This One Won't Go Into Orbit

That isn't a Cape Canaveral rocket in the background. It is the center pier and riser for Big Spring's new 1.5-million-gallon elevated water storage tank. The gantry on top is for hoisting the 12 steel legs, sections of which are in the foreground. The bottom of the nearly 100-foot diameter tank will fit where the riser begins its taper. The tank is being erected northeast of the present smaller tank on North Runnels by Chicago Bridge And Iron Co.

Estes Faces State Anti-Trust Action

DALLAS (AP)—Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson said Saturday he has a clear-cut anti-trust case against Pecos financier Billie Sol Estes and his office will present the evidence to the Potter County grand jury in Amarillo next week.

Wilson said this would be done the latter part of the week, perhaps next Thursday or Friday. He added that the evidence would concern not only the large-scale sales of anhydrous ammonia but also Estes' grain-storage operations.

"It is against the state anti-trust law to sell below cost for the purpose of injuring or driving out a competitor," Wilson explained in an interview.

Secret Army Chief Formally Charged

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Raoul Salan, imprisoned chief of the European Secret Army, was formally accused Saturday of attacking the authority of the state in his campaign to keep Algeria French.

Conviction on the charge carries the death penalty. The charge was read to Salan in the stock ex-general's prison cell. Prison officials said Salan, still wearing his black moustache and black-dyed hair, appeared relaxed as examining Magistrate Guy Courcol read the complaint.

Under French law, a prisoner must be formally charged within 48 hours of arrest.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

Here it is a month after the vernal equinox and spring has finally arrived. Today's bright Easter duds are but frosting on the cake. The cautious mesquite, the mimosa and catclaw have finally put the official stamp on spring by leafing out.

Meanwhile, the iris are bursting in belated profusion, and among the wildflowers verbena and tansy asters are blotching roadsides with lavender.

Most businessmen accounted the pre-Easter volume quite good. Buyers were less than reticent, and they had a couple of weeks longer than usual in which to satisfy their wants.

At the season of the year when spiritual peace should have permeated our land, we had eruptions of violence. One of the acts was the fatal shooting of Andrew G. Perez.

With the passing of the deadline for obtaining current safety inspection stickers, police joined with state highway patrolmen to set up traffic check points. These were moved at random over the city with distressingly good results so far as those without the stickers.

At the season of the year when spiritual peace should have permeated our land, we had eruptions of violence. One of the acts was the fatal shooting of Andrew G. Perez.

Super-Rocket Test Flight Wednesday

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States plans to launch its Saturn super-rocket on a second test flight next Wednesday, and as a bonus experiment, to blow it up 65 miles high to determine what happens when 95 tons of water is sprayed in the icy ionosphere.

Primary goal of the flight is to further test the propulsion system of the first stage, an eight-engine monster which pours out 1.3 million pounds of thrust, more than three times greater than any present U.S. rocket.

Objectives will be similar to last October's extremely successful first launching of the Saturn, which is a forerunner of rockets which will carry American astronauts to the moon.

The Saturn water is carried in two dummy upper stages to simulate the weight of the actual upper assembly to be employed on later flights.

Called "Project Highwater," the dividend experiment will not interfere with objectives of the Saturn flight. At the time of deliberate destruction—160 seconds after launching—the first stage will have consumed its fuel and completed its mission.

The heat of the explosion, triggered by ground signal, will boil the water immediately and scientists estimate 15 per cent will evaporate with the remaining 80 to 85 tons forming a cloud of tiny ice particles. If the day is clear, the cloud should be visible for several miles along the Florida coast.

Planes and ground cameras will track the cloud. Objective is to observe the effect a large mass of water has on the lower part of the ionosphere, which essentially is the upper atmosphere.

Anti-Spy Unit In Task Force

WASHINGTON (AP)—An anti-spy unit has been established within the task force which will supervise forthcoming nuclear tests in the Pacific.

The Defense Department declines to specify how large the unit is, to define its exact function, or, indeed, to confirm its existence.

However, available and unclassified organization listings show the unit is headed by an assistant chief of staff of Joint Task Force 4 and that it is part of an intelligence and security branch.

