Johnson Takes Lead For Senate

Coke Trails 44 Votes In Latest Tally

DALLAS—(P)—Rep. Lyndon Johnson took a 44-vote lead over Coke Stevenson Friday in the Texas Election Bureau's revised count of last Saturday's runoff primary for the U. S. Senate.

It was the second time Johnson had been in the lead in the near-tie contest which will require the official canvass of the Democratic State Executive Committee to decide.

The latest change was effected by official returns from Jim Wells County, in the lower Rio Grande Valley, which gave Johnson a gain of 202 votes and only one more vote for Stevenson.

Former Governor Stevenson had led by 157 votes in the bureau's noon count. The latest count gave Johnson 494,141 votes, Stevenson 494,087. The noon count was Stevenson 494,096; Johnson 493,938.

At the last preceding count at 7 p. m. Thursday, Stevenson held a lead of 255 votes.

Eighteen counties reported Friday to the Election Bureau and 10 of these reported revisions. The total vote count at noon, based on the revisions, was less than the total reported Thursday.

AUSTIN—(P)—Both Lyndon Johnson and Coke Stevenson were out for lunch and could not be reached for immediate comment when the race shifted in Johnson's favor Friday afternoon.

In the revisions, Johnson lost 35 votes and Stevenson lost 133.

The following revisions were made by counties:

Armstrong—Stevenson lost one vote.
Cameron (official count)—Johnson gained 30 votes; Stevenson lost 6.
Cass (official count)—Johnson lost 14; Stevenson gained 7.
Culberson—Johnson gained three; Stevenson gained six.
Dickens—Johnson gained 10; Stevenson lost 10.
Dimmitt—Johnson gained 3; Stevenson lost 40.
Harris—Johnson lost one; Stevenson stayed the same.
Washington—Johnson stayed the same; Stevenson gained two.
Zapata—Johnson lost 42; Stevenson lost 87.

Johnson's biggest gain—118 votes—showed up in Zapata when (Continued on page 9)

Benes Dies Friday

PRAGUE—(P)—Eduard Benes, who helped found Czechoslovakia and was twice its president, died late Friday. He was 64.

The statesman who rose to world acclaim from ranks of the peasants was stricken early Tuesday and had been unconscious since. Coughing spasms weakened his tired old fighting heart, which finally gave way. He died at his country home at Sezimovo.

Benes had a stroke a year ago. His arteries had hardened. His last year of life was doubly saddened by the coup through which Communists seized power in his republic and by the death plunge soon afterward of Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk. The foreign minister was the son of Thomas Masaryk, with whom Benes helped to form the Czechoslovak republic in 1918.

Sick and disheartened, Benes resigned as president last June 7 rather than sign the new constitution. (Continued on page 9)

LONDON—(P)—The U. S. Air Force announced late Friday an American B-29 Superfortress taking part in a mock air battle testing Britain's defenses was abandoned by its crew after developing engine trouble over The Netherlands.

Six members of the crew are known to have survived, the announcement said. The British Air Ministry announced later that 10 crew members had been picked up.

The report was telephoned to U. S. Air Force Third Division Headquarters in London by the American air attaché at The Hague, who said he had talked to the pilot of the stricken plane by radio before it was abandoned.

A dispatch from Vlissingen, The Netherlands, said at least seven of the crew parachuted safely to land.

One of the stricken B-29 crew members said fire broke out in one of the wings and it has seemed impossible to reach England. For 30 minutes attempts were made to put out the flames, he said. Then the crew took to parachutes. The plane plummeted into the Western Schelde (Scheldt) Estuary.

Four of the crew members who were picked up were taken to Vlissingen. Two landed at Borssele and one landed at Kwaderdam, both on the South Beveland Island.

Germans Say Reds Preparing To Lift Blockade Of Berlin

BERLIN—(P)—German reports Friday said the Russians are making technical arrangements for lifting the 72-day-old blockade of Berlin.

The four Allied military governors held their fourth conference in four days at the Allied Control Authority Building late Friday.

Resumption of East-West transport came back into the four-power discussions as the working committee of transport experts reconvened after a day's recess. The United States was represented by the deputy military governor, Maj. Gen. George P. Hays.

The British-licensed German Press Service said the director of German railways in the Soviet zone had been summoned by Russian transport authorities to be given instructions for these arrangements. This report could not be confirmed in any official quarter.

An American transport official said there has been no indication from the Russians as to when they intend to reopen the rail lifeline to Berlin from Halstedt and the East-West canal system.

"It is unlikely," the American transport official said, "that they will do so (reopen the lines) until they are satisfied with the results of discussions here and in Moscow. Communists Claim Triumph

"Nor will they get any coal or iron trains from the Ruhr to feed their zone's industry until they lift the blockade and restore normal communications to our satisfaction."

The Communist press of Berlin declared the negotiations—now in the fourth day here—were turning into a Soviet diplomatic triumph.

Authoritative informants said the negotiators had hit one tough snag. That, they said, was a Russian demand for a favorable exchange rate for their Eastern German mark in trade between Eastern and Western Germany.

These informants said the Russians insist upon a straight one-for-one exchange of East-West marks, but German financial circles in the Western zones contend one Western mark should be worth at least four East marks.

Reports To Moscow
Soviet-licensed newspapers gloated over reports that the Western Allies had agreed to adopt the Russian-backed mark for all Berlin.

Although no official statement has been issued on the Berlin meetings, informants said that even before the conferences began, the four powers agreed on leaving the currency field in Berlin to the Soviet-sponsored mark.

Reliable sources predicted the military governors would meet at least five times. They were believed to have been granted approximately a week to work out a practical solution to the Berlin deadlock. Their recommendations then will go back to Moscow negotiators.

Midland Stores To Close Labor Day
Chamber of Commerce Manager Delbert Downing again Friday reminded citizens that most retail stores, service firms, banks, city, county, and government offices, all company offices and professional firms will be closed Monday in observance of Labor Day.

The holiday is one of five spread upon for observance by the Retailers Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

A doubleheader baseball game between the Midland Indians and the Big Spring Broncs will be feature attraction of the holiday here.

Truman Slugs It Out With GOP On Four Main Issues

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Truman bounded into a political slugging match with the Republicans Friday over Communists, high prices, health insurance and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The President took specific issue on those points with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the GOP nominee; Harold E. Stassen, who will open the Republican campaign next Tuesday, and other party members.

On the subject of Reds in government jobs, Truman told his news conference Thursday it was "a lie out of whole cloth" for anyone to say that he ever protected a Communist or a disloyal person in a federal post.

Stephens added that a reporter the real spies during the war were German and Japanese, that Russia was an ally. He added that he never has heard of any search for former German and Japanese spies.

He scoffed at a statement by Dewey that Communists will be (Continued on page 9)

Storm Threatens Texas-Louisiana Gulf Coast Area

NEW ORLEANS—(P)—A hurricane carrying winds up to 75 miles an hour was centered at noon Friday in the Gulf of Mexico, 350 miles east of Brownsville, Texas.

W. R. Stevens, chief forecaster at the New Orleans Weather Bureau, said the storm was moving northward eight to 10 miles an hour.

