice presidential candidate Glen Taylor and family; with finally the miracle of selling $25,000 worth of tickets for admission to Wallace's Saturday night acceptance speech, then passing the hat to collect $50,000 more.
 Perhaps the most characteristic performance of the whole convention was a five-minute speech by one Frank Danowski, president of the Plymouth local of United Auto Workers, CIO, and secretary of the Polish-Americans of Wallace's Minorities' Sympathies.
 Danowski called America a combination of cultures blended in one large home. "There are stresses and strains in the home," he said, "and the Hunkeys, the Spicks, the Guinness and the Ginks are looked down on by the rest of the family."
 But, said Danowski, he was proud to be one of the men with unpardonable names who had built America's railroads, run its mills and its mines, been its heroes on Notre Dame football teams.
 Danowski might also have mentioned other minority groups with unpleasant nicknames. They were all represented at Philadelphia. For lie newspapers used to avoid mentioning them by name, for fear of offending them, but now, in Henry Wallace's party, they have taken on political consciousness and they dare stand up and express themselves.
 Here were some of their words:
 "I have seen hospital doors closed against my dying son," said Shirley Graham, negro writer and mother.
 "Wallace is the only one of the three candidates who was ever a successful businessman," said Miles Pennybacker, Norwalk, Conn., secretary of the New Council for American Business.
 "I am a mother, a housewife, and a very angry woman," said Mrs. Katharine Van Oyen of New Jersey, complaining of high prices.
 "We are tired of klanmen who ride in the night. As for protecting Southern womanhood, we will protect our own," said Polly Dobbs, white and from Alabama.
 These are the things that the leaders of the two old parties should hear and do something about. As for what the leaders of the new party are going to do about them, there is some room for doubt. They bragged that their new party convention had no smoke-filled rooms, no ward-heeler politicians on the floors, no deals.
 Share Of Politics
 All such talk is the same old political baloney. There never was a political convention in which the program was so stage-managed, the candidates so hand-picked, the plat-

Questions and Answers

Q—Which baseball league is the older: the American or the National league?
 A—The National League was founded in 1876, the American League in 1900.
 Q—Did the Indians have horses before Europeans came?
 A—The American Indians did not have horses before the arrival of Europeans upon this continent. The first horses seen by Indians were those brought over by the Spanish invaders of Mexico.
 Q—Why is the President's home called the White House?
 A—The origin of the term White House is obscure. In 1814 the British burned the building and when it was restored the blackened walls were painted white. From this circumstance, according to tradition, the President's residence came to be called the White House.
 Q—When was Arbor Day first celebrated?
 A—It was first observed April 10, 1872, in Nebraska, when more than 1,000,000 trees were set out in that state. Since then the observance has spread all over the country, on various dates.

Lions Conclude New York Meet

NEW YORK—The International Association of Lions Clubs closed its 31st annual convention here Thursday afternoon after electing Eugene S. Briggs, Enid, Okla., its president. Briggs, president of Phillips University at Enid, succeeds Fred W. Smith of Ventura, Calif.

 The convention concluded one of the most successful years in the history of Lions International, according to the report made by the Secretary-General and founder of the Association, Melvin Jones, of Chicago. He reported the formation of 819 new Lions Clubs and the addition of 31,896 men to the roster of the association in the 12-month period ended June 30, for a total of 6,808 clubs and 368,144 members. He stated also that during the year Lions Clubs were established in four additional countries: Sweden, Switzerland, Chile and Newfoundland. Lions International, he added, is now the largest, strongest and most active service club organization in the world, with Lions Clubs in 23 countries on five continents.

Ringworm Of Scalp Causes Concern To Skin Specialists

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
 Written for NEA Service
THE DOCTOR ANSWERS
QUESTION: Can a person who has had a coronary thrombosis recover completely from an ordinary operation? Can a coronary attack be caused by gall stones?
ANSWER: Many people who have had a coronary thrombosis have had operations later and have gotten along very well indeed. An attack of coronary thrombosis does not have any relation to gall stones so far as is known.
 watch for any such condition of the scalp. They should refrain from cutting the hair of a child having this ringworm infection.
 Skin specialists are seriously concerned about this problem. Parents can help enormously by being on the look-out for any disease of the scalp and reporting it immediately.
Treatment Not Sure
 Treatment is not too satisfactory, as most of the ointments containing chemicals which work on other kinds of fungus infections of the skin are not successful for this. X-ray treatment has been used with some success.
 The most important thing to do about ringworm of the scalp is to recognize its infectious nature and to stop it from spreading.
 When ringworm of the scalp is really epidemic in a community, an attempt should be made to find all of the cases by making a survey of the school children, and examining the preschool children in families where an older brother or sister is found infected. Children in institutions are even more likely to be exposed than children in homes.
 Barbers can be helpful if they

American Cagemen Beat Switzerland 16-21 In Olympic Basketball Opener

OLYMPIC STADIUM, WEMBLEY, ENGLAND.—(AP)—The American basketball team led off with an easy victory as expected Friday in competition in six sports began in the Olympic games.

Coches Bud Brown's raring, sharp-shooting cagers conquered Switzerland, 16 to 21, in the first round of the preliminaries.

A speedy "soot squad" from the Philippines opened the basketball tournament with a lop-sided 102 to 30 victory over an inexperienced Iraq team.

Czechoslovakia conquered Peru, 38-20.

Three high jumpers from the United States led off the first track and field competition Friday by qualifying for the finals, scheduled Friday afternoon.

