Meals Have More Variety When You Have Both an Electric Refrigerator and a Home Freezer

• An electric home freezer makes it almost like having a "super market" right in your own home. And your electric refrigerator, a perfect companion to your freezer, takes care of protecting perishables which don't require solid freezing.

You can freeze your own fruits, berries and vegetables for year 'round use. You can safely store meats bought in quantity on bargain days. The sportsman can enjoy his fish and game long after his fishing or hunting trip is over.

Your electric refrigerator, of course, still plays a most important role in protecting food too. Milk, eggs, beverages and many other perishables can't be frozen yet need constant temperatures below fifty degrees, which your electric refrigerator provides.

Plan now to have the best in food protection facilities by using both an electric nome treezer and an electric refrigerator.

Visit your favorite store which sells electric appliances and see the many models of modern ELECTRIC REFRIGERATORS and ELECTRIC HOME FREEZERS.

Bitter Struggle

The Catholic Church and totalitarian communism are locked in bitter struggle throughout the world. The chief battleground right now is Eastern Europe. But why should a religious organization be fighting the advocates of a political and economic system?

The answer is that communism, like any totalitarianism, cannot limit itself to the purely practical realm. It fans out into the spiritual sphere and seeks to supplant or destroy the regular religious authority.

Catholic leaders therefore see their historic guardianship over the spiritual life of millions of Europeans—not to mention others—threatened with extinction.

The Vatican has tried for a long time to arrive at an ideological truce that would allow Catholicism and communism to live side by side. But the Mindszenty affair in Hungary and the current attacks on high churchmen in Czechoslovakia convinced the pope an accord is impossible.

These events led to a papal decree ordering excommunication for all Catholics who join or support the Communist Party anywhere. It is the heaviest weapon the church has ever brought into play against a totalitarian

THE STORY: A wealthy widow, Mrs. Everson, has fied with her servants in two giant trailers to "a piace of safety" from atomic warfare which she believes impending. In the party are Mrs. Malone, cook and housekeeper; the Marchese Deliaessa, Mrs. Everson's companion; Rudy, chauffeur, and Victor, the houseboy. During the trip to the desolate canyon country, which Mrs. Everson says is safe from atomic bombs, Mrs. Malone learns that Mrs. Everson is in leve with Rudy, who thinks of Mrs. Everson only in terms of her wealth, Mrs. Malone, however, has found that the country is not completely uninhabited, for she already has met a hunter, from whom Mrs. Everson bought two rabbits for a "celebration" dinner. Mrs. Malone is told by Mrs. Everson that the party will stay here several mouths and that they will know when the disneter strikes the world by listening to their radio, then turns it off. Forgets-And Remembers Gen. Jonathan Wainwright of Corregidor fame held a press conference in Washington the other day, as head of the Disabled American Veterans. One of the correspondents who showed up was Mrs. Mamerta Block, an attractive Filipino, now correspondent for a Manila newspaper. Walking up to the general and shaking hands, she asked him if he recalled the last time they had met. The general said no, he

Mrs. Block then told him that she was the last person he talked to before being taken prisoner by the Japs. She was then a reporter for her husband's Manila newspaper and she had been assigned to get an interview with the temporarily defeated general. Mistaking her for a boy, the general had said, "You better get the hell out of here, kid. Things look bad."

When Mrs. Block recalled the incident, the general remembered it. Mrs. Block's husband was killed during the Jap occupation.
