TROUBLE AT CHURCH Lad Takes Poke At Astronaut

WASHINGTON (AP)—Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. has shrugged off as a minor matter his encounter with a gang of trouble-making teen-agers at an Arlington, Va., church.

Glenn told his pastor, The Rev. Frank Erwin, that it was a disgrace for young people to act that way. But he told police he won't file a formal complaint against the youths—one of whom tried to hit him—unless local authorities insist.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home Said The Rusk Proposals

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home said the Rusk proposals were imaginative and far-reaching.

Beauty aids that won't burn a lady's skin.

TV sets that will get more channels. Installation contracts that reveal the true rate of interest.

Legislation already is under consideration on some of these points.

With a bow to the homemakers, Kennedy said "many of the new products used in the home are highly complex. The housewife is called upon to be an amateur electrician, mechanic, chemist, taxonomist, dietitian, and mathematician—but she is rarely furnished the information she needs to perform these tasks proficiently."

Safe, effective drugs for the ailment.

Beauty aids that won't burn a lady's skin. TV sets that will get more channels. Installation contracts that reveal the true rate of interest. Wider inspection to bar unwholesome meat from dinner tables.

Cluttered Front Yard

Mrs. Theresa Scozzafava, 77, looks over her front yard at Jones Point, N.Y.,—all cluttered up with, of all things, ships. She has a suit pending against the Federal Government for $16,000 for rent. She claims her front yard extends 250 feet into the Hudson River along 365 feet of shoreline—where part of the Hudson River Reserve Fleet is anchored. Many of the ships are used to store grain.

JFK Pushes Medical Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has called the signals for an all-out effort to obtain Senate and House votes this year on his politically controversial proposal for medical care for the elderly.

In significant language, Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday he believes his plan to link such a program to the Social Security system definitely will see Senate action. He added he is hopeful of a House vote.

This was interpreted in Congress as meaning that, for the effect he believes it may have on the November elections, the President is determined to get members on record on the plan—even if he receives no legislation to sign.

AMA FIGHTS IT

The American Medical Association, which maintains strong representation in Washington, is fighting his proposal as a step toward what it calls socialized medicine. The AMA recently set up a political branch to plug its viewpoint in local and national contests.

Most Republicans and a large segment of Democratic conservatives in Congress oppose the Social Security approach to the problem.

The Republican National Committee called Kennedy's scheduled appearance at a May 20 rally of senior citizens in New York a part of the "friendly propaganda drive" it said the President was putting on.

The committee's "Battle Line" publication said those who attended are likely to "be brainwashed into believing the lie that those who oppose the Social Security financing plan are against helping the aged."

THAT IS CORRECT

Asked at his news conference if his plan to speak at the rally was "part of an all-out administration effort to obtain a vote on this issue during this session of Congress," Kennedy replied: "That is correct." "This will come to a vote, in my opinion, definitely in the United States Senate and I am hopeful in the House before the end of this session."

As of now, the President's bill is bogged down in the House Ways and Means Committee. Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said recently the administration needs two Republican votes to get it reported to the House. They may not be forthcoming.

GO AHEAD

Under these circumstances, Kennedy obviously was telling his supporters in the Senate to go ahead this session with an attempt to attach the plan to a House-passed revenue measure.

The House, which is jealous of its prerogative to initiate revenue bills, takes a dim view of such tactics. Only in exceptional cases will it accept a Senate-initiated version of such legislation—and this does not seem to be such a case.

Kennedy's supporters believe they have the Senate votes to get his plan approved. But relatively few of the 37 Senate contests in the November election seem likely to be affected materially by an incumbent's vote for or against the President's plan.

Primarily, Kennedy wants the House members put on record. But the road to any House vote is a rocky one, even if the Senate passes his program.

RULES PANEL

If medical care provisions were attached to a House-passed bill, the resulting legislation would have to go through the House Rules Committee for a final compromise version.

The rules committee, headed by Rep. Howard Smith, D-Va., does not appear charitably inclined to the Kennedy medical care plan. If it bottled up the bill, administration leaders would face some difficult parliamentary maneuvering to get any kind of House vote on the measure.

Lonely Girl Held On Kidnap Charge, Child Safe At Home

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—A teen-ager who said she "never had any kids and I wanted her" is in jail charged with kidnaping. The child is back with her parents.

Mrs. Carolyn Beck, 19, and Sharon Henderson, 3, disappeared from the child's Conway, Tex., home Tuesday.

They were found Wednesday at Grants, N.M. The child was unharmed.

Mrs. Beck was arraigned here and asked a preliminary hearing. She did not enter a plea. Her bond was set at $5,000.

The young woman said she is the wife of Marine Sgt. Charles Beck, stationed in San Francisco, and was in Louisiana before hitchhiking to Texas. The Henry Henderson family found her last Sunday near their home at Conway, east of Amarillo, and took her into their home.

Carolyn was left to babysit with Sharon Tuesday. Henderson returned to find the girls missing. A note left by Carolyn said she was taking the youngster to New York.

She told authorities after her arrest that instead she caught rides to Amarillo. From there they rode with a salesman to Albuquerque. The two girls spent the night in a motel and then caught a ride west on U.S. 66 to New Laguna. There a man in a pickup truck gave them a ride.

They were seen getting into the truck and state police were notified. A roadblock at Grants stopped the truck.

Sharon's parents flew to Albuquerque in a private plane for a reunion. The child was playing with a doll, and appeared to be enjoying her adventure. Parents and daughter left for Amarillo late Wednesday night.

Newsman were not allowed to talk to the prisoner.

Naval authorities in San Francisco could not find a Sgt. Charles Beck with the Marines. The girl later said her husband was in the Navy. Another check turned up an apprentice seaman stationed at Treasure Island but he said the name Carolyn Beck meant nothing to him.

Maybe Police Spooked Him

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—The glassware has quit flying around and breaking at Mrs. Renate Beck's house—which could indicate that Henry the poltergeist has departed or has lost his psychokinetic power.

It started Sunday night and stopped 48 hours later, Mrs. Beck reported. Mirrors were broken by flying ashtrays, china tumbled from cupboards and milk bottles smashed against walls.

