Forsan Approves Water Bond Issue

Forsan voters turned out strong Saturday and put their ballots of approval in the box for $50,000 in bonds to finance purchase and improvements to the city's water system.

Giant Dust Storm Blows Over W. Texas

A giant dust storm, cutting visibilities sharply, hit the Panhandle-Plains country of Texas Saturday while fog beset shipping along the state's upper Gulf Coast.

Residents recently have complained of low water pressure and badly rusted water lines, but the water has been approved by the State Health Department.

2 Brothers Charged In Rifle Death

FORT WORTH (AP) — Two brothers from Fort Worth were charged Saturday afternoon with the pre-dawn rifle slaying of 19-year-old Jerry Don Davis.

Rusk In Geneva For Arms Parley

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk arrived early Sunday for complex East-West diplomatic negotiations and said he was under instructions from President Kennedy to "make every effort toward disarmament."

Plane Crashes Claim 10 Lives

LOS ANGELES — Three plane crashes in turbulent skies over California, Arizona and Northern Mexico claimed 10 lives in the past 24 hours.

Rusk In Geneva For Arms Parley

Driver Receives Broken Back. Police Capt. Walter Euhanks takes a look at the remains of the 1955 model car which jumped a curb, plowed through three laws, and threw the driver, Airman 2.C. William Joseph Connors, over 52 feet from where the car stopped rolling, at midnight Friday. The accident happened in front of the Nalley-Pickie Funeral Home on Gregg.

Emphasizes Need For 'Right Spirit'

The secretary stressed from his giant military transport plane a few minutes after midnight. It was raining, just as it had been a few hours earlier when Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko arrived at Geneva's Coltrin Airport.

Big Spring Week

Another week and no rain, although we did have some cloud cover and flecks of mist. Except for a paper thin bit of snow back in January, we have gone about two and a half months now without measurable precipitation.

Bomb's Unearthly Flash To Bring Advance Notice

WASHINGTON (AP)—The unearthly, alarming brilliance of thermonuclear explosions presumably will be one reason for the government's decision to give advance public notice to some detonations in the Pacific test series due to start late next month.

Jackie Gets Wet Welcome

ROME (AP)—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy arrived in Rome Saturday to a wet welcome from the weather but a warm one from President Giovanni Gronchi and Romans who braved the rain.

Wealthy Fascist Promoter Is Dead

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Juan March, one of Europe's richest men and reputed financial backer of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's civil war victory, died in a deep coma Saturday of injuries suffered in an automobile accident. He was 86.

Transport Hits House, 4 Killed

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Four persons were reported killed when an Air Force C-119 "Flying Boxcar" crashed into their house southeast of here Saturday night.

Reds Try Jamming Corridor's Radar

BERLIN (AP)—The Russians have dug up the old trick of dropping metallic strips to confuse Western plane traffic in Berlin's air corridors. But Western air force officers contend this is only a nuisance, not a menace.

Airman Seriously Injured When Car Goes Out Of Control

A Webb AFB airman was seriously injured about midnight Friday when his car careened out of control on Gregg Street, near the Nalley-Pickie Funeral Home. Officers blamed the one-car accident on slick pavement.

Myers Trial Slated For Monday; Donna Marie Stone May Testify

RUSK, Tex. (AP)—John Edwin Myers, admitted murderer of four persons, is scheduled for trial Monday in one of the cases. His pudgy 14-year-old girl friend who helped him kill is in jail here and may testify.

Scientist Spoofs Fears Of Fallout

NEW YORK (AP)—This spring the United States plans to shoot atomic fireballs into the sky over the Pacific Ocean. Hot clouds of atomic dust, borne by the winds, will carry fallout and fear to scientists of the world.

Standoff

The basic conflict is that the United States and other Western powers are determined not to risk a disarmament or nuclear test ban pact unless it includes tight international enforcement measures to prevent cheating. The Russians appear equally determined not to accept control provisions, which they charge would amount to an infiltration of spies into their closed Communist world.

Soviets Demand Farm Increase

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet leaders called Saturday for a complete reorganization of agriculture to get more food on the tables of Soviet citizens.

Hill-Country Neighbors Ready For Welcome-Home For U2 Pilot

BIG STONE GAP, Va. (AP)—The hill-country neighbors of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers will welcome him home here Monday in ceremonies that may be long on speeches but definitely short on hoopla.

"It will be sort of a hero's welcome," said Big Stone Gap Mayor Carl Murphy.

But, he added, there will be no parade, no motecade, no bands when Powers revisits his native West Virginia.

The low-keyed exercises will be jointly sponsored by the Wise County towns of Pound, where Powers grew up; Norton, where his father runs a cobbler's shop; and Big Stone Gap.

Big Stone Gap was picked as the scene of the welcome home celebration because it has the necessary facilities—a City Armory that will hold 1,500 persons.

"Everything we're going to do will be inside," said Mayor Murphy. "It shouldn't run more than an hour, the whole works. We're going to put a strict limit on speeches."

Plenty of speechmakers should be available. Beside local legislators, invitations have been sent to Virginia Gov. Albert S. Harrison Jr.; the state's two U. S. senators, Harry F. Byrd and A. Willis Robertson; and 9th Dist. Rep. Pat Jennings.

The mayor said that "unless something unforeseen happens," Powers, the guest of honor, "will definitely be here."

Mayor Signs Proclamation

Mayor Lee O. Rogers signs the proclamation designating the week of March 11-18 as DeMolay Week in Big Spring. David McClanahan, DeMolay chapter counselor, left, and Chief Warrant Officer Henry D. Brewer, right, chapter Dad, look on. The Big Spring chapter, known as the Leon P. Moffett chapter, is sponsored by the Shrine Club.

DeMolay Week Is Proclaimed In City

More than 40 active members of the Leon P. Moffett Chapter, Order of DeMolay, will observe the seven cardinal virtues of the order during the week of March 11-18. The chapter in Big Spring is sponsored by the Big Spring Shrine Club.

Mayor Lee O. Rogers issued a proclamation this week setting aside March 11-17 as DeMolay Week in observance of the 43rd anniversary of the order.

The Leon P. Moffett Chapter will attend the East Fourth Street Baptist Church in a body today and will attend another church on March 18. During the week special emphasis will be placed on reverence for God, brotherly love, courtesy, comradeship, cleanliness, and patriotism, in addition to church attendance.

Master Counselor David McClanahan, and Chapter Dad, Chief Warrant Officer Henry D. Brewer of Webb AFB, said the boys of the chapter would visit churches, schools, and hospitals during the week, with emphasis on hospital visits. Some meetings of the chapter will be held during the week.

Thefts Keep Police Hopping

Reports of thefts and vandalism kept Big Spring police busy Friday.

Frankie Mote, manager for Foremost Dairies, 907 E. 3rd, reported that three of his trucks had been burglarized Friday morning. A number of cartons of milk and ice cream were missing.

Other reports included breaking and entering of a cold drink and candy stand owned by Francisco Lara, 204 NE 9th, with three boxes of candy missing; C. T. Tindol said two hub caps were taken from his car; building material, in considerable quantity, taken from new homes under construction at 2604, 2606, and 2608 Carol, reported by Mrs. E. C. Miles.

Vandalism investigated included two holes cut in the top of a car owned by Reymundo G. Martinez, 106 NE 10th; window reported broken by pellet gun at 1402 Main; a plum tree torn down, fence damaged, and electric meter damaged at 3301 Drexel; fence and tree destroyed at 1806 Eleventh Place when two men started a dirt machine owned by W. D. Caldwell and let it get away from them.

Three minors were arrested for having alcoholic beverages in their possession at 11:30 p.m. Friday.

Fletcher Joins Cowmen's Group

Lt. Col. Joe Fletcher, who resigned his post as assistant director of the Texas Department of Public Safety to become secretary-manager of the Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, is a former Big Spring resident.

Fletcher, who is a native of Cooke County, joined the Texas Highway Patrol at Abilene in 1931 as a student patrolman. Later he served as patrolman here as well as in Odessa and Pecos. In 1935 he transferred from here to Austin where he pioneered in establishing the state's central criminal record file which now contains more than a million sets of criminal finger prints. He became chief of the identification bureau in 1938 and in 1945 he became assistant director of the bureau.

The announcement that he would join the cowmen's group effective March 20 was made in Austin by Col. Homer Garrison, DPS director, and Dolph Briscoe Jr., president of TSCRA.

CAL Employees Get Increases

Salary raises for all non-contract employees, up to department managers, of Continental Air Lines were announced Friday by President Robert Six. He said the raises would be throughout the nine-state, 36-city system.

"The new increases, in addition to Continental's annual merit raises, will become effective April 1 and go to more than 1,300 employees, or nearly half the force," Six said. "Salary increases will amount to around $75,000 a year."

Week Of Ship Disasters Leaves Sailors With Harrowing Stories

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Rugged sailors rescued from battered ships in high seas told shuddering tales of their ordeal. One saved from the stern section of a tanker that had broken in two said, "It was the longest night of my life."

Thirty-three men were rescued from the Liberian molasses tanker Gem, which split off the Carolina coast Wednesday night. The destroyer Stribling landed at Mayport, Fla., with 26 survivors Friday and the Caribbean cruiser Victoria took seven survivors to New York.

The Gem's chief engineer, Aldo Compasano, said that he was in the engine room when the ship began breaking up. He said he could feel the ship cracking and then heard a loud crash.

Ivar Iversen of Harstad, Norway, the Gem's cook, said, "I got really scared when I heard it. It made me fly out of the chair. There was no panic among the crewmen. The weather was pretty rough, but no one had any idea the ship would break in two."

Willeh Armans, Tartu, Estonia, the ship's first pumpman, said, "Nearly everyone aboard was fearful of what might happen. It was the longest night of my life."

Seven sailors and the ship's captain were stranded in the forward part of the ship. The Victoria of the Ineres Line rescued them Thursday.

The tanker's master, Karl Heimas, said the ship lost all its electric power and sent emergency signals by radio with a hand generator.

One of the crewmen, Kjelle Bamberg, 47, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was crushed to death while crawling into a lifeboat and then washed away. He was the only reported fatality.

Three persons were rescued from the 40-foot yawl Guinevere off the Florida coast Friday. The vessel was reported to have sunk. The Coast Guard said the oil tanker Esso Greenville found the Guinevere in heavy seas about 200 miles east of Jacksonville.

The tanker radioed it rescued Rodney Strulo and his wife Heather, of Berkingside, England, and a third crewman, Luke Murtough, of New Milford, N. J. All were in good health.

The German freighter Magdalena saved four men from the 40-foot schooner Wooden Shoe Wednesday, shortly before the smaller vessel went to the bottom.

The dragger Mary Ann of Portland, Maine, was located about 150 miles east of Provincetown, Mass., by a Coast Guard plane. Fears had been expressed for the 16 men aboard.

The Coast Guard reported Friday night that two New Jersey fishing vessels had been missing since Wednesday. They are believed to have a total of 11 men aboard.

Pat McCormick Opens A New Phase In Career

By JOE PICKLE
"For 10 years I've fought the bull, now I'm going to try to throw it."

Patricia McCormick put a jocular face Friday on what could open into a new phase of her career as a lady bullfighter. She left Friday evening for Chicago for some television appearances leading up to a lecture appearance on March 23.

After that she will return to resume her visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. McCormick, 709 E. 17th. She has been here for the past fortnight for the first time in three years.

Almost to the minute she departed, Pat was pecking away at a typewriter, putting together notes for her lecture arranged by Arthur Meyerhoff, Chicago advertising agency executive. The lecture, fittingly at McCormick Place Little Theatre, was inspired by a young Spaniard who organized the Club Taurino de Chicago, a group of red-hot aficionados. Naturally, she was to talk about her profession, "The Art of Bullfighting," and if the appearance is a success, Meyerhoff and Associates may undertake to book a lecture tour.

APPEALS

This appeals to Pat, and certainly to her mother who would just as soon see Pat put away her cape, costume and sword. Pat, who wears the scars of her battles, waved talk of retirement aside.

"My reflexes are still good," she demonstrated with a wave of the arm. "I'll pick my own fights."

Ten years ago Pat made history as the first lass from the United States to attempt a bullfighting career. As a Texas Western co-ed, she made her debut in the Juarez, Mexico bullring. She got roughed up and threw a few of the women fans into hysterics, but Pat's stubborn Scotch courage never wavered. Those who figured her as a flash-in-the-pan curiosity underestimated her determination to master the art on her own merits.

They may have spurred her to daring rather than prudence, for eight times Pat has been gored, once near fatally in the ring at Villa Acuna. Once on a terna near Zacatecas, a bull's horn penetrated to the bone in her leg. After a brief stay in the hospital, she was back in the ring, fighting from Matamoros to Aquas Calientes. Her last serious injury occurred in 1960 in the ring at Caracas, Venezuela.

She triumphed on her first two bulls with such skill that El Universal, the Caracas newspaper, was moved to observe that she was a "great artist" who cut ears (permitted only to those who perform with extraordinary skill) on her first two bulls.

BAD BULL

The third bull, however, was manso - mansomalo, for that matter. He was a cowardly but cunning animal with diabolical in-

Booklets Are Getting Popular

It pays to advertise! Thursday, E. Boatler, postmaster, was quoted in the Herald, that he had a small mountain of special brochures explaining what to do in event of a nuclear attack and that apparently nobody wanted them.

Friday afternoon, the postmaster said that the paragraph in the paper had borne fruit.

"We had three boxes of the booklets," he said, "each box containing 500 copies. I notice that we have distributed all of one box and are working on the second."

Leon Kinney, manager of the Texas Employment office, said that he had picked up a copy of the booklet.

He said that he found the brochure extremely interesting reading.

"No use being a fatalist about such things as nuclear attacks," observed the TEC official, "Regardless of how bad we may imagine it will be, there are things we can do and should do to protect ourselves. This booklet, I think, is extremely helpful in providing facts about the things we could do."

Boatler agreed. He had read one of the brochures since reporting the supply on hand.

"It's filled with a lot of common-sense suggestions," he reported. "I find it well worth reading."

POLITICS

By A Christian Writer

Jesus Christ separated church and state when he said, Render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's. (Matt. 22:21).

It is wrong for the state to try to exercise power over the church. For the same reason it is wrong for the church to try to control the things of the state.

As Christians we are citizens both of the state and of the church. As citizens of the state we can campaign for or against a candidate; but the church as such should not attempt to tell the people how to vote.

Rumors Have Liz And Eddie On The Rocks

ROME (AP)—Rome buzzed Saturday with rumor and gossip of a rift between actress Elizabeth Taylor and her singer husband, Eddie Fisher.

The reports swelled—despite denials of Cinecitta, Rome's version of Hollywood, and in Via Veneto's sidewalk cafes.

Fisher denied the reports. So did lawyers. So did Spyros Skouras, head of 20th Century Fox, which is producing "Cleopatra," most costly film ever. Miss Taylor has the title role.

Rome newspapers most of them repeating stories published abroad, said Miss Taylor was "madly in love" with British actor Richard Burton, the Marc Antony to her Cleopatra. When reports linking their names circulated several weeks ago Burton's press agent issued a statement denying any romance, but Burton repudiated the statement.

Miss Taylor could not be reached in her walled villa near Rome's famed Appian Way. She lives there with Fisher, the children of Miss Taylor's previous marriages and an 11-month-old slightly crippled German orphan girl they adopted last January.

Skouras denied that he came to Rome on the same flight that brought Mrs. John F. Kennedy to the Italian capital—to check on the Taylor-Fisher marriage.

"No, no," he said, "this trip has nothing to do with such reports."

Robert Abrahms, Miss Taylor's attorney, was more emphatic.

"These reports are absolutely false. I know this."

Press agents for "Cleopatra" also issued the usual denials. They have been doing that for weeks. But the reports continued to spread.

The strongest evidence, if it could be called that, supporting the rumors were the facial expressions of Miss Taylor and Fisher, in published photographs. They are grim.

Fisher accompanied Miss Taylor Friday to Rome's Salvatore Mundi Hospital, where an X-ray was made of an injury to her right hand. Miss Taylor looked pallid. The reports of a marital rift bloomed when she was rushed to the same hospital several weeks ago with acute food poisoning.

Fisher was out of Rome when that happened.

The bloomed some more at a party that Fisher, 33, gave Miss Taylor on her 30th birthday last month in a swank Rome restaurant. They scarcely looked at each other. Eddie looked at his watch. Both left before the cake arrived.

Said one person who watched the party: "He was not having a good time."

STANTON (SC)—The Stanton High School football team presented a play, "The Womanless Wedding," Thursday in the school auditorium. The cast included 20 football boys.

Prior to the wedding, also under the sponsorship of the football team, a pancake supper was held with the teammates waiting tables. The family entertainment evening was offered to raise funds to buy new helmets for the football team.

FORT WORTH (AP)—Baptist leaders seek a solution Monday to the question of what they should do when a community desegregates.

This and other questions on Christianity and race relations will be discussed Monday and Tuesday when 400 Texas Baptist pastors and church leaders gather here for a depth study on race relations.

The Christian Life Commission of the Baptist General Convention of Texas said the meeting is designed to help local church leaders to examine what the Bible says about race relations and to apply it to practical situations in the local community.

Dr. Jimmy Allen of Dallas, director of the conference, said Southern Baptists have many times been stereotyped as segregationists. He said he hoped Baptists would rather be classified as Christians honestly seeking a solution to the problem.

Do Smokers Really Like Cigarettes?

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Do people who smoke cigarettes really like them?

One smoker in eight doesn't, says Dr. Daniel Horn of the American Cancer Society.

Dr. Horn is one of the authors of the society's statistical report, which shows an association between cigarette smoking and lung cancer.

Reporting this time on the public attitude toward smoking, Dr. Horn said 58 per cent of smokers, in a survey of 2,000 persons, found smoking a pleasure but did not think it was worth the cost. Most of this group also felt smoking was a harmful habit, he said.

Only 14 per cent of regular cigarette smokers said they believed smoking was a pleasure, safe and worth the expense.

"Surely there must be no industry which has so many dissatisfied customers," Dr. Horn commented.

Dr. Horn said the survey, designed to be representative of the adult U. S. population, was conducted in late January and early February of this year.

In it, he said, 59 per cent of the males questioned smoked cigarettes, the same percentage as in a 1955 study. On the other hand, 36 per cent of the women smoked cigarettes, 5 per cent more than in 1955.

Another question asked in the survey was, "Would you say that cigarette smoking is definitely, probably, probably not, definitely not a major cause of lung cancer, or that you have no opinion either way?"

Sixteen per cent said it definitely is, 42 per cent probably is, 12 per cent probably is not, 7 per cent definitely is not.

Lady Godiva Stunt Puts Students In Legal Mess

LONDON (AP)—A model posing in the nude at Leicester College of Art was kidnaped Friday by six university students.

One minute, calendar pinup Sandra Bromley, 19, was posing on a pedestal before six art students. The next instant she had been draped in a sheet and her shivering statistics—43-24-36—were being carried to a waiting auto.

The kidnapers nailed a board across the studio doorway to slow any pursuit.

Sandra, who started kicking and screaming, calmed down in the auto when the students explained what it was all about. The university was staging a mardi-gras procession in aid of charity Saturday and they wanted Sandra to ride on a float as Lady Godiva.

At an apartment two miles from the art college they provided Sandra with jeans and a sweater. Finally, she agreed to take part in the procession, and the students took her back to the art college to pick up her clothes.

The law was waiting for them. Principal Ernest Pullee took the students' names and said he would report them to Leicester University.

Student Peter Martin, who led the raid said, "Mr. Pullee told us that if any art student had taken part in the stunt he would be expelled. He was terribly annoyed but Sandra has taken it in good spirit and has said she will make no complaint."

A police spokesman said the students were also questioned by an inspector and a constable.

"We are not certain whether any action will be taken," he added.

