Boosters For Formby

Wednesday was a busy day in gubernatorial campaigning in Big Spring. Hard on the heels of Gov. Price Daniel, Marshall Formby brought his campaign to town. Here the former senator of this district is shown with Elmer Tarbox and with Mrs. Iva Johnson, among his local boosters. Formby dined at Masters' Cafeteria with more than a score of friends, spoke briefly and departed for Odessa for more campaigning that sometimes stretches into 18 hours a day.

Who Chooses Governor Main Campaign Issue, Says Formby

"The main issue in this campaign," Marshall Formby, candidate for governor, declared here Wednesday, "is whether Texans want to have a free state or one dominated by Lyndon B. Johnson forces in Washington."

Formby, who declared he was the only candidate in the race free from special cliques or interests, pointed that he was one of only three in the race with backgrounds in state government.

He arrived here at 1 p.m. for lunch with some of his supporters at Masters' Cafeteria and spoke briefly before continuing his campaign to the west. Accompanying him here was Graddy Tunnel, a law partner in Plainview. Approximately a score of friends, headed by Elmer Tarbox, who is leading Howard County forces for Formby, were on hand to visit with the former state highway commission chairman.

In a plain-spoken poke at John Connally, former Navy secretary, Formby asserted that LBJ's interest in the current campaign was the 1964 Democratic delegate state.

VITAL ISSUE
This, he said, is a vital issue in the race. He accused the Washington faction of interest solely in gathering strength for the 1964 presidential election and said they are not looking to the interests of Texas.

Formby said he joins with many other Texans who are interested in putting Texas on a cash basis. Although he decried the sales tax, he said it was probably with us to stay, for a time at least.

"I don't want it, but we are not going to repeal it and it is foolish for anyone to say that will be done," he said. "It will be with us for a while unless we can come up with some miracle to get other tax money. What needs to be done is to simplify its structure."

SIMPLIFY TAX
He said he would like to see a one per cent tax across the board if that method would provide sufficient funds.

Formby attacked the low level of oil production in the state and said something needs to be done. Here the governor could use his persuasive forces to help the oil man.

"Texas is about the only state holding down oil production to the level of eight days," he said. He said he understood that Oklahoma and New Mexico oil was coming into Texas.

Among other reforms Formby said he favors to change the "merit" rating plan of car insurance. He also advocated increasing the speed limit on four-lane through highways from 60 miles an hour in rural areas to 70 miles per hour.

LAW ACADEMY
Other areas he said needing consideration are instituting a law to train police officers and building homes for elderly senile citizens who are now housed in mental institutions. Local law agencies need a source of specially trained men, he said. Aged people need to be in homes supplied by the state and local governments and agencies.

Texas is ready for a change, he asserted, and his own candidacy was gaining steam.

Formby said he not only was the only candidate free of alliances, but that as Democratic nominee, he would win handily in November. He said he was certain he had the soundest platform and that, although he did not hold the GOP endorsement, many laboring people will vote for him because they believe in his program.

BUSY MAN
Formby is making an intensive tour of Texas and has now covered almost every section except the area around Texarkana and Marshall. He came here from Colorado City.

The former state senator is co-owner of four West Texas radio stations and owns a 900-acre farm in Hale County. He has been in business for 20 years.

He has also been a county judge and a member of the State Senate and chairman of the Texas Highway Commission. Formby graduated from Texas Tech and is a past president of its alumni association.

New Argentine Crisis Over Peronist Issue

Buenos Aires, Argentina (AP)—Battle-equipped troops deployed through Buenos Aires today as a new Argentine crisis flared between President Jose Maria Guido and the military leaders who put him into office three weeks ago.

Soldiers and national policemen were posted at key points in the capital to guard against Peronist disturbances as the military chiefs pressed Guido's government to bar the followers of ex-Dictator Juan Peron from politics once again. An estimated 5,000 more troops were summoned from the provinces to Buenos Aires.

Guido was reported standing firm against the military demand, but his new government began to waltz under the same pressures the military put on President Arturo Frondizi before ousting him last month.

Interior Minister Rodolfo Martinez resigned and charged the government was planning to defy the constitution by taking over the provincial governments. Labor Minister Oscar Guiguiros hinted that he also would quit.

There was no immediate reaction from the Peronists. But they have repeatedly warned of social disturbances unless the government allows the many Peronist victors in the March 18 elections to take office on schedule May 1. Leaders of the 3-million-member, Peronist-dominated General Confederation of Labor arranged to meet Tuesday to map strategy.

Informed sources said Guido turned down the military's demands in a 90-minute meeting Wednesday night with the three service secretaries, the army's Gen. Raul A. Poggi, the navy's Rear Adm. Gaston Clement and the air force's Brig. Jorge Rojas Silveira.

The military chiefs demanded that Guido:

1. Order federal intervention in the 17 provinces still under local control, replacing their elected governors with federal appointees approved by the military;

2. Nullify the March 18 elections in which the Peronists drew more than 2.5 million votes, elected governors in nine provinces and won 43 seats in the national Chamber of Deputies;

3. Once again ban Peronists and their allies, including the Communists, from political activity; and

4. Scrap labor legislation the military considers too favorable to the Peronist unions.

After the meeting with Guido, the service secretaries met for three hours with their top commanders. They were reported determined that Guido agree to their demands.

Mahon Puts Through Record Arms Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has unanimously approved the nation's biggest peacetime military budget—a hefty $47.8 billion for the next fiscal year.

The appropriation bill was approved 388-0 in a roll-call vote Wednesday and sent to the Senate.

The money bill, $67.5 million less than Kennedy had requested, continues to emphasize a buildup of conventional ground forces and weapons capable of fighting limited as well as global wars.

The bill was handled in the House by George Mahon of the 19th District of Texas, chairman of the military appropriations subcommittee.

Said Mahon Wednesday in offering his measure: "Our foreign policy to be effective must be backed up by military power of unquestioned superiority. That is the purpose of this bill—to deter war, to enable us to more effectively fight communism in the cold war and to successfully fight communism in hot war should this country be attacked."

Mahon took a dig at "loose talk about a no-win policy." He said "nobody in his right mind would think that Congress would appropriate $47.8 billion for the purpose of supporting a no-win policy."

The bill earmarks 18 per cent of the money for such items as six more Polaris firing nuclear submarines and 200 more Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missiles.

The bill is $1.3 billion more than Congress approved last year. The new measure is for fighting forces and military hardware. Still to come are appropriations for military construction, civil defense and military assistance abroad.

In recent years the Senate generally has been more liberal than the House, and even the administration, with the Pentagon's purse strings. So the final figure could be even higher.

The House version would support 2,683,001 active military personnel and reserve forces of 1,003,500.

The House voted more than was asked for Army Reserve and National Guard forces, but the action would not prevent Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara from going ahead with his proposal to trim these forces by 38,000.

The House measure would also give McNamara virtually a free hand to continue the controversial RS70 bomber program at the current cautious rate, or to use additional millions provided to expedite radar research if his experts recommend it.

Estes Paid Low Grain Bond, Say Witnesses

Shooting Death Charges Filed

Andrew Garcia Perez, 25, 801 N. Goliad is dead, and "Little" Joe Torres, 20, 601 N. Douglas, is facing a charge of murder following a shooting at Franco's Lounge, 501 1/2 NW. 4th. at 10:34 p.m. Wednesday.

Torres was arrested at the Cowper Hospital and Clinic at 12:50 a.m. Thursday as he was being treated for stab wounds in the back which he said were received after the shooting. Perez was drilled once through the left eye. Witnesses said the two men were in the bar and started arguing. Torres, they said in statements to officers, pulled a .25 calibre pistol and fired at Perez. The first shot caught him and he fell. A second shot went into the wall at the rear of the building.

FIRE AGAIN
Rudy Hernandez, manager of Franco's Lounge, told officers that he grappled with Torres when he saw what had happened and that the gun was fired a third time. Hernandez said Torres broke away from him and attempted to fire the fourth shot but that the gun did not fire. Torres then ran out of the building.

Police started a search for Torres but did not find him until he was reported at the hospital.

Police Patrolmen Ruben Gonzales and Jimmie Ellison investigated the shooting. The two officers, along with Sergeant L. D. Adams and Liquor Control Officer Bill Flynn, arrested Torres at the hospital. He was kept there overnight but under guard.

Detective Aubrey Hurley, Bill Flynn, Identification, Lieutenant Bob Bronson, and Justice of the Peace Walter Grice were called to Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home where Perez's body was taken after he was pronounced dead on arrival at Cowper Hospital.

STABBING MYSTERY
Torres told Detectives Aubrey Hurley and Jack Jones Thursday morning that he did not know who stabbed him but that it was in connection with the shooting and had happened after the shooting.

Torres was transferred to the Howard County Jail. Justice of the Peace Walter Grice said a bond of $10,000 was set which Torres had not made at noon Thursday.

Perez had served two prison terms for burglary and was indicted in January, then re-indicted April 9, on a charge that as an ex-convict he had carried a prohibited weapon.

Perez was born Jan. 18, 1937 in Lubbock. He is survived by a son, Andrew Perez Jr., Lubbock; his mother, Mrs. Nancy Perez, Big Spring; two brothers and two sisters, Manuel Lopez, Joe Lopez Jr., Elnida Lopez, and Yolanda Lopez, all of Big Spring, and a grandfather, B. Garcia, Big Spring.

Funeral services are pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Tshombe Home With Praise For The U.N.

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, Congo (AP)—President Moise Tshombe flew into Elisabethville today after U.N. soldiers with fixed bayonets deployed against Congo government troops who had prevented his departure from Leopoldville.

"We must pay tribute to the United Nations for all they have done for my protection and for the protection of my colleagues," the Katangan president told a crowd of 5,000 as he landed here in a U.N. chartered plane.

The secessionist president had been in Leopoldville for more than a month for unity talks with Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula. He started to return to his capital Wednesday.

Congo authorities ordered fire trucks to block the runway as his U.N. plane was ready to take off and prevented his departure.

Tshombe and 22 other passengers remained in the plane despite the steaming temperature, while U.N. officials tried to iron out the situation.

Robert Gardiner, U.N. operations chief in the Congo, finally gave the order to U.N. Nigerian troops to clear the runway and permit Tshombe to leave.

The United Nations had guaranteed Tshombe's safety and his freedom to return to his capital if he would go to Leopoldville to discuss conditions for ending the secession of Katanga.

Gardiner said that while waiting to take off, Tshombe still talked of returning to Leopoldville for further negotiations.

To the cheering crowd in Elisabethville's main square, however, Tshombe spoke bitterly of the Adoula government, and praised the United Nations.

"Adoula and I have not had one real meeting yet," Tshombe said, charging that the central government acted in bad faith and had no thought of real negotiations.

LBJ Claims Space To Open Doors On Earth

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson declared today the nation's space goal of shooting for the moon and reaching it will also open new doors on earth for peace and prosperity.

Johnson told the American Society of Newspaper Editors meeting here today is a good reason "why we are proposing to spend billions of dollars to go to the moon when there are so many problems to be solved right here on earth."

A moon landing, he said in his prepared remarks, would solve many of earth's problems.

Going to the moon is not merely an effort to satisfy idle curiosity, he said. "We are going to the moon because it is a logical step in the exploration of the universe."

"The steps we have taken already have paid off and paid off handsomely," he added.

Johnson cited as one dividend of the space program the weather satellite Tiros which gave the Gulf Coast three days' advance warning of Hurricane Carla.

The people on the Gulf, said Johnson, "found that the space program—which had seemed so remote—suddenly became very near to them and very dear to them—because it meant saving lives."

Brother Of Slayer Stabbed To Death In Odessa Melee

ODESSA—James Lewis Wiley, 34, identified as a brother of Roosevelt Wiley, who was electrocuted in Huntsville last year for the knife death of a San Angelo milk truck driver, was found dying of stab wounds Wednesday night. The wounded man was in front of an Odessa club. He died without making a statement or identifying his slayer.

Police said that there were four witnesses to the slaying but that all tell different stories of what happened. The officers said they have four widely varying descriptions of the man who wielded the knife. No arrest has been made and no charges filed.

Roosevelt Wiley, accompanied by another Negro, slew Shurly Canada, a San Angelo milk truck driver, and robbed him of his money in October 1959. They were arrested in Big Spring and Roosevelt Wiley's companion later pleaded guilty to murder.

"He was a minor at the time of the slaying," Wiley was tried three times before his conviction was upheld. He was electrocuted in 1961 for the crime.

Reds Maneuver Against Tests

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union launched a series of diplomatic maneuvers today in an attempt to block the American atmospheric nuclear weapons tests due soon in the Pacific. The United States and Britain stood fast against the pressure.

Man Held After Shot Nicks Arm Of Big Spring Woman

A charge of assault with intent to murder was filed against J. Raymond Chapman, 41, of 509 Lancaster Thursday night following a shooting on the parking lot of the Ace of Clubs, US 80 west. The charge was filed in Justice of the Peace Walter Grice's court.

Mrs. Sylvia Campbell, 505 Lancaster, sustained a minor wound in her upper right arm. A bullet hole was found in a door glass of the car, police said.

Mrs. Campbell, Jean Morgan and Mrs. Bernice Chapman, estranged wife of J. Raymond Chapman, were proposed to enter a car when they said a man appeared on the parking lot and fired twice with a pistol.

Police were notified and Patrolman Marvin Blackwell went to investigate. Upon learning the identity of the man who fired the shots, he received a warrant and went to his home. He found nobody there so he parked his car and waited in the alley.

Blackwell said a car later drove into the alley and that a man and woman were in the front seat and a man, whom he recognized as Chapman, was in the back seat. The officer took Chapman to the police station. A .22 calibre pistol was found later in the possession of the man who was driving the car from which Chapman was taken.

The three women appeared at the police station Thursday morning to make statements.

Mrs. Chapman told Detective Aubrey Hurley that she had left her husband on two occasions, that she had filed suit for a divorce and had a restraining order placed on him.

Chapman was still in the city jail at noon Thursday but Hurley said he would be transferred to the Howard County jail Thursday afternoon.

Loan Approved

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—The Public Housing Administration approved a $16,000 loan to the Housing Authority of Wichita Falls, Tex., Wednesday. It will pay for preliminary planning of 80 low-rent homes.

Storage Probe Held At Lubbock

LUBBOCK (AP)—Witnesses testified today that embattled West Texas financier Billie Sol Estes put up bond of less than 2 cents a bushel on his grain storage capacity, while his competitors' bond was about 12 cents a bushel.

The testimony was the highlight of the fifth court of inquiry by Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson into the affairs of Estes.

Estes, dealer in fertilizer on a tremendous scale and a major grain storage operator under federal farm programs, last year said he was worth up to $50 million. He now is under federal fraud indictment and is being sued for millions.

