Kennedy Challenges Atlantic Alliance To Defeat Red Economic Offensive

Task Begins At Home, Says JFK In State Of Union Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today challenged the Atlantic alliance to shed timidity for boldness and join in a partnership of commerce to bring new prosperity to free men everywhere.

Now is the time, Kennedy told the nation, to seize the initiative against the economic offensive mounted by the Soviet Union and her Communist allies.

In a State of the Union Message he prepared to deliver to Congress in person, Kennedy proposed "a bold new instrument of American trade policy" that would lead to gradual elimination of tariffs on many goods and reductions of up to 50 per cent on many others.

Anticipating the age-old debate between protectionists and proponents of free trade, Kennedy said: "Our decision could well affect the unity of the West, the course of the cold war and the growth of our nation for a generation or more to come."

Kennedy pledged the United States "to talk, when appropriate, and to fight, if necessary" to maintain the West's presence in West Berlin.

The chief executive, beginning his second year in office in a world still beset with the hazard of catastrophic war, pitched U.S. foreign policy to "the goal of a peaceful world of free and independent states."

But he declared the obligation "to fulfill the world's hope by fulfilling our own faith" begins at home.

And to strengthen the nation's economy, he advocated a six-part program that included standby authority both to lower personal income taxes and to pump federal money into public works if necessary to meet the threat of recession.

Kennedy came out as vigorously as he did in 1961 for federal aid to public school construction and teachers' salaries. His bill to provide such assistance ran into a wall of religious controversy in the House Rules Committee—the Roman Catholic President proposed no direct help for parochial schools—and traditional hostility of conservative-minded congressmen to federal school aid.

As anticipated, Kennedy precipitated another certain clash by urging Congress to furnish medical care to the aged through the Social Security system.

He said, in fact, he would recommend a whole new public welfare program stressing "rehabilitation instead of relief." Details will be submitted in a separate message, but Kennedy said he would call for a mass immunization program aimed at "such ancient enemies of our children as polio, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus."

The President promised "a massive attack to end adult illiteracy" and bills to improve the quality of education. He emphasized federally financed college scholarships and loans for building college facilities.

Not quite a year ago, the youngest man ever elected President of the United States stood before Congress in what he termed an hour of national peril, declared somberly, "The news will be worse before it is better" and described the condition of the economy as disturbing.

In the same House chamber, Kennedy said today the past 12 months have been marked by both successes and setbacks. In that period, he contended, "our military posture has steadily improved. The peace-keeping strength of the United Nations was reinforced."

"The united strength of the Atlantic community has flourished." "Thus," Kennedy said, "we in the free world are moving steadily toward unity and cooperation, in the teeth of the old Bolshevik prophecy, and at the very time when extraordinary rumbles of discord can be heard across the iron curtain. It is not free societies which bear within them the seeds of inevitable disunity."

Kennedy worked past midnight on his message, summoning Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Undersecretary George Ball to the White House for consultation on the final draft.

In it, he recalled saying on his inauguration that few generations had been granted the role of defender of freedom in its hour of maximum danger.

"This is our good fortune," he said today, "and I welcome it now as I did a year ago."

Delay In Trade Policy Would Hurt Nation

Kennedy made his strongest pitch for a liberalized trade program to cope with global challenges of "a struggle we did not start, in a world we did not make."

Growth of the European Common Market poses the greatest of all challenges to increasing exports which he said are essential to paying for U.S. commitments abroad. When Britain joins France, West Germany, Italy, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg, Kennedy said, the Common Market will present a single-tariff trading partner with an economy nearly equaling that of the United States.

Delay in establishing a new trade policy with the present Reciprocal Trade Act expiring this year, Kennedy said, would cut off the nation from its major allies, handicapped industries, farmers, consumers and workers.

"Members of the Congress," he said, "the United States did not rise to greatness by waiting for others to lead. This nation is the world's foremost manufacturer, farmer, banker, consumer and exporter. The Common Market is moving ahead. The Communist economic offensive is under way. The opportunity is ours—the initiative is up to us—and the time is now."

To seize the initiative, he said, he would lay down a new five-year trade expansion act to permit gradual elimination of tariffs on items which the United States and Common Market together supply 80 per cent of world trade.

These would include machinery, machine tools, automobiles and other durable goods. Mostly, he said, they are items the United States already sells abroad more than it imports.

On other goods, Kennedy said his bill would permit bargaining by major categories of goods—instead of one by one—for gradual cuts up to 50 per cent. He said it would provide assistance to companies and workers affected by import competition and would retain safeguards for hard-put industries and domestic production vital to national security.

Concessions, he emphasized, must run both ways.

"For together," Kennedy said, "we face a common challenge. To enlarge the prosperity of free men everywhere—and to build in partnership a new trading community in which all free nations may gain from the productive energy of free competitive effort."

Viewing the domestic economy which he said was in trouble a year ago, Kennedy pictured a rise from "the valley of recession" to "the high road of recovery and growth." Three of the six parts of his program designed to strengthen the economy embodies measures to combat future recession.

Kennedy reiterated his pledge of a balanced budget for 1962-63 and said the current deficit, last estimated at nearly $7 billion, would be "far below" the level incurred after the last recession. The deficit shot to $12.4 billion in 1958-59. For government employees, he proposed pay scales more comparable with those in private industry.

The chief executive asked Congress to preserve or expand three sources of income by raising postal rates to end the post office deficit, adopting his tax reform recommendations—including withholding of dividends and interest—and extending of excise and corporation tax rates. From the latter, he excepted transportation taxes. He reportedly will advocate a broad revision of those rates.

Again Kennedy urged Congress to create a department of urban affairs and housing, along with new legislative tools to deal with crime, mass transit and transportation and air pollution.

He said he would submit "a new comprehensive farm program," tailored to fit crops to needs of the 1960s. Since 1950, he said, farm output per man hour has doubled.

"Without new, realistic measures," Kennedy said, "it will some day swamp both our farmers and our taxpayers in a national scandal or a farm depression."

Kennedy said bills now before Congress offer "appropriate methods" of strengthening basic civil rights. He specified only the right to vote, which he asserted "should no longer be arbitrarily denied through such iniquitous local devices as literacy tests and poll taxes."

Kennedy recounted steps taken to augment the nation's military strength but said "arms alone are not enough to keep the peace."

He portrayed the United Nations as "our instrument and our hope." And he urged Congress to approve U.S. purchase of U.N. bond issues to finance special operations.

For newly emerging nations, Kennedy promised support of their independence as a bar to Communist expansion.

The new House leadership of John W. McCormack of Massachusetts and Carl Albert of Oklahoma has promised full cooperation with the President and publicly expressed optimism over the chances of enacting most of his program.

McCormack was elected speaker Wednesday by a straight-party vote to succeed the late Sam Rayburn.

PERUVIAN TOWN WIPED OUT

Avalanche Kills 4,000

LIMA, Peru (AP)—A giant avalanche of snow and water caused by a thaw roared down on the town of Ranrabica and several ranches in northwestern Peru Wednesday night. Authorities said they feared between 3,000 and 4,000 persons lost their lives.

The avalanche rushed down the Huascaran Mountains, ripping up trees, crushing farm houses and sweeping aside livestock in its destructive path.

The village of Ranrabica, about 200 miles northwest of Lima and 30 miles north of the commercial center of Huaraz, was feared to have been wiped out.

The town has a population of about 3,000, and police said about that many persons were missing.

One unconfirmed report said a small mountain lake was pushed from its banks, flooding the surrounding area.

Meager information from the scene said enormous ice chunks were torn from the side of Mt. Huascaran, a 22,205-foot peak, highest in Peru.

The ice melted, and at 6:40 p.m. Wednesday a great mass of ice, snow and water broke loose and rumbled like thunder down the mountain and crashed onto the agricultural community below.

It sped to the edge of the Santa River and smashed into Ranrabica. Communication lines were destroyed in the deadly swath, hampering rescue and preventing accurate reports on the extent of the disaster.

The first news reaching Lima just after midnight said the avalanche was more than half a mile wide and 12 yards deep.

Loan Shark Bill Passed

AUSTIN (AP)—The House tentatively approved today a bill aimed at halting so-called "loan shark" abuses in Texas. Members then adjourned until 2:30 p.m. when a final vote will be in order.

The bill was advanced (encompassed) by voice vote. No speeches were made on either side. The committee substitute—in effect, the bill as amended—was adopted.

Representatives refused to suspend their rules and bring the bill up at once for a final vote.

The Senate adjourned until 10:30 a.m. Monday after finishing its work on local bills—none of which is yet included in the governor's call for the special session.

The Senate passed three bills. One creates the Alice Water District. Another would allow Houston to use revenue from its airport to finance construction of a new airport. The third would validate the home rule charter of Carrollton in Dallas County.

Rep. Criss Cole of Houston had predicted he would muster enough votes to halt the debate and amend his small loan bill. One attempt died as members tied 64-64, with Turman refusing to break the tie.

Three attempts to end debate Wednesday failed.

Representatives argued long and hard Wednesday and tacked several amendments onto the small loan regulation bill asked by Gov. Price Daniel.

The major amendment was a change in the rate section, replacing a provision for rates ranging from 33 per cent on small loans to 22 per cent on a $1,500 loan.

The new section allows interest up to 36 per cent a year on loans under $100, with rates on larger sums going down to about 18 per cent on a $1,500 loan.

The farm road maintenance bill, originally scheduled for debate ahead of the loan shark measure, was reset for consideration, probably this afternoon.

The Senate already has passed its version of the farm road bill. It provides $15 million for construction, setting a minimum of $23 million which can be spent annually for newly designated farm roads and permitting the Highway Commission to use up to 50 per cent of the $35 million road bond assumption fund for maintenance.

Virtually all action today was scheduled in the House. The Senate had no major bills on which to act, with its loan shark bill in committee and no hearing set, and the escheat and tourist advertising bills still in subcommittee.

AUSTIN (AP)—The Senate passed and sent to the House today a bill to create the Alice Water District within the city limits of Alice.

LONDON (AP)—Winds with gusts up to 100 miles an hour lashed Britain today. Three persons were killed by falling trees. A small ship sank in the English Channel.

In the wake of the winds came heavy rains which raised river levels.

REFINERY SMOKE BLENDS WELL

... with snow covered blanket of the area today

2nd Coldest Night In City's History

Big Spring shivered through the second coldest night in the town's history on Wednesday. The temperature, as reported at the U. S. Experiment station, dropped to a minus 5 degrees. Out at Webb AFB, the reading was even colder — seven degrees below zero.

The coldest reading on record in the 60 years that statistics have been kept in Big Spring was on Feb. 8, 1923. It was minus seven in town on that date.

There is no relief immediately in store if the forecast of the U. S. Weather bureau for today, tonight and Friday, holds true. Continued cold is the promise held out for tonight with a low tonight at zero. Clear skies are anticipated and the high reading on Friday should be around 36 degrees.

