More Publicity For Texas In Holiday

Texas receives the most extensive treatment ever accorded any state by a national magazine with publication this week of Holiday devoted principally to the Lone Star State. Scores of articles and photographs depict varied phases of Texas life, outline its history, and trace the growth of the agricultural and industrial empire contained in its borders.

From El Paso to the East Texas oil field, from the Panhandle to the Valley, the state's cities and rural sections and their people and way of life are surveyed.

In analyses of personalities who wear the Texas brand, Holiday pictures a typical Texas wildcatter and a cattleman. It details the history of the Texas Ranger, and touches on the state's hunting and fishing preserves.

The series of three Texas issues of the magazine starts with the October number. That issue carries the first half of a two-part article by J. Frank Dobie entitled "Explaining Texas," and articles on Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth, and hunting and fishing. A double-page decorated map of the state is carried in the October issue.

CHANGE of LIFE?

Haymaker At Wallace

Henry Wallace has had a lot of eggs thrown at him in the last two weeks. But it's no egg that Louis Budenz has thrown in an article called, "How the Reds Snatched Henry Wallace," in the current Collier's magazine. What Budenz has thrown looks more like a political haymaker. The author is the former managing editor of the Communist Daily Worker. He tells his story from his experience as one of the Reds who, he says, hatched the Wallace boom on orders from Moscow.

Something happened during Wallace's wartime visit to Siberia, he writes, which caused the Kremlin to send urgent directives to its American agents to support the then vice president's political ambitions. The orders were issued at a meeting in June, 1944, which Budenz says he attended. The article goes on to say that Communists all over the country—not identified as such, of course—flooded Democratic politicians with demands that Wallace be renominated for vice president in 1944. They conducted a similar campaign when his appointment as secretary of commerce was up for Senate confirmation.

Budenz recalls that he was at another Communist meeting in February, 1945, when a top boss named Trachtenberg told the National Board, "We have taken Wallace into custody." And in December, 1946, the Red periodical Political Affairs urged the creation of a third party and, says Budenz, "singled out Wallace as one who had contributed a great deal toward checking the GOP advance." Wallace and his board of strategy may denounce the article as an election-year smear. But we don't think it can be ducked or brushed off that easily. It is, we repeat, no egg.

Any detailed answer which Wallace may make will be largely a matter of his words against his accuser's. But there are external factors which will handicap the third party candidate in any attempt to explain away the charges. No one, not even Henry Wallace, denies that he has the active and unanimous support of the American Communist Party. His campaign is being managed for the most part by persons with records of Communist sympathy and left-wing activity. He has never renounced the support of Communists as such, nor has he strayed from the general line of Soviet-Communist international policy.

Against such a background it will scarcely be enough for him to deny that he is playing the Communist game. There is as little chance that Henry Wallace will be elected President in November as there is that the Communists will seize control of Washington tomorrow. But that is no reason to ignore the charges of Budenz.

If those charges are not disproved, then we must reflect that except for fate and conservative Democratic politicians, Wallace would have been President for the last three years—a President in the custody of a hostile power's agents. Many loyal Americans supported Wallace's renomination in 1944. A lot of them have changed their minds about him since then. But some of them are still gullible. The accusations of Budenz, a former Communist insider, will give the gullible the rude awakening and the warning that they need—unless Wallace can show convincingly that those accusations are false.

A New York woman, celebrating her 100th birthday, attributed her longevity to easy living. And we thought the first 100 years were the hardest.

Americans have taken home 19,044 war brides from Europe since the war. A lot of people to be looking for a place to live.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

No Surprises Expected When UN Assembly Meets In Paris

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON—No surprises will be sprung by the U. S. delegation to the United Nations General Assembly, meeting in Paris September 21.

Last year Secretary of State George C. Marshall bowed over the Assembly by proposing modification of the Charter, limitation of the veto power and creation of an Interim Committee of the General Assembly. This "Little Assembly," as it is called, sits between sessions of the General Assembly. It has one representative of each member country. It considers any question brought before it—even matters stymied before the General Assembly. Its work for discussion at Paris.

First few days of the meeting will of course be taken up with the usual opening statements by the heads of all delegations. These are speeches for the record, and for home consumption. In some quarters they are looked upon as a waste of time. But they bring up many issues and are rightly considered revealing statements on the problems, policies and aims of the various foreign offices.

What the Russians may bring up, no one can tell. Molotov, Gromyko, Vishinsky and the new man Malik have developed the fine art of using the United Nations forum as a sounding board for their international propaganda. Opposition to the Rio and Bogota regional agreements of the American republics may be heard. Opposition to the Brussels pact for creation of a Western European union may also be heard.

The Poles have indicated they might want to argue against the Marshall Plan—of which they refused to become beneficiaries. The British or French may bring up the Danube River treaty recently dictated by the Russians at Belgrade.

The agenda for the Paris meeting is already heavy enough without any of these extras. It is believed that the American delegation will work towards cleaning up unfinished business and consolidate the Assembly's position before moving into other areas of disagreement. Principal new items officially on the agenda are three:

1. What to do about the Italian colonies. Secretary Marshall is not expected to reveal his hand on this before the Paris meeting, though GOP Presidential Candidate Thomas E. Dewey has come out in favor of the return of the colonies to Italy. This makes it something of an American political, as well as an international issue.
2. Geographic distribution of seats on the Security Council. This has been proposed by India, which lost out on election to the Council last year. The Indian idea is to get proportionate representation for the six non-permanent seats on the 11-place Security Council. New members to replace Australia, Brazil and

Uncle Sam's Draft Law

(One of a series of questions and answers on the second peacetime military training program. The information was prepared under the direction of Maj. Gen. K. L. Berry, Texas Director of Selective Service.)

REEMPLOYMENT

Q—Can a man get his old job back after training and service in the armed forces?
A—If a man leaves a government job that is permanent, he will be restored to his position, or a position of like seniority, status, and pay, if he is still qualified to perform the duties of such position.

Q—What if he is not qualified by reason of disability sustained during his service?
A—He will be restored to another position the duties of which he is qualified to perform—a job which will provide him with the same seniority, status, and pay, or the nearest possible under the circumstances.

Q—What about a man who works for a private employer?
A—The law provides the same thing for him as the man who works for the government. The law says that this will be done unless the employer's circumstances have so changed as to make it impossible or unreasonable for a man to be rehired.

Q—What about a man who works for the state or any of its political subdivisions?
A—Congress recommends in the law that such a man be rehired.

Q—How soon must a man apply for his old job when he gets out?
A—Within 90 days after he is released from duty.

Q—Suppose private employer refuses to rehire a man when he makes application for his old job.
A—A man can call on the nearest U. S. district attorney for help. The court will examine the merits of his case and will require the employer to comply with the law. The federal district attorney will be the ex-selectee's lawyer, and no fee or court costs can be assessed against the ex-selectee.

Q—What if two or more persons are entitled to be restored to a position?
A—The person who left the position first will have priority to be restored, without prejudice to the reemployment of the other person or persons to be restored.

Questions and Answers

Q—What is the International Court of Justice?
A—This court, consisting of 15 members, is the UN successor to the League of Nations' Permanent Court of International Justice. Its function is to hear disputes involving international treaties and law.

Q—What is the largest hallostone on record?
A—A stone which fell at Potter, Neb., July 6, 1928. It was 17 inches in circumference and rates as the largest ever recorded in the world.

Q—In what century was oil painting invented?
A—In the 15th century by the van Eycks, who are considered the founders of the Flemish school and are noted for their working out of successful medium for oil painting.

Q—What bird carries its eggs to the nest of another bird and lets the other bird hatch and raise its young?
A—This is a characteristic of the cowbirds. The females do not have nests, but during the Spring slip away from their companions, one at a time, to lay their eggs in the nests of other and smaller birds.

Q—How often does the word Palestine occur in the Bible?
A—The word Palestine occurs only once in the Bible—Joel 3:4; Palestine occurs three times.

Kermit Man Heads Girl Scout Council

PECOS—Decision not to employ a field worker until "we get our heads above the water financially" was announced this week by the Permian Area Girl Scout board. Twenty-five board members from eight Permian Basin cities endorsed the temporary non-hiring policy set forth by the board's new finance chairman, Dr. B. F. Berkley of Alpine.

Meanwhile, board members elected Oscar Maples of Kermit as its president and chose eight other officers for the coming year. The new officials are: M. C. Puckett, Fort Stockton, vice president; Miss Rose Briscoe, Pecos, secretary; Archie Scott, Pecos, treasurer; Mrs. Sevier, Odessa, membership nominating chairman; Mrs. M. C. "Farming" Versus "Ranching"

Talked to some editors who run my column in their papers—in states where there's mostly cattle and sheep raising—about the differences there might be between farming and ranching.

And they told me: "Joe, there's no real difference between cattle-men and farmers. We make our living from the land like your folks do; we have the same 4-H Clubs and Granges; the same problems of prices and marketing.

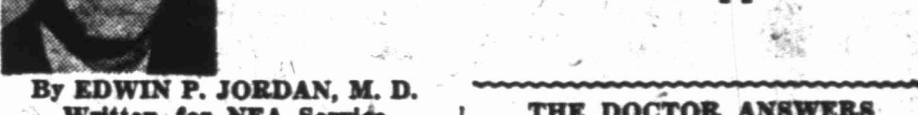

"When it comes to recreation, we have the same liking to get-together now and then for a barbecue and a friendly glass of beer."