Mrs. Beck, Vienna-born restaurant operator, named the noisy ghost. Nobody ever saw him, of course, and he quieted down soon after police took up a vigil in the house.

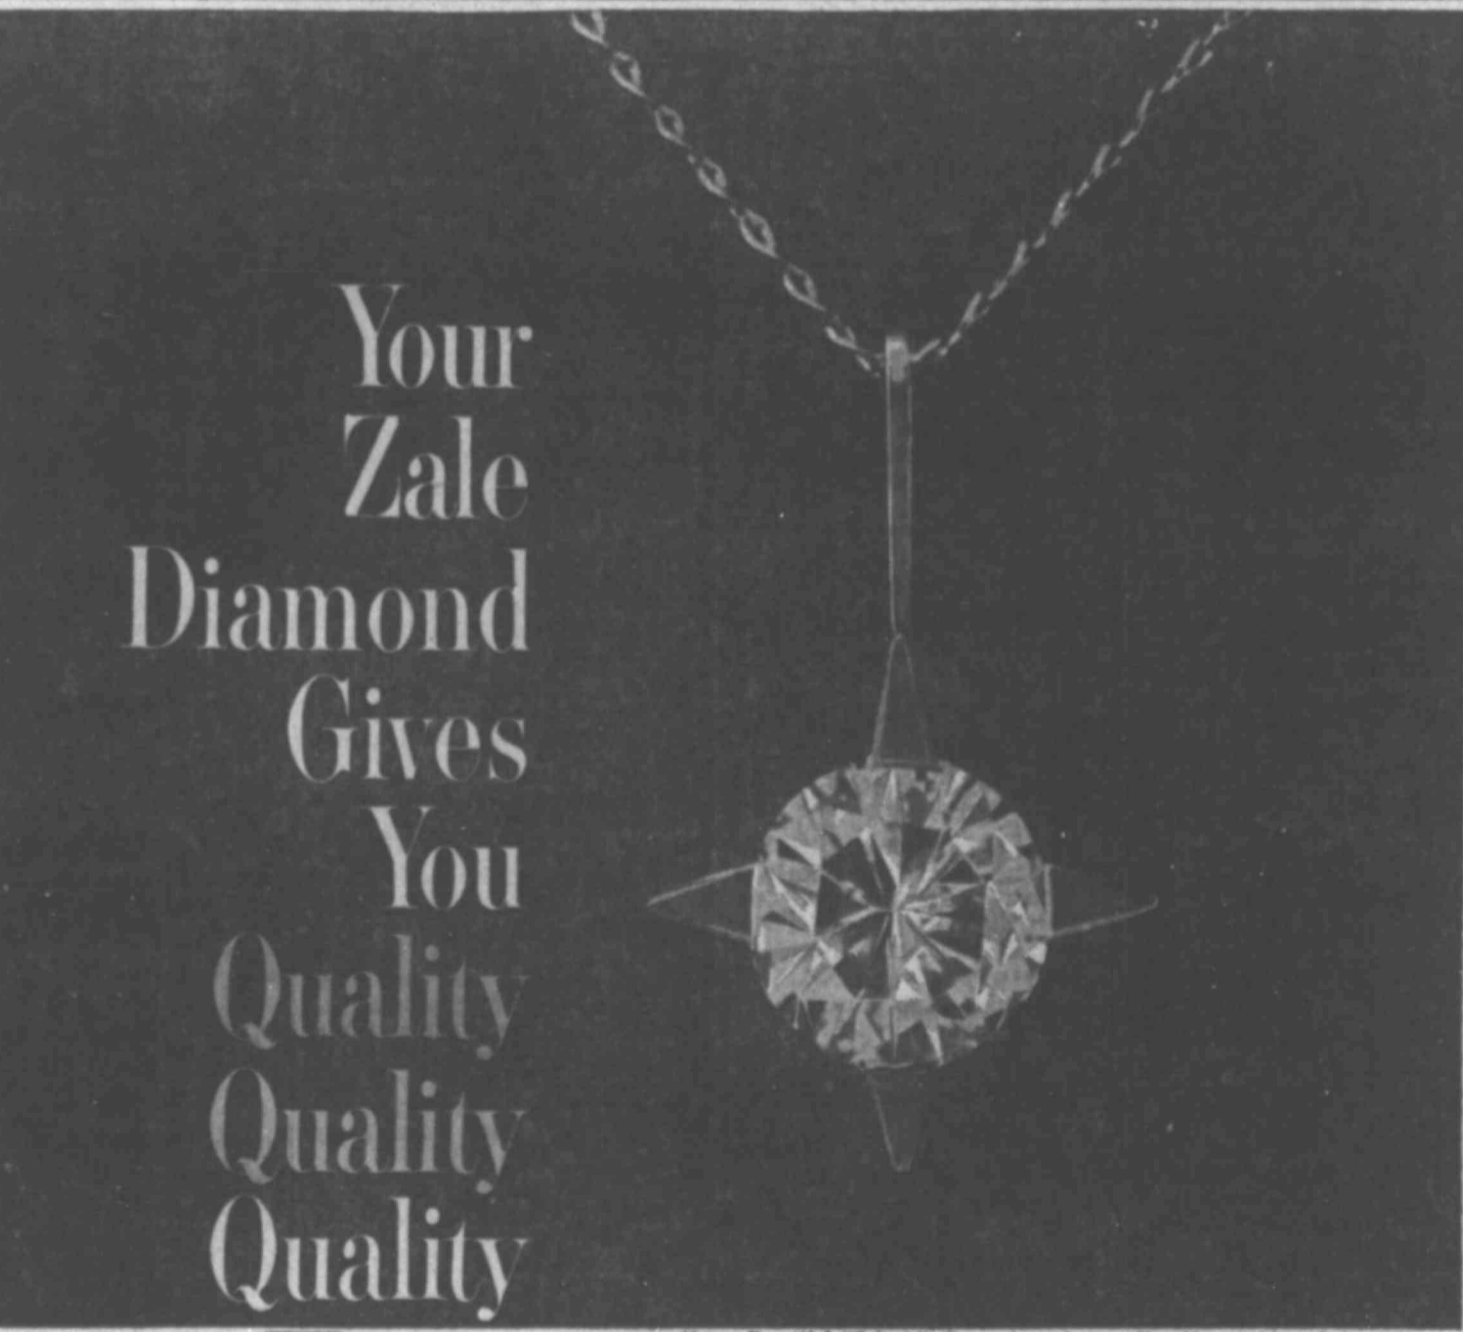

Killed By Car

LAREDO (AP)—A car struck and killed Concepcion Sarabia, 50, as he was crossing a Laredo street Wednesday night. The accident was one of many on rain-slicked paving.

