Supreme Court Ruling Gives Cities Opening In Rural-Urban Vote Issue

SETTLERS RALLY TO THE CAUSE

French Seize Secret Army Leader But Fight Continues

ORAN, Algeria (AP)—The government announced today it has seized one of the most wanted men of the European Secret Army, ex-Gen. Edmond Jouhaud. But the secret army rallied European settlers and fighting raged once more in Algeria.

A former chief of staff of the French air force, Jouhaud and his entire staff were captured Sunday in a 10-hour battle between the secret army and French forces in this second largest city of Algeria.

REPULSED
The secret army tried to storm a barracks and rescue Jouhaud, its commander in western Algeria, but was repulsed. Then an uneasy calm settled over Oran, the secret army struck in Algeria. It called on Europeans of Algeria to march on Bab el Oued, its stronghold in a suburb that has been encircled for three days by thousands of French troops. Answering the clandestine call, hundreds of Europeans assembled in the heart of Oran only to be met by troops and riot police deployed behind barriers.

Gun fire rang through the city, grenades exploded, armored cars rumbled through the streets and helicopters flew patrol.

The firing slackened after an hour and the European crowds dispersed. At least 6 persons were killed and 50 wounded, reliable sources said. The French news agency put the number at 11 dead and about 150 wounded.

ANGRY SETTLERS

At a street corner, where several settlers' bodies lay in pools of blood, crowds of European settlers gathered and shouted "Murderers, murderers!" at the soldiers.

"And this is what they do to us because we are French and want to stay French," one man screamed.

While the fighting was in progress, two secret army men entered the Aletti Hotel in downtown Oran and told correspondents the fight to block Algerian independence and keep Algeria French will go on.

As one method, they said a vast workers group will be organized to exert economic pressure and prevent application of the cease-fire agreement between France and the Algerian nationalist rebels. The cease-fire is a preliminary to a vote of independence.

ARMED CAMP
Oran remained an armed camp as the news circulated that Jouhaud, who had eluded capture since he quit the military service and slipped back to Algeria in 1960, had been taken at last.

Jouhaud and four others, including a woman, were flown to Paris today and locked up in Sainte Fugitive. Jouhaud, along with ex-Gen. Raoul Salan and other fugitive leaders of the abortive general's revolt in Algiers last April, is under a death sentence for that defiance of President Charles de Gaulle's government.

TRAPPED
A French spokesman in Algiers said Jouhaud and his staff were trapped in a building on the waterfront that had been under surveillance for some time.

The captives were transferred to a gendarmerie barracks. Minutes later a strong secret army commando group attacked the barracks. The French forces repelled the attack.

Officials said Jouhaud was arrested Sunday about 4 p.m. It was not until about 10:30 p.m. that the police realized how big a catch they had made and his identification verified.

In addition to false papers in the name of Gerberd, Jouhaud had a mustache and a false beard, and was wearing civilian clothes. At the moment of the arrest, Jouhaud was in a meeting with 16 other persons. About 10 of them were taken to the police headquarters. Five were flown to Paris.

DOORS SMASHED
During the search of the 17-story seafort building, personally led by the deputy prefect (chief) of police in Oran, a number of apartment doors were forced open with axe blows.

Reports Sunday said that the operation was aimed at finding a secret army radio transmitter. One of those arrested with him was identified as a former major named Gamelin. The others were reported to be of lesser importance.

A source close to secret army circles in Oran said that former Gen. Paul Gardery, once the commander of the Foreign Legion, would probably take over as commander of the Oran region for the secret army.

Jouhaud and Salan, the top commander of the secret army, had been fugitives in Algeria since the collapse of the general's revolt last April. The other two leaders of the putsch attempt, Gen. Maurice Challe and Gen.

Andre Zeller, surrendered and were sentenced to 15-year prison terms.

DEATH PENALTIES

Jouhaud, Salan and seven colonels also still at large were all sentenced to death in absentia.

Jouhaud, 56, was a 1926 graduate of the St. Cyr Military Academy, France's West Point.

A short, stocky, taciturn man, he played a backstage role in the May 13, 1958, uprising in Algiers which brought Gen. de Gaulle back to power.

At that time Jouhaud was deputy to Gen. Salan, the French commander in Algeria. In July 1958, Jouhaud was moved out of Algeria and made air force chief of staff.

He retired in 1960 at his own request and slipped back into Algeria a few weeks before the general's uprising last year.

In Oran, meanwhile, angry European settlers and French troops eyed each other warily over makeshift barricades in the heart of the city.

AWAIT WORD

Troops in tanks and halftracks waited word from their commanders whether to clear the roadblocks in frontal assault or to seal off the area as other French troops have done with the rebellious Bab el Oued district of Algiers.

Diehard settlers, spearheaded by commandos of the secret army, blocked off the center of Oran, Algeria's second city, and battled French forces until almost midnight Sunday.

Sunday's death toll throughout Algeria, resulting mostly from murderous attacks on Moslems by members of the secret army, was 20 with 68 wounded.

Although casualties were low, fighting was spectacular. Infuriated settlers from behind their barricades fought French military police with rifles, pistols and sub-machine guns.

The French air force sent two planes swooping low over the area in late afternoon to strafe it with bursts from heavy machine guns.

IN OWN HANDS

Belief grew that settlers in Oran and Algiers were taking matters in their own hands and attacking against the wishes of the secret army command. Secret army pamphlets pledged not to fire on the troops except in legitimate defense and urged the soldiers, "Do not attack our commandos. They will not attack you."

They said the secret army "wants to fight our common enemy, the Moslem National Liberation Front."

Christian Fouchet, new French high commissioner in Algeria, warned European settlers of Algeria that if they kept fighting to sabotage the cease-fire agreement between France and the Moslem rebels, they would be "the first and main victims."

STAND ALONE

"Every nation on earth, practically without exception, would unite against you," he said in a radio-television address from the barricaded administrative center of Rocher Noir about 30 miles to the east.

In Paris, President de Gaulle's government called home Maurice Dejean, its ambassador to Moscow, to show displeasure with the Soviet Union's formal recognition of the Algerian rebel provisional government. Under terms of the cease-fire, France remains sovereign in Algeria until independence is voted in a self-determination referendum.

Wedding?

Fran McKearney, 35-year-old secretary from Fort St. John, R.C., leaves the Massachusetts state prison at Walpole, after attending a parole board meeting for the man she hopes to marry. The Canadian girl, now working in a Boston hospital, testified for Joseph A. Flaherty, 39, serving 31 to 41 years for rape, burglary and other crimes. Miss McKearney said she first heard of Flaherty in a magazine telling of a 1955 rebellion at the old state prison in Charlestown of which he was a ringleader.

LBJ Effects Racism Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunities has obtained voluntary agreements from 50 large firms to end job discrimination among about 5 million workers.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, who heads the committee, obviously views this as a major accomplishment likely to be reflected by increased support for the Democratic administration among Negro and other minority group voters.

It long has been Johnson's contention that Negroes are more interested in voting rights and equal employment conditions than in some so-called social gains.

Star Collapses, Found On Beach

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Martha Raye was found unconscious late Sunday night on a deserted stretch of beach near her home at suburban Malibu.

Her physician, Dr. Morris Katz, said she evidently collapsed from exhaustion while walking alone on the sand. He said she is in good condition but will stay in the hospital a day or two.

Fronzizi Wins Time For Action

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Arturo Fronzizi won a reprieve from the army today to continue his maneuvering to stay in office but military chiefs made clear any settlement of Argentina's nine-day crisis would be on their terms.

Guards at Government House donned battle dress, machine guns were mounted on the pink-hued building and security checks tightened in the area.

The precautions were taken apparently to forestall a sudden coup by admirals and some army generals reported determined to get Fronzizi out.

Maj. Gen. Pedro Aramburu, champion of democratic government and the country's military ruler after the ouster of dictator Juan Peron, enlisted the support of much of the army high command in stalling off a showdown after the navy publicly called on Fronzizi to resign.

Aramburu, hero of the revolt that overthrew Peron in 1955, pleaded for more time to work out a peace after warning the 21 million Argentines in a radio-television broadcast "the republic is in danger" and "many fear all is lost."

Fronzizi, 54, has vowed he will never quit but Aramburu emphasized that the armed forces could get rid of the president at will.

The Peronists, whose election victories drove Fronzizi into a corner, appeared pushed into a background of the milling crisis.

When Aramburu was called from retirement to mediate the dispute last Friday, he spoke of needing 10 days to formulate a new policy for the government—with or without Fronzizi.

Army Secretary Gen. Rosendo Fraga, in orders to his commanders in the interior, declared that Gen. Aramburu must be given an opportunity to carry out the job.

Fraga's message went out a few hours after the admirals called on Fronzizi to quit. Some army generals reportedly were willing to give Fronzizi only 24 hours to get out or be ousted.

Fronzizi desperately waged an uphill fight to cling on to the presidency by hastily patching together a new Cabinet he presented as a coalition. The major opposition political parties boycotted his bids.

Death Delays Arms Parley

GENEVA (AP)—The death of a United Nations official caused quick adjournment of today's session of the disarmament conference and delayed a final personal appeal by Secretary of State Dean Rusk for East-West agreement on limited arms accords.

Rusk had planned a final speech on disarmament before leaving for Washington Tuesday. But the session opened with the announcement of the death Sunday of T. G. Narayanan, 50, an Indian diplomat and U.N. representative at nuclear test ban talks.

Before the session adjourned, Rusk praised Narayanan as "an international civil servant of the highest dedication, a man of great character, a man of great talent."

Indonesians Exit New Guinea Talks

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno today withdrew Indonesia's representatives from negotiations with the Dutch on West New Guinea but did not shut the door to future talks.

Socialist Hits Dead-Red Tiff

AUSTIN (AP)—"Whether you would rather be Red than dead, or dead than Red, is misleading," says Norman Thomas, "because it is no longer possible to talk about peace vs. freedom."

"You either have both or you don't have peace," the six-time Socialist candidate for president said Sunday.

Thomas, who last spoke here at the university's Methodist student center about 20 years ago, addressed day-long "Picnic for Peace" in a city park.

He also assailed a campaign for more fallout shelters. Several hundred persons listened. The aging Socialist is chairman of a national organization called Turn Toward Peace.

There had been protests to the City Council over use of the city park but there was no demonstration.

Members of a local group named Citizens for Realistic Alternatives stood at the entrance to the picnic grounds and passed out circulars. The circulars claimed the "picnic for appeasement" was staged by "professional peace exhibitionists."

"I think the hysterical campaign for shelters tends to make war more likely," Thomas said. "It also invites the Russians to emulation."

"When both nations have enough shelters, then we'll have to make bigger and better bombs to blast them out."

Truman Takes Job At Birchers

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman calls the ultra-conservative John Birch Society "nothing more than the Ku Klux Klan without night-gowns."

