County Banks Report Record High Deposits

Howard County banks—three in Big Spring and one in Coahoma—today reported an all time peak on deposits that almost equaled 39 million dollars.

Also at a peak were loans and discounts and total resources.

The deposit total on Dec. 30, 1961 was $38,995,219.64, an increase of $4,997,753.45 over the comparable date of 1960. It was $4,449,407.15 above the previous all-time peak established April 12, 1961.

Loans and discounts aggregated $14,337,208.80, up $1,374,596.99 from the previous all-time record set Sept. 27, 1961. The loans were $3,821,340.15 more than for the end of the previous year.

FIRST TIME
Total resources of $42,259,341.69 were $5,319,700.74 more than for a year ago, when the previous record in this category was established. This was the first time in history that the county's bank resources total had passed the 40 million dollar mark.

The only decline in the figures from a year ago was in the $11,128,456.57 cash figure. This was down $1,416,727.65 from the Dec. 31, 1960 all time peak. Part of this is reflected in the increase in loans, but it also was noted that the banks held $2,278,403 more bonds than a year ago.

The four banks had $7,245,299.36 in United States government bonds and $8,419,468.64 in other bonds, a total of $15,664,768.00, an all time record for these assets.

Substantial gains were reflected in all the banks. A report, bank by bank, follows:

This is the first time the bank crossed the 20 million mark in resources. It also held $2,110,012.36 ($2,390,642.51) in U. S. bonds and $4,356,185.18 ($3,722,448.91) in other bonds.

THAT BRIGHT ORANGE SKY WAS WASTE GAS BURNING

Firemen and police were flooded with calls Thursday night as Big Springers noted with apprehension a bright orange blaze illuminating the sky southeast of the city.

A check at the source of the fire dispelled the fears of persons who glanced about at browned, dry leaves of winter and wondered if they should grab a water hose for protection. It was only waste gas being burned away harmlessly at Gulf's Coahoma LPG Station southeast of Big Spring, according to Fire Chief Howard V. Crocker.

Flaring began about 10 a.m. Thursday, according to Corbit Ambrun, chief engineer at the station, but the fire was not visible during the daytime. It is still blazing and the gas may not be exhausted until late today, he said.

LPG products are stored by the company in cavities made in the salt formations below ground and one of these cavities is to be worked on in the near future. Waste products are being flared so work can begin, he said.

Rain Trace, Winds, Paint Cool Picture

After 10 days or so of the kind of weather that poets warble about, prospects loomed today for a different sort of meteorology for Big Spring and Howard County.

A fair-to-middlin' dust storm built up late Thursday and Friday morning, bruted about by brisk winds which at times generated enough speed to rattle windows.

Cloudy skies were on hand part of the night and a few scattered drops of rain fell. The fall was classified by the U. S. Experiment Station as a "trace" and the only reminder that it had occurred were speckles of mud on windshields of cars.

It was not enough to gauge but it holds the debatable distinction of being the first moisture of 1962.

It chilled down to 34 during the night and was only 37 at mid-morning on Friday.

The wind was biting and vigorous and pedestrians scurried when they were forced into its path.

The forecast for tonight and Saturday holds out for still more chill. The winds will hold on, the Weather Bureau said, for most of today and diminish tonight. There was a promise that it would drop to a biting 22 degrees before dawn Saturday.

By The Associated Press

A snowstorm brought near-blizzard conditions and piled drifts four feet high in North Central Texas near the Red River Friday.

It was part of a general snow that left up to one inch in the Panhandle and the South Plains. Flakes fell as far south as Abilene.

Temperatures were relatively moderate for the season, but winds up to near-hurricane force in places made the weather bitter.

The storm centered in the Vernon-Chillicothe area but lifted at midmorning.

The Chillicothe Valley News estimated the fall at up to 5 inches. Other sources reported as little as 2 inches.

Forced Escheat Data Ruled Out

Wilson Directs Legislative Panel To Return Envelopes

AUSTIN (AP)—The state attorney general ruled today that the special House committee investigating dormant bank accounts cannot use or disclose secret information it tried to force Texas banks to surrender.

At the same time the attorney general's opinion, written by Henry Braswell, assistant attorney general in charge of escheat (abandoned property) matters, held the committee had the right to request needed information if given voluntarily in a questionnaire.

The opinion directed the committee and its chief counsel, David Witts of Dallas, to return to Texas banks the sealed envelopes containing the questioned information.

The House committee, given the job by the last legislature to look into the handling of dormant bank accounts, sent a questionnaire to the state's 1,015 banks. Only 161 banks answered.

At the last of three public hearings, the committee issued subpoenas to officials of 38 national banks ordering them to appear with the requested information. Lawyers appeared for the banks and questioned the authority of the committee to force answers to the questionnaire. Finally, by agreement, the banks submitted the information requested in sealed envelopes that were to be opened when and if the attorney general said the committee had the authority.

The opinion today said that "The information that was delivered to the committee's chief counsel in sealed envelopes is the property of the respective banks, and in view of our answer . . . The sealed envelopes should be delivered to the owners upon their request."

The House committee asked the attorney general about its right to obtain the information, its right to force witnesses to appear by subpoena, and what use the committee could make of the information in the sealed envelopes.

"The legislature has given the subject committee the authority to request the described information by questionnaire but has not given it authority to compel the production of such information before the committee by subpoena and the committee cannot use or disclose such information as it relinquished to the committee in response to such subpoenas," the opinion said.

The opinion said the attorney general's department can find no general law or special legislative act giving the committee subpoena powers.

Following the final meeting on Dec. 22 and before the attorney general answered their questions, the House committee issued a report charging that many of Texas banks are taking inactive accounts for their own use through various charges and transfers.

Gov. Price Daniel gave the third special session of the Legislature the primary purpose of bringing banks under the state's abandoned property laws. A hearing on the governor's proposal is set for late today before the House Banking Committee.

A BAD DAY FOR LUMBER YARDS IN AREA

COAHOMA — Thursday was bad day for lumber yards in this area.

Thursday morning Coahoma firemen made a run to Sand Springs to extinguish a blaze in the Roy Chapman Lumber Yard on the south side of IS 20. The flames, which may have originated from a stove in the office, were extinguished after causing minor damage and smoking up the office.

The blaze at the Burton-Lingo Lumber yard in Coahoma Thursday afternoon, however, originated in the northwest part of the yard and was utterly out of control when it was discovered. Coahoma firemen, aided by others, did prevent the blaze from spreading.

2 Los Angeles Newspapers May Fold Up

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Hearst family's Examiner and the Chandler family's Mirror are reported about to cease publication.

Neither family, whose members have been newspaper rivals for more than half a century in what is now the nation's third largest city, would comment on the reports.

Several sources published stories saying the morning Examiner would suspend publication after Sunday and that the afternoon Mirror would end with today's editions.

At a time when American newspapers are enjoying their widest circulation, the trend is to fewer newspapers. A recent survey shows circulation at more than 60 million daily.

2 LEFT
If the reports about the Examiner and Mirror are true, two metropolitan papers will remain to serve the area of 6½ million population.

The two are the Chandlers' Morning Times, key in the family's large business-publishing enterprises; and the Hearst's afternoon Herald-Express.

There have been reports that the Herald-Express will become a seven-day newspaper with the addition of a Sunday edition.

The Examiner, 58 years old, once was the late William Randolph Hearst's newspaper headquarters.

The 13-year-old Mirror is the largest metropolitan newspaper to be launched in a major American city since World War II. The Chandlers invested millions in it.

Circulation figures on Los Angeles' four newspapers, as of last September's audit: Examiner 381,037 daily and 693,773 Sunday; Times 548,702 daily and 978,478 Sunday; Herald-Express 393,215 daily; and Mirror 361,882 daily.

HALF DOZEN
Back in the 1930s, when the city had a population of one million and the county two million, Los Angeles had half a dozen thriving newspapers. In the postwar years, labor and newspaper costs rose, and advertising competition increased from radio and TV, and community papers.

Los Angeles County has more than a hundred daily and weekly community newspapers.

Publications in the Los Angeles metropolitan area include regional editions of the Christian Science Monitor, which has headquarters in Boston; and the Wall Street Journal, based in New York.

Late this year the New York Times plans to publish a special Western edition in Los Angeles.

Adenauer Notes 86th Birthday

BONN, Germany (AP) — The usually sedate and quiet chancellery of West Germany echoed today with laughter and the clink of champagne glasses—Konrad Adenauer was celebrating his 86th birthday.

Amid hundreds of well wishers sided the world's oldest government chief, smiling, in obviously good spirits and not looking a day over 70.

Cowboy Star Is Hospitalized

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Former cowboy movie star Hoot Gibson has been hospitalized for possible abdominal surgery.

COAHOMA—Fire, whipped by a high, northwest wind, and fed by plenty of new lumber and building materials, leveled the Burton-Lingo Lumber Company's yard, office, and warehouses here Thursday afternoon. Nothing was saved from the blaze.

Residences on the east and southeast sides of the lumber yard were saved by firemen and willing neighbors, who scrambled on roofs with garden hoses, wet brooms, mops and whatever they could get their hands on.

Furniture, from a corner house nearest the blaze, was removed and placed on the pavement in the street.

POURED WATER

Two Coahoma fire trucks with volunteer firemen, a truck from Big Spring, one from Webb AFB, and two 5,000-gallon trucks owned by Jack Taylor, Coahoma contractor, poured water on the roaring blaze to hold down blowing sparks and embers. They could not extinguish the blaze and it consumed everything but solid stacks of lumber.

Cause of the fire has not been definitely established. W. C. Hutchins, manager of the company, said he heard somebody yell and he opened the door of the office.

"Smoke was everywhere and the fire was roaring like a tornado," he said. "I grabbed office records, threw them in the safe, and took off. There wasn't time for anything else."

HEAVY LOSS
Loss may run to approximately $60,000, Hutchins said, but definite figures were not available.

The warehouse, which paralleled Second Street on the east side, caught first. The office building was east of the warehouse and faced Culp Ave. Two storage buildings were on the alley to the east and both were lost. One of the smaller buildings housed 11 new water heaters, three bath tubs, and several sinks, lavatories and other plumbing fixtures.

A one and a half-ton delivery truck, parked in the center of the quarter-block-square yard was burned.

The time the fire started was not definitely established, but an electric clock, in a shop across the street, stopped at 4:25 p.m. when electric power was cut off. Estimates set the time at about 4 p.m.

NOT CERTAIN

A gin, on the west side of Second Street, was operating at the time of the fire, and lint covered the area. Firemen said the blaze could have been started in the lint, but this was not certain.

Electric power and telephone lines, paralleling the yard on the west and south, were cut by linemen because poles were burning.

Water pressure in Coahoma was lowered by pumps until residents were without water for a time.

"We want to thank Webb Air Force Base, Big Spring, Taylor Construction Co., and everybody else who helped to prevent the spread of the fire," Hutchins said. "We know the yard couldn't be saved, but residences close by were saved. If we hadn't had help, the losses would have been terrific."

NEW TRUCK

Coahoma has a new pumper fire truck and an older 1928 model American-LaFrance which still operates well.

Men and boys manning the hoses worked frantically to cut down the height of blazes in various parts of the yard, long after the buildings had collapsed. One Coahoma volunteer fireman, Bobby Myers, had inhaled smoke and heat until he could not talk, but kept on until ordered to see a doctor. He came back and still wanted to work.

Men worked with hooks to pull the sheet metal roof sections from the burning lumber so that water could be used to the best advantage.

STAYED ON JOB

Big Spring and Webb Air Force Base trucks and firemen stayed on the job until all danger of more fire was eliminated, and returned to their stations around 7:30 p.m. The two Coahoma trucks stood by until spark danger was gone. All danger was apparently over Friday morning.

R. Krause, Coahoma fire chief, said that a full crew and Chief H. V. Crocker came from Big Spring, followed by the Webb AFB chief and crew. When water pressure was at its lowest (only a four inch line from Sand Springs to Coahoma supplies Coahoma currently), Jack Taylor arrived with three semi-trucks loaded with water. Hoses were hooked on directly and helped contain the blaze.

HOUSE SAVED

Three times a house 150 feet downwind caught fire but each time was quickly extinguished and kept wet. Other nearby homes were soaked to prevent spread of the fire.

Some 20 members of the Coahoma volunteer fire department pitched in immediately after the alarm was spread. Texas Electric Service crews arrived quickly from Big Spring to reduce the hazard of hot power lines. Roy Black of the Civil Defense unit helped direct traffic.

Residents helped evacuate three homes, and when it was all over, said Ray Echols, residents, including high school students, ran for mops and brooms, gave the homes a good cleaning and helped move all the furniture and belongings back into place.

SCOUTS HELPED

Sea Scout Ship No. 136, led by C. Roy Wright, put in several hours late in the evening unstacking lumber piles so firemen could get at the smoldering remnants of the fire.