Family Project

This is how the pipe organ in your church looked before it was installed in its more familiar position. The Boettcher family of Dallas, working in the shop left to right, are: Tom, 15; Herman, 55, the father; Dan, 21; and Karl, 18. The skeleton-like racks in the center of the picture hold the 15-foot long pipes. All of the pipes are installed in a separate room at the church, which is appropriately called "the pipe room."

Pipe Organ's More Complex Than Most People Realize

By JAMES W. ALTGENS
DALLAS (AP) — If you think the majestic pipe organ in your church is impressive from the congregation's viewpoint, you ought to see what's behind the tubes and panels.

A typical three-keyboard organ, not an unusually large size, uses 100,000 feet of wire, says Herman Boettcher of Dallas, who builds them.

"You need about a dozen kinds of wood. They'll amount to around 1,000 board feet of lumber," he says.

"In addition, there are 183 relay magnets which control the operation of 1,338 actuating magnetic units. It is these units that allow air to pass into the same number of organ pipes, creating each individual tone," Boettcher says.

"One of my biggest projects was for the First Baptist Church in Dallas," Boettcher recalls. "I salvaged most of the pipes from the 1890 organ and re-used them. That was all the useable material I could get from the instrument."

"I revitalized the whole system, rebuilding the organ in 1958. The old pipe organ had only three keyboards. The new instrument now operates from four keyboards and has about 6,000 pipes."

Boettcher builds or rebuilds organs for churches and institutions all over the Southwest. Boettcher has just finished building a three-keyboard organ for Dallas' Lakewood Methodist Church. He is rebuilding and enlarging a two-keyboard organ to three keyboard for the First Baptist Church of Roswell, N. M. The rebuilt instrument will offer about three times the number of pipes as in the old.

"It takes about five or six months to build a pipe organ from scratch," Boettcher said, "and because of my limited working space, I am unable to work on more than two organs at one time."

Building organs is also a family business. Boettcher's three sons help when not in school. Dan, 21, and Karl, 18, attend North Texas State University at Denton. Tom, 15, is a high school sophomore.

"The organ pipes, made of metal alloy, are built according to my specifications by two European organ pipe manufacturers," says Boettcher. "Organ pipes are delicate and critical to mold and tune, taking a painfully long time in the process."

"Ship freight is also a slow means of transportation, making it necessary for me to order from more than one company to assure delivery here by the time I am ready to use the pipes."

He added, "A pipe organ, with proper maintenance, will last hundreds of years without a major breakdown. In Europe there are many original pipe organs being used today that are already several hundred years old."

Cost depends upon its size, says

Boettcher. The three-keyboard, 1,500 pipe installation for Lakewood Methodist costs somewhere between $30,000 and $40,000.

Music has played an important role in Boettcher's life.

Boettcher said, "I had a strong childhood desire to sing. I practiced without a voice teacher, and at the age of 16, I entered the Schubert Choral Club's citywide scholarship competition. I won its fine arts scholarship that entitled me to a year's study with a local voice teacher."

In 1930, Boettcher was district runner-up in auditions of the Atwater-Kent national radio competitions. "I soon became a sort of semi-professional singer, singing on my own sponsored radio show for awhile. I also became a soloist in the church choir."

"My true first love now though is pipe organs," he said.

Does Boettcher play the pipe organ?

"After a fashion," he says. "I just sort of pick out things from time to time. It is a rare thing when you find a mechanic and a musician in one person — I'm just a mechanic."

Nixon Book Tells Of Ike, Fund Bobble

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard M. Nixon says he was advised just before he went on nationwide television in 1952 to defend his much-debated political fund that he wasn't wanted as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's running mate in that year's presidential campaign.

He says he was told that Eisenhower and his top advisers wanted him to announce on the air his resignation as the Republican vice presidential candidate.

The two-time vice president adds that a subsequent misunderstanding with Eisenhower made him so angry that he actually dictated a telegram of resignation to the Republican national chairman. The telegram was destroyed by an aide, he says.

Nixon recounts these and other incidents in a book, "Six Crises," to be published by Doubleday & Co. on March 29. The first of three installments being published by Life magazine appears this week.

NO COMMENT
Eisenhower, sought for comment, is on a fishing trip in the Baja California region of Mexico and won't be back before next weekend, his secretary at Palm Springs, Calif., said.

Nixon said the political fund was "set up by my supporters in California to pay expenses for travel, printing and mailing of speeches, and extra clerical help — expenses which were strictly political and for which, therefore, I could not properly be reimbursed by the government." He was then a senator from California.

Nixon wrote that when some newspapers editorially urged him to submit his resignation as the vice presidential aspirant, he got no direct expression from Eisenhower and considered resigning at one point. But he said his wife, Pat, talked him out of it.

Nixon said that former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and his own advisers suggested he take the situation to the American people via television. On the Sunday before the Tuesday telecast, he added, Eisenhower phoned him and said: "Good luck and keep your chin up."

LAST MINUTE CALL
But, said Nixon, "barely an hour before I was scheduled to leave for the TV studio a call (from Dewey) came through to my suite. From the tone of his voice, I could sense immediately that Dewey did not have his heart in what he had to tell me."

"There has just been a meeting of all of Eisenhower's top advisers," he (Dewey) said. "They have asked me to tell you that it is their opinion that at the conclusion of the broadcast tonight you should submit your resignation to Eisenhower. As you know, I have not shared this point of view, but it is my responsibility to pass this recommendation on to you."

Nixon said he was shocked and asked: "What does Eisenhower want me to do?"

"Dewey hedged at this point," Nixon added. "He said he did not want to give the impression that he had spoken directly to Eisenhower or that this decision had been approved by Eisenhower. But he went on to say he was sure that, in view of the close relationship between those with whom he had talked and Eisenhower, they would not have asked him to call unless this represented Eisenhower's view as well as their own."