George Stanich of the University of California at Los Angeles and Dwight Eddleman of the University of Illinois cleared the qualifying height of 6 feet, 1 1/2 inches easily but Vern McGrew of Rice Institute barely squeaked through on his last jump.

The 18-year-old Houston, Texas, star, winner of the final U. S. Olympic tryouts at 6 feet 8 1/4 inches, missed twice at the comparative easy qualifying height before staving off elimination on his final attempt.

White Haskerchief

McGrew's last try he placed a white handkerchief on the bar, carefully paced off his distance, and then jumped. He didn't hit the bar, but he came very close to it.

The sun was hot to the liking of the American jumpers.

Bruce Harlan of Ohio State established a substantial lead over a field of 26 others Friday after completion of the first four compulsory dives in the men's Olympic springboard championships.

The American ace scored 63.28 at the outset of the spring board event which will be completed Saturday afternoon after the completion of ten fancy dives by each Olympic contestant.

Well behind Harlan after the first four dives was Doctor Sammy Lee, an Army medic of Pasadena, Calif., who is the main American hope in the high tower diving. Lee scored 46.99 and was at this stage an eyelash ahead of Mexico's favorite son, Joaquin Capilla, who scored 46.87.

Miller Anderson, a teammate of Harlan at Ohio State, was fourth after the first diving program opening the week long swim and dive competition.

Capt. William Gert of Sweden won the 5,000 meter (3 miles, 188 yards) cross-country ride, first of five sports in the Olympic modern pentathlon.

Ma. G. B. Moore of the U. S. Army was second.

Gert had a perfect score of 100 for the 22-jump course in a time of 9 minutes, 18.2 seconds.

Moore also scored a perfect 100 but took 9 minutes, 22.7 seconds to cover the course.

British Apathetic Toward Olympics

LONDON.—With 6,000 athletes representing 62 nations ready for the gun, London's general lack of interest in the Olympic Games reached its peak last night as the British public seemed to ignore the event.

It's still cricket, old boy.

Old London Town's apathy may prove rather disastrous, something like £80,000 worth, to Bjorn Bjornson, head of a marketing company, and city solicitor William Crocker.

They put that amount into the Olympic souvenir concession.

They had banners made to hang from windows and decorate streets. No one hung them. Few want an Olympic pennant for an automobile, motorcycle or bicycle. Scarves, ties, spoons and ash trays with the Olympic emblem go begging.

There are mighty few Olympic placards on display about town.

There is an excuse for that, of course—the paper shortage.

There is little or no talk of the games in the pubs and elsewhere.

Yet the Englishman attends the big show quietly. That's his way of doing things.

Crownwell Likes Team

Head Coach Dean Crownwell of the American track and field team doubts that he has as good an outfit as the one that captured an even dozen gold medals in Berlin in 1936.

But the Southern California mentor insists that it is one of the United States' strongest Olympic groups.

Crownwell expects the 1,500-meter race to be one of the greatest ever run.

The British still recognize Americans by their neckties.

The athletes' neckties are red, white and blue.

The pet question of an American athlete is: "How do we recognize a spiv?"

A spiv on this side is a young man who will do anything to avoid work.

with TANNER LAINI

Don't ask us where they get some of them but there are assorted nicknames among the Longhorn League baseball players.

Few fans know that Pepper Martin's real first monicker is Robert and Tony Traspusto's Arm-and-a-half.

Midland has two of the better known nicknames in Rip Collins and Big Jim Prince. What is Collins' first name anyway? Oh yeah, it's Dwight. The big is because he is big and Jim is short for James in the case of Prince.

A good ballplayer known as "Stim" for two seasons is Stuart Williams of Ballinger.

Here are a few of the most popular ones: Ace Mendes of Big Spring, Chuck Chapetta of Vernon, Elmer Mays, Flaky Higgins of Del Rio, Pop Fancetti of Odessa, Cotton McCaskey of Vernon, Cockle Wisel of Sweetwater, Cris Crisman of Midland, Gerry Rodriguez of Big Spring, West Willie Wynns of Ballinger, Rabbit Rigby of Vernon, Red Cowley of San Angelo, Mel Neundorff of Ballinger and Stretch Jackson of Sweetwater.

There are numerous shortcut names like: Pat Stacey, of Big Spring, Dave Steger of Sweetwater, Mack Dunlap of Sweetwater, Phil Wells of Odessa, Bob Tumblety of Vernon, Bill Atwood of Ballinger, Sam Harshaney of Del Rio, Bob Coward of Odessa, Al Leedy of San Angelo, Dick Guy of Midland. The Bob for Robert and Bill for William are the most popular cut names.

Then there are the variations: Eddie for Edward Melillo of Midland, Eddie for Edward Peacock of Sweetwater, Kenny for Kenneth Peacock of Sweetwater, Ernie for Ernest Peacock of Odessa, Ernie Nelson of Midland, Herbie for Herbert Pitts of Odessa, Joe for Joseph Moody of Odessa, Danny for Daniel Reynolds of Sweetwater, Joe Arnebicia of Big Spring, Bill for William Galt of Sweetwater, Jimmy for James Kennedy of Odessa, and we told you about Jim for James Prince of our home corps. There are lots of other variations being mostly Jimmy's for James, Bob's for Roberts, Joe's for Joseph's and etc.

Richard Frybykiak of Odessa has such a tongue and pen and typewriter twister that he is called by many just "Dick."

The Big Spring roster furnishes many hard-to-spell and hard-to-read names. Pipe this: Vasquez, Basch, Echevarria, Videre, Traspusto. However other clubs have some lutes: Scherting of Vernon, Van Hooser of Midland, Armerdiaz of Odessa, Mihaloe of Ballinger, Jacobs of Vernon, Jacques of Del Rio, Leskenbach of Odessa, Rheinman of Odessa, Culey of San Angelo, Neundorff of Ballinger and Calola of Del Rio.

