

Odessa's Boosters Have A Busy Day

By SAM BLACKBURN
ODESSA — Tuesday was a busy day for Odessa town boosters. Ground was broken for a major new industrial project; a historical marker to emphasize the Odessa meteor crater was unveiled; the town paid honor to Hal Woodward, West Texas member of the State Highway Commission. On the same day the Governor Price Daniel was on hand to join in the tribute to Woodward and also to officially sign a proclamation calling for a statewide paint-up and clean-up week for the month of May. The closing hours of the day were devoted to a conference on the best way that Odessa and Texas can attract more tourists and, having gained their interest, keep them as vacationists. In addition to the Odessans who were on hand for these multiple events, there were a large number of visitors from other communities. These included, in addition to Gov. Daniel, Charles Hawn, another highway commission member; Woodward; W. D. Hord, president of Western Oxygen Division of American Cryogenics; and Pierce Marks Sr., president of American Cryogenics.

Initial event on the crowded agenda was the ground-breaking for the new American Cryogenics plant. Gov. Daniel and Marks shared honors at this ceremony. The group then hastened eight miles west of Odessa to the site where the state historical marker relating to the meteor crater has been erected. Here Dr. Rupert N. Richardson, president of the state historical survey committee; Tom Rodman, Odessa chamber of commerce committee to establish the Odessa Meteorite Museum; and Gov. Daniel shared time on the program which was climaxed by Woodward's dedicatory address. The group then made a quick tour of the meteor crater site and sped back to the Lincoln Hotel where a luncheon was being delayed pending their arrival. This luncheon was to pay honor to Woodward, hailed by speakers as the "best appointment that Gov. Daniel has ever made." Joe Hodges, chairman of the Odessa highways and roads committee, presided. Preston Parker, mayor of Odessa, officially proclaimed April 17 as Hal Woodward Day. Dr. Richardson discussed Woodward as an historian; Hawn, Woodward's fellow member on the highway commission, told of the honoree's achievements as a highway builder.

tourist program depends on "the togetherness of sound organization." Woodward said tourism, like a savings account, "increases in interest in proportion to what is stored or deposited." "On the local level," Woodward said, "tourism increases in potentiality in proportion to how many facts the citizens of any community deposit on account of their community." Tourism succeeds best when its proponents can talk knowingly about the attractions available in their community. Woodward said the Odessa Meteor Crater is the city's most valuable tourist attraction; and with proper promotion, it could be developed into the equivalent of a new industry for Odessa. He praised the Odessa Chamber of Commerce and interested citizens for launching a campaign to raise funds for the establishment of the Odessa Meteorite Museum. The course a community plots to detour tourist dollars into it, Hawn said, should not be confined to one attraction. He said the Odessa area could also promote Castle Gap, that mile long gap between Castle and King Mountains that was a famous early pass for southwestern trails; the White Sands near Monahans; the unusual terrain and the oil industry; and Big Bend National Park and Davis Mountains nearby.

Asks Forgiveness

Mrs. B. J. Galliot Jr., one of three Roman Catholics excommunicated in a segregation feud, falls to her knees and asks forgiveness from Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel. She went to the archbishop's residence in New Orleans where he was leading a group of women pilgrims in prayer. Two of the women present restrained Mrs. Galliot from getting too close to the 85-year-old prelate. Mrs. Galliot said the archbishop refused to forgive her.

Excommunicated Woman Claims Satan Intervened

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A woman, one of three Roman Catholics excommunicated in a segregation feud, begged for Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel's forgiveness Tuesday, "but Satan intervened and he refused." Mrs. B. J. Galliot Jr., 41, appeared at the archbishop's residence at midmorning as he talked to a group of women on a prayer pilgrimage. She strode toward the archbishop as he led the group in prayer on the lawn in front of his residence, and then fell to her knees. "I told him that I knew in his heart he had nothing to do with my excommunication," she said, speaking of her expulsion from the church by the archbishop's order Monday. Political leader Leander Perez Sr. and Jackson Ricau of the Citizens Council were excommunicated along with her. "I beg you before God," she said on her knees in front of the 85-year-old prelate, "to look up to heaven. Between you and God that you know it's God's law to segregate." She tried to get closer to the archbishop but two women restrained her—"Satan intervened and they wouldn't let me get close to him." "I begged for his forgiveness, on my knees I begged his forgiveness, but Satan intervened and he would not listen to me," she said. "Don't listen to Satan—I begged him not to listen to Satan," she told two Associated Press newsmen on the scene. "I was on my knees and he wouldn't listen to me." After she left the scene, Mrs. Galliot said she did not back down on her stand for segregation, "but I wanted him to admit before God that in his heart he did not want to integrate." The archbishop excommunicated Mrs. Galliot, Perez and Ricau for failing to heed his March 31 per-