At the outset of the fire, Echols, a former fire chief, called the Big Spring water plant, source of supply, with a request that pumps be stepped up to capacity in an effort to increase reserves. However, with scores of homes in Sand Springs to draw on water first and with a small diameter line, the amount getting to Coahoma was limited. Taylor helped bridge the gap by shuttling his trucks to the Donald Lay tank north of town.

A quarter of a city block was left in ruins when Coahoma's Burton-Lingo Lumber Co. buildings burned Thursday

Outstanding Kiwanian

Rev. Jackson Named Outstanding Kiwanian

The Rev. V. Ward Jackson, pastor of the First Church of God, is the outstanding Kiwanian of Big Spring for 1967. He was announced Thursday night and will receive a plaque from his fellow club members in recognition of the designation. He was selected by popular vote from three Kiwanians who were nominated by the board of directors. The others were Jay Banks, police chief, and Bob Travis, Texas Electric Service Co. executive.

Jackson, in accepting the award last night at the annual installation banquet of the club in Cosden Country Club, said that he "could not accept it unless his fellow committeemen were included." He is chairman of the boys and girls committee of the club and Walter Eubanks and Dr. W. B. Hardy are the other members. Only Eubanks was present.

Jackson was cited by the club for the work he has done in behalf of the organization and for the young people of the community in the past year. He was leader of the successful clothing drive conducted for the Salvation Army; he was a guiding spirit in the club sponsored teen-age baseball team; he arranged recognition of the high school when that organization won high honors for its school; he directed the Americanism essay contest in the schools; he directed and arranged the annual West Side Park Christmas party; and he was responsible, this past week, for providing educational opportunity, through the club, for a deaf boy. In addition, Ernest Welch, retiring president

JFK Health Program Has Low Priority

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's plan for a Social Security health program has a low priority on the schedule of the House committee that may hold the key to its adoption or rejection.

Some Democratic leaders are tagging the proposal for hospital care for the aged under Social Security as the party's No. 1 domestic goal for the 1968 congressional session.

However, there was no indication it had picked up appreciable strength in the powerful Ways and Means Committee, which is dominated, 15 to 10, by Democrats.

Similar proposals in the past never won more than nine votes, all Democratic, in the committee. The committee does not plan to discuss the proposal, it was learned today, until it has disposed of three other administration measures, all of which are controversial in some degree.

One is the administration plan for an interim tax reform with incentives for business modernization expenditures. Agreement has been reached, it was understood, on a version of this substantially modified from Kennedy's original proposal, but acceptable to the administration. The committee may finish work on it this month.

Another is legislation to make changes sought by Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff in the federal-state welfare programs.

Board Denies Wiley Plea

AUSTIN (AP) — The Pardons Board denied today a request that the death sentence assessed Roosevelt Wiley for murder be changed to life imprisonment.

Wiley, 27, was convicted of murder in the 1958 knife slaying of L. H. Canada. The truck driver's body was found about 10 miles southeast of Sterling City.

Wiley, a Negro, was convicted and sentenced to death in Lubbock but that sentence was thrown out because of jury misconduct. He was convicted again and given another death sentence in Cilebrute.

At a clemency hearing Wednesday, lawyers presented affidavits from two men who once were in jail with Wiley saying that Canada actually was killed by Willie McDade. McDade, 16 at the time of the slaying, is serving a life sentence.

Girl's Steer Wins Second In Odessa

Mary Thornton's middleweight steer, which she had entered in the Odessa Fat Stock show, placed second in the judging on Thursday. Herb Helbig, Howard County farm agent, reported.

Mark Barr, Vincent, showed the third place lightweight steer and Glenda Haney the sixth place lightweight steer.

Two other steers — Howard County 4-H Club members had only five animals at the show — placed 19th and 26th respectively. Freddie White showed the former and Sharon Harrison, the latter.

Both are lightweight steers. Helbig said that the county won further distinction when the entire group of five steers, considered as a single county entry, placed third.

Two of the steers shown by the Howard County youngsters were bred by J. C. Sale of Stanton. These were Miss Thornton's middleweight and Mark Barr's lightweight entries.

An event of the show, classified as breeder's special, required the showing of three steers bred by a single breeder. By lumping the two Howard County steers with one shown by Deborah Stanley, Gaines County 4-H Club, a pen of three of the Sale animals was assembled and took first honors at the show.

The show comes to an end Saturday. A big auction sale will be one of the closing events. Miss Thornton and Miss Haney are selling their steers. The others will not be offered at this sale.

Robert Haney, whose quarter-horse, Irish Cupid, won first honors in the boys and girls' division at the show earlier this week, has sold a second quarter-horse—Leo's Dawn—he owned. He was paid $800 for the animal which placed second in the judging on Tuesday. Haney is keeping the horse which took first honors and grand championship at the show.

Y Member Drive Set

Top leadership of the YMCA annual membership enrollment squared off Thursday for its most monumental task.

"Let's not kid ourselves," said Adolph Swartz, general chairman. "We face a tremendous job. But we can do it. If we enlist dedicated workers who will pitch in, we can reach our goals."

Preliminary results from the sustaining division are most encouraging. Swartz told his co-workers. "While I know that a campaign of this scope is not an easy task," he continued, "I can tell you from contacts so far that you will be well received."

Meeting with him at the YMCA were Dr. M. McKinney, who is heading up the participating division, which set a goal of $25,000, and the division and sectional leaders. The sustaining group has a goal of $16,000.

Divisional leaders under McKinney are Dr. W. A. Hunt and Arnold Marshall, sectional chiefs under Dr. Hunt are Pete Cook, Ed Boullion, Ike Robb, Jack Davis. Those serving under Marshall are Robert Stripling, Bob Travis, Frosty Robison and Glenn Coates.

Jan. 8 has been set as the deadline for sectional leaders to have captains committed, and Jan. 15 the date for captains to have their workers committed. The kickoff dinner at the YMCA will be the evening of Feb. 4 with Bobby Morrow, famed Olympic sprint champion and Christian lay leader, as the speaker.

There will be report sessions each evening remaining in that week, except Saturday, and the drive is due to be buttoned up by Feb. 15, four days ahead of the annual banquet which will be addressed by Clinton Hawkins, national YMCA president.

Swartz said that under R. L. Tollett, R. W. Whipkey and Truman Jones, the sustaining division was performing yeoman service to date. He underlined the importance this year of each worker in the participating division first being a member of the YMCA before soliciting the memberships of others.

Less than one-fourth of the YMCA budget comes from the United Fund, and this is to help bridge the gap between the cost of youth memberships and their fees and to absorb costs of youngsters who cannot pay memberships. The remainder must come from sustaining and participating memberships.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration also released three drawings showing the techniques of launching a manned spacecraft into earth orbit, launching a powerful booster rocket and supply vehicle into orbit close behind, and joining them in space for the long journey to the moon.

The huge orbiting booster rocket, starting its motors in the near vacuum of space after hooking onto the Apollo vehicle, would drop away after accelerating the Apollo to escape velocity.

The Apollo craft would proceed around the moon, come back into earth orbit, and then be slowed so as to re-enter the atmosphere and return the crew to earth.

The sketch of the Apollo showed its three occupants seated side by side in the nose cone.

Officials said this was the shape that had proved—in wind tunnel studies at the space agency's Langley Field, Va., research laboratory—to be most satisfactory among a dozen different designs tested.

They said that while the astronauts would be seated for the launching, they would have a considerable amount of room in which to move about in flight. The roomy crew quarters were not shown in the compressed sketch.

The Apollo craft will be made up of sections that can be attached as required for different missions.

The command section, in the forward end of the lunar craft, contains mission control equipment, crew quarters, the equipment to support human life during flights of several weeks, and the devices involved in re-entry into the earth's atmosphere.

A service section to the rear would provide mid-course correction, electric power and supplies. Other sections would provide equipment for guidance and navigation, moon reconnaissance and high speed re-entry and recovery.

North American Aviation Inc. has been awarded a $400 million contract to build the Apollo spacecraft. The space agency will direct the Apollo program from a new manned spacecraft center at Houston, Tex.

The early Apollo flights will be launched by Saturn rockets.

Plads Guilty To DWI Charge

David C. Dunn, charged with DWI, pleaded guilty to the charge before Ed Carpenter, county judge, Friday morning. He was fined $50 and ordered to serve three days in the county jail. Dunn was arrested north of town by Deputy Sheriff Tommy Cole Thursday night.

George Anguiano, charged with aggravated assault, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail.

Clarence C. Royall, charged with forgery and passing a forged, is being held in the county jail in lieu of $3,500 bond set in his case on Thursday. Royall was recently returned from Los Angeles to Big Spring by Sheriff Miller Harris.

Adjustment Board Denies Variances

The Big Spring Zoning Board of Adjustment, in a called meeting at 3 p.m. Thursday, denied requests from two men for variances on front and side lot clearances for new construction.

E. G. Newcomer, 1808 Mittel Ave., had sought a permit to build a carport, with two feet and four inches side-lot clearance. The regulation calls for five feet.

Carl Strom, who owns the triangular lot at the intersection of State and Ridgeroad, had asked for an 18-foot variance in front set back on State Street to construct a new business building.

After going to the lot, which was staked, the commission asked Strom to redesign his building plans with more setback. Regulations specify a 25-foot setback.

Case Danger To Freedom Of The Press

AUSTIN (AP) — The Court of Criminal Appeals has under consideration a case that some lawyers say may endanger the freedom of the press in all of Texas.

The court heard arguments Wednesday on an application for a habeas corpus writ (freedom from court order) for Mrs. Margaret Davis, Houston Press reporter.

The court is expected to hand down its decision soon, probably next week.

Mrs. Davis was cited for contempt of court Dec. 11 by Harris County Court-at-Law Judge Billy Ragan because she entered Ragan's court room and went beyond the railing to sit in the same area where other news reporters and lawyers sat.

On Nov. 21 Ragan forbid Mrs. Davis to go beyond the railing to the area of the courtroom nearest his bench. On that date, the Press published a front page story about Ragan and his insurance agency, including a reproduction of an affidavit Ragan had filed with the State Board of Insurance. The affidavit said Ragan spent half of his time in the insurance business.

In the contempt order, Ragan ordered Mrs. Davis to pay a $100 fine or go to jail. She appealed. She was joined in the request for relief from Ragan's order by the Texas Daily Newspaper Association and by United Press International, the only wire service received by the Houston Press.

Mrs. Davis is free on $200 bond. John Crocker, Houston Press lawyer, told the appeals court that the purpose of the contempt order was "to vent personal spleen on one reporter."

Crocker said "You can't put one person out without interfering with all. As I view it, one of the rights of freedom of the press is the right of the people to know. If the court can bar one reporter, it can bar three, or six, or all."

The Texas Daily Newspaper Association's brief asked the court to review the record "since action of the judge citing reporter was so flagrant, violent and harsh."

Ragan's lawyers argued that the Criminal Appeals Court has no jurisdiction, since Mrs. Davis had made no attempt to obtain relief from the civil courts.

Picket Mary L. Hamilton struggles in the arms of a policeman during a clash between pickets and police outside Flower and Fifth Avenue Hospital on New York's upper Fifth Avenue. The labor dispute was in its third day with Local 1199 of the Drug and Hospital Employees Union picketing.

Reds Said Behind In Missile Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence specialists believe the Soviet Union will trail the United States by about half a year in getting an advanced intercontinental ballistic missile ready for combat.

Informal sources said today the latest estimate is that the first such Soviet ICBM will be ready in early 1963.

The first solid-fuel Minuteman, this country's most advanced ICBM, is due to become operational this summer.

Updated intelligence information also indicates the Soviets, by pressing, may have three Polaris-type missile firing submarines by the end of this year. None has been seen so far.

6 ATOM SUBS
The United States now has six nuclear powered submarines, each capable of firing 16 Polaris missiles deep into the Soviet Union. A seventh submarine is due to be commissioned in three weeks.

Before the end of this year the U.S. fleet will have a total of nine Polaris subs mounting 144 missiles.

The most recent intelligence estimates were believed to have been discussed by President Kennedy and top U.S. military leaders at meetings in Palm Beach, Fla., earlier this week.

Kennedy administration officials have felt for some time that the United States has an edge over the Soviets in deep-striking missiles.

The new intelligence estimates, sources said, point to a widening margin in favor of the United States.

The Texas Railroad Commission has approved an application by the Colorado River Municipal Water District for a show cause hearing to require operators to eliminate salt water pollution on the upper Colorado River.

The hearing date will be set for about 30 days hence, said E. V. Spence, general manager of the CRMW, Thursday.

At the same time, the commission will hear the district's application to plug two abandoned oil wells which have been discovered in the general area. The show cause hearing pertains to operators in the Sharon Ridge and the North Coleman Ranch oil fields of southwestern Scurry County and northwestern Mitchell County.

The CRMW has a permit to impound a second lake on the Colorado, but the permit is conditioned upon being able to demonstrate that steps are being taken to control salt water pollution of the stream.

Marine Chief Makes Annual Crisp Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. David M. Shoup, Marine commandant and crisp talking critic of the Corps, has given his annual word to the Marines.

