Structure Is Flooded By Opened Taps

The Midland High School building was ransacked and flooded Sunday night in one of the worst cases of vandalism ever recorded here. No estimate of the damage could be obtained Monday morning.

The three-story building, textbooks and students' notebooks, papers and supplies all were damaged extensively. The vandals apparently entered through a first-floor window sometime between 6 p. m. Sunday and 7 s. m. Monday, Supt Frank Monroe said.

Principal Charles F. Mathews left the building about 6 p. m. Sunday, and the work of the vandals was discovered by Custodian Walter Wilson when he entered the building at 7 a. m. Monday. Each of the three floors was flooded with water, and books supplied by the state of Texas and papers were floating in the rooms and in the halls. Water was seep-ing through the plastered ceilings and running down door and window NANKING—(A)—A cabinet pledged "to fight on until we can secure an honor-Drains Plugged"

Our Thinking Has Changed

The North Atlantic defense pact, now being considered by the United States government, vividly illustrates the contrast between the two postwar Americas of this century. For an agreement that is more specific than the mutual-aid clauses of the League of Nations Covenant, which raised such a storm 30 years ago, has scarcely caused a ripple of public interest.

The disinterest does not arise from indifference. It comes rather from a general feeling that we shall ally ourself with Canada, Britain, France and the three Benelux nations for common defense, and that the alliance is good, necessary and inevitable.

Science and speed have so shrunk the world in the last 10 years that it is hard to appreciate the radical departure of American sentiment from what has always been American tradition. The concept of the Monroe Doctrine has burst its geographical limits and has been transformed into a bulwark against expanding world communism. We no longer fear entangling alliances because our interests and concern today are of global proportions.

Our present boundaries are fixed by politics rather Unification Needs Revision than by nature. Our outposts now are not at the ocean's front or on the Rhine. They are on that imaginary boundary known as the Iron Curtain. And as our neighbors the Dutch build dikes to retain the sea within its bounds, so we must help build dikes of security to protect free govern- day, Defense Secretary James V. Mary Gowen Foulks, Tea In Holiday Motif Honors Mrs. Penn, Newcomer To City

A holiday compliment to Mrs. R. L. Penn, Jr., who recently has moved to Midland, was a tea given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Lynn Boyd Lancaster and Mrs. William

Y. Penn in Mrs. Lancaster's home. The hostesses, the honoree, and Mrs. R. L. Penn, Sr., who came from Austin for the party, were in the receiving line. Guests were greeted at the door in succeeding hours by Mrs. Harvey Conger, Mrs. R. L. Hughston and Mrs. R. W. Hamilton, Mrs. O. C. Harper and Mrs. William Waters were at the guest book. Set in the curve of the stairway a tall Christmas tree glittered with lights and tinsel to dominate the home decorations in holiday motif. The tea table was lighted with a center arrangement of candles, and there were holly and bells on each corner. Cakes which were served with the tea were decorated with green bells.

Presiding at the table at various periods were Mrs. Reese Cleveand, Mrs. Harvey Conger, Mrs. Harris Eastham, Mrs. C. P. Butcher, Mrs. Ralph Barron and Mrs. W. W. LaForce.

Others in the house party were Mrs. George Turner, Mrs. Ed Culbertson, Mrs. John Cornwall, Mrs. J. E. Beakey, Mrs. H. A. Hemphill and Mrs. James FitzGerald, Jr.

Husbands Are Guests At Club Holiday Party

Les Convivantes Bridge Club members marked the holidays with a party Saturday night that included their husbands. A cocktail party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Moore, 1910 West Tennessee Street, was followed by dancing in the VFW Hall to the music of Jimmie Furman's orchestra.

The Moore home was gaily decked for Christmas, with large red candles burning in all the rooms. In the crowd were Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Attaway, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Symes, Mr. and Mrs. John K. Massey, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Nugent Brasher Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Huffman, Mr. and Mrs. Jack M. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Davidson, Mr. and Mrs.

The club had its December bridgeuncheon last Tuesday, a week early with Mrs. Murphree and Mrs. W. E Lyle, Jr., as hostesses in the Ranch House. They also used a holiday setting, centering the luncheon tables with miniature Christmas trees and figures of Santa Claus on a snowy background, and placing poinsettia candles at each place.

Daddy Ringtail And The Dilly - Dally

By WESLEY DAVIS "Bobby," Daddy Ringtail said to his little monkey boy one day, "are you ready for the picnic?" Bobby smiled and said he was ready, and so Daddy Ringtail picked up his straw hat and the basket of food. He started to climb down the tree, but Bobby said: "Where's

Daddy Ringtail took off his hat and put down the basket. He looked under the bed, and in the closet, and up on the roof of the monkey house. He went to the window and called, but Sammy was nowhere to be found. 'Maybe he has gone on to the picnic place—with Mother Ring-tail," the monkey daddy said. He

Philadelphia:

Associated Press Sports Editor The Texas schoolboy football campaign reaches its weary close this week with every champion due to be undefeated.

Two titles will be determined Christmas Day to round out the 1948 picture of three state pennants for the first time in the 29-year history of the Interscholastic League. Arlington Heights of Fort Worth wound up unbeaten but once tied with the City Conference championship. Saturday Amarillo and Waco settle the Class AA title at Fort Worth and New Braunfels and Monahans battle for the Class A crown at Odessa. Records of the four teams that play this weekend are: By The Associated Press The Philadelphia Eagles and the New Braunfels14 0 0 567 69 Cleveland Browns emerged Sunday Monahans14 0 0 369 89 as 1948 champions of the National Football League and the All-Amer-Waco13 0 0 394 88 Amarillo12 0 0 286 64 ica Conference, respectively.

Waco reached the final round The Eagles downed the defending champion Chicago Cardinals in the Class AA race last week by upsetting mighty Port Arthur 13-6, and Amarillo plowed over Denison 7-0 on a snow-covered gridiron at Cleveland took its third consecuive AAFC title by walloping the Battle Of Stars New Braunfels, one of the highscoring teams of Texas high school gridiron history-it has averaged 40.5 points per game-crushed Falfurrias 41-6, while Monahans staged an upset comparable to Waco's trimajor leagues mix in the World umph over Port Arthur to beat News London 12-0.

New Braunfels' great back, Jerome Bindseil, blasted across three touchdowns in the Unicorns' onesided victory over Falfurrias. Waldo Young paced Monahans in its great day against New London. He carried the ball 25 times for 160 yards, scoring one touchdown.

The meeting of Waco and Amarillo sets the stage for the real Texas "championship." These schools have won more titles than any others, each with four. In addition Waco gained one championship tie. Thus Amarillo must win to take the lead. A tie, which, under rules worked out by the two schools will mean a co-championship (the penetration rule will not be used), would keep Waco ahead. Waco, New Braunfels Favorites

Waco also has another distinction—that of being in the state finals more than any other school. Nine times have Tiger teams reached the last game. Amarillo has been up there five times.