Hurricane warnings were ordered hoisted from the mouth of the Mississippi River to the Vermilion Bay area of Louisiana, directly south of New Iberia.

Southeast storm warnings were displayed from Mobile, Ala., to New Orleans, and northwest storm warnings west of Vermilion Bay to Galveston, Texas.

Stephens said the storm is attended by winds up to 45 miles an hour over an area 250 miles to the east of the center and up to 75 miles an hour over a small area near the center.

He said dangerous winds and tides may be expected in the hurricane display area Saturday morning, and urged all interests to be on the alert for further advisories Friday afternoon.

Wanted To Travel Another Route
ROME, N. Y.—(P)—One man was missing when they called the roll of more than 2,000 service personnel leaving Griffiss Air Base Friday for Europe.

But the military police knew where to look. Acting on a tip, they opened the trunk of an automobile driven by a woman, as it was leaving the depot, and there found her husband—the missing man.

An officer at the air base said the enlisted man, whom he declined to identify, joined his buddies and started on the trip overseas.

Community Chest Gets Organization Budgets

Robert I. Dickey, chairman, said the budgets are being studied, and the Community Chest budget for the year will be announced Saturday.

The annual Chest financial campaign will be held October 1-15.

Shafter Lake Venture To Go To Ellenburger

Sinclair Prairie Oil Company is to test the producing possibilities of the Ellenburger inside the proven limits of the Shafter Lake field in North-Central Andrews County. That area now has production from the Wolfcamp, lower Permian, and from the Devonian.

The wildest venture is to be at Sinclair Prairie No. 2-154 University, which was originally started to go to 10,200 feet, if necessary, to test into the Devonian.

It is 1,860 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 24, block 13, University survey. The project had reached 9,650 feet in the Devonian, and was continuing to make new hole.

It is inside the region already proven for both Wolfcamp and Devonian production. No tests have been run on the exploration, as operator is to carry it on to the Ellenburger, irregardless.

Some geologists expect that horizon to be encountered by the time the tools reach 12,000 feet.

Ellenburger DST Makes Water At No. 1 McElroy

Wilshire Oil Company No. 1 McElroy, deep prospector in West-Central Upton County, five miles east of the shallow McElroy field, and 660 feet from north and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 148, block E, CCSD&RGNG survey, ran a two and one half hour drillstem test in the Ellenburger at 13,257-277 feet.

There was a blow of air throughout the period. Recovery was the 2,000-foot water blanket, 200 feet of drilling mud, and 2,700 feet of salt water.

There were no shows of oil or gas. The project topped the Ellenburger at 13,860 feet, on an elevation of 2,749 feet. The formation had some faint oil stains in some of the drilling samples.

The project has run a Schlumberger survey and is now waiting for orders.

Due To Plug Back
It likely will plug back to about 9,900 feet and set casing, so tests can be made of three intervals up the hole which showed possibilities of some sort of petroleum production when drilled through.

Those zones are between 7,800 feet and 8,900 feet, and between 9,412-90 feet in the lower Permian, and between 9,900 feet and 9,900 feet in the Pennsylvanian.

The two upper horizons both developed some free oil, and informed observers think there is possibility that both sections might be developed for commercial oil production.

NW Dawson Wildcat Will Explore To San Andres

Childress Royalty Company, of Monahans, has filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas, requesting a permit to drill its No. 1 Scanlon, as a 5,000-foot wildcat to explore into the San Andres-Permian lime in Northwest Dawson County.

It will be 277 feet from south and east lines of section 89, block M, EL&RR survey. That makes it seven miles southwest of the town of Welch and about five miles south of the nearest production in the Welch field.

Operations are to begin at once.

Acidizing At Barnett Remains Unsuccessful

Fred Turner, Jr., and J. M. Hewley, Sr., (formerly Humble Oil & Refining Company), No. 1 Barnett, three miles northeast of the first Ellenburger oil well in the Benedict field, and 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 4, block Y, GC&SP survey, made the second attempt to treat the section at 12,200-325 feet, in the Ellenburger, with acid.

The tubing parted and the effort was unsuccessful. Operators are now fishing for the tubing.

SE Outpost To Benedum Continues To Flow Oil

Plymouth and Slick-Urschel No. 1 Taylor & Sadler, one location diagonally southeast of the discovery well of the Benedum field, and 660 feet from north and west lines of lot 4, section 50 1/2, P. B. Scott survey, was flowing between 10 barrels and 12 barrels. The flow was from pay above the total depth at 11,502 feet, in the Ellenburger.

The oil was fairly clean of mud. A three-eighth inch choke was being used. The pay had been washed with 300 gallons of acid. No water is showing from the formation.

NE Scurry Wildcat Has No Oil Or Gas On DST

American Republics Corporation No. 1 Koonsman, slated 8,000-foot wildcat, 15 miles northeast of Snyder, in Northeast Scurry County, and 2,115 feet from north and 3,270 feet from east lines of section 240, block 2, H&TC survey, ran a 30 minute drillstem test in a Pennsylvanian lime at 3,586-3,608 feet.

There was a fair blow of air for seven minutes, and it then died. Recovery was 90 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil or gas. The venture is to drill ahead.

The zone covered by the test had logged some indications of oil and gas in streaks.

No. 1 Standefor Swabs Salt Water After Acid

NELSON HURLS 3-1
WIN OVER DUSTERS—

Tribe Cinches Playoff Spot

The Midland Indians and the Vernon Dusters meet at 8:30 p. m. Friday in the second battle of a two-game series in Indian Park. It's no secret the Dusters will be bearing down to make up for their loss of Thursday. And the Indians will be hard to convince. The Tribe wants that victory to keep over Vernon in league standing. The visitors are one and one-half games behind the Indians.

The Midland Indians and Ernie Nelson cooled off the red-hot Vernon Dusters 3-1 Thursday night in Indian Park. The victory cinched Midland a spot in the league playoff. It was a fast, well-played ball game, which lasted just one hour and a half. It served up some of the best baseball of the season here.

Nelson was himself Thursday night. He was again the old master. He pitched like the Nelson of last season when he had the best earned run average in the loop and won 25 games. He struck out 12 Dusters and walked but two. He allowed five hits, only two of them solid.

From the start, fans saw the game was going to be tight like that. Dick Guy cracked it open in the second inning when he hit a fence-buster triple scoring Melillo (hit) and Perry (walk).

Vernon got into the game in the first of the fourth. Cowser hit scoring Holliday (hit). A fast double-play by the Indians broke up this threat.

Helped His Cause
Little Ernie decided to help his cause in the fourth frame so he drilled a hit through the shortstop scoring Perry, who had led off the inning with a single.

The Dusters really came a-rolling to Midland. They had just knocked off the league-leading Big Spring Broncs three straight. They have lost very few games in the last month as they became the rage of the league. But the Indians were ready for them. You could feel it. And Nelson was never better. It all added up to one of the better games of the season.

Chicago Cubs, Not Contenders Themselves, Have Lots To Say About Who Leads In National

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
They aren't going any place themselves, but the Chicago Cubs are having plenty to say in deciding the National League pennant winner. Mired in the basement almost from the start of the campaign and destined for one of their worst seasons in history, the Cubs have assumed the role of "spoilers" with a vengeance. They are raising havoc with the league leaders.

