North-Central Andrews Gets New Deep Wildcat

Stanford Oil & Gas Company has filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas, requesting a permit to start operations by August 30, on a 10,100-foot wildcat in North-Central Andrews County to explore into the Devonian.

The prospector will be Stanford's No. 1-BC University of Texas. It is 690 feet from west and south lines of section 21, block 14, University survey, and 12 miles northwest of the town of Andrews. That puts it one half mile northeast of the Cities Service Oil Company No. 1-Y University, a wildcat one mile north of the Shafter Lake field.

The Cities Service project has already shown for flowing oil from the Wolfcamp, in a drilling ahead below 9,077 feet in line and chert, as it continues to explore 10,000 feet to the Devonian—both of which horizons are producing in the Shafter Lake field.

S-C Gains Prospector Indicates New Oil Area

Shell Oil Company, Inc. No. 1 Hawkins, South-Central Gaines County wildcat, about 15 miles south of the Seminole, has shown as a new discovery from the lower Clear Fork, (Fullerton) section of the Permian lime.

Located two and one-half miles southwest of the Robertson field, which produces oil and gas from a higher formation in the Permian, the Shell's new discovery is 1,983 feet from north and 635 feet from east lines of section 8, block A-23, pal survey. It was originally started to dig to around 12,000 feet to hunt for and explore the Ellenburger.

A drillstem test was run at 7,103-7,240 feet. The tool was open two hours. There was a blow of gas at the surface as soon as the test was opened.

Gas showed at the top in 15 minutes and continued for the remainder of the period. Makes 117 Barrels.

Recovery was 5,100 feet of fluid, or a total of 117 barrels. It was estimated by engineers that 76 barrels of the recovery was 31.5 gravity, straight oil and 41 barrels was heavily gas cut oil.

No formation water was developed. Open flowing bottom hole pressure varied between 500 pounds and 1,400 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure after 15 minutes, was 2,900 pounds.

The drill pipe unloaded fluid six times while the test was being pulled. At last report the venture had drilled ahead to 7,304 feet, and was running a drillstem test at 7,238-7,304 feet. The testing tool had been open ten minutes. It was expected that it would be kept open for at least two hours.

Magnolia Will Core Ahead At Its N-C Upton Ventures

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-A TXL, North-Central Upton County wildcat, which has shown some free oil in two drillstem tests at 9,295-9,345 feet, in an unidentified shale and lime formation, was preparing to core ahead from 9,347 feet.

After running the last drillstem test operator drilled out a packer rubber and in so doing made two feet of new hole in the formation.

This venture is 30 miles south of Midland, about 20 miles northwest of the Benedict field, and 600 feet from north and west lines of section 31, block 40, TP survey, T-4-S.

It is slated to continue to around 12,500 feet, to test into the Ellenburger—unless it finds profitable commercial production in a higher zone.

Esperada Sets Casing At Its No. 1 Parker

Esperada Mining Company No. 1 J. E. Parker, Central-Southwest Andrews County prospector to 5,000 feet, to explore into the San Andres-Permian, and located 1,990 feet from south and 860 feet from east lines of section 2, block A-43, pal survey, had drilled to 4,573 feet in dry lime, using rotary tools.

It has cemented 7-inch casing on bottom, and will move in cable tools to drill the plug and drill ahead into the expected pay.

S-E Crockett Wildcat Makes Gas And Water

The Texas Company No. 1 Smith, Southeast Crockett County wildcat 23 1/2 miles south and east of Oona, and 660 feet from south and 668 feet from east lines of the west half of section 5, block O, C. W. Brown survey, ran a one hour and five minute drillstem test in an Ellenburger section at 11,568-735 feet.

Gas showed at the surface in two minutes. Mud flowed at the surface in six minutes. The gas flow reached a maximum of 5,500,000 cubic feet per day.

Water of an undetermined origin flowed to the surface at the estimated rate of 11 1/2 barrels per day, for about 50 minutes of the test.

The water was not sulphur and it was not salty. No signs of oil were developed. Operator is preparing to core ahead with a diamond bit.

Midlanders Will Mark Short Ballot Saturday

The second Democratic primary is scheduled Saturday, with the five Midland County voting places open from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. James T. Smith, Midland County Democratic chairman, said Friday final arrangements have been completed and everything is in readiness for the election. He said plans are ready to assemble the vote results in the county and to get the information to the public as soon as possible after the election boxes are closed.

The short ballot in Midland County is attracting only limited interest, although voter interest has increased somewhat during the last several days as candidates increased the tempo of their campaigns in the stretch.

Harry C. Wiess, Humble's Board Chairman, Dies

HOUSTON—(P)—The nation's oil industry has lost another of its pioneers, Harry C. Wiess, chairman of the board of Humble Oil and Refining Company.

The 61-year-old oil executive died at 6 p. m. Thursday at his Houston home, six weeks after undergoing two major operations in a New York City hospital.

As a boy Wiess saw the big Spindletop Field—the so-called kerenease age in petroleum—and as a mature captain in the industry he guided Humble, which he helped establish, to become the nation's greatest producer of crude oil.

Survivors include his widow, three daughters, Mrs. Lloyd Hill, Mrs. W. H. Francis, Jr., and Mrs. James A. Elkins, Jr., and two granddaughters, Sandra Keith Smith and Sharon Lloyd Smith, all of Houston.

Funeral rites Saturday will be held at 3 p. m. Saturday in the George H. Lewis and Sons Funeral Home, with burial in Glenwood Cemetery.

and permanent member of the board of Princeton University, and vice-chairman of the trustees of Rice Institute, Houston.

Within the industry, Wiess was a member of the National Petroleum Council and a director of the National Petroleum Institute.

During World War II he was chairman of the Supply and Transportation Committee of District 3 of the Petroleum Administration for War and served on the Petroleum Industry War Council.

On Dec. 15, 1944, he was given the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association's distinguished service award as the major oil company executive who had made the greatest contribution to the war effort that year.

Real Estate Deal Enters Spy Hearing

WASHINGTON—(P)—The House Un-American Activities Committee assigned an investigator Friday to track down a new report that Alger Hiss and Whitaker Chambers once were interested in the same big farm near Westminster, Md.

The committee also brought in a handwriting expert in an attempt to get to the bottom of the widely different stories the two men have told about their relationship a dozen years ago.

The latest story the spy investigators are trying to run down is that Hiss made a down-payment to a real estate agent on the Maryland farm but lost interest in the property and didn't complete the purchase. Then Chambers was reported to have bought the farm later and his family was said to have lived there for a while.

BALTIMORE—(P)—The News-Post said Friday it had discovered "Jay Chambers" bought a run-down farm near Westminster, Md., which Alger Hiss and his wife earlier had purchased and abandoned.

The Hiss contract was dated April 13, 1936, and the Chambers contract March 13, 1937.

Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.) told reporters the committee intends to see if "this is another link in the chain of evidence or just pure coincidence." It is possible, he said, that it may show the two men were "much more closely connected than previously indicated."

The committee members are searching for a key to crack the Hiss-Chambers riddle.

They claimed some success: A sworn statement by ex-Communist Louis Budenz that he always had considered Hiss to be under party discipline.

The committee summoned the handwriting expert to check the writing of a William Rosen against the signature "William Rosen" on a title transfer of Hiss' old Model A Ford in 1936.

Rosen, 64-year-old native of Austria, who runs a velvet shop here, testified at a secret committee meeting. But Rep. McDowell (R-Pa.) said Rosen refused, on constitutional grounds, to answer any questions about the Ford transaction or to say whether he ever had had any Communist affiliation.

The committee announced it plans to more public hearings until September 7, when it will resume its inquiry into alleged espionage activities.

