First Flowing Oil From Devonian Is Shown For Pegasus

The first flowing oil to be shown from the Devonian in the Pegasus field of Central-North Upton County and Central-South Midland County, has been developed at Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-36 Glass, long southwest flanker to the opener of the pool.

This project, located 1,980 feet from north and 680 feet from east lines of section 36, block 41, TP survey, T-4-S, flowed 9.50 barrels of oil in two hours through a five-eighths inch bottom hole choke, with gravity of 47.7 degrees from section at 11,870-980 feet in the lower Devonian.

The tester was open for a total of five hours and 15 minutes. There was a strong blow of air at the surface at the start of the period. Gets Gas in Six Minutes.

Gas came to the surface in six minutes. Maximum gas volume was at the rate of 519,000 cubic feet per day.

Oil started flowing at the top in two hours and 15 minutes. It was flowed to pits for 10 minutes to clean. It was then turned to tanks and 15 minutes was required to fill the flow line and the separator.

In 60 minutes of flowing to the tank the section made 9.50 barrels of oil. It had a shakout of one-tenth of one per cent basic sediment at the end of the test.

Gas-oil ratio was 4,781-1. The venture will drill deeper. It is slated to continue to the Ellenburger.

The Devonian has shown some free oil, some distillate and some gas in the other three explorations in the Pegasus field which had penetrated that formation, but No. 1-36 Glass, which is in the Upton County side of the area, is the first to flow oil from the formation. Midland Project Deepens

It has also flowed oil in commercial amounts from the Pennsylvania.

Magnolia No. 2-30 Glass, northeast flanker to the Pegasus discovery, and 1,980 feet from west and 680 feet from south lines of section 30, block 40, TP survey, T-4-S, and in the Midland County sector of the Pegasus field, had reached 12,446 feet in Simpson lime and sand and was making more hole.

It is due to enter the Ellenburger around 12,900 feet. It has developed possible production in the Devonian in the Pusselman, and in the Pennsylvania.

C. Of C. To Seek Budget Expansion

The immediate launching of an all-out effort to increase membership dues to the Chamber of Commerce by at least $7,000 a year was outlined by Manager Delbert Downing at a meeting of the organization's directors Monday night in Hotel Scharbauer. The Chamber's budget now is approximately $18,000.

Tom Sealy is chairman of a committee named by President R. D. (Bob) Scruggs to sponsor the dues increase campaign. Sealy was unable to attend the Monday night session.

Downing said letters over Sealy's signature have gone to 70 members asking them to increase their dues to assist in financing the increased activities of the Chamber of Commerce. The letters list the various activities and accomplishments of the organization and explain why additional funds are needed to carry on the varied program of work.

Directors this week will contact the 70 members in an effort to obtain the dues increases.

Downing explained the Wranglers Club also will be assigned numerical.

Completion Slated At Discovery In C-E Lea

McAlester Fuel Company is preparing to complete its No. 1-A Denton, Central-East Lea County wildcat discovery as a commercial oil and gas producer.

This prospector, 12 miles north and east of Lovington and at the center of the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 11-15a-37e, flowed 49.4 barrels of high gravity oil in one hour through a five-eighths inch bottom hole choke, during a drillstem test of the Devonian at 11,263-417 feet.

The tester was open three hours for this test. A 1,000-foot water blanket was used. Gas showed at the surface in 45 minutes. The water blanket started flowing out in one hour and 15 minutes.

Logs No Water

The oil started flowing soon afterwards. It was flowed to pits for a short time to clean, and was then turned to tanks.

In one hour it produced the 49.4 barrels of clean oil. There was no water.

Operator is to run electric log survey, set casing and complete this major discovery.

Top of the Devonian was at 11,267 feet. Elevation is 3,799 feet.

This wildcat developed considerable free oil in the Wolfcamp section of the lower Permian between 9,038 feet and 9,536 feet. Many observers think that horizon could be completed as a commercial oil well.

Texaco Gets Sulphur Water In Clear Fork

The Texas Company No. 1 E. D. Harris, Central-South Gaines County wildcat, took a drillstem test in the Clear Fork at 7,250-7,433 feet and during one hour and 50 minutes of testing, recovered 5,843 feet of sulphur water, with no shows of oil or gas.

Operator then drilled ahead to 7,520 feet and no shows of oil or gas were encountered at that zone.

It has now plugged back to 6,120 feet and will set casing at 6,100 feet, perforate and test at about 5,970-90 feet in the Golieta. On a previous drillstem test that zone developed about 400 feet of free oil.

No. 1 Harris is three miles south of the Texaco No. 1 A. B. Wharton, which was completed from the Golieta, and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 17, block A-22, psi survey. That makes it 12 1/2 miles southeast of Seminole.

Jim Wells Jury Questions Coke Stevenson Aide

ALICE —(P)—Kellis Dibrrell of San Antonio, special investigator for former Gov. Coke R. Stevenson in last Summer's senatorial election controversy, appeared before a special Jim Wells County grand jury Tuesday.

The jury is believed investigating balloting here in the election. Stevenson has charged that 200 fraudulent votes were added to President 13 totals after the polls closed. Lyndon B. Johnson defeated Stevenson by 87 votes.

Dibrrell told reporters before he went before the grand jury he had new evidence in the election controversy. He said it has not been presented to any investigating body.

The former FBI agent followed C. W. Price of Alice to the jury room. Price's late father once was sheriff of Jim Wells County and was a Texas Ranger. Price has taken an interest in public affairs here.

Bond Set At $1,000 In Auto Theft Case

Justice of the Peace Joseph A. Seymour Monday afternoon fixed bond at $1,000 for a Midland man charged with automobile theft.

The defendant is charged with stealing an automobile belonging to Raby O'Connell, Jr., Saturday night. The car was taken from its parking place near the American Legion Hall and recovered a short time later after being involved in a wreck three miles east of Midland.

Stanotex Plugs Back To Test Canyon Reef

A drillstem test is to be run on the Canyon reef lime section at Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 1 Dunn, Northwest Mitchell County wildcat, five miles east of Vincent.

The two non-striking Bell Aircraft workers in this car took no chances when they drove to work through a picket line of strikers at the Buffalo, N. Y., plant. They wore football helmets, in anticipation of stone throwing and clubbing such as took place there a few days earlier. Their precaution was unnecessary this time, because peaceful picketing prevailed.

Polio Emergency Drive Underway In City Tuesday

A Polio Epidemic Emergency Drive is under way in Midland—weather or not!

As one campaign worker philosophized: "Polio knows no weather bounds, so we should not in fighting it."

Tuesday was kickoff day and chairman for the drive, Harvey Herd, reports his workers are making contacts throughout the business sector of the city and in the various city schools.

Midland's mayor, William B. Neely, issued a proclamation Monday designating Tuesday as "Polio Emergency Day." In issuing the proclamation, Mayor Neely asked citizens of Midland "to join in the common crusade against infantile paralysis."

The purpose of the drive is to replenish epidemic aid funds of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis now exhausted in fighting the worst polio epidemic ever faced by the American people. At least $14,500,000 is needed in the nation.

Midland, with nine cases to date for the year, has called upon the National Foundation for more than $7,000.

Midland Area Feels Temperature Drop; Chilling Rains Fall

Rainfall reports for the Midland area Tuesday showed .54 inch at the Midland Air Terminal, .32 inch at the city barn and .47 inch at the Gulf Pipe Line office east of the city.

Midland and its Permian Basin territory got a first dose of Fall weather Tuesday morning with a temperature drop to 58 degrees and then the rains came.

The mercury went up to 97 degrees at 4:30 p. m. Monday and the drop to 58 degrees at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday was easily felt.

Rain came drumming down immediately after a mild cold blast of wind. Before 11 a. m., a gauge at the Gulf Pipe Line installation near Midland showed .18 inch.

An inch and half rain was reported at Andrews Tuesday morning.

Pipe line and oil companies reported Tuesday morning: three and one-half inches of rain at Seminole; heavy rain started at 5 a. m. in Hobbs, N. M.; threatening rain at Crane; light rains at Royalty; raining at Wink, Odessa, Kermit and in the Dollarhide Field.

Damage Reported At Barstow From Wind

PECOS—A hard, straight wind accompanied by rain did damage to at least four places in Barstow, Ward County community located six miles east of Pecos, late Monday afternoon.

A tin roof on the Henry King filling station was torn away, and a small, temporary structure near the King home was destroyed.

A store room at the rear of the Taylor Black Drug Store was unroofed and the back end of the building was damaged.

John Sweet's seed shed also was damaged and a trailer in the Sweet field was overturned. Scattered showers fell in this area Monday afternoon.

Devaluation Urged To Boost Exports Of Deficit Nations

WASHINGTON —(P)—The International Monetary Fund Tuesday advised dollar-short countries to devalue their currencies, if need be, to boost their dollar-earning exports.

Without singling out the British pound but with Britain's dollar crisis obviously in mind, the report was laid before the opening session of the fourth annual meeting of the boards of governors of the multi-billion dollar fund and World Bank.

Shortly thereafter, the financial leaders of the 48 member nations were to hear an off-the-cuff address by President Truman.

It may be better for a country to change an "unsuitable" exchange rate than to clamp on restrictions which "endanger its well-being and efficiency," said the report of the fund's executive directors.

Although the document referred to all "deficit nations" its effect was to spotlight the British problem—and to add pressure to numerous past suggestions for sterling devaluation.

Ignored By Conference

The impact was the greater because a cabinet-level British-U. S. Canadian conference ended Monday with agreement on a ten-point treatment for Britain's dollar ills—without including devaluation of the pound as one of the points.

The pound's value now is $4.03. Its devaluation, in foreign trade, would amount to lowering the price of British goods.

Many American officials have forecast privately that Britain finally must adopt that course, which so far she has shunned. But officially at least, the finance and foreign ministers of the three nations did not raise the issue in the week-long talks.

Instead, the United States and Canada agreed on these lines of immediate relief:

Cold Wave Spreads Out Over Texas

By The Associated Press

The earliest Fall weather in more than 50 years cooled sections of Texas Tuesday.

A cool front from the Canadian Rockies sent the temperature down to 48 degrees at Amarillo and Dalhart Tuesday morning.

Weatherman H. C. Winburn at Amarillo said this was the earliest real cool snap Amarillo has had since 1898. His records show that in 1898 the temperature dropped to 37 degrees on September 11.

The cool wave moved into the Panhandle Monday night and Tuesday had spread well into West Texas and sections of North and East Texas.

Other early morning temperature readings included:

- Lubbock 55, Wichita Falls 56, Abilene 63, El Paso 58, Fort Worth 77, Dallas 80, Waco 76, San Antonio 74, Galveston 80, Corpus Christi 78, Brownsville 78, Del Rio 77 and Texarkana 70.

Slowers Reported

The weatherman said the cool front would move into all sections Tuesday night except the Lower Rio Grande Valley and the Lower Gulf Coast area.

Temperatures in the Panhandle were expected to range from 40 to 45 degrees. North Texas could look for temperatures around 50 degrees and Central Texas around 60 degrees, the weatherman said.

C. Of C. Directors Approve Proposed Road Tax Increase

Directors of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, meeting Monday night, in Hotel Scharbauer, approved and agreed to circulate a petition asking an election be held on a proposal authorizing the Midland County Commissioners' Court to levy an additional road tax to exceed 15 cents on the $100 valuation. The petition must be signed by at least 250 property owners.

