Voters Return Incumbents In Big Spring School Vote

Trend Almost Holds True For County

Three incumbents were returned in fairly brisk voting in the Big Spring Independent School District election here Saturday.

Jim Lewis, Paul Bishop and Charles R. (Chub) Jones were named to places on the county board of trustees with two of these races developing in down-to-the-wire contests.

In Big Spring, voters gave the three incumbents handsome leads over three challengers. Joe Moss, appointed to the Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees last fall to replace Dan Krause, led the ticket with 904 votes.

Wendal Parks with 797 and Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper with 683 were also swept back into office. There were 984 ballots cast in the election.

Other candidates and their vote collection were Bob Rogers 458, Ray Thomas 380, and Al Milch 349. Paul Bishop edged Harvey L. Adams seven votes in their race for the county school board representing Commissioner's Pct. 4. Bishop polled 283 to Adams' 276, unofficial returns indicated.

James G. Lewis, incumbent, won handsily in his re-election bid for the Pct. 3 county board seat. He polled 358 votes to 192 for Dr. William T. Chrans.

It was another close contest for the at-large seat on the county board. Charles R. (Chub) Jones had a 34-vote lead in unofficial returns over Jack Buchanan. Jones polled 840, Buchanan received 806.

In the Howard County Junior College board of trustees race, Horace Garrett and K. H. McGibbon were unopposed. Garrett received 1,161 votes and McGibbon 1,149.

Big Spring city voters gave Garrett 926 votes and McGibbon 920. In the county board race the city favored Lewis 345 to 57 over Chrans in Pct. 3. They gave Adams a 230-96 advantage over Bishop and Jones was given a 743-339 margin over Buchanan.

Kennedy To Tap Historic Key To Open Fair

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is expected to tap a gold telegraph key—used in special ways by six presidents—to signal the opening of the Century 21 Exposition at Seattle April 21.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., said Saturday he will present the key, mounted on a slab of Alaska marble and circled by gold nuggets, to the President on April 18.

Magnuson said he was given the key by a Washington, D.C., family which has owned it since President William Howard Taft gave it to Edward W. Smithers, chief communications officer at the White House in 1909.

Smithers' relatives and descendants have lent the key to the White House several times since then.

The key, of solid gold except for contact points of platinum, was made to open the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition in Seattle in 1909.

It was ordered by George W. Carmack, who discovered gold in a Yukon stream in 1898, for President Taft.

President Woodrow Wilson used it to set off the blast opening the Panama Canal in October 1913. He also used it to signal the opening of the Panama-California Exposition at San Francisco the same year.

Presidents Warren Harding, Calvin Coolidge, Herbert Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt also tapped the key to signal the start of various events.

Texas' Entry Wins National Miss Wool Title

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Carolyn Barre, Miss Wool of Texas, was selected Saturday night as the 1962 National Miss Wool.

The winner, a 20-year-old Texas Woman's University student from Yoakum, was crowned at the conclusion of the National Miss Wool Pageant held in the San Angelo Coliseum.

Miss Lydia Ann Hoddy of Natchez, Miss., was named first runner-up and Miss Melinda Wagner of Mason City, Iowa, was picked as second runner-up.

No Screwworm Outbreak Noted

DALLAS (AP) — No outbreak of screwworms in livestock have been found north of a line from San Antonio to Del Rio, one of the groups sponsoring an eradication drive reported last week.

The report came from the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation based in Dallas.

The foundation is one of several groups which is sponsoring the distribution of sterile male screwworm flies along the Texas-Mexican border seeking to break the life cycle of the insect.

Screwworms cause millions of dollars damage yearly to livestock, but have been wiped out in the southeastern United States with the sterile fly technique.

About 15 million flies are being released each week along the border. They are being raised and sterilized at Kerrville. Another plant is being prepared at Mission in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

TIPPED OFF BY SPIES

Viet Nam Forces Crush Red Attack

AN HOA, South Viet Nam (AP) — Government forces, tipped off by spies in the Communist Viet Cong, crushed an ambitious attack by 1,200 guerrillas in this district in a four-hour battle, South Vietnamese claimed Saturday.

"A few more wins like this and the back of the Viet Cong in the area will be broken," said one American military adviser.

The Communist guerrillas left behind 45 dead in the action. Government losses were listed as 16 dead, 33 wounded.

About four guerrilla battalions launched the biggest Red offensive in months against this town, Tra Bong and other outposts in the Tra Bong District 330 miles northeast of Saigon at about 1 a.m. Friday.

As Ho bore the brunt of the attack, in which artillery shells were fired pointblank into the guerrillas.

The Communists broke off the attack and fled to the hills about 5 a.m. and T28 and AD6 fighter planes of the Vietnamese air force went in pursuit after daylight. Some of the guerrillas still were scattered in nearby hills.

Government forces captured two American-made recoilless rifles, and a variety of heavy machine guns and automatic arms bearing French, Chinese and North Korean markings.

Helicopters manned by American crews were busy ferrying ammunition and reinforcements to An Hoa and Tra Bong and carrying back wounded.

Winds Pick Up Over West Texas

By The Associated Press
Winds picked up speed over West and North Texas Saturday. A large and swiftly developing low pressure system over the central and northern Great Plains had Texas weather under its influence.

The Weather Bureau said winds would increase in West and North Texas during the night.

Cooler weather was in store for the northwest quarter of Texas with showers possible for the upper Panhandle Sunday.

Russian Satellite In Normal Orbit

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's latest Sputnik, Cosmos II, continued in normal orbit on the second day of its flight, the Soviet news agency Tass reported Saturday, with all instruments operating satisfactorily.

Judge Rules Civil Suits To Be Frozen

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Federal district Judge R. E. Thomason Saturday placed the agriculture empire of Billie Sol Estes in receivership.

He also granted the 37-year-old Pecos, Tex., financier 30 days in which to produce a list of his assets and liabilities and issued an order freezing present and future civil suits against Estes.

Thomason named Emil C. Rasmann receiver, but the Midland attorney declined the position in a statement late Saturday. Rasmann said he appreciated the offer but felt that the job should be taken by somebody more familiar with the many factors involved.

Atty. Irby Dyer of Midland, who represented Estes, estimated his liabilities at $40 million.

Saturday's petition was filed amid reports that some of Estes' creditors were planning to file an involuntary bankruptcy petition against him on Monday.

NOT BANKRUPT
Dyer said the petition was filed under Chapter 11 of the federal bankruptcy law with the approval of 12 finance companies whom he described as Estes' major creditors. He said:

"Mr. Estes does not say he is bankrupt. On the contrary he recognizes his debts and will do all possible to pay them off.

"But it is necessary for protection of all creditors to make this arrangement."

The motion filed Saturday said "because of adverse publicity of the financial affairs of Billie Sol Estes the normal flow of income has been interrupted and creditors are accelerating the maturity of obligations and demanding immediate payment with the result that the petitioner is unable to pay the debts as they mature."

Irby said Estes' principal income for paying creditors would come from grain storage.

ELEVATOR INCOME
Dyer said the income from grain stored in Estes' elevators by the Commodity Credit Corp. amounted to $5.5 million per year on an estimated 40 million bushels, or 60 per cent of capacity.

"It is critical that proper steps be taken under the protection of this court to protect the storage licenses from the Commodity Credit Corp.," Dyer said.

He said the CCC had informed Estes' attorney that an additional bond of $10 million must be posted for CCC approval of continuing the licenses.

Dyer said it had become impossible to continue efforts to satisfy creditors by mutual arrangements made outside of court.

"There is already one federal suit in Amarillo and there are five state civil suits against Billie Sol Estes," Dyer said.

Civil suits amounting to almost $9 million are on file against Estes and others.

MADE PLEADINGS
Dyer said that "to the extent possible we have conferred with the major creditors and made pleadings to them for this arrangement."

He said the list of creditors filed with the petition was complete to the best of his knowledge. The list consisted of 18 pages with two columns of creditors on each page. Most of the creditors were from West Texas, but there were a number from all parts of the United States.

Judge Thomason asked if a good portion of the creditors had been advised of Saturday's action.

Dyer replied this had been impossible, but that the 12 finance companies represented at Saturday's hearings had been advised and others by word of mouth and "encouraged this procedure rather than involuntary bankruptcy."

CAN'T FILE LIST
Dyer said it had been impossible to file a list of Estes' assets and liabilities because the records are now in the custody of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Texas attorney general's office.

In addition to grain storage, Estes' farming empire includes a huge fertilizer business and thousands of acres of land in West Texas.

A federal grand jury indicted Estes, Coleman McSpadden, Harold Orr, Ruel Alexander and the Superior Manufacturing Co. Thursday on charges of conspiring to transport failed mortgages through the mails.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Rain blessed the area toward the end of the week, and the north half of Howard and Martin counties got enough that there may soon be some planting. Elsewhere the moisture picture was marginal, although pastures did get enough to brighten emergent grass and to sprout spring weeds.

All of this will add to the sudden look of spring, but a word of caution — the last time we looked closely, the mesquite hadn't come out.

Our city has been honored by upwards of 250 delegates to the district meeting of the American Business Clubs. Our own club has a long and unexcelled record of service to the community in many phases of community activity, and this is a quality shared by other clubs in the district.

While city and school elections were making news, City Manager A. K. Steinhilber made a major story when he accepted an offer from Beaumont to become its city manager May 15. Four years ago Big Spring lost its manager (H. W. Whitney) to Corpus Christi, so seemingly the larger cities warm to the quality of men we've been getting.

There was some upheaval in the municipal election. W. L. Thompson and Arnold Marshall, newcomers to the political scene, were elected commissioners, as was incumbent George Zachariah.

JFK Invokes Taft-Hartley Law In Maritime Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy invoked the Taft-Hartley law Saturday in an effort to end a three-week maritime strike that has caused growing shortages of food and other necessities in Hawaii.

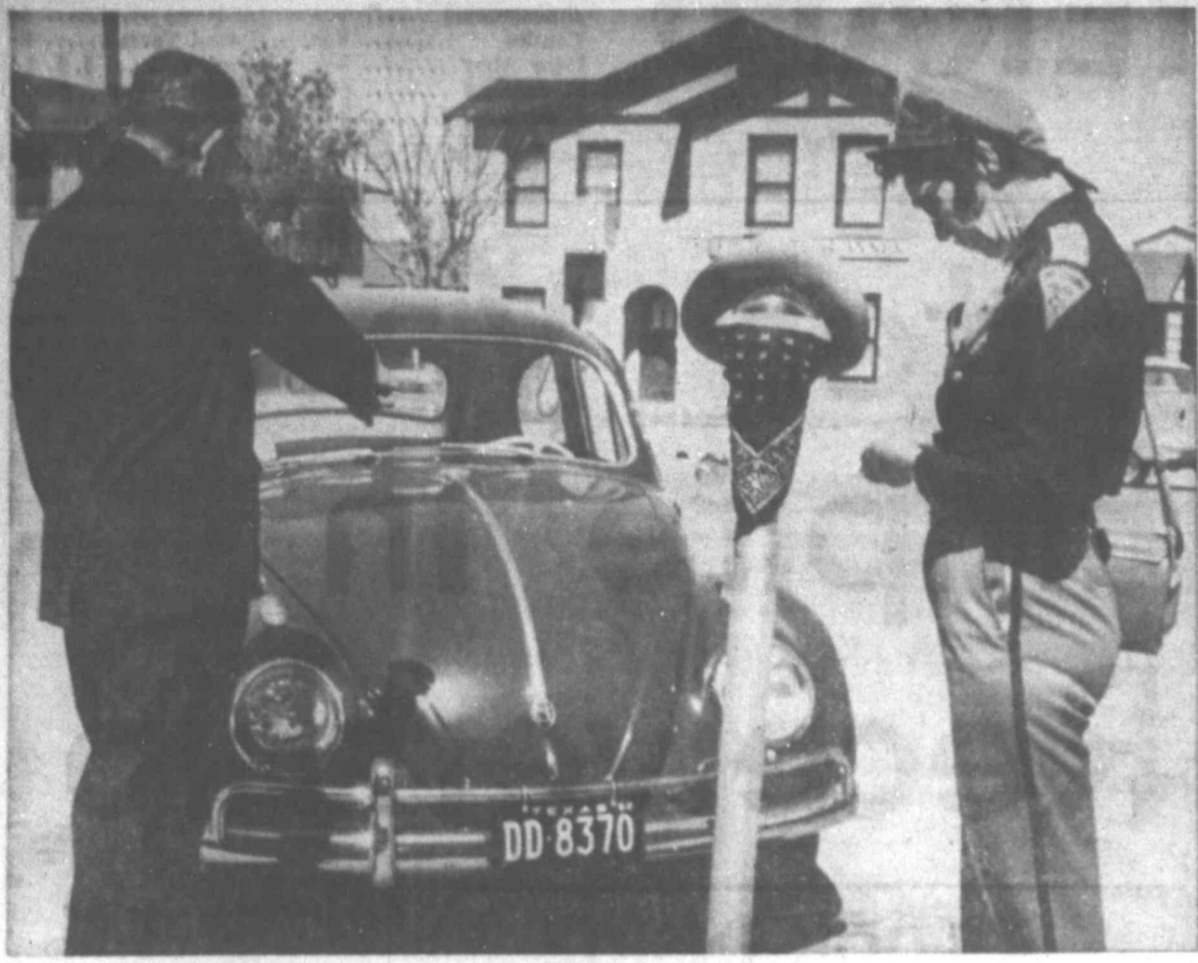

The President stepped in after two days of intensive mediation efforts by a three-man government panel had failed to forge a settlement.

Kennedy signed an executive order directing a board of inquiry to examine the dispute. When the

'I Shouldn't Pay More Than Half Price'

The driver of the small car argues with Meter Maid Irma Mosier about the ticket she is writing. He calls the parking meters "nickle snatchers" and thinks the "bandits" should be equipped with 25-cent slots for small cars. She tells him it still takes up a full space unless he parks it sideways and puts another behind it.

Parking Meters Are Not Easy To Beat

By M. A. WEBB

Those mechanized metal hitching posts found around the business areas of most cities today take a beating and many hard locks, along with slugs, pins, paper clips, chewing gum, masking tape, and about any other small thing that can be squeezed into the penny, nickel, and dime slots. Occasionally somebody tries to get to the money box in meters of Big Spring. In some instances the meter heads have to be replaced because of damage, but nobody yet has been able to burglarize those money boxes.

Roy Anderson, city purchasing agent who sees that the meters are kept in condition to bring in their fair share of revenue while helping to regulate traffic, says bandits try but have no luck in getting to the money.

MANY TRY

"We find an average of about five or six instances a week where somebody has tried to rob the meters," he said. "But so far all we've had to do is replace or repair the works, or the glass, or the top. The meters we use are double locked and the steel cases can't be opened without some extra heavy equipment. They can't be taken off the posts without opening the money door and that can't be opened without the proper key. Nobody has time to bring in a cutting torch or anything like that for a single meter. It wouldn't pay off. But they still try to jimmy them."

Anderson said some try to beat the meters by using everything imaginable in place of the proper coins. About all they can do is to jam the meters where the coins won't go in but they still have red flags.

"We have had calls from drivers who say the meters took their money but wouldn't show time. The meters are checked, as fast as we can, get somebody there. The result often is that the party calling put in a slug or something to jam the meter. We get his license number for future reference," he said.

"The city buys meters which are as burglar-proof as we can get," Anderson said. Some 40 new meters, with hand operated coin-takers, will be purchased during the fiscal year beginning April 1.

TO BE REPLACED

"A lot of our automatic meters, some of which are 12 years old, will be replaced. The mechanism is worn and unreliable," he said. "We will replace them with the lever-operated type designed to take two or three sizes of coins depending on the amount of time required and the congestion of the area served."

"But robbing the money boxes on them? It hasn't happened in Big Spring," Anderson said, "because we try to buy the best meters possible. They cost around $45 each and we can't afford to have them robbed."

"One of the things most 'meter beaters' don't seem to realize is that they are operated by springs and it is almost impossible to speed the mechanism up. It always works to the advantage of the person who feeds it by running slow rather than fast."

At the police station, where Mrs. Frankie Marstrand handles most of the overtime parking ticket money coming in over the counter, all kinds of names are given for the hitching posts, and all kinds of language is used by some coming in to pay the tickets.

"Most people are nice," she says. "It is just one of those things that happens and they know they overparked. Not too many smile, but they pay."

EXCUSES

What are some of the most common excuses?

"You name it and we've heard it," she said. "Most of them say while I went for change I got a ticket. Some say the meter wouldn't take their money; others say they still had five minutes left by my watch, and I didn't get the ticket and didn't know about it until this notice of failure to appear was mailed."

Mrs. Marstrand says some people, who get speeding or other violation tickets, come in and proudly pay their fines, but the same ones resent getting overtime parking tickets and try every excuse under the sun to keep from paying them.

"You'd think it was much worse for them to get parking tickets," she said. "It doesn't add premiums and yet these same people seem to think it's a mark of distinction or something to get a 'speeding ticket, which does add to insurance."

The meter checkers, who patrol the parking meter areas to see that time is showing on meters where cars are parked, hear about the same things as Mrs. Marstrand. Some drivers will come out of places where they have been shopping or talking and rush up while tickets are being written and shout that they just went for change. Most of them are carrying packages.

Other tricks are used to try to beat time. A few will drive up to a meter, see the checker coming, dawdle around in the car until she has passed, and then get out to shop, thinking it will be 30 minutes or so before she is around again.

F. L. Trantham, who repairs meters and sees that they are kept in good order, is kept busy with over 800 of the meters to look after. Officers from the traffic division at the police station check every meter long before 8 a.m. every day to see if any are "hung up" and the flags down. They report each suspicious meter by number, and it is ready to go by 8 o'clock.

RESENTMENT

There seems to be a nationwide resentment toward parking meters by a few drivers. New York cities apparently have the hardest time with "meter beaters." The New York Times has recently made a systematic check of the parking habits of drivers in several cities.

"There are some who will drive for an hour trying to find meters with some time left," one report says. "They could park for half a day or longer for the price of gasoline burned while trying to find 15 to 30 minutes left on a meter."

However, most people park, pay, and go about their business. If they get overtime tickets they pay their dollar.

"But, then, there are the would-be 'meter beaters.'"

Grand Jury To Consider Felony Cases Monday

The Howard County grand jury, recalled for its second round of duty at this term of district court, will report to Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, 10 a.m. Monday.

It will be instructed to investigate 26 felony cases which have accumulated on the desk since the jurors were in session last January. The 26 felonies implicate 37 defendants.

Included in the cases which the grand jury will consider are two complaints against three men accused in multiple burglaries.

One of these involves James Hugh Leggett and Rowell P. Leggett. These are two of a number of persons who were reported to have been involved in 500 burglaries over the state when they were arrested some weeks ago. Some of these burglaries were in Big Spring and Howard County. The pair is specifically charged in this county with peeling the safe in the Reeder-Huff-Estes Insurance Company and stealing $500.

The other mass burglary operation concerns Abraham Lopez. Lopez, at the time of his arrest on April 5, cleared up 65 local burglaries, by a confession according to city police. The grand jury will consider a complaint against Lopez that he broke into the El Sombrero-cafe and was caught while inside the building by city police. The capture was made on April 5.

Toots Mansfield is the grand jury foreman. Members of the panel are Mrs. Maxine Bruce W. D. Caldwell, Mrs. Harold Talbot, Mrs. Tommy Gage, O. S. Wornack, J. D. Elliott, Albert P. Hertz, Jack Wolf, James E. Cape, J. T. Baird and W. H. Ward, Jr.

Recalling the grand jury at this season is a regular practice of the court. The current term is the "long" one of the year extending from January through June. It is always necessary to have the grand jurors return at least once to handle accumulated offenses.

The cases set for presentation to the jury include:

Thrift over $50; Ronald R. McCann, false affidavit and worthless check over $50; Margarita Flores, burglary; Buster Davis, DWI 2nd; Bernard Hastings, DWI 2nd; Randy Looney and Horace Atkinson Jr., burglary; Granville Southwood, attempted burglary; Murray Galloway and Vester Z. Riley, forgery and passing; Henry McDuffy Jones, attempt to pass a forged instrument; William Simpson, forgery and passing.

J. C. Woodard, Shirley Woodard and Jimmie Gardenhire, theft over $50; William J. Yockers, removal of mortgaged property from the state; T. J. Proctor, incest; James Hugh Leggett and Rowell P. Leggett, burglary; Wade South O'Brennan, house burglary; Lucas Lopez and Raymond Cruz Villa, robbery by assault; Raymond Cruz Villa, assault with intent to murder; Ellihue Magers, T. J. Kinnard and Oscar Leonard Hill, burglary.

James Herron, theft over $50; Eddie Lee Wright and Willie Roy English, robbery by assault; Dee Skaggs Jr., assault with intent to murder; C. J. Harris, theft over $50; Robert Ray Doyle, DWI 2nd; Abraham Lopez, burglary; Andrew Perez, ex-convict possessing a firearm (re-indictment).

WILMA COLE
Wilma Cole Gets Fellowship

Wilma Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cole, 700 Tulsa, and a senior at Texas Christian University, has been awarded a fellowship for graduate work in French at Brown University, Providence, R. I.

The fellowship provides a stipend of $1,800 for the 1962-63 academic year, plus remission of tuition fees.

Miss Cole will graduate in May with a major in French and a minor in Spanish. She plans to work toward a masters degree, concentrating on contemporary French literature.

A 1958 graduate of Big Spring Senior High School, Miss Cole was third in her class and the only student that year to go to college on a National Merit Scholarship. In high school, her best grades were in mathematics, according to John Smith, principal. She was named the outstanding student in Bible, English, Latin and geometry at the high school. This selection was made by faculty members teaching the various classes of each course.

Miss Cole was also a band member during her first two years in high school. At TCU, she has been a student assistant in French the past two years. She is a member of the French Club; Phi Sigma Iota, honor fraternity for students in romance languages; Alpha Chi, honorary scholastic fraternity; and has been named to the Dean's List.

CARD OF THANKS
Velma Ely wishes to thank publicly all the friends who sent flowers, all the lovely cards and other gifts, the 3 weeks she spent in the hospital. The nurses and others who were so nice to her, a special thank you.

Fire Destroys Small House

A small frame house at 911 W. 6th was destroyed by fire at 8:30 p.m. Thursday. Firemen said the occupant, B. W. Placker, was not at home when the fire started. The cause was not known.

Firemen were called to the Jet Drive-In Theatre again Thursday night when the poles, which held the screen, began burning and showering sparks in the area. The screen burned Wednesday night.

Sgt. Wilson Settles Here

S.M.Sgt. Jack B. Wilson retired from the Air Force at Webb AFB at the end of March after 26 years of unbroken military service.

Sgt. Wilson enlisted in the Army in March, 1942, and later transferred to the Air Corps. While with the 49th Bomb Wing in Korea, he was presented the Presidential Unit Citation. He also received three battle stars while there, one for each campaign at Teague. Sgt. Wilson also wears the Air Force Commendation Medal with two oak leaf clusters.

The sergeant worked in administrative functions when he first entered the service and switched to the accounting and finance field in 1950. Sgt. Wilson recently returned from a tour of duty in Okinawa. He left Webb in February, 1961 for the Ryukyu Island and returned here in March of this year to retire.

A native of Hearne, he has made his home in Big Spring, where he has an insurance agency. He and his wife, and their children, Jack Jr., 18, Mary Bryan, 17, and Virginia Ann, 17, live at 1719 Main. All the children are attending Big Spring High School.

Portable Classrooms Draw Mixed Reaction

By JOE BEYER

Portable classrooms are fine as portables. This sums up the opinion of most persons associated with the 10 portable buildings now in use in the Big Spring Independent School District.

In a time when additional classroom space was needed and funds were not available through a bond issue to construct permanent structures, portables were selected to serve as spare classrooms which can be used wherever needed.

Six of the portables are at Goliad Junior High, Airport, Bauer, Cedar Crest and Washington Elementary schools each have one. They were obtained during the summer of 1961.

Big Spring got into the portable field belatedly. Abilene had a few portables already and is now constructing more. Lubbock has had frame portables for a number of years. Odessa and San Angelo, likewise, have resorted to portables to give their school systems fluidity in this time of rapid population shifts and increases.

STEEL ROOMS

Portables used locally are steel structures on a concrete slab foundation. Steel beams under the buildings permit them to be lifted easily, placed on a truck or other carrying vehicle and transported where needed. Each move requires only construction of additional slabs and providing utility connections.

The cost for moving has not been estimated, Anderson said. He pointed out that if the usual course is followed, the buildings will tend to become fixtures rather than mobile units.

In Los Angeles, it was found that the cost of moving portables cost between $1,047 and $2,908 a classroom. Any local moves should not be so expensive, according to Pat Murphy, assistant superintendent in business.

In general, the buildings have come up to expectations, Murphy said. Teachers have reacted both favorably and unfavorably toward the portables.

"The rooms appear a bit flimsy, especially considering the wear junior high students can give a building," Royce W. Mullins, mathematics teacher at Goliad, said. But, he said he preferred them to other classrooms.

"You can have noise going on in one classroom without disturbing other classes," he said. Although there is only about 15 feet between the buildings, the noise of a typing class in one room does not bother students in other rooms. The pecking of the keys is barely audible in the background.

DOOR PROBLEMS

"The doors on some of the portables have given us trouble," Murphy said. "Wind catches them because they are not protected and we have had to put stops on the doors."

Otherwise, the maintenance on the buildings has not been more than usual around schools, he added. Breakage of windows and the like has been normal.

The buildings are well insulated and heating costs have not been excessive. Cold weather, however, has posed another problem.

"The doorways are not protected and during cold weather the students are subjected to cold draughts of air whenever someone enters or leaves the building," Murphy said. This was listed as one dislike by teachers, especially in elementary schools.

A poll of teachers using portable classrooms at the elementary schools showed about half liking them and about half preferring other classrooms, Murphy explained.

NEW DECISION

Whether or not the local school system will get more portables cannot now be answered. But, a decision may be forced soon, Anderson said.

There are now seven vacant classrooms at most in the system, he said. A study of needs for next year already indicates that even should these rooms be filled, others may be needed.

"Airport may need two or three rooms and Bauer, Kate Morrison and Cedar Crest may be getting too crowded," Anderson said. Washington Place and South Ward could each use another classroom.

Should the present problem of financing permanent structures be continued for a year or two longer, there may be no other answer.

Board Calls Public Hearings

Two public hearings were called for 4 p.m. April 24 by the Big Spring Zoning Board of Adjustment at a meeting Thursday afternoon. One will be on a parking area for employees of the Cowper Hospital and Clinic and the other on a request for rebuilding a small rent house at 403 W. 7th.

Dr. G. E. Peacock, who owns two residences, at 1507 and 1509 Lancaster, has begun the work of building a screening wall and grading at the rear of the two lots to provide parking area for the hospital employees. A variance of 20 feet is being requested to conform to the city's zoning ordinance.