And from where I sit, that about sums it up. Ranchers may have different names for things or grow different crops. But all over America folks who work the land share those common traits of hard work, sober moderation, and good fellowship, whether they're growing cattle for beef, or barley for good American beer and ale.

Much Research Yet To Be Done On Various Kinds Of Typhus

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Small living bodies unlike other germs were discovered by Howard Taylor Ricketts in 1906 while he was working on Rocky Mountain spotted fever. A year later Ricketts died during his investigations on a related disease called typhus, thus becoming a martyr to science.

The tiny bodies he discovered are now called rickettsiae. One of the diseases which they cause is called typhus or jail fever. Typhus is prevalent under conditions of overcrowding and filth and is usually carried from person to person by the body louse.

Other Disease Groups
Another important group of diseases caused by rickettsiae are the spotted fevers of which Rocky Mountain spotted fever is the best known example in this country. This disease is carried by at least two different kinds of ticks, the wood tick and the dog tick.

A condition called Fleve bouton-neuse, or Marseille fever, which is prevalent in the region of the Mediterranean and Black Seas, is another rickettsial disease. The most curious of this group is called "Q Fever," which was first described in Australia and which appears to be related to but not exactly the same as our own Rocky Mountain spotted fever.

During the war many of our military personnel stationed in the South and Western Pacific suffered a disease properly called Tsutsugumushi disease, but often referred to as scrub typhus. The disease can be contracted in many parts of the Southeastern Pacific and Japan. The chief animal which serves as a reservoir is a field mouse.

Reasonably good vaccines to prevent typhus and Rocky Mountain spotted fever have been prepared. A chemical compound, called para-aminobenzoic acid, seems promising in the treatment of several of the diseases in this group. Much more research, however, must be conducted on the several diseases caused by rickettsiae.

During fasting or starvation, non-essential tissues break down much more quickly than essential ones.

NBA Says There's No 'Logical Contender' For Joe Louis' Crown

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—The National Boxing Association said Thursday there is no "logical contender" for Joe Louis' heavyweight title. Following its usual custom in ranking fighters, the NBA divided each weight division into four groups—champion, logical contenders, outstanding boxers and honorable mention. At least one logical contender was listed in every division except the heavyweights. Among the heavies, the NBA named Jersey Joe Walcott, Ezzard Charles, Joe Baksi and Lee Savold as outstanding boxers.

Indians Take Dusters 3-1; Play Second Tilt Thursday Skip Friday Night—Meet Saturday

The Midland Indians and the Vernon Dusters meet at 8:15 p. m. Thursday in Indian Park for the second game of the Longhorn League Shaughnessy playoff second round and finals. It's Gerald Fahr, ace of the Dusters, who will pitch for the visitors. This tall fencer recently was sold to Shreveport of the Texas League for $4,000 and a player to boot. Fahr won 22 games during the regular season. He beat Big Spring twice in the first playoff round. Harold Webb of the Indians has named lanky Sam Van Hooser to pitch for Midland. Van Hooser won 12 and lost eight during the regular season. He recently beat Odessa in the third game of the first round playoff.

The two clubs will move to Vernon Saturday instead of Friday. A game will not be played in Vernon Friday night because of a conflict with high school football. Games at Vernon will be played Saturday night and Sunday afternoon and Monday night, if necessary. If more game are needed, they will be played at Midland.

By TANNER LAINE
The hustling Midland Indians with that old wild to win beat the Vernon Dusters 3-1 in Indian Park Wednesday night to take the first game of the Longhorn League Shaughnessy playoff final round. It was a step toward the league championship by the Warriors, who have won five straight ball games in the playoff.

Midland had to get on its horse and ride hard to beat Vernon. There were two mighty good ball clubs playing out there Wednesday night. A capacity crowd roared its approval. Leland Crissman of the Indians, using his crossfire spangly, bested Round Trip of the Dusters in a pitcher's duel. Trip's roundhouse curve was working sharply. Crissman gave up four safeties while Trip allowed the Tribe seven licks. Midland continued to play smart, heads-up baseball. It had to, to win this one. Collins Shines. Rip Collins, Midland second baseman, played a great game. He got two spanking hits, double and triple, and he turned in the most sparkling playing play we have seen this season. This gem came in the eighth inning when Vernon definitely was threatening. Vernon had a runner on first. McCaskey hit a driller over second base. Collins came running to his right, speared the ball, flung it to Perry for a force out at second and this retired the side. Vernon had one run in this frame and was after more. Importance was on every pitch, every throw, every catch, every base, out here Wednesday night. This is the final. And Midland played exactly in a championship manner to win. Vernon was not a step behind in its performance.

And there's more Thursday night. Here is the play-by-play description of the Wednesday night game:

Play By Play
First inning: VERNON—Ehlinger walked. Holliday struck out. Simmons filed out to shortstop. McCaskey errored on. Cowser was hit by a pitched ball. Melillo hit a fielder's choice, Jakes out at second. Prince filed out to left field. Piarito singled. Presley struck out. Midland 2, Vernon 0.

Kirby Looks Like Girl To Beat In Women's National Amateur Play

PEBBLE BEACH, CALIF.—(AP)—Tall, easy swinging Dorothy Kirby looked like the girl to beat for the title Thursday as eight survivors headed into the fourth round of the Women's National Amateur golf championship. The Atlanta miss, who reached the finals in 1939 and lost to Betty Jameson, and again reached the threshold last year at Detroit only to lose to Louise Suggs, is no sure bet to grab the big prize of women's golf. Ahead of her are such skilled players as Polly Riley, Peggy Kirk, Helen Sigel, Grace Levey, Mrs. Peggy Holmes, Margaret Gunther and Dorothy's most immediate threat, 24-year-old Beverly Hanson of Fargo, N. D.

Schoolboy Grid Teams Face Real Tests This Week

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

The relative strength of the City and Class AA conferences will be tested repeatedly this weekend in Texas schoolboy football with North Side (Fort Worth) at Odessa and Abilene at Brackenridge (San Antonio) the major battles. North Side, City Conference team that last week tumbled Tyler 12-0, will be facing a rugged test in Odessa, always a power of Class AA ranks.

Brackenridge, which last year won the state championship when there was no division between conferences, will clash with an Abilene eleven that beat a highly-regarded Brackenridge team last week. Brackenridge was showing it would be about as strong as usual with a 20-7 trimming of Austin.

Other stand-out games over the state this week-end have Corpus Christi at North Dallas, Corsicana at Forest (Dallas), San Angelo at Lubbock, Denison at Wichita Falls, Denton at Gainesville, Kerrville at Brownwood and Austin at Waco.

The week's schedule, by districts, includes:

City Conference
District 2—Thursday: Breckenridge at Paschal (Fort Worth); Friday: El Paso High at Arlington Heights (Fort Worth), North Side (Fort Worth) at Odessa, Amon Carter-Riverside (Fort Worth) at Weatherford; Saturday: Adamson (Dallas) at Fort Worth Tech.

District 4—Friday: Abilene at Brackenridge (San Antonio).

Class AA
District 1—Friday: Childress at Amarillo, Berger at Capitol Hill (Oklahoma City), Lamasa at Plainview.

District 2—Friday: Sunset (Dallas) at Quanah, Pampa at Graham, Denison at Wichita Falls, Mineral Wells at Electra, Vernon at Altus, Okla.

District 3—North Side (Fort Worth) at Odessa, Abilene at Brackenridge (San Antonio), Cisco at Big Spring.

District 4—Friday: Yaleta at Carlsbad, M. M. Douglas, Aris, at Bowie (El Paso), El Paso High at Arlington Heights (Fort Worth); Saturday: Kermit at Austin (El Paso).

District 7—Thursday: Breckenridge at Paschal (Fort Worth); Friday: Kerrville at Brownwood, Ciebume at Stephenville, Amon Carter-Riverside (Fort Worth) at Weatherford.

Chicago Jinx Could Cost Bosox Pennant

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Boston Red Sox' inability to hold their own with the cellar-dwelling White Sox in Chicago this year could cost them the American League pennant.

Murdered in Boston's Fenway Park where they dropped 10 of 11 games, the White Sox have whipped the league leaders in seven of 11 games at home.

Ted Lyon's crew Wednesday added insult to injury by handing Joe McCarthy's outfit its worst beating of the season. The White Sox exploded for 10 runs in the seventh inning to blitz the Red Sox 17-10.

The defeat melted Boston's margin over the runner-up New York Yankees to a game and a half. The third-place Cleveland Indians, who like the Yanks were idle, also picked up a half game and they now trail by three and one-half games.

Grand slam homer

Taft Wright was the big noise in the White Sox rally. The veteran outfielder went to bat twice in the big seventh inning and drove in five runs, four of them on a grand slam homer which climaxed the uprising.

The only bright spot as far as Boston was concerned was the hitting of Ted Williams. Williams collected five singles in six trips to boost his league-leading batting mark to .371.

While the White Sox upset the Red Sox, Chicago's other last-place entry in the majors, the Cubs, continued to act as "cousins" for the National League's pennant-bound Boston Braves.