There's a Bob Coward at Odessa and a Morris Coward at Vernon. There's a J. Murphy of Ballinger and an E. Murphy of San Angelo. There are F and S Luna's of Del Rio.

Odessa fans call Midland's catcher Specht, "Specht It." And Midland fans call Odessa's Brinkopt "Molotov."

A new nickname is "Dickieberg" for Willenberg.

Julian Presley's wife calls the Indian outfielder, "Snooky." When you want to tease Harold Webb call him "Shadow." Emsey, that's Odessa's owner, and Clyde Perry gets a different first name each town he plays in—Big Bill, Bud and Floyd are some of his aliases in other points.

And Midland fans call all umpires "Tonndrick" when they aren't pleased. Oh yeah, and they call the umpire lots of other names too. What's in a name? Well wouldn't Champions and Indians go good together?

Cats Beat Tribe 8-4

Broncs Invade City Saturday

The top two in the Longhorn League, Big Spring and Midland, open a two-game series at 8:30 p. m. Saturday in Indian Park here. The second engagement will be Sunday afternoon.

No buildup is necessary to create interest in a Midland-Big Spring series. All the elements are there. Both have excellent hard-playing ball clubs. Rivalry is intense. In 12 battles this season, Midland has won four, Big Spring seven, and one was tied.

BALLINGER—Led by triple-hitting Stu William—he got two—the Ballinger Cats beat the Midland Indians 8-4 here Thursday night to open a two-game series.

Midland had a 3-2 lead going into the last half of the third frame. Then Ballinger burst out with a five-hit attack which netted three tallies. For all the outcome, this flurry was the decider.

Ballinger added one run in the fifth and two in the sixth before Midland got one in the ninth.

Lanky Sam Van Hooser started on the hill for the Indians. He went in favor of Ernie Nelson when Ballinger began to pump him. Martin pitched the win for the Cats but he had to have relief from Gage.

Hit-star was Williams of the Cats. In addition to his two triples, he got two singles for four hits in four trips.

Midland got 11 safeties, including three by Eddie Melillo and two by Corrie Nipp. The Indians performed one double play and made two errors during the course of the battle.

The strange situation has existed for almost a week. Three straight shutouts by Larry Jensen, Clint Hartung and Dave Koalo have left the National League reeling.

Seven complete games in eight pitching starts have lifted the club past the St. Louis Cardinals into 11th place.

Koalo, particularly, has come into his own in recent days. Two straight no-run jobs, including Thursday's 5-0 effort against Cincinnati, stamp him as a most important factor in the club's pennant hopes. Before that he hadn't thrown a complete game since May 9.

Brooklyn clubbed the Cardinals 9-6 permitting New York to take over third place. Neither club gained on front-running Boston which edged Pittsburgh, 3-1.

Phillies made it two out of three under Manager Eddie Sawyer, subduing Chicago, 7-4.

Pitcher Jack Kramer and Rookie Bill Goodman got into the home run act for the first time this season as Boston swamped Detroit, 8-1 in the only American League game.

Lowly Lobos Sweep Series With Borger

By The Associated Press

Lamesa's Lobos may get out of the West Texas-New Mexico League cellar before too long.

The Lobes made a clean sweep against Borger when they tacked a 10-3 defeat on the Gassers Thursday night.

While Lamesa was starting the long haul up, pace-setting Albuquerque picked up ground while the Ducks were rained out at Odessa, 6-5. Sweetwater's Sports got frisky with San Angelo and took a 11-1 victory.

Amarillo pulled the second triple play of the season Thursday night. It came in the sixth. Chick Fowler hit a fly to the Amarillo pitcher who threw to first for the second out. The ball was relayed to second for the third.

Reeling Rebels Buy Big State League Slugger

By WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Staff

The Dallas Rebels, frogy from their fifth straight defeat and their 16th in the last 20 games, play host to Beaumont Friday night with a hefty slugger from Sherman-Denison due to be in the lineup.

Right after the Rebels lost their third straight to San Antonio Thursday night 3-1, owner H. W. Burnett announced he had shelled out $5,000 in cash and options, outfielder Joe Burns, to the Class B Big State League club for Robert L. (Buck) Frierson.

Frierson, who hit 56 home runs last year and has 28 to his credit this season, will be placed in left field.

In other games Thursday night, Willard Rasmussen saved a 4-3 decision for Fort Worth over Houston; Oklahoma City beat Beaumont, 3-2; and Tulsa and Shreveport battled to a 4-4 overtime deadlock. The game was called to allow Shreveport to catch a train.

Speed Ball Tests Jet Plane Paint

CINCINNATI.—(AP)—A small steel ball spinning at a speed of 1,800 miles an hour, is helping the Navy find a paint which will stay on jet planes. The experiments are under way at the University of Cincinnati.

The ball spins at 2,400,000 (m) R. P. M. and once the equipment is turned off, the high speed and lack of friction keep it twirling for more than a month, according to Dr. Walter Solier. Conventional paint will not stay on jet planes which travel faster than sound, Dr. Solier said, adding that as the paint peels it creates serious disruptions to the airflow.

Among the new items coming in portable models are electric washing machines, 20 inches high and weighing 28 pounds.

Frontier Days Champs To Be Named Saturday

CHEYENNE, WYO.—(AP)—Range-wide cowpokes settled down to the serious business of riding and roping here Friday with an eye on part of $50,000 in rodeo prizes offered at the fifty-second annual Frontier Days.