George Hansard indicated that evidence obtained through investigations by the sheriff's office and intelligence agents of the Department of Public Safety probably would be presented to the next grand jury.  Our sole concern is to promote Christianity! Our work is that of persuading men and women to be "both almost and altogether" Christians. This is a teaching process. "And they shall be all taught of God. Every man therefore that hath heard, and learned of the Father, cometh unto me" (Jno. 6:44, 45). Religious zeal, without a knowledge of God's plan of salvation could not help the people of Paul's day (Rom. 10:3). Thus we must teach the truth of the gospel. ## Common Market Snags On Politics

PARIS (AP)—Efforts by the six Common Market nations to extend West European economic unity into the political sphere have broken down over Belgian-Dutch demands that Britain join in the talks.

The snag arose Tuesday as foreign ministers of the European Economic Community discussed setting up a political authority to coordinate foreign policy and defense activities of West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The French, who acted as conference spokesmen, said Belgium's Paul-Henri Spaak and Joseph Luns of the Netherlands threw up the roadblock after all six ministers had agreed that any plans for political association should be submitted to London for comment.

Britain, which is negotiating to join the economic union, suggested last week that the time had come for her to join in the political talks also. The West Germans cold-shouldered the proposal. France reportedly feels the same way.

French informants said the French, West German, Italian and Luxembourg ministers agreed that a political accord should be signed if Britain, after examining it, raised no objections. Spaak and Luns balked and demanded that the British be brought into the negotiations as an active participant.

Spaak reportedly told the ministers that as long as Britain remains outside the Common Market, he will not sign a treaty on political association even if it conforms to Belgian views.

The six ministers adjourned the conference without issuing a communique or fixing a date for their next meeting. They agreed, however, to continue talks at the North Atlantic Treaty Organization ministerial conference in Athens May 3 or at one of their periodic sessions in Brussels on Common Market affairs.

The Belgian-Dutch move indicated that the two lowland nations, which have strong trade links with Britain, refuse to be submerged in a continental bloc dominated by President Charles de Gaulle's government or by a French-West German combine.

Belgium and the Netherlands have been urging a West European federal system with surrender of some sovereignty to a supranational body. De Gaulle wants a looser confederation and is supported by West Germany and Italy.

The French contend any decisions of a political association should be based on unanimous agreement, thus giving each member a veto. The Belgians and the Dutch say some matters at least should be decided by majority vote.

Estes Case Brings About Resignation Of Another Worker

WASHINGTON (AP)—Probes into the operations of Texas financier Billie Sol Estes have brought the resignation of another government employe, the wife of a dismissed Agriculture Department aide.

Rep. Ed Edmondson, D-Okla., disclosed Tuesday night that Mrs. Alice Morris, a part-time secretary in his office, has resigned. She is the wife of William E. Morris, former $14,380 a year assistant to the director of agriculture credit. He was fired Monday for failing to make himself available for questioning about his relations with Estes.

Estes, under indictment for fraud, operates West Texas storage facilities where some government grain is kept.

Edmondson said Mrs. Morris called his office Tuesday and said she and her husband did not believe it was desirable or proper to make a statement now, and therefore she was offering her resignation. It was accepted.

Morris was an assistant to James T. Ralph, former assistant secretary of agriculture, who is expected to testify in the Estes inquiry.

Ralph is training to become an agriculture attaché to the Philippines. Morris recently was transferred to the department's Farmers Home Administration.

Emery E. Jacobs, deputy director of the Agriculture Department's Stabilization and Conservation Service, resigned last week after his name was brought up in the Texas case. He has denied any wrongdoing.

Lightning Strikes Houston Airport

By The Associated Press

Lightning crashed down at Houston's international airport Wednesday morning, seriously injuring a youth and coming within a few feet of 25,000 gallons of aviation fuel.