A spokesman for Dewey said Tuesday Dewey had not read the Nixon remarks and could not comment.

At the end of his broadcast, Nixon told his listeners that he felt he should not quit but that he would leave the decision to the Republican National Committee. He urged his audience to wire or write the committee as to what it should do.

IN THE DARK
Nixon said he did not learn immediately that Eisenhower had praised him for his performance and that the general wanted to meet him the next night in West Virginia. It was in the absence of this knowledge that he dictated the telegram which the aide destroyed, he said.

Soon afterwards, friends calmed Nixon down and he flew to Wheeling, W. Va., where Eisenhower greeted him with the now famous endorsement: "You're my boy." Nixon, the unsuccessful Republican candidate for president in 1960, now is a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of California.

Mrs. Kennedy Is Improved

BOSTON (AP)—Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, mother of the President, continued to show satisfactory progress today in recovery from a pelvic hernia operation performed Tuesday at St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

The hospital said Mrs. Kennedy, 71, wife of the former ambassador to Great Britain, is doing very well.

Dr. Roy J. Heffernan, who performed the operation, said she probably will be able to leave the hospital in seven or eight days to continue convalescence at Palm Beach, Fla. The President's father is recuperating there from a stroke.

ACCORDING TO THE PATTERN

By A Christian Writer

From eternity God has had a purpose concerning the church (Eph. 3:10, 11). It is men's work to form the local church in every community; but he must build it according to the divine pattern.

The New Testament Scriptures were written that men might know how to behave in the church (I Tim. 3:14, 15). The Scriptures were designed to furnish the man of God unto every good work (II Tim. 3:16, 17).

Even "Moses was admonished of God when He was about to make the tabernacle for, See, said He, that thou make all things according to the pattern

MAN AND WIFE ON SAME PANEL

Sociologists Note: Would This Have Been A Hung Jury?

A jury empanelled to try a civil case Monday in 118th District Court presented one feature which is entitled to the description "unique."

Two of its members were husband and wife.

Court buffs who have watched legal proceedings for years do not recall another instance where husband and wife were seated on the same jury.

Judge Ralph Caton said that the law provides that where a man and his wife happen to be summoned for duty on the same jury panel, the wife has the privilege of claiming an exemption for herself. In this case, the exemption was not claimed.

The jurors were Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Harwell, 1206 Wood.

"I noted the fact that both Mr. and Mrs. Harwell were on the panel when I was qualifying it,"

Judge Caton said. "I even emphasized the right of a wife to claim exemption. However, I noted that Mrs. Harwell did not claim her exemption."

The wheels of justice moved and when it was all over, a jury of 11 men and one woman had been selected to try the case before the court. The one woman was Mrs. Harwell. One of the 11 men was her husband.

The case terminated on a technicality before the jurors had to decide it, but nevertheless Mr. and Mrs. Harwell sat through a day and a half of testimony.

Judge Caton said that he emphasized, as he always does, the importance of jury duty and its part in the proper administration of justice in his remarks to the jury panel.

"When the case was ended, I asked Mrs. Harwell why she had not claimed her exemption. 'I planned to do so,' she told me, 'but after you talked about how good citizens do not shun jury duty, I was ashamed to ask to be excused.'

It was pointed out that it was odd that both the Harwells would be called for jury duty in any one term and even more unusual both would be on the same panel.

Their names, like all of the jurors for this term of court, were drawn from the county jury wheel.

There are more than 12,000 names in the wheel and yet the cards of Mr. and Mrs. Harwell were both drawn for the same panel.

Incidentally, Mrs. Harwell asked to be excused from further duty at this week's court and Judge Caton granted her request.

Hero Jet Pilot Forced To Eject

GARLAND, N.C. (AP)—An Air Force pilot, who last December steered a crippled jet into the Niagara River gorge, was forced to eject from another plane Wednesday.

First Lt. Edward M. Methot, 29, of the Bronx, N.Y., parachuted to safety when he experienced trouble in an F-100 jet fighter while on a training flight from Shaw AFB, S.C.

Methot landed south of Garland in a swamp.

The pilot was commended for his bravery last December when he rode a flaming F-100 into the Niagara gorge in order not to land in a populated area. He ejected seconds before the aircraft crashed.

A commercial airline pilot, Methot was recalled to duty during the Berlin crisis.

Candidates Look At Small Business, Soil And Water

Small business interests and the state's soil and water development program drew attention from Texas candidates for governor Wednesday.

Don Yarborough, speaking at Midland, blamed Texas' sales tax for putting small business men "in an economic straitjacket."

He proposed a task force representing small business in all areas as a permanent group to advise the governor and "chart opportunities for a new era."

Yarborough was at San Angelo Thursday.

John Connally, talking at SMU in Dallas, said as governor he proposed to see that redistricting gives urban and not rural representatives the balance of power in the legislature. He said also that the sales tax statute needs revision and Texas should stop protecting other oil states at the expense of its own production.

Connally predicted voters in the May 5 primaries will call for the poll tax to be abolished and turn down a proposal to legalize horse race betting.

Gov. Price Daniel said at Lubbock that Texas has the most far reaching program in its history for developing water and soil resources.

"The first statewide planning and development program in the history of Texas has been set up during the last five years," the governor declared, "and more dams have been located and more constructive planning for the future has been accomplished than in any corresponding period."

Daniel moved on Thursday to Canyon, Amarillo and Dumas.

Roy Whittenburg also headed for Amarillo, where supporters predicted 750 persons would turn out for a reception in his honor Thursday evening. It is being held on the eve of a Young Republicans' convention in Amarillo.

which Whittenburg said he planned to attend.

Also on Whittenburg's schedule is a meeting of Republican women Saturday night at Lubbock.

Marshall Formby remained in the Beaumont-Port Arthur area for several days of campaigning, while Will Wilson returned to Austin after a trip through South Central Texas.

Student Scored For Hitting Nazi

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — School officials have reprimanded the student who slugged George Lincoln Rockwell, head of the American Nazi party, at a meeting at San Diego State College.