Said he, in a message read to his staff and telegraphed to all Marine units around the world: "The Corps' work was 'passing good' last year; superior marksmanship knocked out some bull's eyes, but for 'a few Maggie's drawers!'"

(Note to non-Leathernecks: "Maggie's drawers" is a red flag waved by target attendants in rifle pits to indicate to a shooter that the last round he fired missed completely.)

The clean misses could have represented "bad range estimation on my part" in setting goals, but he still didn't like them.

Training is not all sitting in a chair, listening to lectures. "Get out into the kinds of geography in which you are likely to fight; get out into the rain, snow, cold and darkness to where you might have to do battle."

"I recently observed a training lecture in progress in a barracks. The platoon of Marines which was listening to their instructor talking about guerrilla tactics looked about as enthusiastic as weight-watching women waiting at the skim milk dispenser."

Fifty-plus per cent may satisfy some requirements. "There are those who draw salaries by battling only .333. But for Marines there can be only one goal—100 per cent."

He has "no trouble finding people to handle machines. The problem is to find people who can handle people. Concentrate on Marines. They'll handle the machines."

It is gratifying that increasing command attention is being given to combat intelligence. "However, there are too many of us who seem to hope for success in combat while operating in a black-sock atmosphere."

And finally "We will continue to teach fighting, but not hate." In an interview last fall, Shoup was asked what he thought about intensive troop orientation lectures on communism. He replied that teaching hate is not necessary to fight whatever enemy the commander in chief designates.

OAS Removes Sanctions On Dominican

WASHINGTON (AP) — Removal of diplomatic and economic sanctions against the Dominican Republic has triggered quick action to relieve the Caribbean island's ailing economy.

A vote by the council of the Organization of American States Thursday to remove sanctions cleared the way for an immediate increase in the amount of sugar which the United States buys—at high prices—from the Dominican Republic.

The vote was 20-0 with Cuba abstaining on grounds that removal of sanctions was a U.S. plot to establish a puppet Dominican regime. The OAS decision set off a series of moves by the United States and Latin-American nations to resume normal diplomatic and economic relations with the island republic.

OPEN DOORS
President Joaquin Balaguer said the OAS action will lead to "opening the doors to great possibilities on the economic front."

Balaguer, head of a compromise council of government established last Monday, reaffirmed he will step down as head of government before the end of this month. He had vowed to quit if the sanctions were removed.

The sanctions were voted in 1960 after an inter-American foreign ministers meeting in Costa Rica. The late Dominican dictator, Rafael L. Trujillo, was implicated in a plot to kill Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt.

The sanctions were continued during the island's stormy period after Trujillo's assassination last May 30.

After other members of the Trujillo family finally left the island—as U.S. warships cruised offshore—and Balaguer and rival elements agreed to the council of government, removal of the sanctions appeared imminent. It came Thursday.

COMPLETE BREAK
The sanctions involved a complete break of diplomatic relations by the OAS members. They also prohibited sale to the republic of such items as arms, petroleum and trucks.

Balaguer reported Wednesday that some 600,000 to 700,000 persons, more than half the working population, are unemployed.

Jose A. Mora, secretary-general of the OAS, arrived in Santo Domingo today to discuss technical assistance the OAS can offer for economic and social planning.

A group from the Inter-American Development Bank reportedly is planning to go to the republic, possibly next week.

And, State Department officials said, the OAS action means an automatic increase of 105,000 tons in the Dominican Republic's sugar quota for January-June, 1962. They said this plus an increase of 316,000 tons announced recently will pump an extra $26.5 million into the island's economy in the next six months.

ABOVE MARKET
The United States pays 5.5 cents a pound for sugar, about 3.25 cents a pound above the world market. The two increases in the Dominican quota—which had been running at only 43,000 tons—come from the amount which the United States used to buy from Cuba. The Cuban quota was canceled after the break in U.S.-Cuban diplomatic relations.

In another step to help the Dominican Republic, a mission headed by Teodoro Moscoso, Latin-American affairs director of the U.S. Agency for International Development, leaves Sunday to study the republic's immediate and long range needs.

Also, State Department officials said, they expect some military assistance will be given, including military training.

Balaguer said his government is ready to resume relations with all American states except Cuba.

Ex-Banker Free On Bond

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — The former executive vice president of the closed First State Bank of Premont returned to his home Thursday night under bonds totaling $75,000.

C. L. Richardson, 33, was released from jail here after posting a $25,000 bond. He was placed under bond Wednesday when he was charged with making a false entry.

Richardson was freed Thursday on a $50,000 bond in Alice where he is charged with two state banking violations.

The state charges claim the banker removed and concealed three promissory notes from bank examiners.

The State Banking Board in Austin said 90 per cent of the bank's deposits were insured and depositors will begin receiving payments Monday.

Negro's Remark Brings Caning
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — A Johannesburg magistrate has sentenced a 20-year-old African to be caned because he told a white woman, "My lady, but you've got nice legs."

"I felt very embarrassed," the woman, Faith Jennifer Seaton, told the court. "It's bad enough when my own people say it."

Miss Seaton said Alfred Majola made the remark while she was waiting for a train at the Johannesburg station.

"I think the punishment is well suited to the crime," the judge told Majola after ordering eight cuts with the rod.

Shot To Death
CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Pete Bernal, 16, was shot to death Thursday night as he stepped from a car to visit a girl friend. Police quoted the youth's brother, who was driving the car, as saying a gunman in ambush shot Bernal in the chest.

Show Cause Hearing OK'd

The Texas Railroad Commission has approved an application by the Colorado River Municipal Water District for a show cause hearing to require operators to eliminate salt water pollution on the upper Colorado River.

SPIRIT OF UNITY
By T. H. Tichel, preacher, Church of Christ, 2800 West Highway 86 P.O. Box 1283.

Accusing me of doing the opposite, a pastor's letter appeals to me a spirit of oneness among Christians, in spite of our differences. (See yesterday's article).

If by "a spirit of oneness" (not a Bible phrase), the pastor means the spirit of Christ; we are anxious to help create that. If he means to "follow after the things which make for peace" (Rom. 14:19); we certainly work for that. If he means "Endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace" (Eph. 4:3); we are for this one hundred per cent.

But the pastor speaks of "a spirit of oneness... in spite of our differences". This sounds like he means a pretention of oneness where there is in truth division. We cannot condone this. Paul says "the unity of the spirit" involves acceptance of "one body... one faith, one baptism" (Eph. 4:3-5). This is real unity. And because we are calling men back to the one faith, the one body, the one baptism, we are accused of fostering an ugly spirit.

A Devotional for Today

Let us run with patience the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith. (Hebrews 12:1-2)

PRAYER: Our Lord, our God, we thank Thee for all that is past. We trust Thee for all that is to come. Give us courage to follow where Thy Son doth lead us. Bring us at last to Thine eternal peace. Through Him who is our Savior, Amen.

Maintaining Nature's Balance

Many anthropologists and biologists now have grave doubts that a new race of men would evolve again on this earth if the human race as we know it is destroyed. This is based on the virtual disappearance of some evolutionary forms as well as radical environmental changes wrought by civilization.

Similar fears are expressed by geneticists in, of all things, the cultivation of corn for food and feed. The U.N. Department of Agriculture, in fact, has moved to promote the cultivation of more primitive types of corn in order to escape the dilemma presented by amazing developments in the field of hybrid corn. Corn culture has been revolutionized during the past 30 years in the United States. The discovery of "hybrid vigor" and the subsequent development of multi-crosses have permitted farmers to increase per-acre average yields from 22 bushels in 1933 to 33 bushels in the late 'Forties and 52.2 bushels in 1956.

As hybrid corn became the rule rather than the exception, however, ordinary non-hybrid corn disappeared from some states. To preserve the stock from which new hybrids can be developed and present stocks maintained the Department of Agriculture is promoting the culture of sufficient non-hybrid corn to guard against the sudden disappearance of corn.

We are only beginning to discover some of the insidious changes that have resulted from civilization. The disappearance of some species of birds is well known. But we do not yet know what changes may occur as a result of insecticides now used on so many major crops. There is a delicate balance in nature, most scientists agree. Any break in the chain between plankton and fish, for instance, could have grave consequences.

We need to devote much more scientific research than we now support to the study of man's total effect on his environment. It is not enough just to be concerned with the discovery of the new. We must also learn what we have done with the old to guard against a catastrophic imbalance in nature.

You Can Help Stop It

Our city is plagued currently with a wave of damage produced by BB guns.

It might be easy to link this with the holiday season and a mischievous impulse to try out these so-called air guns which were Christmas gifts. In the case of youngsters shooting at one another or firing carelessly, this may be so.

The real damage, however, is coming from youths who are bent on malicious destruction.

Small boys rarely shoot at windows, windshields, and similar targets. They do not roam the streets at night and seek out something to destroy.

The ones who do this sort of thing are the older boys who do it deliberately and usually according to a calculated plan. They may dull their inhibitions with drink, or they may be bold enough in their own meanness to make their rounds of destruction.

About the only thing they respect is the prospect that they may be caught.

What can we do to help stop this shameful and wanton maliciousness? There are two courses immediately open. If you are a parent, you can make an effort to reassure yourself that your children are not roaming around at night and that they know where you stand on anti-social matters. If you are just one of the public, you can help by reporting to officers suspicious actions or the numbers of automobiles which have aroused suspicion by movements. This will not necessarily involve you. It will help stop this nonsense.

Business At Mercy Of Politics

WASHINGTON — This is the season of "review and outlook." Yet nobody today really knows the future of American business for even a year ahead. All that can be of guidance is what has actually happened in the past few years, and it is evident already that the Kennedy administration has decided to ignore the lessons of the past and to try again the same devices that haven't worked before.

BASICALLY, the present administration is often advised by theorists who sincerely seek solutions based on economic factors, but these come into collision inevitably with the demands of pressure groups and politics.

If it weren't for the fact that politics rules above all else, there would be grounds for optimism about the future of business. But because politics, with its irresponsibility in government, is the controlling force, the chances are that more recessions, more unemployment and the "quack" remedies of "pump-priming" may be expected to dominate the headlines within the next six to eighteen months.

BUSINESSMEN are supposed to be "hostile" to the administration. Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges is running around the country trying to butter them up. But, unfortunately, he is regarded as a man without any real influence in the Kennedy administration. He got in wrong with many businessmen when he virtually wrecked the Business Advisory Council, which had for many decades served a useful function in the Department of Commerce. As a result of Mr. Hodges' private sessions with businessmen in various cities in recent weeks, the United Press International has just reported as follows:

"ON THE BASIS of eight off-the-record discussions in seven big cities and other contacts with businessmen, Hodges has concluded that it is mainly the officers of big firms, not small businessmen, who are hostile to the administration or who accuse it of being hostile to them. That hardly surprises the white-haired ex-governor of North Carolina, for he figures that big businessmen are pro-Republican anyway."

Unfortunately, this country is supposed to be divided between "big business" and "big labor," and the administration usually takes the side of the trade unions, though in the long run the interrelationship of the two has more to do with the ups and downs of the curve on the chart of business conditions than any other single factor.

THUS, OVER the weekend, the same old story bobbed up again in print. All the leading trade journals that report in detail the flow of orders in the steel industry came out with forecasts of a "boom" in steel for the early part of 1962. But there's a fly in the ointment.

One dispatch says that consumer inventories are expected to rise before June to 11.5 million tons, which constitutes "three months' supply." This is but another way of saying that steel users are preparing to protect themselves against a prospective strike. In fact, almost every one of the reports in the trade journals attributes the sudden upsurge in steel orders to the expected steel strike in June. If there is no strike, of course, steel production will drop considerably after June, and a "slowdown" in related industries will begin, as it did when the 1959 strike came to an end. This time, however, if there is a wage increase, there will be a price increase.

EVER SINCE President Kennedy wrote last autumn to the steel companies and labor leaders warning them against factors that would upset price stability, the country has been aware of an unsolved problem of serious proportions. Mr. Kennedy had an opportunity in his addresses last month before the National Association of Manufacturers in New York and the AFL-CIO in Miami to come to grips with this very issue. But he really sidestepped it. The political pitfalls evidently were too risky.

STATESMANSHIP is more than ever required. The country does not expect businessmen to be "hostile" to the administration, and certainly the administration should not be "hostile" to business. Yet the news from Washington regularly tells of plans that can upset business.

From every side, moreover, comes the story of the "profit squeeze" in business due to rising labor costs. The Treasury expects a balanced budget — if business thrives. But to get $10 billion more tax receipts from business and individuals in the next fiscal year and achieve a balanced budget would seem to be out of the question if a serious recession hits the country.

THE BALANCE-OF-PAYMENTS situation is also grave. It is not being aided by reports of tax measures aimed to restrict American enterprises which have plants overseas and which are competing effectively with foreign companies and also bringing back huge dividends to the United States. There are news dispatches, too, telling of administration plans to ask Congress to give the President the power arbitrarily to raise or lower taxes in the United States. Nothing could be more calculated to frighten business and disrupt long-range planning.