Lynn Eubanks, 18, of Pasadena, near Houston, was knocked 20 feet as he walked across an airport ramp.

Ray Long, 39, a Continental Airlines employe, said he saw the youth lifted into the air and slammed to the ground.

Attendants at a hospital reported Eubanks' condition as serious. A bolt of lightning left a hole 2.5 inches in diameter in the concrete runway. The concrete surrounding the hole was blackened.

Asks Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actress Natalie Wood filed a divorce suit Tuesday against actor Robert Wagner, her husband of 3 1/2 years.

Miss Wood, now 23, and Wagner, 32, separated last June.

DEAR ABBY

What's Her Business?

DEAR ABBY: My husband travels and he spends a lot of time in a certain small town. I never could understand it because he doesn't get enough business out of that town to stay there overnight the way he does. He has told me about a divorcee he takes to dinner when he is there, but he says he sees her for "business" reasons. Do you really think he is seeing her for business reasons?

WONDERING WIFE

DEAR WONDERING: I don't know. What's her business?

DEAR ABBY: Our son is in his third year of college and hopes to go on to Law School. His grandparents are financing his education as we are unable to. He is a fine boy and we are all very proud of him. He has fallen in love with a girl he met at school. We have met her and think she is wonderful. His grandparents do not like the match because she is an adopted girl and her mother was unmarried. They think the girl is not "good enough" for our boy. They have threatened to cut off financial help if he doesn't break off with her. We say the girl can't help what her mother did. How can we solve this?

WORRIED MOTHER

DEAR WORRIED: How foolish can some people be? Give your son your blessings and if the grandparents want to withdraw their financial help, let them. Many young people are getting educations without the help of their grandparents. If your son wants an education badly enough, he'll find a way.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old girl. My problem is that I can't date a boy unless he passes inspection by my parents. I don't mind this, but their way of looking him over is to invite him to our house for supper. As soon as he walks in he is attacked by four inquisitive kids. (My younger sisters and brothers.) They ask him questions like, "Did you come to see Linda?" "Do you love her?" "When are you going to get married?" This is very embarrassing. I lost two very good guys this way. What should I do?

VICTIM OF LARGE FAMILY

DEAR VICTIM: Give your lit-

Cost-Plus On Rent Told In Nike Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Western Electric Co. officials have acknowledged they paid the government $3 million to rent factory space, then got the money back with a $290,000 profit through the firm's Nike missile contract.

This testimony came out Tuesday at a Senate investigation hearing that sometimes cracked with sharp words.

The company said its profits on the Nike system were about $109 million, equalling 13 per cent of invested capital and were reasonable.

"If that is reasonable, I'm mistaken. It seems pretty high to me," commented subcommittee chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

The subcommittee is investigating what McClellan calls pyramiding of profits by Nike missile contractors.

Witnesses have testified that Western and its chief subcontractor, Douglas Aircraft Co., added profits or fees for themselves onto profits paid other firms hired by Douglas to do much of the actual work. Company representatives have contended they were entitled to do this and did work to earn the money.

"We earned these profits ourselves," G. Raymond Smith, a Western Electric vice president, said Tuesday. "Not one penny of them is a profit taken for the work of others."

Smith and Thomas Spicer, Western's controller, acknowledged their firm had paid the government $3 million in 1951-52 as rent for the use of two federally owned plants in North Carolina, then billed the Army for the whole $3 million plus a $290,000 profit on it.

Baylor Scientists Make Strides In Cancer Research

DALLAS (AP)— Trustees of Baylor University were told Tuesday its scientists have made two major contributions to cancer research in the past year.

This was reported by Dr. Boone Powell, administrator of the Baylor medical center here.

He cited a combined oxygen-irradiation therapy treatment developed at the center's department of irradiation therapy and nuclear medicine and a virus discovery at the Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Dean Stanley Olson of the College of Medicine said the finding of Dr. John Trentin doesn't prove that human cancer is caused by viruses but is a significant approach to the problem. Trentin has reported a widespread human virus often causes cancer in animals.

Cancer therapy developed at the center has caused noteworthy response in more than half the patients completing the treatment, Powell said.