The Braves, aided by four errors, clipped the Cubs 5-2 in their final meeting of the season.

Braves Hold Edge
The triumph enabled the Braves to stay five games ahead of the runner-up Pittsburgh Pirates, who whipped the Giants 8-3 in New York. Dixie Walker drove in three of the Pirates' runs with a single and double. Ernie Bonham checked the giants on seven hits, two of them homers by Whitey Lockman and Johnny Mize.

The St. Louis Cardinals moved into a tie with the Brooklyn Dodgers for third place, a half game behind Pittsburgh, by beating Philadelphia 2-0, while the Dodgers split a twin-bill with the Cincinnati Reds.

After the Reds edged the Dodgers 3-2 in the opener behind the six-hit pitching of Howie Fox, Brooklyn grabbed the nightcap 2-1 as lefty Preacher Roe spun a seven hitter for his tenth victory.

In the other American League games, the Detroit Tigers beat the Washington Senators 4-2, and the Philadelphia Athletics nipped the Browns 8-7 in 12 innings in a night game at St. Louis.

Texas League— Tulsa Leads Bufts, Cats Catch Sports

By The Associated Press

The Texas League playoff shifted locations Thursday with Tulsa boasting a two-nothing lead over Houston and Fort Worth and Shreveport all-square.

Tulsa whipped Houston 5-3 Wednesday night to put the Bufts in a hole, but they'll have the chance to dig out in three games scheduled at home starting Thursday night.

Fort Worth and Shreveport hooked up in their second 11-inning battle with the Cats winning this one 4-3. Shreveport had taken the opener 1-0.

Kim Avrea and Mike Schultz turned in strong relief pitching in the ninth to shut off a determined Houston rally as the Oilers put the Bufts two-down. Avrea fanned two and Schultz the third after the Bufts and sent Harry Perkowski, the league-leading pitcher, to the showers with four straight hits and a couple of runs. Perkowski had allowed only six hits until the last-frame flare-up.

Elbie Flint's two-run homer in the sixth provided Tulsa's ultimate winning margin.

Pitcher Dwain Sloat scored the winning run for Fort Worth as a force play at second base went wrong. Sloat had doubled and was on second with George Schmees on first through a base on balls. Walt Flala ground to third baseman Vern Petty, who threw to Al Mazur at second but the latter stumbled and fell wide of the bag. Schmees was safe and Sloat rounded third and beat Mazur's throw to the plate by inches.

Big Gifts Listed In Boys' Ranch Campaign

SAN ANGELO—Big giving in the West Texas Boys' Co-op Ranch funds campaign was underway for regional leaders Wednesday, with standard-setting gifts reported from both regional chairmen Edwin S. Mayer of Sonora and Regional Big Gifts Chairman M. D. Bryant of San Angelo.

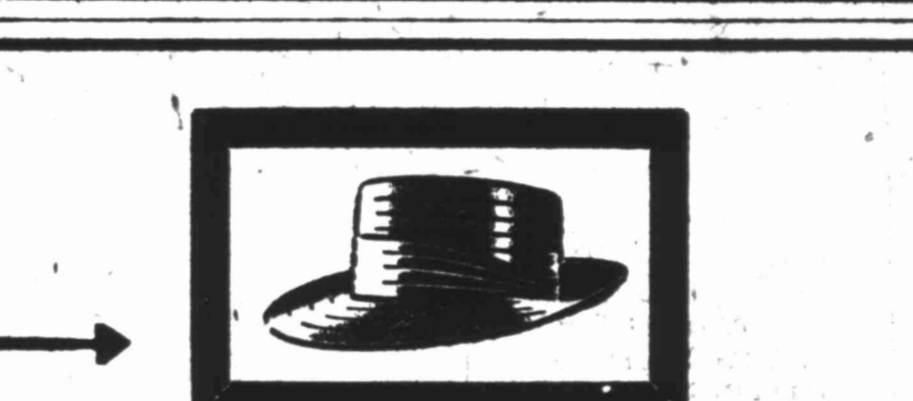

The amounts of gifts will not be announced at the request of donors, but other leaders were assured that each is several times as high as the largest made by anyone previously.

The ranch, to be located at Tankersley, will serve 32 West Texas counties.

Baseball pitchers wear electrically heated jackets to keep their arms in condition.

California Net Stars Dominate National Meet

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. — (P) — It was California against the world Thursday as half a dozen players prepared to battle for semifinal berths in the men's singles division of the National Tennis Championship.

Five days of play had chopped an original field of 91 to nine survivors—seven from California and two from foreign countries.

The last of the seeded Easterners, Davis Cup star Gardner Mulloy of Miami, Fla., and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, were ushered to the sidelines Wednesday in a continuing progression of upsets.

Two quarterfinal matches on Thursday's schedule sent Harry Likas of San Francisco against Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Earl Cochell of San Francisco against Eric Sturgess of South Africa.

Top-seeded Frankie Parker of Los Angeles and Richard (Pancho) Gonzalez, 20-year-old Los Angeles youngster, reached the quarterfinals against each other but will not play until Friday.

In addition to Sturgess, who won his way to the quarterfinals earlier, the only foreigner still alive and kicking was Jaroslav Drobny, the left-handed Czech Davis Cup ace.

He will not know his quarterfinal opponent, however, until Bob Falkenburg of Hollywood and Nick Carter of San Francisco settle their fourth round fust Thursday.

About 500,000,000 matches are produced in the United States each year, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

DOWN SPORTS LANE
 with TANNER LAINE

Almost every school has its supporting organization—down town. These supporting units have various names. Some of the best known are: quarterback clubs, touchdown clubs, Monday morning quarter-back clubs, grandstand clubs, curb-stone coaches, downtown quarter-backs and a score of similar names. Midland is not without its club. Here there is the Booster Club. Definitely these gridir groups have come to occupy an important place in the football picture. Fans like them because they provide information hitherto denied them. Coaches in general prefer them because they provide an opportunity to meet the fans—their severest critics. Schools like them for the support they lend to the schools and athletic performers.

The supporter clubs take on various functions at various locations. It may be a luncheon or a breakfast meeting following each ball game. It may be a monthly get-together when the coaches appear and tell "why" or a picture is shown of interesting games for study.

When it all started it is difficult to say. Credit generally is given to that hotbed of partisan football, Minneapolis. There in 1936, a Downtown Quarterback Club was instituted by a sports editor. It was a real club meeting each Monday noon during the football season.

Regardless of whether the idea first reached its fullest bloom in Minneapolis or Kalamazoo, the fact remains it has spread to every section of the nation.

The largest one is in Chicago, sponsored by a newspaper. It averages 1,000 luncheon guests for its eight-week program. Because of its location it serves the Big Nine and most pro clubs.

"Why did your team pass instead of kicking in that fourth quarter?" "How come you used a seven-man line against a team like Siwash?"

In touchdown and quarterback clubs—you get the answers.

Purple Idle Friday But Works Hard

Despite the fact they have no game scheduled this week, the Midland High School Bulldogs are bearing down in practice sessions at Memorial Stadium.

Monday and Tuesday the Purple rest pass defense work and more pass defense work. Wednesday was devoted to scrimmage, both dummy and full-throated head knocking. The blocking looked especially good Wednesday.

Coaches are smiling at the spirit and determination displayed by the 1948 Bulldogs, who fought back to win their first game 21-20. The kids played together and there are eleven on the team. It doesn't matter who carries the ball.

The B Bulldogs got an extra helping of drill Wednesday in preparation for an approaching opening game with Big Lake. Offensive maneuvers were performed.

The senior Bulldogs rest this Friday and next week they journey to El Paso for a go with the Austin High Panthers of that city. Austin High opened the season with a 20-7 conference win over Cathedral High of El Paso. The hefty Panthers are favorites in District 4-A. They are led by Billy Walsh, who tabbed three touchdowns in the opener.

Midland came out of the Yaletta opener in fine shape. Educated-to-Larry Buckingham still cannot enter the rough stuff but is rapidly getting over an injured ankle.

His first appearance in the field was on October 1 when Plainview comes here and the new stadium will be dedicated formally.

It ran a two-hour drillstem test at 7,464-7,600 feet. Recovery was 8,170 feet of black sulphur water. There were no signs of oil or gas. None of the higher horizons showed any indications of petroleum.

The exploration was 660 feet from north and west lines of section 19, block 25, TP survey.

The tester was open three hours. Recovery was 600 feet of drilling mud, 1,900 feet of slightly oil and gas cut emulsion of drilling mud, which indicated a trace of sulphur water, and 645 feet of gas cut drilling mud, also with a trace of sulphur.

The project is making more hole. Top of the Tubb was picked at 5,045 feet. Elevation is 2,645 feet.

Corrosion Engineers Tours Of Inspection To Conclude Thursday

The annual tour of the West Texas Chapter of the National Association of Corrosion Engineers will end Thursday afternoon with a barbecue at the VFW Auditorium at Midland Air Terminal.

The program started Tuesday. During the three days of the period the 125 persons who have been participating have visited oil fields in Andrews, Ector, Crane, Winkler, Yoakum, Mitchell, Howard and Pecca Counties in Texas, and in Lea County, New Mexico.

