Senate Battle Shifts To Convention

Clay Says War Not Imminent In Berlin

BERLIN—(AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay said Tuesday: "I don't think war is just around the corner."
The U. S. military governor made the statement to American newsmen who came to Berlin from the United States to view the British-American air lift operation supplying Soviet-blockaded Western Berlin.

Clay added he doubted the Russians "will make Berlin the final issue on the entire German problem."
The American commander predicted that before any forceful actions were attempted to break the 82-day-old Soviet blockade, the U. S. would exhaust "all other means at its disposal" to reach agreement.

Speaking of the Soviet-sponsored drive for withdrawal of all occupation forces from Germany, the American commander said:
"This could be very popular in Germany, but not now. Fear of Communist domination is very great. The Germans would be very disturbed at the withdrawal of our Army."
"We set out to have a very different job in Germany any time," Clay continued. "I don't know what the hell we came here for in the first place if we are going to get out now."

Asked whether the combined British-American Army maneuvers in Bavaria had proved anything, Clay branded as "ridiculous" reports that the operation simulated defensive action against a Russian invasion.
Asked if the Western Allied forces in Germany were strong enough to fight such an invasion, Clay said:
"If we were waiting for an immediate war with the Soviet, they would not be adequate."
The Soviet-banned news agency said Tuesday five German soldiers took part in the disorders that followed Thursday's giant anti-Communist meeting here had been sentenced to 25 years in prison.

Kermit-Andrews Highway Opened

KERMIT—Hundreds of highway enthusiasts from West Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma gathered here Tuesday for the official dedication of the new Kermit to Andrews highway, which is an important segment of the Broadway to Big Bend Highway.
The paving of the Kermit-Andrews road was completed recently.
Kilmer B. Corbin, Dawson County Judge and state senator-elect, was on hand to preside at a meeting of the Broadway to Big Bend Highway Association, of which he is president. Charles Roberts of Andrews, secretary, and one of the association organizers, was among the early arrivals.
A luncheon at noon at the American Legion Hall was a feature of the day's program. A barbecue is scheduled at 6:30 p. m. at the Andrews-Winkler County line, where a ribbon-cutting ceremony will officially open the new highway.

Flood Threat Eases In Rio Grande Valley

By The Associated Press
Light rains fell Tuesday in the Houston-Galveston coastal area while partly cloudy skies held down temperatures in most other parts of the state.
The flooding Rio Grande was at a standstill at 22.9 feet—1.9 feet above bank level—at Hidalgo in the lower valley. No serious damage was expected.
The state continued to enjoy mild temperatures. The highest reading Monday was 91 at Mineral Wells. Amarillo's 83 was the coolest overnight reading.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

PARIS—(AP)—The United Nations announced Tuesday the Security Council will meet Thursday on the invasion of Hyderabad by India.
AUSTIN—(AP)—Certification of Henry Wallace and Glen Taylor as nominees of the Progressive Party to be placed on the Texas ballot was received Tuesday by Secretary of State Paul Brown.
SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—The Army began signing up dock men Tuesday to load its strike-bound cargoes despite an official "boycott" by Harry Bridges' CIO Longshoremen.
KARACHI, PAKISTAN—(AP)—A communique from the Hyderabad Defense Ministry said Tuesday Indian troops suffered 1,000 casualties on the first day of their invasion of the princely state.

Confident Of Victory

At a meeting of the Texas Democratic Executive Committee in Fort Worth, the battle of ballots continued to hold the spotlight as the two senatorial candidates made their appearances. Here, Lyndon B. Johnson, center, confers with his attorneys, Charles E. Francis, left, of Houston, and Alvin J. Wirtz, right, of Austin. Johnson was certified as the winner, subject to confirmation by the State Democratic Convention.

Western Envoys Renew Parleys With Molotov

MOSCOW—(AP)—The three Western envoys went to the Kremlin Tuesday for a meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.
This was the first four-power meeting in Moscow since August 30, when U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith, French Ambassador Yves Chateaugay and special British Envoy Frank Roberts saw Molotov and his deputy, Andrei Vishinsky, on the Berlin question.
The three envoys met among themselves just before they went to the Kremlin. The new meeting followed the return of Francois Seydoux, French political adviser in Germany, with reports on the talks held in Berlin by the four military governors.
The three envoys left for the Kremlin together from the U. S. Embassy, where they had been meeting.
Prime Minister Stalin was not present at the Kremlin meeting, but in a long series of four-hour talks which began the end of July.
Following the session, the three Westerners went to confer at the British Embassy, an American Embassy spokesman said.

Where Else? But Chamber Of Commerce

Where else could it happen but in a Chamber of Commerce office?
It seems the Midland Chamber of Commerce plans a monthly newsletter. Fighting up a news story which read "Midland Building Pushes Past Four And Half Million Mark," the reprint in the Chamber of Commerce bulletin read: "Midland Building Pushes Past Four and Half Billion Mark."
Wow!
Of course it was a typographical error but it was one which you guessed it, did not entirely displease the Chamber of Commerce.
"Why, it's not impossible," Delbert Downing said.

Firemen Canvassing Downtown Area For Iron Lung Donations

Midland firemen were canvassing downtown business offices Tuesday for public contributions to their "iron lung" fund.
They opened a drive Monday to raise $1,200 for a portable respirator to be used in any emergency where artificial, mechanical stimulus to breathing may be necessary to save a life. A total of $40 to $50 was contributed Monday by Midlanders who came to the fire station to make donations, Chief Jim Walker reported.
The "lung" called a Mulliken Respiator, will be displayed Wednesday at the Chamber of Commerce. A factory representative will be here the rest of the week to demonstrate the machine, Walker said.

C. Of C. Seeks More Post Office Space

Chamber of Commerce directors, at their meeting Monday night in the organization's offices, authorized an all-out effort to obtain additional space in the Midland Post Office, and ordered a study of traffic conditions and regulations, with recommendations to be made to the Police Department.
Postmaster Noel G. Oates told of the crowded and congested situation existing in the office and of the resultant slowdown in mail service. He described the tremendous difficulties under which postal employees here are working, and termed a shortage of working space as the office's major problem.
"Postal service is a public service operated for the benefit of the citizens who are deserving of better service than we are able to give them under present conditions," Oates said. "We have made every effort through regular channels to obtain additional space, and all we have gotten is consideration and more consideration."
The postmaster said the Midland office had 41 employees in 1937 when the present federal building was completed. There was no city delivery at that time. Today, the Midland post office has 50 employees and nine city delivery routes, with four or five more needed, the Chamber officials were told. No space has been added since the building was erected.
Oates cited the increase in the parcel post business, and said the handling of packages in the limited space was a problem.