Temperatures varied somewhat around town. It was minus 5 at Cadden; minus 2 at Texas Electric Service Co. switching plant, Howard County Junior College, and Chalk.

Half an inch of extremely dry snow covered the countryside with a thin layer of white. The U. S. Experiment Station evaluated the moisture content of the snowfall at .02 of an inch.

The biting cold shut down the schools of Big Spring, closed the doors of HCJC and terminated activities in all of the rural schools in the county. Only Coahoma schools were reported in business.

The icy weather held its clutch on the area all of Wednesday and moved into Wednesday night with flurries of light snow falling. After midnight, all clouds rolled away and the skies were brilliantly clear. At dawn, there was little or no wind and the hard cold pushed the mercury steadily deeper into the tube until it hit minus 5 degrees at around 7 a.m. It was still at that point at 8 a.m.

Cold Snap Continues; Weather Fatal To 16

Texas suffered Thursday under record-shattering cold for the third straight day. Some persons fled their homes when temporary heating failures struck, and at least 16 persons perished in the bitter weather.

A slight warming trend is expected, but all the state will remain below freezing during the day and night.

A farmer in the semi-tropical Rio Grande Valley said "the freeze got everything but my freeze posts."

Citrus growers were optimistic. Most farmers wrote off their tender vegetables but had hopes for hardy types and possibly some of the grapefruit and oranges still unharvested.

The greatest fear was that the cold killed their citrus trees as it did in a similar disastrous cold blast in 1951.

Citrus growers will not know for a week how much damage they suffered.

RIVER FROZEN
The Lavaca River at Hallettsville froze from bank to bank for the first time in 60 years in 12 degree temperatures. The river is 35 feet wide there.

A thousand homes in north and northwest Austin were without gas or had virtually no pressure during a part of the night.

Galveston and Texas City residents found their water pressure low. Authorities pleaded with them to shut off their faucets, dripping to prevent freezing, so the pressure could rebuild.

Temperature at Texas City was 12 degrees.

Alpine in the Big Bend Country of West Texas recorded a minus 12 degrees, coldest of record and colder than the memory of anyone living.

The mercury dropped to 13 below zero at Dalhart, the coldest spot in the state.

Galveston recorded 17 degrees above zero—lowest ever recorded there. Ice up to 6 inches thick formed in Galveston Bay.

Midland reported 6 below zero, lowest ever for a January in that West Texas city.

Lubbock recorded 4 below, Amarillo 3.

NEW SUPERBOMBER BREAKS NON-REFUEL FLIGHT RECORD

MADRID, Spain (AP)—A new U.S. B52H superbomber roared into the Torrejon airbase near Madrid today after a record-smashing 12,518-mile flight from Okinawa without refueling.

The plane and its eight-man Air Force crew headed by Maj. Clyde T. Evelyn, 39, of Petersburg, Va., broke the old world distance mark of 11,235.6 miles without refueling. It had been held through the first 15 years of the jet age by a propeller-driven U.S. Navy plane named the "Truculent Turtle."

Aviation experts here called the flight a potent example of the new plane's ability to deliver a cargo of nuclear-armed missiles almost anywhere in the world.

GOP Admits JFK Popularity High, Claims It Won't Last

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is laying on the line in Congress today a personal popularity Republicans concede is high but which they contend won't be lasting.

As he enters his second year in office, Kennedy seems to be soaring along politically despite international miscues in Cuba and Laos and the failure to win 1961 congressional action on some of his major campaign promises.

Republicans don't deny this.

But they make it clear they believe the President will have such tough going in the new session that his political chart lines may be well below today's levels by the November elections.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, who heads the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, predicted that what he called Kennedy's "very high" popularity won't save his legislative program.

Goldwater, a spokesman for GOP conservatives, said he had found growing national concern over "foreign policy" weaknesses and spending.

"I think this will be a very cautious and conservative Congress," he said.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, the assistant Senate Republican leader, said in a separate interview he had found in his travels that Kennedy is generally popular with the voters. But he said he doesn't believe this will rub off on Democratic candidates for the Senate and House.

Kuchel, who leans toward the liberal side, said he expects Kennedy to ask for considerably more than he will get from Congress and thus end up with a blurred record of accomplishment.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who has the job of trying to push Kennedy's program through Congress, said Democrats will be going into the elections supported by Kennedy "whose leadership is firmly approved by the electorate."

But even Mansfield did not contend that this leadership necessarily would flatten opposition to some of the President's legislative proposals.

Base Supply Officer Brown Is Commended

Chief Warrant Officer Joe H. Brown was named this week an outstanding supply officer of the USAF. The certificate was presented to him in a special ceremony before the Wing Staff, Col. Wilson H. Banks, base commander, in presenting the certificate added his own commendation for a job well done.

Accompanying the certificate was a letter from Gen. Fred H. Smith Jr., vice Chief of Staff of the Air Force, in which the general said:

"Warrant Officer Joe H. Brown was chosen for this recognition after a review of his records by the appropriate major command and headquarters; the purpose of the special recognition is to identify and recognize officers who have demonstrated outstanding proficiency in supply duties."

Warrant Officer Brown came to Webb in July, 1960, from a tour in Alaska. Seven of his 17 years in the Air Force have been spent in overseas assignments.

Although he was born in Nebraska, he calls California his home, having gone there as a youngster. He is a graduate of the Modesto High School.

Church To Build N.Y. Skyscraper

NEW YORK (AP)—The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) has announced plans to build a skyscraper center in midtown Manhattan.

The structure, expected to be between 30 and 40 stories, will be erected between West 57 and 58th streets just off Fifth Avenue.

G. Stanley McAllister, president of the New York state diocese, said Wednesday the building will serve as a major administrative base of operation for the two-million-member church.

Headquarters for the church is in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Demo Seeks Alger's Seat

AUSTIN (AP)—State Rep. Bill Jones of Dallas, a conservative Democrat, announced today for the U.S. House seat held by Republican Bruce Alger.

"Through two regular and six special sessions of the legislature, I have fought for good government—based on sound, conservative principles," Jones said. "I shall follow these same principles as your congressman."

"I enter this race with a firm belief that a majority of the people of Dallas County want, as their congressman, a conservative Democrat."

Algerians Declare War On French Secret Army

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—The Algerian rebel government has declared war on the Secret Army Organization, the right-wing underground determined to keep Algeria French. But the rebels appeared to hold out the peace dove to French President Charles de Gaulle.

The rebel government-in-exile wound up a four-day meeting here Wednesday with a communique that foreshadowed a new upsurge of rebel attacks in the Algerian rebellion, with Algeria's European extremists instead of the French army as the chief target.

The increasing activity of right-wing French terrorists in Algeria and France has led many rebel leaders to doubt that the French government could carry out an agreement promising independence to Algeria.

European terrorists have been killing Moslems and pro-independence Frenchmen and exploding plastic bombs almost at will on the streets of Oran, Algiers and other major cities.

The rebel government in its communique said it had taken new but undisclosed measures to combat the Secret Army, and warned that the underground's activities could jeopardize the interests of the entire European minority in an independent Algeria.

At the same time the rebel command said it was aware of the "evolution toward a peaceful and negotiated solution to the Algerian problem." It announced willingness to sign an agreement with France that would permit "a loyal and sincere application of the Algerian people's right to self-determination and independence, coupled with all the necessary guarantees for the Algerian people as well as for the legitimate interests of France and for the Europeans in Algeria."

Gas Leak Sends Residents Fleeing

RISCO, Mo. (AP) — About 500 residents of this southeastern Missouri village fled their homes Wednesday when propane gas began leaking from a 12,000-gallon tank at Risco High School.

About 1,200 students at the school joined the exodus in zero weather.

The townspeople were to return today but the school will remain closed until Friday. The tank can't be repaired until all the gas has escaped.

Most of Risco's residents took shelter in Malden and other nearby towns.

Leo Hawkins, supervisor of the Missouri Liquid Petroleum Co., recommended the evacuation. A north wind blew the gas away from Risco but officials feared a shift in wind direction would send the gas billowing down upon the village.

Woman Swindled

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—Edna S. Kellog, 84, whose vision is impaired, told officers she was swindled out of $50 by a man who gave her play-money. Mrs. Kellog said she had just cashed her $63 pension check when the man asked her to give him change for a $50 bill. She discovered later the bill was one used in playing games.

Clyde F. Summers, 45, an American civilian engineer, died after being wounded in a Communist ambush near Saigon, South Vietnam. Summers was a native of Abilene.

OBSERVATIONS

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher, Church of Christ, 2200 West Highway 80, P.O. Box 1355.

Beginning last December 13, I have completely quoted and reviewed a long letter of protest from a denominational preacher in the city. Again let me say, I appreciate him for writing, and I entertain nothing but kind feelings toward him.

It would not be practical to review all letters received; but since this was from the pastor of a popular denomination, I thought it would be of interest to the public to read his objections, examine his reasons for objecting, and notice his admissions.

The outstanding admission made by the pastor is that Christ established only one church. This means that of all the churches in existence, only one of them can be right. Kind reader: Have you found the one Scriptural church?

Let me make one further observation: The long letter of protest contained only one Scripture reference, and it was applied to a matter about which both of us are agreed.

I trust all this has been of value. No service tonight; mid-week services now on Wednesday. —Adv.

Berry Again Seeks Legal Horse Racing

AUSTIN (AP)—A San Antonio lawmaker told a House committee Wednesday he would try to amend a bill appropriating $300,000 to react tourists to Texas so it would limit horse racing. The bill (HB4) by Rep. Joe Ratcliff of Dallas seeks the money for Highway Department use in tourist advertising plus $150,000 for repair of the San Jacinto Monument. Rep. V. E. Berry told the House Appropriations Committee he would offer an amendment to the bill when it reaches the House for which would legalize horse racing. Berry said liquor by the drink and horse racing would be better tourist attractions than advertising. He proposed legalized betting on horses in the legislature last year. He said Nevada draws $840 million a year from the tourist industry, compared to Texas' $457 million. Berry said there is nothing in Texas for a visitor except "juke boxes in honky tonks and whiskey by the drink," referring to bottle-only purchases. Ratcliff said he would oppose such an amendment because it would not be applicable to his bill. While Texas spends nothing for tourist advertising, Ratcliff said, Florida spends $1.5 million annually, Arkansas $1.4 million and South Carolina $460,000. He said that while the tourist industry ranks third nationally, its rank in Texas is 13th. Rep. B. H. Dewey of Bryan read the appropriation bill of the 1959 Legislature providing the Highway Department $100,000 a year to advertise for tourists and Gov. Price Daniel's subsequent veto after Ratcliff remarked that Texas has never made an appropriation for tourist advertising. Ratcliff told the committee that for every $1 in state money Washington spends, it gets back $1,000. He said Tennessee gets a return of $466 for every dollar and Arkansas $616. Tom Taylor, director of the travel and information division of the Highway Department, said his division is spending about $584,000 every two years to maintain eight travel bureaus at incoming points and to prepare maps and brochures.