High School Students May Register Monday

All high school students who have not registered for the 1948-49 term of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association should register Monday in his office in the high school.

Mathews said Friday a total of 557 students have registered so far. He expects about 85 more registrations.

Those students who wait until the opening of school to register will be delayed in their enrollment, he said. The announced registration period ended several days ago, but another day is scheduled so students will be ready to start classes when school opens September 7.

Spotted Showers Fall In City And County

A good cloud, with plenty of lightning and thunder, came up out of the West and Northwest Thursday night, but the rainfall which followed was light and spotted.

Even within the city limits, the moisture ranged from light showers to sprinkles in various sectors. Only a trace of rain was reported at the city bars, where the official gauge is located.

The CAA Interstate Airway Communication Station at Midland Air Terminal reported 2 of an inch of rain, indicating the fall was heavier to the West.

Reports from over the county indicated only light and spotted showers.

Communists Seize Berlin City Hall

Communists pour out of City Hall in Berlin after seizing the building, which is in the Soviet zone, and setting up their own "rump" city administration. Anti-Communist city officials, who cancelled their scheduled meeting, refused to attend.

Reds Again Storm City Hall In Berlin

BERLIN—(P)—For the second straight day, belligerent Communist-led demonstrators forced their way into Berlin's City Hall Friday. They broke up a meeting of the anti-Communist City Council and immediately tried to substitute a handpicked regime of their own.

They demanded that a special committee, composed of members of Communist-dominated labor unions in the Soviet zone of the city, be appointed to replace the council. A spokesman denied it was to be an "Action Committee" such as took over Czechoslovakia, but it apparently could serve the same purpose.

Outside, milling crowds unable to get into the hall yelled when told of the cancellation of a scheduled City Council meeting.

"We will come back again and again."

This appeared to indicate that the Communist strategy is to keep up constant demonstrations intended to stop all work of the city government, force it to abandon City Hall and then set up a Communist-front government for the divided, blockaded city.

Friday morning's crowd, which numbered only 200 at the beginning of the demonstration, swelled to more than 2,000 before it ended. There were broadcast reports that (Continued On Page Ten)

State Department Favors Integration Of ERP Recipients

WASHINGTON—(P)—The United States gave its backing Friday to a move led by France to set up an all-Western European Parliament with advisory powers.

The State Department said in a statement that "This government strongly favors the progressively closer integration of the free nations of Western Europe."

A spokesman said the department is "very sympathetic" to the proposal for an assembly made by France to the other countries which have signed the Brussels Alliance—Britain, Belgium, The Netherlands, and Luxembourg.

American officials assume this group probably would be expanded to include all the 16 countries which are taking part in the Marshall Plan for European Recovery.

France proposed specifically a conference of the Brussels Pact countries, to be held not later than November, to make recommendations to their governments as to the membership, date and place of meetings and the agenda, for a proposed European Representative Assembly with advisory powers.

Britain Wary of Plan

British Labor government has indicated it may not want to go ahead at this time. Prime Minister Attlee wrote Winston Churchill recently that the movement was premature and the project would call for consultations with the British dominions.

Press Officer Michael J. McDermott read a statement of the State Department's position which said: "As stated in the preamble of the Economic Cooperation Act, this government strongly favors the progressively closer integration of the free nations of Western Europe."

U. S. Not Invited

"We believe that the world of today requires the taking of steps which before the war would have seemed beyond the range of practical political action."

"We favor the taking by the Europeans themselves of any steps which promote the idea of European unity or which promote the study of practical measures, and the taking of such measures."

McDermott said the United (Continued On Page Ten)

Atlantic Hurricane Threatens

MIAMI, FLA.—(P)—The 115-mile-an-hour Atlantic hurricane gave evidence of slightly shifting its direction toward the West-Northwest Friday. It had been traveling north-westward.

Grady Norton, chief of the Federal Storm Warning Service, reported a ridge of high pressure was building up to the North of the storm and may result in it assuming a more West-Northwesterly course.

While this course would take it in the general direction of the North Florida coast, it was emphasized that the storm is centered 825 miles due east of Miami and probably will vary its course several times.

"Hurricanes rarely travel in a straight line," Norton commented. "A Navy hurricane hunter reported that inside the storm winds of about 100 knots (115 miles an hour) were howling around the center."

Called "Real Whizzer" Steamships were feeling the storm's path.

The Russian freighter Petmalks Nomikos, which apparently shouldered some of the fury of the storm, discovered the disturbance early Thursday.

The Soviet ship made its report and has not been heard from since. Coast Guard officers, however, expressed the belief the vessel is in no distress.

Described as a "real whizzer," the storm still was several days away from the mainland and subject to any of the various whims peculiar to tropical storms.

Norton said it was too early to forecast any kind of movement and it could turn in any direction, increase or decrease in size and intensity.

ELECTION PARTY

Returns in the various races in Saturday's Democratic primary will be posted as rapidly as they are received on the press room window of The Reporter-Telegram on West Illinois Street, beginning at 8 p. m. Saturday. A part of the street will be roped off for the benefit of spectators.

Commission Chairman John Reddit promised "consideration to all projects, but few of the proposals received" definite encouragement they would be approved in the near future.

The commission agreed on the necessity of widening U. S. Highway 80 between Midland and Odessa in Midland and Ector counties over a distance of 14.7 miles. The cost would be an estimated $270,200, more or less, depending on the elaborateness of design.

"It either should be three or four divided, and surveys show definitely it should be a four-lane, divided highway by 1952," State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer told the delegation.

Those present to boost the project were County Judges Raymon Stoker of Odessa and C. C. Keith of Midland, City Manager H. A. Thomson of Midland and Chamber of Commerce Manager Delbert Downing of Midland.

Judge Stoker said the commissioners courts of both counties have agreed to get the needed right-of-way.

County Judge C. C. Keith, City Manager H. A. Thomson and Chamber of Commerce Manager Delbert Downing returned Thursday night from Austin, where they appeared before the State Highway Commission concerning the widening of U. S. Highway 80 between Midland and Odessa.

Downing said Friday the commission definitely is interested in the project, and he expressed belief that steps will be taken to widen the highway as promptly as possible.

Highway Panel Agrees U. S. 80 Must Be Widened

AUSTIN—(P)—The State Highway Commission spent nearly six hours Thursday listening to requests for 31 delegations from counties over the state for more road improvements.

Commission Chairman John Reddit promised "consideration to all projects, but few of the proposals received" definite encouragement they would be approved in the near future.

RECORD vs PROMISES

Coke Stevenson throughout his public life has consistently represented all the people and he will continue to do so as senator in Washington.

Lyndon Johnson has labored for special interests wanting special favors.

Coke Stevenson as governor cut taxes, increased services to the public and changed a deficit to a good surplus in the state treasury.

Lyndon Johnson as representative helped build up a bureaucracy that is bankrupting the nation to support. He helped create a federal debt of astronomical size and a tax burden that is a crushing load on every citizen.

Coke Stevenson promises that when he goes to Washington he will follow the same philosophy of government that has dictated his action in the past.

Lyndon Johnson promises that he will work to clean up the mess at Washington he helped create; that as senator he would act differently from the way he acted as representative.

It's PERFORMANCE vs PROMISE

A vote for Coke Stevenson is a vote for a change to sanity and efficiency and economy at Washington.

A vote for Lyndon Johnson is a vote for more of the same extravagance, inefficiency and general irresponsibility we now have.

VOTE FOR

MISERABLE FOR YEARS THEN FOUND RETONGA

Famous Gastric Tonic Brings Help to California Woman Who Suffered for Years with All the Agonies of Acid Indigestion.

"It seemed like I couldn't eat anything that would digest properly, until I started taking Retonga," says Mrs. S. M. Bennett of 1818 No. Roosevelt Ave., Altadena, Cal., whose husband is a well-known automobile salesman.