Records are expected to tumble as the show enters its next to last day. Champs in all events will be named Saturday.

Zeno Farris of Las Cruces, N. M., walked from the arena Thursday night with a check for $915, top money in the first go around calf roping event. He wrapped up his bawling calf in 14.5 seconds.

Second place money of $688 went to Joe Poage of Miami, Okla., who tied his calf Tuesday in 14.8 seconds. Jim Snively of Pawhuska, Okla., placed third with 15.4 to win $457.

Colorado broncs busters walked off with the first three money awards in the amateur bronc riding first go around.

Country Editor Lights Fire Under Burned-Up Indiana City

SYRACUSE, IND. (NEA)—It took two bad fires to get J. Barton Cox really upset, and another to help him get rid of a slow-moving town council. But now, thanks to Cox, Syracuse has some paid firemen, a good water supply—and any fire that starts in Syracuse doesn't last long.

For the campaign that has given this town its first effective fire protection, late this month Cox will be presented formally with the National Board of Fire Underwriters' gold medal for outstanding public service in fire prevention.

Fire first got Cox angry when he was publisher of a weekly newspaper in Demotte, Ind. One night it destroyed 23 buildings in the center of town, and was stopped at the wall adjoining his print shop.

Eight years later he was in this town, publishing the Syracuse-Wawasee Journal. Made cautious by his Demotte experience, he checked his neighborhood. He discovered that the business block next door had no fire walls in its attic, and also that the town's volunteer fire department was untrained, and so run down that sometimes no more than three volunteers showed up for a fire.

He feared trouble, but there was a war on, and no fire equipment could be obtained. He had to wait. And while he waited, the building next door caught fire. It burned completely, though neighboring towns sent help. Once more the fire stopped at Cox's wall. Cox went home. A few hours later the "dead" fire started up, not a single volunteer appeared, and his plant was burned to the ground.

The next week Cox started his campaign. "We want a full-time fire department—and here's why," he said in a front-page editorial. Why wait until the Liberty Coach factory, the town's principal industry, or a school burns, he asked.

That stirred the town council to talk. It approved the idea of a paid fire department. But 12 months later nothing had been done. Cox demanded action, and got none.

In January, 1947, Cox and four other prominent citizens formed a Community Betterment Association to get public improvements including adequate fire-fighting equipment.

In March, the association ran a paid advertisement reporting a fire at Liberty Coach plant, which was discovered by an employee who happened to be working overtime. In July, the factory really did catch fire and burned down, throwing 200 employees out of work.

Cox printed a special edition in which he went over the whole background of the situation. "Men of Vision Are Needed," he entitled an editorial. He reported that a group of progressive candidates would be offered at the town caucus next week.

From then on the Journal backed the "progressive slate" in news columns and editorials. The insurance ticket won. Cox continued to print his views as to what the town needed in the way of fire protection.

The board's first action at its first meeting this year was to authorize hiring of a professional fire chief and two full-time drivers for the fire equipment. It voted additional pay to volunteers who showed up for practice sessions and alarms. It appropriated funds to build a new gravity water tank to supply the pressure formerly lacking, and to install water mains in sections that had none.

Already the precautions have justified themselves more than once. One striking instance came when a backfiring motorcycle sprayed burning gasoline over the side of a frame house. The newly improved fire department turned out and saved the house. Damage was estimated at $2,000. Cox estimated that under the old system the fire would have got out of

South American Road Race Winner Will Get $25,000

BUENOS AIRES—(AP)—There's a speedier paradise coming up in South America—4,000 miles of road without a speed limit. And with a $25,000 prize at the end for the fastest driver.

That's the outline of the Buenos Aires-to-Caracas road race, which will cover about two-thirds of this continent. The race will be held in October or November. Almost 100 drivers entered the last international road race here—from Buenos Aires to Santiago, Chile and back. In addition to the grand prize, another $100,000 will be passed out to the entrants in this race, and even more than 100 drivers are expected to try to collect some of it.

All possible but not much more. Most of them are dirt or gravel, narrow, winding and alternating desert stretches with mud. They will make heavy demands on the U. S.-made stock cars which are used for road racing here. Stock cars stand up better than racing cars on rough roads and repair parts for common U. S. makes are available all along the route. Luigi Villaret, Italian racing driver who has won many road races here, will be the favorite for the event. He has not decided whether to drive an American stock car, a European stock car or his Maserati. The Maserati has carried him to victory in his other races, but they have been over city streets or park roads. Over the poor roads in this race, Villaret will be on more even terms with the top Argentine drivers, and the Brazilian, Chilean and Uruguayan drivers who will enter. The race is being sponsored by the Argentine Automobile Club, which is putting up most of the prize money. Argentina's President Juan Peron has given $25,000 to be distributed as lap prizes. There will be 14 days of actual racing with two days rest in each of four cities along the way. Longest drive will be the first day's stage, 1,069 miles. Each day's times will be added to determine the winner.

Then He Might Even Get Both Hands Caught

OGDEN, UTAH—(AP)—What would you do? Dick Trumby was the villain in the Ogden Canyon Summer theater production of the melodrama, "The Murder in the Red Barn." Villainously he spoke the dramatic line: "I'll choke you with these two hands." The script called for him to gesture with both hands over his head. But one hand caught in the lining of his long cloak. So Trumby quickly repeated: "I'll choke you with this one hand." The resultant hisses were louder than ever. "Maybe I'll get my hand caught in the lining again tonight," said the villain, "it's better that way."