Sandra, a professional model who has been featured in pinup magazines, commented, "I was certainly startled when the men burst in. But really, they treated me very well."

Youths Enter Various Shows

GARDEN CITY (SC)—4-H and FFA boys, with sponsors, County Agent Oliver West and Chris Kuntz, were at the San Angelo Fat Stock Show last week with about 30 lambs. They were to be judged Thursday.

James McNutt, 4-H Club boy, and son of Mr. and Mrs. James McNutt, placed fourth in the Houston Fat Stock Show with one of his lambs. Walter Lowe Jr. won 12th place with his registered Hereford which he won in the calf scramble last year. He placed second with his annual report which he was required to keep on his calf.

Wayne Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Smith, showed the grand champion registered Quarterhorse colt in the FFA division at the Monahans Fat Stock Show last Saturday. The colt, "Baby Giant Buck", sired by Buck Digger, also won the FFA division first place in the San Angelo Show.

Coin Collector Killed In Mishap

MIDDLESEX, N.C. (AP)—A nationally known coin collector carrying his collection he valued at a quarter of a million dollars has been killed in a traffic accident.

George Walton, 55, of Charlotte, was killed Friday night in the head-on crash of two cars on U.S. Highway 284.

Police chief R. E. Gilliam said Walton's collection of valuable coins was placed in the custody of W. R. Williams, the assistant Nash County coroner.

Walton was headed for Wilson where he was to exhibit his collection, which included a 1913 Liberty head nickel Walton valued at from $50,000 to $65,000. It is one of five such coins in the hands of collectors.

District Elects E. S. Morgan To Presidency

Ernest S. Morgan, principal of Lakeview Junior High, was installed as new president of the West Texas District Teachers Association Friday at the 28th annual meeting conducted at Lakeview.

Morgan succeeds E. C. Struggs, principal of Dunbar High School, Lubbock. Last year Morgan was first vice president.

Some 450 teachers from West Texas were present at the meeting. This is the first time it has been held in Big Spring.

"New Directions To Quality Education" was the theme of the convention. A part of the convention included section meetings of 18 groups which discussed various aspects of the theme. These meetings took up subjects ranging from teaching in primary grades to counseling and guidance.

Dr. Lee Rogers, mayor, welcomed the visiting teachers at the first general session which began in the school auditorium at 9:15 a.m. The convention then went into the sectional meetings, with another general session during the afternoon. It closed with an executive committee meeting at 4:15 p.m.

Forsan Service Club Makes Plans

FORSEN (SC) — Twenty-one members attended the Forsan service club meeting Thursday evening at the school cafeteria and were served the regular supper.

Mack Alexander presided over the meeting at which plans were made to serve a dinner honoring the basketball girls April 12.

Plans were also completed, and the evening of April 26 set, for a political rally. The rally will be held on the tennis courts, if weather permits, but may be moved inside in case of bad weather.

A majority of the faculties of Forsan and Elbow schools attended the annual District IV convention of the State Teachers Association in Odessa Friday.

Discussing Education

Some 450 Negro teachers were in Big Spring Friday attending the 28th annual meeting of the West Texas District Teachers Association. "New Directions To Quality Education" was the theme of the one-day session. Shown, left to right, are

E. C. Struggs, outgoing president of the Association; Dr. J. W. Echols, keynote speaker; and Ernest S. Morgan, principal of Lakeview Junior High and new president of the Association.

Demos, GOP Fight Over Voting Places

Texas voters, already faced by a bewildering array of candidates, now are caught in a Democratic-Republican squabble over voting places.

The controversy is expected to be a major subject of discussion at meetings of both executive committees in Austin Monday morning.

The ballot box feud is centered in Houston where Harris County Clerk R. E. Turrentine Jr. warned Republicans formally Friday they must hold May 4 primaries in each of the county's 27 precincts or there will be no GOP candidates on the November general election ballot in Harris County.

Turrentine said failure to hold 27 primaries could result in a possible $500 fine for Harris County.

on the ballot." Both state committees must certify Monday to county party chairmen a list of the statewide candidates whose names are eligible to appear on the respective

State Democratic headquarters has urged other county clerks to follow Turrentine's lead.

GOP Executive Director James Leonard said the state Democratic office is urging Turrentine and other county clerks "arbitrarily to violate the law"—punishable by a one to five year prison sentence. Leonard said 24 counties failed to hold any election at all during the last Democratic primary in 1960.

"The county clerk has no discretion in determining who the party nominees are," Leonard said. "It is the responsibility of the party to determine their nominees and the duty of the county clerk to place those names

Hot-Cold Weather Upsets Farming

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — The switch from spring to winter and back to more springlike weather had its effect upon Texas agriculture, director John Hutchison of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says. The late freeze, which had covered most of the state, took its toll of blooming fruit trees, tender vegetation and increased the need for livestock feeding.

The moisture situation in southern, western and northwestern areas worsened. The freeze stopped outdoor activities except caring for livestock. Freeze damage was reported from every section except far South Texas.

Dryland farmers in South Texas are waiting for rain before they can plant. Ranchmen are burning prickly pear for feeding and trying to maintain livestock after the freeze killed or delayed brush and weed growth in pastures. There was little or no damage to crops. Citrus is beginning to sprout.

Farmers in South Central Texas are waiting for moisture and warmer weather in all except northeastern counties before planting corn and grain sorghum. Gardens, fruit and shade trees were damaged by the freeze. Tomato transplanting was delayed. Some livestock is being sold due to the drought.

Freezing rain made livestock shiver in the upper Gulf Coast area; slowed pasture recovery; damaged fruit trees; and was rough on early watermelons.

Moisture is adequate in East Texas. The freeze damaged fruit trees and tender vegetation. Livestock was fair and pastures about average.

Soil moisture in Central Texas was adequate in east and short in west. Fruit trees in bloom suffered heavy damage, but late blooming varieties may have escaped. Three nights of freezing temperatures slowed all plant growth.

Central West Texas needs rain. Feeding is heavy and goat shearing is well along. Fruit prospects were hard hit by the freeze.

Far West Texas needs general moisture. The freeze cut fruit prospects and caused some livestock losses and gave ranges a severe setback.

Moisture is adequate to surplus in Northeast Texas and warm weather is needed. Most oat and vetch fields are being grazed, but growth was slowed by the cold.

The Piper Custom Colt purchased new and received Feb. 11, has already flown 100 hours and is now undergoing its 100-hour check.

Big Month For Job Placements

Big Spring office of the Texas Employment Commission placed 304 persons in non-agricultural jobs during February.

"I have been here 12 years," Leon Kinney, manager of the TEC office, said. "This is the best February for job placements of any February since I have been in Big Spring."

He also noted there was a decrease in the number of applicants for unemployment compensation during the month.

He said that most of the 304 who were found jobs were put to work on construction projects. The big shopping center being built here absorbed some of the workers and a crew is erecting a major high-line in this area took others.

Reservists Seek Answers In Letter-Writing Drives

FORT WORTH (AP)—The Fort Worth Star-Telegram said Saturday that reservists at Ft. Hood, Tex., have held several meetings recently to organize protests of their military status.

A reservist stationed at the fort said in a letter to the Star-Telegram that a letter-writing campaign directed at congressmen "has been organized and in process for some time with many of the units on recall here."

He said members of reserve units have held meetings on their own time to formulate questions and address them to congressmen.

He said these are among the questions asked:

1. If the Berlin crisis still exists, why has the draft call been cut?

2. Since we have achieved "combat readiness" by intense training since October and have proven this by passing our Army training test with a high score, why are we still here when we could return to our home reserve centers and continue our present training at a fraction of the cost with which the taxpayer is now burdened?

3. With all the misleading information published and broadcast concerning reserve unit status and possible release dates, how can the reservist morale be anything more than it is now?

The letter writer said the action was not inspired or organized by any outside group. Those asking the questions are men "loyal to this great United States of America, who are only seeking some honest answers from those men who enact, formulate and operate our military services," the letter said.

The writer gave his name but asked that it not be published.

Dale Smith Takes Over Wednesday As RCA President

DENVER—Newly elected president of the Rodeo Cowboys Association, Dale D. Smith, Chandler, Ariz., rapchur, assumes his new post Wednesday at Phoenix, Ariz.

Smith, 34, and a former two-time world champion roper, replaces Harley May, Oakland, Calif., as head of the professional cowboy group.

Official transfer of administrative reins takes place during the association's spring business meeting, just prior to the annual rodeo in the resort city, March 15-18.

Also taking office at Phoenix, will be Troy Fort, Lovington, N. M., replacing Everett Shaw, Stonewall, Okla., as steer roping director. Returned for another two-year term were George Williams, Tulsa, saddle bronc riding director; Don Feddersen, El Reno, Okla., steer wrestling director; and Pete Logan, Medford, Ore., contract representative.

Greetings To A Newcomer

Mrs. Hila Weathers, volunteer coordinator for the Big Spring State Hospital, welcomes Mrs. Ed Gossett, a new volunteer from Midland. She is the 35th regular volunteer from that city. In addition, about 37 persons in various civic and religious groups represent Midland. Also in the picture are Mrs. Ernest Nelson, president of the Midland organization of volunteers, and Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent of the hospital.

Hospital Gets Big Working Force Free

By JOE BEYER
The Big Spring State Hospital gets one of its largest working forces absolutely free, according to Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent.
He is, of course, referring to the corps of volunteers who each year donate thousands of hours of work and gifts for patients at the hospital. In 1961 alone, they gave a total of 32,399 hours of service and more than $11,000 in prizes and gifts. Money for special events totaled another $1,845.26.
The force varies from month to month, some coming with almost as much regularity as if they were employed; others spending fewer, but no less important, hours in the service of patients.
A good example of the first category of volunteer is Mrs. Robert T. Piner. She has worked in the Volunteer Coordinator's office every working day for so long most persons believe she is employed. Working mornings, she had accumulated 2,192 hours at the end of 1961. This comes out to more than two years, two months of continuous work on a regular eight-hour day schedule.
AMAZED
"Even after seeing the volunteers give their time and money day after day after day, I am still amazed at the apparently inexhaustible supply of generosity upon which they draw," Dr. Harrison said.
The volunteers come from most of West Texas. Midland has an organized group of 35 regular volunteers, 37 volunteers which work with church or civic groups and numerous occasional volunteers. Working on a regular schedule, the organization meets once each month to plan activities coming up.

To show what such coordination can accomplish, Mrs. Hila Weathers, volunteer coordinator, pointed out the 13,171 hours of service and $4,996.97 in contributions from that group alone during 1961.
Mrs. O. M. Pulliam, a member of that group, has more hours than any other volunteer on the present roster. She had 4,028 hours at the end of 1961 and that total has continued to grow as 1962 becomes older.
Another group is from Coahoma. In 1961, some 27 volunteers gave 690 hours of service. Individual figures for persons in the group are Mrs. C. A. Cranfill, who gave 211 1/4 hours; Mrs. Robbie Latimer, with 183 hours; Mrs. Pat Allen, with 159 1/2 hours; and Mrs. H. J. Robertson, 144 1/2 hours.
12,786 HOURS
Big Spring volunteers were no piers with their contributions either. More than 80 individuals, plus organizations too numerous to mention, gave 12,786 hours.
Local church groups assisted with the "Round Up," a paper written by patients at the hospital. They gave parties at the laundry every month, assisted with recreation, organized a sewing club and assisted regularly with birthday parties and other recreation.
Among outstanding gift contributions were draperies for the new school building, walkers and wheelchairs, a painting, deodorizers for a geriatric ward, Easter bonnets, curtains for windows and many free tickets to local civic events.
A big booster of the volunteer work at the hospital, and one which shows the way by participating generously, is the State Mental Hospital Development Association.

"The figures are impressive, and it would appear that we have enough volunteers, but this is far from true," Mrs. Weathers said. "Much is accomplished which would otherwise be left undone, but still more needs to be done before we can give a patient the kind of service he deserves."
COORDINATE
Even now work is being done to coordinate volunteer activities in the many cities which are represented on the rolls.
"The people want to help patients, but many of them do not know how to go about doing it," Mrs. Weathers said.
Among other cities and communities which are presently on the volunteer rolls, either as regular contributors or as occasional workers, are Courtney, Odessa, Lenorah, Knott, Stanton, Andrews, Lamesa, Flower Grove, Ackerly, Forsan, Elbow, Lomax, Luther, Fairview, Vincent, Snyder, Lubbock, Tarzan and Big Lake.
Sherry Lou Coats, Big Spring, is among those making the College of Education honor roll at the University of Texas for the fall semester. She was listed as Cum laude, one of only two score in the entire College of Education to achieve this standard. Miss Coats was valedictorian of the sophomore class at Howard County Junior College last spring.

Ministry For Children To Be Explained

A workshop for the benefit of all those interested in spiritual ministry among boys and girls will be conducted in Big Spring this week. State directors of the Child Evangelism Fellowship, Leona Hooper and Louise Paulger, will conduct the workshop starting Thursday at the Westside Baptist Church, assisted by Katie Raspler, CEP Missionary Appointee from Saskatchewan, Canada.

The Thursday evening session, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, will feature a demonstration Good News Club, a message with colored slides, depicting the work of child evangelism over West Texas, and other items of interest to children's workers. Parents of children are encouraged to attend also, in order to learn of the purpose and ministry of the Good News Clubs. Friday sessions will begin at 9:30 a.m., continuing until 3 p.m. They will include help in the visualizing and teaching of scriptural hymns and choruses, the use of the flannel-graph and object lessons in Bible teaching for children, ways of encouraging Scripture memorization, etc. Time will be allowed for tracing patterns of many of the materials which will be demonstrated. These will be made available to both Sunday School and Good News Club teachers.

Statistics disclose 35,000,000 boys and girls in the nation today who are untaught with the Christian message, said Miss Hooper. These untaught children constitute an open field for Communist infiltration. It is the aim of the Child Evangelism Fellowship to help to reach these children for Christ and the church, as well as to provide additional Bible teaching and Christian fellowship for the boys and girls who do attend Sunday School and Church, she said. The meetings this week are for the purpose of better informing the Christian public concerning this aim, and how it can be fulfilled. Anyone is welcome in the sessions. Further information may be had from the state office AM 3-3521.

Sherry Lou Coats Makes Honor Roll

Sherry Lou Coats, Big Spring, is among those making the College of Education honor roll at the University of Texas for the fall semester. She was listed as Cum laude, one of only two score in the entire College of Education to achieve this standard. Miss Coats was valedictorian of the sophomore class at Howard County Junior College last spring.

Not Enough Certificates For Survival Class Grads

A shortage of certificates Thursday deprived a few persons of tangible evidence that they have completed the first adult education course in survival at Howard County Junior College, but this will soon be remedied, according to Anne Smith, instructor.
Twenty-seven certificates were passed out by Wayne Bonner, another instructor, at the final class Thursday night. Certificates for the remainder of the class of 48 are expected to arrive shortly from the Texas Education Agency.
"I am completely satisfied with the results of the first class," W. D. Berry, Civil Defense coordinator, said. "Another class will certainly follow this one."
Miss Smith echoed Berry's sentiments.
"The students seemed eager to learn and they asked questions freely," she said. "It was quite a success."

No starting time has been set for the next course, but it will probably begin within the next two weeks, Berry said. He also said a number of persons from Coahoma have requested that a course be conducted there. At the present time an instructor shortage makes this impossible, he said.
The course, entitled "Education For Survival," is sponsored jointly by the Texas Education Agency, Civil Defense, and the Red Cross. It is part of a nationwide effort to alert persons of the danger of atomic or natural disaster and ways to avoid injury.

Six Candidates In School Race

LAMESA (SC)—Six candidates, including one incumbent, will be contesting for two trustee posts in the April 7 Lamesa Independent School District election.
Terms of Mrs. H. M. Stover and Sam Jenkins, board president, expire this spring. Only Mrs. Stover filed for re-election. Other candidates include a petitioned candidate, Billy Joe Peterson, and G. K. McDonald, Gordon V. Waldrop, R. L. Price and E. D. Adcock.
Absentee voting is authorized from March 18 to April 3.

50 Years

FROM 1912 TO 1962 GIRL SCOUT WEEK MARCH 11-17

A very Happy 50th Birthday to the Girl Scouts of America! As the three and one-half million members of this 50-year-old organization observe the golden anniversary of Girl Scouting in this country, we take this opportunity of congratulating them on a job well done. And, we wish them many more years of carrying on their tradition of service and good citizenship.

Congratulations
GIRL SCOUTS OF AMERICA
on your 50th Anniversary

Approximately 800 girls and 175 adult members of the Girl Scouts of America are working in the Big Spring area to further the ideals and aims of scouting. Growing girls who will be the leaders and mothers in tomorrow's fast-changing world, can benefit greatly from the experiences and inspiration that scouting affords. Support the local Girl Scout program and make this truly their Golden Year!

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Weather Hampers Traffic, Club Keeps Aircraft Busy

By M. A. WEBB

The weather man has made things rough for flying around Howard County Airport, Ted McClung, manager, said Friday.

"It has been cloudy through the week," he said. "But the air was rough as a cob today. I flew in from Dallas and the weather was wet nearly all the way. Traffic has been fairly good considering the weather, but most of it has just been local. We haven't had many transients this week."

McClung said he noticed one thing during the cloudy and rough conditions Friday. He said the air was full of aircraft "on a day like this" but that on a clear, pretty day, a pilot had to "hunt for traffic."

"It's uncanny," he said, "because today's traffic must have had business somewhere or those birds wouldn't have been out."

A check of the Big Spring Flying Club's reservation book showed that, since March 1 through Saturday, 40 reservations of the Club's Colt had been made by 19 persons wanting to get in flying time. More reservations are made after that date.

One member of the Club, Doug Warren, got his private license last Saturday.

"The airplane has flown more than is shown on the book," McClung said, "because there were times when reservations were cancelled and there was somebody waiting to pick up the time."

Four men from the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce joined the Airfare for Citizenship Action in a trip to Austin Thursday. Roy Reeder, president; Carroll Davidson, manager; Jack Davis, and McClung made the trip. Davidson said the airfare was sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce to keep business people informed about pending legislation affecting all lines of business and the economy of the nation.

"There were 750 business people from Texas at the meeting in Austin Thursday," Davidson said. They were posted on federal intervention in business affairs, about the urban affairs effort, federal aid to education, social security extension to provide medical aid to the aged, and all legislation of importance to business men."

LaJuana McPherson visited the airport Friday as the student manager of the airport in line with the student government taking part during Public Schools Week. She was given a run-down on operation of the airport and its facilities Friday morning and again in the afternoon.

Texas and Eastern New Mexico physicians will participate in National Flying Physicians Mobilization Day May 6 at Big Spring. The nation has been divided into 15 regions and a regional chairman appointed by Dr. Paul W. Sparks, Winchester, Ind., president of the Flying Physicians Association.

Dr. F. W. Lurting has been appointed chairman for the Texas and New Mexico region.

"The chief purpose of this Mobilization Day is to prove not only to ourselves but to others in the field of civil defense that we do have something unique, different, and of distinct value to offer in case of a disaster and, secondly, that we can function as a unit," Dr. Sparks said. "The National Fly-in will be held come rain or shine."

Wayland Trustees To Elect Officers

PLAINVIEW—Meeting in semi-annual session, the Wayland Baptist College board of trustees on next Thursday will elect officers and adopt the budget for 1962-63, according to D. McPhaul, Lubbock, chairman. The session begins at 9:30 a.m.

The largest budget ever presented to a Wayland Board will be acted upon.

Matters pertaining to Wayland's participation in the 28 million dollar Christian Education Crusade sponsored by the Baptist General Convention of Texas will also be discussed. Wayland's projected share will be $2,500,000 and will be used to construct such buildings as gymnasium, an auditorium, a science hall, a chapel and a classroom building. Dr. P. W. Malone, Big Spring, is a member of the Wayland board.

Social Security Open House Set

The general public has a date this afternoon, to visit the new home of the Big Spring Social Security Administration.