Johnson Wins Court Scrap In Jim Wells

ALICE, TEXAS—(AP)—The Jim Wells County Democratic Executive Committee is under a temporary injunction which forbids canvassing of the county's vote in the U. S. Senate runoff race.
It was obtained Monday by Lyndon Johnson in a suit which named Johnson's opponent, Coke Stevenson, among the defendants.
Judge L. Broster granted the order in 7th District Court. He overruled contentions by Stevenson's attorneys that he did not have jurisdiction. He said he did not see how granting the injunction "would interfere in any way with an election contest."
Stevenson's attorneys entered notice of an appeal.
Judge Broster said after the hearing that the injunction would be in effect until the case could be heard on its merits, or an election contest is filed.

Ballot Battle Continues

Lyndon Wins Initial Round In Committee

By DAVE CHEAVENS
FORT WORTH—(AP)—The State Democratic Convention roared off to a fighting start Tuesday with an effort to remove from its temporary roll the States' Rights delegation from Harris County.
Byron Skelton of Temple, floor leader of the pro-Truman or loyalist forces, moved to amend the executive committee's report which recommended seating of the anti-Truman delegation headed by Robert W. Milner, Jr.
He asked the convention to seat the pro-Truman delegation led by Sam D. W. Low. Skelton charged that many of the Harris County delegation were leaders of the States' Rights movement to elect Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina President.
But the see-saw battle between Lyndon Johnson and Coke Stevenson for the U. S. Senate nomination was certain to furnish most of the day's fireworks when it moved to the convention floor.
Johnson was on top by inches after the party executive committee certified him to the convention as the winner with an 87-vote margin. The vote in the executive committee, like everything else in the unprecedented race for the nomination, was close: 29 to 28.
Minority Report Due
Attorneys for both candidates heatedly exchanged serious charges and countercharges in presenting their arguments. The committee then Monday night voted to adopt a minority subcommittee report saying Johnson had received the votes necessary to become the nominee, and recommending that the convention so certify his name to the secretary of state.
Announcement that a minority report of the executive committee on the matter would be taken to the convention gave assurance that the committee's action was just another round in the bitter struggle for the nomination.
More than 500 spectators jammed the ballroom of the Blackstone Hotel for the committee battle between Stevenson and Johnson.
Stevenson led off in carrying the fight to the committee, and his attorneys led off with charges balloons had been stuffed to benefit Johnson in Jim Wells County. They said 202 votes—201 of them for Johnson—had been "cold bloodedly" added to the original count from Jim Wells County after the first tabulation.
Johnson's attorneys came back with harsh words. They flatly denied fraud and charged that "goon squads" had invaded Jim Wells County to obtain statements from Latin American voters. They challenged Stevenson to fight it out in court with them.
First Johnson, then Stevenson

Confusion Is Order Of Day At Convention

By MAC ROY RASOR
FORT WORTH—(AP)—Delegates to the State Democratic Convention were crowding doors to Will Rogers Auditorium an hour before convention time here Tuesday.
Outside, the sun played hide-and-seek with thick, low hanging clouds. Inside, at 10 a. m.—the time the convention was slated to begin—only a few of the leather-cushioned seats in the modern brightly-lit, air-conditioned auditorium were filled.
Another round in the U. S. senatorial war between Coke Stevenson and Lyndon Johnson was the chief topic of conversation.
Stevenson announced Tuesday morning that former Gov. Dan Moody would lead the Stevenson fight, contesting Johnson's 29 to 28 certification Monday night by the State Democratic Executive Committee.
Executive Committee Chairman Bob Calvert of Hillsboro arrived at 10:15 a. m. He chatted with a few delegates who went to the stage. Wave Stars And Bars
In the balcony, Harris County delegates waved the Stars and Bars of the Confederacy. The county's contested States' Rights delegation Monday won their fight for temporary seating at the convention.
By 10:30 a. m. the auditorium was better than half filled. Most delegates went directly to their seats. Others milled in the aisles. A few small groups huddled in conversation.
Applause scattered briefly through the delegations as the organ played "Are You From Dixie?" Other organ selections drowned much of the noise and bustle.
Johnson's Name Buzzes
Democratic Executive Committee Secretary Van M. Kennedy arrived at the auditorium at 10:45, heavily laden with party records.
Lyndon Johnson's name was buzzing from delegate to delegate throughout the balcony. There such county delegations as Bexar, Travis, Jim Wells, Starr and Duval were seated.
George Parr, South Texas Valley political leader, was surrounded by delegates. Photographers pushed to get in closer.
Mauri Maverick, former San Antonio mayor and congressman, huddled in the extreme top corner of the balcony with several Bexar delegates.
He raised his voice and said:
"That's the kind of fellow we want!"
Coke Stevenson, puffing his familiar pipe, stopped in the auditorium lobby to talk with friends.
"I'm still in there pitching," he said.

No loss of life was reported and property damage was not extensive.
Chief Storm Forecaster Grady Norton said at Miami the hurricane apparently would pass out to sea without any effects being felt along the U. S. coast.

Magnolia Gets Flowing Oil In N-C Upton Prospector

Prospects for the opening of a new oil field in the area immediately south of Midland, have been considerably brightened by a showing made at Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-A TXL, deep wildcat in North-Central Upton County less than one mile south of the Midland County line, and about 30 miles south of the city of Midland.
That prospector flowed oil for one and one-half hours during a drillstem test of a Pennsylvanian limestone formation 10,085-110 feet. A total of 12.89 barrels of petroleum was flowed out, and an additional 510 feet of clean oil and 490 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud was recovered when the testing tool was pulled.

Flowed One And One-Half Hours

The prospective new field opener is located 660 feet from north and west lines of section 31, block 40, TP survey, T-4-S.

In the Drillstem Test of the Oil-bearing Horizon, the Tester was Open for Four and One-Half Hours

As showed at the surface in one hour and 25 minutes. Drilling mud flowed at the top in one hour and 35 minutes, and oil started flowing at the top in two hours and 36 minutes.

During the First Hour the Drill Pipe Flowed out 11.53 Barrels of Oil

In the next 30 minutes it produced 1.39 barrels of oil. There was no water.

Gas Volume Reached a Maximum of 1,738,000 Cubic Feet per Day

Gravity of the oil was 46.7. Gas-oil ratio was 8.649-1.

During the Drillstem Test a Five-eighth-inch Bottom Hole Choke and a One-inch Top Opening were Used

New Coring Ahead
Final recovery, after all the drill pipe had been pulled, was 510 feet of clean oil and 490 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud. After the test was completed, the well was drilled to 10,112 feet, and is now coring ahead with a diamond core barrel.

This Prospector was Originally Started to Dig to the Ellenburger

So far as is known it is due to continue to that formation before attempting to do anything about any of the shows which have been encountered in the current formation, and in another higher up the hole in the Pennsylvanian.

Turner-Hewgley Discovery Funding Additional Tests

Fred Turner, Jr., and J. M. Hewgley, Jr., No. 1 Barnett, discovery for some sort of a commercial oil well from a Pennsylvanian limestone and shale section, in East-Central Upton County, three miles northwest of the center of the Midland County field, and 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 4, block 4, GC&SF survey, flowed eight hours and a three-quarter-inch choke, and in the first hour made 33 barrels of oil.