The road tax petition proposal was submitted in connection with the proposed erection by the county of a Park Building here. The Chamber previously had approved the building proposal and the circulating of a petition asking an election to be held to determine whether bonds should be issued to finance the project. The bond proposal petition will be circulated by the JayCees who also will be asked to circulate the petition on the road tax proposal.

Irvy Dyer, JayCee president and a member of the Chamber's Park Building Committee, reported on the progress of the building program and told of the request of County Judge Clifford C. Keith that the road tax petition be circulated in connection with the building petition.

Commissioner Speaks

Sherwood O'Neal, a Chamber director and a member of the Commissioners' Court, explained that levying of the additional road tax is the only way the Park Building can be financed without increasing tax valuations.

Manager Delbert Downing discussed the county's financial setup. A majority of the directors favored the increased road tax over increased tax valuations.

The location of the proposed building, which would be used for staging county fairs, stock shows, athletic events, meetings, conventions, shows, concerts and other events, was discussed, but no action was taken. Midland Fair, Inc., has offered a five-acre tract at the Fair Grounds as a building site. Chamber officials said the location would be determined at a later date.

Strike Threat Fading

PITTSBURGH —(P)—Big steel started lining up Tuesday behind the presidential board's formula for peace in America's basic industry.

There won't be any steel strike for the next 11 days—and maybe none at all. The wage dispute that threatened to tie the nation in economic knots apparently is headed for a happy solution.

President Truman is "highly gratified" about the whole thing.

CIO United Steelworkers and six major steel producers agreed to extension of the strike truce at the request of the Chief Executive. The truce was to expire at midnight Tuesday. It will continue to September 2.

The steelworkers also accepted recommendations of the President's steel fact finding board even though it meant giving up a fourth round wage increase.

William T. Barnhart

Republic Steel Corporation of Cleveland, the nation's No. 3 producer, was the first to announce willingness to bargain pensions as recommended by the presidential board in a 10-cent hourly package not including wages.

Then the No. 4 producer—Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation of Pittsburgh—followed suit, accepting the peace plan "as a basis for collective bargaining."

J&L said it is prepared to undertake at once a joint study of pensions with the steelworkers "in anticipation of bargaining on this subject beginning March 1 next."

The Wall Street Journal said only "a slight increase" in labor costs will result if the recommended social insurance program is put into effect. The newspaper added that most steel companies now have some form of group life insurance but less than half have company financed accident, sickness and hospital and surgical benefits.

Adenauer To Be German Strong Man

BONN, GERMANY —(P)—Dr. Konrad Adenauer appeared firmly in the saddle Tuesday as the strong man of Western Germany's new federal republic.

Monday's election of Prof. Theodor Heuss as president assured Adenauer of the chancellorship and demonstrated the power of the three-party coalition which he heads.

President Heuss will name the chancellor (prime minister) perhaps Wednesday.

The 73-year-old Adenauer heads the Christian Democratic Union, strongest party in the right-wing coalition.

One-Man Show

Adenauer already has played such a leading role in fashioning the new republic that some of his most ardent supporters have muttered occasionally about a "one-man show."

From the time the Bonn Convention began writing the republic's Constitution a year ago, Adenauer has been the most dominant figure in German politics.

He presided over the convention as chairman, actively directing its course.

One of his major victories in the constitutional convention was the selection of Bonn as the capital.

He will face another test soon on that issue in Parliament, with Frankfurt still bidding strongly with Socialist support.

Crude Nominations For October Higher

AUSTIN —(P)—Advance oil nominations for Texas crude in October total 2,419,516 barrels daily, up $3,919 from those for September, Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson reported Monday.

The statewide oil proration hearing to determine how much Texas will be allowed to produce next month will be held here Thursday.

Short Course For Area Water Works Employees Set Here

A short course for water works personnel of Midland and area cities will be held here September 26-October 7, under the sponsorship of the Industry Extension Service of Texas A&M College and the State Department of Vocational Education, in cooperation with the State Department of Health.

Arrangements for the school, the first of its kind ever held here, were completed Monday afternoon by City Manager H. A. Thomson and Roy Cypert and C. K. Foster, director of certification and field supervisor of certification, respectively, of the State Health Department.

Two-hour classes will be held each night in the water works building on North Fort Worth Street. J. E. Williams of the A&M Industrial Extension Service will be the instructor.

The short course is open to all persons interested in the producing and distributing of domestic water. The course of study will be on water works in general. Those completing the course will receive 20 hours credit toward B and C certificates.

Area Representation

Thomson expects water works employees from Stanton, Big Spring, Odessa, Kermit, Wink, Monahans, Andrews, and other area cities to enroll for the course. He said it previously has been necessary to send one or two water department employees to College Station each year to attend the short course, which now is being brought here.

Cypert said the purpose of the course is to assist water works employees to meet certification requirements.

The city manager credited A. B. Cole, water production superintendent for the City of Midland, and Henry Nunn, superintendent of distribution, with bringing the short course to Midland. He said Cole, veteran member and former president of the Permian Basin Water Works Association, has been working for several years to have such a school conducted here.

His experience included deanship of boys at the Methodist Home at Waco and numerous school positions in several Texas communities including Lubbock and Dickens counties. He is married and has two daughters.

Jimmy is the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Spiva of Terminal. He is not aware of his condition. Leukemia is a big word for a six-year-old.

Jimmy was taught privately last year and he is wondering why he isn't going to school this year. It was about a week or so ago that Jimmy was taken to a hospital for a checkup. The doctor was afraid it was leukemia. He wanted to be sure before he pronounced the dread disease. He took tests and when the reports came back—his diagnosis was confirmed—leukemia!

The parents were told. He Doesn't Understand Jimmy's young mind doesn't understand. And that's just as well. Jimmy may make it to November 1 and some time past that. But who knows—for sure? That is the why of the early birthday party. The parents and friends saw to it that Jimmy had a wonderful birthday celebration at Cloverdale Park.

Jimmy is one of three sons of the Spivas. He has an older brother and a younger one. Things go along normally for the Spivas. That's the way they want Jimmy to remember it. The father is a painting contractor.

The three companies already hold water contracts with the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation District. They claim the State Water Board has no authority to issue the permit sought by Abilene.

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — Union and management representatives agreed to meet again Tuesday afternoon in hopes of settling the four-day-old Missouri Pacific Railroad strike.

First efforts to end the strike ended in failure Monday. A proposal that members of the four operating brotherhoods on strike return to work while negotiations are resumed was turned down by union leaders after a caucus of one and a half hours.

The proposal came from Guy A. Thompson, trustee for the railroad, at a meeting arranged by a citizens' committee formed to bring the two sides together.

Carl Winter, Michigan state chairman of the Communist Party, was sentenced to 30 days Monday for refusal to answer a question.

KERMIT—Members of the Kermit School Board set October 11, as the date for opening bids for the construction of a new, modern high school, according to G. E. Thompson, school superintendent.

When completed the new plant is to cost approximately $1,000,000, and will be one of the very latest model up-to-date such buildings in the Southwest. The October 11 bids will include the main school building, homemaking cottage, vocational building and negro school building.

Funds for the construction of the new high school were made available earlier this year by voting of a $1,400,000 school bond issue. Part of this issue already has been used in other new construction in the school system.

Kermit's City Commission is calling for bids September 26 for improvements and enlargements to the city's sewage system, officials announced. As planned by engineers, a new disposal plant is to be built, a new pumping station and additional sewer lines laid, with the old disposal plant north of town to be abandoned when the new work is completed.

Included in the enlargement program will be a deep flow gravity line to the new school area in the east edge of Kermit.

Members at the faculty of Kermit schools, their wives and husbands, and wives of Lions Club members were entertained by the Kermit Lions Club. More than 250 persons were served a barbecue supper by the Odessa Chuck Wagon Gang in the American Legion Hall.

Entertaining the school personnel is an annual event for the club. The event was informal, with square and folk dancing following the program.

Bill Cameron, president of the club, opened the after-supper session, and G. E. Thompson superintendent of Kermit schools, and also tall twister of the Lions Club, introduced the faculty members and guests.

In charge of a program, which included dances by young students of Mrs. Bill Pool, were Emory Spangle and Gerald McGuire.

Fat Is Not a Nice Word When Applied to the Body

Don't say it's your thyroid while reaching for the box of chocolates. Possibly one bulky person in 100 has some glandular disturbance and that is truly a case for a physician. Never take any treatment for a gland condition without your doctor's advice. But for the other 99 per cent who are trying to fight the "Battle of the Bulges" common sense is the watchword. It is not necessary to overeat and it is not necessary to go hungry, either. Furthermore, it just doesn't make sense to go on a strenuous diet—take off weight and then quickly put it back on again when the diet period is over. For it is obvious that one cannot continue a starvation diet over a protracted period. Within the last year or so, several diet and vitamin "plans" have appeared on the market, which means cut down on the food intake and fortify with vitamins for hunger distress. But as mentioned above, you can't keep this up very long and when you quit—back comes the fat.

An exhaustive survey recently made among Texas druggists showed one outstanding reducing aid is not based on the diet and vitamin "plan." It allows you to eat plenty. You eat all you want but you eat LESS. Sounds like double talk, but it isn't. It definitely stops you from eating more than necessary for the energy you spend. At the same time, it dehydrates and eliminates.

Nearly one and a half million bottles of this preparation, called Barcentrate has been sold in Texas in the past four years.

You can get a four-ounce bottle of Barcentrate from any Texas drugist. Mix with 12 ounces of canned grapefruit juice and take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose that ugly fat, the makers agree to refund your money.

WE, THE WOMEN

American Gals Have To Play Dumb To Snare Slow Spouse

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

More than half the men questioned in a recent poll claimed they wanted wives more intelligent than themselves.

That poll, I hasten to add, was taken in France.

American men never marry women more intelligent than they are—not if they know it. And they never know it, due to a little game American women play.

In America there is an unwritten law that the man has to be the more intelligent.

If he actually is—it's simple. But when he's not, the girl who wants to make him fall in love with her has to keep him from suspecting the awful truth.

She has to pretend to be less bright than he is. And she has to make him look brighter than he is.

This may wear on her at times, like when she has to listen to him explain something to her she could better explain to him.

But it isn't a difficult feat at all. The girl asks questions instead of answering them. She asks advice she doesn't need. She says "What do you think?" instead of parading her own opinions. She manages with wide-eyed admiration to make him think she is only bright enough to appreciate his superior wisdom.

Thanks to this little game American women are willing to play in order to get husbands. American men never—so far as they know—marry women who are more intelligent than they are.

They not only don't prefer wives who are smarter than they are; they wouldn't have one on a bet.

Fortunately most intelligent girls are smart enough to know this and perfectly willing to play The Game.

There must be lots of men in this country married to girls who are more intelligent than they are—but have you ever known a man who admitted that he was? Or heard a young man say, "When I fall in love it's going to be with a girl who is smarter than I am?" It couldn't happen here.

Expensive Faux Pas

In the B-36 bomber inquiry you could see Washington at its worst. For two weeks the House Armed Services Committee delved diligently into a welter of charges that favoritism, influence and perhaps even corruption marked the procurement of the nation's mainstay long-range bomber.

Top officials of the Army Air Forces, the aircraft corporations and other organizations associated with B-36 purchases trooped patiently before the committee and told in detail the story of the B-36's origins and development.

This whole process was tremendously costly both in taxpayers' money and in the valuable time of lawmakers, government officials and business leaders.

In the end, the committee concluded decisively that there was not a single iota of evidence to support the charges. On the contrary, it found "there has been very substantial and very compelling evidence that the Air Force selected this bomber solely on grounds that it is the best aircraft for its purpose available to this nation today."