Antidote: Stop Watching The Stuff

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AF TV - Radio Waves
NEW YORK (AP)—It's these dreams I'm having, doctor, that make me think maybe I'd better give it up. It's not that they are so terrifying, but that they are so—well, unrealistic.

For instance, I'm running for a taxi on a rainy day and I bump into this woman who turns out to be somebody I went to high school with years ago and we share the cab. And, this is the thing, doctor, she starts right away raving about this wonderful soap she uses. But then I look at her real close and her face looks like an alligator hand bag. Then sometimes I'm singing happily while dusting the living room and the doorbells ring. It's two men, and they flash their police badges, push past me and demand to see my husband. Well, doctor, of course this makes me pretty upset and I ask them—very hesitantly—whether anything is wrong. "No, ma'am," the gray-haired one answers, "not exactly wrong. We wanted to ask him if he could help us get shirts for the Police Bowling League wholesale."

But the one that makes me wake up breathless has me alone in the house on a stormy night. I turn on the radio and the announcer is saying that a maniac, armed and homicidal, has escaped and is heading toward Milltown, where I live. This makes me a little nervous, so I pick up the phone and find it's gone dead. Then the lights go out. Just when I'm lighting a candle, I see the knob on the front door turning quietly. But, then, doctor, the door opens and in walks my teen-aged daughter and three friends and ask if there are any pizzas in the freezer.

I tell you, doctor, I've got a million of these dreams. Just last night it was my husband walking in with that pretty secretary of his who looks like Marilyn Monroe, and he says nervously that we've got to have a serious talk. And what they want to talk about is whether it will be all right if his secretary has her wedding reception at our house when she gets married to that accountant next month.

Do you think you can help me, doctor? You and I know that these dreams are real crazy—it's never like that on television.

Groucho Marx, who returns to weekly network TV tonight with a new show, "Tell It to Groucho," suggests that some established shows are well equipped to convert their formats to the current trend toward medicine.

Next season, he suggests, it could be "Hawaiian Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat," and "Have Scalpel, Will Travel." And certainly, there's nothing the matter with "Dennis the Doctor," "Redside 6," "The Fee Is Right," "The Tall Surgeon," and "The Gallstones."

Recommended tonight: "Tell It to Groucho," premiere, CBS, 9-9:30 (Eastern Standard Time)—a new game show for a familiar comedian; "The Gertrude Berg Show," CBS, 9:30-10—new title and spot in the schedule for "Mrs. G. Goes to College."

Court Upholds Contempt Ruling

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Supreme Court has upheld for the second time a lower court contempt charge against a woman for moving her daughter's residence without court approval.

The high court denied Mrs. Betty Rhodes' motion for rehearing on an earlier decision.

The action arose after a divorce action between Mrs. Rhodes and her former husband Edgar Sherrill Jr. She received custody of their two-year-old child, but was instructed by the court to keep the child's residence in Karnes County.

She married Barry Rhodes in 1960 and moved to Bryan in Brazos County, but the child remained in Karnes County with her grandparents.

In May of last year, the child was taken to Bryan to live with her mother and Sherrill brought action to return the child to Karnes County, change the custody provision of the original judgment and asked Mrs. Rhodes be punished by contempt proceedings.

The district court held her in contempt of court and sentenced her to 12 hours in jail.

Bradley In Catbird Seat Following Win

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bradley's Braves may be bridesmaids no longer!
Rather, it may be that perennial bride, Cincinnati, who will have to be content with only the bouquet and not the honeymoon trip to the NCAA basketball tournament this year as the Missouri Valley Conference's representative.

The onrushing Braves pushed second-ranked Bearcats and defending collegiate champions another notch from a fifth straight trip to the NCAA tourney Wednesday night with a stirring 70-68 overtime victory at Peoria, Ill.

The loss gave Cincy a 3-2 conference record and put the Braves on top with a 2-0 mark.
But four of the nation's top-ranked teams continued their surges. Fifth-ranked Kansas State bounced back after its upset by Colorado Saturday night and trounced Kansas 70-59 in a Big Eight game; sixth-ranked Villanova held off Temple for a 60-53 victory; eighth-ranked Duquesne easily beat Dayton 79-59 and ninth-ranked Bowling Green won over Toledo in a Mid-American Conference battle, 66-60.

Cincinnati, now 11-2 overall, ran into foul trouble in the first half, and it proved costly when 6-foot-9 Paul Hogue fouled out in the overtime session.
Bradley, which has now won eight straight, got two quick buckets from Lavern Tart and one from Chet Walker in the overtime and never fell behind. Joe Strawder topped Bradley with 24 points and All-American Walker added 17. Soph Paul Bonham led the Bearcats with 24.

Elsewhere, Nebraska moved to the top of the Big Eight (2-0) with a 57-56 victory over Oklahoma on Ivan Grupe's go-ahead field goal and clinching foul; Wake Forest used 30 points and 13 rebounds by big Len Chappell to beat North Carolina 91-72 and take over the Atlantic Coast Conference lead. An ACC game between N. C. State and Virginia was postponed until Feb. 8 because of snow conditions.

Jack (The Shot) Foley scored 35 points in Holy Cross' fifth straight victory, 95-58 over Massachusetts; Virginia Military beat The Citadel in a Southern Conference game, 71-69 in overtime; Maryland halted Georgetown (DC) 83-70; Fairfield came on in the second half to beat injury-riddled Fordham 92-86; South Carolina won over Furman 93-84; Miami (Fla) edged Jacksonville (Fla) 90-89; La Salle beat Muhlenberg 90-51.

Bob Duffy set a single-game high of 48 points in Colgate's 97-95 victory over Rochester, getting 11 in overtime; Pitt won over Geneva 78-65, Manhattan easily defeated St. Francis (NY) 90-73 and Kentucky Wesleyan upset Evansville, fourth-ranked small college quintet, 87-62.

On the West Coast, Portland won over Gonzaga 68-55.

New Kentucky Coach Is Off Alabama Staff

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—For the second straight year, Coach Paul Bryant has lost a top assistant at Alabama to a head coaching job.
Charley Bradshaw, offensive coach of the national champion Crimson Tide last season, was named head coach at Kentucky Wednesday.
And Bryant may lose at least one other assistant — perhaps to his former aide, Bradshaw, at Kentucky.

Bryant, in Chicago to attend meetings of the NCAA, told Sports Editor Benny Marshall of the Birmingham News in a telephone interview he was going to "wait until the smoke clears" before hiring a replacement for Bradshaw.
"We may lose somebody else," he said.

Bryant greeted the news of Bradshaw's appointment with delight.
"Well, wonderful," he said. "I'm really happy for Charley. They couldn't have gotten a better man in my opinion."

Another Bryant assistant, chief aide Phil Cutchin, figured prominently in recent speculation about several head coaching vacancies.
The elevation of Bradshaw brings to six the number of men who either played or coached under Bryant to hold head coaching jobs—Paul Dietzel, who left LSU for Army; Charley McClendon, who succeeded Dietzel at LSU; Jim Owens at Washington; J. T. King at Texas Tech; an Bill Elias at Virginia, plus Bradshaw and Claiborne.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Charley Bradshaw, a former Marine who believes in the positive approach, has been picked to revive the sagging football fortunes at University of Kentucky.
"There is no doubt in my mind" that Kentucky football will get better, said Bradshaw, 36, after being named Wednesday to succeed the ousted Blanton Collier. "If it were not so, I wouldn't be here," he said.

Bradshaw, who played football at Kentucky, then was an assistant coach before going to Alabama as an assistant, said he would go after the better students in his recruiting.
Bradshaw signed a four-year contract. No salary was mentioned, but Collier was making a reported $17,500 a year when the remaining three years of his contract were bought by the Kentucky athletics board last week.

Bradshaw went to Alabama in 1959 under Paul Bryant, the man for whom he played in 1946-49 at Kentucky. He supervised the potent offense of the Crimson Tide, last season's national champions, as it rolled up 3,270 yards and 287 points. Alabama was unbeaten in 10 games.

Women's Bowling Meet Upcoming

Area keggers will take part in the Texas Women's Bowling Association's 27th annual Championship tournament, which will open in Tyler Friday, Feb. 23, and continue weekends through April 15.

A total of 1,352 teams are entered in the meet, an all-time record.

Phillips Winner Over Odessans

BORGER — Frank Phillips of Borger defeated Odessa College, 95-92, in a Western Conference basketball game here Tuesday night.

The game was decided in overtime. In the overtime period, the Plainsmen scored 11 points and Odessa eight.

Odessa now has a 2-2 win-loss record in league competition. The Wranglers will be idle until Jan. 23, at which time they invade Big Spring to meet H.C.J.C.

Texas Club Back Atop Standings

Prairie View, No. 1 small college team in the nation last season, is back atop The Associated Press small college basketball poll.

Prairie View of Texas rolled over Texas College 78-59 and Arkansas A&M 88-73 last week, improved its record to 9-1 and moved up from fourth place.

The Texas school replaced Evansville, Ind., as the top team. Evansville, which suffered two losses last week, dipped to fourth. Grambling, La., moved up from third to second and Tennessee State dropped from second to third.

The top ten with first place votes and win-loss records through games of Saturday, Jan. 6 in parentheses (points on a 100-0 scale):

Schism Between NCAA And AAU Due To Grow

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—The powerful-winged council of the National Collegiate Athletic Association is expected to open further the break between the colleges and the Amateur Athletic Union today by approving programs for creation of new federations for U.S. track and field and gymnastics.

Council approval, tantamount to acceptance by the NCAA as a whole, would follow endorsement of plans for federations in the two sports by the NCAA's executive committee.

In its endorsement at Wednesday's third session of the NCAA convention, the executive committee—NCAA Executive Director Walters Byers reported — felt "these new federations will greatly advance and improve these sports in the United States in all their phases."

The executive committee acted on recommendations submitted by the National Collegiate Track Coaches Association, the National Association of Gymnastics Coaches and a special committee on AAU-Olympic relations headed by Wilbur Johns, athletic director at UCLA.

The council, policy-making arm of the NCAA, last August approved creation of a U.S. federation in basketball.

All three are steps in the power struggle that has been raging for more than a year between the colleges and the AAU over control of U.S. amateur sports, particularly as they relate to foreign competition including the Olympics.

So serious has the break become that President Kennedy has expressed concern over the situation and the NCAA has asked a delay until the first of next month of possible federal intervention.

No structure of the proposed track and gymnastics federations was announced, but the AAU would have representation on both.

"We have proposed equal representation for the AAU with the colleges, high schools, YMCA, and armed forces in basketball," Byers said, indicating the same lines of thought would be followed in track and in gymnastics.