Dot Ole Debbil Curiosity Again

PASADENA, CALIF.—(AP)—Feminine curiosity cost Mrs. Elisabeth Knudsen of Monrovia's front bumper recently. Traffic Officer R. K. Holmgren said Mrs. Knudsen, 55, told it this way: "I saw the wig-wags (at a railroad crossing) working, but I drove forward to see whether a train was approaching. I backed quickly to avoid the crash, but the engine caught my bumper." Mrs. Knudsen was unhurt. Her bumper bill was estimated at $35. The Santa Fe chief was delayed 12 minutes.

Only Two American Leaguers Made It

CHICAGO—(AP)—Only two players ever have hit homers into Chicago's Comiskey Park's center field bleachers. Jimmy Fox and Hank Greenberg, both right-handed power hitters turned the trick during their American League careers. The wall is 440 feet away from home plate and is 35 feet high. "DOUBLE X BLASTED 'EM" CHICAGO—(AP)—Jimmy Fox, famed home run hitter, blasted the ball over the roof of the left field stands in Comiskey Park, Chicago, four times. He was the only right hand hitter ever to hit a ball over the structure. Two left-handed sluggers—Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig—did it, however.

THE DREAM OF WORLD PEACE

Isaiah 2:4
"And he shall judge among the nations, and shall rebuke many people; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks: nation shall not lift sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

Leading statesmen of the world are endeavoring to fashion an instrument for world peace through the organization of the United Nations.

The dream of universal peace is not a new concept. It is as old as the prophets of Israel, and has been the hope of men throughout the ages.

The prophet Isaiah foresaw and foretold the end of war and the reign of world peace.

And Jesus, the Messiah, who brought mankind a new revelation of God, and taught people to love one another instead of to hate one another, was called the Prince of Peace.

The whole world longs for peace today, and peace is attainable through application of the teachings of the Scriptures in national and international affairs as well as in ordinary human relations.

The Church stands as a guiding light to point man's footsteps to the paths of peace.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Sunday . . . . . Isaiah 1:1-5
Monday . . . . . Isaiah 11:1-9
Tuesday . . . . . Isaiah 27:16-18
Wednesday . . . . . Psalm 37:1-23
Thursday . . . . . Luke 2:1-14
Friday . . . . . John 14:23-24
Saturday . . . . . Romans 12:17-21

Novels And Mysteries Are Library Activities

Four novels, five mystery stories and a collection of labor laws have been added to the Midland County Library's collection.

The novels are "The Damsel Debonair," Walsh; "The Time Is Noon," Haydn; "Fare by My Side," Knight; "Fowler Smokes Favorite," West; and "Miss Abbie's Honor," Fortune.

New mysteries are "Rendezvous in Black," Woolrich; "My Sister, Goodnight," McDonnell; "The House With the Red Eyes," East; "The Man Who Said 'Yes,'" James; and "The Scarlet Feather," Gruber.

A new addition to the reference section is a compilation of the latest labor laws of Texas through September of 1947, issued by the state bureau of labor statistics.

Bitter Reprieve

By Drexel Drake

THE STORY: Sterling swears to Miriam's father, Mr. Wilson, to help him win a $10,000 prize at a horse race. At his request, she brings along and gives him the money. In a phone booth, Sterling replaces the money with business papers. He then tells Miriam that a young woman will deliver the money to him under the name of "Davonport" in the Columbus Hotel. Miriam is to return the money to her in a roll of newspapers.

XXIX

BECAUSE of T. Bryan Steadman's intimate family friendship, and because he did not wish to be conspicuously alone, Sterling shared his funeral car with the lawyer. They were riding back from the cemetery in upper Westchester.

Steadman broke the silence. "There's something I really ought to talk to you about, Marcus," he said. "I'll begin with a question. Did Miriam give you a considerable sum of cash Thursday afternoon, or Thursday night?"

That was a jolt for Sterling. Fortunately, sitting alongside the attorney, his face had not been in position to betray him. "No, your question amazes me. I saw Miriam for only a few minutes after she came home Thursday night."

Steadman moistened his lips. "Miriam came to my office Thursday for advice. She said you had asked her for an unusually large sum of money... that you would not tell her why you needed it... and she was frightened because you told her it had to be in cash, and in hundred dollar bills."

Sterling's face was turned to study the passing landscape. "That happens to be correct, Mr. Steadman," he said. "I asked Miriam for the money at breakfast on Thursday. She turned me down. That ended it."

"Evidently that didn't end it for Miriam. If she turned you down at breakfast, she was only sparring for time, because when she was with me a little before noon, she showed every intention of getting the money for you."

"That surprises me," Sterling managed. "She asked advice?"

"SHE asked if there would be some way in which she could learn what you did with the money... who was to get it. She was afraid you were paying blackmail." Steadman paused, studied the profile beside him. "My advice to Miriam," he went on, "was that she should ask her bank to keep a record of the money and have it traced when deposited elsewhere."

"Marked bills?"

"In effect. Numbers of the same series, or something easily recognizable. What bothered me was that I was unable last night to find Miriam's checkbook among her papers."

"You think it may have been taken?"

"By the police. They may have it. Undoubtedly Lieutenant Talant had made a preliminary search in Miriam's room."

Sterling's pulse was racing. If only Steadman had had opportunity to tell him this last night. That would have headed off his sending the money to Bindle. If those bills were traced to Bindle, the gambler would have to tell where he got them to save himself.