"Acid indigestion had made me miserable for years," Mrs. Bennett continues. "After meals I suffered the most awful gas pains in my stomach and would bloat up alarmingly. Often I couldn't keep food in my stomach at all. Bothered as I was with gas pains, it was hard to get any sleep. I'd sleep for an hour or so and then wake up and toss and turn all night. I lost weight and became so jittery and jumpy that I thought I would fly to pieces. I grew low in my mind and just didn't know what to do or where to turn. Then I read about Retonga in the newspapers.

"I bless the day I started taking Retonga. The prompt relief it brought seemed almost too good to be true. Today those horrible gas pains are just an unpleasant memory. I eat well, sleep well and have a whole new outlook on life. Retonga did it all for me, and I only wish that everybody, who is suffering as I did, knew about this great medicine."

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, borderline Vitamin B-1 deficiency, and constipation. If the first bottle fails to give you gratifying relief, your money will be refunded. You can get Retonga at all good drug stores, including Midland Drug Store.

Latest Fall Fashions Previewed At Everybody's Style Show Here

By CARROLL SANDERS
Eighteen of Midland's most attractive girls rated enthusiastic applause Thursday evening as they displayed the newest Fall and Winter fashions in the style show presented by Everybody's Store in the Yucca Theater.

Art Cole was master of ceremonies. Music was furnished by Jimmy Furman's Orchestra. Patsy Arrington sang "My Happiness," and Jacqueline Thies sang "Blue Moon." Pauline Crowe was the director.

A complete wardrobe suitable for the college girl, the career girl and the young matron was shown, with emphasis on the dressier clothes and the semi-casual. In accordance with the "Morning 'Till Night," theme of the show, a complete range of fashions was shown, from pajamas through formal.

No startling departures from last year's fashions were evident; in spite of the prophecies of many fashion experts, skirts remain as full as ever and shoulder pads have by no means been discarded.

Judging from the styles selected for the show, the new season's fashions will be extremely feminine. Soft, rounded lines were much in evidence, and the trim, pencil skirt was given definite favor over last year's bulkier, flaring skirts.

Popular New Gray
Several of the fashions shown were in the popular new shade of gray, and the flattering fish tail jacket was prominently displayed. Soft, unpressed pleats replaced harder, tailored lines in most of the clothes.

The opening presentation in the show was an ivory quilted satin dorm coat with matching tailored pajamas, especially practical for college pajama parties and similar affairs.

Rating special applause from the audience was a rich blue corduroy suit with the new fish tail jacket, which can be worn loose or snugly belted in front. The two large pockets in front added interest to the ensemble.

Especially appropriate for football games and other college sports was a suit and matching coat of soft doekin suede.

A distinctly different bolero-type dress had a skirt of rich chocolate brown and a saucy coffee colored bolero. It was worn with a gray crepe blouse and given dash by a jaunty wide, fringed charrange sash.

Flattering for the taller girl was a costume suit equally suitable for daytime or "after five" wear. The black basic dress featured a peep-top skirt, tiny French cuffs and a little girl collar.

An attractive sheer wool was shown. Of an exciting and unusual shade called wood rose, the dress had a neckline reminiscent of the turtle-neck sweater. The pointed cuffs on the sleeves harmonized with the pocket detail. Buttoning snugly

Mrs. Hodge Returns After Federation Executive Meeting

Mrs. J. Howard Hodge returned Thursday night from Austin, where she attended an executive committee meeting of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs in the state headquarters Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. Hodge is an appointive member of the executive committee. She made the trip to Austin with Ethel Foster of Sterling City, who, as chairman of the state board of trustees, was interested in a redecoration program now underway on the state headquarters building.

Dates for the Fall meeting of the Federation board were set for November 8, 9, and 10 by the executive committee, Mrs. Hodge said. A new feature of this year's board meeting will be a conference of Junior clubs November 10.

The board meeting, to be attended by all officers and directors, will fill a gap in the Federation schedule caused by changing the annual state convention from Spring to Fall. This action was taken at the convention last Spring, and the 1949 convention, when new officers are to be elected, will not be held until Fall. Mrs. John J. Perry of Sweetwater is president of the State Federation.

Miss Crabb Invited To College Leaders Meet

COLUMBIA, MO. — A special invitation has been sent to Miss Helen Crabb of Midland, Texas, to return to Stephens College for the annual campus leaders conference September 7-12. As president of the Senior Class Board of the Independent Organization, Miss Crabb will participate in planning sessions and leadership workshops which precede the official September 13-17 registration period at the college. The Fall opening will mark the 11th year in the history of the college.

All student leaders attending the conference have been invited by President and Mrs. Homer Price Rainey to attend a formal evening reception honoring new members of the Stephens faculty in Lela Raney Wood Hall on September 10. Miss Crabb is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe C. Crabb, 1001 West Missouri Street, Midland.

An Important Day

Another election—the second Democratic primary—is slated Saturday, and voters again are reminded and urged to exert their rights as American citizens by casting their ballots for the candidates of their choice.

The Midland League of Women Voters again has assembled and distributed information on candidates whose names appear on the Midland County ballot. This is helpful to voters.

Voting—and voting intelligently—is the duty of each and every citizen.

It is the right way—the American way—to select the officials who will guide the destinies of our county, state and nation during the years immediately ahead.

Citizens also are reminded it is just as important to vote in the second primary as it was in the first, and it is hoped as many or more votes will be cast Saturday as on July 24. The July 24 vote was somewhat disappointing in Midland County, with only slightly more than 50 per cent of the eligible voters going to the polls.

A light vote is predicted over the state, and candidates are perturbed and rightly so. In fact, the entire citizenry should be perturbed over the possibility of a non-representative vote.

Citizens should take it upon themselves first to cast their own ballots and then to see that their friends and acquaintances go to the polls. Reminding persons with whom one comes in contact will stimulate the voting in Saturday's primary.

Midland County can and should establish a record in the number of votes cast if residents will only take it upon themselves to get the job done. It is a fine and most worthwhile project for each and every citizen.

Let's break all previous vote records Saturday.

Something To Think About

What makes a free press possible? Private enterprise! In every country where freedom of the press is lacking, or curbed, you will find a totalitarian government, a dictatorship. Under such a regime, government owns the basic industries. There is no incentive for constant improvement in order to appeal to the buying public. There is no particular reason for telling the public about all manner of products, such as is commonplace in the United States, in order to build business. The people have to take what the government offers and like it—there is no competition.

Totalitarian governments seek unbridled power. Under such governments, there can be no free press for two very good reasons. First, government controls all the news and all the newspapers. Second, government-owned industries do not have to advertise. They do not have to win the public's business by superior products and salesmanship.

No country in the world has 12,000 rural daily and weekly newspapers, in addition to the metropolitan press, except the United States. No country in the world has a newspaper in practically every town of a few hundred population. Their income is derived from private enterprise—thousands of competing industries, from the great railroad and public utility to the smallest business. All advertise to popularize their services or products and win public favor and business.

Uncle Sam's SELECTIVE SERVICE

(One of a series of questions and answers on the second peacetime military training program. The information was prepared under the direction of Maj. Gen. K. L. Berry, Texas Director of Selective Service.)

CLASSIFICATION PROCEDURE

Q—If the classification of a man is not possible on the basis of his questionnaire alone, just what will further procedure be?

A—In such cases as this, the registrant will be called before his local board for personal inquiry. All additional information obtained in this manner must be reduced to writing.

Q—How will the registrant know how he has been classified?

A—The local board will notify him of his classification on the date on which it is done.

Q—Will local boards order a physical examination for registrants?