Baylor president Abner McCall announced a bequest of $300,000 from the late Harry Phillips of Waxahachie for a scholarship fund. Phillips, an inventor, died last month.

Hilton E. Howell of Waco was re-elected chairman of the board.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for the love offering, also for the food and many good deeds and blessings which came our way. May God's richest blessings be with each of you always.

2 Airmen Die In Trainer Crash

DEL RIO (AP) — A T37 jet trainer carried two airmen to death in Pecos River Canyon after hitting a telephone wire Tuesday.

The men, from Laughlin Air Force Base here, were 1st Lt. James Langan, 28, of Del Rio and 2nd Lt. Lewis Ellefson, 25, of Jasper, Minn.

Val Verde County Sheriff Herman Richter reported the plane was flying about 20 feet below the canyon rim and no more than 250 feet above the river bed.

"We can't understand why they were flying so low," Richter said. The ship crashed and burned 60 miles west of Del Rio, in Southwest Texas, near the confluence of the Pecos River and the Rio Grande. It struck in a dry stretch of the river bed.

Dies Of Injuries

WACO (AP)—Maj. Robert Griffith of Connally Air Force Base here died Tuesday night of injuries suffered four days earlier on State 31 northeast of Waco. His car and an oil truck collided.

John Connally once more said he proposes to appoint women to responsible state posts, adding: "They are bread winners, and I think we are going to have to update our statutes. . . I want them to give me the benefit of their talents, of their wisdom, of their experience, of their judgment."

Candidates Omit Weather, Use Nearly Every Other Topic

Men who want to be Texas' next governor talked about nearly everything except the weather in appeals to voters Tuesday.

Homes for the elderly, women's rights, proposals to draw tourists, the state's right-to-work law and the question of who has a right to run as a Republican figured in campaign discussions.

Marshall Formby, one of the five other Democrats vying with Gov. Price Daniel, declared at Abilene that "many senior citizens have been put in state hospitals because there has been no other place for them to go."

A home for the aged is something "long overlooked" by many that is sorely needed," Formby said. He went on to campaign Wednesday at Sweetwater, Colorado City, Big Spring, Midland and Odessa.

Wilson went vote hunting Wednesday at various points in the vicinity of Orange, Port Arthur and Beaumont.

on area for a second day of handshaking Wednesday.

Daniel, citing his record in office, told an Odessa audience the state is putting together a top-notch program for developing industry and drawing tourists.

The Houston Press likewise called attention to Daniel's record in endorsing him for re-election, declaring it "shows consistent progress painfully achieved over the opposition of some of the most powerful interests in the state."

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson argued Texas should keep its right-to-work law Tuesday at a National Labor Relations Board in Houston. He backed contentions of contractors that a union cannot operate a hiring hall without discrimination against non-union workers.

Good Samaritan Role For Jordan

AMMAN (AP) — Jordan's government announced a $2,800 Passover gift Tuesday for the tiny community of Samaritans living in Jordan.

The Samaritans, who number about 220, claim descent from ancient Israelites who intermarried with other Semitic tribes. They consider themselves bound by Mosaic law and celebrate Passover but are not a part of the Jewish community.

Mayor Stays In

PAMPA (AP) — Pampa residents voted to keep Mayor E. C. Sidwell in office yesterday. The totals in a special recall election were 2,700 for retaining the mayor and 1,292 to oust him.

same Southeast Texas area a day ahead of the attorney general. His schedule called for jumps to Corpus Christi and Lubbock Wednesday.

There was no announcement of itinerary for Edwin Walker, who headed back across Northeast Texas after a speech in Milwaukee.

Roy Whittenburg spoke out sharply about "certain supporters of my Republican opponent, who have actually attempted to make me feel out of place in my action of campaigning against their candidate for governor"—Jack Cox.

Before moving on from a Wichita Falls visit Wednesday, Whittenburg added in a statement at Amarillo that the fact Cox "was recently a Democrat has no bearing on the subject" and "their thinking appears to be along the line that I am an interloper."

Cox, an unsuccessful opponent of Daniel in the Democratic primary, two years ago, went to San Antonio after several days of touring the Lower Rio Grande Valley, which he called "a virtual gold mine."

The lush semi-tropical valley promises to become a major rival of California and Florida for tourists, Cox said, and "there is a great potential here for industry and foreign commerce."