In the Second Hour the Oil Recovery was 24 Barrels

In the next six hours of flowing the well averaged 27.8 barrels of clean oil each 60 minutes.

To Try Different Chokes

It is still flowing at that rate when shuttin overnight. Flowing to test, using different sized chokes, will be continued for several days, before operators take the official Railroad Commission potential test gauge and complete the new pay discovery.

The Oil is Coming from Perforated Sections at 9,982-85 Feet at 10,062-05 feet; at 10,097-100 feet, and at 10,137-140 feet. Those zones had been treated with a medium amount of acid.

Gravity of the Oil Produced during the Eight Hours of Flowing was 58.7 Degrees

Gas volume was not reported.

Wilshire Is Preparing To Acidize 1 McElroy

Wilshire Oil Company No. 1 McElroy, West-Central Upton County wildcat, five miles east of the shallow McElroy field, and 680 feet from north and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 14B, block E, C&S&RGNG survey, was preparing to treat the intervals at 10,659-669 feet, and at 10,741-751 feet, with acid, and test, as soon as a minor machinery repair job is completed.

The Section to be Acidized had been Swabbed Natural, and Swabbed Dry

It is the Strawn formation of the Pennsylvanian.
Operator plans to test at least three other horizons, higher up the hole, after the zone now under investigation, has been thoroughly checked.

Amerada 1-E TXL Runs DST To Check Oil Signs

Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1-E TXL, situated Ellenburger wildcat in West-Central Sterling County, almost on the east line of Glascock County, and in section 37, block 32, TP survey, T-4-S, and 661 feet from south and west lines of the section, had logged some slight oil stains and some porosity in the Permian zone at 2,665-2,750 feet, and was running a drillstem test on that zone to check the shows.

First Methodist Circles Meet

Circles of the First Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service had early Fall meetings Monday in the homes of members. Business and study programs had the attention of the groups.

Mrs. Noel Oates, chairman of Mary Scharbauer Circle, was hostess in her home, 610 North Main Street, and presided for the business discussion. The circle will meet next week with Mrs. W. A. Black, 111 North G Street. Mrs. E. A. Crisman was the devotional speaker.

Refreshments were served to a guest, Mrs. John Grimling, and Mrs. O. F. Hedrick, Mrs. Tanner Laine, Mrs. E. R. Andrea, Mrs. Black, Mrs. Crisman, Mrs. B. O. Oraft, Mrs. J. C. Smith, Mrs. Pierce and Mrs. Frank Haag.

The Belle Bennett Circle, meeting with Mrs. Richard Myers, 904 North Baird Street, heard a reading of the book, "Release (Starr Dalley)" by Mrs. S. H. Hudgins. The opening prayer was by Mrs. C. W. Chancellor and the devotional by Mrs. H. H. Hollowell. Mrs. Myers was in charge of business.

Others present were a new member, Mrs. C. J. Mathews, and Mrs. Robert Gray, Mrs. Mary Snodgrass.

Corn Tale of a Cat

Mrs. Sidney P. Hall, Mrs. Lila Caruthers and daughter, Sue and Mrs. Paul Martin have returned from a week's vacation spent in the Martin cabin at Ruidoso, N. M. They stopped at El Paso and Juarez on the return trip, and went to White Sands and other New Mexico scenic spots while they were away.

The French people contributed $250,000 to pay for the Statue of Liberty in 1884 and Americans raised $280,000 for the pedestal.

There's no telling what a cat will do—as witness Buttons, pet of the Merrick Dairy, Merrick, N. Y., who eats four or five raw ears of corn a day. Here Barbara Buff holds one while puss munches.

GOT QUICK RHEUMATIC RELIEF WITH MERTOX

"For the past 15 years I have been bothered with frequent rheumatic pains in my left shoulder. This trouble later spread to my right shoulder also," writes Mr. J. G. Kirkland of Dallas. "In my work I have to use my arms a lot, and my shoulders were beginning to stiffen up. After taking Merton Compound for a short time this condition was quickly corrected so that now I am free from rheumatic troubles and free of the aches and pains. I was also troubled with gas and bloating, which were very painful. I felt tired and rundown; just seemed to have no life or pep at all. Had severe headaches, too. The gas would seem to press against my heart and lungs and make it hard to breathe. Now I can eat anything, even meat, which was impossible before taking this splendid medicine. My bowels are now regular and I do not have to get up at night as I did before."

You can get Merton Compound from any Texas drugstore at the new REDUCED price.

Gambling Or Not Gambling

A statement in the September issue of American Magazine that "everybody gambles" in the Midland-Odessa sector has provoked a great deal of comment and discussion by Midland citizens, many of whom are indignant at the magazine writer's observation.

A Midland minister, in his Sunday morning sermon, suggested the writer must have found considerable evidence of gambling here, or else he would not have made such an all-inclusive statement.

Of course the magazine story's comment that "everybody gambles" is not true, but we are inclined to agree with the churchman in his observation. There definitely is considerable gambling of one kind or another in Midland, and in all other cities for that matter.

And many of the participating citizens perhaps do not consider their wagers, card playing, baseball pools, board punching or raffle chances as gambling. It all depends on what one means by gambling.

Webster defines gambling as "The action of one who gambles; specif.: a. Properly, the act of playing or gambling for stakes. b. Loosely, the act of risking or staking anything on an uncertain event; wagering. In the strict sense of the term, gambling implies a playing or gaming as at checkers, dice, cards, horseracing, cockfighting, or some other sport or contest, as well as staking or risking of money to be won or lost on the issue. In this sense it does not include cases of mere wager or betting on the issue of an uncertain event, not involving any game or contest conducted in order that its event may determine the result of the wager, as lotteries, bets upon elections, and other forms of wagering contracts, etc. Modern legislation makes illegal many forms of pure wagering, contracts less properly called gambling contracts, as injurious to the public morals."

It is largely up to the individual to determine whether or not he is gambling. Some men and women who play poker, bridge and gin rummy for money do not consider it gambling, while still others term as gambling a nickel wager on the outcome of an election contest.

Many persons condemning the magazine writer's statement play cards for cash stakes, buy and sell tickets on raffles, bet on ball games, and play punchboards. It all depends on the personal viewpoint.

It recalls an incident in a neighboring city when a group of P-TA members visited the sheriff to protest a storekeeper's action in giving a stick of candy free to the school child fortunate enough to get a pink stick of candy in a regular purchase. At the same time they tried to sell the sheriff a chance on a raffle the P-TA was conducting.

It is true many worthwhile projects here and elsewhere have been financed by raffles of various kinds, but in the viewpoint of many, it still is gambling. Kiwanis International is to be commended upon its recent order that no Kiwanis Club shall sponsor or promote a raffle or lottery of any kind.

As to punchboards, we never have had one shoved at us while drinking a cup of coffee in a Midland cafe, but there are punchboards and drawings available to those who prefer that kind of exercise. And they seem to get a good play.

Baseball, football and prize fight pools also are popular in Midland, as elsewhere, and we have heard there is some wagering on baseball and football games. Card games, too, are popular. And there perhaps are a few slot machines around.