The investigation actually was a colossal waste. For one Cedric Worth, a civilian Navy official, confessed to the committee that he had written the document on which the inquiry was based and that his charges had no foundation in fact.

The committee now is trying to find out whether Worth had help from other Navy officials. Because it is plain that the inspiration for his flimsy charges is the bitter fight between the Navy and the Air Force over their respective roles in a future war.

That Worth's document was snapped up so readily by Representative Van Zandt of Pennsylvania and relayed to Congress and the public does not reflect well on Van Zandt's critical approach to the job of separating fact and rumor. It suggests that his status as a naval reserve officer was a bigger factor than any other.

The ill-founded rumor and the false charge we always had with us, and probably always will. Basically, there is nothing any more surprising in this fuss than there is in the current tempest over "five percenters" and the influence game. In other words, there is no surprise at all.

But it does seem incredible that a lawmaker would touch off such a costly inquiry with so little evidence to go on. And the committee itself certainly could have been more insistent in learning the source and likely merit of the charges before proceeding with a full investigation.

Van Zandt and all others who failed to sift the charges more carefully at the start now stand repudiated by Worth's own testimony that he was firing blanks. They ought to feel pretty sheepish about the whole affair.

The Unforgotten Man

There are many ways a vice president may escape the oblivion generally associated with his office. Henry Wallace took trips and made an endless round of speeches. President Truman acquired a certain fame as a piano player while occupying the runner-up spot. Vice President Barkley is taking another tack: romance.

No one seems to be sure whether this romance is real or imaginary. But it certainly is keeping Barkley out of the ranks of forgotten men. It appears to have supplied him and his friends with enough gag material for the full four-year term, whether or not it has any basis in fact.

"Atta Boy, Joe, That's How I Got My Start"

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND. Copyright, 1949, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc. Drew Pearson says: Bernard Baruch is one of Truman's pet peevies; Senatorial tortoise edges ahead in race with House hare; Senators bark at each other during Capitol Hill dog days.

WASHINGTON — President Truman doesn't nurse grudges against most of his political enemies, but he has a few pet peevies that apparently he will never forget. One of them is gaunt, gray Bernard Baruch, the friends of presidents, and one of the nation's few elder statesmen.

A year ago Baruch declined Truman's invitation to serve on a special committee to support his reelection, and Truman, in turn, wrote Baruch one of the most caustic letters of the campaign. He reminded him, among other things, how he had appointed his brother Herman as ambassador to Holland.

Sequel came the other day when the President tried to persuade his old friend, Admiral William D. Leahy, to become ambassador to Holland. "You know how I feel about that old so-and-so, Baruch," said Truman. "He still has his brother over there in Holland as ambassador and I want you to take his place. You are just the man to do it."

"Admiral Leahy declined. Seiden Chapin, who was kicked out by the Soviets as ambassador to Hungary will now take over the embassy in Holland. Ironically, President Truman rubbed salt in Bernie Baruch's wounds by announcing the forced resignation of his brother on Bernie's birthday, and significantly, the resignation was announced by the White House, and not by the State Department, which usually announces all diplomatic changes."

"Tortoise and Hare" The House of Representatives and the Senate are now in a tortoise-and-hare race, and it looks as if the ponderous, slow-moving senator might win after all. Although the House gets credit for being the streamlined, efficient branch of Congress, actually the Senate, still sticking to its knitting, is handicapped by the House's absence.

Four important bills, passed by the Senate, now are waiting until the House comes back from its vacation to iron out differences. They are: (1) Appropriations for the Marshall Plan; (2) 75-cent minimum wage; (3) Federal aid to prevent forest fires; (4) The basting-point system—of great interest to every small-business man because the new law may drive a hole in the anti-trust laws big enough for a cart to walk through.

The Senate also has edged ahead of the House with four important Truman measures, and is now waiting for the House to get back from holiday and pass them. They are: (1) Federal aid to education; (2) Health services for school children; (3) Expansion of hospital construction; (4) National Science Foundation to encourage science.

Of course, a lot of bills passed by House still await Senate action but if the House doesn't get back to work fairly soon, the senatorial tortoise may beat the hare yet. Als Jankets Here are some of the congressional junkies planned or already under way and which caused Secretary of Defense Johnson's aides to get worried about the use of Air Force planes.

The "Sacred Cow" has left for the Interparliamentary Union in Norway with Congressman Connely (NC), Poage (Texas), Gore (Tenn.), Hope (Kans.), Boggs (La.) and Talle (Iowa).

Three congressmen from the House Agriculture Committee will also fly, courtesy of the Air Force, to study hoof-and-mouth disease in Mexico. They are: Lind (Pa.), Davies (N. Y.), and Bramblett (Calif). Congressman Eugene Worley of Texas and John McMillan of South Carolina went on ahead of them — by boat.

Cook's Tour — several members of the House Expenditures Committee have left by Air Force plane for Alaska, the Far East and the Pacific Islands to investigate military installations, although this is supposed to be the job of the Armed Services Committee. The group includes: Burnside (W. Va.), Riehlman (N. Y.), Lovre (S. Dak.), and Deane (N. C.).

Dog Days At Capitol There is no longer any doubt that these have been the "dog days" on Capitol Hill. For two senators recently barked at each other literally in the middle of Senate debate. August, silver-crested Senator Tom Connally, Texas Democrat, held the floor. But he couldn't complete a sentence without Senator Ken Wherry, Nebraska Republican, butting in. "After one booming interruption, Wherry ended by whinnying his fist on the desk. "I did not yield for that slam on the desk," grunted Connally. "That is one way to drive a point home," roared back Wherry. "I feel very much like an old lawyer in my section of the country once did," observed the senator from Texas, acidly. "He had as his legal antagonist a very loud and enthusiastic lawyer, who shouted and foamed at the mouth in addressing the jury. When it came the turn of the other lawyer to answer him, he stood up and said: 'If your honor please, bow-wow-wow.'" "Now that I have answered by opposition, I shall discuss this case," continued Connally. "Bow-wow-wow-wow" blurted Wherry. "Mr. President, I do not like to discuss this question in any but the most serious fashion," brushed the senator from Texas. "The senator's answers are just as clear as 'bow-wow-wow-wow'—just as clear!" snorted the senator from Kansas. "Well, I use that kind of language and that kind of explanation—'bow-wow-wow-wow'" snapped the Texan. Then Connally went on which his speech, Wherry listened for a few minutes, then broke in again. "That sounds like 'Bow-wow-wow,'" he finally suggested. "It was lucky for the nation that Wright Morrow, the reformed Dixiecrat and Democratic national committeeman from Texas, turned down the job as ambassador to Belgium because he didn't think it was important enough. For the Belgian Congo is our main source of uranium and our embassy in Brussels is one of the most important in the world. Robert Murphy, a trained diplomat and the man who prepared the North African underground before U. S. troops landed, now has been made ambassador. ... Maury Maverick, whose grandfather was a famous southern general, has given the President a collection of Confederate history books for the Truman library at Independence, Mo. Maverick wants to help Truman bequeath to Independence the greatest history collection on the Civil War.

THE DOCTOR SAYS Brittle Bones Often Traced To Various Kinds Of Diseases

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. Written for NEA Service

Some people are more likely to break their bones than other. Of course, this sometimes is caused by clumsiness or to a rather vague condition which is called "accident proneness." In other cases, however, there is something in the bones themselves which make them more easily breakable. Any disease which weakens the bone structure will lead to easier breaking. This includes various kinds of tumors of the bone and such diseases as osteomyelitis, which is an infection of the bony tissue. Many of these diseases of bone can be treated very satisfactorily by modern methods of surgery.

Weakens The Bone It causes the calcium which makes bone hard to be withdrawn and the development of a cyst, or sac-like area or areas. Whenever such sac-like areas are located, the bone naturally is less strong and resistant to strain than normal bone would be. These are a few of the conditions

Flood Control Bill Shows Need To Unite Competing Agencies

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Another fight between Army Engineers and Bureau of Reclamation over water resources management has sprung up in the new $995,000,000 flood control bill. This bill has been passed by the House and is now before the Senate Public Works Committee. The case has extraordinary importance now because it offers another example of the need for unification of government water control agencies, as recommended by the Hoover reorganization commission.

The fight centers over an Army Corps of Engineers project in the Grand Prairie-Bayou Meto Basin, in Arkansas. This is the number three rice-producing area of the U. S., down where the Arkansas and White Rivers flow into the Mississippi. For some years these rice farmers have been flooding their fields by well water. But over-pumping now has lowered the ground water level dangerously. The area faces eventual loss of its rice farming unless water supply can be increased.

In 1945 Congress authorized Army Engineers to make a study of this Arkansas basin. Although the need was for an irrigation project of some kind, Bureau of Reclamation could not be called in for consultation because it is authorized by law to operate only in those states west of the ninety-seventh meridian, which is west of Arkansas. A bill to permit Bureau of Reclamation to operate in Arkansas and Louisiana has been before Congress several years, but has not passed.

New Departure Army Engineers therefore have operated east of the ninety-seventh meridian on navigation and flood control projects. They have not been called on to operate irrigation projects for the simple reason that the Eastern U. S. has abundant rainfall and has little need of irrigation. Asking Army Engineers to figure on irrigation was therefore a new departure. Department of Agriculture was brought in as the operating agency.

Army Engineers' report on the Grand Prairie-Bayou Meto project called for construction of 28 miles of main canal, 320 miles of lateral and distribution canals. Water for the system was to be taken from behind existing flood control dams upstream on the White River. Cost of the project was estimated at $25,000,000. Six million dollars were set aside for additional flood control works, $19,000,000 for irrigation.

Under reclamation laws, users of water from Bureau of Reclamation dams must pay back to the government full cost of the irrigation works on any project. They pay this back on quite favorable terms. There is a maximum 10-year development period when only operation and maintenance costs must be paid by the water users. Then they get 40 years in which to pay back the principal, interest free.

In actual practice, revenues from the sale of public power generated at reclamation dams are applied against the costs of many projects. This reduces the costs of irrigation projects. It makes possible the construction of many irrigation projects which otherwise would not be feasible. Irrigation project costs vary from as low as seven to as high as 50 per cent of total reclamation project cost.

Engineers' Bargain Basement Having no legal basis on which to determine repayment rates on the irrigation part of the Grand Prairie-Bayou Meto project, Army Engineers somewhat arbitrarily decided 60 per cent of the project should be charged against irrigation. It was proposed that farmers using irrigation waters for rice or "dry land" crops—cotton, corn or sorghum—should pay back 80 per cent of the cost in 30 years, at 3 1/2 per cent interest.

Actually, the Army Engineers' formula is said to be so complicated, with so many credits for development period, construction components and federal government share of operation, that the total amount repayable would be only $6,000,000. Under reclamation laws, the full $19,000,000 would be repayable.

The real danger of this setting up of two different standards of repayment is in the precedent it might establish. It would open the door for Army Engineers to start bidding against Bureau of Reclamation as to which agency would get to build future irrigation projects. If water users had to pay back only 60 per cent of costs to the Army while they had to pay back 100 per cent of costs to Bureau of Reclamation, they'd naturally prefer to do business with the Army.

Fortunately, the issue may not have to be decided right now, in passing the flood control bill, the House knocked out the $19,000,000 Grand Prairie irrigation authorization, leaving only the $6,000,000 starter on the flood control parts of the project.

But the Senate may reverse this decision and the issue is bound to be back before some future Congress. The whole business illustrates how silly it is for the government to have two competing agencies in the same line of business.