The colleges claim the AAU, which controls the delegation to international groups in these sports and others, dictates policy in regard to international competition in the formation of teams, selection of coaching staffs and related matters. The colleges want more say because they furnish the bulk of the athletes in most sports.

The new step in the NCAA-AAU squabble climaxed a busy day that also included four more recommendations by the rules committee of the American Football Coaches Association, two decisions by the council on reviews of infractions, and nine recommendations from an AFCA committee on football injuries and fatalities.

The council ended the one-year probationary status of the University of Arizona, which had been slapped for football recruiting violations, but refused to lessen the four-year penalty on all sports handed to Indiana in April of 1960.

Jayhawks Face Two Rugged Opponents

The Howard County Junior College Jayhawks, who won eight games in a row before dropping one and then captured five more before yielding another, will attempt to start a new streak in Lubbock Friday night.

The Hawks go up against the Lubbock Christian College Pioneers in another Western Conference game. The local collegians will remain over in Lubbock to oppose the powerful Texas Tech freshmen Saturday prior to the Tech-Baylor varsity game.

H.C.J. was to have played Clarendon last Tuesday but didn't even make the trip, due to the weather.

The game will be made up Feb. 17, and it will come at a crucial time for the locals.

The Hawks must face NMMI the night of Feb. 16, Clarendon Feb. 17, Frank Phillips Feb. 19 and Amarillo Feb. 20, all on the road.

The trip will, no doubt, make or break the Big Springers in the conference race.

H.C.J. has beaten South Plains of Levelland in its only league start.

Larry McElyea, who has been out with an ankle injury and who thought for a time the member might be broken, is back in action and will quite probably play this weekend.

McElyea, a sophomore from Abilene who serves as co-captain of the Hawks, has averaged 12.9 points a game in ten starts this season. He's a tremendous outside player, too, and does a year's service in setting the play up for boys like Walter Carter and Elvis Spradling.

In their 15 games this season, the Hawks have averaged 74.7 points a start, compared to 58.1 for the opposition. The Hawks' defensive record is one of the best in the nation among junior college teams.

The Hawks hit their high mark against Amarillo, at which time they scored 94 points and won by 27. They've twice been held to 56 points, once by South Plains and by Paris.

Their best defensive effort came against Victoria in the San Antonio tournament, at which time they limited the foe to 45 points and won by 22 points.

Decatur and Cameron, Okla., both scored 73 points against the locals for the seasonal high.

Crimson Satan Nag To Watch

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Trainers of leading Kentucky Derby prospects, now in Florida, agreed today that Crimson Satan deserves top weight in the experimental free handicap.

The weights are theoretical, since the experimental handicap was discontinued some years ago, but horsemen eagerly await them each January and consider them authoritative ratings of the current crop of 3-year-olds.

Weights were announced Wednesday for 113 colts and fillies by Thomas E. (Tommy) Trotter, racing secretary and handicapper for the Jockey Club, who assigned 126 pounds to Crimson Satan, winner of 7 of 13 races and $302,200, with 125 on Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan, unbeaten in his 7 starts in the Midwest.

Crimson Satan, chestnut son of Spy Song, is owned by Peter W. Salmen Sr. and was bred at Salmen's Crimson King Farm at Lexington, Ky. He wound up his campaign as a 2-year-old by winning the Garden State Stakes and the Pimlico Futurity.

"I'm not surprised at the weights," said Gordon Potter, Crimson Satan's trainer. "I figure four or five horses right in close. It's nice to have so many horses so close together. It didn't surprise me at all."

Leroy Jolley, 23-year-old conditioner of Ridan and son of the owner, said "On the record, Crimson Satan might rate No. 1, but I'm not disappointed. It's good to have so many horses so close together in the weights."

Boating's Growth Has A Huge Economic Impact

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Recreational boating's growth has filled the nation's waterways. But it also adds to the prosperity of countless suppliers at home and abroad. And this year the industry hopes to do its bit—and a bit more than last year—towards the goal of economic growth to which the nation aspires.

Pleasure boat builders are showing their wares to the trade at the New York Coliseum today and will open the doors to the public Saturday. The displays feature more than 450 boats, hundreds of marine engines and thousands of nautical accessories.

Their impact on the economy in construction, sales and upkeep is so diverse as to be next to impossible to add up in definitive figures. But in recent years the boating industry has expanded fast and its spokesmen insist saturation isn't yet in sight.

About 43 per cent of the boats on display are of plastic construction, 40 per cent of wood, 14 per cent of aluminum and the rest of various materials. Some 180 units have outboard motors. 134 are inboard powered, around 100 are sail boats, and the rest are miscellaneous craft.

But back of the displays are the year-around efforts of the builders who search the world for their materials, hire thousands of skilled and unskilled workers and support many thousands of others in supplier, service and dealer industries.

Both man-made and natural materials are featured at the show. The largest plastic production-built power cruiser is a 41-footer by Hatteras Boat Co. Two 50-foot wood cruisers are by Chris-Craft of Florida and Stephen's of California. Among aluminum boats is a 43-footer by Richardson.

All of the industries involved—plastic, lumber, metal—hall the trend toward boating.

How the benefits spread through the economy can be seen in the example of just one of the many companies in the field, Chris-Craft, based in Pompano Beach, Fla., but with plants also at Algonac, Mich.; Holland, Mich.; Hayward, Calif., and Salisbury, Md.

It reports that in its last fiscal year it bought 400 carloads of lumber and 150 of plywood. It also used 20,000 square yards of carpeting, 33,000 of drapery fabrics, 205,000 of vinyls, and 3,000 of upholstery fabric. It consumed 1,000,000 pounds of copper, brass and silicon bronze fastenings, 100-318 gallons of paints and varnishes, 140,000 pounds of fiberglass mat, 50,000 yards of fiberglass cloth and 550,000 pounds of fiberglass resin.

What's more its lumber consumption included 6,338,127 board feet of Philippine mahogany and 187,358 board feet of teak. This benefited lumber workers, shippers, port hands, truckers and freight handlers in the Philippines and other Southeast Asia lands.

A Mack bass found his eyes bigger than his stomach when he tried to gulp another fish. Mrs. Robert A. Watson of Palestine was casting near Huntsville when she saw the fish at the end of the pier. Thinking them to be on a stringer, she searched for it. There was no stringer. So, with her rod, she managed to wrap some line about the two fish and landed them. The larger fish weighed 2 1/2 pounds, the smaller, 1 1/2 pounds. (AP Wirephoto)

ON THE SHELF

FOUR THOUSAND YEARS AGO. By Geoffrey Bibby. Knopf, $6.95.

For any reader who has even a slight interest in the dim ancestral pageant of history, this can be a pretty exciting volume. The period is the second millennium before Christ. In those 10 centuries there was a lot of bread and battle, heartbreak and heart-break, from which the archeologists and scholars have pieced together a scanty record of the flowing tides of man's history. It was the times of such Old Testament figures as Abraham, and of strife in Egypt that pitted North against South as in our Civil War; it was the time of Stonehenge and Babylon, and the Trojan wars.

The author has not forgotten the dark areas of the world, where hunters and forest people lived out the long centuries without much change in their ways of living. He has given breath to the little people—the sailors, warriors, farmers, merchants and traders who kept the world going while kings and conquerors were compiling fancy deeds that went into the historical datebooks.

This is the type of work that interprets to the layman the cautious calculations of the experts, and Bibby does a good job of communicating the human record in live terms.

He is enough of a scholar to stick close to documented facts, and he has used an interesting device—noting at the end of each chapter how far he has gone in blending established fact with enlightened guesswork. The result is the ancient history has more warmth than you would find in dusty archeology.

GOP Meet In Oklahoma Is Triumph For Party Leader

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—The Republican National Committee meeting here this weekend is a personal triumph for Henry Bellmon, the big, blunt-talking farmer who is fast becoming Oklahoma's "Mr. Republican."

Bellmon has reorganized and revitalized the party in the two years since he became state chairman.

William Miller, national Republican chairman, said the decision to meet in Oklahoma came as a recognition to the state party's sudden surge in this Democratic stronghold.

It is apparent that Bellmon considers this meeting as another stepping stone toward the goal he has set for the party and himself. He has a special reason for wanting the Republicans to break a 55-year drought and elect their first Oklahoma governor in 1962—he probably will be the GOP gubernatorial nominee.

Bellmon has had the same success in running the state party that he had in his Noble County precinct. During his chairmanship there from 1952 to 1958, he was so successful at raising funds and stimulating voter interest, he received recognition from both the state and national parties.

Under his leadership last year, Oklahoma went Republican in the presidential election while Democrats won nationally. Clyde Wheeler Jr. almost became the first Republican congressman elected from the state's present 6th District, getting a majority of votes in the first count, but losing in a recount.

Bellmon contends Oklahoma is becoming more conservative, and his party can make big gains this year.

It didn't take other Republican leaders long to recognize Bellmon's prowess as a political fighter. They began urging him to run for governor and he consented. He is a heavy favorite to win the nomination.

Bellmon heckled Gov. J. Howard Edmondson by congratulating him on cleaning up the outside of the state Capitol. He said Republicans will complete the job by giving the inside "a long overdue scrubbing."

He says Edmondson sometimes tries to initiate good government but is blocked by "Old Guard" Democrats who control the party organization and the legislature. State Democrats deny his accusations.

Bellmon says his major concern is stopping the trend toward bigger government and more taxes. He is particularly opposed to further increases in the public welfare program.

Bellmon is a 200-pounder built like a football tackle. He wears his hair cropped close and looks younger than his 46 years. His soft voice and calm disposition are sometimes deceiving.

The only public office he ever held was right after World War II when he served one term in the legislature from Noble County. Defeated for re-election in 1948, he concentrated his energies on a new business venture as a dirt moving contractor.

Later he sold out this business and expanded his wheat farm to 1,400 acres. He still operates this farm in Noble County.

Bellmon is a Presbyterian, a former Marine and the father of three daughters.

His goal for a Republican victory this fall includes more than himself. He also wants to elect one senator, three congressmen and 50 state legislators in Oklahoma. Even he admits this is a very ambitious goal—but not an impossible one.

Miller Sees No 'Waste' In His Marriage

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The intellectuals might say Arthur Miller is making up for lost time. Strange breed, intellectuals. They would argue that the time Miller spent married to Marilyn Monroe was wasted. The reasoning: America's distinguished playwright produced no works for the theater in that period.

Miller has scant regard for their carping. "Nothing is ever wasted," he philosophizes of the five years he was wed to the nation's sex symbol.

Right now he is at work on his first full-length play in nine years. How did I learn this? Via telephone to New York. Miller was reported willing to talk because of his enthusiasm for the film version of "A View From the Bridge," taken from his one-act play which was produced in 1955 and later expanded.

"I think it's very good," he admitted. "It's the best of the films produced on the basis of any of my plays."