Gambling? It all depends on how you look at it. Everybody gambles? No. There are undoubtedly many who do not gamble in any sense of the word. And in this the magazine statement was misleading.

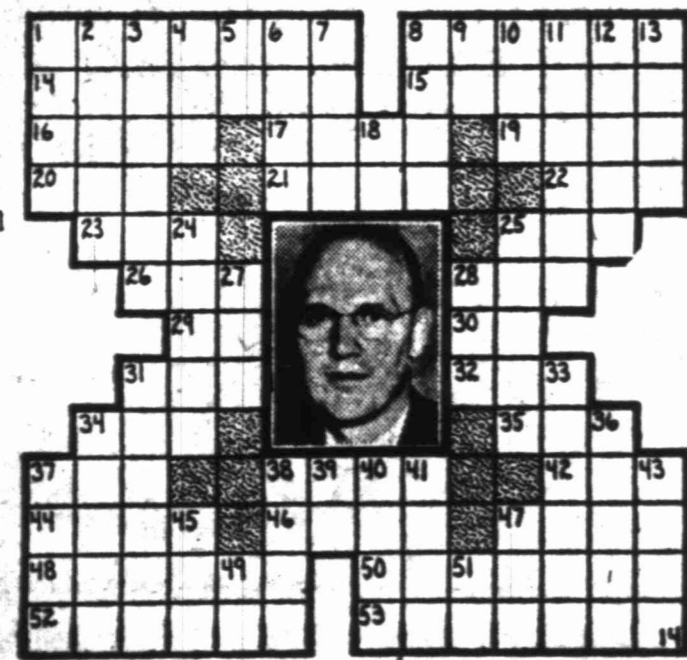

But all in all, the Midland preacher was correct in his statement. There definitely is evidence of gambling, perhaps too much, in Midland.

Confusion! A Synonym On Russian Policy

WASHINGTON COLUMN

U. S. Waits Breathlessly For Unveiling Of 'The New Dewey'

WASHINGTON—To say that the country waits with bated breath for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to open his campaign for the presidency is putting it mildly. The build-up on "the New Dewey" has been terrific. Warren, Vandenberg, Martin, Taft, Lodge, Eisenhower, Dulles, Stassen and other GOP big shots have been pawing and pawing almost constantly since the Philadelphia convention.

These are the men who have been replying to Truman whenever he stuck his neck out. But Dewey has stayed strictly in the background on the strong and silent side. In fact, a careful run-through of the record since Philly shows that Governor Dewey has publicly given us the benefits of his wisdom only half a dozen times.

He was for more aid to China on June 25. He was for the bi-partisan foreign policy on June 29, but he crossed his fingers and said the GOP would not be bound by policies on which it had not been consulted by the administration. On June 30 he was for the $65,000,000 loan to build the United Nations headquarters.

On July 13 he was for liberalization of the displaced persons' law. Ten days later he agreed with General Eisenhower that the United States must stand firm in Berlin. On August 18 he favored giving the Italian colonies back to Italy under UN trusteeship.

As to punchboards, we never have had one shoved at us while drinking a cup of coffee in a Midland cafe, but there are punchboards and drawings available to those who prefer that kind of exercise. And they seem to get a good play.

THE DOCTOR SAYS Cancer Of Lung Need Not Be Fatal, If Treated In Time. By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D. Written for NEA Service

Cancer of the lung, which was formerly thought to be rare, has been found to be one of the common tumors of man. To make a diagnosis of cancer of the lung, especially when it is early, is not easy. This is because the symptoms which are produced are so much like those of some chronic infection of the lung tissues. A long-lasting cough is just as typical of cancer of the lung as it is of tuberculosis chronic bronchitis or an unhealed pneumonia. An X-ray of the lung often helps in making the diagnosis, but an instrument called the bronchoscope is especially valuable. The bronchoscope can be passed down the windpipe to that part of the lung which seems to be involved; through this instrument a tiny bit of tissue can be removed for examination under the microscope. This method is usually successful in deciding whether cancer is present. When the diagnosis can be made early, there is real hope of bringing about a cure. This has come about because now an entire lung can be removed surgically. This sounds like a formidable undertaking, but it has been done successfully many times. The first pneumonectomy, or removal of an entire lung in one operation, was done in the Johns Hopkins Hospital on July 24, 1933. This was on a girl three and a half years old who had a lung tumor. This child recovered without difficulty and lived to be eight years old, when she died of an accident, without any signs of recurrence of the tumor. A great many people with cancer of the lung have had one lung removed since that time. Since cancer of the lung is always fatal eventually if not treated by removal of the affected lung, it is most important to make a diagnosis as soon as possible and to have the surgery performed promptly. If these two steps are carried out, the chances of survival and a long and active life are good.

Gold Sox And Oilers Hold Playoff Leads

By The Associated Press
Amarillo moved ahead of Lubbock in their West Texas-New Mexico League playoff series Monday night, and Albuquerque jumped back into the running in its series with Pampa.

The Gold Sox dusted off Lubbock 9-1 to take a three games to two lead.

Albuquerque blanked Pampa 6-0. Pampa now leads three games to two.

The sixth games of the series will be played Tuesday night at Amarillo and Albuquerque.

Ron Bowen's grand slam home run in the seventh inning sewed up the game for Albuquerque, but Les Mulcahy chipped in a circuit clout for good measure in the eighth.

Amarillo broke loose for a three-run spree in the fourth and then built up the score the rest of the way. Gold Sox Manager Buck Fausett hit a two-run homer in the seventh.

There's a Southwestern Life plan to fit every age.

He'll Wear Your Shoes, Some Day..

That's right, Dad—your son will wear your shoes some day. He may not succeed you in the business you're in—may not even go into that field at all. But he will be confronted with serious competition in whatever business or profession he enters. He will probably be confronted with all kinds of tax problems... with all kinds of economic problems—perhaps weightier than any you face today.

Yes, he'll wear your shoes some day. Your economic shoes. And how well he wears them will depend upon how well he is prepared to face the world. You can guarantee him the educational opportunity to get ready for that day through Southwestern Life Insurance, and you can do it now, while he is young, at a cost lower than you ever will be able to assure his future with Life Insurance. Polo Grounders Clip Flag Hopes Of Pittsburgh

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The historic Polo Grounds is fast gaining a reputation as the graveyard of pennant hopes.

Burt Shotton brought his Brooklyn Dodgers into the lair of the New York Giants over the weekend for a four-game series and left the cigar box with only one victory.

The high-flying Pittsburgh Pirates showed up Monday night boasting a seven-game winning streak and Lippy Leo Durocher's fence busters cooled them off 5-2.

By knocking off the pursuers of the front-running Boston Braves, the Giants themselves are sticking very much in the running for the National League flag.

Monday night's triumph boosted the Giants into a fourth-place tie with the idle St. Louis Cardinals, five and one-half games behind the Braves. The Giants and Cards are only .005 of a percentage point behind the third-place Dodgers, who also trail the Braves by 1 1/2 games.