A—Within the full and usually accepted meaning of the term, there will be no physical examinations conducted by or at local boards. The armed forces will conduct physical examinations for inductees which generally will be final for purposes of the Selective Service Act.

Q—What if a registrant claims in his questionnaire that he has a mental or physical defect which he believes would be disqualifying?

A—In that case, he will be ordered to appear before the medical advisor to the local board for interview. This medical advisor is appointed by the President on advice of the governor. After the interview, the medical advisor will recommend for or against sending the registrant for final examination by the armed forces.

Appeal Procedure

Q—Can the registrant appeal from the action of a local board?

A—Yes. If the registrant is not satisfied with the classification he receives from the local board, he may carry his case before the state board of appeal. If there is a dissenting vote on this board of appeal, the registrant may appeal to the President of the United States in certain restricted cases.

Q—How long will a registrant have in which to make an appeal?

A—He will have 10 days within which to appeal from any determination by a local board, except that he cannot appeal from a medical determination. The filing of an appeal will not operate to delay the armed forces physical examination. On the contrary, when an appeal

Most Polio Victims Recover Without Any Serious Crippling

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

There is less danger of permanent, serious crippling from polio than is generally realized. For example, in one outbreak in Maryland in 1941, one-half of those who had diagnosed polio did not have any permanent paralysis. Twenty-nine per cent had only slight paralysis, while less than one in five had severe crippling effects. Of course, crippling or paralysis

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.

QUESTION: What is Addison's disease?
ANSWER: Addison's disease is a condition originating in the adrenal glands, which lie next to the kidneys. A portion of the glands is injured, usually by tuberculosis, and their secretion, or hormone, is destroyed, causing low blood pressure and other symptoms.

Questions and Answers

Q—How long did the great fire of London last?

A—The fire is said to have originated near London Bridge in a baker's shop in Pudding Lane on September 2, 1666, and lasted for four days, destroying nearly all of old London. The fourth day the wind fell and the fire burned itself out.

Q—When did the United States first use the motto "In God We Trust" on coins?

A—This motto first appeared in 1864 on the copper two-cent piece, and later on coins of several other denominations.

Q—What is the state religion of France?

A—France has no state religion. The state recognizes no religion and tolerates all.

Q—Why is mistletoe harmful to a tree?

A—The mistletoe is a semiparasitic green shrub that fastens itself upon the tree and draws nourishment from it, deforming it and sapping its vitality.

Q—Who gave New England its name?

A—Captain John Smith, in 1614, sailed along the Atlantic coast from the mouth of the Penobscot River to Cape Cod. He published an account of his voyage, giving the name of New England to the country.

It is noted, the registrant will be required to have an armed forces physical examination before the case is forwarded to an appeal board.

from infantile paralysis is a serious thing, and a crushing blow to the patient and to the family. However, it is encouraging to know that there is an exceedingly good chance that there will be no paralysis at all or, if any, that it will be very slight. This favorable outcome is particularly true if the treatment is begun early.

Strikes Suddenly
The crippling from polio often comes suddenly and strikes people who have been exceptionally healthy and active. For this reason, when it does come it seems fearful.

Polio is only one cause of crippling, however. The late effects of polio are responsible for less than one-fourth of all of the crippling deformities in children in New York City. It is also true, however, that it is the largest single disease responsible for crippling deformities. The other three-fourths stem from a large number of different causes.

If crippling from infantile paralysis does come, it should be faced with courage by all concerned. It does not mean the end of life, or even activity, in most cases. The treatment of the damaged limbs is so good that it can offer great help in restoring useful and active life. Frequently the courage of the victim of poliomyelitis, who have been seriously crippled, is particularly striking and reflects a strong and courageous character.

Polio is only one cause of crippling, however. The late effects of polio are responsible for less than one-fourth of all of the crippling deformities in children in New York City. WASHINGTON COLUMN

After Danube River Fiasco, Next Riddle Is Dardanelles

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Next riddle of European diplomacy is what effect the Danube River conference, whose terms were dictated by Soviet Russia, may have on future control of the Dardanelles—the Turkish straits leading from the Mediterranean to the Black Sea.

The Potsdam declaration signed by Truman, Churchill and Stalin in August, 1945, called for revision of the Montreux Convention of 1936, which governs international uses and control of the Dardanelles. The Big Three at Potsdam agreed that this convention, or treaty, should be revised to meet modern conditions.

The English version of the Potsdam agreement says that the next step should be the subject of direct conversation between the three powers and the Turks. An exact translation of the Russian text of the Potsdam agreement says that "the proper course" should be the subject of direct conversations between "each of" the three powers and the Turks.

On the basis of this neat little trick in translation, the Russians in 1945 and 1946 made direct demands on the Turks for special privileges in control and defense of the Dardanelles. The Russians wanted to establish their own military bases on the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus straits to the north, so that they would have full control of approaches to the Black Sea.

This is what Russia has always wanted, ever since the days of the czars. It was the subject of Russian demands in the Russo-German non-aggression pact of 1940. Hitler's refusal to meet Russian demands for control of the mouth of the Danube River—which flows into the Black Sea—was one of the main reasons for the break-up between the Nazis and the Communists.

Western Powers Cut Off
At the Danube conference just concluded, the Russians and their six Communist satellites were able to put over their idea that the river should be controlled only by states having riparian rights—that is, countries through which the Danube flowed. That of course cut out the United States, Britain and France from having any control over Danube traffic.

If the Russians now try to establish this same principle over control of the Dardanelles, an interesting fight may develop. Geographically, Turkey is the only country that has any riparian rights, since both banks of the Dardanelles, the Bosphorus and the little Sea of Marmara in between are Turkish soil.

The Russians may claim, however, that since the waters of the Black

IND SERIES FRIDAY
WITH BORDER CLUB—

Pokes Spank Indians 6-5

The Midland Indians and the Del Rio Cowboys play the third and deciding game of a three-game series at Del Rio Friday night.

Both clubs have a win each for the series and the Friday game is the payoff. In 19 games this season between Midland and Del Rio, the Indians have won 15 and the Cowboys four.

DEL RIO—The Del Rio Cowboys beat the Midland Indians 6-5 here Thursday night in the second game of a three-battle series. Midland won the opener Wednesday 8-1.

Ortiz pitched a no-hitter for Del Rio going into the eighth frame. The Indians finally woke up enough to get four hits.

Del Rio counted one run in the first inning and added five in the second.

Midland was scoreless until the sixth when it got across two runs on three Del Rio errors.

Then the Indians proceeded to get a hit or so add two runs in the first of the eighth. Norton relieved Ortiz and put out the blaze.

Midland got one tally in the first of the ninth.

Julian Pressley, Indian outfielder, got two of Midland's four safeties. Melillo and Jones got one each.

12 Left On Bases
Twelve little Indians were left on the bases and that tells part of the story.

The top of Midland's batting order was conspicuous for its lack of hits. Not a hit did the first four batters get.

Sam Van Hooser tried for his twelfth victory of the season and instead took his sixth loss. He struck out one and walked one. Ortiz walked 11 Indians.

Benefit Tilt Slated Here

A benefit baseball game will be played in Indian Park next Tuesday night, sponsored by the Midland Lions Club.

The game will bring together the Latin American Colts of Midland and the Joe Robinson Sinclairs, a local nine.

Game time is 8:15 p. m. Tickets will go on sale in the city immediately with Lions Club members selling them. Admission price is 50 cents per adult ticket.

Good baseball is promised. In two games this season, the two teams have split. The Sinclairs won a 10-inning 11-10 victory and the Colts came back to take a 3-2 decision, also in 10 innings.

Hardin-Simmons is ambitious when it asks for admittance in the Southwest Conference.

We want you to know at the start of this discussion we are a graduate of Texas Tech. That school also seeks a Southwest Conference berth.