On the campaign trail of candidates for congressman-at-large: Woodrow Bean pledged efforts in an Odessa talk to work for more non-military business in the state, while Manley Head proposed steps to lure tourists from abroad during a San Antonio stop.

Joe Phillips asserted at McAllen that since challenging Head and Bean to campaign debates "I have received a refusal from Head and no reply from Bean."

Warren Moore expressed the view at Harlingen that an agricultural development program should be worked out to avoid discriminating between farmer and consumer.

AIRMAN HARRIS

LT. K. L. FARRIS

Honor Men Named By 331st At Webb

Second Lt. Kenneth L. Farris was selected pilot of the month and Airman I.C. Lawrence Harris won airman honors during March, according to the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron, based at Webb AFB.

Lt. Farris achieved a 100 per cent kill rate in radar sorties for the month to help him take the award. He joined the 331st FIS last August after he completed advanced Interceptor Training at Perrin AFB, and survival training at Stead AFB, Nev.

Lt. Farris began his military career in the Army Reserve in October, 1956. He came into the Air Force in December, 1957 and in August, 1959 entered the Aviation Cadet program and was graduated from pilot training at Reese AFB with his wings and a second lieutenant's commission in December, 1960.

He is the only bachelor officer in the 331st and lives on base. He is from Bedias, Tex.

Airman Harris, who works in the man-hour utilization section of the Analysis Records and Reports Division, earned the award for his superior job knowledge and outstanding application of this knowledge.

Airman Harris came into the Air Force in 1958 and following basic training at Lackland AFB, attended Statistical Records School at Lowry AFB, Colo. Following his graduation from the school he was assigned to the AR&R section of the 37th Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Egan AFB, Va.

He came to Webb AFB in 1959 when the 37th FIS was assigned here. He has completed extension courses from the Extension Course Institute at Gunter AFB, Ala., and U. S. Armed Forces Institute, Madison, Wis.

Airman Harris lives at 100 Elm Drive with his wife, Conchetta and two children, Lawrence, 2, and Sandra, 9 months.

Ideas Win Cash Awards

A group of military and civilian personnel at Webb AFB recently received cash awards for suggestions accepted under the U. S. Air Force's Management Improvement Suggestion Program.

T. Sgt. Alberto Bustoz, 350th M&S Group, was awarded $20 for a suggestion that prolongs the life of the T-38 Survival Kit cushion. This cushion is a critical item in the sergeant's suggestion of a removable cover that keeps them clean and in condition longer.

Airman I.C. Gustav Von Siebenhoven Jr., also of M&S Gr., Fuels Supply-Refueling division, devised a plastic bag in which all forms used in refueling units may be kept neat and clean. This suggestion earned Airman Von Siebenhoven $5.

Airman 2.C. Paul A. Turton was awarded $10 for an idea in modification of voltage regulators in the Ground Controlled Approach systems. Saving time and allowing no system interruption, his suggestion enables the regulator to be adjusted with the component in a rack.

Dorman Owen of Civil Engineering Group was awarded $50 for his idea to modify a sweeper, making it more efficient and saving manhours in its operation.

Lowell D. Shortes of M&S Group received a cash award of $25 for an invention of a receiver to be used in checking audible warning signals on T-37 and 38's, improving operation and saving time.

29 Are Injured In Bus-Truck Crash

PALO PINTO (AP) — Twenty-seven students and two adults were injured as a school bus and a pickup truck collided and the bus rolled down an embankment Tuesday.

Doctors said the only serious injury, however, was a broken collarbone suffered by Eddie Laney, 14, of Graford. He was one of 44 riding in the bus.

The head-on crash occurred west of here in West Central Texas as the bus was en route back to Graford after a baseball game at Gordon.

Truck driver Porter Reynolds, a companion and the other students received first aid treatment at a Mineral Wells hospital.

EASTER DECORATIONS AT LAKEVIEW SCHOOL
Jacqueline Montgomery and Ronald Wrightsail put them up

School Children Work On Easter Activities

By JOE BEYER
The bunny has hopped onto numerous bulletin boards in Big Spring schools.

As the Easter season reaches a climax, school children, especially in the elementary grades, will take advantage of time to make decorations and hold egg hunts, parties and special programs.