The disciplinary action against Edward Cherry, 22, was recommended by the student body's judicial board. It also recommended one-year disciplinary probation for Warren P. von Blum and Norman A. Frankland, who admitted throwing eggs at Rockwell.

College President Malcolm A. Love approved the recommendations Wednesday.

Rockwell was invited to speak at the college by a student group advocating free speech.

Focus On Health

A pain chemical, remedies for hiccups, and the role of eye color in skin diseases are subjects of medical inquiry.

Why Pain?

Scientists believe they have isolated the main chemical in the body responsible for producing pain. Named neurokinin, it was extracted from areas of skin which had been intentionally injured.

Injected into normal skin sites, neurokinin produces pain and inflammation, report Dr. Loring F. Chapman and associates of the Neuropsychiatric Institute, University of California at Los Angeles. Neurokinin may be released by nerves in the injured area, thus releasing pain thresholds, Dr. Chapman says.

Banishing Hiccups

Just about everyone has his sure-fire remedy for hiccups.

The most important thing, though, in stopping them is to relax, says Today's Health magazine, and its experts offer other tips.

For babies, give them sips of warm water, hold the child, and pat his back.

In older children and adults, one of the best remedies is to lie down and relax.

It can also be helpful to drink water slowly; breathe in and out into a paper bag to raise the level of carbon dioxide in the blood; and if an upset stomach brought on the hiccups, take a teaspoonful of baking soda in water.

Eyes And Skin

Persons with brown eyes seem to be afflicted more often than others with skin diseases due to inheritable allergic tendencies, says Dr. Robert G. Carney, University of Iowa dermatologist.

In two studies based 10 years apart, he and associates noticed that almost two-thirds of patients with atopic dermatitis, the familiar type of skin ailments, had brown eyes. Dr. Carney made other comparisons between eye color and incidence of the skin ailments, and found the same thing still true.

Eye color may serve as a rough index of skin pigmentation, he says. The skin of dark-skinned persons perhaps tends to become leathery and hardened, and more susceptible to ailments than that of lighter-skinned individuals.

Florida Community's All Set For Student Invasion

PORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — They're coming again. Down the roads from East, Midwest and South, college students are coming in a steady stream, like lemmings, to the beach at Lauderdale.

They're on spring vacation. They're fed up to here with ice and snow and campus rules and regulations.

They're coming to rough it on the beach at Lauderdale, under the romantic palms, the hot sun and the cool moon, far from the watchful eyes of parents and professor.

The annual invasion began Monday when the first wave of 300 hit the beach. Soon their numbers will reach 40,000 or more.

What will they bring? More beer and sex riots like those that shook Lauderdale last year?

Not if a committee headed by Dr. Clem Binger, First Presbyterian church pastor, can prevent it.

"This committee was born in the riots of last spring. It has worked hard for a year. Its goal is to prevent riots and make an artistic, as well as commercial, success of the annual student invasions.

The collegians have seen the first evidence of this work. At three places along the beach, "Hello" hospitality booths appeared. Here, students who could offer identification cards from their campuses were given plastic tags.

These tags will admit them to a huge recreation area to be opened Friday. In this area, there will be dancing every night. Students may build bonfires, sing and have barbecues.

Athletic, talent and beauty contests have been arranged for the college Joes and Janes. More events will be offered later.

"We'll just play it by ear at the start," Binger says.

The plastic identification tags not only will admit the students to entertainments, but will screen out toughs who invaded the area last spring. They posed as students and were largely responsible for inciting the riots. Many of the 300 jailed were thrill seekers who never saw the inside of a college.

In a way, Binger's committee is Lauderdale's conscience. Many believe the riots grew out of the city's failure to live up to its responsibilities to the young visitors.

Although many of the collegians come on a shoestring, and have to live on hamburgers and sleep in their cars to get by, the student army spends a million dollars in a few days.

Last spring, the students were 50,000 strong. No entertainment was provided for them. There were 10 boys to one girl. Out of the shortage of feminine company grew boredom, excessive drinking and finally three days of riots.

Many believe, the collegians drank, caroused and finally rioted simply because they had nothing better to occupy them.

"A city that once turned its back on the kids is going to face up to its duty and have a good program for them," Binger says. "Out of the riots, we hope to build a pleasant and successful yearly celebration."

Fifteen Seek Seven Seats

LAMESA (SC) — Fifteen candidates are seeking seven trustee posts in four independent school district elections in the Dawson County area on April 7.

In addition, two incumbent county trustees—T. R. Holley, Pct. 3, and J. D. Smith, Pct. 4—are the only candidates seeking the posts this year.

At Klondike, incumbents Tom Estes and Jesse Stephens are opposed by Carl Benson and M. M. Brown for two seats in that district.

At Dawson School in Welch, Jim Anderson and E. L. Davis, both incumbents, have a pair of opponents—A. A. Haynes and D. V. Goode.

Incumbents W. P. Cozart and M. C. Dunbar, have a pair of opponents at Union. They are Homer Etheridge and Wayne Kibler.

Neither of the incumbents at Sands in Ackerly are seeking reelection. The incumbents, Donald Fleming and Tommy Horton, will be vacating seats contested by Henry Sample, Dudley Coleman and Leon Bodine.

Medics Open New Hunt For Cancer Vaccine

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A hopeful new search for a vaccine to protect humans against cancer has begun.

Today 120 persons between the ages of 60 and 70 in Sweden form the first test group, but if all goes well perhaps 12,000 persons may receive experimental vaccine before 1965.

So reported Dr. Bertil Bjorklund of the Immunological Research Laboratory in Stockholm to newsmen after the closing session of the American Cancer Society's scientific writers seminar.

The vaccine consists mainly of bits of killed cancer cells, actually human cells that have become abnormal.

In the healthy body these cell fragments will stimulate production of protective antibodies—the substances that tend to inactivate germs and viruses.

Then, should a human cell become abnormal—turning cancerous—Dr. Bjorklund expects the antibodies will recognize the cancerous cell, inactivating it.

The antibodies also will release from its natural state in the human blood a cell killer which will destroy the cancer.

That is the expected process if the new antigen works. The question seems to be: Are the abnormal cell fragments being used for injection similar enough to cancer cells to stimulate the proper antibodies?