O. B. Hull, 403 W. 7th, has a rent house which he wishes to tear down and rebuild to conform to present building lines. The public hearing is necessary before the board can grant the request.

Under the city's new zoning ordinance the Zoning Board of Adjustment must call a public hearing before granting any variance to property owners. A concurring vote of at least four of the members of the board is necessary to grant any variance to the zoning ordinance. All members of the board are voting members.

STANTON (SC) — The annual spring membership drive of the Martin County Farm Bureau was launched last week with Bill Wedemeyer, state Farm Bureau, as speaker. The drive continues through April.

MEN IN SERVICE

Army M. Sgt. Kenneth U. Hammock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford H. Hammock, Colorado City, recently was assigned to Service Battery at McGregor Guided Missile Range, N. M. The range, the Army's foremost missile practice firing site, is used for final phase training for NATO missile units in addition to its function as training site for U. S. Army artillery and air defense elements. Hammock entered the Army in 1950.

Army Pfc. Ronnie J. Jack, son

of Barney C. Jack, Lamesa, is serving with the 30th Artillery Brigade on Okinawa. The 30th is responsible for the air defense of the island. A radio relay and carrier operator in the brigade's headquarters, he entered the Army in April, 1961, completed basic training at Fort Hood, and was last stationed at Fort Gordon, Ga. He arrived on Okinawa in August, 1961. The 17-year-old soldier attended Lamesa High School.

Navy Lt. (jg) John F. Westbrook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer S. Westbrook, 1100 Lamar, attained a memorable experience March 20, when he completed his first solo flight while attached to Training Squadron One at the Stanley Field Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Pensacola, Fla. Prior to this accomplishment, he had received 11 flights of dual instruction. The twelfth was a "safe for solo" check with an instructor other than his own and the thirteenth was his solo. The next stage of the training is precision flying, after which he will report to another field for advanced training. Completion of the advanced stage will earn for him Naval Aviator "Wings of Gold."

Charles F. Rice, aviation machinist's mate third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Rice, 1720 Purdue, re-enlisted for six years, March 2, at the Naval Air Station, Corpus Christi. He is serving with Training Squadron 28 at the air station.

The squadron, one of the largest in the Naval Air Advanced Training Command, trains over 400 multi-engine instrument pilots yearly for patrol, logistics, and airborne early warning squadrons in the Pacific and Atlantic Fleets. Prior to entering the service in December, 1959, Rice was graduated from Big Spring High School.

Pfc. David G. Stuteville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard G. Stuteville, 1800 Lancaster, has been assigned to Fort Lee Virginia, home of the Quartermaster Training Command.

Prior to being assigned to Fort Lee, Pfc. Stuteville was stationed in Korea as a classification clerk. He was responsible for the classification of clothing and equipment. Before entering the service Stuteville attended Big Spring High School.

They may not quit going to the service; nor degrade in character; they may be prayerful and zealous in their religion, - yet if they depart from the "one faith" of the Bible they fall in the Christian life. ## DEAR ABBY

Just Pass Him Around

DEAR ABBY: I am 50 years old and unmarried. I don't care if you call me an "Unclaimed Treasure" or an Old Maid. My complaint is that I have bought countless gifts for bridal showers and baby showers with no hope of getting anything back. Why doesn't the government declare OLD MAID'S DAY so girls like me can get even? GIFT GIVER. Write to your Congressman!

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a family of 5 girls and 3 boys (all married with nice homes) who stick one brother with their 80-year-old father? He has made his home with us for 12 years. I am the "good" daughter-in-law. ("Sap" would be more like it.) He used to work part time, but now he is unable to work and is under my feet all day and all night. We asked if some of the others would take him for a few weeks and they flatly refused. I never have a free moment. He is in the living room 14 hours a day. He takes several naps every day but always on the living room sofa. I am ready for a nervous breakdown. Can you blame me? HAD MY FILL

DEAR HAD: (And you were.) Since the father is your husband's, the problem should be by him. Your husband should gather his brothers and sisters together and ANNOUNCE that they are just as responsible for the care of their father as he is. There are enough of them to pitch in and give him all the comforts of a nice rest home, if they refuse to take him into their homes.

DEAR ABBY: If you are at a restaurant and someone stops by your table to say hello, but stands there and talks while your food is on the table, are you supposed to (1) go right on eating? (2) stop and let your food get cold? VICTIM

DEAR VICTIM: If the person says more than hello and it looks like a long siege, invite him to sit down and say, "My food was just served and I would like to eat it while it's hot—I hope you won't mind." If this doesn't make him disappear, nothing will.

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Commission To Begin Study On Building Code Tuesday

The first steps toward a uniform building code for Big Spring will be taken by the Big Spring City Commission Tuesday. The commissioners will look at a copy of the Southern Standard Building Code, which has been adopted in many cities.

Lack of a building code in the city has cost insurance policy holders an extra six cents per $100. Certain features of the standard code will have to be adapted to conditions in the city but the general contents are recognized as adequate to give proper fire protection and to eliminate most hazards.

A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, who has been working on a code for Big Spring, said Friday that he had reviewed codes from a large number of cities and had found that 95 per cent conform to the Southern Standard. "I feel that the commission should study the code from end to end," he said, "and agree on its adaptation to our city. Not too many changes will have to be made other than adjusting it to population and area-size conditions."

The Southern Standard Building Code Congress, publisher, is made up of city officials, fire chiefs and fire marshals, insurance men, attorneys, and building tradesmen from all states participating. The code is revised every two years as conditions warrant changes, and is considered to be the best modern set of regulations available. The congress is a non-political, and non-profit group working for the best interest of all cities. All necessary facets of building regulations dealing with construction, roofs, materials, exits, heating and electrical facilities, and others, are explained and handled in the code.

Fire districts are set up and general building restrictions listed. The code provides for classification of buildings which may be on district lines by conforming to requirements of the district with the highest restrictions. Classification of buildings according to occupancy, or use, and according to construction, including fireproofing, fire resistive materials, and according to type and number of buildings on the same lot, are all provided.

Fire protection requirements are set up and provisions are made to regulate vertical openings, stairways, elevator shafts, partitions between buildings, exits protection of wall openings, roofs, ceilings, skylights, and just about every phase of construction known.

Materials are classified according to fire resistance ratings.

A few other classifications set up include quality and design of masonry materials, mix and design of concrete materials, design and quality of wood construction, light, ventilation and sanitation, safeguards during construction, use of public property, signs and outdoor displays, and prefabricated construction.

Steinheimer said the city commission requested a study leading to an adequate building code for Big Spring over a year ago and that many hours of study had gone into the selection of the Southern Standard.

Divorces Lead In Cases Filed

Twenty-eight new divorce suits were filed during March in the district clerk's office. In the same month, 11 divorce petitions were granted and three dismissed.

Wade Choate, district court clerk, said that 22 civil suits other than divorces were filed and 16 suits of this nature terminated. Six were dismissed and two were tried by juries.

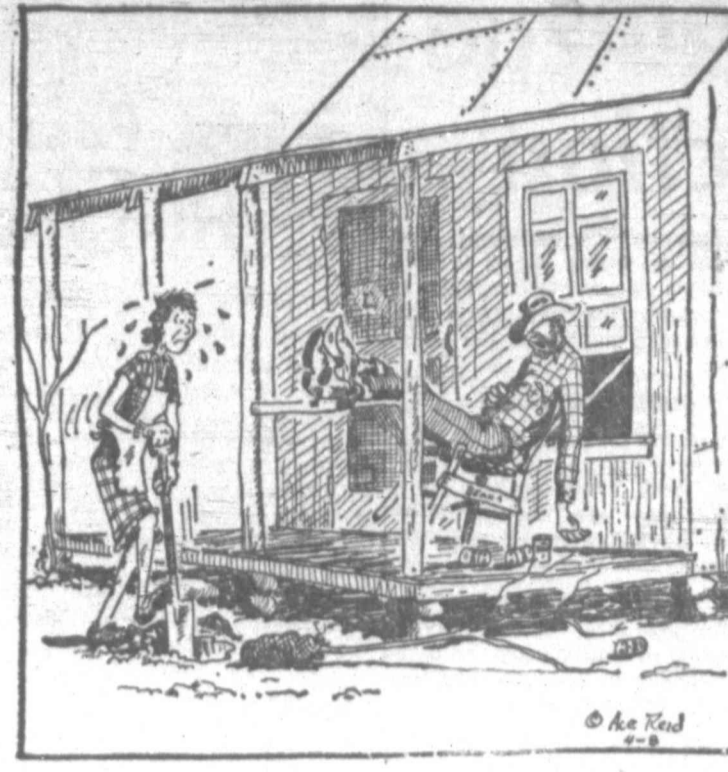

Three new adoption petitions were filed; two adoptions were approved and one was dismissed.

Six citations for contempt (child support cases) were filed in the court. Two defendants in these cases were jailed for contempt. Three criminal suits were tried before the court and two appeals were noted in criminal cases. Sixteen applications for passports were handled by the office.

One new tax suit was filed and one tax suit dismissed.

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL

Anyway, It Was Real Tough Town

By ED SYERS

So far as is known to genial and lore-minded South Texan Bill Chestnut, editor of the Kenedy 'Advance,' at least three Texas towns claim the title of "Six Shooter Junction."

"I know of Hempstead and Harlingen," says Bill. "Kenedy's the real one."

I asked him how he was sure, and he countered by suggesting I ask a thousand people at random just one question:

"What Texas town is Six Shooter Junction?"

Bill says Kenedy would be a shoo-in. He rummaged out some old articles. The he took me round to meet Mr. Beaugard Choate Moye.

A lean, erect six-foot-three, white-haired Mr. Moye is the genuine article. Courteously unaware of doing it, he gives you the feeling of an elder version of Gary Cooper in "High Noon." His daddy rode up the Chisholm Trail with John Wesley Hardin, knew Wyatt Earp well, saw Pat Coe shoot it out with Wild Bill Hickock in Abilene, Kansas.

GROUND RULES
You don't need long with Mr. Moye to accept authenticity. And, if it's talk about Six Shooter Junction, you accept his ground rules, too.

First of all, both he and Chestnut agree, a lot of people don't relish the title itself, just as some blow off too much about it. The point, says Mr. Moye, is that—like it or not—old Kenedy Junction country, from the 1870's to the early 1900's, was six-shooter territory; and the men behind the guns were good with them.

"Why not?" Mr. Moye polished his spectacles. "First, Indians or bandits. Then war. When that was over, this was still frontier. Good men came; bad ones, too. Then the cattle drives. Rustlers. Outlaws. Why not?"

Mr. Moye talks very little about the gunfights. But make no mistake, Kenedy's six-shooter did its killing. One show-down shoot-out at nearby ghost town Daileyville, Sept. 6, 1886 makes the sanguinary fame of O. K. Corral pretty dim by comparison. In the time it took you with this paragraph, five men died, one was wounded. Just up country, John Wesley Hardin was beginning to notch his gun. There were scores of gun duels. Mr. Moye is understandably reticent. Too many descendants still neighboring today.

He does have two acid comments on T. V.'s western fighting. There was no such thing as a climactic fist fight between two armed men. No gunfight ever saw the pistol shot deliberately from the hand of an enemy. You shot to finish it.

FAST DRAW

He adds a thoughtful footnote on the "fast draw." Men good with guns—men like Will Neal, Big John Peace, Pecos Butler or the others—were less concerned with speed of draw than with dead-center placement of that first shot.

"Of course, they'd say that," recalls Mr. Moye. "Yet most of the time you'd hear the shot before you saw their hands move."

Who named Kenedy "Six Shooter Junction"? The railroad hands who brought the old S.A.A.P. line through to the coast. Early excursion train passengers vouched for it.

At the first of each month, the cowboys had celebrating money. Trains loaded and unloaded on the outskirts. Passengers hit the deck below window level. One of the games was to shoot out the window as the train went through.

There were other six-gun diversions. Hat shooting was one. If a windy gust snatched a hat, it was open season on both sides of the street as long as the hat remained in motion by wind or bullet. If you fired, once it had stopped, its owner was entitled to shoot at yours, atop your head.

"I remember one time," Mr. Moye began to laugh. "I was standing in front of Charlie Hunter's pool hall. Wind right smart from the south. Ol' Clyde Lynch stepped out of Levi Pullin's barber shop. Had a new blue serge suit and a hard-boiled straw Kelly. Wind sailed it right into Front Street.

"Then it took off, ol' Clyde chasin', careful to stay on the sidewalk out of the line of fire. They shot that hat a block—all the way to the freight depot."

TOUGH GAME

There were other jovialities Mr. Moye remembers. One of the better shots had a fancy for pool, but he played the cue ball with his gun. There were a few tough enough to stick with the game once he joined it.

There was the time the circus Wild Man from Borneo, gnawing a live chicken, resented Otto Von Roeder's calling him a fake. Growling, he threw the chicken at Otto. Carefully missing, Otto put 12 bullets around and between his feet before the Wild Man had cleared the first rise.

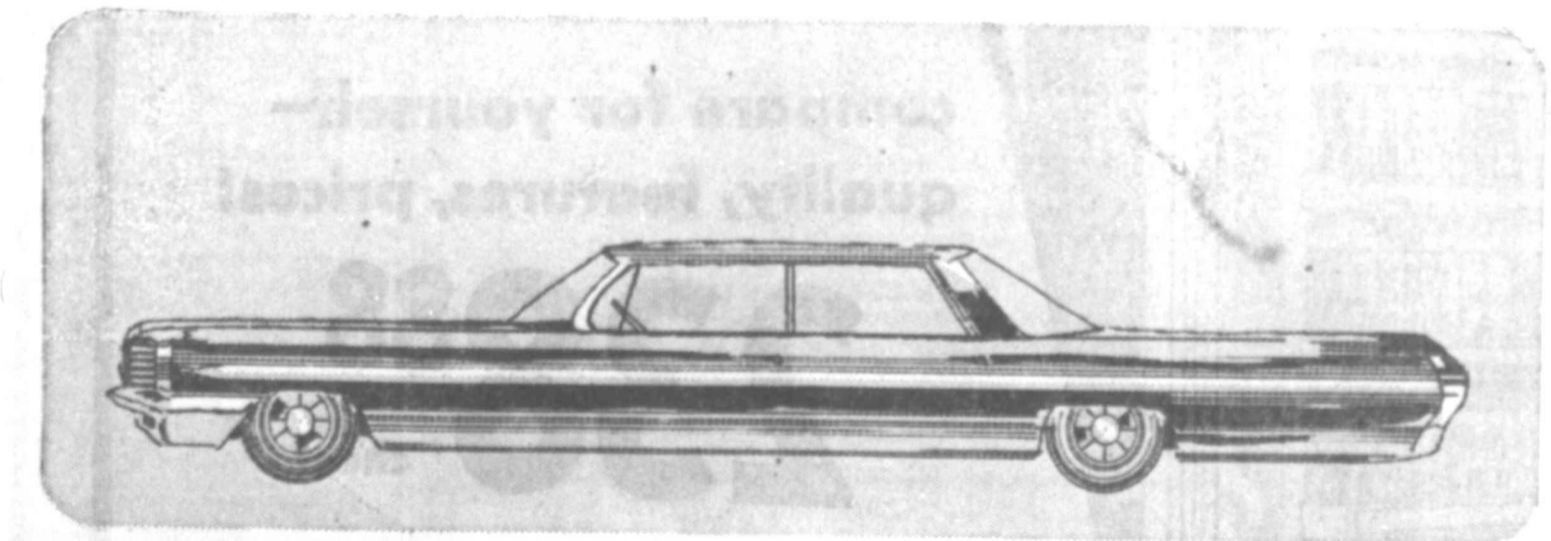

I agree with Mr. Moye that pleasant and progressive Kenedy long packed plenty of awe in its name.

416 MORE YOUNGSTERS

School Census Growing

There are 416 more boys and girls in the age bracket 6-17 years in Howard County now than there were at this same time in 1961.

The figures come from the school census totals which have just been dispatched to the Texas Education Agency for final approval.

Mrs. Helen Acuff, in the office of Walker Bailey, county superintendent, said that the grand total of boys and girls in 6-17 year bracket shown on the school census stands at 9,231. In the 1961 school census, the total was 8,815.

In 1961, each of the youngsters on the rolls brought in $78.70 in state school money to the Howard County schools. The current crop will be worth more than $75 each to the schools.

The census was made in January. All of the schools in the county showed increased census figures with two exceptions.

Big Spring Independent school district has 7,713 on its rolls this year compared with 7,599 in 1961. The gain is 114.

Coahoma school district shows 819 for the current census which is 101 more than the 718 in last year's census.

Forsan school district shows a loss of 18 for the two years. The current total is 397 and last year's was 415.

Gay Hill Common school district is up five from last year with 117 as its current total. Center Point Common school shows an increase of 15 with a 1962-63 total of 148.

Vealmoor Common school district is down one. In 1961-62 it had 38; this year it shows 37.

T&P Finds Answer To Low Revenues: Tight Operation

How do you make ends meet in the face of declining revenues? The Texas and Pacific Railway Co. provided an answer to this in its 90th annual report which covers the year 1961.

Revenues dropped off $3,185,000 or 4.1 per cent, but the T&P came up with net income of $2,703,000, up $573,000 or 11.8 per cent from 1960. Most of this was accomplished by tighter operations for expenses were reduced to 78.2 per cent of operating revenues, a 2.3 per cent greater economy in this area. Payrolls declined by about 10 per cent, in reaching $35,600,000. This was $3,800,000 less than the previous year and brought payroll costs to 47 per cent of total operating revenue as compared with 50 per cent the previous year.

its on amortization of defense facilities, and a credit of $509,000 in 1960 for adjusting prior years.

Freight revenue was $63,168,000, down $2,934,000, or 4.4 per cent. The bulk of the loss was in manufactured (principally LP gases) and miscellaneous goods, which dropped by a million and a half. Agriculture products were down half a million and petroleum was off $300,000. The new Mid-America Pipeline absorbed some of the West Texas and New Mexico movement of LPG to the Midwest. Other categories were off sharply during the first half of the year, but in August an upturn set in and many of these losses were mitigated if not wiped out.

PIGGYBACK

There were some gains in revenues such as those from piggyback operations. These rose from $1,276,535 in 1960 to $2,349,548 last year. Thirty-five new industries were located along the T&P and when they are all in operation they will provide a potential of 12,800 carloads annually of new traffic. The T&P is reviving its marketing department and has set its goal on $4,000,000 of additional freight revenue in 1962, according to J. T. Suggs, T&P president.

The road played its capital improvements close to the vest, holding to essential maintenance and to improvements which promised a prompt and substantial yield. Last year the company bought 35 new roller bearing insulated "damage free" freight cars and 59 multi-level racks for handling automobiles. This year 24 diesel units will be overhauled extensively and 24 passenger cars are slated for heavy repair to seek to turn a three per cent decline in passenger revenue.

DEBT REDUCED

Funded debt stood at $65,685,000 at end of the year, a reduction of $10,912,000. Of this decrease, $8,000,000 was in payment on a 20 million dollar note issued in 1960 to redeem preferred stock. Another $2,910,000 was applied to equipment obligations.

If the T&P was cutting out possible frills in operations, it was consistent in its statement. Instead of the colorful colorplates which other companies employ (and the T&P has employed) to illustrate its report, this year's statement is plain vanilla. The cover is simple type on white paper.

Further economies may be expected in 1962. Last week in Dallas, President Suggs indicated that about 200 of the 1,000 people working for T&P in Dallas would be affected by the consolidation of accounting with the parent Missouri Pacific.

"Our company is faced with rising costs and decreasing revenues. This is one of the things we have to do," said Suggs.

Odessa Man Not Seriously Injured

STANTON — Herschel Gordon Hutchings, 2806 N. County Road, Odessa, escaped without apparent serious injury when he came in contact with a power line west of here just before noon Friday. He was taken in an Arrington ambulance to the Physicians Hospital where he was kept for observation.

Hutchings, a truck pusher for Lane Bros. Trucking Company, was helping move a Cities Service Company drilling rig from a well at the Walker Kelly home. The truck backed its A frame into a service line from the house to the barn, and when Hutchings sought to move the wet line, he got such a charge of electricity he couldn't get free. Other workers, however, managed to jerk him loose and summoned the ambulance.

Canada Opens Rodeo Season

DENVER — Cowboys from the four-state area of Idaho, Montana, Washington and Wyoming walked off with top honors as Canada opened its 1962 rodeo season at Edmonton, Alberta, before record crowds.

Biggest winners were two Idahoans: world champion calf roper, Dean Oliver, Boise, and Bob A. Robinson, Tuttle.

The 22-year-old Oliver, already in front for his fifth national roping title, broke into the lead for the all-around cowboy championship as well, with a $1,581 grab in roping and steer wrestling.

Winning $783 in a first place tie in the latter event, a contest he rarely enters, made Oliver top winner nationally in two events with a total balance of $8,236 for the year thus far. His roping earnings are $7,453.

Robinson, 28, emerged individual high winner at Edmonton with $1,643, for second in bull riding, third in steer wrestling. He was 1960's world champion in the latter event.

Leaders in the various events are: All-around, Dean Oliver, $8,236; and Tom Nesmith, Bethel, Okla., $6,540; saddle bronc, Kenny McLean, Lkanagan Falls, B. C., $6,268; and Marty Wood, Bowness, Alta. Canada, $5,281; bareback bronc riding, Ralph Buell, Sheridan, Wyo., $4,851; and Jack Busch-born, Mohridge, S. D., $3,460; bull riding, Bill Rinesline, Amarillo, Texas, $5,467; and Jim Charles, Oakdale, Calif., $5,288; calf roping, Dean Oliver, $7,453; add Don McLaughlin, Fort Collins, Colo., $6,093; steer wrestling, Tom Nesmith, $4,454; and Leon Bauerle, Austin, Texas, $4,347.

Nix To Provide Music Program

Hoyle Nix and his West Texas Cowboys will present a musical, Monday, at 7:30 p.m. at the Center Point School. Admission will be $1 and 50 cents.

A political candidate rally will accompany the musical, and Walker Bailey will serve as master of ceremonies.

Proceeds from this program will help to finance a school sponsored trip for the seventh and eighth grade classes of the Center Point School.

Concert Scheduled At HCJC Today

A special Spring concert with an outstanding program will be offered to Big Spring residents this afternoon at Howard County Junior College.

The HCJC choir, under the direction of Ira Schantz, and the HCJC Brass and Woodwind Quintets, under the direction of Douglas Wiehe, will be featured. There is no charge and the program begins at 3:30 p.m.

The program will be divided into three sections. The first will feature several choral numbers by early German composers and will be sung by the HCJC Choir in the original languages of German and Latin. Two of these numbers will be different harmonizations of the famous hymn, "A Mighty Fortress," the melody of which is attributed to Martin Luther. The first harmonization is by Johann Walter and the second by J. S. Bach. These two selections will be accompanied by the Brass Quartet and will be directed by Douglas Wiehe. Jack Hendrix will be at the organ.

The second portion of the concert will feature the Brass and Woodwind Quintets, which will play selections by Giovanni Gabrieli, Ludwig von Beethoven and Robert Schumann. The selection by Gabrieli is for brass and organ and will feature Hendrix as organist.

The main feature of the program will be the first performance in Big Spring of the short oratorio, "Litany in B Flat" by W. A. Mozart and will be sung by the HCJC Choir with assistance from several well known singers from the community.

Soloists will be Joyce Bradley and Marilyn Newsom, sopranos; Sue Lovett, contralto; Don Ford, tenor; and Milverna Ivey, baritone. Mrs. Bradley is a teacher of music in the Big Spring public schools and is well known to Big Spring audiences as a soloist, as is Mrs. Newsom. Both are regular members of the choir of the First Methodist Church.

Sue Lovett, contralto, is guest soloist for the performance and is a resident of Lubbock, where she appears regularly as soloist with the First Methodist Church Choir of that city and before various other church and civic groups.

Ford is minister of music at the First Methodist Church of Big Spring and has recently appeared as guest soloist with the choir of the First Presbyterian Church in Midland. Ivey is choral director at Goliad Junior High School and is also minister of music at the First Christian Church. He is a graduate of North Texas State University at Denton where he was prominent as a soloist with the A Cappella Choir, Opera Workshop and Grand Chorus.

Hendrix will accompany the oratorio at the organ. He is head of the music department of Howard County Junior College, where he also teaches organ, piano and theory.

Conservationist W. S. Goodlett

Goodlett Wins Certificate Of Merit And Cash Award

W. S. Goodlett, area conservationist here, was awarded a certificate of merit last week for his work and leadership in the Great Plains Conservation Program of the Soil Conservation Service.

The award was made during the State-wide Area Conservation Conference held at Temple.

H. N. Smith, state conservationist, said the certificate, which carried a cash award, was for overall performance in conservation work.

"During the year, you have directed service operations in the Big Spring area in an excellent manner," Smith said. "Particularly noteworthy has been the leadership you provided... which enabled your area to achieve a very commendable production record in this phase of operations."

Goodlett's area led all others in the number of acres placed under contract and in the amount of cost share funds obligated. The area also achieved 144 per cent of its contract goals, best progress of any area in the state.

Goodlett has been in charge of the area office here 11 years. His area includes 14 counties comprising nine conservation districts with 13 local offices.

The state average number of contracts is 300; Goodlett's relatively small area has accounted for 683 contracts, double the state average.

"By using sound management principles, you have not only shown improvement in production but have maintained a good balance of high quality work," Smith added.

Lamesa Water Records Fall

LAMESA (SC) — Peak and low daily water consumption records for 1962 were broken here during March as usage climbed to 48,367,000 gallons. The high of 2,402,000 gallons on March 29 was the most recorded for a single day this year. First quarter consumption is 125,100,000 gallons.

Lamesa's corporation court did a land office business in March as fines from all sources amounted to $3,347.

The Dawson County sheriff's office said 65 persons, 21 more than the previous month, were jailed during the same period.

Building permits tumbled below the $100,000 mark in March for the first time this year, totaling $95,700. Total construction for 1962, however, neared the half-million dollar mark as the figure for the first quarter of the year soared to $447,950.

The activity report on the Lamesa police department reflected an increase in virtually every phase of the force's operation. Officers made 93 arrests, answered 326 complaints, checked 46 animal complaints, investigated 26 wrecks, logged 88 traffic details, traveled 21,698 miles in patrol cars and cleared 44 per cent of all reported offenses.

Dawson County births tripled the number of deaths during March. Peace Justice A. L. Standefer recorded 34 births and 18 deaths during the period, boosting the birth total to 138 for the first quarter, compared to 84 deaths.

The issuance of marriage licenses outpaced the filing of divorce petitions during March. Fourteen marriage licenses were issued during the month, compared to 10 divorce suits. The district clerk recorded 20 other civil matters and county clerk deputies recorded 484 instruments.

