He Means Business

A Navy veteran, B. G. Stovall, Birmingham, Ala., was beaten by a hooded mob last Tuesday night. Stovall bought a gun and says he will use it if he or his family is threatened again. To show he means business he sits in doorway with the gun across his knees, backed up by his wife, Roxie, Jimmy, nine, and Elaine, eight.

U. S. Ready For Mass Output Of Guided Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Should war come tomorrow the United States probably could step right into mass production of guided missiles able to seek and strike the highest and fastest flying bombers.

Reporting on this Saturday, exponents of the new aircraft weapon said unless compelled to begin production immediately, further improvement of design is desirable.

The suggestion was that several years would be needed for perfection of the missiles under peacetime conditions.

Development of this top-ranking defense weapon has progressed to the point claimed by some guided missile men it can have profound effect on the current controversy over the relative capabilities of fighter planes and long range bombers, such as the B-36.

Some saw in it the comparative relegation of aggressive fighters to a secondary position and challenge to strategic bombers more serious than any imposed by ordinary, manned jet fighters.

Tactical Robot Rocketers Of equal importance, there is in these tactical robot rockets hope for at least some degree of interception of long range intercontinental guided missiles of the future which would travel too swiftly for even the fastest jet fighter.

On the basis of information already made known by the Armed Forces and rocket experts, development of the robot bomber-killer appears to have followed these lines:

The missile, rocket-powered, would be capable of speed well beyond sound (760 miles an hour at sea level) and perhaps actually around 3,000 miles an hour.

The rocket would be a "ground-to-air" missile, fired from the earth like an anti-aircraft gun of World (Continued on Page 3)

Rent Decontrol Has Not Rippled Midland

By DICK VENATOR Of course it's early yet, and perhaps too early to determine a trend, but:

Midland has accepted rent decontrol without a ripple and no startling developments from the action of Housing Expediter Tighe Woods, who on June 10 removed the controls here, are yet to come.

That was the conclusion of this reporter after talking with landlords, tenants and others in a position to have a wary eye on the general housing situation here.

Probably the greatest evidence that some rents have been boosted since decontrol is the statement of a builder who declared that in the last week his office has been swamped by calls inquiring about new homes for sale.

This builder recently completed a large project, of which the majority of houses went to veterans on GI loans. He surmised that most of his present prospective buyers are veterans, since they are in that age group.

A real estate dealer said he knew of only very few boosts, and that they were small.

Another dealer said it would be difficult to get a comprehensive picture of the situation since the greatest number of rentals are not in the hands of agents.

"Since there has been such a demand for rental apartments and houses, the owners have not found it necessary to place them in the hands of an agent to keep them rented," he declared.

To contact each owner of these units would be an almost impossible task.

A tenant who lives in a frame apartment house in the northwest part of the city said she is paying $80 per month for a one-bedroom unfurnished apartment. She was certain no notice of a boost would be received since the apartment was "rented all the time."

Another tenant in the same apartment house said her rent was reduced from $80 to $75, according to a notice she had received in the mail. She said she didn't think the decontrol had anything to do with the landlord's action.

Cripple Reveals Night Floggings By Mob

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — A crippled miner Saturday revealed hooded men had dragged him from his home to witness the flogging of a neighbor three weeks ago.

William Henry Rochester, 42, of nearby Coaling, Ala., said the hooded group threatened to whip him.

Sheriff Holt McDowell said the case had been under investigation since it occurred. He said the man flogged is Bill Hamilton, 39, also of Coaling. Both men are white.

Rochester said a hooded group, numbering about six men, "put me in an automobile near Hamilton's house. He already was in the car. We drove into the woods, where they shined lights on him, stripped him and gave him about 20 licks with a long belt."

Rochester said the group accused him of falling to support his family. He would not comment on what the mob gave as the reason for beating Hamilton.

Real Estate Groups Fire Back At Truman Charges On Housing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Real estate and building spokesmen fired back at the Administration Saturday night to the flooded Shenandoah-Potomac Valley lowlands. At least six persons already had perished in the raging waters and another 20 were missing.

The latest downpour led state police to predict branches of the Potomac and Shenandoah Rivers—which first rushed over their banks Friday night—would reach higher crests Saturday night in North Virginia and West Virginia's Eastern Panhandle.

Among those listed as dead was two-year-old Winston V. Beckwith, whose half-sister, Mrs. John Galtner, told police she saw the boy and two girls swept away by cascading water which had overturned their automobile.

The Galtners themselves were spared when a flyer spotted them after they had spent more than 12 hours with muddy waters swirling about them.

Two Towns Isolated Also dead were Opl. A. M. Hurst of the West Virginia State Police and Mrs. Margaret Frances Bicker of Mount Crawford, Va. A sixth victim was listed by police as a man named "Moore" from Petersburg.

Hemmed in by the Alleghenies on the West and the Great Mountains on the East, Petersburg and Moorefield were virtually isolated. All telephone lines in the former city were down, and only one was in use at Moorefield.

Czech Archbishop Defies Red Effort To Control Church

PRAGUE, CZECHOSLOVAKIA—Catholic Archbishop Josef Beran emerged from semi-captivity Saturday night and issued a defiant statement against the Communist government here in its war to gain control of the church.

The chunky little 60-year-old church leader told a congregation which packed the Strahov Monastery: "I come to you and swear to you that I will never sign an agreement that violates the laws of the church."

These were the first words the archbishop spoke as he appeared in a high pulpit to address his congregation after four days in the police-ringed seclusion of his palace.

This was a reference to his resistance to any church-state agreement which he contends would reduce the church to a puppet of the state.

Veto Power Sought Over AEC Spending

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress will be asked Monday to slap on veto powers over atomic projects costing $1,000,000 or more.

Chairman McMahon (D-Conn.) said he will introduce the bill which would give his joint Congressional Atomic Committee the right to curb spending of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The bill would bar the AEC from undertaking any project or activity costing $1,000,000 or more without first "coming into agreement" with the congressional committee.

Planning Group Seeks Improved Council Relations

An important meeting of Midland's Planning Commission will be held at 8 a. m. Monday in the City Hall, H. Winston Hull, secretary, announced Saturday.

The purpose of the meeting, Hull stated is to clarify duties and responsibilities of the commission and to plan a better working arrangement with the City Council.

Asks Federal Tax Cut, CCC, Public Works

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Affairs Institute forecast Saturday that 8,000,000 will be jobless a year from now if the economic decline goes on. It asked federal action at once to stimulate business.

In a special report on employment the institute urged: Tax cuts in low and middle income brackets, Emergency public works in hard-hit areas, and Revival of the Civilian Conservation Corps and other measures.

"Nothing in sight indicates a halt in unemployment trends," said the study. "Unemployment has passed the 'spot' stage. It is not a local but a national problem."

The "real danger period" lies just ahead, in the last half of this year, the report said. A government policy of "drifting," it declared, "may well lead us into a depression."

"It is now too late in the downswing of the economic cycle to effect a balanced budget by cutting the expenditures of government," the report stated. It declared padding and waste should be eliminated.

"Major budget cuts now will only aggravate the present economic decline and make the effort to bring about a reversal more difficult and more costly."

"If the current downward trends are to be halted something must be done now to give businessmen proof of the firmness and high level of demand."

Raise Tax Exemptions The institute's director and chief author of the study, Dewey Anderson, told a reporter that $10,000,000 in new purchasing power might be injected into the economy by the measures recommended. They include:

1. Raise tax exemptions in the lowest income brackets and reduce rates in the middle brackets.

2. For those who pay no taxes, extend veterans' readjustment benefits, move up the date of payment of $2,000,000,000 in national service (Continued on page 3)

They Have Nights, Too—

Many New Dads In Midland-Their Day

By TANNER LAINE My brother Bill is one of the 190 new poppas in Midland since the first of the year and like the rest, he is learning the finer arts of formulas, bottle warmers and what have you.

The first night they brought his wife, Ma, and the new daughter, Nancy, home from the hospital—he caught it, oh, brother, he caught it. He reported to the accountant's job at Texas Electric the next morning with two props to keep his eyes open. He got all of 20 minutes uninterrupted sleep.

Now the guy's an expert (he became a father for the first time in March). He can change 'em with the best—fast, too. He can get up with one eye open and fix a bottle without interrupting a single dream of the days when he was a bachelor or riding in a B-17 over Europe. He's a sucker for two sharp yells from Nancy at 2 p. m.

Here are some of the new dads in Midland, this Father's Day of 1949: A. P. Baker, Rural Bridges; S. B. Carden, C. E. Dillard, J. T. Rose, H. D. Pennel, D. E. Barnes, Jr., W. T. Hagler, F. Y. Cook, B. The first father of this year (1949) was Ben Murray. He's the lucky guy whose daughter, Janet Lee, arrived at 2:33 a. m. the morning of January 1. And she got all those prizes from the Midland merchants and business folks.

There were 530 new poppas, or repeats, in 1948, last year. That's nine more than in 1947. This year may well top either.

We are thinking of a lot of unsung "foater" fathers on this Father's Day—foater fathers, who do such things as encourage boys and girls in their activities. Midland has plenty of such. There are just

Peggy Cummins Is Comin' Up After Escape From 'Amber'

By ESKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD — Hollywood first saw baby-faced Peggy Cummins as the trooper with the wallop in the film version of "Forever Amber."

But after six weeks they sent in a pinch-hitter, Linda Darnell. Miss Cummins has congratulated herself many times since. I am sure, for escaping that fate would be more than death. "Amber laid only a great big $4,000,000 technical egg."

Since then Peggy has coasted along in such films as "Green Gram of Wyoming" and "Moss Rose." But now she has what she says is the best role of her career—a circus markswoman who has a passion for money. It's only a matter of time before they are holding up banks and killing law officers.

One of the bank holdups was staged as a real bank in Montrose, Calif. An interested spectator was Al Jennings, the 85-year-old reformed bank robber. After watching Peggy and John for some time, Jennings went to Director Joseph Lewis and said: "You're doing this all wrong. 'What's wrong?' asked Lewis. 'Well,' said Jennings, 'the first thing to do is get rid of the blonde.' Mr. Jennings is a realist.

Feminine Felling Donald O'Connor's description of a beautiful but talkative young actress: "She's not only photogenic, she's yakogenic." There's a rough-tough film detective, Dick Powell figures it's safe to sing along. He'll wobble in "Rose of Tralee" to Evelyn Keyes in "The Mike." Sam Goldwyn is offering the film rights to the new Broadway hit, "Detective Story."

Spike Jones groaned $1,112,000 on a four-month tour of one nighters. And they say show business is bad. Martha Vickers Nevada divorcee from A. C. Lyles will be final soon, after which she'll wed Mickey Rooney. Then they'll release her latest film, ironically titled, "Alimony." There's irony for Bob Walker, too, in his next film, "Please Believe Me." He hopes Hollywood will believe he's going to be a good boy from now on.

That economy again! UI has changed the title of "Abbott and Costello Meet the Killers" to "Abbott and Costello Meet the Killer."

Harvey Firestone's daughter, Elizabeth, is writing the musical score for Bob Montgomery's film, "Come Be My Love." Wags are wondering if it'll wind up in four flats. Bob himself hired her after hearing her play some of her own compositions at a Hollywood party.

Lost For Words Another film producer story making the rounds: Seems a producer died and at his funeral the minister asked if his widow would like to say a few kind words about him. There was only silence. The minister asked if his children or any relatives would like to say something. Again there was only silence. "Well,"

San Angelo Polio Paralyzes Only Few

SAN ANGELO.—(AP)—Though San Angelo has had a lot of polio, relatively few of the cases have resulted in paralysis.

That was emphasized by authorities Saturday as this West Texas city maintained its clean-up drive at full pace.

Fewer than five per cent of the polio cases here have resulted in paralysis, Dr. R. E. Elvins, director of the San Angelo-Tom Green County Health Unit, said.

Meanwhile city crews worked around the clock, spraying the city and its environs with DDT for the third time. The spraying operations will continue until all danger is past, City Manager Sam O. Lawson stated.

Twenty-eight per cent of the 79 polio cases under treatment here are from other localities, hospital authorities said. Fifty-seven were listed as San Angelo residents. Seven cases were admitted Saturday. Two were dismissed.

Decontrol—

(Continued from page 1) ment rent heard about is that of a tenant living in a three-room furnished apartment whose rent was hiked $9 per cent.

The landlord sent the notice by registered letter, stating the boost from $50 to $75 per month was effective on the next due date. The tenant pays the utility bills in this apartment.

One realtor who is agent for three or four landlords said he was sending tenants notice of a 100 per cent boost in rent. He explained that in this case a six-room house for which he is agent has been rented for $35 per month, under rent control, but with the increase to $70 that he believed it was still reasonable.

Occupants of a block of residential houses on North Big Spring said Friday no notice of rent boost had been received. The owner of these houses does not live in Midland.

Tenants in one of Midland's largest apartment houses reported they had not received increase notices. The average monthly rent there is $115.

A Midlander who owns three small rent houses said he has reduced rentals $10 per month on each unit.

Tenants in another large apartment house said they had paid their rent a year in advance, therefore no notice of increase was anticipated—at least until the individual's year is up.

Removal of Midland's rent controls followed approval by Gov. Beauford Jester on June 1 of a rent decontrol resolution adopted May 24 by Midland's City Council.

A public hearing on decontrol was held here May 12.

The City Council vote in favor of decontrol was unanimous. Council members requested landlords to use judgment in rent adjustments.

A decontrol proposal was submitted earlier this year by a group of Midland landlords, first to the Chamber of Commerce, and then to the City Council. A petition asking decontrol was filed.

Living units made available for the first time since Feb. 1, 1947, were not affected by the controls.

Very little, if any, change in the rent situation here is reflected in the classified section of The Reporter-Telegram. On June 1, before decontrol, the following rents were listed: unfurnished apartments, four; furnished apartments, four; furnished houses, one, and unfurnished house, four.

A Campaign.—On June 17, a week after decontrol, the following were listed on the classified pages: furnished apartments, seven; unfurnished apartments, two; furnished house, one, and unfurnished houses, four.

"As a whole," one observer said, "property not under control and which was ridiculously high will come down as supply and demand will effect that change. The general effect of decontrol will be to stabilize rents and probably bring them down."

Another suggested that in the last few months hundreds of Midland families have moved into new homes which they have purchased and that this has eased the rental demand. They predicted there will be no great increase as a result of decontrol.

These facts were found: rent decontrol in Midland has effected very little change and if there is to be any increases landlords are weighing the situation before jumping. A week—or a month—may spell a change but at present the situation is pretty nearly status quo.

Depression—

For non-veterans, increase federal relief assistance to at least $2,000,000 a year, increase old-age pensions, broaden the duration of unemployment compensation and raise the benefit rates.

3. Start emergency public works and public service projects—such as clerical and statistical tasks—in distressed employment areas." Anderson said the services projects should not be "boondoggles," but useful tasks for white collar workers and others not employable on heavy public works.

Extend GI Benefits.—4. Extend GI educational benefits, provide federal allowances based on scholarship to help youths attend college, and re-establish the CCC to provide a year of outdoor activity for young men in conservation and fire prevention work.

The facts at this moment "do not spell inevitable and prolonged depression," the study said.

The Public Affairs Institute describes itself as a non-profit, non-partisan research organization. It was founded with money contributed chiefly by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and now receives donations from various sources.

Some government economists believe unemployment will continue to rise but will be checked as it nears a total of perhaps 5,000,000. The Associated Press was told Friday.

Freight Handler Pushes Cart Far, But Not Too Fast

CLEVELAND.—(AP)—On a $75 bet, husky Jim Strong pushed and pulling an 800-pound load of sand Saturday from Painesville to Cleveland's Public Square.

That's 29.2 miles. Strong thought he could do it in 12 hours. It took 15, but sympathetic Harold Morgan, a neighbor, paid off the $75 anyway because of the obstacles involved.

For one thing, the soft asphalt pavement slowed down the 100-pound truck. For another, one of the wheels on the truck locked due to friction.

Then there were the human intrusions. At one point, as he was stopping off in a gas station wash room, two curious women tried lifting his truck. It flipped over and it took a half-hour to repair the damage.

Pretty Hot Going.—In Painesville, a policeman forced him off the road to allow a line of traffic to pass. That took 15 minutes. Later, a long freight train held him up another 20 minutes.

It was pretty hot going for the Clevelander, too. A freight handler for the New York Central Railroad, he consumed a gallon of milk and a half-gallon of water en route. These were supplied by his wife, who trailed him in an automobile.

Strong was just a block from Cleveland's city limits when his 12-hour deadline expired. That was where Morgan paid off the bet.

Then Strong pushed on to public square, "just to see how long it takes."

Tiny Girl Completes Flight From Germany To Mother In Texas

SAN ANTONIO.—(AP)—Little Kirsten Huettig has completed a 5,500 mile flight alone from Frankfurt, Germany, to her mother in Texas.

Eighteen months ago her mother, Mrs. Eva Huettig, an American citizen, came to this country. She was not permitted to bring Kirsten, then a year old.

The child remained with her father, a German citizen employed by the British Military Government in Bunde.

Mrs. Huettig is a bookkeeper for the Hidalgo County News at Edinburg, Texas.

Kirsten didn't recognize her when she arrived by air here Friday.

"Mommy, mommy, mommy," she cried, again, and again, not realizing she was in her mother's arms.

A bright red scooter, a new doll, and a cowboy hat failed to stop her tears.

She still was crying as she drove away with her mother.

Mrs. Huettig, native of Washington State, had lived in Germany with her parents from the time she was one year old until she was 32.

Kirsten's father, an advertising man, hopes to find work in the United States. Mrs. Huettig says he has a good understanding of English. Kirsten's English words are confined to "mommy, hello, and goodbye."

Both the Boston Red Sox and the Philadelphia Athletics have lost 20 consecutive games, to hold the major league record in that department.

Taft Certain Senate Will Retain Strike Clause In Labor Bill

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said Saturday he feels sure the Senate will vote to keep the Taft-Hartley Law provision which lets the government get injunctions against national emergency strikes.

The Ohio senator's prediction came as John L. Lewis fired a new verbal blast at the Taft-Hartley Act in general and the injunction section in particular.

The United Mine Workers chief did so in a telegram to Senator Pepper (D-Pa.) commending him and Senators Murray (D-Mont) and Neely (D-W. Va.) for opposing all "crippling" amendments to the Truman Administration's Taft-Hartley repeal bill.

"It is unfortunate," Lewis said in his telegram to Pepper, "that in this fight you have been abandoned by certain other members of the United States Senate, who flamboyantly dishonor their party pledge and platform and lend this strength to those who would oppress and exploit labor and the common people."

Waiting Strategy.—The Administration measure would replace Taft-Hartley with a slightly revised version of the old Wagner Act. The Senate has been debating the bill two weeks and so far has adopted four amendments which preserve features of the present law in substance.

Taft and his followers offered no opposition to the compromise amendments already adopted. Their strategy is to try to replace the whole bill later with a Taft substitute which would retain all the basic provisions of the Taft-Hartley Law.

Two Men Shot, Six Beaten In Rioting Between CIO Unions

FAIRMONT CITY, ILL.—(AP)—Two men were shot and six beaten severely when a long-smouldering rivalry between two CIO unions broke out Friday night.

For about three hours some 300 striking workers of the American Zinc Company plant surged about the city hall. Wives of many of the union men were in the milling, shouting crowd.

Authorities restored an uneasy quiet around midnight and state police and sheriff's deputies began to patrol streets of the community across the Mississippi River from St. Louis.

Most of the persons who took part in the melee are members of rival CIO unions—the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers and the Progressive Metal Workers' Council. The Smelter Workers' Union has been on strike against the company for ten months. The rival union, favoring settlement of the strike, failed by a narrow margin last Tuesday to win bargaining rights at the plant.

Flood—

(Continued from page 1) blocked. Circular routes were open to Moorefield, where about 100 evacuees were quartered in the courthouse and drew food from a high school cafeteria.

The brunt of the disaster struck Petersburg. The Red Cross estimated:

Three hundred families evacuated, 60 homes destroyed, 300 homes damaged, 285 other buildings destroyed and 350 damaged; two businesses destroyed and 75 damaged; heavy livestock loss; 12 industrial plants damaged.