Of the 120 persons in the test, 100 are receiving the experimental material. Each of five groups of 20 is getting a different number of doses. One group of 20 is not receiving any dose, but is being checked to see the normal level of antibodies.

Dr. Bjorklund is interested in this stage of the test to find which dosage will produce the proper level of antibodies—and how long the antibodies will last. Results of the test should be ready by late this fall.

If the proper dosage is determined, perhaps as many as 1,200 persons will be tested next year with that dosage. Some 120 of these would be checked to make sure that the antibody production is normal.

Then, if results are good with this group, the next year perhaps as many as 12,000 in the 60 to 70 age group would be given the material, and another 12,000 persons selected as a control or untreated group.

DEAR ABBY

A Toothy Problem

DEAR ABBY: How can I get my mother to ADMIT that her dentures are no good and to DO something about them? When she talks she makes clicking sounds that cause people to giggle. When I ring her bell, I can see her running first to get her teeth, so I know she doesn't put them in her mouth unless she has to. Her dental bill was not cheap (I paid it) and I can't understand why she refused to go back to her dentist and complain. Can you help me?

HER DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Any dentist would be happy to adjust dentures which he has made. Perhaps your mother is frightened or embarrassed. Call her dentist. He'll know what to do.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl who "had to" get married. Not for the usual reason, but my story might be worth space in your column to keep other girls from making the same mistake. I "had to" get married because at 22 I graduated from college and, believe it or not, I wasn't trained for any special job. I couldn't see going home to live with my parents as a "child" again, but the main reason was that all my friends were married. So I married a nice, dull, average man who had had a crush on me since high school. He has no big glaring faults, but he is the world's worst bore. He is selfish and inconsiderate and some of his personal habits are revolting. He never argues. Just sulks. His big interest is sports. Two weeks after the wedding I knew it was a mistake. My religion doesn't permit divorce, so I am stuck. I hope no other girl "has to" get married for the foolish reasons I did.

STUCK

DEAR ABBY: Four months ago we adopted a beautiful baby girl. We never dreamed people would ask us the questions we have been asked about this baby. Such as, "Where did you get her?" "Do you know who her parents were?" "Was her mother unmarried?" How can people have such nerve to ask questions like that? Please tell us what to say.

NEEDING ADVICE

DEAR NEEDING: You are under no compulsion to answer every question you are asked, you know. Tell them that their questions are too personal, and change the subject.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HATE MYSELF": Report the physician to your county medical society and do not see him again professionally or otherwise. Tell your husband you wish to change doctors, but don't go into detail.

Hurt On Job

An injured workman in foreground is comforted by a passersby after a building being razed in Savannah, Ga., collapsed, injuring three persons. Another victim is led from the rubble in the background.

Reds Warned On Corridors

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has cautioned the Soviet Union against provoking the Allies into retaliating to its particularly dangerous harassment in the air corridors to Berlin.

Soviet flights into space reserved for Western planes and showering of metallic flakes in an apparent effort—so far unsuccessful—to upset airway radar systems make it even more difficult to reach an agreement on Berlin, Kennedy told a news conference Wednesday.

With the situation so hot, Kennedy said, both sides should avoid incidents that may lead to "actions and counteractions which can only intensify the danger."

DANGEROUS

He called the Soviet spreading of metallic chaff in the corridors "a particularly dangerous kind of action." And he said the West is waiting to see how the Soviet Union reacts to very vigorous protests by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home.

Questions about the 17-nation disarmament conference at Geneva set the theme for Kennedy's conference. But it ranged over matters from storm insurance to fighting in South Viet Nam.

Kennedy denied criticism of his $4.9-billion foreign aid request and asserted "it would be the most unwise act possible to cut our assistance program." Aid to Allies and emerging nations, he said, is just as important as our national defense. These countries, he said, are right in the line of fire.

MORE STRENGTH

In the area of security, he said the U. S. position would be strengthened if there were no more nuclear tests in the atmosphere, including the series he has ordered to begin next month. For this reason, he said, the United States wants to conclude an effectively safeguarded test ban treaty.

Kennedy said the West would propose measures at Geneva to make secret preparations for tests more difficult. But detecting preparations for tests, he said, was not as significant as being able to detect the tests themselves. "Preparations are only important if they lead to tests, and once the tests come," he said, a satisfactory detection system would alert the United States to take action.

ARMS OUTLINE

The chief executive opened the conference by reading part of a letter to Rusk in which he expressed hope for early agreement on the outlines of a general disarmament program and on specific steps that could be taken while the over-all problem is being argued back and forth.

In reply to a question, Kennedy increased the number of circumstances under which he might attend a summit conference.

He repeated that he would go to sign a treaty or "if we were on a brink of a war or a serious international crisis, where my presence would make a significant difference."

Then he said he would add a third possibility: "I would go if I thought it was in our national interest."

He reiterated his unwillingness to go "unless there is a situation developed which I believe would make such a trip fruitful and rewarding."

OTHER TOPICS

Politics—Kennedy said he would not participate in the campaign of his youngest brother, Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Massachusetts. "Teddy is running, as he stated, on his own," the President said.

Medical Care—Kennedy said his administration will go all-out to put over his program for medical care for the aged. He said definitely it will come to a vote this year in the Senate and he hopes in the House.

Viet Nam—If fighting in Viet Nam raised the constitutional question of sending U.S. troops into combat, Kennedy said, of course he would seek congressional approval.

Storm Insurance—Enormous damage inflicted on the East Coast last week, he said, illustrates the desirability of federal insurance and co-insurance against storm destruction. He promised to study the possibility of recommending an appropriation for that purpose.

Defense Contracts—Kennedy said he really saw no "rise sufficient to light off" former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, whom a reporter said had charged that Kennedy injected politics into the allocation of defense contracts. Kennedy said these contracts must be placed where they can be efficiently handled.

Dairy Farmers—Kennedy urged the House to override its agriculture committee and maintain dairy price supports at their present level for the remainder of the year.

President Broadens His Summit Prerequisites

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has broadened the circumstances under which he would attend a summit meeting at Geneva. But officials said today that so far none of the conditions has developed.