The agency has just occupied its attractive new building at 700 Rannels and is eager to display its quarters to the public.

Erven Fisher, manager of the office, said that coffee and cookies will be served visitors and that callers would be shown through the part of the building delegated to the Social Security Administration.

He said that he and his staff will be on hand to serve as hosts and that a collection of literature and other material relative to the program will be on display.

The Social Security office here occupies the eastern portion of the new building. The western half is occupied by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service. Joe Gordon, agent in charge of this office, said that due to the press of business in his office at this season, no effort to hold open house would be attempted by the IRS.

Fisher said that the new district office has been established to serve clients of the Social Security system in seven West Texas counties.

The counties are Howard, Dawson, Mitchell, Scurry, Martin, Borden and Glasscock. The office has some 6,000 clients in its files and these claimants in the seven counties served are receiving Social Security Checks in the amount of nearly $333,000.

He said the average payment per person is $75.66 and that the maximum benefit any family can receive (under the survivor plan) is $254 per month.

Howard County has 1,850 of the approximately 6,000 clients in the seven county area served by the office.

Farm Bureau Announces Show

LAMESA (SC) — The Dawson County Farm Bureau has announced its sixth annual spring talent show which has been slated March 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the junior high school auditorium.

Contestants will be divided into three divisions: Elementary, for pre-school children through the sixth grade; and junior and senior divisions, for youths in those age groups. Cash prizes of $15, $10 and $5 will be awarded to the top three winners in each division. The entry deadline is March 20.

Special Weeks

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel has designated March 12-18 Garden Club Week in Texas and March 11 - 18 DeMolay Week in Texas.

S. Angelo Rams Flatten HCJC

AMARILLO — Howard County Junior College reached the end of the road here Saturday night when it lost an 87-78 decision to San Angelo College in the finals of the Region V basketball tournament.

The victory qualified SAC for a trip to the National Juco tournament in Hutchinson, which takes place next week. San Angelo also represented the Region in last year's tournament.

San Angelo held a commanding lead most of the game, although the Hawks pulled to within three points of a tie with three minutes to play. The Rams' advantage at half time was 42-32.

Walter Carter contributed a major effort for HCJC, scoring 31 points. The big freshman fouled out of the game with 34 seconds left in the game, after the decision had already been packed away.

HCJC lost four players on fouls, SAC three. Earnest Turner of the Big Spring team left with 8:30 to go. Jerry Tillman went out with 1:35 remaining and Jim Wilburn followed with 1:20 to play.

Kirby Pugh of San Angelo, who was named the tournament's outstanding player, exited with seven minutes to go, as did Bruce Tibbels. Davy Welch of the Rams went out shortly after the half.

Pugh scored 26 points before he left while Bill Ramsey had 21. For HCJC, Elvis Spradling and Turner each counted 15 points.

HCJC thus ended its season with a 29-5 won-lost record, one of the best in the school's history. Carter finished with a record breaking 620 points for the year, beating Dallas Williams' nine-year-old record by 101 points.

SAC, which had lost twice previously to HCJC this season and finished no better than third in Western Conference standings (behind champion HCJC and NMML), out-shot the Hawks from the field, 31 field goals to 23.

HCJC led only once during the game, that by a 3-2 count in the first minute of play.

Carter, Spradling and Turner were named to the all-tournament team, along with Pugh and Ramsey, both of San Angelo; Nick Berzac, Odessa; Kenneth Martindale, Clarendon; Chris Redding and Barry Rodrigue, both of NMML; and Mike Sims, Amarillo. San Angelo made the finals the hard way, beating Frank Phillips and NMML in that order by decisive scores. HCJC squeaked by Lubbock Christian in an overtime period in its opening game, then blasted Odessa in the semifinals.

San Angelo's first foe at Hutchinson will be New York City Community College.

Hawk Tracksters Win Fourth Border Title

LAREDO—Howard County Junior College of Big Spring won its fourth straight division title in the Border Olympics here Saturday, scoring a total of 73 points.

Victoria was second, with 44 points; followed by Schreiner Institute, 34; Blinn of Brenham, 18½; and San Antonio, 18.

HCJC, coached by L. L. (Red) Lewis, also furnished the high point man of the division in Dean Cheatham, sophomore sprinter.

Cheatham won the 100 and 220 yards sprints, with 44 points. He also had a leg on the winning sprint relay team to wind up with 12½ points. Charley Enos of Victoria was second, with 11¼.

Jayhawk entries won first place in the discus throw, pole vault, 220, 100, 440-yard run and both relay events.

The two Hawk relay teams shattered records of their own school here. HCJC's sprint quartet, which includes Cheatham, Kenny Kesterson, Tommy Yarburo and Don Carter, covered the distance in 42 seconds flat. The Hawk mile relay group of Herman Robinson, Milton Marrow, Yarburo and Carter, was timed in 3:22.1.

Robinson was running in competition for the first time this season after suffering a leg injury. Yarburo was clocked in 49 seconds flat in the quarter mile for a new record.

The Hawks won a total of four trophies, plus numerous miniature gold track shoes with diamonds in them.

San Antonio Highlands won the high school division of the meet, dethroning Baytown. Highlands wound up with 43 points while Baytown had 39.

Richard Romo of San Antonio Fox Tech set the most glittering record when he raced the mile in 4:19.9, wiping out the high school mark by seven seconds.

Another sensational record was the 47.8 quarter-mile run by Charles White of Houston Worthing. It bettered the Border Olympics high school record held by White himself by seven-tenths of a second.

Another record was 3:21.1 set by Baytown in the mile relay. It was eight-tenths of a second under Baytown's mark set last year.

Five records tumbled in the high school division where San Antonio Highlands ran the 440-yard relay in 42.5. Toby Belt of Houston Westbury threw the shot 58 feet ½ inch—and there were the great 440 by White, mile by Romo and mile relay by Baytown.

Don Parkhurst of Baytown was high point man in the high school division with 12 points. He won the 100 and 220-yard dashes and ran the second place 440-yard relay team.

Russ Seitzinger of Hardin-Simmons threw the javelin 168 feet 9 inches to establish his first overall record.

It wiped out the all-division record of 167 feet 9 inches set by Bobby Weise of Houston in 1960.

Jerry Dyes of Abilene Christian became the first double winner, capturing both the broad jump with 23 feet 3¼ inches and javelin with 225 feet 3¼ inches.

Danny Roberts of Texas A&M won the discus throw with 152 feet 7 inches in the University Division.

HCJC got off to a good start in the meet Friday when two of the Jayhawks broke records in field events.

Larry Mauldin, the freshman from Abilene, pole vaulted 13 feet 3¼ inches to shatter by two inches the six-year old record held by Charles Bruce of Victoria. HCJC's Ronnie Overby also placed third in the event.

Gary Walker, a Big Spring product attending HCJC, set a new record in the discus throw with a toss of 147 feet 8 inches. The old record was 47 feet even, established by R. E. Gibson of Texas Southmost in 1957.

HCJC collected 16 points in the three final events held and qualified in 12 places in the seven preliminaries.

The Hawks' Kenneth Windham, of Jim Ned, wound up in a five-way tie for first place in the finals of the broad jump with a leap of 6 feet 1 ½ inches.

Eagles Edge Sunset Nine

ABILENE — A tie-breaking run in the sixth inning and the fine relief pitching of Monty Smith enabled the Abilene Eagles to nip Dallas Sunset, 6-5, Friday afternoon at the Abilene High Field.

Centerfielder Robert Rhames scored the winning run when he reached first on an error and made his way around the diamond on Don Osborne's single.

TWC Outlook Is Improved

EL PASO — Coach Don Haskins of Texas Western has a running start toward having a good team for 1962-63 cage season. The Miner coach, who produced an 18-6 record in his first year of collegiate coaching this season, will have all five starters back next season.

Only three members of the 10-man varsity squad were seniors. Most prominent of these was Gordon Taylor, a 6 ft. 1 Kentuckian who alternated at guard and who averaged 6.3 points per game.

Other returning players are Bobby Lesley, a 6 ft. 1 guard who must be rated one of the best in the conference and who averaged 10.5 points per game; Danny Vaughn, 6 ft. 4 sophomore who averaged 7 rebounds and 6.3 points per game; Ted Sterrett, 6 ft. 7 junior who came along well in the latter portion of the season; and Major Dennis, a fast, 5 ft. 10 guard.

The team's chances of approaching or equalling this year's record depends, of course, upon Coach Haskins' success in encouraging new talent to come to the college. He'll get some help from the freshman team, but probably not enough to correct the team's major weakness — lack of height and reserve strength. A strong defense was the major factor in the team's winning season — best in the history of the college.

The Miners limited 24 opponents to an average of 56 points per game. They scored at a 70.3 clip themselves.

The Miners' accomplishments for the season included a second-place finish in the Border Conference, and championship of the Sun Bowl Basketball Tournament with victories over Baylor University and the University of New Mexico.

Other returning players are Bobby Lesley, a 6 ft. 1 guard who must be rated one of the best in the conference and who averaged 10.5 points per game; Danny Vaughn, 6 ft. 4 sophomore who averaged 7 rebounds and 6.3 points per game; Ted Sterrett, 6 ft. 7 junior who came along well in the latter portion of the season; and Major Dennis, a fast, 5 ft. 10 guard.

Clay To Appear On Coast Card

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Matchmaker Joe Louis Saturday announced that heavyweight Cassius Clay will be one of the principals for his projected initial boxing show in the Sports Arena April 23.

The former heavyweight champion has not identified Clay's opponent. Louis represents the United World Entertainers, a new sports promotion.

Temple Is Added To Tournament

NEW YORK (AP) — Temple was officially added to the field Saturday for the 25th annual National Invitation Basketball Tournament and will play a first-round game against defending champion Providence.

There is one spot still to be filled in the 12-team tourney and it depends on the outcome of the Cincinnati-Bradley playoff at Evansville, Ind., Monday night. The winner will be the Missouri Valley representative in the NCAA championship and the loser is slated for the NIT.

Steers Split Twin Go As Roberts Gets Win

Routed, 11-2, in the opening game, the Big Spring Steers came back behind the stylish hurling of Bowman Roberts in the afternoon. Roberts was tagged for seven hits, two more than his mates collected off John Farley, but the Steers used their blows to better advantage. Dexter Pate, not as fast or as sharp as he was in his first start, proved no mystery to the West-erners in the opening tussle. They tagged the Big Spring leftie for ten assorted blows including home runs by Rickey Barrett, Don Biggerstaff and Danny Davis, and took full advantage of nine bases on balls.

Coach And 'Big Red'

Coach R. C. Moore of the Big Spring High School track and field team is shown with John (Red) Schwarzenbach, who qualified in both the discus throw and the shot put at the Border Olympics in Laredo Friday. Schwarzenbach is Big Spring's best bet to score points in the upcoming District 3-AAA meet.

Temple Baptist Is Y Champion

Temple Baptist beat First Baptist, 75-67, Friday night, winning the championship of the YMCA Church Basketball League tournament held in the Goliad Junior High Gym Friday night. Delnor Poss slammed in 24 points to lead the winners, while Homer Mills and Tom Enloe chipped in with 14 and 10, respectively. Charles Warren's 24 and D. Chambers' 17 were best for First Baptist. In the prelim, YMCA grabbed third place by swamping Latter Day Saints, 82-51. Larry McElroy scored 35 for YMCA, and Jerry Brooks had 18. For Latter Day Saints, Jerry Swatling and Dave Graham had 24 and 14, respectively. First Baptist had finished in first place in regular play and was slightly favored to cop the tournament crown.

Brookmeade Owner Dies In Florida

PALEM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane, prominent horse racing figure for more than 20 years, died in a hospital Friday night. Mrs. Sloane, owner of Brookmeade Stable, entered the hospital in nearby West Palm Beach last January. The nature of her illness was not disclosed. Funeral services will be held at Bethesda-by-the-Sea Episcopal Church in Palm Beach Monday. Burial will be in Detroit.

Texas Tech Wins Playoff Contest

FORT WORTH (AP) — The Texas Tech Red Raiders held off a frantic bid by Southern Methodist for a 71-67 victory Friday night and a berth in the NCAA playoff as the Southwest Conference representative. The two teams, co-champions of the conference with identical 11-3 loop records, battled before an overflow crowd of 7,350 in the new Daniel Meyer Coliseum on the Texas Christian campus. Texas Tech will meet Air Force, an at-large selection with a 16-6 season record, Monday night in Dallas. The winner will advance to the regional tournament at Manhattan, Kan., March 16-17. Jan Loudermilk, the Mustangs' star pointmaker and the conference's leading scorer, took individual honors by chalking up 30 points. Dave Stegmond accounted for 19 points and Jim Hammond 10. Roger Henning with 22 points was high for Tech, followed by teammates Mac Percival with 16, Del Ray Mounts with 12, and Harold Hudgens with 10. Tech held a 33-30 halftime lead but it was not until 8:50 left that it took the lead for good at 56-55 and then clung desperately to the slim margin the rest of the way. The crowd broke into continuous, deafening roars during the tense final minutes of play as Loudermilk and Hudgens fouled out. The teams split victories in their two meetings earlier this year. It will be the fourth time for Tech in NCAA play. The Red Raiders as the 1961 loop champions represented the Southwest Conference last year. Twice before they were in the national playoffs while a member of the Border Conference.

HC Hawks Rally To Defeat Odessa Wranglers, 85-61

AMARILLO — Howard County's Jayhawks eased into the finals of the Region V journey for the fourth straight year Friday night, by topping Odessa College, 85-61, in a semi-final tilt. Earlier, San Angelo College tripped New Mexico Military, 79-69, giving the Rams their bid to the finals. The Jayhawks, sporting a 29-4 season record, trailed by 11 points in the first half, but fought to a 40-35 lead at intermission. HCJung clung to the lead from then on, stretching it to 24 points at the final buzzer. Elvis Spradling led the Jayhawks' offense with a 25-point performance, 22 of which came in the second half. Walter Carter, the top Jayhawk scorer, over the season, notched his entire 18-point output in the first half. He sat out the final 20 minutes of the game. Howard McKissack was the leading scorer in the San Angelo New Mexico Military game, looping 20 points, all in the last half. Kirby Pugh and Bill Ramsey each added 18. Chris Reddington with 17 and Bob Moneck with 14 were outstanding for the losers. HCJung (85) — Carter 24-12; Tillman 6-10; Spradling 11-20; Turner 4-24; Raymond 5-1-11; Thompson 2-4. Totals: 85-61. ODESSA (61) — Vargo 4-14; Strzes 8-14; Panozzo 2-10; Harris 6-1-1; Green 1-1-1; Jensen 2-1; Gardner 4-1; Williams 2-1-8. Totals: 61-85. Half time score: HCJung 40, Odessa 35. SAN ANGELO (79) — Spradling 24-4; Curry 2-4; Tibbitts 2-10; Watson 1-1-1; White 1-1-1; Pugh 3-10; Ramsey 2-10; Glass 1-0-1; West 6-2; McKissack 10-20-20. Totals: 79-69. GREER (79) — Reddington 6-17; Bandy 3-10; Bass 1-3; Pierce 4-1-1; Moneck 4-1-1; Rodriguez 1-5-7; Totals: 79-69. Half time score: SAC 38, NEMEX 34.

U. S. Team Ties England, 3 To 3

LONDON (AP) — The touring U.S. women's field hockey team scored with two minutes to play and gained a 3-3 tie with England before a capacity crowd of 56,000 schoolgirls at Wembley Stadium Saturday. The deadlock spoiled the English girls' record of winning every match played at home in the past 12 years. The Americans also partly avenged a 6-0 setback when they last toured England in 1955. Gertrude Dunn of Springfield, Pa., produced the equalizer after England had gone ahead 3-2.

Florde Triumphs In Title Fight

MANILA (AP)—Flash Florde of the Philippines successfully defended his Original lightweight title Saturday with a one-punch knockout of Thailand's Somkiat Katmuangyong in the second round of their scheduled 12-round bout at the Rizal Outdoor Arena. The end came at the 23-second mark of the second when Florde threw his only punch of the round, a right hook to his opponent's jaw. Florde, a solid favorite, weighed 135 to 134 1/2 for the Thai.

House Probers Eye Basketball Scandal

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas News said Saturday that the Texas House General Investigating Committee has been probing reports of irregularities in Southwest Conference basketball for nearly a month. The FBI and the state police previously said they were investigating the report which all concerned say does not involve players. All the conference basketball referees except one — he is out of the state — have taken lie detector tests but no official results have been announced. The inquiries became public knowledge after a New York Post columnist said pro gamblers would not deal in Southwest Conference scores because of reports of irregularities. David Witts of Dallas, chief counsel for the House Committee, added his "no comment" to the growing mountain of "no comments" when asked if he was heading an investigation. Rep. Charles Ballman of Berger, committee chairman, also refused to comment. Asked if the committee had made any progress in its investigation, Hale said: "I am not in a position to release anything at this time. This committee has been criticized in the past because it had too many spokesmen so we all have agreed that any comments would be coordinated through the chairman." The News listed these reports as believed to be firm if unconfirmed: That one of the referees taking the lie detector tests "fucked" outright and results of the test given another referee indicated he likely was under heavy sedation when he took the test, thus rendering it inconclusive. That the basketball probe has a direct link with recent gambling raids in West Texas. That a major gambling syndicate, including a well-known professional gambler of the Dallas-Fort Worth area, is involved. That all three investigative agencies now working on the case are awaiting the end of the basketball season — ostensibly with the NCAA regional play-off in Dallas Monday night — to announce any positive findings.

J. P. Ward Quits Snyder Cage Job

SNYDER — J. P. Ward, basketball coach at Snyder High School the past six years, has resigned. Ward revealed that he reached his decision "due to the increasing pressure of winning above all else." Ward developed District 3-AAA champions at Snyder in 1956-57 and 1957-58. His team the past season wound up third behind championship Sweetwater and runnerup Lamesa. Ward's overall record as a coach at Snyder was 91 wins and 101 losses. He previously had coached at Anson and Vega. Ward did not reveal his future plans.

One of Brandon's most difficult mysteries is when he is blindfolded by allowing his eyes to be covered with powder puffs, surgical gauze, adhesive tape and a black hood. Then, Brandon, the Magician, will drive the Miracle car of the year, the 1962 FORD, pictured above, all over town.

This car is on display in our showroom. You are invited to come in and examine this vehicle and try to find any hidden mechanical contrivances that would aid the magician. Then write your answer on a card as to how you think the trick is done. The person with the first and nearest correct answer will receive a valuable prize.

Business Machine Center

Bob Satterwhite (center), Mrs. Florine Davis (right), and other employees of the modern, new business machine section at Cosden Petroleum Corp., are quick to point out the advantages of the new office area. Noise absorbent material

Cosden Office Area Gets Modern Touch

By JOE BEYER
Cosden Petroleum Corporation has expanded its office area in the first floor of the Petroleum Building. The former location of the Elmo Wasson Clothing Store has been converted into a modern business machine center.

The IBM Section moved into the office last weekend. The move from the third floor of the building began last weekend and by Monday morning the unit was ready to operate, according to Bob Satterwhite, assistant treasurer. Mrs. Florine Davis is supervisor of the section, which is a part of Cosden's treasury department.

In order to accommodate the machines, the vast room was given a complete face lifting. The ceiling was lowered to help with the acoustical problems of the noise from the machines. It is composed of a noise absorbent material.

Floors are carpeted throughout the room, making a decorative, sound-absorbing floor, and at the same time adding to the comfort of employees.

Cosden has gone even one step further in the noise elimination process. The walls are covered with Curon, a decorative foam rubber material which comes in sheets and can be added to the walls much like wallpaper. It provides additional sound-absorbing surfaces in decorative blue and sand color for beauty. In addition, it has wall murals in the material.

The old Second Street entrance has been removed and two large picture windows now give an excellent view, from inside or outside.