The Red Cross had unverified reports that two persons drowned at Moorefield.

One of the big jobs faced by disaster workers was the rescue of 80 4-H Clubbers marooned in a small valley below a Stokesville Vt. dam.

An earlier report had it that the dam had broken, but airplane flights showed the dam still holding.

Torrential rains preceded the floods. They hit drought-baked earth and rapidly filled up the small mountain streams.

The rains stopped shortly after noon, but waters still were rising in some sections.

The Shenandoah River went on flood and dunked Bridgewater. Fire Chief Allen Harvey, Sr., said the town was "in a state of hysteria."

Hundreds were driven from their homes in Petersburg. Small homes disappeared into the churning, muddy torrent. All roads in and out of town were blocked by several feet of water.

River observers said they did not expect the floods to spread greatly. They said the water in the Lower Potomac would rise, but would stay within its banks as the crest passed Harper's Ferry.

Wrong Again

We deem it necessary to take Henry Wallace by the hand again, for he has wandered off once more into those same ideological woods which so often have swallowed him up in the past.

This should really be no surprise. Wallace has reduced to a fine specialty the business of urging great causes while ignoring all the facts.

His newest misadventure concerns the New York tirade of 11 Communists on charges of conspiring to teach and advocate overthrow of the government by force.

U. S. Judge Harold Medina recently jailed three of the defendants, one for contempt of court and the other two for violent protests against the ruling.

Wallace labeled the action "shocking," a threat to American liberties and a use of the court's power to "promote injustice."

Serious charges of that nature against a highly regarded judge ought to be well-founded if they are going to be made at all. What has occurred, if anything, to warrant Wallace's blistering criticism?

To begin, these 11 defendants have been on trial almost half a year. In all that time both they and their lawyers have showed a continuous and obviously calculated disrespect for normal, orderly judicial processes.

They shout, they rant, they heap abuse, they ignore court rulings and warnings. It is planned legal chaos.

Probably no judge ever endured more in the name of justice. Medina, a paragon of patience, has leaned over backwards to avoid severe measures. He knows the defendants have the double aim of discrediting the courts and provoking him into an error that would lead to a mistrial or a later reversal—in the event of conviction.

Medina nevertheless has repeatedly warned the Communists to cease their deliberate disrupting tactics. Once he told a defendant that one more outburst from him meant a contempt citation.

Still the tirades went on. The showdown came when one defendant refused to answer a question put by a government lawyer. Medina ruled that the defendant, having decided to testify for himself, could not also decide what questions he would or would not answer. He cited the man, John Gates, for contempt and sentenced him to a maximum of 30 days in jail.

It was this decision that brought the vocal storm down on Medina's head and led him to send two more defendants packing off to jail. It was this decision which Wallace says "promotes injustice."

Does it? No one questions Medina's legal right to do what he did.

We think his moral position also was strong. He had undergone contemptuous assault from the Communists and their lawyers for more than 20 weeks, without striking back. He used the power of his court only after countless warnings that he would not indefinitely endure their tactics.

By his charge, it is apparent Wallace has ignored the shambles the Communists seek to make of their trial. He is saying in effect that an American court cannot protect itself against those who wish to upset its orderly determination of justice.

It seems to us Wallace is at least as far from being right as he was from capturing the presidency on election day last November.

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1949, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson Says: Public has far better depression safeguards today than in 1930's; Business decline is partly psychological; Coalition against Republicans begins to work; Hickenlooper atomic probe has interesting sidelights.

WASHINGTON—Despite business blues being sung in Wall Street, Washington economists point to two significant and reassuring facts on the economic horizon.

A. Business safeguards have been built up so carefully since the 1932 depression that the business slump cannot be anywhere near as disastrous as the last.

B. Skyrocketing prices of the post-war years are bound to come down, and falling prices like a falling stone, are almost certain to hit someone.

The main problem in bringing about falling prices, say the economists, is to make the fall gradual.

Business safeguards developed under the Roosevelt administration to prevent a depression avalanche are:

1. Federal Deposit Insurance. This guarantees all bank deposits up to $5,000, and insures against any wholesale bank holiday such as that of 1933. Little depositors under the present system cannot be hurt.

2. The Securities and Exchange Commission now watches over Wall Street, protects unsuspecting small investors.

3. Old-age pensions give a certain amount of buy-and-sell protection regardless of employment. It generally is agreed that these pensions are too low, should be raised. Their increase would be a healthy stimulus to business.

4. These thrown out of work men get unemployment benefits. This cushions part of the economic shock, though only temporarily.

5. Farm support prices protect farmers from any catastrophic price decreases such as occurred in the 1930's.

Government economists point out that all the above safeguards cannot prevent a business slump, but they can prevent a sudden depression.

Note — Economists believe that one important factor today is psychological. When business expects a depression, businessmen quit buying, orders come in on a day-to-day basis, and factories cannot plan ahead. This is the best way to precipitate a depression.

Truman Gets Juvenile Advice

Three-year-old David Kefauver, offspring of Tennessee's Senator Kefauver, told President Truman the other day that he looked grown-up enough to need Secret Service men to take care of him.

Little David stopped by at the White House with his mother to deliver a ham from Sillman Evans, publisher of the Nashville Tennessean. Mrs. Kefauver had planned to duck into the White House, drop off the ham, and scurry out again with as little fuss as possible. It was supposed to have been such a hurried visit that David even got out of washing his face for the occasion.

But the President summoned mother and son into his office so he could thank them personally. Inside the beautiful executive office, the three-year-old gawked at the fancy trimmings.

"What," he demanded, pointing to the many doors in the walls of the circular office, "are all those doors for?"

"They are for the Secret Service men to come in and protect me," smiled the President.

"Aw," hurried David, "you're a big man. You don't need Secret Service men to take care of you."

Anti-Telephone Coalition

There's been no publicity about it, but the Northern-Liberal lineup against the Southern-Republican coalition has begun to work. Results is that the Poage Bill to expand rural telephone lines appears doomed, at least for this session of Congress.

When Southern Democrats began lining up with rural Republicans to oppose rent control, public housing and other big-city measures, Northern Democrats started making deals with big-city Republicans. They decided to gang up on rural voters, and one of their first targets was the Rural Telephone Bill.

That bill has been bottled up in the House Rules Committee since early March and neither Speaker Sam Rayburn, Majority Leader John McCormack, nor Rules Chairman Adolph Sabath are bestirring themselves to pry it loose.

Author of the bill, Congressman W. R. Poage of Texas, joined the Republicans to vote against rent control and Taft-Hartley repeal, so his Northern Democratic colleagues are furious. Meanwhile, Poage's erstwhile Republican coalition buddies have left him high and dry on this issue.

Everybody except the big telephone companies, who don't want competition from farmer co-op phone lines, agrees that the Poage Bill would fill an important need in rural America. Many human lives have been lost for want of farm telephones.

However, because Poage voted against the interests of their urban constituents, Northern Democrats delighted to hit back at his phone.

Hickenlooper's Probe

Two men sit behind cross-examining Senator Bourke Hickenlooper during the atomic energy probe.

Every so often they lean over, whisper in his ear, hand him a piece of paper.

They are: David Teeple, assistant to the Inspector General of the Air Force, and Fred Rhodes, Jr., chief of the Atomic Energy Agency, and they are the red brains behind the Hickenlooper investigation.

It is standard procedure for the legislative branch of the government to investigate the executive branch, but it is highly unusual for one part of the executive branch to help probe another part of the executive.

Perhaps that is why if you call up General Investigator and ask the whereabouts of Rhodes, they are very secretive and absolutely refuse to divulge his whereabouts—even though he can be seen by any newsmen sitting behind Sen. Hickenlooper on Capitol Hill.

Neither of the two men happen to have any scientific background. Teeple was a teacher of history in the Allee Deal Junior High School in Washington, D. C. then joined the Manhattan project during the war and became security officer. He thinks of the atomic energy program as a glorified game of cops and robbers rather than one of developing the peacetime atomic energy.

Rhodes holds a law degree, but never has entered practice.

Tall, handsome, affable, he also was former security officer for the Manhattan project.

Military Waste Control

Important of all, however, is the fact that both men are strong rooters for Gen. Leslie Groves, the atomic war chief who fought so hard to keep atomic energy under control of the military.

Also significant is the fact that the two men were employed by the joint congressional committee on atomic energy when Senator Hickenlooper was chairman.

In January, new chairman Ewen McMath of Connecticut told Teeple and Rhodes they lacked proper qualifications for top jobs, offered them lesser jobs.

Both resigned, were promptly hired by the military and now are loaned by the military to feed ammunition to ex-chairman Hickenlooper against the Atomic Energy Commission.

Governor, Other Officials, Will Be Guests At Rodeo

PECOS—A total of 19 federal and state officials have been invited to be guests of the local Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon to be presented at the Community Center at noon Saturday, July 2, the opening day of the annual Pecos Rodeo.

Gov. Beauford Jester has accepted the invitation and will make the principal address at the meeting.

Other state officials who have accepted the invitations include, Attorney General Price Daniel, Lieutenant Governor Allen Shivers, State Senator Hill D. Hudson, State Land Commissioner Bascom Giles, State Comptroller Robert Calvert, Chairman Fred Wemple of the State Highway Commission, and District Judge G. C. Olsen.

Federal Judge R. E. Thomason, former congressman for this district, has been invited but it is not certain he will be able to attend. Congressman Ken Regan was invited but will not be here. State Representative J. T. Rutherford has indicated he will be here if at all possible.

The visitors will take part in the parade which will officially open the rodeo and will be guests of the Pecos Rodeo Fair Association at the show itself. The parade is scheduled for five o'clock. The initial rodeo performance will begin at 8:30 Saturday night, July 2. Matinee and night performances are scheduled for July 3 and 4 in addition.

One Child Short Roll Call Shows

PECOS—The moral, if any, to this yarn is to be sure and count your children every time you start a trip.

A three-year-old Latin American girl was found alone about 20 miles south of Pecos recently, and given into the custody of Deputy Sheriff Casey Farrington of Balmorea.

All the girl could say was "Pablo, Pecos."

It developed that the child's father has the given name of Pablo but it is not known why the child said Pecos unless she referred to the county of that name.

Pablo and members of his large family, taking a trip from Fort Davis to the county of that name, were in leaving the lunch site Pablo failed to count all of his children with the result that the little three-year-old daughter was left behind.

However, the child was missed when the family arrived in Fort Davis, where a count might be made.

One of the child's brothers was sent back on the double for his little sister.

Trail Days Head To Address Kiwanians

Regan Legg, executive chairman of the Trail Days Celebration to be held here July 1, 2 and 4, will discuss the spectacular event at the Monday noon meeting of the Kiwanis Club in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer, L. A. Bartha, program chairman, said Saturday.

"Frontiers of Progress," the gigantic pageant, which will be presented as a feature of the July 4 weekend celebration, and other special events will be described in detail by the speaker.

Trail Days, sponsored and underwritten by the Lions Club, is a community-wide endeavor in which all civic and service groups are participating. Art Cole, Community Theater director, is directing the pageant for the Geiler Corporation of Hollywood.

COOLED OFF

Evidence now points to the conclusion that a hundred million years ago the sea water off the coast of western Europe was warmer than it is now, with temperatures ranging from 50 to 90 degrees Fahrenheit.

Scientists believe that the water was cooled off by the formation of the Isthmus of Panama, which cut off the warm water from the Gulf of Mexico.

ISLAND OF ESCAPE

figure out what I did that was wrong. There could only be one thing. Of course, even that was a clean-out business deal. But it did hit an unfortunate aftermath. It was perfectly legal. A man killed himself when he found out the worthless property he thought he was fouting on me was rich in oil. A weakening of course. He could not abide by the rules. Or play the game. But I do remember he had a wife. That's it. That's the way I can make it right, so the new Speare Island will be a success."

Bea Cosgrove said hoarsely, "Make it right? How could you ever make it right?"

HARDING said impatiently, "Why, I'll give her a part of the money I have left, of course. There's no legal claim, but some might think there's a moral one. So that's what I'll do. And start again. I, that is, we, can start again."

"Mrs. Martin won't be hard to find."

"You don't think so?" He got it suddenly. "The name! How did you know? How?"

"It's my name," she said clearly. "Bea Cosgrove Martin. Mrs. Jim Martin. If you want it that way. One time wife of the weakening. The man you meant."

Henry Harding released her hand, jumped to his feet. He flung an arm in front of his eyes as if to shield them from the glare of light from the wheelhouse.

"Not! Not! Not! Not you!" He whirled then on his heel, took the few steps to the spinster's rail. His white-clothed body caught light as it hurried far out into the darkness.

Bea screamed. She heard shouts, orders.

The engines of the Simpatoc slowed, and beamed over the wheel west down bay. A searchlight snapped on.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Government Looks For Policy As U.S. Oil Reserves Dwindle

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Should the United States government develop a national and international petroleum policy? Or should matters be left largely to the law of supply and demand and the dog-eat-dog philosophy of free enterprise and unrestricted competition?

Last July Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug asked the national Petroleum Council for its suggestions on what federal oil policy should be. Last January it filed its report. It was a 22-page document with an introduction, a statement of principles and a statement of elements covering domestic oil, natural gas, foreign oil, imports and national security.

Being a business and trade association advisory group, NPC naturally took the view that national oil policy should be based on maintaining a healthy petroleum industry. In brief it emphasized that conservation should be left to the state governments, and that the federal and state government should keep their hands off the oil industry functions of discovering, producing, transporting, refining and distributing its products.

That isn't quite right either. The industry spokesmen did concede that government should pass tax laws favorable to their peculiar problems of depletion of resources and its need for risk capital formation to finance new discoveries.

On foreign oil production, the U. S. industry thought it should have equal rights with nations of all other countries, but that oil imports should be limited to what domestic production could supply.

Official Comment

Only officials' comment on these proposals thus far is a speech which Secretary Krug made recently at Pittsburgh before the American Petroleum Institute. He endorsed the principles of free market price determination, the desirability of laws to fit the industry, the maintenance of conditions favorable to risk capital formation, and the participation of U. S. nationals in foreign oil development. But he differed specifically with industry proposals that development of tideland and other submerged land oil resources be left to the states, and that development of synthetic fuels be left entirely to private industry.

The need for a national oil policy arises principally from the fact that in the last war, 80 per cent of the supplies of petroleum and other oil products, half the Navy's fuel oil had to be procured overseas and the Elk Hills naval oil reserve had to be tapped. Aviation gasoline consumption was half a million barrels a day. A million barrels of crude had to be produced from Caribbean and Middle East fields. There was enough for Synthetic Fuels.

This is one reason why Krug and National Defense officials are pushing federal research and development of a synthetic fuels industry. They remember what happened because of private industry's failure to develop a synthetic rubber industry before the last war.

For synthetic fuel development from shale and coal, the existing pilot plants and three commercial scale plants are planned, capable of 10,000 barrels a day output. With Department of Interior cooperation, Army Corps of Engineers has just let a contract for a 37-state survey of areas suitable for synthetic fuel production.

Principal federal legislation now affecting the oil industry includes the Connally "hot oil" bill and authority for a petroleum industry voluntary allocation plan. The former prohibits the movement in interstate commerce of oil produced above state conservation restrictions. The organization is to carry out voluntary allocations "as set up last August, but it has never had to function.

About a million wells have since drilled in the United States since 1915. Nearly 440,000 of these wells now are producing. This is 82 per cent of all the wells in the world.

The United States has thus far produced and consumed two-thirds of the world's oil. It now has only one-third of the world's reserves. Assuming continued peace, there will be enough for perhaps a generation. If the U. S. is denied access to foreign oil, the shortage may come sooner.

These are just a few of the sobering facts that seem to dictate demand for more consideration of national petroleum policies.

Questions and Answers

Q—What caused Thomas Edison to become deaf?

A—Thomas A. Edison, the inventor, was a victim of maddening noise on trains in his youth and became deaf when a conductor boomed his ears by accidentally starting a fire while experimenting in a baggage car near Smith Creek, Michigan.

Q—Where is the oldest equestrian statue in the United States?

A—The equestrian statue of Gen. Andrew Jackson, Washington, D. C., is the oldest in the United States but not the first. In 1776, George was taken down by a mob of patriots and later he was melted into bullets for the Revolutionary Army.

A—The state of Wyoming is believed to have been so called to perpetuate the Wyoming Valley in Pennsylvania.

Q—To what grain is the Hessian fly most injurious?

A—The larva of the Hessian fly lives in the stems of wheat and frequently does great damage to this crop.

HOUSE went in and stood beside Captain Oak.

His eyes were glued on the compass. "So you told him."

"I told him."

"I was watching. He ran away again." Oak reached out, pulled the indicator to dead slow.

"Can you find him?" Bea asked.

Oak spun the wheel. "I can put the Simpatoc on about the spot where he went over. He can see the lights. If that is what he wishes. He can come to us."

THE man at the searchlight swivelled it across the prow. The dark surface of the water was streaked with white foam in the circle of the spotlight.

The fire cry was faint, barely distinguishable above the lonely sound of water.

Miguel Oak rang again. The engines stopped their lowest throbs. The Simpatoc lay dead and silent.

The cry was repeated. Louder. Henry Gough Harding moved into the circle of light. He was swimming strongly.

In a few moments he was helped over the rail. The time in the sea had heeled the breach in his shell.

He pushed away helping hands, strode toward the wheelhouse. "Captain Oak! Ah, Captain Oak, I must compliment you on your seamanship and fast thinking. But that does not excuse you for the negligence in not reporting that broken rail. Someone not as strong a swimmer as myself might have fallen overboard."

Miguel Oak gave the signal and the Simpatoc came to life. "I'll have the rail repaired," he said.

"See that you do. I may not feel it necessary to report your negligence." He appeared to notice Bea for the first time. "And is for you, Mrs. Martin, if you will get in touch with my attorneys, they will pay you for your trouble."

Bea strode away, slammed the galley door behind him. Captain Oak put the Simpatoc back on her course toward the mainland, turned the wheel over to the man who had worked the searchlight. He took Bea Cosgrove by the arm. "Come," he said.

McKenney on Bridge

Written for NEA Service

Mathematicians say you will never hold the same bridge hand twice. Therefore, in bridge at least, the old saying, "There is nothing new under the sun," does not hold true. Every bridge hand is a new one.

Today I think I found something else that is new—a musical instrument called the theremin. Mrs. Lucie Bigelow Rosen of New York recently made a recording with this instrument with Elliot Lawrence's band.

The theremin is electronic. Its tones are derived by movements of the hands close to the instrument. Mrs. Rosen tells me that it has a spread of five octaves, with the volume of an organ and the softness of the human voice.

Mrs. Rosen said that the point I keep hearing at in my column, "Count your tricks," has made the game more enjoyable for her. The player failing to count his tricks might easily lose his contract on today's hand.

The opening lead of the five of spades is won by declarer with the queen, and a small spade led to the ace. Now, if he leads a club from dummy, hoping to find the ace in the East hand, he will lose three clubs and a diamond.

The correct play is to lead the five of hearts from dummy, and even though it is a singleton, take the finesse. When it holds, discard one of dummy's clubs on the ace of hearts, thus holding your losers to two clubs and a diamond.

If the heart finesse fails, you still can try the club play.

Modern Assembly Technique Pays Off In Housing Project

GREENSBORO, N. C.—An answer to the problem of putting up good homes cheaper has been found by E. R. English, a builder of Altavista, Va. English recently completed the erection of 65 homes for employees of the Cones Mills Corporation at Greensboro, N. C. Using on-the-site cutting and assembly methods, he was able to erect the two-bedroom houses at a cost of approximately $6,100 each.

Dry-wall construction and delayed installation of interior partitions were two of the major time and labor savers. Crews specialized in specific operations moved from one house to another in assembly line technique. After one crew had built the concrete block foundation, another fitted in the floor joists and a third laid the subflooring. Other crews followed with framing, roofing, finished flooring and partitions until each structure was finished.

All of the homes are attractively finished on the outside with white asbestos siding. A special crew was able to finish the siding operation in about a day's time. The houses are built to last a long time.