Truman made the crack to reporters Sunday night following his arrival by plane for a series of appearances at Canisius College.

Eichmann's Plea Slashed

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel's state prosecutor mounted a slashing attack today on Adolf Eichmann's appeal against the death sentence.

Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner, who prosecuted the former Gestapo official convicted of complicity in the Nazi slaughter of the Jews, called arguments advanced by Eichmann's defense "only designs to delay the judgments and execution of sentence."

Spreading his arms, the prosecutor pleaded with the five justices of the Israeli Supreme Court to reject the defense claim that Israel had no right to try Eichmann.

"Adolf Eichmann did not persecute the Jews in Germany, Austria, Holland, France and so on as nationals of those countries," Hausner declared.

"He persecuted them as Jews and no other state has a right to try Eichmann superior to that of Israel."

Eichmann looked unmoved as he listened to Hausner rip into each defense plea for mitigation of his death sentence.

Hausner cited legal precedents for his contention that the kidnapping of Eichmann from Argentina in 1960 did not provide grounds for mitigation.

After the hearing concludes, probably late this week, the court will retire for perhaps a month to rule on the appeal.

Arab Students Picket 'Exodus'

KINGSVILLE (AP)—Arab students attending Texas A&M College here picketed to show disapproval of the movie "Exodus" while the film was showing at the Texas theater Sunday. Manager Bill Lanoue said he had no objection as long as patrons were not bothered.

Myers Praises Jones For His Prosecution

John Edwin Myers thinks that the prosecution effort of Gil Jones, district attorney, in the recent murder trial in Rusk was excellent.

Indeed, in the view of Myers, it was "the best job of prosecuting" that Myers had ever seen or heard about.

And he wants Jones to know that he so regards the matter.

Myers should be a competent judge of prosecutions. Particularly in this case—he is the defendant who was on trial and Jones' efforts were so successful that Myers now sits in a jail cell in Rusk awaiting sentence of death.

"I have been told lots of things by men I have prosecuted in the past," Jones observed. "Usually, what they say is anything but complimentary.

views on the excellence of Jones' effort as a prosecutor in a talk with Paul B. Cox, county attorney of Cherokee County, who was associated with Jones and Dist. Atty. Hulon Brown in the trial of Myers.

Cox wrote that he was visiting in the jail at Rusk last Saturday and that he saw Myers and spoke to him.

"He asked me if he could speak to me for a minute and I went over to his cell. He asked me if I would do him a favor and give him (Jones) a message."

Cox said that Myers then told him: "This may sound strange, as I should hate a man who has caused me to be sentenced to death. However, in my lifetime, I have observed murder cases and of course I have been in court as a defendant in other types of cases.

"I would like for you to tell Mr. Guilford Jones that I believe he did the best job I've ever heard of in prosecuting me."

Cox promised the man he would dispatch the message to Jones.

Representation Hearings Allowed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court held today that city voters who contend they do not have fair representation in state legislatures are entitled to a hearing in federal courts.

Justice William J. Brennan Jr., speaking for the high tribunal in a case from Tennessee, said a special federal court in Nashville should hear a complaint that a minority of rural voters in that state elect and control a majority of the state's legislators.

The issue, however, extends far beyond single state interest. In numerous other states, there are situations which city voters contend are similar—a pattern of rural voters controlling the legislature's makeup.

The complaint in Tennessee was brought by metropolitan area voters who said they have been discriminated against by refusal of entrenched rural legislators to re-appoint election districts in line with the boom in city population and dwindling farm population.

Brennan said it would not be necessary for the special court in Nashville to decide whether allegations by city voters of impairment of their votes by an apportionment in Tennessee "will ultimately entitle them to any relief, in order to hold that they have standing to seek it."

The special court in Nashville had dismissed urban voters' complaints with the explanation that earlier Supreme Court decisions barred federal intervention in such political matters.

The Supreme Court's vote was 6-2. Justices Felix Frankfurter and John M. Harlan each wrote dissenting opinions. Justice Charles Evans Whittaker took no part.

The group of Tennessee city voters pressing the case to the Supreme Court said similar rural domination situations exist in more than half the states.

In Tennessee and many other states, they said, rural districts are able to control taxes, spending and other legislation without proper regard for needs of growing urban populations.

Tennessee's constitution calls for reapportionment of the General Assembly every 10 years by counties or districts, according to the number of qualified voters.

But the Tennessee Legislature has refused since 1901 to reapportion seats in that body.

Today's high court decision simply opens the way for the complaining city voters to pursue the matter in lower federal courts.

In a concurring opinion, Justice Potter Stewart said the court today decided three things and no more:

(A) That the court possessed jurisdiction of the subject matter; (B) that a justiciable cause of action is stated upon which appellants (city voters) would be entitled to appropriate relief; and

(C) that the appellant has standing to challenge the Tennessee apportionment statutes."

Decision May Have Drastic Texas Effects

AUSTIN (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court handed down a ruling today which could have drastic and sweeping effects on Texas politics and state government.

The high court ruled that city voters are entitled to hearings in federal courts in their complaints of unfair representation in state legislatures.

Texas, as most states, has glaring inequities in proportionate representation of voters in the legislative branch of government, when compared to the population.

For example, District 66 in Southwest Texas has one representative in the Texas House representing the total population of 50,185 people.

But in Dallas County, each of the nine House members represents more than twice as many people, 105,725—as their colleague from District 66.

The rapid shifts in population from the farm to the cities generally is given the blame for the inequities in representation in most states, including Texas.

Currently, 75 per cent of all Texans now live in urban areas, according to the latest census. Between 1950 and 1960, Texas' total population rose 24.2 per cent, but the urban population swelled 48.8 per cent while rural population dropped 16.7 per cent.

TEXAS BASIS
Texas supposedly apportions representation in the House on the basis of population only. The Senate divides its membership on the basis of qualified electors or voters.

In both houses, representation is weighted heavily in favor of rural areas.

The problem of equal representation is complicated by some constitutional provisions.

An 1896 amendment, for example, limits any county to a maximum of one senator. Thus, Harris County, with 13 per cent of the state's population, has 3.2 per cent of the Senate.

The Legislature redistricted in the regular session last year. However, the University of Texas Institute of Public Affairs points out that the new districts actually make senatorial representation more lopsided in favor of rural areas.

COUNTIES INCREASE

The state's four largest counties, with 12.9 per cent of Senate seats, increased from 29.6 to 35.7 per cent of Texas' population. The Legislature could not give these counties more representation in the Senate because of constitutional prohibitions.

District 66, large in area, is not the most obvious example of lopsided representation in the House. Predominantly rural Wharton County has a member representing 38,152 people. Kaufman and Rockwall counties have one representative with about 36,000 population.

The U.S. Supreme Court's ruling came on a complaint filed by voters in Tennessee.

In a similar suit last November, the Texas Supreme Court refused to order the creation of new Texas legislative and congressional districts on a more equal population basis.

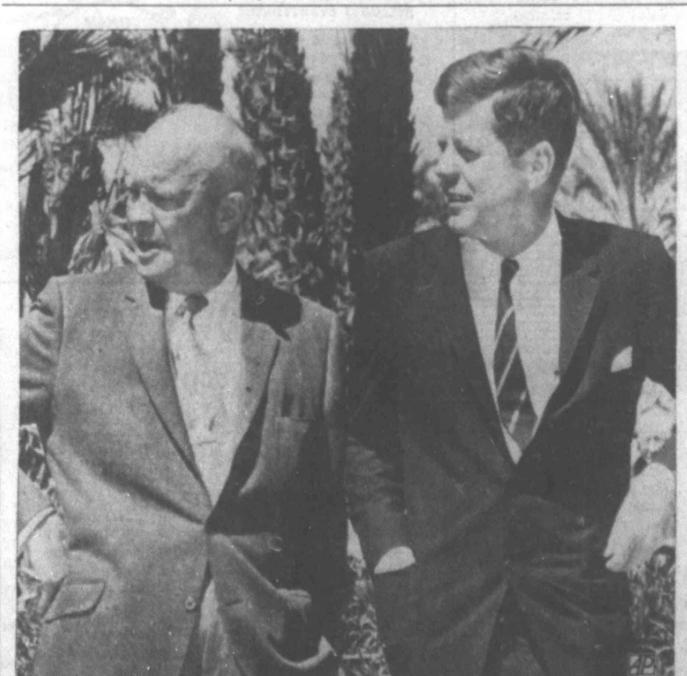

SOUGHT ORDER
The suit was filed by Giles Miller, owner of the weekly Park Cities News and radio stations in Austin and Amarillo.

The suit sought a high court order requiring six state officials to "undertake and complete the proportionate redistricting of the senatorial, legislative and congressional districts of the State of Texas to provide for governmental representative apportionment among the several counties according to the population of each, as nearly as may be."

The petition contended Miller was "not receiving the proportionate representation to which he, as a voter and as a citizen is entitled."

Here Are The Candidates In Texas' Governor Race

By GARTH JONES
AUSTIN (AP)—Six weeks before the ballots drop, Texas voters find the candidates in the biennial election whipping themselves into a name-calling frenzy.

The prestige of the Kennedy administration will be pegged to the outcome in many Texas minds, although no national figure yet has thrown his weight publicly to any candidate.

Texas faces the first of its three scheduled elections May 5 when Democrats and Republicans hold their first primaries.

Runoffs follow June 2, with the general election Nov. 6.

The name-calling centers in the Democratic race for governor and is pinpointed against two men.

These are Gov. Price Daniel and John Connally, who resigned as secretary of the Navy to run.

Daniel is a target, for one reason, because of the fourth-term issue. His opponents declare two terms are enough.

The governor counters with the claim that he needs eight years to complete his program—and that most states provide a four-year term for their chief administrators.

The Kennedy administration is attacked by attacks on Connally. He is a personal friend of Vice President Lyndon Johnson and obviously is liked by President Kennedy who appointed him secretary.

Connally's critics say he is the administration's candidate—particularly Johnson's—and the administration should keep its nose out of Texas politics.

"Hogwash," says Connally. He asserts the decision to run for governor was his alone.

The other four Democratic candidates also carry obvious political punch although how much cannot be determined until the election.

You can take your choice of polls. One commercial poll made for several newspapers puts Connally and Daniel as the two front runners with Daniel a shade ahead.

A private poll by a third candidate puts him well ahead in West Texas.

Another private poll by a fourth candidate indicates so many voters are undecided that he could slip home winner although he otherwise is not highly regarded as a leader.

The four other candidates, all very active and with proven or probable vote-attracting ability, are:

JACK COX

Jack Cox, I've known him a long time. I don't wish him any ill will," says Whittenburg.

The publisher said the Republican party in Texas now "is ready for some competition." Whittenburg has campaigned at a steady pace. He received 23 per cent of the general election votes for senator in 1958 against Ralph Yarborough.