Any counterintelligence organization usually has this over-all mission: "destroying the effectiveness of inimical foreign intelligence activities and protection of information against espionage, personnel against subversion and installations and material against sabotage."

The locale for the test series, scheduled to start within the next week or so unless Russia agrees to a cheap-proof test-ban treaty, provides some advantages in counterintelligence.

Christmas Island is in a remote area of the Pacific about 1,300 miles south of Honolulu. Isolated Johnston Island is about 600 miles southwest of Hawaii. Beach guards and water patrols, with electronic aids can maintain close watch against the landing of spies or saboteurs.

EASTER CELEBRATED 'He Is Risen'

By CHARLES L. WEST
Associated Press Staff Writer
"He is risen."
In song and prayer, the words spoken 20 centuries ago echoed around the world Sunday in Christian celebration of the Resurrection.

The bells of Rome's 500 churches, muffled until midnight, rang out the glory of Easter.
In silence, too, the faith was kept. A joy of color lent emphasis to the white lily symbol of the day. Gaily decorated eggs, bunnies and chicks filled children's baskets. Finery awaited the Easter parades.

For most of the United States, the Weather Bureau forecast a sunny and mild day, except for a band of showers across the middle of the nation and some rain on the northeast coast.

Easter penetrated the Iron Curtain, carrying its hope of life everlasting into Orthodox and Baptist churches in Moscow.

Kennedys Plan Visit To Mexico In June

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President and Mrs. Kennedy will visit Mexico June 29 to July 1, the Palm Beach White House announced Saturday.

Chief executives traditionally visit Mexico and Canada, the two countries that border the United States, and the Kennedys traveled to Ottawa last May.

School Bond Vote Slated

GARDEN CITY—Property owners in Glasscock County will vote on a $50,000 school bond election.

Two propositions will be on the ballot. Each must carry by a simple majority in order to be approved.

Rome Celebrates

ROME (AP)—Rome celebrated its 2,715th anniversary as a city Saturday tracing itself from the construction of a $100,000 gymnasium.

Wobbly Coalition Nearing Collapse

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Turkey's wobbly coalition government hovered on the brink of collapse Saturday as Premier Ismet Inonu fought to stave off demands for an amnesty for imprisoned former leaders in the ousted government of executed Premier Adnan Menderes.

Tourists Watch Battle Across Berlin's Wall

BERLIN (AP)—Hundreds of Berliners and tourists on Easter holiday watched a brief battle of automatic weapons and tear gas between East and West Berlin police Saturday.

Centaur Rocket Still Earthbound

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The fifth attempt to launch the United States' newest space rocket, the high-energy Centaur, was frustrated Saturday by last-second trouble which resulted in cut-off of the booster engines after they were ignited.

Col. Victor To Post At Lowry

Col. Henry G. Victor, commander of the Pilot Training Group (3560th) at Webb Air Force Base, has a new assignment as director of light operations at Lowry AFB, Colorado, and is to leave here April 30.

Another Bomb Test Reported

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission announced another underground nuclear test of low yield was conducted at the Nevada test site Saturday.

