Congress Concludes Special Session

Dixiecrats' Referendum Plan Fails

AUSTIN—(P)—Submission of a Truman versus Thurmond (Loyalist versus Dixiecrat) referendum on the runoff primary ballot apparently was doomed Saturday well in advance of Monday's decisive Democratic Executive Committee meeting.

Dixiecrats were hollering themselves hoarse publicly demanding the referendum and admitting privately they would lose just as they did turned them down 31 to 5.

Loyalist forces, headed by Chairman Robert W. Calvert, had canvassed the committee. They were saying little but appeared confident of victory in this round of the scrap which will come to a final showdown at the Sept. 14 convention.

Dixiecrats thought they might pick up half a dozen more committee votes, but they weren't hoping for more than that. They were planning a campaign to win over county delegations which will go to the Fort Worth convention uninvited.

Makes Demand
Lloyd Price of Fort Worth, leader of the Dixiecrats, demanded that Secretary of State Paul H. Brown not certify any Democratic candidate for president until after the September convention.

"Mr. Brown has no moral or legal authority at this time to accept Truman as the Texas nominee," Price said. Calvert has said he would certify the national convention's nominees within the near future.

The proposed referendum to be submitted to the executive committee meeting Monday would read:

"A. For Harry S. Truman and Alben Barkley as the Democratic nominees for president and vice president respectively."
"B. For J. Strom Thurmond and Fielding Wright as the Democratic nominees for president and vice president respectively."

The voters in the August 28 runoff primary could then indicate their choice of how the state's Democratic electors would ballot. Loyalists say the referendum isn't legal. The Dixiecrats say it is.

Former state Sen. Joe Hill of Austin let loose a radio blast over station KTBC here Saturday in behalf of the referendum.

He said Truman, the Republican Party and the Wallace party are united on one point, they want Truman or Thurmond, and after the September convention the name of the winner should be certified to the secretary of state.

Molotov May Confer With Envoys Again
By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW—(P)—Envoys of the three western powers expect a call from Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov Sunday or Monday to resume negotiations to solve the East-West deadlock in Germany and perhaps all Europe.

After two lengthy meetings with the Russians—one Monday night with Prime Minister Stalin and another Friday night with Molotov—all or most of the issues between the four powers have been brought into the open and laid on the conference table.

The present stage was described by an authoritative source here as a "negotiations period."
A British diplomatic source said in London the Western powers thus far have failed to agree with Russia on a broad basis for four-power talks on Germany. The informant said some progress was being made in the negotiations but Russia had raised objections to "certain concrete proposals" made to Molotov.

The negotiations period as such may continue for some time. In other words, there may be several more meetings with Molotov before all four negotiators are ready to report back to Stalin.

At this point, things are believed to be proceeding all right. There have been a lot of frank exchanges over the Berlin question and Germany. The three Western envoys have been talking pretty bluntly about the Berlin blockade and the Soviet has been just as frank about (Continued on Page Ten)

Beats Crump Candidate

Rep. Estes Kefauver, above, bitterly opposed by the Crump machine in Nashville, Tenn., was conceded the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator. Judge John A. Mitchell, a Crump choice, was running a poor third.

HOUSTON—(P)—Texas States' Righters have contracted for radio time Monday night for the announced purpose of answering State Democratic Executive Committee action on a proposed August 28 presidential referendum.

The Executive Committee meets in Austin Monday and political observers predict the States' Righters referendum request will be turned down.

Southern Democratic leaders in Houston, busy arranging a Wednesday night rally at which Governor J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina will make acceptance of his nomination as the States' Righters presidential candidate, announced plans for the Monday broadcast.

Refers to Ballots
Meanwhile, Harris County residents will begin marking referendum ballots here Monday with the opening of absentee voting for the August 28 runoff.

Harris County voters will determine whether the electoral college delegate from the Eighth Texas Congressional District is to be instructed to support Thurmond and his vice-presidential running mate, Governor Fielding Wright of Mississippi, or support President Truman and Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, nominees at the National Democratic Convention at Philadelphia last month.

Thurmond and Wright were nominated at a States' Righters Convention at Birmingham immediately after the Philadelphia convention.

Arrangements have been completed with two nationwide radio networks to carry the Wednesday night acceptance speeches of Thurmond and Wright and negotiations are continuing with a third network.

The rally will be held in the big Sam Houston Coliseum in downtown Houston.

Committeeman Says Texas Demos Must Be Brought Together
PORT WORTH—(P)—Neville G. Penrose outlined a formula Saturday to unify the warring factions of the Democratic Party in Texas.

Penrose, executive committeeman from Fort Worth, said the party should be re-built and that the new architecture should be predicated upon a simple doctrine—respect for the rights of others.

And he urged that the State Executive Committee, meeting in Austin Monday under the party, should undertake to establish a program for revitalizing the party.

Divergent elements—as represented by Governor Jester, State Chairman R. W. Calvert and the Dixiecrats—must be brought together, he said.

Price Of Meats May Rise

CHICAGO—(P)—Budget-harried housewives increased their buy-no-meat campaign over telephone wires Saturday in the face of a government prediction that meat prices will go higher.

The boycott plan, originating in Dallas, spread to such cities as Louisville, Boise, Kansas City, San Francisco, Indianapolis, 16 cities in Texas and half a dozen in Wisconsin.

The housewives' crusade was aimed directly at one of two causes given by the Department of Agriculture: record consumer buying power and a decline in the output of meats and other livestock products.

Meanwhile the Agriculture Department predicted meat and other livestock prices will lead a retail food price advance in the next few months.

In Indianapolis, however, an official of Kinnan & Company, meat packers, discounted the government prediction and said beef and pork prices would fall in September or October as farmers bring in stock.

And in Chicago, a spokesman for major packers said "although we have no crystal ball capable of forecasting future prices, more adequate meat supplies are expected this Fall and Winter, due to seasonably increased marketings of livestock."

Prices then, as always, will be established by the overall demand of consumers.

Team For Action
But the women who pay the grocery bills teamed for action.

Ten thousand Dallas women promised to support the boycott idea, which started when 71-year-old Mrs. R. D. Vaughn, president of the Dallas Women's Chamber of Commerce, took to the telephone.

The idea spread across Texas where in 16 cities women agreed to stop buying meat August 8. Some sales already have fallen off, but there has been no general reflection in prices to date.

Mystery Witness Is Named
WASHINGTON—(P)—The House Un-American Activities Committee revealed Saturday that a mystery witness is the spy who cracked the Red spy network.

But the committee was as mysterious as ever about who Koral is. A subcommittee which hurried to New York to see the key witness questioned Koral Friday night. In Washington Saturday, Rep. Mundt (R-SD), acting committee chairman, told reporters:

"The fellow they went up specifically to see was Koral. He was supposed to lead to another witness."
Others Questioned
In New York, the subcommittee fired questions Saturday at: Earl Browder, deposed head of the Communist Party; Victor Perlo, accused spy; and a man who had announced to government officials alleged to have slipped wartime secrets to Russian agents; Whitaker Chambers, who has testified already that he was courier for a pre-war Communist underground in Washington of which, he said, Perlo was a member.

Arrangements were underway to question both Koral and Perlo in public hearings here Monday.

It was Mundt who had announced originally a mystery witness had been located. He said this witness's testimony, added to that of Chambers and Miss Elizabeth T. Bentley, would crack the spy case "wide open." Miss Bentley like Chambers has described herself as a former Red who broke with Communism.

More Water For Midland Is Due Soon

More water to meet the increased needs of fast-growing Midland is on the way.

City Manager H. A. Thomason said Saturday the ditching and laying of transit pipe for the 20-inch line to the new Wadley water tract north of the city was started Thursday, and is scheduled for completion within two weeks.

Approximately 200 feet of the 9,000 foot line was laid and connected the first two days. The ditching work started on the Wadley acreage and is progressing toward the city.

Thirteen carloads of pipe for the project have been received and the last two cars are in transit, Thomason said.

The city manager predicted the line will be completed and the Wadley water will be turned into the city's distribution system by September 1.

The ditch for the new line is 36 inches wide and averages six feet in depth. A huge ditching machine (Continued on Page Four)

Youth Shot And Tries To Remove Bullet From Body
Police Saturday said a 17-year-old Mexican youth was found suffering from a gunshot wound in the shoulder. When discovered the youth was trying to remove the bullet himself with a razor blade.

Officers determined the youth was shot by an uncle Friday night who said he fired on someone molesting his chickens. The man said he called out for the intruders to halt and show himself, but that he did not. So he fired.

The youth at first said he did not know who shot him. Later he told officers he did know. He was in a Midland hospital Saturday where the bullet was removed.

Twelve Year Old Hero
Eaton Bradley of Houston, Texas, center, a 12-year-old youth, twice in two hours became a hero. At 1:30 p. m. he pulled little Darrell Pena, four, left, out of a seven-foot deep hole and at 2 p. m. on the same day, duplicated the feat with Gertrude Twardowski, 10 years old.

Lawmakers Write Their Own Ticket

WASHINGTON—(P)—Congress wrote its own ticket Saturday on anti-inflation and housing legislation, then slammed the door on the extra session called by President Truman.

The House adjourned at 6:31 p. m.; the Senate at 7:39 p. m. They met July 26 and had been in session 11 working days.

The adjournment was until December 31, with a provision that the session may be resumed earlier on call of the Republican leaders.

With a few minor exceptions, the lawmakers rewrote, blocked, or just plain ignored the far-ranging program Truman presented with an "urgent" label.

The President's eight-point anti-inflation program emerged cut down to two: Revised curbs on installment buying and higher reserve requirements for banks belonging to Federal Reserve System. The Senate beat back by a 53 to 33 vote a Democratic attempt to revive rationing, price and wage control powers. The Truman plan to bring back the excess profits tax wasn't even considered.

Republicans said their housing bill would encourage the construction of low-cost homes and rental housing. But it omitted the federal subsidies for public housing and slum-clearance which were features of the Taft-Blender-Wagner Housing Bill endorsed by the President.

Truman Wins One Point
Truman had his way without quibbling on only one major item. The lawmakers approved a $65,000,000 interest-free loan to the United Nations for construction of permanent headquarters in New York.

Until the last couple of days, two extracurricular developments stole the show from the actual law-making. One was a successful day filibuster by Southern Democratic senators against the Anti-Poll Tax Bill. The other was a (Continued on Page Ten)

Republican Speaks Of Impeachment
WASHINGTON—(P)—Senator Ferguson spoke sternly of "impeachment" Saturday in accusing President Truman of lowering "an iron curtain between Congress and the public business."

His complaint was against the Executive's refusal to let the lawmakers have "loyalty" investigation records of government workers.

There was no comment forthcoming from the White House. In a speech to the Senate, Ferguson declared:

"Congress is rapidly being pushed into the intolerable position of having either to legislate through a blind or compel the President to answer for his conduct in an impeachment proceeding."

"We do not want representative government reduced to such a ridiculous position," Records Withheld

Absentee Voting Begins Monday
Absentee voting in the second Democratic Primary Election, August 28, is scheduled to start Monday, but County Clerk Lucille Johnson said Saturday she had received no ballots and didn't know definitely when they would be available.

James T. Smith, Democratic county chairman, was out of the city Saturday. Friends and business associates said he is expected to return early this week. Ballots will be available at the county clerk's office soon after his return.

Absentee balloting closes August 24. Candidates Listed
Lyndon Johnson and Coke Stevenson are runoff candidates for the U. S. senatorial post being vacated by Senator W. Lee O'Daniel.

Runoff contests for state offices include those of state senator and state representative. Hill Hudson of Pecos and Henry Coffield of Marfa are the senatorial candidates, and Emory T. (Pat) Corbett of Midland and J. T. Rutherford of Odessa are the representative contestants.

In Midland County, runoff races are scheduled for the offices of constable of Precinct 1, and commissioner of Precinct 4. Jack Merritt and John Hemmingway, Jr., are the candidates for constable. A. G. Bohannon and W. M. Stewart, who received 31 votes each in the first primary, will compete in the runoff for commissioner of Precinct 4.

Taft Blocks Confirmation Of M. J. Tobin
WASHINGTON—(P)—President Truman nominated former governor Maurice J. Tobin of Massachusetts to be secretary of labor Saturday night but Senator Taft (R-Ohio) blocked Senate confirmation.

However, legislators said Truman can give Tobin a recess appointment while Congress is in adjournment. They said Tobin then can serve and draw his pay pending action at the next session of Congress.

Tobin, former Democratic mayor of Boston as well as governor of the Bay State, was secretary of the late Secretary Lewis B. Schwellenbach.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, asked for Senate confirmation of Tobin on the night of the ground that, barring "extraordinary circumstances, the President has the unquestioned right to choose members of his own cabinet."

Committees Had Quit
Taft said there is no Senate rule which permits action on a cabinet appointment before it has been examined by a committee. The Tobin nomination came up after Senate committees had ended their meetings for the special session.

Barkley replied he wasn't seeking to invoke a rule, merely asking for a courtesy confirmation.

Taft noted that the President can (Continued on Page Ten)

C-47 Transport Missing Eight Months Found
FRANKFURT, GERMANY—(P)—Wreckage of an American C-47 transport plane which has been missing for eight months was found Friday, 8,000 feet up in the Italian Alps. The U. S. Air Force said Saturday night.

The two-motor plane, carrying 23 persons, disappeared November 28, 1947.

An Air Force announcement said two bodies were found near the wreckage. The missing transport was found in the Alps, 55 miles south of Turin, Italy, the announcement said.

The plane vanished while on a flight from Pisa, Italy, to Frankfurt. It was the object of an intensive search in the blinding snows of last winter.

At one time, search parties combed the mountains of the French side of Germany after false reports were received that a radio signal had been picked up from the missing craft in the area of Kaiserlautern.

State Sanitation Survey Results On Record Here

Midland restaurants, cafeterias, sandwich shops, soda fountains and taverns rated a sanitation score of 87.4 percent during the week of July 6-13, according to a survey report from the State Health Department.

Dan Mowery of the State Health Department made a survey of 50 establishments here during that week, checking their cleanliness against United States Public Health Service standards. A report of his survey, including the individual rating of each establishment, was received Saturday by the Midland-Ector-Howard County Health Unit, where it is a public record. One cafeteria, five sandwich shops, 23 restaurants, 11 soda fountains, and 10 taverns were inspected.