What they look forward to most, no doubt, is the four-day vacation which begins Thursday at 2:45 p.m. Classes resume Tuesday morning.

Only one special activity is planned at the Senior High School this year. The Rev. Robert F. Folk, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will speak at the student assembly Thursday at 9:30 a.m. Last year a special program for Easter was staged by the Bible Class at the high school, but it was deleted this year in favor of a Christmas program.

At the junior high schools nothing is contemplated beyond slanting the morning devotional Thursday toward Easter. The devotionals will be longer than usual and will include songs of the season. Events on the elementary levels consist mostly of egg hunts, decorations and special room parties. Those schools which had not already reached the limit of three parties a year and wish to use one now are going in on a larger scale than are others.

Classes at Airport school will have a special Easter egg hunt Thursday. Mothers are sponsoring the hunt and will hide eggs for the youngsters. Other activities will depend on the individual teacher.

Boydston students will be treated to a 30-minute party Thursday just before school lets out. There will be egg hunts within the rooms and light refreshments will be served. Cedar Crest will also hold egg hunts and students will have refreshments in the rooms.

At College Heights Elementary the first and fourth grades will hunt eggs while other grades will have small parties in the rooms, according to W. C. Blankenship, principal. Most displays in that school are within the classrooms.

Bauer elementary students will mostly be conducting room parties. Only one or two rooms will have egg hunts. At Kate Morrison the Easter festivities will be limited to parties.

Lakeview school is conducting a special assembly and Easter program by students Thursday. Some of the primary grades will hold Easter egg hunts also that day. E. S. Morgan, principal, said, The halls of the school and bulletin boards in the various rooms have all received gay touches of the seasonal decoration.

Celebrations at Marcy have been limited to music and artistic displays in each room. There will be no parties, according to William R. Dawes principal.

Room mothers at Park Hill school are putting on the show for youngsters there. An egg hunt will be sponsored during Thursday afternoon for each room and refreshments will be served.

Washington elementary students will do their celebrating within the rooms. Classes which have not used up their quota of parties will probably use this opportunity to scratch one from the number.

Passover Dinner Slated Tonight

The first Passover dinner of the season to be held by those of Jewish Faith is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. today at the Cosden Country Club. It will be a Community-WAFB Passover dinner, with S. Sgt. Edward Harstein leading. Jewish families customarily hold the second Passover dinners in their homes.

Mrs. Leonard Einstein, member of the committee on arrangements, said about 38 persons are expected to attend the dinner tonight.

Sharp Setback Emperils Party

LONDON (AP)—Another sharp election setback for Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's ruling Conservative party brought warnings today that the party's prospects of being returned to office at the next general election are seriously threatened.

Appointed To TML Committee

Two Big Spring city officials have been appointed to the legislative committee of the Texas Municipal League. A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, is on the sub-committee appointed to draft a resolution on municipal annexation. John Burgess, city attorney, is on the sub-committee for revenue and taxation. Steinheimer and Burgess said the two subcommittees were to draft resolutions to be presented for consideration at the Texas Municipal League meeting in Fort Worth in October.

The subcommittees are to meet in Austin April 30.

Training School For City Officials

A training institute for mayors, city commissioners, and city councilmen, is scheduled to be held in McAllen June 24-26, City Manager A. K. Steinheimer said Wednesday. "The institute was inaugurated by the Texas Municipal League two years ago," he said. "It is held every other year and is a means of presenting background information and procedural training to new city officials."

Our Own States Give Us Cool, Chic Cottons

With a lightness of mood and fabric apparent, dress shapes for summer are assuming their most comfortable aspects. Designers are acutely aware that today's young woman is more active and needs fashions that enable her to look chic and comfortable during the sultry summer days and evenings.

Invitations to summer galas suggest billowing skirts floating from snugly fitted bodices. The amount of décolletage is simply a variation on the theme. The designers sketch p a d shows present styles pared down to pure shape with fabric playing the key role.

Telling its own American story, these cottons have been developed from a superior fiber grown in our own Southwestern states of Arizona, Texas and New Mexico, toasted countrywide as the "champagne of cottons."

SPACE NEWS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jet test pilots who would like to be astronauts in the Gemini space docking project can start applying now. Five to 10 of them will be selected by fall.