Jack Cox, a businessman, is a former conservative Democrat who switched to the Republican party last year. He ran as a Democrat against Daniel in the 1960 primary and lost 908,992 to 619,834.

Cox formerly was secretary of the Freedom in Action organization of militant conservatives. He has held much publicized rallies at which former Democrats announced a switch of allegiance to the GOP.

Cox, like Whittenburg, has carried on an active but moderate campaign. Both men appear to be nursing their ammunition for the general election.

Don Yarborough, no kin to Sen. Ralph Yarborough, is backed by many elements generally considered liberal.

Past elections show that the liberal block cannot alone elect, although it can have a strong influence on the eventual result.

Yarborough, 36, contends the state administration is stagnant and needs an injection of youth and vigor.

The Republican contest in the primary—the first since 1934—is producing no fireworks.

Roy Whittenburg, publisher of the Borger News-Herald and member of a Panhandle publishing family, even praises his opponent as a good candidate. "I like is a matter only for speculation and historical background.

The state slipped into the Republican column nationally twice for Dwight Eisenhower but reverted to its normal Democratic preponderance to vote for President Kennedy.

It elected Republican John Tower as senator in 1961 in an upset politicians still can't satisfactorily explain.

The conservative stronghold of Dallas repeatedly has elected Republican Bruce Alger to the House.

Otherwise the Democrats have continued their domination in recent years.

This will be the first Republican primary since 1958. By Texas law candidates are elected at conventions unless a party's candidate for governor polls 200,000 votes, in which case a party primary is required at the next election period.

Texas Spring Calms Down

By The Associated Press
Spring stopped throwing haymakers and calm weather returned Monday for all of Texas.

It was clear everywhere in the state and expected to stay that way at least another day.

Early morning temperatures were on the chilly side, ranging from the middle 30s in West Texas to the middle 50s on the Mexican border and along the coast.

Cooler air lingered in the wake of snow, sleet, hail, rain, dust, damaging winds and several tornadoes punishing the state in a boisterous dash from west to east Saturday.

At Mineola in East Texas, one twister ripped through seven blocks to cause losses estimated at $500,000 to $1 million. Another struck a $100,000 blow at a clay products plant between Mineola and Tyler, and a third wrecked four houses and two barns at Peerless, 12 miles northwest of Sulphur Springs.

Forecasts called for continued fair weather and mild temperatures in all sections of Texas through Tuesday.

Temperatures before dawn Monday dipped to 34 degrees at Lubbock, 35 at Junction and 39 at Amarillo. Thermometers registered 56 in Galveston and Laredo at the same hour.

UNITY

By A Christian Writer

Paul defined the church as the body of Christ, in Ephesians 1:22, 23 — "... And gave Him to be head over all things to the church, which is His body..."

Then in chapter 4, verse 4, he said, "There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling."

Also in I Corinthians 12:20 he said, "But now are they many members, yet but one body."

To summarize: (1) The church is the body; (2) there is one body; (3) but one body. Therefore the Lord recognizes only one church.

State Traffic Death Record Shows Increase During 1961

Texas Department of Public Safety has officially closed its traffic death record for 1961 and reports there were 69 more persons killed in 1961 than in 1960.

These accidents, as listed by the DPS, are classified as "rural" and do not include the car deaths which occur on city streets and inside the limits of corporate towns.

Howard County, for example, scored 11 of the state's highway deaths in 1961 and also had to add four other fatalities to the list. These were accidents which took lives and occurred inside the city limits.

Total death toll as recorded by the DPS for this past year was 2,314. In 1960, the total deaths were 2,254.

There was only one mild ray of improvement in the report compiled by the DPS on traffic accidents. Although the number of deaths increased, the number of deaths per 100,000,000 miles travelled dropped from 4.9 to 4.8—which is the lowest record ever scored in Texas.

Texans travelled 47.9 million miles on the roads and highways of the state in 1961 which is 3.42 per cent greater than the mileage in 1960.

Howard County had a bad place in the records with its 11 rural deaths and four urban fatalities. Nine traffic deaths occurred in the county and city in 1960 and 12 in 1961.

It was pointed out by the DPS in its report that one person in Texas was killed on the roads every 3 hours and 47 minutes. There was a traffic accident where in the state every 97 seconds.

The DPS said that in addition to the 2,314 deaths charged to the state's road system in 1961, there were 122,570 persons injured. The highway patrol reported there were 224,149 accidents.

Col. Homer Garrison, head of the DPS, remarked: "It is a sobering thought to realize that the number of persons killed on Texas streets and highways was greater than the population of most Texas towns, and that the number of injuries was more than the population of Lubbock. The economic loss to Texas from these accidents was more than $356,000,000."

Other observations made from the analysis include: The 141 motorcycles in February was the lowest number of any month since February 1950, when 140 were killed.

The most deadly day in Texas traffic last year was Dec. 22, when 23 persons were killed in 15 fatal accidents.

There were only four days last year when no fatal accidents occurred in Texas.

Fourteen counties — Borden, Brewster, Delta, Hansford, Hardeman, Kent, Lipscomb, Loving, Mason, Ratons, Roberts, Somervell, Sutton, and Upton—had no fatal accidents or deaths during 1961.

The largest increase in the number of deaths in 1961 over the previous three year average was 20.7 in Lubbock County.

The largest decrease in the number of deaths in 1961 from the previous three year average was 14.3 in Cameron County.

131 counties had fewer deaths in 1961 than the previous three year average.

Dawson County scored 8 traffic deaths in 1961; Glasscock County 1 and Martin County 3, the DPS reported.

Police Receive Theft Reports

Mixed in with calls about the savage winds, Big Spring police investigated several reports of thefts, vandalism, and one stolen auto Friday night and Saturday.

Lt. Richard Jaffe, Webb AFB, called officers from the Bowl-A-Rama late Friday, and reported the theft of three hub caps from his car while parked there. He said they were valued at $20 each. He also said that boys left in a big hurry when he appeared.

Juanita McDonald, Midland, reported an electric guitar stolen from her car at Mitchell's Park Shok.

Roy Dunbar, 803 Wyoming, said he had two hub caps taken from his car at Fifth and Aylford Friday night.

Perry Thompson, 1107 E. 4th, reported theft of a rifle from his home in the past three or four months.

Emmie Woodard reported a car abandoned in the 300 block of North Bell. Big Spring police said it was stolen in Dallas Friday.

Vandalism reports included damage to a gas cap at the Reed Oil Station, 1628 E. 3rd; glass broken out and the inside of a panel truck damaged at 2007 Nolan, reported by Perry Daily.

Church Plans Special Service

LAMESA (SC) — The First Christian Church will rededicate its present sanctuary at morning worship services on Sunday, April 1.

Dr. M. Jack Suggs, professor of New Testament of Brite College, TCU, will be the morning speaker.

Rev. Rush Barnett, former pastor of the local church now of Colorado City, will formally dedicate a new educational unit at special services in the afternoon. His address will be "The Equipment of Faith."

Brownwood Site For Balloon Test

BROWNWOOD (AP)—A big 1 1/4 million cubic foot balloon is to be set free from Brownwood late today to measure cosmic radiation at high altitudes.

The big bag was to have been launched Sunday but gusty winds caused postponement until about 5 p.m. today. A similar balloon is to be released at the same time in India in a dual test.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration scientists said the launchings would give them a good check on cosmic radiation at different points on the earth.

The Brownwood balloon is expected to land between Fort Worth and Texarkana.

Fly there it's faster by far!

White's Featuring Sofa With Secret

Did you ever have a Sofa-With-A-Secret? White's furniture department does, for that is exactly what the new Kroehler Sleep-or-Lounge is.

Judges Pick Model Winners

Judges had a difficult time selecting winners Sunday from among 127 entries in the Model Car Contest at the Sportsman-Toyland Center, 1608 Gregg.

The contest was in two classifications, Custom and Stock and Rod and Dragster. Each classification was divided by age groups of 13 years and below and 14 years and above.

Winners, in the order of their placing, for the 14 and up in Custom and Stock are Morris Howland 24, John O. McDaniel 21 and Steve Bell 18. In the 13 and below are Randy Nicholson 13, Joe West 10 and Mike Alexander 10.

Rod and Dragster winners are Ronnie Richardson 21, Dickie Jones 14 and Cecil Hart 23. In the younger group are Jerry Greenberg 11, Don Kasch 12 and Don Johnston 12.

Each Sleep-or-Lounge can be transformed into a "restful bed with no more effort than it takes to draw the draperies. There are dozens of designs available including modern and contemporary, Early American and traditional styles to compliment the taste of every homemaker.

Operating dependability is assured in the folding bed fixture, designed to Kroehler's exacting specifications. Each bed will glide open swiftly, smoothly and silently whether it is used nightly or just for the occasional guest.

Troy Ray, furniture department manager, explained that since Sleep-or-Lounges are fine living room sofas, they are designed in the three sofa lengths most preferred by homemakers. For the room where space is at a premium, there is a fixture measuring 60 inches between the arms, yet containing a full-sized double bed. In a room with space to accommodate the lounge styling found in many fine living room sofas, you can use the Sleep-or-Lounge measuring 72 inches between arms. For the narrow room, there is another practical size fixture.

The Kroehler Sleep-or-Lounge is warranted against defects of workmanship and materials for a full year from date of purchase. Troy Ray invites you to stop in at White's, 202-204 Scurry, and learn more about this sofa with a secret.

White Explains Piano's Roles

"The piano plays many different roles to enrich our lives," said Dale White, owner of the music company bearing his name. "We should take time to examine these roles and see how they benefit us."

The role of piano in education: The piano is the foundation of the music program in today's schools, he explained. Of all musical instruments, only the piano can be justly termed the complete musical instrument. The piano provides rhythmic, melodic and harmonic elements of music, the entire range of the band or orchestra.

Kitching Electric Offers Good Service

Gene Haston spent 20 years learning the electrical trade and putting that knowledge to use pleasing his customers. Therefore, when he bought his own business, the Kitching Electric Co., 902 Gregg, local and rural area residents knew he was a man they could depend on for good service, technical advice and reasonable charges.

Consequently, Kitching Electric is one of the most popular shops in town with people needing electrical wiring installed by a master electrician. Contractors can expect better-than-acceptable work and constant cooperation from Haston. Whether it is for one home or 100 houses, Haston plans thoroughly so that all costs are justified and readily seen. Each home may present a different lighting problem and wiring plan; Haston can work them all with confidence.

Parking facilities are excellent at the shop location on Gregg since it is a few blocks from the crowded section. You don't have to dress up when you need to go inside to pick out light fixtures. There you will find on display a great number of electrical devices that can improve your home's lighting and smooth operation. Mrs. Haston will be in the office to assist you or take your order over the phone.

They invite their friends and new customers alike to call them at AM 4-5103. If you need electrical wiring, lighting accessories or need to ask about the installation of appliances, they can help you with your planning, giving estimated costs, time of completion on a job.