"Of course, since Miriam didn't give you any money, it is no further cause of concern," Steadman said. "But you can understand the basis of my anxiety. I withheld that information—the purpose of Miriam's visit with me Thursday—from Lieutenant Talant. I regarded it strictly as a personal family affair that didn't need to be dragged out publicly. My immediate thought was to talk with you about it, so that you would not let go of the money if Miriam had given it to you. You can see, in view of what happened to Miriam, how the police would have been quick to give it a misinterpretation."

Sterling, swamped by sickening thoughts, was slow to make the response for which Steadman obviously waited. "It can see that," he said. "Thank you for telling me."

WHEN the car was approaching the overpass at Broadway, Sterling tapped on the glass to attract the chauffeur. "I'll get out at the Broadway exit," he said. "Why not have him take you to the house?" Steadman asked.

"I feel like a walk before dinner. I'll pick up the papers. Come to think of it, I haven't looked at a newspaper in three days."

Sterling found a telephone booth in a news store. He dialed anxiously. He was relieved when he heard Harry Bindle's voice.

"You got the money, did you, Bindle?" Sterling asked.

"What? Oh, it's you. Sure I got it, and I don't like it."

"What do you mean, you don't like it?"

"I'm supposed to be dumb. Nice, new bills, never been folded, right from the press, all the same serial number. Maybe I ain't supposed to smell a frame, even when it's stuck under my nose. What gets me is why you'd stick your neck out framing me. You're only paying me money you owe me. Maybe I wouldn't exactly like copper sniping around my business, coming here asking me where I got those bills, but where would it put you when I told them?"

"That's exactly why I'm calling you, Bindle, if you're ready now to listen. Sit on that money, understand?"

"So I should sit on the money to save you. Then what?"

"Well, I'll pay you again, naturally. But this time you can't crowd me."

"You'll pay me, and you'll pay me double," Bindle said venomously. "I'm tired having you take me for a ride. It's fifteen grand, now, understand?"

"Okay," Sterling slammed the instrument on the hook with that. Leaving the booth, he had a haunting feeling that his troubles with Harry Bindle had only begun.

The 1946 intercollegiate champions are Luther M. Schlusser, Jr., and Frederick C. C. Krueger of Capital University, Columbus, Ohio. Approximately 160 colleges entered the contest this year.

Each college qualified four pairs, who played the set hands sent to them by Geoffrey Mott-Smith of New York, manager of the intercollegiate championship tournament.

ment. The results were returned to Mott-Smith, who scored them and selected two pairs from eight national zones, who met in Chicago to play the two-session final. The Capital University pair won by a top score on today's hand.

The opening lead of the diamond king was won by Krueger. He then led a small club to dummy's ace, and played a heart back to the ace. A second club was led and now the jack was finessed.

Krueger did not make the mistake at this point of cashing out his clubs. He led the seven of spades and played low from his own hand, letting West win with the jack. He did this to give West a chance to cash out his queen of diamonds and thereby set up dummy's jack. Also, it might place the hand in a position for a squeeze.

West did exactly what Krueger wanted. The queen of diamonds was cashed and the third diamond led, dummy winning with the jack. Now a small heart was played, won with the king, and Krueger had that valuable little club to go over to dummy and run the balance of the club.

East found himself in a squeeze. He could not protect both the hearts and spades, so Krueger lost only a spade and a diamond, making five-odd for a top score.

Camera Picks Up Colors We Can't See

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—(AP)—Color pictures pick up one color that many people never see—the blueness of shadows on clear sunny days. The shadow of a tree, out in the open, will show this blue. The shadow is lighted by reflected light from the sky. And this skylight is blue.

A red brick wall, reflecting red light, may give the shadow a reddish tinge. Shadows take on different colors depending upon what color of reflected light is striking the shadowed area. This little-observed delicacy of coloring by nature is described by Ralph M. Evans, an authority on color of the Eastman Kodak Company, in a new book, "An Introduction to Color."

The bronze statue known as Christ of the Andes, on the border of Chile and Argentina, was erected in 1902 to commemorate peaceful settlement of a boundary dispute between the two countries.

there are isolated clouds, reflecting the sunlight, they mix sunlight with the blue in the shadow. The color of the shadow is far less blue. With many scattered clouds, the light intensity may become quite high in the shadows, and be the same color as the sun.