Girl Scouts Program For Year Is Announced To Association

A program outline for the Girl Scout year was presented by Mrs. W. F. Pennebaker, program chairman, and unanimously approved by the Midland Girl Scout Association at its September meeting in the Trinity Episcopal Parish House Monday night.

Annual events which have become customary with Girl Scouts of Midland are included in the program, with some new events including a Book Week observance.

Beginning with the training course for leaders, September 19-23, the program for the early weeks of the term is concentrated on preparation of leaders for their work. On October 3, troop leaders will be honored at a party which will include also members of the association.

The first city-wide activity for the girls will be the annual project of folding Christmas seals for the County Tuberculosis Association. This task will start in October for Senior Girl Scouts.

Scout Week Event

Girl Scout Week begins on October 30, and will be observed with a series of events including a radio program, National Friendship Day, a clothing drive directed by Mrs. Karl Nichols, Home Day and troop cook-outs. The annual Father-Daughter box suppers are also scheduled for this week.

A court of awards is announced for April, and an optional court for January. During Book Week, beginning February 21, each troop will be asked to buy a book for its school library. Members will assist with the Red Cross drive in February, and in March the Brownie Scouts will fold Easter seals for the Children's Service League. Parties honoring the birthday anniversary of Girl Scouting are planned for March 12.

Progress of the current campaign to recruit and train leaders was reported by Mrs. Vernon Bottoms, organization chairman, and Mrs. J. C. Rinker, training chairman.

Leaders Wanted

Mrs. Bottoms said that there are at present 17 troops of Brownie Scouts, ten of intermediates and four of seniors, in addition to the negro troops, and that two more Brownie troops can be organized in each elementary school where leaders are available. Window displays for the leadership campaign are being arranged by Mrs. Fred Speers and Senior Girl Scouts.

An organization chairman has been named for each school. They are Mrs. Harold Huffman for North Elementary; Mrs. B. L. Roush, South Elementary; Mrs. Jack Moore, West Elementary; Mrs. Woody Campbell, Terminal; Mrs. J. J. Black, Junior High; Mrs. M. B. Arick, High School.

These chairmen work through the Girl Scout Leaders Clubs, which will start meeting in each school in October.

Training Scheduled

Mrs. Rinker's report stressed the training course which will be taught by Mrs. I. A. Searles, area field director, beginning next Monday. It will start in the Children's Room of the Midland County Library, with later sessions in the Trinity Episcopal Parish House.

Announcement was made of a meeting of the Permian Basin Area Board to be held September 27 in McCamey.

Mrs. F. D. Heffen reported on Day Camps held in the Summer, saying that there was an average attendance of 110 girls at the one-week camp, and that the four-day camp for negro Girl Scouts had an average attendance of 51 girls and 11 adults.

Mrs. J. J. Black, who directed the Girl Scout camp in the Davis Mountains for its first full Summer program, reported that 95 girls from Midland attended its sessions.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

Mrs. Arch Clevenger of Midland was reported Tuesday to be resting satisfactorily after a major operation Monday in the Scott-White Hospital at Temple. Mrs. Clevenger is with her, and her sister and brother, Mrs. W. B. Pierce and E. Q. Rabb of Shreveport, La., also are in Temple.

THE REPORTER-TELEGRAM, MIDLAND, TEXAS, SEPT. 13, 1949-7

Bulldogs Drilling Hard On Offense

Offense, offense and more offense is slated for the Midland Bulldogs this week as they buckle down to workouts in preparation for the season home opener against the Austin High Panthers of El Paso at Memorial Stadium September 23.

Coach Tugboat Jones sent the squad through more than two hours of drills on offense Monday afternoon and has promised more of the same all this week.

Cecil Stephens was in there running plays even though he had to carry his arm with care to keep from hurting it again. The letterman halfback was injured in the Ysleta game Friday. He expects to be back in good shape by the end of the week.

L. C. Thomas learned several lessons in the game at Ysleta and looked better than ever at packing the ball Monday. Jack Burris is due to correct a weakness or two before the week is over.

Reed Gilmore is receiving more training in what to call and when.

He quarterbacked the Ysleta game as well as anyone could have, but wants to improve more and more.

The line got more steam into its offensive blocks in the Monday session and was drilled long and hard on rushing the passer. An overall improvement was shown.

The Bulldogs spent much time working against formations expected to be used by Austin High. They will work up a stout defense for the Austin T in the next two weeks.

Coach Jones still is polishing his main offensive weapon—an improving passing attack. Ends Harrie Smith, Duane Bush, Graham Mackey and Jimmy Lineberger are looking better on the receiving end. Charles Crowley and Burris are doing most of the tossing.

Every move is pointed toward beating Austin High when the time comes. The winning spirit still is hot in each Bulldog and each coach.

Booster Club Will Not Meet Tuesday

The weekly meeting of the Midland Bulldog Booster Club scheduled Tuesday night has been postponed, it was announced.

Several other events are being held and films of the Ysleta-Midland football game have not arrived. They were to be screened at the meeting.

The next regular meeting will be held as scheduled.

Box Supper, 1949 Style, Different

McCAMEY — The old fashioned auction box supper was common in grandfathers' day but he would be surprised at the modern version to be enacted here.

A box supper will be held Saturday night at the McCamey Country Club with the men furnishing the boxes and the women doing the buying.

There have been some changes made.

Corn Belters

Center Tom Novak, top, is on the lookout for stray top-calls for Nebraska. Kansas retains Quarterback Dick Gilman.

Baylor Athlete Conquers Dreaded Polio Handicap

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Sports Editor

DALLAS — There's a great human interest story of sports at Baylor University. It concerns a young fellow who didn't let infantile paralysis daunt him in his desire to become a top athlete.

But this story goes deeper than that—it's about a mother who wanted her son to lick the dreaded polio handicap as an example for those who might otherwise quit because of the load.

Mrs. Florence Lucas of East Bernard, Texas, encouraged Jack Lucas to fight against the paralysis of an arm and shoulder so that he might give heart to others similarly afflicted.

Lucas had polio five years ago. Now he is considered one of the greatest track prospects in the southwest conference.

Next season, as a member of the varsity, Lucas probably won't high jump but will substitute the 220-yard hurdles for that event. He has done the hurdles in 23 seconds flat.

In high school Jack never had the privilege of running on cinders. In fact, he didn't even have a coach.

He went to Schreiner Institute, where he bloomed into track stardom. Jack is six feet tall and weighs 162 pounds. He is left-handed—and the dented arm from polio would have to be his left.

Unknown Texas Gal Eliminates Defending Champion In U.S. Women's Amateur Meet

ARDMORE, PA. — A little Texas gal with a winning smile and a big heart kept a nine-year jinx going in the U. S. Women's Amateur golf championship.

Pretty Joanne Barr Tracy, an unknown lady of the links from Dallas, spoiled the record of the defending champion, 1-up in the first round of the 1949 USGA tournament.

The jinx Mrs. Tracy upheld was the failure of any women's amateur queen to repeat since Betty Jameson won in 1939 and '40.

The 26-year-old mother of a two and a half-year-old girl was the most surprised person on the historic Merion Golf Club course when she holed a three-foot putt on the eighteenth green to win an impressive match in her first national tournament.

Learned From 'Daddy' "Golly," she said, "I never thought I could do it. When I drew Miss Lenzky for my opening round I kinda thought this would be a golf lesson for me."

Mrs. Tracy, former Middle Atlantic figure skating champion who also performed with Sonja Henne's ice show and with Ice Capades—said she learned all her golf from "Daddy."

Her father, Duncan Barr, is golf pro at Schrono Lake, in Upper New York State. Joanne's husband, a salesman in Dallas, was on hand to greet his triumphant wife with a big kiss as she walked off the final green in a daze.

Highly regarded Peggy Kirk of Findlay, Ohio, runnerup in the recent Western Amateur, lost 3 and 2 to Mrs. James Ferris, Long Beach, Calif.; Beverly Hanson, Fargo, N. D., lass who went to the semi-finals at Pebble Beach, Calif., last year, dropped by the wayside, 3 and 1; to another Texan, Betty Rawls of Austin.

Football coaches, their team captains, sportsmen and Humble Oil Company officials from throughout this area will attend the annual Football Kickoff Dinner sponsored by Humble in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Schaubauer at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday. An estimated 100 persons will be present.

Jack Kimbrough, district manager for Humble, is in charge of arrangements.

Coaches and team captains from Midland, Lamasa, Big Spring, Odessa, Wink and McCamey and other Permian Basin cities have been invited.

Humble operators, dealers and agents and advertising and sales personnel also will attend. Speakers will include Jack Valenti of Houston, advertising and sales promotion man for the state; E. L. Hovel of Abilene, advertising and sales promotion man from the district office; Bob Gilliland, district salesman, and Kimbrough.

Highlights of sales through football broadcasts sponsored by Humble each year will be discussed and a technicolor film of the top 1948 football games will be screened.

Other Humble officials who will be present for the affair are F. A. Watts, state sales manager, and Roy Holmes, division sales manager.

Texas League Playoff Series Starts Tuesday

FORT WORTH — The Texas League opens its Shaughnessy playoff Tuesday night with Shreveport at Fort Worth and Oklahoma City at Tulsa.

Fort Worth finished first, Tulsa second, Oklahoma City third and Shreveport fourth in the Class AA league's regular season.

Bob Milliken (12-5) probably will start on the mound for Fort Worth, while Andy Bush (8-5) is Shreveport's likely choice.

Jim Avrea (13-11) probably will start for Tulsa, opposing Al Olsen (14-7).

Former Dodger Mound Mainstay Dies At 58

REIDSVILLE, GA. — (AP) — Sherrod M. Smith, 58, a mainstay of the Brooklyn mound corps in the teens of the century and the early twenties, died Monday night.

The big lefthander pitched for the Dodgers from 1915 to 1922, including two world series. In 1922 he joined Cleveland, where he remained through 1925.

From McCamey C. W. Brown, mayor of McCamey and a past president of the McCamey Chamber of Commerce, was a Midland visitor Monday.

Raldin' Dale Seeks Expenses; Machine Owners Ask Damages

HOUSTON — (AP) — Raldin' Dale Richardson wants Harris County to give him $4,000 to keep up his raids on marble tables. Three persons want $7,500 from Dale and two others for nine tables he seized.

The La Porte constable was named a defendant Monday in a $7,500 suit charging he illegally seized nine marble tables.

The suit was filed with District Clerk J. W. Mills by Attorney Rex Poston, acting for three Harris County residents who charge tables were taken from their places of business without warrant or legal right.

Richardson last week seized 70 one-ball machines.

The Bekins Van and Storage Company and the Maryland Casualty Company were named defendants with the cowboy-booted constable in the suit.

The casualty company bonded the constable and Richardson stored the seized machines at the storage company.

Plaintiffs in the suit are J. W. French, grocery store owner; Fred Barrow, and George Schmidt, café owners.

They seek $700 exemplary damages for each plaintiff and actual damages of $600 for each of the nine tables or return of the tables undamaged.

Dale said he would ask the county commissioners for $4,000 to cover expenses of last week's raid and anticipated expenses of future raids.

Some of the commissioners told reporters there is no money available for such requests.

"If I get the money or not I've still got around $60,000 worth of those gambling tables," Dale told reporters.

"But I need about $4,000 to keep up the raidin'. If the commissioners don't let me have it, I'm sunk. I'm already in the hole about $400 and I just started."

"If no money is given me," he added, "I'll just have to continue my raidin' piecemeal, borrowing a friend's pickup truck."