On those visits various corrosion problems were studied and the efforts that are being made to combat the damages from corrosion of oil field tubular goods and other equipment were explained and discussed.

Demonstrations held during the tour were demonstrations of the methods used to apply protective coatings to tubular goods in the efforts to cut down or eliminate corrosion damages.

Those demonstrations were held at the Superior Oil Company yard on the Andrews highway, and at the American Inspection Service plant at Midland Air Terminal.

More than 75 of the men on the tour were from points outside the Permian Basin. Four buses were used to transport the tour members to the various oil fields and other places visited during the three days of the program.

Fall Headgear On Display As Felt Hat Day Approaches

Say, men. You remember that stuff you were handed last Spring about the virtues of straw hats? Well, you'd better forget it. There's a new deal coming up, and the less you're influenced by what you heard when the swallows began flying North, the better you'll be.

Right now, you'll see 1948 model felts of every shape, size and color in every clothing store in the city. Don't cringe or shrink. Step right up and grab one before anybody has a chance to accuse you of not knowing the score.

Anybody wearing a straw hat next week will look and feel as out of place as an overcoat salesman at a nudist convention.

Merchants Prepared

Midland merchants are prepared for Felt Hat Day. They say hats are of better quality this year than last, while prices are the same. You can buy a $10 number that will keep your scalp reasonably well protected against the elements and at the same time force onlookers to admit you're at least in style, whether you're handsome or not.

Hats are available in a greater variety of colors this year than at this time a year ago, merchants say. Brims of the new felt hats are, for the most part, a shade narrower than in 1946. Aside from a few things like that, the felt hat business is about like it has always been. Most men will applaud this. Conservatism in dress is about the last peculiarity by which the American male can be distinguished from his mate, and style leaders would have us men believe there are forces at work to undermine even this isolated stronghold of masculinity.

Wide Range In Cost

You can buy a hat costing as much as $150, if you've that kind of dough. Or, as pointed out before, you can get one for $10 or even less, that will keep your cranium covered admirably until next Spring. Then, as you'll be appraised at the proper time, you'll need another straw hat. Oh, yes. There'll be a Straw Hat Day in 1948. But that's a long time off. The wise and well-dressed male will hardly attempt, regardless of his courage and contempt for fashion, to cling to his Summer-worn 1948 straw until it once more becomes sartorially correct.

He'll walk right up to some approving clerk and claim a fashionable felt.

Midlanders Enroll At San Marcos Academy

In addition to his regular school work, Cadet Lanier, who is in the eighth grade, will participate in the academy's military program which has been rated "excellent" by the U. S. Army.

Miss Brown is a sophomore in high school.

Phone Company Says Workers Not Involved In Installers Strike

The strike called by the Western Electric Installers Union for 8 a.m. Friday does not involve the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, telephone officials here advised employees in a bulletin board notice.

"If the strike begins as scheduled, it may be that picket lines will be established around some telephone company buildings and other work locations of telephone employees. Observation of such picket lines by telephone company employees will cause difficulties in furnishing telephone service."

"No strikes have been called against the telephone company by C.W.A.—Division No. 26, the union representing the telephone employees, and the contracts between it and the telephone company are in full force and effect. You will be expected to report for your work assignments as usual. Negotiations for amendments and modifications of wage and other provisions of the existing contracts between the Union—C.W.A.—Division No. 20 and the telephone company are scheduled to be resumed in St. Louis Thursday."

Saturday Is Air Force Day In U.S. Aviation Still An Unfinished Story

By TANNER LAINE

Saturday is Air Force Day. On this date, September 18, the Air Force will mark its first anniversary of autonomy. In previous years, Air Force Day, was observed on August 1 since the Aeronautical Division of the Signal Corp, predecessor of the Air Force was established Aug. 1, 1907.

During the last year, the U. S. Air Force has expanded from a total strength of 311,000 officers and enlisted men and women to more than 900,000, approximately 12,000 of whom are stationed overseas. Wartime strength was millions.

Goddard Field at San Angelo and Fyote Air Force are conducting Air Force Open House Saturday. There will be a program of ground exhibits and aerial demonstrations from 12:30 to 5 p. m. at San Angelo.

Many Midlanders remember with pride their service in the Air Force. And this city was Air Force conscious during the war with two USAF installations here.

Born in 1907

The Air Force was born in 1907 as the Aeronautical Division of the Signal Corps and was charged with the responsibility for all matters pertaining to military ballooning, air machines and kindred subjects. The first United States tactical aviation unit, was organized at San Diego, Calif., in December 1913.

America's first air operation was a dismal failure. An eight-plane squadron was ordered to Casa Grande, Mexico, for immediate operations. One plane turned back with a defective engine (abort, we called 'em). Three more became lost and were forced to land near Mexican towns. The other four were forced down by darkness (imagine that). The first Aero Squadron did some work in Mexico, carrying mail and observing.

Flying schools became actualities in 1916.

World War I caused the Aviation Section to be in focus in 1917. Aviation was little progressed, however. At the outbreak of war for America, the Aviation Section consisted of 131 officers, 78 of which were fliers, and 1,000 enlisted men.

When the war ended in 1918 there were 45 squadrons with 787 pilots, 1,481 observers, 23 gunners and 740 airplanes. The war had proved that the Air Service had a definite place in the Army.

Separate Service

In 1920, the Congress passed an Army reorganization act which created a new Air Service, as "separate and coordinate branch of the line of the Army." Authorized strength was 1,516 officers and 16,000 men.

An Act of July 2, 1926, created the Office of Chief of Air Corps eliminating the designation Air Service. More flying schools sprang up.

The Air Corps "West Point Of The Air," Randolph Field, was established June 20, 1930.

Came a period in the early 30's when much experimentation with bombing from aircraft was done. The Air Corps was constantly growing and improving.

In 1941, with another war on the horizon, there came the great expansion program with training commands established. Pilot quotas went up to 33,000 per year.

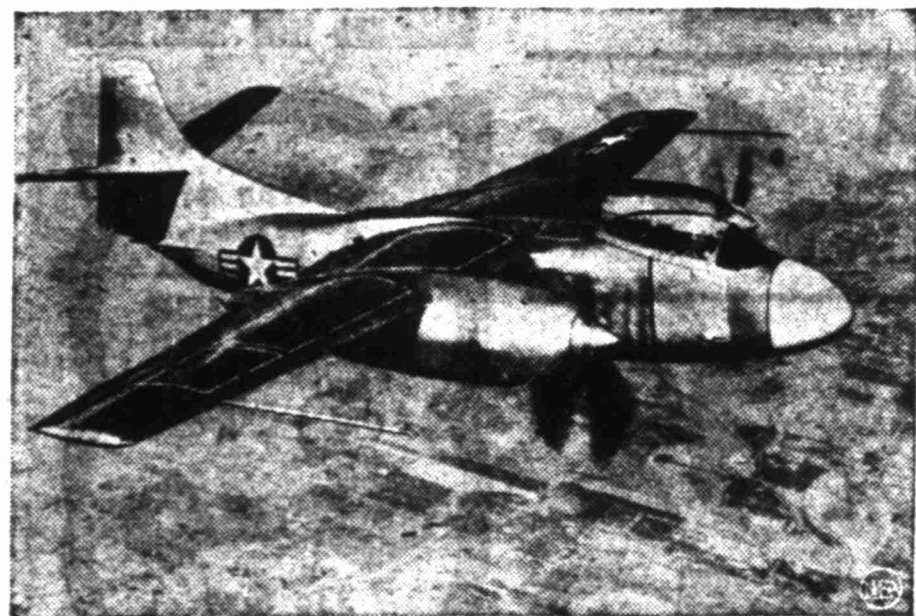

The Japanese struck Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941.

And the story of the Air Force in World War II is another story. But it is not the last chapter.

Navy's New Double-Action Fighter

This new Navy carrier plane, the XAH-1, is double powered by conventional engines and jets. It has two Pratt and Whitney Wasp Major reciprocating engines under the wings to spin its propellers and a GE-Allison turbo-jet engine in the tail of the fuselage. Pilot will use the conventional engines for normal operations, cutting in the jet for added speed in combat. (U. S. Navy photo from NEA.)

Season Accents Oyster Stew

Oysters "E" in season.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Oysters either shucked or on the half shell are now in season. First, of course, that means oyster stew—one of the most welcome "meal in a dish" luncheon or supper dishes.

This is the way oyster stew is made at a world-famous oyster bar: Allow 6 oysters per person. Heat 2 squares of butter per person in a heavy saucepan. Season with celery salt, pepper and paprika and add for each serving 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce. Drain oysters and cook in hot butter until edges curl—only a few minutes. Then add 1/2 cup oyster or clam liquid per person, heat but do not allow to boil, then add 1 cup warm milk per person. Stir gently and bring just to boil slowly and remove from heat immediately. Serve in large bowls.

Here's a way to serve oysters on the half shell, with cocktail sauce, at home with seashore restaurant style. Fill a tin or glass pie plate with cracked ice and spread oysters on half shells around the circle. Place a glass container in the center and fill with tomato cocktail sauce. Garnish the icy plate with lemon and serve with horseradish, Tabasco and crispy oyster crackers.