UNDUE INFLUENCE
Wilson is making a transparent effort to show that Estes used undue influence to obtain grain from federal officials to store in his many elevators, which may have a capacity of 87 million bushels.

Wayne Cooper, manager of a cluster of Estes elevators under the name of United Elevators, testified that this firm's bins have a capacity of more than 50 million—The Agriculture Department says $1,615,279.

Cooper said the bond required by the department was $700,000. Once in 1960, Estes faced an increase in his bond, testified Texas Asst. Atty. Gen. Joe Osborne, reading from letters.

Osborne read one letter signed by O. P. Herron, an official of the U.S. Warehouse Act Branch at Wichita, Kan., dated Feb. 10, 1961, which said his office had been instructed "by our Washington office" to renew the bond at $700,000.

OTHER BONDS
Roy Burrus of Plainview, who has a 1,615,000-bushel elevator at Hart, Tex., testified his bond is $184,000.

Robert Wilson of Plainview said his Wilson Grain Co., licensed under state law, is bonded at a rate of 12 1/2 cents a bushel.

D. F. Cook of Clarendon said his 1,250,000 bushel elevator has a $130,000 bond under state law.

The hearing here obviously was aimed at information useful in questioning Agriculture Department officials in Dallas tomorrow.

But one key official, Emery Jacobs, who quit his $16,350 Agriculture Department job when his name was linked with Estes, said he could not be present because of a conflicting engagement.

Wilson asked Burrus, "You can't expand your facilities faster than your net worth expands, can you?"

Burrus replied, "No, sir."

LARGELY ON CREDIT
Cooper was asked, "Your expansion was largely on credit, wasn't it?"

Cooper answered, "As far as I know, yes, sir."

Cooper made a formal statement, saying: "I have no knowledge of any preferential treatment of United Elevators."

The Estes employee said in the statement that no more than 25 per cent of the grain stored for the government originated through the Commodity Credit Corp. of the Agriculture Department. The balance came originally from farmers before going under federal control.

Burrus said, and Cooper confirmed, that Estes planned to build 100 small grain receiving stations—"one every six miles on paved roads"—in order to obtain the bulk of the grain produced in the Plainview region.

LITTLE MAN OUT
"The inevitable effect of that would be to force out the little man, wouldn't it?" Wilson asked Burrus.

"Yes, sir," said the witness. Cooper said 14 of the small collecting stations already were built and seven were under construction.

Wilson asked, "That would force the others (elevator companies) to meet that (build own stations) or go out of business?"

"I think it would have that effect. Yes, sir," said Cooper.

Rep. Purcell Makes First House Speech

WASHINGTON (AP)—Reps. Graham Purcell and Ray Roberts, both North Texas Democrats, made their first speeches in the House Wednesday.

Purcell, joining in a proposal for holding down crude oil imports, said:

"The problem before us is one which is vital to all the people of the United States, and one that is misunderstood by too many of us."

"We must, I believe, for our own protection, save our domestic oil producers from unfair foreign competition that, in right this minute, in the process of destroying them completely."

Roberts, who succeeded the late Speaker Sam Rayburn, appealed for more Defense Department funds to allow two weeks of voluntary active duty with pay each year for naval reservists.

Speaking before the House approved the defense appropriation bill, Roberts said the measure provided money for only 2,700 of 26,800 reserves to get in the two weeks' duty with pay.

Chairman George Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Defense subcommittee told Roberts a conference committee would consider his request in acting on the bill.

Leaves E. Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—The removal of Marshal Ivan S. Konev from command of Soviet troops in East Germany is regarded as a most significant event by Western officials in Berlin. Konev has been replaced by Col. Gen. Ivan I. Yakubovskii, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today.

This restores the command situation prevailing before the East Germans built the wall across Berlin last August. Yakubovskii was then the commander of the 20 to 22 Soviet divisions in East Germany.

Local Congregations Prepare For Good Friday Observances

Good Friday, commemorating the Crucifixion, is a day of solemnity throughout the Christian world.

Some denominations of the Christian religion observe the day with solemn ritual, while others place no special significance on the day, but observe the season.

The Roman Catholic Church recognizes Good Friday as one of the most solemn days in the liturgical year.

Preparation begins on Holy Thursday (called Maundy Thursday) with a Solemn High Mass in the evening. On Good Friday no Mass is said. The solemnity of the occasion continues into the afternoon with observation of the Stations of the Cross at 3 p.m., and with the recitation of the Liturgy of the Passion.

"It is a day for continual adoration of the Blessed Sacrament," Father Francis Beazley, pastor of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, said.

Within the Presbyterian Church, Good Friday is recognized as the time of Christ's death, according to the Rev. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. There are no church-wide services for the day and each church decides for itself what commemorative services will be conducted.

Good Friday is a high day of the church year for the Lutheran Church. Although the occasion is not always observed with afternoon services, the day is recognized as a commemoration of Christ's death, according to the Rev. Clair Wiederhuff, pastor of the St. Paul Lutheran Church.

The local First Church of God will observe Good Friday by having the church open to the public all day for worship and prayer.

"There is no church prayer to follow," the Rev. V. Ward Jackson, pastor, said. "We place a special significance on the day and recognize the period of noon to 3 p.m. as the time Christ hung on the cross before He died."

The Lenten season is generally observed by the Methodist Church, according to the Rev. Dewitt Seago, pastor of the First Methodist Church. His church will conduct a typical 12:30-1 p.m. service Friday. The service will include a sermon on the Seven Last Words and special music and singing.

"Most Methodist churches commemorate the time of the Crucifixion either with a short noon service or with a longer one which continues until 3 p.m.," Rev. Seago said.

The Church of the Nazarene is not contemplating a special Good Friday service this year, although this has been done in the past, the Rev. W. M. Darrough said. Here again, services depend on each church.

At the St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Good Friday will be observed with special services which begin at 7:30 a.m.

At that time, a Penitential Office will be conducted, the Rev. Donald N. Hungerford, pastor, said. Children's service begins at 10 a.m. and the Three Hour Service begins at noon.

The Baptist Church does not follow the liturgical calendar, so the day has no special significance. But, the season is used to commemorate the death and resurrection of Christ, according to the Rev. Robert F. Palk.

Fired

William E. Morris, assistant director of agriculture credit, was fired from his Agriculture Department post because he failed to make himself available for questioning about his relationship to Billie Sol Estes, a financier, who is under indictment for fraud in Texas.

Estes Case Witness Backs Out

LUBBOCK (AP)—A former Agriculture Department employee has decided not to testify in a court of inquiry probing the affairs of financier Billie Sol Estes, Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson said today. Wilson was here for the fifth in a series of hearings on the complex dealings of Estes, who turned over his enterprises to a court receiver after being indicted on a federal charge of fraud. The attorney general said E. E. Jacobs, who quit a $16,350-a-year Washington job in the department because earlier testimony linked him with Estes, telegraphed he could not appear at a similar session in Dallas Friday because of "a conflict of engagements." Wilson said Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman advised that James T. Ralph, a former official under Freeman now training for a State Department post in the Philippines, was en route to Dallas. Concerning Jacobs, Wilson said: "I can't imagine what kind of engagement he has that he can't come down and testify about his own integrity. . . . I renew my invitation for him to be there Friday and suggest to him that whatever engagement he has, this ought to take precedence." U.S. Readies Moon Probe Next Week

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. Scientists hope that modifications made in the booster rocket and spacecraft will eliminate previous troubles. Daniel Gets Food Poisoning, Wilson Returns To Estes Case

By The Associated Press
Atty. Gen. Will Wilson took a break in his campaign for governor to hold another court of inquiry into the Billie Sol Estes case Thursday. His opponents continued their swings across the state. Gov. Price Daniel's campaign tempo slowed Wednesday when he became ill with food poisoning at Snyder. He appeared chipper by the time he reached Abilene for a dinner rally. Daniel said the food poisoning has been troubling him for two or three days. Earlier, Wilson campaigned in far Southeast Texas, telling voters "A speedy procedure for the removal of corrupt local officials is a necessity to insure local control over local affairs." In Houston, John Connally declared he is gravely concerned because of juvenile delinquency, and plans a major youth program if elected—more parole officers for juveniles and an institution separate from the Gatesville school to care for first offenders. Meanwhile, the powerful Independent Club of Webb County endorsed Connally, as well as approving James Turman for lieutenant governor, Waggoner Carr for attorney general and Woodrow Bean for congressman-at-large. Marshall Formby, speaking in Odessa, said that "in order for a government to operate efficiently it must have a free, aggressive, devoted-to-the-people leadership." Edwin Walker in Marshall called President Kennedy's intervention in the steel price dispute "high handed" and said if such action is unchallenged "there will be no such thing as the recovery of constitutional rights for every Texan." Don Yarborough, in a talk Thursday night at a dinner sponsored by the Harris County Labor

Jumping Airmen Are A New Breed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force is developing a new breed, including a few flying generals, qualified to jump into battle along with Army paratroopers. They are officers and men serving in the headquarters of the new unified Army-Air Force Strike Command and as air controllers whose job it is to direct fighter plane support operations by radio from front line positions on the ground.

Force chief of staff, has let it be known he wants as many as possible of his people attached to the new command to take the rugged jump training at the Army's Airborne School, Ft. Benning, Ga. Lt. Gen. Bruce K. Holloway, 49, Air Force deputy commander of the Strike Command, recently won his Army paratrooper wings by completing five qualifying jumps. Another recent graduate of the Army jump school is Maj. Gen. Karl Truesdell Jr., 53, commander of the 12th Air Force. The Strike Command, based at MacDill Air Force Base in Florida, was created last September to weld combat-ready land and supporting air units into task forces which can be moved swiftly to any part of the world in an emergency. At least an advance party of the headquarters likely would jump with the airborne troops on a combat mission. Army Gen. Paul D. Adams, chief of the Strike Command, is a qualified jumper. The 300-man headquarters staff is divided equally between Air Force and Army officers and enlisted men. So far in the young program, 25 officers and men of the headquarters staff and the communications unit have passed the jump test. The Tactical Air Command has decided that up to 10 air controllers from each of its 28 fighter squadrons should also qualify to jump with the airborne soldiers. The aim is to get these controllers, all pilots, in position quickly to make sure the soldiers get adequate fighter support when and where it is needed after the airborne troops land on their objectives. To date, 60 of these controllers have passed through the Ft. Benning classes which have space for training 15 Air Force men at a time.

Nuclear Undersea Beacon Planned

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy is planning a navigational beacon, powered by atomic energy, at the bottom of the sea. The Atomic Energy Commission announced Wednesday award of a $80,000 contract to the Martin Co. of Baltimore for development of a deep-sea nuclear generator, an energy storage system and a pressure housing for electronic equipment. The announcement did not say where the beacon will be located. A prime purpose is for oceanographic research. A research vessel making studies can use the beacon to be sure it is returning each time to exactly the same spot. An 8-inch thick cast iron shell will protect the unit from water pressure, and at the same time act as a radiation shield.

Meteor Lights Up Western Sky

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—A dazzling multicolored light, apparently from an exploding meteor, flashed from the sky from Kansas to Northern California Wednesday night. The light was so brilliant that street lamps in Eureka, Utah—operated by a photoelectric system—went off momentarily, just as they do automatically at daybreak. Many people reported hearing what sounded like an explosion as the fireball vanished. Dr. Robert Kadesch, associate professor of physics at the University of Utah, said it apparently was a bolide, or exploding meteor. "It probably exploded 50 to 60 miles in the atmosphere or perhaps a little lower," Dr. Kadesch said. Federal payments for storage to Estes-controlled United Elevators at five locations and to South Plains Grain Inc., at one point for the year ending Feb. 28 amounted to $3,846,000, Moseley said. Moseley reported the United and South Plains facilities have a capacity for 54,079,279 bushels of grain and Estes may have over-all capacity for storing 87 million bushels. He explained that his office is trying to determine whether Estes has a connection with three other firms—Hale County Grain at Plainview, with 4,888,620 bushels capacity; Palo Duro Grain at Tulia, 18,790,000 bushels and Allied Elevators at Hereford, 9,730,000 bushels.

Sticky Weather Envelops Texas

By The Associated Press
Sticky weather enveloped Texas with prospects for still more showers in some sections Thursday. Occasional rain fell in extreme Southwest Texas in early morning and it was partly cloudy over all the southern part of the state. The skies were clear elsewhere. It was humid in many areas as temperatures dropped no lower than the high 40s to 60s during the night. Conditions appeared right for more thunderstorms like one hitting Houston the day before, when lightning hit at the city's airport and knocked a youth unconscious. The Weather Bureau predicted scattered thunderstorms for Northwest Texas in the afternoon and evening and occasional thundershowers over the state's southern sectors.

Temple Blaze Breaks Out Again

TEMPLE (AP)—Weary Main Street merchants recovered from the shock of Tuesday's downtown fire and began combing through the debris to determine the extent of damages. The blaze reignited early Wednesday after demolishing Bland's Jewelry Store and Floyd's Booterie. The second flare-up caused further damage to the J. C. Penney Co., the vacant building next door to Floyd's, and the Virginia Dare Dress Shop. Fire Marshal J. C. Singleton estimated damage will exceed $200,000. He said he suspected a cigarette caused the blaze.

Guerrilla Food Depots Destroyed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Government forces destroyed 25 Viet Cong food depots and 11 other guerrilla installations in an operation last week in Tay Ninh province, near the Cambodian border, the semi-official Vietnamese news agency reported today. The report said four Viet Cong guerrillas were killed and the rest fled toward the border.

Whale Vertebrae Found Intact

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Geologists have identified a series of fossilized bones found on the Pearl River reservoir construction site today as the back vertebrae of a 49-million-year-old basilosaurus or whale. "The find is not uncommon," said William H. Moore, a member of the Mississippi Geological Survey team. "But, the condition is peculiar with its vertebrae almost completely intact." Moore described the ancient whale as nearly identical to the present-day giant ocean mammal, except for its sharp head. The geology team described the whale as about 35 feet long with a weight between eight and 10 tons.

Youth Dies For Slaying

HUNTSVILLE (AP)—"I pray this is the last time something like this will happen," a Negro teen-ager murmured moments before he died in the electric chair early today. Adrian Johnson, 19, of Houston knelt to say a composed prayer as he entered the death chamber. He was executed for the July 29, 1959, slaying of William Bodenheimer II, 12, a white boy, in Houston. Watching with keen interest as guards strapped him into the chair, Johnson looked up at official witnesses and saw Huntsville newspaper Editor Don Reid Jr., who had interviewed him earlier. "Take it easy, Don," he counseled Reid. The condemned youth handed Father Arthur Kaler, a prison chaplain, a white-covered testament. Over his signature on the flyleaf he had written: "To my mother, Mrs. Eddie C. Bailey."