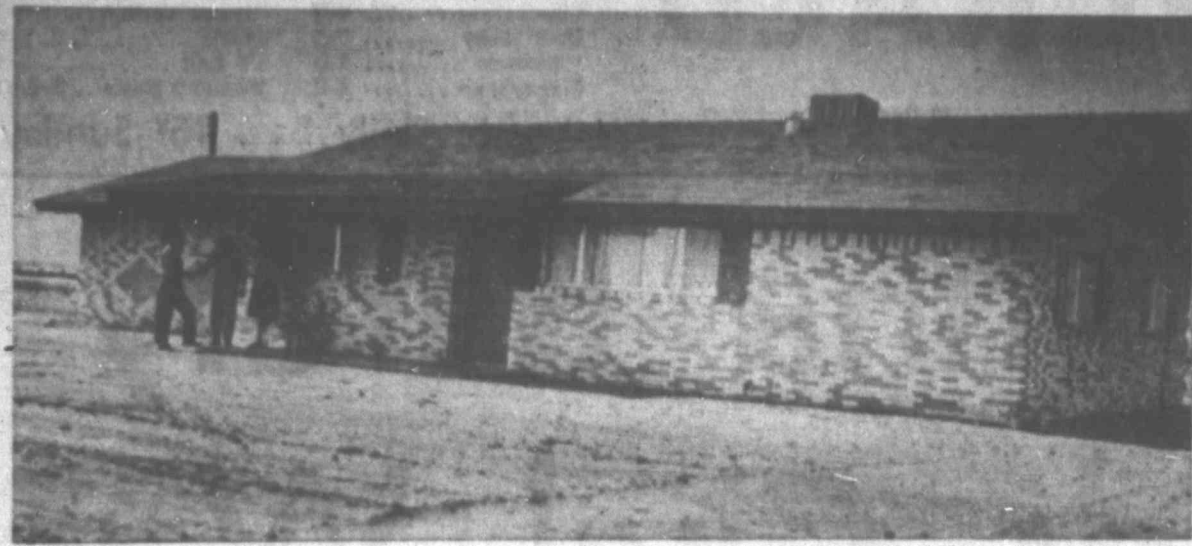

U.S. Wants To Patch Up Allied Quarrel On Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP)—Kennedy administration officials are planning a quiet but determined effort next week to heal the split in the Atlantic Alliance over terms of a possible Berlin settlement with the Soviet Union.

The division between the United States and Britain on one side and West Germany and France on the other is considered here to be mainly troublesome to Allied relations. It could become dangerous if permitted to go unchecked too long, particularly if East-West agreement on Berlin seemed to be likely.

A new Soviet turn to antagonistic policies would eliminate the sole problem because when the Russians get tough Allied disputes disappear in a common determination.

The possibility of some such new twist in Soviet Premier Khrushchev's line has been under study here since he wrote a tough letter to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan 10 days ago, indignantly rejecting the Briton's appeal for a nuclear weapons test ban treaty.

Front Of Home As Seen From IS 20

The first Howard County home financed through the Farmers Home Administration for non-farm use. The 1,400 square-foot home was built at a cost of $15,200 and contains several extra features.

Agency Finances First Non-Farm Rural Home

By M. A. WEBB
The first non-farm home, financed through the Farmers Home Administration, to be built in Howard County is the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McIntosh at Sand Springs. The new brick residence is just east of the Ref-

Corp. plant and north of IS 20. The McIntosh family moved in April 9. Lee Tunnell, representing the Big Spring office of the Farmers Home Administration, said two other new homes are under construction through similar loans in Sand Springs and that several applications for loans had been made. Non-farm home financing, in rural areas or in urban corporations of less than 2,500 population, was first made available through a law passed last October.

McIntosh, who is an employee of Cosden Petroleum Corp., formerly lived at 1107 E. 16th in Big Spring. The family has two children, Wesley 9, and Susan 7, both of whom attend Boydston school in Big Spring.

The new home is a Gold Medal home, with all-electric kitchen, central heating and water heating is done with gas. It is air conditioned.

It has 1,400 square feet of living area, with three bedrooms, two baths, and attached garage. Concrete floors are tile covered in the kitchen and dining area, and carpeted in the bedrooms and halls. McIntosh had the home built on one acre of land which he owned. He is supplied with water from the Coahoma water district but is drilling a well to furnish an irrigation system for his yard, garden and fruit trees.

The home was built by contractor Ray S. Parker at a cost of $15,200.

"The loans are available to families who own their lot or acreage outright," Tunnell said. "They are available at four per cent with up to 33 years to pay. Homes may be built anywhere in Howard and Glasscock counties, except within the city limits of Big Spring. The builder, in addition to having clear title to his land, must be earning enough money to pay for the home. He must pay his own taxes and finance his own insurance. Insurance policies must protect the Farmers Home Administration and are kept at the F.H.A. offices."