DEAR ABBY

Thar's Gold; She's Digging

DEAR ABBY: I am a man of 55, and I've been keeping company with a widow for two years. She is 47, good-looking and lots of fun. She upped and left town last December and didn't come back until February. She said she went to Detroit to visit her sister. I found out she really went to Miami and married a 77-year-old man. She finally admitted it, but said she only married him for his money, which she wouldn't have to wait very long for because he was in poor health. She said she had no intentions of living with him. She wants to continue our relationship and run down to Florida now and then to look in on her husband. And, as soon as he dies, she'll marry me. I am so shocked, I don't know what to do. This woman is a big disappointment, but she sure has a hold on me.

But if I were you, I'd head for the hills.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of an Army officer who has the gall to ask his wife to shine his brass every morning?

MAJOR'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: I think he ought to be decorated for "courage."

DEAR ABBY: I recently had a baby. We sent no announcements, but I received a $5 bill in the mail from a dear little old lady who had been a friend of my mother's for so many years. With it was a note congratulating me and asking me to buy the baby a gift from her. She is a widow in poor health and needs the money so badly herself. It tugged at my heart to receive a $5 bill from someone like her. Should I send it back with a note explaining how I feel? I wouldn't hurt her feelings for the world.

DEBATING

DEAR DEBATING: Don't return the $5. Thank her warmly, and remember her with a gift at Easter or on Mother's Day, or for no special occasion at all.

SUCKER

DEAR SUCKER: Can't you see she is a gold digger, or must she hit you on the head with the shovel? If you want to stick around and hold her hand until her husband dies, that's your business.

Committal Rate Here Growing

By SAM BLACKBURN
Records of the Texas State Penitentiary at Huntsville show that Howard County committed 673 persons to that institution in the period 1920 through 1959 and that the county rates 28th in the state in the number of persons committed during the 40 years.

mittals to the state prison from this county probably did not exceed five or 10 a year. Of the vast majority of the 673 persons who have been sent to prison from this county, nearly all were dispatched in the past 20 years — the majority in the last 10 years.

The county's rating in the state, based on the number of persons committed to the state penitentiaries, is considerably higher than its population position. Howard County occupies 33rd place 1,000 population.

In his survey, Dr. Koeninger found that one third or 35,989 of all those committed to the prison in the period under study came from five counties. Harris County, he said leads with 12,943; Dallas, 9,359; Bexar 5,322; Tarrant 4,328 and El Paso 4,046.

Percentage-wise, Howard County is 13th in the number of committals per 1,000 population. The ratio in this county is 24.3 per 1,000 population.

He adds: "These figures do not indicate the population of these five counties are more criminal than other areas."

ANNUAL COMMITMENT
Howard County now commits an average of 40 to 50 individuals to the state prison system each year, according to the records of Sheriff Miller Harris and District Court Clerk Wade Choate. The county has taken 12 felons to the prison in the first 2½ months of 1962.

PER 1000
He bases his statement on a ratio of committals for each 1,000 persons over the 40 years period. He points out that El Paso County has committed a total of 21 persons per 1,000 of its population over the 40 years and that in Harris County, the ratio is 17 persons per 1,000 population.

In 1961, the sheriff's office removed 47 convicted men and women from the Howard County jail to Huntsville. In 1960, for some unexplained reason, the number taken to the prison was only 29. In 1959 — which was the final year included in the sociologists study — there were 49 prisoners taken to the penitentiary from Howard County.

Howard County's rating, on this basis, is 24.3 committals per 1,000 — more than either Harris or El Paso. And Dr. Koeninger's study shows that 12 other counties exceed the Howard County ratio.

It is probable that 75 or 80 per cent of the number of persons committed to the state prison from this county were placed there in the latter half of the period studied. Twenty years ago, Howard County and Big Spring were vastly different communities from what they are today.

The five counties, where the highest commitment ratio exist, are in West and Northwest Texas, he asserts. Top county is Dallas with 46 committals per 1,000 population; Culbertson, with 42 is second.

GROWTH
The census reports show there were 6,962 people in Howard County in 1920 and the town had a population of only 4,273. By 1930, the town had grown to 13,735 and the county to 22,888. The next census in 1940 recorded a loss for both town and county — 12,604 and 20,980. The 1960 census credited the county with 40,139.

Other counties in the Big Spring area and their prison statistics as compiled in the survey:

Real growth of the town was in the decades from 1940 and, as the population increased, the ratio of crime increased. More convictions ensued and more persons were sent to the penitentiary. The average yearly committal spread over the four decades is nearly 17. For the past several years, as shown, the average number of prisoners taken to the state penitentiary annually from this county has been close to 50. It is evident that in the years prior to 1940, the number of com-

As the population moves west, commitment ratios from the west tend to increase.

Some Areas Still Too Chilly, Dry

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Some areas of Texas still are too chilly and dry for farming. Moisture in many areas is short, says director John Hutchison of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Cold soils are delaying planting and holding back crops and range plants. Livestock still are fed in many areas and water supplies are becoming a problem in many areas. General but light rains in South Texas were of great value to pastures but soil moisture remains inadequate. Livestock conditions are fair. Most ranchmen are feeding their animals. Cotton planting in the Rio Grande Valley is near completion. Some rain fell in South Central Texas and will put corn and grain sorghum planting in full swing. Cotton planting is awaiting warmer weather. Moisture is still needed in spots in the southern counties of the district. Moisture is generally adequate in the upper Gulf Coast area. He said others will still be around and feeding on oats and rye. Early corn is up to a stand and more is being planted. Field work has been delayed by recent rains but pastures are greening up and beginning to grow. The big planting push of major crops is still ahead. Moisture was adequate in East Texas and a few watermelons are being planted. The last freeze further damaged crops, pastures were average, or below, and livestock were in fair condition. Moisture is adequate in the east and short in the west counties of Central Texas. Oats made some progress and are furnishing some grazing. Corn and sorghum planting have been slow due to the cold but land is ready for planting. Pastures are greening up but need a rain; livestock conditions are normal and feeding is slackening.

Snow over most of Central West Texas added only a small amount of top soil moisture and a general rain is needed. The full extent of damage to fruit from the last freeze was still undetermined. Livestock are in fair to good condition but heavy feeding is continuing. Lambing is near completion.

Dry, windy and cold weather plagued farmers and ranchmen in far West Texas. Heavy feeding of all livestock is continuing but the general condition of livestock is good. Pre-plant irrigation and plowing are under way. Oats are being planted. Labor is scarce. Moisture is adequate in Northeast Texas and dry weather is needed. Oats are making slow progress due to the cold; some are being grazed but greenbugs are being reported. Feeding is continuing.

Some snow and scattered showers improved only slightly the moisture situation in North Central Texas. Western counties of the district need more moisture. Greenbugs are appearing in small grain fields and top dressing is continuing. Some corn is being planted. Livestock are in fair condition. Ranges need moisture. Moisture is badly needed throughout the Rolling Plains (Vernon) for small grains, ranges and stock water.

TV Cowpokes Find Mobs Of Fans In Japan

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Found: Something to scare television's horse opera heroes. It's Japanese crowds. Clint Eastwood and Eric Fleming, a couple of 6-foot-4 giants, have faced just about every kind of hazard in four years of starring in CBS' "Rawhide." But they hadn't seen anything until they went to Japan recently for a goodwill trip at the behest of their Japanese sponsor (a whisky maker).

"I thought I didn't scare easily," said Clint. "I've appeared at television on the Dick Clark television show where you get crowds that are pretty wild. But nothing like Japan."

"When you've got 12 girls hanging onto you, and not one of them willing to let go, then you've got a problem."

Their arrival at the Tokyo Airport brought 8,000 fans—the Japanese are wild over Westerns, and have been exposed to "Rawhide" for two years.

"There was a bit of delay, because the police wanted our sponsor to put up a bond for extra police protection charges," said Eric.

They managed to hurdle the red tape, though they had to leave their shooting irons in customs. The new, pacifist Japan doesn't approve of anyone, even play-cowboys, toting six-shooters.

The Rawhiders' reception everywhere was clamorous. They received many gifts. They were interviewed and photographed endlessly.

"I was surprised at how intelligent the questions were," said Clint. "There were none of the silly questions we get here, like: 'Do you use real bullets?'" Clint and Eric said they were charmed by the Japanese people and customs and would like to return to enjoy the country without the crowds. That doesn't appear likely, what with their television fame and their height.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, MONDAY, MARCH 26, 1962 SEC. B

Take These Documents With You!

Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor, suggests that the motorist who still lacks 1962 car plates bring the documents shown above when he comes to the tax office or goes to one of the five sub-stations. "These are the papers required to register your vehicle," she explains. "The title and registration for 1961 (upper and middle documents) except in cases where 30 days have not passed since the purchase of a new or used vehicle. In that case, the application for title (the lower document) as well as the 1961 transfer registration (not shown) and the 1961 registration receipt are needed. The transfer registration is the same size as the registration receipt but printed on yellow paper." The tax collector said that bringing these required papers will expedite the issuance of the new plates.

About Half Of County's Cars Have New Licenses

Less than half of the motor vehicles in Howard County are now provided with their 1962 plates. This means that in the next five days, the office of the Howard County tax collector will have to handle some 10,000 to 11,000 applications for tags.

Through March 17, the office had issued 8,979 receipts — i.e., distributed that many sets of tags. The estimate is there are nearly 22,000 assorted vehicles in the county which must have current plates by March 31.

However, Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, the assessor-collector pointed out one cheerful feature — last year this same date, the office had issued only 8,792 receipts. This indicates that at least 200 additional patrons had been served as of March 17 than on the same comparable day last year. But there is one catch — it is generally agreed there are more motor vehicles in the county this year than there were last year.

SUB-STATIONS

Mrs. LeFevre points out that passenger car owners can come to the office in the northeast corner of the court house or go to any of the five sub-stations which are in operation if all they need is to re-register their cars. The sub-stations are in the two Newsom Food stores and in each of the three Lewis Variety stores.

Other vehicles, and those which are being registered for the first time, will be handled in the auto tax office. This office is in the northwest corner of the court house. Mrs. LeFevre urged all motorists who must get their plates this week to make certain they have all necessary papers with them when they come to the tax office or go to the sub-stations.

"If the proper documents are missing," she said, "it means a trip back home to get them and further delay before the tags can be issued."

Mrs. LeFevre said her offices

Defoliation Test Flops

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. experiment in using chemicals to strip the leaves from jungle trees in South Viet Nam providing cover for Communist guerrillas has flopped so far.

The defoliation experiment has not been abandoned yet. Another try is expected when the rainy season starts, about early May. But officials are not hopeful. Comments from informed authorities range from outright dismissal of the experiment as a farce to a concession that it had turned out "not so good so far."