"It is especially impressive from the street at night," Satterwhite said. At present 12 persons operate the machines in the section. One more person and another machine will be added later, Satterwhite said. The addition, however, is not a result of the move.

The machines, whose value Satterwhite said he would conservatively estimate at about $750,000, include key punch machines, accounting machines, card sorters, collators, electronic calculating punches and a mechanical card file. They are rented from International Business Machines.

One such machine, the IBM 407 Accounting Machine, will tabulate credit sales tickets returned by Cosden dealers, punch cards and prepare checks for return to the dealers. This is only one operation for which it can be used.

The IBM 85 Collators can take two groups of cards, such as statements and sales tickets, and combine the two groups by choosing first the statements and then selecting the appropriate sales tickets. In seconds the machine can go through hundreds of cards and do a job which would take many hours for a person to do manually.

The IBM 408 Accounting Machine prepares statements for the company at the rate of about 100 statements a minute. Another machine, the IBM 604 Electronic Calculating Punch, is really two machines which "speak" to each other. For Cosden's use, one machine furnishes the gallons of gasoline sold and the price at which it was sold to the second machine for computation of the cost. This cost is then relayed back to the first machine for punching into a card.

Swiftly and accurately the machines do the work for which their control boards are wired. They have almost become a necessity in modern operation of large companies.

"Without them we would have to have more than a hundred persons working in this department, and even then human error would not be eliminated," Satterwhite said. Moving the equipment from the third floor, where it was previously, was no small task. For instance, how do you get a machine larger than the elevator down from the third floor by using the elevator?

By using a special system of cables, the two machines where this was a problem were attached to the bottom of the elevator and slowly lowered down the elevator shaft. Two men preceded the machines down the shaft to guide them so they would not bump against the walls and become damaged.

A third man operated the elevator as the 3,500 pound machines were transferred from one location to another. The accounts receivable department will move from the fourth floor of the building into the space formerly occupied by the IBM section. The fourth floor area will then be converted into a conference room.

Drillers Report 226 New Wells
AUSTIN (AP) — Drillers produced 206 oil and 20 gas wells during the week, the Railroad Commission said Saturday. Totals for the year rose to 1,877 oil and 615 gas wells, compared to 1,691 oil and 516 gas wells last year.

Wildcaters brought in six oil and two gas wells. A total of 159 wells were plugged, including 85 dry holes. The average calendar daily allowance was 2,730,602 barrels, an increase of 8,629 from the previous week.

Two factors could minimize the problem. The number of leases sold could fall well below 500 tracts. Officials say, however, that practically all the 811 tracts are being sought by a company or individual. Only about half the leases offered in the past have been sold. Some 3,225,000 acres have been offered in the 5 previous sales since 1954 and only 1,607,000 were leased.

A second factor enables an operator, under special conditions, to retain a lease even though he has not discovered production within five years. If production is discovered near an undeveloped tract the undeveloped area can be pooled with the producing tract.

Many of the tracts being offered in the 1962 sale are claimed by both Louisiana and the government. Louisiana's claim to offshore areas beyond the three-mile limit still is in dispute.

Step-Up For Helium Bared

WASHINGTON (AP) — A step-up in the government's helium conservation program is planned in the year starting July 1.

The Bureau of Mines outlined to a recent session of a House subcommittee plans for accelerating purchases and storage of the light, nonflammable gas.

Helium, next to hydrogen the lightest gas known, is essential to nuclear, space and defense programs. Once it was used chiefly for lifting balloons and dirigibles.

The bureau's projected helium operations were detailed in secret by M. J. Ankenny, director of the bureau, and Henry Wheeler of the bureau's helium branch. Their testimony was made public this week.

The bureau wants $20 million more in borrowing authority for purchase of helium. It proposes to spend about $12 million for capital additions, including a pipeline system.

The $20 million would be in addition to $10 million borrowing authority authorized for the current fiscal year which has not been used.

In direct appropriations, the bureau seeks a total of $40.2 million for development and operation of the helium program in the year beginning July 1. This compares with $18.8 million appropriated for the current year.

The government has estimated that a dozen extraction plants are needed. Wheeler said the government has entered into 4 contracts under which it will be able to purchase an estimated 62 billion cubic feet of helium over a 22-year period at an average initial price of about $1.29 a thousand cubic feet.

The bureau is building a pipeline system from industry plants to the government's underground storage near Amarillo. The pipeline system is scheduled for completion about July 1 and will cost an estimated $9.5 million, Wheeler said.

A proposed new administration building for the bureau's helium installation at Amarillo will cost an estimated $1.5 million, Wheeler said. Space now is leased at Amarillo in two buildings, he explained.

The program also includes an increase in the tank car fleet from 188 to 246 to meet shipping requirements. The cars would cost $92,000 each.

The program calls for continued operation of government-owned helium production plants at Amarillo and Exell, Tex.; Keyes, Okla.; Otis, Kan., and Shiprock, N. M. Changes are planned at the Amarillo and Otis plants to increase purification capacity for production of helium purchased from private industry.

Projects Are Progressing

Several area projects were making progress Saturday. In Howard County, Brennan and Heren No. 1 Read is swabbing to clean out and test. Operator drilled out this re-entry project to 5,561 feet, set 4 1/2 inch casing at 5,561, then perforated the lower Permian between 5,250-58 feet. He washed perforations with 500 gallons of mud acid and 10,000 gallons of regular acid. The project originally was drilled to 9,150 feet and abandoned. It is C SW NE of section 19-30-1N, T&P survey.

Hamon No. 1 McDougal, in Dawson County, is running seven inch pipe to the total depth, 11,790 feet. It is C SW SW of section 23-36-4N, T&P survey.

In Sterling County, Roden No. 1 Reed is moving in the pulling unit. The project is bottomed at 9,075 feet. Location is 2,040 from north and 650 from west lines of section 9-30-W&N survey.

Southland Royalty No. 1 Ellwood is making hole below 7,148 feet. This project is C NE NW of section 56-18-SPRR survey.

Drillers Report 226 New Wells
AUSTIN (AP) — Drillers produced 206 oil and 20 gas wells during the week, the Railroad Commission said Saturday. Totals for the year rose to 1,877 oil and 615 gas wells, compared to 1,691 oil and 516 gas wells last year.

Wildcaters brought in six oil and two gas wells. A total of 159 wells were plugged, including 85 dry holes. The average calendar daily allowance was 2,730,602 barrels, an increase of 8,629 from the previous week.

Two factors could minimize the problem. The number of leases sold could fall well below 500 tracts. Officials say, however, that practically all the 811 tracts are being sought by a company or individual. Only about half the leases offered in the past have been sold. Some 3,225,000 acres have been offered in the 5 previous sales since 1954 and only 1,607,000 were leased.

A second factor enables an operator, under special conditions, to retain a lease even though he has not discovered production within five years. If production is discovered near an undeveloped tract the undeveloped area can be pooled with the producing tract.

Many of the tracts being offered in the 1962 sale are claimed by both Louisiana and the government. Louisiana's claim to offshore areas beyond the three-mile limit still is in dispute.

Top Officers Plan To Retire

DALLAS—H. N. Mallon, chairman and chief executive officer of Dresser Industries, and J. B. O'Connor, president, have announced their impending retirement as officers of the company.

The retirement will become effective with the meeting of the board of directors March 19. The action is in line with company policy regarding retirement age.

Both men will continue to serve as members of the board of directors. Mallon joined Dresser in 1929 when the company first became publicly owned. Since that time, he has served continuously as chief executive officer. He became chairman in 1956.

O'Connor came to Dresser in 1938 when the company took over Clark Brothers, the firm's largest operating unit. He served as executive vice president until 1956, when he was elected president.

Dr. Grunwald To Speak To Chemists

Dr. Ernest M. Grunwald, Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc., will be guest speaker at a meeting of the American Chemical Society Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at Cosden Country Club.

He will discuss "Rates and Mechanisms of Some Instantaneous Proton Reactions." Dr. Grunwald will take up rates of acid and base ionization and concerted proton transfer processes, among other subjects. The meeting begins with a social period from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m., at which time dinner will be served. The business session will follow at 8 p.m.

Dr. Grunwald was born in Wuppertal, Germany, in 1923 and came to the United States in 1938. He is a graduate of UCLA and has taught at Florida State University.

Big Leasing Sale Prompts New Era

HOUSTON (AP)—A big sale of oil and gas leases in New Orleans next week may prompt a new era for offshore explorations.

The 3,700,000 acres being offered include tracts up to 100 miles from shore and in water to depths of about 600 feet.

Drillers have not ventured yet into offshore Louisiana water deeper than 290 feet.

Success of the Tuesday and Friday sales could cause a boom in construction of tenders and equipment designed for deep water operations.

A shortage also could develop for equipment for operations in shallower water depths of 100 feet or less.

One supplier said rules of the federal-state sales may place offshore drilling equipment in short supply.

"Production must be found within 5 years on each tract leased," he said. "Some 811 tracts are being offered. If only 500 tracts are sold, it will mean a minimum of 500 wells will have to be drilled in five years."

"The dry hole-producer ratio offshore is about 4-1, however, so a more realistic figure would be that about 2,000 wells would have to be drilled. I'd say there are only about 80 rigs capable of op-

50th ANNIVERSARY OF GIRL SCOUTING

SERVICE IS FUN for the Senior Scouts who report each afternoon to help in the Crippled Children's Clinic. Posed on an examination table, Sharon Schroeder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schroeder, is shown with Penny Frazier, standing, and Nancy Thomas, lacing Sharon's shoe. Both Penny and Nancy are members of Senior Scout Troop 300. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Frazier and Dr. and Mrs. Clyde Thomas. Mrs. Thomas is leader of Troop 300.

Our Pledge

"On my honor, I will try:
To do my duty to God and my country,
To help other people at all times,
To obey the Girl Scout Laws."

This is the pledge made by each girl when she becomes a Scout. A whole new life opens in the fields of arts and crafts, literature and dramatics, music and dancing, community life, international friendship, nature, out-of-doors, sports and games, agriculture, health and safety and homemaking.

She will live by the Scouting laws which require her to be trustworthy, loyal, useful, friendly, courteous, kind to animals, obedient, cheerful, thrifty and clean in thought, word, and deed.

Her motto: Be Prepared.

Girl Scouting is a diversified program carried on in this country for the past 50 years through the efforts of tireless and dedicated leaders who work in all levels of the organization. Through the cooperation of the past executive director, Mrs. Larson Lloyd, and troop leaders, pictures on this page were made as they made preparation for National Girl Scout Week, March 11-17. March 12 is the official birthday anniversary of the organization.

The Spirit Of Juliette Low Lives On In Today's Scouts

By KATHLEEN DOZIER
When Juliette Low gathered together 12 small girls and brought them into the charter troop of Girl Scouting 50 years ago, she set forth the principles for building good character and proceeded to develop these principles through the medium of Scouting.

By means of recreation and education she instilled into the girls the importance of fair play, self preservation, initiative, cultural development and femininity. These are the basic principles adhered to today by some three and a half million young and adult members of the ever-growing organization.

Girl Scouting has perhaps become more practical to fit the need of the times just as the uniforms are designed today in keeping with the fashion trends.

BIG SPRING DISTRICT

Only recently Big Spring District added a new Scout Neighborhood comprising six troops at Webb Air Force Base, a considerable increase. Leaders of Webb's second grade Brownies are Mrs. A. A. Lindsley, Mrs. C. L. Fox, and assistant leader, Mrs. Mary Ina Jones; third grade Brownie leaders, Mrs. R. T. Evans, Mrs. R. E. Powers and Mrs. H. Whitson; Fly-Up leaders, Mrs. Leonard Einstein, Mrs. W. E. Holcomb, Mrs. G. T. Foster and assistant leader, Mrs. Audrey Moore; first intermediate, Mrs. Grace Todd and Mrs. E. D. Aiken.

Also, sixth grade intermediates, Mrs. D. E. DeCamp and Mrs. A. E. Utendorf; seventh and eighth grade intermediates, Mrs. Don Fendergrast and Mrs. Randy Lewis.

The new Scout Neighborhood began its observance with a program presentation on "Scouting in Your Community," at Marcy School. Today full attendance is expected at services in the Webb Chapel, and on Friday at 5 p.m. all will stand retreat at Wing Headquarters.

Explorer Girl Scouts making up Troop 300 began the anniversary observance Thursday evening when a progressive dinner took them from house to house for various courses. This was concluded with a slumber party and more food at the Girl Scout House with their leaders, Mrs. Clyde Thomas and Mrs. Mamie Lee Dood. Twenty-five joined in the fun and also, in a body, they are to attend the morning worship services.

Hot Lunches For Month Of March

Frivolous March—blowzy, snowy, chilly, and yet spring-like, with an excuse for a party in this spring or winter-like month of the year. It's also full of days when boys and girls crave good hot lunches to keep them rosy cheeked and full of vim.
A lunch without a treat is a disappointment, so let's plan one sure to be marked A-No. 1 with a surprise tucked in for good measure.
What do the nutritionists consider a first rate lunch? It must include five things: a half pint of fresh whole milk (when sweetened with honey, it is more welcome); a two-ounce serving of meat or fish, or one egg, or two ounces of cheese, or four tablespoons of peanut butter, adding honey to the peanut butter for palatability and moisture; one cup of vegetables or fruit, or half a cup of each; one or more slices of bread, or muffins or other hot bread, made of whole grain or enriched flour or cereal; two teaspoons of butter.
Combinations may be made of two kinds of protein foods in the main dish. Cooked vegetables may be combined, or raw vegetable sticks or salad may be alternates. Raw vegetables retain more of the vitamins and minerals.
Honey adds taste, quick energy and some minerals and vitamins and is easily digested. If slices of bread instead of muffins are included in the lunch, use a honey spread or your own spread made of honey and butter creamed together.

Richard Grimes, Mrs. D. G. Boren, Mrs. W. L. Sandridge, Mrs. Carol McKinney, Mrs. Otto Couch, Mrs. Alvis Harry, Mrs. Mike Arnold and Mrs. R. F. Fitzgibbons.
Concluding Week of Prayer, Friday morning, the Rev. Luis Gomez of North Side Baptist Mission, spoke to the WMU session telling of his home in Mexico and of his conversion to the Baptist faith following a period of time spent in New Mexico and in Texas as a ranch hand. The Rev. Mr. Gomez was a student at Wayland College for two years.

WEBB WINDSOCK

By MARILYN WILSON
The St. Frances Cabrini Altar Society held its March meeting in the Chapel Annex, hosted by Mrs. H. G. Victor and Mrs. C. W. Head. A door prize was presented Mrs. N. E. Buhner. April 6 is the next scheduled meeting. All women of the parish are urged to attend.

Wives of Class 63-C held their class meeting Monday, March 5. Hostesses were Mrs. F. W. Harrell and Mrs. N. D. Ayres. A bowling party was planned for their next meeting, March 23.

A farewell coffee honoring Mrs. D. L. Ernest, was given at the Officers' Club Wednesday morning, hosted by Mrs. Jack Wickard, Mrs. Giesle Vaughn, Mrs. Robert Sien, and Mrs. Arnold Weber. The table, done in orange and brown, featured a centerpiece in brass and a Pakistan doll dressed in an orange sari. The hostess gift presented to Mrs. Ernest was an engraved Texas State charm bracelet plus a bottle of champagne. After a 16-month course in language and customs in Washington, D. C., the Ernest's will leave for a three year tour of duty in Pakistan.

A farewell coffee honoring Mrs. James Shattuck was given Friday morning at the Cosden Country Club, hosted by Mrs. Jerry Smith, Mrs. Jim Hayes, Mrs. Robert Sandner, and Mrs. Jack Wickard. The hostess gift presented Mrs. Shattuck was an engraved Texas State bracelet and bouquet of tulips. The Shattucks will leave for Pensacola, Fla. on the Naval Exchange program.

The 3561st Pilot Training Squadron held its March meeting at the Cosden Country Club Thursday afternoon, hosted by wives of Blue Flight. Following a brief business meeting, there was an afternoon of bridge. Mrs. B. F. Yeargin, and Mrs. F. C. Snyder won high; Mrs. Neal T. Reavely and Mrs. H. L. Blake won low; and Mrs. W. R. Brown won travel. It was announced that Blue Flight won the attendance contest for February.

Wing Headquarters Wives held their monthly business meeting Thursday morning at the Officers' Club. Mrs. Charles A. Smith presided. Her mother, Mrs. Walter Jackson from El Paso, was introduced as a guest. Mrs. Robert McCann reported on Wing's participation in the Frontier Day project.

Hostesses were Mrs. John Summa, Mrs. Ronald Austin, Mrs. Val Nelson, and Mrs. James Butera. The table was decorated with a large green Irish hat and cutouts of Irish figures.

Capt. and Mrs. Harry V. Lindsey, formerly of Webb, now of Amarillo AFB, were weekend guests of Capt. and Mrs. Pete Hall. They renewed old acquaintances at the Frontier Days Show.

Capt. and Mrs. Robert Bales just returned from a trip to Fort Worth, where she visited friends, combining business with pleasure.

Mrs. Harry Hon hosted a baby shower in her home Tuesday afternoon, honoring Mrs. James K. Fletcher. Decorations were done in pink and blue with a bassinet to cradle the gifts.

Reservations for OWC all-day bridge at 10 a.m., March 23, must be made with Mrs. Jack Wickard, AM 3-3387, by Tuesday, March 27.

Mrs. Ronald Storz entertained her bridge group Tuesday night. Mrs. Joe Kadlecck, mother of Mrs. Stu Howeter, was a guest player. Mrs. Robert Sandner won high; Mrs. F. D. Parent, second high; and Mrs. Storz, low. Mrs. L. M. Rabin won the travel prize. Mrs. Kadlecck and her husband are visiting here from Omaha, Neb.

Family With A Big Name

The family with the big name is that of the Marshall Fieldses who moved here on a permanent basis in December. Mrs. Fields says there is always someone to kid about the mauler and the Chicago merchandiser and philanthropist.

This family has untold wealth in the three children, shown with them here. Dressed alike are the daughters, Marcia, 4, left, and Glyana, 7, by her father, Stephen, 6, the other 'man of the house' centers the family group.

Family Making Home Here For Second Time

It's the second time around for making a home in Big Spring for the Marshall Field family who live at 2225 Lynn Dr. They lived here one year in 1955-56 and during that time their only son, Stephen, was born.

There are two daughters, Glyana, 7, who rides the school bus each day to College Heights Elementary School, and Marcia, 4, the younger.

The parents are native Texans; he was born in Lamesa and has spent his life in this general area. Mrs. Fields was born in East Texas but has lived in Levelland and Odessa most of her life.

Mr. Fields' business has been in Big Spring for some time although he made his home in Odessa and commuted. He developed the East Park section of land but didn't build any houses until he developed the Marshall Field Estates, a tract of 40 acres south and east of town.

The family are members of the Presbyterian Church but due to a constant round of childhood illnesses, they have not been able to find the time to place their membership in a local church.

Recreation Idea

A permanent screen for home movies solves the storage problem of a portable one, and the nuisance of setting up and taking down. Attach a panel of quarter-inch pressed wood to a wall, after beveling the exposed edges and rounding the corners. Prime the board and apply two finish coats of aluminum paint. If desired, the screen may be kept out of sight behind a drape. Similarly painted, panels of pressed wood are ideal light reflectors in home or professional photo studios.

Both the adult Fields play contract bridge. She likes to do fancy handwork and has many pieces of beautiful crocheted work about her home. He likes to write music and lyrics and has some 35 pieces in his files but has never attempted to have any of them published. It's strictly a hobby.

The attractive family has rounded out their group with the addition of Fritzie and Heidi, two low-slung Daschunds who add to the hominess of the house on Lynn Dr.

Add Paprika

If you want that French dressing to have a rosy hue, add a goodly sprinkling of paprika.