Highest percentage rating received by any of the Midland establishments was 95 per cent; lowest was 27 per cent. Several restaurants, cafeterias (school) and taverns were not inspected because they were closed while Mowery was here.

Major Violations

The report shows 24,900 persons daily are served at public eating and beverage places in Midland. A frequent violation of the sanitation code was the lack of proper lavatory facilities. Fifty-one per cent of the establishments were checked as derelict in this regard.

Fifty per cent were found to be lacking in proper cleaning equipment, and the same was true of disease control measures practiced by operators. The biggest percentage of violations, however, was in the manner of serving and displaying food; 84 per cent failed on this part of the test.

This prospect, located 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 4, block Y, TERR survey, has shown only slight signs of gas, and some salt water since entering the current horizon. Some of the salt water recovered bore a strong odor of sulphur...

Humble was making more hole for its No. 1-B Barnett, 660 feet from the north and west lines of section 39, block Y, CCS&RONG survey. It had deepened to 8,377 feet and was penetrating a lime and chert formation. A recent core at Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-A TEXL, North Central Upton County wildcat, just south of the Midland County line showed a recovery of 10 feet of black shale, with streaks of sand. The specimen was taken from the section between 3,878 and 8,889 feet. Operator then reamed site hole and was preparing to run a 5 1/2-inch casing to bottom. After the cement sets, the plug will be punctured and fresh hole will be made...

It is to go to approximately 12,500 feet in the northwest corner of section 31, block 40, T-2-S, T&P survey. Wilshire Oil Company was drilling its No. 1 McElroy on down toward the contracted 12,500 feet, where it hopes to test the West-Central Upton County Ellenburger. It is located in the southwest quarter of section 146, block E, CCS&RONG survey, approximately five miles east of the McElroy field. It had passed 12,855 feet and was boring ahead through lime and chert.

Amerada Gets New Pay At Monument

HOBBES, N. M. - A new pay has been discovered in East-Central Lea County in the shallow Monument field by Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 5-F State, scheduled deep wildcat. A series of four drillstem tests has assured commercial petroleum production from the Wichita-Albany zone of the lower Permian. The first test was on the section at 7,558-7,641 feet. It recovered oil in 23 minutes. The tool was open 28 minutes, gas reached the surface in five minutes, and mud came to the top in 18 minutes. The gas-oil ratio was 9,383-1. Gravity of the oil was 41.1 degrees. The well flowed to the top for the last five minutes of the test...

The second drillstem test was at 7,624-71 feet. It lasted four hours and 15 minutes, with a show of gas in five minutes, mud in 15 minutes, and oil in 18 minutes. This formation flowed 123 barrels of oil in four hours, and a gas-oil ratio was calculated as 1,900-1. Gravity was 9,383-1. Gravity of the oil was 41.1 degrees. Final recovery of oil was 390 feet. The venting went on down and ran another examination, this time to recover 290 feet of salty sulphur water from a section at 7,671-77 feet, along with 1,890 feet of oil, and 18 1/2 inches of mud, when the drill pipe had been pulled. Gas was to the surface in five minutes, oil in 2 hours and 15 minutes. The test lasted six hours and 15 minutes. This investigation reported flowing oil in 27 barrels of 35.1 gravity oil in four hours while the tester was in the hole. The gas-oil ratio was 1,049-1. The last drillstem test was on the zone between 7,700 feet and 7,720 feet and 7 minutes, in which time recovery was 2,700 feet of oil and 210 feet of sulphur water...

This venture topped the current strata at 9,565 feet on an elevation of 3,590 feet. Although this discovery is sufficient for completion as a commercial well, and a new discovery, the project is to go on down and test other horizons. On test there was drilling ahead below 7,848 feet. Location is 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 31-198-37E, in East-Central Lea County. In exploring in Central-west Lea County, the Slick-Urschel Oil Company, Magnolia Petroleum Corporation reported a recovery of 810 feet of clean oil on a drillstem test above the bottom on its No. 1 Yates-Federal. It set a 5 1/2-inch casing at 4,948 feet with 2,200 sacks of cement. It is to perforate and test again above the total depth of 4,950 feet...

It probably will be completed from this section as an oil well, but if it doesn't, operator has set large enough casing for making considerable more hole. This wildcat is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 21-218-37E. Skelly Oil Company is to plug back the No. 7 Sims, East-Central Lea County exploration, from its total depth of 10,294 feet in the Ellenburger, and try to improve production from the Drinkard section in Permian, where it previously by-passed some good shows of flowing oil...

This prospect is situated 2,200 feet from south and west lines of section 3-235-37E, topped the Ellenburger at 9,961 feet, but found it barren. After it recedes to around 6,400 feet, it should make a discovery for fresh oil output from the Drinkard pay in the shallow Permian field. Magnolia No. 1-C Santa Fe-Pacific, 660 feet from the south and west lines of section 26-98-36E, had reached 5,485 feet in the midland Permian and was boring ahead from top line...

It was 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 33-98-36E. It was drilling below 8,292 feet in lime and chert. Republic Natural Gas Company No. 1-E Barnett, a wildcat two and three-quarter miles north and west of the Benedictum field, had reached 11,265 feet in Permian limestone. It was venturing on toward the Ellenburger...

It is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 40, block Y, TERR survey. Humble Oil & Refining Company ran into difficulties on its No. 1-A Barnett, Ellenburger exploration. It was being detained at 12,088 feet while it fished for junk. This prospect, located 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 4, block Y, TERR survey, has shown only slight signs of gas, and some salt water since entering the current horizon. TEXAS OIL ROUNDUP - Oil Industry Turns In Healthy Report For First Half Of 1948

HOUSTON - (AP) - The oil industry, despite its problems of supply and demand, steel shortages and transportation, turned in a healthy report card for the first half of 1948. There is little gloom to be found in the mid-year reports on the industry's activities as printed in current issues of two petroleum publications, World Oil and The Oil and Gas Journal. World Oil says "approximately 15,000,000 barrels of refined products added to storage from January through June illustrate 'the improvement achieved by the industry in catching up with growing demand, for in the initial half of 1947 stocks were reduced more than 10,000,000 barrels'..."

Crude oil production and runs to stills continue to increase as gasoline production and stocks decline. American Petroleum Institute figures place crude production for the week ended July 31 at a daily average of 5,455,450 barrels, 7,650 higher than the previous week. Refineries operated at 97.5 per cent capacity, running 5,718,000 barrels of crude to stills daily as compared with 5,591,000 barrels a week earlier. A year ago crude production averaged 5,887,000 barrels daily, with still runs totaling 5,308,000. Gasoline processing for the week ended July 31 totaled 17,646,000 barrels as compared with 17,879,000 a week earlier and 16,558,000 a year ago. Gasoline stocks declined to 99,116,000 as compared with 100,641,000 the previous week and 86,032,000 for the same period last year.

Crude and condensate production for the six months were totaled by The Oil and Gas Journal at 998,157,000 barrels, an increase of 103,431,000. World Oil says strict wildcat drilling totaled 2,706 as compared with 2,084 for the first half of 1947. During the six months 312 oil, condensate and gas field discoveries were made as compared with 249 last year. The first half of 1948 saw completion of 17,837 wells. The Oil and Gas Journal reports, an increase of 19.1 per cent. Included were 10,287 oil wells as compared with 8,599 for 1947's mid-year report. Both publications predict "the record breaking trends for production and exploration will continue through the second half of the year."

Wainwright Says No Message Sent To Tojo

SAN ANTONIO - (AP) - General Jonathan M. Wainwright said Saturday he did not really think Premier Hedei Tojo had much to do with treatment he received while a prisoner of war of the Japanese. But he said that to the best of his recollection he had sent no messages to Tojo absolving Tojo of his responsibility. He said he held Tojo responsible for the sneak attacks at Pearl Harbor, but that he understood that matters of treatment of prisoners were delegated to local commanders and "differed very much in different places."

Wene Nominated As Agriculture Assistant WASHINGTON - (AP) - President Truman nominated Elmer H. Wene of New Jersey Saturday to be assistant secretary of agriculture. It was the second time that Wene has been nominated for that post. Previously, he had indicated that he didn't want the job. A native of Vineland, N. J., Wene is a former Democratic member of Congress from that state. If confirmed by the Senate he would succeed Charles Brannan, who became Secretary of Agriculture.

Midland-Odessa Death Trap

Another fatal accident on the Midland-Odessa highway again focuses attention on the need of immediate improvements on this particular stretch of road—the most dangerous in the State of Texas.

The recent crash took the life of a Midland youth, and put three others in the hospital with serious injuries. And the same thing happens time and time again, with ambulances and police cars making several runs each week to some point on this particular "death trap."

Figures released Saturday by the Statistical Division of the Texas Department of Public Safety show that traffic accidents on the Midland-Odessa highway in 1946 claimed nine lives, and injured 23 persons. In 1947, five persons were killed and 21 injured, and during the first six months of 1948 six persons have been killed and 22 injured.

It has been reported on several occasions during the last 12 months or longer that plans are being mapped to widen the Midland-Odessa highway. We wonder what has happened to those plans. Whose fault is it that something has not been done before now?

The cost of the program would be small compared to the tremendous amount of money being spent by the State Highway Department on expansion and maintenance, and certainly would be minute in comparison to the cost of personal and property damages occurring as a result of mishaps on the overcrowded and congested Midland-Odessa highway.

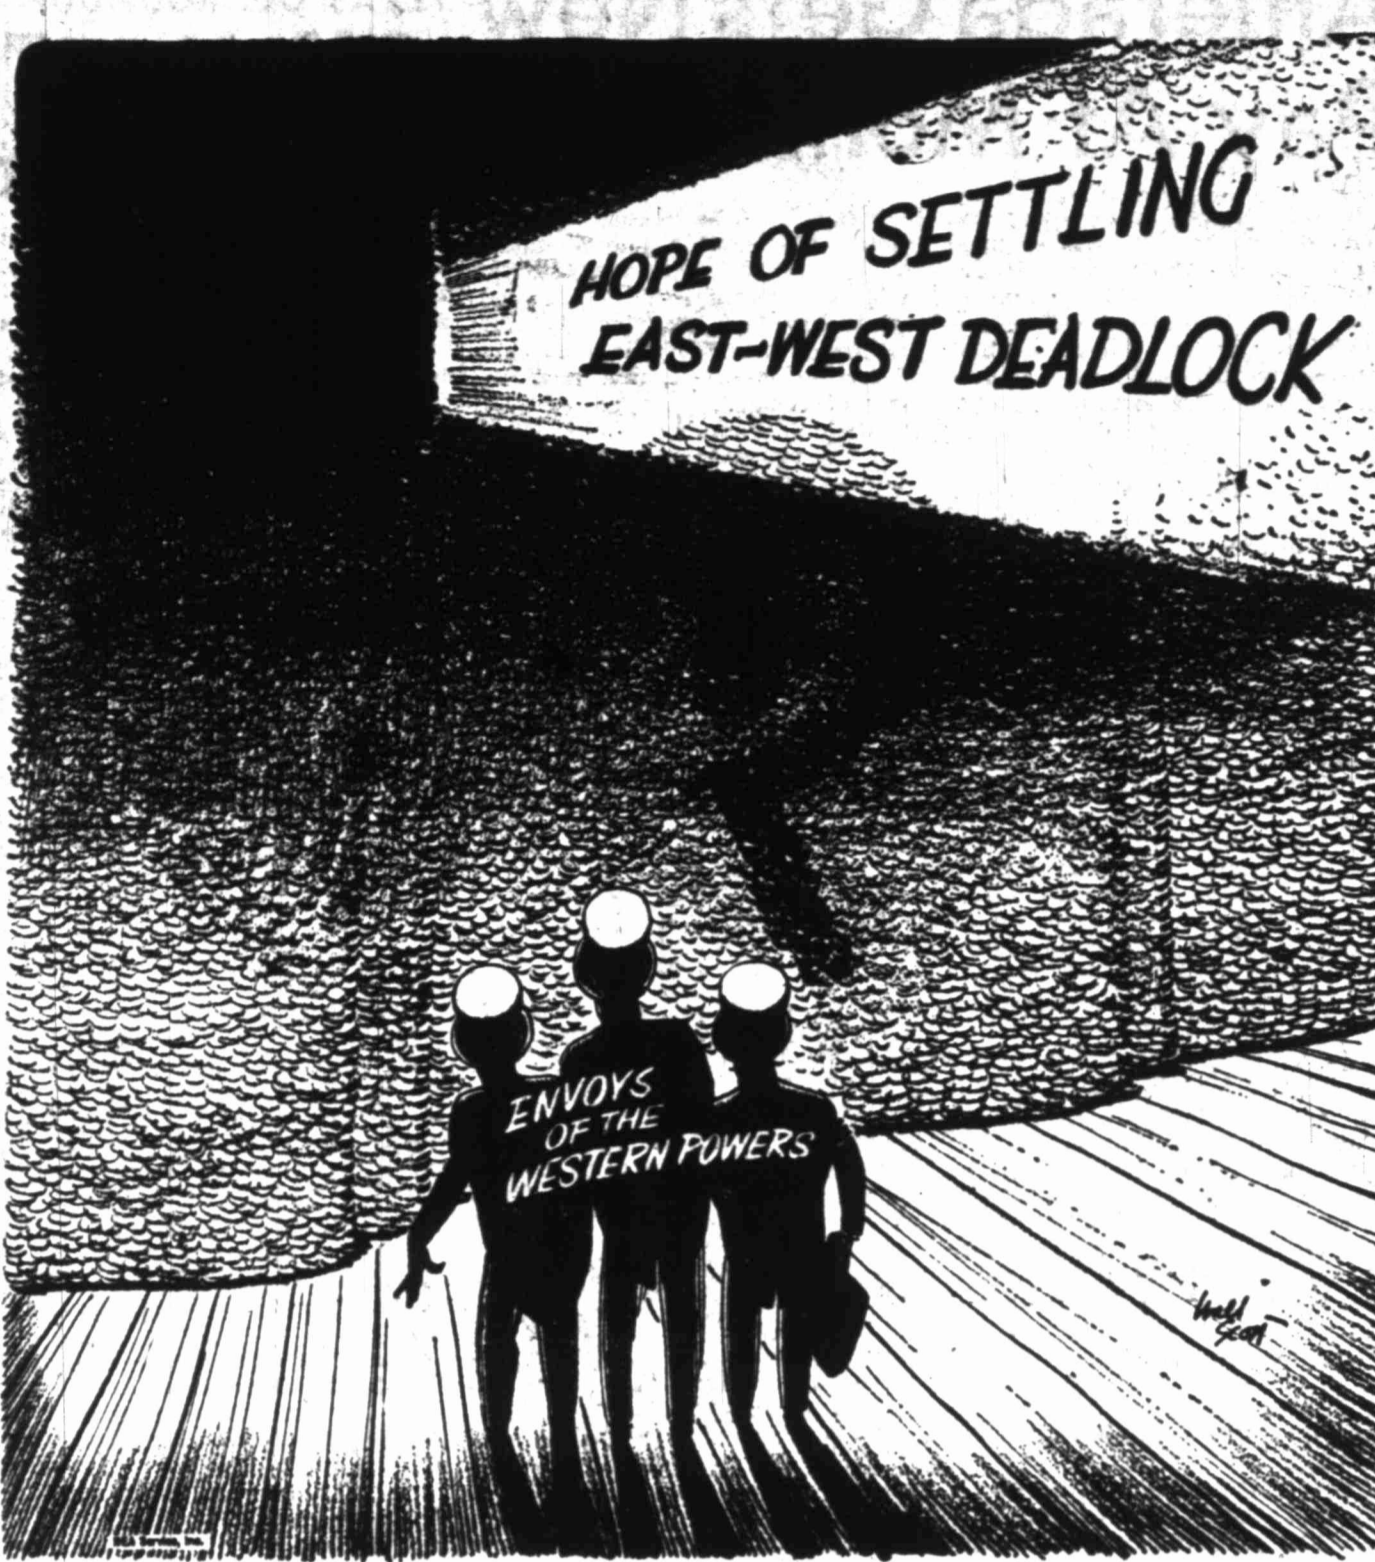

It is time for commissioners courts, chambers of commerce, other civic and service organizations and individuals to join hands in demanding that this particular highway improvement job be started immediately.