College Offers Special Class

A special short course on interviewing, problem solving and counseling has been announced at Howard County Junior College, designed for persons who deal with the public and particularly to those employed in credit union work.

The special course will be sponsored by HCJC, the Big Spring Chapter of Credit Unions and the Texas Credit Union League. Tolford Durham, HCJC instructor of psychology, will be the instructor for this course.

Classes will meet weekly on Mondays, from 7:30-9:30 p.m. in Room S-3 at HCJC, Durham said. The first class will meet April 16 and classes will continue through June 4.

"We are enthusiastic about the offering," he explained. "We feel it can be of big help in increasing the effectiveness of those who give advice and information to others, and will encourage thorough counseling, plus giving counselors an opportunity to share and discuss their views."

Durham is president of the Veterans' Administration Federal Credit Union, chief of social work service at the VA Hospital, as well as an instructor at HCJC.

Charge for the course will be $10 for the complete series of eight meetings.

Topics to be discussed in the series of meetings include counseling, abstraction to communication, human motivation, rationality vs. emotion in human behavior, motives, goals, perceptions and tensions, problem solving, the art of questioning, and techniques of counseling.

College officials point out that the course is another of its efforts to offer instruction aimed at the adult continuing education program, and scheduled in the evenings so that most adults will be able to attend.

This short course was planned by a committee, including Dr. W. A. Hunt, HCJC president; Ben Johnson, HCJC dean; Dr. Melvin Crawford, adult education director at HCJC; Duke R. Baker, president of Big Spring Chapter of Credit Unions and manager of the Webb AFB Credit Union; Leslie E. Clemens, assistant director of education of the Texas Credit Union League; and Durham.

"We invite all interested persons to participate in the course," Durham said. Registration may be made at the college or by mailing the fee to Dr. Crawford.

The last time the convention was held here was four years ago when the two districts were not divided. Attending the convention were visitors from Amarillo, Odessa, Lubbock, Plainview, Albuquerque and Hobbs, N.M.

He won here over Mike Carey and Phillip Hale and was awarded a $25 savings bond. Tarbox's speech was entitled "The Creative Force of Optimism."

He was accompanied to Midland by Dan Shockey, Goliad Junior High speech teacher and contest chairman.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Emik Avakian, a 29-year-old immigrant who overcame severe cerebral palsy to become a brilliant electronics inventor and engineer, was named Saturday as the Handicapped American of 1961.

The award was made by the President's Committee on the Employment of the Physically Handicapped. Avakian will receive at a May 10 dinner in Washington the President's Plaque presented annually by the Institute for the Crippled and Disabled.

E. D. Adcock received 110, Billy Joe Peterson 149, R. L. Price 53 and Gordon Waldrop 128. The total turnout at the polls was 568.

Other Dawson County districts were busy naming trustees. At Klondike, Tom Estes with 24 and Jesse Stephens with 42, both incumbents, were elected. Carl Benson received 13 and M. M. Brown 15. There were 47 votes polled.

Union named incumbents M. C. Dunbar with 35 and W. P. Cozart with 41. Others running were Homer Etheridge with 14 and Wayne Kibler with 17.

At Welch, Jim Anderson, incumbent, was re-elected with 37 votes as were A. A. Haynes with 49 and D. V. Goode with 42. E. L. Davis, incumbent, received 4. Others were Bill Moore with 11 and Bill Gray, 24.

Returns were not immediately available from Flower Grove, but Jack Cava and R. E. Hill were the only ones on the ballot for two places. Earl Hightower, president, was not seeking re-election.

Gail

GAIL — Three trustees elected for the Borden County Independent School District Saturday included the only incumbent offering for re-election.

Unofficial complete returns showed O. D. Jackson, board president, to have been returned with 100 votes. Others elected were Doyle Newton with 123 and Vernon Todd with 111.

Barely off the pace was T. L. Griffin with 98 votes, followed by John Anderson with 76, Mrs. Dorothy Dennis with 75, George C. Billeck with 54 and J. A. Jones with 14.

Melton E. Davis, board president, and Bob Beal, the other incumbent whose term expired, were not candidates.

Houston Girl Wins UT Title

AUSTIN (AP)—Houston beauty Jessica Darling was named sweetheart of the University of Texas Saturday night in closing activity of the annual University Roundup.

Miss Darling, a music education sophomore and university cheerleader, was named at a Roundup revue. She was elected in campus balloting last week.

The revue followed a full day of both carnival-like and serious events for students and alumni and preceded the annual Roundup Ball, final event of the two-day affair.

Named Bluebonnet Belles at a Friday night revue were Ann Kasman, Bay City; Nancy Nelson, Wichita Falls; Kathryn Odom, Beaumont; Muff Singer, Fort Worth; and Judy Ann White, Houston.

Urey Proposes Western Union

AUSTIN (AP)—Dr. Harold Urey, Nobel Prize winning chemist, proposed here Saturday a federation of the democratic countries of the West.

Urey, speaking at the University of Texas Honors Day, said such a federation would help prevent World War III and eventually end the cold war.

Urey discovered heavy hydrogen which provides most of the energy for the hydrogen bomb. "Trying to preserve the status quo of complete national independence will lead in the immediate years ahead most probably to World War III," Urey asserted.

He suggested a political reorganization of the West to include Western Europe, North America, Australia and New Zealand, and excluding Spain and Portugal.

Guard Officers Oppose Slash

DALLAS (AP)—Two high-ranking Texas National Guard officials said here Saturday they were "categorically opposed" to the 58,000-man slash in National Guard and Reserve Corps strength, announced this week in Washington.

This feeling was expressed in a statement issued Saturday by Maj. Gen. Thomas S. Bishop, Adjutant General for Texas, and Maj. James M. Rose, president of the Texas National Guard Association board of directors meeting that started Saturday.

'Never Felt Better,' Estes Tells Reporter

By COPE ROUTH, Mutual Reporter-Telegram. WASHINGTON (AP)—Billie Sol Estes says he never felt better in his life. "But I've felt better in the last week than I ever have in my life," he insisted here Saturday in an exclusive interview in the guest house of his palatial home.

More Land May Enter Fallowing

WASHINGTON (AP)—A late surge of registrations indicated Saturday that administration's 1962 feed grain reduction program may outdo last year's.

The Agriculture Department said 1,072,428 farms had signed agreements by March 30 to retire 25,935,000 acres of corn and sorghum grain land this year under the program to reduce surpluses.

Fire Damages Placker Home

The home of E. H. Placker, 905 W. 6th, was damaged heavily by a fire of unknown origin Friday. Extensive damage was mostly in the front part of the house.

Another call turned out to be only a precautionary measure. Firemen went to the intersection of Northwest Fourth and Gregg Streets when gasoline began leaking following a truck-car collision. No fire occurred.

would desert me or what would happen. NOT FAIR-WEATHER "Now I know. You know, I've always felt that if a man had five real friends—not fair-weather friends but those who would stick by you when the weather gets rough—he would be real lucky.

"I've been real lucky. "When Negro people come to you as they have to me in the last few days with little sacks of money they've saved and want to help, you know you have friends.

"And we have some big people—some pretty big people—who are ready to take a serious look at this situation and see if there isn't something they can do to help.

"And we're all interested in one thing and that is to get every creditor paid every dollar that is due him.

"Personally I'm working 20 to 24 hours a day—even when I was in jail—to work this thing out."

Even as the 57-year-old black-haired financial wizard, who had built his empire in little more than a decade, was talking, his farflung operations were being placed into receivership by U.S. District Judge Ewing Thompson in El Paso.

He had walked out of jail only last Monday after Thompson had reduced his bond from $500,000 to $100,000.

A few days later, the federal grand jury in El Paso formally indicted him on the same conspiracy charges on which he had been arrested by special agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation on the night of March 29.

"Naturally, I was surprised that night when the FBI showed up," said Estes, "and I wondered what had happened.

"But never look back except from the standpoint of experience. I look forward—always forward—and I never let anything affect my zeal. Never has my zeal been greater than now."

UNTIL Saturday, Estes had been tight-lipped about his troubles and refused to discuss them with newspaper reporters.

A new group, extending the fine volunteer work at the Big Spring State Hospital, has been formed. It is the Personal Contact Club, and involves just that. The hospital is looking for 100 people who will offer to visit a patient for just one hour a week so that the patient can know that somebody really cares for him or her.

County commissioners last week set April 23 as the date for opening bids for 11 miles of new paving and 17 miles of seal coating. This will be a healthy contribution to the county's road program.

leaning palm trees shipped here from the Gulf Coast. Estes himself, dressed in gray slacks, gray shirt and checkered sports coat, was waiting in the driveway.

"Just go on in the house," he said. "I'll be with you in a little while."

Thirty minutes later, the butler ushered this reporter into Estes' office, where several telephones were scattered about the floor, although his desk was empty.

"I can't give you much time," he announced bluntly. "Things are happening pretty fast."

"I'll tell you this, though, every creditor will be paid. With friends who have rallied to our side, we can't fail to pull through. We can't miss."

"We have some solid companies—profit-making companies. We just need to ride it out.

"How much damage has been done by what has happened in the last few days, we don't know and won't know until the dust has settled."

"Was he worried about that? He answered, "That's in the hands of my attorneys. I have only one worry, and that's the people who have to be paid back. They'll be paid back, too—every cent."

After five minutes, he abruptly ended the interview. SACRIFICED "I'm just too busy," he explained. "You don't know how I've sacrificed to give you this much time."

But an hour later the reporter was back and this time a changed Estes met him at the door.

"I'm sorry," he said. "I didn't mean to be unfriendly. It's just that I've been so busy."

He led the way down the drive to his guest house, a luxuriously-furnished wing, in which national figures have been guests.

"Now, let's sit down," he said, "and we'll talk without being bothered."

He explained he and his family—there are now his wife, four daughters and a son—had come to Pecos on Jan. 10, 1951, from Earth, Tex. where he had spent three years in the cotton-farming business.

Before that he'd spent his life in Clyde, Tex., where he was born into a farming family.

"When I was in jail out there," he said, "I was thinking how things were so much better there when I was a kid.

"It was a good place to sleep, plenty of good food and the people were real kind.

"I was raised in poverty back on the farm.

Estes took off his heavy horn-rimmed glasses and tilted his head back.

"But, then again," he mused, "what is poverty? You can be terribly poor but still be wealthy in spirit."

"You know, I'd rather be in jail and have the right attitude than to be outside with bitterness toward my fellow man.

"They may put my body in jail but never my spirit."

NO ENEMIES "I'm not the kind of person who throws blame on anyone," he replied.

"There may be people who say they are my enemies and think they are my enemies, but in my own heart I have no enemies. In my heart, I feel good to the world and to my fellow man.

"The name in the guest house rang—the only time it rang during the 45-minute interview.

"No," he told his caller, "there's not a thing you can do but I appreciate your help and your thinking of me."

"When we get our plan working, we have lots of friends standing by."

"Don't worry about this thing. Everybody's more concerned than I am. It's going to work out."

"No, just get some rest. . . . When I need you, I'll call you."

"Everybody across the country wants to come out here and they'll come when I call them. . . . There won't be enough hotels and motels in Pecos to hold them."

"No, don't worry. We're interested in only one route and it will protect every dollar that's been invested."

LEANS ON FARMERS Estes hung up the telephone and returned to his divan.

"These farmers out here. . . . these people who have built this business. . . . they are the ones who are ready to come to my aid and they'll raise the money if they need to."

Did Estes feel he had done anything wrong? "All the days of my life I've done good for people," he said. "I have knowingly done no wrong. "Oh, I have sinned. Everyone has but the Lord forgives our sins.

"David sinned a lot but he was a man after God's own heart. Wasn't he?"

Although his empire had been estimated to be worth as high as $150 million, Estes said he had no available cash.

LIMITED CASH "Do you mean that literally you have no cash?" he was asked.

"Well, let's say I have only a limited amount, but I'm not worried," he answered. "I have friends who will see to it that I have enough money to live on.

"Of course, we're going to cut everything to the bone.

"We used to keep three Cadillacs around here but we sold two of them this week. They took my airplane over at Abilene."

"We'll even sell this house if we have to and move to a smaller place. Of course, I imagine the market is rather limited for a place like this.

"My wife wouldn't mind, though. I think she prefers the simple life."

Estes said his children had "taken the whole thing real well." He was asked how many companies he owned or had a financial interest in.

GIVES UP COUNTING He started counting on his fingers. "I hate to talk off the cuff about these things," he explained.

"I'll have to count them up." "I'll have to count them up all his fingers he gave up.

"Actually, there are only four corporations," he explained. "There's Agriculture, Inc., The Equipment Company, Colonial Funeral Home and The Pecos Daily News."

Estes said he couldn't estimate what he is worth or how much he owes.

"Lots of people deal in dollars," he added. "I deal in people. I try to be helpful to people before trouble comes up."

How much has he given to individuals and charities? "I don't know," he said. "In fact, when you give something, I don't believe you need to talk about it."

REPAYMENT PLAN Estes reiterated that a plan was being worked out to repay every dollar that is owed by him.

And how long would it take to carry out the plan?

"It will be an awful short time," he answered. "A short time, that is, compared to eternity."

"I am young and I have lots of time ahead of me. I've got my health—perfect health—and we've got lots of physical assets."

"But, best of all we have people. . . . We have our friends."

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Opinion On Farm Laborer Meeting

To the Editor: To set the record straight on the article "More Laborers Than Farmers Attend Meet," printed in the Herald on April 5 is the sole purpose of the following statement:

SIGN TO MARK CRATER SITE

The second official Tourist Information Marker in the State of Texas will be formally dedicated April 17 designating the Odessa Meteor Crater as an outstanding tourist attraction.

Hal Woodward, Texas Highway Commissioner for the West Texas area, will officiate at the dedication ceremonies.

The Odessa meteor crater is the second largest such crater in the United States and the twelfth largest in the world. The meteorite, which is believed to have landed here more than 25,000 years ago, is currently the subject of wide-spread interest and growing enthusiasm throughout the state as an important Texas tourist attraction.

ers whom some might think were capable farm hands, not knowing any more facts than they might arrive at by reading the article I am referring to. At 1:30 p.m. which I believe would be the peak of the laborers attendance, there were about 25 on hand. Their ages would vary from 21 to 55 years. Some were physically able but were inexperienced in farm work and lacked the probability of staying in one place any length of time. Others were unfortunate enough to have some physical handicap which would make it hazardous for them to work around and with farm machinery. Some, whom I knew were good farm hands, have already committed their services for the year. They were just prowling around looking for something better. If they find it, they will quit their present employer without notice, and probably be in debt to him for money which the farmer will never receive. A dependable farm hand doesn't have to have any help in getting a good place.

In regard to the shortage of

farmers present at this meeting the explanation is simple. Farmers knowing the qualifications of these applicants have previously tried to hire year-around farm hands from these same persons. Their efforts have been in vain. They felt it was a waste of time to attend the meeting. Even though the U. S. Department of Labor has put the axe to the farmer's supply of labor, he still has the determination "to chew the food he eats," rather than have some one else do it for him.

Odessa's Famous Meteor Crater From The Air

Thousands of years ago, a meteor, (or cluster of meteors) crashed into the earth eight miles west of Odessa. It left the crater shown above. In the center is seen the topping over a shaft which investigators dug 165 feet deep in 1939 seeking to find the bulk of the celestial bomb. An effort is being made to transform the crater into a scenic spot for the benefit of US 89 tourists.

Odessa's Meteor Crater May Become Tourist Stop

By SAM BLACKBURN Just eight miles south and west of Odessa, a few minutes off US 89 to the south, is one of the outstanding mysteries of nature—the second greatest meteor crater in the United States.

Every day thousands of tourists in search of the odd and unusual, whizz past the spot as they travel east and west along teeming US 89. None of these tourists stop at the site of the meteor crater. Few even know it exists.

And if they did stop, the way things are now, they would encounter a lot of difficulty in reaching the scene. Indeed, there is little probability they would be able to get there at all.

The Odessa Chamber of Commerce is now engaged in an effort to change all this. The chamber of commerce wants to make it so that the touring public can stop and see the crater; it wants to establish a museum at the site and build up an attraction which will be of lasting interest and value to the sightseer.

NOT SPECTACULAR

The visitor to the site now has to have a little background knowledge of astronomy and meteorology to understand what he is seeing. The view is not truly spectacular as it now stands.

Spread before the eye is a broken area of land which covers an extent of perhaps 1,000 feet square. Battered dikes of rock surround the center much as though some giant had dug a hole and tossed the rock in an irregular rim around a shell-shaped depression.

Thousands of years ago — one scientist who has spent years studying the site suggests at least 25,000 years—a huge chunk of celestial debris weighing perhaps 625 tons, was trapped in the gravitational pull of the earth and swerved from an ancient orbit it had been following for aeons.

When it was drawn into the hand of air which surrounds the earth, its tremendous speed was such that friction must have heated it to the melting point. Apparently the heat was so intense that it exploded. Thousands of small particles of the original mass were spread over the area and buried deep under the ground. The force of the impact and blast was enough to shatter rock into "flour" as deep down as 165 feet. The blast and the crash piled up the rim of rock and debris which still stands after all of these centuries.

In fact there seem to have been three meteors which struck at the same general time. There is the larger crater which scientists say is 550 feet across and once was centered with a crater 90 to 100 feet deep. There are two lesser craters, one overlapping the largest. Numerous dim indications of smaller scars are all around.

BIGGEST CRATER

The biggest meteor crater in the United States is the one in Arizona which is a tourist mecca visited by thousands annually. There is some evidence, scientists feel, that the big meteor which created the Arizona crater and the one which crashed in what is now Ector County could have happened simultaneously. A shower of meteors, perhaps, bombarded the southwest. The Diablo canyon area may also have been shelled in the same celestial barrage.

The Odessa meteor was of nickel-iron. There are three general types of meteors. One, and the most common, is the rock meteor. This is composed of basic rock such as probably forms the bulk of the earth's interior. Another type, much rarer are iron meteorites. The scarcest variety is the nickel-iron. There is a theory that in the beginning there was one other planet in the earth's family. This planet is called Eros and under the theory, it exploded. After the explosion, the adherents of this theory hold, each particle of the shattered planet took up an orbit around the sun. If this theory is sound, the nickel-iron fragments found in the meteors which struck the earth were the core of this long dead planet. The iron specimens were next and the outer layer was made up of the rock meteorites. COMETS Another theory is that the comets which are seen from time to time have clusters of rock or metal fragments as their heads. These comets may sometimes disintegrate. Fragments of the head become meteorites which batter the earth.

No one is exactly sure where these strange objects originated. Each night, hundreds of "shooting stars" can be seen in the skies. tiny in size and made fluorescent when they encounter the friction imposed by the air layer around the earth. They usually burn up before they reach the earth.

From time to time more spectacular examples are sighted. These are meteors sometimes called bolides. There are varying sizes and occasionally one penetrates the air blanket and crashes on the earth. When they are found, they look like brownish black stones, irregularly shaped and giving the appearance of having been burned.

First record of any one noting the Odessa crater was 70 years ago. Julius D. Henderson, pioneer Ector County rancher, was seeking a lost calf in 1892 and came across the indentations. He recognized the depressions as being unusual but was not able to identify what he had found. In 1920, Virgil Graham, another Ector County resident, found a strange lava-like stone near the crater. This he gave to the first mayor of Odessa, Samuel R. McKinney, who used it for a paper weight.

Dr. A. C. Bibbins, a geologist from Baltimore, was a visitor in the mayor's office and saw the unusual "Rock." He suspected what it was and sent it to George P. Merrill, an eastern chemist. Merrill established it was made of nickel iron of extreme hardness and said it was a fragment of a meteor.

RECOGNIZED IT In 1922, Dr. E. H. Sellards, director of the Bureau of Economic Geology, of the University of Texas, came to Ector County on another assignment. He happened on the crater one day and quickly recognized it for what it is. Nothing really came of this discovery until 1939 when Dr. Sellards in company with Glen L. Evans, then associate museum director for the university, began extensive exploration efforts at the site. The research was financed by the Ector County government in part. Labor was from the WPA. The Humble Oil Co., the American Askania Corporation, the University of Texas and several West Texas landowners provided the funds.

Evans, who is now a practicing geologist in Midland, said that the party sank an 8-foot square shaft in the center of the main crater to a depth of 165 feet seeking the main mass of the meteor. Fragments were found in great quantity but Evans said the main mass was never encountered. "We reached bed rock at 165 feet," Evans said. "The force of the explosion was clearly evident at this point. So powerful had it been that 'rock flour' was created — gravel was transformed from its granular form into minute dust."

VANDALS

He said that the shaft was shored with heavy timber and rigged to last indefinitely. Unfortunately, no allowance was made for vandals. Sometime since 1941, someone has gone into the shaft, Evans said, ripping out and carrying away as much of the shoring lumber as possible.

"Not content with this," he added, "the vandals set the other shoring on fire and the shaft has been robbed of its protective walls."

Evans said that in the sill which had filled the 100 foot hole left by the meteor's crash, he and his workers found the fossil remains of a primitive horse and a few crumbling bones of a prehistoric elephant. No fossilized or carbonized fragments of any vegetable matter was found. A careful search was made for some form of charred root to be used in establishing the possible age of the crater by radio clock. The search was futile.

"There just wasn't any to be found," Evans said.

In 1941, the beginning of World War II brought an end to the research at the site. It has remained inactive since. Now, if the Odessa Chamber of Commerce plans are fulfilled, it will become a sightseers' mecca.

The sponsors are already raising funds for the project. The crater is on land owned by the TXL Land Co.

The sponsors have already collected several hundred meteor fragments at the site and these will be put on display when the museum is built.

LARGEST The largest of these pieces recovered weighs more than 50 pounds and is not much larger than a man's head. Heading up the committee is Tom Rodman, civic leader. Highly enthusiastic over the project, considerable progress has already been made in readying plans for the museum. Meanwhile, don't try to visit the crater at this time. In the first place it is difficult to reach and permission has to be obtained to go on the land. In the second place, until explanatory material, such as would be featured in the museum, is available, the average person would find little to interest him at the site.

Gone Shopping...

...She Saw It in the Daily Newspaper

CONSUMERS WITH NEEDS TO BE FILLED and money to spend shop the ads in their daily newspaper even though they may not be searching for a specific item.

A current research study* reveals that four out of five readers like to look at newspaper ads as a regular part of their daily reading. This same study shows that consumers rated newspapers ahead of all other major measured media for advertising that can be depended upon for information that is factual, useful, and tells where they can buy the products advertised. And they know they can clip the ad and take it right along as a handy buyer's reference for shopping.

Advertising, national and local, in the daily newspaper is always ready to help the buying consumer make his purchase whenever he decides, "now is the time I want to buy." It's always ready because almost nine out of ten* families get a newspaper in their homes every day. Advertising is seen and read because the latest survey results available* show that 89,567,000 adults and 9,456,000 teen-agers read a newspaper on an average weekday.

YORKTOWN, Va. (AP) — The nuclear-powered ship Savannah is resting here after a clean sweep in her first full-power speed trials. The world's first nuclear merchant ship more than lived up to her designed capabilities.

US 87 To Be Developed Near Interstate Highway Standards

US 87 is one of the few highways in the state which the Texas Highway Commission has set out to develop to near interstate standards. Hal Woodward, Coleman, member of the commission, told the annual meeting of the US 87 Highway Improvements Association at San Angelo Saturday.

Already 170 miles have been converted to four-lane divided traffic and another 30 miles of this type of road is under construction. Eventually, there will be a program of access roads and of grade separation at key points, he predicted.

Woodward's address at the concluding luncheon highlighted the meeting which underlined the necessity of upgrading the north-south route as a means of attracting tourists and business.

Don F. Patridge, Raton, N. M., was elected president succeeding Hall Nail, Plainview. J. Frank Phillips, Dumas, was named vice president of the northern Texas district, and R. H. (Jack) Price, San Antonio, vice president of the southern Texas segment. The New Mexico vice president named was Max D. Smithson, Clayton, N. M. Next year's meeting will be at Raton, N. M., probably June 15-16.

Attending from Big Spring were Carroll Davidson and Joe Pickle, and from Lamesa were Clyde Brannon, J. E. Airhart, Alton Addison, W. C. Adams. Brannon reported that plans had been drawn up to Ackerly, the appraiser would start to work within a week, and appropriations had been made to acquire right-of-way.

State Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman, San Angelo, addressed the morning session and pointed out the numerous tourist attractions along and adjacent to US 87. He predicted that better roads and promotion would increase the traffic flow sharply.

Reports reflected steady improvement of the route all the way from Raton to Port La Vaca. Slow but significant progress is being made in New Mexico, said Patridge, and more work has been programmed. There is new construction between Dumas and Amarillo, in Amarillo (three overpasses), between Hale Center and Abernathy, from the Lubbock County line south to Tahoka, from Fairview to Big Spring, and loops in or through Abernathy, Hale Center and Tahoka. Several projects are under way from Boerne south to the coast.

Woodward told the group that the traffic count on US 87 now averages 2,300 per day and is climbing. During 1961 Texas spent $5,000,000 on the route, has completed 84 1/2 million this fiscal year, and has $11 million in work under construction.

He made an urgent appeal for support of the Texas tourist advertising appropriation, declaring that Texas was 20 years behind in this respect. He also contended the 60 m.p.h. limit should be raised in many instances. Better designs would make the route safer, too, he predicted, and tourists could be told that they could travel at two cents a mile cheaper because of it.

All of this had industrial implications, not from tourists alone ("two dozen tourists a day mean as much as a $100,000 per annum payroll"), but also from industry because "industry follows tourists."

Cuban authorities had treated them "in an extremely correct way," he reported, supplying them with clothing to replace what they lost in the shipwreck and even placing three servants at their disposal. He said he had been told the men swam ashore Thursday morning after their boat, the 46-foot Pisces, sank in heavy seas near Baracoa, near Cuba's easternmost tip.

U.S. Treasure Hunters May Leave Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — Seven American treasure hunters shipwrecked off Cuba's coast have been released from technical custody by the Castro government and will return to the United States early next week, the Swiss Embassy said Saturday.

Swiss Ambassador Emil Stadelhofer told reporters the seven men were lodged in a residence in Havana placed at their disposal by the Cuban government.

They have been asked not to leave the house, but no guards have been placed over them, he said.

The Swiss Embassy was asked by the U.S. government Friday to seek the release of the men after Cuban broadcasts announced that seven "frogmen" had been taken in custody in eastern Cuba.

The U.S. Coast Guard started a search for the men last Wednesday when trace was lost of their skindiving expedition in the windward passage between eastern Cuba and Haiti. They were en route to Jamaican waters to locate old sunken Spanish treasure ships.

They carried some dynamite to blast coral off sunken ships, a two-man submarine for explorations, a pistol and a rifle, and apparently some of their equipment first excited the suspicions of Cuban authorities.

