WASHINGTON - (AP) - Senator Thomas (D-Okla) said Monday that if the "grandiose electric empire" contemplated by the Southwestern Power Administration is constructed, then the hope of cheap power rates in the Southwest will be gone forever.

Thomas spoke in the Senate in favor of cutting from an appropriation bill funds to finance SPA construction of distribution lines. The House voted the agency $9,-900,000 to build lines to rural cooperatives. The Senate committee, of which Thomas is a member, trimmed this to $3,874,000.

Thomas argued that power rates for the agency would have to be based on costs of installing hydroelectric equipment at government dams, steam plants, building the power lines and operating costs. He estimated the cost at $350,-000,000 plus $10,700,000 annually for operation, maintenance and depreciation.

Three Good Rules

The National Safety Council reports traffic fatalities for the first six months of 1949 are the lowest in U.S. history for the number of miles traveled. But there is small solace in this fact. For the actual death toll was 13,810, less than one per cent below the 13,910 recorded in the same period a year ago. Projected annually, the figures mean that the equivalent of the population of Miami Beach, Fla., will be wiped out in 1949.

The council has done a magnificent job, of course, in keeping Americans constantly alert to the danger of motor travel on increasingly burdened streets and highways.

There is something brutally grim about the council's accuracy in forecasting highway fatalities on big holiday weekends. A typical announcement may say: "Over the Fourth of July there will be 290 traffic deaths in the nation." Inexorably, death will occur in numbers close to the predicted figure. No matter how strong the appeals for careful driving, the fatalities will happen.

Death will come to drivers who have passed road tests and to drivers who haven't. It will strike everywhere, but most heavily in the country's big clusters of population like New York and Chicago.

It is evident now that mere warnings plus the simple road tests prescribed by most states will not halt the carnage on the highways. What, if anything, will check it? We suggest that motorists and all public and private agencies concerned with driving safely focus on three

First, present-day driving has certain inevitably explosive factors—the speed and maneuverability of modern cars, the inadequacy of most thoroughfares on which they travel, and the consequent continuing menace that unavoidable errors of human judgment will turn any normal control traffic stream into a shambles of death in an instant.

Second, if the driver wants the best chance of averting a possibly fatal crash, he must recognize the explosive situation by acting seriously and responsibly when he is behind the wheel. He can't ever relax fully. The moment he diverts his attention is the moment an accident

Third, the driver must not at any time assume that his fellow motorist is attending to business the same as he. Anyone who has plied the country's highways for long knows the only safe assumption is that the other driver will do the worst possible thing in a given case. He usu- dreds have died of hunger. Regular Season Of Play Ends Monday Night In Softball

The final two games of regular season in the Midland Softball League will be played at Wadley Field Monday night. Several makeup games are scheduled later in the week and the playoffs probably will start next week. Monday night's double-header calls for Standard and Western Plastic in the opener and the Rebels and Rendezvous Club in the nightcap. Five teams are fighting it out for the first four places and the right to enter the playoffs. They are Western Plastic, Standard, Shell, Joe's Gulf and Rotary Engineers. So close is the race, places can not be definitely decided until all makeup tilts are completed.

CHICAGO — (P) — The Tam o'Shanter golf roulette got an extra twirl Monday, sending Johnny Palmer and Jimmy Demaret into a $17,000 championship playoff.

Seventy-two holes weren't enough to determine a winner of Promoter George S. May's fabulous $35,000 "world" tourney Sunday. Palmer and Demaret charged in among the par-wreckers with 275's-13 strokes under the Tam regulation. Monday's 18 hole showdown will pay the winner $10,000. Second place is worth $7.000.

In Sunday's mad scramble, Palmer grooved a pair of 35's for a respectable 70, two under par. Demaret, two hours earlier, had carved 33-34-67 for his 275.

NCAA Committee Lays Down Rules On Bowl Contests

CHICAGO-(AP)-A National College Athletic Association group has laid down six rules on football bowl games. They may become NCAA law next January.

The committee also told nine NCAA member colleges that they've violated the NCAA "Sanity" Code and their NCAA status is in danger. The nine were not named in Sunday's announcement.