Something must be done before more lives are lost and more persons are injured in accidents on U. S. 80 Highway between Midland and Odessa.

Record-High Profits Prompted Truman's Tax Restoration Plea

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—President Truman's proposal to restore the excess profits tax is interesting, because it is an admission by the President that he thinks he did wrong when he advocated cutting excess profits taxes in 1945.

Truman was the first to suggest this cut. He had been in the White House less than a month after Roosevelt's death when he advocated cutting the excess profits tax by more than half.

Excess profits taxes during the last war were levied on an entirely different basis. Profits in the base period—1937-39—were declared "normal" for every business.

When Treasury Secretary John Snyder appeared before the House Ways and Means Committee last January to present the President's plan for a 40 per cent cost-of-living tax cut, he also proposed that the excess profits tax be restored to make up the difference in Treasury receipts.

The formula which Snyder suggested was, first, a basic exemption of $50,000 for all corporations. To allow for inflationary differences, normal profits for every concern would be calculated at 135 per cent of the 1937-39 average.

Q—What is a nine-day wonder?
A—A nine-day wonder is something which causes a great sensation for a few days and then passes into the limbo of things forgotten.

Q—Did the colonists import bricks from England?
A—Modern historians are agreed that very few, if any, bricks were imported from England to any of the Colonies.

Q—Who was the author of "God Save the King"?
A—The author of the English national anthem was Dr. Henry Carey, born in London about 1696, and died 1743. The music was composed by Dr. John Bull.

Q—What is the origin of "wind-fall," as expressing good luck?
A—In the time of William the Conqueror it was a criminal offense to cut timber in the forests. Only such could be gathered as the wind had blown down, so a heavy windstorm was hailed as good luck, and from this comes its modern application.

Q—Why do bees make honey?
A—As food for themselves and their larvae.

In Indianapolis, several housewives began a phone campaign and their leader, Mrs. Velma Park, advised callers to write Congress for their drive to keep away from meat counters.

In the same city, James Brown, president of the city and state Independent Retail Grocers Association, said "If people would quit eating meat for a week, the country would be flooded with meat, and prices would break sharply."

A Boise, Idaho, woman's club of 50 members appealed to all women in their area to keep away from meat counters. Chain phone calls also spread across Louisville, where several women's organizations were expected to join the drive.

In San Francisco, a council of women shoppers was formed to intensify the campaign which started there Monday. No change was evident in retail prices, but there were some declines in the wholesale markets.

Phonics Jangle Phones rang in half a dozen Wisconsin cities as women were asked to call five of their friends and urge a five-day boycott.

A meat-buying slump has been underway for several weeks in Portland, slaughtering has fallen 30 to 40 per cent, and some packing plants are cutting prices up to three cents below the list to get it moved.

Reaction of meat packers, processors and retailers was varied. Some retailers complained the proposed boycott was unfair, that everything else was high, too.

Chicago, the National Association of Retail Meat Dealers said it has noted a certain amount of buyers' resistance but no organized boycott.

Johnson Rounds Up Votes; Coke Rounds Up Cattle

By The Associated Press Lyndon Johnson rounded up votes in East Texas Saturday while Coke Stevenson, his senatorial run-off opponent, was rounding up some cattle and arranging for good shearing on his Kimple County ranch.

Johnson did some speaking and considerable hand-shaking along the way from Timpan to Kilgore. He stopped at Tenaha, Mount Enterprise, Hardemon and Carthage.

Stevenson said at Austin he planned to continue to campaign in the run-off just as he did in the first primary.

Johnson planned to spend Sunday in Austin and head West Monday. He will be in El Paso Tuesday, Odessa Wednesday morning and visit between there and Sweetwater. He has a night rally at Sweetwater Wednesday.

Water—

A representative of the pipe company is here to supervise the laying and connecting of the pipe. The pipe is being laid as the ditching progresses, with a pipe crew following the ditching machine.

Thomason said about 1,600 feet of gathering lines on the Westley tract has been installed by the city, with the remainder of the 2,000 foot project to be completed this week.

Three well pumps have been set in place and ready to go, the city manager said. Three other pumps are on order. The electrical work on the tract has been completed.

Thomason said three wells will be put into production as soon as the pipe line is finished, with water from three other wells to be tied into the system before the end of the year.

Combined production from the three wells will increase Midland's water supply by 1,200 gallons per minute or 1,872,000 gallons per day, Thomason said. When the additional wells are tied in, the supply from the Wadley tract will be boosted to approximately 3,500,000 gallons a day. More wells will be put into production as needed.

Between 4,000,000 and 4,500,000 gallons of water per day now are being produced from the Cloverdale and Rosedale tracts Southeast of the city. The supply has been inadequate to meet the needs during the Summer months.

Thomason again expressed appreciation to residents for their cooperation in conserving water during the present shortage. He urged continued conservation, including the watering of lawns between 6 p. m. and 11 p. m. only, during the remainder of August.

"It will be great, when we can say we all the water you want at any time of the day or night," the city manager said.

THE REPORTER-TELEGRAM, MIDLAND, TEXAS, AUG. 8, 1948-5

Americans Wrap Up Team Pennants In Two Sections Of Olympic Contests

LONDON—(AP)—America's Olympic athletes wrapped up unofficial team championships in two major sections of the games Saturday—track and swimming—but their victory celebration was dulled by an unhappy incident in the 400 meter relay.

The stout American dash team, wound up by Mel Patton of Southern California, won the race with some ten yards to spare only to have the triumph nullified by disqualification.

The judges ruled the Americans committed a foul when Barney Ewell of Lancaster, Pa., sought to hand the baton to Detroit's Lorenzo Wright. Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace ran the third section of the race.

So the gold medals in the race went to the British, who finished in 41.2 to beat out Italy and Hungary in that order.

Dean Cromwell, veteran U. S. track coach, immediately announced: "I have protested."

"I do not think I went over the line," said Ewell, who went over later to explain the case to Avery Brundage, president of the U. S. Olympic committee and a member of the board of appeal.

The American 1,600 meter relay team, composed of Art Harnden, of Texas A&M, Cliff Bourland, Roy Cochran and Mal Whitfield, captured that event to give the United States a total of ten championships.

The Americans amassed a staggering total of 450 1/2 points—189 in track and field alone—more than 200 better than the closest challenger.

Sweden followed with 239 1/2. Then came France with 123 and Hungary with 117—the only countries able to crack the century figure.

The two relays and the marathon run were the championships decided on their eighth day of competition before 84,000.

The U. S. 1,600 meter quartet ran the distance, just ten yards short of a mile, in 3:10.4 to finish 50 yards ahead of France, with Sweden trailing in third.

At the nearby Wembley Pool the American water magicians clicked off three more championships and left two Olympic records sagging.

These conquests—by Philadelphia's Joe Verdeur in the 200 meter breast stroke, Ann Curtis of San Francisco in the 400 meter free style and Jimmy McLane of Akron, Ohio, in the 1,600 meter free style—gave American splashes a sweep of the men's six swimming and two diving titles and the women enough points to take the team crown. The girls won two diving and two swimming events.

Unofficial team totals gave the men 121 points to 21 for runnerup Hungary and the women 68 compared with 37 for the crack Danish swimming team.

Cracks Records Verdeur, who has been cracking the Olympic record on almost every outing, won the 200 meter breast stroke in 2:39.3 to beat the record of 2:40 he had hung up in a preliminary heat.

Miss Curtis also broke the Olympic record in outdistancing Denmark's favored Karen Margrethe Harup in the women's 400 meter free style. Her time of 5:17.5 cut deeply into the mark of 5:25.7 Miss Harup had registered Friday.

To McLane, 17-year-old Andover Academy student, went the honor of scoring the last American victory and clinching the U. S. swimming "slam." His time for the 1,600 meter free style was 19 minutes, 18 1/2 seconds.

Over at Henley on the Thames, the University of California's eight oar crew swept into the Olympic rowing finals within one shot of the championship America has held since 1920.

This success—plus the advance of the two four-oar shells, University of Washington's quartet with coxswain and Yale University's four-oar without—afforded some consolation for the surprising defeat of sculler Jack Kelly, Jr., of Philadelphia.

The 21-year-old Kelly, figured a cinch to win the title his father achieved in the 1920 Olympics, was defeated in a semi-final heat by G. E. Rizzo of Uruguay. Troubled by a cold, Kelly collapsed at the finish.

Double scoulers Arthur A. Gallagher of Philadelphia and Joe Angyal of New York also were eliminated in the semi-final heats, leaving the United States with only three of its original seven crews for Monday's final.

Plans are going forward for a new golf course for Midland. The layout will be located northeast of the city on the former Frank Prothro place. The site has been purchased by H. L. Winkler of Dallas and Walter Thompson of Houston, who will build the course. Sportsmen of the city are given an opportunity to buy 250 golf certificates each worth $100 to help raise $25,000 to complete the course. The layout of the links as shown here shows 18 holes. Only nine holes will be constructed at first with nine more added when water pipe can be obtained. The course was designed by a famous golf-course architect. Greens will be grass. The links will be open to the public to play with greeps fee assessments. Popular prices to play will prevail, owners promise.

All of us are guilty. It's not a crime, however. We mastermind Harold Webb, manager of the Midland Indians. Oh it's easy to do so from our vantage point in the stands.

We would have them hit the first pitch. We would bring runners around and take the chances, or we would hold. We would change pitchers at such and so a time. We would let X pinch-hit for Y. We would walk so and so and pitch to Jones or Smith. We would hunt rather hit them away. We would hit away rather than punt.

We would do that. Well, we claim the Indians as ours and we would handle them in our manner. We exercise our 75-cent license to the hit, and it's okay.

Ofentimes our management differs from Webb's. We don't charge that this is unhealthy for baseball in Midland. In fact it is a kind of good sign of our interest.

"Why don't you get some ball players," a fan said to Harold Webb. Let us answer for Sir Harold.

Getting ball players is not as easy as it appears on the surface. There always is a little matter of league regulation of the roster. Sixteen is the player load. Eight of these must be rookies. Eight can be limited service and class. Not more than three can be class ball players.

This 8-5-3 ratio was set by the league. It puts the emphasis on rookies.

A rookie is a ballplayer who has not spent more than 45 days under professional contract. A limited service ballplayer is one who has spent 45 days under pro contract and less than three seasons under contract. A class ballplayer is one who has spent three seasons or more in pro ball.

Playing mechanics of a game, however, is something we can use and we like to say our piece. Be not dismayed at us, Webb. We might win you some games with our strategy. Say Webb, why did you pinch hit Guy the other night? Why didn't you take Clay out quicker the other night?

See, it's so easy.

Midland is up there in attendance at Longhorn League baseball games. Here is a comparison as of August 1:

Big Spring 42,612 Odessa 41,648 Midland 37,285 Vernon 32,561 Sweetwater 28,999

Sweetwater 25,892 San Angelo 17,852 Del Rio 9,343

In the above figures, the attendance of San Angelo does not include 45 days when the club was changing hands. The Ballinger draw is estimated.

Here is the draw of all last season: Big Spring 43,153; Ballinger 42,862; Odessa 38,415; Midland 34,013; Sweetwater 31,631; and Vernon 30,758.

Great things are predicted of Bill Little this season. He is one of seven returning lettermen to the Bulldog machine.

Bill is expected to recover nicely and be on hand before the season is too far advanced. We sincerely hope he does. His shoes are hard to fill. He is a hard-driver type of runner and smacks 'em on the defense.

Other returning lettermen for the 1948 Bulldogs include: Larry Messersmith and Larry Buckingham, a couple of fancy steppers in the backfield; Dee Bivens, plugging hard-worker of the backfield and a blocker possibility; Dan Bramam, Donald Deel and Lloyd Heademan, all are big and powerful linemen.

Raschi Pitches Yanks To Win Over Cleveland

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The New York Yankees climbed within two percentage points of the American League's front-running Cleveland Indians Saturday as Vic Raschi pitched the Yanks to a 5-0 four-hit triumph over the Indians before a crowd of 42,359 paid customers.

Only Larry Doby and Dale Mitchell, who collected two singles apiece, were able to solve the star righthander's pitching. Raschi fanned seven, including catcher Jim Egan three times, in posting his 14th victory of the year and his fifth shutout.