Members of the crew were: Gordon S. Patton, 62, Ocean City, Md., the skipper; Fred Dickson Jr., 32, formerly of Ocean City, Mike Freeman, 37, Washington, D.C., underwater photographer; John Sterry, 28, Brewster, N.Y.; John E. Johnson, 21, and Joe Campbell, 20, Washington, D.C., and Bernie Nistad, Brooklyn, N.Y.

Their boat left Pompano Beach, Fla., Saturday and was due in Jamaica last Tuesday. Ambassador Stadelhofer, who has handled American interests here since Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuba and the U.S. government broke diplomatic relations, said he visited the Americans and found them "in good health and spirits."

Cuban authorities had treated them "in an extremely correct way," he reported, supplying them with clothing to replace what they lost in the shipwreck and even placing three servants at their disposal.

He said he had been told the men swam ashore Thursday morning after their boat, the 46-foot Pisces, sank in heavy seas near Baracoa, near Cuba's easternmost tip.

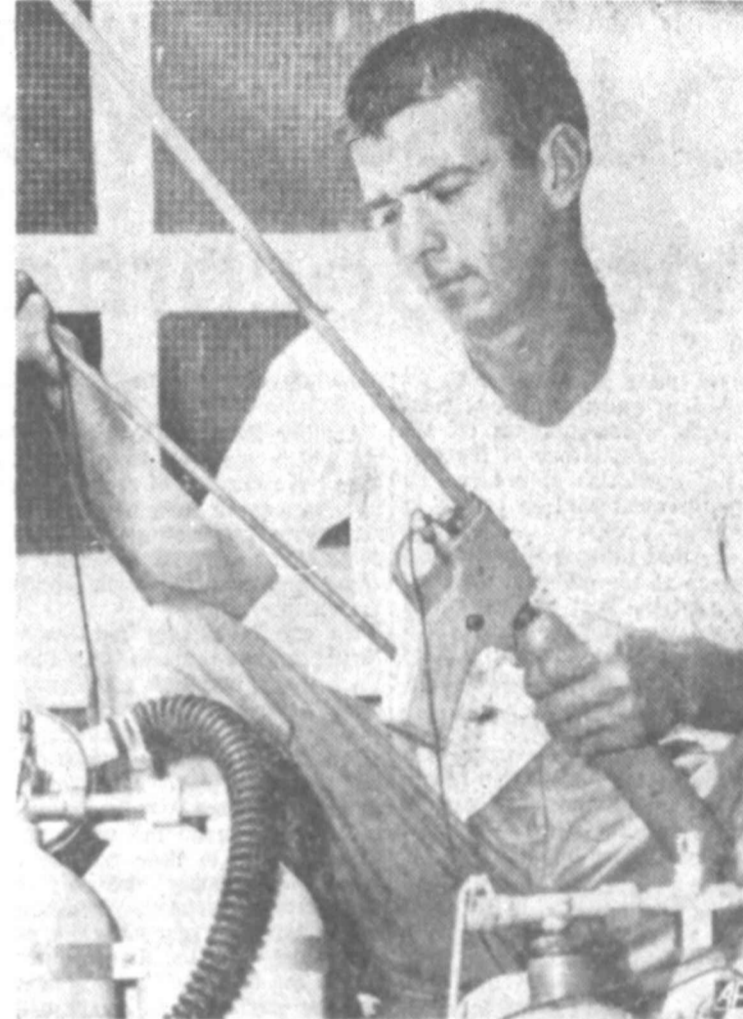

Freeman telephoned his wife in Washington that the Pisces ran into a reef in a storm and sank within 10 minutes. He said they got to shore in a rubber boat and went to the first house they saw. He said the Cubans offered to help

Captured By Cuba

This fishing boat, converted for a skin diving hobby, was captured by Cubans who seized seven persons including the skipper, Capt. Gordon Patton of Ocean City, Maryland. Friends said Patton was on a skin diving expedition.

Treasure Hunter

Mike Freeman, 37, underwater photographer and owner of a skin diving equipment store in Washington, D.C., was among American treasure hunters under arrest in Cuba. This picture of Freeman, with skin diving equipment, was made in 1958.

Base Personnel Given Awards

A group of Webb AFB personnel recently received cash awards under the Air Force's Management-Improvement Suggestion Program.

Harold W. Danford, supervisory production controller, was presented $35 for an invention to be used in the repair of aircraft safety belts. By using Danford's "spacer," these belts are repaired on base, saving the time taken in processing them off-base. The spacer is locally manufactured. All belts which were previously condemned are now repaired.

Raymond A. Livezey, a machinist, received $25 for a suggestion. He designed a contoured fixture plate and stand to support the outer shell of the J-69 jet engine. This fixture eliminates the chance of getting the basket out of tolerance when adjusting the clearance of the louvers.

Leslie H. Steward received $60 in cash for a brace he devised which eliminates damage to the O-2 oxygen recharger. Steward is a mechanic in the powered ground equipment.

A sustained superior performance rating from May to November 1961, earned Harrel L. Raney $150. Raney is a UHF radio repairman in the communications-electronics section.

Ten year service certificates and emblems were presented to a group of civilians recently by Group Commander L. C. Leonard R. Einstein. Receiving the awards were Doris G. Ballard, James R. Barnett, Roy G. Fraley, Billy W. Green, Arthur B. Barker, Paul J. Peeples and Walter C. Robinson.

Pitcock Rites Slated Today

Lee Ander Pitcock, a former resident of Forsan, died Saturday at 7 a.m. in the home of a son, Harold Pitcock, Midland. Although he had been in failing health for a number of years, his death was not expected. Mr. Pitcock was 58.

The retired farmer and oil field worker was born Nov. 8, 1903 in Paris, Tex. He moved to Forsan from Paris in 1951. He was a member of the Forsan Baptist Church.

Funeral is scheduled for today at 3 p.m. in the River Funeral Home chapel, with the Rev. L. L. Garner, San Angelo, officiating. Interment is to be in the city cemetery.

Mr. Pitcock is survived by two sons, Billy Pitcock, Big Spring, Harold Pitcock, Midland; one daughter, Mrs. Nedlene Speegle, Sand Springs; three brothers, Lum Pitcock, Paris, Lon Pitcock, Grand Prairie, Homer Pitcock, Fort Worth; a half-sister; and seven grandchildren.

Palmer Keeps Lead; Finsterwald Second

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Dogged Arnold Palmer clung to his two-hole lead by firing a 3-under-par 69 Saturday but a stringbean outsider, Dow Finsterwald, moved up as his chief threat with one more round to play in the Masters Golf Tournament.

Palmer's round gave him a three-quarter-point total of 205, matching the 54-hole pace set by Ben Hogan when he established the tournament record of 274 in 1953.

Finsterwald, a 32-year-old tournament tourist from Athens, Ohio, who is called the "bridesmaid" of the circuit, fashioned a brilliant 7-under-par 65 for second place at 207.

This pushed defending champion Gary Player of South Africa back into third place with 209 after a third round 71 and broke up the prospect of another tense Palmer-Player down-to-the-wire duel such as characterized the tournament last year.

In fourth place, apparently the only other man solidly in the title picture, was Gene Littler, the recent U.S. Open champion, who also had a 71 for 210.

Gardner Dickinson Jr., whose 127 points are beginning to show the strain of the hard, tough grind, had an even par 72 for 213. Nobody else seems to have a chance.

A crowd of between 40,000 and 50,000, said to be the largest ever, swarmed over Augusta National's picturesque acres, straining at the ropes, stampeding over the occasional sight of the stars.

The setting was so tense that one spectator collapsed near the green just as Palmer was preparing to putt on the third hole. Play was suspended for about 15 minutes until he could be removed by an ambulance.

Palmer, who had the bulk of the gallery at his heels, climaxed his round by rolling in a 15-foot putt for a birdie 3 at the final hole.

It was on this hole that Palmer blew the championship last year, taking a double bogey 6 when a par 4 would have beaten out Player, the first foreigner to take the crown.

Third-round leaders: Arnold Palmer, Fla., 70-66-69-205; Dow Finsterwald, Tex., 74-65-65-207.

Gary Player, South Africa 67-71-71-209; Gene Littler, Rancho Bernardo, Calif., 70-72-71-210.

Gardner Dickinson Jr., Tex., 71-72-71-210.

Jerry Barber, Los Angeles, 72-72-69-213; Julius Boros, Mid. Penn., N.C., 69-73-72; Gay Brewer Jr., Crystal River, Fla., 71-72-71-214.

Ken Venturi, San Francisco, 73-70-71-216; Mike Souchak, Grossinger, N.Y., 70-72-74-216.

Bill Maxwell, Las Vegas, Nev., 71-73-73-216.

Lionel Hebert, Kern City, Calif., 73-73-71-216.

Lou Balenton Wins Hi Jump At Austin

AUSTIN — Track officials at the Texas Relays play "Indian" games to the HJCJ sprint relay team here Saturday.

The Jayhawks foursome of Herman Robinson, Dean Cheatham, Tommy Yarbro and Don Carter finished in a three-way tie for first place with the University of Texas and the University of Houston. Each was clocked in 42.3.

In the flip for the medals and the winning trophy, the meet officials first awarded the loot to HJCJ and then took it away from the Hawks without explanation and handed it over to Texas.

The Hawks left Austin without knowing why the meet officials changed their minds. Rice was fourth in the event, having been timed in 42.4.

Houston and HJCJ ran in the same heat in the finals.

Lou Balenton of HJCJ picked up a first place in the high jump, with a leap of 6-feet-4.

Odessa Broncs Cop 2-AAAA Track Meet

By LARRY LAWRENCE

ABILENE — Four records fell and one was tied Sunday afternoon at the Abilene Christian College track field, when area thin-clad met in the District 2-AAAA Track and Field meet. Odessa took top honors at the gathering with 99 points.

Abilene thinclads were responsible for breaking three of the records—the 400-yard dash, the pole vault and the 440-yard relays.

In the 400-dash, Chuck Evans marked 49 seconds flat to shatter the record of 49.4, set by Ray Eisenbach of San Angelo in 1957.

Abilene's David Jefferies set a new pole vault record by clearing 13 feet, 8 inches in the final event of the day. Midland's Robert Penn held the previous high, 13 ft. ¼ in., set last year.

Chuck Evans, Rusty Harns, Sonny Jones and Jack Middlebrooks combined to give Abilene another first place and set a new 440-yard relay mark of 42.8. The previous record, 42.9, was set by San Angelo in 1957.

San Angelo's Steve Leddy broke the record for the 220-yard dash when he covered the distance in 20.8 seconds.

Odessa's Mike Ardis was high individual with 22 of the team's 99 points. In team standings, Abilene was second with 95, San Angelo third, 90; Permian, 71; Cooper, 39; Midland, 26 and Big Spring, 15.

Big Spring's points came in the shot put, discus and 120-yard high hurdles. John Scharzenbach finished second in the shot with a toss of 53 ft. ¾ in.; and fourth in the discus 147 ft., 6¼ in. In the 120-yard high hurdles, Eddie Everett was fifth and Eric Nichols was sixth. Scharzenbach collected 12 of his team's points.

Texas Southern Sets Five Relays Records

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Southern's mighty eleven put on the greatest performance in Texas Relays, or any other relays, history Saturday in winning all five of the events in the college division and setting records in every one of them.

The time in the mile relay — 3:09.0 — was the fastest in the nation this year.

Using only eleven runners, Texas Southern swept the 800-yard mile, spring medley, 440-yard and two-mile relays, winning by from 30 to 55 yards.

It was the first time for a college team to dominate the Texas Relays. But the boys from the all-Negro college of Houston, first to appear in the big track and field carnival here, overshadowed the university class like a blanket.

Ray Sadder was the star of the Texas Southern brigade with a 46.0 and 46.3 quarter-mile. Maurice Hobson of Texas Southern ran a 1:50.9 half-mile for another outstanding performance.

Abilene Christian College was the big winner in the university class, taking three relay triumphs, and its Earl Young ran a blazing 45.2 anchor lap in the mile relay — the fastest quarter mile in a relay in the nation this year.

Texas Southern was voted the outstanding team in the Texas Relays and the ballot was unanimous from sports writers covering the big meet.

Previous big winners in relays have been Abilene Christian, Oklahoma Kansas, Oklahoma State and Texas but each took only four. Thus Texas Southern's showing is the greatest in history.

The outstanding athlete of the Texas Relays was Bill Dotson of Kansas, who ran a 4:02.9 mile and 1:49.6 half-mile in leading the Jayhawks to two records. Young was voted second place with seven ballots in nine for Dotson.

All told 14 records were set and one tied in the one day of the finals. Rain wiped out Friday night's program and all of the finals had to be jammed into one morning and afternoon.

Kansas set a record of 7:27.7 in the two-mile relay of the University class. Fred Hansen of Rice hung up a record of 15 feet 6¼ inches in the pole vault.

In the university — college division Kansas romped to a 9-43-4 record in the distance medley and Nebraska set a record of 17:01.8 in the four-mile relay.

The five records set by Texas Southern in the college division were:

Spring medley relay, 3:21.5; 800-yard relay, 1:23.7; two-mile relay, 7:30.6; 440-yard relay, 40.5; mile relay, 3:09.0.

Three records came in the junior college — freshman division. Jim Lancaster of Baylor showed the shot 54 feet 1¼ inches for one. Warren Brattloff of Rice vaulted 14 feet 6 inches for a second and Abilene Christian set a mile relay record of 3:12.6.

Geoff Walker of Houston set a record in the open 3,000-meter steplechase when he made the hurdles and water in 9:11.6. Nebraska tied the 400-yard shuttle relay record in this division with 58.9.

Only one record was set in the high school class where Baytown won three relays to lead the division; Fred Brooker of Austin ran the 120-yard high hurdles in 14.3 for the lone new mark.

Abilene Christian won the junior college — college freshman division with 36 points. Texas was second with 35½ and Baylor third with 30.

Baytown won three relays and its Don Parkhurst won the 100-yard dash in 9.8, but Austin "out-pointed" the Ganders, getting 55 points without winning a relay. Fort Stockton was second with 42 points and Baytown third with 40.

There were some close and thrilling races although Texas Southern didn't figure in any of them — it was so far ahead in each relay that it couldn't reach its true potential.

Laver Bidding For 2nd Title

HOUSTON (AP) — Australia's Rod Laver, the first foreign star ever to capture the coveted title, tries for a second straight River Oaks tennis championship this week.

Laver and Roy Emerson, his Australian Davis Cup teammate, are heavy favorites to stage a rematch of last year's final round. The entry list includes four of the six top ranked U.S. amateurs. The nation's two top ranked players, Whitney Reed and Chuck McKinley, head the U.S. entries. Others include Frank Froehling and Ron Holmberg, ranked 5 and 6.

Emerson is ranked the world's top player but Laver beat him in the 1961 Oaks finals, 7-5, 7-5, 1-6, 6-3. Mervyn Rose of Australia and Luis Ayala of Chile reached the Oaks finals in 1957 and 1958 but Laver was the first foreign entry to take the trophy out of the United States.

San Angelo Wins In 2-AAAA Golf

Great Players Have Worn Houston Toggerly In Past

Houston, a minor league city 73 years, enters a new baseball Tuesday when the Houston Colt 45s formally enter the major leagues.

Organized baseball came to Houston in 1898. That was the year in which Houston became one of the first members of the Texas League.

Except for a 1902-1907 move to the South Texas League, Houston remained in the Texas League until 1959 when a move was made to the American Association.

Saturday's Game Is Moved Back

Player Also A Reporter

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — After Gary Player shoots his round in the Masters Golf Tournament, showers and returns to his hotel, his work is just half done.

Then he must sit down and interview himself for the newspapers. The enterprising little South African is playing a double role here at the Augusta National Club. He is defending his Masters championship, and today is two strokes off Arnold Palmer's pace heading into the third round and he is covering the event for a group of foreign newspapers.

When Player shoots into the lead, as he did on Thursday's opening day with his 67, his duties become double complex. "I don't like to write about myself," Gary explained today, "but when I have a round as I did Thursday, my bosses demand that I not be too modest. They want me to tell how I did it.

"It is difficult, but I attempt to oblige." In effect, the scene might go something like this back in Player's room: "Well, Gary, that was a nice shot today. What was the outstanding feature of it?"

Player, the golfer: "I felt great. Gary. My putting was particularly good. Now on the first hole..." Gary says he sometimes assembles his thoughts in long hand and sends his story by cable. Other times, he will jot down notes and dictate directly to a secretary in New York — like a real professional journalist.

Gary's biggest problem is being honest and maintaining a degree of modesty. "Even when I'm playing exceptionally well," he said, "I can't bring myself around to starting off an article with: 'I was terrific today.'"

Next meeting of the managers will be conducted at 7 p.m. Thursday, April 19, in the Y.

Little League members and interested persons in Big Spring have been invited to attend a general meeting on Wed., April 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Union Building, Howard County Junior College.

The invitation was extended by meeting will be conducted by Marvin T. Bradford, Southern Regional Director of Little League Baseball and a member of the staff at International headquarters in Williamsport, Pa.

As a representative of National headquarters, Marvin Bradford, who has been identified with Little League for more than 12 years, is currently on an extended field trip which will include visits to centers of Little League activities in 14 states.

Marvin Bradford will discuss the state of the National program of Little League baseball and many of its aspects in terms of its relationship to the more than 6,000 leagues in 25 countries.

The agenda will also include local league regulations, incorporation procedures, international tournament plans, 1961-62 tournament financing, senior division plans and local program.

Banner Turnouts To See Operers

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two new clubs, four new managers, three new parks and a bumper crop of rookies will be on display Monday and Tuesday when the big league baseball season opens with the customary pomp and ceremony.

Perhaps "new" hardly is the word for grizzled old Casey Stengel, returning from a one-year retirement at the age of 71 to help the Mets challenge his old Yankee club for New York support. Harry Craft, the Houston skipper, also did time previously as a manager for league manager, serving 2 1/2 terms with Kansas City.

Mel McGaha of Cleveland and Billy Hitchcock of Baltimore, the other two managers, moved up to the big job after serving as coaches.

With new parks at Los Angeles, Washington and Houston, about 340,000 persons are expected to turn out for the 11-game opening program, spread over two days. Of course, the weather man can state that figure.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

The spring football workouts here this year will be climaxed by a May 26 game between the 1962 club and the Exes — those who are still in school.

The contest will take place under the lights at Memorial Stadium, weather permitting. Incidentally, the results of that referendum conducted among school superintendents to retain or throw out spring football training in Class AAAA high schools will be announced at the University Interscholastic League breakfast on May 5.

It's touch and go in the voting now, one hears. Hayden Fry, the SMU mentor, came out strong for the retention of the drills in a recent statement. "It's evident lack of spring training in the lower classifications has hurt the type of football being played in the state. Naturally, I'm selfish about this, but if spring training is done away with altogether we (the colleges) are going to have to play intercollegiate opponents with inferior personnel. It's been proven by and large the football players make better grades during the football season than in the spring. If they keep the boys busy in football during the spring, they will continue to make good grades."

That was a costly rain which washed out the Atlanta 500-mile auto race for the second time recently. They say it cost each car crew about $1,000 to make the trip to Atlanta, then re-crate, while the track lost an estimated $150,000. A crowd of nearly 35,000 was already jammed into the race plant when the meet was postponed March 25.

Some of those isometric exercises which the local high school athletes are taking (topping at eight positions using a crossbar) fags me out just by reading about them. The exercises are the latest thing in school conditioning programs. Olle Cordill, the former Big Spring and Rice football great, has reason to recall Byron (Whizzer) White, who recently was nominated to the U.S. Supreme Court bench by President Kennedy. The two played against each other in the 1938 classic. White passed for one touchdown and ran 47 yards for another after intercepting a pass but Cordill counted one of Rice's four TD's as the Owls raced to a 28-14 win. Rice pounded out 410 yards on offense that day. White was even flashier on defense than he was on offense.

Wismar Wants To Change Grid Season

about Feb. 15. . . Such an arrangement, he points out, would allow the AFL to play its last seven games, about half the season, without any competition from either the NFL or the colleges. . . Wismar says his Titans have lost about $250,000 in gate receipts the past two years in attempting to buck the television of NY Giant home games. . . For that reason, he says, the club will play their future home games on the same dates that the Giants are at home. . . That oil company which sponsored the TV golf matches on some of the world's most famous courses has authorized a series with the same general format for next winter, which means that the matches will be filmed very shortly. . . There'll be 11 such shows, starting in mid-January. . . Al Lange, the former Garden City mentor who is now at Llano, has guided his high school basketball teams to identical 14-11 won-lost records in each of his two years on the job. . . He has yet to beat Brady or Lampasas but the latter school is going AAA next fall and Brady gets hit relatively hard by graduation. . . Llano will be in a six-team district next fall. . . The league adds Mason and Coleman to make up for the loss of Lampasas. . . The other two schools are San Saba and Fredericksburg. . . Snyder High School has now won six straight District 3-AAA track and field championships.

Sunland Park race track, near El Paso, probably will have a continuous 95-day race meet beginning Sept. 28 and continuing through April 28, 1963. . . Le Mesa's race program up in Raton, which will extend for 42 days, will get under way May 19 and extend through Sept. 9. . . Harry Wismar, the seldom-silent winner of the New York Titans of the American Football League, has proposed that the circuit in the future open its seasons the middle of October and finish

Potato Pascual Had A Fine Campaign

Carlos (Potato) Pascual, the one-time Big Spring baseball idol and a brother to the Minnesota Twins' Camilo Pascual, hit .345 in 81 games for Fort Walton Beach in the Alabama-Florida league last season, collecting 95 hits and scoring 58 runs in 275 times at bat. . . He had 18 doubles, one triple and 16 home runs while batting in 68 runs. . . In addition, he made 11 appearances as a pitcher, winning two and losing one, walking 19 and striking out 28 for the Class D club. . . He wouldn't have been eligible for the batting crown, even had he finished first, since a player had to go to bat 372 times to qualify. . . Fort Walton Beach, by the way, drew only 15,003 paying customers, which averages out to less than 134 a game. . . Fidel Alvarez, a former Big Spring hurler, appeared in 53 games for Monterrey and Pozo Rica in the Class AA Mexican League last year, winning six and losing 12. . . Two other Big Spring exes, Witty Quintana and Gil Guerra, were also active in that circuit — Quintana with Veracruz and Guerra with Puebla. . . Quintana, an infielder, hit .270 in 125 games, collecting 116 hits including 23 home runs in 430 at bats. . . He drove in 89 tallies. . . Veracruz played to crowds totaling 205,937 at home, one of the best turnouts in the minors. . . Guerra got in 21 games as a pitcher for Puebla, winning three and losing three. . . Still another former Big Spring star, Ossie Alvarez, played 67 games with Austin of the Texas league and 43 for Denver of the American Association in 1961. . . He hit .240 for Austin and .250 for Denver. . . He had only 15 runs batted in all season. . . One of the sophomore football players at Texas Tech this spring is named Buddy Putty. . . Only Big Spring winner in the West Texas Junior track and field meet at Midland last week was Curtis Fleweller of Lake View JH, a Negro boy competing under the Rannels JH banner. . . He cleared 18 feet 7 inches in the broad jump to get a blue ribbon. . . He's considered a promising all-around athlete.

Celtics Deflate Lakers, 122-108

BOSTON (AP) — Old pro Bob Cousy and the Jones boys brought tired Boston to life for a 122-108 victory over Los Angeles in the opener of the playoff finals Saturday.

The Boston back court men sent the defenders off to a 1-0 edge in the best-of-7 National Basketball Association series which continues here Sunday.

Playing with the master's touch and the abandon of a rookie, Cousy, along with K. C. Jones, sparked a dead-looking club in the early minutes to a fast breaking winner.

Sam Jones, whose shot beat Philadelphia in the Eastern Division final Thursday night, took charge of the Boston scoring with 24 points.

From an early nine-point deficit, Boston moved to a 60-52 halftime lead, then put the verdict out of reach by outscoring the Lakers 35-22 in the third quarter.

Pvt. Elgin Baylor, flown in on leave from Ft. Lewis, Wash., led Los Angeles with 35 points.

Boston stars were numerous as Bill Russell did his usual defensive team center and muscleman. Jim Loscutt enjoyed a strong scoring effort. But none was more appreciated by the 7,467 Boston Garden fans and the national television audience than crippled Frank Ramsey.

When the Lakers made one final bid to narrow the Celtics margin late in the third quarter, Ramsey hobbled on a game leg to six fast points and a standing ovation.

Queens Blank West Texas

HCJC's powerful girls' tennis team scored a sweep at the expense of West Texas State in a series of matches played here Friday.

In singles competition, Hermelinda Lopez of the Jayhawk Queens decisively defeated McAninch of the Canyon School, 6-1, and Lucila DeLeon of HCJC trounced Sharon Campbell of West Texas, 6-1, 6-0.

In doubles play, Mary Griffin and Betty Ellison of HCJC trounced McAninch and Campbell, 6-3, 5-7, 6-1.

Colt 45s Open Play Tuesday With Cubs

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP) — The new Houston Colt 45s added their bit to Texas history Tuesday by making their National League debut against the Chicago Cubs at 1:30 p.m.

In the first major league game in Texas, Houston makes its debut with a starting lineup the club bought for $225,000 from five National and one American League clubs.

A capacity crowd of 32,221 is expected in the new, multi-colored $1.2 million stadium that will be the home of the 45s until an $18 million "rain or shine" domed stadium can be completed in 1964. The Colts' surprise package of spring training exhibitions, will start Bobby Shantz, the little left-hander from Pittsburgh. Chicago will use Don Caldwell, a right-hander who had a 15-14 record last year.

Despite being the team picked most frequently to finish last in the expanded 10-team National League, Houston led the Cactus Division of spring training with a 14-7 record. The team's 16-9 record through Friday was the third best among the 20 major league clubs. The Cubs also were 16-9.

Chicago held a 2-1 spring training record over the Colts. Shantz was credited with the lone Houston victory, scattering seven in seven innings March 22.

Houston's surprising spring training trend has prompted no rash of optimism by General Manager Paul Richards and Field Manager Harry Craft over the 1962 prospects for their long-range building program.

All but one of the Tuesday starters for Houston came from the National League's Oct. 19 player pool. Shortstop Don Buddin came in a trade that sent Ed Bressoud to the Boston Red Sox. Bressoud had been obtained in the pool for $75,000.

Houston bought 23 players in the pool for $1,850,000.

Tuesday's starters include three who brought $125,000—centerfielder Al Spangler from Milwaukee, second baseman Joe Amalfitano from San Francisco and catcher Hal Smith from Pittsburgh.

Shantz, 6-3 last year at Pittsburgh, sold for $75,000, as did first baseman Norm Larker and third baseman Bob Aspromonte from Los Angeles. Roman Mejias from Pittsburgh and Don Taussig from St. Louis.