The Gemini project is another step in the process of sending a three-man Apollo spacecraft to the moon and back, possibly by 1966.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the new astronauts will support the seven-man project Mercury team in Mercury space capsule operations and will join the seven in piloting the two-man Gemini spacecraft.

NASA said Robert B. Gilruth of the Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston will receive applications until June 1.

The first unmanned orbital flight of a two-place Gemini capsule is planned for next year. In it the docking maneuver will get its first space test.

Docking involves rendezvous in orbit with another space vehicle sent up separately. The idea is that a separately orbited engine could provide the extra thrust needed to get an Apollo capsule to the moon.

The space agency said Apollo flight crews will be selected from the seven current astronauts, the five to 10 to be chosen by fall and a third group of astronauts that probably will be selected in the late stages of the Apollo mooncraft development program.

Candidates for the Gemini project must be experienced jet test pilots, younger than 35 and no taller than 6 feet.

They must hold a college degree in the physical or biological sciences or in engineering. Also, they must have attained experimental flight test status either through the military services, the aero-space industry or NASA, or be graduates of a military test pilot school.

A Few April Showers Fall

By The Associated Press

There were a few more April showers in East Texas and it was at least partly cloudy elsewhere about the state Wednesday.

Early morning temperatures in the 50s to high 60s gave promise of another warm afternoon.

Tuesday's top marks ranged up to a sizzling 104 degrees at Presidio in far West Texas. The mercury hit 94 at San Angelo and Laredo, 92 at Junction and 91 at Alpine and El Paso.

Widely scattered thunderstorms were in prospect for Northwest Texas by evening. Forecasts called for partly cloudy skies throughout the state again Thursday.

Temperatures before sunrise ranged from 53 degrees at Childress and Wichita Falls up to 69 at Brownsville.

Character Study An Offbeat Hour

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — "That's Where the Town's Going" on CBS Tuesday night was really a character study—three unhappy, lonely and lost people thrown together in a musty Victorian manse to work out their problems.

The hour special, an original script by Tad Mosel, was slow-moving, depressing, yet somehow fascinating. It was a slight story about two middle-aged spinster sisters, remnants of the first family of a small town, existing unhappily in the old house with a dying aunt. "The Silly Silks," town-folk called the two—bossy, domineering Ruby and vague, day-dreaming Wilma.

The plot picked them up on a day when an old beau of Wilma's returned, rich and successful, to ask her once again to marry him. An ambitious boy from the wrong side of the tracks, he still smarted from her laughing refusal of his proposal 15 years before. His return was more to prove himself than for love. In the end, it was Ruby — at first so fearful her younger sister would leave her—who ruthlessly went off to be married. Wilma, distraught, returned to her dream world.

The performances were excellent: Kim Stanley as Wilma, Patricia Neal as Ruby and Jason Robards Jr. as self-centered and supersensitive Hobart. It was an interesting, offbeat hour.

An average bill from us will be cheaper . . . Why? Our expenses doing business are very low.

NBC's musical variety, "Rainbow of Stars," was a glorified tour of—and an hour-long plug for—New York's Rockefeller Center. Robert Goulart strolled among the gardens and fountains singing. Carol Lawrence danced down 50th Street and on the tables in one of the restaurants. The Music Hall Rockettes, all too briefly, did some of their famous precision high-kicking.

Gosh, it must be pretty exciting to work in a place where that sort of thing goes on all the time. (Eds note: she has for 20 years. The AP Building is at 50 Rockefeller Plaza.)

A recent note in this column, reporting that audience rating services found only a small drop in the size of the "Tonight" show audience after the departure of Jack Paar, brought a flurry of mail from devoted followers of the retired NBC giant-killer. All were to the effect that "I definitely have given up late television watching since Jack and his regulars left, since they were almost like family."

Now that Bob Newhart has won a prestigious Peabody Award for his NBC show, perhaps his sponsor (currently debating whether to renew Newhart for another season or fill the half hour with something less sophisticated) will give the comedian a new lease on television life.

Recommended tonight: Perry Como Show, 9-10 (EST)—Easter show with Burr Tillstrom, Kukla and Ollie and singer Jane Morgan; Steel Hour, CBS, 10-11—"The Go-Between," drama about an American girl in Tokyo with Barbara Cook and John Lupton.