Joining Joe DiMaggio drove home three runs on a pair of doubles and also stole home on the front end of a double steal to climax a three-run third-inning rally.

Bob Lemon, seeking his 15th victory of the year, started for Cleveland and was tagged for his 10th loss.

Freddie Mills Backs Out Of Double-Bout Bill

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Tournament of Champions tentative double-header championship fight card was cut in half Saturday when light heavyweight king Freddie Mills asked for a postponement of his title fight because of illness.

Mills had agreed to meet champion Gus Lesnevich of Cliffside, N. J., in a return 15-rounder on the same program matching middleweight champ Tony Zale and Marcel Cerdan of France.

The twin title bill was to be staged at Brooklyn's Ebbets Field, September 23, 24 or 25.

But Saturday Mills, who lifted Lesnevich's crown in London July 26, begged out of the return. Ted Broadbent, manager of the champion, said Mills has been suffering severe headaches since that fight and has been unable to train.

The news came as a stunning blow to the young promotional group. Promoter Andy Niederreiter and his backers had hoped to make a sizeable dent in Mike Jacobs' fistie empire with this spectacular, although costly, prestige show.

The Mills-Lesnevich fight alone would have cost the T. of C. $150,000 as the champion had been guaranteed $80,000 and Lesnevich $70,000.

Meanwhile Niederreiter continued plans to go ahead with the Zale-Cerdan title battle.

Sweep Feline Series

The Midland Indians showed Webb, the onlookers and themselves Friday night they could win without Jim Prince, slugging star who is on a 10-day suspension.

The Tribe took Ballinger 7-2 as Ralph Blair returned to the lineup after a month's sore-arm layoff and pitched a neat victory. Blair gave up nine safeties but they were well-scattered. He struck out four Cats and walked two.

Midland's win gave the Webbsmen a clean sweep of the three-game series with Ballinger at a sorely needed time. Ballinger was held to three runs in the three games. The Tribe's pitching corps performed admirably in this series. Support was great.

Julian Pressley, Indian outfielder, slashed out a home run over the left field fence with Harvel Jakes (hit) aboard in the second frame and the Tribe was long gone Friday night. Specht followed with a screaming triple and Perry scored him with a long fly out.

Vernon notched two runs and approached the Indian lead in the third frame. This was Blair's only anxious moment of the night. Neundorff singled to start the stanza. After two were out, Crandall hit scoring Neundorff. Wynns walked. Williams hit scoring Crandall. Murphy flied out.

Midland added one in the sixth. Collins walked. Melillo sacrificed him to second. Nipp flied out. Jakes errored on scoring Collins. Pressley walked. Jakes was out stealing third.

Sheppard fields 'em Blair had his stuff and he sat down the Cats scoreless through the last six innings of the ball game. His mates gave ample support, including two great running catches by Midlander Leonard Sheppard, rookie gardener.

The Redskins got three more runs for insurance in the eighth. Perry fouled out. Collins walked. Melillo hit. Nipp hit scoring Collins. Jakes flied out scoring Melillo. Pressley walked. Nipp scored from third on an overthrow. Sheppard flied out to deep center.

Carriel Nipp filled Jim Prince's shoes well at first base. The Nipper played flawlessly and drilled one Cat out at the plate with a fine throw after leaping high to take a throw from Melillo.

Midland performed two snappy double plays.

North Wins 4-0 All-Star Game; Odessan Shines

ABILENE — Capitalizing on goal line mistakes by the South squad, the North Texas high school all stars Friday night won the 14th annual all star gridiron battle 4-0. The North held a slight edge all the way, but not enough to shove across a touchdown. The score was a result of two safeties.

The first two-pointer came soon after Keith Flowers of Perryton had kicked out of bounds on the South 11. Gilbert Bartosh of Granger, juggled the snap-back from center on the South's goal line and was nailed for a safety.

Austin's Reed Quinn punted after the safety to Carl Mayes of Pampa who returned to the South 45. From there Byron (Bantone) Townsend of Odessa broke loose for the game's longest punt, down to the South 18. Townsend, Mayes and Hart of Levelland alternated to the South one foot line before losing the ball on downs.

Low Pass As Quinn stood just inside the end zone to punt out of danger, the pass from center was low, and Don Surratt of El Paso downed him for the second safety.

Backfield standouts for the night was Townsend. The Odessan raced 116 yards on 15 tries. The Texas Sports Writers Association voted him the most outstanding back. Voted outstanding lineman was Jerry Price of Brownfield and the North.

But sharing backfield honors with Townsend was Henry Stollenwerk of Waxahachie. The South star was the backbone of a Rebel drive that floundered on the North four and he turned in neat passing and punting.

Sanding, Refinishing Restores Beauty Of Old Hardwood Floors

If you are considering the purchase of an old home with the intention of modernizing it, be sure to give particular attention to the floors, experts advise.

The condition of the floors has a great deal to do with the interior appearance of a house, it is pointed out. Shabby flooring, therefore, should be high on the list for renovation.

Should the floors of an old home be of oak or other hardwood, the new owner can consider himself fortunate, for such floors easily can be restored to their original beauty by sanding and refinishing. In some cases, however, new floors may be desirable. New flooring of oak can be nailed directly to existing wood floors. Usually it is best to lay it at right angles to the old flooring. An experienced flooring mechanic can do the job quickly.

AMAZED AT QUICK ACTION OF MERTOX

"For the past ten years I have been troubled with severe gas pains which seemed to press against my heart and made it difficult to breathe. I had a pain under my heart that was almost unbearable at times," writes Mrs. Alma Cummings of Waco.

"My food would not digest and soiled on my stomach. I had been told that MERTOX was a new and safe medicine and I had heard that it was a great relief. I bought a bottle and took it as directed. I felt a difference in my stomach and the gas pains were gone. I was amazed at the quick action of this medicine. You can get MERTOX at the new REDUCED price."

Modern Design Offers Living Comfort

Intended to meet the requirements of modern families who prefer homes which offer a maximum of comfortable livability, this house is of contemporary design rather than an example of formal architectural style. Considerate planning makes the house as suitable for a small family as a large one. There are two bedrooms on the first floor and provision is made for two second-floor bedrooms which could be finished either at the time of construction or later to meet the needs of a growing family. The living room, dining room and terrace constitute a large living area which opens to the rear for the sake of privacy. The alcove off the kitchen could be furnished as a handy breakfast nook. The exterior siding is wide clapboards. Only 34 feet wide despite all the space it contains, the house will fit well on a 50-foot lot.

New Oak Flooring Plays Prominent Part In Giving House 'New Look'

The acute housing shortage, according to builders, has stimulated tremendously the remodeling and modernization of old houses. Unable to buy or build new homes, thousands of families have been forced by necessity to purchase old ones that did not meet their needs or desires. Many of these families, however, have found that a sturdy built dwelling often can be transformed into a modern, comfortable home at only a fraction of the cost of a new building.

Often, of course, the interior calls for a rather extensive remodeling to bring it up to date. One of the most important features to consider, builders say, is the flooring. Besides receiving heavy wear, floors are among the most conspicuous parts of a house and have a great deal to do with overall attractiveness.

If the floors are of oak, they usually can be refinished to look like new, regardless of their age. In many instances, however, the floors of an old house may be of such quality and condition that repair would be a poor investment. Under such circumstances it is advisable to install new flooring. Building experts point out that new flooring of oak or other hardwoods may be laid directly over the old. Properly maintained, it will last the life of the building.

Incidentally, the installation of new oak floors can play a prominent part in giving a house the desired new look. For example, modern styling calls for elimination of interior thresholds; so the new oak flooring should be laid flush through doorways. This feature in itself adds a note of modernity which helps distinguish the up-to-date home.

DDT Fog Machine To Spray Homes Daily

Spraying of private property with the city DDT fog machine will continue every day until requests for such service have been filled. W. M. Howard, sanitarian of the Midland-Ector-Howard County Health Unit, said Saturday.

Previously, it had been announced that special fogging of private property would be done only on Thursdays, but so many citizens have ordered the service, the machine will work exclusively on such orders until the heavy demand has been met, he said.

Howard said operators of the machine will work on residences according to the most efficient route they can devise. This means that home owners will not be able to obtain the fogging service at a time specified by themselves. To use the machine according to appointment would be too costly, he explained.

The Nile, second in length of all rivers of the world, is 3,473 miles long.

Week's Building Permits $32,950; Year $3,889,935

Building permits for the week ending Saturday amounted to $32,950, to bring the 1948 Midland building figure to $3,889,935.

Largest permit of the week went to Palace Drug Company, to make $16,000 in repairs and alterations to the business structure at 108 South Main Street. Size of the building is 25 by 100 feet. Materials for the repairs are frame and concrete.

Ted Thompson received a permit for $9,000 to build a frame residence with attached garage at 1808 West Illinois Street. Size will be 54 by 40 feet.

O. V. Lawrence was issued a $7,000 permit to build a frame residence at 224 Nobles Avenue. Size will be 31 by 50 feet.

Other permits of the week were: Mid-West Lumber Company, $3,000, frame building at intersection of F and Front Streets, 16 by 50 and 24 by 56 feet; Ed Westland, $1,500, repair frame residence at 300 North Carver Street, 30 by 20 feet; B. M. Hays, $1,200, alter frame residence at 1701 West Kentucky Street, 14 by 15 feet; Enrique Sanchez, $750, frame house at 123 North G Street, 24 by 30 feet; Gregorio Moreno, $500, frame residence at 310 North Dallas Street, 24 by 16 feet.

Nursery Planned For Flexibility Grows With Child

NEW YORK—Even the smallest child enjoys a room of his own, but unless it is well planned he does his baby clothes.

Flexibility is the important word when the day comes to change the nursery over into the combination bedroom, study place and den needed by the school child, according to a Title Council of America report on planning children's rooms.

This flexibility can be obtained by open bookcases for toys, decorative features which can be removed later and durable, easily cleaned fabrics. Even the clothes closet should fit Junior's growth pattern by having low-hung poles which can be raised as he becomes taller.

Open face bookcases can first be used for toys and later for books and knickknacks. A good plan is to surface their shelves with a sanitary material such as ceramic tile, the report points out. Smudges left by tiny hands can be quickly removed, and the cases will never need redecorating.

An excellent saver of walls and wall paper in the nursery is a small blackboard hung about three feet from the floor. It gives the child a place to mark and scribble to his heart's content.

For nursery floor coverings, washable shag rugs are practical, and appropriate for any age level. Finally, inexpensive, sturdy lamps and accessories are best for even if they are damaged or broken no real harm is done.

Quality Should Be Keynote In Home Building

Building experts declare that no matter how limited a prospective home builder's budget, it will pay him to incorporate sound construction and attractive appearance in plans for the dwelling. The advantage lies not only in the years of satisfaction which such features afford, but also in the added value of the house if the owner decides to sell.

When a choice must be made between sturdy construction and pleasing appearance on the one hand and non-essentials on the other, it always is wise to choose the former, according to the experts.

Listing three basic elements in good construction, they point out that an adequate foundation is vital. It should consist of strong, durable material that is termite resistant, and should be protected against frost and freezing.

Well-raised Walls Walls should be well braced to withstand the strongest winds that might strike in the area. In frame construction the siding should be of a sturdy, long-lasting material that contributes to the exterior attractiveness of the home. Among such materials now available is asbestos cement siding, which is fireproof and immune to wear. Requiring no painting, it comes in several attractive colors and styles.

The roof, in addition to being resistant to fire and weather, should require a minimum of upkeep, since frequent roof repairs are costly.

Wichita Falls Fire Does $100,000 Damage

WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS—(AP)—Fire caused an estimated $100,000 damage when it swept through the Wichita Planing Mill early Saturday.

Five pumper trucks, a booster and a ladder truck were used to bring the blaze under control.

The fire destroyed a new 96-foot shed, all electrical equipment, a new ton-and-a-half truck, as well as the main building.

Canadians Name Louis St. Laurent

OTTAWA—(AP)—Louis Stephen St. Laurent, French-Canadian minister for external affairs, was named Saturday successor to Canada's Prime Minister W. L. MacKenzie King.

He was elected leader of the National Liberal Party on its first ballot Saturday.

And as leader of this dominant Canadian party, he automatically will become Prime Minister when King retires, probably about the end of this year.

HEALTH COMES FROM WITHIN

When you turn off the electric light switch you do not expect the light to burn. Do you think that you have more right to expect your organs to function when the current is turned off? If Nature can get her forces from the Brain to the tissue cells, health will result. If the bony segments of the spine press upon the nerves and thereby cause interference to the normal flow of life force from brain to body, you should have this interference corrected, in order to enjoy health.

HOME OWNERS QUESTION BOX

Q—How can I stop a hardwood floor from squeaking?
A—Poor nailing is the usual cause of a squeaking floor and re-nailing is the only satisfactory remedy. Use 4-penny finish nails and nail straight through the flooring. Counter sink the nails and fill in the holes.

Q—Do lightning rods actually protect farm buildings from lightning?
A—Yes. They are virtually complete protection and should be installed on all main farm buildings. Lightning causes more than 30,000 fires a year.

Q—How should home-canned foods be stored?
A—Food "canned" at home is usually put up in glass jars and consequently should be kept in a dark place to prevent injury by light. The storage place also should be dry and cool, but there must be no danger of freezing.

Q—How can grass stains be removed?
A—Sponge the stains with alcohol and wash with soap and water. Stubborn stains might require bleaching.

Q—Is there any way I can prevent bread from becoming moldy during hot weather?
A—Keep it in the refrigerator.

Q—How can I get rid of mice without trapping or poisoning them? I won't get a cat because my baby doesn't like cats.
A—Mice dislike camphor. Put camphor in places frequented by mice and it will drive them away.

Dirt, Squirt and Quirt

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —
By STANLEY FRANK

Five hundred cattle sold Thursday at Midland Livestock Auction. The market was steady to stronger, especially on stocker classes. Fat calves and yearlings bulked at $23 to $28, medium kinds $21 to $23. Fat cows cashed $19 to $22, those not so fat, $17 to $19. Canners and cutters bulked at $13 to 16. Fat bulls brought $20 to $22, medium ones $18 to $20.

In the stocker division, steer calves and yearlings sold for $26 to $28, with plain and half-breeds at $21 to $24. Stocker heifer calves and yearlings sold mainly in the $21-$24 range.