Cocktail Sauce
(Serves 4-6)
One (8-ounce) can tomato sauce, 1 1/2 teaspoons horseradish, 1/8 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco, 3 tablespoons lemon juice. Blend ingredients together. Chill before serving. Serve with oysters, clams, shrimp and other shellfish.

Seafood Cocktail
(Serves 4-6)
One (8-ounce) can tomato sauce, 2 tablespoons horseradish, 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco, 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley, 1 cup sliced cooked crabmeat or shrimp. Blend ingredients well and chill thoroughly before serving. Serve in glass cocktail dish. Garnish with lemon segments.

WE THE WOMEN

In explaining how she managed to go into business for herself on the slimmest of shoestrings a successful New York business-woman said: "You finance your business with your own work."

That is exactly how the successful housewife helps to finance a good home for her family by hard work.

She may not have any money of her own to contribute to the family income. But if she is clever and energetic, she helps with the financing.

The Family "Financier"
Such a woman can make a livable home out of almost any kind of quarters.

Her "financing" is not only the scrubbing, cooking, etc., that is the housewife's regular routine. It's the extras she does that makes a house a home.

It's the sewing, painting, gardening and contriving that she does to make a living place attractive.

It's the brains and energy she expends in making her family comfortable, in the imagination she uses to give some grace to their living.

When you wonder why the Smiths can live so much better than the Jones when their actual incomes are about the same, you can usually find the answer in Mrs. Smith's contribution to family living.

She's helping to finance the marriage by hard work. And let no man underestimate the value of the financing a woman does by hard work.

Southernmost people in the world are the Yaghan Indians who live on the south coast of Tierra del Fuego in Argentina.

Junior Woman's Wednesday Club Has Sponsored Many Projects

By SUE COLEMAN

Sixteen young women, most of whom had been friends from childhood, met on Jan. 17, 1934, to form the Junior Woman's Wednesday Club, an organization which has grown into a secure place among Federated Women's Clubs of Midland.

It was sponsored at the start by the Women's Wednesday Club, one of the city's older study clubs. The late Mrs. J. M. Caldwell was chosen to organize the junior group and it was she who called the first meeting. She continued to assist the new club during its early years.

The charter members were Julia Ann Aycock, Mary Belle Pratt, Dorothy Ratliff, Bennie Sue Ratliff, Jennie Elkin, Ida Beth Cowden, Ruby Hodges, Lucile Thomas, Martha Louise Nobles, Mrs. Robert W. Tesch, Mrs. Ralph Geisler, Mrs. Barron Kidd, Marian Wadley, Mrs. John C. Ratliff, Mrs. John

McKinley, and Mrs. Hugh West. With some names changed by marriage, many of these girls are still members of the club.

First Study Course
For their first full year, 1934-35, the club outlined a study course on the subject, "Interesting People," applied for affiliation with the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, and set a precedent by contributing to charities and civic funds.

Its officers that year were Martha Louise Nobles, president; Eulalia Whitefield, vice president; Bennie Sue Ratliff, recording secretary and treasurer; Dorothy Ratliff, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Hugh West, parliamentarian; and Annie Laurie Hix, historian.

Dances sponsored by the club at the Scharbauer Hotel raised funds for early projects. Contributions to a student loan fund were high on the list of club gifts for several years. The members always have been interested principally in charities as service projects, and in recent years have made anonymous gifts directly to students who needed help to buy school needs.

At present they are concentrating on payment of their pledge to furnish a room in the Midland Memorial Hospital.

Meetings of the 1948-49 season will start October 6 with a luncheon. Mrs. H. L. Straughan, Jr., Mrs. D. G. Roberts, and Mrs. Olin Prather make up the hostess committee.

Mrs. Charles Edwards, Jr., heads the club this year. Other officers are Mrs. James T. Smith, vice president; Mrs. John McKinley, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. J. W. Starr, parliamentarian; Mrs. Allen Flaherty, historian; and Mrs. D. G. Roberta, corresponding secretary.

On the yearbook committee are Mrs. J. C. Ratliff, Jr., Mrs. McKinley, and Mrs. Flaherty. The study course subject is "Today's Woman." Other members are Mrs. Bill Beckers, Mrs. Walter Gremlin, Mrs. Wright Cowden, Mrs. Irby Dyer, Mrs. Oliver Haag, Mrs. Frank Miller, Mrs. Thornton Hardie, Mrs. Donald Oliver, Mrs. Fred Kotyza, Mrs. James T. Smith, Mrs. W. P. Z. German, Jr., Mrs. Louis Thomas, and Mrs. Hugh West.

One object of the club has been furthering friendships among the members, as shown by the social meetings which have been sandwiched between study sessions in all the club's programs. Even during the war years, when one meeting each month was devoted to war work, the club kept up its custom of reserving several meeting hours for purely social purposes.

Many Contributions
Its study subjects have included "Plays and Playwrights," "Interior Decoration," a miscellaneous course which featured current events, "Travelogue," "Islands," "The World at War," and, last year, "In Our Time," a review of health, education, and social progress and problems. Mrs. Straughan was president for the 1947-48 season.

A review of treasurer's reports and minutes of meetings show that the club has contributed to various federation projects, as well as to the Red Cross, Goodfellows' fund, and the club's own charitable gifts, usually to underprivileged children.

Funds have been raised by sponsoring book reviews, rummage sales, and parties as well as by direct contributions from the members.

The new year will find the club prepared to continue progress in its object, "to encourage intellectual development, and to cooperate in social benefit work."

Wyoming was the first state in the Union to provide for women suffrage, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Midland Region Lists 42 New Petroleum Ventures In Week

Forty-two new locations for oil developments in the Midland region were reported by the West Texas district of the oil and gas division of the Railroad Commission during the past week. There were three wildcat locations listed, and one semi-wildcat.

Andrews County headed the list, with 11 ventures, two of which were wildcats. Crane and Ector Counties were next, with six new prospectors each.

Four new ventures each were reported for Cochran and Hockley Counties. One of the locations in Hockley was for a semi-wildcat. Winkler, Mitchell, and Gaines Counties were given three each, and Howard County received two of the new drillsites.

The remaining six projects were distributed one each to Dawson, Hale, Pecos, Scurry, Ward and Yoakum Counties. The location made in Pecos County was for a wildcat venture.

Six amended applications were also listed. Cochran, Gaines, and Ward Counties each had one amended application, and Ector County had two.

Atomic Energy Has Immediate Place In Business

By FRANK CAREY
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Here's what atomic energy means to the business world—not in the distant future, but right now!

Even as research is going on looking toward development of atomic power and the further application of radioactive by-products to medicine, agriculture and industry, the businessman has immediate opportunities, says the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC).

In what way?

By furnishing supplies and equipment needed for atomic energy research and application.

Such materials range from electronic equipment needed to detect and measure radioactivity right along the line to lead bricks and shielding needed to protect workers from dangerous atomic "rays."

Speaking of "isotopes"—the radioactive by-products of A-bomb development—the commission said in its recent report to Congress:

"The businessman has reason to be interested in isotopes. Their utilization in scientific research has created a demand for new kinds of equipment and services which will continue to grow very rapidly in the years ahead. Their application to industrial problems opens an immense field for future development."

In the pioneer detection laboratories now operating, AEC scientists have been forced to improvise most of the equipment they use.

"Such laboratories," says the commission, "today constitute a rapidly growing market for a great variety of equipment and services—new equipment for the assay of radionuclides; for the handling of radiomaterials; yet-to-be provided services for the design of laboratories; the maintenance of complex instruments and the preparation of compounds labeled with radiotopes."

"As rapidly as these present demands are supplied, new research will get under way, new research will be possible."

Job for Business
"The supplying of these growing demands is a job for business..."

Electronics firms have already taken the lead. Thirty of them are in the business of supplying radiation detection instruments. But the commissions says an obvious complement to this business—already undertaken by at least one firm—is the supplying of "other specialized equipment." Such would include lead bricks and chests for shielding... highspeed fans for ventilation... extension-type tools for the remote control handling of radioactive hot stuff.

The commission says the electronic industry has steadily been multiplying its output of radiation measurement instruments—and improving their performance.

"But much development remains to be done; eventually, the radiation counter may be as simple to operate for the biologist in the laboratory, or the materials inspector in a plant, as is the home radio for everybody today." (A radiation counter is an instrument that "counts" atomic rays—thus measuring the strength of the radiation source.)

The AEC chiefs see "no foreseeable limits" to the need for variety and elaboration of detection devices to suit specialized needs. And the same is true in the case of specialized detection instruments for the protection of workers— including "pocket" meters and "film badges" for measuring the amount of radioactivity to which an individual is exposed.

Still another field for the businessman covers the preparation of compounds containing radioactive isotopes obtainable from the AEC. Up to now, AEC has been supplying such compounds ready-made, but the commission is encouraging business to prepare the actual compounds after obtaining the radioactive component from the commission's facilities. Already, one firm has started production of such compounds. A second has completed necessary arrangements with AEC. Three others are negotiating.

Happy Birthday

Snowed under by greeting cards from well-wishers, Barbara Ann Quinn is happy to be in her Hempstead, N. Y., home again and preparing to celebrate her seventh birthday after spending most of her life in hospitals. A victim of Bent's disease, she has had numerous ineffective operations and 180 transfusions of blood donated by her many friends.