Hardin-Simmons made its request this week. Texas Tech's request has been in for a long time.

Which school has the better chance to get in? We say Texas Tech. We say it without disrespect to Hardin-Simmons.

The SWC is bound to want to know enrollments of the two schools. During the regular 1946-47 term, Hardin-Simmons enrolled 1,670 students, Texas Tech enrolled 5,400 students.

The SWC is going to want to know seating capacities of the football stadiums at the two schools. Hardin-Simmons uses Fair Park Stadium in Abilene, which holds 12,000 at the most. Texas Tech completed a new stadium last year which can seat 18,000 to 20,000 or more.

Hardin-Simmons has the best gymnasium for basketball. Last year the Abilene school obtained a huge structure from an Army base and converted it to a gym. Texas Tech's gym is ancient and outdated. The Lubbock school is raising money through ex-students and friends to build a new gym.

Facilities for the minor sports of the two schools are about equal. The case of the two schools probably could obtain use of professional baseball parks in the two cities for Southwest Conference games. And in that case, Lubbock's site would excel. Hardin-Simmons likely could produce the site for track meets. Municipal or country club golf courses of Lubbock and Abilene both likely would be offered to the two schools for SWC matches. And both are about equal in attractiveness.

The above are cold facts. Now, to the possibilities and opinions. And here is where the readers of the column will split and perhaps argue long and loud.

Which produces the best caliber teams? Another, that's debatable. We don't have the records of all contests between Hardin-Simmons and Texas Tech. It probably is about equal in football. Texas Tech likely has the most basketball wins. Hardin-Simmons beat Tech at Abilene in 1946 in football. Texas Tech beat Hardin-Simmons at Lubbock in 1947. Before that—well, research would tell.

Both schools have produced powerful football teams. The Southwest Conference, of which both are members. Both schools have put colorful and rugged football teams into bowl games. Both schools have been little athletic giants just outside the big-boy class of the Southwest Conference.

Texas Tech has played the most games with Southwest Conference competition. Tech has three SWC opponents this fall. Hardin-Simmons has none.

Both schools have produced great athletes. Both have landed football players on the Little All-American team. Both have put capable performers into pro football, who in many cases outshine big-name school athletes. Both schools have put out excellent coaches who now are tutoring football all over the nation.

One factor, if you are backing Tech's bid: Lubbock perhaps could be the best host city with Abilene split in its affections to H-SU, McMurry and ACC. Lubbock could go all-out in concentrating or building up Tech's attractiveness.

Hardin-Simmons is a church school. Texas Tech is a state school. These affiliations will have nothing to do with the SWC's choice. The SWC has both types.

Both schools are located in the fastest growing area of the state—which is West Texas. Lubbock is enjoying a greater growth than is Abilene.

We, here in Midland, are located just about the same distance from the two Southwest Conference-seeking schools. We could drive to Abilene to see good football games. We could drive to Lubbock to see the same. So Midland as a West Texas City should be impartial in the matter. The ex-students of the two schools among our citizenship are another thing. And the citizens of Midland who went to other schools or have other allegiances are of course "on the fence."

Future growth is one factor by which Texas Tech has a louder voice to ask admittance to the higher group. And Tech can speak louder by putting forth. It is not disrespectful to Hardin-Simmons to point out that since 1891 the school has grown to an enrollment of 1,670. And true it is booming Tech to point out this school since 1926 has grown to an enrollment of 5,400. Yet both are going to grow in the future. But which one will grow the greater? Which one will have the plant in the future of Southwest Conference caliber?

You may want to point out that Hardin-Simmons could build such a plant. That's true. But Texas Tech already has it. And Texas Tech has asked first.

Whatever the outcome—both are fine schools. Both probably will go on putting out great athletic teams, in or out of the Southwest Conference.

One remark in passing: Hardin-Simmons' bid for admittance hurt Texas Tech's chances. Whoever school has the best bid, the Conference is apt to say—we shall deny both so as to not make either school mad. Perhaps that was Hardin-Simmons' wish in the first place. We would like to think it wasn't.

Hardin-Simmons is ambitious when it asks for admittance in the Southwest Conference.

We want you to know at the start of this discussion we are a graduate of Texas Tech. That school also seeks a Southwest Conference berth.

Hardin-Simmons made its request this week. Texas Tech's request has been in for a long time.

Which school has the better chance to get in? We say Texas Tech. We say it without disrespect to Hardin-Simmons.

The SWC is bound to want to know enrollments of the two schools. During the regular 1946-47 term, Hardin-Simmons enrolled 1,670 students, Texas Tech enrolled 5,400 students.

The SWC is going to want to know seating capacities of the football stadiums at the two schools. Hardin-Simmons uses Fair Park Stadium in Abilene, which holds 12,000 at the most. Texas Tech completed a new stadium last year which can seat 18,000 to 20,000 or more.

Hardin-Simmons has the best gymnasium for basketball. Last year the Abilene school obtained a huge structure from an Army base and converted it to a gym. Texas Tech's gym is ancient and outdated. The Lubbock school is raising money through ex-students and friends to build a new gym.

Facilities for the minor sports of the two schools are about equal. The case of the two schools probably could obtain use of professional baseball parks in the two cities for Southwest Conference games. And in that case, Lubbock's site would excel. Hardin-Simmons likely could produce the site for track meets. Municipal or country club golf courses of Lubbock and Abilene both likely would be offered to the two schools for SWC matches. Lights Are Tested At New Field

The electric lights, high above the ground, at Midland High School's new Memorial Stadium in Northwest Midland were tested Thursday night, and those present for the occasion agreed there will be ample illumination for the Bulldog football games here this fall.

The huge beam-type reflectors are mounted on six steel poles, 18 lights to the pole. The poles are 76 feet high.

Employees of the P. M. King Company of Midland, lighting contractor, were on the pole tops, amidst the reflectors, Thursday night, adjusting the light beams on the playing field. Texas Electric Service Company men were directing the procedure from the field. When the job is completed the illumination on the field will be perfect, and without shadows, officials said. The field is equipped with the largest type lighting system, and fans will be pleased with the results.

Huge Stands
Work on the huge stands and the athletic plant as a whole is progressing on schedule, and Supt. Frank Monroe said it will be ready for the opening football game September 10. A great deal of work remains to be done, but a large crew is on the job in an effort to rush the stadium to completion.

The stands on both sides of the playing field and in the end zones will seat more than 10,000 persons, making it one of the largest stadiums in West Texas.

The playing field has a fine stand of Bermuda grass and two practice fields also are sodded. Persons visiting the new field for the first time are surprised at the green grass and at the progress made in constructing the stands and the large field house.

Citizens are invited to inspect the field at any hour of the day.

School officials hope the huge stands will be filled to capacity when the stadium is dedicated next month.

A. C. Heffner Named Assistant Manager Of Fort Worth Hotel

A. C. Heffner, formerly manager of Hotel Scharbauer here, has been appointed assistant manager of

A. C. Heffner

Hotel Texas in Fort Worth, it was announced in Fort Worth by Manager Henry Love.

Heffner resigned his position here late in May after having served as manager of Hotel Scharbauer since 1942. He began his hotel career 13 years ago when he joined the staff of the Allen Hotel in Sweetwater. A year later he moved to Sweetwater's Bluebonnet Hotel, where he remained until coming here.

After serving in World War I, Heffner moved from his Missouri home and spent several years in the show business in Texas, traveling with stock companies throughout the state.

He is a member of the Baptist Church, the Shrine and the Lions Club, and is a past commander of the Woods W. Lynch Post No. 19 of the American Legion of Midland.

Streamliners Dominate Rail Picture

WASHINGTON—The streamliner flashes past and curves out of view, leaving its diesel horn-tot hanging on the horizon, and you realize the era of faster and more comfortable railroad riding is at hand.