Fillmore Epley, who headquarters in Martin County but ranches also near Fort Sumner, N. M., says his New Mexico calf crop shows signs of being the best he ever raised up there. Cattle are thriving on plenty of green grass. A buyer with an order for 1,000 mixed calves has been trying to contract them at 26 cents for the heifers and 27 cents for steers, but isn't having any luck, Epley says; most people are holding for 29 and 30. However, a lot of the calves around Fort Sumner were contracted several weeks ago at 25 and 26 cents. Epley hasn't sold his yet.

Midland County farmers report an increased infestation of bollworm and flea hopper in their cotton. Some growers are dusting with airplanes, using a mixture including 50 per cent sulphur, 10 per cent DDT and 40 per cent inert ingredients, they reported.

Two bunches of calves were contracted in this area last week at 28 cents per pound, October 15-November 1 delivery.

A small bunch of milk lambs from Stanton sold for 28 cents a pound on the Fort Worth market last week, netting their owner $18.50 per head.

A Midland ranchman recently marketed a load of grass-fat steers off the Osage in Oklahoma. They were on the plain order, but weighed 1,030 pounds and brought 27 cents. This is unusually early for cattle to be going to market from the Osage country, the Midlander says; ordinarily, the first ones go around the middle of August and marketing continues into the Fall.

A big stretch of country to the South, East and North of Midland got a good rain a week ago Saturday night and Sunday morning. Half an inch to an inch was reported in Glasscock County and in the Eastern edge of Midland County. Ed Guy Branch reported 1 1/2 inches on his Upton County ranch. Several reports from North of Midland indicated one-half inch of rain over a wide area in that direction.

Merwin Haag has a fine cotton crop in the making on his farm about 14 miles northwest of Midland on the Andrews highway. He uses a sprinkler irrigation system, fed by a well reported to have a capacity of 1,500 gallons per minute, and in some parts of his field the cotton is waist-high.

Last week, Haag had his cotton dusted by airplane to stop boll weevil infestation; dusting by air was reportedly going on in the Tarzan community, also. Boll weevils and flea hoppers have appeared in a number of Midland and Martin County fields.

Norman Hoffman at Skyhaven Airport in Midland last week obtained a ship for use in dusting; he expected to be ready to launch aerial attacks against crop insects Saturday.

Milkweed is blamed by ranchmen in most parts of the West Texas ranch country for a soremouth condition in their sheep. Reports of the trouble say sheep develop severe lesions about the mouth and then become susceptible to screw worm infection. Another sheep malady which growers report from various sections is a stiffness thought to be caused by green feed too rich in protein.

Congress Dismisses—

(Continued from Page One) sensational series of hearings, before House and Senate committees, on charges that Communist spies and sympathizers had wormed deep into the federal government.

Those hearings brought bitter words from both the White House and the Capitol.

Truman Accuses Congress
Truman accused the Republicans of trying to hide the shortcomings of Congress by a "red herring" hunt for Communists.

Then, in the Senate's closing hours, Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) went so far as to speak of "impeachment."
"Congress," he declared, "is rapidly being pushed into the intolerable position of having to legislate through a blind spot or compel the President to answer for his conduct in an impeachment proceeding."

Ferguson headed one of the investigating groups which, on Truman's orders, was denied the files of a Commerce Department official under investigation in the Red probe.

In its last long day, Congress cleared first the housing bill, then the anti-inflation measure.

Barkley Plea Ignored
Senator Barkley (D-Ky.) President Truman's running mate in the Fall campaign, pleaded for adoption of the White House anti-inflation program. He said, a do-nothing policy would endanger America's economy and national security and impair the nation's foreign policy. Inaction on high prices, he declared, will cost the American people $10,000,000,000 in the next year.

But Senator Taft of Ohio, the Republican policy chief, asserted bluntly:

"Price controls won't work in America in peacetime."
The Senate passed the bill by a voice vote after rejecting the Barkley amendment. The House approved the bill as amended by the Senate, 337 to 11.

"No Effect"
Rep. Monroney (D-Okla.) said there was nothing in the bill to which any member could object, but he added:
"It will have no more effect on inflation than would the placing of a very small pin in the path of a speeding streamlined train."

The Senate previously had rejected two proposals to investigate high prices. Both were offered as amendments to the anti-inflation bill.

"Putting restraints on installment buying, the bill authorizes the Federal Reserve Board to fix credit controls on consumer goods. If the board adheres to the wartime pattern, down payments of at least one-third of the purchase price of such articles as automobiles and washing machines would be required, with a maximum of 15 or 18 months to pay the balance. Other Features

The other principal feature of the bill increases by one and one-half percentage points the reserve requirements on time (savings) deposits for Federal Reserve Bank members, with an increase of four percentage points in the reserves behind demand (checking) deposits. President Truman had asked increases of four and ten percentage points respectively.

The Senate deleted from the bill a House provision for an increase in Federal Reserve Bank gold reserves.

The Republicans' housing bill, already cleared to the White House, provides for some federal aid to encourage the building of low-cost homes and large rental projects. There will be no federal subsidies, however, for public housing or slum-clearance.

Major Provisions
Major provisions of the bill include:
1. Low and middle-income families would be allowed 95 per cent

(Continued from Page One) and information on Remington. Remington is a Commerce Department official. He has been suspended while inquiries are being made into charges by Elizabeth T. Bentley that he gave her wartime information for a Soviet spy ring.

Ferguson said that as a senator, President Truman "had been intensely critical of this secrecy," built up under President Roosevelt.

"But when he became President," Ferguson continued, "he became the willing prisoner and mouthpiece of this power clique."

Ferguson noted that Congress has the "final word" under the constitution and added that if a president "carried the powers of his office to unconscionable extremes, the Congress can dispose of him by impeachment proceedings."

"The President, on the other hand, has no powers vested in him that would permit him to dispose of Congress," he said.

Ferguson told the Senate that some day Congress "shall have to meet the issue head-on because the trend to presidential arrogance is becoming intolerable."

The senator said the "Communist menace now is not that governments will be raised by forcible means. It is that they will be undermined and taken over by the insidious infiltration of Communists into high government offices."

Taft—

"I see no reason why the Senate should set aside its rules," the Ohioan said.

Other Nominations Ignored
Along with the Tobin appointment, more than 100 other nominations by President Truman died with the close of the session.

The President was requested by law to submit the names of all persons to whom he had given recess appointments since the regular session adjourned in June.

Republican leaders announced as soon as the special session convened they would take no action on these nominations. They didn't.

Lost in the rush were the appointments of Republicans, such as the choice of Warren R. Austin, former GOP Vermont senator, as chief of the American delegation to the United Nations General Assembly meeting in Paris next month.

The President sent the Tobin nomination to Capitol Hill Saturday night because of a legal situation. If he had failed to send it up before Congress adjourned, the nominee would have gotten no paychecks between now and the next meeting of Congress.

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company came up with it to let callers know when they dial the letters of a non-existent exchange.

When someone dials the wrong letters, there comes through the receiver a siren-like noise. A Bell spokesman described it as "a high, wailing sound, like when food prices go up."

Oleo Tax Repeal Bill Dies In Congress

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Faint hopes that a bill to repeal taxes on oleomargarine might be acted on by the special session of Congress died Saturday when Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.) dropped plans to tack an oleo amendment to the anti-inflation measure.

The fight to repeal the half-century-old taxes on oleo was one of the bitterest of the last regular session. Those favoring repeal, many of them from the cotton states of the South, came closer to victory than ever before.

Molotov—

The Literary Gazette said Saturday that "only a realization of Soviet proposals on the future of Germany" would lead to settlement of the Berlin crisis and create conditions for a firm peace in Europe.

The Warsaw declaration by the Soviet Union and seven other Eastern European countries urged a provisional government for all Germany. The Western powers have announced plans for a separate Western German government.

The Soviet reply to notes of protest from the Western powers on the Berlin blockade said the Russians would not object to negotiating differences in Berlin, but the talks must be without preliminary conditions and must concern the administration of Germany as a whole.

What every woman ought to know about Dynaflo Driving

DON'T shy away, ladies, because we're not going to tell you how Dynaflo Drive* works.

Not even going to explain how this wonder-worker does away with both the clutch pedal and the usual low, second and high gears.

All we want you to get is this:

You slip behind the wheel of a Dynaflo Buick, start the engine and set a lever.

From then on, all you do is press the gas throttle and steer.

You move away from a standstill in one smooth, even build-up of power, easy and graceful as the start of a waltz.

You come to a stop light — and simply apply the foot brake. To go again, just feed the gas, without bothering to time your left foot with what the right hand's doing.

You take hills, steep grades, traffic tangles just by pressing down on the gas treadle. And you do all this without even thinking about gear-shifting.

Why — because this drive shifts for you? No — because Dynaflo Drive does away with the need for changing gears in all normal driving.

The power plant does what gears used to do — so only when you first start out, park or back up will you normally have reason to touch the selector lever.

The big bothers of driving are gone. Anyone — man or woman — is a better driver, a smoother driver, with Dynaflo Drive.

If he likes, let your husband inquire into the technical side of Dynaflo.

As for you — just arrange to try it. In five minutes, you'll be saying, "John, whether or not we trade a car, let's see a Buick dealer now and order a Dynaflo!"

Which Way, Texas?

Today, Texas is "in clover" ... Prosperity that, by comparison, makes other sections look depressed. Why? How can we keep it that way?

What makes us prosperous?

People working, making money. Spending money—for groceries and girdles and gasoline. Jobs.

What makes JOBS? The weather? The government? Santa Claus?

No. BUSINESS makes jobs.

That's why Texas is "in clover" today. Because BUSINESS is pouring into Texas.

To make ONE JOB in the average manufacturing plant, it takes around $9,300. Think of it! $9,300, in buildings and motors and trucks and typewriters and adding machines—to give ONE MAN a job!

Any man, or any business firm, with $9,300 to invest, wants it safe. Wants to earn a few dollars each year for each $1,000 risked.

What does the management of a business look for?

Why, such things as—

- 1) Good markets, here and abroad.
- 2) Raw materials, at reasonable cost.
- 3) High-quality workers, trustworthy and dependable.
- 4) Good transportation, of the right type.
- 5) Efficient fuel at reasonable cost.
- 6) Good climate and living conditions.
- 7) Reasonable taxes, local and state.
- 8) A stable, honest local and state government—that isn't changing its mind and its policy on taxes, labor regulations, etc., every two years.

That's What They Like About Texas!

Does Texas have a monopoly on all these things? No.

Some sections are nearer their raw materials. Some nearer their markets. Some have better weather, or water supply.

Texas does have good natural resources, sure. But—so do our neighbor states. Square mile for square mile, some have more! Why doesn't business go THERE, instead?

Just one reason: A better BUSINESS "climate." A "climate" in which a business can GROW. And compete with others, in other states—and bring home the bacon. They can see it in—

- 1) Low per capita cost of state government.
- 2) Low per capita taxes collected.
- 3) Low bonded debt.

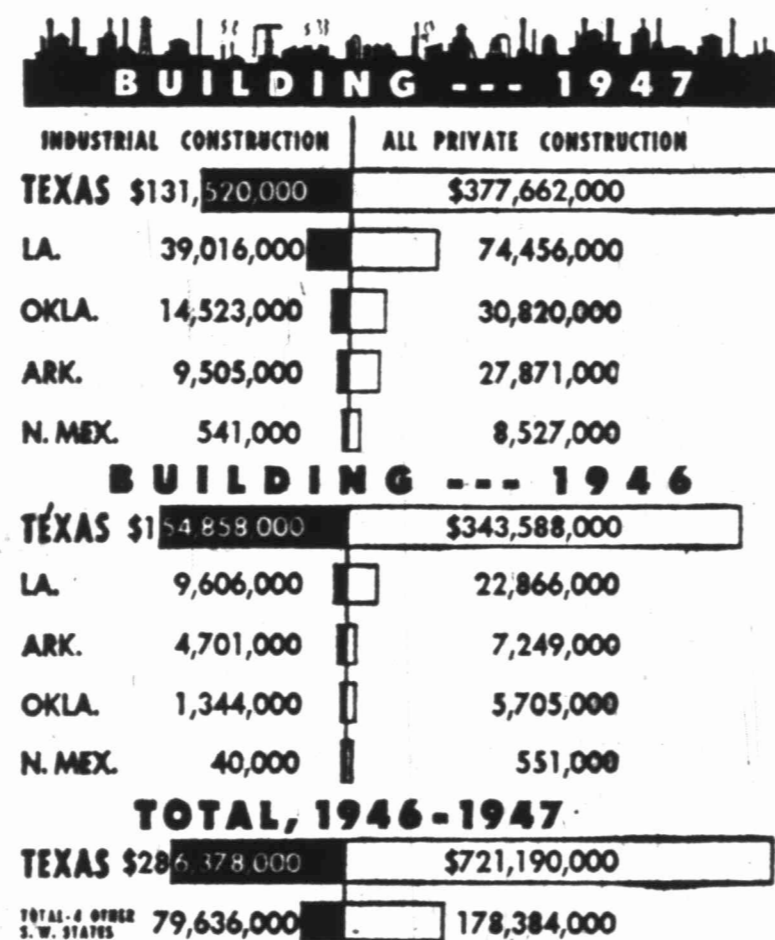

The record tells the story—look at it:

KIND OF TAX	TEXAS	Oklahoma	Louisiana	Arkansas
Personal Income	NO	YES	YES	YES
Corporate Income	NO	YES	YES	YES
General Sales Tax	NO	YES	YES	YES
Per Capita Tax	$32.03	$49.42	$49.45	$30.63
Per Capita Debt	.60	14.45	64.35	74.32

The AMAZING Record

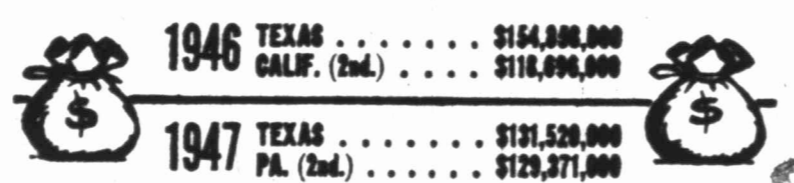

How has this friendly "climate" paid off? What has it done—what will it keep on doing—for everyone in Texas?