All but Mejias spent the 1961 season in the minors. Mejias has spent all or part of six seasons with Pittsburgh but appeared in only four early prelate games last year, spending the rest of the season at Columbus.

Shantz, starting his 14th season in the majors, has been a relief specialist the past few years but has expressed hope he can be a regular starter for the Colts. He appeared in 43 games at Pittsburgh last season but started only six and pitched only two complete games.

In addition to Caldwell, the Chicago lineup includes six players who appeared in at least 73 Cub games in 1961. The newcomers are second baseman Ken Hubbs, up from Wichita Falls, Wash., and centerfielder Lou Brock, up from St. Cloud, Minn.

The three-game Cub series includes night games Wednesday and Thursday.

The 45s then move to Philadelphia for four games with the Phillies, to New York for two games with the Mets and to Chicago for two more games with the Cubs.

They return home April 21 for three more games with Philadelphia before entertaining St. Louis and Milwaukee.

The Tuesday debut climaxes a seven-year campaign by a small group of businessmen who wanted to bring major league baseball to Houston.

In its infancy, the Houston Sports Association, now a $5 million corporation that owns the 45s, tried to buy the Philadelphia (now Kansas City) Athletics, Cleveland, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

After the purchase efforts failed the group formally organized the now defunct Continental League that was to have become a third major league.

The probable lineup: Chicago: Brock cf, Hubbs 2b, Williams lf, Altman rf, Banks 1b, Santo 3b, Rodgers ss, Taylor c, Cardwell p.

Houston: Spangler cf, Amalfitano 2b, Larker 1b, Mejias rf, Smith c, Taussig lf, Aspromonte 3b, Buddin ss, Shantz p.

FOR TOURNAMENT

Bass Fishermen To San Angelo

By The Associated Press
The Big Bass fishermen are headed for a big Bass search at two San Angelo lakes—Nasworthy and North Concho.

The State Bass Tournament opens there Wednesday with some of the top fishermen in the state on hand.

The second annual Bolly Wilson Deep Sea Rodeo is set for July 6-8, with alternate dates of July 13-15 in a case of bad weather. Entrants will be trying hardest for a sailfish. Last year several were raised but none landed. The first person bringing a sail back through the mouth of the Colorado River gets two big engraved trophies and other prizes.

The state game and fish commission announces that the size limit of oysters taken from private oyster locations has been reduced from 3 1/2 to 2 1/2 inches.

Oysters may be harvested on private locations only by permit from the commission, according to a recent opinion from the state attorney general.

The Texas Parks Board meets April 6 in Uvalde.

"Fake antiques are the bane of both dealers and collectors," says Henry Stowers in this month's issue of the Texas Game and Fish Magazine put out by the commission. The article includes pictures of guns from the collection of Dallas gun collector Leon Jackson.

Garvis Norris, engineer of the port of Houston's Boat San Houston, says the pollution of the Houston Channel with waste, sewage and chemicals is killing the fish. He blamed particularly the great masses of white detergent suds from thousands of washing machines. "If we don't stop this pollution now, in 10 years, there won't be any fish or wildlife in Galveston Bay," Norris said in a Houston Post story.

The bayshore Rod, Reel and Gun Club has scheduled meetings to consider the problem.

Applications for employment of a limited number of game wardens are now being accepted by the Game and Fish Commission. Applicants selected will be employed in September, 1962, and will attend a 16-week game warden training course in Texas A&M college early in 1963.

The State Parks Board compiled fishing reports from various state parks areas showing: Tyler State Park—Bass fishing good. The lake has had a total fish kill and has been restocked. Bass now being taken in quantity are not large but some run to three pounds.

Fort Parker—Sizeable crappies are being taken on minnows. Trout line fishermen are snagging many catfish.

Lake Greenwood—Channel cat fishing continues good.

Huntsville—Bass hitting good. Catches include five pounds.

Lake Corpus Christi—Bass and catfish biting.

Injured Boxer Is Improved

BLUEFIELD, W.Va. (AP)—Heavyweight Tunney Hunsaker's condition improved very slightly but remained grave Saturday after surgery for a brain injury suffered in what he said might be his last fight.

Dr. E. Lyle Gage, who performed the midnight surgery on the 30-year-old boxer, gave him a 50-50 chance of recovery. Gage said Saturday, "In 48 hours we'll know. All signs are favorable."

While Hunsaker lay unconscious in an oxygen tent, former welterweight champion Benny (Kid) Paret was buried Saturday in Miami. Paret died of brain injuries in New York last Tuesday, 10 days after losing his title to Emilio Griffith.

Paret's death gave rise to demands for tighter restrictions on boxing, including some suggestions that it be banned entirely.

Joe Sheldon of Cleveland knocked Hunsaker out in the final round of his 10-round fight Friday night in Beckley, 45 miles from here.

Ring attendants revived Hunsaker where he had fallen and lifted him to a chair brought into the ring from his corner. There he told a Beckley sports writer, George McLaughlin of the Raleigh Register, "I want to fight him again. . . I'm okay."

But Hunsaker collapsed while being examined by the ring physician. In a coma, he was taken briefly to a Beckley hospital, then was brought by ambulance to Bluefield, still wearing only boxing trunks and gym shoes.

McLaughlin said Hunsaker, who had been fighting professionally since 1958, told him earlier he might quit fighting after the bout with Sheldon.

Hunsaker, once Texas Golden Gloves champion, formerly was police chief of Fayetteville, W. Va. He currently is a field investigator for the West Virginia Beer Commission.

Three Sites Staked In Garza County

Weekend activity reports show three new sites staked in Garza County. All are in the Post (Glorieta) field.

Dr. Sam G. Dunn, Lubbock, No. 2 Charles A. Bird is projected to 3,000 feet by rotary tool about 10 miles east of Post. It spots 1,650 feet from the north and 1,980 feet from the west lines of section 3-8.

H&GN survey, on a 160-acre lease. Dr. Sam G. Dunn No. 3 Bird, spotting 1,650 feet from the north and 660 feet from the west lines of the same section, is contracted to 3,000 feet. It is on a 160-acre lease some 10 miles east of Post.

The third Post site is Dr. Sam G. Dunn No. 4 Bird. It is to bottom at 3,000 feet and is 330 feet from the north and 790 feet from the west lines of section 3-8, H&GN survey.

In Glasscock County, two TXL projects were reported making holes. The No. 1 Currie, spotting C SW SW, section 22-34-38, T&P survey, is digging below 4,905 feet in lime and shale. This explorer is about five miles west of Garden City and four miles southwest of the Carter field.

The No. 1 Clyde Reynolds, a 6,800-foot venture about 17 miles east of Garden City, is drilling through an unreported formation below 3,967 feet. It spots C NE NE, section 24-32-48, T&P survey, about 2 1/2 miles east northeast of the Clyde Reynolds field and separated from it by a 9,801-foot failure.

Cosden Markets New Styrene

A new type of Cosden polystyrene will make its debut Monday at the National Packaging Exposition in New York, N. Y.

The resin, identified as High Flex 825 Polystyrene, is produced locally by Cosden Petroleum Corp., a subsidiary of W. R. Grace and Co., and is being marketed by Cosden and the Polymer Chemicals Division of Grace.

This polystyrene makes possible the toughest and most durable thin wall food containers ever produced from styrene sheet material. Containers made from the resin can be capped on automatic filling lines and subjected to rough handling in shipment without cracking.

The styrene resin is intended for fashioning into containers for cottage cheese, ice cream, jellies, desserts and cereals. It was first produced in commercial quantities last week, after six months of field evaluation, and initial volume shipments are already in the hands of container producers.

The Packaging Show, which will be staged at the Coliseum in New York Monday through Wednesday, coincides with the observance of Chemical Progress Week, April 9-13. On hand will be sales representatives from Polymer Chemicals Division as well as from Cosden. The latter will include W. R. Claypoole, Paul Ames, Richard Cordasco and Frank Eck, president of Cosden Petrochemical Corp.

Cosden has been manufacturing polystyrene since June 1958. Its product line embraces a complete range of resins, from general purpose crystal to high impact material.

Market studies indicate that 45 to 50 million pounds of high impact polystyrene was sold in 1961 for vacuum-formed rigid containers, and that this consumption will double in 1962 and will reach an estimated 250 million pounds by 1965.

High Flex containers hold an important place in the future of the packaging industry because of their availability in a wide assortment of color, the economy of density by light weight and low bulk density, and eye and touch appeal of plastics.

Permian Basin Rotaries Increase By 38 In Week

Rotary drilling in West Texas and Southeast New Mexico took a big jump during the week ending Friday, climbing to 257 active units, according to a Reed Roller Bit Co. survey.

This is 38 more rigs than were making hole the previous week and 31 more than for the same time a year ago.

Lea County, N. M., with 41 units, was the most active county in the Permian Basin Empire. Other more active counties include Crane and Ector, each with 15, and Pecos, 12.

The local eight - county area picked up two units during the week, showing 27 rigs going.

Dawson County took top position, climbing from six to nine at week's end, while Martin County dropped into second place going from seven units to six.

Howard County remained the same at five rigs. Garza County gained one unit, going to three.

A county-by-county survey, with the previous week's figures in parentheses, looks like this:

181 Oilers Completed

AUSTIN — The Railroad Commission reported Saturday 181 oil and 64 gas well completions during the week.

There were 65 dry holes. The completions make 2,659 oil and 898 gas wells for the year, compared to 2,396 oil and 670 gas wells in 1961.

Seven oil and 32 gas wildcats were drilled. Dry holes totaled 39 in the wildcat class.

The total average calendar day allowable April 7 was 2,748,235 barrels, an increase of 1,648.

Bracero Legislation Set For Consideration

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Far-reaching legislation designed to improve the lot of domestic migratory farm workers is to be considered at a closed meeting of a Senate education and labor subcommittee next Wednesday.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., introduced the bill and it is co-sponsored by five other senators.

The measure would place under the secretary of labor a program for recruiting, transporting and caring for U.S. citizen farm workers. It would be much like one now applied to Mexican farm hands brought into this country under a treaty with Mexico.

While the pending legislation does not apply to the Mexicans—known as braceros—it could affect the demand for the legally admitted Mexican workers.

Some witnesses who supported the bill during subcommittee hearings contended that braceros would not be needed if American employers paid domestic farm workers high wages and provided the same fringe benefits given Mexicans.

PAY FEE
As he must do when hiring braceros, a U.S. employer would have to pay a fixed amount—yet to be set but not to exceed $15—for each worker he hired under the proposed program.

This fee would be designed to cover the cost of recruiting and transporting the laborers and their families and providing housing and medical care for them during the time they were waiting to go on to a new job.

Most of the migratory farm hands work on seasonal crops and are periodically unemployed. Under the program, an employer would be required to hire them for not less than 160 hours in a four-week period, at the prevailing hourly wage rate paid local workers for similar labor.

Employers would be required also to provide, at no cost to workers, compensation insurance to cover medical care and disability from accidents, as is now required for braceros.

The employer would be supplied a replacement worker at no additional cost if the one he received did not do his part in fulfilling the contract. He would be free also to hire any worker independently of the Labor Department recruiting system if he were able to find such a worker.

IMPRACTICAL
Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., vice chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, which handles bracero legislation, said the recruitment program provided for in the Senate bill would be impractical.

Referring the Senate bill sponsors, he said:

"They really don't believe we need the outside farm labor—the braceros.

"They contend there are enough unemployed persons in the towns to fill the need for workers on the farms. History shows this method of obtaining farm hands won't work. It's been tried and failed. They quit the farm job in a few weeks and go back to the cities."

From practical and financial standpoints, the importation of braceros is preferable to a government-operated program of recruiting and transporting domestic migratory farm workers, Poage said.

"The braceros are single men, or at least do not bring their families across the border with them," he continued.

"Domestic workers, for the most part, wouldn't move about the nation without taking their families with them. This means schooling for the children as well as their housing and medical care."

SATISFACTORY
Poage said the Mexican Farm Labor Program, now authorized to continue through 1963, is moving along satisfactorily with more than enough braceros presently available to meet needs.

As is the case in the bracero program, the secretary of labor would have to determine that a farm labor shortage existed before he certified an area eligible for domestic workers under the proposed new Migratory Worker Program.

The pending bill authorizes the appropriation of such sums as would be needed to carry out its provisions.

It is co-sponsored by Sens. Joseph Clark, D-Pa.; Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn.; Quentin Burdick, D-N.D.; Benjamin A. Smith II, D-Mass.; and Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn.

Similar legislation is pending before the House Labor Committee.

Grace Board Authorizes Stock Split

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The board of directors of W. R. Grace and Co. Thursday authorized a two-for-one split of common stock effective May 14.

The change in capital structure to effect this split is subject to the approval of stockholders at an annual meeting May 10. At this meeting a revised certificate of incorporation and by-laws will also be presented for approval.

The directors declared a quarterly cash dividend equivalent to 22 1/2 cents a share on the basis of the split stock. The dividend is payable June 11 to stockholders of record May 14. This represents an increase in the annual rate on the basis of the split shares from 80 cents to 90 cents a share.

The split up of the common shares will not change the voting power of either the preferred stocks or the common stock.

No Reduction Foreseen In Oil Depletion Allowance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The long-debated oil and gas depletion allowance has come under attack again in the Senate Finance Committee but there appears to be no prospect that it will be reduced this year.

Senators long convinced that the allowance is overgenerous have seized the hearings now under way on President Kennedy's tax revision bill as an opportunity to renew their attack.

A check of the 17-member committee Saturday showed that they could hope for no more than four or five votes to reduce the benefit.

Their prospects might be somewhat better on the floor. But Senate votes in recent years have shown that forces seeking to cut back the allowance are short of a majority.

The allowance permits an oil and gas producer to deduct 27 1/2 per cent of his gross income from this source in figuring his income tax, up to a maximum of 50 per cent of his net income.

Supporters of the provision contend it is proper since oil and gas are a wasting asset that is used up as consumed. They also argue that it is essential to encourage continued exploration to keep American reserves at a high level.

Advocates of a reduction have been hoping for some backing from the Kennedy administration and received an indication at the committee hearings this week they may get it later. Kennedy as a senator voted to cut the allowances in 1958 and 1960.

DILLON
Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon told Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., as the hearings opened that the chances are that there will be some suggestions made on the oil and gas allowances.

But he added that the problem is what to suggest as a fair corrective and explained that the Treasury had not completed its studies.

Dillon said any recommendations probably would be included in a second broad tax bill which the administration plans to submit for congressional action next year.

The Treasury hopes to recommend income tax cuts in this measure, and will be looking for offsetting ways to recoup revenue.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-DeL., told the secretary the Treasury has been studying the allowances for a long time.

Williams recalled that former President Harry S. Truman told Congress in 1950 that the allowances were a shocking example of how present tax loopholes permit a few to gain enormous wealth without paying their fair share of taxes.

Williams said he would push for an amendment to cut the allowance to 20 per cent, coupling it with a proposal to reduce the top personal income tax rate from 70 to 60 per cent. This proposal would mean a net saving of $120 million a year to the Treasury, he said.

Gore told a reporter that in an effort to dramatize the effects of the allowance, he might propose that it be cut off once an operator had received 1,000 per cent of his costs.

ACS Meet To Take Up Polymers

Marketing problems of polymers will be the subject of discussion at a meeting of the Permian Basin section of the American Chemical Society Tuesday night.

The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. at the Holiday Inn Restaurant, on US Highway 80, between Odessa and Midland.

G. H. Curtis, Pace Company, Houston, will be guest speaker. He has lived in Texas five years, coming here from New Jersey. He is a graduate of the University of Illinois.

Curtis has worked for Pace since 1961. Previously he spent five years with the Bakelite Division of Union Carbide and 2 1/2 years with Chemstrand. He was also affiliated with the Lion Oil Co. of Monsanto.

Awards will be presented to outstanding chemistry students at Sul Ross College.

Jerry Higgins, Walnut Creek, will receive the award sponsored by the Permian Basin section of the society. He is a senior.

Receiving the junior's award will be David Karvonen, Alpine. This award is given by Cosden Petroleum Corp.

Recipients have not yet been selected for the sophomore award, given by Phillips Petroleum Co., and the freshman award, sponsored by the Sul Ross Chapter of the Gamma Sigma Epsilon chemical fraternity.

Employees Get Awards

Employees of three major operating divisions of Phillips Petroleum Co. placed first in safety rankings in the National Safety Council Contest for 1961.

Four other divisions of the company and its wholly owned subsidiary, Phillips Chemical Co., were also recognized for outstanding safety achievement during the year.

Achieving first places in their fields are employees of the production department, natural gas department and the Bartlesville employees of the research and development department.

Drilling division employees of the production department ranked second in their section of the contest and employees of the Panhandle district of the natural gasoline department placed third in their division. The rankings are based on frequencies of disabling injuries per million man - hours worked.

New Wells Under Lake

MIDLAND — James G. Brown and associates said Saturday they have completed three deep wells in a new gas-condensate pool on the west side of Eagle Lake in Colorado County.

All three wells were drilled from the same site on the 2,000-acre lake, 6 1/2 miles east of Houston and one mile west of the town of Eagle Lake.

Brown and Associates No. 1 Adah M. Winterman, a wildcat, completed drilling in November. The second well was dry. The third was a producer and confirmation of the discovery.

The producers are directional holes bottomed out under the lake. The failure is a conventionally-drilled vertical well which did not attempt to go under the lake.

Both successful wells presently are shut in while gas sales contracts are being negotiated. They developed production in the Wilcox sand and are three miles west of the nearest proven areas — the Starlite and Eagle Lake pools.

Dow Invents Cement Mixer

A new method of high speed continuous mixing of dense slurries has been developed by engineers of Dowell Division of The Dow Chemical Co.

This new equipment has been adapted particularly to mixing Portland Cement slurries for oil and gas wells.

The mixing involves pressuring fluid and aerated dry solids into a lump - free, homogenous cement slurry.

The mixing equipment is simple in design. It consists of a special housing with inlets for putting the fluid and dry cement into turbulent flow. The entire assembly is mounted on the rear of the firm's double pump cementing trucks.

There are no moving parts in the mixer and no shafts to connect or disconnect. Neither is there any auxiliary equipment or additional flow lines to hook-up.

Dry cement is supplied by air pressure through hoses from bulk transports directly into the mixer. The mixer is designed to handle cement in sacks as well as bulk form. Dry material agents can be added during the mixing when necessary. Practically no dust is formed.

The equipment will handle any currently known types of oil well cements and has proven to produce excellent mixing of high gel cements.

The pressurized inlet to the triple pumps incorporates a densitometer for accurate slurry weight control.

ECONOMY GAS

Sales Success Is Still In Doubt

HOUSTON (AP)— Oil refiners will be watching customer buying habits very closely this summer.

Some believe customer habits will knock the new economy grade gasolines from the market. Others disagree. Others still are studying the marketing maneuvering that began last fall.

Gulf Oil Corp. began marketing a sub-regular grade in November. Phillips has been testing a similar grade. Humble added a new twist by starting market tests of a middle grade that falls between regular and premium grades in quality and price.

John Swearingin, president of Standard Oil Co. (Indiana), asserts that the economy or sub-regular grades will not be successful.

Swearingin believes the two-grade system of regular and premium will be best for Indiana Standard customers.

"Generally, where the new low quality gasoline has appeared all gasoline prices have weakened, in some cases, ridiculously so," he said. "This low product quality seems to be a backward rather than a forward step."

Gulf has been reluctant to discuss results of their new marketing program. They have indicated they are pleased.

"Gulfane is strictly an economy brand lower in quality and price than regular grade," one Gulf man said. "It is not a price cutting brand. Our dealers have not let the market down in any area. Gulfane has been priced with competitive brands."

Humble also has been reluctant to discuss the middle grade tests that have been on in Texas and in the Pittsburgh, Pa., and Norfolk, Va., areas.

"The results have been beyond expectations," one official said, however.

Reluctant Chiefs Endorse Army's Regrouping Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chiefs of the National Guard and the Army Reserve have endorsed without enthusiasm the Pentagon's plan to carve up divisions under their commands.

"Within the strength and budget guidelines, the Army has produced the best possible plan," Maj. Gen. D. W. McGowan told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee.

McGowan, chief of the National Guard Bureau, and Maj. Gen. Frederick Warren, chief of the Army Reserve, testified Friday at a hearing on the proposed regrouping of the guard and reserves.

The plan would eliminate four National Guard and four Reserve infantry divisions and put most of eight divisions' men in brigades. Some 824 smaller units would be dropped.

Both generals endorsed the plan but conceded under questioning they weren't happy about it.

Undersecretary of the Army Stephen Ailes testified the proposed realignment would give the Army the ability to "achieve a limited, rapid expansion" and to "mobilize all our strength for the long pull." He said there would be a high priority brigade in every section where a division is eliminated.

Contract Dispute On Wages Settled

WOOD RIVER, Ill. (AP)—The American Oil Co. and the Independent Oil Workers Union have settled a prolonged contract dispute with a tentative agreement on a 3 per cent wage increase in an 18-month pact.

It will become effective upon ratification by union members. It will be submitted to them next week. Under the old contract, which expired six weeks ago, the average hourly wage was $3.21. The union twice had postponed a threatened six-state strike.

The contract would cover about 7,000 employees at Wood River; Casper, Wyo.; Yorktown, Va.; Whiting, Ind.; Mandan, N.D.; and Needlesha, Kan.

Pharr City Workers Quit

PHARR, Tex. (AP)—This Lower Rio Grande Valley city of 10,000 was virtually without police protection Saturday after the mass resignation of city employees.

Sixteen city employees, including six policemen, resigned at a meeting of the outgoing City Commission.

The new commission headed by Mayor-elect R. S. Bowe takes over Tuesday. Four new commissioners will also be installed.

Other city employees were reported preparing resignations. It was indicated that only Police Chief John Payton and a dispatcher would remain after the shift change late Saturday.

The departing City Commission placed outgoing Mayor W. S. Walters in charge of the police force. Walters did not seek reelection.

Former Resident Of Forsan Dies

Mr. Green lived at 850 Pacific Ave. in Long Beach at the time of his death. Both father and son had been associated with the American Maracabio Oil Co. while living at Forsan.

IN ALGERIA

French Vote May End Bloodshed

ALGIERS (AP) — The French-Algerian Provisional Executive Council over internal administration of Algeria Saturday.

The referendum is expected to voice overwhelming endorsement of President Charles de Gaulle's policy of self-determination for Algeria's nine million Moslems and million Europeans.

French officials predicted the referendum will mark the beginning of the end of the European settlers' resistance to a peace settlement with the Algerian nationalists.

But the secret army, the underground arm of the European settlers' resistance, was much in evidence as the Provisional Executive of nine Moslems and three Europeans assembled 30 miles east of Algiers at the fortified center of Rocher Noir for the inaugural.

Fearing a secret army attack on Rocher Noir, the French army and riot police set up roadblocks around the administrative center.

De Gaulle Of France

Gen. Charles de Gaulle, sketched by AP artist John A. Carlton, has strengthened his leadership of France by the Algerian settlement.

Artist Has Show At Monahans Park

A collection of the works of Terry Patterson, some 40 in all, will be on display throughout April in the museum at Sandhills State Park near Monahans. The exhibit is open on Saturdays and Sundays, between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Mrs. Patterson's works were put on display Saturday and she was to be honored with a tea this afternoon by the Women's Clubs of Monahans, earmarking the opening of the one-artist show.

The current show for Mrs. Patterson is her 17th. She has had others at Lubbock, Canyon, Houston, Austin, Dallas, Midland, Odessa, and New York City. Several of her works have gone on tour and one was chosen for a show in Germany.

Mrs. Patterson, who became interested in art as therapy following an illness, is represented in many collections, including Grumbacher, Inc. and General Motors Corp. Locally, her paintings hang in the Howard County Court

TERRY PATTERSON

House, Howard County Junior College, Forsan Public School, Big Spring Police Station, Cosden Pe-roleum Corp., and in the homes of a number of individuals.

She is a member of the American Federation of Artists and many local and area clubs. She is associated with the Texas Fine Arts Association and on its board of trustees. She holds many awards.

Besides her personal work, Mrs. Patterson teaches art at HCJC and is a volunteer instructor in arts and crafts for the YMCA. She also serves on the adult program committee of the Y and is sponsor for the Y's HCJC branch.

Thorburn Attends Practice Exercise

George W. Thorburn, 625 McEwen, is in Austin this weekend to take part in the first annual "Operation Arrowhead," a practice military exercise designed to give 75 key officers and enlisted men of the 36th (Texas) Infantry Division training in staff operation at the command post level.

Thorburn, a lieutenant colonel in the National Guard, is inspector general for the 36th Division. Brigadier General Everett S. Simpson of Amarillo will direct the two day exercise.

"The modern fighting force is only as good as its leaders," he explained. "In 'Operation Arrowhead' we will give officers of the 36th additional training in their combat missions."

Working from maps which show a hypothetical nuclear war situation, staff officers will plan the strategy for an attack and initiate the action necessary to insure its success, such as ammunition requirements, food supply, orders for artillery support, etc.

Reservists Misplaced, Probers Find

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials have found a significant number of Army reservists called to active duty last fall were assigned jobs far removed from what they had been trained to do.

As a result, valuable military and civilian skills were wasted and many men had to be retrained, said probers from the General Accounting Office. GAO is an investigative arm of Congress.

The investigators cited examples such as these: A heavy weapons infantryman with 26 months in the Marines was mobilized as a medical specialist;

Another Reservist with more than four years military training as a construction draftsman was assigned to become a diver; and

A graduate chemical engineer with two years' active duty as a chemical warfare unit commander was ordered up as a petroleum depot platoon leader.

The report said a survey made by the adjutant general last fall showed that of 5,011 mobilized Reservists who were checked only 47 per cent were scheduled for the kind of military specialty job they had filled while on active duty.

The findings of the GAO investigators are contained in the draft of a secret report to be submitted to the House Armed Services Committee which will open hearings on Reserve policy on April 16.

The study covered certain selected Army Reserve units on the West Coast. No individual soldiers were identified.

In view of the findings, the GAO team said it has extended its probe of Reserve assignments to other Army corps and to the Navy Air Force, Marines and National Guard organizations.

"Our limited review has shown that a serious problem exists in the assignment of personnel in the ready reserve of the Army," the report said.

"Many of these individuals have valuable skills, acquired during their duty with the active military forces, which are wasted."

"A potentially more serious matter is the inability of reserve units to promptly and effectively carry out their assigned missions."

The GAO investigators blamed the situation on an overriding emphasis on keeping units at their authorized strength, regardless of the qualifications of the men to fill unit vacancies.

They said they found similar conditions in Reserve units still on inactive duty.

By contrast, the investigators found that men taken from the Army Reserve reinforcement pool to fill vacancies in mobilized units were generally considered by the unit commanders to be qualified for the positions assigned and to require little additional training in their specialties.