Care Advised In Selecting Site For Home

The area and shape of a lot should be considered carefully by the prospective home owner who is selecting a site on which to build his house. A lot can be too large as well as too small. If there is too much land, taking proper care of it will be difficult. Many large properties are unsightly simply because the owner has insufficient time to devote to his lawn and garden.

A lot which is too small, however, will restrict the location and orientation of the dwelling. Zoning ordinances in cities and towns often make a small lot undesirable because they limit the percentage of a lot's area which a house can cover.

Some zoning ordinances also restrict the relationship of a house to property lines. High land costs are the only good reason for buying an extremely narrow lot. A wide lot makes placement of the house easier, adds privacy and permits more attractive landscaping.

Because low-lying land drains poorly, it generally makes a poor house site. Ground should always slope upwards slightly toward the house.

VISITS FROM AMARILLO Mrs. W. T. Baker of Amarillo arrived Saturday for a visit in the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. S. Brashears, and family.

Outdoor Fireplace Is Easy To Build

A backyard fireplace to add enjoyment to Summer living is easy and inexpensive to build. Fire brick laid in fire clay mortar is best. Other materials needed to build a 36-inch cubical fireplace are 10 pieces of 1/2-inch pipe 36 inches long, one length of 8-inch by 8-inch flue lining tile, a metal grill 2 feet square and a 33-inch length of heavy angle iron.

Make the foundation 36 inches square, extend it below the front line and slope the top slightly toward the front for drainage. On this erect rear and side walls 8 inches thick. This leaves an open-front 20 inch by 28 inch firebox.

Build the three walls up 14 inches, then place the pipe across the top course of brick 3 inches apart to serve as a grate. Space brick provides draft and an ash-pit. Mount the pipe ends solidly in thick mortar, then continue the walls up another 22 inches, leaving a space slightly less than 8 inches by 8 inches at the rear center of the firebox for the flue. Set the grill in mortar for the cooking surface which will be at the comfortable height of 36 inches above ground.

Lay one more course of brick on the three walls and place the angle iron across the rear of the firebox where it joins the chimney opening. The iron is to support the front edge of the flue, the other three sides resting on the brickwork. Lay up brick around the tile to within 2 inches of its top and complete the fireplace with a sloping mortar joint from the top of the tile to the outer edges of the chimney bricks.

Humble Stakes Ellenburger Wildcat North Of Benedum

Humble Oil & Refining Company is to start operations on one of its 12,000-foot wildcat in East-Central Upton County to hunt for and test the Ellenburger. The venture will be the Humble No. 1 Mrs. Z. Oswald of Abilene.

Hunt To Drill Seven New Pecos Wildcats

Humble Oil Company of Dallas has made application with the Texas Railroad Commission to drill seven new 3,200-foot, rotary tool wildcats in Southwest Pecos county, nine miles southeast of Channeloer, its large Elsinore Royalty Company lease.

The concern's No. 3 Elsinore will be 1,320 feet from north and west lines of section 30, block D, GC&SF survey and No. 4 is spotted 1,320 feet from north and east lines of section 18, block C, GC&SF survey.

Drillists of Hunt No. 5 Elsinore is 1,320 feet from north and east lines of section 33, block C, GC&SF survey. No. 6 is 1,320 feet from north and west lines of section 31, block C, GC&SF survey.

The other three prospectors will be in block D, GC&SF survey with No. 7 Elsinore spotted 1,320 feet from north and west lines of section 1 and No. 8 Elsinore 1,320 feet from south and east lines of section 10.

Hunt No. 9 Elsinore will be 1,320 feet from south and east lines of section 15.

Hunt prospectors had staked No. 1 and No. 2 Elsinore and started drilling. No official information is being released on the progress, but it is understood operator has had considerable cavities and difficult drilling and was attempting to complete the two as water wells.

Total depth of No. 1 was said to be 2,400 feet and No. 2 was 850 feet. It also has been reported unofficially that Hunt is attempting to complete the same conditions. It was supposedly bottomed on 1,263 feet, with attempts being made to develop a water well.

Observers believe Hunt primarily is drilling the wildcats for geological information, preparatory to undertaking a program of deep development on the Elsinore property.

Humble Makes Gas, Oil South Of Bronte

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Brunson, Central-Elgin County prospector, two miles south of the town of Bronte, and approximately the same distance southeast of the nearest producing oil well in the Bronte-Palo Pinto field, has logged indications of possibly completing an extension to that pool.

The venture is 2,019 feet northeast and 700 feet west of the southeast corner of section 33, N. East-land survey.

It ran a one-hour drillstem test in the Palo Pinto at 4,366-86 feet. Recovery was 3,500 feet of gas and 110 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud.

Another test was taken at 4,385-4400 feet. The tool was open 105 minutes. Recovery was 500 feet of gas in the drill pipe, and 90 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud.

Neither of the tests developed any indication of formation water. Operator was taking a drillstem test at 4,399-4,430 feet at last report.

Sinclair Completes Big Borden Strike

Sinclair Oil & Gas Company has completed its No. 1 Williams, North-west Borden County wildcat, as a flowing discovery and the opener of a new area for exploration.

The venture was completed by a 24-hour flowing potential of 663 barrels of 42.8 gravity oil. There was no formation water.

Gas-oil ratio was 600-1. No pressures were reported. The flow on the potential test was through open two-inch tubing from perforated section at 9,915-45 feet, in a dolomite formation, identity of which has not been officially established.

Some observers think it is probably Ellenburger. Others say that it could be either Siluro-Devonian or Montoya.

The producing interval had been washed with 500 gallons of mud acid prior to the potential test gauge. The new producer is 11 miles northwest of Gall and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 45, block 32, EdRR survey, T-6-N.

The oil is to be trucked to the Basin Pipe Line in Southeast Scurry County. Sinclair is one of the owners of the Basin line.

Runnels Pay Opener Continues Flowing

Humble No. 1 Odum, Northwest Runnels County discovery from the Runnels line of the Pennsylvanian, is continuing to flow to test and complete.

On the latest 24-hour period of testing the drill produced 319 barrels of 42.3 gravity oil, flowing through an 8 1/8 inch tubing choke. The oil had a shakeout of two-tenths of one per cent sediment and wash water. There was no formation water.

Gas-oil ratio is 1,200-1. The production from perforated section at 5,435-54 feet, and is natural. The new field opener is 10 miles southeast of Blackwell, and 785 feet from northeast and 660 feet from southeast lines of the Felix Sosa survey.

Hiawatha Has Flow; Spreads Diamond M

One-quarter-mile south extension to the Diamond M field of West-Central Scurry County was proven as Hiawatha Oil & Gas Company No. 3 Wilson kicked off and flowed on production tests.

Bottomed on 6,801 feet in the Canyon reef of the Pennsylvanian with seven-inch casing set at 6,800 feet, the exploration perforated at 6,188-6,800 feet and started swabbing to pits.

Kicking off, the well was turned to tanks. The flow dried. After swabbing was resumed, it kicked off again and flowed 33 barrels of oil per hour for six hours through a 3/8-inch choke. Gas-oil ratio was estimated at 1,000-1. The development was flowing to test and complete.

It is 610 feet from west and 690 feet from south lines of section 183, block 97, H&T survey.

Pure Finishes Well In Dollarhide Deep Zone

The Pure Oil Company has completed its No. 23-E-A E. P. Cowden in the Dollarhide-Ellenburger pool has logged indications of possibly completing an extension to that pool.

The venture is 2,019 feet northeast and 700 feet west of the southeast corner of section 33, N. East-land survey.

It ran a one-hour drillstem test in the Palo Pinto at 4,366-86 feet. Recovery was 3,500 feet of gas and 110 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud.

Another test was taken at 4,385-4400 feet. The tool was open 105 minutes. Recovery was 500 feet of gas in the drill pipe, and 90 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud.

Seaboard Completes Sealmoor Extension

Extension to the Sealmoor field of North-Central Howard County has been completed at Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware, et al. No. 1 W. F. Long, 660 feet from north and west lines of section 13, block 33, T-3-S, TP survey.

The well flowed 24 hours through a 14/64-inch choke for a potential of 339.77 barrels of oil, with no water and gas-oil ratio of 1,275-1. Gravity of the oil was 43.3 degrees.

Production was natural from the open hole pay section at 7,809-7,829 feet in the Pennsylvanian.

West Seminole Well Goes On Production

The West Seminole field of West-Central Gaines County has been completed by the completion of Cites Service Oil Company No. 1 Richardson, outpost to the pool, 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 37, block G, CO&S&RNG survey.

Flowing 24 hours through a 32/64-inch choke, the exploration showed an initial production gauge of 132.4 barrels of 33.4-gravity oil. Total fluid developed had a shakeout of

Washington Oil—Drive For Lower Crude Oil Prices May Be In Making

By JOSEPH HUTTLINGER
WASHINGTON—A postwar drive for lower crude oil prices may be in the making.

As gasoline users fight for lower prices, they will strike where they can. It may be at the producer, the refiner, the distributor, the filling station, the integrated company. It may be at all of them.

A congressional analysis of gasoline prices this week blames crude oil prices. The study objects to holding down production in an effort to maintain the present level of crude prices. As a conservation measure, presumably, it is all right.

Here is the heart of an analysis which was prepared for Senator Burnet R. Maybank's Committee on Banking and Currency. The senator is from South Carolina.

"If there is one fairly sure way of spiraling this country into a business set-back substantially greater than has already occurred, this sure way should seem to be offered by the policy of restricting production in order to hold up prices."

Broad in Scope
The four-page analysis was prepared under the direction of Joseph MacMurray, staff director of the committee. The inquiry into gasoline prices is to open June 27.

The scope of it promises to be broad, going from the driller to the filling station operator. All segments of the industry will be invited to testify, as well as gasoline consumers.

If anyone thinks the analysis is just one man's views, the fact is the committee is making it public after an executive session which studied the paper closely.

The document reviewed five company-advanced reasons for present gasoline prices, and proceeded to show that they are invalid.

Sure, said the staff director's report, "Imports, which are at a high level, and that makes it harder to reduce gasoline prices. But this is due to artificial restraints upon production."

"Imports... have been appreciably curtailed," his report said. "Cut-backs in domestic production have amounted to about 10 per cent from December 1948 to April 1949."

The analysis also attempted to determine other reasons for present gasoline prices as follows:
1—Fuel oil prices are dropping and gasoline must bring in more revenue.

"But," said the analysis, "if we allow for a loss of $410 million a year on fuel oils, and for a gain of $120 million in added gasoline income, we find a 1948 level of income for oil companies approximately 52 per cent above 1947 and 100 per cent above 1946."

Declining Profits
2—Oil company profits are declining.
"But," says the analysis, "for eight years... profits which declined could be obtained, first quarter 1949 profits show a decline of 21 per cent from the first quarter of 1948. But these same eight companies show an increase of 61 per cent in their profits for the first quarter of 1949 with the first quarter of 1947."

3—Independent refiners are in a squeeze and need relief by higher gasoline prices.
The answer to that, says the report is to correct conditions which put them at a "competitive disadvantage" with the integrated company. Give the independent refiner anhydrite, shale and sand in the west and the Ellenburger, to open the Pegasus field.

The driller of No. 1 Powell is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 44, block 40, TP survey, T-4-S.

York-Harper Deepen At Midland Prospect

York & Harper, Inc. No. 1 TXL, Central Midland County wildcat to 13,800 feet to explore into the Ellenburger, had reached 3,965 feet in anhydrite, shale and sand in the upper Permian, and was making more hole.

It is 12 miles south of Midland, and 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 25, block 39, TP survey, T-3-S.

New Oil Cutback Deepens Fiscal Gloom In Capital

AUSTIN—(AP)—Money bill conference committees were stalled Friday night as the state's fiscal outlook for 1949, with continued oil production cuts.

Committee rooms were empty over the Legislature's long Thursday-to-Monday weekend. Senate—House conferees were reported helplessly hanging up, especially on the major college and eleemosynary money bills.

The Railroad Commission's seventh straight cutback in allowable oil production figures at further into prospective revenues. The committees apparently got nowhere on the suggestion from the House and Senate that proposed appropriations be trimmed $45,000,000.

Reports from the Comptroller pin-point the picture on oil revenues. A small amount of gas was evident. Fluid was standing at 4,500 feet. Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 190, district 11, SPRR survey.

Magnolia Deepens Pegasus Flankers

Magnolia Petroleum Company was drilling ahead with two offsets to its Ellenburger discovery opening the Pegasus field in North-Central Upton County.

Flanking the strike on the southwest, the concern's No. 1-36 Roy Glass was making hole from 8,848 feet in lime and shale.

It is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 36, block 31, T-4-S, TP survey.

Magnolia No. 2-30 Roy Glass, South-Central Midland County exploration offsetting the Pegasus discovery on the northeast, was below 9,532 feet, penetrating lime and shale.

Location is 1,980 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of section 30, block 40, T-3-S, TP survey.

Drinkard Area Wildcat Gets Clean Oil In Middle Permian

HOBBES, N. M.—Considerable free oil has been developed in a middle Permian formation at Southern Union Gas Company No. 1 State, East-Central Lea County wildcat five miles north of Benedum and about two miles north of the closest production in the Drinkard field.

This venture ran a one hour and 40 minute drillstem test at 6,772-6,786 feet, recovering 1,980 feet of clean oil and 110 feet of gas cut drilling mud.

Recovery was 3,750 feet of clean oil and 630 feet of very heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud. No formation water was reported. The prospect was drilled in fair to good 6,735 feet in lime. Top of the Tubb was picked at 2,440 feet.

A previous drillstem test at 6,525-6,627 feet, recovered 360 feet of gas cut drilling mud, during the test was recovered 20 minutes the tester was open.

The wildcat is 660 feet from west and 3,300 feet from south lines of section 2-21s-37e.

Ralph Lowe No. 1 Selman, possible recovery from the lower Permian lime above 7,750 feet, was preparing to treat the section at 7,500-7,645 feet with acid, through perforations in the casing which had been cemented at the 7,750 feet.

Operator did not make efforts to develop production on that formation on a natural swabbing test.

The zone between 7,235 feet and 7,750 feet showed fair to good indications of making a commercial oil well and a new discovery, in tests taken while the hole was being drilled.

It is one-half mile east of shallow production in the Hobbs field, and 660 feet from south and 740 feet from west lines of section 11-9s-38e.

Rio Arriba Wildcat Shows Distillate, Gas

SANTA FE, N. M.—(AP)—A new oil well in Northwest New Mexico was described Saturday as "probably the most important discovery on the east side of the San Juan Basin in the last 20 years."

The statement was made by Frank Barnes, geologist for the State Oil Conservation Commission. Barnes said the well was drilled by the Gardner Petroleum Company near Gavilan in Rio Arriba County.

Core tests between 3,417 feet and 3,435 feet were heavily saturated with distillate and contained considerable gas, Barnes said.

The well is in section 14, Township 25 north, range 3 west.

First Polio Case In 13 Years For Pecos

PECOS—Ted Blair, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Blair of Pecos, has been removed to City-County Hospital in El Paso for treatment after his illness was diagnosed as being of the bulbar-type polio.

The child has a sister, who now is ill but paralytic symptoms have not as yet developed, according to the attending doctor.

The physician declared the polio case was the first in 13 years in Pecos. He advised people of the city to remain calm.

In the meantime, the entire neighborhood where the Blairs live has been sprayed with DDT. A clean-up drive is underway for the entire city and neighboring communities are making plans for similar drives.

All swimming pools in the city were ordered closed effective immediately and will remain closed until further notice.

Prior to 1929, when he became a partner and later sole owner of a drilling company operating in Texas, South Dakota, Louisiana, Illinois and Indiana, he was employed as a geologist by Phillips Petroleum Company in the Mid-Continent area. From 1943 until joining Loffland Brothers, he was associated with Kerr-McGee Oil Industries of Oklahoma City.

Mounting Imports Threaten All Branches Of Oil Industry

That imported crude oil has risen to such a level that domestic production is being seriously retarded is shown by recently released figures. A continuation of the trend is bound to result in curtailment of all branches of the industry—exploration, pipe line construction and leasing not only production, according to executives of the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

Record Acid Shot Doubles Oil Yield In Barnhart Well

After a 30,000-gallon single-stage acid treatment last week, General American Oil Company No. 2-C University, settled producer from the Ellenburger in the Barnhart field of Southwest Reagan County developed an oil yield of more than double its previous production. Prior to the big acid injection the well was flowing 70 barrels of oil per day, through a one-quarter inch choke. After the 30,000-gallon treatment, the producer flowed through a 2 1/2-inch tubing choke for 19 hours and made 119 barrels of oil.

The big treatment was made by The Western Company on June 12. It was the second acid injection of that size in the history of the Permian Basin. The first 30,000-gallon acid shot was made in late 1948 by Western at another Barnhart field well—A. H. Meadows No. 1 University. Rapid Injection

The treatment at General American No. 2-C University was completed in 32 minutes. That put the fluid into the formation at the average rate of 24 barrels per minute, against pressures averaging 13,000 pounds, Western engineers said. In making the big treatment, four of Western's Jumbo pumps, seven intermediate-sized pumps, and seven acid transports were used. A crew composed of 35 members of the treating concern's personnel participated in the operation. Ted Holland of Western's Odessa station was in charge of the job, as treating engineer.

Total depth of the No. 2-C University is at 9,198 feet. A string of 5 1/2-inch casing is cemented on bottom. That pipe is perforated at 8,890-9,198 feet. The two-inch tubing in the well is perforated at 9,108-9,210 feet. After the load was lifted from the big injection the swab was pulled 11 times. Then the well started flowing. The first oil flowed out with cut with eight per cent acid water. On settled production the acid water cut has already shown a heavy decrease.

Stanolid Transfers Tracy To Midland

George W. Tracy, petroleum engineer with Stanolid Oil & Gas Company, has been transferred to the concern's Midland district office from the general office at Tulsa. Other changes in Stanolid's North Texas-New Mexico division include the transfer of Fred Nagels from the Port Worth division office to the Lubbock district office. Nabors also is a petroleum engineer.

Former Midland Geologist Makes First Helicopter Flight Into Panama Jungle

ALBROOK AIR FORCE BASE, CANAL ZONE—Capt. Longdon Tennis, formerly of Midland, Texas, and now assigned in headquarters, Caribbean Air Command, recently participated in a pioneering achievement in scientific history, when he accompanied an archeological party on a helicopter flight into the fastness of Panama's southern jungle. As a guest geologist with the expedition of Dr. Matthew W. Stirling, Smithsonian Institute archeologist, Captain Tennis flew to the Tigre River, 60 miles south of the Canal Zone, to investigate a group of rumored Indian burial mounds dating back to the fourth century A. D., on the first helicopter flight ever made for archeological purposes. Arriving at the alleged site, he proclaimed the huge mounds to be mere remnants of a prehistoric erosion, and not ancient mass graves. Not Discouraged

Magnolia, Affiliates, Provide Scholarship And Fellowship Fund

Scholarships and fellowships are to be granted over the next four years by the exploration and crude oil producing departments of Magnolia Petroleum Company in affiliation with Sococo-Vacuum Oil Company, Inc., New York, and General Petroleum Corporation of Los Angeles, J. L. Latimer, president of Magnolia, has announced. This $200,000 program supplements an annual expenditure of $40,000 for 20 research fellowships inaugurated two years ago. Another $25,000 over a five-year period is being provided to Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Cambridge, Mass., for basic studies in nuclear research. One research employee is selected each year also to pursue higher academic degrees at the company's expense.

Williams, Amarillo Oil Operator, Dies

Otis L. Williams, 61, Amarillo oil operator, who died last week, was well-known in Midland and other cities of the Permian Basin. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Paul Kasper of Midland. Mr. and Mrs. Kasper and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Ross attended the funeral which was held in Amarillo Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Ross is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kasper. Williams entered the oil business in 1926 when the development activity in Hutchinson County, adjacent to Borger, started. He was one of the organizers of the Owl Oil Company, a producing concern with considerable property in the Borger area. He was prominent in church, fraternal, aviation and athletic activities. Burial was in the Oak Cliff cemetery at Dallas.