Here are the actual figures. Actual NEW construction, or expansion, in Texas, as compared to our neighbor states, for 1947 — for 1946. Permanent, peacetime construction. Figures vouched for by Engineering News-Record, recognized authority in the field. AMAZING figures! Think of it—Texas got more than all other Southwestern states combined!

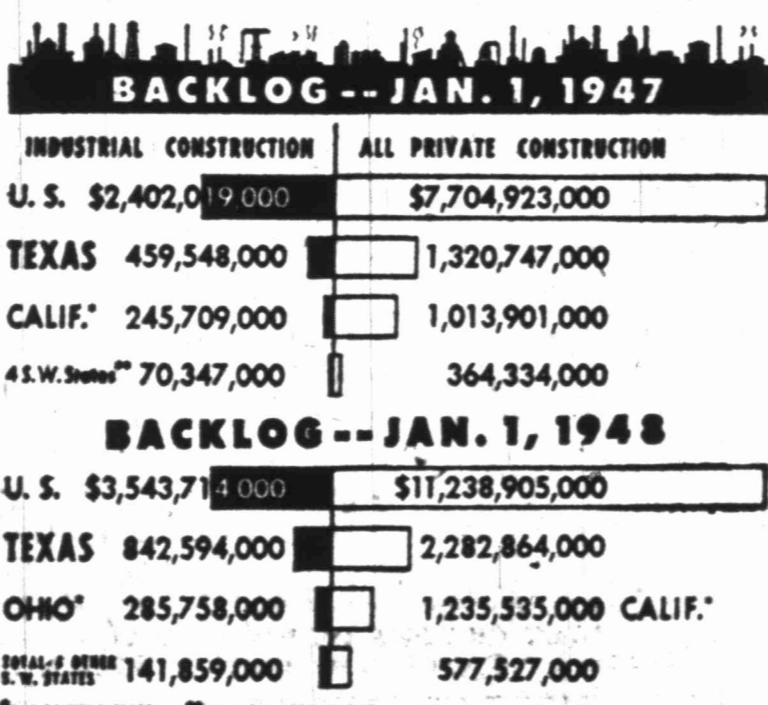

And Top State in Entire U. S.!

The further you compare, the more amazing it gets. In both 1946 and 1947, Texas led the ENTIRE UNITED STATES!

In 1948—24% of ENTIRE U. S.!

Yet what was COMPLETED in 1946-47 is dwarfed by construction to COME. Those were shortage years. Though more than $286,000,000 was completed, we kept building up a backlog even greater—still greater on January 1, 1948, than January 1, 1947—by $383,000,000! Compare that to $71,500,000 for all our four neighbor states combined! Compare that with the No. 2 states in the U. S., both years. Think of it! More than 24% of ALL the 1948 industrial construction planned in the ENTIRE U. S. is in TEXAS!

Why Not Louisiana?
Of our four neighbor states, Louisiana is making the fastest growth. But—that backlog of building to come increased in Louisiana only $36,000,000 in 1947—less than ONE-TENTH of ours!

Why? Louisiana is rich in natural resources. An abundant supply of oil, gas, sulphur, timber, salt, clays, and many other minerals. Rich soil, diversified crops. A warm Gulf teeming with sea life. And good transport—airways, highways, railways, waterways. All told she is better off, perhaps, than Texas. Yet Texas is running away from Louisiana! Why?

Let Louisianians supply the answer. Report to Governor Jimmie H. Davis, by the Department of Commerce and Industry of Louisiana, March 26, 1946:

"We think it an established fact that the present tax structure of the State of Louisiana is unfavorable when compared to that of surrounding and competing states.

We are also convinced, from our contacts with executives, engineers, and other leaders of industry, that Louisiana government and particularly her tax structure is looked upon with suspicion if not with downright antagonism by many of those whom we seek to attract here."

And later, Governor Davis sadly summed it up:

"The unwieldy and complicated tax structure of Louisiana has always acted as a deterrent to industrial expansion."

How a wasteful state government blights prosperity! Cuts down total income, keeps out new business, cuts down JOBS!

Texas—Take Warning!

Ask our legislature to hand out more cash—and YOU invite a new tax bill, in Texas. Then, as competing cities, counties, districts add their demands—watch appropriations snowball! And taxes to match! And—watch business go somewhere else!

When you ask our legislature for money—when you hear someone beating the drums for a hand-out, no matter HOW worthy the cause, remember—

The first olive in the bottle is the hard one to get out. After that, you can POUR out the rest! More and bigger hand-outs mean more and bigger TAXES. THAT is the way to KILL JOBS!

Shall we cut Texas back to the level of less prosperous states? With Texans scrapping inside Texas for pieces of a smaller and smaller pie—instead of cutting up a bigger pie, every year.

Are More Taxes Needed?

No. The present tax structure—set up by the legislature in 1941—will bring in plenty of money for normal expenses. Over $108,000,000 MORE for the two-year period, than six years ago! Because of increased prices; and this flood of new business and families, pouring into Texas, all paying taxes, too. Surely $108,000,000 is enough raise—WITHOUT NEW TAXES!

Look at the figures yourself:

YEAR Ending Sept. 1	REVENUE from TAXES	TOTAL REVENUE
1942	$151,136,008.96	$229,069,079.44
1946	205,369,694.58	343,187,348.64
1947	229,741,552.77	374,275,087.82
1948*	259,000,000.00	479,000,000.00

* (Comptroller's Estimate)

Which Way, Texas?

The Texas Manufacturers Association has only one axe to grind:

Keep the "climate" right, and assure Texas' growth. Excessive appropriations means new taxes—new taxes means disturbing the "business climate."

Things don't pay taxes—people do. The big Federal budget, the state budget and the local budget must be paid for by taxes—taxes from the same pocket.

Thirty-one cents of every dollar earned by the average Texan goes to taxes—many pay more. These are burdensome under present inflated conditions. What will happen if a depression comes—when earnings are low?

Here is what TMA recommends:

A. That Texas operate within the revenue available from existing tax structure—that is, keep the tax structure as is.

B. That no new taxes of any kind be considered. Any tax would reduce Texas' competitive position.

Of course there are needed improvements, that only public funds can provide. Keep the "climate" right for business, and we'll have them all, in time. New business means more revenue.

Change the "climate," and you'll kill the goose that lays the golden egg!

Let's keep the "climate" right! Let every citizen, every public official, make up his mind NOW—

1) Not to ask for hand-outs—for his own city, his own county, his own district, or his own group—and start the grabbing by a hundred others.

2) NOT to support appropriations for ANY purpose unless ABSOLUTELY NEEDED—and the MONEY AVAILABLE.

3) To work to KEEP a stable government, KEEP taxes down, KEEP the "climate" that will bring more and more business to Texas, more and better opportunities for our youth, and more and better jobs.

Neighbors, Join With Us!

Make Texas the model. But—Texans don't want to prosper at the expense of friendly neighbors. There is plenty of business for all five states of the great Southwest. We invite our neighbors to study this problem, too. To join with us in a determined fight to make the whole SOUTHWEST the brightest spot on the business map. All five states of the great Southwest marching along together, to a future that will be the envy of the world!

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON—
Texas Senatorial Candidates Give Scribes Taste Of Campaign Reporting

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Both of Texas' candidates in the runoff race for U. S. Senator were in Washington last weekend and gave Texas newsmen here a taste of the political campaign reporting they used to do in the Lone Star State.
Rep. Lyndon B. Johnson was attending the special session of Congress. Former Governor Coke Stevenson came up to "observe" things in the capital.
Stevenson called his trip "non-political"—but obviously his very presence here and any utterances he made were news with a bearing on the August 28 Democratic runoff primary election.
Johnson, Stevenson's opponent in the contest for the seat now held by Senator W. Lee O'Daniel, has as good a news sense as most any reporter. So, he left no stone unturned in digging up news to keep himself on the front pages alongside the amiable ex-governor.
After the initial stories of his return for the special session, along with predictions of runoff victory, Johnson arranged a conference with Defense Secretary James Forrestal.
Conferences Arranged
At the meeting they discussed the preparation program in general with emphasis on Texas angles such as the assembly of flying-wing jet bombers at Fort Worth.
Stevenson, not to be outdone, was meeting at almost the same moment with state department officials, and the next day held his own confab with Forrestal.
Interspersed with news, Johnson would take a few pot shots at his pipe-smoking opponent. They were subtle, but with a little barb. Coke usually had a comeback. For example:
At one press conference Johnson observed that a check of records shows that since the turn of the century Texans had sent only one man to the senate, for his initial term in that body, who was 60 years of age or older.
He called attention to the fact that the exception, the late Senator Andrew Houston, had died 24 days after taking office. (A son of the original Sam Houston, the senator was appointed by the then Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, and died a week after his 87th birthday. That was in 1941.)
Johnson is 39, and throughout his campaign he has emphasized his youth, contending he has ample vigor for the job along with an opportunity to build up much seniority in the years ahead. He also emphasized his 11 years experience in the house.
Stevenson replied:
"Well, I can't help my age. Everybody knows my age.
Concentrate Over Texas
"I think that in these critical times the country needs men of mature judgment and experience in office, especially mature judgment."
"As far as experience is concerned, I think holding the governor's office is qualification recognized by both parties."
Reporters told Stevenson that Johnson announced his intentions to concentrate during the runoff campaign in the spots where he (Johnson) had been weakest on the first vote, principally the big cities.
"I'll just concentrate all over Texas," fibed the former governor.
Stevenson picked up a moral supporter promptly after arriving here, a taxicab driver in this voteless city.
The cabbie heard questions of reporters who rode with Stevenson from the depot to the hotel. As they neared the hotel, the driver whipped out a notebook and got Stevenson's autograph.
Texas members of Congress carefully avoided getting in a position of appearing to favor either Stevenson or Johnson, their colleague.
Only Rep. Clark Fisher of San Angelo was in a position to be particularly cordial to the visiting ex-governor, without any undue political significance being attached to it. He is Stevenson's congressman, since Junction is in the San Angelo's district.
Fisher had Stevenson to lunch in the House restaurant seated at a table near them, incidentally, were two Longview business men who were guests of Rep. Lindley Beckworth of Gladewater. They were Earl J. Calk and G. P. Cragin.
East Texas District Judge Clyde Smith of Woodville, a friend and supporter of Stevenson, sat beside the West Texan in the Senate spectators' gallery. They sat in the section reserved for friends and relatives of Senators, having been escorted in by Senator Tom Connally.

A recent report of the Bureau of Internal Revenue showed that Texans paid $1,283,058,480 in federal taxes in the fiscal year ended June 30.
Personal income taxes accounted for $766,745,307 of the total. Corporation taxes amounted to $282,000,000. Payroll taxes amounted to $73,000,000, and excise taxes on such items as train tickets, telephone calls and luxuries totaled $156,000,000.
Congressman J. M. Combs of Beaumont won't go along with bolters.
"I'm not trying to suggest what all other Democrats should do," he says.
"But as far as I'm concerned, I'm not supporting any third or fourth party. I'm not in favor of walking out and turning our party completely over to people I don't agree with."
The United States has more than 123,000 miles of petroleum pipelines.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drugist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Barcostratin. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves, it's possible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic, from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles. Just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Lost 47 Pounds

"When I commenced to take Barcostratin, I weighed 213 pounds. I now weigh 166. I lost 47 pounds on the first two bottles. I feel so much better after losing that weight. I think it is a wonderful medicine and thanks to Barcostratin."—Mrs. George Greig, Chalmers Courts 4, Apt. 1, Austin, Texas.

Massage Minimizes The Too-Chubby Chin

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The young girl who writes to say that she is developing a double chin is panicked by the thought that she is aging prematurely.

That, of course, is not the case. When a girl's chin doubles up, the blame can be put upon the excess fat on the face.

The girl, or older woman for that matter, whose chin line develops folds should check up on her weight. If the scales justify such a query, she should ask her doctor for a diet to normalize her weight.

There are, of course, women whose plumpness seems to be entirely concentrated around the face. When that's the reason for an overly full chin, one of the best remedies at hand is regular massage. Vigorous patting or slapping under the chin with the back of the hand is an effective means for keeping flesh more firmly braced.

Good posture, of course, which requires that a head be held in line with the spine also helps to pull up chin slack.

Samoan GI Children May Face Hard Times

PAGO PAGO, AMERICAN SAMOA—(AP)—American service men left hundreds of half-caste babies, and a first class problem, in American Samoa.

These children are growing up in a land where they have little birthright. The reason is that persons of less than three-fourths Samoan blood may not inherit or buy land, except for a few freehold acres.

This restriction bears heaviest now on the shoulders of the grown children of traders and Navy men who married Samoan women before the war. But in a few years, unless it is remedied, the illegitimate children of American fighting men will find substantial blocks in their path to economic betterment.

The problem will be discussed with a congressional committee which plans to visit Samoa late this year. Half-castes, Samo-born and of Samoan blood, complain they practically are outcasts in their own land.

One trader solved the problem by giving his children excellent educations in Hawaii and mainland schools and universities—and kicked them out of Samoa. Another expanded his business to provide jobs for all his children. But such solutions are available only to a well-fixed few.

The Navy, in line with its policy of "Samoa for the Samoans," has protected the land. Most land is communally owned but registered in the name of the matai, or family head. Matais can sell land, but only to other qualified Samoans and subject to Navy approval.

According to the New Jersey Dental Society, escarole, kale, and parsley contain more vitamin A than does spinach.

First Aid for Dry Skin

Home facial which helps the mature woman combat skin dryness begins by pressing a wash cloth wrung out in hot water against face (top). Next, cold cream is spread over warm, damp skin (bottom) and face is lightly massaged.

A washcloth in one hand and a jar of face cream in the other arms the older woman for her embattled attack against skin dryness.

So say dermatologists who have devised for face-cream manufacturer a simple home-facial routine which begins with a washcloth, wrung out in hot water. The warm wash rag is pressed against the skin until it is softened up for the next step. Now comes face cream which is spread over face and neck with a lavish hand. Because gen-

WOODEN CATS SCARE PIGEONS
CHICAGO—(AP)—Pigeons got too peevish at the Lincoln Park Zoo's lion house and refreshment stand. So some dummy cats were placed on top of both buildings. The cats are made of wood. But the heads and tails are attached to the bodies with spring steel. The breeze move them. This makes them look lively enough to scare the pigeons away.