"The Federal Housing Administration is financing many homes in Big Spring," he continued, "but only Farmers Home Administration can finance the non-farm homes in rural areas, and this can be done at from 90 to 100 per cent of their value. A mortgage is taken on real estate, and the home, for the loan."

"Houses are restricted in size, according to the size of the family, and plans of the building, as well as the acreage, are appraised to determine the available amount of the loan."
"We like it fine out here," Mrs. McIntosh said. "We are proud of the home and are looking forward to landscaping and getting some fruit trees and a garden started."

Local Group Will Attend Historical Survey Program

A Big Spring group, representing tourist development activities of the Chamber of Commerce, plans to go to McCamey May 4 for a meeting of County Historical Survey Committees in this region. Purpose is to put emphasis on marking historical sites of tourist interest in Texas, and the "big spring" is one of these which will have local support.

The McCamey meeting, under direction of John Ben Shepperd, member from Tyler will discuss "Texas Historical Marker Programs" which includes tourist markers, house medallions, grave markers, and proposed maps.

The noon luncheon will feature Charles Hawn, member of the Texas Highway Commission, speaking on "Recent Developments in Texas Travel."

Speaking at the morning session will be Dr. Rupert N. Richardson, president of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, from Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene. His topic will be "The Importance of Historical Preservation in the Atomic Age."

Lee Lawrence, state committee member from Tyler will discuss "Texas Historical Marker Programs" which includes tourist markers, house medallions, grave markers, and proposed maps.

The noon luncheon will feature Charles Hawn, member of the Texas Highway Commission, speaking on "Recent Developments in Texas Travel."

Russell Joins Martin Farm Organization

STANTON — Oscar "Cotton" Fanning has resigned his position as manager of the Basin Growers Association after several years. He is now general manager of the Texas Farm Labor Agency with headquarters in Lubbock.

The new manager of the local farm labor association is Joe T. Russell, who came here from Seminole where he managed a similar organization. Russell has had wide experience in dealing with Mexican citizens. He has worked with several farm labor associations, and spent five years with the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Mexico. He has worked in almost every major city in Mexico and speaks Spanish fluently.

Russell said there were about 200 braceros in the Stanton area at present. Most of them are being used to move sprinkler irrigation pipe.

Red-Captured Gls Are Sought

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Search is reported still under way today for two American soldiers who were captured by Communist guerrillas April 8 while on a training mission, 45 miles from the Laos border.

They are: Francis Quinn of Niagara Falls, N.Y., and George E. Groom of St. Joseph, Mo. A third soldier—George F. Fryett Jr. of Los Angeles—disappeared from Saigon last Christmas and is presumed also in Viet Cong hands.

Unconfirmed reports have circulated that Quinn and Groom were being led through villages by their Viet Cong captors and exhibited for propaganda purposes. Similar unconfirmed reports circulated after the disappearance of Fryett.

M. G. Pool To Be Ordained Friday, Gets Area Post

Mart Gayland Pool, a seminary student at St. Christopher's Episcopal Church, Lubbock, will be ordained to the office of deacon in Friday services at 7:30 p.m.

MART GAYLAND POOL

Upon graduation in June from General Theological Seminary, New York, Pool has been assigned by the Bishop of the Diocese of Northwest Texas as curate to St. Mary's Church, Big Spring, and minister in charge of St. John's Mission, Lamesa. He will begin duties on July 1.

Under procedure of the Episcopal Church, there are three orders of ministers—bishops, priests and deacons. When certain requirements have been met, a man may be made deacon, an office he holds for about one year at which time he can be admitted to the order of priest.

The Friday services will be by the Rt. Rev. George H. Quarterman, Amarillo, Bishop of the Diocese of Northwest Texas. The sermon will be by the Rev. Donald H. Hungerford, rector of St. Mary's Church, Big Spring; preface by the Rev. James A. Mock, rector of St. Mark's Church, Plainview; and presentation will be by the Rev. Thomas R. Miller, rector of St. Christopher's Church.

The litany will be by the Rev. Ralph E. Macy, chaplain of Texas Tech, and the gospel will be read by the newly ordained Rev. Gayland Pool. A reception will be held in the church following the service. Offering at this service will go to General Theological Seminary.