Devaluation—

(Continued from Page One) ciding where to spend Marshall Plan dollars. 2. Easier customs entry for British goods. 3. Larger purchases of British tin and rubber. 4. Agreement that Britain may have to discriminate against U. S. and Canadian goods to conserve dollars, subject to Congressional action.

As longer-range measures, these other points met agreement: the speeding of overseas investment; a U. S. promise to seek further tariff cuts; a study of burdensome British war debts; an attempt to improve British earnings from oil; and a continuing, three-power review of Britain's economic ills.

This done, Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin moved on to their own discussion of new Western moves in the cold war.

The finance ministers—Sir Stafford Cripps, Secretary of the Treasury; Snyder, and Canadian Finance Minister Douglas Abbott—turned to the bank and fund meeting.

Subject Avoided And there the carefully-avoided subject of devaluation was opened up wide, in the report of the fund's executive directors.

Presented by Managing Director Camille Duij of Belgium to the assembled governors, and applying equally to Britain and the other war-ravaged economies of Europe, it declared:

1. Expansion of Europe's exports to the Western hemisphere—particularly to the United States—is a key to the world's problem of payments.

2. The high price of European goods makes it difficult for them to compete in the American market by cutting profits or costs are limited.

3. "Where a price reduction of the magnitude indicated x x x is necessary to expand exports, it would in many cases seem possible only through an adjustment of the exchange rate."

The deficit countries, it was declared, "cannot afford to forego any suitable instrument, including any necessary exchange adjustment, that could expand their dollar exports."

By-products of corn include yeast, gluten, dry and wet starches, corn oil, soap, glycerin, salad, and other oils.

It's A Habit

(NEA Telephone) Hollis DeLois Green, 31, formerly of Madill, Okla., walks through a Dallas jail door following his most recent arrest. Long associated with the Dallas underworld, Green has been arrested repeatedly as a matter of routine. On this, his fifty-third arrest, he was indicted as a habitual criminal.

New Zealand Taxes Show Big Increase

AUCKLAND, NEW ZEALAND — (AP) — Each person in New Zealand will pay almost $290 in taxes this year, says Walter Nash, taxation finance minister. This compares with about $98 in 1939.

The only way to reduce taxes, Nash says, is to cut social services and reduce the number of civil servants. This, he says, the government will not do.

Commenting on his statement, the "New Zealand Herald" said, the army of controllers, inspectors and form filling clerks will remain.

FIREMEN CALLED

that lovely fur Coat

... you dreamed about is HERE!

In the striking new collection from the atelier of Herman and Ben Marks of Detroit ...

... EVERY feature, every favored, every desirable fur. Worked scrupulously, channeled into supple ripples ... Long coats (they're shorter this year) with the new, trim silhouette; soft, naturally rounded pliant shoulders; straighter sleeves, with turn-back cuffs; Peter Pan or pointed collars. Capes, too, cape stoles, clutch stoles, and, of course, go-everywhere jackets. Furs that should sell for many—yes, many more dollars!

Trial Run On 1950 Congress Campaigns Gets Start Tuesday

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A trial run on the 1950 congressional campaign gets underway with (1) voting Tuesday in a special election in Pennsylvania and (2) the official designation of senatorial candidates in New York Thursday.

In what is regarded as an indicator of trends, voters in Pennsylvania's 26th Congressional District are picking a successor to Rep. Robert L. Coffey, Jr., war hero killed in a plane crash last Spring.

Their choice lies between Coffey's mother, Mrs. Ethel Coffey, a Democrat, and John P. Saylor, Republican, a war veteran and Johnston lawyer.

Involved is a strategy battle that may influence the pattern of next year's fight for control of Congress. Democrats are trying to weld labor and farm votes, bearing down heavily on repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act. Republicans are attacking what they call the Truman Administration's drift toward the "Socialist-inspired welfare state."

New York Preview
New York state's preview of next year's campaign gets underway with the designation of major party candidates in 1949's only special Senate race.

Democrats will ratify Thursday their choice of former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman for senator, now a Liberal Party adding its nomination. Lehman will run as a strong supporter of President Truman's domestic and foreign policies.

The same day the Republicans will pick John Foster Dulles, now serving as secretary by appointment of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, to lead a campaign that will be directed primarily at the President's domestic proposals.

Henry A. Wallace made his expected decision Monday not to run on the American Labor Party slate.

Highway Project
A financial report for August was submitted by Treasurer Jack Wicker. Downing also outlined plans to raise an additional $3,000 needed to finance the erection of 25 miles of fence on the proposed Midland-Lamesa road. He said the fence fund now has a balance of $10,627.32, and that approximately $13,000 is needed to finance the fencing job.

The right-of-way which was donated by property owners. The proposed road will intersect the Andrews-Lenora road north of Midland.

Letters explaining the urgent need of funds for the fencing job have been mailed to the 550 Chamber of Commerce members who have not contributed to the project. John P. Butler is chairman of the Chamber's Highway Committee.

DeWayne Davis, assistant manager, told of plans for the annual Midland County Fair which will be staged October 7-8 in the City-County Auditorium.

Dickey Resignation
No action was taken on Robert I. Dickey's resignation to the Chamber of Commerce as chairman of the Community Chest, since it was agreed the Chamber was not qualified to receive or accept the resignation. The directors, however, authorized President R. D. (Bob) Scruggs to arrange a meeting of Chest directors so they can consider the resignation and plan their future activities. Dickey stated he was resigning because of the pressure of private business. He also is a member of the City Council.

A certification of graduation from the Southwestern Chamber of Commerce Institute, Dallas, was presented by Downing to the president, Downing attended the week's school in Dallas the last three years.

Sports Events
Scruggs announced the opening home game of the season for the Midland High School Bulldogs here September 23, against Austin High of El Paso, and urged the support of the Chamber of Commerce during the football campaign.

A resolution congratulating and commending Harold Webb and his Midland Indians upon another successful season in the Longhorn League was adopted by the directors. The team on the way to the playoffs three straight years and capped the league pennant in 1948. They launch the 1949 playoff race against Vernon here Tuesday night.

Authorities Study Notebook Entries Of Camden Slayer
CAMDEN, N. J.—(AP)—A notebook diary found in the room of Howard B. Unruh is being examined by New Jersey authorities seeking to shed further light on the River Road slaying of 13 persons.

Unruh, Bible-reading former artilleryman, is being held for examination at the New Jersey State Hospital for the insane in Trenton.

West Texas Oil & Gas Log

depth of 8,325 feet in Ellenburger, entered at 8,305 feet. That some made only salt water.

It has now been plugged back with cement to 7,580 feet. The drillstem test will be run as soon as the hole is in condition.

Core Shows Stain
A side wall core at 7,560 feet showed some porosity and some oil stain. Top of the Canyon reef was picked at 7,380 feet. Elevation is 2,249 feet.

While the venture was drilling down from around 7,500 feet to the bottom at 8,325 feet, some signs of oil and gas appeared in the drilling fluid.

Drillstem tests in the Mississippian and in the Ellenburger did not show any possibilities of production. Many observers think the oil and gas shows came in the Canyon. The test now scheduled should determine the correctness of those surmises.

The wildcat is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 64, block 20, Lavaca Navigation survey.

Cities Service, Skelly Stake Upton Wildcat

Cities Service Oil Company and Skelly Oil Company are to start operations at once on their No. 1-AD University, which is to be a 9,000-foot wildcat to explore into the Ellenburger in Central-South Upton County.

The project will be about 12 miles southwest of Rankin and 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of the northeast quarter of section 10, block 14, University survey.

Crockett Prospector Scheduled By Moore

Moore Exploration Company of Midland has filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting permit to start operations immediately at its No. 1-I Shannon, a scheduled 8,200-foot wildcat in Northwest Crockett County, 17 miles east of Iraan.

The prospector will be 660 feet from south and 585 feet from west lines of the southwest quarter of section 21, block YZ, GNR survey.

Outpost Is Staked To NW Abell By Trinity

Trinity Drilling Company No. 1 Irwin-McDonald is to be a 5,800-foot exploration in Southwest Crane County to explore into the McKee and Waddell horizons of the Simpson.

It will be 1,980 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines of section 24, block 1, H&TC survey. That will make it a stepout from production in the Northwest Abell field, which is four miles northeast of Imperial.

Upton Wildcat Sets Casing, Is To Deepen

Republic Natural Gas Company No. 1 Powell, Central-North Upton County wildcat, two miles southeast of the discovery well for Ellenburger production in the Pegasus field, was bottomed at 12,975 feet. The Ellenburger entered at 12,960 feet, and was laying down drill pipe, preparing to running 7-inch casing to 12,960 feet.

After the plug on the casing cures operator plans to penetrate more of the Ellenburger. The 15 feet of that formation so far drilled was relatively soft. It showed some oil fluorescence and appeared to be fractured.

Low On Ellenburger Top
The No. 1 Powell is 452 feet low on the top of the Ellenburger to the same point in Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-A TXL, the Pegasus opener.

The wildcat should have enough Ellenburger section above the water level to make an oil well if the oil stain and fractures should continue as they appear in the top 15 feet of the formation.

This project has indicated possible production in the Pennsylvanian and in the Permian.

It is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 44, block 40, TP survey, T-4-S.

Ellenburger Venture Is Planned In Ector

Humble Oil & Refining Company has filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting permission to drill its No. 17 Yarbrough & Allen, and others, in the Yarbrough & Allen field of Southwest Ector County.

It is to be an 11,000-foot venture to explore the Ellenburger and drilling is to get under way in the near future.

The drillsite will be 2,160 feet from south and 1,380 feet from east lines of section 28, block B-14, psi survey, which makes it eight miles west of Penwell.

Superior Slates Two Sharon Ridge Tests

The Superior Oil Company has staked location for two explorations on the north side of the Sharon Ridge-Canyon field in Southwest Scurry County, both of which are to drill to 7,500 feet with rotary tools to explore into the Canyon reef.

The company's No. 6-163 will be 660 feet from east and 2,519.84 feet from south lines of section 163, block 97, H&TC survey and 11 miles southwest of Snyder.

King, Warren & Dye Final Scurry Project

King, Warren & Dye No. 2 A L. Wren has been completed from the Canyon reef line on the south side of the North Scurry field in North Central Scurry County. The location is flowing natural through a 32/64th-inch tubing choke, the new producer made a daily potential of 710.88 barrels of oil. Gravity of the new petroleum was 43.2 degrees and the gas-oil ratio was 840-1. It also made six-tenths per cent water.

The production was from open hole section between the five and one-half inch oil string cemented at 6,684 feet and the total depth at 6,803 feet.

The well is located 680 feet from east and 880 feet from south lines of section 20, tract 13, J. P. Smith survey.

Barnhart Gains Two Ellenburger Ventures

Two stepouts from production from the Ellenburger in the Barnhart field of Southeast Reagan County have been staked, one by Ralph Lowe of Midland and one by Texas Gulf Refining Company.

Ralph Lowe No. 2 Elda R. Brownman will be a three-eighths of a mile northwest outpost to the field and will be 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 22, block 1, TP survey.

The other project, Texas Gulf No. 3-64 University, is to be on the north side of the field and 660 feet from south and east lines of section 7, block 48, University Lands.

Both of the ventures are to try to find and test the Ellenburger.

Canyon Producer Is Finished By Spartan

Spartan Drilling Company has completed its No. 1 L. L. Lewis as a natural flowing producer from the Canyon line on the northwest side of the Kelly field in Central Scurry County.