Project Underway In Illinois To Develop Efficient Secondary Recovery System

Oil fields of the nation which have been yielding petroleum for years may still have as much oil underground as has been taken out. It is estimated that about 700 million barrels, representing more than three billion dollars, are still awaiting secondary recovery in the Bradford, Pa. field alone. The Penn Grant Crude Oil Association is sponsoring a project at Armour Research Foundation of Illinois Institute of Technology to find a way to obtain more of the oil trapped in the porous sandstone which makes up a pool.

At the same time, numerous other organizations, particularly Pennsylvania State College, are working on this problem. Only about 30 per cent of the oil in any pool is obtained in the original pumping, according to Dr. John E. Barkley, supervisor of physical chemistry at the Foundation. About 70 per cent remains in the pores of the stone in which it is trapped. More oil is recovered by pumping water into the ground and forcing oil, which floats on water, to the surface.

This method of secondary recovery, by far the most common method, may bring up as much as another 30 per cent of the pool, or it may bring up nothing, depending upon the nature of the rock. At most, according to Barkley, only about 60 per cent of the oil in any pool can be brought to the surface by methods in present practice. Often the total figure drops as low as 30 per cent.

Thus, 40 to 70 per cent of the oil now remains in the ground, held in the pores of the rock by capillary action. Barkley and his section have the problem of determining a method for recovering a much higher percentage of the oil, simply and economically. "The economically is the catch," Barkley said. Laboratory tests indicate that there are ways of bringing up much more oil, but the cost of the operation is prohibitive now because of the selling price of oil, he said. John W. Cook, chemist in the physical chemistry section and project leader on the secondary oil recovery project, now is working with surface active agents which he plans to add to the water now being used to flush out wells already pumped out.

Surface active agents (some fatty acids and certain alcohols are surface active) have the property of being able to modify oil-water-sandstone interfaces in such a manner as to create tremendous surface forces which aid in the removal of the oil. "When it is considered that millions of gallons of water must be pumped into the ground in a flushing operation, it becomes evident that great quantities of surface active agents must be used in further recovery," Cook said. "These agents need not be very costly to push the necessary selling price of oil above economic feasibility."

"Therefore the problem is not alone selecting the best agent to use," Cook said. "But its cost must be considered. We have determined that to stay inside of economic limits the surface active agent can be no more than one tenth of one per cent of the solution." Barkley's section already has run several successful laboratory tests using surface active agents. When they have determined the best possible agent that is also economically feasible, they expect to run field tests. "Considerable research probably will be necessary before a final answer is forthcoming," Barkley said. "However, laboratory tests do indicate a probability of success."

Broadcast authorizations for 1949 increased 400 over the previous year, bringing the total number of stations to almost 4000. Of this figure, 3183 are major broadcast outlets.

Rex Barney Chunks Brooks To 2-0 Win Over Chicago Cubs

CHICAGO—(AP)—Rex Barney was in rare form Saturday as he pitched the National League's front-running Brooklyn Dodgers to a 2-0, five-hit triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

Barney fanned seven and walked only two batters in going the distance for the second time this season. His previous outing was a 2-0, five-hit triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

The victory was Brooklyn's eighth straight over the Cubs and extended a Chicago losing streak to seven games. It was the Cubs' sixth straight beating under their new manager, Frank Frisch.

Brooklyn nicked veteran Emil Leonard for a run in the second inning. Gil Hodges beat out a hit and raced to third when Carl Furillo followed with a single to right. Leonard got Bill Cox to fly out. Bruce Edwards then bounced to Second Sacker Emil Verban, who threw him out after missing a tag on Furillo, Hodges scoring on the play.

The Dodgers scored their final run in the third. Pee Wee Reese singled to start the frame, went to second on an infield out and to third on a lead pitch. Duke Snider grounded to First Sacker Herman Reich and Reese was thrown out at the plate. Jackie Robinson then singled Snider to third and the Duke scored as Hodges, for the second time, beat out a hit down the third base line.

The score: R. H. E. Brooklyn 011 000 000—2 9 0 Chicago 000 000 000—0 5 0 Barney and B. Edwards, Campanella, Leonard, Kush and Walker.

Indians Get Overhauling

Manager Harold Webb Saturday announced several changes in the lineup of the Midland Indians. Dr. C. S. Britt, club physician, advised Webb Sam Van Hooser will have to remain out of action for an indefinite length of time due to a serious back injury.

Dr. Britt advised Van Hooser to go to a specialist for treatment. Webb said Van Hooser had been keeping the injury a secret because the Indians have been short-handed in the pitching department. The hurler has been defeated in his last two starts and Webb said the injury had caused him to lose his touch on the mound. Van Hooser was placed on the temporary inactive list Saturday and his baseball future depends on the outcome of an examination and treatment of the injury.

Patton Returns
Dr. Britt released right-hander Glenn Patton from treatment, also for a back ailment, for a test on the pitching rubber. Webb said he will use Patton as the starting hurler in Sunday afternoon's game with the Odessa Oilers here. Patton has been inactive for more than two weeks.

Webb also announced the outright release of Bert L. Nichols, rookie infielder. Nichols appeared in the lineup only three times with the Indians. Webb said he was a good hustler but needs more experience.

Pat Romanello, catcher-outfielder, has been released to the Ballinger Club.

Weldon Stewart has been returned to the Indians by Borger of the West Texas-New Mexico League but he has failed to report here. Webb has placed him on the restricted or ineligible list. He is a pitcher.

Hughes Back Soon
Stanley Hughes, regular shortstop who has been out of the lineup for a week due to an arm injury, is expected to return to action late this week.

The Midland roster, after all the action in the front office, now includes Kenny Jones, Bob Rose, Warren Sitter, Lou Dawson, Carl Nipp, Julian Pressley, Ray Coos, Marty Filigamo, Buck Austin, Ralph Blair, Ernie Nelson, Glenn Patton, Rudy Kelly, Ben Dean Sheats, Hughes and Van Hooser, the latter two currently on the injured list and out of action.

Mrs. O'Neal Enters Lubbock Play Finals

LUBBOCK—(AP)—Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth sailed into the final round of the Women's West Texas Golf Association tournament Saturday with a par-shattering 72.

Mrs. Goldthwaite will meet Mrs. Sam O'Neal of Odessa, defending champion, who fired an 80 to advance to the final round in the championship flight Sunday.

Mrs. Goldthwaite defeated Mrs. Ted Huettis of Odessa 5 and 4. Mrs. O'Neal ousted Mrs. Bonnie Atway of Odessa 2 and 1.

In shattering women's par by two strokes Saturday, Mrs. Goldthwaite reduced four strokes from her Wednesday qualifying score, which also broke the course record.

Mangrum, Middlecoff Share 54-Hole Lead In Motor City Open

DETROIT—(AP)—Chunky Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill., shot a neat 68—three under par—to tie Cary Middlecoff Saturday for the lead at the 54-hole mark of the 72-hole Motor City Open golf tournament. Each has 204.

Mangrum, one of the pre-tournament favorites, took only 30 putts on his round as he challenged Middlecoff for the $2,600 first prize money in the $15,000 tournament.

Bob Hamilton, of Landover, Md., shot a 70 Saturday. That put him into a tie with Jim Ferrer of San Francisco at the 208 mark for third place.

St. Louis Cardinals Edge Phillies 4 To 3

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Howie Pollet stopped a ninth-inning rally just short of a tie Saturday night and the flying Philadelphia Phillies dropped a 4 to 3 decision to the St. Louis Cardinals.

The score: R. H. E. Philadelphia 000 000 003—3 10 2 St. Louis 102 000 10x—4 8 0 Simmons, Trinkle and Seminick; Pollet and D. Rice.

Babe Ruth struck out 1,390 times during his major league career. He hit 714 home runs.

By Shorly Shelburne
ODESSA—The Odessa Oilers, who like nothing better, jolted the Midland Indians 16-5 in a Longhorn League run-around here Saturday night.

It marked the second win in two nights for the Oilers over their rivals from 20 miles east.

Buck Austin, starting Indian hurler, didn't have his "stuff and that just about spells the story. His reliever, Pat Patton, fared better but the damage had been done.

The way things started, Midland looked very much in the fray with Bobby Rose socking a first-inning homer, right off the bat.

But not! Odessa swarmed back and won going away.

Walked In Run
Midland tabbed two tallies in the seventh with Jones singling, Patton singling, Rose walking, Sitter walking in a run and then Dawson grounded out to score Patton.

In the ninth, Rose doubled and Sitter errored on Dawson singled and Nipp followed with a bingle. This scored two.

Rex Pearce and Manager Monchak homered during the course of the evening for Odessa.

Everybody in the Oiler lineup got in on the scoring. It was that bad. Harold Webb was "chased" in the third frame.

Waitkus Says He'll Press Prosecution Of Assailant

CHICAGO—(AP)—Eddie Waitkus, Philadelphia baseball star, was quoted Saturday as saying he intends to press for prosecution of the young woman fan who shot him Wednesday.

The Chicago Herald-American quoted Waitkus as saying: "They say it is divine to forgive, but I'm not going to be divine where she's concerned."

"If she is found sane, I'll prosecute her personally. If not, I will expect the authorities to see that she is placed in a mental institution."

"She seems to think this a joke, but I don't. She should be taken off the street the same as a mad dog, because she is obviously mentally ill."

Waitkus was not allowed visitors Saturday afternoon after undergoing a minor operation to drain an accumulation of blood from his right lung cavity.

His condition after the second operation was reported "much improved" and one his doctors said

Oilers Take 8-3 Tilt From Tribe

ODESSA—The Odessa Oilers struck hard in three big innings here Friday night to take the opening game of a three-game series from the Midland Indians.

The only difference in the two clubs was in the pitching. The Indians hit some good balls to the outfield but most of them were hit right at an Odessa player.

The Oilers opened with three runs in the first inning. A walk to Ogdien, a single by Les Palmer and a triple by Dias produced two tallies and Wayne Batson singled Dias home with the other.

Midland tied the score with a single run in the second and two in the third.

Coas walked in the second and advanced on a fielder's choice. Kenry Jones singled him home. A single by Warren Sitter and a triple by Lou Dawson plus an infield out by Julian Pressley added the final two runs in the third.

Odesa moved out ahead in the fifth with three big ones. Singles by Patterson, Ogdien and Dias and a double by Pearce were enough to ice the game away. The Oilers added two more in the sixth, however.

Ben Dean Sheats, who relieved starter Sam Van Hooser, walked three men in a row to load the bases and Les Palmer doubled two runs across. Rudy Kelley came on to put out the fire and pitched no-run, one-hit ball for the last three innings.

Van Hooser was charged with the defeat.

Top Collegiate Net Stars Gather For NCAA Event Monday

AUSTIN—(AP)—Victor Seixas, Jr., of the University of North Carolina has been seeded No. 1 for the 65th National Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament which gets underway here Monday.

Twice runner-up in NCAA championship play, Seixas currently ranks seventh nationally.

The tournament draw pits few of the outstanding entrants against each other in the opening round of 12 singles contests.

Matches which should draw good galleries send Conway Cation of the University of San Francisco against UCLA's Herb Flann, seeded No. 2; Leonard Steiner of Cornell against Bob Lewis of Stanford University; and James Brink of the University of Washington, No. 10, against Dick Mouldous of Tulane.

A second round of 32 singles contests will be played Monday. Doubles competition does not begin until Tuesday.

Top seeded in doubles is the University of Southern California duo of Arnold Saul and Robert Perez. The NCAA runners-up to William and Mary's Fred Kovaleski and Bernard Brazen.

Gardner Larned of Rollins College, 1947 champ, will be on hand.

SPORTSLANTS

BY SHORTY SHELburnE

Mrs. Herschell Ezell, 1948 champion of the Midland Country Club Women's Invitation Golf Tournament, came within a gnarl's whisker of knocking off the West Texas Women's Champ, Mrs. Sam O'Neal of Odessa, in the first round of match play in Lubbock Thursday.

The Midland ace crowded Mrs. O'Neal, reputed to be the best in these parts, all the way before dropping the decision 1-up.

Mrs. Sybil Flournoy, another prominent Midland golfer, played well in the opening round but lost 7 to 6.

Pat Garner had better luck and advanced to the second round.

Bobby Rose, the Midland Indians' fiery little second baseman, had himself a night in Indian Park Thursday.

Besides gathering two singles and a double at the plate and making the most sensational fielding plays of his baseball career, he had a peck of fun riding the Big Spring pitcher.

Rose is adept at speaking Spanish. The "balding" he was doing from the first base coaching box all was in the Latin American tongue. He was making sure the Cubans could understand it.

Wayne Specht, a catcher with the Midland Indians last season, recently joined the Bakersfield Indians in the California State League.

Darrell Dreyer, Bakersfield scribe, has this to say about Specht: "Wayne Specht is one of the most recent additions to the Bakersfield roster has aided the Tribe greatly with his sterling backstop performances and timely hits."

If you took a poll among Midland baseball fans on the question, "What is the biggest improvement on the New York Yankees this year?" the answer probably would be "Yogi Berra's improvement as a catcher."

The all-star game ballots being cast by Midland fans give Berra a wide majority as the favorite catcher in the American League. That's an indication he has gained in popularity to great extent with his big bat and better fielding.

Undoubtedly much of the credit for Berra's improvement must go to the veteran Bill Dickey, presently a Yankee coach and one of the greatest backstops in history. He has worked Berra continuously on the finer points of the fielding game since joining the Yankees.

Recent ballots for the all stars have come from Jimmy Allison, Edwin Patterson and Neville Alfrey.

Alfrey pins a note to his: "At one time I would have chosen the Boston Red Sox team in its entirety but now it takes 'guts to pick two of them.'"

Alfrey wouldn't believe Sports Slants when we told him to watch Pressley Takes Top Spot in Hitting As Average Ups To .405

Julian Pressley, the Indians' home run slugger, jumped far out in front in hitting during the last week to continue atop the order for Midland. Pressley had an average of .405 through games played Tuesday and currently is tied with Al Monchak of Odessa for the Longhorn League batting lead. He is topping the league in home runs with 12 and is second only to Frank Mormino in runs batted in.

Kennedy Jones stayed in second place among the Indians in hitting with a .364 average.

Carrel Nipp, although in somewhat of a slump the last few games, still has an average of .335 to take third place honors on the team. He is the league's leading pitcher in doubles, having clouted 17 so far. He trails close behind Pressley in RBI's with 43.

Warren Sitter, Marty Filgamo and Lou Dawson are the other Indians still hitting .300 or above. Their averages are .313, .301 and .300, respectively.

Bobby Rose and Ernie Nelson each added a few points to their averages during the last week. Rose now is hitting .298 and Nelson is slugging .298.

The other players are hitting like this: Stanley Hughes, .273; Buck Austin, .250; Rudy Kelley, .200; Pat Romanello, .188; Sam Van Hooser, .182; Ralph Blair, .136; and Ben Dean Sheats, .000.

Jersey Joe Is Ready For Title Contest

KANKAKEE, ILL.—(AP)—At an age when most fellows get winded just running for a street car, Jersey Joe Walcott has run 800 miles.

This road work, plus 181 rounds against sparring mates, has left him as solid as a bull and as fire-breathing eager as one preparing to toss a matador.

Jersey Joe, age 35-40, is a trim 196 pounder and confident he will chill 27-year-old Edward Charles and win the NBA version of the world heavyweight boxing championship.

They tangled in Comiskey Park, home of the Chicago White Sox, Wednesday night. Advance sales thus far are reliably reported under $100,000. This is a far cry from the gate of $715,470 paid by 45,900 fans at the same site 12 years ago to watch Joe Louis capture the crown from James J. Braddock.

The speedy Charles, who gained most of his fame as a light heavy, is expected to enter the ring at 165. In preliminary examinations Friday, he topped 186 1/2.

The hard-hitting Cincinnati negro currently rules a 7-5 favorite. But Walcott is the sentimental favorite.

After giving the Camden, N. J., negro a blood pressure and heart-beat test, Dr. J. M. Houston, chief physician of the Illinois Athletic Commission, said: "I don't know for certain how old Walcott may be, but whatever his age, he is in perfect condition. He is an amazing specimen."

Midland Colts Play Grandfalls Sunday

The Latin American Midland Colts will take the field against the top rate Grandfalls Cowboys in a semi-pro baseball game at the "Home of the Colts" here at 3:30 p. m. Sunday.

Sotolo Mateo is the probable starting pitcher for the Midland team.

Grandfalls defeated the Colts in their last meeting.

Reynolds Smith Wins TGA Title

DALLAS—(AP)—Reynolds Smith of Dallas won the third Texas Golf Association title of his career Saturday. He beat Morris Williams, Jr., of Austin 5 and 3.

The 36-year-old Smith, a veteran of many years of play, beat off a strong challenge from the 19-year-old Williams. Instead of tiring as the match went on, he swamped the Austin boy.

Williams fought hard but there was little he could do in the face of Smith's sub-par golf. He succumbed on the 15th green.

His father, an Austin sports writer who had driven up in the morning to see his son play, was a sad spectator as Williams caught a trap with his second shot and finally conceded the hole.

Williams was one of the youngest golfers ever to reach the finals of the association tournament.

For Smith the victory brought back the days when he was one of the blazing coals in the hotbed of Texas golf—the days when Gus Moreland, Harry Todd, Don Schumacher and other youngsters gave the state a fine cluster of amateur talent.

Moreland was the last man to win the tournament three times; in 1933, he completed a string of three straight championships.

Other final results included: Championship consolation—Jack Munger, Dallas, won by defeating George Bennett, Dallas, in a 19-hole battle.

First flight—Dick Jennings, Lubbock, defeated John Oliver, Dallas, 4 and 3.

Second flight—Bob French, Odessa, beat Phil Gainer, Austin, 5 and 4.

Third flight—Fred Elbert, Jr., Wichita Falls, defeated W. F. Rose, Dallas, 6 and 5.

Dirt, Squirt and Quirt

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

Well, partner, the dry season must be here at last. It hasn't rained for almost a week now, but the early morning dew has been pretty heavy. Water still is standing in low areas, however, and some fields still are too wet to plow.

E. D. Richardson says one of his fields south of Midland still is moldering water from the recent flash flood, and T. Elmer Bissell, who farms in the same locality says he, too, has plenty of water—surface water that is. The Midland County Club also has a surplus of water.

Things in general surely are looking fine, and as W. W. Merritt says, "Midland County has on her Sunday best."

A. G. Bohannon, Midland County stockman says he never has seen the country in such excellent condition. Farm and ranch lands in his section of the country are in fine shape and cattle are doing exceptionally well, he stated. Bohannon did not get the downpour which soaked this section about a week ago, but his country has had plenty of moisture.

Comment of the week: "I now have grass, water, cattle and screw worms all in the same pasture for the first time in years," J. E. (Bob) Hill, veteran Midland County rancher and civic leader, said Friday when cornered in the Scharbauer Hotel lobby.

And that screw worm problem is causing all ranchers considerable worry and lots of work right now.

George Glass, who ranches northeast of Midland in Martin County, said he never has seen cattle do any better than they are right now.

Which all goes to show that conditions can change mighty fast in West Texas. Last year was one of the driest and the few cattle left in this country were in poor condition, but now everything has changed—the range is good and the cattle are fat. And the ranchman are a happy lot. Year in and year out, it is hard to beat this section of West Texas.

J. Homer Epley, secretary-treasurer of Midland, and official manager for a group of Midland ranchers, says he believes calves will bring 25 cents or better this year. And Homer should know.

He says there is very little if any trading in the Midland area at this time. Plenty of buyers looking for cattle, but those for sale are difficult to find.

One Midland rancher, when questioned about calf prices, was not quite so optimistic as Epley. He said he would contract his calf crop right now at 25 cents. But he would not be quoted by name for fear someone would take him up on the proposition.

L. T. Sledge said he recently drove from Midland to Amarillo to Clayton, N. M., to Las Vegas, N. M., and back and was in rain all the way. He said the entire country looks better than he ever has seen it.

Charley Cox was here late in the week from Garden City, reporting excellent farm and ranch conditions in Glascock County.