Heavy jungles covering much of South Viet Nam have screened Communist guerrillas from aerial observation and permitted them to move about freely.

Sponsors of the defoliation experiment, the Defense Department's Advanced Research Project Agency, had hoped it would provide a way to deny cover to the guerrillas by killing the jungle foliage over wide areas.

Medical School Dean Is Named

AUSTIN (AP) — University of Texas officials have reported that Dr. Robert C. Berson has accepted the deanship of the South Texas Medical School at San Antonio. Berson is medical vice president of the University of Alabama and dean of that institution's medical college.

Chancellor Harry Ransom said the appointment is effective Sept. 1. The South Texas Medical school has been authorized by the legislature as the third medical school of the University of Texas system.

Stops Attacks in Minutes... Relief Lasts for Hours!

New York, N. Y. (Special)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription. Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms. This formula is so effective that it is the physician's leading asthma prescription—so safe when used as directed that now it can be sold without prescription in most states.

will be open Monday through Saturday of this week from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. She said that the last opportunity to get a tag inside the deadline will be 5 p.m. Saturday.

The State Tax Commission has already warned that even though the law says the motorist has until April 1 to buy his current tags and that April 1 this year falls on a Sunday, no time extension will be granted.

A car operating with 1961 plates after midnight April 1 is in violation of the law and the operator can be penalized. If the owner does not get his plates before the deadline, he must leave his vehicle parked and inactive until he has bought and attached the plates or pay a penalty.

The sub-stations will operate throughout the week and be open later, Mrs. LeFevre points out, than the tax office.

Dollarwise, the tax office was some $12,000 ahead of collections on March 17 as compared with the same date in 1961.

The office had collected $130,316.71 for the county and $77,215.83 for the state through March 17.

A Devotional For Today

Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. (Matthew 11:28.)
PRAYER: Our Father, we pray that our fears may be dissolved by a decision to yield to the love that expressed itself through Jesus' sacrifice of Himself on the cross. Help us to submit our wills to Thine, in the Redeemer's name. Amen.

Same Problem By Another Name

The "disadvantaged" — another term for underprivileged — in education are the children and young people who for various reasons are denied practical opportunity to gain all the education which they are capable of absorbing usefully. This is one of the three basic and urgent problems facing American public education, and perhaps the most acute and difficult to solve of the three.

The two other fundamental problems are to raise the quality of public education and to expand educational facilities enough to meet rising enrollment, at all levels. Allocating more money — local, state and federal — to the educational systems can go a long way in solving these two problems, though they do pose nonfinancial complexities. But more money is probably the lesser aspect of solving the problem of full educational opportunity for the currently underprivileged, a problem that is deeply imbedded in economic deficiencies, social maladjustments, prejudice against minority groups, and obsolete public policies.

The problem has been nationally surveyed recently in a report, "Education and the Disadvantaged American," by the Educational Policies Commission sponsored by the National Education Association and the American Association of School Administrators. It is a report which all state and local school administrators could study in attacking the aspects of the problem pertinent to their areas of responsibility.

In Texas, the "disadvantaged" are mainly the children in the Negro and Mexican-American urban slums, those in pockets of rural poverty, and the children of migratory farm workers. While Texas has improved its public education substantially and on a broad front over the past 15 years, only promising beginnings — and hardly that in the case of migratory workers' children — have been made to improve the educational lot of the chronically underprivileged.

In Case Of Doubt

A curious thing happened recently in a large Midwestern city. A man held in jail after an auto accident because he was thought to be drunk turned out to be not drunk but suffering from a head injury. Six hours after his arrest, the jailer decided that he needed medical attention and he was taken to a hospital—where he died in a short time.

far from unique. Such occurrences, though not common, do happen. Every now and then one reads of a man, picked up and jailed to sleep off his drunkenness, who really needed immediate medical care.

It is not feasible to provide medical examination for every man or woman arrested on suspicion of drunkenness. But lacking that, certainly peace officers could be trained to recognize the signs of injury, and instructed to call for medical help in doubtful cases.

David Lawrence Alternatives Open To The West

WASHINGTON—The Soviets still insist on the right to cheat. This is the net result of more than three years of palaver about a ban on nuclear tests.

Seventeen nations have sent representatives to Geneva to negotiate an agreement to abolish nuclear tests. The conference has proved fruitless. Russia is willing to sign an agreement all right, but refuses to sign any system of international inspection to be set up so as to make sure each party to the treaty is keeping its word.

Instead, Russia proposes its own "national inspection," which means that each nation would be free to cheat. The idea that some neutral agency should be established to see that the agreement is adhered to has been suggested, but Russia balks at it.

SOVIET PREMIER Khrushchev is willing to enter into discussions of cooperation in outer space because he knows this is a vague subject that is certain to bring almost interminable debate. Even here, he makes a condition for the United States of the acceptance by the United States of his type of disarmament treaty—which, of course, includes the right to cheat.

Where does this leave the whole problem of disarmament? It means that there will be nothing of substance accomplished, despite all the official gobbledygook about "reduction" or "limitation" of armaments.

The Soviets take the position that, if any system of international inspection is provided, this amounts to espionage or "spying." Yet the Moscow regime maintains throughout all contracts the most comprehensive spy system the world has ever known.

MOSCOW CONTINUES to propose all sorts of international meetings and "summit" conferences, and gives the impression, through her propaganda, that only peace is sought. The other countries do not do a good job of rebutting this falsehood. The information agencies of most of the western governments are muzzled as their broadcasts are softened by their foreign offices. So the Soviet Union constantly gets away with her doubletalk.

It is possible that Nikita Khrushchev has come to the conclusion that the West is really a weak and wavering alliance and that President Kennedy is so obsessed with a fear of war that he has become too frightened to use any leverage to restrain the Communists in the Cold War. In Vietnam, some American military advisers are being used in combat operations, but the United States has not taken any comparable measures in Latin America or elsewhere.

THERE ARE, of course, alternative courses available to the United States government. It can threaten to sever diplomatic relations unless harassment by the Soviets in the Berlin area is stopped. It can cut off commercial intercourse with the Soviet bloc if Communist subversive activities continue in Cuba and Latin America generally and in this country.

The flow of Russian rubles to Communist stooges and agents all over the world can be materially cut down, if not altogether stopped. The United States can force a reduction in the size of the staffs of the Soviet Embassy and consulates in this country if the Soviets insist on a continuance of their harassing tactics. This would, of course, result in decreasing American diplomatic staffs in Communist countries, but it would be a small price to pay for getting rid of Communist agents in this country.

THE BOLDNESS of the Moscow regime in ordering military flights in the air corridors around Berlin has been widely publicized in the press, but the American government has done nothing by way of retaliation except to insist on a continuance of her own flights. The whole episode, however, emphasizes the Soviet government's confidence that the United States is not going to go beyond the writing of diplomatic protests. The Communists seem free to pursue the offensive in the cold war, as the West preoccupies itself with meaningless conferences and public statements about peace and the need for further talks on nuclear-test bans and disarmament.

When the idea of using some form of conventional leverage, such as the severance of diplomatic relations or economic boycott, is mentioned, the customary response in government circles here is that this is a kind of escalation. By this is meant that one action leads to reprisals and a series of moves and countermoves which intensify the gravity of the whole situation.

BUT ESCALATION has a counterpart which might be described by the word deterioration. If the West does nothing, the Communists get bolder and bolder, and the net result is that, as Winston Churchill once said, "You may come to the moment when you will have to fight with all the odds against you and only a precarious chance of survival."

Sooner or later, the West will have to take a united stand and cut off economic intercourse with the Communist bloc as a first step toward staving off a nuclear war. This policy, when fully explained in advance by radio to the peoples behind the Iron Curtain, would do more to bring the Moscow government to its senses than anything that could be done by international conferences and summit meetings. Study Of Pacific Man

HONOLULU — An international effort to unfold secrets of the Pacific man's origin and culture is scheduled to begin in April, headed by Honolulu's Bishop Museum.

Three New Zealand institutions will join in the venture, the Canterbury Museum in Christchurch, the Otago Museum in Dunedin and the University of Auckland.

Bear Ran In Cave

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. — Traditionally Mammoth Cave was discovered early in the 19th Century by a hunter who chased a wounded bear into it.

Information about the cave was spread by workers who mined nitrates for use in gunpowder for the War of 1812.

It is now part of a National Park covering about 70,000 acres between Bowling Green and Elizabethtown in southwestern Kentucky.

Test Ban Talks Make More Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—There is a certain social benefit in nuclear testing. It enables people to get together afterward with fresh conversation about not testing.

These talks, technical as they may be, are never dull, even though they last for years, for everyone knows they will be interrupted by more testing which then provides more talk about not testing.

This is what just happened at Geneva where the United States, Britain, Russia and 14 other nations got together March 14 to discuss a ban on nuclear tests.

PROBABLY VERY few people, except those who have no appreciation for conversation for its own sake, thought this Geneva discussion would wind up differently from any of those which preceded it.

This one didn't. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the other 16 foreign ministers are about ready to head for home 12 days after the opening of the Geneva session.

The United States is expected to resume tests next month, as President Kennedy said it would unless Geneva produced results.

The Russians, judging by the way they behaved at Geneva, will probably resume tests, too. In fact, Rusk suggested that what they must have in mind in refusing to do business at all.

THEY HAD previously agreed to the principle of international inspection, to prevent cheating if there ever was an agreement, but they switched at Geneva and wanted no part of it.

If the two big powers now resume tests, it should provide excitement, even in the remote regions, and make a post-testing summit meeting in May between Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev seem more appropriate than it might otherwise be.

There have been enough meetings now of all kinds to persuade the non-gamblers not to risk a bet on the outcome of a summit, either, since the long-established odds are against them.

But Khrushchev, an entertaining conversationalist, has his heart set on a summit.

Nevertheless, this has been a challenging century for those who find it a great consolation to believe that man, through his many discussions about it, has shown an increasing consciousness of the need to disarm and eliminate war.

IF THE DISCUSSIONS did not result in war's elimination, this can be attributed to such hidden and chilly factors as true motives and intentions, which unfortunately do not usually appear in conversation.

The Hague peace conferences of 1899 and 1907 were followed by World War I. The League of Nations' world disarmament conference of 1932 and the talks of naval disarmament after World War I were followed by World War II.

But the multitude of discussions since then on disarmament of all kinds has dwarfed the combined conversations of all our ancestors on this subject.

The war has been no World War III yet. It is even possible—if not in 1962 then sometime—the nations will actually talk themselves out of a new conflict.

But it does get a little creepy, waiting.

Individuals Vary In Reaction To Drugs

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 56 and take a tranquilizer before meals. Lately I have been getting weak and drowsy after meals and early in the evening.

What do you think is the cause of this? — A.D.

The dose of tranquilizer may be too great for you. Its reduction may be all that is necessary.