A Crop to Cultivate

America is famous for good crops. But finest of all is the bumper "crop" of 11,000,000 boys and girls growing up on our farms and ranches.

Trained teachers and leaders are helping cultivate this bumper crop. Vocational agricultural teachers in over 7,000 high schools do their part. Most of these schools have Future Farmers of America chapters. Membership of F. F. A. is 260,000. In their outside classroom work they receive additional on-the-job training from their vocational agricultural teachers. They learn to accept leadership responsibility. On graduation, many go directly into farm or ranch management. Others go on to agricultural college.

County agents and over 180,000 unselfish volunteer leaders do another great job through the 4-H Clubs. Through 85,000 local 4-H Clubs, more than 1,750,000 boys and girls get invaluable training. Advice, encouragement, know-how from practical experts. Their projects keep them abreast of what is new in agriculture. They learn through doing. Achievement and leadership become habits.

It is well that American agriculture has these leaders and teachers. By teaching the business and science of farming, they are helping make life on farm and ranch rich and profitable for a new generation of Americans. They are showing them the way to economic security and a good way of life. Better farm planning; power machinery; scientific modern methods; control of weeds and plant and animal pests... All these our farm and ranch youth are learning. In many ways they are qualifying themselves to be better managers of land and better businessmen. They are increasing their knowledge of science and selling—of machinery and markets—of costs and conservation.

Swift & Company has always been proud to encourage farm youth activities. We shall continue to do so. We have no doubt or fear for the future of America. For, properly cultivated, this crop will ripen surely into our nation's richest harvest.

A HUNDRED CENTS MAKE A DOLLAR

Have you sometimes wished to know Where meat dollars really go?

Of each wholesale dollar spent, You get seventy-nine per cent
For your livestock, wool and hides, And all by-products besides.
Wages, operating cost
Take another even twenty.
After all the rest is spent The packer profits just one cent.

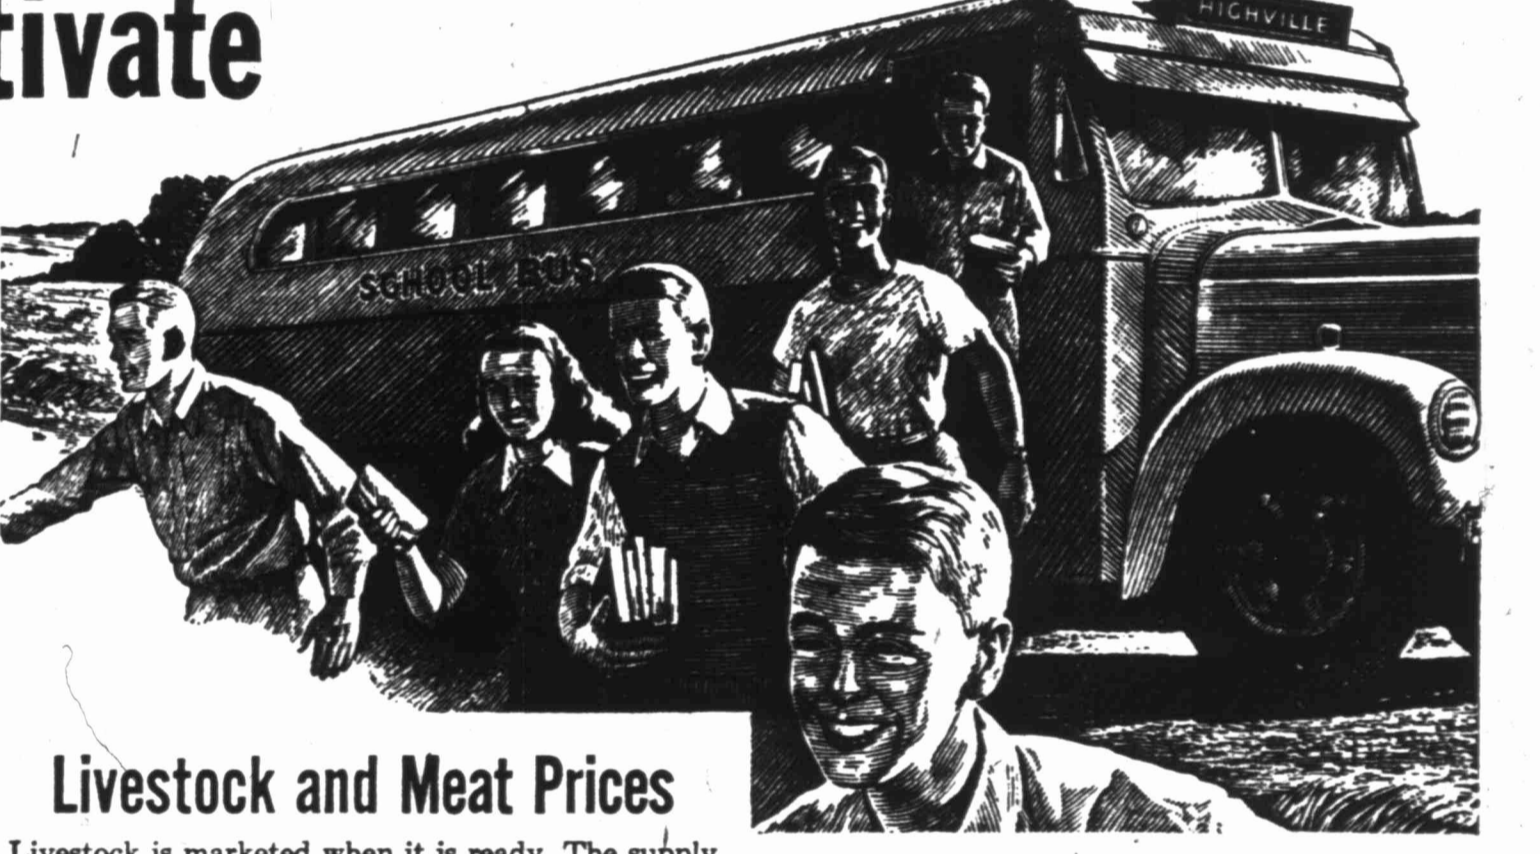

It's a Two-Way Road

In my work with farmers and ranchers I have visited just about every part of this country. I can't begin to count the number of times I have traveled out of Chicago and back enterprise—to the range country of the West... through the Corn Belt states... the wheatlands... the cotton country—Florida, Maine, Washington, California and all the other states in between. I do not know how anyone who travels much can help being impressed with the need for team play in America. As farmers or ranchers, your prosperity depends to a large degree on the ability of workers in industry to purchase the food and fiber you produce. Likewise, city businessmen know that your power to purchase their products is equally important to them. And all of us depend on the men in the mines, in the forests, in the steel mills, and oil fields. But what we are apt to overlook is the fact that it is the earning of a reasonable profit which keeps all these businesses going, and all of us at work. Of course, profit rates vary. That depends on many things, including volume of business done. For example, here at Swift & Company we process millions of pounds of agricultural raw materials each year. On each pound handled, we earn an average profit of a fraction of a cent. Few could stay in business on the margin we meat packers earn. But whether one's business volume is large or small, some profit is essential to any individual or any enterprise.

And here's another thing. Often I hear someone say—"Those farmers are the lucky ones—completely independent!" I can't agree with them. I know, and you know, that you on the land are independent—but only to a certain degree! Of course, cities couldn't exist without the products of farm and ranch. Maybe you could produce your own food, clothing, shelter and fuel. But country living would be pretty grim without cars, telephones, radios, fences, tractors, windmills and modern labor-saving, comfort-giving equipment. It is a two-way road! Our standard of living in America is something we are all proud of. It is the result of the profit system and of good team play.

Livestock and Meat Prices

Livestock is marketed when it is ready. The supply of animals coming to market at any one time is controlled by your decisions as producers. These decisions may have been made months previously, depending on your breeding and feeding program.

The weather—blizzards, storms and droughts—also has a bearing on when you market your animals. Meat packers have no control over the supply of livestock.

The meat packer must sell meat and by-products for what they will bring. When people have to economize, they spend less money for meat. Consumers, retailers and meat packers reduce their bids. The prices of both meat and livestock fall accordingly. But when people make more money, they are eager to buy meat. Then buyers all along the line increase their bids. And the prices of both meat and livestock rise accordingly. For each meat packer and each retail meat dealer knows that if he does not pay a little higher for the livestock or meat he wants, somebody else will—and get the business.

Thus the old law of supply and demand—plus competition in buying livestock and selling meat—forces price changes in meat to be reflected quickly all the way back to the livestock on the hoof. At all times the market price is a balance between the supply of livestock and the demand for meat.

New Idea in Junior Feeding Projects

by T. W. Thompson
State Club Leader, Montana

Boys and girls are trying out a new kind of livestock feeding project. In several states—including Montana, Nebraska, Colorado and Indiana—people are enthusiastic about it. Here is how it works. The boy or girl buys an average lot of feeder steers or lambs, from a uniform herd or band. The number bought is usually 3 or more steers, 15 or more lambs. That depends on finances, feed supplies and equipment available.