Lubbock People Charged In Theft

CLOVIS, N. M. (AP)—Four Lubbock, Tex., residents were charged today with grand larceny in connection with three robberies at three Clovis supermarkets Tuesday. James Gant, Joe Lee Harrison, James Williams and Doris Brown, were arraigned today in justice of the peace court. They were charged in connection with the theft of a cashier's money bag containing $13 from Bob's Supermarket, $55 from a bag at Furr's Supermarket and $200 from Piggly Wiggly. No date was set for trial.

CANNOT BE WRONG

By A Christian Writer
You may wonder if it is not a good thing for you to join a certain church, even though you cannot read about this church in the Bible, and even though it was started by some man instead of the Lord. But on the other hand, surely you have learned enough about the Scriptures to know it is safe and right to be just a Christian, a member of the church to which the Lord adds those who are being saved (Acts 2:38). You cannot go wrong by giving all your devotions and labors to the simple church of Christ. If the judgment should reveal it is all right to be in a man-made church, you will have lost nothing by remaining in the Lord's church. On the other hand, if the judgment reveals that God is displeased with human organizations, you will have gained everything by being loyal to the divine church. You have everything to gain, and nothing to lose, by being just a Christian—a member of the church which belongs to Christ. Hear David Tarbet, from ACC, guest speaker Sunday, 10:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. You are always welcome at the church of Christ, 209 W. Highway 7, E. The Journey Began In Nazareth, Ended In . . .

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

A jagged shaft of lightning flamed against the black procession of the clouds. A moment's silence. Then the thunder crashed, cascading through the chasms of the mountains.

This is Galilee, untamed, rock-ribbed, precipitous, hotbed of ancient insurrections, homeland of the Nazarene.

To the south across the plain of Esdraelon, the rain came down in sheets of gray. Yet westward, sunlight stabbed the raucous plateaus of Carmel. This place is full of moods, of sudden change.

of peaks and valleys, storm and sun. And here is where the carpenter of Nazareth began His work that led Him through the depth of night and back again into a pinnacle of light.

HE WALKED HERE
He walked these limestone slopes where ragged shepherd boys still tend their flocks today. He chopped down cypress in these groves to carve as yokes and wooden plows. And here He taught, "The truth will make you free."

My wife, Jo Ann, and I went roaming for a week in Israel, its towns and fields, its modern methods overlaying old, its shops, kibbutzim, ancient sites, its finds in archeology, the ruins of Pilate's garrison, Caesarea, beside the Mediterranean Sea.

And chiefly—rockbound Galilee, the storied land of Jesus. Here in Nazareth, where He lived for 30 years, a church and synagogue still stand along a market lane, supposedly where He first told His role to men.

We lunched in Nazareth. A Greek cafe. A Jewish state. The town is mostly Arab. Rustic, wary little world. Persistent hucksters, selling trinkets, hang about the stonehewn dwelling, Mary's well and other sites in memory of Jesus.

CHILLING DROP
Just a mile from here a bluff provides a chilling drop from which a mob once sought to hurl Him. Something stopped them, though—some devastating word or act or look.

Above the churning clouds are dark and gorged with power. The wind leaps up in gusts, then sinks again to utter stillness. Far away, the thunder rolls, approaching like a thousand, rushing chariots, to pass and fade and start once more.

Out among the scattered towns, in brushy draws and cliffside caves, the fiery Maccabees first challenged heathen despotism.

Here, too, the later Roman rulers sent their mounted legions to suppress the ardent, free and roughhewn Galileans. Also, here, the Nazarene became a wanted man.

FIRE IN THE LAND
Hot volcanoes built this region, geologically. Other kinds of fires as well have smoldered in this soil. But now the belching fires are long extinct and worn, and this is peaceful ground.

Inhabitants are fewer than in the olden days. The valley plots have been combined into communal farms. Whole villages are gone. The rugged, wide expanses now are empty and untenanted. Buckthorn tangles overgrow the tumbling, old stone fences.

Then all at once, from high upon a rocky eminence, the sight unfolds below—the Lake of Galilee, as blue as blue can be, a hundred-odd square miles of bluest velvet blue.

A legend says that God from all the seas He made selected for Himself the Sea of Galilee. And here is where the Nazarene recruited chiefs of His apostles, where He spoke and healed and fed and lifted hearts of people.

ONLY RUINS
Only ruins remain of all the busy towns that once arrayed this coast, except for present-day Tiberias. King Herod built it new in Jesus' time, a capital to please the Roman emperor. Some ancient parapets and halls still stand, and nearby hot-spring baths still draw the rich. Caligula vacationed here of old as Herod's guest. The baths, some say, are good for gout and ailments of the nerves.

The other towns are gone. No more is Chorazin or Magdala, the dyers' town of Mary Magdalene. Their remnants lay in aged decay. Bethsaida vanished long ago, its site a diggings now for ancient lamps and jars. Capernaum, the fishing port, is now a fenced enclave of basalt ruins, preserved by some Franciscans.

IMMORTAL SERMON
Not far away, a gentle mountain rises by the sea, its crown a bunch of evergreens, alive with songs of birds. And here, tradition says, to hundreds gathered on that broad incline, the Nazarene delivered his immortal sermon.

"Blessed are the poor . . . the meek . . . the merciful . . . Judge not, and you shall not be judged . . . forgive and you shall be forgiven . . ."

"I said, 'Let's go.'" "Not yet," said Jo. She sat atop a boulder, listening to the birds, and other things.

Many other spots around this lake abound with haunting memories, the places where He prayed

The Ecce Homo Arch

Their shouts prevailed and Pilate decided that they should have their way. The Ecce Homo Arch contains a stone on which Pilate stood when he turned Jesus over to the mob. The Way of the Cross procession on Good Friday follows this street to Calvary.

and slept, the coastal tablelands where thousands lacking food were fed, the scenes of quiet and pressing throngs, of friends and foes, the Gennesaret plain where He was criticized for plucking corn for Sabbath lunch.

"The Son of Man came . . . to give His Life . . ."

STARK MOUNTAIN
And so, He went. En route, a rough and dismal gutted road goes by a solitary mount. It rises stark, immense and brooding from a level plain. The sunset shed an eerie glow across its rounded dome.

It's called Tabor, the mountain where the figure of the Nazarene was fused with some supernal light, and words were heard by Peter, James and John: "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am pleased to give my life."

ful day. A country man from Galilee. Going to the city. He and His apostles. Roughshod, thoughtful, men, of weathered brow. Going to Jerusalem.

DUSTY ROAD
It is a dusty road, some 90 miles of dusty road, cutting through Samaria, or following the Jordan River plain. The road is paved in parts today. It's dusty even with the pavement. Then, the pavement wasn't there.

Just the dust. And tramping on, begrimed of flesh and torn in spirit.

"Let us go again into Judea," Jesus told His men. "It would be the final time. 'Let us go also,' Thomas said, 'that we may die with him.'" And so, the 12 began the trip, afoot.

The area is old, so old, as old as when He passed this way. You see the black-wood Bedouin tents. You see the plodding camels pulling wooden walking plows. You see the oil lamps and matted rooftops strewn with drying figs.

SUN AND DUST
And sun and dust—dust devils whirling, darting, playing in the thorny magary and sage.

Sebatia is 40 miles into the mountains north of here, and whether Jesus took that route across Samaria, or veered along the river, He undoubtedly was conscious of the spot as He passed near.

For that is where King Herod had a sumptuous retreat, where Salome supposedly performed for John the Baptist's head.

We descended to the jail. Far below, down 20 steps, the narrow rockhewn cell was dank and dark. A pair of tiny, slanting vents cast specks of light where long ago the shaggy Baptist may have sat.

"There is not a greater prophet . . ." Jesus once had said of him.

He passed this way, or somewhere near. A few miles east, a valley spreads between the rugged mountains. High on either side, near the wooded peaks of Gerezim and Ebal. On the edge of Ebal is the hamlet of Sychar, beside the Mahneh plain.

When Jesus crossed it on a prior trip, the jaded woman of Samaria encountered Him at Jacob's well. It still is there, the slaty rock that forms its cup-shaped head—worn deep with grooves around the opening by countless drawing ropes.

HE DRANK HERE
We drew a bucketful. It tasted cool, delicious fresh. Hot and weary, Jesus drank there, too, and told the trollop of Sychar: "Whoever drinks of water that I give will never thirst . . ." And she became a fervent advocate.

Moving south and east, the rough limestone terrain is flecked with herds of dusky sheep.

Ahead the vast and hilly Jordan plain is sorrel in the sun. He passed this way, in dusty stride. Past bramble, crags and sandy dunes. Past isolated nomad tents, or huts of rock, with hantam roosters, guinea pigs and toddlers at the door. Past children carrying wood, or sowing grain by hand. One lovely, frisky little girl in rags we met was named "Kawkab"—or "Walking Star."

"Let the little children come to me . . . forbid them not . . ."

He passed this way. Past the distant hills of Gilead and Moab, east beyond the Jordan, where old Moses viewed the promised land from Nebo's peak. East the Valley of Daners to the west, where ancient men of Judah, short of women, kidnaped wives by night and whisked them through a tunnel in the mountains.

A PROPHECY
Somewhere, paused along this road, however, Jesus told His men again, "The Son of Man will be delivered . . . crucified . . . and raised . . ." It left them bleak and baffled.

Down along the winding river bank, the willows, rushes, cane and tamarisk make up a dense procession. Full of insects, singing birds, wild boars and chattering things. A muddy ford just east of Jericho is said to be the spot at which He was baptized.

They came to Jericho, its rich and spreading fields profuse with citrus groves, banana palms and dates. It also has Miami Beach-like winter residences now. But it's as old as all the rest.

The excavations there have yielded ruins that date to 8000 B.C., older by 5,000 years than Egypt's pyramids. He passed this way, en route to die, but stayed a day to help a hated publican regain his inner health—the man who climbed a sycamore to see Him passing by.

Jerusalem is 30 miles from here. Along the road, as Jesus left, the blind cried, "Have mercy . . . Son of David . . ." So He did, and they were healed. He traveled on.

Steep and soaring, on the right, appears the jagged desolation of the Mountain of Temptation, high and sheer, with ledges, caverns, spikes and cliffs, a monastery on its top, an ancient winery below.

THE DEAD SEA
Looking to the left, you see the flat and sticky Dead Sea waters, lowest place on earth, and lifeless as its name. The bare Judean hills ahead are stark and pallid gray.

Crossing waddies, basins, hills, the sharply twisting road goes by a lonely inn to which the "good Samaritan" supposedly conveyed the injured stranger.

At length, atop a pass, you catch a glimpse of its environs, "Jerusalem, Jerusalem . . . how often would I have gathered thy children . . . but you would not!"

To Bethany, the hillside home of Martha and her sister, Mary, friends who often sheltered Him. Here, as almost everywhere in Palestine, the hallowed site and ruins are covered by a church.

Possibly He rested there that day, and then went on, the final mile into Jerusalem. He rode a donkey down the mountainside, across the valley, through the city gate, as long before was prophesied. The people showered Him with praises, flowers, leaves of palms, hosannas. But He knew, and cried.

AT JERUSALEM
You couldn't call it light. From purple-tinted panes high overhead, the vague and filmy violet glow reveals the snow-white rock. Tradition marks it as the spot where Jesus prayed and sweat in agony before His seizure. "Father . . . not my will, but Thine, be done." The outcropped rock, of chalky flint, is rough and vivid even in the dim illumination.

A parapet and rail of iron thorns surround the rock, inside All-Nations Church atop the Mount of Olives. We knelt there momentarily. A somber, phantom quality of self-reproach, of helpless human wrongness, fills that hushed basilica.

"They hated me without a cause."

He knew dread there. Scripture says His sweat resembled drops of blood.

Outside the door, a garden grows. The Garden of Gethsemane—the garden of the olive press. Today it's landscaped, fenced, expertly pruned and fertilized.

SEARING DRAMA
But long ago, it formed the setting for a searing drama of the ages. Here is where He came that night, awaiting man's destructiveness. "My soul is very sorrowful," He told His men, "Remain . . . and watch with me."

They went to sleep, while He was swept with torment by the rock. "If it be possible, let this cup pass . . ." But "as Thou wilt."

A group of eight old, knotted, olive trees preside within that tidy garden. No manipulations can erase their hard and durable grandeur.

In His final hours of freedom, Jesus sought His favored place, the forested retreat, the Mount of Olives. Each night, throughout Passover week, He brought His men up here, for safety and for rest. Then came the farewell meeting.

"I am the vine, you are the branches." The garden wasn't trimmed and tended then, as it is now. Nor was it just a little plot atop the mountain crest. Other places on the hill are claimed by

... Jerusalem; But The End Was The Beginning

HEAVY GROVES

Old descriptions indicate this total mountain ridge, which overlooks the city from the east, was clothed in heavy groves and shrubs. Laurel, myrtle, thin-leaved sithu, broken limbs, and underfoot, a carpet thick with fallen leaves among the rugged olives.

"As the branch cannot bear fruit by itself, unless it abides in the vine, neither can you, unless you abide in me."

This, and other things, He said that night, preparing for the world's spite. The mount, almost 3,000 feet in elevation, rises just across the deep-set Kidron valley running north-to-south along the city's eastern wall.

Across the valley, bounded by its massive walls, the city has a timeless look of history. Turrets, cloisters, steeples, ballustrades. Yet it pales beside the glory of the city Jesus knew.

A single, stately Moslem mosque, Kubbet es-Sakhra—Dome of Rock—now stands astride the holy Mount Moriah.

Its giant golden dome provides an apt reminder of the past magnificence confronting Jesus. "And what shall I say, 'Father, save me from this hour?' No, for this purpose I have come. . . ."

The city's flat, white roofs, its arches, terraces, and steps deployed across the four connecting hills are typical and likely little changed. Around it all the high old patchwork wall, rebuilt repeatedly, contains some ancient blocks that may go back as far as Solomon.

Thirty-five imposing towers deck the walls. Eight enormous gates, along the different sides, go through it, bearing names that make a litany of old—Herod's, Jaffa, Sheep (St. Stephen's), Doug and Zion.

Of the city Jesus saw, however, much is gone, perhaps the southern third of it, left outside the later Roman wall. The Golden Gate, a twin-arched portal once most splendid of them all, was plastered shut about four centuries ago.

Gazing from Mount Olivet, you see the whole expanse, wash with sun. The ancient city and the new one went beyond the guarded borderline with Israel. "Jerusalem, Jerusalem. . . would that even today you knew the things that make for peace."

SOME CHANGES

The Kidron valley—sometimes called Jehoshaphat—no longer has its huddled pilgrim tents. Nor the causeway Jesus crossed. Here and there are churches, houses, tombs of Absalom and Zechariah. A bright, white minaret. The ancient pool of Siloam to the south.