First they threw a monkey wrench into the pennant plans of the New York Giants, then the St. Louis Cardinals, then the Boston Braves, and now the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Dodgers came to town Tuesday sporting a seven-game winning streak. They had just crushed the Cardinals four straight, and were expecting to fatten up on the cellar-dwellers. The Cubs set them back by sweeping a doubleheader. The Brooks bounced back the next day to shut out the Cubs. But instead of folding up, the Bruins snarled back Thursday, edging out Burt Shotton's pennant-minded crew 7-6 to win the series three games to one. Two-point margin.

The defeat cut Brooklyn's first-place margin over the runner-up Braves to two percentage points. The Cards, in third place, are only a game and a half behind, and the fourth-place Pittsburgh Pirates trail by three games.

The Pirates lost an opportunity to pick up ground when they were beaten by the Giants 5-4 in Pittsburgh.

The Cubs pushed over the winning run in the sixth. With the score 6-5, Roy Smalley opened for the Cubs by coaxing a walk off Paul Minner, third Brooklyn hurler. Smalley moved to second on a sacrifice and raced home when Emil Varban singled over Billy Cox' head into left field.

Larry Jansen finally bagged his sixteenth victory for the Giants after falling five times, when he defeated Pittsburgh. He almost held the game in the ninth when Ralph

DOWN SPORTS LANE

with TANNER LAINE

We have been dishing out the info for all these days of the baseball season.

Now we want to know something. What fan or reader can tell us this: Where did the idea and custom of a seventh-inning stretch originate?

We are asking you. We have researched and came up with no answer. Maybe you have it. Let us know.

—SL—

Come a fan to our desk with the suggestion that fans here stage an "Umpire Appreciation Night." Now this fan believes the best duo of arbiters in the Longhorn League is Steve Sadowski and Bill Frank.

So we are offering the idea to you and you. The general idea would be to give the boys in blue a little present of some kind and show them "there's no hard feelings" among the fan base.

Admittedly, that's some umpiring in the league this year has been pretty stinky. Some of the callers have been not so bad. Our opinion is that Sadowski and Frank are the best they are honest and have the best they believe.

So take the fan's suggestion and mull over it a bit. Does it click?

—SL—

Folks here in Midland are becoming a little worried that baseball and the football are going to conflict. There's a high school grid game carded here on the evening of September 10. And the Midland Indians will be in the Longhorn League playoff Shaughnessy at that time.

The regular Longhorn League baseball season ends September 6. As planned, the playoff begins after a one-day rest on September 8. Now teams one and two in standings of the league have choices for the sites of the first two playoff games. The next two or three games are played at the sites of the teams not having first choice.

It is believed that Big Spring and Odessa are going to link up. Thus Big Spring probably will engage Vernon (he hope, hope, hope) in one Shaughnessy pairing. Odessa would engage Midland (hope, hope, hope) in the other. Naturally Big Spring (one) and Odessa (two) are going to choose their home sites for the first two games. That will leave Vernon and Midland as sites of the next two or three games. These games normally would fall on September 10 and 11.

The same situation will exist provided Vernon finishes third and Midland fourth. The pairings would be Big Spring-Midland and Odessa-Vernon. And the choice will still be Big Spring's and Odessa's. Midland should have finished one or two then we wouldn't be caught where our hair is short.

Something is going to have to be worked out here. Webb does not want to conflict with the high school football game. He can hardly afford to. His position is a hard one because the out-of-town opponent (baseball) is going to be pretty hard to coax.

School officials, Chamber of Commerce representatives and the Indians' management probably will meet in a little pow-wow, and soon, to see what can be arranged.

Meanwhile, fans are anxiously awaiting the findings of this pow-wow. There is no more miserable person than the fan torn between two sports—he likes his football and he likes his baseball.

An afternoon baseball game may be the only solution.

Good old Midland fans Thursday night pinched in $118 to start appreciation fund to give to the Midland Indians when the playoff is completed.

The fund is not a pennant fund. It will go to the ball players regardless of outcome in the Shaughnessy.

An appeal to fans to contribute to the fund continues. A collection is expected to be taken each night at the remaining home games. Let us be liberal.

A man, who prefers to remain anonymous, already has contributed $150.

The ball now is rolling. Come in, Midland supporters, and let's send the boys home with a wonderful memory of how really nice Midland can be.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An O'Neal, Indiana state champion, staged the biggest upset to date in the Women's Western Amateur golf tournament to go up Friday against Dot Kietly of Long Beach in a semifinal match.

The blonde, 21-year-old Miss O'Neal eliminated Dorothy Kirby, Atlanta, Ga., veteran 1 up on the 19th hole on the Olympic Club's Lakeside Course Thursday.

Miss Kietly, the California state champion, advanced to the semifinals with a 4 and 2 defeat of Mrs. James Ferrie, also of Long Beach.

In the other bracket, the semifinalists were Polly Riley of Fort Worth, trans-Mississippi champion, and Margaret Gunther of Memphis. The Texas advanced with a 3 and 2 defeat of Alice Bauer, Long Beach, while Miss Gunther was defeating Carol Diringer, Tiffin, Ohio, 6 and 5.

Although the negro population of the United States has increased sharply through the years, the proportion of negroes to white people has declined sharply since 1790.

Loop Playoff Bracket May Be Set Friday

By The Associated Press
The playoff bracket in the Longhorn League may be completed Friday night.

At this time fourth-place Vernon is "dormie" over fifth-place Ballinger. This means if Vernon loses the remainder of its games and Ballinger wins its contests, the two clubs could tie for the fourth spot.

The league race closes Monday. Thursday night Vernon lost to Midland 3-1 while Ballinger was falling to Big Spring 9-2.

In other games, Del Rio beat Sweetwater 19-12 and Odessa edged San Angelo 2-1. Big Spring is in first place, Odessa second and Midland third.

Austin Buddies Play For Crown

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—Austin, Texas, and Jacksonville, Fla., play for the American Legion junior baseball sectional championship here Friday night.

The Austin team, sparked by little Jack Brinkley's pitching and hitting, forced the series into its third game with a 4-1 victory Thursday night. Each team now has one loss.

Brinkley held the Floridians to five hits, drove in Austin's first run in the eighth and its last in the ninth.

Leon Carter, Jacksonville right-hander, fanned 16 men. But Austin nipped him for five of its seven hits in the eighth inning. Until then, Carter had pitched one-hit ball.

Perkowski Is Standout For Hurler Trophy

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor
The Texas League is engaged in selecting the "Player of the Year" and its "Pitcher of the Year."

The player award probably will present considerable argument but the top hurler trophy looks right down the alley for Harry Perkowski of Tulsa.

Perkowski is the only pitcher to win 30 or more games and has lost only nine. In other words, he has captured more than one-fourth of his club's victories as the Oilers hug second place in the league race.

Thursday night Perkowski hung up his twenty-first dedication. The Oiler's southpaw blanked Beaumont's Exporters 7-0 with a five-hit exhibition.

Jehny Lane sparked the Tulsa 10-hit attack with three blows and a sacrifice.