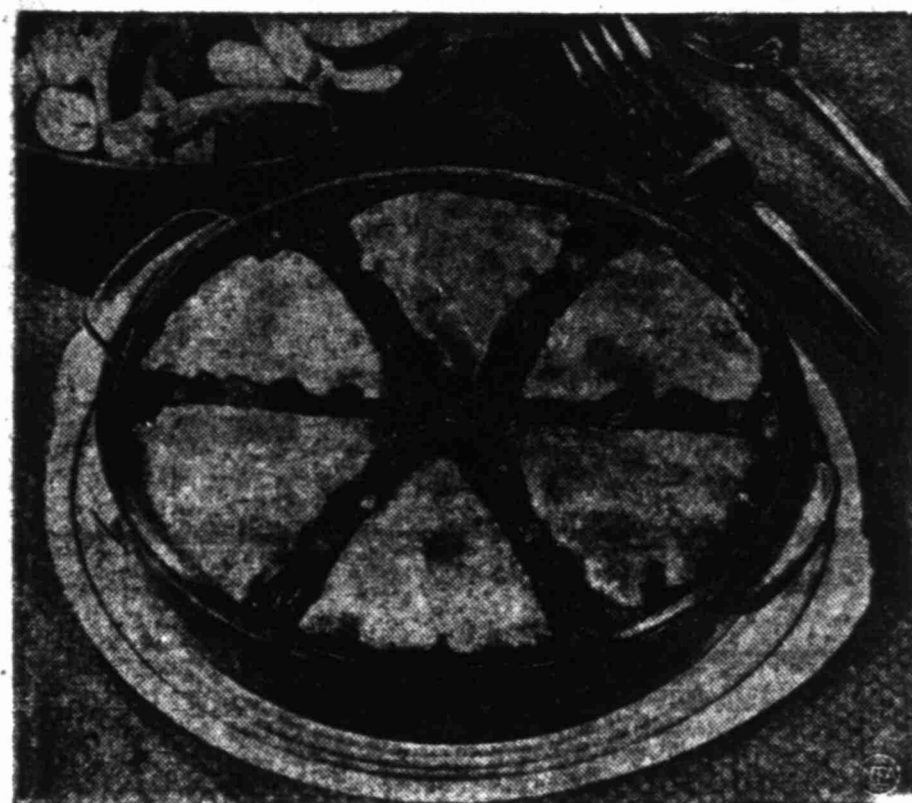

These lots of animals are bought at a central market. They are taken home and fattened. Careful records are kept of feed costs and rates of gain. At the end of the feeding period, they are shipped back to market. They are sold on Junior Marketing Day.

Boys and girls consign their animals to commission firms of their own choice. Upon arrival the animals are penned separately, according to ownership. Each lot is graded and weighed separately. Then all animals are assembled in pens according to grade. They are sold for slaughter in the usual manner used on that market. The boys and girls profit according to the market value of their animals.

Sponsors claim the following benefits: (1) It is practical. (2) It promotes better farm feeding methods. (3) Boys and girls learn about market grades of livestock. (4) They learn about central markets and their operation. This new idea in junior feeding is not intended to take the place of feeding for show. It is a separate project, to give youngsters practical experience in feeding for market.

(Serves 4-6)
Three tablespoons fat, 1 cup coarsely diced onion, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 cup well-seasoned chicken broth, one 3-ounce can chopped broiled mushrooms, 1 cup coarsely diced celery, cooked, 1 cup fresh peas, cooked, 1 cup diced carrots, cooked, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, 1/8 teaspoon powdered rosemary, 1/2 teaspoon kitchen bouquet, 1 cup biscuit mix.
Melt fat in saucepan over moderate heat. Add onion and cook until barely tender, about 10 minutes, stirring frequently. Stir in flour. Add chicken broth and cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Add contents of can of mushrooms, celery, peas, carrots, seasonings and kitchen bouquet. Bring to boil and simmer over low heat 5 minutes. Meanwhile prepare 1 cup biscuit mix according to directions on package. Roll into circle about 7 inches in diameter. Cut in 6 wedge-shaped pieces. Pour vegetables into shallow 8-inch baking dish. Arrange biscuit topping. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 15 minutes or until biscuit is browned and done. Serve immediately with salad of mixed greens.

Corn And Mushroom Souffle
(Serves 4-6)
One-quarter cup fat, 1/4 cup flour, 2/3 cup milk, one 3-ounce can chopped broiled mushrooms, 1/2 cup American cheese, cubed (about 4 ounces), 3 eggs, separated, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, dash cayenne pepper, 2 tablespoons diced green pepper, 2 cups corn off the cob, or 12-ounce can whole kernel corn.
Melt fat in small saucepan over moderate heat. Stir in flour. Add milk and broth from can of mushrooms. Cook, stirring constantly, until the sauce thickens and comes to a boil. Add cheese and stir until cheese melts. Slightly beat the egg yolks. Add a little of the hot sauce, stirring constantly. Combine with remaining sauce. Add seasonings, green pepper, corn and mushrooms. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold into corn mixture. Pour into ungreased 1 1/2-quart baking dish. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees F.) until firm, about 1 hour. Serve immediately for lunch or main course at dinner.

THE STORY: Dying in the fading desert, British secret agent Hillary Shasthose feels a desperate need to get back to England and to Nina Furling, her family home. He doesn't know the house has been let and that Hillary, 17-year-old Sabrina, when he never met, has adopted his old name and eagerly awaits his return. Hillary does return to England and to Nina Furling—after death. When he sees Sabrina, he realizes she is the girl he would have loved if he had lived. Hillary's room is looked after by his brother, brings word of his death, and Sabina, the small girl, Filton, the housekeeper, unlocks the room again for her. Sabina knows that Hillary has come home.

GRADUALLY it dawned on Aunt Effie that Sabrina was using the room again, and that it must be with Mrs. Pilton's consent. For a few days she hoped she was wrong, pretended not to notice, put off bringing the matter up. One night, quite late, when Sabrina supposedly had gone to bed, she remembered that she had left her gardening shears and basket out in the dew at the edge of the border and ran out to fetch them in. As she returned to the house she saw a line of light between the curtains of the room at the top of the house, and she made up her mind to take a firm stand. If Sabrina was up there at this hour, reading . . .

It was Jennie who answered the bell. "Please tell Mrs. Pilton I want to speak to her," said Aunt Effie.

IN a few minutes the housekeeper stood before her in the lamplight, composed and inscrutable as always. "Did you give my niece the key to that room upstairs?" Aunt Effie began, rather obliquely. "Yes, I did. I knew it was the only way to stop her fretting."

FOR once oblivious of the little dog, Aunt Effie went to Sabrina's door, knocked, and put her head in. Sabrina was reading in bed, and turned a smiling, innocent face towards her visitor. "Hello, Auntie," she said. "Going to bed now?" Aunt Effie glanced behind her into the passage and then spoke in a lowered voice. "Sabrina—when were you in that room last?" With only an instant's hesitation, Sabrina told the truth. "This afternoon." "Before you passed and then spoke in a lowered voice?" "Yes, Auntie." "But I have just found all the lights on up there."

McKenney on Bridge

The lessons in bridge are many and varied, but the most important one of all is to learn to count your tricks. It is around this principle that many other lessons in bridge are built. In today's hand, for example, there is the question of re-entries, but unless you count your tricks, you are apt to slip up on the hand. Declarer played dummy's ten of hearts on the opening lead, West won with the king, and gave up the idea of returning the heart suit. He led back the ten of diamonds, trying to knock out the diamond ace. North put on the jack, East the king and dummy's ace won the trick. Now if declarer could successfully finesse the spades, he could count five spade tricks, a heart, a diamond and two clubs. But suppose that the spade finesse did not work, how then would he get back into his hand to take the heart finesse? He was almost sure that East had the queen of hearts, as East undoubtedly had led his fourth best and West had won the trick with the king of hearts. The best line of attack was to hope that the king of spades was wrong. Declarer's first play after winning the ace of diamonds was to cash the king and queen of clubs and then lead the three of spades from dummy. If West went in with the king, the jack of spades

Some 110,000 workers across the nation are idle, in strikes whose common threat is against vital aspects of America's daily living. Principal disputes are indicated on map. The West Coast maritime strike spread to transcontinental rail freight traffic when the Association of American Railroads imposed an embargo on freight to Atlantic and Gulf ports for water shipment to the West Coast. In the Duluth-Superior area, 500 AFL grain workers added their strike threat to the Twin Cities stoppage. Processors said grain would be "backed right up to the wheatfields."

Man Mines The Sea For Food, Minerals

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK—Nearly a billion years ago, life apparently originated in the sea. Half a billion years ago, this sea life moved out onto land and furnished the ancestors of today's animals—and, some scientists say, of man, too.

Today man is returning to the sea. Not to live, not in search of romance, but to find food and resources that are becoming increasingly scarce on land.

Whether or not the sea was the origin of life, it is by far the greatest storehouse of the things man needs for food and for his material existence.

All the metals and minerals, the 92 common chemical elements, are dissolved in sea water. Until this century even science thought it impossible to mine seawater. Then magnesium was taken from seawater in small quantities.

The motor age caused another break. Anti-knock gasoline, needing huge quantities of scarce bromine led to a way to extract bromine from North Carolina coast seawater so that now most of the nation's anti-knock fluid comes in part from seawater. North Carolina was chosen, not because it had richer sea water, but for convenience.