New Angle On 'Go West Young Man'
GEORGETOWN, COLO.—(AP)—A Western historian says Horace Greeley never said it. "Go West, young man, go West," that is. Benjamin Draper of Georgetown insists the phrase first was uttered by John Babson Lane Soule, a Terre Haute, Ind., newspaper editor in 1851. And Soule wasn't referring at all to the mountains west, Draper said, but rather to the Mississippi Valley, then being settled.

Despite common misconceptions caused by its name, only about one-eighth of Iceland is covered by glaciers.

Fashion Leads A Double Life

COME-APART hostess gowns which sur- render their tops to fill other ward- robe needs are a new designing idea in "at home" clothes. Teamed with handsome skirts which wrap around or tie on are separate tops, designed to do double duty. A bolero top doubles as a bed jacket. A stylized blouse leaves a dinner-at-home skirt to keep company with a daytime suit.

Tina Leser's dinner-at-home costume (left) combines a Hindu-styled quilted lame skirt with a black silk jersey blouse which can be switched to a suit. Jo Copeland designed the beruffled blue crepe hostess gown (right) with the tie-on skirt and separate boleros so that the top can double as a bed jacket.

DE Program Offers Multiple Benefits To School Students

Last year, 27 junior and senior students of Midland High School enrolled in the Distributive Education program, and this year, the third the program has been in effect here, an even larger enrollment is expected.

The Distributive Education program is of interest to all students who will make their careers in retail, wholesale or service selling businesses, sponsors said.

Under the program the student receives, in addition to regular classroom lessons, training in downtown business houses in the afternoon. Trainees who enroll in the program receive laboratory credit as well as training wages for the work they do.

The work is supervised by Ruth Donnell, Distributive Education coordinator for Midland High School. Students interested in the program will be interviewed by Miss Donnell from 9 a. m. until noon and from 1 p. m. until 3 p. m., August 8-12. Interested merchants may contact her at No. 207.

Social Program
Trainees are eligible for enrollment in the Distributive Education Club, which allows the working students a chance to participate in an active social program.

This year, as last, members of the club will stage picnics, dances, competitive sports and other social functions.

In addition, the club hopes to have guest speakers, a personality clinic, a style show and a radio program.

Besides providing social life for young working people, the club strives to develop leadership, encourage high standards of business and stimulate interest in business methods.

The club will be represented by three delegates at the state convention later this year, and it is hoped some of the members can attend the national convention in St. Louis.

Pod Carrying Planes May Speed Assaults

HAGERSTOWN, MD. (AP)—An airplane with a removable belly in which to carry troops and supplies—something like a highway trailer-truck—is being developed at the Fairchild Aircraft Division here.

Military strategists have been predicting use of such double-fuselage craft for some time. They expect it to have far-reaching effects on airborne combat and supply tactics.

Beyond that, however, the detachable-fuselage plane offers "the logical approach" to the time when air freight carriers will appear as "a serious competitor with surface freight carriers."

This statement had been made by Maj. Gen. Hugh J. Kneer, U. S. Air Force secretary general, in the Military Review.

He proposed that "time and manpower wasted in forward areas should be eliminated through use of pre-packed and pre-equipped pods deposited by air carriers."

An answer to this and similar requests of other military leaders is now shaping up in Hagerstown.

Fairchild engineers said preliminary designs of the new craft call for a two-story plane. The basic idea behind it is similar to that of the trailer-truck in surface transportation.

Actual Plane

In the new C-130 Pack Plane, as the ship is to be named, the "tractor" would be the actual plane—engines, wings, tail surfaces and pilots' compartment. This would fit on the back of the bigger fuselage and carry it along.

The removable belly—pack, or pod in technical parlance—could be detached either while the plane is in flight or on the ground, the first instance, parachutes would be used. In the second, the plane would land, release its cargo compartment, and fly off to pick up another.

Another possibility, also studied by designers, would be skidding the detachable fuselage along the ground from a low attitude.

The pack, according to present plans, would hold nine tons. If used as a medical unit, it could accommodate 38 litter patients and three attendants.

Cruising range of the C-130, fully loaded, would be around 2,000 miles. The ship, still in the drawing board stage, is being developed for the Air Forces. Security reasons prevent disclosure of technical details.

Safety Campaigns Lower Traffic Death Rates Over Nation

By The Associated Press

If you jaywalk in Jacksonville, a strange-looking creature in gaudy feathers may appear suddenly from out of nowhere and heckle you in the most embarrassing manner.

This will not be the first stage of delirium tremens, however. The creature, known as the Jacksonville Jaybird, is part of a perfectly legal and proper campaign to stop the killing of pedestrians.

By using this character, doubling the size of the motorcycle cop squad and adopting a few other measures, the Florida city cut its traffic death toll from 48 in 1946 to 22 last year—a neat saving of 26 lives.

Since 1946, when our tragic highway record threatened to get worse than ever, cities and states have really been going to town with campaigns to make the public safety conscious.

As a result only 32,000 people were killed in 1947, compared with 33,400 the preceding years. The toll still was ghastly, but the reduction was encouraging.

DUAL-USE

Some tomahawks served as both weapons and pipes. The blunt end of the stone head was formed into a pipe bowl and the handle hollowed out to serve as the stem, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Looks, Not Age, Should Be Guide To Dress Style

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

If a woman looks young, she can dress youthfully.

The young-looking woman of 40 or over should stop believing that her age puts her in an advanced dress category. If she's smart, she will be guided in dressing by the old saw which says that a woman is no older than she looks.

Dressing youthfully helps to keep a woman feeling and looking young. We see all around us those women who look young enough to pass as ingenues and who are clever enough to dress the part. Their coiffures are youthful styled. They wear ribbons or fresh flowers in their hair. They make the most of a tiny waistline by cinching in a belt. They bare their slim sun-tanned legs as gracefully as any youngster.

Our pep talk to the woman who is not so fortunate in retaining her youthful looks, however, takes another turn. She is reminded that a ribbon in her hair, a topknot of curls scragged up on her head, or a belt buckled tightly around her middle is apt to accentuate the appearance of age if she is not young-looking enough to carry off such a dress trick.

Cologne Rubdown Soothes Feet

WHAT do you do when feet throb, puff up or show more acute signs of summer discomfort? The first thing that you should do is to ease your feet into roomier shoes and stockings. If feet seem puffy, see if the trouble isn't a salt deficiency in your diet. Hunger Strike Beats Romanian Police

BUCHAREST—(P)—Four Austrians and one New Zealander in a combined tourist invasion of Bucharest for once outwitted the hard-boiled Romanian "Siouranza" (security police).
Planning a tour of Europe on as little money as possible the five arrived at Bucharest and stayed at the Grand Hotel.
After five days here they asked for an exit visa. "This will take time," the Romanian security police said. But the five were not going to waste their own good money waiting for an exit visa which other countries usually grant in two hours. So they went on a one-day hunger strike.
Alarmed the police sent them money which they refused. Thinking it was not enough the police doubled the amount. This was again refused. Finally they compromised that the police would pay hotel, food and drinks until the exit visa was forthcoming. After three days it came, but not for via Constanza toward Egypt as they wanted.

The Siouranza had the last word. They were given five tickets, paid their bills and sent by rail back from where they had come—to Prague.
SWINGS INTO SLEEP
DECATUR, ILL.—(P)—A tourist who apparently takes a dim view of such things as rates, reservations and room service drove his car far over the side of a road east of the city. He strung a hammock from the handle of his automobile door to a tree, climbed in and went to sleep.

Crack-Shot Resigns Pulpit To Be Sheriff

WAYNE, W. VA.—(P)—The Baptist Church at Ebenezer is losing its pastor, and this Southwestern West Virginia county on the Tug River between Kentucky and the Mountain State is getting a new sheriff.
The Rev. Homer Asbury Pelfrey—"Homer" to everyone—a square-set man, 36 years old and a minister since 1938, is resigning his pulpit to run for sheriff. Besides being a Baptist he is also a Democrat—an unbeatable combination in Wayne County.
Not since 1896—52 years ago—has Wayne County elected a Republican sheriff, and there's nothing in the wind to indicate that there will be a change this year. His nomination is tantamount to election. Politics is not new to Pelfrey. He served as a clerk for the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington, and for the past four years as a deputy state tax collector. The tax job was carried along with his work in the church. But he'll devote full time to the job of sheriff.
"I'm not going to be a rip-roaring reforming sheriff," says Pelfrey. "I have no special ideas about reform. In fact, Wayne County is in good shape and a fine place to live."
But let any lawless elements be forewarned. His hobby is hunting, and he's a crack shot.

Post Office To Rent Vehicles To Improve Delivery Service Here

As soon as three additional vehicles can be rented, postal delivery service in South Midland will be improved and extended, Postmaster N. G. Oates said Saturday.
Suitable motor vehicles will be hired on a yearly basis as soon as they can be found, he said; it is merely a matter of discovering vehicles whose owners will rent them for the amount available to the post office for this purpose.
The post office here also is working on plans for faster delivery service in the Edwards Addition in Northeast Midland, Oates said.

SNAKE TIES OWN DEATH KNOT

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA—(P)—A dead brown snake found at Benjoneop, near Swan Hill (Victoria), had apparently been strangled by its own coils. W. Davey of Benjoneop found the head and about a foot of the snake's body protruding from its hole. He dug out the body and found the snake tied in a tight knot just below the ground. The snake apparently had tucked its head through its coils when it began to move out of its hole and the harder it had struggled, the tighter it had pulled the death knot.

Fashion in a Feed Bag

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor
NEW YORK (NEA)—The cotton supply bag bulges with grain or flour one week, steps out as fashion's Cinderella the next. All the way across the country from cross-road hamlets to style-wise cities, the cotton feed bag is crashing home-sewing circles. Inspired by their country cousins' success in converting bags into smart but inexpensive clothes, city women who can lay their hands on sacking are using its smart, rough textured fabric to extend their wardrobes. Shown are examples of two fashionable transformations. Five 100-pound supply bags, dyed jet black, made the long "new look" patio skirt with flouncy hemline (left). The skirt's companion is a peasant-styled ribbon-run blouse for which only one 100-pound bag was used. The print dress (right) is as convincing proof that the woman who sews can shop for fabric at the baker's or the grocer's. For this floral print, made ballerina-length and draped with a soft shawl-like neckline, four 100-pound supply bags were used.

Bulb Theft Is Berlin 'Profession'

BERLIN (AP)—This is probably the only city in the world where one man could make more than $500 a week stealing electric light bulbs. The bulb thief may not be "public enemy no. 1" in Berlin but he ranks pretty near the head of the list. He steals bulbs from subway trains, subway stations, apartment house lobbies, telephone booths and any other vulnerable place. One such thief confessed that his sole occupation for two years was stealing light bulbs. He sold the bulbs in the black market. He got fourteen months imprisonment.

Pro Football Teams Siate Early Openings

NEW YORK (AP)—Pro football fans will get their competition early this season, as the two major loops swing into their schedules well before the baseball season ends. The All America Conference starts its third season on August 27 with games at Chicago and Brooklyn. The National Football League, opening its 29th campaign, kicks off September 17 with Green Bay at Boston.

Medieval Hairdos Are Time-Savers For Modern Girls

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor
When Victor Vito, New York hairdresser, heard that Hollywood was filming a movie about Joan of Arc, he anticipated a trend to medieval hairdos, and designed a few. He was right. Every hour of the day modern Joans line up in his salon to get their hair snipped into medieval charm. None of the Vito versions is as short as the movie coiffure. Most of them are altered to suit the features of the girl. The majority of them are variations of his trend-setting "cut and dry" which needs no pin setting and is cut so as to encourage a natural wave in the hair—a time saver popular with career girls, in particular. Any bright girl, says Victor, can give herself a "cut and dry" hairdo at home. Or, if she doesn't trust herself with the shears, she can get a straight-around haircut with bangs, from her local hairdresser or barber. After the haircut (cut it straight around), shampoo your hair, rinse it with beer, turn the hair under at the ends or slightly up by grasping it in the palm of your hand and turning your fist over it to press into shape. This medieval coiffure is a casual one, and that's why the modern girl likes it, Victor thinks. Her twentieth-century world, he says, is as active as Joan's, who probably wore her hair in a simple arrangement to avoid getting battle fatigue worrying about her coiffure.

Landlord Has Magnified Troubles; His Tenants Make Too Much Money

EL PASO (AP)—Like a lot of other landlords, Clarence Harper has tenant troubles. In his case they're magnified, because Harper ranks as this border city's No. 1 landlord. He's director of the El Paso Housing Authority, and in that capacity has charge of 650 dwelling units. What's his biggest problem—rent ceilings? Partying renters? High maintenance costs? None of these, says Harper. His trouble is that too many people start making too much money to be eligible for the authority's lowest housing. Harper has charge of two projects, Tays Place and Alamito. Units rent for $13 to $50 a month, depending on the tenant's income. A fellow with three or more dependents can stay until his earnings top $2,700 a year. The maximum for a renter with fewer than three dependents is $2,160 a year. When incomes top those figures, the tenant must get out. Let Harper tell it: "We always have a large group of over-income families in the projects. It has been that way for the last three or four years. On June 1 there were 88 families making more than the salary maximum. By the end of the month the number was down to 79. But it will go back up. It always does. The problem never reached anything resembling its present proportions until near the end of the war. We didn't want to put our over-income families out in the street. So we waited until the housing shortage began to taper off. Then we asked them to move. "In practically all cases they have left willingly. Many of them have bought homes. But the problem has stayed. As fast as we eliminate one group, another group surpasses our salary requirements." Harper says there are at least two reasons. Salary limits fixed by the authority have remained comparatively low "in these days of unstable wages." In addition, most of the projects dwellers formerly lived in tenements. Healthful surroundings "When they moved into our projects, things were different," Harper says. "They were provided with healthful surroundings. They worked better. That paid off in better jobs in many cases and, generally, in higher wages." But even with the tenant turnover and recurring evictions, Harper finds a measure of accomplishment in his work. "The people who leave us—even those who are allowed to stay only a short while—move into standard rental units or homes of their own."