Fort Worth's Casts, who have 13 games to play and are seven and one-half ahead of Tulsa, appear certain to win the Jake Als Memorial Award for leading the race over the Tulsa-season route.

Buff's Whip Rebeles

Thursday night the Casts edged San Antonio 5-4, coming from behind and winning in the ninth with runs batted in by Jack Lindsey and Homer Matney.

Third-place Houston, six and one-half games ahead of fourth-place San Antonio with 12 tilts to play, whipped Dallas 7-5. There was nothing wrong with Dallas hitting as the Rebels clubbed out 17 blows, but the Dallas hurling was spotty.

Shreveport's Sports, in a hot fight with San Antonio for a play-off spot, split with Oklahoma City in a double-header. The Sports are only a game back of San Antonio.

Oklahoma City got four runs in the fifth inning to lick Shreveport 7-4 in the opener. Shreveport turned the tables in the afterpiece, driving across nine runs in the second inning to notch a 12-6 triumph.

Crues Must Hit Five Homers To Smash Record

By The Associated Press
Bob Crues, Amarillo's slugging man, must average a home run per game to beat the national record in circuit smashes.

Crues got his sixty-fifth of the season Thursday night as Amarillo beat Albuquerque 7-5 in the West Texas-New Mexico League race.

Amarillo has five games to go and the record is 69.

The Gold Sox moved within five games of league-leading Albuquerque by trimming the Dukes, Jimmy Heller chalked up his twentieth pitching victory.

Lubbock, in third place, ran one game back of Amarillo, just its winning streak to ten with a 3-2 decision over Lamesa.

Fourth-place Pampa thumped Abilene 9-6 as Avon Driggers also won his twentieth mound triumph.

Clovis licked Borger 19-11 in a slugfest battle that saw Wilcy Moore drive in eight tallies.

Soviet Weaknesses

Who gets the error on the play that led the State Department to demand the recall of Jacob Lomakin, the Soviet consul general in New York? Some member of the Russian team kicked the diplomatic ball around in a most awkward, amateurish fashion in the case of the Soviet school teachers.

He is the man, of course, who made the dangerously intemperate charges against the federal government and the New York police department. He is the man who forced Mrs. Kasenkina into an obviously untrue statement, and told three different stories about her jump from the consulate window.

But it is safe to suppose that in a matter so embarrassing to them, the top men in Moscow would plan their own campaign of retaliation and pass along the orders to their representatives on the scene. That would be normal diplomatic procedure. And if this supposition is correct, then the Stalin organization looks like anything but an outfit of big-league statesmen.

Even such a crackpot as Hitler, though he might rant like a madman in his rabble-rousing speeches, kept a certain amount of decorum in his diplomatic dealings. But this Soviet barrage of false accusations and insults, in which Ambassador Panysushkin significantly took part, is almost unprecedented in modern history.

The likeliest explanation of the whole amazing affair perhaps is that the Kasenkina-Samarin incident was an unexpected blow that caught the Kremlin off guard. In striking back, the Soviet government seems to have lost its head and to have succeeded only in looking ridiculous.

The reason for this may well be that the Soviet leaders are not skilled diplomats. All of them are intellectually insular, and some of them are geographically insular as well. Premier Stalin has scarcely been out of Russia in his almost 70 years. A few top men like Molotov have been abroad. But everywhere they carry with them the closed mind which refuses to try to understand what is foreign and potentially fearful.

The Soviet leaders have not only set up a barrier of education and propaganda to protect the Russian people from intellectual and social contact with the outside world and the unvarnished truth. They also have, to some extent, set an example by erecting a similar barrier in their own minds.

If, by remote chance, the Kasenkina-Samarin incident could have taken place in Russia and could have reached the point it reached here, the authorities most likely would have acted just as they have. And in Russia it would have been easy to get away with it.

But the authorities forgot or did not know that the truth is not suppressed in the United States. They forgot or did not know that what actually happened in this case would be presented to the world, buttressed by fact, and lined up beside the Russian fabrications.

Certainly the whole unpleasant business has shown a fundamental weakness in Russian policy. But whether that weakness will make the Soviet government any easier to get along with, or whether it can be exploited to build a firmer foundation for peace, is another and less hopeful matter.

A Peek Into The Workings Of The Russian Mind

WASHINGTON COLUMN

This Man J. Peters Is One Of Communism's 'Hot Shots'

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON—In trying to put the finger on J. Peters, the U. S. Immigration Service and the House Committee on Un-American Activities are pointing at one of the real hot shots of U. S. communism.

Whittaker Chambers—ex-Communist courier whose Judas-like devotion to "his best friend" Alger Hiss led him tearfully, "in remorse and pity," to testify that Hiss had been a Communist—also testified that this J. Peters was head of the entire U. S. underground. Chambers says Peters introduced him to Hiss.

J. Peters now faces deportation from the United States for illegal residence in this country. Government authorities say his real name is Alexander Goldberger. He was born in Cop, Austria-Hungary—now Czechoslovakia—Aug. 11, 1896. He served in the Hungarian army from 1914 to 1918. He first came to the United States in 1924 and re-entered in 1928.

As Goldberger, he made two attempts to obtain U. S. citizenship. He took out first papers in 1924, but allowed them to lapse. He again made application for citizenship in 1939. During the war he was registered as an enemy alien. He is known to have promoted the entry of many European immigrants to the United States.

Man Of Many Names Goldberger has used a number of aliases. He is known as Alexander Stevens, Steven Lapur, Steve Miller, Isidor Boorstein, J. Peters and J. V. Peter.

As Isidor Boorstein he traveled to Europe on an American passport. Whittaker Chambers testified that Peters had told him the name Boorstein was taken from records in New York Public Library. The original Isidor Boorstein had died as a child.

There are many gaps in the man's record. He has shown an amazing ability to disappear at intervals. When the Browder passport fraud was a hot issue some years ago, Peters was wanted as a witness but could not be found.

In 1942, he got a Reno divorce from Franceska Amersak Goldberger, who was born in Czechoslovakia. Also in 1942 he made a trip to Hollywood. He stayed at the home of a prominent movie director, where many top-flight Communists came to confer with him.

He is known to have headed the Hungarian section of the U. S. Communist Party Executive Committee for several years. In 1945, as Steve Miller, he was New York membership and personnel secretary. He taught classes in the New York County Communist training school. Under the name of Stevens he has given instruction in the Lenin school, Moscow. According to a report of the Communist International he was at one time looked upon as top authority on admissions and expulsions from the U. S. Communist Party. He was arrested on Oct. 8, 1947, on charge of being an alien hostile to the interests of the United States. He posted $5,000 bond in U. S. Treasury savings certificates.

Wrote Manual As J. Peters, in 1935, he wrote "A Manual of Organization for the Communist Party." It is an amazing compilation. It gives detailed

Geology Students At Sul Ross Complete Summer Field Course

ALPINE—Students of geology at Sul Ross State College joined the host of geological activity in the Big Bend Country this Summer. The first annual Summer field course in geology was conducted from a camp in the vicinity of Goat and Cienega Mountains in the western part of Brewster County, and students taking residence courses at the college in Alpine studied various geological phenomena in the Marathon Basin and Davis Mountains on regularly scheduled field trips.