That is to say—railroad riding for people who want to travel on a main trunk line from one big city to another.

People who live in small towns on the branch lines won't necessarily see much improvement. Their passenger train service may even slow down, or stop altogether.

Railroads are spending hundreds of millions of dollars for modern, streamlined equipment. They received well over 1000 new-type cars in the last 12 months, and still have nearly 2000 on order.

Many roads have created whole new trains, far-ranging, lightweight, speedy, gleaming silver or painted in gaudy colors from headlight to observation car.

Until 1934, such streamliners were unknown. When the war started, 150 of them were in operation. Now there are about 300.

Modern sleeping cars, which have been slower in production than coaches, provide rooms for all passengers. The day of the open berth has begun to decline. About 200 of the all-room sleeping cars have been delivered; 1000 more are on order.

Blue-Ribbon Trains

But all this, for the near future at least, applies only to blue-ribbon trains on long runs.

Millions of Americans, depending on where they live and where they are traveling, will keep on enjoying the ancient massive jolting cars for a long time.

Railroads are putting their money into new seldom-stopping streamliners, or into their famous trains with established reputations, because that seems their only hope of showing a profit on passenger service.

Freight, of course, is the mainstay of the industry. Generally speaking, it costs the railroads more money to operate passenger trains than they collect in fares.

But that doesn't apply to all passenger trains. Certain trains, on certain runs, are big money-makers.

But the railroads, while building up their main-line money-makers, are trying to get rid of some branch-line operations.

The companies probably would get rid of these unprofitable runs sooner if they could. But often the state railroad commissions, representing the public, won't let them.

Crane News

CRANE—Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Still have announced the birth of a seven pound son born Thursday in the Robinson Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Crowder and children visited Miss June Crowder in Midland Thursday.

C. E. Deaton has reopened his Quality Cleaners in the firm's new 110,000 building. New equipment also has been installed. W. D. Porch was the building contractor.

Kenneth Wallender was dismissed Thursday from Robinson Hospital.

W. E. Teel, an employe of the Texas and Pacific Coal and Oil Company, received first degree burns on his face and arms Monday when he attempted to light a waste gas torch. He was treated at a Crane hospital.

B. P. Mitchell was in a Dallas hospital for treatment early this week.

Leroy Johnson, a nephew of the Darrel Havins, is a guest in the Havins' home.

The Grand Canyon of Colorado, was discovered by Don Lopez de Cardenas and 12 members of the Coronado expedition from Mexico in 1540.

Rev. Lynn Will Speak At Baptist Church

The Rev. R. Mathew Lynn, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, who returned this week with his family from a vacation trip to Montreat, N. C., will be the guest minister at the evening worship service at the First Baptist Church here Sunday. The Rev. Vernon Yearby, pastor of the Baptist Church, is vacationing in New Mexico.

The Presbyterian Church is being enlarged and remodeled, and evening services are not being conducted during the construction period. Morning services are held in the auditorium of the West Elementary School, where Mr. Lynn will be in his pulpit Sunday morning. His father, Dr. S. Ross Lynn, served the Midland church during the pastor's absence.

Balkans Row May Be Gauge Of Red Plans

By DeWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst That vitriolic Yugoslav-Romanian row is worth watching, since it may well be a gauge by which we can judge how Moscow's world revolution is progressing and what tactics are being employed to meet emergencies.

This Red upheaval represents the first serious break in the solidarity of Russia's satellite states. It had its inception in July when the powerful, Moscow-dominated Cominform split with Tito, charging him with maintaining a hateful policy towards Russia, and with departing from the Marx-Lenin philosophy.

Tito has denied the allegations and declared his devotion to Stalin. However, at the same time he has made it amply clear Yugoslavia is running its own show.

So Moscow is bent on breaking Tito, and the latest development is Yugoslavia's charge that Romanian officials are trying to foment revolution for the overthrow of Marshal Tito's regime.

It is obvious Russia contemplates no individuality for her subject states. They must toe the Moscow line precisely. This is evident not only in the case of Yugoslavia but in that of other Eastern European states which have got out of line and have been yanked back sharply.

Another point which we shouldn't overlook is that Moscow is handling the Tito case by indirection. It struck first through the Cominform and now apparently has assigned a prominent part to Romania. In previous instances where punitive measures have been taken, Moscow has done the job itself. Why now does it hand the task to others?

It may well be that Russia is making a virtue of necessity. It probably would take force to oust the Tito regime, and Moscow isn't prepared to stick its neck out that far. It prefers to try to create a situation in which Yugoslavs themselves would revolt against their leader.

In short, Russia's Red empire already is showing signs of being unwieldy and hard to manage.

The STUFFED SHIRT

You've met this man before! Remember him? What grand airs he liked to assume! What vain boasts poured from his lips! He was forever trying to make an impression, but most people saw through his false front. They called him a STUFFED SHIRT!

Airs and vanity rarely fool us. We look for the inner qualities of a man's character. Only when those inner qualities are just as fine as the external impression he makes — only then are we sure we have met a man of the highest mettle.

The Church builds character! Into the life of the individual and of the community it pours those moral and spiritual influences which develop man's innate nobility. Through religious education and the worship of God, the Church points young and old to the high goals and rich resources of Christian living.

Choose a church and make it YOUR CHURCH.

TRUST

By Elswyth Thane

THE STORY: A mysterious locked room on the top floor of Nease Farming, a rented country home, fascinates dreamy 17-year-old Sabrina. Father and Aunt Edie tell her the room belongs to one of the owner's sons and they are not to have the use of it. One rainy day Sabrina, overcome by curiosity, picks the lock. She finds a comfortably furnished man's room, filled with books. The place enchants her. Mrs. Filton, the housekeeper, surprisingly offers to leave the door unlocked henceforth. Sabrina gets to know the room so well, it is almost as though she knew its owner. She tries to find out his name from papers in his desk without success.

Meanwhile, half-way across the world Hillary Shonstone, British secret agent, lies wounded in the desert beside a crashed plane, after completing a dangerous mission. He thinks of home (Nease Farming) and feels a desperate need to get back there. "Things have begun to slip, Bill," he tells the pilot with him, as they swing back.

VII

SABRINA closed the blotter and moved on slowly, away from the desk and into the bedroom end, where she had never ventured before.

On top of the chest of drawers was a silver frame enclosing the picture of a fair girl in her presentation gown and feathers. She was very nearly a great beauty, but her mouth was thin and at the same time pouting. Spoilt, thought Sabrina, regarding her with a mixture of surprise and hostility. "With Love, ALICE" was written in one corner of the picture. Alice too was in the absurd conspiracy to withhold his name. Who was Alice?

Beside the picture was a round leather box, with its catch hanging loose. Between two fingers Sabrina lifted the lid. It was full of winged collars for evening wear. Did he dress for dinner every night in the country? In the center space lay something small and black and cold, like a snake. Sabrina looked again, incredulously them? Men's clothes were all alike. . . . One panel swung out toward her, then the other.

EXACTLY the sort of thing Father wore. Only—she lifted a coat sleeve and rubbed her fingers across it like a caress—for all its rough weave it was surprisingly soft. And from it came the faint, unmistakable scent of pipe smoke. She laid her cheek against it, and felt comforted. He would come back, his things were still here. With a grateful smile she closed the wardrobe.

As she did so, a long shiver ran through her, and uneasiness like a cold draught pervaded the room. For a moment, leaning against the edge of the wardrobe, she looked about her, puzzled. She had put back everything, exactly as she found it. She had touched nothing a maid with a duster might not have fingered—except perhaps his clothes. She had committed no sacrilege, surely. But something was wrong. She felt sick and weak, the way she had felt after influenza. And the room was—different.