Zinnia Has A Romantic Background

The colorful zinnia, a native flower of Mexico, has progressed through various stages of development by intensive breeding, to a point where the plant now ranks as the most popular flower grown from seeds. The plant naturally thrives in the hot, dry conditions of our South and South West, and it is equally adaptable to the cool moist climate of the North.

The flower's beauty was first recognized by the German physician and botanist, Johann Zinn, who traveled in Mexico during the early 18th Century. Zinn saw the native plants growing upon the mountainsides and filled a large sack with the seeds.

Bandits watched his return from the slopes, and decided to rob him of his treasure. When they discovered the contents of the bundle, Zinn was released and the seeds were returned. Anyone who collected such worthless trash was obviously insane, they reasoned, and bad luck would surely follow the bandit who harmed a madman!

BACK TO EUROPE

Zinn returned to Europe, and began the early breeding work on the plant, which was continued after his untimely death at age 32, in 1759. Seeds of a refined species, Zinnia elegans, were first sold in America during the early 19th Century.

Vigor is inherent, and although the numerous zinnia species range in size from delicate dwarfs to tall, colorful giants, each holds its beauty well into the fall; often competing in bursts of color with the late blooming chrysanthemums.

An important phase of zinnia breeding began in the 1930's when specialists started experimenting with the plant's chromosomes. Chromosomes control heredity. Through intensive research, and the application of powerful drugs, the breeders found it possible to double the number of chromosomes within the plant cells, and the striking polyploid was created.

STURDY BLOSSOMS

This intensified the basic sturdiness of zinnias, and fashioned extremely large blossoms of striking beauty. Colors never before seen were added to the zinnia's wide range of hues; delicate, luminous buff and apricot shades, powder pinks and cool lavenders. Today individual species of improved polyploids, such as the New Century, consistently measure from 6 to 8 inches in width! Zinnias, one of the easiest of all flowers to grow, have become a favorite of American gardeners for both their care-free garden beauty, and brilliant visual impact as a cut flower within the home.

NEW YORK (AP)—Fifty years ago the early Girl Scouts were admonished to be womanly. "None of us likes women who ape men" is a rewarding line in the first handbook.

Eighteen and a half million Girl Scouts later the sentiment, if not the sentence, is substantially the same. Hardy hikers and campers though they are, the Girl Scouts who will celebrate the organization's 50th birthday next week are as feminine as teenagers can be.

Back when Juliette Low started the first troop in Savannah, Ga., on March 12, 1912, being womanly included mastery of the graceful art of swooning. But it wasn't all basket-weaving, baby-minding and good deeds for the pioneer scouts. They were expected to know how to shoot in self defense, milk a cow, handle importunate men.

That first 1913 handbook, called "How Girls Can Help Their Country," talked to its tender readers like a Dutch uncle, while teaching them such practical skills as how to secure a burglar with eight inches of cord, check a runaway horse and conduct themselves romantically.

It inveighed against smoking and drinking. It suggested that the "reading of novels unfits one's mind for doing good to others" and in an italicized aside to instructors, it advised: "Keep on a smile, but never let it be a smile of contempt. 'Hate nothing but sin'."

Since those days needs have changed. The rifle marksmanship badge has been dropped, while cow-milking proficiency has become specialized—in the dairying badge, one of 116 the girls can earn now.

From that first dozen Savannah girls membership for girls 7 through 17 has grown to today's 3½ million, including 700,000 adults, 40,000 of them men.

Over the years the uniform has undergone transformation—from the first dark blue middie, through formidable shapes in khaki to the current couture-designed green dress.

But although people, program and apparel have changed, the Girl Scout's purpose has remained constant: To do her duty to God and country, to help other people, to lead a clean, kind, honest life.

She's Been Workin' On A Railroad

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP)—Mrs. Emily Ruth Mehrer, a spry little lady of 64, has been working on the railroad for 29 years and there is not one thought of retirement.

"There's still a magic to railroading, and there's still plenty to do."

Mrs. Mehrer is a switch tower operator at the Pennsylvania Railroad's Pavonia yards in Camden, just across the Delaware River from Philadelphia.

She works a 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. shift, Monday through Friday, controlling trains with hundreds of cars, mainly freight, that weave in and out on the yards' 44 tracks.

She first went to work there in 1918 but retired nine years later to marry. Her husband, William Mehrer, naturally, a railroad man, worked 46 years as a freight conductor before retiring in 1959.

She went back on the tower control job in 1942 as a World War II replacement and stayed.

The buzzer in her tower perch sounds.

"Okay 10-A," she barks into a telephone. "You're cleared," then adds aside, "See, there's still plenty to do."

Mrs. Holladay Visits In Idaho

FORSAN (SC)—Mrs. Joe Holladay left Thursday for Idaho Falls, Idaho, to visit her husband who is employed there. She boarded a plane in Lubbock and will return by plane Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Jones have spent the past 12 days in California with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. James O. Jones. Mrs. A. J. McNallen accompanied them as far as Rialto, Calif. for a visit in her brother's home.

Judy Butler Is Honored

Judy Butler, bride elect of Kenneth Carter, was complimented with a pre-nuptial shower Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. R. B. Stanaland.

Entertaining with Mrs. Stanaland were Mrs. Jim Burgess, Mrs. Bob Clark, Mrs. W. W. Jones, Mrs. L. R. Meek and Mrs. R. D. Rogers.

Corsages in the bride's chosen colors of orchid and white were presented to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Charles Hedcoth, and the mother of the prospective bridegroom, Mrs. Rowe Carter.

The table was appointed in crystal and laid with a lace cloth over orchid.

Thirty guests called during the evening.

Clean With A Swish

A rainy season means one thing for sure for the busy homemaker with young children: muddy feet. What youngster won't go out of his way to sample a good mud puddle? One way to ease the mud cleanup problem is to have an entranceway surfaced with an easy-to-clean material such as ceramic tile. Waterproof ceramic tile needs no special care, just a swish with a damp mop does the trick.

Elliott-Rankin Rites Are Read

The Bethel Baptist Church in the Gay Hill Community was the setting for the Friday evening wedding of Nan Carol Rankin and Phillip Elliott.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Rankin and Mrs. Don Yates and E. E. Elliott.

The double ring ceremony was read at 8 p.m. by the Rev. Horace Whiteside before an altar adorned with baskets of white carnations and chrysanthemums.

Cheryl Whiteside, cousin of the bride, played appropriate selections on the piano.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white linen sheath with white shantung slippers. Her veil fell to the shoulders and was held to a crown of seed pearls. She wore a blue necklace and in her slippers were two Indianhead pennies dated 1899 and 1900.

An orchid was carried atop a white Bible borrowed from Lynda Whiteside.

Kay Leatherwood was the maid of honor and wore a blue chiffon dress with blue accessories and she carried white chrysanthemums.

David Yater attended the bridegroom.

Don Richardson and Rayford Harrison lighted the tapers and served as ushers.

For traveling to an undisclosed destination, the bride wore a suit of navy blue shantung with white accessories and wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

When the couple returns from their wedding trip they will make a home at 509 Runnels St.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and attended H.C.J.C. In high school she was a member of the band for five years and also held membership in the Bible Club and Latin Club.

The bridegroom is also a Big Spring High School graduate and is employed by Cosden Petroleum Corporations. He served four years in the navy.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the church and guests were received by the bridal couple, their parents and the attendants.

Cheryl Whiteside registered the guests.

The refreshments were served by Mrs. Rayford Harrison, Lynda Whiteside and Lynn Clawson, a cousin of the bride.

How To Make A Writing Board

A writing board has many uses in the home — for school "homework," for the bed patient or invalid, for sewing and darning, for youngsters' use in building with blocks. It may be made any convenient size from tempered pressed wood. Just saw it out, bevel the edges slightly and put it to work.

INTERDENOMINATIONAL

World Day Of Prayer Is Held At First Christian

World Day of Prayer, in which women of all nations unite in a universal program of song, prayer and worship, was observed in Big Spring Friday by the Council of Church Women. The interdenominational organization met at the First Christian Church answering the Call to Prayer, led by Mrs. Alan Kernodle.

"In Unbroken Line" was the dramatic presentation having three acts—"The Past Years That Have Been," "The Present Years That Are," and "The Future Years That Are Yet to Be."

Responsive reading was led by Mrs. Alan Kernodle and song leader was Mrs. Doug Clemens. Mrs. Clyde Holm was soloist. Narrators were the Rev. Al Sedon and the Rev. Allen Hungerford.

Mrs. Joe B. Johnson was in charge of costuming. Mrs. Darwin James portrayed the woman of 76 years ago.

CHILDREN'S DAY OF PRAYER
"For God So Loved the World" was theme for observing Children's World Day of Prayer, held Saturday morning at the First Christian Church.

Mrs. Harold Canning gave "The Torn Page," and Joyce Ann Walker was soloist, with piano accompaniment by Deanna Durham. Special selections were given by the junior choir of the First Presbyterian Church, with Mrs. Noble Kenemer the director.

Bette M. Ross led the responsive reading, and scripture reading was given by Lance Lane.

Anti-Dust Doors Grow In Favor

Simplicity has become the keynote in the modern home, even when it comes to doors. That's the reason for the growing popularity of so-called flush doors that are perfectly smooth. They are plain, non-dust-catching and therefore easily kept clean. The door may be painted to blend exactly as desired with the interior decoration.

The hollow-core construction of doors, coupled with the very smooth surface, assures you of a door that is quiet, operates smoothly and always closes. It is resistant to bumps and scuffs also.

Important to the home owner, too, is the sound-muffling effect of flush panel doors.

SEC. D BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, MARCH 11, 1962 SEC. D

HEREFORDS GRAZE HERE NOW
... amid the bygone dreams of a port for Waco
OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL

By ED SYERS

To tell about the port that Waco might have been, you have to tell about Bob Holt.

Lean, slow-smiling with 58 years, crinkle-edged eyes and a fisherman's amiable quiet, Bob Holt is one of Waco's best-liked men. His service station, Third and La Salle, is like Broadway and Forty-second. Stand there long enough and you will meet the town.

There's much more, though. One Waco-an in a hundred knows that Congressman Bob Henry saw to it they built locks for this Queen inland-port-to-be. One in a thousand can tell you where they are.

One in nine million Texans, Bob Holt specifically, lived on the land where, one year long ago, the north side of the mighty Brazos locks were anchored.

I guess he's the only man alive whose land jumped smack across the river a half mile—locks, port-dreams and all—in the middle of a pasture where barges were supposed to be. Today Herefords graze there instead.

ALL THIS WRECKAGE of inland port dreams affects booming Waco very little, and Bob Holt less.

When he was a kid he fished the tailrace of the old locks. Now the river's the same—only half a mile away. They just should have controlled it.

"When they build enough dams, there'd be no trick coming up the Brazos," he says succinctly. "They just built one. Of course the river moved."

I'D HEARD of these high-dry locks, stopped on the loop US 81 makes circling Waco east, and started phoning. I was in a service station at the wall phone. Finally I had a sweet young voice connecting me with the Brazos River Authority. She sounded as nonplussed as I knew I was beginning to sound silly to the little group in the service station.

"Locks!" I said, trying to keep my voice down. "No, river locks! No, they're not on the river, they're out in a field... well, they're there because the river moved... no, it didn't just happen; it was before 1900... no, I'm not with the government!"

I told her I would call her back and decided I would get on to Dallas quick and drop the whole thing. Of course, when I turned around, all of them inside the station were tuned in. I could sink out or brazen it.

"They were going to make a port out of Waco," I said mysteriously and started for the door.

The wiry, blue-eyed man by the cash register got up. "They built those locks on our land when I was a kid." He looked out at the weather. "It's 10 miles. You want to go?" That was the way I met Bob Holt.

WE DROVE Farm Road 410 east to where the Mount Pleasant Missionary Baptist Church stands just outside what your maps mark as Asa. We took the gravel across the black, upturned fields, negotiated the gates and the gaps. The land heaved up with elm, willow and cottonwood, and got river-bottom rich. Opposite a barn to the right was a white-shingled building. It was old.

"That was headquarters when they built the dam," said Mr. Holt. We bumped over an old bank and sloped down. Gravel now. "We're in the old river here," said Mr. Holt.

A half-mile away I could see the tree line where the Brazos eased along. All between was waist-high grass and heavy-chested Herefords.

"Over there's the locks." He pointed and, within them, I could see long, low piers of concrete just above grass-top. We walked.

THERE ARE THREE great piers out there in the gravelled grass. They reach above the earth high as a man's head. They are perhaps 15 feet wide and long enough to accommodate river barges and boats. They are fitted with rusting ladders and great steel grumets that held the cables to the lock gates.

Like our knock-down ranch gates, they could drop flat with the current or rise against it, hoisting the Brazos 20 feet, deep enough for Waco's port. Where we stood, however, the fill of time had climbed to the 16-foot plimsol marker on the concrete piers.

"YOU EVER SEE any ships?"

"Course not. Nothin' below or above to hold the river. It changed."

"When they build more dams," he said with finality. "You can't hold a river with one dam." He threw away his cigarette. Then we went back to Waco, leaving the Herefords grazing where the barges ought to be, deep water under them.

"You really think it would have worked, don't you?"

"Sure," said Bob Holt. "Don't you?"

Stock Show Opens Tuesday

Freddie White, who showed the grand champion steer in the 1961 Howard County FFA and 4-H Fat Stock Show, will be back this week with a new steer which he hopes will bring him another championship.

Freddie will be one of the boys and girls who will have 24 steers in the show at the Howard County fair grounds starting Tuesday.

There will be 100 lambs in the competition at the show. The show runs March 13, 14, and 15.

This 23rd annual edition of the event, it is jointly sponsored by the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Howard County Junior Livestock Association. It is open to all members of the 4-H Clubs and the FFA Chapters of the county.

A crew of club members and other workers will be at the county fair barns on Monday tidying up the premises and making ready for the show. This will be the first show since the new extension was added to the north building.

The prize money, maximum of which will be $373 for all classes, is provided by memberships sold in the livestock association. The Junior Chamber of Commerce has been selling memberships for some weeks.

The weighing-in activities for the show start at 8 a.m. Tuesday and all animals must be entered on that day.

Wednesday, Swede Hanson, San Angelo, selected to judge the lambs, will begin his task at 9 a.m. At 1 p.m. Calvin Holcomb, county farm agent from Seminole, will judge the steers.

The sale on the evening of March 15 will climax the three days. A big barbecue for all prospective buyers and for the exhibitors is to be served at 6 p.m. at the grounds on that date. The sale will follow the dinner. Randall Sherrod will be the auctioneer.

Last year young White was paid $1,131 for his grand champion Hereford. The buyer was First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

The sponsors this year hope that the prices set at the 1961 sale and at other sales in the past will be maintained or bettered.

Mrs. Weathers Attends Annual Meeting In Austin

Mrs. Hila Weathers, volunteer coordinator at the Big Spring State Hospital, is in Houston today for the annual meeting of state coordinators, according to Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent.

Coordinators from all State Hospitals and Special Schools in Texas are attending a week-long meeting and school. Classes begin at 8 a.m. Monday and will continue through Friday. The final day will be a recap of the week's study and tours of medical facilities.

The school is being conducted at the Houston State Psychiatric Institute in the Texas Medical Center. Headquarters for the coordinators will be at the Tideland Motor Inn.

Eight volunteers from Midland and two local persons will visit the Institute Wednesday and Thursday to learn about research and training being done in the State Hospital system. They will meet Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at the Institute auditorium for lectures and, Thursday morning, will tour various research laboratories and clinics operated by the Institute.

Attending from Big Spring will be D. M. McKinney and Jack Y. Smith. Midland volunteers attending will be Mrs. Ernest Nelson, Mrs. Ann Robinson, Mrs. Lucille Ammon, Mrs. Heddy Lapp, Mrs. Audrey Riddle, Mrs. Myrtle Pulliam, Mrs. Tup Ferguson and Mrs. Willie Carson.

A Devotional For Today

When Jesus had spoken these words, he went forth with his disciples over the brook Kidron, where was a garden, into which he entered, himself and his disciples. (John 18:1, ASV.)

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, we thank Thee that Thou didst come to earth in Thy Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. Glory be to Thee for the love Thou didst have for us while we were yet in our sins, and for the love Thou hast for those who love Thee. In Christ's name. Amen.

Honest Is Right

Officers last week rounded up a dozen or so youngsters for shoplifting in stores. Most of this occurred in establishments near the junior and senior high schools, and a lot of it can be regarded as kids lifting something for "kicks."

But "kicks" don't count when it comes down to the crux of the matter. Taking things without paying for them is wrong any way you slice it. The worst thing about it is not that this may lead to taking more valuable items elsewhere but that it undermines the great virtue of honesty in individual character.

Here is something to which parents and teachers can address themselves with intense purpose. We have heard it said that honesty is right. Let's impress this upon our children.

Looking Ahead To Better Balance

August is the time of the year to do something about it, but we believe that the time is about at hand for beginning to consider the establishment of additional voting boxes.

There are now 16 voting boxes, and if these are divided into the total registration of 9,510 the average is just about 600 per box. There is no accepted point at which boxes are split into separate ones, for conditions vary. Moreover, economics enter into the picture.

We do feel, however, that the county's average per box ought to be considered something like a target for a single box. When the total begins to go substantially beyond this point, it is time to think seriously about making another voting precinct or regrouping existing ones.

Naturally, the rural boxes are going to be smaller, and some of them exceedingly small. When they drop below a certain point — say 100 for purposes of consideration — then they become marginal if not uneconomical. Some may cast upwards of 50 cents for each vote cast. And since most of the larger elections are primaries, it is the candidates themselves who are called on to bear this burden.

More to the point, however, is the situation at the opposite extreme. The seven Big Spring boxes contain an aggregate of 8,110 votes. This figures out to an average of nearly 1,160 per precinct. Precincts outside of Big Spring average 156 per box (and this includes 642 in one box at Coahoma).

If the overall county average were applied to the Big Spring boxes, this would mean a need for just about doubling the number of boxes in the city. We do not know that this is a proper number, but we do know that the larger boxes reach the point of diminishing returns in economy and in efficiency. There simply is no sound logic to keeping boxes in such jump proportions that it requires more than half the night to tabulate the votes. The town has grown large enough now that available polling places no longer constitute any problem. The number of boxes could be increased without incurring much expense.

Marquis Childs Mortal Blow To Quality Magazines

WASHINGTON. — The revolution worked by television continues to make itself felt in every phase of American life and, whether they are aware of it or not, this revolution is at issue before members of the Senate Post Office Committee considering postal rate increases.

IF POSTAL RATE increases contained in the bill passes by the House are approved by the Senate many magazines and small publications will be forced out of business. And it is the contention of the publishers that these will in many instances be the voices of dissent, the publications that deal in ideas and that are the stimulus for the kind of intellectual debate that is the life blood of a vigorous free society.

Harper's, the Atlantic, The Reporter, the National Review, The Nation and the New Republic and other magazines operate on a margin so narrow as to be almost nonexistent or they are sustained by subsidies. But some of the larger magazines are in trouble, too, and the reason most often given is the competition of television and the effort to maintain a circulation of six or seven million by high-powered promotion methods to compete with TV.

THE COST OF carrying these magazines in the mails would be drastically increased under the House bill by a complex formula. For some it would amount almost to a 50 per cent increase and the Magazine Publishers Association argues that many would be forced out. The expected rise in postal revenue would therefore not be forthcoming.

What is evident behind the argument over the second-class rate increase is the plight of the printed word versus the electronic revolution. In virtually every area of publishing fixed costs have risen out of proportion to most elements in the economy. At the same time for a variety of reasons there has been resistance to technological change that might have reduced costs.

THE PLIGHT of the magazines — in effect, the plight of the printed word — has been most forcefully by John Fischer, editor of Harper's Magazine. In a letter to Senators he says that, if the House bill passes, most of the country's serious magazines which are carried by mail will be killed off while the sex, crime and comic book publications sold almost entirely through the newsstands will be unaffected.