The Big Bend region long has been known as a geologist's paradise. Students and professional workers from several colleges, universities and other state and national institutions have been coming into the area to observe and study the many geological features, which are so well displayed, for many years.

Dr. R. M. Hawkins, president, and the curriculum committee of the college added geology to the curriculum beginning with the Fall semester of the 1947-48 school year.

'The Rose' Starts Journey To U. S.

YOKOHAMA—(AP)—Military guards hustled Mrs. Iva d'Aquino aboard an Army transport so fast Friday newsmen and photographers missed the California-born niece accused of wartime "Tokyo Rose" broadcasts against the United States.

Protests to port authorities against the shielding of a person accused of treason resulted in relaxing the restrictions by Lt. Col. R. R. Sears, port commander. She was allowed of her own volition to leave her cabin aboard the General Hodge and walk up the gangplank again to pose with her guards for an Associated Press and one other cameraman. Others had departed. She was not permitted to talk with newsmen, however.

The ship is due to dock in San Francisco, where Mrs. d'Aquino, who married a Portuguese at the end of the war, will be tried.

Television Is Melange Of Visual Static

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK—(AP)—The Westward Ho progress of the co-axial cable is changing the life of America—toward peace.

That mysterious cable goes on creeping and crawling across the land like a rampant caterpillar with no future beyond the warmth of its own fuz.

And in some mysterious way there is a strange new glimmer in the home called television that seems to follow wherever the co-axial snake lays its length. And it is going farther across the country every day.

After watching various homespun Paderewskis of the radio dials whirl their hopeful sonatas, I can certify television is a wonderful way to pick out the tweed pattern for a new Fall suit.

If you are one of the majority of the 143,000,000 American people who await the arrival of the co-axial cable with bated breath, I say: Take another breath.

The thing you are most likely to catch in a television program is a Brooklyn Dodger outfielder stealing third base with Hamlet's ghost riding his left shoulder while a quiet chevot herringbone fights with a Scotch plaid to wipe out the cheering bleachers.

Visual Static The herringbone and the plaid are visual static. While the host is trying to dial them out, the wise guest call: Ebbebs Field long distance—collect—to find out what happened to the outfielder. By then the player usually has been sold to a minor league farm.

The greatest friends of the turtle-slow co-axial cable and its shimmering gift of television are bartenders.

They report that video—a medical term for this bifocal pictorial vitamin known as television—is a better sedative than the Mickey Finn, the barkeep's old reliable for quieting obstreperous alcoholics.

Once the television screen embraces a couple of semi-pro pugilists locked in silent anguish, the most Bourbon-bevilled customer sinks into a stupor of eyeball awe.

"We haven't had a broken skull in the place since we put in our television set," said one Martini manufacturer.

"It even shuts off the juke box. It's the first thing to come along to help the bartender in 2,000 years."

$448,000 Lawsuit Is Moved To Dallas

DALLAS—(AP)—The suit in which Howard Hughes seeks $448,000 from United Aircraft Corporation because of a 1946 airplane crash in which he was injured was transferred to Dallas Thursday.

The suit was filed originally in Houston. It was transferred to 44th District Court here because United Aircraft appointed Thomas Knight, a Dallas attorney, to act for it.

Hughes was injured July 7, 1946, when his specially built XF-11 plane piled into a string of houses in Beverly Hills, Calif. The suit asks $238,000 for the Hughes Tool Company of Houston and $250,000 for personal damages.

The suit claims the crash occurred because United Aircraft supplied faulty propellers for Hughes' plane.

The DOCTOR Says Surgery Superior To Supports In Treatment Of Hernia Cases

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D. Written for NEA Service

A rupture, or hernia, occurs when some of the soft tissues of the body bulge through the wall which is supposed to keep them in place. It is most common in the groin.

Most of these happen in the weak places, which nature has not built any too well. A rupture can also develop through a scar of an old operation, or a place which has been weakened by injury.

Most ruptures appear for the first time after some heavy strain, such as lifting. This does not mean that the weak spot was not there before, but the strain causes it to give way.

One method of treatment is to try to keep the contents in place and support the weakened wall by means of a support or truss. This is fairly satisfactory for those who do not have to engage in heavy exertion.

With modern methods of surgery, it is usually possible to put the soft tissues, such as the intestines, back where they belong, and

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D. QUESTION: What does cauterizing involve, and for what conditions is it recommended?

ANSWER: Cauterization is the word used to define the destroying of tissues by heat, usually electric heat. It can be used successfully in treating several different kinds of local disorders or tumors, particularly those on the surface of the skin or in other accessible regions.

To repair the wall so strongly that they are kept in place permanently. Constant improvement in surgical methods have made the chances for permanent cure better and better.

Several years ago, there was a great deal more said about injection than there is now. The purpose of the injection treatment is to irritate the tissues, so that they will form a thick scar at the point where the hernia is bulging out.

The scar is supposed to force the contents of the hernial sac back where they belong. Unfortunately, this requires several treatments, carries considerable risk, and the scar tissue is not always strong enough to do the job. For these reasons, injection treatments are now used very infrequently.

W. W. Virtue Stores Will Observe Sixteenth Anniversary Of Founding

The Virtue store in Midland and other cities will observe, September 7-25, the sixteenth anniversary of the founding of the first store operating under the W. W. Virtue firm name at Dodge City, Kan., by W. W. Virtue.

It was in 1932 that the first store was opened. Store No. 2 was opened in 1933 at Perryton, Texas. Other stores followed in Western Kansas, Texas and Oklahoma, with new locations at Delta, Colo., and Artesia, N. M. Stores operating under the W. W. Virtue firm name now total 21.

In addition to these modern retail department stores, the company operates at wholesale with hotels, hospitals and other institutions in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Nebraska, Minnesota, Arizona, Wyoming and Arkansas.

General Offices
General offices and central warehousing facilities are maintained at Wichita, Kan. The company maintains its own staff of buyers at 421 Seventh Avenue in New York City, where facilities are maintained for receiving garments for prompt distribution to Virtue stores.

W. W. Virtue, a Kentuckian by birth, who quit railroading to join a national chain store and later a Southwestern group of stores, is chairman of the board of directors of W. W. Virtue, Inc. He resides in Dodge City, Kan.

Roy C. Russell is president and treasurer of the firm, and W. B. Reid, R. P. MacEhinney and P. W. Neudorfer are vice presidents. H. G. Carley is secretary, and Lorraine Gustafson is assistant secretary. Virtue, Russell, Reid, Neudorfer, P. H. Howell and Paul R. Schreiner are directors.

Contest Announced
A contest is being staged in connection with the birthday anniversary. Cash prizes will be awarded.

Oil Industry Plans Display At Fair Here

The oil industry will be represented at the Midland County Fair, September 30 and October 1 and 2. Decision to present a display of information, geological specimens and other features of interest connected with the oil development and production business at the fair was reached Thursday afternoon at a meeting of the Petroleum Committee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

The committee will prepare charts and placards giving interesting information about the oil business in Midland and the Permian Basin. The display also will include an assortment of geological materials, cores, drill cuttings and other such items.