"What's happened?" she whispered instinctively, as though the room could hear, and answer. "What have I done?"

Rain was still falling outside, the gray windows were darkening, and the air was chill and dim. For the first time the room's silence was loud.

Something had gone out of the room, something friendly and protective, and in its place was emptiness, strangeness, and doubt. She began to back towards the door, with wide, watchful eyes, as though the room might try to stop her. . . .

WHEN Aunt Edie came home from the sewing circle, she found Sabrina lying on her bed, and sent for the doctor. Sabrina lay very quietly, with her eyes wide open. Her lips were cold and bloodless. She would say nothing except that she didn't feel very well.

The doctor said it was a slight chill on the liver, and left some little white pills.

McKenney on Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service
This is the fifth of a series of articles based on Fred L. Karpin's booklet, "The Point-Count System of Bidding in Contract Bridge."

In today's article we deal entirely with the jump-shift bid on the part of the original bidder. We all know that a jump-shift bid by partner is a game demand bid; but expert players do not always treat that type of bid by the original bidder as an absolute game demand, although I think they should.

In this hand, South has a count of 20 points—three for the king of spades, 10 for the ace-king-queen of hearts and the fifth heart, and seven for the ace-queen-jack

♠ Q 7 2	(2)	♠ A 10 9 3	(10)
♥ J 8 4	(1)	♥ 10 5	(6)
♦ 8 5 3	(0)	♦ 9 7 4	(6)
♣ A 7 6 2	(4)	♣ Q J 10 8	(10)
Dealer		♠ 10 9 8 7
♠ J 8 4	(10)	♥ K 5	(3)
♥ 9 6 3	(6)	♦ A K Q 7 2	(10)
♦ K 8 2	(6)	♠ A Q J 10	(7)
♣ K 9 5	(4)	♣ 4 3	(2)

of diamonds. He opens the bidding with one heart, and his partner makes the minimum response of one no trump, for which he must have at least 6 points.

Karpin says in his booklet that a jump-shift rebid by the opening bidder is made on a hand which contains 19 or more points. It is true that with 19 points, if you find your partner with only 6, you will have a combined count of only 25 and occasionally the game will not be made. However, partner's minimum response may be based on 7, 8 or 9 points, so you should not be too pessimistic.

South, of course, does not have this problem in today's hand. He knows that the 26 points needed for game are in the combined hands. He bids three diamonds, telling partner that he holds at least 19 points and wants to go to game.

All North has to do is to select the suit, hearts or diamonds, or he could go to three no trump if he had good stoppers in spades and clubs and no support in hearts or diamonds. He selects three hearts and South goes to four hearts.

The only losers in the combined hands are a spade, a diamond and a club.

Ohio Youth Stumps Oklahoma City C. of C.

OKLAHOMA CITY —(P)—The Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce Friday was stuck by a horned toad.

Always ready to please, the chamber Saturday air mailed to Donald Brand, Columbus, Ohio, school boy, an Oklahoma horned toad he had requested.

Chamber officials sat back and smiled. "Another person converted to Oklahoma hospitality," they thought.

Then Donald wrote: "I received the horned toad and he is in good condition . . . by the way, is it male or female?"

The chamber can only refer Donald to another toad.

Care In Shooting Near Phone Lines Is Requested Here

Hunters not only shot birds last year, but also managed to knock down 2,600 telephone wires in Southwestern Bell Telephone territory, H. F. Fox, district manager for the company said Thursday.

"With the 1948 hunting season about to open, the company urges hunters to use care in shooting at or near its pole lines," he said.

"What we probably need," Fox said, "is telephone lines that can duck bird-shot. But, what we have is pole lines and wires that can't dodge. The problem is serious. Last year, about one-fourth of all cases of trouble on our open wire long distance telephone lines was traced to gun-shot damage."

Fox asked that hunters think twice and pass up "fat" shots around telephone lines, in order to protect the community's vital long distance telephone service.

Coleman Publisher Sells Paper To Join Abilene College Staff

COLEMAN, TEXAS —(P)—Wendell Bedichek, owner and publisher of the Coleman Democrat-Voice, has sold the weekly newspaper to W. J. Bacon and Dick Reavis of Sayre, Okla., and will join the staff of Abilene Christian College.

Bedichek announced sale of the newspaper Thursday.

President Don H. Morris of Abilene Christian College said Bedichek would become head of the university's Department of Public Relations and also would teach some journalism courses.

Bacon is publisher of the Sayre Daily Reflector-Journal.

Reavis, who will be publisher of the Democrat-Voice, formerly edited papers at Sayre, Cuyman and Cyril, Okla.

Would Prevent Suffering People Seeking Health Should Investigate All Possibilities One of the most consistent mistakes made by sick people is failure to make a complete investigation of all things that might give help. Many discouraging years are spent by countless individuals trying just one thing, even though nothing more than just a little temporary relief, or no relief, is being obtained. The science of Chiropractic works with the nervous system. It is not only the most important, but the most delicate of the different systems of the body. The Chiropractor has a very specialized knowledge of the primary cause of disease. VOTE FOR Coke Stevenson

FOR United States Senator

- If You Want To Vote For A Candidate Who Will: 1. Work for efficiency and economy in your national government (as Governor of Texas he reduced taxes and changed a deficit to a big surplus in the State Treasury); 2. Practice what he preaches; 3. Be consistent in his viewpoint (his philosophy of government in 1948 is the same as it was in 1941);

THEN VOTE FOR COKE STEVENSON FOR YOUR UNITED STATES SENATOR

Signs Point To Wide GOP Use Of Communist Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—New signs cropped out Friday that the Republicans plan to hit hard at the Communists-in-government issue in the election campaign.

Senator Revercomb (R-W. Va.), facing one of the hottest senatorial fights in the country, told a reporter he is making a big talking point of what he calls the Administration's failure to root Communists out of the federal service.

In a speech at Keyes, W. Va., the senator declared "It is not a red herring and certainly is not un-American to take steps to protect America."

President Truman twice has called the congressional spy investigations a "red herring" intended to take the public mind off the refusal of Congress to adopt his cost-of-living program.

Rankin Victory Cited

Revercomb's employment of the Communist issue is expected to be copied by other Republicans who think the congressional investigations and the current international arguments with Russia are absorbing a major share of the public's attention.

They found some basis for his belief in the smashing comeback made this week by Rep. Rankin, chief mouthpiece of white supremacy in Congress. Rankin won re-nomination over two opponents in last Tuesday's Mississippi Democratic primary.

Rankin told the voters his defeat "would be the best news that Joe Stalin ever had." Looking at the results, some politicians concluded it might be good campaigning to let go a lot of roundhouse swings at Stalin and the Communists in general.

O'Daniel Recommends Washington Clean-Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator O'Daniel (D-Texas) said Friday in a farewell-to-Washington statement that one of his reasons behind his decision not to seek another term is that he "can see slight hope of saving our nation from going entirely Socialist or Communist."

"There are less than a dozen men in the U. S. Senate," he added, "who consistently vote to maintain the American form of government while by our own fathers. This was the form of government we had until 1932. The only way, as I see it, to prevent our government going the way of all great nations of the past is for the people to conduct a thorough housecleaning in Washington."

Senator O'Daniel announced last May he would not be a candidate for reelection.

O'Daniel said he felt he could contribute nothing to the cause of the American system of private enterprise "by sitting in the U. S. Senate six more years and voting with a hopeless minority. The people must awaken to the necessity of sending a different type of men and women to Washington to serve them."

fall fall short of the 3-8000 votes cast in the July 24 primary, which established a record here. A total of 5,685 poll tax receipts, not including exemptions and transfers, was issued in the county this year.

The main interest in the election centers around the races for U. S. senator, state senator and state representative.