However, since there are varied reasons for taking tranquilizers, you should tell your doctor about this, and let him supervise the change in dose — or, for that matter, it is conceivable that he may want to substitute some other tranquilizer.

If the purpose of the drug, in your case, is simply to calm your emotions and nerves, then it would appear to be simply a case of your being made "too tranquil."

At the same time, the tranquilizers — and this was the original use to which they were put — may be more specifically aimed at controlling blood pressure. It could be that your doctor is more concerned over that than he is over your drowsiness. So that's why I want you to talk to him.

This sort of reaction is worth keeping in mind, in view of the widespread use of tranquilizers these days.

It should equally be kept in mind that individuals vary considerably in their reaction to the tranquilizers or, for that matter, any of the potent modern drugs.

It is possible for the manufacturers to indicate an average dose, but there is no way in the world for them to arrive at a dose that will suit everybody.

If we started making all shoes of a single average size, think how many of us would have sore feet!

Thus dosage must be individualized, adjusted up or down to suit the person who doesn't happen to react exactly in the average way.

The same principle applies to "side effects" from drugs. It is possible, after considerable observation, to report the various side effects that CAN occur; however, this is quite a different matter from saying that they WILL occur, or predicting in advance whether any side effects will appear within any given time.

As I have said before, this is one basic reason for insisting that drugs be dispensed only on prescription. No two people are exactly alike — not even twins, although they tend to react similarly.

The only accurate way to use drugs is to watch how they act with each patient.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can a ruptured testicle cause a man to become sterile? If not, what would be a woman's most fertile days with a cycle of 25 to 28 days? —MRS. M. B.

It could cause sterility if both testicles were injured. If in doubt, medical tests would give the answer. Fertility is nearly always in mid-cycle, about the 12th or 16th day in a 28-day cycle. This can vary, earlier or later, so for any individual case, morning temperature readings daily (watching for a slight rise in temperature) will give a better clue to the correct time.

NOTE TO T.S.: "Hepatic damage" is damage to the liver. Cirrhosis, or a scarring of the liver tissues, is one frequent type. Infectious hepatitis, an increasing threat, is another.

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? For answers, read Dr. Molner's helpful booklet, "How to Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

So Animals Have No Troubles?

One thing and another: Who was it that said if animals could speak, they would get along together just as badly as people do?

Someone once told me that insomnia is a communicable disease, that parents can get it from babies.

A BODY can be bullied just so much, then it begins to hit back.

Take the case of a cow in Palma, Majorca, not long ago which had been pushed around by a barking dog.

Friend Bossie got tired of the whole thing and made a run at the mutt. The dog ran into its owner's house. The rankled bovine decided to have it out with the canine for once and for all, and lumbered through the door, too.

The dog sought refuge under a bed. The floor of the house, built over a wine cellar, couldn't stand the weight of the cow and gave way. The cow broke a few bottles of rare wine but whether she sampled their contents in celebration wasn't reported.

THE PRICE of haircuts in Chicago is

The barbering industry is maintaining that prices haven't kept pace with the times. Quite likely, the increase will come.

To which the co-ed replied: "But, darling, this is so sudden." —TOMMY HART

Inez Robb

Ah Ha! The Truth Is Out!

A prophet and a wife are not without honor, save in his or her own country and in his or her own house.

If misery loves company, the American wife — who is always getting her lumps from homegrown critics — has plenty of it, and from the last quarter in the world from which she expected it.

The Japanese wife, whose virtues have been continuously celebrated since World War II in U. S. fiction and U. S. stage, screen, radio and teevee (and always to the detriment of her American counterpart), isn't appreciated by her husband, either.

THIS SAD FACT surely comes under the heading of "STOP PRESS" news for American women. Ever since the first wave of U. S. occupying troops hit Japan, the Japanese wife has been described as a pearl beyond price compared with whom the American woman can't hold a bowl of rice.

With novelist James Michener leading the huzzamas in praise of the Japanese femme fatale and American servicemen confirming it in marriage, many an American wife gave silent thanks that her man fought in the European theatre where she faced no more chancy hazards than those presented by English, French, Italian, Belgian and German girls.

Surely, the idea that this lovely, cherry-blossom paragon fashioned only for man's delight could or would be unappreciated by the mind of the American wife — struggling to figure out what Plum Blossom had that she didn't have except everything.

ALMOST 17 YEARS, it is cold comfort to learn that the Japanese husband is neglectful of, if not actually indifferent to, the goddess who shares his bed and board. But no other conclusion can be drawn from the current campaign of a Japanese industrialist, Takeshi Mitarai. He is trying to get his male employees to go straight home from work, instead of living it up in bars and restaurants until midnight.

The hairy bit after office hours is the way of life of the Japanese male, and Mitarai's campaign isn't making much headway to date, even with spectacular inducements offered by the industrialist. These lures to early homecoming include Mitarai loans for better homes to go to and automobiles in which to reach those homes more quickly.

SPURRED BY THE MITARAI campaign, Japanese sociologists have been investigating the reasons that Japanese husbands linger longer on the way home. The conclusion will come as a shock to the American wife who has been repeatedly told how much superior her Japanese counterpart is in all ways.

But the truth is, according to the sociologists, that the Japanese woman isn't such-a-much as a cook, and her husband isn't just about to rush home to a poor meal. Surprise No. 2 is that the Japanese housewife doesn't always make her home too attractive, despite all that propaganda about flower arrangements.

BUT THE BIGGEST surprise of all, that is to us American women, is that the Japanese husband hasn't got anyone to talk to once he gets home. "The perfect companion" has no small talk, isn't interested in her husband's business and doesn't want a rundown on what happened at the office or around the water cooler when he comes home. So that's why geisha girls were born —

I have been so indoctrinated with the Michener propaganda that I might have been inclined to dismiss the Mitarai experiment except for the fact that recently I have read two prize-winning, postwar Japanese novels which bear out the fact that her husband doesn't seem to understand and appreciate the Japanese woman any more than the old Adam in any other clime or country appreciates his treasure.

As far as I can figure out, our Japanese sisters have just joined the Club. (Copyright, 1962, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Cold War Is Also On Brains Front

WASHINGTON, D. C.—It says in print: "Wasn't it Edison who once said, 'Genius consists of one per cent inspiration and 99 per cent perspiration'?"

In print—but where? Well, the fine old American aphorism appeared in the Soviet publication Izvestia, on Jan. 3, 1962. Here is a bothersome indication of much deeper matters. The word is getting around that if the U.S.S.R. ever does "bury" the U.S.A., it will be by Communist versions of old-fashioned Americanism.

The Izvestia article by Igor Tamm, ranking member of the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences, is entitled "In Search of Talent." Beginning with the idea of Edison (and for that matter Theodore Roosevelt, Ralph Waldo Emerson and Miles Standish) the article tells of the many reasons why the Russians have succeeded and are improving. Maybe we can learn something from the following examples of Russians doing it the American way:

ACCENT ON YOUTH: Einstein was 26 when he formulated the theory of relativity. Galois died in a duel at 21 after having evolved the mathematical theory that bears his name. Creative talent matures very soon. Government policy should create a congenial climate for such genius—first, by facilitating its discovery and second, by opening careers of intense work with little outside drudgery.

Class will tell: Moscow holds "Olympics" for high school mathematics, physics and chemistry students. The winners take all.

SHEEP FROM the goats: Creative genius and highly-efficient management are both admirable, but quite different. In both the U.S.A. and U.S.S.R., the big money and top status are in management, and this poses a puzzle. If gifted young creators are given administrative posts, their research suffers. If staidy old-timers get the administrative posts, they bring with them ideas that are a decade or more too old. Solution? Flexibility.

Don't get the notion that only Russians worry about such matters. Finding square pegs for square holes, and more of them, is the concern of Sen. Howard Cannon (D-Nev) about whom I recently wrote and who now makes available to me some correspondence from a New York State electronics firm. This company asked the Kennedy administration for leadership, but got mainly the hot air treatment from a White House scientific advisory group headed by Dr. Jerome Wiesner. One letter addressed to Cannon's office says:

"... ALL THE PIPE-smoking committeemen types get together to aggrandize their personal empires, but (they) don't really care about the working engineer who, after all, is the only type of engineer who can help the U.S.A. That is, the Wiesners and the heads of the (scientific) societies get together and suck endlessly on their pipes... repeating what they have been doing for decades."

Knowing little about the engineering science, I recently attempted to tap another intellectual source for Cold War suggestions. I took a dozen names off the Best Seller lists, both fiction and non-fiction, and wrote letters to these writers, who have proved capable to communicate with literate Americans, asking for their opinions on several current crises, promising to give their observations in this column. So far I haven't got as many ideas as I get from a 15-minute interview with a congressman.

WITHOUT DRAWING any hasty conclusions about the concern of some postwar writers with the life-and-death questions of our time, there may be something here which fits into the larger picture.

Comrade Tamm, the Russian academician, is combing the schools for more bright, young students. Sen. Cannon is beating the bushes around the industries and colleges for ways to pour more education into anybody capable of absorbing it. I am tapping the Best Seller lists for creative, articulated ideas.

The Cold War is fought on many fronts, and we can't afford to lose battles on any of them.

He Rushed To Help

NORTH ROSE, N. Y. — M. E. Phillips says people do emotional, unpredictable and sometimes foolish things when there is a fire. A farmhouse blaze here in the middle of the night attracted a neighbor who rushed over to help.

"Is there anything I can do?" he asked a volunteer fireman.

"Yes!" shouted the fireman. "Get a pail of water!"

"Okay!" yelled the man, and darted away.

In a moment he was back, but without the pail.

"Do you want well water or rain water?" he asked the fireman.

SPACE NEWS

ELGIN, ILL. (AP)—Two boys, 9 years old, who told the head of America's space agency they "did something brave" so they could become astronauts, have disclosed their training technique.

"I laid at the bottom of a hill on the other side of a pile of snow," Tom Wicklein told reporters, "and my friend, Matt Fisher, went across me on his sled."

"That took a lot of courage," the two boys said in a letter which found its way to the desk of James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington.

NASA officials said that among the thousands of letters received since the orbital flight of Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. Feb. 20, none has expressed greater determination.

The two Elgin fourth graders wrote Webb: "We will both take any training that is to be done. 'Must we prove we have guts? We just did today."

"Matt and I did something brave. I laid down at the bottom of a hill, and my best friend, Matt, rode over me."

The boys neglected to mention in the letter that Matt rode a sled.

"I think it took more courage to go over me," Tom said.

"It was more difficult for Tom," young Fischer assured a reporter.

"I could feel the blades, that's all," said Tom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter R. Wicklein. "I told my mother about the letter, and she just laughed."

"He's always writing letters, and I didn't pay any attention," Mrs. Wicklein said. "They're mostly to book publishers and people who advertise in magazines."