Just beyond extends the Hinnom valley of the fire, an old battlefield, once a scene of pagan infant sacrifice to Moloch. Its name has been associated with the flames of hell.

Above this variegated view, Jesus gave His men His final counsel. . . . a little longer. . . then I go to Him who sent me. . . The world will see me no more, but . . . because I live you will live also."

WORLD'S JUDGMENT

"Could you not watch with me one hour?" He left again and leaned His head against the rock "Now is the judgment of the world." The flint that mixes with the limestone in that rock gives it a strange iridescence.

"Father. . . as Thou didst send me into the world, so I have sent them into the world. . . In times gone by beacons kindled on this mount announced each month's new moon.

"My Father, if this cannot pass unless I drink it, Thy will be done." The torchlights flickered through the trees, and armor clanked. "The rulers of the world are coming. . . He waked His men, and then with firm intent, surrendered in the garden.

WAY OF TEARS

Along the aged streets of old Jerusalem 2,000 years ago, the Man of Galilee was driven, bearing on His back a wooden cross-beam for His execution. "Whoever would save his life shall lose it, and whoever loses his life for my sake, he shall find it."

The way is cavernous and shadowy along the narrow stone and brick defiles that weave among the huddled houses, markets, courts and shrines.

Underfoot, the slabstones murmur with the march of centuries. Beneath each alley, stair and stoop, the epochs past have left their architectural legacy, still visible in places. Ruin on ruin, heap on heap—Jewish, Syrian, Roman, Byzantine, Crusader, Arabic-rooted deep. The track of

The Garden Of Gethsemane

When they reached a place called Gethsemane, He said to His disciples, 'Sit here while I pray.' A Franciscan monk takes his turn in maintaining vigil over ancient olive trees which may have been growing in this garden when Christ prayed here on His night of agony and betrayal.

conquest's stubborn cycle—build, destroy, rebuild, destroy and build again.

" . . . all they that take the sword shall perish with the sword."

TIMELESS

Time seems cumulative here, instead of passing. A halfway floor may once have been the paving on a bridge.

From somewhere comes a medieval Christian chant, and interwoven with it are the wailing calls to evening prayers by Moslem muezzins, along the route that mankind harried Jesus.

"He who sees me sees Him who sent me."

Customs here in old Jerusalem, within the Jordan sector, come from eras past. Open cooking braziers burn in central rooms. Along the street a peddler carries a plate of steaming beans atop his head, then stops to ladle portions out in folded strips of paper. I stopped inside a barbershop to get a shave and found they used an old technique of crossing threads to shear the finer whiskers close.

The people here are effortlessly friendly. Most of them have little but their wealth of warmth. It comes so artlessly it seems almost a feature of some bygone day, archaic, quaint, as old-fashioned as their habits, shops and dress. The past survives in them.

PILATE'S COURT

Our guide, a bright and gracious Jordan youth named John Assad, who hopes to go into the Presbyterian ministry, led us to the spot where Pilate ordered Jesus cruci-ground once occupied by Rome's Fort Antonia.

A crimson rank of bougainvillea bloomed along a terrace near the judgment court. Nearby, within a somber room, a column stands, where He was tied and whipped.

"Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you; not as the world gives do I give you."

The Via Dolorosa courses briefly to the west, then south, then west again, a slow half-hour's passages, past noisy bazaars, up steps and ramps, through heavy gates and open squares.

The path is marked by chapels, monuments and churches of all kinds and shape—eastern, western, old and new. And tablets in the wall denote stations of the cross, although nine of them before He reached the crucifixion scene.

The several places where He fell. Where Simon of Cyrene relieved Him of the heavy beam. The point at which He saw His mother. Where Veronica supposedly rushed out and wiped His face of sweat. Where He met the weeping daughters of Jerusalem.

NO JEWS

The route goes by the Jewish quarter, now devoid of Jews in hostile Arab territory.

"A new commandment I give you, that you love one another, even as I have loved you."

Numerous policemen walk the streets, in epauletted olive drab, and shining metal helmets, topped by spear-like prongs. The troops that prodded Jesus through these close confines were Roman mercenaries, bronze-helmeted with swords and braided whips, barelegged in their tunics and cuirasses, flowing orange-hued capes across their backs.

The cobbled street negotiates a mild depression. Then it rises gradually. In Jesus' day, the climb was steep, laborious and long.

The execution party threaded through the zone below, congested, motley, rent with shouting, hoots and stares. And wonder.

"If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me."

HEROD'S RUINS

To the south, atop the hill beside the city's western wall, are ruins of Herod's castle grounds and parts of giant monuments he built. Not far away, the site where Calaphas, the high priest, lived, where Jesus, bound in cords, was quizzed and pummeled.

Over to the north and east, remains can still be seen of porticoed Bethesda pool, the spot where Jesus healed decrepit men, before the world's reigning powers intervened.

The somber street winds slowly up a hill. The hill is called Acra. The fluctuating walls, the shutter-like extensions overhead, the intermittent gaps of light and sinking reddened sun, distributed chiaroscuro streaks along the slabs of stone that led, at length, to where the soldiers lifted Jesus up from earth—up on a cross. . . . And I, when I am lifted up from the earth, will draw all men to myself." (Tomorrow: A tomb.)

Natural Gas tops a... TOWERING SYMBOL OF ENERGY

The towering "Space Needle" at the 1962 Seattle World's Fair symbolizes a new era of progress for man in space. The 60-story needle, topped by a 40-foot torch of natural gas, also symbolizes an era of energy: energy which increasingly in recent years has given impetus to the economy of the Pacific Northwest, California, and other states of the West, served by El Paso Natural Gas Company. Millions of visitors to the Seattle fair will see, during the next six months, what has been described as "the most extensive scientific display ever assembled."

More than that, they will visit—many of them for the first time—one of the nation's vital economic frontiers: a growing, vibrant, northwestern region, attracting new business and new industries, a land of the future.

The record total of more than 1.34 trillion cubic feet of natural gas delivered to the markets by El Paso's 18,000 miles of pipelines in 1961 is the equivalent of more than 10 times the electric power energy delivered by all the federally financed electric power generators (including the Bonneville Power Administration and Hoover Dam) in the 11 western states served by El Paso.

Our 1961 Annual Report, mailed to more than 110,000 stockholders throughout the nation, reports on El Paso Natural Gas Company's progress in providing energy from natural gas to the 11 states of the West. For more details, write for a copy of the annual report to: El Paso Natural Gas Company, El Paso, Texas.

And for a look at Century 21, in the land of the future, visit the Seattle World's Fair (April 21—October 21, 1962).

EL PASO NATURAL GAS COMPANY

El Paso Natural Gas Company provides natural gas to industrial customers and distribution companies in Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Texas, Utah, Washington, and Wyoming.

Pappas Blanks Yanks In Impressive Debut

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

A month ago Mill Pappas' side was throbbing. Today his right arm was throbbing. But his Baltimore Manager Billy Hitchcock was smiling.

Making his first start since he limbed out of a hospital bed last month, Pappas set the New York Yankees down on two hits for six innings and accounted for the game's lone run as the Orioleshipped the world champions 1-0 Wednesday night.

The 23-year-old right-hander, fashed to the hospital April 12 for an appendectomy, allowed only two singles and one walk while providing the Orioles with the run they needed on a 340-foot homer in the fifth inning.

Hoyt Wilhelm, 38, the veteran muckball specialist, came on to reserve Pappas' triumph when his arm stiffened. Wilhelm got six straight Yanks, then had to pitch out of a one-out, base-loaded jam in the ninth to nail it down.

Don Mossi pitched a five-hitter for Detroit's 5-1 victory over Washington, Chicago's White Sox edged Minnesota 3-2 and the Los Angeles Angels defeated Kansas City 3-2 in other American League games. Cleveland and Boston were not scheduled.

In the National League, St. Louis clobbered New York's Mets 15-5, Milwaukee whipped San Francisco 6-4, the Chicago Cubs outlasted Houston 3-2 in 10 innings, Cincinnati walloped Los Angeles 14-0 and Pittsburgh nipped Philadelphia 4-3.

Pappas' homer was the sixth of his career, and the first hit off Yankees' starter Bill Stafford, who left for a pinch hitter in the eighth after checking the Orioles on two hits.

The only run off Mossi was an unearned tally that came across in the seventh when Dale Long and Willie Tasby singled and Steve Boros threw wild on Bob Johnson's grounder. The Tigers, however, had already built a 5-0 bulge against Joe McClain as Al Kaline hit a first-inning homer and started a four-run rally in the fourth with a double.

Top Hands At Runnels

Top of the outstanding athletes at Runnels Junior High are eighth graders Joe Jaure (left) and Rey Navarete. Jaure set a record in the 120-yard low hurdles at last week's JH track meet here while Navarete was second in the event and was also under the old record. Jaure is also a high jumper while Navarete is a broad jumper.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

High school baseball teams get what amounts to about the lowest priority when it comes to ordering bats.

That's the reason some schools order their timber through colleges and junior colleges.

The bat manufacturers, of course, take care of the big leaguers first, then the minor circuits and finally the college teams. The wood that is left over, and it isn't always very good, goes into the bats the high school boys swing.

Biggest single market the bat makers have, however, is in Little League. The small fry teams purchase over a million bats a year.

Incidentally, the fiber glass people have built a bat for use in baseball and they claim it is better than the customary wooden ones.

However, the rules will have to be changed before players will be allowed to use any kind of bat save those hewed from timber.

In event you've been to some of the local high school games and wonder how many trips a coach can make to the mound to confer with his pitcher in any one inning, the number is two.

If he goes out a third time, the pitcher must be derrickd for the relief hurler.

What woman wouldn't like to be the wife of a member of the New York Met baseball team?

If hubby clears the fence with a fair ball at home, she gets 10,000 trading stamps.

According to the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, the dollar impact of Giant fans' spending amounted to a whopping $326,800,000 last season.

That's based on a finding by the Federal Reserve System, which estimated that each trade dollar spent by baseball park visitors changes hands an average of 29 times.

According to the San Francisco Chamber's arithmetic, visitors to the ball park spent more than $11 million getting there, buying tickets, dining out and staying overnight in the Bay Area.

Houston expects to do equally as well—if not this year, then when the new domed stadium is opened.

Do you wonder then why a big league franchise is worth so much to a city and an area?

The people advocating the return of pari-mutuel betting at horse tracks in Texas are using much the same kind of argument. They point out that the horse tracks would bring a lot of out-of-state visitors to Texas, where nothing else would.

Officials at Ruidoso, N.M., have figures which show that each of the people who visited their city during racing season last year spent an average of $50 a day, exclusive of what they bet at the track. An average daily attendance at Ruidoso Downs was well in excess of 2,500.

The golfers on the pro circuit are shooting for money in excess of $2 million in tournaments this year—for the first time in history.

From all indications, the end is not yet in sight. The PGA is pushing to get the minimum purses boosted still more.

Whites Face Big Task At Lubbock

LUBBOCK — A tremendous defensive effort apparently will be needed for the Texas Tech Whites to down the Red in the spring training wind-up game here Saturday night.

This prediction stems from the fact that the Reds are loaded with the 1961 statistical leaders.

In rushing, for example, the first three Raiders last fall were fullback Coolidge Hunt of Lubbock, quarterback Johnny Lovelace of Farwell, and halfback Bill Worley of Midland. They'll all be in the Red lineup Saturday night.

Top returning pass receiver, end David Parks, also is playing for John Conley's and Jim Wright's Reds. The leading passer for last year, Doug Cannon of Levelland, is playing baseball this spring.

On the other side of the ledger, the Whites do have some top defensive hands, including halfback David Rankin of Midland, who led in interception returns last season.

Furthermore, since it's not yardage but scores that determine games, Coaches Merrill Green and Jo Blaylock of the Whites can point to fullback H. L. Daniels of Marshall, who led the all-important scoring column last season.

The job pays $40 a day for the 50-day summer racing season and is going bigging. Officially it's known as plaster inspector.

P.S.—He walked twice to break the tie.

Kelley Faces Finland Aces In Marathon

BOSTON (AP)—Record holder Johnny Kelley of Groton, Conn., combats a double-barreled threat from Finland today in the 66th running of the Boston A.A. Marathon.

The weatherman forecast ideal conditions for the 26-mile 365-yard hill and dale romp from suburban Hopkinton to Boston's Back Bay. A high temperature of about 59 with partly cloudy skies were forecast.

A total of 232 entries were listed, but the starting field was expected to be about 160 or 170.

Kelley, 31, an English teacher, set the course record of 2:20.05 when he beat out Finland's Veikko Karvonen in 1957. He has been runnerup four times including last year when police detective Eino Oksanen of Helsinki, Finland, won for the second time. Oksanen also captured top honors in 1959.

His running mate this year is Paavo Pystynen, a Finnish army sergeant. Pystynen, also 31 as is Oksanen, is running his first Boston Marathon though he is a veteran at the distance in Europe.

A few of the darkhorses to watch include former Canadian national champion Gordon Dickson of Hamilton, Ont.; Marine Lt. Alex Breckenridge, who was sixth two years ago; Dick Haines of Washington, D.C., the national junior 30-kilometer champ, and promising youngster Ed Duncan, 20, of Rochester, N.Y., who broke Dickson's 20-mile race record in New York recently.

Excluding Canada, there are only three other foreign entries. From Chile come 1960 Olympian Gonzalo Alcaino, now a graduate student in astrophysics at the University of Indiana. Ludwig Schiesal is from West Germany though he has been living in New York for the past year. Australia has sent Alan Barry Rose of Melbourne, currently a freshman at the University of South Carolina.

Dickson and Ted Atkins of Don Mills, Ont., head a 14-man Canadian contingent.

Singer Finds Peace In Face Of Adversity

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Each morning during Holy Week, you can find Juanita Ricketts seated before the altar in the chapel at Goodwill Industries here.

She sits because she can't kneel. Arthritis has so stiffened her right leg that she can't walk without a cane.

Mrs. Ricketts, a buxom, middle-aged Negro, works at the Goodwill plant as a gasket inspector. At chapel each day, she watches the worshippers pray and sing.

She hears neither word nor note.

Once music was her life. A promising coloratura soprano, she made many appearances here and in nearby cities. When a Kansas City company staged the opera, "La Traviata," Mrs. Ricketts won the lead.

Then, six years ago, she was in a hospital for treatment of arthritis. Suddenly, inexplicably, she went totally deaf.

"I tried all the specialists and they told me the same thing—I would never hear again," Mrs. Ricketts recalled.

"I thought I would go out of my mind. Finally, I decided there was no need to carry on like that. I turned to God."

Fingering her worn Bible, Mrs. Ricketts says she found comfort in the Book of Job.