Fair-Parade
In addition, units of the petroleum industry will be invited to enter decorated floats in the parade which will be staged September 30, the opening day of the fair.

Attending the Thursday meeting were Paul L. Davis, chairman, and the following members: J. E. Warren, J. W. House, B. Dykstra, D. G. Roberts, R. F. Peters, Russell C. Conkling, W. A. Yeager, W. A. Waldschmidt, C. W. Van Alstyne and James C. Watson.

Tom Sealy, president of the Chamber of Commerce, Delbert Downing, manager, and DeWayne Davis, assistant manager, also were present.

Delegates May Have To Draw For Seats

DALLAS—(AP)—Dallas delegates may have to draw straws for seats at the state Democratic convention in Fort Worth September 14.

County Chairman Arthur Stevenson says the State Executive Committee has notified him 174 seats in the Rogers Memorial Coliseum, where the convention will be held, have been reserved for Dallas County.

Two factions are fighting to represent Dallas at the convention—and neither can fit into the space. Stevenson says States' Righters have 1,200 delegates. The Truman faction named 532 delegates.

About one-tenth of the population of the United States is negro.

Friends Claim Manford Will Be House Speaker

AUSTIN—(AP)—Friends of Rep. Durwood Manford of Smiley claim he has been assured election as speaker of the House of Representatives at the 51st session.

Representatives Bill Miller, Jim Hefflin and Searcy Bracewell of Houston announced in a formal statement here Thursday that 83 of the 150 members of the House nominated in the Democratic primaries have pledged themselves to support Manford. It takes 76 votes to be elected.

Manford is opposed by Rep. Joe Kilgore of McAllen.

Air Force Conducts Study On Sighting For Aerial Gunners

BLOOMINGTON, IND. — (AP) — There seems to be a peculiar rhythm of error when humans try to sight a gun on a moving target. This rhythm is the frequency with which they continually swing beyond the target, or over-correct for the swings. And it seems to be about the same for everyone.

The finding comes from a study designed to make American aerial gunners more deadly in their aim. It's directed by Dr. D. G. Ellison, of the Indiana University psychology department, and sponsored by the Air Force Laboratory at Wright Field.

Doctor Ellison is trying to determine the character of natural, ever-present human error that an operator transmits to a mechanical device. With that knowledge, the instruments or controls can be designed to fit the human operator and compensate for human error.

This kind of work is a new field, engineering psychology.

Like Auto Driver
"It's roughly similar to the relation of a driver of a car to the steering of the car," he said. "The driver is constantly subject to tremors in his arms, but the steering mechanism is so designed that it filters out those tremors and they have no effect on the wheels. Similar to the arm tremors is a natural oscillation in the human system, so strong that an aerial gunner is constantly losing the target in his sight, and having to make corrections."

So far, the frequency of oscillation appears to follow a pattern in all the persons studied. In the tests, they try to follow a target with a pointer.

This common pattern is significant, since it might be expected that the frequency would vary among individuals, depending upon their speed of reaction. Individual variation in the degree of oscillation or wavering is not so important. Any dampening device put into the gun sight would take care of all the oscillating, strong or light. The next problem Doctor Ellison said, is to learn whether the frequency changes under emotional stress, as in combat action.

Artists Compete For Vatican Door Design

VATICAN CITY—(AP)—A second competition will be held among artists who submitted the 13 best projects for St. Peter's church's new bronze doors, a Vatican special committee has announced. The twelve artists who each received a gold medal for their designs last March were invited to submit further particulars of their projects to the committee.

To each of the twelve a special award of $250 will be granted to cover expenses. The winner of the second competition will be required to make a contract with the Vatican authorities for the construction of the two doors.

Are AMERICAN GOES TO WORK

Lunch box, leather jacket and a smile . . . symbols of American Labor . . . of America going to work.

The lunch box is our emblem of abundance. In many lands a working man carries his scant ration in an old paper bag—if, indeed, he owns a paper bag!

The leather jacket is a symbol of our standard of living. In many lands a working man shivers under a burlap shawl—if, indeed, he owns a burlap shawl!

But the smile speaks most eloquently of all. It's the living expression of our happiness . . . our freedom . . . our FAITH. In many lands a working man cannot smile!

Thank God for the blessings this land has been able to bestow on those who build it. Worship God in the churches whose joyous faith safeguards man's right to smile!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE STORY: Hilary Blenstone, British secret agent, recalls lying wounded in the Indian desert beside a crashed plane, after completing a dangerous mission. He remembers feeling a desperate need to return to England and Nana Parthing, his family's country home. (He doesn't know that Nana Parthing has never met, has adopted his old room and eagerly awaits his return.) Next thing Hilary is aware of, he is back in London dropping in at his club. But no one seems to know of his presence. Hilary hears that his brother, George, has been cutting in with Alice, Hilary's fiancée. At first, he thinks it's all a dream. Then with dismay he overhears a report of his death. Shocked at first, he later decides to enjoy the situation. Next day he visits his mother's town house, George and his mother are awaiting Alice for lunch. They, too, are unaware of his presence. His mother tells George that she has had another letter from the people at Nana Parthing. "What people?" asks Hilary.

XIII
"The Archers again?" George sighed with resignation. "Well, what do they want now?" "They want that tree down at the end of the drive where it joins the road," replied his mother. "They say it's dangerous—in the way, you know." "That tree has been there a good many years and nobody has run afoul of it yet," said George. "Well, apparently the butcher's boy did smash himself up, on his bicycle. There was a car coming from the left's side, and it was the boy hit the tree and broke his collar-bone." "They're a sticky nuisance, those people. I almost wish we'd never let the place." "Let Nana Parthing!" cried Hilary in surprise. "If they'd only buy it—" she began, and hesitated. "You can't sell a place like that nowadays, mater, the market is stiff with them. It's too big and too far from town—and too expensive to keep up." "Your father was fond of it,"

BUMS MUST BARREL USED BOTTLES
CHICAGO (AP)—Etiquette has reared its pretty head on a strip of West Madison street where the bums take their ease. The boys can't toss whisky and wine bottles into the gutter any more. They have been notified by signs in saloon windows that the empties must be placed in yellow barrels at convenient corners. "We had to do something," said John W. Touhy, the ward boss. "One of my street cleaners picked up 460 bottles between Halsted street and the river (three blocks) in eight hours one night."

The nave is the part of the church reserved for the laity as distinguished from the part used by the clergy.

SIDE GLANCES

"Have some peanuts, folks—Mom didn't think you'd stay for dinner so you'd better fill up on something!"

"You'll find out if you're not careful," Hilary told him. "I suppose it's worth it," reflected George gloomily, and sampled the White Lady.

THEIR mother laid down the law with her chin in her hand. "George," she said suddenly, as though making up her mind, "you needn't think I haven't noticed." "Noticed what, old lady?" said George, blurring. "You're in love with Alice. I'm your mother and I can tell." "Ah, here we go," said Hilary with satisfaction. "How about it, George?" "You're much too clever, aren't you, mum? Besides, she's always run after Hilary, ever since they were kids." "I know," she agreed gravely. "I never could understand it." "Couldn't you, dear?" said Hilary, with rueful laughter. "George was looking self-conscious and pleased." "Bless you, mum, you are partial, aren't you?" "Oh, George, you ought to know by now that you're my favorite son."