Matt said his folks, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Fischer, thought the idea was "pretty good."

"I didn't tell them about the sled ride yet," Matt confided to a newsman.

Webb said he had answered the boys' letter and told them that while it takes courage to orbit the earth, it takes book learning, too.

Tom and Matt said they have been just as busy with book reading as they have with sled deriding.

"We went to the library Tuesday and got a bunch of books on rockets and the moon," Tom said. "I finished one of them today."

"We both decided to become astronauts shortly after Glenn went up," Tom said. "Before that I wanted to be a carpenter."

LANGLEY FIELD, Va. (AP)—More than 30,000 fan letters and packages have been sent to John H. Glenn Jr. since he soared into history. They have contained everything from pennies to an offer to name an orchid entry in a spring flower show for him.

This was reported by officials at the headquarters of the Project Mercury astronauts. The mail has piled in here at Cape Canaveral, Fla., and Washington.

At Langley alone, 10 girls have been put to work handling the load.

Writers include a child who enclosed four pennies "to help pay the way for manned space flight."

"Scores of offers have come in to name things for John," said one official. "They range from the orchid to bridges, and from schools to libraries."

Governors of various states want Glenn to pay a visit. He has offers of free cruises on steamships, an all-expenses-paid trip to Hawaii—and gifts ranging from cakes and candy to an electric computer and an adding machine.

All incoming gift packages are checked to determine whether they look like some attempt at commercialism. If they do, they are returned with thanks.

All cash gifts are being turned over to a special fund which eventually will be donated to charity. This includes a check for $100 from a physician who wrote Glenn: "You deserve a party—go out and have a good time."

The names and hometowns of the letter writers are not available right now. Officials at the Washington headquarters of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said they were still sorting Glenn's mail and could not give any breakdowns.

Fort Polk Trial Today

FT. POLK, La. (AP)—A five-man military court granted the defense today a three and one-half hour delay in the court martial of Pfc. Bernis Owen, charged with disrespect and conduct prejudicial to the armed forces.

The court, presided over by Maj. Thomas Fuller, refused a longer delay and denied a defense motion to transfer the trial to another jurisdiction.

Capt. Edgar Nash, one of Owen's lawyers, asked a two-week delay because of "legal implications" he must consider. He said the defense was given insufficient time to prepare the case.

He also said he needed time to consult with Owen.

LONG ENOUGH
Trial counsel Capt. James Spurgeon told the court the charges were read to Owen March 20 and "he can be brought to trial so long as he has three work days preparing his case."

Nash based his request for change of jurisdiction to another command on what he called "nontority" Owen had in his own battalion, which he said "would tend to cast some doubt whether a completely unbiased verdict" could be returned.

Fuller said the request was denied because "We feel we are qualified."

Owen used his usual right to get rid of one of the six officers who originally formed the trial panel, Lt. David Harrington of Owen's own company. The defense argued his previous relations with the accused "might have some effect on his decision in the case."

REMAINING

Charges were brought against Owen for statements he allegedly made after Maj. Gen. Harley B. West, commanding general at Ft. Polk, banned the protest meetings a week ago.

Maj. James Vance, public information officer of the 49th Armored Division, said Owen described West's order as "a hilarious climax to a chain of injustices."

NATURE OF CHARGES
Owen was charged with disrespect, conduct bringing discredit to the armed forces and conduct prejudicial to good order and discipline.

If convicted, he could be given six months at hard labor and forfeiture of two-thirds pay.

Owen served two years of active duty before being assigned to a reserve unit to complete his military obligation.

Four protest meetings were held in front of a service club on the post. They were attended by between 50 and 300 soldiers.

A spokesman for West said the meetings were disorganized and had as their main purpose the organization of a letter-writing campaign to Congress with the themes, "We want out" and "We want to know when we will get out."

West, a National Guardsman recalled to active duty from his civilian life as a Dallas, Tex., insurance executive, said in his order banning the meetings that the first protest meetings were orderly and quiet.

BAD REMARKS
But, he added, "more recently there have been contemptuous words and remarks against the President of the United States and against the Congress and members thereof."

A day later, Gen. George H. Decker, Army chief of staff, made public a letter to top commanders ordering an end to demonstrations.

FT. POLK has 21,000 troops, including about 15,000 Texas National Guardsmen in the 49th Division. The other 6,000—virtually all reservists and Guardsmen—are from 17 other states.

Daniel Reassures Big Thicket Folk Of No Take-Over
AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel today told the mayor of Kountze today that only a small area would be required for state ownership of a proposed state park in the Big Thicket area in southeast Texas.

He wrote Mayor W. G. Birdwell, saying: "I have read your statement opposing a so-called 435,000-acre state park in the Big Thicket and hasten to assure that I do not know of anyone who proposes such a project."

"Only a small area would be requested for state ownership, and tours, roads and game restoration could be arranged on larger areas under contracts with private land owners exactly as it is now being done in other East Texas areas."

The governor said the state government would not try to force the proposed park on the Big Thicket people if they are not satisfied that it would help the county.

Daniel will meet with a committee studying the proposed park Thursday in Beaumont.

Council Plans Sale Of Bonds

LAMESA (SC)—Lamesa City Council has authorized the sale of $1,550,000 in revenue bonds to provide funds for waterworks improvements and the proposed sewage disposal plant.

The council approved the cost of assembling $800,000 in outstanding bonds, which was $33,044, then okayed the sale of the new amount, during a special session with financial advisers.

Approximately $350,000 will go for the new disposal plant which will be built at the present plant site. About $398,061 will be spent on improvements to the waterworks system and the remainder will be used as exchange bonds for those now outstanding.

All bonds will be dated April 15, 1962 and will mature in 1990. By recovering the outstanding bonds at this time, the city realized a net interest saving of $10,000.

4 Skindivers Lost In Gulf

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Four teen-aged skindivers are missing after abandoning their tide-swept rubber raft in the Gulf of Mexico. A fifth youth swam two miles to shore about dark Saturday.

The four missing were Bradford Rice, 14, Warren Felley, 16, Eric Ruyle, 16, and Larry Stuart Bill, 17.

The fifth youth was Brian McCleary, 16, found sleeping on a beach near Fort McRae early Sunday.

McCleary said he and the other four were skindiving in the Gulf when the tide began carrying them to sea. Swells broke over their raft.

He said they tried to moor to a buoy but missed. Then, he said, they abandoned the raft and decided to swim ashore. The raft washed ashore. Faces, masks, shoes and fins were inside.

McCleary said he, Bill and Ruyle swam together. After a while, both he and Ruyle developed cramps and they separated about dark.

The youths were from nearby Fort Walton Beach.

Medic Enters U.S., Vanishes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A New York plastic surgeon whose socialite bride died on their honeymoon in Haiti 12 days ago slipped into Miami Sunday night and disappeared in the sprawling city.

Dr. Manfred von Linde, 38, a native of Birmingham, Ala., was believed en route to New York. His wife, the former Lucille Rogers, 32, of New York and Kansas City, died at Cap Haitien March 14.

They were married by a justice of the peace in Wilton, Conn., March 1.

Von Linde was jailed five days while officials investigated the death. An autopsy revealed no foul play, officials said, but a second autopsy did not confirm the findings of the first that a heart attack was the cause of death.

Von Linde was released from jail without restrictions on his movements.

Borden Show Champion Brings $593.45

Shawna Wills shows her Hereford calf which took Grand Champion ribbon at the Borden County Livestock Show Saturday. The calf weighed 913 pounds and was sold to Snyder National Bank for 65 cents per pound. Reserve champion, shown by Donna Cox, weighed 820 pounds and sold for 76 cents per pound to Snyder Savings and Loan Association.

Bidding Brisk As Gail Stock Entries Sold

Ten fat calves, 20 hogs, and 30 head of lambs were sold at auction Saturday afternoon following the Livestock Show at the show barn at Gail. The Borden County Livestock show drew a large number of entries and bidding on the animals was brisk.

J. W. Holmes, Borden County Agent, said the sale was good all the way through, with buyers from all over the area, including Snyder, Lamesa, O'Donnell, Big Spring, and other cities.

"We want to express our appreciation to the Chamber of Commerce of Big Spring for the fine interest and help in getting buyers out to the show," he said. "We even had some $2-per-pound bids on a few of the animals. The sale went through rapidly and we possibly could have sold more. Show regulations prohibit any entrant selling more than three animals through the auction ring."

The grand champion Hereford calf, shown by Shawna Wills, brought 65 cents per pound. The calf was given to her by the late Tom Good to feed out for the show. The reserve champion, shown by Donna Cox, was sold for 76 cents per pound. Both animals were purchased by Snyder firms.

The Borden County Sheriff's posse donated a showmanship trophy, and W. L. (Bill) Wilson Jr., ranchman, donated a trophy for best all-round showman. Other trophies were given at the time of the auction for showmanship.

Six Accidents Mar Weekend

Big Spring police were called to investigate a rash of automobile accidents Sunday and Monday morning, which ran well above the average number for a single 24-hour period. No injuries were reported in any of the collisions, all of which occurred during clear, dry weather.

The first happened at 11:30 a.m. Sunday in the 600 block of Lamesa Drive. Jose Lara Herrera, 205 NE 8th, and Herman Peria were listed as drivers of the vehicles involved.

Locations of other accidents, and drivers of vehicles involved, were: 2300 block Gregg, Paul S. Limer, 1408 Scurry, and Joseph Lee Light, Settles Hotel; Fourth and Gregg, Robert Dale Hudgins, 423 Dallas, and William D. Lovelace Jr., 2200 Carl; 814 Lorilla, Joe Lee Snow, 820 Lorilla, and parked car owned by Weldon Hale McCullough, Plainview; 808 Lamesa, Edward Burke III, 1208 Marjio, and Preciliano Viera, 901 Rummels; Eighteenth and Gregg, Robert Earl Arnold, Sterling City Rt., and Larry Don Hood, 1708 Scurry; 808 Lamesa.

Business Activity Reflects Gains

LAMESA (SC) — Virtually every phase of Lamesa business activity reflected gains in January, according to the Texas Business Review.

All except building permits, which were down 37 per cent despite a good month, and annual rate of bank deposit turnover, down eight per cent, showed moderate to enormous gains. Permits were up 130 per cent over the December, 1961 figure. The deposit rate turnover was up 27 per cent over December. Retail sales chanced up gains of 62 per cent with the lumber, building material and hardware stores accounting for a 129 per cent hike.

Postal receipts of $11,244 was a gain of 10 per cent.

Champion Cross Bred Lambs

Champion Fine Wool Cross Bred lambs were shown at the Borden County Livestock show by Larry Reeder, right, and reserve champion by Pam Beavers. The animals sold for $1.35 and $1.05 per pound, respectively.

Fine Wool Top Lambs

Big Spring Youngsters Get Salvation Army Award

Big Spring was among three Salvation Army corps to receive the Red Crest Award at the annual "Young People's Council" held in Dallas last weekend. Beaumont and Laredo also received the award.