"And Job arose and rent his mantle and shaved his head, and fell down upon the ground and worshipped. And said, 'Naked came I out of my mother's womb, and naked shall I return thither: the Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord.'"

Her pastor at Second Baptist Church, the Rev. E. E. Chappelle, says, "Out of suffering there can come a more beautiful attitude toward a more helpful and hopeful life. Easter gives us a ray of hope in the midst of our defeats and our disappointments."

Says Mrs. Ricketts: "I have faith that God will take care of me."

Tech Freshman Is Miss Mohair

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Miss Mohair of 1962-63 is Nancy Friend, a Texas Tech freshman who's a green-eyed brunette.

Named Wednesday by the Texas Angora Goat Raisers Association, she is the 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Friend of Ozona.

After an Aug. 2 coronation at Fredericksburg, she will become official ambassador for the mohair industry.

Nancy was a cheer leader and most beautiful girl at Ozona High School last year.

She and two other finalists were chosen from 20 entrants in the Miss Mohair contest held last August at Fredericksburg. As Miss Mohair she will succeed the 1961-1962 titleholder, Miss Carlene Brown of Brady.

Speaker

Airman S. C. Philip A. Rankin, Webb AFB, is a state finalist in a speaking contest sponsored by the Southern Baptist Convention. Should he be one of two winners at Midland April 27, he will compete in the statewide finals. Rankin's talk, "Why I Am A Baptist" won first at the East Fourth Baptist, then in the association and district. He plans to attend Baylor and then Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary and become a missionary. He is a Sunday school teacher and halls from Indianapolis.

'Enchilada Inch' A Giant Proposal

By TEX EASLEY
AP Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—Not since the Big Inch snaked its way from Texas to the Northeast has a natural gas pipeline of such dimensions been proposed as one outlined here by William W. Witmer, Houston attorney-engineer.

Appearing at a Federal Power Commission hearing, now in recess until May 22, Witmer gave these details of what has been dubbed the Enchilada Inch:

It would extend 1,600 miles from the King Ranch of Texas to Southern California, with a 1,200-mile section winding across northern Mexico. It would cost $225 million.

A $12 million 26-inch diameter segment would carry 380 million cubic feet of gas daily over a 185-mile stretch from fields in Kleberg County to the McAllen-Reynosa crossing of the Rio Grande. The Mexican segment, carrying a daily load of 75 million cubic feet of gas, would cost $165 million. From Mexico-Calexico to Los Angeles the cost would be $48 million.

The commission has indicated it will deliberate at length before deciding whether to issue a certificate authorizing construction. Witmer, who is certain to be among those called back for cross examination when the hearings resume, told how the Enchilada Inch project came into being.

Representatives of Southern California Edison Co., which supplies electricity to the Los Angeles area, came to Houston in October, 1957, seeking natural gas to fuel the firm's steam-propelled generators.

"They requested that we attempt to put together a project to furnish such a gas supply," Witmer told the FPC hearing.

"We investigated all gas-supply areas which we felt were within economic reach of Southern California and made a complete survey from Wyoming south through the various sedimentary basins." Witmer and his associates decided on South Texas and northern Mexico as a source of supply. Pemex, a petroleum firm owned by the Mexican government, will build and operate the line across Mexico and supply gas to supplement the Texas deliveries.

Southern California Edison is to get the gas under a 20-year contract, delivered at a price not to exceed 45 cents a thousand cubic feet. Pemex has agreed to sell for 17.2 cents at the wellhead.

"Materials for the construction of the Mexican pipeline will be purchased in Mexico from Mexican manufacturers and suppliers," he said.

To get the project under way, two companies were organized in this country and two in Mexico. All are subsidiaries of Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., of which Witmer is senior vice president.

Southern California Gas Co. and Southern Counties Gas Co., subsidiaries of Pacific Lighting Corp., San Francisco, have told the commission they oppose the project. Southern California Edison is their biggest customer.

El Paso Natural Gas Co., El Paso, and Transwestern Pipeline Co., which now deliver natural gas to Southern California from the Permian Basin and elsewhere in the Southwest, also object.

3 Men Die In Air Crash

DALLAS (AP)—A third man died today of burns suffered as a twin-engine plane crashed while taking off for a test flight.

Witnesses saw the blue and white DC-3, of World War II vintage, stall about 200 feet off the ground and plunge in flames at Love Field, the Dallas airport, late Wednesday.

The explosive crash killed Paul Missonneuve, 49, pilot and maintenance chief for Purdue Aeronautics Corp. in Lafayette, Ind., and Tom Cogburn, an electrician for Dallas Aero Service.

Arthur Mitchell, 29, radio and radar technician for Dallas Aero, died this morning.

One of the first persons to reach the wreckage, Julius Hudson, told of helping extinguish Mitchell's flaming garments. He said the other two men already were dead.

Hudson, owner of a charter plane service and an ex-Air Force flier, suffered slight burns on his left arm.

Texas Marine Dies In Mishap

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP)—Marine Cpl. John Wooster, 20, of Baytown, Tex., was killed Wednesday when the car in which he was riding crashed into a disabled truck trailer about 10 miles west of Yokohama.

Two other Marines and a 23-year-old Japanese hostess were also killed.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Laughter Advisable, Very Good Medicine

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Although Madlyn Rhue plays a dramatic role in "A Majority of One," she considers herself a comedienne. "I got started on the Steve Allen show in New York and I must say I enjoyed making people laugh. It's the best tonic in the world. A sense of humor cushions the hard knocks. I'm glad that I have learned to laugh at my mistakes. Most things have their amusing side if you try hard enough to find them. It is a matter of where you want to put your concentration—on being sorry for yourself or trying to see your problem with perspective."

Madlyn was from a broken home and her early days were not easy.

"I had little time for relaxing."

McGauheys Are Parents Of Daughter

GARDEN CITY (SC) — The Rev. and Mrs. Ernest McGauhey are the parents of a daughter, born on April 14 in Big Spring. The baby, Suzannah, is the first child of the Methodist pastor and his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam W. Cox of Tazan visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. L. McWhirter on Monday.

Mrs. J. B. Williams of San Antonio is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. H. Koenning, another sister, Mrs. Alma Schiller, and her daughter of San Angelo were weekend visitors in the Koenning home.

Easter Sunrise Service will be held at the Cross on the Hill with all local churches participating. In charge of arrangements are the Rev. Morris Clark, the Rev. D. D. Smith and the Rev. Ernest McGauhey.

Mrs. T. J. A. Robinson and Mrs. Euta Hall were Sunday visitors of the Roy Carters.

Daughter Born To Farquhars

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald C. Farquhar, 2428 23rd Street, Lubbock, are the parents of a daughter, Lori Diane, born at the Methodist Hospital there on April 14. The baby weighed 7 pounds and 15 1/2 ounces. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Bennett and Mrs. and Mrs. Tom Farquhar. Mrs. Farquhar is the former Loretta Bennett.

Vincent Shower Honors Mr. And Mrs. Roberts

A wedding shower honoring Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Roberts, brought together many former residents of the Vincent community. Held Tuesday evening, the party took place in the Educational Building of Vincent Baptist Church.

The Roberts were married April 7 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Roberts, 2202 Morrison Drive, Mrs. Roberts of Colorado Springs, Colo., was the former Wynona Waits of the Vincent community. She and her husband have been friends since 1912 and have corresponded over a period of years.

Hostesses for the shower were Mrs. Clyde Lowry, Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Harding, Mr. and Mrs. Terrell Shafer and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Appleton. Music was provided by Mrs. Loyd Brannon.

Guests from Lamesa, Westbrook, Coahoma, Big Spring and Vincent numbered 46.

Chilean Republic Is Topic For Discussion

Chile was the country discussed for the 1965 Hyperion Club's program Wednesday afternoon at Cosden Country Club. Mrs. Anthony Hunt was the speaker who told how Chile differs from the other 21 American republics of the Organization of American States.

"The Chilean is assured, sincere and displays the charm of an old culture derived from Spanish and Araucanian Indian forebears," Mrs. Hunt stated. "Santiago, capital of the country, is considered one of the most beautiful cities; but the cost of living is extremely high," she pointed out. "The city's economy lies in its mineral production with the bulk of its copper and iron ore exported to the United States." Also, the speaker explained that the government, presently the republican form, is leaning toward the Communistic form.

From a magazine article she read "Chile—Restless Republic," written by James Morris. The meeting, opened with prayer by Mrs. John A. Coffey, also included a discussion of the State Federation meeting to be held in San Antonio on May 8-10. Proposed amendments to the by-laws of the State Federation were read. The Blue Room of the club was where refreshments were served to the 13 members, concluding the afternoon session. The May meeting will be in the Blue Room, with Mrs. Imogene Lloyd as hostess.

San Angelo Flower Show On Saturday

Glenaire Garden Club of San Angelo extends an invitation to residents of Big Spring and the area to attend its annual spring flower show on Saturday. The event will take place in the chapel of the Baptist Memorial Hospital, 902 North Main Street. "Blossoms in Bloom" is the theme to be featured for the exhibit, open to the public from 2 until 6:30 p.m.

Dried and driftwood arrangements as well as fresh arrangements are to be shown in the artistic division. The invitational class is open for entries by members of Texas Garden Clubs Inc. Exhibits will be received between 7 and 10 a.m. Mrs. Howard Aylor, Glenaire Club president, and Mrs. C. W. Middlebrook, flower show chairman, are in charge.

Miss Bratcher Selected For Honor Group

Miss Joan Bratcher, a former Miss Big Spring, was one of 57 students at Graceland College, Lamoni, Iowa, to be elected a member of Lambda Delta Sigma, honorary scholarship organization. A cumulative grade point average of 3.0 for a minimum of three semesters must be attained for membership eligibility.

The daughter of Mrs. H. L. Bratcher, 1505 Aylford, Big Spring, Miss Bratcher is a sophomore in the secretarial curriculum at Graceland.

GIA Members Hold Regular Session

The GIA of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers met at Carpenters Hall on Wednesday morning for its regular business session. A letter was read concerning the Southwestern Convention to be held in St. Louis, Mo., on October 3-5. The nine members presented voted to send the organization's per capita tax to aid in paying the expenses of the convention.

The next meeting will be on May 16 at 10 a.m. at Carpenters Hall.

Mrs. Miller Presents Citizenship Program

Members of Airport Home Demonstration Club answered roll calling giving time savers Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. C. E. Renfro. Mrs. Ernest Miller then gave the program on "citizenship" complying with a recent study on "The Prevention of Communism."

Mrs. Miller was appointed Airport club chairman for the County Home Demonstration exhibit, which will be held at the old Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College on May 3. Seven members drew names for secret pals.

Thursday Dance Is Girl Scout Project

Senior Girl Scouts of Troop No. 300 are sponsoring a semi-formal dance Thursday evening at the Cosden Country Club to raise funds for a trip to Mexico.

The public is invited. Admission will be 50 cents, stag or couple.

era, golfers, fishermen, campers and beachcombers are strenuously following doctor's orders to relax as spring unfolds.

We women will go for the yard work on condition that there's no back talk. For once we'll have a rhododendron bush where it will do a job, a cherry tree where it can be seen, and a hedge where it is needed.

Whereas a man chooses planting areas because "there aren't any rocks" or the "ground is soft," a woman considers the outdoors a frame for her house, worth the effort it takes to build it just right. She'll plant a bush to flatter an area no matter how long it takes, and she'll place it as carefully as she would fasten a posy to a hat to improve it.

What's more she'll take advice from experts. If the house is symmetrical with windows and architectural arrangements the same on both sides of the house, make the plantings the same. If the design is asymmetrical, use an informal balance, utilizing a variety of plant heights and groupings near corners and entrances, he advises.

An extremely long house with an attractive foundation doesn't require plantings the entire length of the foundation.

Tallest shrubs at corner plantings should be no more than two-thirds of the distance to the second story of the eaves on one-story houses.

Plantings next to the front door should be one-third as tall as the distance from the ground to the second floor or eaves. For many ranch-style houses, plantings should be only one deep. Nelson says. In multiple plantings, however, middle plants should be one-half as high as the tallest plants. Low plants should be one-fourth to one-third as high as middle plants, says this expert.

MORE WORK FOR WOMEN
Lawn rejuvenation can be a breeze for the ladies, also. Pushing a lawn roller can be a mere romp for women who are used to pushing furniture around. And if anybody can destroy interlopers such as grubs, weeds, crabgrass, it's the female of the human species. Rolling the lawn with about 100 pounds of weight for each foot of roller width is suggested. But avoid the job when the soil is wet as the compaction that occurs will hinder root development and moisture penetration.

Has Egg Hunt

The Primary Sunday School Class of Park Methodist Church had an Easter egg hunt and party in the home of Mrs. Joe Barber, assistant teacher.

Cupcakes decorated in the Easter theme were served by Peggy Grant, class president, and Velma Cozart, vice president. An Easter egg tree centered the table. Eleven members and three guests, Ricky Mitchell, Mindy Gains and Cindy Pearce, were present.

Easter Motif For Lunch

An Easter motif was used at the luncheon given Wednesday at Cosden Country Club for 11 members of the Lions Auxiliary. Hostesses were Mrs. Pete Cook and Mrs. Jimmy R. Smith. The table centerpiece was an Easter egg tree.

The only matter of business was a vote to contribute half of the necessary money for purchasing a water fountain to be placed at the Kerrville Crippled Children's Camp.

The next meeting on May 16 will be a covered dish dinner at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Curley. Mrs. Dick Lane will be cohostess.

Mrs. Clifton Is Speaker For Club

Mrs. Betty Rae Clifton was guest speaker at a Tuesday session of the Alter Five Garden Club in the home of Mrs. Leslie McNeese.

Mrs. Clifton showed slides of flower gardens, which she photographed during her tour of Europe. Further plans were made for the style show on May 11-12, "Fashion in Flowers." The show will be sponsored by the Big Spring Garden Council and Margie's Dress Shop. A new member, Mrs. Bill Davis was welcomed by members.

HD Club Meets In Nanny Home

Mrs. A. D. Nanny demonstrated how to make pictures from beans and colored card for members of College Park Home Demonstration Club, Tuesday morning at her home.

Three new officers were elected to fill vacancies. They are Mrs. Essie Arnold, vice president; Mrs. C. K. Orr, secretary and reporter; and Mrs. Joe Mitchell, treasurer and personal services.

Mrs. Nanny also demonstrated how to make cats and poodles from plastic bags. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Orr, 3219 Cornell, on May 1.

Coifs In The News

Mums Are Planted By Four O'Clock

Some 160 chrysanthemums were set out Wednesday in Hillcrest Park. The observance of Planting Day, was carried out by members of the 4 o'Clock Garden Club.