Brooklyn wrested third place from the Cards by dumping the Chicago Cubs 6-4.

Only one game was played in the American League, the St. Louis Browns upsetting the third-place Indians 3-2 at Cleveland.

The loss left the Tribe three full games behind the first-place Boston Red Sox.

Cleveland Hurler Is In Critical Condition After Strage Injury

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Don Black, 30-year old Cleveland Indians pitcher, lapsed into another coma Tuesday morning a few hours after regaining consciousness.

Attendants at St. Vincent's Charity Hospital said the hurler remained on the critical list following a strange injury suffered in a game with the St. Louis Browns Monday.

The player twisted his neck and fell to the plate in pain when he hit a foul in the second inning. Physicians said he suffered a hemorrhage near the brain when an unnatural growth described as an aneurysm broke as he swung at the ball.

Total New York state revenues for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1948 were more than $708,000,000.

"Well I placed a call to a such and such flower shop in Monahan," came the answer.

"Well you got the Chamber of Commerce in Midland," the affable Midlander replied.

Bettye M. White Is Medalist In Women's Amateur

PEBBLE BEACH, CALIF.—(P)—Sixty-four women set out Tuesday in the first round of match play to decide the Women's Amateur golf championship of the United States, but one of the fairest and best of the field watched the conflict from the sidelines.

With such strong candidates as Medalist Bettye Mims White, Dorothy Kirby and Pony Riley leading the march toward the throne vacated by the 1947 queen, Louise Suggs, pretty Dorothy Kieley of Long Beach, Calif., the ranking threat, bumped into an unbending rule of the United States Golf Association and found herself bounced out of the tournament.

Miss Kieley was disqualified after Monday's round.

She thought she had an eight on the 18th hole, but discovered, quite some time after the card had been turned in and accredited, that she had shot a nine for a medal score of 83.

The total actually didn't matter, because Dallas' eye-catching Bettye Mims White already had sewed up medalist honors with a one-over-par 77, and anyone with 83 strokes and under qualified for Tuesday's match play.

But a wrong score accidentally, unintentional or otherwise, invoked the ax.

Two Games Scheduled At Home Then To Move; Swept Odessa Four Times

The Midland Indians and the Vernon Dusters open their Longhorn League Shaughnessy playoff championship series at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday in Indian Park here. The two clubs will play in Midland Wednesday and Thursday nights. Then they will move to Vernon for two games Friday and Saturday nights and a third one there Sunday afternoon if necessary. If more games are needed to determine the four out of seven games champion, they will be played in Midland.

Midland won its way into the finals against Vernon with a four-game sweep of the first round league Shaughnessy over Odessa. The Dusters whipped Big Spring 4-3 in their first playoff round. Midland finished third in the league in all-season standing. Vernon finished fourth.

By TANNER LAINE

With hustle and fire, a slugging Tribe of Midland Indians scalped the Odessa Oilers 8-1 here Monday night to take the fourth straight game in the first round Shaughnessy playoff series of the Longhorn League.

For the fourth straight time of the series, the Webbsmen were pounding that apple. They made few mistakes and they carried the battle all the way.

Ernie Nelson, the little ringer, pitched his second play-off win. After a shaky start when the first two Oilers to bat got singles, he settled down and pitched two-hit ball the rest of the way.

His mates were with him and they got him eight runs. The Tribe tabbed one in the first, one in the second, one in the third, exploded for four in the fifth, and added one for good measure in the sixth.

Here is the play-by-play account of the game:

Charles Decisions Bivins In Harmless Washington Waltz

WASHINGTON — (P) — There's a growing suspicion that the boxer who succeeds Joe Louis as the heavyweight champion of the world isn't going to be another Louis.

Ezzard Charles, a light heavy who likes to mix with the big boys, heightened that suspicion Monday night.

True, the Cincinnati boy won a unanimous, though close, decision over Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland.

But this fact was inescapable: Both the Ohio negroes landed blows that, had they been tossed by Joe Louis in his prime, would have ended the fight.

And what happened to Bivins and Charles?

Neither was knocked down—and neither was hurt. Louis' power was missing.

Yet the heavyweight situation is such that Charles' manager, Jake Miniz, was hollering after the fight: "Charles is the next world champion. Bring on whoever you got."

Texas League—Two Playoff Series Start Tuesday Night

By The Associated Press

The Texas League's Shaughnessy playoff gets underway Tuesday night with Shreveport at Fort Worth and Houston at Tulsa.

Fort Worth, which won the regular season title but dropped eight of its last nine games, will have Willard Ramsdell on the mound.

Shreveport Manager Sully Parker plans to start Howard Auman.

The strong Tulsa Oilers, who finished second in the regular race, will open behind the fireball pitching of Bud Lively.

Houston Manager Johnny Keane is expected to counter with his speed-ball ace, Cloyd Boyer.

Irv Noren, hard hitting "Player of the Year" in the Texas League, may start for Fort Worth. Noren earlier had been figured out of the series because of a chipped finger bone he received on September 2.

Housing for your telephone voice is scarce, too

Like new houses, telephone cable is not yet plentiful. It takes telephone cable to "house" your telephone voice as it travels.

Perhaps telephone poles near your house carry a telephone cable (the thick, lead-covered carrier for a bundle of wires strung from pole to pole). Why can't we connect a telephone for you to this cable?

Ordinarily we could. But today most of these cables have no idle wires in them.

So new telephones take new cable. That new cable is being made as you read these words. It is spinning out of telephone factories twice as fast as prewar. It is hurried to wherever we need it. There we hustle it into place—at the rate of a million miles of wire in cable this year alone.

Compared with normal production, telephone cable isn't scarce—it's abundant. But when 50,000 more people order telephones every month in the Southwest—as they do—even yesterday's abundance is today's shortage.

We're closing the gap, however, and we owe a lot to your patience and trust that we'll get the job done. For we're just as anxious to get you a telephone as you are to get one.

DOWN SPORTS LANE

It couldn't have happened to two better ball clubs—the Midland Indians and the Vernon Dusters are in the Longhorn League Shaughnessy final.

Fans are apt to see some of the best baseball of the season in this playoff. The two teams have a mutual respect for each other and the caliber of the players is high.

Lloyd (Rabbit) Rigby's Dusters are a welcome nine in Midland. The fans like them and respect them. We understand the feeling at Vernon is the same about Midland.

There have been no squabbles this season between Midland and Vernon. The play has always been highly spirited and competitive but in good sportsmanship.

Dunny Goodie, MHS football speedster for three seasons and an all-district performer, left by plane Sunday for Tulane. He will enroll Wednesday and join the freshman football team at that fine school.

Several West Texans are at Tulane. There's Johnny Hickman, a fine back, from Robert Lee. There are two San Angelo boys, Dennis Doyle and Bob Headrick. And there's Rex Partridge of Odessa.