Meanwhile, European industry, with its lower wage costs, is threatening to cut down America's export trade. It's a time for realism as well as statesmanship. (Copyright, 1962, New York Herald Tribune, Inc.)

We're Hardly Out Of The Trees

WASHINGTON (AP) — This year has begun in reassuring fashion for anyone worried that mankind might be getting soft or inclined to let reason prevail over force and animal instinct.

On New Year's Day 30 people were injured in a Reno riot when police tried to break up a teenage kissing spree, 3 were killed in a Portuguese revolt and 12 were killed in Algerian riots which continued and by today had taken 72 lives.

The most heartening thing about all this, for those concerned that human muscle might get flabby from disuse, is that every day somewhere in 1962 some people will get killed keeping muscles in shape.

THE INDONESIAN government, for instance, is threatening to take West New Guinea from the Dutch by armed force, if necessary; the government of Iraq is ready to snatch Kuwait; the Indians are telling the Red Chinese and the Pakistanis to back off Indian land; the Berlin situation may turn very nasty; Laos is split; Viet Nam is plagued by Communist guerrillas; this week Fidel Castro was just as noisy and noisome as ever; French President Charles de Gaulle doesn't know what the Secret Army may do to him; the Congo is far from settled; and the United Nations has fallen into some disrepute.

The one-time colonial people, like India, Egypt and Ceylon, who screamed in pain and protest against the use of force when it was used against them by the British, feel no pain at all when one of them, India, uses force to grab a little real estate like Portuguese Goa. In the U.N., Egypt and Ceylon refuse to rebuke India.

AND RUSSIA, THE biggest colonial power of modern times, wouldn't rebuke India either, which is a kind of you-scratch-my-back-and-I'll-scratch-yours bit of diplomacy since now India can hardly rebuke Russia in the U.N. for any new Soviet adventures.

About the only consolation the rest of mankind can take from the Goan invasion by Prime Minister Nehru's India is that they probably won't have to listen to his pious preachments in the future when some nation uses brass-knuckles instead of brains. He'll hardly have the gall to try the holier-than-thou stuff again.

IT SEEMS SAFE to predict there will be a lot of congressional indignation about the U.N., but little action, since there is hardly enough national feeling for the United States to pull out of the world organization. So long as the U.N. lasts, it at least gives some of mankind an excuse to say there is a chance that reason and morality might prevail some day.

Without it, the nations could revert to their pre-U.N. international cannibalism without even a pretense that mankind had made a little progress.

To Your Good Health

Nature Has Chosen Milk As A Basic Food

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. "Dear Dr. Molner: I am an elderly lady who has hardening of the arteries. Should I continue to drink milk?—Mrs. D. L."

I'm quite aware that some research people recently have taken a whack at milk as a factor in hardening of the arteries. I can see their point—but I do not entirely agree.

First let me answer today's question, which is one of many in the same vein. Yes, I would keep on drinking milk.

Now for my main reasons. First, milk is not going to harm the arteries of elderly people who already have hardening of the arteries. And on the other hand, if they skip milk, they are going to miss the calcium and some other decidedly useful ingredients of milk.

Second, let me subject you to a somewhat more complicated reasoning. Basically (and this is why some people are aiming their criticism at it) milk does contain a certain amount of animal fat. Indeed, that is the way by which we measure its "richness."

Likewise—and this seems to go along with the theory of those who criticize milk—there is reason to think that excessive animal fats, or other "solid" fats, contain so much cholesterol that it raises the cholesterol level in the blood, and thus contributes to the amount of material which is gradually deposited in or on the artery walls and helps "harden" the arteries.

By every known criterion, the correct diet isn't one with NO fat. It is one with not too MUCH fat. We all need some fat. Even the rigid vegetarians need fat and they get it either in the form of dairy products or the various vegetable oils. It isn't fat that harms us. It's TOO MUCH fat!

The American diet is known to be richer in fats of all sorts than the diet in a good many other parts of the world. Some other areas are harmfully short of fats.

So should we therefore abolish all fats? No. We'd be as badly off as people in areas where there isn't enough fat!

Or to concoct a simile, there's the man who says, "I smoke three packs of cigarettes a day and three cigars. Do you think I should cut down on my cigars?"

No, young or old, don't worry about milk with its 4 per cent butterfat or thereabouts. If you are worrying about fat in the diet, cut the fat off your porkchops, eat boiled instead of fried potatoes, eat the lean instead of the fat part of your steak. You'll thus avoid enough fat to make up for more gallons of milk than you could possibly drink in any one day.

And if you still have any qualms, drink skim milk instead of whole milk. Milk is good for you, at any age.

After all, Nature has chosen milk as a basic food in the animal kingdom, and I'm afraid we are going far off the beam when we seek to indict it as a food—while we munch our French fries.

"Dear Dr. Molner: A friend of mine has a strained ligament, in fact has been in bed for three weeks. He is told that only rest will help. Could you recommend something that might be of relief, at least so he can get around again?—L. M. S."

Yes. Resting the part until the ligament has healed is best. Later an elastic support or adhesive taping may allow him up sooner.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is the use of face creams containing hormones harmful? Can they cause cancer?"

—Mrs. M. K.

No harm, no danger that I have any knowledge of. But they don't help, either.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is, and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner is happy to receive readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in his column. However, due to the great volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets he cannot answer letters individually.

Around The Rim

One Good Way To Get-On-The Weed

All this talk about fallout shelters and survival colonies is fine as far as it goes. But nothing is said about how to survive if you're caught out in the middle of the desert (or some other uninhabited place). Probably, everyone assumes everybody will be at home, or near it, and that a person caught in the wilderness won't have a chance anyway.

Well, if that's what you've been thinking, you're probably right. A hermit or a hunter far from civilization isn't likely to have a radio along, and he'll never know what killed him. Even if he does learn of the fallout, he probably won't be able to find and seal off a cave in time.

BUT LET'S SUPPOSE that the world has been atomically reduced, you survive, and find yourself compelled to hike cross-country in search of others. Or, just suppose that, atomic war or not, you find yourself far out in the Southwestern desert. In either event, you're going to have to find some sort of shelter for the night, mainly because it's a bit chilly and there's a rain cloud looming.

To further complicate matters (and get me to the point) you discover there are no mountains or hills nearby which are likely to have caves in them. All you have is dry, rolling plains with grass and weeds and greasewood and tumbleweeds. Not even trees.

ALL IS NOT LOST—take it from a fellow who, at the age of 12 or thereabouts, roamed the West Texas prairies for as long as two weeks with only gun, knife and canteen—no prepared food, no pup tents. All you have to do is make yourself a weed house.

That's right—weeds. Select a bit of high ground, dig a drainage trench around the rim of your intended house. Weave together branches of catclaw (this is preferred, but it can be done with mesquite) and string them in a solid woven circle on the inside rim of the ditch. (This keeps out snakes and other varmints.) Weight them with large stones.

THEN, USING whatever weeds and bushes are available, continue the weaving process upward and inward, as does the Eskimo with his igloo—in other words, a dome. Make sure that the materials are tightly laced, and that each bundle is tightly bound. Also, be sure to place the bundles vertically, not horizontally, so that the rain water will drain downward, and not drip right on through. Mesquite branches interwoven will add strength.

Now, with a small fire in the center of your hut, and a prickly bush such as tumbleweed drawn into the doorway, you can settle down and not worry about wind or rain—unless it's a flood or hurricane. Weed houses take less than an hour to build, and can be warm and snug.

These Things Happened In 1961

At every year's end, all the cosmic columnists write a portentous roundup of the annum's most significant events — a recital calculated to convince the citizenry that there is no tomorrow.

As '62 approached, I felt that '61 had been sufficiently ominous without further agitating the ganglia. However, there are such startling omissions in the roundups I have read that I feel compelled to amend or at least insert footnotes to the Via Dolores of the cosmic thinkers.

SO, ALL RIGHT, 1961 was the year of the Cuban fiasco, but let us not forget that it was also the period in which parents, increasingly in need of aid in the modern world, got it in one of the most delicate areas of their responsibility.

A smart British psychiatrist, using the name of Keith Cammeron, bailed parents out of their most embarrassing duty by cutting a 12-inch record (both sides) detailing the facts of life for adolescents — who, if they don't know them already, have never been permitted to watch television or go to the movies.

PARENTS WITH intestinal fortitude can stay in the room with their offspring while the record talks. Or if parents chicken out, they can lock the kids in the room and go out to the nearest pub. Thus the earth and the bees, after a long reign, and enter the woofers and the tweeters. There goes the pollen—

The year just past was the one in which a rich New Yorker, answering in the affirmative Cain's sniveling question, "Am I my brother's keeper?" was arrested for so acting.

IT REQUIRED several days during 1961 before the people, police and courts of New York City could understand that a wealthy aristocrat, John S. Cram, gentle, scholarly and compassionate, preferred to provide shelter, food and clothing for down-and-outers rather than throwing money away in night clubs in the manner of normal scions.

If for nothing else, 1961 should be memorable as the year in which the British decided to adopt the decimal currency system and no longer muddle through with the most confusing and maddening monetary method since the Indian gave up wampum. That system has done more to drive tourists across the channel to France than Brussels sprouts, British coffee and boiled puddings combined.

NO FACET OF 1961 endeared the year to me more than the giant step forward on the part of pool parlors, which decided to organize to "seek status." Any of Papa's children caught hanging around a pool hall would have eaten off a mantel for a week. But the newly organized Billiard Room Proprietors Association of America is going to make of its establishments a cross between the Y.M.C.A. and the P.T.A.

In 1961, Abraham A. Ribicoff, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, said that (1) it didn't hurt kids to learn the worth of work and a dollar earned and (2) maybe Federal laws to prevent the exploitation of children were too strict for the nation's good.

IT WAS ALSO the year in which men, women and children could get arrested just for kneeling and praying in public for something so subversive as social justice.

A lot of other equally relevant things happened in 1961, too, including a recital at Carnegie Hall in which the music was so far out that one of the performers peeled a grapefruit, squeezed lemons and counted the hairs of a dead child.

THE PUNDITS simply couldn't see the trees for the woods when they wrote their year-end roundups. The trees were there, all right, just waiting for the poor man's Joyce Kilmer or Mark Sullivan.

Scientists: Stick To Your Test Tubes

WASHINGTON — Meeting recently in Philadelphia, the American Anthropological Association turned from its business session and took the awkward plunge into topical politics. The results were even worse than usual when scientists departed from their own element. The anthropologists, like Kipling's villagers who voted they lived at the center of the world, resolved to prove something equally preposterous by taking a nose count. They voted:

"THE AAA repudiates statements now appearing in the U.S. that Negroes are biologically and in innate ability inferior to whites . . ."

The anthropologists were reacting, it now appears, to the embarrassing success of a little truth-telling book, "Race and Reason" by Theodore Roosevelt's biographer, Carleton Putnam. This author has produced a cerebral earthquake among modern conformists that compares in humorous effects, though not, of course, in magnitude, with another disturbing little truth-teller of last century—Charles Darwin's "Origin of the Species."

HAD THE ROYAL Academy of Scientists in dear Victoria's day met and resolved, "Men are not descended from monkeys — so there!" we would have something like the Philadelphia Story of the Scandalized Scientists.

These poor unworshiped scholars were apparently so keen on showing themselves on the side of the Supreme Court, the liberal press and political orthodoxy that they forgot the Ben Franklin-esque adage that what people do outshouts what they say. For decades the same schools of anthropologists had been scientifically proving and discussing racial differences. Suddenly this convention says it isn't so.

PUTNAM'S BOOK is unintentionally mischievous and galling to the conformists because it is essentially a read-back of scientific and pragmatic findings on race over the years. Some of the venerable and departed anthropologists who have achieved near-sainthood in the fraternity, must feel uncomfortably like Joe Stalin, whose successors denounced, denoted and finally buried him for political expediency.

Putnam, a New Englander of ancient ancestry, a Princeton graduate of '24, an airline proprietor in the Western and Southern States, a scholar of catholic tastes, a gentleman of cultural refinement, with no passion for cults or publicity, is the unluckiest kind of fellow for the role into which he's been catapulted by circumstance. He was minding his own business one morning in October of 1958, in fact he was reading the morning newspaper, when three sentences from an opinion by Justice Frankfurter in the Little Rock cases "spoiled my breakfast." Here they are:

"LOCAL CUSTOMS, however hardened by time, are not decreed in Heaven. Habits and feelings they engender may be counteracted and moderated. Experience attests that such local habits and feelings will yield, gradually though this be, to law and education."

This pious drivel offended Putnam's sense of truth. He felt that "local customs" were "hardened by time" for very good reasons, that Heaven had a lot more to do with racial differences and relationships than the Supreme Court did. The upshot was that Putnam wrote President Eisenhower a letter which eventually got into the Southern papers and subsequently swept the nation.