Those participating were Mrs. Bill Swindell, Mrs. Guy Cook, Mrs. J. E. Fort Jr., Mrs. J. E. Swindell, Mrs. Eddie Kohanek and Mrs. B. E. Reagan. Beautification of the park is a club-sponsored, projected program of work. Park beautification plans are to be displayed during the forthcoming flower show, April 20-22, at Shasta Ford Company.

Completing their work for the morning, the group was afterward entertained at a coffee held in the home of Mrs. Kohanek.

Easter Hunt Planned At Kindergarten

Miss Arah Phillips has announced that plans are under way to have an Easter egg hunt for Jack and Jill Kindergarten and Nursery on Friday at 9:30 a.m.

The older group will have their hunt on the vacant lot opposite the school. The younger children will hunt eggs on the front lawn. Brightly decorated baskets made by the children from coffee tins, milk cartons and oatmeal boxes will be used. Mothers assisting the Jack and Jill staff are Mrs. Claude Morris, Mrs. Barney Oldfield, Mrs. Bobby Treadway, Mrs. Donald Hathaway and Mrs. William Bronaugh. A sack-lunch picnic will be held on the playground following the hunt.

'Pretty Good, Mom'

"I just don't understand how she makes it taste so good," seems to be the sentiments of 16-month-old Gena Tonn as she performs her duty as official "sampler" in her mother's kitchen. She appears to be pleased with this particular concoction.

Mrs. Tonn Plans For Family Easter Meal

Busy? Mrs. Arnold Tonn is the busiest with a family to care for and her church to serve. She is president of the East Fourth Baptist Women's Missionary Union; a member of the church choir; and actively engaged in other church functions. Nevertheless she has time to prepare appetizing and well-balanced meals for her husband and three children.

Mr. and Mrs. Tonn and children, Jerre, 8, Johnny Allen, 7 and Gena, 16 months, who live at 1721 Purdue, are looking forward to Easter for many reasons, including the Easter dinner. Mrs. Tonn has planned her menu in advance. It consists of the family meat favorite, barbecued chicken, buttered squash, scalloped potatoes, orange and pineapple congealed salad, prune cake, biscuits and iced tea.

The Tonns are not too fond of sweets at meal time. Mrs. Tonn stated that she and Arnold prefer to have sweets such as plain white cake, prune cake or banana bread with an evening cup of coffee. However this is not true of the children. Johnny Allen, Jerre and their friends frequently come in from play to ask for cookies and punch. Mrs. Tonn tries to keep the cookie jar full and ready.

According to their mother the children have begun to show interest in the kitchen. Jerre has developed a specialty in the culinary art—tomato soup and crackers, while Johnny Allen, with an overnight guest, once decided to cook their breakfast before the rest of the family was up. Pretty little Gena has not reached the age to begin kitchen experiments but is fascinated with what others do in the kitchen. At present, she is having a difficult time learning table manners.

The main meal of the day is usually served in the evening. Family favorites are pot roast, baked ham, and chicken cooked just about any way. Favorite vegetables are buttered squash, fried okra and corn, canned or on the cob.

Mrs. Tonn sometimes finds that her time in the kitchen is precious. Because of this, she often relies on pot roast that can be put on to cook and ready to eat at mealtime should she be gone for an afternoon. Sometimes she prepares a one-dish meal on Saturday night and warms it for serving after the family returns home from Sunday morning church services.

Some of the Tonn family's favorite recipes are listed for Easter and year-around enjoyment.

Rowena's Liver And Onion Sauce

For a tasty tang in liver, try a sauce that's easy to make and good to eat.

- 1 lb. fresh baby beef liver
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1 tsp. salt
- Pepper
- 1/4 tsp. paprika
- 1 tsp. dry mustard
- 4 tbsp. butter
- 2 medium-sized onions, cut in thin strips
- 2 tbsp. olive oil
- 1 bouillon cube dissolved in 1 cup boiling water
- 1/2 cup cold water
- Extra paprika

Have liver sliced about 1/4 inch thick; cut into strips about 1/2 inch wide and about 3 inches long. Remove outside skin and any large tubers.

Mix flour, salt, dash of pepper, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, mustard; coat liver strips on all sides with mixture; reserve seasoning mixture not taken up.

Melt 2 tablespoons of the butter in a 10-inch skillet over low heat; add onion strips and cook gently until golden; remove onion and reserve. Add remaining 2 tablespoons of butter and the olive oil to skillet; heat and add coated liver; brown slowly on all sides; remove and keep warm. Return onions to skillet with bouillon.

Mix 1 1/2 tablespoons of the leftover seasoning mixture until smooth with the cold water; add to skillet. Cook and stir constantly over low heat until thickened; add a little extra paprika for color. Serve liver with sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Hidden Surprise In Jam Muffins

Hidden Surprise Muffins are an easy variation of basic muffin batter. Spoon the batter into greased muffin tins filling them 1-3 full. Add a spoonful of jam and top with remaining batter. Bake as usual. For an extra flavor flip, brush the tops of the baked muffins with melted butter or margarine and sprinkle with cinnamon-sugar.

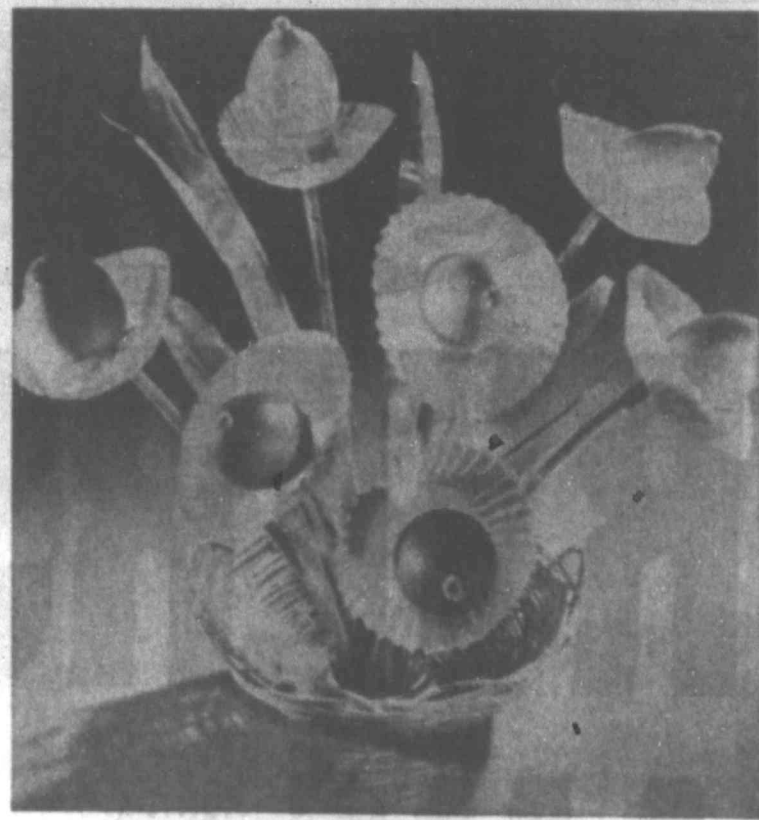

Spring Arrangement Is Made Of Easter Eggs

Spring arrives with a burst of color—yellow, lavender, rose, violet—colors of the first spring flowers and of the gaily hued Easter eggs that also salute the season. Your own salute to spring can be this colorful and original Egg Flower Bouquet—easy to make, and the perfect centerpiece or party decoration for the Easter season.

So the bouquet can be packed away and used again next year, these graceful egg flowers are made with "blown" eggs. You will need seven eggs for the arrangement. To blow eggs, make a hole the size of a small pea in each end of an egg with a sharp pointed skewer or manicure scissors. Be sure to puncture the inner membrane. Holding the egg over a bowl, blow through one hole until the contents come out the other. After blowing, rinse the eggshells in cool water and drain well.

To dye the shells, prepare dye bath as directed on the Easter egg coloring kit. Spoon the dye bath over the shell to assure an even color. Drain well. Color the egg flowers in a variety of bright spring colors or, if you prefer, in varying shades of just one color to complement a specific color scheme.

Run a pastel pipe cleaner through the holes in the egg, twisting the end of the cleaner into a small circle to cover the hole at the small end of the egg, which will be the top of your flower. The flower petals are two paper muffin cups—and the flower stems are colored soda straws. With manicure scissors, make a hole in the center of the cups and insert the pipe cleaner with egg flower in the hole. Push the cups up under the base of the egg. Glue the pipe cleaner into a colored soda straw with quick-drying household cement.

For the leaves, cut long slender strips of green construction or crepe paper and cement a green pipe cleaner lengthwise along the center of each.

Arrange both the egg flowers and the leaves in a flower holder, or in modeling clay. Then place bouquet in a low basket, bowl or container.

White Dessert Ring A Rice And Fruit Mix

Here's a glamorous white dessert ring you can always depend on to taste wonderful and look lovely. What's more, it can be made a day ahead and stored in the refrigerator! Over the top of the sweet rice-whipped cream ring are whole green maraschino cherries. The dessert need not be molded but it looks truly glamorous in a ring mold or other fancy mold. There's an easy recipe for a pineapple sauce so right with the rice and whipped cream.

Rice is cooked in water then in milk. It's sweetened and flavored with vanilla. When cold, whipped cream is folded in and the dessert is placed in a ring mold or other mold, if desired. Remember to arrange the green cherries over the bottom of the mold so they'll be on top when the dessert is unmolded. The pineapple sauce is quickly made and stored in the refrigerator until time to serve. The lemon juice makes the sauce delightfully refreshing! Use more or less lemon juice, as you like.

HEAVENLY RICE
1 1/2 cups water
1 tsp. salt
3/4 cup uncooked white rice
2 cups milk
1/2 cup beet or cane sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
1/2 cup whipping cream, chilled

10 to 12 green or red maraschino cherries
1-3 cup beet or cane sugar
2 tps. cornstarch
1 can (1 lb., 4 oz.) crushed pineapple

1 to 2 tps. lemon juice
Put the water, salt and rice in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil over a high heat. Turn the heat down low. Cover with a lid and leave over this low heat 14 minutes. Stir in the milk. Cover and continue cooking until the milk is absorbed. Stir occasionally. Do not allow to boil.

Stir the 1/2 cup sugar into the hot rice. Cool. Stir in the vanilla. Cover and store in the refrigerator. When chilled, whip the cream until stiff. Fold the cream into the cold rice. Mold the rice-whipped cream mixture for an especially pretty dessert. To mold, wet a ring mold or fancy mold holding about 5 cups. Arrange the cherries over the bottom of the mold. Spoon the rice mixture over the cherries. Cover well and store in the refrigerator until firm. Dessert may be made a day ahead of serving.

To unmold, cut around the edges. Dip the mold in hot water. Place a plate over the mold. Invert plate and mold. Shake to loosen dessert. Serve with the chilled pineapple sauce. If dessert is not molded, serve in dessert dishes with the pineapple sauce and garnish with the cherries.

To make the pineapple sauce, mix the 1-3 cup sugar and cornstarch in a saucepan. Drain the pineapple. Measure juice and add water if necessary to make 1 1/2 cups. Stir the juice into the sugar mixture. Cook, stirring constantly, over a medium heat until the sauce thickens and boils one minute. Add the pineapple. Simmer 10 minutes. Remove from the heat. Add the lemon juice. Cool. Cover and chill until time to serve. This makes about 2 1/2 cups sauce.

This recipe makes about 10 servings. Variation: A delicious parfait may be made by alternating spoonfuls of the rice-whipped cream mixture and the pineapple sauce in parfait glasses. Garnish with maraschino cherries.

Fruit Fragrance In Prune Cake

Spicy Prune - Nut Cake is full of old-fashioned fruit flavor and fragrance. Serve slightly warm plain or topped with ice cream. Or cool the cake thoroughly, cut into bars and sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. To make Spicy Prune-Nut Cake, sift together 2 cups sifted enriched flour, 1 tablespoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg and 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves. Cream together 1/2 cup shortening and one cup sugar until light and fluffy. Add two eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture alternately with 3/4 cup milk, beginning and ending with flour. Fold in 1 cup chopped cooked prunes (1/2 pound uncooked dried prunes) and 1 cup chopped nuts. Turn into greased 9-inch pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 55 to 60 minutes. Cool 10 minutes before removing from pan. Makes one 9-inch square

Not Complaining

Surprisingly, most women are not complaining—at least not with real bitterness—about the cost of living. Many think that wage raises balance higher prices, and that the problem generally is no greater than in the past.

But, says Miss Marie Reincke of St. Louis: "About 75 per cent of the people I know are having a hard time making ends meet."

Firemen Make Four Fire Calls

A grass fire at Moss Creek Lake and a "treater" fire at a Canoco oil lease on the Good ranch took firemen on two runs out of the city limits Tuesday. Two other calls were also answered.

The treater, 25 miles north of Big Spring, caught fire from an unknown cause and heavy damage was reported by firemen. No damage was done at the lake.

A butane tank was reported on fire at 1111 W. 17th but firemen found only vapor coming from a pop-off valve on the tank. A witness had mistaken the vapor for fire.

A small rug on the floor near a floor furnace caught fire and did some damage Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Dennis Olenair, 511 E. 12th. The floor was damaged and the walls smoked.

Kinney Back Home

Leon M. Kinney, manager of the Texas Employment Commission, has returned home following two weeks at Methodist Hospital in Dallas where he underwent surgery. Although he is progressing well, he is not yet ready for visitors.

Commendation

S.M. Sgt. Grady H. Wilson, NCOIC of the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron Radar Section, was awarded the Air Force Commendation Medal at the last squadron Commander's Call. Sgt. Wilson's award was the result of his performance as NCOIC of two 331st FIS deployments and the squadron's participation in the 1961 World-Wide Weapons Meet. He was recently promoted to his present rank and has been with the 331st since Jan., 1959.

BRIEF BYWAYS

Town Publishes An Unusual Map

By ED SYERS
Rugged-rolling, tree-clad, limpid-rivered Kimble County and Junction, specifically, is looking for you.

Junction frowns scenically straight at neighboring "Pecan Capital of the World," San Saba, and claims it owns far more pecan trees than anywhere else in Texas. It also advises of 600 miles of spring-fed streams — the most mileage that running water runs in any Texas county. But that's still not it. Junction publishes a map unlike any I've seen. This map carefully shows you how far you are from anywhere!

There is no city of considerable size closer than the hundred miles to San Angelo. Del Rio follows with 122 and San Antonio with 126. Of course, if you come from Brownsville, make it 444, or from El Paso, 472. Junction quickly adds that it is talking about remote, pretty places — and that, it is.

LAMPASAS
Ward Lowe, Lampasas Dispatchman, gives you a choice on his own town's name. Home of the half oak-half elm tree and the old Star Hotel, Lampasas also has its springs. Ward says the town's name is generally conceded a contraction of Spanish idiom for "cool water."