Fischer claims that the proposed increase in second- and third-class rates would cost Harper's $115,000 a year. That is more money, he adds, than "we have ever earned in any year in the last two decades." It is more than twice the total profit in 1960 — in 1961 the magazine suffered a loss.

AS A RESULT of rising costs, and particularly postal costs, he alleges, the whole magazine industry is in a precarious situation. In 1961, a good year, total profits of the 35 largest magazine publishing firms were only 1.7 per cent. Thirty-two of the 250 largest magazines have either died or merged in the past 10 years, he pointed out.

"In contrast the profits of the television industry jumped tenfold, from $9,900,000 in 1952 to $95,200,000 in 1960 — primarily because it enjoys the incalculable benefit of using the public's air waves without any charge whatever."

THIS GETS to the heart of the matter — the allegation that the television industry is getting a free ride to its own immense profit. Chairman Newton N. Minow raised this point by suggesting that, since the networks use the air waves as licensed by the Federal government, they have an obligation to provide a far greater measure of public service than they are presently doing.

The network resented Minow's intrusion into what they consider their business and at the recent Federal Communications Commission hearings into programming they sought to refute his charge by documenting the time and money they devote to public service programs. The average television set, it was brought out, is turned on five hours and 22 minutes a day. That is an astonishing figure, considering the fact that many people look at it very little, if at all.

IN THE not-too-distant past the picture was a different one. Then the big, highly profitable mass-circulation magazines were represented as getting a subsidy out of government made up of the difference between the cost of carrying the magazine in the mails and the amount paid by the magazine publisher. But with rising costs on every hand and TV competition this has been reversed except for a few of the giants that might survive the proposed increase.

The amount of money involved in the second-class increase — $33,000,000 — is by government standards comparatively small. But publishers argue that it will further the concentration and conformity in the communications field and paralyze the market place of ideas. Senators impressed by this argument will try to find a compromise with the House.

#HORRIS GETTING EMBARRASSING!

J. A. Livingston Money, Money Everywhere—Also Caution

"Bonds strong, money plentiful, bank loans slow."

Such headlines shouldn't be. This is prosperity, remember! This is the year of the second take-off for the sizzling 'sixties, the year to make us forget 1960.

Yet, the bond market carries on as if it were in space—weightless. And banks, instead of running away from borrowers, are looking for them—even expanding their search for mortgages.

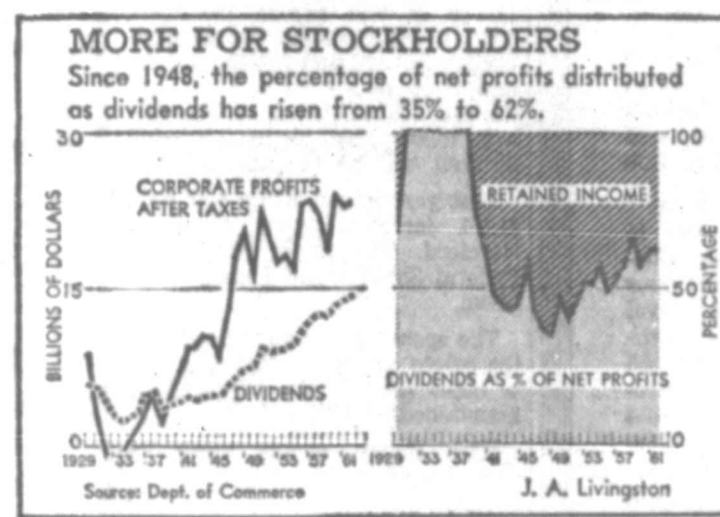

To compound this paradox of easy money amid prosperity, interest rates on savings have shot up. Banks in New York, on the Pacific Coast, and elsewhere are paying more to get deposits. But they are lending money and purchasing bonds and mortgages at rates that have not gone up correspondingly. Such disconcertingly errant behavior can't be dissociated from industrial activity.

To quote an economist of a major company, "It's not bad, but where's the boom?"

WAIT FOR HOURS The drop in industrial production in February suggest that the industrial up-cycle which began in February a year ago still has some of the gung ho out of optimism. Yet, this could have been a statistical fluke. When the Department of Labor made its survey, it was snowy and sleety. Many plants were shut down because workers couldn't get to their jobs. So wait for the production and hours returns for February. If they jump back to the December figure, that will be reassuring; if they do better, that will be encouraging.

Indeed, the rise in unemployment and drop in unemployment in February suggest that the industrial up-cycle which began in February a year ago still has some of the gung ho out of optimism. Yet, this could have been a statistical fluke. When the Department of Labor made its survey, it was snowy and sleety. Many plants were shut down because workers couldn't get to their jobs. So wait for the production and hours returns for February. If they jump back to the December figure, that will be reassuring; if they do better, that will be encouraging.

RESPOND TO RATES All the more reason why money oughtn't be so easy! At the outset of prosperity, business men are expected to "stock up" on things. This takes money. Bank loans and corporate financing should balloon. But they haven't. Why?

1. Inflation, or, rather, lack of it. It's slowed down, as mentioned here last week, to a creep. Purchasing agents are not afraid prices will get away from them. They're not building up inventories. Hence, corporations are not "in the banks" as much as they'd normally be in the spring of a recovery.

2. Higher interest rates on savings deposits have increased investment funds available to banks and savings and loan associations. When interest rates go up to 3 1/2 per cent and 4 per cent and higher, more people tend to save. This has a double consequence: it cuts down spending—demand for goods—and it increases the supply of funds that banks have to invest in bonds, mortgages and loans.

Some commercial banks are deploying increased savings deposits in municipal bonds, which accounts for the recent strength in such issues. This interest is tax free to the banks but the interest paid to depositors is an ordinary business expense, subject—in large commercial banks—to the 52 per cent federal tax.

COSTS AND DIVIDENDS 3. Corporations aren't in the market heavily for new capital. Many corporate finance and executive committees anticipated this year's needs last year. And the business lull hasn't prompted corporate treasurers to storm bond houses for help.

4. The common stock outlook for 1962 has changed slightly, and for the worse. Many companies reported lower earnings despite higher sales in the final quarter of '61. This indicated that the cost squeeze, operative over the last ten years, hasn't stopped. But financial analysts assumed that an upswing in sales would offset earnings much higher. This isn't too certain now.

Moreover, there's not the dividend catch-up there used to be. Corporations, on the average, are paying out 60 per cent of their earnings in dividends—the traditional figure. Back in 1947-48, only 35 per cent of earnings were paid out to shareholders (see chart). So, in the ensuing years, dividend payments increased faster than earnings.

Henceforth, increases in dividends will depend almost exclusively on increased earnings. And the earnings outlook isn't quite so hot as it was before the January-February statistics started coming in.

Could this mean some switching out of stocks and into higher-yielding bonds? Could it mean that more investment trust and pension-fund money is going into fixed-income securities? This, too, would explain the strength in the bond market.

Meter Is For Parking

MOUNT VERNON, Wash. — Hank Morgan has an unusual use for a parking meter.

He does much training nights. On coming into town for coffee or a snack, he often parks the bird on a meter.

Around The Rim The Feller Did It With All-Fours

DEAR RUFE:

Pardner, we are gettin' cultured and cultured, and if it gets to be any harder work, some of us are goin' to have to drop out.

We had another one of them nights which you ought not to miss. This time it was a big broad-shouldered, thick-legged, good-lookin' feller who wore a forked tail coat, but he didn't play no pianna. He played an organ.

And he did it with all-fours.

IT'S A GOOD THING he was broad-shouldered and thick-legged, else he wouldn't of lasted through the night. As it was he was a-sweatin', and havin' to use his handanna ever now and then.

You may know about an organ. It has not only one row of keys, but two, a downstairs row and an upstairs row. On top of that there is a string of white toggle switches which this feller kept workin' on all night, and there was once I thought he was goin' through the count-down like at Cape Canaveral, and expected to see him swoosh off the pad at any minute.

IT LOOKED LIKE most of the time when he really wanted to bear down on the loud notes he would use the downstairs keyboard, and when he wanted to play softer and more tinkly-like, he would go upstairs. There could be some differences, because sometimes he was playing upstairs and downstairs at the same time, not to mention crossin' hands. You gotta be sharp to keep up with a feller like that one, just lookin', not to mention listenin'.

BUT THESE upstairs and downstairs keys and toggle switches wasn't all there was to it, not by a long shot. There was also playin' with the feet, mean that he used his feet to play a part of that organ, and that's where all-fours comes in.

Across from the bench he was a sittin' on, hangin' to the organ, under his feet, was a bunch of slats, not too different from what a cattle guard looks like. He would pounce a foot on one of them slats and get a big-deep bass note, and he would prance around on them slats until he was a-playin' just as much with his feet as he was with his hands. Sometimes cross-legged, too.

FACT WAS, the feet had sort of a upstairs place, too, only it was a hole in the side of the organ where he could poke one foot at a time. I think that was for real special notes, but you would of got the arthritis just from lookin' at him poke that first one foot then the other in that hole—first one foot then he was mashing down an auto looked like he was mashing down an auto accelerator — and then dancin' up and down on those slats. One little lady sittin' close by said "what would happen if he got a cramp in his foot?" And that made me worry.

SOMETIMES HE would turn loose with both hands and just slap them slats with his feet, or else he would be goin' into the twist—and that ain't cultural.

Actually, this feller would dance along them slats like he was barefooted and they was red hot. Made for fast music.

IF YOU WOULD have put a big pile of grapes on that cattle-guard arrangement at the start of the program, I guarantee you would have had a tub full of juice at the end.

I watched the feller's feet so much I'm not mentionin' much about his hands. Oh, they was busy, alright. I used to think organ music was soft and dreamy, but it ain't when you do it with all-fours.

Your friend, ZEKE (Bob Whipkey)

David Lawrence Delicate Point In Foreign Relations

WASHINGTON — There's more than the eye in the criticism leveled in the British House of Commons at President Kennedy and Secretary of Defense McNamara for allegedly "interfering in Britain's internal affairs."

It seems that both the President and the Secretary of Defense received Hugh Gaitskill, leader of the opposition party in the British Parliament, and gave him the background of current policies on nuclear tests and disarmament. Mr. Gaitskill later made a statement supporting the President's position, and this caused much criticism of the British leader himself by members of the House of Commons. It came from members of the conservative party, and there were complaints, too, from Mr. Gaitskill's own party.

THE BRITISH CRITICS, however, are on the wrong track. If a distinguished visitor like Hugh Gaitskill comes to the United States to learn at firsthand what's going on in international affairs, should the President turn a deaf ear and refuse to receive him?

For many decades it has been the custom, if not the rule, in international relations that the head of a government doesn't have any conferences of a formal nature with representatives of an opposition party in the government of a friendly country. In recent years, however, this has often been ignored. Also, envoys from foreign governments, including British ambassadors, have not hesitated to confer frequently with the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee — even though a Democrat — during the years when the White House happened to be occupied by a Republican President.

THEORETICALLY, the Congress, being a co-ordinate branch of the government, might be expected to have direct contact with foreign governments, but under the Constitution the conduct of foreign relations is defined as strictly an executive function. Little by little, however, the foreign diplomats in Washington, including British ambassadors, have departed from the old rule.

The blame, therefore, is not to be placed on the President nor on the Secretary of Defense, but on Mr. Gaitskill himself, for he alone made the decision as to whether he would enter into a discussion with American officials on current policies. It may have been indiscreet for him to do so from a British viewpoint, but the President is hardly to be blamed for trying to win support in Great Britain when anyone asks for his views.

IT WILL BE recalled that Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Adlai Stevenson, both prominent in the Democratic party, had lengthy interviews with Soviet Premier Khrushchev in Moscow while President Eisenhower was in the White House. Also, British opposition party leaders have conferred with the Soviet Premier in Moscow from time to time.

It is being hinted in London that Prime Minister Macmillan and Defense Minister Watkinson have been displeased by President Kennedy's action in briefing Mr. Gaitskill. This, of course, introduces a very different factor. For it is certainly desirable that an American President should not offend the head of any foreign ministry by secret conferences with his political opponents.

BUT EVEN SO, the President cannot be expected to sit by and watch the Socialist-Labor opposition in Britain fire away at its international policies without using every means at his command to convince his critics of the correctness of his own policies in world affairs.

Mr. Gaitskill, to be sure, on his return from Washington did brief the other members of the Parliamentary Defense Committee in Britain on what he learned from President Kennedy and Secretary McNamara. Nothing was withheld from the British government itself.

What really troubles the British government, however, is that the President is represented as being somewhat critical of the Macmillan government in connection with a lack of defense measures being taken on the continent of Europe.

BUT IT ALL boils down to one important point — differences between opponents should be ironed out by their respective foreign offices, and only when this form of communication breaks down should controversies be brought into the open. The risk that the President runs in alienating the Macmillan government is more important for him to take into account than winning friends in an opposition party in Britain.

Holmes Alexander Soft Tactics Will Never Win

WASHINGTON—Outcroppings of the administration's No Win policy take unexpected forms. At his March 1st press conference, Secretary of State Rusk thought it as funny as a crutch when a reporter asked if the United States, in its South Vietnam defensive actions, would feel any inhibitions about the use of tactical nuclear weapons, specifically of demolition explosives or anti-personnel land mines.

With a sneer, a leer and a guffaw, the jolly Georgian ruled out the use of our best weapons in this bitter guerrilla warfare, and said so with sarcasm that amused some of his listeners. The official transcript reads:

"JUST LOW NUCLEAR land mines? (Laughter) No, those are not contemplated. I would make that very clear."

Since I was on a NATO exercise in February, 1961, where nuclear land mines were in use, I was not amused. So, as a check-up on the secretary and his second best weaponry concept, I sought out three representative senators on the Preparedness subcommittee, which is probing the No Win policy, and asked for comments on Mr. Rusk's remarks.

Republican Senator Margaret Chase Smith: "Tactical nuclear weapons are much cleaner than conventional ones."

"That the Secretary of State would laugh off publicly any proposal for winning in South Vietnam makes me wonder whether we truly intend to win there... Certainly we should give consideration to supplying the South Vietnamese with such guerrilla warfare weapons as may be necessary to... victory."

SECRETARY RUSK's soft-on-the-enemy tactics are, of course, only the crest of the monstrous No Win iceberg. Last autumn Sen. Smith, a studious Armed Service committee member whose wit can sting like a scorpion, drew yelps of pain from President Kennedy and Defense Secretary McNamara with her caustic analysis of the aversion to using the only weapon that Khrushchev fears—the nuclear weapon in all its developments. The President called the lady from Main "stupid" and the secretary said she talked "nonsense." But high-level invective does not answer Mr. Smith's serious charges of the widening public concern over the Truman-Eisenhower-Kennedy tendency to challenge Communism as if it were more merciful and more "peace loving" to cut off a criminal's head with a blunt axe.

AS SECRETARY OF War in World War II, the knightly Henry Stimson is quoted in Andy Tully's "CIA: The Inside Story" as reproving some spies with: "Gentlemen, don't open each other's mail" was appalled when certain people objected to our using flame-throwers against the Japanese in the South Pacific. Stimson publicly explained in his courtly, measured language that such persons just didn't know the nature of those areas, against those enemies. There are still such persons, and it's too bad the President keeps them near him.

To Your Good Health Various Factors Figure In Child's Dizzy Spells

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Dear Dr. Molner: What could cause these symptoms in a 7-year-old girl? She has had spells ever since she was two, and they always occur at regular intervals, every 2 1/2 months. She has headaches, extreme dizziness and severe vomiting. She always wakes up with them. Usually they last about 12 hours, although recently she has been sick for six nights in succession, but feels better during the day. She is a bright, healthy child otherwise, and various tests have all been negative.

—MRS. L. C. — Some ailments occur in cycles and it takes real medical detective work to track them down. Some possibilities: Migraine can have symptoms similar to these. Adults usually learn to recognize the aura or feeling that forewarns of an attack; a child doesn't. In either adults or children, emotional stress may be behind the attacks.

Recurrent infection is possible, but lack of any mention of fever leads me to be doubtful. A drop in blood sugar may produce headache and vomiting, and create a degree of acidosis that will make the victim mighty sick. Allergy can be a factor. I doubt that skin tests would be practical in a case like this, but a careful review of foods eaten 12 to 24 hours before an attack may give a clue to some factor common to all the attacks. (Beverages, school activities, scoldings, quarrels — try to find ANY common factor. Indeed, keeping a diary, with the dates preceding the actual intervals between attacks, and all the details you can think of for a day or two before the attack, may be very helpful.)

In short since the child is healthy and bright otherwise, I would suspect a cause either involving the emotional realm to a degree (as with migraines) or cause stemming from something aye in the body chemistry.

While some pediatricians are highly skeptical of such cycle disease patterns, I think that in this case the regularity of attacks makes such investigation worth while. In addition, this thought: Every effort should be made to stop the vomiting, to prevent fluid and chemical loss and the aggravation of acidosis, which may be detected by a fruity odor of the breath.

Dear Dr. Molner: A doctor recently said that looking at television strengthens the eyes. I am 77 and have noticed that in the last few months I can see better by removing my glasses when watching TV.—E.A.D. I have read articles on that same doctor's remarks, and what he said was that using the eyes strengthens them, just as walking or any exercise strengthens the legs or the body.

He doesn't care whether you use your eyes on TV, movies, books or bird-watching. It's using your eyes that helps. I think he's quite right. As for your being able to see better without your glasses now—it's a quirk, but I certainly congratulate you, sir, on having such good eyesight at 77.

NOTE TO MRS. L. Z. AND A FEW OTHERS: Yes, there are cases of chickpeas earlier than six months. On the average, however, children have a natural immunity for that stated time. The human body is not a totally predictable mechanical device. Our averages are, in such things, quite reliable—but any average is made up of a lot of plusses and minuses.

Count your calories the easy way! To receive a copy of my pamphlet, "The Calorie Chart," write Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover handling.

Freddy White Elected Prexy Of BSHS Student Council

By MARILYN GUM
Politics again filled the air at BSHS due to the election of 1962-63 student council officers.

On the ballot for president was George Rice, Manning Stroup, Freddy White, and Ricky Wisener. For vice president was Buster Barnes, Jimmy Burleson, Tommy Gentry, Tony Martin, and A. J. Pirkle. Running for the office of secretary was Eileen Farquhar, Pat Hampton, Carolyn Hoover, Lois Tarbox, and Carolyn Marsalis. Winners of the election were Freddy White, president; Tommy Gentry, 1st vice president; Buster Barnes, 2nd vice president; Eileen Farquhar, recording secretary; and Pat Hampton, corresponding secretary.

I'm sure all students enjoyed the holiday from school Friday. Faculty members attended a meeting in Odessa for the day.

Seniors will be guests of honor at Howard County Junior College Monday, March 12, for the annual Career Day. The program will begin at 9:00 with music and career displays along with campus tours. A general assembly will be held in the College Auditorium beginning at 9:30. Music will be presented by the HCJC stage band under the direction of Mr. Douglas White. The invocation will be given by Dr. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Selections from the Music Man will also be presented. Welcome address will be given by Dean Ben F. Johnson of HCJC, followed by a talk entitled "Why Go To College," given by Doug Davis, student at HCJC. Sectional meetings will be held from 10:15-12:00, after which lunch will be served in the Dora Roberts Student Union Building. After lunch sectional meetings of career areas will continue until 2:00 at which time students will be dismissed. A reminder to the seniors: This is considered as a regular day of school — everyone will be expected to attend.

Student Government Day was a complete success in the eyes of those who participated. A breakfast was held in the Settles Hotel Ballroom at 7:30 Friday morning. After the breakfast, the officials and their counterparts went to the various offices where the duties and tasks were explained to the students. Forty-one students participated in this activity sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and the BSHS student council.