"We will have to wait and see whether events make such a trip useful," Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday.

Restating his criteria for going to the 17-nation Geneva disarmament parley, the President said he would attend (1) to ratify an agreement or (2) "if we were on a brink of a war or a serious international crisis, where my presence would make a significant difference."

Then, he said, "I would add a third one: I would go if I thought it was in our national interest."

"I do not intend to go unless there is a situation developed which I believe would make such a trip fruitful and rewarding," he said.

Informants said the President was in effect repeating criteria he set forth in the past. And there have been no developments in the Geneva conference to justify such a visit, they said.

The talks on Berlin, between Secretary of State Dean Rusk, British Foreign Secretary Lord Home and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, have been far from encouraging, the informants said.

A clearer indication of results on disarmament is not expected here until the newly begun conference has held more sessions.

Kennedy indicated Wednesday he had backed off from previous emphasis on need for inspections to safeguard against secret preparations of atomic tests, in addition to controls against the tests themselves.

In a Feb. 7 news conference, he said an agreement to outlaw atomic tests should include "inspection and control which could protect us against the repetition of prolonged secret preparations for a series of major tests."

The British have been cool toward anti-preparation controls, favoring instead easing international inspection requirements where possible to meet Soviet objections.

BUFFET CASSEROLE

Tuna-Macaroni Hearty, Satisfying Casserole

Feed a hungry family in grand style with Tuna-Macaroni Buffet Casserole — a new recipe that's hearty, satisfying, and special enough for company occasions, too.

This one-dish dinner is a brand-new approach to the always popular combination of macaroni and tuna, with addition of such unusual ingredients as ripe olives and cashew nuts giving it a delightfully different taste.

You'll want to enjoy this quick, easy supper often all through the year, but especially during Lent when families welcome "something new".

TUNA-MACARONI BUFFET CASSEROLE

- 2 cups Skinner elbow macaroni
- 1 cup commercial sour cream
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/4 tsp. crushed oregano
- 2 1/2-oz. cans tuna
- 1/4 cup sliced ripe olives
- 1/4 cup sliced mushrooms
- 1/4 cup chopped green pepper

Vary Cheeses

When you are serving cheese and fruit for dessert and want to please all your guests, choose several varieties of cheese: Blue or Roquefort; Swiss; cheddar; Muenster; cream or cottage.

1/4 cup chopped cashew nuts
1 cup grated process American cheese

Cook macaroni as directed on package. Drain. Combine sour cream, milk, oregano, tuna, ripe olives, mushrooms, green pepper and cashews. Mix well. Carefully fold in the cooked macaroni; turn into a buttered 2 1/2-quart casserole; top with grated cheese. Bake in 350-degree oven for 30 minutes; uncover casserole for last 10 minutes of cooking. Serves 6.

FOR A SPRING DAY

Simmer Old Fashioned Soup While Cleaning

Spring days are the perfect time for a soup - and - salad meal, because the soup is hearty enough to satisfy a busy-day appetite, yet light enough for warm weather eating. Simmer it slowly while you finish the last of the spring housecleaning or put the last ruffles on the dancing recital costume.

The recipe given below by the Texas Beef Council makes approximately five cups of basic beef and vegetable soup, enough to serve five people generously, or double the recipe and save for later use. Improvise - use your family's favorite vegetables or use left-overs you have in the refrigerator.

BASIC BEEF SOUP WITH VEGETABLES

- 2 pounds brisket, shinbone or other soup meat and bone (for richer flavor, sear part of the meat in hot fat)
- 1 1/2 tsp. salt
- 2 quarts cold water

Let stand in soup kettle for one hour. Bring to boiling point, and simmer covered for 3 1/2 hours. Then add:

- 2 cups (or more) chopped vegetables: onions, carrots, celery stalks with leaves, etc.
 - 1/2 cup tomatoes
 - 1/2 green pepper with 4 or 5 seeds
 - 2 tbsp. rice
- Simmer for 30 minutes, or until vegetables are done.

Quickie Chowder For Lenten Season Meal

Blustery days seem to produce hearty appetites. When those days fall in Lent, the meal planner can be forgiven if she is hard-pressed to dream up imaginative, satisfying meals for her hungry crew. Take scallops, for instance. This popular shellfish lends itself to a variety of delightful dishes. Its sweet shell muscle (the only part marketed) may be broiled, pan-fried, oven-fried or French-fried. Or it may be featured in salads, stews, chowders or casseroles with mouth-watering results. Even the "heat-and-eat" breaded scallops can be made to taste different each time through the use of various sauces.

A scallop recipe that's made to order for the harried housewife at this season of the year can be dished up in a jiffy.

- ### IN-A-MINUTE SCALLOP CHOWDER
- 3 tbsps. instant minced onion
 - 3 tbsps. butter or margarine
 - 2 cups pkgd. quick-cooking potato slices
 - 4 cups water
 - 1 tsp. salt
 - 1/4 tsp. pepper
 - 1 1/2 lbs. sea scallops, fresh or frozen, halved
 - 2 cups milk
 - 2 tbsps. chopped parsley
- Defrost scallops if frozen. Cook onions in butter or margarine 5 minutes (do not brown). Add potato slices, water, salt, pepper and scallops. Cook 10 to 12 minutes. Add milk; bring just to a simmer. Remove from heat. Garnish each serving with chopped parsley. Makes six servings.

Fresh Fruit, Vegetables Increased

By The Associated Press

Prices of most Texas fresh fruits and vegetables increased or remained firm this week, reports the Agricultural Marketing Service.

This upward trend reflects the recent cold weather that reduced supplies.

Cucumbers and yellow squash from Florida and cabbage from California and Arizona registered the sharpest advances. Cabbage is in very tight supply with wholesale prices around 10 cents a pound, which is higher than retail prices usually run during most of the year.

Only one item, avocados, shows any marked decline from a week ago.

Although prices are trending higher, many items are still considered good buys in view of the supply situation. These items include carrots, celery and lemons. Texas growers are offering increased supplies of mustard greens, turnip greens and collards.

Few vegetables are so attractively priced this week as potatoes, especially round reds.

Turkeys again are bargains at the meat counter. Eggs and cheese are tagged with special prices.