World's Only Female Circus Press Agent Writing Sawdust Ring Novel

By STANLEY FRANK
"The world's only female circus press agent,"
That's the way Florree Galt, advance publicity for Cole Brothers Circus, describes herself.
"I'm not crazy about the word 'female,'" she said as she paused for an interview, "but it's the truth and that's all there is to it."
Miss Galt not only is a woman press agent but she's obviously a successful one. She saw her first circus in Ontario, Canada, in 1944 and already she is on publicity staff of the "Second Largest Circus in the World," which will appear here Friday.
Here's the way she got into the business:
She was writing a story for publication one day at her home in Galt, Ontario, Canada, when the neighbor's youngster began screaming, squawling, and otherwise making it difficult for the writer to concentrate.
"Please," Florree begged the neighbor, "get that kid quiet so I can finish this story. I've got a deadline to this story."
The neighbor was politely sorry about the noise her offspring was making, but she explained to Miss Galt that the child was raising all that fuss because she wanted to go to a circus in town that day.
"Well, for Pete's sake," Florree said, or words to that effect, "I'll take the kid to the circus. Then, maybe, I can hear myself, think for a change."
That was Florree's first circus, but it took only one exposure for her to become addicted to the sawdust ring, the flying trapeze, and all the other components of a show under the big tent.
She picked out one of the characters in the circus and asked him to let her do a feature story on him. He said "okay," not being a circus person, and more or less jokingly advised her if she ever got the story into print she could travel with the circus as its guest. Already she'd made up her mind she wanted to do a novel about circuses and circus people, and she needed to know the business from the ticket wagon to the elephants' toe nails if it was to become "THE" circus novel. The story made print, all right, and soon she was tramping with the circus through Canada. Then the regular press agent for the show became injured in an accident, and Florree found herself with a regular job as a publicist for the show.
Next year, she was made publicity director for the show. And that winter she wrote 15 chapters of her novel, only to throw the work away as being too amateurish the following winter. However, she went on taking notes during the winter while the show was off the road. Now that she's with Cole Brothers, who employed her last April, she has decided to become a citizen of the United States.
Grueling Routine
She has proved she can take the grueling routine of travel and hard work demanded of practically everybody who draws circus paychecks. In addition to working hard for her employers, she is taking notes constantly for her novel. She has written another 15 chapters of the book and a publisher is interested.
In order to feel what it's like to play around with wild animals, she once went into a lion's cage. While a photographer, summoned for a publicity picture, practically fainted at seeing the woman getting chummy with the cats, Florree felt nothing. The cats didn't bother her, probably because they were man-eaters. Next day, though, when she got to thinking what might have happened, Florree says she became horribly afraid.
This may seem strange to men, this being afraid 24 hours after the danger has passed, but as it was explained at the beginning of this little piece, Florree is not a man, but a woman. This is about the only explanation offered for a lot of human actions.
Lot Of Trouble
Florree travels about a week ahead of Cole Brothers Circus. Sometimes she runs into a lot of trouble. In East Texas recently she found herself in a paper-pulling contest with the press agent of a rival circus. Cole Brothers posters were plastered all over town one day, only to be removed during the night and replaced by posters advertising the rival circus, which was scheduled to appear in the city a few days after Cole Brothers.
She was up against a tough customer, Florree knew, and she was fighting for a time. Her opponent was a veteran of the old, no-holds-barred school, and she knew she lacked the experience and hardness to combat him on his own terms. He had tied up newspaper publicity until she couldn't get in a word edgewise.
"So," she says, "there was nothing else to do but pull a 'helpless woman' act. I hated to do it, but that was the only thing I knew to do." Florree was not asked for details regarding the act, nor did she volunteer them. Anyway, the act worked.
Frank And Brutal
Her novel to be called "The Glamorous Role," she says, unless she decides to change the title before publication. One publisher asked for a preliminary reading of her first 15 chapters and returned the manuscript with the criticism that it was "too frank and brutal." But Florree says that's the way circus life is—frank and brutal. And she's trying to write a book that will stand up under criticism of circus people as well as the general public.
Circus folk are difficult to write about, she says, because they are temperamental and extremely jealous of their positions in circus society. They are proud of their peculiarities, their reputations, their respective skills.
Whether her book becomes a success or not, she has gone to impressive lengths to obtain authentic information about her subject. Also she has lived, and is living, on trains, in hotels, dragging four big pieces of luggage and a trunk full of publicity material across the continent with her.

Handshaking Big Business In Washington

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON —(AP)— I see by the papers Governor Dewey will do a lot of handshaking on his cross-country campaign to get elected president.
It seems his brain trust figures he ought to go in for it in a big way so people can see, close up, what a warm, friendly man he is.
President Truman, who wants to get reelected, is quite a handshaker himself.
This may disturb people who think a candidate ought to get votes strictly on his record, party or promises and not because his hand is warm or his eyes smile.
But, the fact is lots of people like to shake hands with a political candidate.
Right here in Washington handshaking is a big enterprise.
Those parties are the happy merry-go-round for the celebrity hunters and the professional spongers who slide in for the free drinks and sandwiches. Free-loaders, they're called.
Aspiring Young Man
I remember one character a few years ago—he's still around—who wanted all the for-free he could get and, at the same time, being an aspiring young man, wanted to be seen in prominent places, talking to prominent people.
He talked me into going to a cocktail party at the French Embassy for Leon Blum, one-time French premier.
When we arrived, we saw two rooms. One, full of chattering people, was the room with the eats and drinks. In the other poor Blum was standing up manfully, pumping the paws of the hundreds of people.
I told the character, "Let's skip Blum and go in here."
"Oh, no," the horrified character said. "One can't do that. We must shake hands with M. Blum. It's expected of us."
"Ah, oui, oui."
I don't know who expected it. No one knew us there, not even Blum.
"I'm against it. It's tough enough on Blum already. I can't speak a word of French. I can't even say hello to Blum in French."
"Just do what I do," the character said.
In 15 minutes we reached Blum. The character bowed from the hips in the best continental manner and with great feeling, said "Ah, oui, oui."
I was next. I said something to Blum like "Hajajaja" but Blum didn't look surprised and he said calmly to me something that sounded like "Hajajaja."
The character still is going to the cocktail parties, meeting the prominent people and eating free food. He's finally putting on a little weight.