A deacon may read the gospel at Holy Communion, pass the cup at Holy Communion (but not the bread), preach his own sermon, baptize, bury the dead and marry couples, if authorized by the bishop.

Pool is unmarried. He is the son of Mrs. Mart G. Pool of Plainview. His father, now deceased, was former district manager of Southwestern Public Service Co. for the Plains area. Pool attended schools at Plainview where he graduated from high school in 1955. While at General Theological Seminary, he was active in student life and served as chairman of the speaker's committee for the Missionary Society of the seminary, a student body organization.

At Texas Tech, Pool was an honor student. He majored in history and minored in English. He was vice president of Phi Alpha Theta, honorary history society; a member of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English society; member of Optimate, Greek Club; president of the Tech Toastmaster's Club; president of the Westminster Fellowship; executive chairman of the Board of Student Organization; worship chairman of the Student Religious Council and member of the Texas Tech Union program council.

Brisk Bible Sale Reported

Marie McDonald, proprietor of the Book Stall, said that she had sold around 100 Holy Bibles this past week — obviously as gifts in celebration of the Easter holiday.

"Bibles were in good demand this season," she said. "However, the big season for the sale of Bibles is from Thanksgiving to Christmas."

She said that she sells from 200 to 300 Bibles at that season each year.

"People buy Bibles for Christmas gifts. They buy all kinds of editions — from $2 to $30. The same was true this past week."

Miss McDonald said most of the persons who purchase Bibles ask for the King James version. The recently published new English translation was highly popular for a short time after it was placed on sale here, Miss McDonald reported.

"Suddenly there was no demand for it any more," she related. "I have had two copies on hand now for two or three months. The King James version sells steadily but no one wants the new edition."

THE COMMUNION

By A Christian Writer

If men had made the monument to Christ, it would have been vastly different from the Lord's Supper, instituted by Christ as a memorial of his body and blood. Perhaps man would have made the monument of marble or brass, or even of gold. It would have been something expensive and elaborate. Likely, only a few people would have the privilege of visiting it. The Lord's Supper is beautiful in its simplicity. It is made up of the unleavened bread and the fruit of the vine. That is all. Wherever men go these elements can be had, and they can observe the memorial feast. On trains and aboard ships, the followers of Christ have observed the Lord's Supper. The poorest disciples, as well as the wealthiest, are able to have the Communion, and to have it every week. The disciples worshipping at 3500 West Highway 80, have this privilege every first day of the week (the Scriptural occasion — Acts 20:7). Hear David Tarbet, from A.C.C., guest speaker Today, 10:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. You are always welcome at the church of Christ, 3500 West Highway 80, E. R. Tarbet, preacher (an Australian preacher) mission "11 May 1961" Box 1282, —adr.

the program of the Texas Civil War Centennial Commission, followed by Frank Hildebrand, assistant director of the Travel and Information Marker will be dedicated. Each county will then report on its activities. The meeting will adjourn to Castle Gap where the third Texas Official Tourist Information Marker will be dedicated.

"This is the third regional meeting undertaken by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee," Shepperd said.

All county committee members and anyone else interested in historical preservation are urged to attend.

Counties included in this meeting along with Howard, are Andrews, Borden, Brewster, Crane, Crockett, Culberson, Dawson, Edwards, Ector, El Paso, Gaines, Glasscock, Hudspeth, Irion, Jeff Davis, Loving, Martin, Midland, Pecos, Presidio, Reagan, Reeves, Schleicher, Sterling, Sutton, Terrell, Tom Green, Upton, Val Verde, Ward and Winkler.

Latimer Leaves

After a day and half of campaigning here, Rep. Truett Latimer went Friday evening to a political rally in Roby. Latimer, candidate for state senator, worked Thursday evening, visited during the day and attended a neighborhood coffee. He also spoke at noon to the ABClub on how the tax dollar is expended and on the key legislation considered by the January special session.