Miller said producer Paul Graetz and director Sidney Lumet did the film without his aid, except in casting matters. The leading actors are Italian Raf Valone, Maureen Stapleton and Carol Lawrence.

Miller's sole screen play was "The Misfits," the only major work he produced during the Monroe interlude. Some critics termed it minor.

He said he planned no more screen plays. "They take too much time—two years," he explained. "I think I will stay in the theater."

He is working seven days out of 10 at his home at Roxbury, Conn., on the new play, as yet untitled.

Death Penalty For Slaying

CLEBURNE, Tex. (AP)—Donald Ray Wilson drew the death sentence Tuesday for the 1960 slaying of Johnson County farmer James Ed Layland.

Motive for the slaying never was clearly established but Wilson and Leonard John Watson, testimony revealed, took money from the Layland home after the slaying.

Wilson was assessed a life sentence earlier. Both men are from Dallas.

Judge Penn Jackson set Wilson's execution for Feb. 15.

Perjury Warrant For TV Quiz Winner, Van Doren

NEW YORK (AP)—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Charles Van Doren, television quiz show star, when he failed to appear in court on a perjury charge.

Execution of the warrant was stayed, however, until next Wednesday when his trial is scheduled to start.

Warrants also were issued for the arrest of two other TV quiz winners who failed to appear in special sessions. They are Mrs. Terry Curtis of Manhattan, and Neil Wolf of Hoboken, N.J.

Another television quiz contestant, Patricia Sullivan of White Plains, N.Y., appeared and pleaded guilty to a perjury charge. Special Session Justice Edward F. Breslin suspended sentence.

Seven other contestants previously had pleaded guilty to charges that they lied before a grand jury that investigated the television quiz scandals in the fall of 1958.

They were accused in criminal informations of having denied falsely that they received help to answer questions on their quiz show appearances.

San Jacinto Battle Still On---Over The Monument

HOUSTON (AP)—So your history book says the Battle of San Jacinto lasted only 30 minutes.

Don't you believe it. The battle is still going on. But right now the skirmishing is in Austin, 250 miles west.

Texas' greatest monument—the 570-foot Tower of San Jacinto—is falling to pieces.

Or at least, some engineers say, pieces are falling from the monument.

And that's what the battle is all about. The San Jacinto Historical Museum Association wants money to make repairs on the monument.

W. K. Beane, the monument engineer, has a collection of limestone he says fell from the monument between Feb. 1 and today.

At last count there were more than 1,500 pieces that weighed a total of about 150 pounds, he said. Some hunks weigh almost 30 pounds.

In 1891 two Houston women started the second Battle of San Jacinto. They founded the Daughters of the Republic of Texas and vowed to get the battleground properly marked.

They finally made it in 1939, when the tall tower with the star on top was dedicated. The monument cost $1.5 million in federal and state money as a public works administration project.

The monument commemorates the battle of April 21, 1836. There, on the boggy prairie, Gen. Sam Houston led the Texans in the rout that gave Texas its independence.

Most leading Texas politicians who have come along since the monument was finished have made San Jacinto Day speeches at the shaft's base.

The politicians were lucky they didn't get a good clout on the head, to hear monument association members tell it.

Rocks fall. The roof leaks. The fine collection of Texas history in the San Jacinto museum is not open for public inspection any more. The museum is closed.

Only the lobby, the elevator and the observation tower are open to the public.

There has been no state appropriation for major repairs since the monument was finished more than 20 years ago.

The State Board of Control estimated last January that at least $219,700 should be spent by the legislature for repairs to the monument, the park and the Battle-Slip Texas berthing slip.

The legislature, in the heat of its two special sessions, didn't come up with the money. Some legislators who visited the monument said it looked fine to them.

George Hill III, president of the monument association, says that if the legislature doesn't provide the money to repair the monument he will ask that it be closed.

Christmas Toys Burned

The Christmas doll of Helen Rebecca Whinsenant, 11, of Nashville, Tenn., was only slightly damaged when fire burned a closet where the Christmas toys of the four children of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Whinsenant were kept. But the doll's bed, games and other toys were destroyed. Defective wiring was blamed for the blaze which damaged only a section of the home. Helen clutches the doll as she weeps over the burned crib.

Wiley Goes To His Death With A Prayer

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Roosevelt Wiley, 29, a Negro from Bay City, died praying in the electric chair today for the hitchhiker slaying of a West Texas milk truck driver.

"Lord, I ask you to please bless these men," he murmured in a reference to guards and official witnesses during a prayerful last statement, "and I thank You, Lord, for the chance to meet my soul."

"I pray that some day this (capital punishment) will come to an end. I am asking this for the men who are still waiting. Lord, if I have done wrong, forgive me."

ROOSEVELT WILEY

Still praying audibly as guards strapped him into the chair, Wiley concluded: "Please, Lord, forgive them for what they do."

He entered the death chamber seemingly composed at 12:01 a.m. and received the first charge of electricity at 12:03. A doctor pronounced him dead at 12:07.

Wiley drew the death penalty in a trial at Lubbock for the knife slaying of L.H. Canada, a San Angelo milk truck driver, during a roadside robbery Oct. 24, 1958. The body was left at the spot, about 10 miles southeast of Sterling City.

The first conviction was overturned by the Court of Criminal Appeals after the defense charged misconduct on the part of the jury. Wiley was later tried at Cleburne where he again was assessed the death penalty.

Since entering prison, the condemned man had developed a talent for art work, mostly religious scenes in water color or pencil.

They were pasted on death row walls during the Christmas holidays. Wiley said he did some of the scenes from memory and copied others.

He turned down a chance to order a special meal yesterday.

Kennedy Out Of Running For Exclusive Club

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has made it quite clear that President Kennedy's nomination for membership in the capital's exclusive Cosmos Club is not likely to be revived.

J. Kenneth Galbraith, U.S. ambassador to India who had sponsored Kennedy for membership, resigned from the club Tuesday because it had refused membership to a Negro official of the State Department. The Kennedy application automatically died.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger told reporters today he had talked with the President about the situation.

"It is my judgment that the proposal of the President for membership in the Cosmos Club will not be resubmitted," he said. The implication was that Kennedy would discourage any other Cosmos Club member from assuming sponsorship of the Kennedy nomination in the place of Galbraith.

Ex-Con, Abducted Woman Arrested

SHELBY, N.C. (AP) — An ex-convict and his blonde girl friend whom he is accused of abducting have been arrested here.

Police Chief Knox Hardin said Malcolm Thomas Cash, 31, of Lynchburg, Va., and Barbara Ann Layne, 20, were arrested and charged with adultery before officers learned their background.

The chief said Mrs. Layne, who is separated from her husband, said after Cash spirited her from her home in Lynchburg Dec. 20, she did not go to police in fear of her life.

Cash "told me if I ever tried to get away he would kill me," Hardin quoted Mrs. Layne as saying.

The chief said the girl told a rambling story that related several robberies, car thefts and associations with former prison friends of Cash.

Also arrested here were William C. Oliver, 28; Bobby Dean Davis, 22, and his brother, Johnny Davis, all of Shelby. They and Cash were charged with breaking and entering and larceny and receiving in connection with a robbery here Monday night.

Lyndon, Truman Plan Speeches

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon Johnson and former President Harry Truman will speak Jan. 20 at a $100-a-plate dinner marking the first anniversary of President Kennedy's inauguration.

Kennedy will be the featured speaker at the banquet, the proceeds of which are to be used by Democrats in this year's election campaigns.

Plains Dry In 60 Years, Says Expert

LUBBOCK (AP) — Water under the Southern High Plains of West Texas will be exhausted in 60 years, a Los Angeles expert testified Wednesday.

C. E. Jacobs, an engineer and California Institute of Technology lecturer, said he reached this conclusion after studying data from the high plains water conservation district.

The Californian was one of four expert witnesses called to support claims in a $300 suit against the government. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Shurbet of Petersburg seek the money as a tax refund. They contend water is a mineral, is being depleted and should qualify for a tax depletion allowance.

Jacobs was asked how long it would take the Ogallala water formation to drain naturally if there was no pumping and no natural recharge in the affected area. He replied it would take about 4,500 years. Earlier testimony established that the formation was draining.

Cross-examination of Jacobs continued today.

Plans Finalled On Assembly

Final plans for the three day assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses to be held in Sweetwater Friday through Sunday at Nolan County Coliseum, were announced by convention official Arthur E. Avey.

The program will consist of morning, afternoon and evening sessions of Bible talks, discussions, and demonstrations designed to train the delegates to be better qualified to teach. Speakers will be W. L. Mackey and Arthur W. Avey, Watchtower Society representatives. Mackey will open the sessions Friday at 7 p.m. with a talk on the convention theme, "Assist One Another to Do God's Will." He will also be the chairman for the model Ministry School held weekly in all congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Appearing on the program will be Jack O'Shields, Big Spring minister of Jehovah's Witnesses, speaking on "Papyrus Manuscripts of the Greek Scriptures." O'Shields has also been appointed to be in charge of the public relations department, one of 22 convention departments.

Other portions of the program, under direction of Mackey, will stress the need for home Bible studies in the family unit. Saturday's session will include a baptism of new ministers and applicants for immersion will be present to hear Mackey's talk, "Dedication and Baptism."

Sunday at 3 p.m., Mackey will speak to the delegates from congregations in 18 neighboring cities on "Uniting Men in a Split Up World." The public is invited.

Shriners To Boost Groebl

The Big Spring Shrine Club is going full strength to San Angelo on Monday evening to support their injured candidate for potestate of the Soez Temple.

Teo O. Groebl, who was injured severely in a traffic mishap last Saturday, is due to be elevated to the top spot in the temple. Local Shriners are anxious to have a maximum number on hand as an expression of support for the new potestate.

At least one special bus will operate from here, and possibly a second will go. The Shriners will assemble in the parking lot at the rear of the Herald and will depart at 5 p.m. for San Angelo.

Members are asked to contact George Baer at General Welding Supply or E. J. Mann at River Funeral Home for transportation reservations.

Stripper Has Grand Jury Date

NEW YORK (AP)—Strip teaser Libby Jones has been subpoenaed to appear Friday—fully dressed—before a Manhattan grand jury.

The jurors want her to amplify some remarks she made on David Susskind's "Open End" television show New Year's Eve to the effect that strippers peddle drinks in four cities—New York, New Orleans, Miami and Chicago.

A spokesman for Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan's office, confirming that she had been called, said her remarks indicated that some night spots possibly were violating a law against entertainers soliciting drinks.

Miss Jones said she also had been subpoenaed to appear before a grand jury in Newark, N.J., but that appearance had been canceled when she agreed to mail an affidavit.

She said this action apparently stemmed from a remark she made on the show that she was going to do a strip tease in Newark—where strip teasing is banned.

"I always work within the laws of a particular area," she said.