INSPIRED BY the response, Putnam went to work on his book which shows, by chapter and verse, that scientists know doggone well there is a difference in the intellectual capacity of the races, and that history, literature, music, art and everyday experience confirm what science proves.

Putnam and I had lunch when his book came out, and I warned him that he'd get the Averted Glimpse from the metropolitan press and the literary journals which had treated his Roosevelt biography so respectfully, but which would now treat him like a leper.

THIS IS WHAT happened, but by an organized campaign to let people hear about the book, he is now the author of a 50,000-copy book seller.

Those anthropologists? Oh, yes, they are pretty ashamed of themselves. The next time they vote on whether races are different, their old masters so often proved, they're going to use a secret ballot.

Styles Modeled In OWC Show Creations From Thrift Shop

Well received was the "style show" presented for members of the Officers' Wives Club Thursday afternoon, when the OWC luncheon was held at the Officers' Club.

Music for the event was provided by members of the Drum and Bugle Corps of Boy Scout Troop No. 17, Explorer Post No. 116, with Airman J.C. James C. Hough, leader, and Capt. Pernel Johnson, director.

"Models," Capt. R. D. Daley, Lt. Max Odle, Capt. A. D. Johnson, Maj. F. C. Snyder, Capt. Robert Wubker, Col. B. F. Yeargin and Capt. D. O. Coakley, portraying pilots' wives, wore styles of questionable date and origin from the Webb Air Force Thrift Shop.

Dignity Lacking In Current Bridal Dress

NEW YORK (AP)—Most modern brides who walk down the aisle look "dreadful" in wedding fashions that "should have gone out with the horse and carriage," says a noted New York milliner.

"I went to some 50 weddings in a year and a half," said the milliner, who goes by the name of William J. "It was pretty dreadful. I went to observe the fashions and to see what, if anything, should be changed or improved upon."

Weddings should be the most beautiful time in a woman's life, and everything associated with them should have dignity, he said Thursday in an interview with the New York Times.

But neither bridal dresses nor the hairdos worn by brides impart this dignity, he contended. "We must do away with the ripped-in waist, the huge full skirt, the massive train, the layers of tulle—the whole cumbersome dress," said William J.

In its stead, he suggested substituting "terrifically simple dresses that make a girl feel exciting." These dresses would be made of either dull satin or crepe, would be "almost comfortable" and would have ankle-length skirts instead of yards of unwieldy material around the feet.

"Please," he said, "no sweetheart necklines or any of that junk. And no tricks, no fancy drapes and no seed-pearl embroidery."

For the very formal wedding, William J. suggests a bride with the barest suggestion of a train—"A small softness that comes out from the end of the skirt."

He also suggests very long white gloves, bridal bouquets that look natural, casual hairdos and headpieces that look more like hats.

During his round of weddings, William J. came to the conclusion that "the bridal consultant is the number one monster, and the hairdresser is monster number two."

Consultants, he said, have very little fashion sense and are bound by "phony tradition."

As for hairdressers, he said they "get everybody upset and shouldn't be allowed at the wedding."

In reaction, Maggie Fisk, a bridal consultant, agreed that too many brides are fussily dressed, but she placed the blame on the brides themselves and on their mothers.

"We feel that manufacturers are putting too many beads and sequins on things, but if it's what the customers want, what are you going to do?" she asked.

LIVER WITH CRISP ONIONS
4 large slices (3/4-inch thick) liver (1 1/4 pounds)
6 tbsps. butter
1 1/4 tbsps. vinegar
1/4 cup minced parsley
1 can (3 1/2 ounces) French-fried onions

Remove skin and cut away any tubes near edges of liver. In a large heavy skillet, melt 2 tablespoons of the butter; brown and cook liver in it, two slices at a time if necessary.

Remove liver and keep warm; wipe skillet clean. Add remaining 4 tablespoons butter and vinegar; heat until a light brown color, watching and stirring so as not to scorch.

Pour butter over liver; sprinkle with parsley. Meanwhile heat onions according to can directions; sprinkle over liver. Makes 4 servings.

Spaders Elect Officers; Plan Placement Show

Mrs. Jay Cunningham was hostess for members of the Spaders Garden Club Thursday afternoon when new officers were elected.

Mrs. H. B. Perry was selected for president; Mrs. Don Tranthan, vice president; Mrs. D. A. Miller, secretary, and Mrs. W. E. Edwards Jr., treasurer. Mrs. Don Williams was named reporter.

Mrs. Dave Dorchester will be parliamentary, and Mrs. F. D. Williams will represent the club at the Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs.

"Kinds of Iris" was the topic of Mrs. Kyle Cauble's discussion for the group, who were told of the side variety of flowers; included in the list are the bearded, the most common iris in this section; the Siberian, which will grow in most soils, according to the speaker.

The crested iris is a dwarf variety, Mrs. Cauble said, and the 'Spuria' is beardless; it is not necessary to divide the plant as often as other types, and it does well at the water's edge. The Japanese iris is also good for planting close to water, members were told. An iris grown from a bulb instead of a rhizome is the Dutch iris.

Plans were made for the home placement show, which the club will give May 2 in the home of Mrs. Don Williams, 2406 Parkway.

Chairmen include Mrs. F. D. Williams, general head; Mrs. Dale Smith, schedule; Mrs. Bob Carille, entries; Mrs. Bruce Frazier, judges; Mrs. W. D. Caldwell, applications, and Mrs. Trantham, clerks.

Mrs. Kyle Cauble will head the publicity committee; Mrs. Cunningham, hostesses, and Mrs. Earl Burnett, educational and conservation exhibit.

Bo Bowen was welcomed into the club as a new member. The next meeting is slated for Jan. 18 at 2 p.m. in the home of Mrs. V. A. Whittington, 809 W. 17th.

Duplicate Group Scheduled For Master Point Play

At a meeting of duplicate bridge players Thursday evening at the Officers' Club, announcement was made of the master point night scheduled for Jan. 11. Eleven tables were required for players Thursday evening.

Winning first in north-south play were Mrs. Fred Haller and Mrs. Jack Price; Mrs. B. B. Badger and Mrs. Anne Hardy were second; Mrs. Garrett Patton and Mrs. J. D. Robertson, third; Mrs. Rogers Hefley and Mrs. Riley Foster, fourth.

In east-west position, winners were Mrs. Ray McMahan and Mrs. J. H. Holloway; Mrs. Myrtle Lee and Mrs. W. E. Harris, second; Mrs. W. L. Slate and Mrs. Robert Dyer, third; Mrs. George McGann and Mrs. D. W. Wall, fourth.

Expected Sunday are Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Davis and small daughter, Leslie, of New York City; they will be guests in the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Woodall, 808 W. 14th. Davis, a noted pianist, presented a concert in Corpus Christi and will leave Big Spring for Monahans where he will make another appearance.

Rules Changes Are Upcoming In Football

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Football rulesmakers, concerned over a one-year jump in high school football fatalities, will act today on several recommended rule changes, with the emphasis on safety.

High school deaths caused directly by football injuries jumped from 7 to 15 last fall.

Proposed changes will go before 48 voting delegates at the National Alliance Football Committee convention. Because of the increase in deaths one radical change has an outside chance of adoption.

This is the rule that now allows blocking with one arm held horizontally away from the shoulder. While the hand must be on the chest—the elbow is up and has become a dangerous weapon in the view of some officials. This rule was adopted to aid the fast-striking T-formation. It may be changed to require the arms be kept against the sides.

The alliance represents 14,000 football-playing high schools and 400 small colleges and junior colleges in 49 states. It includes the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, the National Junior College Athletic Association and the National Federation of High Schools.

Clifford B. Fagan, executive secretary of the alliance, said there was strong feeling among some rulesmakers for a rule to eliminate the return of kicks, but it was doubtful this change would be adopted.

He said a recommendation for soft padding on rib, shoulder and hip pads—starting with some future season—likely will be adopted. Another likely change is a proposal to modify requirements for tooth and mouth protectors, allowing the use of additional types.

The alliance's recommendations on equipment and rules changes probably will be a major topic of discussion at the National Collegiate Athletic Association's convention in Chicago next week. There is a possibility the NCAA may take some action on the proposals put forth by the alliance at that time.

The HCJC-Moberly game will be broadcast over radio station KBST Big Spring 1490.

Cincy Rips Billikens For Tenth Cage Win

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ

The Cincinnati Bearcats, who hold the National Collegiate Basketball championship although currently ranked second to Ohio State, might be "playing 'em one at a time," but you can't blame Coach Ed Jucker and his talented Los Angeles classic. To demonstrate their fitness as the top-ranked team in The Associated Press poll.

Cincinnati has placed a big asterisk on the calendar date of Feb. 24. That's when the Bearcats get a chance to avenge their road defeat by Wichita.

No other members of the top ten saw action Thursday night. Ohio State in the NCAA championship final at Kansas City. But Cincy's hopes were dampened on Dec. 18 when Wichita jolted the Bearcats 52-51 in a league game for their lone loss.

Unbeaten Ohio State, meanwhile, has rebounded from its setback last spring. The Buckeyes have won 11 straight games, including three in the formidable Los Angeles classic. To demonstrate their fitness as the top-ranked team in The Associated Press poll.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

The tub beaters said the Rose Bowl game was going to be a sellout but it wasn't. Fact is, the only game which experienced maximum business was the Cotton Bowl in Dallas and the ticket windows there were open up until kickoff time.

The Rose Bowl people had their problems because (1) they offered an attraction not up to their usual standards and (2) Minnesota was featured for the second straight year.

The largest Rose Bowl tour agent in the country reported his business was off nearly 50 per cent. He had hoped to sell 300 tickets for a special train and wound up disposing of about a fourth that many tickets.

One observer said that 65 per cent fewer Minneapolis fans followed their team west than last year. A lot of the people who had waited a lifetime for the Gophers to play in the game satisfied the urge to follow them last year. This year many of them stayed home. Average cost to a Minnesota student attending the game was $350. Average cost to an adult was $1,000.

It's easy to see why a lot of Minnesota followers were content to stay home and watch the game on TV.

Buddy Travis, the HCJC cage mentor, probably has been plagued more with ankle injuries than anytime he's been coaching.

At the present time, Larry McElya and Jerry Tillman—both of whom are regulars—are in dry dock with ankle injuries. Charles Stockton went out with a similar bruise about a month ago. Clark Jennings, Lou Baleston, Earnest Turner and Bill Thompson have all been hit with ankle miseries within the past few weeks.

Half of the Jayhawks are now having their ankles taped, to guard against injuries, before each game.

A few seasons ago, when Ranger High School was experiencing one of its poorest seasons in basketball, two girls—sitting together in the middle of the bleacher section—composed the entire gallery for a home game.

At half time, a school official took charge of the program and made a rather lengthy speech from the middle of the playing court, then climaxed his talk by saying:

"And now I give you the Basketball Queen and the runner up in the election."

The two girls who had been watching from their isolated positions in the grandstand made their way to the floor, received the parchments that went along with the honor and then themselves departed the gymnasium for home.

The rest of the game was played without a single spectator in the stands.

The Texas Sportswriters Association, thanks to a liberal offer made by the State Fair of Texas, hopes to have room to display pictures and mementoes of the 31 Sports Hall of Fame members who have been voted into the shrine.

If plans jell, the Hall of Fame would share quarters with the Health and Science Building (actually occupy about one-tenth of the structure's floor space). No rental would be exacted but a maintenance fee of $100 monthly would be charged. The suggested fee poses a problem, since the TSWA operates on a very small budget. (There is now no method for raising money outside of membership dues.)

A spokesman for the Health and Science building at the Fairgrounds says between 150,000 and 200,000 people visit that facility each year.

If a small percentage of those could be lured to the Hall of Fame, and be charged a small fee for the privilege of going through the museum, the fee could be easily raised.

Eye Doctor Helped Maris On His Home Run Binge

By HARRY CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—The New York Yankees' mighty slugger Roger Maris credits an eye examination and a front office conference with providing the impetus for his record breaking feat of 1961 when he whacked 61 homers.

"The eye doctor told me that with my eyesight I could fly a jet plane, so I knew that was O.K.," Maris told the Fraternal Order of Eagles award dinner Thursday night. "And the front office told me to quit worrying, forget about batting averages and just go out there and swing a bat. You might say that was the turning point. I quit pressing and so, here I am, but I sure was lucky, and don't forget it."

Maris and the fabulous Tennessee State and Olympic track star Wilma Rudolph Ward were here Thursday to receive the Frederick C. Miller trophies emblematic of their selection in The Associated Press poll as the athletes of the year for 1961.

After the presentations by Circuit Judge Robert Cannon and Milwaukee AP Bureau Chief Austin Bealmer, Maris and Mrs. Ward were questioned before the audience of 500 by Sports Editor Lloyd Larson of the Milwaukee Sentinel and Cleon Walford of the Milwaukee Journal.

Maris, who collected his 61 homers off 46 pitchers, named Camilo Pascual of the Minnesota Twins as the hurler he'd "most like to see out of the league." He hit just one round tripper off Pascual and has a healthy respect for the Minnesota righthander.