Pin-Up Curly Pretty Up Damp Hair-Do; Gives Chic Sophistication

BY MARGA HART
Staff Writer
 Turning a damp after-swim hair-do into a soignée coiffure is a grooming problem which smart girls are solving with guess-what?
 With pin-up curls which can be used to revive hair-do even if it comes up from a swim as wet as a seal's.
 All a girl needs to do when she yanks off her cap is to reach into her beach bag for an extra cluster of curls. An example of the glamorizing job that can be done with this added glory is shown.

 The damp hair, as our girl swimmer shows left, was brushed back and secured with tuck combs, after which ends were wound into a flat knot. Over this a curly chignon of matching human hair was pinned on to create the soignée coiffure that you see at right.
 Extra hair pieces may be used to serve a variety of needs. Pin-on curls may be worn to eke out vanishing curls as a permanent wears away. The use of pin-on curls enables a girl with short hair to dress it in a variety of stylized ways.

ERP Could Ease Many Shortages In United States

ROME — (AP)—America's multi-billion-dollar boost to Europe's recovery may mean more than just an expensive bulwark against Communism.
 Success of the Marshall Plan, says one ERP official, could:
 1. Ease the shortage of building materials and many other goods in scarce supply in the United States.
 2. Win new friends and influence people in Eastern Europe.
 "The problem," according to Lee Dayton, "is 90 per cent psychological—a fear that the whole world is going to hell tomorrow."
 Dayton was acting ERP director here until the arrival of J. D. Zellerbach, head of the special mission to Italy. He headed America's relief program administration in Italy and will carry over his experience to ERP.
 "European countries must get over the idea that they can't export to a country which can't pay cash-on-the-line and which already owes them money," says Dayton.
 "The United States' public debt is more than the combined public debts of all Europe, and still we are exporting."
 Confidence Vital
 Dayton believes ERP's success depends largely on whether intra-European trade can be revived swiftly—95 per cent through self-help and the other five per cent push from the United States.
 "The United States can start the ball rolling with dollar purchases of such surplus European products as Italian coke and Luxembourg steel. This temporary measure should break the log jam in trade among European countries.
 "By restoring confidence and the flow of goods among the European nations, some of our shortages back home may be eased.

Preacher Drives Sight-Seeing Car

COLORADO SPRINGS — (AP) — So far as he knows, Paul E. Brown is the only sight-seeing car operator here who can drive a couple to the summit of Pike's Peak and then marry them.

Six days a week, Brown, wearing western garb, and his "hack" are at the disposal of tourists. Every Saturday night a sign, "Go to church Sunday," goes up in his office window and he becomes the Rev. Mr. Brown, pastor of the Roswell Union Church, a Methodist Interdenominational branch.

"It gives some of my passengers confidence when they find out they are riding with a minister," Brown said. "I never bring it up myself, however. It might make some people uncomfortable."

DOCTOR SAYS WORK CAN'T HURT NERVES

DENVER — (AP) — Nobody ever had a nervous breakdown because of too much work, says Dr. John S. Boulog, president of the Colorado Medical Society.

"The belief in the damaging effect of hard work is little more than superstition," he said in an interview. "There's nothing to it. Over-worry may cause a breakdown. But that's something else."

Among lesser-used narcotics are derivatives of the thorn-apple, henbane, hops and lettuce.

Pipe Cleaner Is Handy Beauty Aid

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Pipe cleaners—those fuzzy white things spiraled on wire—are the "what's-next" on the list which girls are taking over from the men. And with successful results.

Pipe cleaners make fine hair curlers, reports a girl who forgot to take her regulars on vacation and borrowed these substitutes from her dad. Now she rolls up her hair on pipe cleaners as a regular routine, and finds that they are particularly useful for curling hard-to-handle strays.

If you are in the habit of seeking orange stick and cotton to use for swabbing mascara smudges off your eyelids, try using a pipe cleaner instead. It's simpler to use, and as effective. So as not to bring the sharp end of a pipe cleaner in contact with your eyelid, bend the cleaner and use the looped center for mascara swabbing. A looped pipe cleaner is also useful for freeing lashes of eyeshadow when it defies your efforts to keep it confined to the lids.

New Midland Tower Houses Numerous Oil Company Offices

The recently completed Midland Tower in downtown Midland now is the home of numerous oil companies and affiliated interests operating in the Permian Basin. The nine-story structure, one of the Southwest's finest, most modern and most attractive office buildings, was erected by a group of Midland businessmen to meet an urgent need for additional space for oil company offices. The latest and most modern facilities are employed in the building, which is attracting much favorable comment. Midland Tower further emphasizes the city's impressive skyline and further cements Midland's position as the headquarters center of the oil industry in West Texas and Southeast New Mexico.

Miniature Shaver Whisks Off Fuzz

Miniature electric shaver, designed for women, quickly whisks off superfluous hair.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The gal who's been using Dad's electric razor to denude legs of superfluous hair can have a little shaver of her own which is better geared for the job.

The miniature new-comer which duplicates the mechanical performance of man-sized counterparts is especially designed for easier holding in a woman's hand and for close-shaving tender skin without nicking or scraping.

What will appeal to users is that fuzz is whisked off as rapidly as the little shaver can be guided over the skin. Because no preliminary lathering is needed to soften stubble, the de-fuzzing job can be accomplished with a minimum of fuss.

Double cutting edges on the shaver's head insure close, smooth cropping.

Bitter Reprieve

By Drexel Drake

THE STORY: The strange out of fingerprints found in the Sterling library belong to a George Brundage, Chicago gangster supposedly killed 12 years before. Description of man who visited the Hendersons after the night of the murder.

XXXXVI
MIRIAM STERLING had been dead two weeks when Marcus Sterling and Janet Weirhaven had their first meeting since the funeral. It was not a meeting in private, or pre-arranged. It was on a Thursday, toward evening, and they were surrounded by the Memorial Day crowd at Edgcraft Country Club.

Sterling had gone out to the club in response to urgings to fill the place scheduled for him in the club's holiday handicap tournament. He had played listlessly, yet his methodical skill had made him definitely a contender for the day's trophy. He acknowledged locker-room praise modestly but with an absence of spirit that could not escape attention.

Sterling rushed through his shower and his dressing. He was crossing the foyer when Janet Weirhaven intercepted him. "Marcus, dear, how happy I am to see you!" Janet said.

"Oh, hello, Janet."
"I'm glad you've come out of hiding."
"Not hiding. Just tremendously busy."
"I know. Too busy for telephone calls. Have you any idea how many times I've left my name with Brant? Once or twice, even with your secretary?"

"Sorry, Janet. I've taken over a load of work at the bank," Sterling said sheepishly.
Janet studied the serious face, the unsmiling eyes. "I'm glad the holiday rescued you for a day," Janet said. "You'll join my table for dinner, won't you, or aren't you free?"

"I'm free, but I'm not staying here for dinner."
"You're not at all like yourself, Marcus. At least we can sit down for a drink before you rush away?"

"Well, we can do that . . . of course, we can do that."
They found a small table in the lounge. The place was crowded, rang with laughter. There were calls from other tables, cheery greetings to Janet, carefully restrained salutations to Sterling.

They sat silently with their cocktails, sipping at them. Sterling was inattentive. Janet struggled against chagrin, puzzled over the pronounced change in Sterling. Janet took out her cigarette case, selected a cigarette. Sterling aroused himself just in time to hold a light for her.

"All right, I suppose. I was just thinking how dangerous this can be, in certain circumstances."
"That's startling, Marcus, or is it a riddle?"
Sterling forced a grin that succeeded poorly. "Lieutenant Talent is looking for a woman who mashed out a smoked Lucky on my library rug," he said, with deadly emphasis.

Sterling's eyes were still idly on the cigarette case. He did not see the pallor that spread over Janet's face, nor the sudden frightened widening of her eyes. Janet was gulping the last of her cocktail when Sterling looked up. She offered no remonstrance when, setting down his own empty glass, he suggested that he'd be running along. The emptiness in her words matched his own when they parted.

Richard Trapgood's voice startled her visibly, some minutes later, when he found her on the terrace staring vacantly toward the faintly defined shore of Long Island.

McKenney on Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
(Written for NEA Service)

Several times a year I receive letters from bridge players throughout the country telling me about a perfect hand that was dealt. The mathematical odds are so great against a perfect hand that I am forced to pay little or no attention to such letters.

HOWEVER, at a card party given recently by the Long Island branch of the Railway Mail Association auxiliary in Flushing, N. Y., Sidney Sherman, a Jackson Heights, N. Y., lawyer, dealt the perfect bridge hand.

Sherman sat South. Arthur M. Moore, of Whitestone, N. Y., was North, and Mrs. Moore was East.

Henry Braun, of Hollis, N. Y., was West. The hand is shown the way it was dealt, and there were a number of witnesses who state that the deal was authentic.

The four players had been using only one deck of cards. They decided that they should have two decks, and a new deck was given to Mr. Sherman. He shuffled it, the cards were cut, and this was the result.

It is not too fantastic to see how a new deck could be dealt into the perfect bridge hand. Suppose that the top 26 cards are 13 spades and 13 clubs, and the bottom 26 are the red cards. If the dealer could divide the deck exactly in half and riffle them perfectly once, he would place a red card between each black card.

Now if he could divide them exactly in half again and once more give them a perfect riffle, he would find that every fourth card was a spade and each of the other suits would be divided in the same way. Therefore, each player would get 13 of a suit. This is true of

Coffee Price Frets Brazilians

RIO DE JANEIRO—There is lots of coffee in Brazil, but the price of a cup is going up. The rising price of coffee is causing the disappearance of the traditional cafes in Rio de Janeiro where in bygone times most of the nation's business was transacted.

Brazil's national drink is the cafezinho (little coffee) which is a demitasse of black, hot sweet coffee. Brazilians drink coffee not only at mealtime but all during the day. Little coffees are served at mid-morning and mid-afternoon in government agencies and large business houses, while cafes cater to those who have time to leave their work.

For a decade before the war, and even until a short time afterward, the price of a cafezinho was about one American cent. In 1946 it took a 80 per cent jump. Then the government withdrew its coffee subsidy. Cafes then began closing. Fourteen traditional cafes in the center of Rio have closed since 1946. Others began selling fruit and lunches and even American soft drinks. Others abolished the cafezinho and sold only a large cup of coffee, (with milk, for 60 centavos, or double the previous price. All restaurants continued to serve cafezinho free with meals.

Archeologist Makes Notable Find In Unearthing Story Buried In Athens

ATHENS, GREECE — (NEA) — To a jackass it was all very confusing.

For several days the Agora, or city center, of Athens had been darkened by a pall of smoke. Grim-sweating soldiers with tarnished breastplates and wilted helmet plumes sped from one part to another of the city's threatened walls. Fearful women and bewildered children covered in doorways.

And then, today, bedlam broke out. The Herulians, those goat-skin-garbed barbarians from beyond the Danube, had breached the walls of the oldest city in civilized Europe.

War cries of the attackers and the shrieks and wails of the panic-stricken inhabitants blended into a hideous uproar. Buildings blazed, one after another, as the city was churned into a blood-red holocaust of flame and violence.

The confused donkey, his heart fluttering wildly, ducked into a dark opening and butted his way through the litter beyond until he found himself trapped in a corner. It was very hot in there. He could scarcely breathe. It was very hot, very hot . . .

A miller and a half later, a lively little archeologist, Dr. Homer A. Thompson of the Princeton Institute for Advanced Study, stood pondering the weird assortment of relics his workmen had uncovered in their grubbing about the ancient Agora of Athens. Among the items spread on the floor of the cavity was a complete set of donkey bones, two pigskin purses full of old coins, and a collection of kitchen ware. The coins dated from the third century, A. D., but none was dated later than the mid-sixties of that century.

To a man as well versed in Athenian history as Thompson, the story was as plain as tracks in the snow: "The Herulians attacked Athens in 267 A. D.," he explained. "Since none of the 'coins' was dated later than that, they must have been collected by that time. One purse was found on the floor of the kitchen there, the other on the floor of the bedroom adjoining. Obviously they were dropped by people fleeing in panic, as the Herulians burst into the city.

Miss Margaret Crosby (back to camera), researcher from Minneapolis, and a workman dig out the relics of a cremation burial that took place in Athens about 900 B. C. Her discovery was one of the most important archeologists ever made in the Greek city.

"The donkey evidently fled into the kitchen when the city burned, as a horse will rush into a blazing barn. He was trapped and died there. The family was killed elsewhere. They didn't even have time to take their dishes."

Unravelling mysteries thousands of years old is one of the commonest and most delightful chores of the archeologist, Thompson said. He waved his arm toward the 25 acres of scarred and pitted hillside where the Agora stood. It lies just below the Acropolis on which stands the Parthenon.

"When we bought these acres, with Rockefeller Foundation money," said Thompson, "it was covered with buildings as it has been continuously since the sixth century, B. C., and perhaps thousands of years before that.

"There is a mystery, or a problem in every square yard of it, and from the surface for 10 meters into the ground. It's fascinating—fascinating."

Neolithic, or stone age peoples, lived on that hillside 10,000 years ago, he said. The community became a civic center, "perhaps the first in Europe," by the 8th century, B. C. It was captured by the Persians in 480, B. C., by Roman General Sulla in 86, B. C., by Hadrian and by about every other conqueror attracted by the glory that was Greece.

The tracks of every phase of modern European history are buried on that famous hillside, under the shadow of Mars Hill, where St. Paul preached after the crucifixion of Christ.

Thompson heads a group of serious students and researchers engaged in the painstaking task of unravelling the story of that hillside. He has five American assistants and about 75 Greek students and workmen. They have dug and studied there during 12 seasons—from 1931-60 and 1964-68. It will take five more years to complete excavations; many years beyond that to complete publication of their findings.

This year was more successful than many, Thompson said. Among the more notable finds this Spring, aside from the donkey in the kitchen, he listed:

A splendid Greek original marble sculpture of a youth's torso, from the third quarter of the 8th century, B. C. Thompson said that this school of sculpture, one of the most interesting of antiquity, had been known previously only from Roman copies of the original.

A woman's cremation burial of about 900 B. C. unearthed by Researcher Margaret Crosby of Minneapolis. Two tiny pairs of terracotta shoes were found at this burial, perhaps symbolic of the children she left behind. There was also jewelry of bronze, iron and electrum, mixed with the remains of a funeral feast. Thompson called this "one of the richest graves of the period ever found in Athens, and is most important for the study of the customs, art and dress of the period."