The third annual All-American Corriedale Sale will be held July 22 in San Angelo in connection with the thirteenth annual Fields and Johnson Corriedale auction. Approximately 25 stud rams, 50 registered ewes and 300 top quality registered and pure bred range rams, all Corriedales, will be offered to the sheep industry of Texas. These are coveted by many of the leading breeders of Corriedales from almost every section of the United States.

Sponsors said this consignment of outstanding breeding sheep provides the Texas sheepman who either produces registered or breed Corriedales or range raised feeder lambs the opportunity to buy the kind of rams he wants and needs on his doorstep.

The All-American Corriedale Sale was started in 1947 in Ohio, and was held the following year in Iowa. The 1950 event likely will be held in California. The idea is to hold the annual sales in every section of the nation where sheep are raised.

Sponsors hoped to place top quality breeding Corriedales throughout the nation.

The Fields and Johnson sale first was held in San Angelo in 1937, and has been an annual event since that time. The firm has handled thousands of Corriedale rams and ewes during the last 12 years.

The Pecos Fair and Rodeo Association will open its offices Monday in the old Judge Roy Bean Building on U. S. Highway 80 in Pecos. Tickets for the five performances of the annual Pecos Rodeo, July 2-4, will be placed on sale at that time. Walter H. Holcombe is president of the association. The Pecos Rodeo annually is one of West Texas' best.

Monahans soon will have a new rodeo arena, located three-fourths of a mile south of the city limits. It will be operated by the Permian Basin Rodeo Association, which plans a big opening rodeo when the plant is completed in July. Frank Merriam will be in charge. The grandstand will be of steel and will seat approximately 6,000 persons.

Officers of the Permian Basin Rodeo Association are Cecil Pounds, president; R. D. Counts and Fred Gunter, vice presidents; Hoyt Wilder, secretary; and W. D. Parker, treasurer. The directors include C. L. Cunningham, W. W. Cathey, Roy K. Parker, C. T. Carmes, S. F. Flores, Bud Ellis, Ed Duffey and R. T. Harris.

Revel Lindsey English, noted breeder and exhibitor of saddle horses, will judge the saddle horse and parade classes of the annual horse show to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday in El Paso. English is from Tujunga, Calif.

Midland County dairy producers, their families and employees had a great time Friday night at the annual Dairyman's Barbecue at Cloverdale Park. A record crowd was in attendance. M. C. Ulmer, midland banker and civic leader, was the speaker at the program following the meal. The event is sponsored by the Banner Creamery. The Borden Company and the Dairy Committee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

Gov. I. W. Duggan of the Farm Credit Administration, Washington, D. C., spoke Friday at Colorado City at an evening program which climaxed an all-day tour of the Mitchell County Soil Conservation District.

Midland's Trail Days Celebration, July 1, 2 and 4, really is going to be something. The Frontier Days Progress pageant will be something every man, woman and child in this section of West Texas will want to see. Elaborate preparations are being made and leaders are working night and day to present the greatest Fourth of July event ever staged in West Texas. Midlanders are joining hands and working hard to make the celebration a huge success from every standpoint.

Though the percentage of cotton damaged by insects last year was the second lowest since 1924, pests still destroyed an estimated 66 per cent of the crop and cost cotton farmers approximately $202,264,000, the National Cotton Council announced in opening its 1949 campaign to reduce insect losses.

Observing that a mild winter in many Cotton Belt states favored a high survival of cotton pests, the Council warned cotton farmers that unless effective insect control measures are taken, damage to this year's crop may run much higher than that incurred in 1948.

Mexico Slashes Peso Value Again

MEXICO CITY —(P)— Mexico cheapened her peso Saturday to attract tourists and sell more Mexican goods abroad.

The government reduced the peso value from 12 1/2 cents U. S. to 11 1/2 cents. With the aid of foreign funds, the government will pay 8.64 for a dollar and sell dollars for 8.65 pesos. Before the announcement dollars were selling at 8.63.

Mexican authorities said officially the change in peso values had four main aims. They were: To attract more tourists; To reduce prices of Mexican goods sold abroad; To attract foreign capital; To induce Mexicans to bring back domestic capital they have sent out of the country. A fifth factor which may have influenced the decision was not mentioned in official statements here. But in Washington there was talk that the new fixed value was a prerequisite to a U. S. loan for oil development.

'Hands Off,' Say Ruhr Workers

A large crowd of German workers parades to protest the partial dismantling of their nitrogen-producing plant near Gelsenkirchen in the Ruhr Valley. Signs read, "Dismantling brings need and misery," "Don't defraud our youth" and "Hands off." Similar demonstrations and outbreaks of violence occurred at other plants earmarked for war reparations in the area.

Pecan Growers Claim 'Pecan A Day Keeps The Doctor Away,' Plan To Push Sales

AUSTIN —(P)— The Texas pecan industry is thinking seriously of adopting the slogan: "A pecan a day keeps the doctor away."

At a recent meeting here pecan growers and processors agreed that something must be done to get Texas and consumers in the other states to eat pecans every day, not just on holidays.

Recent research projects on pecans indicate that the small hard-shelled nuts may be able to furnish vital deficiencies in our modern diet, growers were told. That is the foundation for the industry's future plans. More pecan pies were also recommended.

"The citrus industry grew to its present magnitude on the premise that Vitamin C in citrus fruits prevents scurvy," D. F. Stahmann told the meeting. The former Texan has 4,000 acres of paper shell pecans at Las Cruces, N. M. He believes that pecans contain many nutritional values that might be helpful in curing diseases caused by deficiencies in diet.

"In addition to containing a high percentage of calories, my research shows that pecans are very high in Vitamin E, and some of the Vitamin B complexes," Stahmann said. "I can't prove it now," he declared, "but it is possible that pecans might be beneficial in treating heart disease, polio, diabetes, arthritis, and maybe cancer. All are caused to some extent by dietary deficiencies."

Stahmann said that recent medical research studies of heart disease indicate that sufferers from the ailment may be cured or at least benefited by injections of Vitamin E.

Grand Jury Probe Of Monahans City Affairs Is Ordered

ODESSA —(P)— A Ward County grand jury will investigate affairs of the City of Monahans. District Attorney Dick Starley of Pecos issued a call Friday for the grand jury to convene in Monahans June 21 to receive a report from a "citizens' group" on the conduct of the city's business by Mayor Walter Harwell.

H. W. Greene, Port Worth private investigator hired by the citizens' committee, said he would present the grand jury his report with supporting evidence. Mayor Harwell was reported on vacation and was not available for comment.

Brown Cites Greedy Attack By Opponents Of Veterans Benefits

WASHINGTON —(P)— Perry Brown, national commander of the American Legion, said Saturday a "dangerous, irresponsible and, in some cases, greedy attack, is being made on benefits for war veterans."

Brown said he has found signs of this attack in newspapers and magazine articles and in recommendations of the Hoover Commission and the American Hospital Association.

Writing in the current issue of the American Legion Magazine, Brown said: "It is my happy duty to call to the attention of legionnaires and all veterans of both great world wars certain unmistakable evidence that our hard-won benefits are under a x x attack from many sides."

For the second time in 18 years, opposition to established veterans benefits by special and powerful groups contains elements of a real crisis for all war veterans. It represents a challenge which may call for the full fighting strength of the American Legion."

Brown likened the situation to 1933, when he said the "infamous, callous and cold-blooded Economy Act"—repealed a year later—and other legislation closed Army and Navy hospitals to veterans and reduced their benefits.

He criticized particularly recommendations of the commission headed by former President Herbert Hoover for reorganization of the federal government.

Midland Banker Addresses Dairymen At Annual Event

All businessmen have a sincere interest in persons who produce from the soil, M. C. Ulmer, Midland banker and civic leader, told a crowd of more than 350 men, women and children attending the annual Dairyman's Barbecue Friday night at Cloverdale Park.

"And all thinking businessmen realize that soil must continue to produce," the speaker said in urging the dairymen to follow conservation practices in their farm and dairy operations. He also stressed the importance of open-mindedness on the part of the dairymen in accepting new and improved methods which will increase production.

Delbert Downing, manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, presided at the meeting and program which followed the barbecue. The event was sponsored by The Borden Company, Banner Creamery and the Dairy Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Australia Exported 245 Pounds Of Wool In 1807, Present Mark Is 720,000,000

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA —(P)— Back in 1807 Australia made its first export of fine wool—245 pounds to England.

This season the continent is shipping around 720,000,000 pounds to 40 countries.

When Australians are on a good thing, they say they are riding on the sheep's back. That is just what Australia is doing today. A good wool season means prosperity for this country's 7,580,000 people, and this year wool prices are higher than ever before.

The story behind Australia's wool industry explains why you can get winter woolies today that don't pickle. The story goes back to this country's birthday, January 26, 1788.

On that day a handful of sheep landed with the first convicts. Golden fleece. These first sheep were a far cry from the "golden fleeced" Australian merinos of today. They came from the Cape of Good Hope, had hairy fleeces and fat tails. They were valued mainly as food.

A year later 29 Spanish merinos arrived in Australia, also from the Cape of Good Hope. Two of the rams and four ewes were brought by a Capt. John MacArthur, who is credited with being the man who really got the wool industry started.

The industry grew in leaps and bounds. Quality improved with careful breeding. By 1828 English millers were saying Australian wool was better than any but the best German wools. In 1835 England imported 4,000,000 pounds, then 13,000,000 pounds in 1842.

Prices were high. Wool became the basic industry of the new country. But in 1843 the wool bubble burst. Sheep prices in Australia dropped until one sheep farmer sold his 9000 sheeps at a shilling per dozen—16 cents U. S. at today's exchange rate. By 1844 200,000 sheep had been "botted down" for tallow. Tallow was worth about 8 cents a pound.

But by the end of 1844 prices were on the rise again. Flocks were increased. In 1850 there were 16,710,566 sheep in Australia. Sheep farmers continued to improve their stock. They imported more Spanish merinos, also Rambouillet merinos from France, Nigretti merinos from Germany and Vermonts from the United States.

These sheep are the ancestors of the present day world-famous Australian merino flocks. Today there are about 70,000,000 merino sheep in this country. Other breeds bring the sheep population to around 110,000,000.

Australia produces more than half the world's fine quality merino wool. An embargo on the export of merino stock is rigidly enforced. Australia aims to keep the fine merino strain she has developed. This year's wool check is expected to be more than $66,000,000. The previous high was about $496,000,000 in 1948.

BUTTERFLIES ON A BAT

NEW ORLEANS —(P)— George Berg, who has a collection of 15,000 butterflies, says he caught most of the insects by getting them drunk. He sets out rotting fruit for bait, the fruit juices ferment, and the butterflies that drink it get too tipsy to fly away.

More Irrigation Farming In Ward County Predicted

MONAHANS—The possibility of more extensive irrigation farming in Ward County appeared here recently with the completion of a water well which has been described as "one of the best in West Texas."

Located on the L. L. and Pat O'Brien ranch six miles north of the Texas & Pacific railroad tracks at Wickliffe, the well made a pump capacity on a recent test of 950 gallons per minute with an eleven foot draw-down and immediate recovery.

Brothers, the O'Briens believe that with a 200 foot pump setting the well will make 2,000 gallons per minute. Present pump setting is 180 feet. Total depth is 262 feet with the first water logged at 140 feet.

Water in this vicinity, say the ranchers, follows the well known Monument Draw from New Mexico through Ward County. No salt is evident and the biggest part of the surrounding acreage is sandy loam soil, excellent for irrigation farming.

Development of the project is contemplated in the immediate future. Sections are being blocked out and the O'Briens themselves intend to clear a large part of the land and experiment with fall crops.

'Where Daddy Works'

Wilbur Dowden, 35, had quite a crowd of guests when the automotive plant where he works in Kokomo, Ind., held a family open house. Dowden's wife and their nine children came to see how Daddy earns their keep. The children's ages range from five months to 13 years.

Midland And Andrews Senior Units On Trip To San Antonio For Air Scout Encampment

Nine senior Boy Scouts, five from Midland and four from Andrews, will arrive in San Antonio at noon Sunday for a Scout Air Encampment being held at Randolph Air Force Base. Accompanying the boys as sponsor is Odell Spear of Andrews, long-time Scout enthusiast.

The Andrews group, Explorer Post No. 6, is being sponsored by the Lions club of that city while the Midland detachment, Senior Air Squadron No. 19, is under the sponsorship of the Midland American Legion Post.

When the group left Midland Saturday, plans called for an all-night stop in Kerrville and arrival in San Antonio at noon Sunday where they were to be met by a civic organization of the city and conducted on a tour of the historical spots of interest.

Sunday's highlight will be a barbecue at which the Midland-Andrews group will be guests along with 200 other top-ranking senior Boy Scouts from other Texas cities.

During the Air Encampment, lasting from June 19 through 25, the Scouts will be under the guidance of experienced Air Force officers.

Orientation flights will feature orientation flights in multi-motored aircraft, instruction and practice in navigation, weather, communications, radar, mechanics, and basic instruction in link trainers.

Athletic contests and swimming will be offered as a part of the recreational program. High on the list in this field will be a Senior Social with hundreds of young ladies as guests of honor.

While undergoing this training the Scouts will live in cadet barracks, eat in cadet mess halls and be under supervision of Air Force officers just as the regular members of the Cadet Corps.

To be eligible for the encampment the boys had to be 15 years-of-age or older, registered senior Scouts and pass other rigid qualification tests.

The encampment is to break up June 25 and the group plans to return to Midland the following day. Making the trip from Midland were the following boys: Oral Spence, George Capps, L. D. Whigham, and Lynn Miller. The five from Andrews were: Billy Wilson, Alvis Woolam, W. T. Hall, Jerry Brown, and Weldon Gregston.

Marconi daisies will fill baskets to supplement the flowers growing in the yard. A fan-shaped arrangement of yellow and white daisies backed by greenery will be placed against a rock wall behind the pool, in front of which the wedding party will stand.

A reception in the Fred Girdley home, 1700 West Holloway Street, will follow the wedding. The couple and their parents will be in the receiving line. Wanda Jean Ellison will serve the wedding cake after the bride cuts the first slice, and Miss Martin will pour punch. Were Students Together

SECTION TWO

Vows Said In Home Ceremony

A home ceremony late Saturday afternoon with only a few relatives and close friends present united in marriage Jean Schooler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred T. Schooler, Park Terrace Apartments, and A. Bill Williams of Midland, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Williams of Carlsbad, N. M.

The double-ring service was solemnized by candlelight by John W. Barnett, Church of Christ minister, as the wedding party stood before the mantel. An arrangement of pink gladioli on the mantel was reflected in the large mirror above.

Rosa Lee Spears of Midland and Jayme Johnson of Fort Worth were the brides attendants, and Allen Disharoon of El Paso served as best man. Miss Schooler was given in marriage by her father.

Bride's Gown Is Pink
Joe Barnett lighted the candles before the ceremony, while the recorded organ selections "I Love You Truly," "Because," and "O Promise Me," were played.

The bride's gown, of blush pink satin, was fashioned with fitted bodice, the off-shoulder neckline outlined by a puff of the material between two rows of cording. The cording was repeated at the neckline of the fully gathered ballerina-length skirt. The long sleeves were fitted, and pointed over the hands.

A half-hat of braided pink satin held her veil of pink illusion, which fell in points to fingertip length. She carried a long oval arrangement of pink peonies surrounded with white "shredded" carnations.

Miss Spears wore aqua organdy, and Miss Johnson white crepe over taffeta, both with fitted bodice and bouffant skirt, and both carried colonial bouquets of pink and white peonies and carnations.

Adds Guests At Reception
The bride's mother wore an aqua fitted overblouse with an accordion pleated black skirt, and her grandmother, Mrs. W. O. Lewallen of (Continued on Page 8)

To Marry In August

Mary Eloise Pickering

Eloise Pickering's Betrothal Revealed

The Rev. and Mrs. John E. Pickering of Alpine announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Eloise, of Midland, to Donald Duane Van Fossan of Alpine, at an outdoor party at Balmorhea State Park Saturday.

Mr. Pickering is a former pastor of the First Christian Church of Midland. Van Fossan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Van Fossan of Alpine.

Because it has been a favorite recreation spot for the couple and their friends, the park was chosen as the scene of the announcement party.

The table was centered with a miniature lake, representing the Sea of Matrimony, from which strings attached to tiny poles extended to each place. When the poles were pulled, each guest drew out a small paper fish bearing the inscription, "Eloise and Duane, August 28."

Church Wedding Planned
The wedding will take place in the First Christian Church of Alpine.

The bride-elect was reared in Midland and attended public schools here. She is a graduate of the Alpine High School and in her senior year was a member of Quads social organization, assistant editor of the school annual, and was voted most popular girl.

She attended Sul Ross State College, Alpine, two years before transferring to the College of Mines in El Paso. Her major is business administration and she is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority. At present she is employed by the Skelly Oil Company of Midland.

Her sister, Miss Betty Pickering, also is a resident of Midland.

To Study On Fellowship
Van Fossan is a graduate of Alpine High School. During his senior year he was president of his class and was voted "Best All Round Boy." He is a senior at Sul Ross, and is president of the Science Club, a member of Alpha Chi and Kappa Delta Pi, honorary scholastic fraternities, and a noninee for Man of the Year. He will receive the B. S. degree in chemistry this Summer. He recently was awarded a fellowship in the department of biochemistry at the University of Texas School of Medicine at Galveston, where the couple plan to live while he continues his study toward the Doctor of Philosophy Degree in biochemistry.

Party Honors Bride-Elect Of Reagan H. Legg

Carrying out the law theme, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Huff complimented Norma Jean Edgen of Kaufman, bride-elect of Reagan H. Legg and a visitor in Midland for the weekend, with a party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Anderson, 612 West Cuthbert Street, Saturday night.

The couple will be married July 16 in the First Methodist Church in Kaufman. Miss Edgen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Edgen of Kaufman, and Legg, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Legg of Kaufman.

Both the prospective bridegroom and the host are attorneys in Midland. The invitations and the games carried out the law theme.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Emil Rasmussen, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Liedtke, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Paup and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Anderson.

TO ATTEND H-S-U

Dunny Goode, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goode, 109 West Florida Street, will attend the Summer session at Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, and also will enroll next Fall.

Miss Fry Is Bride In Church

Eva Louise Fry and Paul E. Haskins were married just before sunset Saturday in the First Methodist Church, and left on a week's trip to the Colorado and New Mexico mountains. The Rev. Howard H. Hollowell read the double ring ceremony by candlelight.

The bride is the daughter of B. M. Fry of San Angelo, who gave her in marriage. Haskins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Haskins of Wolforth.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Joe Chandler of San Angelo, and A. J. Lair served as best man. The wedding party stood between baskets of white flowers and candelabra holding white tapers, at the chancel rail which was covered with greenery and white blossoms.

Sets Proceeds Wedding
Candles were lighted before the ceremony by Miss Rita Livingston and Miss Helen White, while Mrs. Charles Reeder, organist, played a medley of wedding music. The pre-nuptial solo, "Because," D'Hardelot was sung by Everett Miles with Mrs. Reeder accompanying. The organist also played the wedding marches.

Horizon blue embroidered organdy made the bride's dress, with a bertha collar framing the sweetheart neckline, fitted waistline and very (Continued on page 11)

Party Series Ending Before Wedding Date

A rush of parties already past, final entertainments preceding the Monday wedding of Phyllis Chancellor and Dick Nelson are being given this weekend. These are for more intimate groups than have been included in many of the courtesies for Miss Chancellor since the engagement was announced in April.

The bride-elect honored her bridesmaids with a luncheon in the Petroleum Club Saturday at noon. Mrs. Ross Williams and her son, Ken Williams, will entertain for Miss Chancellor and Nelson with a brunch in the Petroleum Club Sunday morning. A dinner for the wedding participants will follow the rehearsal Sunday night.

Gifts To Attendants
For the bridesmaids' luncheon, arrangements of daisies formed the table decorations. Miss Chancellor presented gifts to the girls who will be her attendants.