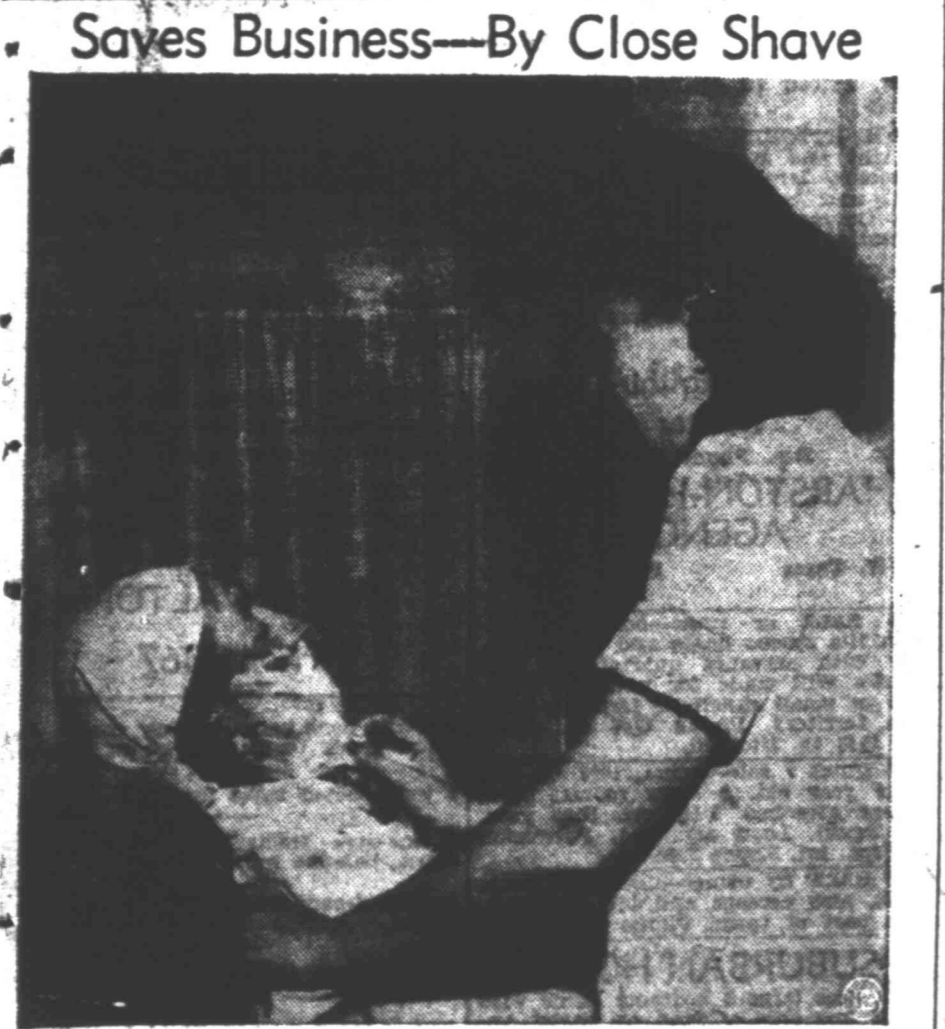

"We tend merely to assume that colors are what we think they are and do not verify our assumptions. If people look more carefully at colors, they will be surprised at what they see," Evans writes.

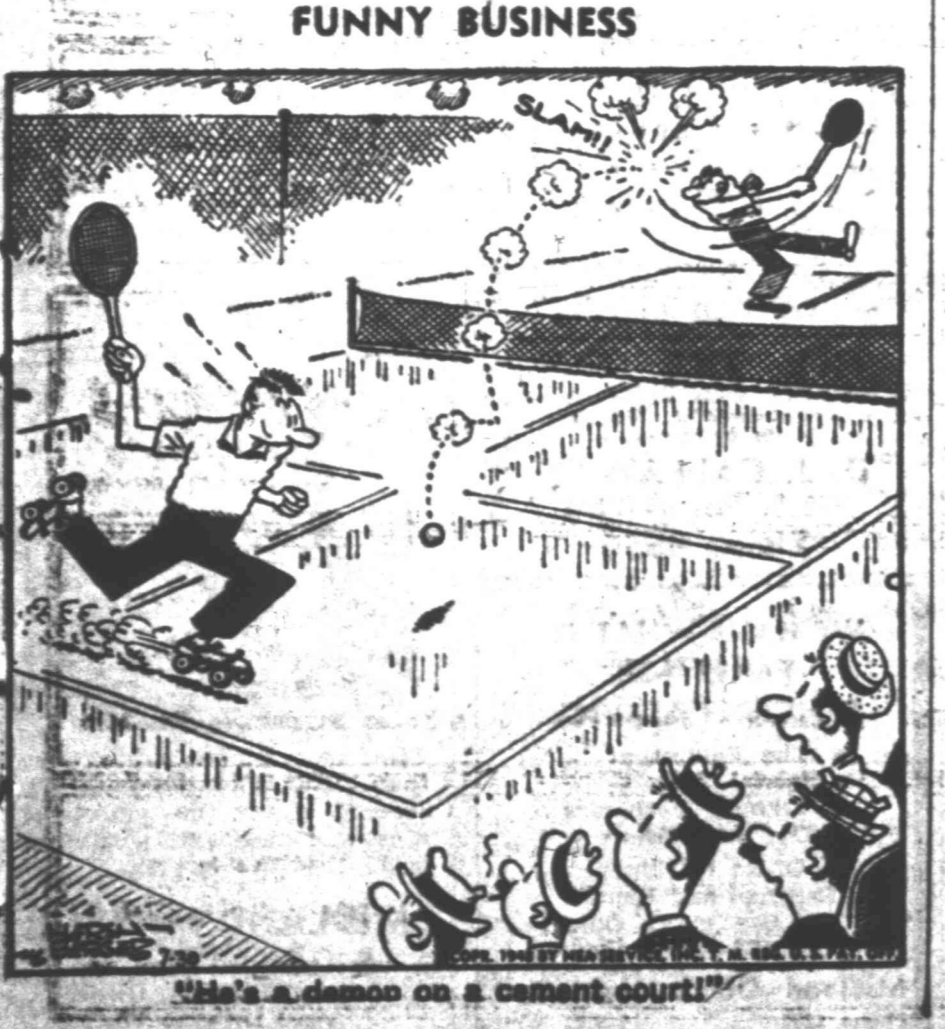

"If we invite your mother, we'll still be stuck with the twins while she runs to bingo parties and square dances—she ought to settle down!"

"Could we stop by my place on the way, officer? My wife just gets terrible Jussy if I don't come straight home from work!"

When one of Halfa's barbers went off to join the Israeli army, it looked as if the shop would have to close up. But his wife refused to throw in the towel. Instead, she learned to daub lather, scrape whiskers and cut hair and, as seen here, saved the family business.