AA Cottage Brightened

Members of Alcoholics Anonymous have worked hard at giving their cottage a face-lifting treatment, which includes the air conditioning equipment shows here. It is located at 615 Settles. Future planning includes a small park and a complete beautification project for the property.

Cottage Renovated, More Work Planned

The cottage which Alcoholics Anonymous maintain at 615 Settles Street has been going through a lot of face lifting as members brighten their gathering place. This, they hope, is but a beginning for they want to develop a small park and beautify the premises. There is considerable territory around the home and all of the property is decided in perpetuity to the AAs. They want the cottage and grounds to be a credit to the neighborhood.

A new room has been added to the home, and this will enable a caretaker to be on hand at all hours of the day. Persons needing help may reach the home at any time day or night by calling AM 4-9144.

All of the interior walls have been repainted along with the woodwork. The restrooms have been refinished, and a shower installed in the men's restroom.

Two new large air conditioning units have been installed on an elevated platform, and new ducts have been put in to distribute air. These may be used for heating in the winter months. A new tile floor will be installed.

Outside new shutters have been added and the building given

Martin County Farmers Use New Irrigation Plan

STANTON — Martin County farmers have been credited with a new irrigation plan which is sweeping the South Plains.

This is a water collecting system whereby the farmer pumps two or more small wells into a large tank. From this tank he then pumps the collected water through a main line to the sprinkler units.

Several of these have been installed in the county. The first one was used on the I. G. Peters farm last year, and since then additional units have been installed by Melvin Graves, Eddie Cook, Sam Wilkerson, Curtis Ervin and several other farmers.

The owners have found that oil-field tanks are ideal for this purpose. The oil tank companies have furnished and installed these tanks at prices ranging from $200 to $300 each. The size is planned so that the tank will hold 30 minutes to an hour's supply of water.

The main advantage to this system, according to the owners, is that two or three small wells can be combined to furnish a larger head of water. Instead of watering two or three small blocks of land, the owner can irrigate one larger field. The only extra costs are the price of the tank and an additional motor, which is used to push the water from the reservoir into the sprinkler line.

This cost is offset, however, by a saving in labor and in being able to irrigate more acres in a single field.

Road Work Is Started

STANTON — Construction work has been started on the widening of State Highway 137 from where it leaves U.S. 80 west of Stanton and goes to Andrews Highway 12 miles north. This road, which leads to Lamesa, has already been widened from the Andrews Highway intersection to the county line just north of Flower Grove.

The work is being done by the state, according to County Judge Jim McCoy. No extra right-of-way was needed, he said, and the entire cost is being borne by the state.

McCoy says the commissioners' court will ask for extra allotments so that more farm-to-market roads can be built. He and the commissioners are scheduled to meet with the Railroad Commission in Austin April 30 to discuss this request.

"We have no definite area in mind," the judge said, "but there are several areas where we need paved roads."

Several existing roads have deteriorated, he said, with pavement chipping off the sides and some buckling in places. This work must wait awhile, however, since the state will not share the cost of road repairs unless some additional right-of-way is asked.

More Paving For Stanton

STANTON — Within the next year or two Stanton can likely claim the honor of having the most pavement of any little city in West Texas. Much work has already been done, and now another 16 blocks are under construction.

Originally the city had planned to pave 77 units or blocks in the near future, according to City Secretary M. H. White. Three of these blocks have been taken off the list because of drainage problems, but the city has an extra 21 blocks under consideration which will be added to the total. If all the proposed paving is completed, the town would add 95 new blocks.

The new paving will vary from 37' to 41 feet in width. Construction work is being done by the H. G. Counts and Co. of Midland. The city is laying six-inch water lines ahead of the paving, since much of the pipe will be covered with concrete, White said.

Another part of the paving program will be drainage installations across US 80 at points where water flows through town into the lake. The Texas Highway Department has already scheduled shipment of material to put in these drainage units, but no timetable for the work has been set.

Spring Brings New Supply Of Rattlers

By SAM BLACKBURN

It is spring again in Howard County and the annual appearance of snakes is developing. Local herpetologists—experts on snakes—report that there are many reptiles on the move.