Students from BSHS who participated were Jack Irons, Cora Sue Turner, Dick Irons, Steve Kite, Cal Smith, Katherine Lewis, Cal Boardman, Carolyn Lepper, Lynn Warthan, Coy Mitchell, Jerry Younger, Carolyn Hoover, Susan Zack, and Jerry Tucker. Also Nancy Tobin, Winn Richardson, Ann Drinkard, Robert Mahoney, Sherry Aton, Chester Smith, Gil Jones, Sandra Long, Charles Leek, Jeanne Watts, La Juana McPherson, Lana Fullbright, Junior Holland and Pat Willey. Others were Claudia Richardson, Pat Patterson, Ricky Wisener, Jay Hatch, Carol Odum, Marilyn Gum, Ray Minks, Marianne Bell, and Dina Baxter. Dina Baxter, sheriff for a day, had the unexpected opportunity of going with Sheriff Miller Harris to take Donna Marie Stone to trial in Rusk.

The juniors presented a hilarious ballet program last Friday night for the purpose of raising money for the prom. The ballet was divided into two acts. Act I was titled "Around the World," while Act II was called "Land of Fantasy."

The Chapter II of FHA played hostess to a "Ma, Pa, and Me" banquet held Thursday night in the cafeteria. Home Ec girls and their parents attended this banquet given by the Chapter II girls.

Stanton High School Honor Roll Is Announced

By MARSHA BRISTOW
Well, as usual this has been a very busy week around SHS. We really have started on that last of school rush! Everything seems to be happening at once.

The senior play was last Friday night, and we would like to thank everyone who came to see our play. Everyone has been very generous with their praise, and we thank them for that. We made over $400. on the play—plus the fun we had presenting it. This week we were measured for our caps and gowns. Graduation is getting close!

The honor roll for the fourth six weeks was compiled this week, and it is as follows: freshman class — Carroll Anderson, Connie Gillum, Carolyn Springer, a n d Mary Wilson; sophomore class — George Foreman, Mary Glaspie, Francis Gossett, and Linda Lawson; junior class — Joanna Epley, Marcus Hanna, Martha Johnson, and Ann Yater; senior class — Marsha Bristow, Mona Epley, Dorothy Lawson, Charles Lester, Glenda Payne, Sammy Webb, Glen Wren, and Nina Yater.

The Citizens of the Month for March have also been elected by the teachers. They are Janice Sims and Jerry Hildreth. Both are seniors and are well-liked by all. Congratulations, keep up the good work!

The freshman and sophomore classes took tests Tuesday. It was a voluntary test, and approximately 15 students took it. It was the National Educational Development Test. Mr. Johnson, our principal, administered the tests.

Five of the student council members attended the West Texas Forum meeting in San Angelo last Saturday. Those attending were Kay Bryan, Joanna Epley, George Foreman, Marcus Hanna, and Ann Yater. The group was sponsored by Mr. Johnson. Joanna and George led a discussion group entitled, "How Can the Student Council Gain Respect." The other delegates went to various discussion groups which were in session and brought back lots of good ideas for our council. They reported at the regular meeting Wednesday. The upcoming student council banquet was also discussed. The banquet will be held April 6, in Midland. A discussion was also held on having morning devotionals. The student council will soon be selling candy and we want all of our friends to help us with this project to raise money.

The band has had a busy weekend. The annual band banquet was held Friday night in the cafeteria. The awards were given out by Taylor Stephenson, and a speech was given on the band and the various events we have attended. Then early Saturday morning we journeyed to Lamesa to a band festival. We played our contest numbers before Clarence Sawhill, of the University of Southern California. Clyde Eolier, director of the Amarillo Symphony, and Justin Bradbury, band director Artesia, N. M. Then we participated in a parade. The day was climaxed by a concert of the Texas Tech band.

36 HCJC Students Placed On Fall Semester Dean's List

By LYN CLAWSON
The EL NIDO, school paper, this week announced the Dean's List for the first semester. Ranking for the Dean's List is calculated on the basis of semester hours taken and grade points earned. The grade average gives an A 3.00 points, a B, 2.00, and a C, 1.00. Classification is determined by grade-point average on semester hours as follows: Summa Cum Laude — 45 points and up; Cum Laude Ampla Et Magna — 42 to 44 points; Magna Cum Laude — 39 to 41 points; Ampla Cum Laude — 36 to 38 points; and Cum Laude — 33 to 35 points.

Those earning the ranking of Summa Cum Laude were Roy Cebik, Barbara Moelling, Kay Crowner, Conroy Lacy, Gary Walker, Sharon Martin, Lyn Clawson, John Minks, Pat Clark and Neal Brinson.

In Cum Laude Ampla Et Magna were Don Gregory, Doug Davis, Barry Clayton, Carroll Ramsey, Carolyn Sewell and Pamela Carr.

Ranked in Magna Cum Laude were Jerry Kincaid, Cotton Thompson and Douglas Wilkes.

The ten students in Ampla Cum Laude were Betty Nell Andrews, Aileen Bohannon, Mack Green, Norma Schuerger, Jackie Clark, Sandra Love, Jim Thrower, Janie Harrington, Gary Pickle and Mary Helen Griffin.

Shirley Ransom, Joy Redman, Nedline Speegle, Wanda Wolf, Steve Blair, Charles Dunagan and

JANICE GLAZE
Basketball Queen

Lezette Yearby were placed in Cum Laude.

HCJC students are to have a holiday tomorrow as several senior classes from area high schools meet on the campus for the annual Career Day. Some 600 students are expected from Big Spring, Porsan, Stanton, Sterling City, Coahoma, Sands, Loraine, Garden City, Westbrook and others. This day has been set aside to acquaint the seniors with the college and with their future professions.

During the opening assembly the college's administration will greet the seniors. They will also be entertained by several students from the music department. At noon they will be treated to a free meal in the SUB cafeteria.

Doug Davis, a student at HCJC, is to speak to the group on "Why Go To College?" The Student Government Association will act as host to the group.

Before and after lunch the group will divide into the ten career areas, which have been established. These groups will be Agriculture, Business and Legal Profession, Communications, Engineering and Sciences, Fine Arts, Homemaking and Dietetics, Medical Services, Skilled Trades, Social Services, and Teaching and Educational Fields. HCJC faculty members will conduct these sessions with the help of several professional men and women from town.

Tuesday evening the Jayhawks won their fifteenth conference game by defeating San Angelo 104 to 92. They left Wednesday for the Regional Tournament at Amarillo. They won their first game over Lubbock Christian College Thursday afternoon.

Kay Crowner, Kay Burns, Gary Pickle, Tommy Wilkinson and Martin Landers, sponsor, left Wednesday afternoon for Gainesville where they presented the play, "Surprised Desires," in a Play Festival. The cast of "All My Sons" is now working hard readying that play for presentation on April 12 and 13.

The Jayhawk Queens defeated Hardin — Simmons University Tuesday in volleyball 39 to 35. The "B" team lost 17-30. In tennis matches the same day Betty Ellison won over Eula Ham, 6-0, 6-1; Hermalinda Lopez defeated Ethel Thomas, 6-0, 6-1; Lucy De Leon downed Loreta Kennedy 6-1, 6-0; Mary Griffin beat Nancy Spill, 6-1, 6-0. In doubles matches de Leon and Lopez defeated Spill and Kennedy 6-0, 6-0; Ellison and Griffin won over Ham and Thomas, 6-2, 6-2. All these games were played in Abilene.

The first conference game in tennis will be played Tuesday night at Webb against Odessa. The volleyball team will journey to Levelland Tuesday to meet South Plains Junior College. Mrs. Elizabeth Martin will be in charge of the girls.

Mr. Donald Grant is to speak Wednesday to several classes on "Africa — Awakened Continent of 200 Million." During the activity period he will speak to the entire student body on "USA and Russia — Rivals."

During the game Tuesday night Janice Glaze, freshman from Tarrant, was crowned Basketball Sweetheart. Sandra Baker and Linda Kendrick were named runners-up.

The Amarillo College Choir will sing in the auditorium Tuesday evening at 8:30 p.m. The HCJC music department is sponsoring this group. The public is invited.

Juniors Plan For Banquet

By DENA PARKER
FORSAN—The junior class held several meetings last week to plan the Junior-Senior banquet. Some of the decorations arrived and are well hidden in order to keep the seniors guessing.

The juniors had quite a busy week. They took National Qualifying tests from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Tuesday. Research themes were handed in Thursday by the juniors; the seniors will turn their themes in on March 15.

Forsan is very proud of our girls for going as far in basketball as they did. We just wish they could have won regional. We hope we can go all the way next year.

There were 30 girls out for volleyball Monday. Tuesday the squad was out to 18. The first game for the season will be Tuesday with Coahoma, there.

An FHA meeting was held Wednesday at 12:30. Charlene Huit had the devotional, and Joyce Shoultz and Betty Conger had the program on Home Demonstration Area jobs. The FHA girls are selling all meat cookbooks as money-making projects.

A student council meeting was held Thursday at 12:30 to give out pepper and vanilla. Anyone who wants to buy some pepper or vanilla?

Date Set For Dinner

By GLENDA FLEMING
The new gymnasium that is under construction is beginning to take shape now. The new additions should be completed before school begins next fall.

March 29 is the date that has been set for the FFA-FHA Banquet that is to be held. The speaker will be the Rev. J. D. Mabry of Lamesa.

The Old Timers Basketball Tournament, sponsored by the Juniors and seniors was held this weekend at Sands. The senior boys played the faculty Thursday night in an exhibition game. Members of the junior and senior classes served as officials and coaches. There was a box supper Saturday night.

The members of the junior class have been trying-out for parts in their play this week. It is "The Magic Touch," a three act comedy with six men and nine women characters. They have not set a date for it yet.

Sands Junior High boys' basketball team lost its second game in the play-off, leaving Stanton as the bi-district winners. There was also a girls All-Star game. The games were played at Stanton.

Goliad Student Council Officers

In a recent election these students were chosen to lead the Goliad student council during the school year 1962-1963. Left to right: Linda Robertson, vice president; Jackie Crawford, secretary; Linda Cochran, treasurer. Van Tom Whatley was named president but was unable to be present for the picture.

Goliad Chooses Student Body Officers For 1962-63

By ROXANNE BOLTE
Goliad had many welcome visitors during Public School Week, March 5-8. Besides the many interested parents who "came back to school," there were three people representing Big Spring businesses. These visitors were Raymond Tollett, president of Coaden, Mrs. Jane Eubanks, associated with the Security State Bank, and Bill McCree, Lone Star District Scout Executive. These three people were also invited to the high school cafeteria for lunch where the Rotary Club held its meeting.

Congratulations to next year's student council officers. President is Van Tom Whatley; vice president is Linda Robertson; secretary is Jackie Crawford; and treasurer is Linda Cochran.

In two exciting volleyball games Monday against Snyder Lamar, there, Goliad came out victorious in both. The ninth grade won with a score of 57-16, a nice margin. High scorers were Charlotte Gilmore with 9 points, and Elaine Sanders with 8 points. The Eighth Grade played a really close game, the score being 36-34. Goliad made the winning points in the last few seconds of the game. High scorers were Cheryl Kasch, 11 points; Sue Burns, 10 points. The next volleyball game is against Snyder Travis, March 14, at Goliad.

FHA Council Meets; Plans Activities For April Meet

By CANDY BACUS
Students at Rannels had a holiday Friday due to the annual District IV convention of the Texas State Teachers' Association in Odessa. The convention program included two general sessions that were held at 10 a.m. and at 4:30 p.m. in the Odessa High School fieldhouse, afternoon workshops and sectional meetings, and luncheon programs for the many teacher groups.

All of the students and teachers at Rannels are very glad that Mr. Doyle Sparks, Rannels biology teacher, is back at school after staying in Baylor University Hospital in Dallas for about two weeks.

The FHA executive council met in regular session on March 5. Plans for National FHA Week were discussed and are as follows: Sunday—Each Future Homemaker will attend the church of her choice and if possible, will take as her guest someone who does not regularly go to church. Monday — Friendship and Color Day. Each Future Homemaker will make it a point to speak to everyone she meets and will wear red and white on this day.

Tuesday — Apple for Teacher Day. A shiny red apple is to be placed on the desk of each teacher before school begins on this day. Wednesday — Little Sister Day. The girls will invite the eighth grade girls to be the Future Homemakers' guests during study hall periods. They will show them through the department and will explain the class and the Future Homemaker program and activities to them. Thursday is Community Day. Each girl is to make an effort to do some sort of community service on this day.

Friday will be Chapter Day. The regular chapter meeting will be held on this day instead of on the last Friday in March. The program will be a film, "A Desk for Billie." Saturday is a holiday for Mother. Each Future Homemaker is asked to take over some or all of her mother's duties on this day and give her a holiday. This big week will be in April.

Certificates for the Junior Degree of Achievement are here and have been signed by sponsors and the chapter president. Iva Daves, chapter secretary, will fill in the remaining information.

The freshman and eighth grade Yearlings are just finishing spring training. They held a scrimmage game with Goliad Thursday.

The freshman volleyball girls played the women from the YMCA but unfortunately lost to them. The two teams played three games and the women won two out of three.

The eighth grade volleyball team played Snyder Thursday night and won 33 to 24. Margie Polanco was high scorer with 14 points. The freshman team also played Lamar of Snyder and won 51 to 38. Nancy Sosa with 10 points and Linda Fields and Beverly Womack with 9 points each were high scorers.

March 2, Sherry Stevens, Andrea Askins, Peggy Spier, Beverly Womack, Linda Thompson, Sue Ann Fallon, Sheryl Gambill, Sandra Sessions and Wynelle Collins, all student council members, attended the West Texas Forum of Student Councils meeting in San Angelo. They attended discussion groups, a luncheon and general sessions. It took place at Central High School. Mr. Hollis Lloyd was their sponsor.

The Band Boosters Club is still lacking about $1,800 in order to send the high school band to the World's Fair in Seattle in May. The record cake sale brought in about $300. If you need your car washed, let the band members do it. They held a car wash Saturday and it will continue through today.

See you at the car wash.

Much to the happiness of Big Spring students, school was turned out all day Friday. The reason? The District TSTA meeting in Odessa.

Thursday afternoon while the Inter-Collegiate representative was at school, the annual staff celebrated with a coke party. Cause for the jubilation was the fact that all yearbook pages have been mailed to the publisher. An early delivery date is expected.

Lathan Wood Is CHS Drum Major

By CAROLYN WILSON
COAHOMA — Friday, due to the Annual Teachers Meeting held in Odessa, the students of CHS had a welcomed but unexpected holiday. Not only teachers but also lunchroom workers and office secretaries attended this meeting.

On Wednesday, March 7, the tryouts for drummajor and twirlers for 1962-63 were held. Mr. Jones, a businessman from Big Spring, judged the contest and proclaimed Lathan Wood, drummajor, Peggy Greenfield and Mary Annette Madison twirlers. Others trying out were Mary Connally, Nadine Honeycutt, and Geroldine Penrod.

On Thursday afternoon the Garden City A and B volleyball squads tangled with the Coahoma "A" and "B" volleyball squads on the Coahoma court. Both of the "B" teams made a fine showing but the Garden City team won out over the Coahoma team, but not without a good fight. CHS "A" team was the victor in the second game. Three games had to be played before the final victory could be designated, with Coahoma winning the first and third game they were the final winners. The starting lineup for the CHS "A" team was: Sandra Kaye Nichols, Sherry Robinson, and Linda Nichols, set-ups; Peggy Bennett, Mary Connally, and Carol Gibson, spikers.

Mr. O. A. Madison, principal of the high school has been in the hospital for the past week. All the students around CHS have certainly missed him and wish him a speedy recovery.

ON THE SHELF

By The Associated Press
SCOTT FITZGERALD, By Andrew Trumbull, Scribner, $5.95.

In retrospect, the Jazz Age seems incredibly naive and sophomoric. And Fitzgerald, a gifted but incurable sophomore who long has been the personification of that foolish time of "making whoopee," is a pretty tragic figure.

He was the small town boy who hitched his wagon to two stars in different parts of the heavens—he was awed by the rich, and he wished he could write real literature.

In that respect he was a little like Sinclair Lewis. They wanted to write undying classics, but at the same time they wanted to make millions out of best sellers. But whereas Lewis was a satirist, basically, who admired and finally became like his victims, Fitzgerald had a real lyric gift for treating tender moments in the human experience.

Trumbull's biography passes one of the major tests—it makes the man come alive. He has had the good sense not to gloss over Fitzgerald's weaknesses, but he has not been sloppy about them. He gives a thorough account of Fitzgerald's unfortunate marriage to the psychotic Zelda, but he leaves it up to the reader to speculate whether marriage to a sane and wholesome woman might have provided at least a partial balance to Fitzgerald's own flaws.

He has not attempted to offer a critical study, yet he has shown how Fitzgerald's own traits affected the things he wrote about, how his inability to stand failure and his equally strong failure to measure up to success led to his crackup.

Trumbull was acquainted with Fitzgerald in his later years and has recorded in the back of the book his diligent search of source materials. He writes well, and he makes his subject interesting, not academic or didactic. We should have more biographies as human as this one. —Miles A. Smith

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH
 AP Newsfeatures
 When Lt. Col. John Glenn completed his globe-circling mission, he did not realize that he was also responsible for recording U. S. stamp history.

The U. S. Post Office Department, acting under wraps, prepared a new commemorative stamp honoring the first orbital flight of a U. S. astronaut and arranged for the sale of such stamps the exact hour the flight was officially completed.

It was the first time that a previously unannounced commemorative stamp was issued simultaneously with the event it honored. This new stamp depicts a capsule in space with a portion of the earth in the lower left corner of the design. The wording "4 cent U. S. Man In Space" is superimposed over the globe and "Project Mercury" is across the bottom.

Although there was no wording signifying "U. S. Postage" this was not the first time a U. S. stamp appeared minus such designation. According to the Minkus U. S. American Stamp Catalog, the Pilgrim Tercentenary issue of 1920 was released without the words U. S. Postage. In this set there were three stamps—a 1 cent green showing the Mayflower, 2 cent rose red depicting the landing of the Pilgrims and a 5 cent deep blue illustrating the signing of the Compact.

The 4 cent Project Mercury stamp was distributed well in advance to more than 300 large postal installations where the adhesives were held intact until the flight was successfully completed. When Col. Glenn's mission was over, the post offices were notified to remove the wrappers from the stamps and place them on sale. None of the postmasters knew what the package contained until the word was given from Washington.

For those collectors desiring first day covers, however, provisions have been made to obtain envelopes bearing the new stamp

New Marine Epic Reels Between Love And War

Producer-Director Raoul Walsh has fashioned another wartime adventure about the lives, lusts, and loves of a group of fighting men on and off the battlefield. The 20th Century-Fox CinemaScope DeLuxe Color comedy-drama, "Marines, Let's Go," starring a cast of new faces and young stars headed by Tom Tryon, David Hedison, Linda Hutchins, Barbara Stuart, Tim Reese, and William Tyler, opens Thursday at the State Theatre.

For optimum realism, Walsh took his lively cast and camera on location to Japan where the action was filmed. Scripted by John Twist from an original idea by Walsh, the story pursues a Marine platoon from the Korean battlefield through a brawling, rollicking furlough in occupied Japan and back to a bloody climactic assault against Chinese Communist forces. The escapades range from exploits of Marines on the town to fleeting romances between battles. Walsh has attempted to depict the personal hopes, desires and frustrations of soldiers who want to have all the fun they can before the fighting begins again.

DORIS DAY & ROCK HUDSON
Script says she's fascinated

'Pillow Talk' Is Back For Re-Run

Rock Hudson and Doris Day co-star in "Pillow Talk," returning today at the Ritz Theatre.

Taking its title from one of the songs sung by Doris Day, the Universal-International-Arwin production was photographed in Cinema-Scope and in color.