We were chatting on the set of "The Bob Cummings Show," and Bob came over to say hello. When he went back before the cameras, Roberta was enthusiastic about how much she enjoyed working with him.

Marketing In English Shops Differs From That In States

Adjusting to married life in familiar surroundings is one thing, but in the very rural fishing village of Aldeburgh, England, it is another matter.

Mrs. William H. Brigman began housekeeping in an Aldeburgh flat where she was provided with an ancient gas cook stove, having an oven so small that a cookie sheet could serve as an extra shelf. There was a warming oven and the jets were lighted with flint. The flat, as elsewhere, was damp and cold, but a cottage was found and the Brigmans moved. The cottage boasted an American gas cooking range, however the bitter cold continued to penetrate and during the winter months heavy warm clothing was worn indoors as well as out.

Marketing in Aldeburgh was strangely different from super market shopping Mrs. Brigman had known in Big Spring. Meat was sold at butcher shops having sawdust spread on the floors and great slabs of meat hung for display. Shoppers, however, were mainly, would pass the time of day while awaiting their turn at the counter. And so it was in the bakery, in the grocery and at the green grocery. Vegetables, available only during season, were sold at the green grocery, while at the grocery slabs of bacon, cheeses and tinned goods were purchased. Family consumption of meat is not comparable to that in the States. Mrs. Brigman pointed out, explaining that in England people rely more on other supplies of protein.

Having little refrigeration, marketing is carried on daily by most housewives, who buy frozen products for immediate consumption.

During the Brigmans' three-year residence in the British Isles, time out was taken for tours of the continent. They were delighted with Germany and German cooking. Pastries and tea were exceptional in England but they appreciated the seasoning and imaginative culinary creations in the German restaurants.

Throughout the Brigmans' home, 1103 E. 15th St., are furnishings and bric-a-brac from the various countries they visited. Also brought from the continent is the German Cheese Steak, which is good and an easy way to dress up a fried steak for company. Mrs. Brigman believes it is a nice surprise to discover ham and melted cheese inside what appears to be an ordinary piece of steak.

wood storage chest was brought from Denmark. From Weisbaden, Germany, the Brigmans brought the Alpine scene which hangs above the chest.

Meat, Vegetable Stew Good Second Day Eating

Busy days ahead! Serve the family stew, for it is good for a second day's eating. As a matter of fact, most stew fanciers—and there are multitudes—think it's really better eating the second day than the first.

Besides making it possible for the homemaker to cook once for more than one meal, the heartiness of meat and vegetable stew eliminates the need for many accompanying dishes. It is practically a meal in itself, and there is an extra bonus of nourishment for it is enriched with nonfat dry milk, as in this recipe:

MEAT, VEGETABLE STEW
1/2 cup olive oil
2 medium-size onions, chopped
2 cloves garlic, finely chopped
2 pounds pork shoulder, cut in 1-inch cubes
2 lbs. boneless chuck, cut in 1-inch cubes

3/4 cups sifted flour
2 tps. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1 1/2 cups sweet milk
Cream sugar and Crisco. Add whole eggs, one at a time. Alternate sifted flour, baking powder, salt and sweet milk. Flavor with lemon extract. Bake in large tube pan at 350 degrees for 1 hour.

3 large potatoes, peeled and cubed
1 1/2 cups water
1 tsp. vinegar
3 tps. salt
1 tsp. sage
1/4 tsp. black pepper
1/4 cup flour
1 quart liquefied nonfat dry milk

Heat olive oil in large heavy kettle; sauté onions and garlic in oil until onions are lightly browned. Add meat; brown lightly. Add potatoes, water, vinegar and seasonings; stir well. Cover. Cook over low heat, about 1 hour, or until meat is tender.

Place liquefied milk in a 1-quart deep bowl; sprinkle flour over surface. Beat with rotary beater until just blended. Slowly stir into meat mixture. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened.

Baked Idaho Potato Giant Vitamin Capsule

Potatoes in the reducing diet? Certainly! The popular "fattening" "Baked Idaho" is an over-sized vitamin-mineral capsule, with appreciable amounts of vitamin C and the B-vitamins, as well as calcium, phosphorus, and iron. Loaded with flavor, not pounds, a medium-size baked Idaho potato will average 100 energy-packed calories.

It is what may go on it that makes for the term "fattening." So do enjoy, while taking off weight, those flavorful Idaho-grown potatoes. You'll recognize them by their russet-brown, net-textured skins with comparatively few and shallow eyes, and their uniformly oval shape. Select even-size medium ones for baking, so that all will be done at the same time. While "Idaho" will accommodate themselves to a range of temperatures, a 400 to 425 degree F. (hot) oven is preferred because of the resulting crisp skins. These provide crunchy and filling good eating. Baking will take 1 to 1 1/4 hours. To test for doneness, pinch the potato gently, shielding your fingers from the heat with a hot pad or towel.

Remove from the oven the minute the potatoes are done. Roll each between towel folds until the skin cracks and the "middle" pushes up—snowy-white, moist and dry. Top as you please, depending upon the story on the scales. It's almost a meal in itself. Good sometimes to make it just that!
To keep calories in line with the potato's modest count, accent its goodness by pouring hot skim milk or hot chicken broth into the steaming crater. Use as perk-uppers, grated Parmesan or Romano cheese, coarse-grind black pepper, seasoning salts, snipped chives or parsley. Drizzle on one of the new low calorie salad dressings, or top with cottage cheese, chopped sweet Spanish onions mixed with French dressing and broiled bacon bits, a spoonful of yogurt.

A Devotional for Today

We know not what we should pray for as we ought; but the Spirit itself maketh intercession for us. (Romans 8:26.)

PRAYER: O God our Father, help us to walk with wisdom this day, looking unto Jesus. May His light be our guide, and His love our strength and inspiration. This we ask in His name. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Frugality Is Urgent

There have been reports from Washington that various departments have been complaining about severe cuts in proposed outlays which will combine to form the federal budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

It is not yet known what the President's proposal will be, but the estimates range from 91 to 93 billion dollars. This would be three to four billion dollars above the estimates for the current year, and about half the increase would come from greater defense spending.

In relation to the gross national product, the total is more or less in line and comparable to the 1939 ratio. However, local and state government costs have risen so sharply along with other costs, that it is prudent to seek to lower the rate of federal appropriations in relation to the GNP. It is almost inevitable that the defense costs will go up. The Armed Services at first requested 61 billion, as a desired figure, then pared it back to 51 billion as a necessary figure. Ultimately, this was cut to about 48½ billion.

Sharpness here should be marched by comparative tightness in non-defense areas. Servicing the public debt calls for a relatively fixed figure and veterans programs can't or won't be cut much. The community services outlay has been trimmed from 500 million to around 100 million by budget makers. There have been other adjustments in askings.

Certainly this is commendable. By the same token, there should be the utmost of soul-searching before new costs are added. The easiest and the best way to balance the federal budget is to hold down expenditures. Spending which would necessitate additional taxes or which would thwart the possibility of some tax relief should be required to pass the test of necessity rather than desirability or expedience. The psychology of a balanced budget is tremendously important; the retention of more private funds for investment to increase the rate of industrial and commercial development is urgent if we are to maintain a safe rate of national growth.

It's Too Important—Don't Delay

This is the month to qualify yourself as a voter in the elections of 1962.

The right to vote is precious regardless of whether there were even one election. However, it happens that this year many elections are scheduled, so the poll tax is a bigger bargain than ever.

There will be elections for city commissioner, for school and junior college trusteeships, for state, county and precinct offices (both in the party primaries and general election), possibly (in some areas) school consolidation referendums, possibly bond elections, and probably state constitutional amendment elections, and probably others.

You can't have a voice in any or all of this unless you get your poll tax (or exemption certificate, if you are entitled to one).

You can't put it off until Feb. 1 or subsequently. For when Jan. 31 rolls past, you've had it so far as voting is concerned unless you've got that receipt or certificate.

To avoid the long lines and to avoid last minute obstacles which might prevent you qualifying, qualify yourself as a voter now. Don't put it off. It's too important.

Catholics Question President Kennedy

WASHINGTON—When a national Catholic publication comes out with an editorial which makes it possible to draw an inference that maybe Catholics generally would have fared better on certain public questions if a Protestant had been elected President of the United States last year, this is political news of prime significance.

"AMERICA," a weekly review cited by a group of Jesuit fathers, says in its latest issue that, "for understandable political reasons, Mr. Kennedy has not been inclined to parade or in any way make much of his Irish or his Catholic background." It then makes the following comment:

"Unlike the late President Roosevelt, Mr. Kennedy has not sought out the advice, assistance, companionship and friendship of highly placed Catholic dignitaries. Catholic prelates and Catholic clergymen pay few if any calls these days at the White House. . . .

"IT IS SIGNIFICANT, for instance, that there were no photographers present for the relatively little-publicized visit to the White House of the (Vatican) Secretary of State early in December. Every published photograph of that brief meeting would have cost Mr. Kennedy 10,000 votes in the Bible belt in 1964, and Mr. Kennedy, who is an experienced politician, can scarcely be asked to overlook such hard facts of public life in America. . . .

"Photographs of the President with Protestant spokesmen like Evangelist Billy Graham, on the other hand, are pure 14-carat gold, to be laid away at five-percent interest till the day of reckoning in 1964."

THE SAME EDITORIAL says that "these presidential ventures into the high wire of tight rope walking in the field of religious public relations cause no appreciable adverse reactions among his co-religionists," and that "in view of his peculiar position, Mr. Kennedy is not expected to make excessively friendly overtures to any one connected with his church."

In its review of Mr. Kennedy's first 12 months in office, however, the magazine finds "one major incident to criticize." This arose in the President's stand in barring federal aid to parochial schools on constitutional grounds. The editorial reaffirms its judgment that Mr. Kennedy was "clearly out of line" in "attempting to settle, by presidential dictum, a thorny and complicated constitutional issue like that of aid to private schools." The editorial finds there is a "distinction that is very much to the fore in Catholic minds as they ponder the dilemmas of the first Catholic President." It then adds:

"THE DISTINCTION lies between clear understanding on the one hand, of the political circumstances and contingencies which might make it personally expedient for a Catholic President not to be in the reviewing stand at a St. Patrick's Day parade—and, on the other hand, failure to understand and refusal to countenance a positive act of discrimination."

All this is but another way of saying that the President's stand on aid to parochial schools is being widely discussed among Catholics. It is being questioned already by some political observers whether Mr. Kennedy will have as solid support from Catholics in 1964 as he had in 1960.

THE PRESIDENT has antagonized many citizens of the Catholic persuasion because he has said flatly that federal aid to Catholic schools cannot be justified under the Constitution. Yet, under the administration of Protestant Presidents in the past, Congress has enacted laws that allow federal funds to be used for the construction of dormitories and laboratories in Catholic colleges and for the payment of tuition of war veterans and scholarships for students who wish to attend Catholic-operated institutions.