Hollywood's Two 'Dollar Bills' Tell How To Butcher A Budget

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
HOLLYWOOD —(AP)— Hollywood's fight for economy goes on its merry way.
C. B. DeMille gets orders from the bankers to film "Samson and Delilah" in 82 days. During the lush years old C. B. could hardly get warmed up in that length of time. "Ticket Tax Falls Out $2,000,000," screams Variety headline. Republic studio omits the quarterly dividend on its stock and Prexy Herbert J. Yates takes a voluntary 50 per cent salary cut.
But Bill Pine and Bill Thomas are still smiling. There's a couple of characters who could still in a movie on their Social Security checks. Not that they're still in the quickie producer class, you understand. They graduated from quickies long ago. They have a new Paramount contract for three pictures a year at budgets comparable to any producer's in town.
But they know how to save money and turn out good pictures at the same time.
I looked up the "Dollar Bills" for some money-saving tricks. Hollywood could use some of their advice right now. They weren't reluctant at all to confess that they've made the buffalo on a nickel squeal on occasion.
Like the time they were making a college picture. Instead of taking an expensive location trip to some college they used the Paramount studio "campus"—a small patch of green grass between the writers' and the executives' buildings.
A few "dormitory," fraternity and sorority signs made Paramount look pretty much like a midwestern college.
Pine and Thomas completed the illusion with a master stroke of economy-minded genius. Every secretary at the studio received a memo one morning from Bill Thomas. It read:
"As you probably know we're shooting a college picture on the Paramount 'campus.' If you have to cross the lot, be sure and carry some books under your arm."
More than one pretty co-ed in the picture was a Paramount secretary on her way to the studio canteen or the accounting department.
Over And Under
During the war, the "Dollar Bills" got the idea of making a movie about the Pacific Coast's Interceptor Command. In due time a script was ready. But when the Interceptor Command was asked to approve the idea, the brass hats balked.
It would be bad for the nation's morale, they said, to let the people know that there was danger of enemy planes getting through the coast defense. Would Pine and Thomas please drop the whole idea?
"But we had to make the picture," Pine said. "We had too much money in it already. So we went back to the office and sat down to figure out a way to salvage the story. Between 10:30 in the morning and 3:30 in the afternoon we took the story out of the city, put it under the sea, and changed the title to 'Submarine Alert.'"
"Between 10:30 and 3:30 with time out for lunch yet," Bill Thomas said.
But I guess the crowning achievement in the careers of Pine and Thomas was when they painted shadows on the walls, and saved $50,000. The script of a picture demanded low key lighting with lots of shadows. But it takes time to set up lights for low key lighting and get the right shadow effects. So Gordon Wiles, the art director, painted the shadows on the set walls.
"It was wonderful," Thomas said. "We just turned on the lights and the shadows were there."
Lana Turner's next definitely will be "Madame Bovary." "Half an Angel" and "Coquette" will remain on the shelf for the time being.

Two Fateful Developments Threaten Indian Peninsula

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AF Foreign Affairs Analyst
The great Indian subcontinent, struggling with the dangerous vicissitudes of its new-found independence from Britain, has been visited with two further fateful developments:
1. Mahomed Ali Jinnah, governor general of the Dominion of Pakistan, has died, thus depriving this Moslem nation of the man who created it and was its moving spirit.
2. The Dominion of India, which is chiefly Hindu in complexion, has invaded the premier princely state of Hyderabad with armed forces and there has been fighting. The declared purpose of this move against the domain of the Nizam, most powerful of all the Indian rulers, is to maintain order. His exalted highness, the Nizam, is a Moslem while some four-fifths of his subjects are Hindus.
At first glance these two events might seem to have small relation to each other, and it may indeed be that their paths will not cross. Still, there are elements in them which could combine for either good or evil. The situation is complicated and must be viewed from several angles.
Take Jinnah: This brilliant, 71-year-old leader was law unto the some 100,000,000 Moslems of the Indian Peninsula, and they followed him blindly.
Moslem-Hindu Conflict
With Jinnah gone, there naturally is speculation whether this may ease the situation between the two hostile dominions—may even result in union between the two in a federal government.
Another angle revolves about the violent and often bloody differences between the Moslems and the Hindus, growing out of religious bitterness. This has cropped up in connection with the invasion of Hyderabad. Some in Pakistan demand war against India.
However, there obviously is no real basis for war between Pakistan and India, since Hyderabad lies wholly within India and 80 per cent of its people are Hindus.
Were Jinnah still at the helm, it's safe to say there would be no war over this issue. Still, observers noted when the argument over Hyderabad first started that religious strife could grow out of it and that communal fighting might spread throughout the dominions. No man can make a certain prediction about that now, for the people of the Indian Peninsula are highly inflammable.

Social Situations

SITUATION: You are on a party line and frequently when you try to use your telephone your line is in use.
WRONG WAY: Keep lifting the receiver off the hook.
RIGHT WAY: Leave the telephone alone for a few minutes, giving the person using your line a chance to complete his call.

New York Central Introduces Glamorized Luxury Streamliner

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK —(AP)— Dobbins lost out to the motor car, but the "iron horse" isn't giving up to the airplane.
This Friday the rails between Chicago and New York will hum with a new railroad answer to the powerful post-war bid by airlines for America's luxury-loving passenger trade.
It is a new and glamorized version by the New York Central of its famous Twentieth Century Limited, for 46 years its crack express train.
It will be a traveling art gallery. A passenger can buy an oil painting by a contemporary master from exhibits in the observation cars. He also can pick up a radio-telephone and call London, Tokyo, Bombay or Moscow.
Each new limited—there will be two trains—will cost $2,000,000 and consist of a diesel locomotive and sixteen cars. They will make the 960-mile journey to Chicago in 16 hours, averaging 60 miles an hour. The return trip to New York will be faster—15 1/2 hours.
Lineal Descendants
The new trains are lineal descendants of the first Twentieth Century Limited, which started the railroad world back in 1902 by inaugurating a regularly-scheduled 20-hour service between New York and Chicago and guaranteeing to pay every passenger $1 for each hour the limited was late.
Only one man is alive of the crew which started the Twentieth Century Limited on its first trip June 15, 1902—Wilbur J. Briggs, 76, a conductor who retired several years ago after 46 years of railroad-riding.
"That first train—a locomotive and five wooden cars—cost only $115,000, the price of a single sleeper car today. There were only 27 paid passengers."

Concrete Is This Firm's Specialty
 "Concrete" and "abstract" are words philosophers, psychologists and sometimes other people use quite frequently.
 They also happen to be words which homebuilders and construction men employ a great deal. And when Midlanders use the word "concrete," chances are they are talking about how difficult it is to find cement, which is used in making concrete. There is, and has been, a national cement shortage. Supply Available
 But Helbert and Helbert, Midland contractors, happen to have plenty of cement, or a source of getting it, and can handle concrete problems with efficiency, skill, and very little if any delay in obtaining materials. They build concrete foundations for new or old residences and commercial structures; water tanks; sidewalks and curbs. The contracting firm also does sand blasting and pavement breaking. They have adequate equipment for this sort of work and have completed several major projects of this type in Midland and the surrounding territory.
 For estimates and other information regarding the firm's operations, call Helbert and Helbert, telephone No. 2520 or 2068-J. The office is located at 1800 South Colorado Street in Midland.

Neill's Sheet Metal Company, 603 West Missouri, Street, has a well-deserved reputation for being a leading Midland source of satisfactory sheet metal work and complete heating and air conditioning systems. Whether you need a heater for a single room or a fine, modern system for an entire residential or commercial building, this company is well able to give the kind of service and merchandise you're looking for. The firm's attractive and modern store and office is pictured above.