Others hold the school of thought, he adds, that points to the great grass flats along the river and the creek.

"They're real old-timers," says Lowe. "Lots of times, walked to water barefoot and comfortable in the summer." They claim Lampasas is short for "cocklebur."

ALICE
Point yourself straight south for the Valley on US 281. About a hundred miles this side, you come on the neighbors, Alice and Ben Bolt. Remember that old song?

"Don't you remember Sweet Alice, Ben Bolt?"
"Sweet Alice with hair so brown."
"She went with delight when you gave her a smile."
"And trembled with fear at your frown."
Well, I can tell you there's nothing neurotic about sweet Alice right now. She's a hustlin', bustlin' little city.

Don't quite know what to say about old Ben Bolt. Some mighty nice people there. Met 'em. Maybe old Ben's had his mind on that song too long. I think Alice quit listening.

COLUMBUS
The aged oak at Columbus is justifiably famous. It stands in the center of the street between the Court House and the old hotel. Under it, Robert M. Williamson, a Georgian whose crimped leg gave him the judicial title of "Three Legged Willie," held the first session of Texas Republic's Third District. That was 1837. Up river, there is another great tree which should be equally famous. It was the tree Sam Houston sent scouts to climb, the night his forces faced the Mexican army coming across from Alamo and Goliad.

Houston was ready to attack. His scouts first sent word from their treetop that he could take the invading army. Then, just at daylight, they warned that reinforcements were flooding in. Houston called off the attack, fell back on destiny at San Jacinto. Leaving, he burned Columbus to the ground — just about all but what is now known as the Columbus Oak.

The other tree, which might have seen San Jacinto fought on the Colorado, might have changed history? I can't find it. Do you know where it is?

TELEGRAPH
In beautifully remote Kimble County, where Francis Burt runs the Junction Eagle, I asked about the town, Telegraph. It is the flashing-by building cluster where those thousand springs pour from the cliff.

"Well," said Francis, who seldom uses an extra word. "There's no telephone in Telegraph. Just one telephone. It's the one you call when you want to reach Coke Stevenson. Then they have to send a messenger from the store." Francis considered. "Then, of course, Coke has to want to talk."

DEAR ABBY

Let Him Have The Truth

DEAR ABBY: I promised my wife I'd abide by your decision. I stuck my neck out and got a chap a job because I know that many times his family went hungry. He has lost five jobs in the past two years. His last employer just sent me a confidential report on him stating the man is lazy, unreliable, attempts to be a big shot, abuses his authority and many other uncomplimentary remarks. I say I should show this report to his wife. She is a very refined and educated girl who thinks "the world" is against him. My wife says she is blindly in love with him and we should not wise her up. I think it's time she knew these facts. What do you think?

DEAR FRIENDS: If you really want to be helpful, show the reports to the MAN, not his wife.

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago my husband died and left me with two small children. This summer I plan to marry a widower who has a son. His son's name is Gary and so is mine. It will be very confusing with two Garys in the house. Have you any suggestions?

MY PROBLEM
DEAR PROBLEM: If either Gary has a middle name, use it. Or give one Gary a nickname. But don't say, "my Gary" and "your Gary" as it will be pay-chologically bad for all concerned.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a girl for three years. We shall soon be 21. After a year and a half we became engaged, when her parents said we could on one condition—that we not announce it. I gave her the ring (it took me a year to pay it off) but about three months ago she stopped wearing it. This really hurt me. I feel very unwanted. She said people would talk about us being engaged for so long. I am still in college and can't afford marriage for a while. I love her with all my heart and think she loves me, too. How can I get her to wear my ring again?

UNWANTED
DEAR UNWANTED: Your girl could be under parental pressure and confused. But you had better be sure she WANTS to be engaged—ring or no ring.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LYNNE: Even more important than "where a man came from" is where he is going.

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3265, Beverly Hills, Calif.

A Devotional For Today

Why sleep ye? rise and pray, lest ye enter into temptation. (Luke 22:46.)

PRAYER: Gracious Father, today keep us alert to the prayer that is ours in the furtherance of Thy kingdom. Help us prepare, through study of Thy Word, and by prayer, for every challenge that comes to us. In Christ's name. Amen.

(From The Upper Room)

Communism Flunks China Test

Communism has flunked its test in China by admissions from the National People's Congress which recently completed its sessions in Peiping. Of course the Red hierarchy of Premier Chou Enlai doesn't word it that way and still beats the band for a militant communism.

Yet the Red China dictators do admit that their great leap forward not only didn't get off the ground, but flopped. They have, instead, according to rumors now confirmed, had to pull hundreds of thousands from floundering industries to return to the farms. Communism (device for reducing Chinese farmers virtually to condition of slave laborers) has not been disavowed, but they have been shelved if not abandoned. Sheer survival of the body has now become an emergency order of the day.

What effect, if any, will this have on the Kremlin is a matter which intrigues the students of international forces. At first blush, this might seem to free the Kremlin from some of the pressures behind its back and stiffen its attitude toward the West. Yet there is a strange reluctance gripping Russia today, an odd thawing. For instance, one publication which attacked the new individual incentives and extolled the old orthodox group rewards was officially blistered for its attitude. Analyzing the Russian surge which carried it to Paris in the post-Napoleonic period, Lord Castlerough observed that "the vast tide of Muscovy would be sucked back by the Asiatic moon."

Perhaps it is unfathomable if any such forces are being set in motion today, but there are some indications that the Kremlin is worried about if not preoccupied with the prospect of being the first in the path of any potential Mongol flood. This is an intriguing conjecture, and while events unfold the story, this is a good time to maintain firmness and alertness and a sense of positive purpose . . . to keep our powder dry.

Real Job Of Boosting

It now appears that with a little more shoving in the homestretch, the Big Spring High School band will get to make its trip to Seattle and take in the World's Fair.

This has been a formidable undertaking, and the band members have worked like trojans. They couldn't have made it, however, without the firm help of the Band Boosters. This has been a sort of above-and-beyond-the-call-of-duty effort for them, because the Boosters have been paying on a healthy note for purchasing band uniforms for one of the junior high schools. Undaunted, they also bit off obligations for uniforms for the other.

If the band members turn out to be as big boosters for Big Spring as the Band Boosters have been for them, the folks along the route and in Seattle ought to add our community to their vocabulary.

Autocratic Government Prevails

WASHINGTON — Maybe the conservatives in Congress in both political parties will wake up in due time and put up a fight against the dictatorship complex that seems to have seized the Kennedy administration. For the way the steel dispute was almost entirely neglected last week by those who customarily criticize the arbitrary use of power by government is disquieting to the people who still believe in a government of laws and a written Constitution.

CONGRESS has a duty to expose usurpation of power when it develops anywhere in this country. It has a right to investigate the facts. Will it now summon all the Cabinet secretaries and their assistants to find out just what did happen in the 72 hours between the time the U. S. Steel Corporation announced a price increase and the time the same company capitulated, as its competitors were subjected to pressure and intimidation unparalleled in American history? If the executive branch of the government should order its officials to take the "Fifth Amendment" and to refuse to give the information on the ground that it is "privileged," this in itself would be significant. Meanwhile, this will not stop the press from finding out the facts and telling them to the American people.

THE WHOLE SITUATION is best described in a "Wall Street Journal" editorial on Monday of this week, which said in part:

"In a long life not without its share of amusements, we never saw anything like it.

"On Tuesday one of the country's steel companies announced it was going to try to get more money for its product. And promptly all Hell busted loose."

"THE PRESIDENT of the United States went into what can only be described as a tirade. Not only had the company changed its price list without consulting him but it had also set a price which, in his opinion, was 'wholly unjustified.' With a long preamble in which he rang in the Berlin crisis, the soldiers killed the other day in Vietnam, the wives and mothers separated from their husbands by the reserve call-up of all of which he cast at the feet of these 'irresponsible' steel officials — he wound up by crying that these men had shown their 'utter contempt' for the welfare of the country.

"The response in Washington was instantaneous. The Justice Department, the Federal Trade Commission, the congressional inquisitors all leaped to arms.

"THEN CAME the night riders. At three a.m. Thursday morning a reporter for the Associated Press was awakened by government agents unable to wait even for regular office hours in their drivers haste to find out what testimony he could give about the criminal conduct of these steel

All These Events Are Related

WASHINGTON (AP)—Day to day living in America seems as broad as American life and yet one event after another demonstrates how much this life is shaped by forces far beyond America.

One example was President Kennedy's news conference Wednesday when so many wide-ranging questions seemed unrelated—steel, business, disarmament, labor, prices, profits, Berlin, nuclear tests, campaign costs.

YET, ALMOST all were interlocked and hinged on the cold war with communism even when there seemed no connection and communism wasn't mentioned.

The same holds true in one after another of these meetings before the President and the press.

He started off Wednesday's session by saying a new American disarmament plan had just been outlined to the Russians at Geneva. Here the cold war connection was direct and obvious.

He followed this with a statement on his conflict with the steel industry—a conflict he won when steel backed down on its price increase—and how he has no ill-will toward the men responsible for the short-lived price boost.

He acknowledged the need of American business to make profits and said, "There can be no room on either side in this country at this time for any feelings of hostility or vindictiveness."

BUT HIS REASONS for not wanting a price spiral to start at this time, when he's trying to keep the economy on an even keel, are rooted in the cold war. The United States is up to its neck in spending on armaments.

A general increase in living costs, meaning also increased defense costs, would jeopardize the economy and boost government expenses, at a time when the United States must stay financially sound to cope with communism and meet its commitments around the world.

Further, higher prices would cripple this country's ability to sell abroad, particularly to its allies or in competition with them elsewhere, at the very moment it wants closer trade ties with them.

Borrowing Types

NEW YORK (AP)—Are you a good borrower?

Borrowing in the average business office today has been raised to the level of a fine art.

The ability to borrow successfully is more than a test of personal charm or salesmanship to most white collar workers—it is a test of survival.

"Shakespeare's famous line, 'Neither a borrower nor a lender be,' has no application at all in office life. A fellow with an attitude like that is shunned as a Pariah.

The general philosophy is to lend and lend, to borrow and lend borrow. If you don't lend a fellow worker a paper clip today, he may refuse to let you borrow one from him tomorrow—when you need it most desperately.

You can judge an office employe by what and why he borrows. Here are a few typical borrowers you may have noted in your own firm:

Pompous Paul—Let me have 10 bucks now and I'll be well worth your while later," he says importantly. "I've got a big deal cooking with the boss and want to take him to lunch, and when I get him softened up I'll be sure to put in a good word for you."

Later you find he needed the dough to make an alimony payment to his ex-wife.

Phobic Phil—This is the compulsive borrower. He has to borrow to be happy. He'd prefer to borrow the shirt off your back, but if you just lend him a last year's commuting timetable, he'll go away content.

Willie the Weeper—It isn't your money he wants to borrow; it's your ear. And if you lend it to him, he'll return it full of all his woes and the trouble he's been having with everybody from his girl friend to his landlady.

Ambrose the Abstainer—He's trying to save dough by cutting down on his smoking. So he borrows half a pack of cigarettes a day from you. "In a way, I'm doing you a real favor," he remarks lightly. "Now you're not smoking so much either."

Roundabout Robert—He begins by inquiring about your health, your views on motherhood and atomic fallout. After a 45-minute buildup of your ego, he asks casually as he gets up to leave, "Oh, by the way, could you let me have $3.87 until Friday? I need it to pay for my laundry."

Cunning Carl—This bright lad read in a psychology book that people tend to like anyone for whom they have done a favor. So he borrows from everyone, whether he needs it or not, figuring that once he is in their debt they will love him forever and ever.

Friction Creates Static Electricity

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: All winter when I change the linen on the beds I get electric shocks. You should see the sparks fly! Is there any help for people like me? — MRS. S. A. T.

Anybody can encounter this sparkly experience with static electricity. Small electric charges are created by friction, especially when conditions are dry. The friction of your shoes on the floor (or more commonly on carpeting or a deep rug) can build up enough of a charge to make a spark.

One answer is to touch some metal object so that the charge disperses before it builds up high enough for sparks. Nylon and silk garments tend to accumulate these static charges. Cotton, which absorbs traces of moisture, isn't as likely to do that. Why, in operating rooms, people wear cotton gowns and clothing, and avoid silk and nylon.

The little shocks don't harm you, but are annoying.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is your opinion of birth control pills. Are they accurate, healthy, proven, etc. — N. K.

They appear to be promising but they have to be taken on schedule. Miss taking them, and there is a "rebound" characteristic which makes pregnancy more likely instead. (Medically, the pills are used, and then stopped, for this very purpose. The same medication is also used for other gynecological conditions and menstrual abnormalities.)

Dear Sir: I have three children. The last, a boy, was called a "posterior birth." I had never heard of it, but the doctor said it made the labor twice as long. Will you please explain? — MRS. C. S.

Ordinarily a baby is born head first, and after the head has emerged, the rest of the birth is relatively easy. However, sometimes the baby turns around. Because of his folded-up position, he isn't born feet-first, but buttocks-first, and in that doubled-over position it is much more difficult for him to move from the womb to the world awaiting him outside. It could be that you've never heard of "posterior birth" because it so often is called "breech delivery."

The term "posterior" may also refer to position of the skull at time of birth. Most babies present "occiput anterior," i.e. back of skull is forward. If in opposite position, it is called "occiput posterior."

Dr. Molner welcomes all mail from his readers, but because of the great volume received daily he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner uses readers' letters in his column whenever possible.

Dear Dr. Molner: What do these readings mean: Cholesterol, 288, and sugar (blood) 116? Is this wor-

Around The Rim

Ball Of Twine And A Knowing Nod

Never dig a ditch with an engineer. Unless, that is, you have a ball of string. Some months ago, the Y's Men's Club decided to construct a youth camp at Moss Creek Lake and elaborate plans were made. Comfortable in the thought that my work would consist wholly of publicity chores, I beat the drums for an early start and a good turnout for work crews. I had not reckoned on the tight organization of our club.

RIGHT AWAY, I found myself with a tight grip on a shovel, rather than the relatively comfy chore of composing tributes to the hard work. And worse, I was assigned to labor with the engineering staff of the club, the fellows who do the drawings on paper and other brainy stuff. Showing up for a working session, the engineers pointed to a shovel and a mountain of rock and dirt and indicated where the dirt was to be moved.

Meanwhile, they busied themselves with a ball of kite string and much sage nodding of heads. They were, I was assured, making sure the forms were level and ready for the delivery of concrete. So as I totled away over the then small mountain of debris, they scurried back and forth, hither and yon, stretching that string all over the place.