The panel wanted to know what question Maris finds most irritating now that the season is over.

He replied: "I suppose it would be, 'Are you going to hit 62 in '62?'"

Mrs. Ward, the world's fastest woman, holder of world records of 6.8 seconds in the 60 yard dash indoors and 11.2 in the 100 meters outdoors, says she has hopes of clipping one-tenth of a second off the 60 yard sprint when she opens her competitive season at Los Angeles later this month.

She picked the 60 yard event as the one in which she has the best chance to write a new record.

Maris headed for New York today, hoping for an early conference with Yankee officials about his 1962 contract. He's reportedly seeking $75,000, about double his 1961 salary. Mrs. Ward, a recent bride, went back to Tennessee to start shedding 18 pounds. Too much eating over the holidays, she said.

Royal Earns Second Laurel

DALLAS (AP)—Darrell Royal, producer of one of the nation's top teams and winner of the Cotton Bowl, today was given his second award of the year by the Texas Sports Writers Association.

Royal was picked as Southwesterner of the Year—the top accolade.

This award goes to the person who makes the greatest contribution to sports in the Southwest.

The Texas coach previously had been selected as senior college coach of the year and became one of the few persons who have won double honors.

Royal had 91 seasons at Texas, tying for the Southwest Conference championship. Then he beat Mississippi 12-7 in the Cotton Bowl for one of the great triumphs for the Southwest Conference.

Norman Cash, the Detroit star who led the American League in batting, was a close second. Peck Robison, former basketball coach of Texas Tech, was third. Bud Adams, owner of the Houston Oilers, champions of the American Football League, ranked fourth. Craig Cullinan, who headed the syndicate that brought National League baseball to Houston, was next.

Selection of Royal completed the yearly honor roll.

James S. Atton, Texas' All-America halfback, was amateur athlete of the year.

Red Lewis of Howard County was junior college coach of the year.

Cash was picked as professional athlete of the year.

Earl Scott, whose Donna team was Class AA, state champion, was named high school football coach of the year.

All will receive plaques from the Sports Writers Association at the annual sports achievement dinner of the Dallas YMCA next month.

Goliad Teams Win A Pair Over Snyder Contingents

SNYDER —The Goliad ninth graders got beat by Snyder Lamar, 65-49, here Thursday evening but two other Big Spring basketball teams won decisions.

The Goliad eighth graders finished in front, 24-17, after the Goliad seventh had prevailed, 21-15.

In the ninth grade engagement, Joe Rattle kept Big Spring in connection with a 15-point effort. Big Spring, which now has a 2-6 won-loss record, plays the Andrews A and B teams in Big Spring Friday.

Tommy Newsom tallied nine points for the Goliad seventh graders, who now have won twice while losing five times. Goliad scored only one point in the first quarter and trailed at half time, 11-7, in that one.

The Goliad eighth graders leveled their won-loss record at 5-5 by winning. A rolling stall Snyder employed kept the score down.

Only two players scored for Goliad and Simon Terrazas led the way with 14 points.

Royal Earns Second Laurel

DALLAS (AP)—Darrell Royal, producer of one of the nation's top teams and winner of the Cotton Bowl, today was given his second award of the year by the Texas Sports Writers Association. Royal was picked as Southwesterner of the Year—the top accolade. This award goes to the person who makes the greatest contribution to sports in the Southwest. The Texas coach previously had been selected as senior college coach of the year and thus became one of the few persons who have won double honors. Royal had a 9-1 season at Texas, tying for the Southwest Conference championship. Then he beat Mississippi 12-7 in the Cotton Bowl for one of the great triumphs for the Southwest Conference. Norman Cash, the Detroit star who led the American League in batting, was a close second. Polk Robinson, former basketball coach of Texas Tech, was third. Bud Adams, owner of the Houston Oilers, champions of the American Football League, ranked fourth. Craik Cullinan, who headed the syndicate that brought National League baseball to Houston, was next. Selection of Royal completed the yearly honor roll. James Saxton, Texas' All-America halfback, was amateur athlete of the year. Red Lewis of Howard County was junior college coach of the year. Earl Scott, whose Donna team was Class AA state champion, was named high school football coach of the year. All will receive plaques from the Sports Writers Association at the annual sports achievement dinner of the Dallas YMCA next month.

Cincy Rips Billikens For Tenth Cage Win

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Cincinnati Bearcats, who hold the National Collegiate Basketball championship although currently ranked second to Ohio State, might be "playing 'em one at a time," but you can't blame Coach Ed Jucker and his talented lads for looking ahead. The Bearcats went back to the task of Missouri Valley Conference competition Thursday night after they celebrated Christmas by winning the Holiday Festival at New York's Madison Square Garden. Cincinnati disposed of league rival St. Louis 62-47 for their 10th victory in 11 outings. Last March Cincinnati stunned Ohio State in the NCAA championship final at Kansas City. But Cincy's hopes were dampened on Dec. 18 when Wichita jolted the Bearcats 52-51 in a league game for their lone loss. Unbeaten Ohio State, meanwhile, has rebounded from its setback last spring. The Buckeyes have won 11 straight games, including three in the formidable Los Angeles classic. To demonstrate their fitness as the top-ranked team in The Associated Press poll. Cincinnati has placed a big asterisk on the calendar date of Feb. 24. That's when the Bearcats get a chance to avenge their road defeat by Wichita. No other members of the top ten saw action Thursday night. Gene Wiley accumulated 27 points in Wichita's 77-64 conquest of Drake, little Bruce Drysdale's clutch shooting enabled Temple to edge St. John's (N.Y.) 52-51. Jim Thompson supplied the scoring impetus for Southern Methodist. Rice sprouted in the second half to whip Baylor 79-56. Jack Foley's 30-point output triggered Holy Cross to an 80-48 triumph over Dartmouth and Colgate handed Syracuse its 14th straight defeat over a two-year span, 70-62. Cincinnati began to click when Wilson replaced 6-9 Paul Hogue with four minutes to play in the first half. The sophomore sensation from Chicago hit three straight baskets to give the Bearcats a 22-16 edge. Wilson scored the last six points before the half ended, giving Cincy a 33-20 advantage at the intermission. The Ohioans pulled away to a 50-20 bulge and coasted the rest of the way. Ron Bonham, another Cincinnati soph, chipped in with 14 points. Bill Nordmann was high for the defensive-minded Billikens with 9. Foley, the nation's second leading scorer, maintained his 29.3 average by sinking 13 of 23 field goals and 4 of 6 free throws for Holy Cross. Colgate snapped its five-game losing streak at the expense of hapless Syracuse, which is 0-9 on the season. Bob Duffy topped the Red Raiders with 20 points and teammate Bruce Corbett came off the bench in the second half to contribute 12 of his 14 points and help thwart an Orange rally. He said a recommendation for soft padding on ribs, shoulder and hip pads—starting with some future season—likely will be adopted. Another likely change is a proposal to modify requirements for tooth and mouth protectors, allowing the use of additional types. The alliance's recommendations on equipment and rules changes probably will be a major topic of discussion at the National Collegiate Athletic Association's convention in Chicago next week. There is a possibility the NCAA may take some action on the proposals put forth by the alliance at that time.

LOOKING 'EM OVER With TOMMY HART

The tub beaters said the Rose Bowl game was going to be a sellout but it wasn't. In fact, it is the only game which experienced maximum business was the Cotton Bowl in Dallas and the ticket windows there were open up until kickoff time. The Rose Bowl people had their problems because (1) they offered an attraction not up to their usual standards and (2) Minnesota was featured for the second straight year. The largest Rose Bowl tour agent in the country reported his business was off nearly 50 per cent. He had hoped to sell 200 tickets for a special train and wound up disposing of about a fourth that many tickets. One observer said that 65 per cent fewer Minneapolis fans followed their team west than last year. A lot of the people who had waited a lifetime for the Gophers to play in the game satisfied the urge to follow them last year. This year many of them stayed home. Average cost to a Minnesota student attending the game was $350. Average cost to an adult was $1,000. It's easy to see why a lot of Minnesota followers were content to stay home and watch the game on TV.

Kick Artists With McPeak

WASHINGTON (AP)—Coach Bill McPeak, plagued all season long with inadequate place kicking on his Washington Redskins, will have two of the best in college ranks going for him Sunday in the U.S. Bowl. He'll get his first look today at the kicking of Greg Mather and Don Jonas. Mather, Navy end, kicked the two field goals that beat Army, 13-7. He kicked 11 field goals during the season and connected on 22 of 23 conversions to establish an NCAA record of 55 points by kicking. Jonas, Penn State halfback, kicked six field goals and 17 of 22 extra points, some of them after his shoulder was dislocated in the Syracuse game and he was unable to see other action. "We haven't worked on kicking yet," said McPeak. "We're going to concentrate on that Friday. I'll get my first look at Mather and Jonas. I expect they may divide the kicking duties." The game in D. C. Stadium matches draft choices by the Eastern Division of the National Football League against players chosen by the Western Division. Coach Red Hickey of San Francisco coaches the Western team.

Eye Doctor Helped Maris On His Home Run Binge

By HARRY CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—The New York Yankees' mighty slugger Roger Maris credits an eye examination and a front office conference with providing the impetus for his record breaking feat of 1961 when he whacked 61 homers. "The eye doctor told me that with my eyesight I could fly a jet plane, so I knew that was O.K.," Maris told the Fraternal Order of Eagles award dinner Thursday night. "And the front office told me to quit worrying, forget about batting averages and just go out there and swing a bat. You might say that was the turning point. I quit pressing and so, here I am, but I sure was lucky, and don't forget it." Maris and the fabulous Tennessee State and Olympic track star Wilma Rudolph Ward were here Thursday to receive the Frederick C. Miller trophies emblematic of their selection in The Associated Press poll as the athletes of the year for 1961. After the presentations by Circuit Judge Robert Cannon and Milwaukee AP Bureau Chief Austin Bealmer, Maris and Mrs. Ward were questioned before the audience of 500 by Sports Editor Lloyd Larson of the Milwaukee Sentinel and Cleon Walford of the Milwaukee Journal. Maris, who collected his 61 homers off 19 pitchers, named Camilo Pascual of the Minnesota Twins as the hurler he'd "most like to see out of the league." He hit just one round tripper off Pascual and has a healthy respect for the Minnesota righthander. The panel wanted to know what question Maris finds most irritating and he replied that the season is over. He replied: "I suppose it would

Rules Changes Are Upcoming In Football

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Football rulesmakers, concerned over a one-year jump in high school football fatalities, will act today on several recommended rule changes, with the emphasis on safety. High school deaths caused directly by football injuries jumped from 7 to 15 last fall. Proposed changes will go before 48 voting delegates at the National Alliance Football Committee convention. Because of the increase in deaths one radical change has an outside chance of adoption. This is the rule that now allows blocking with one arm held horizontally away from the shoulder. While the hand must be on the chest—the elbow is up and has become a dangerous weapon in the view of some officials. This rule was adopted to aid the fast-striking T-formation. It may be changed to require the arms be kept against the sides. The alliance represents 14,000 football-playing high schools and 400 small colleges and junior colleges in 49 states. It includes the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, the National Junior College Athletic Association and the National Federation of High Schools. Clifford B. Fagan, executive secretary of the alliance, said there was strong feeling among some rulemakers for a rule to eliminate the return of kicks, but it was doubtful this change would be adopted. He said a recommendation for soft padding on ribs, shoulder and hip pads—starting with some future season—likely will be adopted. Another likely change is a proposal to modify requirements for tooth and mouth protectors, allowing the use of additional types. The alliance's recommendations on equipment and rules changes probably will be a major topic of discussion at the National Collegiate Athletic Association's convention in Chicago next week. There is a possibility the NCAA may take some action on the proposals put forth by the alliance at that time.

DEAR ABBY

Let's Keep It Private

DEAR ABBY: Just how much affection is it proper to display in public?

Someone in our family married an Irish girl. She thought Americans were cold. She always sat with, or walked with, her arms around her husband. She kissed him, in company, in the streets, stores, etc. Not just quick little pecks, but the long, lingering movie-style kisses.

In company, they sit cuddled up next to each other like a pair of lovebirds. He is 43 and she is 25. Wouldn't you say they are old enough to know better? When they were newlyweds, folks would say, "Aren't they cute?" Now they think it is downright disgusting. What do you think?

DEAR NAUSEATED: Lovebirds, of all ages, can fly as high as they want to when they are alone, but should keep their beaks off each other in public.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do

Tourists Banned At Fish Market

LOWESTOFT, England (AP)—All tourists—and particularly girls in bikinis—have been banned from Lowestoft fish market next summer because they distract workers.

Complaints were voiced during last year's tourist season that bikini-clad sightseers were making the market men pay more attention to flesh than fish.

The ban has been imposed by the British Transport Commission which is responsible for seeing the fish wharves are efficiently operated.