Those from the pool—who did not drill regularly with any unit before being called up—were selected on the basis of previous experience and training.

The Army last year mustered nearly 120,000 men, some 36,000 in Reserve units, more than 39,000 from the Reserve reinforcement pool and the rest from the National Guard.

The GAO study was conducted over the last three months of 1961—a period in which 156,000 Guardsmen and Reservists of all the services were being mobilized.

LEGAL REPERCUSSIONS?

2 Freed When Murder Jury Fails To Form

SNEEDVILLE, Tenn. — The preacher said he had to preach a funeral. Teachers said they had to teach. But most said flatly they were prejudiced.

So, unable to seat a jury after five days, Circuit Court Judge Wayne Oliver dismissed murder charges Friday against two men accused in the slaying of two deputy sheriffs.

Lawyers believed it a precedent in state legal history and perhaps in the nation.

Only two jurors had been selected from 1,400 citizens—practically every adult in this small mountain village—for the trial of Carl Myers, 39, and James Horton, 19.

State troopers had been ordered onto the streets to find prospective jurors. Twenty-seven veniremen were fined up to $25 for failing to answer court summons.

"It is a sad, deplorable, regrettable, terrible fact that a jury cannot be had in this county," Oliver said in dismissing the charges. "The community is at a standstill so far as these cases are concerned."

Special prosecutor Edward Friar said, "Our inability to get a jury represents a complete breakdown in the judicial process."

"It is impossible to accept as final a situation where innocent men cannot be accorded a trial to have their records cleared or guilty men cannot be meted their just punishment," Friar added. "The repercussions of this situation are endless."

The defendants refused to consent to moving the trial to another county. Under state law they have the right to be tried in the county where the offense was committed.

Myers and Horton were accused of killing deputies Lon Tyler and Alex Morris in a gunbattle last April. They also were charged with felonious assault on a sheriff.

In an earlier trial for the pair last fall, a jury tried to retract its verdict after returning a decision against Myers and Horton and acquitting four other defendants originally charged in the case.

A mistrial resulted, and the State Supreme Court later upheld the trial judge in saying the verdict could not be withdrawn. The acquittal of the four stood, but new trials were ordered for Myers and Horton.

SIC Reports On Condition

Marked increases in net earnings, total volume, receivables outstanding, and a marked reduction in credit losses, were announced by R. Earl O'Keefe, chairman of the board, in the 63rd Semi-Annual Report to stockholders and employees of Southwestern Investment Company.

For the six-month period ending Feb. 28, 1962 net earnings after preferred stock dividends rose 17 per cent to 48 cents per share on the common stock outstanding. Earnings for the comparable period in 1961 were 38 cents for the first six months and 78 cents for the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, 1961.

Business volume to date totaled $87,697,471, an increase of 16.7 per cent over last year's volume of $75,150,960 for the similar period. Outstanding receivables totaled $97,364,943 on Feb. 28, an increase of 5.46 per cent since the beginning of the fiscal year.

Improvement in economic conditions lessened expenses and resulted in a more favorable credit loss experience during the first six months. Net credit losses were equal to .8 per cent of loan and discount liquidations, exclusive of wholesale. The previous year's figure for the comparable period was 1.39 per cent. This improved credit loss experience, coupled with an improvement in loss ratios in the insurance division and a reduction in operating expenses, including interest costs on borrowed funds, contributed materially to the increase in earnings on common stock.

New offices have been opened in Albuquerque, N. M., and in Enid and Ponca City, Okla., bringing the company's total number of offices to 54 in five states. Plans call for at least four additional offices to be opened before Aug. 31.

Continental Has Flight Changes

A schedule change for Continental Airlines' two flights through Big Spring, effective July 15, has been announced.

Flight 182, a DC-3, will arrive from the west at 1:27 p.m. each day instead of 11:56. The flight will arrive in Abilene at 2:19, Fort Worth at 3:31 and Dallas at 3:49 p.m.

Flight 187 from the east, will arrive at 7:26 p.m. instead of the present 8:19 arrival time. It will leave Dallas at 5 p.m., Fort Worth 5:18 p.m. and Abilene at 6:32 p.m.

The new times will put Flight 182 out of Big Spring one hour and 31 minutes later in the day, and Flight 187 into Big Spring from the east 55 minutes earlier.

FASHION FAIR

INTERNATIONAL CLASSIC is the white crepe "twist" dress, a sleek drape of sheath with waterfall fringe extending from neckline to hem and caught in at the waist with a self belt. The lyric lines of this "bell-of-the-ball" dress is a composition by Oleg Cassini. White pendant earrings, white silk shoes and gloves make a dazzling total. Mrs. James Duncan is the model.

INTERNATIONAL

Flags of the nations were unfurled for a fashion extravaganza at the Big Spring Country Club Friday and Saturday when Swartz's presented "International Fashion Fair." The first showing of spring styles was on Friday for convention guests of XYZ. Saturday, the elegant display of styles was repeated for a luncheon given by the Ladies' Golf Association of the club. As a decorative introduction to the "Fair," flags of the nations and appropriate quotation from Walt Whitman formed an easel display in the club foyer. A standard bearing the Star and Stripes completed the entrance decor. A replica of the United Nations flag formed a backdrop for the stage which was marked with a pedestaled world globe and flag. Fabulously gowned models were introduced and paraded sedately before capacity audiences on both occasions. The program concluded with a grand finale when each model was escorted before the audience by a member of the International Club in her native attire. The Color Guard of Boy Scout Troop No. 1 then presented the colors as Mrs. Don Newsom came forward, resplendent in colors of Old Glory, to sing "God Bless America."

MAGNIFICENTLY REGAL is the cloak of white satin and pretty-enough-for-a-princess dress worn by Mrs. Hayes Strippling Jr. The coat margin is swept with silver and crystal bugle beads and rhinestones. Additional jewelry creates a peplum effect at the waist of the dress. Long white gloves, white satin shoes and crystal earrings complete this magnificent evening costume by Frank Starr.

FAULTLESSLY FASHIONED is the silk theatre suit in captivating cool black and iceberg white by designer Paul Parnes. Mrs. Truman Jones wears the slim skirt and brief velvet colored jacket with a white silk overblouse ap-pliqued with re-embroidered black lace. The same motif is repeated in the jacket. Great white organza roses by Schiaparelli compose her Easter bonnet, and black jet, her jewelry.

STUDY IN BLACK AND WHITE is the side-slashed sheath of sculptured white cotton revealing an underskirt of black pique. Belted and bowed in black patent, the dress trim is repeated in her shoes. Mrs. Robert Johnson added chalk white jewelry, black gloves and a final touch of sophistication — a saucy black saucer in rough glossy straw.

EPITOME OF GLAMOUR is the little black dress worn by Mrs. Don Newsom. This is a shimmering, glimmering nightfall of black chiffon beneath a star shower of jet. With the superbly simple sheath Mrs. Newsom wears black silk shoes and gloves and black pendant earrings. A rhapsody in black, the sheath's contrast is noted in a white velvet headband.

Space-Saver Box Has Tissue Count

A manufacturer of facial tissues is bucking the trend toward large-er, giant-sized packages. Being introduced now are space-saver tissues in packages 40 per cent smaller than before, yet they contain the same number of tissues. The smaller box means more space on home storage shelves, on grocery shelves and in warehouses. A unique process which squeezes out excess air from the tissues allows the more compact package. A 400-tissue box now is only slightly larger than the regular 200-tissue package, while the new 200-tissue box is only 1 1/4 inches high. A new size being introduced is a 600-tissue box which is about the same height as the regular 400-tissue package. The squeezing process also provides improved tissue texture and smoothness. The tissues are available in four colors.

'ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

Paul Stark Smith, father of MRS. WILSON BANKS, left Wednesday for his home in San Francisco, Calif., but it won't surprise those who met him during his visit here if he doesn't come back very soon. Mr. Smith seemed to enjoy Big Spring and those friends of the Bankses he met during his stay here. We hope he'll come back and stay longer.

MR. and MRS. J. P. GORDON and MR. and MRS. RAY SHORTES are expected to return this evening from Ft. Polk, La., where they have been since Thursday visiting their children and grandchildren, M. SGT. and MRS. LARRY SHORTES, Chris and Connie. The group set their visit up a day when they learned M. Sgt. Shortes had received an injury to his back in field training although his wife assured them it was not a serious injury, only a painful one.

When STEVIE WOLF, son of MR. and MRS. JACK WOLF of Vincent, got cards on his fifth birthday recently he was surprised to get two from his grandmother, MRS. LOYD BRANON. Mrs. Branon was surprised to find out he had received two as she had lost the first one she bought and purchased and mailed the second. Some thoughtful soul found the addressed but unstamped card and thoughtfully placed a stamp on it and mailed it to Stevie.

MISS MARIE McDONALD was the guest of MRS. ROY LOVE-LACE in Lubbock Friday night for the benefit appearance of AMY VANDERBILT who was sponsored by the Lubbock Business and Professional Women's Club. Miss McDonald, who is treasurer of the local B&PW, attended the dinner and reception at the Plainsman for Miss Vanderbilt before going to the lecture on "Living."

MR. and MRS. RALPH QUINN left Saturday morning for a week in San Antonio before going to Phoenix, Ariz., where they will live for several months. Their friends in Big Spring will look forward to having the popular couple return for occasional visits.

The artistry of PAT RIVARD of Santa Fe, N. M., daughter of MRS. TOT STALCUP is being revealed through another channel—her original designs on Christmas stockings and other Christmas decor. Mrs. Rivard is an artist with pastels and has sold much of her work in this area. Her Christmas stockings are in a class of their own. They are fashioned from colorful felt as are many but they reach a class of their own with the designs done in intricate detail. She has told the stories of the nursery rhymes, "Baa Baa Black Sheep," "Humpty Dumpty," before and after his fall, "Peter, Peter," also Red Riding Hood and the Ugly Duckling. The Surrey With the Fringe on Top is especially delightful. Every detail is skillfully executed even to the little lady's bun on the back of her neck.

If one has an opportunity to see these stockings and card holders she should not just glance at them—study them for the cleverness of making the scene, such as the individually wrapped and decorated packages at the base of a Christmas tree. MRS. STALCUP plans to leave Monday or Tuesday for Santa Fe, where she will join Mrs. Rivard in operating Rivard's Originals.

She is looking forward to being with her daughter and the three grandsons who are also looking forward to seeing their grandmother who they think is the 'Best cooker' in the world.

Mr. and Mrs. CARREL GLENN of Houston are the parents of a son born Thursday morning. The baby weighed six pounds and 11 ounces at birth.

Paternal grandparents are MR. and MRS. C. NOBLE GLENN of Odessa and maternal grandparents are MR. and MRS. BILL LANSING of Big Spring.

There has been a three-day family reunion at the home of MRS. C. O. ANDREWS this week. Guests in her home were her brother, Eugene Holman of New York, her sister, Mrs. M. L. Moody of Abilene, her daughters, Mrs. J. A. Casey of El Paso and Mrs. E. B. Daniel of Pecos. Also there were her nephew and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Attend ABC Luncheon

ABC's general chairman for the convention which closed at 1 a.m. today with banquet and dance at the Casden Country Club. Mrs. Tingley and Mrs. Jordan are wives of national ABC officers.

Luncheon Is Given For ABC Convention Guests

Some 60 guests here for the ABC convention this weekend were entertained Friday when a luncheon-style show was presented at the Big Spring Country Club. All were welcomed prior to the luncheon by the hostess group. Special guests were Mrs. Ralph Kemp of Dayton, Ohio, wife of the national

ABC president, and Mrs. Keith Tingley of Tuscola, Ill., wife of the first national vice president of ABC. Also present was Mrs. E. E. Jordan of Amarillo, wife of the regional director of XYZ. All were seated with the Big Spring president, Mrs. Earl Wilson, and the general chairman for convention events, Mrs. Garner McAdams.

An international theme was carried out in decorations at the club and during the luncheon fashions were presented by Swartz. "International Fashion Fair" was narrated by Mrs. Juanita Caudell, with background music by Mrs. Champ Rainwater at the organ. Mrs. W. B. Younger gave the invocation and the welcoming address was made by Mrs. Wilson. Guests were recognized by Mrs. McAdams who also acknowledged the representation of various clubs.

Braving inclement weather, members and guests were stylishly attired for the occasion wearing pastels and smart spring suits. Particularly noted were the pastel knits and silks. Hats were gay and colorful, too, as that worn by Mrs. McAdams, a blue and white brimmed one, matching the navy blue and white piping of her dress. Mrs. Fred Flannigan of Lamesa came in yellow and white, with her sister, Mrs. Kent Morgan, who was one of the models for the Fashion Fair.

Mrs. James Underwood, chic in all black, was here from Sweetwater. Mrs. Odell Womack wore a stunning red knit topcoat and white flowered hat, while red was also the color most becoming to Mrs. T. F. Vaughn of Lamesa.

A beatrix party followed dinner for ABC-XYZ members Friday evening at the club. A coffee house atmosphere prevailed and music for dancing was provided by the Multi-Sonics.

The ballroom, appearing as a cellar, accommodated some 110 couples, all dressed as beatrixes. Apple boxes and pillows with stage show posters were the principal decorations seen by candlelight.

"The Shoulder Pad" theme was in keeping with the ABC motto, "Shoulders Together." Chairmen for this event were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Anderson.

MRS. JESSE RODNEY BROOKS

Miss Carolyn Sewell Bride Of J. R. Brooks In Evening Rites

Nuptial vows were exchanged by Miss Carolyn Sewell and Jesse Rodney Brooks Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in a double ring candlelight service read by the Rev. Robert F. Polk. The marriage took place at the First Baptist Church where the altar scene was centered with an archway of candelabra and lighted tapers. Baskets of white gladioli and palms of emerald foliage were placed in and around the lighted archway.

The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Sewell of 407 Washington Blvd., and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Brooks of Coahoma.

A program of nuptial music included traditional marches played by Mrs. Ralph Walker, organist.

The bride was accompanied to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She entered the sanctuary wearing a gown of white and lace fashioned with chapel length skirt, and molded bodice, elbow length sleeves and sabrina neckline embroidered with seed pearls. The lace detail of the bodice was repeated in star points over the silken folds of the sweeping skirt. Her veil of illusion was secured by a jeweled tiara and she carried a bouquet of white mums centered with a single white orchid. This was carried with her Rainbow Bible.

Mrs. James B. Drake served as matron of honor and bridesmaid was Miss Marilyn Bigham. Both wore dresses of pink silk organza styled with bateau necklines and bell-shaped skirts. Their pill box hats were of matching shade of pink. Their flowers were bouquets of roses and pompons tied with pink plect ribbon.

Lanham Hodnett of Lubbock was best man and groomsman was James Anderson of Big Spring, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

Mac Robinson, the bridegroom's cousin, and Louis Irwin of Lubbock, cousin of the bride, were ushers. Taper lighters were Diane Brooks and Iva Jo Brooks, sisters of the bridegroom. They wore white lace over pink chiffon.

Mrs. Sewell was attired in a blue eyelet sheath with matching accessories. Mrs. Brooks chose for her son's wedding a full-skirted gown of silk crepe in shade of aqua.

hall of the church. In the receiving line were the bride and bridegroom, their parents and members of the wedding party.

Spread with white linen, the refreshment table was centered with a silver epergne filled with white stock and pink roses.

Presiding at the silver service were Mrs. James Anderson and Mrs. Jerry Foresyth. The three tiered bride's cake was frosted white and embossed with pink.

Miss Cheryl Irwin of Odessa and Miss Anna Lynn Irwin of San Antonio were in charge of the register. Others in the house party were Mrs. Eldon Appleton, Mrs. S. R. Nobles, Mrs. L. D. Harris, Mrs. Gene Haston, Mrs. Celia Harris, Mrs. Dale Stanaland, Mrs. Elmo Phillips and Mrs. Ira Bigham.

Guests attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Irwin of Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Mack Irwin of San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sewell of El Paso;

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Irwin of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson of El Paso; Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Walker of Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. James Barron of Frankel City; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Blackburn Jr., Abilene; and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Briggs of Odessa.

WEDDING TRIP

Leaving afterward on a brief wedding trip, the bride was attired in a suit of navy blue and a beige toned silk blouse dotted with navy. Her accessories were of navy and bone, and her corsage, the orchid from the bridal bouquet.

Upon their return the couple's address will be Rural Route 1, Big Spring.

AFFILIATIONS

After completing Big Spring public schools, the bride attended Howard County Junior College and has since been employed with Texas Electric Service Company. Brooks, a graduate of Coahoma schools, also attended HCCJ and is now employed with Couden Petroleum Corp.

RECEPTION

Following the wedding guests were received in the recreation

Welcome April With Wariness

April is the month for gardeners to enjoy the sunshine that is nurturing their gardens; it is also a month to be especially on guard. That pentup energy saved from a hazardous March must be retained or it will cause more harm than good.

Such jobs as cultivating the soil must wait until the ground is dry enough to work without leaving heavy clods. Another temptation to resist is that of removing that unsightly protective mulch which could expose tender new growth to damaging cold and winds.

Around The World In A World Of Fashions

With the melody, "Around the World in 80 Days," a magnificent array of spring fashions was displayed Saturday at the Big Spring Country Club. "International Fashion Fair" was the presentation by Swartz for the luncheon given by the club's Ladies Golf Association. Women of the club and their guests numbered 253.

Flags of the nations with a Walt Whitman quotation was an essential display which stood with the Stars and Stripes as decor for the club foyer.

In keeping with the theme, the dining area presented an international atmosphere. Spread with white linen, luncheon tables were marked with runners of red, white and blue and centered with balls of greenery interspersed with miniature flags of all nations. Scattered along the runners were more miniature flags, favors for luncheon guests.

Introduced by the commentator, Mrs. Juanita Caudell, models made their appearance on the green carpeted ramp before a backdrop of the United Nations Flag. This classic design in aqua and white was flanked by a post-estate world globe based in fern and a gold standard bearing the United States Flag. Mrs. H. G. Keaton headed the decorations committee.

Mrs. Champ Rainwater provided musical accompaniment throughout the program which opened with summer apparel for the misses. Miss Katy Bess Morgan, Miss Candy Hensley and Miss Dean Mansfield were those walking the ramp in fashions for fun in the sun.

"Around the World in the World of Fashion" was the "portrait of attractive women wearing attractive clothes," Mrs. Caudell pointed out. This was applicable to each model. Mrs. Thomas Hutto gave a striking portrayal in blue knit buttoned in gold which was topped off with a white straw sailor. Mrs. Ike Robb in Oleg Cassini's green linen with black accents and black roller; Mrs. Kimball Guthrie wearing a David Dowell buttoned and belted suit in lush continental green; Mrs. Joe Moss, in white unornamented Kimberly knit sheath with black—individually elegant.

Miss Hensley and Miss Morgan gave the "Fair" a lift when they paraded in a swimsuit styled for beauty and for play, while Miss Mansfield appeared pretty prim in "Shiftables," yellow denim slim pants, matching cotton knit jacket and straw sun hat.

Sun drenched apricot was the Swartz choice for Mrs. Jack Cook, who wore the suit gloriously with matching chiffon turban—a Dolly Madison; Mrs. E. L. Powell, very fin, and Arthur Dehlinger. Acknowledgement was made of footwear for the show by Pella-tiers and precious jewelry by Cizons.

Also, Mrs. Kent Morgan's presentation of a "drama in two parts," orange and white bubbly wool and nylon walking coat with dress of matching orange tone; Mrs. Hayes Stripling Jr., in white Kimberly knit detailed with gold margin, golden overblouse and gold slippers, "a knit for night."

Audience response was noted when Mrs. John Taylor appeared in a lovely Italian silk creation having floral splashes of green on background of lime and white accessories; Mrs. Hutto again, in yellow linen sheath, yellow straw hat and black accessories in contrast.

Evening wear in classic simplicity included that presented by Mrs. Powell, lovely in white cocktail sheath styled with scooped neckline, cap sleeves, beaded bodice and silk midriff insert with panel flare from waist to skirt hem—"a white is right."

Also in evening wear, Mrs. Jones in white sequined sheath called "Starburst"; Mrs. Morgan in long curve of silk drapery by Frank Starr who gave the gown a shimmering moonlit camisole and bowed midriff; Mrs. Robert Johnson, flippant and fabulous in shapely knit, solidly encrusted with iridescent sequins having crossbars of gold; Mrs. Edwards, glamorous in white iridescence and jasmine white mink; Mrs. Guthrie wearing high-voltage colors in paisley silk chiffon detailed with gleaming sequins.

Throughout the "Fair" members of the International Wives Club offered their beauty and talent to the program appearing in native dress to sing and dance. They represented the countries of French Morocco, Panama, Cuba, Poland, Germany, British Isles, Japan and Guatemala. Mrs. Caudell gave detailed description of each. The group then accompanied the models for a grand finale. Encircling the ramp, they stood at attention for presentation of colors by the Color Guard of Boy Scout Troop No. 1 and singing of "America" by Mrs. Don Newsom. Boys of the Color Guard were Philip Parks, William Grif-

Doctors Say Hormones Make Skin Look Younger Safely

NEW YORK (Special) — A leading dermatologist and his assistants have conducted a "half-woman" test that proves conclusively estrogenic hormones make skin look younger, smooth dry-skin wrinkles, often fade "old-age" skin discolorations.

A preparation containing female hormones was applied to one side of the face and neck and to one hand of 50 middle-aged women. A similar formula containing no hormones was used on the other side. It was quickly apparent that the side treated with hormones looked better. At the end of the test in all but two cases, skin lines were definitely less noticeable, complexion was softer, smoother, fresher. There was no local irritation in any case; examination revealed absolutely no systemic effects. The hormones had beautified effectively and safely.

In an effort to speed up hormones' beautifying action, a trustworthy 40-year-old laboratory developed a fluid formula called HORMONEX Beauty Serum. This laboratory conducted a test on 15,000 women volunteers who were asked to use the formula for just twelve days on one side of the face and neck. An impressive percentage signified that good results were attained even in this short period.

Hormonex Beauty Serum acts so rapidly because pure female hormones are dissolved in a combination of penetrating Sesame Oil and a patented, liquid Lanolin. Only 7 drops a day are required to treat face and neck.

If you would like to test HORMONEX Beauty Serum without risk, get a bottle at your favorite toiletry counter today, use it just twelve days. If the change is not astonishing — if you are not completely satisfied, your dealer is authorized to refund purchase price without question. HORMONEX Beauty Serum is inexpensive to use. A 100-day supply costs only $3.50. Look younger quickly. See these wrinkles smooth out, starting today! You may obtain Hormonex Beauty Serum at:

Dad Explains Cars

Harpers Look Forward To A Happy Life Here

Big Spring is still very new to the Bob Harper family for they have lived here only about two weeks. Where shall we shop for groceries? What dry cleaner is best to use? Who can we call when we need a baby-sitter? These are some of the questions that arise often in the Harper household.

"These problems are expected when a family moves to a new town," says Mrs. Harper, "but the townspeople have been very friendly and helpful in all respects."

Mr. and Mrs. Harper and their sons, eight-year-old Rodney and seven-year-old Ricky, moved here from Lufkin where Bob was in the automobile business. He is general sales manager of Poliard Chevrolet Company here. He has been in that field for about 10 years.

The Harpers live at 1733 Yale. Their home is spacious inside and has a large yard for the boys to enjoy. Mrs. Harper says they are looking forward to summer when they can have outdoor barbecues on the patio.

Greeting the Harpers on their first week in Big Spring was a tremendous West Texas sandstorm. However, they were not as shocked as many newcomers who experience the hazards of the sandstorm. Mrs. Harper's home town is Kermitt; therefore she and her family have seen some of the dustier ones. They're not complaining about the weather. The dry climate has even remedied Mrs. Harper's sinus condition.

Due to lack of time while getting settled in a new home, Mr. and Mrs. Harper have not had an opportunity to meet many people. But they do plan to affiliate with a Methodist church where they hope to make new friends. Mrs. Harper says that homemaking is at the top of the list of her favorite past times. However, she does enjoy playing bridge. Bob is interested in card games and is a former member of Lions Club and Elks Club. The whole family enjoys summer outdoor fun such as boating, swimming, skiing and surfboarding. The boys were delighted at the prospect of having two lakes to visit during the summer. The parents plan to take Rodney and Ricky to Carlsbad Caverns and Disneyland when time permits.

Harper is a graduate of Uvalde High School, where he was reared. He also went to Marshall Business School in Marshall. Mrs. Harper graduated from San Angelo High School. She was living in San Angelo when she met her husband.

Jayne Mansfield House Dramatic, But Artistic Too

By The Associated Press

Of all the homes in the Hollywood movie colony, none attracts more passersby than the Jayne-Mansfield-Mickey Hargitay edifice.

In addition to the obvious, there are other reasons for the popularity of the remodeled Spanish house. It occupies a prominent corner on much-traveled Sunset Boulevard. The bold use of pink paint on the house and surrounding walls makes it stand out against its surroundings as much as its occupants do in a crowd of people.

A tour of the Hargitay grounds reveals much that is dramatic—pink heart-shaped signs showing the way to the guests' entrance and servants' quarters, Jayne's famous heart-shaped tub with surrounding walls, floor and ceiling covered with a fluffy pink fur carpeting, and the equally famous heart-shaped pool.

While these are touches befitting a movie glamour queen and her physical culturist husband, the house has many artistic features that have been generally overlooked. A waterfall cascades over Palms Verde rock into the pool. An adobe brick archway, looking like the ruins of an old Spanish mission but actually built by Mickey in recent months, stands a few feet from the front door.

It is in the use of tile that the Hargitays reveal their originality and good taste. Large quarry tile covers the entry way and stairway to the second floor. Ceramic mosaic, glazed wall and non-skid floor tiles are dramatically featured in six large bathrooms. One of the children's baths (the Hargitays have three youngsters) has a custom-designed mural of ceramic tile.

The swimming pool is a dramatic highlight of the Hargitay homestead, or if you prefer, the Mansfield mansion. Its sides and steps are decorated with various shades of blue mosaics, as are the two heart-shaped fountains within the pool. On the floor of the pool is a giant enlargement of Mickey's handwriting. Reproduced in gold mosaic tiles, it says "I love you Jayne."

Keep An Ample Supply Of Food

If you have prepared a fallout shelter, keep your reserve food supply there. If you have no shelter, keep it in that part of your basement where you will be safest in case of attack.

In homes without basements and in apartments, your food stockpile would probably be stored in the kitchen or in a storage closet.

To maintain the eating quality of your reserve food supply, keep canned foods in a dry place, where the temperature is fairly cool—preferably not above 70 degrees F. and not below freezing.