THE NEXT time I showed up for a work day, the story was changed. That mountain of dirt, I was scolded, should be back where it was in the first place. But it wasn't necessary for me to throw it back. Instead, some sand had been hauled in and it would be okay to throw the lighter sand back into the hole before the cement arrived. This was followed by more wise nodding of heads in agreement.

Perhaps the sand was lighter, but after the 100th shovel load, I couldn't tell much difference. Meanwhile, there was more stretching of kite string, many hushed conferences and a whole lot of mathematical talk about "square yards of concrete." Finally, the concrete arrived and I was relieved of shoeing sand and/or rock. But hardly had that hole been filled with concrete, than there began to be whispered around that a hole five feet deep, six feet long and four feet wide would have to be dug. Before the nodding of heads could be done, I mumbled something about an appointment in Samaria and made a dash for my car.

TO THE UNINITIATED, I should explain that the banks of Moss Creek Lake are soft, easy-to-dig dirt all of six inches down. At that point, the would-be well digger strikes what must be bed-rock and only a jack hammer will even scratch it.

Most of the club members who poked fun at our two engineer members, James Tidwell and Bruce Dunn, myself most of all. Actually, these two have spent more time and effort on the youth camp project than all the rest of the members combined. They planned the buildings, rounded up labor forces, scoured around for materials, took their turns with pick and shovel, and have led the project to the point where it is becoming a reality. Both helped organize that Y's Men's Club and have provided the spark for the youth camp. Under their guidance, the initial phase of the camp is about half complete and moving rapidly along. Without them, it is doubtful the ambitious program could have been attempted.

Nevertheless, the next time I volunteer to help on a project of any kind, I'm going to get a ball of twine and learn to nod knowingly. —V. GLENN COOTES

To Magazine: Just Use Good Taste

The magazine world is in a state of upheaval, with new editors arriving on the hour and older editors departing on the same schedule. This is a period of maximum soul searching and new programming, with the slick-paper publications for women hitting the sawdust trail, hoping to see the light.

WELL, SIR, the editors of periodicals aimed at my sex could do worse at the mourner's bench than to yowl from henceforth and forever to quit plugging the sensational, the bizarre and the eccentric as the height of fashion.

I am willing to let them off any vows of chastity and poverty if they will solemnly swear to embrace good taste and use it as their standard in the future.

Despite all we read and hear to the contrary, most American parents spend a prodigious amount of time trying to transform their girl-children into ladies. Let those who will deny this sweet impeachment, but it is still true.

PARENTS HAVE had scant help in this noble work, always uphill, from women's and fashion magazines in the past decade. The most damning and damaging mistake such magazines ever made was to seize on the Brigitte Bardot dishevelment and hard-shell this unmade-bed look as high fashion.

If anyone wants to write a Ph.D. thesis on this subject, he will probably discover that the rapprochement between such magazines and their readers began to fall apart at the seams when the latter realized that the former depicted them to eschew soap and water; comb and brush to attain that best-dressed look. And this in a nation reared, generation after generation, in the firm belief that cleanliness is next to godliness.

WHEN MAGAZINES junk good taste and good grooming in favor of any momentary sensation, from the beaklike to scrawny nudity, they deserve to lose the confidence of their public. And when, year after year, their models look as if they had just been blown out of a wind tunnel, the reader is bound to suspect that there is more than one screw loose in the editorial department.

It is with a good bit of hope that I read a prediction that Grace Kelly, soon to be crowned Queen of Fashion. Miss Kelly may not be the world's greatest actress but she is always beautifully groomed, with every blonde hair in place.

SHE HAS the wonderfully fresh and appealing soap-and-water look that was always associated with the American girl until fashion editors took up Bardot and the barrel-house routine.

Miss Kelly always looks spick-and-span, handbox spruce and, if one is permitted an archaic word, ladylike. If her return to mo'm pictures can reinstate such an ideal as high fashion, I promise to beat the drums for her new picture, whatever it is.

It would be great to see girls look like girls again — sugar and spice and everything nice — instead of ragamuffins with a gnawed-off collure and a predilection for toilet water rather than aqua pura.

WITH MISS KELLY on the horizon and fuller skirts a reality, there is hope. My new spring suit with the pleated skirt enables me to get in and out of a taxi for the first time in years without doing a strip that would have caused a raid on Minsky's 30 years ago.

Now, if the women's magazines will line up behind the Kelly vs. Bardot look and sponsor good taste once more, all will be forgiven. I will even stop reading high mags under the dryer and start buying them again.

The President Takes A Stand

WASHINGTON—"He was good in there today," wrote Ernest Hemingway in a famous short story about the Crucifixion, and the long-time-no-see quotation jumped into my head at the press conference when President Kennedy, in fighting fury, was lashing the steel magnates who had defied him by raising their prices.

THE CRUCIFIXION analogy is impressive, but not inappropriate. Hemingway's spokesman, a Roman soldier and no friend of the Crucified, was admiring courage, defined by the author as "grace under pressure."

Well, in many economic particulars, Kennedy was dead wrong. In assigning motives of greed for "personal power and profits" to the steel masters, he was ignorant of business dynamics. He was off limits for saying to the U. S. Steel Corporation what I doubt he would say to the Steelworkers' Union.

HE WAS WRONG to pronounce judgment against Big Steel while in a temper and without a hearing of the case, wrong to make his press conference a soapbox for an incendiary attack upon this private company, wrong to blow a bugle for the federal agents in the Justice Department and Trade Commission to mount a punitive expedition, and wrong to launch this class warfare among Americans.

But there were offsetting factors. How magnificent that anger! How electrifying those lightning flashes of indignation! How articulate he was with invective, how charged with certitude for his conception of the country's cause! Three rows deep in the auditorium, the reporter saw the cold, green gleam of invoked authority. God of our Fathers, in all reverence, we had a man that afternoon who was President of the United States, and no onlooker could doubt it. Very likely he can't do any price-fixing from the White House, and in the long term, in the eye of our historical hurricane, let the President be wrong on steel—as long as he has mettle in his soul.

SOME OTHER time I will stop and remember what the book says about objective reporting, but most stories in this nation's capital are as subjective as dreams. From the press conference I taxied to an engagement with Sen. Clinton Anderson.

son, who told me of a far greater matter on the President's mind, requiring all the fire and fortitude that a man can have. For the President, as the sapient senator from New Mexico knows better than most, has two tests to face—the one of the nuclear explosions in the Pacific; but before that one, another test deep down inside him.

THE RUSSIANS ARE going to make a five-minute-to-twelve proposal of atomic disarmament-and-inspection. If you take Anderson's word for it, and because of his deep experience and cognizance in such matters I do, the Russians are going to let the President go to all the expense of establishing and isolating the Pacific test site, are going to wait until he has the match almost to the fuse—then they will make a seemingly irresistible offer that will certainly shake the British and probably give all pacifists in all nations St. Vitus's dance.

WHAT THEN for JFK? The President has waited long to resume these militarily necessary tests. He has deeply consulted Anderson, the ranking Democratic senator of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, and Hickenlooper, the Republican counterpart. He has heard all his White House scientists, and called to consultation the heads of all atomic laboratories, and talked it out with the military chiefs. Perhaps the President has explored more than was needed, hesitated beyond prudence, dictated. But anyhow, he has announced his momentous decision.

First, though, he himself in all probability will be tested by Khrushchev bearing an olive branch and, no doubt, by our British allies saying, "Take it!" That will be the day when I will want to write a gain of JFK: "He was good in there."

Field Trip

Geology Students Make Field Trip To Big Bend

Geology students of Howard County Junior College, under the leadership of Lt. Stanley Grant, made a back country trek last weekend to the Big Bend National Park area. Braving the 100 degree temperature readings, the group studied rock formations in the Davis Mountains and the Canino Del Rio, from Presidio to Big Bend. The first night, Friday, the group camped at Eagle Crack, a narrow canyon on the Rio Grande. Saturday they pushed across the back route from Caslon to Boquillas. They camped near the old hot springs area Saturday night. Boquillas Canyon, the Basin and Dog Canyon were visited Sunday. The students traveled by Jeep and car, camping and preparing their own meals. Some of the evening hours were spent studying the stars and moon with binoculars, Lt. Grant said. Students making the trip included Suzette Anderson, Mary Murphy, Sandy McCullough, Roland Hammack, Jack Kennedy, Laura Martensen and Patty Haralson. Lt. Grant has made many similar visits to Far West Texas, as a leader for Scouts, Junior high school science students and college students. He will be transferred from Webb AFB in the near future for an overseas assignment.

Y'S MEN'S CLUB Youth Camp Is Taking Shape

Members of the Y's Men's Club will trade their shovels for trowels this weekend, as they begin putting up the walls for the restrooms at the youth camp site on Moss Creek Lake. That is, provided the necessary materials have been obtained. Soon after the annual YMCA membership drive, the Y's Men's Club began work in earnest on the youth camp, major project of the club. It is hoped that the camp will be ready for use by June 1, coinciding with the launching of the summer YMCA program. James Tidwell and Bruce Dunn have spearheaded the club effort and last weekend, the foundation was poured for the restroom facilities. The plumbing fixtures have been installed and all is in readiness to begin erecting the walls. The septic tank, which must be gouged out of almost solid rock banks of the lake, was also started last week. The remainder of the first phase program is installation of a water supply including pipeline, pump house and electrical power. Texas Electric Service Co. has promised a power line brought to the site. Previously, a flag pole had been erected, but either vandals or strong winds had blown it down. Last week, the pole was reset and cemented in place. Buddy Redden had obtained the pipe for the pole, which is some 35 feet high. The club is aiming at completing the restroom facility this year, then looking toward the next phase of the program. When completed, the camp will include, besides the restrooms, a meeting house pavilion, a chapel, an athletic field, bleachers, and a boating dock. Although the facility is being constructed primarily for YMCA youth programs, it will be available to all youth organizations. The site, about four acres, was leased to the club by the Big Spring City Commission. It is located on the south side of the lake, rather far removed from the city's developed recreational areas.

Korean Veterans Have Money Due

Twenty-three million dollars is still available to pay dividends to some 210,000 Korean veterans who hold "RS" term insurance policies, according to Ray Boren, contact representative at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital.

This special dividend, he pointed out, is available only to those veterans who still hold policies with the prefix "RS" in front of their policy number. No other Government life insurance policyholders are eligible. All "RS" policyholders have received detailed information about their own policies from VA. It is to return the card sent to them or to contact their nearest VA office for assistance in obtaining their special dividend.

Clay Will End Berlin Tenure

BERLIN (AP) — Retired Gen. Lucius D. Clay will leave here May 6 after eight months as President Kennedy's personal representative in Berlin, the U.S. headquarters announced Wednesday.

It was announced last week that Clay's mission to Berlin was to be terminated.

Clay plans to return to private business but will remain the President's advisor on Berlin affairs, the White House has said.

Clay has promised to visit Berlin from time to time. The announcement said he would return here for a visit in July.

Officers Named

LAMESA (SC) — Wayne Smith was elected president of the Lamesa Classroom Teachers' Association here Monday. Other new officers included Mrs. J. T. Maddox, first vice president; Mrs. J. D. Hines, second vice president; Mrs. Lee Roy Colgan, third vice president; Mrs. W. B. Cox, secretary; and Dan Hodges, treasurer.

Mae Stole The Show

Mae West made a surprise visit to a Friar's stag testimonial for Harry Richman in Hollywood and stole the show. She was the only woman among 300 men. "I like the odds," she quipped. "Wall to wall men." She sings while Richman plays.

35th Division's Response To Alert Gratifies Soldiers

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The reservist was 100 miles away when he heard the news and rushed back to Kansas City to take part in a surprise alert of the National Guard's 35th Division Wednesday night.

Within three hours after the practice alert was called, 95 per cent of the 5,400 National Guardsmen in Missouri and 2,700 in Kansas had reported to their units.

"We feel it successfully demonstrates to our people in Kansas and Missouri that we can be ready in 66 cities and towns to help them in the event of any disaster whether caused by man or nature," said the division commander, Maj. Gen. Charles Browne Jr.

He said he believed it was the first alert of a two-state division.

At the Kansas City Country Club, a cook and a bartender were summoned while a party of 250 persons was in progress.

First Lt. Elbert W. Warnick of Warrensburg, Mo., was driving to Kansas City when he was stopped by a highway patrolman and told to call his company commander.

The commander of the second battalion of the 128th Artillery at Sedalia, Lt. Col. Walt Wilson, was at a smorgasbord dinner when a courier gave him his orders.

It was known the alert would be called, but the date and time were secret. Unit commanders were notified first by courier and an hour later a general alert was broadcast.

It was called "Operation Paul Revere" because it was called 187 years to the day of the storied ride.

The 35th, threatened by the Pentagon with reduction to brigade size, was gleeful over the success of the practice mobilization. The alert was planned in December, before the reduction was proposed.

"If the plans announced recently to eliminate this division were to be implemented, this capability would be lost to our fellow citizens in both states, said Gen. Browne.

Once they reported to their units, soldiers were briefed on the alert plan and how they would move if the mobilization were real.

FILM CLUB TO MEET

The annual business meeting of the Big Spring Film Club will be held this evening preceding the showing of the movie, "Othello."

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. in Howard County Junior College Auditorium. On the agenda are election of new officers, reports on the children's theatre program, and discussion of ways to improve the quality of the club's movie schedule.

Financially, officers report, the club is in excellent shape.

Freed Owens Says Easter Happier Now

FT. POLK, La. (AP)—"It'll be a much happier Easter now," said Pfc. Bernis Owen after he was released from the post stockade on orders from President Kennedy.

Owen, 23, from Seadrift, Tex., freed Wednesday, had served three weeks of a six-month, hard-labor sentence by a court-martial which found him guilty of disrespect to his commanding general. He also was fined $50 a month.

In Washington, President Kennedy told a news conference he was remitting the sentence and also releasing another reservist "in the spirit of Easter week."

The other man was Pfc. Larry D. Chidester of Salt Lake City. Chidester, 24, had been facing court-martial at Ft. Lewis, Wash., for suggesting among other things that perhaps Kennedy figured "the jobs left open by our callup will re-elect him on the basis of low unemployment."

The President ordered Chidester's court-martial canceled.

In Owen's case, he was accused of having said the general's order halting "we-want-out" demonstrations was "a hilarious climax to a chain of injustices."

"I want to go back to my unit and be a good soldier," Owen said after his release. "I'm very sorry that this thing developed into the bad egg that it did. When I made these statements, I thought at that time I was doing right."

After leaving the stockade, Owen packed his gear and moved out to join his company in the field. He is in Company D, 4th Armored Rifle Battalion, 49th Armored Division of the Texas National Guard.

At Seadrift, his mother, Mrs. Paul Owen, said, "Are you sure it's true? I can't believe it. It's so wonderful. My husband will be the happiest man in the world."

Owen's unit is scheduled for release from federal service in August.