Freighter Is Ordered Sold

HOUSTON (AP)—U. S. District Judge Ben Connally has ordered a Nationalist Chinese freighter that collided Nov. 7 with a Swedish tanker sold at public auction Jan. 12.

The freighter, the badly burned Union Reliance, is at pier 35 in Galveston. The sale will be held in the U. S. marshal's office in Houston at 10 a.m.

A Port Houston pilot and 10 members of the freighter's crew died in a fire after the collision with the tanker Berean. The tanker suffered only minor damage.

Payments Due

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Banking Board reports that depositors of the old state bank at Premont will begin receiving payments Monday from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

DEAR ABBY: Neither my mother nor my father wishes to attend my wedding. They believe that large weddings are a waste of money. I have always wanted a nice church wedding, so I have worked and saved my own money for it. I have no uncles on either side to give me away. My father has refused. Whom shall I ask? STANDING ALONE: Ask a male friend, whose friendship you value, to do you the honor.

DEAR ABBY: How many times have you printed letters like this one, and how many times have girls like myself read, and ignored their messages?

I am 19. Too young to be messing up my life. I was going with a very nice boy for a long time, and I planned to marry him. I gave him ALL my love. Now he's gone, and I hate myself. I am sorry, and I've learned a lesson, but what good is it now? Abby, please print this letter. Any girl who is old enough to read is old enough to understand it. Super Rocket Models Tested

NEW YORK (AP)—Avco Corp. has announced at Wilmington, Mass., that scale models of a new type rocket exhaust nozzle being designed for future huge space boosters have been successfully test fired.

Avco designed and built the subscale nozzles for the proposed Nova class of solid-propellant rockets in a project sponsored jointly with United Technology Corp. of Sunnyvale, Calif.

In initial tests at Sunnyvale last week, each of the subscale nozzles was fired successfully for periods of up to two minutes, long enough to confirm their adaptability for Nova booster requirements Avco said.

Nova is being designed for manned flight to the moon.

New Post

Rep. Carl Albert (D-Okl.), is in line to become Democratic majority leader in the House of Representatives. He has been Democratic whip for the past nine years. His election as majority leader became a virtual certainty with the withdrawal of his only opponent.

Fewer Broken Ties Reported

December was marked by one unusual feature—there were fewer divorce suits filed during the month than usual.

Wade Choate, district court clerk, said that his office filed 19 divorce suits during the month. This was two less than the number of other type civil suits filed. Generally divorce suits are more abundant than mill run civil actions.

There were 14 divorce decrees issued during the month and six divorce suits dismissed.

One criminal case was tried with a jury—a murder charge against Lewis Davis. Davis was found guilty and his punishment fixed at 25 years in the state penitentiary.

Two tax suits were dismissed; One criminal case was tried with a jury—a murder charge against Lewis Davis. Davis was found guilty and his punishment fixed at 25 years in the state penitentiary.

Two tax suits were dismissed; two adoption petitions filed and one granted. Eight civil suits were tried in the court without jury and two were dismissed. Four citations for contempt were filed in child support cases and three of the defendants were ordered placed in jail. Five child support accounts were added to the records.

There were 12 applicants for passports during the month.

Wintry Weather Rakes Midwest

Blustery wintry weather, snow, sleet, strong winds and icy air, swept into sections of the Midwest today.

In the Northeast, zero weather spread into New England, with snow on the way, and rain, snow or sleet was indicated during the day across most of the nation east of the Rockies.

The snow belt extended across most of the central and northern Plains into the Upper Mississippi Valley and northern sections of the Upper Great Lakes region.

Edison Couldn't Get Into College

NEW YORK (AP)—If Thomas A. Edison were starting anew today, how would he do in college?

Dr. Carroll V. Newsom doubts Edison could even get into a modern engineering school.

"He wasn't a theoretical man," said Newsom, a veteran educator who retired Jan. 1 as president of New York University.

Newsom isn't too happy about what he considers an undue emphasis placed today on development of theoreticians.

He feels that the old "trial and error" method is still valuable, too, and oughtn't to be discouraged. "We're short on people who can 'play with hardware,'" he said.

These and some other fairly stated beliefs were voiced by Newsom in an interview just before taking a new job as a vice president of Prentice-Hall, which publishes educational books.

Among the beliefs: College today should be fitted to the student, rather than the student to the college. Tailor the teaching to the capability of the individual student, rather than force him to struggle through a traditional curriculum devised long ago and including courses the

Legislators Remain For Major Hearings

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas legislators start work today on the main reason for their third special session.

Although both houses are in recess until 11 a.m. Monday, many senators and representatives stayed in Austin for the 2:30 p.m. public hearing on Gov. Price Daniel's plans to stretch Texas' abandoned property laws to fit banks.

Also on tap is a 2 p.m. session of the House Agriculture Committee to hear a bill (HB2) proposing restoration of $15 million a year in farm road construction funds plus $17.5 million a year to maintain farm roads already built. Most of the money would come from the state gasoline tax and by shuffling State Highway Department funds.

The Legislature beat down efforts to chop off the special session Thursday by a Senate vote of 23-6 and a House vote of 110-27. Then members turned to the important committee action that must precede passage of any measure by either house.

The House Committee on Banks and Banking heard testimony on two small loan regulation bills by Houston Reps. Criss Cole (HB3) and Bob Eckhardt (HB6). After explanations by the authors, who are candidates for Democratic nomination for Houston's next senator, the committee sent both bills to a subcommittee.

Rep. Vernon Stewart, Wichita Falls, subcommittee chairman, promised to try to have a compromise between the two bills ready by early next week.

Both bills provide for licensing and regulation of small lenders. Cole's bill provides a sliding scale of interest on loans from $5 to $1,500. Eckhardt's provides a 2.48 per cent per month rate on loans under $100 and a decreasing scale on loans between $100 and $1,000.

As yet there is no loan control bill introduced in the Senate.

This afternoon's hearing on the escheat law is a bill (HB1) by Rep. Charles Hughes, Sherman, that contains the governor's recommendations for a special law to cover banks. It gives banks authority to hold dormant accounts more than seven years if they advertise each year the unclaimed accounts. Deposits under $25 would be turned over to the state after being advertised for a year.

A similar Senate bill (SB2) by Sen. Crawford Martin, Hillsboro, is set for public hearing at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

Also pending in the House Banking committee is another escheat bill (HB5) that merely amends the present abandoned property law to include banks. No date has been set for a hearing.

The farm road bill (HB2), set for House hearing today is similar to a Senate measure (SB1) by Sen. Neville Colson, Navasota, which will be heard by the Senate Finance Committee at 10 a.m. Monday.

Monday afternoon the House

Appropriations Committee will hear arguments on a bill (HB4) presenting the fourth and last major issue submitted by the governor—a supplemental appropriation bill for tourist advertising, strengthening the juvenile parole system and repairing the San Jacinto Monument.

No hearing date has been set for the companion bill in the Senate.

Newspaper Called Community Spark

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—A good newspaper can do more than any other single voice to shape the future of a community and its citizens, says Gov. David Lawrence.

At a dinner for employees of the Gettysburg Times, Lawrence called a good newspaper the "conscience and leader" of the people it serves.

"It is a critic, a goad, an innovator," he declared. "It reports the news and its comments on the news. It tells its readers not only who has done what, when and where it happened—but it also attempts to explain why."

Bridge Request

AUSTIN (AP)—A resolution asking the State Highway Commission to consider building a bridge across the Big Mineral arm of Lake Texoma has been approved by the Texas Senate.

Witnesses Claim Plains Water About Half Gone

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Witnesses testified in federal court here that underground water supplies in the southern High Plains are being depleted rapidly and recharging efforts have been futile.

The testimony Thursday was heard in a suit brought by a Floyd County farmer and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Shurbet, seeking depletion allowances on their income tax similar to those given oil producers and mining companies.

State District Judge Robert H. Bean of Lubbock was one of the witnesses.

"The water is at least half gone," Judge Bean testified. Russell Bean and D. W. Shirrill, both of Lubbock and J. B. Watson of Floydada also told the court the water level is dropping.

Other witnesses testified that the value of irrigated land is higher than that of dry land farms.

Attorney George McCleskey asked Shurbet if he knew of any successful efforts to put water back into the ground.

"At this time, no," Shurbet replied. "If recharge efforts had worked it would have been wonderful, but we haven't found a way yet. But we're going to keep on working at it."

The Shurbet suit is considered a test case backed by the High Plains Water Conservation District. It is expected to affect about 20,000 irrigation farmers who use underground water from 60,000 wells on five million acres in Texas. Farmers in other states may be involved as well.

Shurbet stated he purchased "all water both above and below" his land.

Odessan Seeks Rutherford Job

ODESSA, Tex. (AP)—Ed Foreman, an Odessa businessman, Thursday announced his candidacy for the nomination for U.S. representative in the Republican primary May 8.

Foreman, 28, is the first to announce for the job. He is an officer of four oil industry related firms. He said the GOP primary will be his first political bid.

Rep. J. T. Rutherford, D-Tex., now holds the 16th Texas Congressional District seat Foreman wants.

Victim Dies

BEAUMONT (AP)—Mrs. Olive Williamson, 62, of Houston, died in a hospital Thursday. She had been found unconscious in a frame house where all windows and doors were closed tightly and gas heaters burning. Two other women found unconscious with her are recovering.

Laws for Living

THE ABIDING BASIC IMPORTANCE OF GOD'S COMMANDMENTS

Scripture—Exodus 38; 34; Deuteronomy 5:1-21; Matthew 5:1-20.

By N. SPEER JONES
IN THE first quarter of the year 1962 we shall be studying the general topic, "Jesus and the Ten Commandments."

The opening lesson, quite naturally, introduces the subject matter, placing the Ten Commandments in their historical setting and pointing up their relationship to Christ and His teachings for us, His followers.

Actually, the first record we have of the Ten Commandments is not included in today's lesson. God's laws have already been given to the Israelites in Exodus 20, at the very beginning of their sojourn at Sinai, whence God has led them after their flight from Egypt.

Then God called Moses up to the top of hallowed Mt. Sinai, mandating only ritualistic observance. It does not demand, as Judaism and Christianity do, a training of the soul, an inward ritual which transforms the individual.

This idol is thought by most scholars to have been a yearling ox; ox-worship had been encountered and succumbed to by many of the Israelites during their bondage in Egypt.

After Moses, in his anger at his people, smashes the Lord's tablets, God offers to write them for him again if Moses provides the tablets. This time Moses remains on Mt. Sinai with the Lord for 40 days and 40 nights, as he did one other time. There is an interesting parallel here with the time Jesus spent in the wilderness.

GOLDEN TEXT
"Think not that I have come to abolish the law and the prophets; I have come not to abolish them but to fulfill them."—Matthew 5:17.

While the rest of the Israelites waited at the foot, and in a voice of thunder spoke the Ten Commandments for the first time.

In Exodus 24:12, God promised Moses that He would write His commandments for the people on stone tablets, so Moses could teach them better. Just before our lesson opens (Exodus 31:18), He fulfills this promise.

While Moses is still atop Mt. Sinai with God, receiving the tablets, the Israelites whom God and Moses have been striving so hard to enlighten become restless for their old unholy way of life.

The parallel is seen again in Moses' transfiguration from speaking with the Lord (Exodus 34:29-35), and Christ's transfiguration on another mountain top in God's presence (Matthew 17:1-13, Luke 9:28-36, etc.).

Nearly 40 years after God gave Moses the laws at Mt. Sinai, Moses reviews the incident for his people, then on the plains of Moab. (Deuteronomy 5:1-21).

When Jesus arrives on earth, He hastens to reaffirm once more God's original commandments to Moses. (See Matthew 5:1-20). In His famous Sermon on the Mount (again the important symbolism of the mountain), He makes it plain that He came not to destroy the law or the prophets, for the Old Testament is indeed the Word of God.

"DANCING"

Anciently there was a kind of dance which was before and to the Lord, but as a modern day amusement it is a dissipation before the devil and to him. Embellishing exercises and graceful motion, we are for these BUT the dance does NOT give them. Dryden about covered it thusly "A dancing, drinking, quaffing unthinking time" and so did Sir Joshua Reynolds, "All the gestures of children are graceful; the reign of distortion and unnatural attitudes commences with the introduction of the dancing masters." Christian consideration tells us that we ought always to be prepared for death and thereby both life and death will be sweeter. When we think often about death and the judgment to follow, Heb. 9:27, and about heaven or hell to follow and about our present usefulness, cleanliness and purity, most questions as to dancing will be solved already through earnest and truthful thinking. If you have respect for the Bible here is what faces you: You are the salt of the earth and the light of the world — Matt. 5:13-16. Can this be true of you if you dance? Be not conformed to this world, be transformed and have your mind renewed — Rom. 12:1-2. Does this fit the influence of a dancer? As a Christian, you are dead to sin, having been buried in baptism and raised to walk in the new life, with the old man of sin crucified with Christ, hence, sin must not reign in your mortal body — Rom. 6:1-11. Try this pattern on the dancer? We must be crucified with Christ and live our lives in the flesh by faith of Christ — Gal. 2:20. Where in this thought can dancing come in? We must avoid the very appearance of evil — I Thess. 5:22. Does dancing have the appearance of evil? Every servant of God must keep himself unspotted from the world — James 1:27. Does dancing spot a person with the world of lust of flesh and lust of the eye and the pride of life? Abstain from fleshly lusts which war against the soul? How about dancing on this score?