Scalloped Tuna For A Hot Supper Treat

For tuna scallop, preheat the gas oven to 400 degrees. Mix 2 cans of cream of celery soup with 1 tablespoon prepared mustard. Open two 7-ounce cans of tuna and alternate layers of the tuna and soup with 1/4 cups of cracker crumbs. Dot the top with butter and bake in the oven for 30 minutes or until bubbling hot. Serve with pineapple cole slaw, garlic bread and lemon meringue pie.

Melba Is Peachiest

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

We daresay that even Escofier, who invented Peach Melba toward the end of the last century, would have approved this modern version of his famous dessert.

The original Peach Melba was made of fresh peaches poached in vanilla syrup, a topping of vanilla ice cream and a sauce of fresh raspberries.

Nowadays you can make Peach Melba any time of year, in no time at all, with frozen peaches and raspberries.

Cook books other than Escofier's give various versions of the sauce. For example, the raspberries are sometimes combined with currant jelly and thickened with cornstarch. But to our way of thinking, it's hard to surpass the sauce when it is made with raspberries alone—as in this recipe.

MODERN PEACH MELBA

1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen red raspberries in sugar syrup
2 pkgs. (12 oz. each) frozen sliced peaches in sugar syrup
1 qt. vanilla ice cream

Turn the frozen raspberries into a fine-mesh strainer over a saucepan. When the berries have thawed somewhat, rub them through the strainer to remove the seeds. Bring the raspberry juice to a boil; simmer gently stirring constantly, until just thickened—about 5 minutes. Chill. Before serving, defrost the peaches and arrange them in 8 sherbet glasses—you can use the peach syrup or not, as you like. Add scoops of the ice cream. Top with the raspberry sauce. There will be about 2-3 cup of the sauce—a generous tablespoonful for each of the 8 servings of peaches and ice cream.

SUNDAE NOTE

If you don't mind tampering with classic cuisine, turn Peach Melba into Banana Sundaes—or at least a version of them. Use a small banana for each serving, cutting it into halves lengthwise and crosswise. Top each banana with peaches, ice cream. If you happen to have regular boat-shaped footed glass sundae dishes, by all means use them for these creations.

Mixes Make Good Soup

These additions to a soup mix give homemade flavor.

CLAM MUSHROOM SOUP

1 envelope (1½ oz.) prepared mushroom soup mix
2-3 cups milk
1 can (3 oz.) sliced broiled mushrooms
1 tsp. instant toasted onion
1 can (10½ oz.) minced clams
Turn the soup mix into a medium saucepan. Gradually stir in the milk. Add the mushrooms (including the 1-3 cup mushroom liquid in the can) and the onion. Heat slowly, stirring, just until soup comes to a boil. Add the clams (including the 2-3 cup liquid in the can).

Reheat but do not boil. If soup is thicker than you like, add a little milk. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Handy Spatulas

Small spatulas or palette knives are inexpensive and wonderfully convenient in the kitchen. Use them for loosening cakes and cookies from pans; for making sandwiches (buttering the bread with soft butter or margarine and adding the filling); for frosting cakes.

Turkish Belly Dancer Uses Twist Just For Relaxation

By ANDREW MEISELS
NEW YORK (AP)—To Soraya Melik, a belly dancer from Turkey, "the Twist" is a joke.

Twice a night, six nights a week, the 23-year-old beauty twists more of herself more often and in more directions than the average twister's sacroiliac could stand in a month.

"The Twist is nice," she says. "I do it sometimes on my night off—to relax."

Soraya is one of about 35 girls who emulate nightly in eight off-beat clubs all concentrated in the area of Eighth Avenue and 28th Street in Manhattan. The clubs bear such exotic names as the Port Said, the Istanbul, the Arabian Nights, the Egyptian Garden, the New Life, the Grecian Palace, the Britannia and the Kephisia. The dancers have names to match.

What Westerners irreverently call the belly dance is a respected art form in the East, where it is called anatole dancing. Although it seems to have achieved its present form in the harems, the dance has now been accorded the dignity that goes with age, and Easterners often do it—fully clothed, of course—at social functions.

Many persons of Eastern descent live in the 28th Street area, which is why the clubs provided this sort of entertainment in the first place. More recently, however, other New Yorkers have discovered the spots, and this has caused a mild boom in the sort of bump and grind that went out with the local prohibition of burlesque.

While the clubs welcome the new business, their staple still seems to be the neighborhood trade, including whole families. Consequently, the goings-on are far from the friendly chaos one associates with the strip tease. On the other hand, the dance is hardly puritan.

SLOW TO FAST
Clad in costumes that look as if they'll come off any minute (but never do) the girls dance to the accompaniment of undulating Eastern music that progresses from a sensuously slow to an excitingly fast rhythm.

During the 20 minutes or so that a performance takes, the dancer goes through a series of motions that must use every muscle in her body. It's not really a belly dance because everything moves sooner or later—including the arms, the fingers, the head and even the toes.

When it's all over, the dancer looks about ready for two weeks in a rest home, but she's always back in time for the next performance.

What makes a girl become a belly dancer, and where does she learn how?

LEARNED YOUNG
In Soraya's case (and that's her real name), she learned the steps as a little girl in Ankara, Turkey. Five years ago, she came to the United States and worked as a hairdresser. Then, she says, "I saw so many American girls dancing I thought: 'Why shouldn't a Turkish girl dance?'" So she did.

"I was nervous for a while," she said. "People expected me to strip. I tried to explain that this is an ancient and honorable dance but they still expected me to strip. I wouldn't do that."

"My mother in Turkey is very old-fashioned," continued the ebullient Soraya. "I was dancing for two years before she knew. She knows now, and she's not too happy about it. She wants me to get married and settle down."

You get the idea talking to the dark, curvy dancer that she's not against marriage either.

MARRIAGE?
"No, I'm not married—yet!" she said. "The trouble is, working six nights a week from 9:30 till 4 o'clock in the morning you don't meet many eligible young men."

Does she like show business?
"I like it fine, but when I get married it will be up to my husband to decide if I should keep dancing. Like every good Turkish girl, I believe the husband is king."

"I would like to become an American citizen," Soraya said. "But first I want to get married."