Present were Mary Margaret Peeler of Ardmore, Okla., who is to be the maid of honor; Emily Jean Grissom of Eastland, the vocal soloist; Ann Cleveland, Catherine McDonough and Grace Baker, bridesmaids; Nina Miller of Kilgore, who will be the flower girl, and her mother, Mrs. Allen Miller.

Let's-Talk-About-You Technique Deals New Blow To Dying Art Of Conversation

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Today it might be well to worry a bit about the future of Small Talk. Small Talk, as we all know, is what we all scorn and all make when we're trying to be polite. But the experts on how to be successful and charming seem to think that good conversation today is based on asking questions of the person to whom one is talking. The idea is not to be interesting, but to make the other fellow feel like a big shot and talk about himself. Once upon a time, conversation was a high art. People used to bone up and study in order to hold informal and small audiences spellbound. This, of course, was just a way of showing off but it did put some value on intelligence. But today's "talk" is the exact opposite. The more intelligence you show in chatting back and forth, the more you repel people. What you gotta do is get them to repel you.

Basic Formula
This little thing, you can pay good money and buy books. You can also pick it up by reading any magazine. The basic formula is the same: Play dumb and ask questions.

Recently I came across an article, apparently by a very uninformed person, giving girls some advice on how to snag a husband during their two-week summer vacation. In the course of this treatise, the eager young ladies were told to study up on current events a couple of weeks before departure and also to read some best-selling novel.

This was something of a blow to me, flying as it does in the face of all other counsel. Everyone knows that a husband-hunting girl is doomed if she loses in a reference to the Council of Foreign Ministers when she should be asking a young man how he ever learned to paddle a canoe so well—or drive a car or something else. And she's certainly going to be a wall-flower if she asks him what he knows about the Taft-Hartley bill, even if she does put it in the accepted question form. No, my advice is to keep away from morsels of current intelligence.

Job-Hunting Technique
Then there was another article advising the employer successfully for a job. This was more along accepted lines. The applicants were told not to talk much—particularly about themselves—to look too charming for words, and to ask questions. The article didn't say so, but I suppose one should mention somewhere that one can take shorthand and typing and would like to be paid for working. But mostly, the idea is to make your prospective employer feel like a big shot, and the way to do this is to draw him out. "Did you found this great big company all by yourself?" is a good line, I suppose.

I've been trying out this technique for a while now, and I've only one complaint about it. The conversation doesn't get anywhere. Maybe this is because I've been talking to other people who were trying to draw ME out. Anyway, we just pile one question on top of another, and nobody is drawn out.

That's the way it's going to be. The people who don't go to all the bother trying to be good conversationalists are going to spend all their time talking about themselves. And you know what bores people like that are. Pretty soon we're all going to get some sort of an emotional block about talking.

Of course, television is our great hope of saving small talk. Conversation as such as already gone by the board. There will spring up upon this earth a small group of professional talkers, guaranteed to be interesting and to look interesting. The rest of us will communicate by grunts, turn a few dials, than just sit in front of the screen, spellbound and silent.

Brave new world?

Kermit Convention Maps Mailed To All Texas Lions Clubs

KERMIT—All Lions Club secretaries in Texas have been mailed folders showing an exaggerated "Texas Map of the United States" and carrying Kermit's invitation to hold the 1950 Lions International convention in Kermit. The map and the invitation are "certified and approved" by Kermit Chamber of Commerce, "in the Center of the Surrounding Territory."

The map shows Texas dominating the entire United States, reaching from Canada to the southern tip of Mexico. The New England States are shown as "unexplored," there is a "Dam-Yanke Territory," and the Great Lakes are listed as "South Duck Pond, North Duck Pond, Ford's Bayou, and Twin Bogs."

California is "Lia Land," Washington "Washout," Oregon, "Ore Gone," Wisconsin, "Cheese," and Florida is "Swamps."

Everything shown in Texas is the world's biggest, best, greatest, driest or longest. Kermit proclaims itself "In the World's Biggest Oil Patch."

The 12,000 folders, which were printed by the Kermit Chamber of Commerce, are to be distributed at the Lions convention in New York City in July. Roy Carter and Bill Cameron are to extend the "invitation."

Charlie Green, manager of the Kermit Chamber of Commerce, reports hundreds of requests have been received for the maps.

McALESTER, OKLA.—(AP)—One hundred and fifty women in Oklahoma State Penitentiary. The lady prisoners are wearing patchwork pants—but nobody's bailed out yet.

Warden Clarence Burford nearly went into a spin himself when the prison matrons reported a grave pants shortage in the women's ward.

So when Burford heard of an air force surplus sale he jumped at the chance.

A prison agent bought 300 'chutes—two for each pantie wearer. Matrons held sewing classes.

Cologne Will Revive Your Wilting Spirits

welcome to a woman during sultry days as the fragrance which the heavenly stuff floats over her. For that reason, she is apt when the thermometer climbs to reach for her toilet water or cologne than for her more concentrated perfume.

The two aids should be used as a team, however. The woman who gets the most out of both. To make a team of the two, their scents must match. That way the toilet water can be given the routine chores of preserving after-bath freshness and reviving a woman when she wills. The glamor role of changing her mood and lifting her spirit can be given over to the matching perfume. From such a team more lasting benefits are to be had.

An argument against a mismatch of the two accessories is an argument which comes from chemists who concoct both—is that a perfume of one odor and a toilet water of another can nullify or cancel each other out.

In a letter to the Pecos newspaper, Jones states: "I accidentally came across this in the library. What I call a clue to uranium in the Malone mountains of Hudspeth County, Texas. Be A Marine And A Civilian, Too, Is Invitation

"Be a Marine and a civilian, too," is the invitation extended to Midlanders by the Marine Corps Reserve Unit being organized here.

Joe Atkins is in charge of getting the organization started. He has called a meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in the high school auditorium.

The Marine Corps Reserve is a civilian group of the U. S. Marine Corp composed of veterans and non-veterans.

Atkins cites some of the advantages of reserve membership: affiliation with the Marine Corps, membership in a worldwide group, same promotion system as the Marine Corps, camp, athletics, social activities and others.

A reservist cannot be placed on active duty without his consent except in case of national emergency.

Child's Personality Developed In Early Years, Expert Says

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
AP Newsfeature
"Personality" is a word so loosely used in everyday speech that its true meaning is not always understood, says Dr. Elisabeth B. Hurlock, in her latest book, "Child Growth and Development," (Whitlsey House, $3.50).

Dr. Hurlock is a well-known practicing child psychologist, who, in this book, discusses such aspects of child development as: Preparing for the Baby; How a Child Grows; Physical Care of the Child; Learning to Talk; Emotions; The Child at Play; What to do about Bad Habits; and other subjects covering the prenatal period to the time when a child is ready for school. When we speak of personality, says Dr. Hurlock, we do not mean some vague, intangible thing but rather the quality of a person's behavior as it affects us. We say a person has an "attractive personality" if the way he behaves is to our liking. If it displeases us, we say he has a "mean" or "unattractive personality."

Personality is not the result of heredity, says Dr. Hurlock. Rather it is developed through learning, and early childhood is the critical period in its development. Before a child is ready for school, the dominant characteristics of his personality are so well set that they show up in the expression on his face, even when it is in repose. A cross, surly disposition, a timid, frightened outlook on life, or a sunny, happy one can readily be spotted by looking at the child's face.

A child may be "a chip off the old block" through imitation, says Dr. Hurlock. There is no evidence that it is hereditary. Since most personality traits are learned, the child's early environment plays an important role in determining what they will be. Also, because his early life is pretty much confined to the home, the members of his household are the people who are of primary importance in determining what sort of person he will be. The only other influence on the child's personality development during the early years is the nursery school or kindergarten.

Therefore, if mother has a cheerful disposition and presents a happy outlook on life, she presents a desirable pattern of behavior to her child. The father who comes home tired and irritable will not only present an undesirable pattern of behavior but, even more serious, he is likely to shroud the atmosphere of the whole household with sullen gloom. It is inevitable that, in time, these patterns will be reflected in the child's personality, she says.

Above all, says Dr. Hurlock, the child should be loved and made to feel welcome in the family group. He should be praised rather than criticized, and encouraged rather than made to feel a nuisance. Since relatives play a determining role in personality development, and since these are likely to pamper a child or to interfere with the home discipline, it is not good for the child's personality if relatives are in the home too often.

The standard to keep in mind in the development of the personality in childhood is whether or not the traits being developed will be serviceable to the child throughout his life. Extremes of any trait should not be encouraged. For example, a moderate amount of selfishness is desirable, but extreme selfishness results in the child's being taken advantage of by others. He may develop to the point where he will lack ability to stand up for and demand his own rights.

Dr. Hurlock suggests the development of the following personality traits: cheerfulness, enthusiasm, sense of humor, courage, unselfishness, self-confidence, self-assertiveness, sympathy, calmness.

Baptist Youth Camp Periods Will Begin With Girls' Outing

The program of youth camps for the young people's auxiliaries of the Baptist churches in District Eight will begin this week with the Girls' Auxiliary camp Tuesday through Friday, at the campsite south of Big Spring.

Midland girls from both the Calvary Church and the First Baptist Church will attend this camp. The Rev. E. K. Shepherd, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Snyder, will be the camp pastor. Jo Kohn, a student of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, will be the recreational director. Dr. Glenn Walker of Midland, a former missionary to Africa, will be the camp missionary, although he will not be on the campgrounds all of the time.

The program for the camp will include worship services, vesper services, study classes, handcraft classes and recreational classes with swimming and various sports. A coronation recognizing the advance of the girls in their program will be held Thursday night.

The campgrounds have been improved considerably since last year, according to Mrs. E. R. Powell, district Young People's leader, who is in charge of the camp program. Thirteen church cabins and a new tabernacle have been erected, new facilities added to the kitchen, and a caretaker's home built.

The Royal Ambassadors Boy's camp is scheduled for June 28 to July 1. The Rev. C. R. Mathis, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Key, will be the camp pastor, and the Rev. C. L. Culppeper, former missionary to China, will be the camp missionary.

Miss Mann Will Be Counselor At Time, Life Girl's Camp

Miss Leora Mann of Midland left Saturday for New Jersey, where she will be a counselor at a girl's camp near Sussex, New Jersey. The camp is sponsored by Life and Time Magazines for under-privileged girls of New York. She will serve two months.

Miss Mann, who graduated recently from West Texas State College at Canyon, was one of three girls from Texas selected to be counselors at the camp. Girls at the camp are from the public schools of New York and are between the ages of six and 16 years, Miss Mann said. Life and Time finance the camp. The Midlander will be in charge of eight girls. Two different groups will attend the camp while Miss Mann is a leader.

Enroute to the camp, Miss Mann will visit New York City and other points of interest and will visit relatives in New York state. She is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Mann, of Midland. She has a degree in primary education (bachelor of science) and will teach next year at Carlsbad, N. M.

Don't Let It Run, Make Water Walk

TOKYO—(AP)—An American conservationist suggests this slogan for Japan: "Make the water walk off the mountains, don't let it run."
Arthur R. Spillers, chief of the Co-operative Forest Management Branch of the U. S. Forest Service, says Japan "is confronted with a tremendous job of reforestation and erosion control on its mountain slopes."
As a conservation consultant at General MacArthur's headquarters, Spillers has made both aerial and ground surveys of Japan. With its huge population, mountainous Japan must use every available inch of soil for food.
Spillers said the steep slopes of Japan's mountains allow water to run off swiftly, carrying soil, silt and rock. These destroy rice paddies, power developments, roads and bridges.

Jap Film Producers Sign Code Of Ethics

TOKYO —(AP)— Japan's motion picture industry made a pretentious gesture at self-censorship. Producers signed a code of ethics.

Giant spotlights glared and cameras recorded the signing of the code at Tokyo's Piccadilly Theater. Occupation authorities were among the nearly 200 guests and newsmen.

So you're going on vacation... lucky girl!

If you want to have fun, meet people and make friends, you should learn to be charming, gracious and a good conversationalist.

No, you don't have to bore everybody with stories about your pet nephew or your prowess as an acrobat. But you should be able to answer a few questions directed at you. Nobody enjoys being around a "mummy" all the time, even if they do not enjoy listening to a chatterbox.

You can build up that Summer-time romance, if that's what you want, by bragging on the guy. But no matter what anybody says to the contrary you'll have to know a few of the answers.

Look Intelligent
You might, for instance, say "that's one of the biggest fish I've ever seen caught" when he catches a blowfish or be enthusiastic when he shows you the gold football on his watch key. But please show a glimmer of recognition when he mentions Joe DiMaggio or Joe Louis or Gorgious George. He won't expect you to know Joe's batting average or Louis' fight weight or who gives Gorgious his permanents before a wrestling match... but look intelligent about it all.

Don't Tag Along
Of course there are exceptions and there always will be men who are "loners" . . . they just enjoy being alone. So if he doesn't want you along on his sports junkies, don't be too persistent. After all if he isn't companionable when you are on vacation, give him the air.

There are some men who believe that woman's sole interests should be knitting, crocheting, embroidering, reading (cook books), and darning (socks). (It isn't a bad idea to have some props like knitting needles around as bait, however.)

One clever girl cured her date who lived in "Boys World" of his habit of leaving her alone. Here's what she did . . .

Smart Sue took lessons in every game that her beau was interested in. Then every time Eager Eddie would call her to say he was going swimming or fishing or golfing, she'd say "so am I."

Learn to Steer
Pretty soon Eddie was very intrigued by the unsuspected abilities of his girl friend and took her along on some of his sports outings. Of course Sue was smart—she never made the mistake of catching more fish than he did, of beating him at anything (so he took her with him again and again and again).

If you are going to a strange vacation spot, you'll have to learn to get along with all types of people. The latest rumba or calypso music, Canasta (the new Argentine card game) are good to know. You should also have a nodding acquaintance with some long-hair music, just in case.

But remember if you haven't any other weapons, you always can be feminine . . . look pretty and sweet, know your right foot from your left so you can get around the dance floor and . . . be mysterious. Girls define the "mystery woman" technique as "looking smart, saying little, and occasionally interjecting a particularly clever phrase or remark just when everybody has decided you are a dumbbell."

But perhaps you enjoy being insular—so maybe you'll have a happy vacation with a minimum of companionship.

Art Criticism Talks By Painter-Teacher Opened To Public

An art criticism and discussion session, held Saturday morning by Bror Utter of Fort Worth for the Summer classes in painting which he started here last week, proved so interesting that members of the Palette Club, sponsor of the classes, decided to open the remaining Saturday morning meetings to all interested persons.

Classes in the six-week instruction period began Wednesday. In addition to Midland pupils, some come from Odessa and two from Crane. Daytime and night classes are offered, and enrollment still is open.

Informal comment on art and artists, as well as criticism of work done by his pupils, will be a part of the session from 10 to 11 a. m. each Saturday in the Palette Club Studio.

Seven Welfare Agencies' Work Summarized In League Survey

Scope of the work done by various welfare agencies of Midland, sources of the funds supporting them and the types of service they give, were compiled by the Midland Service League in a survey recently completed as its first major project.

Purpose of the survey was to set up a central card index file of cases receiving assistance from various agencies. This file, inaugurated at the request of the agencies, is kept at the Midland County Child Welfare Unit in the courthouse, and its use is limited to the professional welfare agencies.

From information gathered during the survey, the Service League has outlined the organization and functions of the American Red Cross, Children's Service League, Midland County Child Welfare Unit, Midland-Ector-Howard County Health Unit, Midland County Tuberculosis Association, Salvation Army and State Department of Public Welfare.

Mrs. Lillian M. Corbett is executive secretary of the Midland County Red Cross chapter, which has its office at 619 West Indiana Street. Its chief work is with persons in active military service or veterans of military service, and their dependents. It is also ready to give aid to disaster victims. Its funds come from the annual Red Cross drive.

Service men and veterans and their families are aided with counsel, with filing and processing claims for government benefits or hospitalization, with obtaining and presenting documentary evidence needed for the claims, with verification of need for emergency furlooms or hardship, and dependency discharges, and with direct financial aid pending adjudication of claims.

Seasonal Aid

Seasonal aid is given to veterans hospitals and orphan homes. Service to transients is very limited, as Red Cross funds are raised in a community to meet community needs. Health problems, for persons other than veterans, are referred to an agency dealing with those problems. Service to armed forces personnel and veterans is the primary obligation of the Red Cross.

The Children's Service League has as its president Mrs. C. H. Atchison, 940 North Baird Street. Its work, as its name indicates, deals principally with children. Clothing is furnished to needy children and, if supplies are on hand, to adults. Aid to crippled children includes operations, medical care, transportation to hospitals, crutches, wheelchairs and other needed equipment for treatment.

Families whose homes have burned are supplied with mattresses and bedding by the league. Its health services are to crippled children, and it gives no aid to transients except for crippled children.

Funds for this organization's work come from membership dues and donations, and the sale of Easter Seals in an annual campaign.

Mrs. Willie A. Harding is supervisor of the Midland County Child Welfare Unit, which is located on the second floor of the courthouse. It is supported by city and county appropriations with salaries, some travel expense, and supervision of activities from state and federal funds.

Aid To Children

Its welfare program is primarily protective of children, and offers case work services to children and their families. The dependent children whom it helps are classified as: The child without family or guardian, or transient child without responsible family or relatives; the child with mentally or emotionally incapacitated parents who ask for aid; the child of an unmarried mother who needs assistance in planning; and the abused child who needs protective services.

The unit also offers services to children with special problems such as behavior difficulties including truancy, the chronic runaway, children with physical or mental handicaps; to the delinquent child; in adoptive cases; in disputed custody cases at the order of the court; and in licensing of child placing and child caring activities.

It gives direct financial aid to children in the custody of the unit through court action or pending court action, and counseling to parents of children in difficulty.

Directed by Dr. F. E. Sadler, the Midland-Ector-Howard County Health Unit is located at 200 South Colorado Street. Its support is from local government sources and some aid from the State Department of Health.

Its program pertains to community health problems, vital statistics analysis and communicable disease control. The latter phase includes acute communicable disease, and chronic disease including tuberculosis and venereal diseases. It also is concerned with maternal, infant, preschool, school and adult hygiene.

The unit gives no direct financial aid, but helps indigent persons obtain this aid from specific organizations. Its counseling services deal with special studies and public health education.

An organization with one specific duty is the Midland County Tuberculosis Association, which serves as a clearing house for all health and welfare problems concerning tuberculosis. It is supported by the annual sale of Christmas seals and by contributions from groups and individuals.

Mrs. Linnie H. Davidson is the executive secretary, and the office is in the Midland County Health Building at 200 South Colorado Street.

Types of service offered include: Medical care—aid and x-rays for indigent patients and patch tests for school children; education of the general public through dissemination of information about the disease, also child and school health education; cooperation with other agencies dealing with public health and welfare; and x-ray surveys by a mobile unit. The association sponsors x-ray tests for all food handlers and children from positive reactor families.

The Salvation Army has County Judge Clifford C. Keith as chairman of the local service unit, and Ralph M. Barron as local treasurer. It gives direct financial aid in its welfare program of assistance to children, adults, families, veterans and transients. The aid is given for food, lodging, clothing and transportation.

Support for the Salvation Army comes from the Community Chest, a third of which remains in the local unit.

Two field workers, Mrs. Mary J. Johnson and Mrs. Aurelia Webb, direct activities of the State Department of Public Welfare in Midland County. The office is on the second floor of the courthouse. Through this office, direct financial aid is given to persons past the age of 65 who are eligible for Old Age Assistance, to the needy blind and to dependent children under the age of 14 who have no parental support. Children receiving this aid must have lived in Texas for a year prior to date of application, and adults must have lived in the state five of the past nine years and for one year immediately preceding application.

Counseling is offered to any applicant or family, and advice on budgeting. Records are kept on case work. No emergency aid is given under this program, and application must be made by appointment. Second and fourth Tuesday of each month are intake days.

Salaries of workers are paid from state and federal funds; the office and telephone is supplied by the county. All grants are paid directly to applicant or recipient.

gandy dresses fashioned similarly to those of the matron of honor, with matching picture hats. Their colonial bouquets were of tallman rosebuds on a background of orchid net and lace, showered with pastel ribbon streamers.

The Lower girls were dressed in pale pink gowns with matching color flowers in their hair. They carried baskets filled with rose petals.