Seventy-six absentee ballots were cast during the absentee voting period which ended Tuesday.

Midland banks will be closed Saturday for the election.

The voting places are as follows:

Precinct 1—Basement Midland County courthouse; Mrs. Gladys L. Talbert.

Precinct 2—Prairie Lee School House (new location adjacent to Greenwood Baptist Church); B. T. Graham.

Precinct 3—Stephenson School House; Bob Preston, Jr.

Precinct 4—VFW Hall at Midland Air Terminal; Mrs. Lee O. Manning.

Precinct 5—City-County Auditorium; E. D. Richardson.

Wall Street (U. S. Highway 80) is the dividing line between Precincts 1 and 5, with Midland residents residing north of the highway voting at the courthouse, and those living south of the highway at the City-County Auditorium.

Smith urged voters to bring poll tax receipts to the polls.

Candidates Listed

Candidates whose names appear on the Midland County ballot are:

For United States Senator: Coke R. Stevenson, Kimble County; Lyndon B. Johnson, Bland County.

For State Senate: Hill D. Hudson, Reeves County; Henry A. Coffield, Presidio County.

For State Representative: J. T. Rutherford, Ector County; Emory T. (Pat) Corbett, Jr., Midland County.

For Constable Precinct No. 1: John Hemingway, Jr.; Jack Merritt.

For Commissioner Precinct No. 1: Sherwood O'Neal.

For Commissioner Precinct No. 4: A. G. Bohannon; W. M. Stewart.

For Committeeman Precinct No. 1: R. W. Hamilton; Carl W. Jones.

For Committeeman Precinct No. 5: W. A. Yeager; Floyd Maxwell.

Speakers Listed For Organized Reserves Session Here Sunday

LT. Col. Dorsey E. McCrory of Fort Bliss, El Paso, and Lt. Col. Walter R. Walne, Jr., of Midland will be the instructors at a training session of the Organized Reserves Sunday at Midland Airport.

Colonel McCrory will lecture on "Air Transportability," and Colonel Walne's subject will be "Tactical Decisions and Principles."

The session is one of a series being held here each weekend. Organized Reserve members from Midland and other Permian Basin cities are urged to attend.

A&M Ex-Student Officials Attend Barbecue Here

George Smith, president of the Texas A&M Ex-Students' Association of Texas; Dick Hervey, executive secretary of the state group; E. E. McQuillan, former executive secretary, and Bill Carmichael, athletic director of the college, were the honor guests and principal speakers at a meeting and barbecue staged Thursday night at Midland Airport under the sponsorship of the Midland Texas A&M Ex-Students Club.

More than 65 persons from Midland, Odessa, Goldsmith and other area cities attended the event.

Hervey discussed prospects for the proposed Ex-Students Memorial Building at the college, and Carmichael told of A&M's football prospects for this fall.

Smith and McQuillan outlined ex-student activities and urged increased participation on the parts of individual ex-students and ex-student groups.

Regular meetings of the Midland club are scheduled for the fall and winter.

Shortage Of Storage Space For Grains May Cost Farmers Millions

WASHINGTON (AP)—A serious shortage of grain storage space threatens farmers with the loss of several hundred million dollars in income this year.

The Agriculture Department estimates the storage shortage at upwards of 1,000,000 bushels. It is most acute in the corn belt, where a stupendous crop of 3,500,000,000 bushels of this grain alone is nearing the harvest stage.

Officials said farmers are likely to suffer losses from deterioration of grain and a drop in market prices below levels promised by the government's support program.

A farmer can get the benefit of the support program for grain only if he has it stored safely. If he cannot get commercial storage or does not have acceptable facilities on his farm, the grower is out of luck so far as price support aid is concerned.

His only alternative may be to sell his grain on the market at a price below the support level. Storage experts predict corn soon will sell from 15 to 25 cents a bushel below the support price of about $1.45 a bushel.

Wiss—

himself went into the oil industry after Spindletop.

After the young Wiss graduated from Princeton in 1902, he returned to Texas and within three years became president of both the Paraffine and the Reliance Oil Companies.

It was during these early days that Wiss was associated with Sterling and other men who a few years later organized the Humble Company.

From 1919 to 1933 Wiss was almost solely responsible for the creation and operation of Humble's refining activities. In the early 1930's when the company expanded into the marketing field he directed the well-mapped program.

In 1933 he became executive vice-president and in 1937 he returned. Last May 10 he became chairman of the board. A few days later he was stricken with his fatal illness.

Coke, Johnson Both Confident On Election Eve

By The Associated Press

Both Coke Stevenson and Lyndon Johnson go before microphones Friday night to make eleventh-hour appeals for votes in Saturday's runoff election in which they seek the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator.

Stevenson will make his broadcast from Austin, where he will go from Dallas to make a final check at his state campaign headquarters there.

Friday is Johnson's 40th birthday anniversary. He'll spend the day in San Antonio and hold a "homecoming rally" there Friday night. His broadcast will originate from San Antonio.

Both candidates were in Dallas Thursday. They missed running into each other at the fair at West Richardson by about ten feet once Friday night. Johnson spoke for about 30 minutes, then went out to shake hands. Stevenson went to the stage after Johnson left and spoke for about 20 minutes.

Oil Film Shown At JayCee Meet

Ralph Smith of Shell Oil Company presented a film "Oil From the Earth" at the luncheon meeting of the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce Friday in the Scharbauer Hotel.

Irby Dyer presided in the absence of Riley Parr, president. Goodrich Hill was program chairman. Johnny Rhoden won the attendance prize.

JayCees will meet jointly with the Rotary and other service clubs next Friday to hear an outstanding speaker.

Ernest Neill announced program chairman for four future meetings: Dewayne Davis, September 10; Ernest Nance, September 17; Frank Wood, September 24, and Rocky Ford, October 1.

JayCees will urge Midlanders to vote Saturday by calling attention to the importance of voting by way of a Saturday morning radio broadcast.

National Guardsmen Near End Of Training Period At Camp Bowie

CAMP BOWIE, TEXAS (AP)—National Guardsmen Friday got a taste of "combat" as a simulated surprise attack was made on their positions in bivouac at dawn.

Most of the Guardsmen, members of engineers and infantry regiments of the 80th Division, were ready for the "enemy action" as Guard planes "strafed" ground forces during artillery "shelling."

Prepared charges were set off by the engineers to simulate artillery. The entire bivouac area, was mined, to add to the confusion, but most units were well camouflaged and had outposts in position and troops alerted for the anticipated attack.

The troops returned to their barracks during the morning to be present for pay day formation.

Movement home for distant units will start Saturday. Others will leave Sunday.

Oil Film Shown At JayCee Meet

shops in the vicinity of City Hall were being closed to get recruits.

The demonstration broke up after an hour and a half.

Late Friday downtown Potsdamers converging point of three streets for borders heavily guarded by German and Allied police for an "anti-black market" demonstration staged by the consumer cooperatives of the Russian sector.

About 2,000 Russian sector marchers shuffled into the big square. But many of them appeared to pay scant attention to their speakers. Some people even went around black marketing at the anti-black market meeting.

More than 100 German police of the rival East and West sectors forces were strung along the border lines. British Military Police also lined the British frontier. One American Military Police jeep stood at the U. S. border. The Russian sector marchers put on their most apathetic show of the week.

Youth To Have Say In Church Council

AMSTERDAM, THE NETHERLANDS (AP)—Youth will have its say in the pronouncements of the World Council of Churches.

It will have a bigger voice than ever before in the projection of modern religious thinking that will come out of the World Council Assembly now meeting here, council leaders said Friday.

Representatives of Christian youth forces are carrying on discussions parallel with those of the older generation. And their opinions will be recognized and included in the council's encyclical to be released next week.