Dow Extracts Gold

As a stunt, to do another thing long thought impossible, the Dow Chemical Company, which devised the bromine extraction, also took a bit of gold, the size of a medium pill, from the same water. In the ocean there is gold enough to pave all the roads of the United States. Gold mining of the sea at present, however, is too expensive.

During the war magnesium mining of the sea went into the big time at Freeport, Texas. Thousands of tons of metallic magnesium were extracted there for military uses. In the Freeport intake there were also each day a few pounds of uranium. Like gold, uranium may cost too much, since it is one of the scarcer elements in the sea. Yet it promises to become far more valuable than gold. If ever man extracts scarce uranium from the sea, it can be predicted that most of the others of high value will become available too.

The sea contains much of the world's sodium, carbon, sulfur, boron and magnesium, all large items for industry.

Phosphate, the great source of fertilizer, is dissolved throughout the sea. It has not been recovered. Yet the sea may have phosphate deposits that can be mined. Off La Jolla, Calif., there is a V-shaped submarine canyon, 1200 to 2000 feet deep, with phosphate layers along its bottom. This deposit was outlined by sampling a length of about 20 miles.

Chemicals From Seaweed

Another way to gather the sea's riches is to let ocean plants do the concentration. At Duke University the world's fastest growing crop has been found in seaweed along the Carolina coasts. These weeds increase by ten fold in size in two weeks. They can be cut and harvested in huge shallow-water areas.

Duke chemists say they know of 30 household and industrial chemicals that can be made from this seaweed. These include linoleum, artificial leather, insulating materials, adhesives, medicines, and vitamins.

The Scottish Seaweed Research Association, Ltd., reported seaweed good as sources of fabrics, plastics, custard and ice cream ingredients, soup, beer-making, surgical and dental aids.

During World War II the Navy discovered a mysterious layer at about 2000 feet deep that reflected sound, or sonar, waves to the surface. Recently California scientists identified this layer as probably fish, and masses of protein in the form of tiny animals on which the fish feed.

New Source Of Food
The Californians suggested this layer as a great new source of sea food. They found evidence that the layer exists in all oceans, and that it lies even in areas where fish have been considered scarce. This layer rises near the surface at night, drops again with daylight.

Dr. Harden P. Taylor, of New York, who in World War I, made the first quick-freeze plant for fish, says ocean waters near land can be fertilized. He says in some areas this will double the numbers of some fish. In Scottish lochs the fertilization already has had some success. There baby flounders were seen to grow as much in three months as other flounders in poor waters did in two years.

A little stimulation of this life potential is expected to produce a great multiplication. The handicap is lack of places to fence in the sea. But nature has provided many fences that scientists believe can be used.

One of these is around the Behring straits. There, at certain times small sea animals and plants become so numerous that the water is soupy. University of Washington scientists have proposed experimenting with specially equipped ships to strain this ocean soup for food sources.

Seawater Conversion

The seeming impossibilities of the sea still intrigue engineers. During the war plastics made it possible to convert a few cups of seawater into fresh water for dunked airmen and wrecked naval men. Now the Los Angeles county board of supervisors has asked the California legislature to offer a $1,000,000 prize for a method to convert seawater into fresh water for irrigation. The converted sea water should cost, under terms of the proposal, not more than $15 for enough water to cover one acre of ground one foot deep.

Many predictions of converting salt sea water to fresh or of using it for power, have been made by atomic energy writers.

The predictions usually are based on an assumption that atomic power will be so cheap it will do anything with little expense. But atomic scientists and engineers do not now foresee this kind of cheapness in atomic power. Man is also literally returning to the sea with diving bells, planned to drop four miles, with motion picture cameras to drop at least two miles and make records, and with guns that shoot cores into the sea bottom to bring up information.

The cores have shown there is 10 times more radium in the seas' bottom muds than in the water. They have brought up records of past ice ages and of past volcanic eruptions.

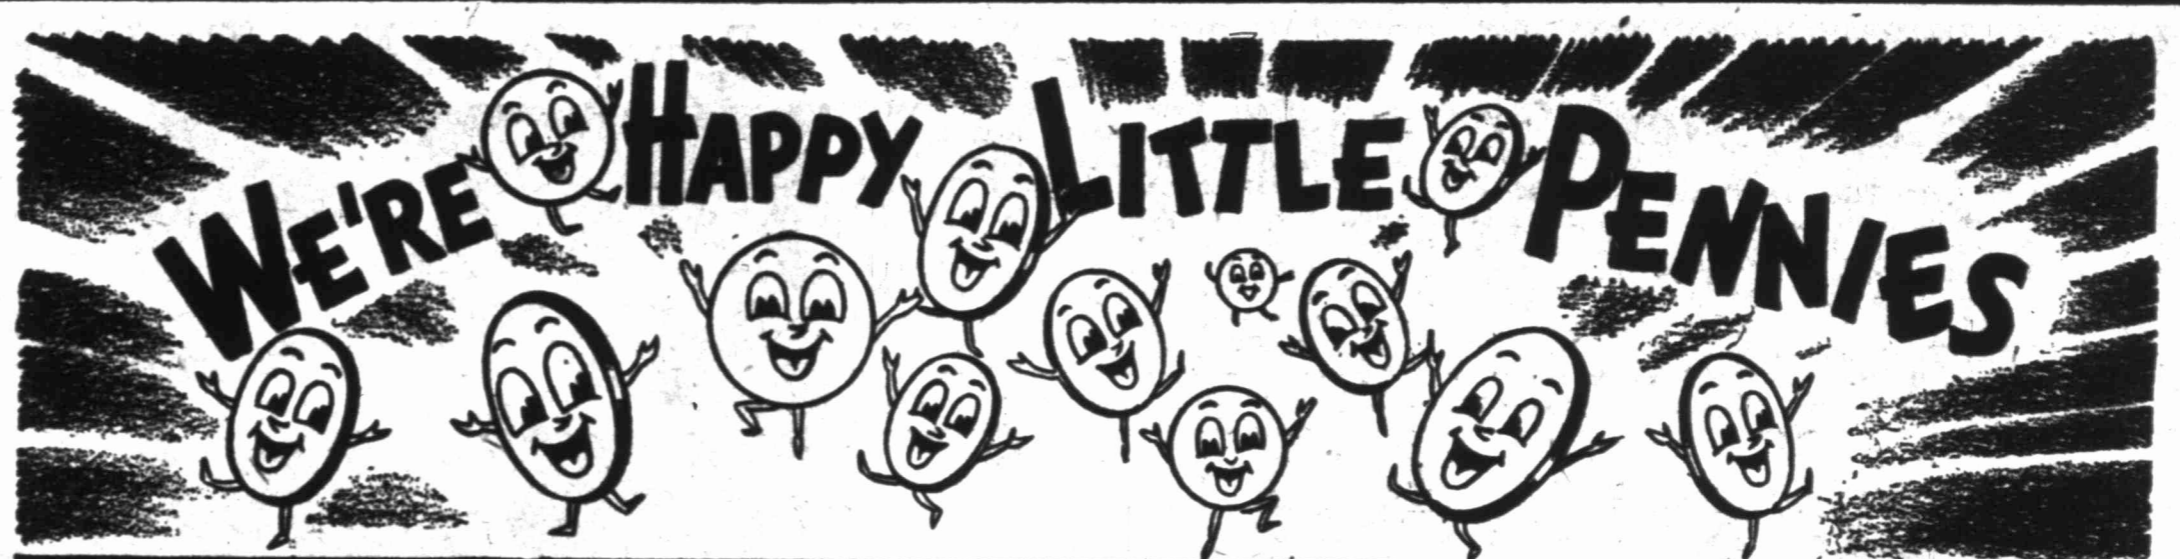

The plain mud of the bottom, and its mineral and chemical contents, promise to become useful knowledge in the scientific search for means to use the stored riches of the oceans.

NO BIRDS ALLOWED on telephone wires in hunting season

If birds could read, we'd post a sign like that. But they can't. So, we're doing the next best thing.

We're asking all hunters not to shoot at birds on telephone wires. One stray shot may break several wires, and interrupt important long distance calls.

We'll appreciate your help.

Baked ham croquettes with pineapple for a budget treat.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

To make a pound of ground ham into a delicious recipe with five double servings is a bit of budget magic. But it can be done.

Baked Ham Croquettes With Pineapple
(10 Croquettes)

Croquettes: One pound ham, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, 1 tablespoon diced onion, 2 tablespoons horseradish, 1 egg, beaten.

Combine ground ham, bread crumbs, salt, pepper, mustard, brown sugar, onion, horseradish and one beaten egg. Form into 10 small cones by molding in hands.

Croquette Coating: One egg, beaten, 1/2 cup cracker crumbs, 2 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine.

Dip cones in beaten egg. Roll in cracker crumbs. Cut butter in small bits and put over cones. Place on a well-greased heat-resistant glass well-and-tree platter.

Garnish: Five pineapple slices, parsley.
Cut pineapple slices in half and arrange around croquettes. Bake in moderate oven (325 degrees F.) about 50 minutes. Garnish with parsley for serving.

Creamed Ham and Peas
(8 Servings)
One-third cup butter or fortified