There were 487 delegates from 37 cities attending the councils held at the Crozier Tech High School Saturday and Sunday.

Thirteen corps received Gold Crest Awards. To receive the award, corps must score 100 to 135 points on efforts of the corps and individual members of the youth brigade.

Waco received a perfect score of 135, highest ever made by a Texas Corps. The Waco delegation was also presented the Pearson Trophy, highest honor available to Texas Corps cadets.

The Red Crest Award was for corps scoring from 80-89 points. The event began Friday evening with a fellowship hour at the Southland Life Building. It resumed Saturday at Crozier Tech. Guest speaker was Capt. Fred Ruth, a missionary from Seoul, Korea. Other speakers were Commissioner William Davidson, territorial commander, and Brigadier William Jaynes, in charge of young people's work in the Southern Territory.

Council On Alcoholism Meets Today

The first general meeting of the Big Spring Council on Alcoholism will be held today at 7:30 p.m. at the Cosden refinery personnel building board room, according to Mrs. A. O. Vanderford, temporary chairman.

Initial steps to form the organization were taken at a meeting Tuesday night at the Settles Hotel. It is to be a volunteer community organization to meet the needs of the alcoholic and his family and to inform the public of the problem of alcoholism.

"There has been a good response so far," Mrs. Vanderford said. "Doctors, ministers, social agencies have indicated interest."

At this meeting, officers and a board of directors will be established. The organization will be activated and will make application for a charter. It is a volunteer group.

"We hope to have a core of 12 or 15 really interested citizens to get the group started on a firm basis," she said.

Objectives of the local council will be to increase public understanding of alcoholism through an information center, to mobilize public opinion for a community approach to the health problem and to help coordinate existing facilities for the rehabilitation of alcoholics.

Bond Sales Are Ahead

This district (No. 5) is running slightly ahead of the pace for United States Savings Bonds sales for the first two months of the year.

Reports to District Chairman Larson Lloyd reflect total sales of $317,989 through February, or 18.4 per cent of the quota for the year. This compares with 17.5 per cent for all of Texas for the two-month period.

During February, Andrews County sold $2,631 in bonds, making $4,617 for the year, or 7.7 per cent of quota. Other records were Dawson, $11,325 and $15,943 for 14.4 per cent; Gaines $30,743 and $36,950 for 30.8 per cent; Howard $102,531 and $151,926 for 20.5 per cent; Martin $1,800 and $4,256 for 10.6 per cent; Mitchell $31,356 and $58,308 for 21.6 per cent; and Scurry $30,768 and $46,086 for 12.5 per cent. This makes a total of $211,356 for the district in February and a total of $317,989 through February.

The state sales for February stood at $11,611,457 and the two months' figure was $24,400,940.

Bush Pilots Set Off 'Red' Alert

WASHINGTON (AP)—A flight of Alaskan bush pilots on a polar bear hunting foray flew too close to Soviet territory last Wednesday and touched off a brief scramble of Russian planes, the Federal Aviation Agency reports.

At least one U. S. military plane was put up to counter the Soviet action, an FAA spokesman said, but the Russian planes had turned back by that time. The activity was over in a few minutes. He said he did not know exactly how close the U. S. bear-hunting fliers came to the Soviet-U. S. border, but it was "too close."

And the pilots, who annually fly hunters out over the arctic pack ice this time of year, have been warned not to come that close again, the FAA said.

The spokesman said the incident took place in the vicinity of Diomedes Island in the Bering Strait.

Leaves County Agent's Office

Mrs. Wade Choate, who has been secretary in the Howard County Farm agent's office for the past four years, has resigned from that post and began work today at her new job — secretary to Robert Middleton, official in the First National Bank.

Mrs. Choate was the "pioneer" in the office of the county agent. In the four years that she has been secretary, there has been a complete turnover of personnel. Most recent change was the resignation of Jimmy Taylor, county agent, to accept a position with the First National Bank.

Lovell Kuykendall, assistant county agent, who replaced Bill Sims in that post is now the veteran on the staff. Herb Helbig, county agent, and Mrs. Catherine Crawford, county home demonstration agent, are both later additions to the staff than Kuykendall.

Shirley Mann is serving as secretary temporarily in the office. She will be on the job for about three weeks, Helbig said, until a full time replacement for Mrs. Choate takes over.

About 350 Hear Choir

About 350 persons, a full house, heard the Texas Tech College choir present a concert Friday night at the Webb Air Force Base Chapel.

The choir drew resounding applause after each selection," according to Chaplain B. F. Meacham.

The nationally famous choir was treated to a covered dish dinner Friday evening before the performance, which was jointly sponsored by Protestant and Catholic groups of the base.

"It went over so well we hope to have another choir perform next year," Chaplain Meacham said.

The 48-voice choir presented "Pueri Hebraeorum" by Da Vit-toria, "Sanctus et Benedictus" by G. P. da Palestrina, and three motets by Edmund Rubbra and the Mass in G Minor by R. Vaughan Williams.

Other selections were "Das Schifflein" by R. Schumann, "The Seasons" by E. Krenck, "Evening" by Z. Kolday, four Slovak folk songs by B. Bartok, "Lisena to the Mocking Bird" by G. Kubik and "Set Down Servant" by R. Shaw.

The choir has been on the Ed Sullivan television show and has appeared with the Dallas Symphony Orchestra. It has also shared concerts with the Dartmouth College Glee Club.

Conductor is Gene Kenney.

Kennedy Asks $600 Million Program For Public Works

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy asked Congress today for a $600-million program to start public works projects at once in areas suffering from substantial unemployment.

Kennedy outlined his new program in a letter to the House Public Works Committee as the committee opened hearings on another administration public works plan—a standby $2-billion program for use in future recessions.

steady economic improvement during the past year, there are nearly 1,000 communities—large cities, smaller cities, and rural areas—that are experiencing serious problems of prolonged, large-scale unemployment and economic distress."

Last week Kennedy reportedly endorsed a proposal by Sen. Joseph S. Clark Jr., D-Pa., and Rep. John A. Blatnik, D-Minn., that up to $500 million be made available for public works grants this year if the April unemployment figures don't show a dramatic drop.

The latest figures, for February, show 5.8 per cent of the labor force out of work. The $500 million could be spent only in areas of persistently high unemployment and would have to be matched dollar-for-dollar by state and local governments.

The administration's official view on the proposal will be given to the House Public Works Committee today by Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, Secretary of Welfare Abraham Ribicoff, Budget Director David E. Bell, Chairman Walter Heller of the President's Council of Economic Advisers and Kermit Gordon, a member of the council.

The committee will hold two weeks of hearings on Kennedy's request for the standby authority, which he outlined in a message to Congress last Feb. 19. He said it would be "an invaluable anti-recession tool."

Develops Individuality

Dina Merrill does not take her health and good looks for granted. She has laid out a plan for daily care for her beauty and for her body. Such a plan develops a sense of individuality.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Experience The Best Teacher, States Dina

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — "Individuality," Dina Merrill declared, "is a word worth contemplating. It is something we can make our very own. It takes time to develop, but it's worth working for. Teenagers tend to follow someone they admire or a style that is popular. That is part of being insecure and immature, but adults should look in the mirror, and if a hairstyle or a dress style does nothing for them, they should not go along with it.

We were chatting on the "Twenty Plus Two" set at Allied Artists, and after Dina played another scene we went to lunch.

"I'm simply starved," Dina exclaimed, "and I had a big breakfast. I just don't understand how people can go to work with an empty stomach. You can't run an engine without fuel. It is certain to take away from your health not to eat properly."

When Dina is not working, she wears very little make-up, and her skin is one of her greatest assets.

"I use creams, but I also use soap and water. I know that some girls never wash their faces, but I like the way it makes my skin feel. There are non-drying soaps, and afterward you can always use a freshener and a moisture film to keep your skin from feeling dry."

"I believe that prevention is better than cure, and I prefer to use a non-wrinkle cream before I need it. There are so many creams on the market today. It's just a matter of finding one that works for you."

"What's your formula for growing nails?" I asked admiring her beautiful hands.

"I use an old-fashioned hand cream that I get from a pharmacist, and I use this a lot, massaging it into my cuticle as well as my hands. I noticed my nails improved since taking a special pill. I take one a day, and the combination of vitamins and this pill contribute to my healthy nails. I can't guarantee it will do this for everyone, but it really has solved my brittle nail problem."

We talked about glamour and the many beauty tricks that actresses use today.

Comfort Is Keynote To Men's Shoes

It'll be a soft life for men this spring. Lightweight leathers with a melow, luxuriant feel — in the hand or on the foot — hold the key to the new easygoing styles in men's leisure footwear. Designed to be worn after work hours and on weekends, the soft shoe is available in a wide choice of patterns — slip on, the moccasin or semi-boot. It is interpreted in glove-soft smooth, grained and brushed leathers.

The all-leather moccasin again leads the casual footwear parade — though it is seen as often on men stretched out in an easy chair as on young fathers playing with their youngsters. The soft glove leather upper that bends and stretches with an easy, comfortable grace is set on a lightweight but sturdy leather sole. You get foot support standing, walking or running — without the weight of thick or ribbed "fad" soles.

The plain toe tie shoe — either in a low-cut oxford or a semi-boot reaching toward the ankle — is another masculine favorite. But here the simple lines of the shoe are balanced either by the handsome pattern of grained leather or the colorful tones of brushed leather. When it comes to leisure footwear, a man lets himself go. He'll happily wear a desert tan brushed leather boot, a red brushed leather oxford or a loden green glove leather blucher.

For suburban entertaining or weekend visits, the dress casual is rapidly becoming a "must" with men. More formal than a "knockabout" shoe, the dress casual underlines the fact that it is an occasion, despite the relaxed air.

Pigskin Shoes Are All The Rage

Pigs go to market this spring in colorful sophisticated shoes.

Pigskin pumps, ties and flats are moving up the rungs of the fashion ladder. A soft, supple leather with extra wear built in, pigskin is extending its range this year from casual to daytime footwear. It will also be seen increasingly in brushed and textured pigskin handbags, belts and gloves.

Though the bulk of leather produced in the United States comes from cattlehides, calf and kid skins, there are a large variety of unusual leathers, available in small quantities, for use in smart shoes. Chief among these are pigskins, buffalo calf from India, snakeskins, seal, ostrich, and alligator.

Its distinctive grain makes pigskin fashionably important among the exotic leathers. A leather which lends itself to artful, delicate draping, pigskin is equally handsome in a pointed toe suit shoe, a crescent toe casual or a square toe walking shoe. In addition to the subtle neutral tones — taupe, olive and beige — for which it is famous, pigskin leather is now available in a myriad of tones from brown, black and deep purple to brilliant blues, greens and pinks.