Mrs. Henry Withers, organist, played pre-nuptial music, the "Lohengrin" march by Wagner for the professional and Mendelssohn's Wedding March for the recessional. She played "Clare de Lune," Debussy, during the ceremony. Mrs. Staley Jones of Phoenix, Ariz., aunt of the bride, sang "Because," and "O Promise Me."

Reception: Held

Following the ceremony, a reception was held on the lawn of the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Riley, Mr. and Mrs. Middleton, and the bride's attendants assisted the couple in the receiving line. White flowers centered the all white table, appointed with a ruffled net cloth. Potted flowers outlined the hedge enclosed lawn.

Mrs. J. W. Porter presided at the guest book in the living room of the home. Mrs. Mark Strickland, Mrs. Haskell Prater of Stamford, Mrs. Bernard Phelps of Haskell, and Mrs. James Morgan of Dallas served.

Others in the house party included Mrs. Morris Watson, Mrs. Thadde Wilson, Mrs. Wayne Porter, Mrs. Bill Day, Mrs. Barney Bigham, Mrs. Charles Hogsett, Mrs. George Moore, Mrs. J. R. Out-of-City Guests

Out-of-city guests included persons from Haskell, Stamford, Hamlin, Snyder, O'Donnell, Tahoka, Midland, Abilene, Roby, Lubbock, and Ruidoso.

The bride chose a white pique dress with navy and white accessories for traveling. She wore a corsage of roses from her bridal bouquet. The couple will reside in Haskell after a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N. M.

The bride is a graduate of Texas Technological College in Lubbock. She taught two years in Haskell schools and last year in the English department of the Midland High School.

Club Leaders Take Office

Officers of the Crane Business and Professional Women's Club took up their duties for the year in an installation conducted Thursday by Iva Noyes of Midland, District Eight director. Pictured left to right are Mrs. Noyes; Margaret Huggins, president; Gracie Ward, vice president; and Ruby Hughes, secretary.

Charter Is Received As Officers For Year Are Installed In Crane B&PW Club

CRANE—Margaret Huggins, re-elected to serve the Crane Business and Professional Women's Club as president after a short term that started when the club was organized recently, was installed for a full term Thursday night.

Iva Noyes of Midland, director of District Eight, installed the officers and presented the Crane club's charter at a meeting in the Community Hall. She emphasized the necessity of active participation in order to gain the most from club work. Then she lit a tall yellow candle symbolic of membership in the club.

From this candle, Mrs. Huggins lighted a taper symbolizing the duties of her office, as did Gracie Ward, vice president; Ruby Hughes, secretary; and Charlene Cowden, substituting for Myrtle Cherry, treasurer.

After the installation, visitors from three neighboring clubs were introduced and a representative of each was asked to give a resume of its accomplishments the last year. Neta Stovall reported for the Midland Club, telling of a blood typing project, a safety campaign, essay contest, and participation in a city clean-up campaign and various civic drives.

Ruby Braly reported that the McCamey club continued to sponsor a Girl Scout Troop, assisted in a clean-up campaign, and is supporting a program to obtain a new postoffice building for McCamey and build needed roads in the county.

"Adoption" of a deserted English war bride was an outstanding project of the Odessa Club mentioned by Gayle Guffey. Clothing for the English woman and her children, and passage back to her home was provided by the club, which also sponsored dances for youngsters of Junior High age, helped furnish a youth canteen building and participated in a clean-up campaign.

Refreshments served from a table centered with an arrangement of peach colored gladioli. Charlene Cowden, Evelyn Wagner and Blanche Keyes were in charge of refreshments and decorations.

Present from Midland were Glenyth Herring, Vera McElroy, Grace Wallace, Nettie Johnson, Maude Prather, Flossie Vaughn, Martha Greene, Thelma Gardner, Mrs. Noyes and Mrs. Stovall.

Visitors from Odessa were Fanny Ruth Gandy and Mrs. Guffey, and from McCamey, Bertie Parks, Lottie Haring, Ivey Evans, Margaret Bone and Miss Braly.

Snappy Play Togs Key Fit To Boy's Figure

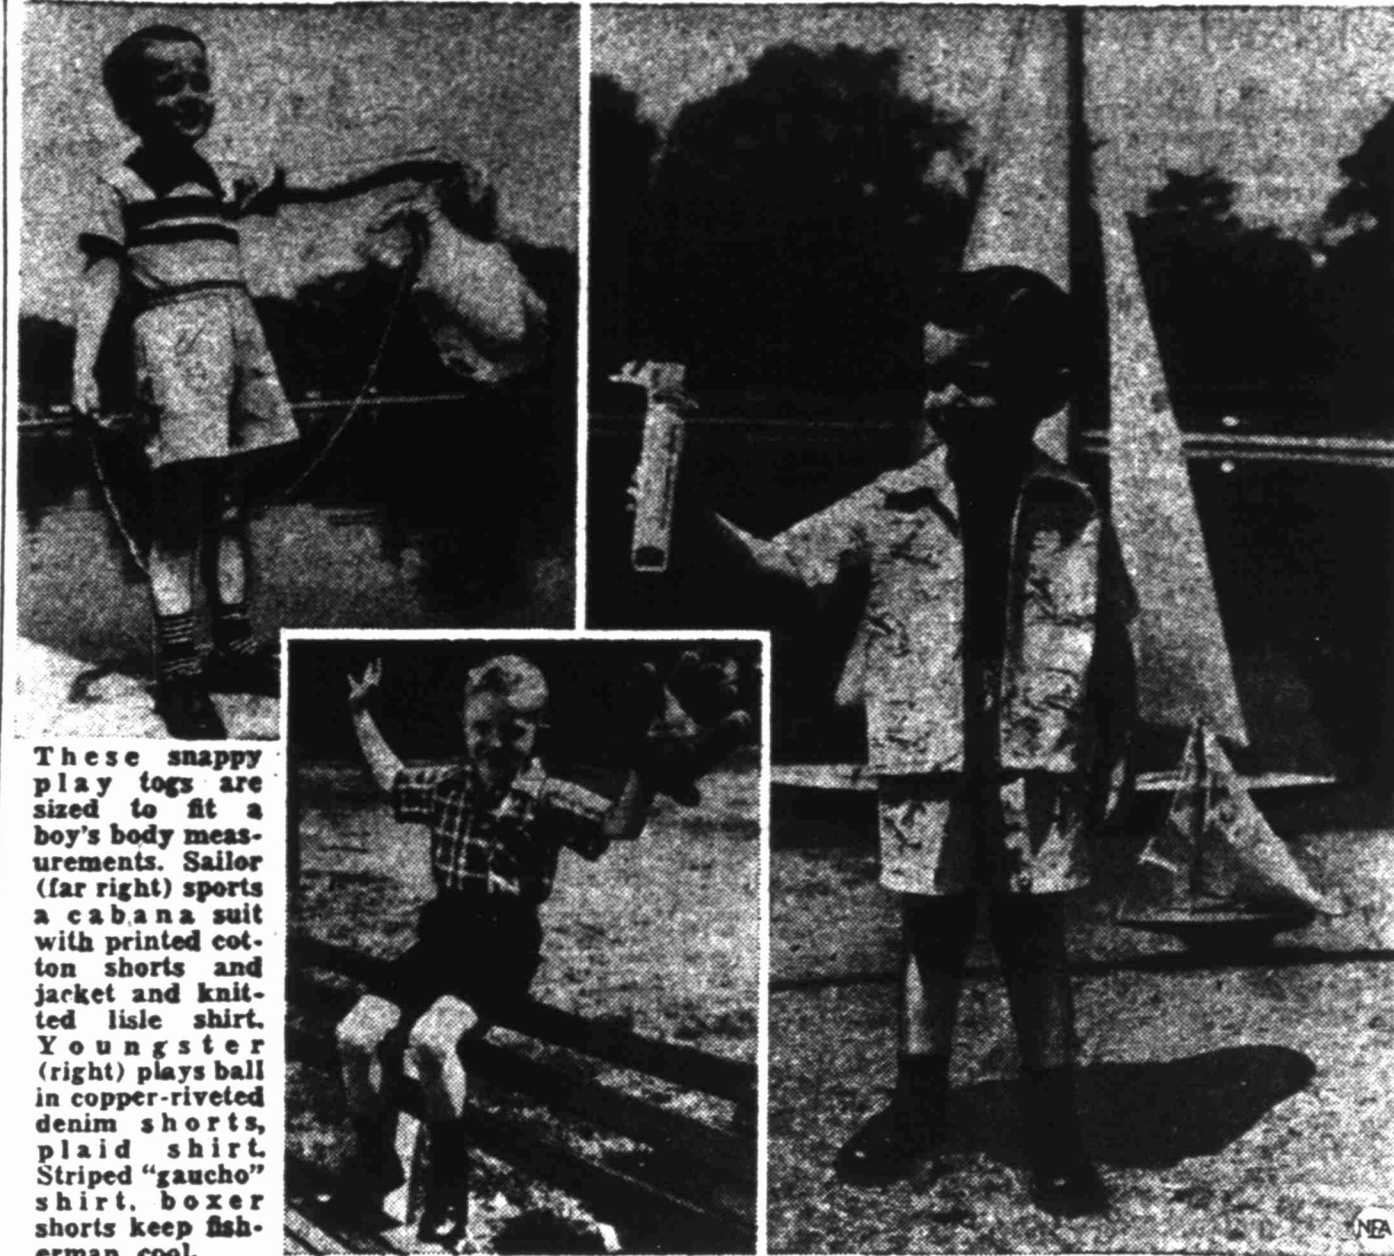

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

NEW YORK—A little feller's body measurements will take the guesswork out of sizing Junior up for play togs that fit.

Mothers who have had to let out squeezing waistbands or hitch up droopy shorts will welcome body measurements which make additional guides to size.

Figuring that the tall and short, the plump and the thin and the average in-between can't be entirely guided to good fit by the number on the tag, one designing friend of small guys has added what each regular size also implies in weight, height and waistband measurement. If little Montgomery's husky proportions tally better with those marked for a size 8 suit than for the size 6 which his Mom's been buying, she can use his "vital statistics" as a clue to better fit.

The apple of her eye can be fitted in snappy fashions with little Beau Brummel appeal. Designed to brighten the waterfront or the baseball lot are rough-and-ready denim shorts with nailhead trimming. Such shorts, which sport cowboy-styled pockets reinforced with copper rivets, may be topped off with mad-plaid cotton shirts.

These snappy play togs are sized to fit a boy's body measurements. Sailor (far right) sports a cabana suit with printed cotton shorts and jacket and knitted lisle shirt. Youngster (right) plays ball in copper-riveted denim shorts, plaid shirt. Striped "gaucho" shirt, boxer shorts keep Baherman cool.

Outfits that can be stripped down to shorts for swimming provide a little playboy with a "cabana" jacket. He can also sport a little knit shirt of combed cotton color-blended to the suit of cotton broadcloth splashed with sailboats and other motifs, designed to make "conversation pieces" for style-conscious small fry.

Other suits, styled like a South

American gaucho's, combine cotton knit shirts with multicolor chest stripes and boxer shorts of cotton gabardine which will not lose their original measurements in the wash tub and will need no ironing.

Europe-Made Movie To Be Shown Here Sponsored By AAUW

The second showing in Midland of an Italian-made film which was chosen as the best of its year will be sponsored Wednesday and Thursday by the American Association of University Women.

The film, to be shown in the Tower Theater for the two-day run, is "Pa' un," with a story which follows the American and British armies during the invasion of Italy and the succeeding occupation.

Starting a program of sponsoring foreign movies in Midland theaters, the AAUW last winter was responsible for bringing another Italian film, "Shoeshine," for a one-day presentation here. Members hope that enough patronage will be given to assure the showing of still more outstanding foreign films, including English and French productions as well as Italian.

Best Of 1947

Although "Pa' un" was filmed on location in Italy and cited by Italian critics as the best Italian movie of 1947, most of the dialogue is in English and a number of the leading roles are filled by Americans. Only six of the actors are professionals.

In the episodes which make up this story, unconnected except for the central theme of war, each character speaks in his own tongue to make a story completely realistic for G.I.'s who participated in the Italian campaign. When the dialogue is in Italian, German or French, it is translated with subtitles.

The director of the movie was Roberto Rossellini, who has won a reputation in recent years for producing award-winning films with realistic stories, using ordinary people rather than professionals as the leading actors.

If It's A Crime, Men Are Guilty

TAMPA—Is it a crime to flirt with a pretty girl on the sidewalk?

City Judge R. J. Potter thinks not. He dismissed two men accused of molesting an 18-year-old theater cashier. She accused the pair of following her late at night.

Said the judge:

"It is a general tendency of men who see a pretty girl walking along the street to try to get acquainted. I am sure they had no intention of harming her."

Featured Cowgirl Is Niece Of Midlanders

One of the Texas Cowgirls featured in a picture-story in the June 13 issue of "Life" magazine is a niece of two Midland women, Mrs. Billie Gilbert and Mrs. W. W. Escue. She is Josephine Willis of San Angelo.

A full page photograph of Miss Willis was included in the magazine's report of the organization of Texas girls who participate in rodeos.

YOU CAN DO SOMETHING ABOUT "TEEN-AGE" PIMPLY SKIN!

If you have "tried everything" and often got no real relief . . . here's new hope! Do this! . . .

Do you suffer from acne—and its associated pimples, blackheads, pustules and other ugly blemishes? And have you found you often get no real help from some ointments—or only slow relief from other methods?

You should try ENCA, the new "wonder formula" that works on an amazing new scientific principle. The very first application instantly hides externally-caused skin blemishes. At the same time ENCA's specialized medication starts to expose and act on the sub-surface germs that are present in most abnormal skin conditions. Your skin looks and feels better right from the start. And in most cases, relief and general improvement are prompt.

The exclusive ENCA formula was developed after hundreds of experiments on actual cases by a group of physicians in a world-famous university. Its many special ingredients include Tyrothricin (an "antibiotic" like penicillin) which checks and inhibits the growth of certain types of germs usually present in acne. When this "wonder formula" is applied to the skin, three things happen:

(1) ENCA's flesh-toned cosmetic base instantly hides ugly skin blemishes; relieves itching.

(2) ENCA exposes and checks growth of certain germs which are present in acne.

(3) Pimples and skin surfaces start natural healing. Results are amazing!

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE
If you are not pleased with actual results, if unsightly skin does not look and feel better, return the partly used jar and purchase price will be refunded.

Mrs. Bauman Is Bridal Honoree Of Past Week

Parties for June brides and brides-elect the last week had the addition of a series of bridal courtesies for Mrs. A. A. PECOS—Plans are underway to prevent further flood damage in Pecos if such conditions arise. A. J. Anderson and Sheriff Charles Fitzgerald were chosen at a recent meeting of city and county officials to work on flood prevention and considerable progress has been made.

Carellonic bells, recently presented to the First Baptist Church by Mrs. W. L. Ross and Billie Neil Ross, will be dedicated at the morning worship hour of the church Sunday, according to an announcement made by the Rev. Wilburn M. Turner, pastor.

The Bronze tablet to be unveiled by Mrs. Ross and Billie Neil, bears the following inscription: "The Ross Memorial Bells—Dedicated to the Glory of God and The Good of Mankind—Presented by Mrs. W. L. Ross and Billie Neil Ross—in Loving Memory of W. L. Ross, Sr.; W. L. Ross, Jr.—1949". Sheriff Charles Fitzgerald, Jr., has a right to be proud of the report he received this week from Roy Casey, inspector for the Bureau of Prisons, U. S. Department of Justice.

Mr. Casey declared that an improvement had been noted in the jail here (one of the few in West Texas recommended for use by the Federal government).

Casey made six recommendations, most of them minor in nature and most of them already accomplished by Fitzgerald.

Census Bureau Pretty Sure What Will Show

Far-away places and strange dwellings lure census-takers as they count the nation's noses. Here an enumerator interviews railroad section hand and his family outside the box car in which they roll from job to job.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The 1950 census is going to be so scientific they already know just about everything that's going to reveal. There will be 150 million people counted, a 15 million increase over 1940. For the first time in the history of the U. S. more women than men will be found. There will be fewer farmers, more kids more old people and a lot more people in the West.

Spot checks on the population have revealed those facts. The '50 census will merely serve to fill in the details and confirm the accuracy of the spot checks. They know there will be more kids counted because of the high birth rate of the last few years. And increasing the life-span of the oldesters means more of them around.

Apart from getting this detailed basic information on the number of persons in the U. S., the Census Bureau is still up in the air about what other information to seek. There is hot pressure from many sources to include all sorts of questions for the enumerators to ask. How Many Blondes The cosmetic and beauty shop industry wants to know just how many blondes, brunettes and red heads there are. The radio industry wants to know how many people own radio and television sets. The banking industry would like to know how many people owe money and how much. Other demands for questions would try to find out how many people have dogs, how many collect stamps, how many have made a will and how many wear long underwear.

A special committee of statistical experts is still helping the Bureau decide what to include in the questionnaires. LOOK YOUNGER as You Grow Older

The biggest uncertainty is over whether to include a group of housing questions. Combining a housing question with the regular decennial census would be much cheaper than making a separate housing census later. A bill is now in Congress which would provide for this combination. The real reason for Congress ordering a census to be taken every 10 years is almost forgotten in the rush of special interests to get questions included. The primary purpose is to determine how many members there should be in the House of Representatives and how that number should be spread out among the states.

In 1941 Congress passed a law which virtually fixes the size of the House at 435 members, regardless of an increase in national population. But it sets up a complicated formula for changing the number from each state in accordance with population shifts. California is fairly certain to gain approximately seven seats in the House. Other Western states also are expected to gain seats.

Based on the census which they haven't taken but which they know all about anyway, the Bureau's experts make the following predictions: Millions of Families "The 40 million families of today will grow in number to between 43 and 47 million by 1950. The number of families will increase during the next 15 years at a higher rate than total population. The sex ratio is likely to show little change from the present but, without substantial immigration, the present small excess of females may increase slightly. The proportion of foreign-born will decline greatly unless immigration is considerably increased. The ratio of non-whites to whites will increase slightly."

Business and industry are perhaps more interested in the census results than are the social scientists. A shift of population away from the farm indicates a greater need for farm machinery to do the work of the persons who have left. The huge crop of babies means an increased demand for baby clothes and pabulum, a great increase in demand for schools supplies for the year the crop reaches school age and so on up until that generation starts getting married and needs an increase in wedding ring production.

Judge Says Eating Lunch Makes Food Addicts Of People
NORTHAMPTON, MASS. — (AP)—Two meals a day are enough, declared Superior Court Judge Joseph E. Warner, in abolishing the customary luncheon recess. "Eating lunch makes people food addicts," the judge said. Judge Warner ordered the morning session continued without interruption until 4 o'clock. Witnesses for the state and court attaches made no comment nor did they leave the courtroom until the session ended. A white painted wall or ceiling reflects 70 to 90 per cent of the light that falls upon it.

'Pony Express' Trip Leaders' Announced By County Library

Leaders of the Summer reading program of the Midland County Library, which is being held in the form of a Pony Express trip, are Simone Walker, Landis Legg, Jimmy Jones and Charles Fredregill. It was announced Saturday by Mrs. Lucile Carroll, county librarian.

Progress on the Pony Express trip is counted by the number of books read, and at the end of the Summer awards will be made to the youngsters reading the largest number of books from the library. The Children's Room of the library is open from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. each weekday with a librarian on duty. Cards are issued without charge to any Midland County resident. Children of elementary school and Junior High ages are invited to participate in the reading program, which may be entered at any time, Mrs. Carroll said.

A yard of 39-inch to 42-inch material with no up or down design can make a blouse with short paglan sleeves or short set-in sleeves in sizes 10 to 20, says the Department of Agriculture.

Award Winner

Beverly Tucker of Texas City received the Pauline Bishop Leman memorial award at the 46th annual commencement of Texas State College for Women, Denton, "for her outstanding artistry as a violin soloist." Miss Tucker won TSCW's highest artistic prize as the graduating senior who had made the greatest cultural contribution to the college.