City Cab Telephone Is Number 80
 A much-used mode of transportation among Midland residents is the taxi cab. Office workers going to their favorite restaurant for an evening meal, movie fans enroute to an evening of flicker fun, sports addicts taking in a baseball or football game—these are the folk who are likely to call a cab. Of course, businessmen use cabs throughout the day and sometimes until late at night in the regular pursuit of their commercial work.
 All of which is by way of leading up to the statement that one of Midland's most popular telephone numbers is 80. That number, breathed, muttered, sung or shouted into a telephone mouthpiece (providing, of course, the proper preliminary connections have been made) will bring a taxi cab after you—but quick.
Radio Communication
 It's the telephone number of City Cab, whose offices are in the Greyhound Bus Terminal. City Cab has five excellent automobiles at the service of Midlanders. Careful drivers manipulate the cars quickly but safely anywhere you wish to go. Radio is hastened through use of service communication equipment between each cab and the headquarters office.
 Next time you need swift, safe transportation in a hurry, remember a friendly tip—call 80, City Cab; you'll like the fast, courteous service.

Public Hauling And Storage Are Stock In Trade Here

THE STORY: Dying in the Italian desert, British secret agent Hillary Shemstone feels a desperate need to get back to England and to Miss Farthing, his family home. He doesn't know the house has been let and that dreamy, 17-year-old Sabrina, whom he has never met, has adopted his old room and eagerly awaits his return. Hillary does return to England and to Miss Farthing—after death. He is in his old attic room when Sabrina comes up. She is unaware of his presence but Hillary manages to get through to her a little and she seems happy. Hillary realizes she is the girl he would have loved if he had lived. When Sabrina learns of Hillary's death, she becomes hysterical. Her next step is to get Hillary's room in locked.

Deliberately then he walked up against, into, and through the closed door, arriving on the other side with an expression of pleased surprise. But of course! How simple! And why not? It was all in learning how!

There was a dim light over the lower staircase at the end of the hall, and Sabrina's door midway was closed. He rested a thoughtful glance on it as he passed by, to-ward the stairs. No. Better not. Better try Pilton.

HE went on along the passage and started down the stairs on the way to the kitchen via the lower hall and the dining room. Inevitably as he reached the landing Aunt Effie came into view at the bottom, with Bella in attendance.

At first he thought he would try to slip past, but as Aunt Effie's foot touched the bottom step Bella turned and looked at him. Caught only a few steps from the bottom, he fastened himself against the wainscoting.

"Bella, what is the matter with you? What makes you go off like that? Come along, now, don't be such a silly girl."

Aunt Effie went up two or three more steps and paused to look back at the shrieking little dog, whose sharp muzzle was pointed unmistakably at the wainscoting just beside her.

With a sudden spasm of panic, she scurried down the steps, scooped up the distraught Bella from the hall floor, and ran into the drawing room and closed the door hard.

That was too bad, thought Hillary, reaching the dark sanctuary of the dining room with relief. I oughtn't to upset Aunt Effie, I'm unpopular enough as it is.

HE paused in the pantry outside the swing door into the kitchen and listened. No voices. He pushed open the door an inch so that he could see into the lighted kitchen. Mrs. Pilton sat alone with her knitting. Recklessly he pushed the door further open, holding it back with his hand.

"Mrs. Pilton," he said uncertainly, "where's the key?" She looked up towards him silently, unstartled, her dark, seductive face never losing its matter-of-fact calm as she beheld the odd behavior of the swing door.

A northwestern team consisting of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Dayboch, Don Horwitz and Dr. A. G. Engel tied for first place recently in the national amateur team - of - four championship. Mr. Dayboch is president of the St. Paul Pioneer Press and Dispatch Grand Slam Club of St. Paul, Minn. He and his wife are a very good combination.

Mr. Horwitz is a University of Minnesota student, and Dr. Engel, the queen of clubs, still having in his hand the jack of hearts and nine of spades. You can see the situation that West was in. He was holding the king-queen of spades and king of hearts, and must discard one. If he let go the king of hearts, declarer's jack would become good. If he let go the queen of spades, the last two tricks would be won in dummy with the ace and jack of spades.

THE three no trump contract was never in danger, but the heart play gave the northwestern team the match.

of Little Falls, Minn., is vice president of the Minnesota Bridge Association. This victory places all four in the national masters class. The amateur team-of-four is a board-a-match championship, therefore every possible trick must be won. Mr. Horwitz made six-odd in no trump on the hand shown today. West had the choice of opening a spade or a club, and elected to lead the jack of clubs.

The low club was played from dummy, East won with the king and returned the deuce of clubs, dummy's ace winning. The jack of diamonds was led, East covered with the queen and Horwitz won with the ace.

He cashed the king of diamonds, then made a very interesting play. He returned the deuce of hearts. He did not want to take his only other entry out of dummy to take the heart finesse. West played low and dummy's ten-spot won the trick. Horwitz now led a small heart, went right up with the ace, then ran the balance of his diamonds.

At trick eleven, he laid down

Midland Youngsters Enjoy 'Cowboy Reading Contest'

By TANNER LAINE

arians at the Midland County Library must have been as busy as "the woman who lived in the shoe" because they certainly had many children checking out books and reading them during a recent "Cowboy Reading Contest."

A total of 6,157 volumes and 203 magazines were circulated in the children's department of the library during the contest. The total number of books reported on by children was 2,433 volumes.

The contest opened June 1 and ended August 31. It was in charge of Mrs. K. C. Heald, Jr., and Mrs. J. M. Connor.

More than 139 children participated with 86 winning certificates. Earned Cowboy Cuts

To earn a cowboy cutout, the children had to read and report on five books. For each additional book reported on the children pasted a colored star onto his or her cowboy. Five stars earned a sombrero, five more a neckerchief, five more a lariat and so on. Certificates went to children reporting on 10 books or more.

A record of each child's reading was kept in a little booklet "Books I Have Read." The child made comments in the booklet about each title.

A party for the participating children was held Saturday. Prize winners were: for girls—Barbara Ruth Horton, first (101 books); Vicki Anderson, second (99 books); for boys—Ted Moore, first (50 books); Don Nichol, second (46 books); Barry Ferrell, third (40 books).

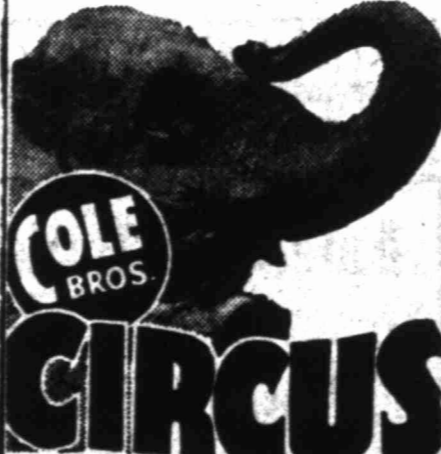

At the Carver school a party was held for negro readers. Friday. Awards were made at a school assembly. First prize winner was Lula B. Kenny for girls and E. L. Jordan, Jr. for boys.

Most For A Group
North Elementary school students read more books than any other group and the school library will get a prize copy of Pinochio.