The new well made an initial daily potential of 561.64 barrels of 43-gravity oil, flowing through a quarter-inch tubing choke. Gas-oil ratio of the new oil was 855-1. Flowing casing pressure was 1,175 pounds and the flowing tubing pressure was 1,025 pounds.

Production was from the open hole section between the 7-inch oil string cemented at 6,748 feet and the total depth of 6,769 feet.

This new source of oil is 660 feet from east and south lines of the lease in section 210, block 97, H&TC survey.

Midland Cited As Major City In State Without Serious Money Troubles

By TIM PARKER
Associated Press Staff

How do you stay out of debt? There's a man at Galveston—Frank A. Quin—who says it's principally a matter of not spending more money than you take in.

That sounds simple—and would be if Quin weren't city manager of Galveston, and if he weren't talking about the finances of his city government.

In 1949 in Texas, it's mighty unusual for a city to avoid money trouble. Many are in debt, most of them are talking of raising taxes, issuing bonds or getting help from the federal or state government.

But Galveston hasn't had to use red ink on its general fund books—the accounts of annual operating expenses—in a quarter century.

The record applies only to the general fund. Like every major city, Galveston has had to issue bonds to swing its big projects.

Quin says Galveston has stayed in the black by adhering rigidly to carefully planned budgets, by maintaining a high percentage of tax collections, and by conservatively estimating future taxes. Galveston places its tax rate low—and then sees to it that most of the taxes are paid. Throughout the nation city taxes are the ones most often, and most easily, dodged. Hunting down these dodgers is expensive. Hauling them into court is expensive.

When Galveston's annual budget is made up, says Quin, "we make generous allowances x x x for taxes which might not be collected." The 1949-50 budget now being prepared carries a $120,000 cut in expenditures. The five-man citizen-commissioner administration believes the city's income, due to general conditions, will drop that much.

Fast Growth Hurts
But Galveston proper isn't faced with one factor which has made it especially rough for some cities. Its growth hasn't been as spectacular as that of Houston, Odessa,

Denton—cities with more money troubles. Fast growth hurts. Miles of sewers, water mains and streets must be put in long before the same areas begin to pay tax money into the city till.

Other cities little bothered by money troubles include Fort Worth, Denton, Midland, Austin, Tyler, Jacksonville and Beaumont.

Fort Worth isn't having money trouble yet, but is looking toward other revenue sources—possibly a share in the taxes now levied by state or federal governments on gasoline, income, payrolls and amusements. This would permit a cut in the tax rate, now at $1.67. Taxation is on the basis of 100 per cent valuation.

The big cattle center is under pressure for extension of all kinds of services. Lack of time, rather than money, is the principal problem. Many of the demands come from newly annexed areas. More than half of Fort Worth' bonded indebtedness of $36,010,000 has been incurred in recent years.

Denton, site of North Texas State College, got a break. A long controversy with the college over whether it should pay for the water it uses was decided in the city's favor. That means the college must buy from Denton's city-owned water plant. The fact Denton has its own light plant also helps. Of Denton's $2.18 tax rate, only 79 cents is for the general fund—unusually low.

Midland is an example of the unusual—a city that has grown spectacularly but still has stayed clear of serious financial difficulties. The tax rate is down five cents

The little girl at Havrana, Slovakia, thinks of food, too, as she drinks a happy toast—consisting of a cup of fresh milk—to the people who supplied it. The United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund gives a daily supplement of milk and other foods, plus medical care, to the school children of Europe. Most important of all, the agency gives hope for a better future to thousands of war-weary youngsters.

Gadget Checks Cows' Trouble With Heat

DAVIS, CALIF. —(AP)—Cows, too, have trouble with the heat. University of California scientists are studying the problem. They have constructed two miniature weather stations to find out how hot it gets in corrals in the Imperial Valley.

The idea is to find out how much shade and moisture can help cattle under extreme heat. Cattle in the valley feed normally in the morning during hot weather. But when the sun begins to get hot they seek shade until driven out to forage by hunger.

Prof. F. A. Brooks of the College of Agriculture Experiment Station says the new weather, recording gadgets weigh less than 100 pounds. They will record air temperature, relative humidity, air velocity, soil temperature and rate of evaporation.

Many fossil specimens of the tree have been found in the West. It is thought it is the ancestor of the modern California Redwoods. Last year Dr. Ralph W. Chaney went to China and found the Dawn Redwood growing there. He brought back four seedlings and thousands of seeds. In a trip up and down the coast this year Chaney planted many of the seeds in areas where the same type of tree grew millions of years ago.

First National Bank Will Have New, Modern Banking Rooms

The First National Bank of Midland, one of the oldest and largest financial institutions in West Texas, soon will have the most spacious and most attractive banking quarters in the Southwest. The bank's extensive and costly expansion and remodeling program now is well underway. It is scheduled for completion by December 1, President M. C. Ulmer said. Located at the corner of Main and Wall Streets in downtown Midland, the First National is more than doubling the size of its banking rooms by taking in the 40-foot store front adjacent to the bank building on South Main Street. The additional space formerly was occupied by Everybody's Store. The lobby space will be almost three times as large as at present. A full basement is provided under the 40 by 90 foot banking rooms. The First National Bank has been in its present location since its establishment in 1890. Business is being conducted as usual in the bank's quarters during the period of remodeling and expansion. Officers and employees of the concern ask the cooperation and consideration of patrons during the construction program—promising, when the work is completed, quarters and facilities sufficiently large and modern to serve an ever-increasing number of customers in an ever-growing Midland and West Texas. New and modern fixtures will be installed in the new banking rooms, which have been designed for banking efficiency and for the comfort and convenience of patrons and friends. Beautiful Paintings The bank's numerous and beautiful paintings, which have attracted the attention and acclaim of art lovers throughout the Southwest, will adorn the walls of the bank lobby. The tremendous growth of the bank, which serves a wide West Texas area, made necessary the expansion program. The bank long has been a leader in financial and civic affairs of Midland and of West Texas, and always has kept pace with the progress and development of the territory it serves. "We are proud of our bank and of our city and section," Ulmer said in discussing the bank's expansion program, "and with the completion of our new quarters we will be in a position to better serve our friends and patrons through the vast Permian Basin Empire."

Boyle Says No To 29 Women

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—Thirty lovely women looked at me over the weekend with provocative eyes. And they all wanted me to say—"Yes, you're the one."

Yep, one after the other they came up, all thirty of them—all with that same look in their eyes. And I had to say, "No, not you" to 29 of these beautiful dames.

No, this isn't a nightmare. I didn't dream it. I merely acted as a judge in the Mrs. America contest at Asbury Park, the Jersey shore resort.

A judge next to me was working furiously at his chart.

"How are you judging them?" I asked. He looked at a girl in an evening dress silhouetted against a spotlight.

"Strictly Legs."

"I'm voting for the ones that didn't wear slips," he said.

"And you?" I asked another judge.

"Strictly legs," he said. "I've been a leg man for years."

As another judge seemed to be concentrating on bosoms and crosely suggested I find a specialty of my own. I began scoring on teeth, eyes, hair and nostrils. There didn't seem to be much else in sight.

An official rushed over a and said:

"Here, you're not judging beauty. You're a homemaking judge."

My job wasn't to pick the pretties. It was to help judge the pretties the pretties had made with their own pretty hands—crocheted dollies, home-sewn baby dresses, and preserved fruits and vegetables. Four jars of pickles, carrots and peaches later our verdict was in. Pretzels. Diapers.

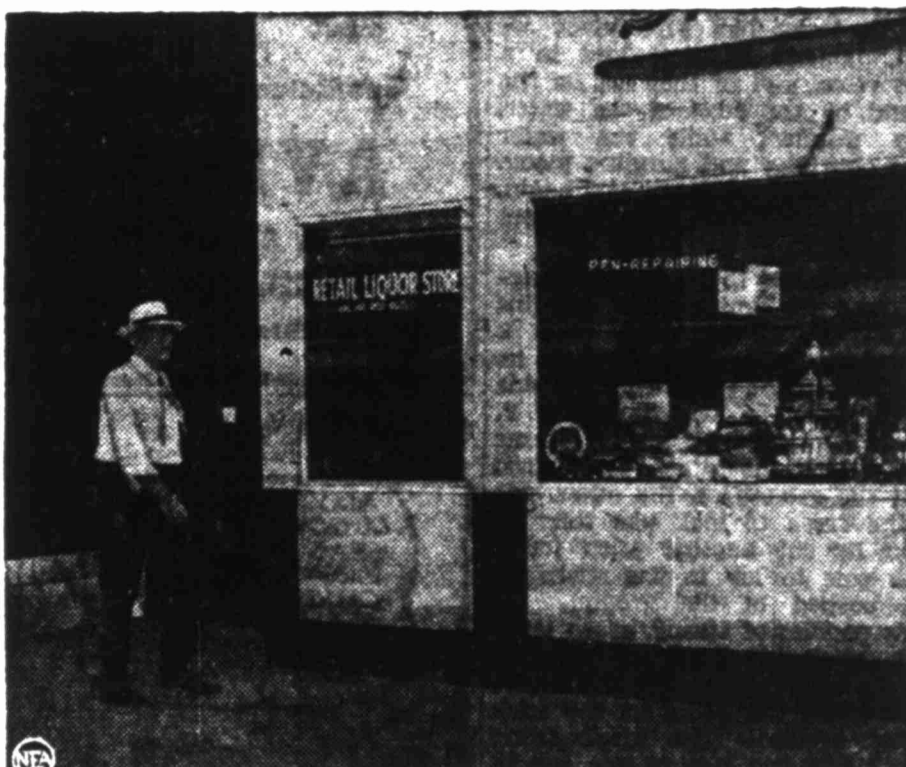

My choice, Mrs. Cincinnati, a winsome brownette, was the audience favorite. The other entrants also voted her the most congenial girl in the contest. But she didn't win.

The crown went to Mrs. California, who got about $6,000 in prizes—if you include a year's supply of pretzels and diapers and a $500 scholarship to the Empire State School of Optics in Brooklyn.

Later the husband of one of the losing candidates was asked why he had encouraged his wife to try to become Mrs. America.

"If she won," he said sadly, "I figured I could quit work."

Wet Kansas Feels Legal Hangovers After Alcoholic Drought Terminated

The town Kansas City may be after the Dry Law was repealed, but this package store may not advertise, use window displays, hang large signs or make deliveries.

KANSAS CITY, KAN.—(NEA)—Kansas is enjoying its first legal hangover in 69 years, but it's the law enforcement officers who need the ice packs.

When the alcoholic drought ended recently and Kansans flocked into package stores in 270 municipalities over the state, quorks began to show up in the law which ended prohibition and made Kansas the nation's 46th wet state.

It's legal to drink liquor in public, but not to drink in there. Immediately the question arose—what is private and what is public property? What about a vacant lot? What about a vacant car?

That's an easy one, says John J. Ziegelmeyer, criminal investigator for the Kansas City, Kan., police department. "A street car is a vehicle and it's public."

A misdemeanor of this class costs a first offender a maximum of $50 or 30 days in jail here.

It's not legal to sell alcoholic beverages to an Indian, the law says, but it fails to specify whether the provision is confined to full blooded Indians. Another provision prohibits sale to a person who is physically or mentally incapacitated. No definition of incapacitation was included.

Liquor may be purchased by the bottle only. Private clubs may not serve it by the drink but patrons may drink it in such establishments.

Package store owners are tied down even more strictly than the drinking public. Stores may not advertise nor arrange window displays.

plays of bottles. No large signs may be used to call attention to liquid wares. Retail deliveries are illegal and even a distributor can't make his own deliveries to retail outlets.