Revision Of Flood Control Laws Is New WTCC Program

ABILENE—A program to revise the Federal Flood Control Laws which provide "billions for water but not a drop to drink" is the latest move of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in its water fight on behalf of thirty West Texas cities. In a report issued by President John D. Mitchell and other officers, the organization has launched its efforts for a revision of the present laws and provides a new criteria by which small dams for municipal supplies may be built with federal funds.

This report, tied to the Hoover Commission recommendations, for the first time publicly establishes there is an economic loss from lack of water greater than flood loss. The report, written by Manager D. A. Bandeen, long champion of West Texas water rights, includes a survey of eight West Texas cities, showing their economic loss due to lack of water.

Bandeen also cites the Hoover recommendation to place municipal water in first priority in federal requirements, which is in accord with the policy of the WTCC which was responsible for the writing of the Wagstaff-Woodward act in 1931, giving Texas municipalities prior rights to the use of water. Losses Cited This report points out that the eight cities surveyed in West Texas show a loss of $161,950 annually on water overcharges, and a loss due to property depreciation, industrial and population loss and stagnation of $1,706,872. The cities surveyed are Baird, Roby, Ranger, Rotan, Jackboro, Archer City, Aspermont and Stamford. The WTCC report takes up the Hoover commission task reports and recommendations and urges a new criteria for building dams. These now are built by the Corps of Army Engineers and the Bureau of Reclamation largely under authority granted in the Federal Flood Control Act of 1936. This act declares floods to be a menace to the national welfare and provides the manner in which they can be built. As a result there are all large dams and finally result in the production of hydro-electric power. Justification of the large dams must be found, either by the Army engineers or the Reclamation Service in flood control benefits, irrigation and finally the production of power. The WTCC report points out that little of this expenditure is recoverable, but that money spent on smaller dams to provide domestic water to upstream towns efficiently would afford flood protection, and at the same time produce revenue which eventually would retire the debt.

WE, THE WOMEN

A Husband Requires Tact To Change A Housewife's Habits

By KATH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

Any husband who wants to effect a change in the way his home is run should avoid the following mistakes. If he doesn't he'll probably only start an argument.

Don't give your wife any of that talk about "if I ran my office the way you run this house." That won't get you anything but a long and indignant recital of all your wife does in the course of a day. And perhaps an invitation to stay home and try handling her job yourself.

Don't kick up a scene during the early morning rush hour because your socks haven't been darned, when you're disgruntled and she is rushing around trying to cook breakfast and get everybody off for the day. Lay the socks on the dresser for a gentle reminder that won't hit her until after you've left for work.

In making a suggestion never let it be known that you think she'd be smart to follow some other woman's example. There's nothing that makes a woman more rebellious than to be told some other woman has solved a housekeeping problem in a way she might do well to copy.

Better At 'Timing'

If you're bent on tackling a touchy problem, pick your time. That's a trick at which women are much more skillful than men. A woman will wait a week, if necessary, until her husband is in an expansive frame of mind before approaching him on a matter on which she has to bring him around to her way of thinking. Men often will do the same thing in business—but few of them bother to be that subtle at home.

If you've asked for a change and your wife has made an effort to please you, be sure to praise the results. And don't bring up the fact that it was all your idea originally. Give her the credit and she'll try even harder to please you the next time.

A lot of husbands feel they don't have much say-so around home, or that their suggestions and criticisms always meet with resistance from their wives.

But if they used a little tact and diplomacy in selling their ideas to their wives it would be a different story.

21-Gun Salute For Israel's President

TEL AVIV—The Argentine embassy in the United States forwarded to Israel a request for information on how many gun salutes are fired here for Israeli President Weizman.

Actually the new state hasn't had time yet to work out a lot of these matters. But its protocol department set to work, drew up a code, and replied: "21 guns, as other states do for their presidents."

But the note added, confidentially, that in fact so far they've only been firing five guns—because of the war and munitions supply and all that. (And whether it's five or 21, it is the first time military censorship has passed the fact that Israel has that many guns.)

Homecoming In A Strange Land

Brimming over with joy, Felicia Grunfeder, 11, runs to embrace her wartime savior, Mrs. Cashmira Arenas, as the girl arrives in New York from Europe. Mrs. Arenas cared for Felicia for five years in war-torn Warsaw and once saved her from the Nazis by hiding her in a coffin. Mrs. Arenas came to the U. S. last year. Felicia's mother, who survived a German "death" camp, located the child after the war and arrived in this country with her. They will make their new home with relatives in Venice, Calif. Felicia's father was killed by the Nazis.

Inventors Have Wide Field If They Work On Satisfying Woman's Wants

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeature Writer

This is a highly civilized world we're living in. There isn't anything, practically, that we can't achieve in the way of comfort style or efficiency.

Therefore, I wish people in the proper fields would just put a little thought and effort in making some small changes to make life so much pleasanter.

For instance:

Why can't blouse manufacturers add enough material to the bottom of their blouses so that the blouses don't pull away from skirts?

Why can't someone invent a process to keep heels from running over?

Why hasn't anyone invented a lipstick which really stays through a full-course dinner, and which can be applied like other lipstick?

Why not design an automobile you can climb into and out of without doubling up like an acrobat and pulling your clothes out of shape?

Why not a perfume container which would really keep perfume intact in one's purse and not result in cologne-flavored cigarettes.

How about stockings that don't run and garters that keep seams straight?

Why not have store-bought dresses and suits come with the buttons firmly and securely anchored on?

It would be dreamy to have some plastic that looks like white kid and buckskin for summer shoes—but which could be cleaned by simply wiping it off.

I'd like some nail polish that would not get thick and messy as you get toward the bottom of the bottle.

And then why can't they fashion women's pajamas and blouses that begin to approximate a fit?

Certainly some handbag designer could produce a small model which could hold something beside a small compact. Or a big roomy purse that doesn't look like a cello case.

Typewriter people, I'm sure, could produce a machine which doesn't require a trained mechanic for ribbon changing.

People who write instructions for assembling such items as outdoor chairs and work tables could put

Pecos Newspaper Moves Into New And Modern Plant

PECOS—It's moving time for The Pecos Enterprise.

Offices of the 64-year-old weekly Thursday were moved to the new 50x95 foot tile and concrete building at 312-14 South Cedar Street. The job printing department was moved Friday and the Linotype machine and other equipment will follow this weekend.

A Duplex press and a Linotype machine are being added to the equipment of the firm by Barney Hubbs and Joe B. Pouns, owners.

The new building was constructed by Hubbs and Pouns especially for their newspaper and commercial printing firm. The construction is of tile and concrete and the exterior is finished in white stucco. The front of the building is divided by especially built counters into three major divisions—editorial, advertising, and business.

'Prepare For War' Siam Military Told

BANGKOK—(AP)—Military leaders of Thailand (Siam) have been told by Defense Minister Lt. Gen. Luang Chart Nakrob they must not meddle in internal politics because it is their duty to prepare themselves for "the war that lies ahead."

"At present, the struggle is now merely a verbal one between those supporting opposing political doctrines," the minister told 23 lieutenant colonels just graduated from the Army Staff College.

"Each day this verbal struggle can be seen developing into what in the near future will be a real struggle of force. Once the struggle has begun, there can be little question that Siam will be involved. Therefore, we must prepare. We must be on the alert."

"In preparing for this struggle, we must be careful not to meddle in internal politics or allow ourselves to be instruments of politicians."

"Our ideal must be that as soldiers we are not to meddle in politics and to see that politics does not meddle with the armed forces."

For a delicious punch for a warm day, mix tea, pineapple juice, orange juice and a little lemon juice. Sweeten to taste and chill. Just before serving, add gingerale.

Miss Davis Weds W. M. Mosley

Weds In Abilene Church

Kathleen Davis of Fort Worth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Argyle Davis of Abilene, became the bride of Weyman Miles Mosley, Jr., also of Fort Worth, son of Mrs. W. M. Mosley, Sr. 1049 West College Street, and the late Mr. Mosley, in a ceremony solemnized in the Heavenly Rest Episcopal Church in Abilene Saturday night. The Rev. Willis P. Gerhart performed the double ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Jane Davis of Abilene, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Mrs. Robert D. Grisham of Abilene and Miss Jane Kean of Dallas, both cousins of the bride, served as bridesmaids.

Flowers Deck Church
Nathan I. Mitchell of Fort Worth was the best man. Ushers were James R. Vaughan of Fort Worth and Robert D. Grisham of Abilene.

White gladiolus in a fan shaped arrangement behind the altar, and gladiolus and stock with huckleberry foliage decorated the church. Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. W. J. Wooten.

The bride wore a white satin gown with a long fitted bodice, high round neck, fitted long sleeves tapering to a point over the hands, and a bustle back and full gathered skirt with a chapel length train. Her veil of imported French illusion and heirloom Brussels lace dutch-shaped cap were borrowed from her cousin, Mrs. Grisham.

Carries Heirloom Book
She carried white gardenias and a shower of stephanotis and a bride's individual marriage service book belonging to her maternal grandmother. Mrs. Edward Starkey Kean of Abilene. Mrs. Kean carried this book when she and the late Mr. Kean were the second couple to be married in the Heavenly Rest Episcopal Church 62 years ago.

The attendants wore identical dresses of white organdy over apple green taffeta with short sleeves, fitted bodice, round neckline, gathered skirts and green velvet ribbon sashes tied in the back with long streamers. Their dutch-shaped caps were of white organdy over apple green taffeta. They carried fan-shaped bouquets of white carnations tied with white ribbons.

The mother of the bride chose a rose dress with side drapery and a corsage of white gardenias. Mrs. Mosley wore a light dusty rose marquisette dress with long full sleeves and full skirt. The corsage was of gardenias.

Reception in Parents' Home
Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents, 3301 South Fourth Street. The couple was assisted by Mrs. F. W. Digby-Roberts and Miss Lucyle Bell, both of Fort Worth, Mrs. H. G. Haynie, Jr., and Mrs. E. M. Hilley, both of Abilene. The serving table was covered with white organdy over green taffeta with flowers on the table.

American Banking In Action!

AMERICANS KNOW HOW TO BANK THEIR MONEY

There are almost 50,000,000 thrift accounts in this country. In a single year, Americans added 1 billion, 100 million dollars to these accounts. This is future spending power in reserve. Meanwhile, these funds help provide new tools, new plants, new and better machinery — more jobs and greater opportunities for all. When you deposit regularly at the bank, you not only help yourself and your family — you help to make the American way of life even better than it is.

FREEDOM and OPPORTUNITY

ARE NOT FOUND IN DOMESTIC MONOPOLIES OR INTERNATIONAL
CARTELS... BUT—

Only By Individual Enterprise

CAN WE MAINTAIN OUR STANDARD OF LIFE.

The American ideal—life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness—is not an idle phrase nor empty promise. It is a living reality. It is you and me and our families at home. It means equality of opportunity; it means liberty and the self-respect of the individual. It means adventure, reward and security. That ideal is our beacon in dark and stormy times—it is kept shining by our American economic way of life. If our system is changed, monopolies, cartels and government controls will be given power over our every day life and our American prosperity and happiness will wither and die.

Everyone recognizes that government controls of economic life have been stronger during our time. For that reason we have cause to protect more earnestly the most basic idea of American political philosophy and tradition—government by the people and for the people—government must continue to serve our people and not be a business competitor of the individual.

The American Freedom Train recently has carried documentary evidence of our heritage to all parts of the nation. This is a reminder that we not only have the privilege but the duty of preserving a free society.

Ice-Cold Mammals Placed On Display

NEW YORK—(AP)—A home-type deep-freeze unit took over the task of preserving meat from 15,000 to 400,000 years old from nature's deep-freeze vaults in Alaska.

The fossilized mammals, with hair and skin still attached, went on display at the American Museum of Natural History.

The display includes a baby mammoth, horse and musk ox parts, a section of an adult mammoth, a relative of the modern elephant, and a "super" bison, huge ancestor of the modern bison.

Washed from the frozen tundra in the Yukon Valley outside Fairbanks, the specimens were uncovered in gold mining operations last Fall. They were transported here by refrigerated cars.

How To Grease Your Own Car

● FIRST—

Put on your dirtiest clothes so you can crawl under your car.

● SECOND—

Buy a supply of transmission, differential, universal joint, water pump and pressure grease, a grease gun and a spray gun. Also some penetrating oil and No. 40 oil.

● THIRD—

Equip yourself with lots of strong words such as "Darn," and "Oh, Hang," and the like to use on the joints where the grease doesn't want to come through. Keep using these words until the grease comes out on the other side.

● FOURTH—

Buy yourself a complete set of wrenches to use on the containers that must be opened to inspect the lubricating supply inside. Also some new skin to graft on your knuckles when the wrench slips.

● FIFTH—

Fill your spray gun with penetrating oil to spray on the springs. Be sure not to breathe for about 10 minutes while spraying the springs or you may oil-plate the inside of your lungs, which is bad.

● SIXTH—

Be sure not to miss any place that should be lubricated as it may cost you the price of twenty grease jobs for repairs.

● OR—

... if this seems like too much trouble and expense, drive your car in here. We can assure you, if you get our "Guaranteed Lubrication" at only $1.00—you just won't try that home job again.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1949, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson Says: Eisenhower's position on aid to education surprises congressional leaders; Ike writes unexpected letter to Ralph Gwinn; Truman says Jesse James was a Democrat.

WASHINGTON—How Gen. Ike Eisenhower happened to answer one of the 900,000 letters Congressman Ralph Gwinn of New York sent out opposing federal aid to education is more than anyone around Capitol Hill can understand.

Maybe, concludes congressional leaders, Ike is just a better general than he is an educator-politician.

Congressman Gwinn the man who induced Eisenhower to answer him, has abused the franking privileges more brazenly than any other member of Congress in opposing aid to education. Not only has Gwinn sent out 2,250,000 copies of speeches against education, public housing, rent control, etc. but this abuse of his free mailing privilege cost the taxpayers—through the Post Office Department—$27,000.

In addition the taxpayers had to pay $1,755 for Gwinn's free envelopes, plus $3,000 for stuffing the envelopes with Gwinn's speeches. Only thing that this propaganda barrage cost Gwinn was the bare cost of $7,828.97 to the government printing office for reprinting the speeches.

The New York congressman paid this by personal check but refused to say where he got the money—except that it came from friends. Some of these friends in the past have been the Foundation for Economic Education and the Committee for Constitutional Government, which in turn are financed by the Mellon interests, the Du Ponts, Republic Steel, U. S. Steel, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Texas Oil, and the Joe Pew Sun Oil interests.

In other words, it looks as if General Eisenhower, now supposed to be an expert on higher education, fell into a trap set for him by a spokesman of the anti-education lobby.

It is all the more inconceivable that Ike should have answered Gwinn because the congressman had written a book called "Fifth Avenue to Farm" in which he made such amazing statements as: "A compulsory system of public education cannot be expected to maintain a high civilization. . . . The feeble-minded remain at home (on the farm)—those who are not feeble-minded enough to be institutionalized—the weak-minded and the shallow-minded. The indolent, weak-willed and unimaginative remain around home. So do the diseased, the fearful and the more timid."

In writing to Congressman Gwinn, Eisenhower apparently didn't entirely understand what the federal aid to education was all about, for he ignored the fact that the education bill just passed by the Senate does not in any way permit control of education by the federal government. It helps individual states through federal funds, with no control by the government over how those funds are to be used in each state.

Congressional leaders also point out that Eisenhower let himself in for a system whereby a premium would be placed on states which failed to tax themselves. He proposed federal money for states which failed to tax themselves but no federal money for states which taxed themselves sufficiently to have adequate education.

Jesse James and Truman. One of President Truman's secret heroes is the notorious railroad bandit and Robin Hood of the early west—Jesse James. What's more, the President is convinced that the whole routine shooting James family were Democrats.

So confessed President Truman the other day to two youthful visitors, Buster McLain of Crawford, Ala., and Blevyn Hatchcock of Oakboro, N. C., who were invited to the White House after winning a contest as shining examples of rural youth.

The President greeted them cordially and spoke of their home states. Not wanting to be outdone in his knowledge of states, Buster McLain of Alabama spoke about the President's home state.

"The main thing I know about Missouri," he said, "is that you and Jesse James came from there. I have read a lot about both of you, and I admire both of you."

"A lot of people," quipped the President, "haven't liked either one of us."

Then the President admitted that he, too, had a secret admiration for Jesse James. In fact, Jesse's uncle had been a leading politician and the whole family had been "Big Democrats," the President said.

Truman explained that the countryside where the James family lived was bitterly divided over the presidential election of 1824, and broke off into two counties. The county dominated by the Republicans was named after Henry Clay, the GOP candidate. The other county was named after Andrew Jackson, the Democratic candidate. The James farm came within the boundaries of Clay County, but the James brothers remained loyal to the Democratic Party.

"The James boys were pushed so hard they began to fight back," added Truman in explaining how they became outlaws.

When House Leader John McCormack of Massachusetts, acting speaker in the absence of Sam Rayburn, swore in FDR, Jr., as the new congressman from New York's 20th district, he recalled:

"This brings back pleasant memories. I was acting Speaker the last time your father addressed Congress, following the Yalta Conference. I also presided and introduced your father the last time he addressed a political rally, in the windup of the 1944 campaign in Boston."

"That's very interesting," grinned young Roosevelt. "I hope you bring me good luck."

Note—Photographers tried to get a picture of Roosevelt reading Cannon's Rules of Procedure, but he begged off. That's part of my homework after office hours," he said.

The Diplomatic Pouch. Mark Ehrhardt, American representative on the Palestine Commission, has decided to retire from diplomacy and go back to publishing the Louisville Courier-Journal.

The British have been quietly shipping jet fighters to the Egyptian Government. . . . Ambassador Stanton Griffiths in Cairo warns of a possible revolt against the Egyptian Government. Griffiths says Egyptian hotheads are gathering big quantities of arms and ammunition. The revolutionists are part of an army clique that wants to resume the war against the Jews.

Persecution of Jews behind the Iron Curtain continues. Hungarian Jews now are taxed $500 for the privilege of migrating out of Hungary to Palestine.

Boyle Writes Open Letter To War Vets

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—A letter to any veteran:

Well, soldier, I made my trip into memory. I went to see the foxholes of Europe that I remembered.

And if you plan to revisit the battlefields that still disturb your dreams, maybe I can give you a tip or two.

The main thing, I would say, soldier, is don't go back alone if you can help it. You'll find it quite a shock to see how much the earth has swallowed your war.

I don't know just how to put into words the feeling you get when you learn that the foxholes you remember so well don't remember you at all now—no more than a hotel bed recalls its last guest. But it is a mixed feeling—a kind of resentment at life and death and change, and an utter loneliness and desolation of spirit.

That is why it is better to go back with someone who can share that feeling—a buddy or a group of buddies. Together you can better forgive the soil that once gave you shelter and now has forgotten you altogether.

Grateful For Company. I know I went back with a group of 47 war correspondents. And we were grateful afterward we'd had each other's company.

Whether you should take your wife along, soldier, I couldn't say. If she's the right kind of wife, why sure—okay. But there also is the other kind who jaws: "You call this a battlefield? I'd rather see that blonde ruin I hear you shackled with in Belgium."

This type of wife it would be better to let alone in Paris.

Looking back over this letter, soldier, I wonder if I have given you the impression it isn't worthwhile to make this trip into memory at all because it will be too painful. Well, if I did, I didn't mean to. It is very much worthwhile.

It is painful but one pain sometimes cancels out another. Too many men who fought the war have secretly hugged it too long in their hearts and minds now. They have made a terrible sweetheart, a mistress who taught them much, gave them little, and took their youth.

But nothing cures an old romance like seeing the old sweetheart again years after. And that is why it is good to go back, soldier. It'll put the war in proper perspective.

NOWY SACS, POLAND (AP)—The Nowy Sacs fire brigade has declared "no swimming" along the entire course of the Dunajec Czech frontier. Authorities say too many people are being drowned every summer in the turbulent waters of the Dunajec river. Portions of it form the boundary between Poland and Czechoslovakia. Authorities also have prohibited the circulation of all unregistered barges and ferryboats used for the transport of passengers.