The story, set in New York City, opens with Rock and Doris becoming bitter enemies without ever meeting — all because they share a telephone party line. The first time Rock ever sees Doris, he learns that his best friend and wealthy show-backer, Tony Randall, is in love with her. Rock, who writes songs, decides that somehow, he must meet this lovely interior decorator.

This poses somewhat of a problem in view of the bitter things they've said to each other on the phone. But Rock manages to swing it by masquerading as a big rancher from out West.

Hudson's popularity up to now has been gained in straight dramatic roles.

Doris Day gives her role a touch of sophistication as she goes through her scenes in one chic outfit after another. Her wardrobe for this picture is one of the most elaborate she has ever worn. And, in addition to her rendition of the film's title song, she also sings "Possess Me."

Tony Randall, Thelma Ritter, Julia Meade, Nick Adams, Marcel Dalio, Allen Jenkins and Lee Patrick assist.

Producers Ross Hunter and Martin Melcher have given "Pillow Talk" a lavish setting as the background against which the script by Stanley Shapiro and Maurice Richlin is played. Director Michael Gordon is back in Hollywood after eight years of directing Broadway shows. Gordon and cameraman Arthur E. Arling worked out some comedy moments through the use of split screen photography.

In all, six new song numbers are woven through the picture. Besides "Pillow Talk," "Possess Me," and "Inspiration," there's "RolyPoly," a new party song, for audience participation, and two on the "blues" side, "You Lied" and "I Need No Atmosphere," both done by the night club pianist-chanteuse, Perry Blackwell. Frank DeVol is responsible for arrangements and background score, and Joseph Geishenson for the music supervision.

Miss Day's wardrobe was designed by Jean Louis, who over the years has become famous for his glamour enhancement of Rita Hayworth, and more lately, of Kim Novak. The suits, dresses and gowns worn by Miss Day number 17 ensembles in all.

'Cat Burglar' New Kind Of Spy Tale

"The Cat Burglar," opening Thursday at the State Theatre, introduces a new subject to the screen: industrial espionage. This United Artists release provides audiences with a combination of action and cat-and-mouse, set in a heretofore untouched area of the classic spy tale.

Filmed on location in Los Angeles, "The Cat Burglar" makes a crooks' tour of the sprawling metropolis, ranging from Skid Row, L. A.'s "Boulevard of Broken Dreamers," to its swank apartments and industrial installations. Producer Gene Corman called for complete set realism. Leo Gordon wrote the script.

In the title role, Jack Hogan plays a small time second-story man who becomes involved with the international underworld by inadvertently stealing top-secret defense information intended for sale to a hostile government. June Kenney, as the girl duped into the intrigue, displays brains as well as beauty as she ultimately thwarts the evil plans of John Baer, Gregg Palmer and Will J. White. William N. Wiley directed "The Cat Burglar."

Character vignettes have been drawn by Bruno DeSota, Billie Bird, Tommy Ivo, Gene Roth and Hal Torrey—and the photography was by Taylor Byars.

Here's Lesson For Lazy Men

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Jerolim Ikkovic, cook aboard the Yugoslav ship Nin, went into the refrigerator as the ship sailed through a Persian Gulf storm. The ship rolled sharply and the refrigerator door swung shut. The cook, 54, realizing no one would look for him until the next morning, started carrying heavy boxes and crates from one side of the refrigerator to the other. Eleven hours later an assistant found Ikkovic, exhausted but alive.

Plainview Sheriff Dies

PLAINVIEW (AP) — Sheriff Ted Andrews died Friday. The widely-known officer, in his mid-60s, had been ill for some time. He underwent emergency surgery in February. Andrews was a deputy before becoming sheriff 17 years ago.

Farmers' Social Security Credit Options Explained

Some self-employed farmers may be entitled to use an optional method for figuring their net earnings from the farm for social security credit. Erven L. Fisher, district manager of the local social security office, and Joseph P. Gordon, administrative officer of the Internal Revenue Service, reminded farm operators today.

If gross income from agricultural self-employment is not more than $1,800, a farmer may count as net farm earnings either his actual net or 2-3 of his farm gross income. If his gross farm income is more than $1,800, and net farm earnings are less than $1,200, he may use either the actual net or $1,200.

But if his gross farm income is more than $1,800, and his net farm earnings are $1,200 or more, he must use the actual amount of net earnings.

Gordon added that use of the option will enable farmers with gross income as low as $600 to obtain social security protection for themselves in old age, or if they become disabled, and for survivors in case of death. He said that regardless of the way in which net earnings are figured, the farmer must have net earnings of at least $400 (from farming alone, or in combination with other self-employment earnings) to get social security credit for the year.

Presbyterians Urge Avoidance Of Extremism

NEW YORK (AP)—The United Presbyterian Church has urged its 3,259,000 members to avoid extremist tactics and, instead, combat communism by strengthening their love for one another and for the Christian faith.

The exhortation was made by the 52-member General Council, the top administrative body.

The council drew up a six-page letter on freedom of pulpit and pew, which will be directed to the governing bodies of all congregations of the denomination.

The council assailed right-wing extremists who charge Communist infiltration of churches.

It expressed concern that many loyal members seem to be confused about the rash of false charges against ministers, the church and its leaders, and councils of churches with which the denomination is affiliated.

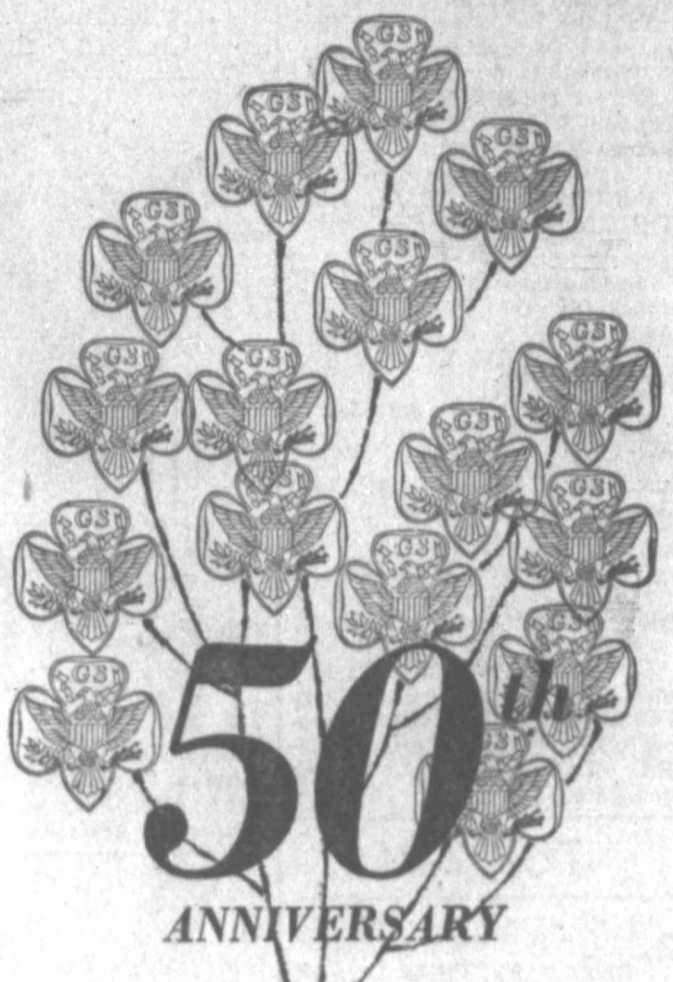

The statement did not refer to any specific group.

The Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, chief executive officer of the United Presbyterian Church, said in an interview that the council's letter implied strongly that Presbyterians should not become members of the John Birch Society or other extremist groups.

Dr. Blake said there have been reports from various parts of the country of telephone and handbill campaigns against Presbyterian ministers and laymen who expressed views in opposition to the beliefs of extreme right-wing leaders.

Dr. Blake said these pressure campaigns are in line with programs listed in the manual of the John Birch Society.

DEAR ABBY

Skirt Length The Proper

DEAR ABBY: My husband keeps after me to shorten my skirts. I am 50 years old and have been told all my life what fine-looking legs I have, but I see no reason to advertise the fact to every stranger who has eyes. Can you tell me (disregarding the ridiculous new trend in fashion) approximately how short a skirt should be?

NICE LEGS

DEAR NICE: A skirt should be short enough to show that you're a woman, and long enough to show that you're a lady.

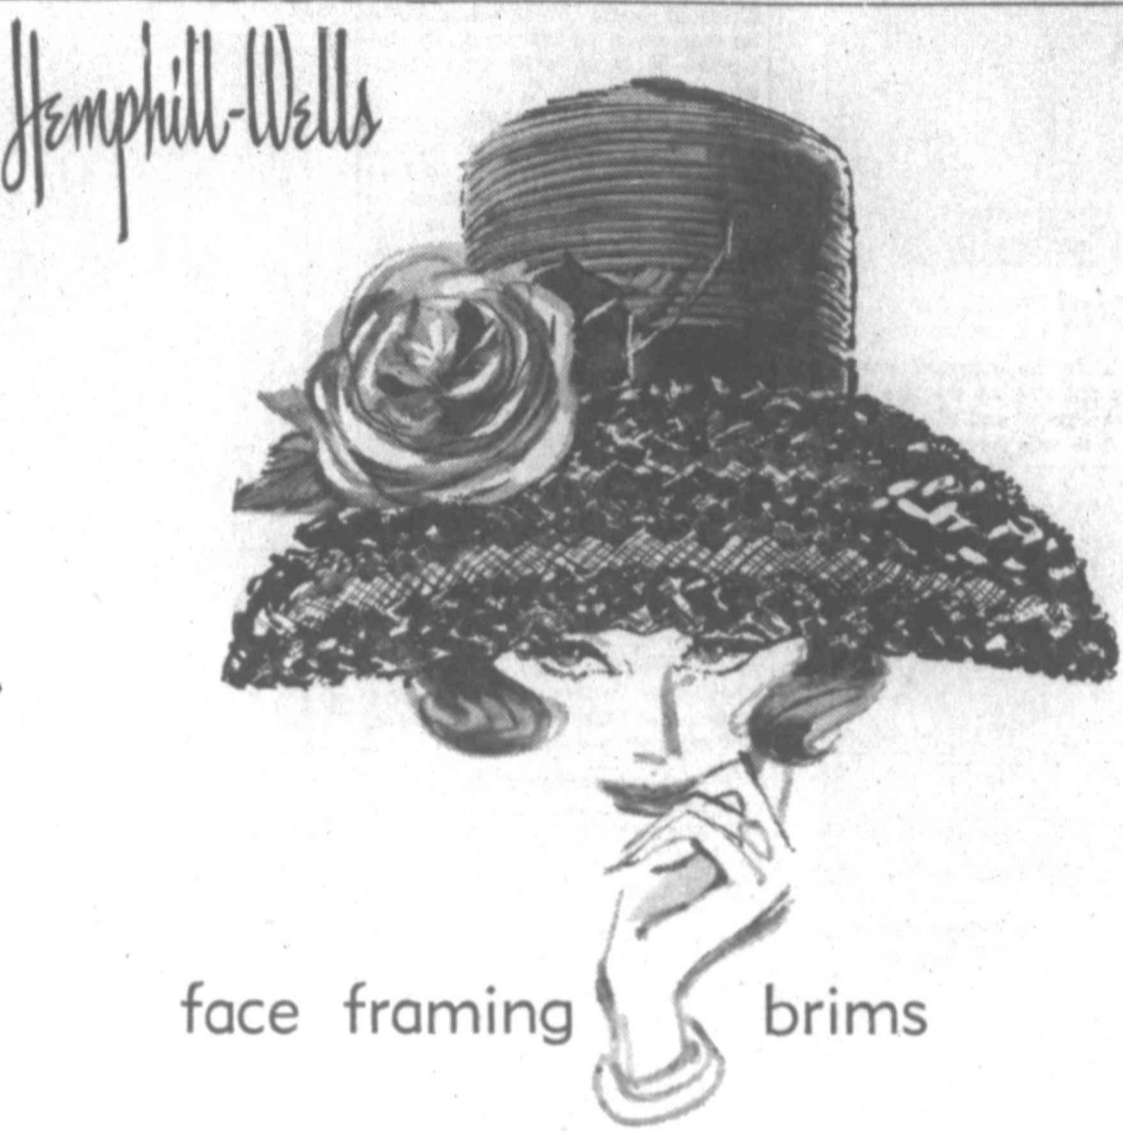

50 Expected For Regional Meeting

A delegation of at least 50 adult leaders will represent the Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America, at the 40th Annual Meeting of Region IX, March 30 and 31 in Austin. Dr. Dwight W. Kirk, Odessa, chairman of the council's attendance, predicted today. Thirty-two have already registered, Dr. Kirk said, and enough more have indicated they will attend to assure the forecast of 50.

Among those serving on the committee with Dr. Kirk is R. L. Tollett, Big Spring.

A number of National officers and leaders will attend and participate including Irving J. Fiest, chairman of field operations; Charles M. Heistand, assistant chief scout executive, and O. B. Evenson, director of field operations.

A special program for ladies is planned including a "brunch" Saturday, the 31st from 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

DEAR ABBY: I am a night person. For 12 years I have played in bands from 8 p.m. until 2 a.m. and I never get to sleep until 5 or 6 in the morning. Recently, I married a man who works from 7 a.m. until 3 p.m. and he expects me to go to sleep when he does at 10 p.m. I just can't do it, Abby. I lie as wide awake as an owl all night. I don't want to start taking sleeping pills, but I wish I could figure out some way to get on his schedule.

NIGHT PERSON

DEAR NIGHT: Go to bed when he does. No matter what time you fall asleep, get up with him, and stay awake until he goes to sleep again. After a few days of this, you'll be ready to fall asleep at 10 p.m.

DEAR ABBY: I now enjoy the status of "wife" but at one time I was "the other woman." No, the man who was going to divorce his wife and marry me never married me. So I finally got wise and gave him the air, and am now respectfully married to an honest man.

I have a suggestion. Why don't all the "other women" get together and form a club? If they got together and compared notes, they'd discover that one story is exactly like the next. Married men tell their girl friends stories about how cold their wives are. I caught on to this when another girl where I worked told me she was "the other woman." The stuff

VA Guarantees Insurance Costs

Premium payments on commercial life insurance policies of those inducted into active service, including reservists being recalled to active duty, may be guaranteed by the Veterans Administration under the provisions of the Soldiers and Sailors Relief Act.

Ray Boren, contact representative at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital, said the protection covers the policyholder's period of active duty and two years afterward. It may be applied only to life insurance policies that do not impose special premium rates for military duty or contain clauses limiting the benefits because of service in the armed forces.

The policyholder is required to apply for the premium guaranty on VA Form 9-300 to the insurance company and VA.

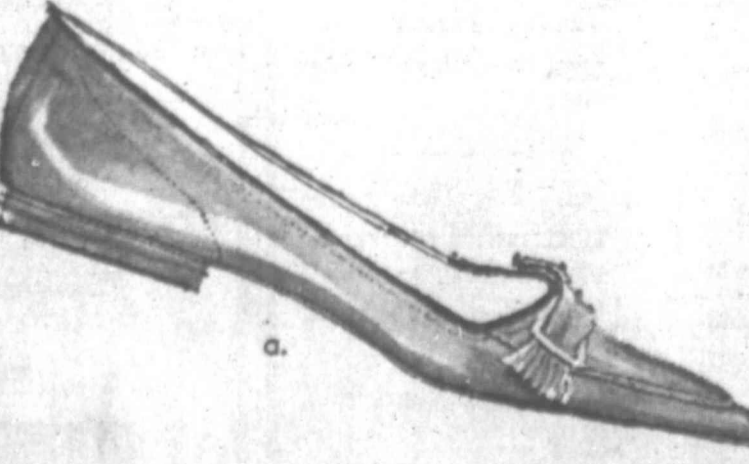

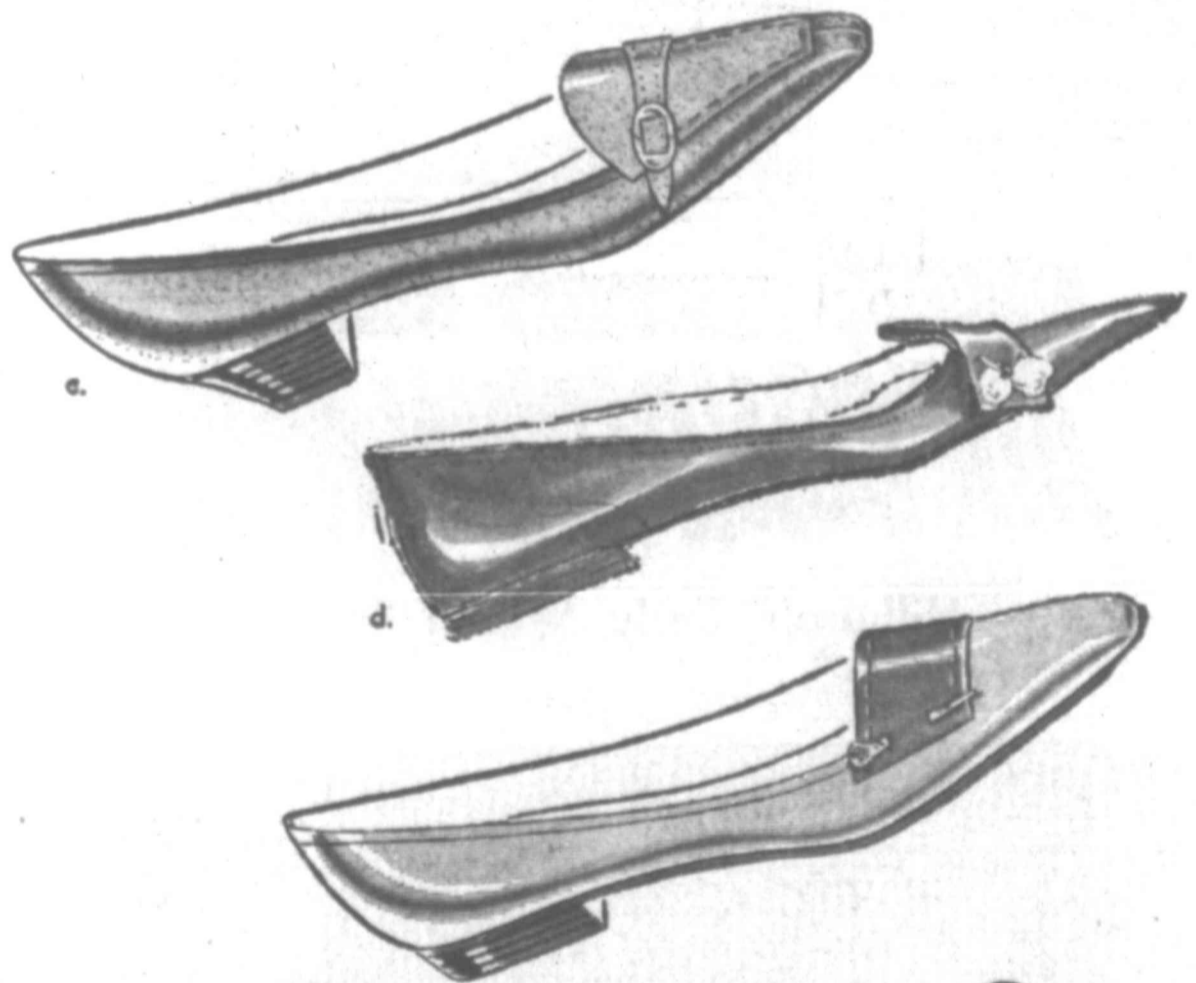

Vets May Lose Pension Payments

Possible loss of current pension payments plus retroactive repayment of pension money received during 1961 confront many hundreds of veterans, and widows of deceased veterans, who have failed to return their annual income questionnaires. Ray Boren, contact representative at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital, said the law makes it mandatory that completed questionnaires be received from each pension recipient to determine whether annual income from all other sources exceeds the legal ceilings.