Design Giant Flattop to Jet-Launch Fleet of Atom Bombers

This is an artist's conception of the Navy's proposed new aircraft carrier, designed to jet-launch a task force of huge atom bombers. The 65,000-ton ship, whose deck is the equivalent of 10,000 feet of runway, may be ready by 1952. Mechanix Illustrated Magazine photo from NEA.

Blankenship Funeral Is Held At Stanton

STANTON—Funeral services for Mrs. Glenn Blankenship, 47, who died Tuesday in a Big Spring hospital after a short illness, were held Wednesday in the First Methodist Church here.

She was born Sept. 6, 1900, in Lampasas County, Texas, and was married to H. B. Blankenship in December, 1922. She had made her homes at various times in Stanton, Midland, Big Spring, Lampasas and Lubbock. She was a member of the Baptist Church.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. N. E. Stevens; four sisters, Mrs. John Curtis of Greenwood, Mrs. D. D. Tucker of Levelland, Mrs. Ben Brown of Lampasas, and Mrs. W. A. Tucker of Athol, Idaho; and two brothers, L. R. Morris of Lubbock, and O. E. Morris of Belton.

Atomic Vaults Are Important Places

NEW YORK—(AP)—The stuff that makes atomic bombs is, or was, kept in not-very-large vaults writes Daniel Lang in a new book, "Early Tales of the Atomic Age." One such vault was seen in 1946 by Herbert S. Marks, Washington attorney while on a trip to Los Alamos, New Mexico.

"Many people," Lang writes, "would regard as the most important spot in the world a vault used to store the stuff out of which the bomb is made. It is, Marks told me, one of the most carefully guarded and least frequented vaults ever built."

The book also has a section on the search for suitable caves for wartime industry. Another section deals with rocket tests in New Mexico. Many of the Atomic Energy Commission's big problems and human sideights are told at length.

Denton Cuts Off Water To School Athletic Section

DENTON, TEXAS — (AP) — The City of Denton cut off the water supply Friday morning to the North Texas State College athletic section.

The college said that the athletic fieldhouse and dressing rooms, swimming pool and men's and women's gymnasiums are without water.

The college announced immediately that it is looking for a home field for the coming football season since the cut-off will prevent the NTSC Eagle Field from being put in shape. The field has been sodded recently.

Athletic director Theron J. Fouts said the city's action would affect four home games, the first on September 25. He was seeking some field in Fort Worth or Dallas where the Eagles can play their "home" games. The Denton High School and other county high schools also use the field, the college said.

The water was to have been cut off Thursday. The Denton City Commission Monday ordered the curtailment because of "a serious water shortage." Thursday's action was withheld when it was learned other facilities at the college also would be affected.

After a meeting of city officials Thursday night Mayor J. L. Yarbrough announced that the cut off would be made Friday morning.

Texas GOPs Fight For Leadership

By The Associated Press

Two state GOP leaders were still at political odds Friday.

They are Col. R. B. Creager of Brownsville, national Republican committee man from Texas, and George C. Hopkins of Dallas, state Republican chairman.

At Houston Thursday, Creager released the text of a letter he had mailed to approximately 400 Texas Republicans in which he attacked a letter he said Hopkins had sent out.

Creager said Hopkins' letter called for peace within the state organization, but "was filled with venomous attacks upon those he dislikes."

He said Hopkins "seems to think those in a state who initially supported a successful candidate for the nomination... however small a majority, should come into control of the party organization."

Creager's letter said Hopkins advocates the election of Robert K. McDowell, San Angelo, as chairman of the State Executive Committee at Waco. Creager urges the selection of Henry Zweifel of Fort Worth.

Patronage is the core of the fight between the two party leaders.

Creager said "in Texas and in other states the regular duly elected Republican organizations will be recognized for all purposes. Creager told reporters that he had patronage in mind when he used the words "all purposes."

At Dallas, Hopkins said he had the backing of the Dewey organization in a fight to break Creager's political power in the state.

Fight On Malaria Fused In Africa

LONDON — (AP) — Complete removal of malaria from the populated areas of Africa in his lifetime is foreseen by Prof. George MacDonald, director of the Ross Institute of Tropical Hygiene. Prof. MacDonald says also that a three-year plan for the eradication of malaria-carrying mosquitoes in Cyprus is well advanced, and adds: "This is the first time in history that this task has been attempted. And I think it is setting a pattern of what may happen elsewhere in the future." He said the World Health Organization was considering a similar campaign in a large part of tropical Africa, as an experiment in controlling the disease in a territory surrounded by land, as opposed to an island.

SHANGHAI ROUNDS UP Thirty-One Communies

SHANGHAI — (AP) — Thirty-one factory workers who took part in Communist activities during the last two months have surrendered to police, city officials said. These workers confessed, according to city officials, they had been hoaxed into joining a red-inspired uprising. They have been released on bail and permitted to continue working.

Four others, including a woman, were charged with helping Chinese Communist agents buy ammunition and were brought before the Special Criminal Tribunal for trial.

Australian Costs Are Rising Sharply

SYDNEY — (AP) — Living costs in Australia are on the way up. The climb has become steeper in the past few months. Recent increases have been made in the fixed maximum prices of beef and mutton, eggs, butter, cheese, chocolate, cocoa, tobacco and soap. Rises also were permitted in the prices for gasoline and diesel oil. Fares also have gone up.

Most increases have been around 10 per cent. Price ceilings recently were taken off lamb, which now is about 25 per cent dearer than early this year. Fresh vegetables, not subject to price control, are the dearest Sydney can remember. Fresh string beans cost up to 40 cents a pound, peas almost as much.

The Sydney housewife estimates that food costs for a family of four rose between $2.45 and $3.25 a week in the first six months of 1948.