The six rules drafted by the NC-AA Bowl Games Committee will go before the NCAA's full convention in New York next January. They

illac Coupe de Ville

ILLUSTRATED above is the Coupe de Ville—an ultra smart new Cadillac body type, designed for those who seek the low-swept lines and open-airiness of a convertible—combined with the comfort, convenience and safety of a closed car.

It is a classic example of modernity and practicality—one of the most desirable and most useful models ever to issue from the boards of Cadillac designers.

Yet-smart and beautiful as it is-the Coupe de Ville's greatest superiority lies in the chassis on which it is built. For, like all Cadillacs, the core of its goodness is found in its performance-in the wonderful capacity of its new V-type engine; in the soft, even, restful manner in which it rolls over the highway; in the easy, effortless response to steering wheel and brakes. It is, truly, a symphony in

Confessions Of Engel, The Romantic Swindler

As Told To Elgar Brown (Copyright, 1949, Chicago Herald-American)

Funny how an aging person lives in past glories. At 74 I, might lapse into self-pity save for the knowledge that my Big Moments aren't all behind me. Not with my power over women—a field in which my luster is undimmed.

Housed in a big jail in Chicago, bereft of my beloved wardrobe, it seems a far cry from the proud tay I received a $500,000 letter of credit to the Reichsbank in Berlin with only $19,000 on deposit at a prominent New York Bank. You ask if there was connivance?

Kinkly be a little less naive. The banker friend with whom I dealt was close to the top in the bank's foreign exchange depart-ment. Had he known it, he was also close to the bottom. His record was extremely shady long before I happened along.

I won't mention his name; he law reached out, he is said to have rehabilitated himself, and I'm not blowing the whistle on anybody, much less a one-time invaluable $10,000 (every penny of my actual explain this discrepancy?" bank balance) to buy that "authentic" letter of credit. A bargain if I ever saw one.

Invades Europe Again I think my banker friend had a hunch that the head of the Bank at that time wouldn't like this deal a little bit. He was irked, all right; but by that time my friend had lammed and I was riding high in

This notion of mine to invade Europe again had been a sudden one. I had been dallying in Beverly with the lovely Marie Collings -she of the multi-colored hair-and then, one day, I decided I must be up and about my business. It wasn't fair to be spending all that Collings coin, though this wasn't my real motive in departing. I had a great deal of romance to peddle to a great many lonely women; I couldn't linger longer. My money shortage amply bridged by the successful deal in New York, I landed on the continent in regal style and reached Berlin

Moshit prison anyway.
"A lawyer!" I screamed, so loudly that my jailors fell back in awe. "Get me the finest lawyer in all

> It was, too, and they knew Presently they brought in Dr. Alfred Loeser, currently the topdrawer legal eagle of Berlin. I came clean with Loeser, as I do with all my lawyers, and he reassured me

"I shall have you at liberty in 24 hours. Sir," and his indignation rivaled mine, "if anybody is to be prosecuted it isn't you, but that precious scoundrel in the bank at New York." Free Again

He put it over. Next day I was at liberty. For this I credit Dr. Loeser's acumen less than the fact that the staid New York Bank was well-nigh frantic in its anxiety to suppress the juicy story of a trusted employe going wrong.

Still I was not to be allowed the pleasure and profit of following up my card index of lonely Berlin widows. On returning to my hotel suite I was called upon by a courteous, apologetic and much convanished when the long arm of the fused attache of the U.S. embassy.

Why I mentioned LaFollette of I'd talked so much of my "home town of Beaverbrook, Wis." In any event it was persuasive: the attache apologized repeatedly and retired. But he hadn't left my passport; and soon thereafter I was summoned to the embassy. A top aid of the ambassador looked at me, grinned and shrugged. "Mr. Engel," he said cheerfully your passport is okay. Here it is. But maybe I should warn that if you return to the states now you'll be questioned in that letter of credit matter. The man who issued it is missing."

"I have done no wrong," I said stiffly. "I am leaving immediately." "Good!" His enthusiasm was un-

In such crises my mind turns naturally to widows of wealth. So it was this time. There was Theresa Small over in Toronto, a potential answer to my prayer. I got out of the Frontenac by 12.