PERHAPS THE MOST striking statement on the subject that has yet been made by any legal authority comes in an exhaustive analysis of all the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States throughout its history touching on the powers of the states and the federal government as they relate to education in religious and non-religious schools. It was written by Philip B. Kurland, professor of law at the University of Chicago, and was published recently in the University's Law Review. He says that the question of whether the national government "can contribute financially to parochial education, directly or indirectly," is a continuing one. He concludes as follows:

"ANYONE SUGGESTING that the answer to the question, as a matter of constitutional law, is clear one way or the other is either deluding or deluded."

So the issue is bound to be discussed in the next campaign, and it may be added that, because so many of the members of Congress now are finding it a hot political issue back home, there is little likelihood that for a long time to come any broad measure of federal aid to education will be passed.

Shelters From The 20's

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Prohibition era distillers didn't know it but they were doing residents of this atomic age a favor when they secretly constructed two underground rooms behind an old house.

When the house was torn down to make way for an apartment building recently, the two reinforced concrete rooms, still equipped with water pipes, electric wiring and 40-gallon metal drums, were discovered.

William Eschenburg, who is building the 16-family apartment house, said he will use the rooms as fallout shelters for his tenants.

"Probably all we'll have to do," he said, "is to clean the place and paint the walls."

BUT THE RETURN IS SO SMALL

James Marlow

It's Still The Same World

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight years without change and no change in sight.

The world around President Kennedy today, as he faced Congress with his second State of the Union Message, looked much the same as the one he saw when he first took office a year ago.

There had been some changes—for instance, in overcoming the domestic recession—but not in the biggest problems, all of them overseas. Nor had there been in the past eight years.

In that time the world has moved into a period when the truly great dilemmas are likely to remain the same for years to come: The balance of power between the United States and Russia and their maneuvering.

THIS PERIOD was already under way, although perhaps not fully discernible, just eight years ago when President Eisenhower on Jan. 7, 1954, journeyed to the Capitol to deliver his second State of the Union Message.

For him, too, there had been some changes in his first year in office. The Korean War, for instance, had ended in 1953.

Eisenhower talked about the usual things in 1954—taxes, foreign aid, some improvement in American social problems—a lot of things which were the same, more or less, as those confronting Kennedy.

Two events of 1953 were to shape and freeze the future for both Eisenhower and Kennedy: Stalin's death and Russia's development of the hydrogen bomb.

THE FULL impact of those events was not clearly seen even in 1954:

1. With Stalin's death his limited and stolid policies ended. Slowly, under the leadership of Nikita Khrushchev, Russian policy became imaginative, far-reaching, more aggressive.

But Khrushchev, on that day in 1954 when Eisenhower talked to Congress, was still pretty much an unknown, slowly working his way up to the top to become Stalin's heir and the new general of communism.

2. Until that day in August 1953, when Russia had its first hydrogen explosion, the United States was indisputably the world's No. 1 power and, because it had the bomb, able to keep Russia in check.

The full meaning of this didn't seem to be realized in 1954.

FOR WHILE Russia rushed ahead with intercontinental missile development, Eisenhower, although all for developing American atomic power, was still talking in terms of cutting defense spending.

Even so, American expenses were going up and Eisenhower asked Congress to raise the limit on the national debt. These expenses are still climbing and Kennedy now is talking of raising the debt limit.

But in those past eight years—so phenomenal has been Russian missile and space development—that now this country is in a race for its life.

Bus Ride To School Upsets Teen-Age Student

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter, a freshman in high school, has to ride on the bus a full hour to get to school. Because she gets sick on the bus, our doctor prescribed some tablets for her to take before breakfast. The tablets help, but she can't eat any breakfast and this worries me terribly. This morning she had only two salty crackers and a glass of milk.

"Can you possibly suggest something substantial she could eat so early in the morning—6:30 a.m.? The bus ride home doesn't bother her—Mrs. J.K."

Since the bus ride bothers her in the morning but not in the afternoon, I suspect that her troubles—both the car sickness and the inability to eat—are psychological rather than physical.

Not that her misery isn't real enough. Of course it is. Our nerves can play all sorts of mean tricks on us.

I think, if you exercise patience and diplomacy, you can overcome the problem.

Since she can eat salt crackers and milk, continue giving her these—but gradually and carefully add other things. An egg in the milk, and a bit of sweetening and flavoring if desired, will help a great deal nutritionally, and she may tolerate it easily.

Next try toast and jelly instead of the crackers, or in addition to them. Later work in a small glass of fruit juice or a piece of fresh fruit.

I think eventually you'll get a substantial breakfast into her, and the "bus sickness" should disappear.

Keep in mind (but don't tell her) the fact that she's a freshman is probably significant. She's under the nervous tension of getting used to a new environment and new problems. As she becomes accustomed to things, she'll calm down.

Indeed, that is quite likely the reason why she is upset going to school, but at ease going home—a good thing for you to remember, but of no particular value to her, since obviously she is reacting subconsciously to these stresses.

Don't belabor the situation. Don't argue. Don't keep harping on it. And don't try to force the food. These things would just add to her discomfort. She needs calm, easy, tactful help.

The pills, since they help, are all right but I predict that the time will come when she won't need them.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What would cause a strong odor in the urine of a girl of four? She still wears her panties and bed. Her mother thought this might cause it. Would you advise a checkup by the doctor?"—H.H."

Diet, infection, certain vitamins, and insufficient water are all common causes of this strong odor. Likewise, soiled clothes and bedding could accentuate it. By all means have a medical checkup. Among other points, infection might influence the wetting, and treatment could correct two problems at once—in addition to warding off future trouble that could be serious.

"Dear Dr. Molner: We are greatly concerned over our 13-month-old grandchild. She passes out from holding her breath, and turns blue. Most people say it is temper. Is there anything that can be done to bring her out of it?"—Mrs. B.A."

In this case, "most people" are right. She always has come out of it, hasn't she? She always will. It's a trick that some babies acquire—holding their breath because they are angry.

If they hold their breath long enough, they "pass out." At that point they relax and begin to breathe again. It's been happening for centuries. But it still scares adults.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is, and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner is happy to receive readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in his column. However, due to the great volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets he cannot answer letters individually.

Around The Rim

It's Worth The Price

Once again, let me defend the poll tax. With poll tax season in full sway, the annual gripes against "paying to vote" are being heard and I suppose that eventually the poll tax will be eliminated as the illuminati have their way.

I can't agree that the poll tax is unfair. You might as well argue that the circus proprietor should not charge admission at the gate. As a matter of fact, the poll tax is one of the few parts of the tax burden that actually makes a bit of sense, at least as much as any tax makes sense.

AFTER ALL, it costs something to register voters and make sure that skulduggery is kept to a minimum. Otherwise, even the most outspoken secularists would wind up at the public trough. By collecting a small fee for the franchise, there is some assurance, small to be sure, that everyone who casts a ballot is a bona fide elector.

And with this boon, then no one of us may manipulate the polls to the detriment of all the others. At least, let me add, there is small chance of such an occurrence. So, if for no other reason, the poll tax helps keep us honest. I dare say, few of the other taxes we pay can boast such a promise.

IF THE POLL TAX were dropped tomorrow morning, I doubt that the various taxing agencies could meet fast enough to find another tax to replace it. After all, it would be money lost at the trough, which finds more feeders every year. We would not save any money; the tax would be placed at a different place, perhaps on the right to serve on juries.

The point is, there is little hope we can escape the $1.75. We are stuck with that from here on. At least, we know when and how we pay it, whatever consolation that may be.

AND FINALLY, the poll tax might be considered in the same light as a ticket to the zoo, a movie, or even a convention. There is nothing educational about it, but it does offer a few laughs and perhaps the hapless citizen's only chance at striking out at a candidate, now that the horse-laugh has been labeled communistic.

Too often, an election goes by default when only one candidate solicits votes. On other occasions, there is not enough difference between the candidates to make a walk in the rain worth while. But in either case, the voter can scratch out the name of the offending candidates, his only chance of a show of defiance. A $1.75 is well worth the treat.—V. GLENN COOTES

Getting Our History Straight

President Kennedy has asked for an appropriation of $50,000,000 to combat adult illiteracy in this country, and not a minute too soon.

If this column sounds a note of alarm it is traceable to a three-page, single-spaced, typewritten letter from a woman in Columbus, Ohio, whom charity and mercy dictate shall not be identified by name.

FOR MOST of the three pages, my correspondent makes a strong plea for a full-out shelter program. A bit emotional, perhaps, but who isn't emotional on the shelter problem? As part of her bona fides, she writes that she is chairman of the Emergency Care Committee of a church school.

It is only when the writer comes to the final paragraph of her three-page screed that she goes out of control and proceeds to re-write history in a manner highly-handed even for those who see every facet of life, even such an all-American phenomenon as rodeos, as either pro or anti-Communist.

APROPOS OF NOTHING that has gone before, my Columbus correspondent writes:

"It might be interesting to note that Sparta of history long gone by was the world's greatest democracy of that time. The Communists of that time, which were then known as Athenians, tried to submit them to their will over and over again. But Sparta had the gumption to fight and fight. Then they became rich, lazy, soft and unwilling to sacrifice, so Philip of Macedonia made slaves of them."

WHEN I FIRST read that, it seemed probable that the whole world had gone mad. Then followed frightened speculation that I had forgotten all the history beaten into me by Miss Deborah David and other devoted teachers.

These fears were succeeded by an even more horrific alarm; that double-think had finally conquered mankind. Dictators, as we know, rewrite history as they please. Stalin, Khrushchev, Hitler and Mussolini have been prime practitioners of this black art in our time. But for Americans to get into the act—

THE RESULT of my correspondent's final paragraph has been, for me, considerable browsing in two encyclopedias at hand (the Columbia and the Americana), in Edith Hamilton's "The Greek Way" and "The Echo of Greece," and in ancient history.

Well, memory had not tottered. In the city-state of Athens, democracy made its first tentative appearance. Will Durant in "The Story of Philosophy" points out that "what democracy (the Athenians) had was as thorough as never since; the general assembly was the supreme power; and the highest official body, the Dikasteria, or supreme court, consisted of over a thousand members (to make bribery expensive), selected by alphabetical rotation from the roll of all citizens."

OR LISTEN to Edith Hamilton: "When he (Solon) laid the foundation of it in Athens, free government came into the world." The greatest flowering of civilization in any one period came out of Athens. At least 2,500 years before Karl Marx came to curse mankind, Athenians were practicing the very opposite of his theories.

As for Sparta, it is remembered in history as an early military authoritarian state, an armed camp. "The sole purpose of the state was military power," says the Columbia Encyclopedia. "By the Fifth Century, B. C., the ruling class, the Spartiates, gave themselves wholly to war."

THE PELOPONNESIAN WAR, often cited as a warning for our times, was the death struggle between Athens and Sparta that exhausted Greece. Sparta as well as Athens eventually fell to Philip II of Macedonia.