The man of the world, unregenerated by the gospel, will call the professed Christian a "hypocrite" for dancing. He, too senses the inconsistency: A professed Christian who dances divests himself of the ability to be a soul-winner. Jovial festivity with music and dancing, this is "Revelry" which is specifically condemned in Gal. 5:19-21. A Christian is to deny himself — ungodliness and worldly lusts and live soberly, righteously and godly in this present world. How can he do this and dance? Modesty destroys dancing. Immodesty helps it. Choose your this day, will you serve the God of heaven or the god of this world.

'FRIEND OF PONAPE'

Square-Jawed Irishman Learns Trade For Natives

By JULES LOH
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A strapping square-jawed Irishman with the hands of a bricklayer and the collar of a priest was climbing nimbly on the skeleton of a half-finished building in the Bronx recently.

"What are you doing up there?" shouted the foreman from below.

"I'm a building inspector," grinned the priest.

Each time he comes home for a visit, which has been twice in the past 15 years, The Rev. Hugh F. Costigan, S. J., spends a good deal of his time inspecting buildings—not for defects, but for construction techniques.

A flash of his union card (honorary member plumbers Local No. 1, Brooklyn), a quick explanation of why he needs to know how to install plumbing, and Father Costigan was given a tour of the structure. Inevitably, he had gained another "friend of Ponape."

When the Jesuit missionary, 47, begins to discuss his work on Ponape, an obscure dot among the Caroline Islands in the South Pacific, some of his enthusiasm is almost bound to rub off.

The seeds of civilization Father

Costigan began sowing a decade and a half ago have begun to bloom, and brick and steel structures now rise out of the jungle thicket. Micronesian natives line up for loans at the island credit union or bring a sick child, or a sick pig, to the dispensary. Outboard motors whir in the lagoons from fishing spot to fishing spot, vastly increasing the catch. Workmen chat knowledgeably about prenatal care and sanitary cooking methods and the techniques of operating a sewing machine.

The vast range of technical information Father Costigan has acquired over the years—by studying agricultural textbooks, perusing trade union manuals and scrambling about on unfinished buildings in the Bronx—has made him far more than merely a spiritual counselor in the eyes of his flock.

In gratitude, the Ponapean chief gave the priest one of his three titles, so Father Costigan also is known as Chief Lapen Mer.

The priest never loses sight of his ultimate objective. "To paraphrase St. Thomas Aquinas," he said, "you can't make people holy on an empty stomach."

Accordingly, Father Costigan is making the 250-acre island of Ponape, which has about 3,000 inhabitants, a model for the scores of other islands in his far flung parish.

"These people are cautious about accepting something new," he said. "They think about it six months or a year, see how it works out for others, before deciding to try it for themselves. You can't just walk in and tell them to wear shoes; you have to make them want the things they need."

Proof that this slow but sure system works is the cooperative housing program, whereby members work on one house until it's complete, then start on the next. The island now has 77 typhoon-proof homes, and there are applications for 500 more.

Predicts Unity Of All Churches

ISTANBUL (AP)—The spiritual leader of a fourth of all Christians, Patriarch Athenagoras I, predicts that the world's long-separated churches will achieve unity, probably in this century.

"We cannot fix the time," he said. "Perhaps it will be 50 years, perhaps 15."

"But it is coming—by the force of destiny, by force of the Spirit of the Gospel, by force of the blood of Christ."

ant-Orthodox activities.

"We will not part with our Protestant brother," he said.

The patriarch, interviewed at his offices overlooking the Golden Horn here in this ancient Christian see of Constantinople, expressed belief Orthodoxy will serve as a leaven between Protestantism and Rome.

"The Orthodox Church will be the bridge between the two," he said.

Patriarch Athenagoras said church unity must first involve a united action front, as it does in the World Council, before progressing into doctrinal union "in gradual ways."

Even then, he said, there is no necessity for a single uniformity of organization and customs, but that variety adds richness to church life. Orthodoxy itself involves much variety in its various nations and tongues, he said.

"Each church must keep and preserve the treasures it has and share them with others," he said.

It is at the Lord's table, at the heart of worship, he said, that full intercommunion must come to establish real unity. He added that the goal will certainly come.

"Of course it will," he said.

"Since we are Christians, since we believe in the effectiveness of Christ, we are optimistic that this date will come. We have the same Lord, the same Gospel, the same history for 20 centuries, the same destiny here and hereafter."

It was Patriarch Athenagoras who last fall succeeded in bringing representatives of all Orthodoxy together for the first time in 13 centuries at their meeting on the Isle of Rhodes.

A cosmopolitan man of many languages, the patriarch served his church for 18 years in the United States. He said it was in America that he gained his vision of church unity and harmony in diversity.

"America is the miracle of unity," he said.

Will A Penny Do?

What is she thinking about, as she watches the flickering candle flame? There is a far away look in her eyes that makes one wonder. Yet, if she were offered a penny for her thoughts, she would probably only shrug and say, "Oh, nothing," in that maddening little way children have.

Watching her absorbed in her reverie is like an illustration of how closed one mind is from another. No one can ever know completely what another person is thinking. A thought expressed out loud all too often leaves something out of the telling. And most thoughts are never expressed at all.

Even should we wish to, we cannot entirely share our minds with one another. But we can share them with God. In the Church we can find the way to tell Him all our hopes, our fears, our loves, our angers, our pride, our pain.

Go to church this Sunday—and turn your own thoughts into prayer.

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

All In The Family

Sgt. Alvin York, the famed Tennessee sharpshooter of World War I, watches from his special hospital bed at his mountain home in Pall Mall as his granddaughter, Mary Elizabeth York, 18, is sworn into the Women's Air Force by Lt. Col. Robert G. Brown. York, 73, a Congressional Medal of Honor winner, is partially paralyzed from a stroke. He requested the swearing-in ceremony be performed at his home.

Sgt. York's Granddaughter Arrives In Texas To Begin AF Basic Training

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The granddaughter of one of World War I's most distinguished Army veterans has arrived in Texas to start her Air Force training.

Mary Elizabeth York, a blonde 18-year-old, took her oath at the bedside of her famous grandfather, former Sgt. Alvin York, at Pall Mall, Tenn. The 73-year-old ex-sergeant became a national hero after killing 25 Germans and capturing hundreds in the Argonne Forest, Oct. 9, 1918. He was given the Medal of Honor.

Mrs. York said she joined the Air Force because it is the most distinguished of the services. Airman basic York became a member of Flight No. 1 of the 3743rd WAF squadron at Lackland AFB. The 36-girl unit will receive eight weeks of basic training and then advanced specialized training.

Thomas Jefferson York, youngest son of the World War I hero, joined the Air Force at Lackland five years ago. Airman York is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow York of Rockwood, Tenn.

Police Investigate Six Theft, Burglary Reports

Big Spring police were called to investigate six thefts and burglaries in the past 24 hours. Mrs. Paul Coburn, 610 Nolan, told officers that a person who had formerly rented an apartment from her, had entered her bedroom and had taken a .22 caliber automatic pistol and a cigarette lighter. No charges had been filed Friday morning and the person had not been apprehended.

M. C. Mitchell, 1011 W. 3rd, reported the theft of a jack from his car. Mrs. Helen Wood, 1604 1/2 Main, reported the theft of a pistol from the glove compartment of her car during the holidays.

Church Plans Stewardship Emphasis Push

"I will be faithful" is the theme for the 29 day stewardship emphasis program which begins Sunday at the East Fourth Baptist Church. The new challenge is a budget for 1962 of $75,540.67. "New conquests await us as we pledge ourselves and our money to the Lord's work," said R. J. Ream, chairman of the budget pledging committee. The budget goal was discussed by the church membership last week, and will be presented to the congregation for adoption Sunday morning. Bob Jones, chairman of the budget planning committee will present the proposed budget to the congregation.

The high point during the annual stewardship emphasis is the "loyalty dinner." This family fellowship dinner will provide an environment in which to outline the financial program of the church for 1962. The dinner will be held at the HCJC dining hall with facilities to serve 300 or more. The dinner has been set for Jan. 26 at 7 p.m.

Ream's committee will distribute three-way goals to each class and department in the Sunday school on Jan. 10. These include a goal for the number of pledges, a goal for the number of tithers, and a goal for the number of dollars to be pledged on a weekly basis. "This is a realistic and reachable budget and we hope to pledge the full amount on 'pledge Sunday Jan. 28,'" Ream said.

Banquet Tickets Going Faster

The number of reservations for the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet has risen sharply the past two days as the total now stands at 420, according to Carroll Davidson, manager. About 800 persons are expected to attend the meeting and banquet, Davidson said. It will be held Jan. 12 in the Goliad Junior High cafeteria.

At present, only members of the Chamber have been invited to purchase tickets, but reservations will be thrown open to the public Monday. Guest speaker for the occasion is Porter Randall, Fort Worth newscaster.

One Collisi on

A collision between a Nalley-Pickle ambulance, driven by Roger Reynolds, and a car driven by Delma Speed Hoard, Forsan, at West Sixth and Gregg, was the only accident investigated by police in the past 24 hours. Damage was not serious and no one was injured.

Program Set

Family night activities at the YMCA begin at 7 p.m. Saturday, according to Francis Flint, general secretary. Gym and swimming are scheduled during the two hours of family entertainment.

Infant Killed

BEAUMONT (AP)—A Louisiana infant was killed in a two-car collision Thursday night on a slick farm road about 25 miles north of here. She was Barbara Hall, 8 months, of West Monroe, La. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hall, who were injured.

Banquet Tickets Going Faster

The number of reservations for the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet has risen sharply the past two days as the total now stands at 420, according to Carroll Davidson, manager. About 800 persons are expected to attend the meeting and banquet, Davidson said. It will be held Jan. 12 in the Goliad Junior High cafeteria.

At present, only members of the Chamber have been invited to purchase tickets, but reservations will be thrown open to the public Monday. Guest speaker for the occasion is Porter Randall, Fort Worth newscaster.

Mrs. O'Brien To Mark Anniversary

Mrs. George O'Brien, who broadcasts a twice-weekly religious radio program on KRST, celebrates her 25th year at the microphone Sunday.

Mrs. O'Brien began her program the same week that KRST went on the air, 25 years ago. She has continued her programs regularly ever since. It is aired at 1:15 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

YOU MAY BE ASTONISHED at the value that the nation's leading industries place on daily newspapers as an advertising medium. Last year, there were more than 100 national advertisers who invested more than $1 million each in daily newspapers—and the largest of them bought more than $40 million worth of space.* Retailers and local advertisers agree with these industrial giants that the newspaper sells best. These retailers and local advertisers last year invested $2.9 billion in daily newspapers—more than they spent in radio, TV, magazine, and outdoor advertising COMBINED!

FCC Ruling May Put Fun In Commercials

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that the Federal Trade Commission, in its decision this week, has lowered the boom on hanky-panky advertising, it will be interesting to see what changes occur in some of the TV commercials you see most often on your screens.

The FTC decision ordered an end to a shaving cream commercial showing what purported to be sandpaper covered with the product being advertised. Actually it wasn't sandpaper at all, but plastic covered with sand. That commercial disappeared from the home screens about 18 months ago.

The FTC decision, although based on one long-gone commercial, is a broad one applying to the whole field, and mentioned in passing other practices, mostly used in "demonstration" advertisements, that it considers deceptive.

It cited the use of warm red wine in a coffee commercial to illustrate the rich, deep color of the non-alcoholic brew. It mentioned the use of a blue shirt— which photographs white—to illustrate the way a wash-day product makes clothes white.

What will happen to the scouring-powder commercials which show kitchen sinks with incredibly deep, ugly stains which disappear so easily with an application of the sponsor's product but remain untouched by what purports to be a rival brand?

If white must be white and coffee, coffee, must dirt also be real? If so, where will the advertising agencies find walls and kitchen floors which are honestly filthy dirty and can be dramatically made sparkling white (blue?) with a single stroke?

What if the dog-actor backs away in distaste from his bowl of sponsor's product? Will all future models in denture-cleaner commercials really have to have false teeth? (I met such a model, and her gleaming teeth are her very own.)

I tell you, commercial-watching will be fun during the next few months. Maybe more stimulating than the programs they interrupt.

Actor-producer Dick Powell and actress June Allyson tell newsmen in Hollywood that they've decided to call off their divorce. The actress, 38, won an interlocutory decree last January on testimony that Powell, 57, was always tied up with business. Now, they explained, they realize it was "a horrible mistake." They will ask the decree be set aside.