Retail or wholesale liquor licenses cannot contribute to the campaign fund of any political party. Credit extended by a retailer to any purchaser is not recoverable by law.

A liquor store cannot sell 3.2 beer the only kind authorized for sale in taverns in the state. Nor can a liquor retailer cash payroll checks.

As liquor may be cheaper in states bordering on Kansas, returning citizens are warned that they may bring home in any one trip only two-fifths of a gallon of whiskey and no more than a case, 24 cans or bottles, of "high-power" beer over 3.2 per cent alcoholic content.

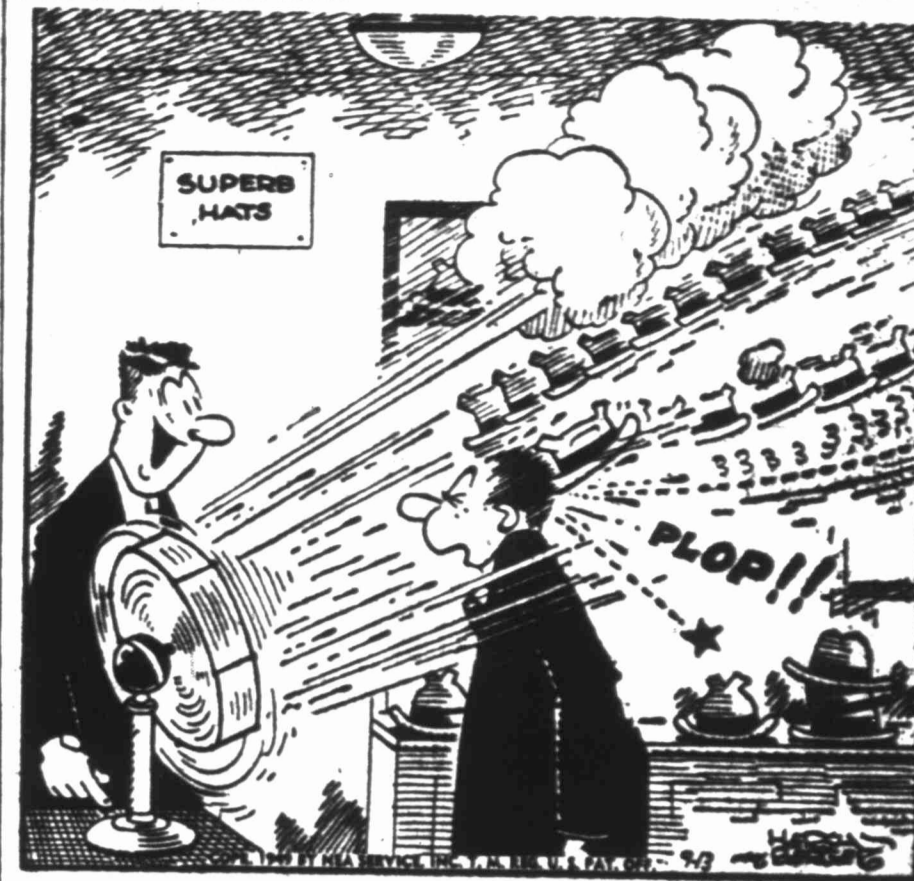

Any amount of liquor bearing the Kansas stamp bought at a retail store may be carried in the glove compartment of car of the purchaser, but if the seal is broken on a bottle it has to be carried in the trunk.

Kansas City Police Chief Will Johns gave his patrolmen and detectives a thumb rule to apply to suspected liquor law violators. "In case of doubt, bring the suspected law breaker in and book him. Then we'll let the judge decide," he said.

Public drinking isn't allowed by Kansas' new law, but law enforcement officers must puzzle over definitions. Kansas City dealer Edward Campion places some bottles after liquor became legal.

Earliest American House Discovered

AP Newsfeatures
CHICAGO—Archaeologists in New Mexico have discovered what probably is the earliest house yet found in North America.

Dr. Paul S. Martin, leader of the Southwest Archaeological Expedition of the Chicago Natural History Museum, reports he has uncovered remains of an ancient hamlet in the western part of the state. It is believed to be the home of prehistoric Cochise Indians.

"The pit house is about 5,000 years old and irregularly shaped," he said. "About seven feet below the surface, with a diameter of about six feet, one side of the interior has a series of steps by which one can descend to the lowest level," he wrote in his report to the museum.

Used As Sockets
Around the walls a row of small holes seemed to have been used as sockets in which roof beams were inserted. The find was located near the expedition camp in Pine Lawn Valley about 100 miles north of Silver City.

Another discovery revealed an above-ground "house of mystery." It was evidently occupied as early as 800 A. D. and abandoned about 1100 A. D. Its mystery is being studied. Many curious and unexplainable features confront the archaeologists.

Dr. Martin said it seems to represent the first American effort at slum clearance by moving above ground. Now called "Leggett Pueblo," it was found tucked away deep in a forest and situated on a narrow peninsula between two convergent stream beds.

It is said that some stars reach a temperature of 500,000,000 degrees above Fahrenheit.

CARNIVAL

"Rainwater, look! Junior scalp-um first paleface!"

DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail And Whirligig

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, was walking with Bobby Ringtail, his monkey boy, along by the creek that flows through the Great Forest. They were having great fun together, the way that every boy and his father should. They stopped at a shady, shady place beneath the trees, a place where the water in the creek came hurrying and gurgling and splashing along with a happy song. It was a pretty thing to see and hear, and the shadows across the ground were friendly.

"This looks like the place we want," Daddy Ringtail said in a quiet voice, and so they sat on the ground by the edge of the water. They watched while the water came churning and gurgling along. "Yessir," Daddy Ringtail said again, "this is exactly the place we were looking for."

Bobby smiled to see Daddy Ringtail take his knife from out his pocket. Daddy Ringtail cut a stick from a bush, and then he pushed it in the ground by the side of the creek to look like this: Y. He cut another stick the very same way to look the same. He pushed them down and up and over and around the water. He made paddles of strong, green leaves, stick out from the sides of the pole and to touch the water— one after the other as the stick turned around. The whole thing looked like the picture you see in your paper here.

It was great, great fun to watch it. Around and around the paddles went with the water pushing them down and up and over and around. Why, Bobby could imagine the turning around would go on and on forever—as long as the water lasted, and there was plenty and plenty of water up the creek wherever it was coming from. Around and around went the paddles.

"All it needs is a name," said Bobby. "We need a name for the paddles that go around in the water."

But Daddy Ringtail said it had a name. The name was "Whirligig." Yes, and the whirligig was a happy thing to watch; happy as the saying of whirrigig. And I hope that you can make yourself one sometime—sometime when you are at a creek where the water runs fast with a happy song, and the shadows are cool and friendly. Happy day!

Well, What Would You Do If Quads? Parents Give Tips

By SAUL PETT
AP Newfeature Writer

What would you do if suddenly you became the parent of quadruplets?

Would you immediately collapse or take the first train out of town? Would you hit the boss for a 10 or 20 buck raise and would that be enough? Or would you need outside help? Would you try to commercialize your foursome?

Look around the place you're living in now. Imagine that suddenly, right now, today, there are four new but permanent faces there? Would the place be big enough? If not, where would you get more room?

Would you need a maid, or a second maid? How about the children already there? Would the old one resent the new ones? Could you handle the whole problem without creating neurotics?

Now, don't get panicky. The odds against you women giving birth to quads are about 650,000 to 1. (No bet, if you're a man.) But why not be prepared, at least be armed with information on what others have done? Therefore, purely as a public service, we have rounded up the experiences of some families which have produced quads since 1915. Here they are:

The Keys
The oldest quads in this group are now all wives and mothers themselves. They are the four Keys girls who were born in Hollis, Okla., in 1915. Leota is now Mrs. Robert T. Hall, Oklahoma City; Roberta, is Mrs. Roland Torn, Houston; Mona is Mrs. Robert W. Fowler, Oklahoma City, and Mary is Mrs. Jack Anderson, McKinney.

Mr. and Mrs. Flake M. Keys (he died early this year) already had four children when the quads arrived. But neither their arrival nor survival seemed to be accompanied by undue stress and strain.

"The family was living in a large old-fashioned house at the time," says Leota. "The older children just doubled up in the room they had and we got along all right."

Their father was in the hardware and furniture business. At first the Keys resisted attractive offers to put the quads on exhibition but finally let them appear at the Oklahoma State Fair each year. This was stopped when they were nine because it interfered with their school work.

Later, at school, church and civic affairs, the quads began appearing as a singing and saxophone-playing quartet. They made some profitable summer tours and paid their way through Baylor University. Mona's marriage in 1940 broke up the quartet.

All in all, says Leota, their adult lives have not been unduly influenced by the unusual circumstances of their birth.

The Perricomes
The sudden housing problem did not floor Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Perricome of Beaumont, when their all-male quads arrived in 1929. They already had five other sons but were living in a big house. They simply converted two rooms for the new boys.

The quads, Mrs. Perricome says, didn't bring the family any special financial luck. "In fact," she says, "it worked the other way. It's definitely four times as hard to raise four as one and you need four times as much money."

Mrs. Perricome admits she had some difficulty in giving the older boys enough attention after the all-male quartet arrived.

The quads are now diversely occupied. None is married. Bernard works as a driver and helper in a local trucking firm. Don is an engineer's helper in a tugboat company. Carl was graduated from high school last Spring. Anthony expects to graduate this Summer.

The Morloks
Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Morlok of Lansing, Mich., hadn't had any children when they suddenly got four in 1930. They called Edna A., Wilma B., Sarah Q., and Helen D. Their middle initial indicates the order in which they arrived. The first letters of their first names were taken from the initials of their birthplace—Edward W. Sparrow Hospital.

After graduating from high school last Spring with honors, three of the girls now plan to seek jobs in business. Helen, the smallest and last born, was forced to drop out of school last Fall because of an attack of rheumatic fever but she now is recovering.

Did the quads' birth bring the family riches? Definitely no, says Carl Morlok. It did help him get elected constable and there were some gifts from merchants, but that was all.

The Schenses
An even more epic job of raising children, quantitatively, has been turned in by Mrs. Fred Schense of Frederick, S. D. She is the step-mother of the Schense quads, whose mother died shortly after their birth in 1931.

The second Mrs. Schense didn't only raise the quads. Her husband had had three other children previously. Later, she had five of her own. Add it all up; she raised 12 children.

And she hasn't complained yet. She doesn't believe raising the quads was more complicated than raising the others. "I think," says Mrs. Schense, "we had less trouble with the four than some people have with one."

The Quads—Jay, Joan, James and Jean—got their high school diplomas this Spring. "It almost broke me sending them to high school every day," says their father, "but I'd always wanted them to finish."

Schense, who owns a 450-acre farm and a large house, says he never received any financial aid. There has been some talk, he says, of giving the quads college scholarships but nothing definite yet.

The Badgetts
Next case: The E. W. Badgetts of Galveston. They already had two children when four girls arrived in one package in 1939. Because the Badgett home was too small, Galvestonites gave the family a large, two-story house. To retain the home, the quads must live in Galveston until they are 18.

The financial burden created by the appearance of Joan, Jereldine, Joyce and Jennette Badgett was partially eased by a contract the family has with a canned milk company. By this arrangement, the Badgetts are paid for allowing the company to say the quads use its product.

"A child is a child," and you have to give each one about the same attention. Although born at the same time, they are all individualists.