At all odds, let's have that $50,000,000 instanter to dispel adult illiteracy. Let's not have any more history rewritten by those whose little knowledge is not only scrambled but is a clear and present danger to sanity.

Battle Of The Extremists

WASHINGTON — The battle of Radical Rights vs. Lunatic Left may be regrettable, but it is now being waged on a number of fronts in this country — and almost everybody who thinks at all about political and philosophical affairs will have to take sides.

Instead of trying to wish the battle away, or pretending that it doesn't exist, it seems a good idea to name some of the battlefields and to identify the central issue. In short, where is this fight, and what's it all about?

IN CONGRESS during the present session, we have the two extremist organizations face to face — the John Birch Society, with two of its members in Congress, Edgar Hiestand and John Rousselet, and the Americans For Democratic Action, with something like 40 members peppered through Congress and the New Frontier.

On the same front, we have the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee's investigation of the No Win Policy as expressed in the suppression of anti-communism by the military. Senator Strom Thurmond has not hesitated to go to the extreme Right position here. Several ranking Democrats who are not themselves extreme Leftists will find themselves forced into that compromising position by trying to defend the administration's actions against Gen. Edwin Walker.

THE BATTLE OF extremism is forming in several state elections. Minority Leader Joseph Shell, of the California Assembly, another Rightist, is already in the lists against Richard Nixon for the gubernatorial nomination. In Maryland, up for the Senate seat once held by Millard Tydings and now being vacated by John Marshall Butler, we have a forthright Rightist, James Gleason, once administrative assistant to Senator Knowland. Gleason has already announced himself as a Republican candidate. Another unopposed ultra-conservative, Marine General Jimmy Devereux, who retired two years ago from Congress, is returning to fight for his old Maryland House seat or possibly for the Senate.

IN MISSOURI, a youthful Right Wing bank president from Kansas City, named Crosby Kemper, has announced he is a Republican candidate for the Senate seat held by Senator Ed Long. I have interviewed Kemper and can testify to his strong conservative views, which I'm sure the liberals will call extremist.

So, like it or not, we are on the eve of an extremist conflict. One great convenience in writing about polemic politics is that flat, black-and-white statements are permissible, even obligatory.

IT IS CORRECT to state without qualification that the Rightists are going to be very strong for God and country, for free enterprise, local sovereignty and individualism. It is equally correct to state without qualification that the Lunatic Leftists will put social welfare ahead of religion, "the world" ahead of the U.S.A., Federal-aid-for-everything ahead of personal initiative, collectivism-in-everything from World Government to fluoridation of water ahead of individualism.

Lunatic Leftists, being the extremists they are, can't help thinking that offensive patriotic groups, like the Daughters of the American Revolution, are Fascists. Lunatic Leftists don't like America, and want to make America over, or merge America into Europe or into a United Nation, which is the equivalent of abolishing America.

ON THE OTHER HAND, Radical Rightists, being extremists, can't help thinking that any statesman, from a president on down, who is not violently anti-Communist is pro-Communist.

The positions of the extremists are irreconcilable because, in a pinch, the Leftists would rather live under Communism than under the DAR's. And in a pinch, the Rightists would rather die in a nuclear war than live under Communism, and would rather turn to a Man on Horseback than have the American Republic go Red.

THESE ARE days of extremism. There is no good siding and pinning for moderation. And although everybody but me and they may be mad, even we may have to choose to fight either with the Radical Right or the Lunatic Left.

Cutter Pays Off In Vaccine Cases, But Feels Exonerated

EDITOR'S NOTE: In 1955 a wave of polio outbreaks hit the country. Some cases were traced to live virus in vaccine produced by the Cutter Laboratories of California. Many damage suits resulted. The following article spells out what has happened since.

By M. A. RAISER
BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, which once faced 50 antipolio vaccine inoculation damage suits totaling $12 million, has settled most of them for more than $3 million. One jury verdict against Cutter, large manufacturer of biologicals and pharmaceuticals, was for $675,000. This was reduced to $515,000 in a recent package settlement of 15 suits for $1.7 million. The settlements, mostly in behalf of crippled children, must be approved by courts.

"These settlements are slightly more than $1 million beyond our insurance coverage," said Dr. Robert K. Cutter, president of Cutter Laboratories. "This gives us a difficult problem financially, but we have licked difficult problems before and we hope we can lick this one."

The suits stemmed from the nationwide outbreak of poliomyelitis—infantile paralysis—in 1955, and discovery of live virus in vaccine produced by Cutter Laboratories, one of six drug manufacturers who accepted a government invitation to make antipolio vaccine for mass inoculation.

The U.S. Public Health Service conducted an intensive study of Cutter's vast production facilities at Berkeley. The report, in part, said: "Nothing was found to indicate that the infective amounts of live virus in Cutter vaccine were attributable to contamination.

"The exact reasons for the presence of infective amounts of live virus in some lots of Cutter vaccine could not be found."

When the situation was discovered, Cutter Laboratories acted quickly to withdraw the serum from the market. Within 30 minutes all of its widely separated outlets had been notified.

Attorneys said the first jury trial suit at Oakland, Calif., seemingly set a pattern of implied warranty of its product against Cutter.

The jury awarded $146,500 damages, but in an unusual statement said it felt the company had not been negligent.

The trial began in December 1957. The first Cutter-produced vaccine was used April 12, 1955, the same day the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis reported the antipolio vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk was effective and safe.

Dr. Walter Ward, Cutter's medical director, testified Cutter's vaccine passed all safety tests in effect before April 12, 1955.

Superior Court Judge Thomas J. Ledwich instructed the jury that Cutter, having sold vaccine, was legally required to guarantee its product.

He commented: "It boiled down to this—did the children get polio from the vaccine or didn't they? You could call it a directed verdict."

The jury awarded $131,500 to the parents of Anne Elizabeth Gottsdanker, 8, formerly of Providence, R.I., who was crippled severely.

Parents of James Randall, 4, of Monrovia, Calif., were awarded $15,000. The two families in a joint suit had asked $365,000 damages. "We felt obligated to follow the law, whether we agreed with it or not," one juror, Anita Steiner, commented. Other jurors declared they felt the warranty law was "extremely harsh."

Dr. Cutter was disappointed with the verdict but said he was "nevertheless most appreciative that the jury took such an unusual action as to express their firm belief that there was no carelessness or incompetence on the part of Cutter Laboratories."

Attorney Melvin Belli of San Francisco, whose law firm of Belli, Ashe and Gerry specializes in damage suits, welcomed the verdict.

"It is the first which makes a manufacturer stand behind his manner," he commented.

Belli also was one of the attorneys in the good old American suits at the Los Angeles trial that resulted in the $675,000 verdict against Cutter Laboratories.

Bryan John May, 11, was awarded $600,000 by a jury June 26, 1961. His widowed mother, Norma Marie May, 41, was awarded $75,000 for her own suffering and medical expenses.

The child was paralyzed almost completely when he was 5. Six years later he could move two fingers of his right hand and toes on his right foot.

Fred A. Cutter, the company's senior vice president, said he felt it had been demonstrated the boy's condition was not caused by the vaccine.

The jury's $675,000 award was reduced to $515,000 in the $1.7-million package settlement negotiated by Belli's law firm. Belli said his firm would receive $500,000 from the settlement fund.

Carr Will Be Candidate For Atty. General

LUBBOCK — Waggoner Carr, former Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, today announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General.

The announcement from his Lubbock law offices stressed the importance of the Attorney General's office in law enforcement, crime prevention and the creation of a healthy economic climate in Texas.

Carr recalled that in 1960, after two terms as Speaker, more than a half million Texans approved his record of public service by their votes in this race for Attorney General and said he believes his previous training and experience qualify him to do a good job. Carr was identified in a recent state-wide poll as the leading contender for the Attorney General's post.

"My platform basically has but one plank — strengthening our legal framework where needed, and more vigorous enforcement of those laws, once enacted," Carr declared.

The 42-year-old former lawmaker and law enforcement official revealed plans for an intensive campaign leading up to the Democratic primary. He promised detailed discussion of the issues as the campaign develops.

"I feel that it is of the utmost importance that the office of Attorney General be used effectively to control and eradicate the inroads of crime in our state. The office must be used to support and assist honest and conscientious local law enforcement officers, being careful not to destroy the responsibility of local officials to the people who elected them. We must, likewise, use that office intelligently to add new strength to all the laws enacted by our Legislature, and the holder of that office must work cooperatively with our lawmakers to evolve the new laws required by changing times in this state."

Carr served five terms as a member of the House from Lubbock County, the last two as Speaker. He is one of only three men in the history of Texas to be elected Speaker two consecutive terms.

Born in Fairlie, Hunt County, Carr moved with his family to Lubbock County in 1932. He graduated from Lubbock High School and Texas Technological College. He received his law degree from the University of Texas and was admitted to the State Bar in 1947. Wartime service in the Army interrupted his legal studies.

Before going to the Legislature, Carr served as County Attorney of Lubbock County and Assistant District Attorney of the 72nd Judicial District.

Focus On Health

By The Associated Press
Wonder where the Asian flu virus went? Wonder when you are most likely to get chickenpox or mumps? These are questions with a focus on health.

Spent Virus?

What happens to an influenza virus between epidemics? It appears that the virus still travels between humans — but incognito. At least it may not be recognized as influenza.

Researchers have recovered the Asian A2 virus from patients in the years since its worldwide epidemic of 1957 — indicating the virus is still around.

This means that the virus is still creating immunity in world populations — and because of this it could be that the Asian flu has spent its epidemic force.

Viruses March On

Infectious diseases are often influenced by social forces — and a new study indicates that at least three of them — chickenpox, mumps and measles — are hitting children at younger ages than they once did.

These three virus diseases were once fairly common among adolescents. Now, it appears, they are occurring largely in the pre-adolescent years. This may be due to the increase in the population, or the fact that people move around more now, and live closer together.

One infectious virus is trailing this trend, however. This is rubella or German measles. It is the virus that can cause birth defects when it strikes women in the first three months of pregnancy.

REAL BREAD means many things...different things to different people

When country kitchens were warm and fragrant with the exciting smells of cinnamon and spices; mince pies and pumpkin pie; hickory smoked bacons and hams; apple dumplings; steaming black coffee and hot buttered rolls... the most fragrant of all was the warm, deep aroma of REAL BREAD—piping hot, brimming with flavor and goodness. You can enjoy that same REAL BREAD goodness in a bread made today, because a master of the baking art takes at least 6 hours to put it there. The baking of REAL BREAD demands his presence, his skill, his experience. The finest ingredients fully mixed and blended and fermented to perfection, plus the tender touch of a man who knows and loves his job — these bring you REAL BREAD.

TREAT YOURSELF TO THE BEST — TREAT YOURSELF TO REAL BREAD