Clean And Fresh

Dolores Hart, young Hollywood actress, stresses the importance of cleanliness and comfort in shoes and clothing in today's Hollywood Beauty. She is soon to be seen in "The Inspector."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Dolores Hart Prefers British Way Of Life

By LYDIA LANE
 HOLLYWOOD—When I lunched with Dolores Hart, she had just recently returned from five months in England where she had made "The Inspector" for 20th Century-Fox. She was full of excitement from her trip and life in London.
 "Being away from the California sun did much for my complexion," Dolores exclaimed. "I had heard that too much sun dries out the skin, and now I am truly convinced."
 "I had to have my hair darkened and cut in a Dutch bob for this picture, and it changed me so completely that sometimes I had to identify myself to people. It was interesting to learn how much I had depended on a familiar, accepted appearance, and how great an influence length, style and color of my hair had on me. It had all tied in with a feeling of security. Because no one over there had a preconceived idea of me, I learned to make new friends."
 "Another thing, I had to work in orthopedic shoes, for my role was that of a girl from a concentration camp. These shoes were so comfortable! I discovered that at the end of the day I was much less tired. I have decided that it is really foolish to wear shoes which throw my body off balance and affect every nerve in my body."

of cleanliness and said, "It's just a matter of discipline. I have always been very careful about getting my face clean. I prefer fluid cleansers to creams, and I have reduced my cosmetic bills since I discovered that the lotion I like comes in an economy size."
 Dolores' career has made a steady climb since she was first put under contract, but she has never allowed success to affect her personality. When I mentioned it to her she said:
 "They say success is harder to handle than failure, and it's true, but I am fortunate in having had a strict upbringing, and it has proved very helpful. It was impressed upon me always to give the best within me. Then if I fail, the sting is taken out of it because I have not tried to take the easiest way."
 Allure with perfume and other beauty secrets are revealed in this 12-page "European Beauty Secrets" booklet. In all, 25 top stars from Europe have contributed their recommendations on fashion, make-up and much more. For your copy, send only 25 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 33, Calif.

I wanted to know if the English had converted Dolores to their custom of afternoon tea.
 "I love it! I love their life, too. It is so much more relaxing than ours. And I do wish one could get a pot of tea here that is hot and brewed right. When will we ever learn to reject a cup of lukewarm water with a paper teabag on the side? That's the only way we'll ever get the restaurants to give up this lazy way of serving tea."
 Dolores had a word of praise for the basic courtesy of the British people.
 "But sometimes politeness can border on insincerity," she added. "I prefer American men. They are more direct, and you know where you stand with them."
 Dolores admitted the beautiful tossed salad that was placed before her.
 "I missed our fresh fruits and vegetables when I was in London, but even with all their puddings, I didn't hear much talk about dieting. We make a monster of counting calories. Dolores declared, "If your thoughts are constantly on whether or not something is going to make you fat, your fears will make you gain. I try to eat balanced meals and I don't overeat, but if I find that I am going above 115, I stay on liquids for a day. It's good for the system to have a rest, and I feel quite well on juices of vegetables and fruits."
 "I like the perfume you are wearing," I told her.
 "Thank you. I like the idea of wearing one fragrance. I discovered quite by accident that I don't tire of this one because it is light. It's quite inexpensive compared to most perfumes, so often I pour it in my bath water, or if I'm showering I spray myself from head to toe with it. But," she confided, "I never put it on my clothes."
 Dolores stressed the importance

Wear-Saving Tip

For housewives only: If you need an excuse for shifting furniture, remember that it's good for your carpets. A shift of a few inches relieves the pressure of heavy furniture on one spot. A more thorough re-arranging usually creates a new traffic pattern in a room, thus helping to distribute wear evenly over all areas of a carpet or rug.

Connally Narrowing Gap On Daniel, Texas Poll Shows

By JOE BELDEN
 Director, The Texas Poll, Copyright, 1962
 Price Daniel and John Connally continue far in the lead in the race for the Democratic nomination for governor of Texas, a new state-wide survey by The Texas Poll shows.

The two most significant developments during the five weeks of campaigning separating this and the previous survey are these:

1. The margin between the governor and former Secretary of the Navy Connally has narrowed, apparently at the governor's expense.
  2. Don Yarborough of Houston is the only candidate who has made any substantial progress, but he remains a poor third.
- A week ago when the survey was completed these were the standings among persons most likely to vote in the Democratic primary May 5:

	Pct.
Price Daniel	30
John Connally	27
Don Yarborough	15
Will Wilson	11
Marshall Formby	6
Edwin A. Walker	5
Undecided	6
Total	100

In the latter part of February, when the previous Texas Poll on the race was conducted, these were the standings among likely Democratic voters:

	Pct.
Price Daniel	33
John Connally	27
Don Yarborough	11
Will Wilson	10
Edwin A. Walker	6
Marshall Formby	4
Undecided	9

A difference of just a few percentage points between one survey and the next is hardly significant; public opinion polling, even at its most scientific, cannot claim absolute precision. So one could say, looking at the two columns of figures above, that campaigning during March had little net effect on the voters.

But the pattern of results does indicate that most candidates have been nibbling at Daniel's support. And Connally's spectacular early rise to second place appears to have slowed down. In a Texas Poll last November Connally had only 4 per cent.

Between the last two surveys the number of undecided voters has decreased from 9 to 6 per cent. This, however, may be due mainly to the use in the most recent survey of a secret ballot, which usually encourages more people to express an opinion. Voters were told, "Will you please mark on the secret ballot one name for your first choice in each race, and then drop the folded ballot into this box?" In the February survey they were simply asked to say who was their first choice.

Actually, all 1,000 qualified voters who were interviewed were asked for their choice among Democratic candidates regardless of their party affiliation. Later, by means of other questions, it was determined that about 5 out of 10 plan to vote in the Democratic primary for every one who plans to vote Republican. The voter does not have to decide until election day.

The results above are based on those most likely to vote as Democrats. Looking at the total potential electorate — a representative cross section of all voters in Texas — this is the support enjoyed by the Democratic candidates:

	Pct.
Price Daniel	28
John Connally	26
Don Yarborough	14
Will Wilson	12
Edwin A. Walker	7
Marshall Formby	6
Undecided	7

Among voters likely to vote in the Republican primary, the first in the state in years, Jack Cox remains the undisputed leader with 71 per cent, 11 points more than in February. His opponent, Roy Whittemburg, has risen from 6 to 13 per cent, and the undecided per-

A GRAVE THAT WASN'T
 Officers puzzled over fake burial place in abandoned shed

It Looked Like A Grave But Turned Out Empty

By SAM BLACKBURN
 It certainly looked like a grave. It was neatly mounded up and there was a cross fashioned out of white scrap metal at the head. A marker of the same metal was at the foot.

But it was not a grave.

And now officers who investigated and Malcolm Patterson, on whose land the weird setup was found, are more puzzled, perhaps, than they would have been if there had been something or someone buried in the hole.

They shake their heads in bewilderment and ask "Why?"

beaten shed on the old Patterson place about a mile north and east of the Elbow school.

The shed has a concrete floor, four inches thick. Whoever rigged the weird grave dug through this concrete slab—dug through as neatly as though it was the work of a professional.

Patterson sent two Latin-Americans to the old shed Wednesday to tear it down and salvage whatever is saveable.

They found the fantastic grave in the building and reported their find to Patterson. He joined Miller Harris, sheriff, and Fern Cox, deputy, at the scene. They inspected the grave and decided to investigate further.

The two Latin-Americans manned shovels. They eliminated the mound which had been built above the floor-level and the tiddy breakthrough in the concrete slab was revealed.

They continued to dig. Deeper and deeper went the hole. From time to time, officers would take long metal probes and seek to establish if there was anything underneath. The probes usually went their full lengths in the soft soil.

The hole was about 4½ feet long and a little over two feet wide. It was neatly excavated—as trim and square as though a professional sexton had dug it.

The pile of earth thrown out of the pit grew higher; the hole became deeper as the Latin-Americans continued shoveling.

At 5½ feet they struck undisturbed soil at the north end. At the south end, the hole continued. About half of the grave was deepened at that end an additional 1½ feet.

When the bottom had finally been found, the grave had yielded nothing but dirt.

Patterson and the officers said it might be a practical joke but they marveled at the energy of a practical joker who would put in as much hard work as was involved in digging the hole in order to put his prank across.

They pondered whether someone had dug the hole in search of some buried object. If so, they said, why had the digger gone to the trouble, afterward, of making the "grave"?

So they finally ended the investigation simply by asking: "Why?"

New Group To Be Added To Girl Scout Program

The three-level structure of the Girl Scout program used since 1938 is to be changed beginning September, 1963, according to Mrs. Charles U. Culmer, president of the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A.

Another grouping for the Girl Scouts will be added. New names for the age groups are: Brownie Girl Scouts, seven and eight years old; Junior Girl Scouts, nine, 10 and 11 years; Cadette Girl Scouts, 12, 13 and 14 years; and Senior Girl Scouts, 15, 16 and 17 years.

The sequence of names was selected to give Girl Scouts a feeling of progression through the entire program, according to Mrs. Culmer.

fundamentals of the Girl Scout program. It will be streamlined, however, and a design for progress will be built on the development pattern of girls growing up in modern times.

"The new program should be more challenging," Mrs. McLaughlin said. "Many leaders felt the old was not challenging enough."

The change in grouping is the result, in part, of two studies conducted by the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan in 1955-56. One study dealt with needs and interests of adolescent girls and the second with attitudes of Girl Scouts and their leaders toward the existing program.

"We are certainly going to need more adult leaders to put over this new program as it is intended," Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin, district chairman, said. "But, this is not a result of the change. We are always in need of more adult assistance."

There are now about 170 women in charge of some 800 Girl Scouts in Big Spring, she said.

Staff and professional leaders will be given instruction some time in the spring of 1963 at special training sessions, Mrs. McLaughlin said.

Girl Scouts to be affected by the change will prepare to move into a higher group sooner than they would have under the old three-level system.

There will be no change in the

A Devotional For Today

Those that be planted in the house of the Lord shall flourish in the courts of our God. (Psalms 92:13.)
PRAYER: God of each new bud and leaf, we bow before Thee amid the wonder of growth. Help us to prune from our lives everything that separates us from Thee. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.
 (From The 'Upper Room')

Let's Finish This Job

One of the things to which the city administration can point with justifiable pride is the subdivision ordinance. Following the war, home building developed at an unprecedented pace and thus the boundaries of the city were pushed out and back. The problem of city participation or non-participation in planning, plotting, streets, alleys, utilities and scores of assorted matters grew a patch at a time. There was such a lack of uniformity that confusion and sometimes unintended inequity resulted.

After a long period of study and travail, the administration came up with a proposed ordinance. Through due processes this became law, and now there is an ordinance to which developers can look for the uniform answers to questions.

But there is another half of the overall construction problem which has not been pursued to a solution. It is the matter of a building code.

Just as there needed urgently to be a code for real estate development, so there needs to be a modern, realistic code for building.

Again, uniformity of requirements would be one of the blessings, but there is vastly more involved. A modern, effective building code can establish certain standards of construction quality. In one area of application, it can guard against inferior materials which would endanger either the health or safety of those who are to occupy the building. By the same token, a good code can also guard against short cuts in workmanship which might also jeopardize health or safety in the future.

While a code is not intended as an anti-toxin for caveat emptor (let the buyer beware), it does nevertheless serve as a protective force for owners of newly constructed buildings.

Finally, a realistic code can broaden the horizons so that advantage can be taken of new materials, many of them vastly superior to those of a decade ago; it also can keep the door open to materials yet to be developed. By adhering to practical, enlightened methods of fabrication and installation, it can also avoid restrictions of costly and outmoded procedures.

Considerable progress has been made toward drafting a new code, and it is to be hoped earnestly that before the impending change in managers takes place a month hence that a code can at least be put into the hopper and started on the road to final consideration.

Connally Finding Acceptance

While some candidates for the governorship of Texas are demonstrating unpalatable extremism and others are stooping to rather low campaign tactics and extravagant remarks, John Connally is going his own effective way, building up evidence that he is the man Texas can depend upon and be proud of.

The public opinion surveys show that his personality, his aura of sound business judgment and his stature as a statesman are finding acceptance over the state.

And he himself is demonstrating that he is a man of his own mind and one who can make his own decisions and exercise his own leadership.

Mr. Connally may be new to elective office in Texas — a circumstance that can be in his favor—but he is not new to the state itself, or to politics. As a Texas businessman, lawyer, oilman and ranch operator, he knows the practical problems of our state. He also knows its potentialities.

His capabilities as an administrator were proved quickly in his tenure as Secretary of the Navy, and influential people in the national scene have praised him warmly for his work.

There, he displayed efficiency, leadership, and a lot of hard work. The same characteristics will stand him in good stead in Austin.

We re-state our opinion that Texas can expect sound government, responsible and reasonable government, under John Connally as governor.

Marquis Childs Defense Contracts In California

LOS ANGELES — The competition to get defense contracts promises to be a major issue in the Congressional campaign this fall and nowhere will it be more acute than in this area where government spending for arms has accounted for so generous a proportion of payrolls.

California has led all states as the principal producer and supplier of defense goods and defense research and development. The study made by the Senate disarmament subcommittee, still marked secret because some Senators oppose its publication, showed that of the $22 billion of defense sales covered in an elaborate questionnaire $5.4 billion, or 23 per cent, came from this one state.

THAT WAS in 1959 and, while the percentage may have dropped some, at least insofar as aircraft production is concerned with the phasing out of the manned bomber, it is still high. Of the 19 separate military products covered by the study California ranked first in eight — new aircraft, parts and modification of old aircraft, missiles and components, ground-based equipment for missiles, space vehicles, research and development on missiles, research and development on aircraft, and the production of steel for defense uses.

TODAY AS THE pattern rapidly shifts, both geographically and in the nature of defense production, the political heat is on out here. Unemployment in the San Diego area is between 7.5 and 8.5 per cent, although at the same time there is record over-all employment. Convair is down from 18,000 to 7,000. Last year General Dynamics Corporation lost $143,000,000. With the need to create 250,000 new jobs a year to meet the demand of the newcomers pouring into the state, California must run fast in order to stand still.

MAKING THE adjustment from the manned bomber to the missile age is bound to be painful. But, beyond that, if peace — or even a gradually phased disarmament agreement — should break out the transition will be difficult. A significant summation of the study made by the disarmament committee, a copy of which has been obtained by leaders in the aircraft industry, is as follows:

"It is quite apparent that an arms-control agreement which curtailed production of military aircraft would have

Bellwether By Habit Only

"Obviously noninflationary." That's how President Kennedy sized up the wage agreement in steel.

His comment sits in the same bin as the letter he sent to the presidents of the major steel companies last fall — just before a steel wage increase (under the 1960 contract) was to take effect.

Then the President reminded the executives that steel is an economic bellwether, "as well as a major element in industrial costs. A rise in steel prices would force price increases in many industries and invite price increases in others."

The steel companies did not raise prices then, and they're not likely to raise prices now. Not so much because of the President's strictures as because of market strictures. As steel goes, no longer goes the nation.

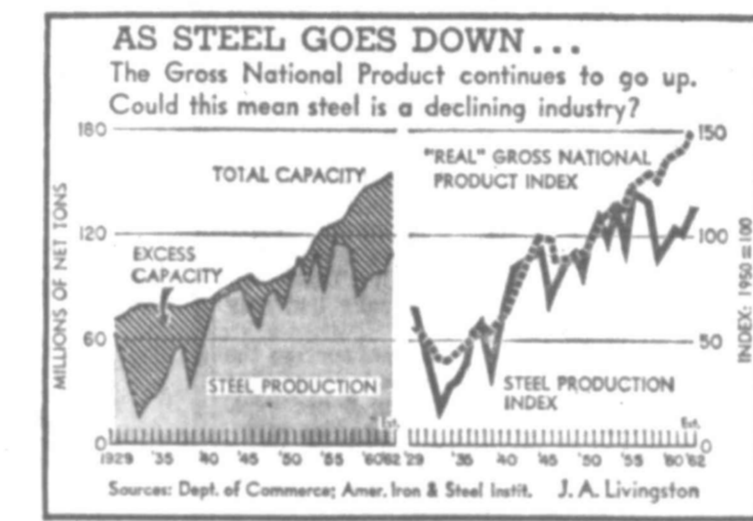

Today, steel is a bellwether by habit only. The label has been pinned on the industry for so long that it has become an automatic response, like cat — dog, steel — bellwether. It's a misnomer.

STILL OFF THE TRACK
 The industry has been losing pace — economically. Nineteen-sixty-two may not be the boomish year it started out to be (in people's minds), but it still is likely to set an all-time high in total production of goods and services. But not steel. Production of ingots for '62 is estimated at 110,000,000 tons, a total surpassed in 1953, 1955, 1956, and 1957.

Whereas the Gross National Product in real terms — deflated for price rises — is up about 25 per cent since 1953, steel production has actually declined a trifle. The breakdown from the economic trolley occurred along about 1955 and steel hasn't got back on the track since (see chart). For this, there are a variety of reasons.

Exports of steel are down and imports are up. As foreign producers of iron and steel rebuild war-torn and worn-out plants, they were able to better (a) fulfill domestic needs and (b) compete in the United States market.

New materials have upset markets in which steel salesmen thought they had a vested interest. Aluminum vies with steel in automobile parts, pots and pans, and recently in cans. The steel industry has had to devise thinner tin-plate to fight off the threat of aluminum in the canning industry.

CAUGHT IN A SPIDER WEB
 Plastics are likewise "hurting" steel — so much so that "Iron Age" treats plastics as part of the "durable goods" industry. The magazine no longer can confine itself to the hot metals — iron and steel and nonferrous — and serve its customary clientele.

In construction, too, steel is under pressure. Reinforced concrete and pre-stressed concrete have diminished demand for heavy structural — at one time the sine qua non of every skyscraper, bridge, and major piece of heavy construction, including missile sites.

Caught in this spider web of competition, steel executives have not been free to move on prices. President Kennedy's admonition in 1961 was superfluous. And his emphasis on a "noninflationary contract" this year is more of the same. If prices are raised, the increases will be selective — not across the board.

INVESTORS UNJUBILATED
 Price forbearance is the child of necessity, not desire. Steel executives are understandably discontented with profits in recent years. Though all industry has been squeezed, the squeeze on steel since 1955 has been particularly marked.

Here's the story in quick takes. First, a comparison of steel income relative to net worth with that of all manufacturing:

Year	Steel	Mfg.
1961	6.4	10.1

Year	Steel	Mfg.
1955	7.8	6.7
1961	5.1	5.4

It can be argued that steel is a highly volatile and cyclical industry, that profits are greatest when production is at the full and shrink fast when operations slump much below capacity. That is true.

But, supplementary evidence isn't reassuring. We see the economy push from one cycle to another to new highs. And steel does not. Steel capacity is at a record 155,000,000 ingot tons, but 1962 production is put at 110,000,000—70 per cent.

And United States Steel common stock has just hit a 1959-62 low and several steels are near their '62 lows. Obviously, the noninflationary wage contract hasn't jubilated investors. Why?

Perhaps because steel isn't what it used to be!

To Your Good Health You Can't Humor A Potential Suicide

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has threatened suicide for the last three months. Recently he said he will "blow both our brains out."

Then he screams that he can't take it any more and runs into the bedroom, remaining there for hours. He is 60 and holds a responsible position. I have tried to humor him but I am now at my wit's end. Any suggestion that he go to a doctor is futile—G. W. "Humoring" isn't going to help such a serious situation. To be sure, some people use threats to get their own way, but too often, such threats are not idle ones. Tell your OWN doctor the story, and let him help arrange such measures as may be needed to see that your husband gets immediate examination and treatment.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a girl, 14. I have acne on my face. Now it is starting to clear up, but I have coarse, dark, enlarged pores. They look terrible. What can I do to get rid of them?—D. C.

Nothing. You can expect the pores to become smaller and less obvious as time passes. You are, of course, fortunate that the acne is clearing.

In some skins the pimples leave small scars. These do not tend to shrink and become much less conspicuous. If, after the end of adolescence, the scars are a cosmetic problem, consult a dermatologist or a plastic surgeon about smoothing the scars. But I'd certainly wait several years.

Dear Dr. Molner: In your opinion it is advisable to give—labels to high school athletes to help them gain weight and build muscles?—MRS. L. J.

The drug you mentioned is a hormone, and I do NOT think it should be given to healthy young adults.

The weight that a body should carry can be achieved by wholesome, balanced diet, adequate rest and judicious training. These will build strong muscles. Weight is not necessarily muscle. For many sports, and for many athletes, mere additional weight is not necessarily essential. If it is essential, increase the calories in the diet, but don't tinker with the body's metabolism.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband is 55 and of average weight. He now has an awful lot of gas on his stomach around the heart. He has always drunk about 20 cups of coffee a day. I wonder if this could be causing it.—MRS. W.

It could be that the coffee finally is catching up with him. That's pretty heavy coffee drinking. If he'd cut out coffee for a few weeks, it ought to give an indication of whether that's the trouble. Drinking only caffeine-reduced types of coffee might help. If the trouble still persists,

I'd have the doctor check him over. It could be gall bladder, heart, or any of several common troubles, and some treatment now may both make him more comfortable and avert greater discomfort in the future.

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes ingrown toenails? Do pointed shoes have any influence?—S. W.

I doubt if a Sioux Indian ever had an ingrown toenail, because he never wore shoes. Nor have I noticed any trouble with "ingrown fingernails." Why? Because an ingrown nail is simply one that has been under continued pressure so that, as it grew, it began to dig into the flesh instead of growing straight ahead as it should. If we wore shoes on our hands, and walked on 'em, we'd develop a few cases of ingrown fingernails, too. Do pointed toes of shoes have an effect? Yes, if we try to keep the shoes both pointed and short.

Count your calories the easy way! To receive a copy of my pamphlet, "The Calorie Chart," Write Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim Income Taxes Can Be So Funny (!&,-,;!)

This is no time to be joking about income taxes.

Right now while the agony is going on, to continue for another week, the only people who can see anything funny about income taxes are the tax collectors themselves.

And that's where the following anecdotes came from—the International Revenue Service. For some devious reason, this outfit has published what are said to be true incidents surrounding the old American custom of giving up everything you have to Uncle Sam. I suppose to try to make us feel better about being withheld from our withholdings. See if you can swallow these:

A HUSBAND and wife came in to an IRS office to file a return. In his performance of duties, the tax man asked the husband whether he had any other earnings.

The husband just muttered, but the wife spoke up brightly: "Oh, yes, he worked for Mr. X." The official told the husband to get a W-2 from Mr. X.

The next day husband and wife reappeared. The husband had the W-2, the wife had a black eye.

ONE TAXPAYER appended a notation to that portion of his return setting forth a refund claim: "You can take a 2 per cent discount if you get this check back to me in 10 days."

And there was a farmer asked to explain his method of reporting depreciation on his farm truck. His answer was to the point: "Rough road."

THEY TELL the story that an IRS office had had a little Christmas party, and a sprig of mistletoe was fastened over the door of what later was to become the tax assistance room. It remained there until tax filing time arrived.

And there came in one taxpayer who saw the mistletoe, and said, "How perfectly sweet! They're now giving us an opportunity to kiss our money goodbye."

TWO BEATNIK musicians showed up for tax assistance at an IRS office. One was quiet, the other talkative. The IRS man, attempting to show the talkative one how to fill out his return, entered the name John Doe on the initial line as an illustration of identification. The talkative musician No. 1 glanced at this, then finally spoke up: "You can put his real name down; he ain't wanted for anything."

There is the story of a feminine member of the beatnik coterie. She sent the IRS a note which said: "Baby—I don't get the message! Are you for me or against me?"

THE IRS PEOPLE tell of a telephone call from a taxpayer: "Since 1952, I've saved nearly three shopping bags of empty medicine bottles to substantiate my medical expenses. My husband says I'm crazy. Do you think I'm crazy?"

One IRS office wrote a businessman to point out that he had omitted two or three important entries on his tax return, and asked him to state specifically the nature of his business. He replied: "My principal occupation, in which I seem to spend most of my time, is filling in government forms. I try to make cheese on the side."

WHICH LEADS us to the cynical conclusion held by a great many people. This was the man who was called on the carpet to explain some of the items in his return. "I don't know who will be our first man on the moon," he observed bitterly. "But I do know who will be the second. It will be an income tax collector." BOB WHIPKEY

Holmes Alexander The Seductions Of The Nile

CAIRO, Egypt—As every girl remembers, there are two ways to catch a suitor—the voluptuous, clinging vine approach is one, the couldn't-care-less, come-and-get-it method is the other.

Well, Cairo is like that. Its seductions are dual. The tourist by the thousands comes here and is pursued, propositioned, embraced. The sight-showing pitchman provides thumbnail history and archeological critique on the way to and from the pyramids. The merchant of knock-knocks and vanity goods, the elbow-trotter who would shine your shoes, the volunteer friend who would show you the bazaar, the museum and point out the Nile—all are handy.

TOURISM, ranking with cotton and Suez Canal tolls as this country's income-earners, is accommodated by what must be the finest air carriers of the world.

But tourism, which Cairo gratefully "throws her arms around, is only half the tale, and not, for me, the more magnetic half. The other part of Cairo is the energetic government of President Gamal Abdel Nasser, whose bustling bureaucracy is making a beeline for a mid-twentieth century economy and is more indifferent than is easily imaginable toward Americans.

I DIDN'T meet Nasser, but I talked with a military member of the U. S. National War College group who had had an audience with him. This officer found the Egyptian strongman amazingly conversant on the details of his country's economy. Nobody who visits Egypt, I daresay, would dispute that Nasser's dictatorship is benevolent in that these people have a ruler who is for them, perhaps the first in all their history.

David Lawrence Dark Spots In Business Picture

WASHINGTON — "How's business?"

Time was when businessmen asked this question of one another, and the net impression they got—either favorable or unfavorable—seemed plausible and made sense to them. But today the national economy is more complex than ever, and the statements issued from Washington are full of wishful thinking and political implications. So it's difficult to sift the data and come up with a clear answer to what's really happened—let alone what's going to happen in business, even within a year.

A COUPLE of months ago, for instance, the Kennedy administration was issuing some glowing forecasts about the national output for 1962 and about the upward trend of the economy. But now it seems that these same forecasts were too optimistic. Thus, one reads a dispatch by United Press International a few days ago which says:

"Commerce Secretary Hodges said today that the recent failure of the economy to live up to the Kennedy administration's forecast probably would extend through June. His statement at a news conference was the first public acknowledgment by a high official that the administration's forecast that the economy would rise to between $565 billion and $570 billion by midyear was too rosy."

"COMMERCE DEPARTMENT" experts have made a preliminary estimate that gross national product rose modestly in January, February and March to a new high annual rate of $548 billion.

But how can one get an understanding of what goes on by focusing on such big figures alone? Obviously, as population grows and there is an increased demand for things, the total volume of transactions goes up. What really matters is the profits earned on all these transactions and the number of persons employed or unemployed as well as the total personal income available with which to buy things.