Nick and Ella Brown of Leonard, N. D., had four children before their quads came in 1941 and one other since then. All nine kids from 6 to 20, now live with their parents in a 10-room farmhouse.

When the quads came, they had a house with only four rooms. A bill was introduced in the 1941 State Legislature to build them a new house. The first appropriation discussed was $25,000. Then it was whittled down to $15,000 and finally $8,000. Then the Browns killed the bill. Then the Browns built their own home.

It's reported that the Browns, too, have a contract with a canned milk company, but they prefer not to discuss it.

Question: "Is it four times as hard to raise four as one?"

Answer (from Nick Brown): "No, it's eight times as hard." Whenever one gets an idea, they all have to do it. The quads get their spankings, just like the other kids."

Cleo, Clayton, Claire and Connie Brown are in the third grade. When they first showed up at home, say their parents, the other kids appeared a bit jealous, but now everybody has gotten used to it.

Farmer Brown raises wheat, corn and flax on "about 900 acres." His house is attractive but the inside walls aren't painted. Mrs. Brown explains they decided to wait with the paint until the children are older and less destructive.

The Lashleys
That brings us up to a Sunday morning in 1941 in Leitchfield, Ky., when Farmer Peter Lashley went to church that day he was the father of eight children. When he came back he was the father of 12.

Luckily, just two days before Lashley had made the last mortgage payment on his 131 acres.

For their first 10 months—until December-you-know-when, 1941—Beulah, Mildred, John and Martine Lashley brought a profit into the home. The publicity on the quads brought many gifts, some cash. Also several contracts with various firms, including a milk company. With it all, their pop was able to build a new and larger house for $12,000.

Also, there were many visitors and they each paid two-bits to see the quads.

"But the war changed everything," Lashley recalls.

Gas rationing reduced the crowds of visitors. That reduced the advertising value for the firms which had the quads under contract. Contracts were scaled down or stopped. For example, a company which had promised to supply shoes, couldn't deliver when leather became scarce.

Moral: Don't have quads during a war.

Anyway, Lashley thinks the state ought to provide pensions for parents of quads.

The Cirminellos
A milk company contract also helps ease the financial burden imposed on Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cirminello by the arrival of their quads—Eileen, Maureen, Kathleen and Michael—in 1944.

The children were born in Philadelphia and the family then moved to Arlington, Va., where they owned a five-room house. "It's pretty crowded with only two bedrooms for six people," Mrs. Cirminello admits, "but the prices of large houses are too high."

Cirminello is an analyst for the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The Collins
Another securities analyst who recently fathered quadruplets is Charles Collins of the Bronx. That event occurred only May 8, last. Since it was so recent, it is unfair to ask Collins to pose as an authority on the problems of raising quadruplets, especially since he's still suffering from shock.

Effects Of Tropics On Warships Studied

SINGAPORE—(AP)—Scientists are at work on experiments at the King Edward VII College of Medicine to determine whether warships in Far Eastern Waters should be "tropicalized" to suit climatic conditions.

Surgeon Commander F. P. Ellis, who heads the unit, explained the work: "The Admiralty was interested in climatic problems during the war, when reports from warships in tropical waters suggested that severity of the heat between decks was likely to interfere with the fighting efficiency of the fleet, if it was involved in prolonged actions with the enemy."

Naval ratings volunteered to undergo the tests under which actual conditions aboard certain compartments of warships are simulated.

Berets Authorized For British Scouts

LONDON—(AP)—The Boy Scouts Association has announced that members over 15 may wear berets with their uniforms. Color of the berets will vary according to rank. They will be used at camps and on other informal occasions.

The familiar broad-brimmed "Baden Powell" hat will continue to be regulation for ceremonial activities. Berets also are standard off duty headgear in the British Army, where they were made popular during the war by Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Ricardo Nelson runs a travel agency. He has mapped tours for many vacationists. His interest in his work was more than professional. He had the urge to go places, too. Finally, with the Summer rush over, Nelson planned a nice long motor trip for himself. He got everything ready with practiced ease. Then the night before the takeoff date the brick wall of his garage collapsed. His car—and his plans—were ruined.

Retreat Of Greek Communists Means Thousands Of Refugees Will Go Home

Two aged women from Keramidi sit in the hot sun on the quai at Volos, waiting to board the ship which will take them back to their native village.

KERAMIDI, GREECE—(NEA)—The villagers of Keramidi have come back home. With the help of the Economic Cooperation Administration's mission in Greece, the biggest single repatriation movement ever attempted in Greece was completed when 1700 natives were landed.

For almost a year and a half, the 1700 had been refugees from

Big Guns Kill Most Soldiers, Ground Forces Data Shows

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Big guns kill the most soldiers. Yet rifles and machine guns are the most deadly. A hit from a bullet is far more likely to cause death than a hit from a shell fragment.

These are some of the facts brought out in a report on battle casualties made for the Army until recently and so not available for publication. The "Infantry Journal" in its September issue reviews its findings.

Facts about death in action are hard to find. Medical men seldom have time to study battlefield dead. Usually about the only data the Army gets is from graves registration personnel, who can only make rough guesses.

A few careful studies, however, were made in the last war. The most thorough was done by medical personnel in the Bougainville, New Georgia and Burma campaigns. They found that a soldier had the least chance of surviving if he were hit by a machine gun bullet. Next came the rifle, then artillery, mortar and grenade, in that order. Artillery, bomb, grenade or mortar. Only 10.7 per cent of the deaths there were caused by gunshot wounds.

Rifle and machine gun bullets have high velocity; the shock effect is lethal. One hit often is enough to finish you.

But in large scale engagements, wounds by shell fragmentation don't come one at a time. The Japanese didn't have massed artillery in the Bougainville and other early campaigns. The Germans had it in Europe and Africa, however. There the story was different.

One thorough study of 1,000 battlefield dead was made by medical officers in Italy. They found that 85 per cent of the deaths were caused by fragmentation wounds—artillery, bomb, grenade or mortar. Only 10.7 per cent of the deaths there were caused by gunshot wounds.

Averages Are Given
The difference was that those who died from fragmentation had an average of seven wounds. Those who died from gunshot had an average of 1.6 bullet hits. The conclusion drawn by the "Infantry Journal" is that "multiple wounds appear to be the rule in battlefield deaths."

To be killed by a shell you usually have to be close to the burst. The fragments lose their lethal velocity at a relatively short distance. On the other hand, if you are close enough to be badly wounded by one fragment, you are likely to be struck by many of them.

In the New Georgia-Burma studies, it was learned that 80 per cent of those killed by mortar and artillery fragments were less than 10 yards from the point of burst. Eighty per cent of those killed by rifle machine gun fire were hit at ranges of less than 100 yards.

Here are some other facts disclosed by the studies:

1. Very few men die from wounds in the legs or arms. More than three-fourths of the men so wounded recover without leaving the theater in which they are fighting.
2. Men who are wounded in the head, chest or abdomen usually don't survive and return to duty unless the wound is superficial. If it is penetrating, it is fatal more often than not. Helmets prevent deep head wounds by shell fragments. Light chest armor would deflect missiles, save many lives.

Riflemen At Top
3. Infantrymen, representing only 15 per cent of the strength of the Army overseas, received 70 per cent of the cumulative battle casualties. Further, the rifle company receives twice as many casualties as any other type of company in an infantry division. And riflemen suffer almost five times as many casualties as any other group of men in the division.

4. "The fact that a large proportion of our casualties are due to our own fire is little known," says the "Journal." "Accurate figures exist only for isolated instances... Actually, 66 out of 383 casualties, or one-sixth of all the Bougainville casualties, were due to the fire of our own troops... All weapons are represented, with rifle and artillery leading in both groups."

men for "collaboration with the monarcho-fascist army," explains Martin J. Berrigan, an ECA field representative from Red Hook, N. Y. "The bandits made sniping attacks and looting raids in the area. Finally, in March, 1948, the army evacuated the Keramidi villagers to welfare centers near Volos.

"They were put in empty school-houses, warehouses and tents. The Keramidi people were lucky. Other people lived in culverts and under bridges."

They were given money—family heads got 15 cents a day—and some of the men were given work on the roads and rebuilding war-damaged houses. But there wasn't enough work to go around.

Then the Greek Army drove the Communists out of Keramidi, and the Greek Ministry of Welfare decided to repatriate the entire village.

After the long, 16-hour trip from Volos, the LCT's ground ashore and the end gates were dropped. There was a rush to get off, but the honor went to two small boys holding puppies in their arms. Next was Antonis Velissos, a wiry, 43-year-old fisherman, dragging Bella, his two-year-old son.

Soon there was a long caravan on the centuries-old path over the mountains to Keramidi.

At the entrance to the village soldiers with sub-machine guns asked each person for identity papers. Then they were passed through a gate-like wall and were in the village limits.

One fear persisted—there were still scattered bands of bandits in the surrounding hills.

Even so, they were happier in Keramidi.

"I'm glad to be home, bandits or no bandits," said Mrs. Olympia Liakou, a 64-year-old widow who makes a scanty living weaving for other villagers. "It's our home and I want to live in it. I had always thought life in Keramidi was too hard for a woman, but now I'm happy to be back."

Jammed on the deck of a Greek Navy LCT, Keramidi villagers try to forget the long months in welfare centers, try to remember what their homes are like.

Midland—

from last year's $1.80, new water and sewer connections average more than 80 a month each. A huge municipal works program now underway is financed by a $1,200,000 city improvements bond issue voted late in 1947.

The smaller city of Jacksonville in East Texas has improved its situation in the last two years. The general fund was down to $1,700 in May of 1947. Last May it stood at $17,000. A $950,000 bond issue approved last year will be used to extend and improve water and sewer service.

The capital city of Austin is getting along all right, despite the fact it has spent about $16,000,000 since 1945 to expand water, lights and sewers and other services to care for a population which has grown from 88,000 in 1940 to about 160,000. The city is selling a utility revenue bond issue of $7,150,000 for expansion of water, light and sanitary sewer plants. It will be paid out of the earnings of the municipal water system over a 10-year period.

Despite this there are demands on Austin's city government which are hard to meet. The city's careful and economical administration is striving to maintain the "bread and butter" services—sewer, water, lights, streets—before taking on anything more ambitious.

Overdraft To Be Down
When the new fiscal year begins October 1, Tyler will be nearly $74,000 better off than it was last year. Last year the city had a general fund overdraft of $98,418.99. This year the overdraft will be down to about $25,000. City Manager George Fairtracts credits penny-pinching—and luck.

For its size, Beaumont has had one of the state's lowest tax rates. This Summer the rate was reduced still lower—from $1.74 to $1.64. Despite a record budget of $2,003,378, there may even be a surplus at the end of the 1949-50 fiscal year, Mayor Otho Plummer believes. Of the $1.64 tax rate, only $1.12 is for the general fund—for city operating expenses. The rest goes for retirement of bonded indebtedness.

"We're now operating on a strictly cash basis," the Beaumont mayor declares. "This reverses a trend of earlier years. And with the valuation setup we have in Beaumont I believe we have the lowest tax rate in the state."

Birth Rate Jumps In Czechoslovakia

PRAGUE—(AP)—The newspaper "Svobodne Slovo (Free World)" reports that the Czechoslovak birth rate is increasing steadily since the war and straining school facilities. It reports that Prague's total of children of school age has increased to 50,000, requiring double shifts in numerous elementary schools. "Svobodne Slovo" predicts that in 1953, end of the present national five-year plan, the capital will have 78,000 school children. It calls the rising birth rate "another proof of better living standard in our country."