"There you are, George, that's plain enough!" The private view had taken a slightly unexpected turn, but Hilary was still an interested spectator. It was not really news to him that George was the favorite. But all the same, it was odd to hear her say it, so shamelessly. "You may think I don't think of these things, but I do," his mother went on to assure George seriously. "And that's why I know Hilary isn't the marrying kind, and the sooner Alice finds that out the better!" "Yes, but in the meantime—until she does find out—I can't very well interfere, you know," George reminded her virtuously. "Oh, you men!" she cried in exasperation. "When will you understand that a woman wants to be won?" "Uh—I see," said George, and was visibly turning things over in his mind. "Careful, mother, you're giving him ideas," Hilary cautioned her. McKenney on Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service
Maxwell L. Johnson of Mill Valley, Calif., sent me today's hand after he had read a recent column I had written on the Vienna Coup. He wrote that he thought this hand was a tough one because of the choices it offered, either of two finesses or a squeeze with a Vienna Coup.

Mr. Johnston commented that the bidding had a wild west tinge, and we must agree that it did. The opening lead of the king of spades knocked out dummy's ace. The king of hearts was led, East won and led back the ten of spades. Had he led a diamond at this stage, Mr. Johnston said his hair would have turned white, wondering what to do.

He trumped the ten of spades, picked up the last heart, and then asked, "What would you do now?" After all, a finesse needs only one card to be right, while a squeeze needs at least two." At this point also he made an uncomplimentary remark about East's double and his failure to shift to a club or a diamond when he was in with the ace of hearts.

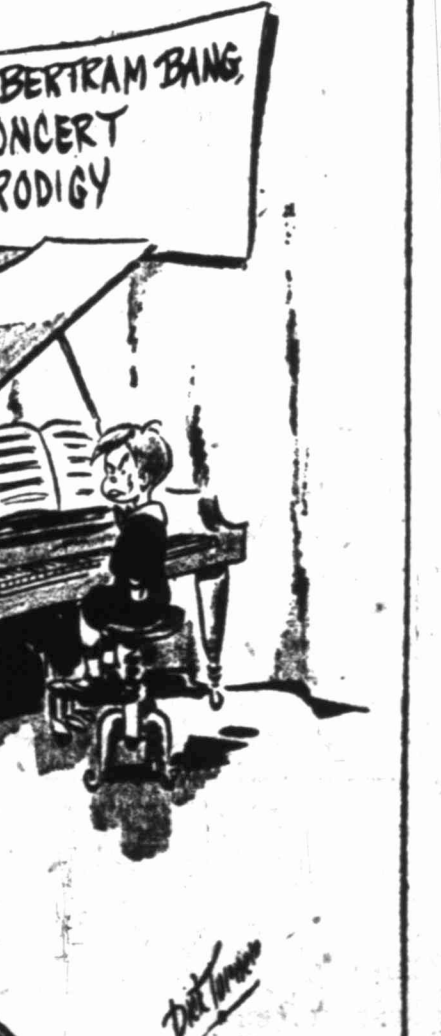

Italians Plan New Power Project

ROME (AP)—Italy's power shortage and unemployment will be eased by a new project for the construction of 59 power stations, it has been announced. The new stations will give 7.4 billion kilowatts more power to war-damaged Italy's electric plants, and will complete the north-south electric network from the Alps to Sicily.

The electric power will cross the Messina Strait to Sicily, an attempt never made before, the announcement said. The program was decided in negotiations between public works and industry ministry officials and private enterprises.

Tale Of Secret Portrait Uncovered SOUTHWEST HARBOR, ME.—(AP)—The tale of a "secret" portrait of the Duke of Windsor came to light during an exhibition here by an artist who says the Duke asked permission to chew gum at sittings. Virginia Keep Clark of Winter Park, Fla., and Southwest Harbor said the Duke engaged her to do his portrait as a surprise for the Duchess at Nassau, Bahamas in 1942. Mrs. Clark had been painting the Duchess' portrait at Government House, Nassau. She recalls the Duke's request startled her because she believed he disliked sitting for portraits. Sittings, she said, were at the Duke's office and one day, when a secretary warned the Duchess was approaching, the artist and her royal subject preserved secrecy by hiding until the coast was clear. Windsor humorously told Mrs. Clark at the outset, she said, that he had one "frightful" habit—"I chew." He explained that what he chewed was gum, and she told him to go ahead while she sketched.

Sparkling Shirt Studs Give Old Blouses Lift Give old blouses a new fashion fling this Fall by replacing run-of-the-mill buttons with sparkling shirt studs. A shirt front studded with glitter and cuffs flashing more of the same will put a simple blouse right up with the showy new styles which take their cues from fashions of grandpa's day. All you need to do to emblazon an old shirt front with new glitter is to snip off buttons and make tiny buttonholes where they lodged. Buttonholes provide openings for stud shafts to slip through. Fancy cuffs, given the same treatment, are ready for the splashiest cuff links you care to show at the edge of a suit sleeve. If you don't have studs or cuff links and can't swing a new set, you can make your own. Fancy buttons which are mounted on metal or plastic back can be sewed or soldered to inexpensive stud shafts. And, incidentally, the more glittery the buttons, the better. Linked together with a tiny chain, wire or even sewing thread, four buttons become a pair of cuff links. If you hesitate to tackle the job yourself, ask the help of your jeweler.

Johnson— (Continued from page 1) the report from Yoakum County in the South Plains on the New Mexico border, came in. Stevenson lost 121 votes and Johnson lost three in the official Yoakum figure. In Austin, Johnson issued a prepared statement Friday repeating his conviction he will have a majority when the official vote is completed. Referring to the Texas Election Bureau returns, Johnson said: "We cannot be responsible for the totals carried by an unofficial agency which has been reporting them, by implication or otherwise. We do say that when every vote is honestly counted in every county, Lyndon Johnson will be certified as the winner of the nomination. "The corrected reports released Thursday night by the Texas Election Bureau demonstrate what I have been consistently saying: that by the official count of the votes, Lyndon Johnson will have a substantial majority. Police Nab Nude Sun Bather In Senate Library WASHINGTON (AP)—Capitol police Friday seized a nude woman, described as an attractive brunette about 30 years old, on the fourth floor ledge of the Senate Law Library. The woman resisted police briefly before they succeeded in clothing her. Before she was taken from the ledge, the woman tossed a dollar bill, some small change and other contents from her purse to the ground. Capt. William J. Broderick of the capitol police said the young woman told him she is Dorothy P. Smith of Malone, N. Y. Walter S. Linscott, a bookbinder in the Senate Law Library, first saw the young woman on the ledge before she tossed her small change and tucked away in the upper reaches of the Senate wing of the capitol. Taking Sun Bath Linscott said he called out and told her it was against the rules to be on the roof. He said she replied calmly: "I'm just taking a sun bath." She was in the process then of removing her clothing, he said, so he called the capitol police. Linscott later told reporters one policeman approached the woman above the ledge and another from a lower floor level. They grabbed her before she could reach a balcony that projects over a drop of about 80 feet to the steps below.