THE GOVERNMENT reported, too, a few days ago that living costs had risen to a new high in February, and hence the record of six months of price stabilization was impaired. This means that the purchasing power of the dollar is again unsteady.

When the volume of business, moreover, is merely increased in quantity without increasing total profits, the tax revenues which the U. S. Treasury expects to receive are bound to be disappointing. Already the 1963 federal budget—originally predicted by President Kennedy as likely to be balanced—now is expected to be deep in the red.

AS FOR PROFITS, the First National City Bank of New York has a staff of able and impartial economists who regularly make a comprehensive study of the profit picture. The bank's letter for April, just released, tells the naked truth about profits as follows:

"Currently, there is much talk of corporate profits surpassing all previous records. Both government and private economists have forecast pre-tax profits for 1962 far exceeding the previous peak of $46.8 billion in 1959. President Kennedy, at a news conference last month, cited newspaper reports that profits in the fourth quarter had already surpassed the previous quarterly peak of $31.5 billion reached in the second quarter of 1959 just before the steel strike.

"BUT ALL this talk of new records should not be permitted to obscure the fact that corporate earnings have failed to keep up with other indices of economic growth in the postwar period. Rising prices in recent years have inflated dollar figures. This has tended to hide the fact that profits are actually being lost ground even when new records are apparently being set."

APART FROM all the figures and economic analyses, there remains one big psychological factor—confidence or lack of confidence by businessmen in the President, his advisers and the Democratic-controlled Congress. Businessmen are cautious and worried about Washington. The administration has been in office more than a year now, but it has not yet come to grips with the fundamentals of an expanding economy, especially in the field of proper allowances for depreciation of plant and equipment which are so sorely needed in the durable-goods industries.

Picture Saves Man From Fire

The picture fell and bumped 82-year-old Charles Parker on the head as he slept in his bed.

City May Save $40,000 In State Sales Tax

The City of Big Spring may save approximately $40,000 in sales taxes under the $4.3 million Master Plan bond program, according to a ruling by Robert S. Calvert, State Comptroller.

"The Texas Municipal League has asked for a clarification, from the comptroller, for municipalities," A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, said Friday. "We have inserted a clause in all our contracts under which work has been done for us under the bond program, and will get refunds for taxes already paid. There will be no hardship on the contractor," he said, "because they have kept tax payments as separate items and have paid it to the state. The state will reimburse us for the amounts paid just as they do on gasoline taxes."

"The $40,000 will do a lot of work for us and will help to overcome a long bid, or two," he continued.

Two Treated For Injuries

Game De La Garza, 108 NW 4th, was taken by River ambulance to the Howard County Hospital Foundation about 9:30 a.m. Friday, where he was treated for minor injuries received in a wrecker-car collision at the intersection of US 87 and Northwest Fifth.

Eddie Joe Lamb, 808 W. 4th, driver of the car, was taken by police to the Howard County Hospital. He received a leg injury, loss of teeth, and a cut lip in the accident.

Neither man was reported in serious condition.

L. Stanley Bogard and Patrolman Sam Fuller, who investigated the accident, said De La Garza was driving south on US 87 in the wrecker and attempted a left turn onto Northwest Fifth when the accident occurred. The streets were wet and slick, they reported.

Both the wrecker, owned by Shirley Walker Tractor Co., Lamessa Highway, and the car driven by Lamb, were estimated as total losses.

Only one other accident was reported, Timothy Jones, city, and William Birdwell, 111 NW 2nd, were drivers of vehicles involved in a collision at 2100 Scurry.

Radio Free Europe's Role Explained To Kiwanians

Communism has enrolled as many followers in its ranks in 50 years as Christianity has been able to swing to its philosophy of life in 1,900 years, A. Dean Campbell, Dallas, told the Big Spring Kiwanians Thursday.

He warned that the spread of communism poses a threat to all American and Christian ideals and that no effort can be overlooked which will help to stop the march of the Reds across the face of the earth.

The speaker, who is circulation manager for the Dallas Times-Herald, was speaking in behalf of Radio Free Europe.

A campaign for funds to keep these transmitters on the air is under way. No specific effort was made to collect any donations to the fund at the luncheon but the accomplishments of the operations were stressed by the speaker.

He pointed out that Radio Free Europe spends $12,000,000 a year to carry on its program and that the Communists, in their efforts to "jam" the messages, are spending perhaps $200,000,000 a year.

He said that it is proved the people behind the Iron Curtain listen regularly to Radio Free Europe broadcasts and that all of the efforts of the Red leaders to prevent this practice have failed.

Campbell told of a recent trip of inspection he made in Europe and of the Radio Free Europe Operations he visited.

All of the messages, he said, are beamed into the Red countries by short wave and are sent on a dozen bands simultaneously. The listeners are aware of this practice and when the Communist interference blocks one band, the listener tunes in another.

Campbell was presented to the club by Jay Banks, police chief, who was program chairman for the day. He also introduced Calvert Kootz, also of Dallas, who was with Campbell. Kootz also spoke briefly on the importance of Radio Free Europe.

Campbell and Kootz are donating their time and travel expenses to further the Radio Free Europe campaign.

Two Problems Hold Up Plans

Two problems are holding up plans for asking for bids on the first phase of the Interstate 20 north loop, according to highway department officials.

The litigation involving the property of H. S. Moss at the east end of the project is one, and agreement on removal of utilities on a portion of the route is another. Moss, Dallas oilman and real estate developer, has filed suit seeking to have his appeal from a condemnation proceeding reinstated in county court, and he also has asked damages from the county and state.

Congratulations to the hard-working juniors of BSHS. A report of the class treasury stated that it had 1,240.95. The juniors have been engaged in many money-making projects to raise money for the Junior-Senior Prom.

A reminder to those students who have overdue books — Mrs. Janis Harris urges everyone to bring overdue notices when paying fines.

In support and promotion of the I AM AN AMERICAN essay contest sponsored by the local Lions Club, Miss Ione McAllister turned in ten entries from her classes.

Yesterday proved to be a very busy day for some 60 BSHS students participated in the annual District 2-4A University Interscholastic League competition sponsored by the University of Texas. The district meet was held in Abilene. Those who competed in various events were: Speech Department—Jay Hatch, Mike Halverson, Sue Gibbs, Cheryl Bray, Cal Boardman, Linda Morton, Richard Weisner, Carol Odum, Mike

Thursday night the spring induction of the National Honor Society was held. Jerry Younger, president, explained the purpose of NHS to the four new inductees. He introduced the sponsors Mrs. Rita Weeg and Miss Colleen Slaughter. Presenting the speeches were Joyce Davidson, character; George Rice, scholarship; Edward Daon, leadership; Sandra Crawford, service. The new inductees were Carole Haralson, Louise Jackson, Judy Williams, and Nancy Harden. Mr. Sam Anderson also spoke at the meeting.

The band will be selling pizzas at Carlos' Restaurant this afternoon until 8:00 p.m. The money that they make from this project will go into the "Seattle Here We Come Fund."

Sara Roman, future editor of the El Hodo, announced the names of the junior staff members for next year. They are Jan Anderson, Sue Cook, Nancy Hedleson, Judy Marsh, Charlotte Shive, and Linda Mason. These were chosen from a list of very capable girls.

Max Tarbox Wins Contest

By ROKANNE BOLTE
Max Tarbox, an eighth grader at Goliad, won first place in the local Optimist Club Boys' Oratorical Contest held at high school April 3, and received a $25.00 savings bond. He then traveled to Midland April 6 to compete in the zone contest. Phillip Hall, also a Goliad student, took third place in the local contest.

In the Junior Olympics Meet held in Midland March 31, Goliad students took first place in the broad jump, third place in the 330 yard dash, and fourth place in the 13-20 relays. Pretty good track boys, eh?

New students to cross Goliad's threshold during the month of March were Shirley Graham, Henry Rosier, Jim Thomas, Phillis Kay Thomas, Becky McBeth, and Robert Lavender. There were fifteen withdrawals during March.

The annual Twirp Week Dance, sponsored by the FHA girls, was held Friday night in the gym. This climaxed a week of hard labor for Goliad girls who lugged heavy books, held doors, and played host to the boys.

If you happen to hear buzzing, sawing, and hammering issuing forth from the Agriculture room, don't run for your life. It's only Mr. B. A. Rains' world history class working on a huge map of the world. The map, which covers about one-third of an entire wall in the room, is mounted on sheets of plywood and painted on poster board.

Last week at the Settles Hotel the typing classes of Mrs. Doris Hulbrege and Mr. Rains viewed an interesting exhibit of typewriters and adding machines. This exhibit was sponsored by Hester's Supply Company. School buses were used for transportation and refreshments were served.

Band Members Receive Ratings

By MARSHA BRISTOW
STANTON—I'd like to begin this week's column with an apology. Last week I omitted a very important item. The band had several members to enter the Inter-scholastic Solo and Ensemble Contest, and they emerged winners. Glen Wren, Rodney Eiten, George Foreman, and the Brass Sextet composed of Rodney Eiten, Glen Wren, Terry Long, Mike Wood, Steve Edwards, and George Foreman, all received a first division in the regional contests. Tim Bristow and Mike Wood received second division ratings, and Becky Boyce received a fourth.

We are proud of our band members who have done so well. Sorry that I omitted your story from my column last week, but a belated congratulations anyway. Last week's National FFA Week, and our chapter observed it in various ways each day. We wore emblems, mottos, colors, creeds and various other things to tell our fellow students about FFA. In our meeting Tuesday we decided to raise money to help send Kay Bryan to the National FFA Convention this summer which will be held in Salt Lake City, Utah. If you need some simple-to-fix refreshments for a party, see one of us FFA'ers and buy a cake!

Another of our members has made us very proud also. Mona Epley has received her State Future Homemakers Degree. Mona's degree was judged by the area degree committee at a meeting in Big Spring, and she will be formally recognized in a ceremony at the state FFA meeting in Dallas on April 27. Congratulations, Mona!

In student council last week we discussed our annual banquet. It was held on April 7, at the Sands Motel Red Room in Midland. Mr. Jack Mashburn, executive secretary of Texas Association of Student Councils, spoke. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hayes, our superintendent and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Conger, our principal and his wife, Mr. Stephenson, our sponsor, and our speaker.

FFA-FHA Banquet Staged At Sands

SANDS—The junior play, "The Magic Touch," will be given April 13 in the Sands High School auditorium. Those who attend the play will have a chance to see Kay McBride as Bobby, the part-time tomboy who turns glamour girl; Bill Smith, as her patient, doting father; and Marlene Gibson, as her social-climbing mother. Also included in the cast are Ronnie Ebell, Jimmie Scheulke, Paul Davis, Ronnie Gaskins and Gary Gaskins as youths who invade the Braddock home; Dixie Henry, Joyce Merrick and Ruth Tarbet as society leaders; Martha Burrow and Marie Graham as lively, colored domestic employees; Donna Fleming as the kindly, spinsterish home economics teacher; and Virginia Richter as the lovely temptress who moves in on Bobby's territory.

Rounding the cast are Jo Clanton, Ann Campbell, Jamie Jeffcoat, and Elia Herrera, who will model in a style show that is a part of the play. The price of admission is 50 cents for students and $1 for adults. Tickets will be sold by all members of the junior class.

The FFA-FFA banquet was held Thursday night, March 29. Mike Kemp, president of FFA, was master of ceremonies. ## Juniors Get Decorations For Junior-Senior Banquet

By CAROLE WADE
FLOWER GROVE—Gee, another week has passed with the usual last minute cramming for six weeks tests. I hope everyone survived the tests, for there's only one more six weeks period to go until summer vacations.

This has been a busy week at Flower Grove. To begin with, the junior class received the decorations for the Junior-Senior banquet. They chose "Hello Young Lovers" as the theme and are planning to carry it throughout the banquet. April 27 is the date set for the banquet, and it is to be at the ballroom in the Settles Hotel. Mr. Pierce, the superintendent at Sands High School, will be guest speaker.

The Dragons attended the track meet at Levelland March 31. Beaver Ramsey made a good showing at the meet. He placed second in broad jump and fifth in high jump and high hurdles. The Dragons placed seventeenth in the track meet.

The senior class received the annuals last week. The backing of the books is black with silver imprints. Congratulations to the seniors for reaching their goal before school was out. Klondike and Sands came to

Freshman Biology Club To Big Bend National Park

By KATHY SEDDON
(for Candy Bacus)

Bright and early Friday, a large number of students, bubbling with enthusiasm, left for a field trip into the Big Bend region. Members of the ninth grade biology club and their sponsors made the trip to learn about the animals, plants, and geological formations of the Southwest.

Almost 50 students were accompanied by Mr. Doyle Sparks, Biology teacher, Mrs. Roberta Wiley, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Canille, and the bus driver and his wife. Included in the trip was a visit to the science department and planetarium of the Sul Ross College, a brief visit "south of the border," a swim at Balmorhea, and plenty of lizard and bug collecting.

The track boys and student body are getting excited and hopeful about winning the track meet that will be held in Big Spring on April 14. Almost 600 boys will compete from schools in San Angelo, Abilene, Snyder, Lamesa, Kermit, and Sweetwater. First and second place trophies will be awarded to teams in each division. Trophies will also be awarded to the winning teams in the 440 relay, 880 relay, and 1320 relay.

This is an extra big event and the boys are working very hard. It will be held at the Memorial Stadium and will begin about 9 a.m. The finals will begin about 1 p.m. with the meet ending around 5 p.m. It promises to be an exciting meet, so everyone come out and back the boys on to victory.

Saturday fifty-two boys from the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades participated in a meet at Snyder. They also attended one in Midland last week.

Thursday the FHA girls saw a film entitled "A Deal for Billie" as the program for their chapter meeting. After school some of the girls attended a tea held at the high school for the FHA girls.

Next week is National Library Week. The library club is preparing a special display and all of you "not usually bookworms" wander into the library and take special notice of the books. Check one out and make the librarian happy!

Algebra students took a special test Wednesday to help determine their placement in high school math. I think those of us who took it are no longer worrying about having to take Algebra II.

Also on Wednesday all the typing students went down to the Settles Hotel for a demonstration of typewriters and computing machines. Everyone was fascinated by the machines and got an extra big thrill out of typing on electric typewriters and doing arithmetic problems without having to concentrate.

Student council members Sarah Smith, Susie Engle, Jimmy Johnson, and Bobby Griffin, attended a state convention for student council members from March 29-31. They were accompanied by their sponsor, Mrs. Hollis Lloyd, and Mrs. Ruzora Greer. Each enjoyed the convention and learned a great deal. A tour of the Alamo was taken and everyone was enthusiastic about the trip.

The ninth grade volleyball team played its last game of the season at Lamesa. The girls fought a hard battle but were defeated 31-29. Paula Leonard was high scorer.

The excitement that always goes with campaigns and elections filled the halls as petitions for future eighth, ninth, and tenth grade student council representatives were signed. The walls are full of posters and the ninth grade political rally was held Thursday. Three representatives will be elected next week for the high school council from eight candidates.

The seventh and eighth grades will hold their political rallies next week and their representatives will be elected. Try-outs for cheerleaders from each grade will also be held during the week.

The ratings received by Rannels students at the solo contest in Odessa were recently announced. Darlene Thompson, a freshman, received a first division on a Class I solo. This entitles her to go to the state-wide contest in Austin during June.

Cheryl Gambill and Pax Bunch also received first divisions. Those receiving second division ratings were Karen Frost, Linda Holder, Pat Ball, Georgia Spalding, Duane Parnell, Elaine Thompson, Mary Newton, Parthanel Walker and Barbara Hines.

The band is busy working up a program for a joint concert with the high school and Goliad to be given April 17. It promises to have zest and surprises, so plan now to attend.

A clinic will be held Thursday by Mr. Dean Killion of the Texas Tech Band so the band members are looking forward to a rewarding experience.

Mr. Forrest Gambill recently underwent surgery and is doing nicely. Cards are greatly appreciated by him. His address is North-West General Hospital, 1615 Hillendahl Blvd., Houston 24, Texas.

Give God A Chance—God Will Open Doors For You!

Countdown time . . . 5, 4, 3, 2, 1, ZERO. America's heart skipped a beat. We held our breath through hours of suspense. And finally, the rescue. Mission accomplished.

Immediate reaction: "Thank God!" This was the cry of America, the mighty prayer which rose from its heart in a spontaneous flash of gratitude. THANK GOD.

It was pride we felt, pride in our skill and our scientific knowledge. But there was something more. There was FAITH. When man travels into the unknown, he needs the hand of God.

*****

A new age has begun for mankind. Many more great days of exploration are ahead. Man will need the best products of mind and hand to conquer space.

But through every accomplishment, he will continue to need faith. Always from his heart will rise a fervent prayer, knowing that Divine help must be with him.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Miss Page, In 'Sweet Bird Of Youth,' Had Stage Help

Science Fiction

Leo McKern and Janet Munro appear in "The Day The Earth Caught Fire," a science-fiction thriller showing Friday and Saturday at the Ritz Theatre. The movie is released by Universal-International and, according to advance reports, is of high quality.

The Wild Side

Jane Fonda and Laurence Harvey are among the stellar cast in "Walk on the Wild Side," which will be previewed Saturday evening at the Ritz Theatre. Miss Fonda is the daughter of stage and screen actor Henry Fonda. Harvey and Miss Fonda both portray hard-to-get lovers in "Walk on the Wild Side."

King Of Kings

Jesus of Nazareth, portrayed by Jeffrey Hunter, takes part with his disciples in The Last Supper, in this scene from "King of Kings," modern re-make of the old Cecil B. DeMille classic. The film continues its extended run in Big Spring at the State Theatre.

When it comes to actresses on the entertainment scene today, the name of Geraldine Page must be counted high on any list.

Within months of each other, two important films, "Sweet Bird of Youth," in which Miss Page co-stars with Paul Newman, and "Summer and Smoke," in which she appeared opposite Laurence Harvey, have attested to the fact that the red-haired actress is a major talent to be reckoned with by fans and critics alike.

To what does she attribute her uncanny success and her remarkable ability to dig into the innermost core of the character she is playing?

One of the primary reasons is the fact that Miss Page has had the good fortune to have filmed two roles which she had previously enacted in play form for more than one year each.

"I played 'Sweet Bird' and 'Summer and Smoke' on stage for so long that I felt I knew the heroine, Alexandra De Lago and Alma Winemiller, as well as if they had been sisters of mine. This long-lived familiarity with a part might make some actresses feel cluttered, but it was a great comfort to me," she said.

"They are both exciting and beautifully written characters created by Tennessee Williams, as you can work on them forever and never get bored. On the contrary, the longer you get to know them the more you become fascinated with them."

If the Broadway opening night reviews of "Sweet Bird of Youth" were any indication, Miss Page had achieved complete realization of her role as a Hollywood actress who mistakenly believes her career to be finished.

Such adjectives as "great," "stunning" and "beautiful" were applied to her performance. But, in her own mind, the search went on. She feels she benefited from it.

"When I was given the opportunity to repeat my role in the screen version of 'Sweet Bird of Youth' at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, I had a thread to hang on amidst all the confusion of movie-making," she declared.

"With the wonderful help of Richard Brooks, the director, I was able to enjoy the new aspects of Alexandra's personality in the light of her new surroundings and new events in her life. A wonderful thing about the film is that you get to act out many of the incidents that are only referred to verbally in the stage version of the same story."

"Sweet Bird of Youth" continues this week at the Ritz Theatre.

DEAN MARTIN & SUSAN HAYWARD

Actress Puts In Bid As Champion Commuter

When Susan Hayward leaves her rambling ranch house for a motion picture sound stage she has a 3,000-mile-plus jet flight ahead of her. Reasons being she's succumbed to the charms of the Old South—not to mention a ruggedly handsome gentleman named Eaton Chalkley—and taken up residence in Carrollton, Ga.

"My family calls me the world's champion commuter," says Miss Hayward, who most recently traveled to Hollywood to co-star with Dean Martin at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in "Ada."

"Ada" is now showing at the Sahara Drive-In Theatre. The Hayward clan includes husband Eaton, whom the actress married in 1957, and her two teenage sons, Tim and Greg, by a former marriage. Their house is in a contemporary style with huge expanses of glass, slate floors, white crushed-marble roof and an exterior of Georgia granite.

"Fortunately, my husband and I both like modern architecture," states Miss Hayward. "As far as decoration goes, he gave me my head. I did the living room entirely in white, dramatized with touches of orange, gold and green. The master bedroom is white and yellow. I lavished all my dreams on that house."

In addition to the main building which contains six rooms, all air-conditioned, there is a six-room guest house on the property. This is an old farmhouse which the Chalkleys remodeled.

"It's nice to have guests stay overnight, even if they're just in from Atlanta," says Susan. And the Hayward hostess plan focuses not only on room but also on board.

"I do the cooking," she declares. "Of course, I sometimes call in some help, depending on how large a party I'm having, but I'm the major dome in the kitchen. I enjoy cooking. I'm not a great cook, you understand, but a good plain one."

When Miss Hayward isn't steering a meal to completion she is usually out riding one of five saddle horses on the 450-acre Chalkley ranch and looking over steers.

"We have a working ranch," she points out with pride. "We raise good beef cattle. No milk cows, only 'steak' cows. By the way, did you know that Georgia ranks third in the nation in the production of beef cattle?"

Questions of this sort have prompted some of Miss Hayward's Hollywood friends to suspect she is a member of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, an observation which she squelches with a laugh and a retort.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newsfeatures

Four beautifully designed multi-colored stamps have been issued by Switzerland depicting various national locations and events. This is the 1962 Philatelic Agency in America.

The 5 centimes pictures a Swiss electric train. The 10 centimes features the World Rowing Championships to be held in Lucerne. The 20 centimes highlights the Jungfrau Railway Station, the highest in Europe (altitude 11,329 feet). The 50 centimes value, consisting of the World Health Organization emblem and a malaria-carrying mosquito, is Switzerland's contribution to the anti-malaria philatelic campaign now being conducted by many nations.

Collectors wishing to obtain a special cachet cover of the new Elre commemorative stamp honoring the Irish scholars O'Donovan and O'Curry, may write to Irish Cachet Covers, 947 East 32 St., Brooklyn 10, N. Y. A complete set on cachet cover costs $1.

Selangor State (in the Federation of Malaya) has replaced its 1 cent, 2, 4, 5, 8, 10 and 20 cent adhesives picturing the late ruler with new stamps containing a portrait of the new Sultan.

For collectors who may have missed the first day cancellations for the Project Mercury stamps, the United States Post Office Department is coming to the rescue. Plain envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department bearing the new 4-cent Project Mercury commemorative stamp and canceled "Cape Canaveral, Florida, 2:30 p.m., Feb. 20, 1962," "First Day of Issue," are being sold through the Philatelic Sales Agency at one cent above the face value of the stamps affixed to the envelopes. Patrons should, therefore, refrain from submitting envelopes either plain or with stamps affixed for this particular issue.

Orders for the first day covers bearing the four-cent Project Mercury stamps are being processed as rapidly as possible. However, due to the heavy volume of requests being received, there will be some delay in dispatching the orders.

Netherlands New Guinea will issue a series of two stamps without surcharge. One stamp will depict a street crossing showing children and a traffic sign. The other stamp illustrates adults at the same crossing.

Parents, Take Note

Parents whose offspring keep asking for a car might take a tip from Dean Martin, who explained how he handled this situation to Susan Hayward, his co-star in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Ada."

Miss Hayward had a similar problem being the mother of twin teen-agers who have a yen for a set of wheels.

Martin birthday-gifted his 16-year-old daughter, Claudia, with a new compact car, then slipped a governor on the motor.

"Now she can race all over town—at 20 miles per hour," the actor grinned contentedly.

Plans Ahead
NEW YORK (AP)—Hors Buchholz is planning well in advance for a Broadway interlude from a busy movie-making schedule.

He has signed with producers Cheryl Crawford and Roger L. Stevens to appear in "Andorra," a play not due here until February 1963.

"Andorra," written by Swiss dramatist Max Frisch, is currently a top item in the European theater with 25 productions.

General's Oldtimer

In this day of the sleek, supersonic jets, it may be a little jarring to realize that military men were flying airplanes like this one not more than 30 years ago. The plane pictured is a 1931 vintage DeHavilland "Tiger Moth," currently being rebuilt in Germany by an aero club made up mostly of U.S. Air Force personnel. It belongs to Brig. Gen. C. M. Young, now a deputy chief of staff at headquarters, U.S. Air Force in Europe, who was commander of Webb Air Force Base, 1955-57. General Young, as an old plane "buff," has always had a deep interest in the antique models. He sent the picture to friends here, advising that he had bought the plane for $200 after it had been sitting for a year in the open, property of a German flying club. Gen. Young is due to return to duty in the States this summer. didn't advise how he expects to get his DeHavilland back with him.

Texas Library Week To Be Observed Here

Howard County Free Library, the Howard County Junior College library, the Big Spring High School Library and the libraries in the two junior high schools will cooperatively observe Library Week in Texas starting Monday.

Open house will be the rule at the Howard County library and at HCJC. The schools, insofar as feasible, also will have an open house schedule. In each instance, the libraries welcome visits by patrons.

Mrs. Opal McDaniel, county librarian, and Mrs. Jan Harris, high school librarian, have been busy getting preparations made for the week. Cards calling attention to the week are being placed in the store windows downtown. At the high school, one day is to be set aside for all school teachers to visit the library. Coffee will be served.

Howard County Junior College Library has extended a general invitation to all residents to visit its library has extended a general invitation to all residents to visit its quarters and familiarize themselves with its facilities. The same welcome is posted by the librarians at Runnels and Goliad Junior high schools.

Classes from the schools are to visit the Howard County library through the week. Schedules are being set up for these visits. The youngsters are to be handed literature about libraries and the services they offer.

Mrs. McDaniel and Mrs. Harris are hopeful that all residents of the community visit the libraries during this week.

Interest in reading in Big Spring seems to be at an all time high at this time, Mrs. McDaniel reported. She said that her March records showed 7,678 books were checked out during the month. In 1961, the same month report showed 6,602.

Interest in reading has steadily boomed each month since 1962 began, she said. January reports showed 6,094 books checked out and February 5,888. The library is steadily adding books to its stacks. It is estimated there are about 15,000 books now on the shelves.

Electronic Age Comes To Track

WYNNE, Ark. (AP) — The electronic age may be on the verge of saying goodbye to the venerable stop watch at track meets. A radio station owner and his chief engineer have come up with a timing device triggered electronically by the starter's gun and stopped by an electric eye at the finish line.

Its developers—Bud Raley and Art Rogers—plan to show it off to representatives of the NCAA and the National Federation of the State High School Athletic Associations at the Memphis Relays Saturday.

Raley and Rogers have been working with the timing eye since 1960.

Raley says the device measures time in 100ths of a second instead of a 10th by the stop watch and can register times of first, second, third and fourth place finishers.

The whole timing piece fits into an Army foot locker.