Benes— (Continued from page 1) tion the Communists drafted. Klement Gottwald, the Communist he had appointed premier, succeeded him. He resigned as president once before when Adolf Hitler, greedy for the Czechoslovak Sudetenland, forced the Munich crisis which preceded World War II. He returned to Czechoslovakia in 1945 after wartime exile in the United States, Britain and briefly in Russia, where he signed a 20-year mutual assistance agreement with the Soviet Union in 1943. Mrs. Benes was with him when death came. She had been constantly at his side during his fatal illness. The Cabinet was called into special session for Saturday to arrange the funeral.

Oil & Gas Log— (Continued from page 1) east lines of lot 3, section 50 1/2, P. B. Scott survey, perforated the liner at 12,179-245 feet, with 100 shots, and at 12,250-290 feet, also with 100 shots. Those zones were treated with 2,000 gallons of acid. Operators were swabbing salt water at last report. No shows of oil or gas had been developed. The top of the Ellenburger is at 11,064 feet. It is expected that the perforating and testing will be continued all the way to the top of the formation. So far this development has not shown any oil or gas. However, no tests have ever been run on the top 500 feet of the Ellenburger.

Truman— (Continued from page 1) cleared out only when a Republican president is elected. He added with a smile that he thinks Dewey's intentions must be to eliminate Democrats, not Communists, from the government. The New York governor continued the attack Friday in a Labor Day proclamation which said that any labor trouble his state has had "may be traced to tap roots which are fed in Moscow or in Washington or in designs of selfish men ruthlessly pursuing power and wealth." Dewey did not amplify his linking of the United States and Russian capitals. While Truman employed a light touch in discussing Dewey's statements about Communists in Washington, he used a little stronger language to describe a charge by Stassen that Secretary of Agriculture Brannan had tried to keep prices from going down. That was just a misstatement of facts, that's all, Truman said. He went on to say that the crop price support program is not a big factor in high prices. Defend Health Program Truman's news conference statement supporting a national health insurance program put him squarely at odds with Dewey on that issue. The President said in a statement that "no health program, of course, can stand alone and apart from the economic and social circumstances of our citizens as individuals and families." The Administration has insisted its program does not mean "socialized medicine" but medical organizations have said that would be the result. In a chatty discussion with reporters of his yet incomplete campaign plans, Truman said he hopes to visit the South. He added that he expects a cordial reception there—nothing like the eggs and tomato barrage that has greeted Henry Wallace—despite Dixie opposition to his civil rights program.

Japan And Philippines Could Be Bastions In Next Conflict

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
That was a vastly encouraging statement which Gen. Douglas MacArthur issued in Tokyo on the third anniversary of Japan's surrender in the great war.

The general declared that Japan is equipped with the moral weapons "to repel the totalitarian advance." And he went on to link Nippon with the new South Korean republic and with the republic of the Philippines in "a triangular buttress" for democracy in Asia.

Freely interpreted, this strikes me as meaning there is unity of purpose between the Oriental trio and the United States. And to these three I think we must add China, whose spirit is willing though her flesh be weak.

General MacArthur confined his remarks to moral values, but your columnist for one finds it difficult not to expand the thought to include military considerations. After all, the Orient is seething with turmoil, and if there is another world war it most certainly will encompass that part of the globe—indeed it might well start there.

Japan Was Pivot
Let's analyze this Far Eastern situation from the military angle. Japan and the Philippines would be vital both for offense and defense in event of war with Russia. Japan was the pivot on which the Allied fortunes turned in the last war, and it was she who deprived us of the Philippines and other essential bases right at the outset. That won't happen again.

As for the Korean Peninsula ("a dagger pointed at the heart of Japan"), it is of course one of the world's highly strategic positions. So long as it remains under American military occupation it is a bastion in Democracy's defense. However, it lies under the muzzles of Russia's big guns, and it is given to wonder whether the U. S. high command would choose to defend Southern Korea in event of global war. There is such a thing as spreading your forces out too thin, you know.

Mighty Defense
While the loss of Korea would be a serious blow to our defense, the Philippines would provide a mighty defense, as our experience in the last war fully demonstrated. Moreover, General MacArthur's statement would seem to encourage the belief that Japan would be available, not only as a "bastion" for Democracy, but that she would in fact be an ally of the Western Powers. That is to say, Nippon not only could be used for a base but she would participate actively in the war.

Why all this talk about another world war?
Everybody knows by this time that there is danger of war. Still there is no present indication of any major explosion in the near future. Since it is clear that neither the Democrats nor the Soviet bloc want war, and are trying to avoid it, we are safe in assuming that if conflict does come soon it will be due to "spontaneous combustion"—something which neither side foresees.

As regards the near future, belief that Japan and the Philippines would be on the side of the Democrats certainly would make Moscow tread circumspectly.

Blind Vet Considers Radio Offer To Buy Eye For $10,000

AKRON, N. Y. (AP)—Herbert Larkin, 55-year-old farmer, Friday pinned his hopes of regaining his sight on a Woonsocket, R. I., man's offer to sell an eye for $10,000.

"I'd give anybody $10,000 to be able to see again," Larkin said.

But he added he would seek medical advice before contacting Victor St. Cyr, 39, of Woonsocket. St. Cyr said he needs the money to avoid placing his seven children in an orphanage.

Larkin was blinded by shell fragments in France during World War I.

He heard of St. Cyr's offer in a radio newscast. Asked what he would do if he regained his vision, Larkin replied:

"I don't really know for sure. But I guess I'd just sit around and look at things for a while."

VA Says Veteran Enrollment In Schools Will Drop

By VERN HAUGLAND
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Veterans Administration (VA) says the number of war veterans in college this fall may drop 10 per cent below last winter's peak.

"It is logical to expect most of this decline among the junior colleges, teachers colleges and other small colleges and universities," Harold V. Stirling, VA education director, said in an interview. "Many veterans who enrolled in junior colleges are completing the two-year courses offered by these schools. Some may continue undergraduate study in other colleges."

Others enrolled in the smaller schools while waiting for openings in the larger institutions of their choice. They will transfer to these larger schools as soon as openings are available. As a result of these transfers, total war-veteran enrollments in the larger colleges and universities are expected to hold fairly constant during the next academic year, while marked decreases will be noted in the enrollments of smaller colleges.

Peak enrollment in the veterans educational and job-training program was 2,892,000 last December. Enrollment of veterans in colleges alone reached 1,245,000. Enrollments declined steadily and toward the end of the academic year last May had decreased to 2,703,000 in all programs and 1,141,000 in the college level.

Stirling said the rate of decline among college enrollments probably will be slower than originally expected because of increased subsistence allowances granted by Congress this year. "These increases will enable many veterans—particularly those with dependents—to complete their college courses rather than abandon them for economic reasons," Stirling said. "Nevertheless, college enrollments may decline as much as 10 per cent below last December's peak."

Stirling said the veterans enrollment peak in schools below the college level has not yet been reached. The number of veterans, particularly in business and vocational schools and high schools, has increased during the past year. Stirling said they can be expected to increase again this fall in spite of the restraining effect of the recent ban on a vocational or recreational course. Higher ceilings on earned income plus subsistence allowance will account for a part of the increase.