These are risky times to walk carelessly through tall weeds or brushy country. You may hear a dry rattling sound from behind a rock or see a vague gray shape slithering through the tall weeds.

You may see or hear these things but it could be too late. You could already have been snake bitten before you even knew you were in danger.

Two persons have already been bitten by snakes this spring. Fortunately both survived but there is always a grim possibility that the next victim may not be so fortunate.

A young girl was bitten by a snake early this spring as she walked along the shore of Moss Creek Lake. About two weeks ago, a Latin-American farm worker from Knott community was bitten as he worked at his job.

Snake experts do not believe that this year's crop of snakes will be quite as big as the record one of last year but they are convinced from early checks that there are still an abundance of the things in the country.

DANGEROUS SEASON
They also point out that this is about the most dangerous season for snakes. Not only are the reptiles harder to see, due to the lack of greenery, but their poison is particularly powerful when they first emerge from winter hibernation.

The Texas Almanac says there are 15 varieties of poisonous snakes in Texas. There are nine varieties of the rattlesnake, four species of the copperhead, two kinds of coral snakes, and one species of water moccasin.

This particular part of the state, insofar as local snake students can determine, has but one poisonous snake—the Western Diamond Back Rattler. However, the Diamond Back is the most vicious and dangerous of all the rattlers, and, in this country, he is certainly most abundant.

Rattlesnake hunters such as Alex Walker Jr., Bob Bad, Dalton Carr, Lefty Lomax and others frequently find rattlesnake dens which yield as many as 40 snakes. The climate seems well suited to the big Diamond Backs—they grow to king-sized dimensions here.

Only a few days ago, Carr, Lomax, Truett Thomas, Dr. Bruce Sanders and Fred Thomas killed a Diamond Back on the Modesta Simpson ranch north of Big Spring which was almost record size.

The big reptile measured more than five feet six inches in length and was over three inches in diameter. The skin, which Carr and Lomax saved, is more than six feet long and spreads out to a width of at least nine inches in the midsection. This snake was dull gray in color.

INDUSTRIOUS
Probably the most industrious rattlesnake killer in the county is Alex Walker Jr., a farmer who lives at 1700 Harvard. He has killed 160 rattlesnakes since November and counts it a pretty dull week when he doesn't kill four or five.

He said one of the best hunting grounds for snake dens used to be on Wild Horse Creek, northeast of Big Spring, but that hunters, like himself, have thinned out the population sharply. There are still plenty of snakes on the Buchanan ranch, he said.

There is one big den, he believes, on his mother's farm about 7½ miles northeast of Cosden Refinery. He plans to hit that den pretty soon.

The best haul he says he ever made out of one den was 25. "We find the den," he explains, "and we take a long piece of garden hose and thrust it in the hole. Then we pour gasoline down the hose.

It is all very well for those who like to hunt snakes as these fellows do, one expert on reptiles said, but the ordinary person should be extremely cautious in all his dealings with rattlesnakes.

GO AWAY
"If you come upon a snake," said this man, "simply turn and go away. Anyone can outrun a snake."

He also warned the old belief is fallacious that if you "freeze" when you come upon a snake and stand perfectly still it makes you safe from attack.

"Experience has shown," he said, "that body heat rather than movement will attract the snake. Once again, the best idea is to get away from there."

There's nothing to the old theory that a snake has to be coiled before he can strike, a snake can strike from any position, basking, eating, or in the act of drinking.

There are a large number of harmless snakes in this part of Texas. Indeed, only 16 of the 100 species of snakes the state has are poisonous.

The Diamond Back can be readily recognized. In the first place, there is a good chance he has rattles. And if he has rattles, he will sound them when disturbed.

His color varies. He can be chalky white or he can be dull red. He has alternate white and black rings along the tail and brown diamond shaped markings along his back.

SERUMS
Fortunately science has developed serums now which are widely available and which insure that most victims of snake bite will not die. However, speed is an issue and the victim of a rattlesnake bite should be taken to a doctor as quickly as possible. Standard first aid for snake bite including the proper application of a tourniquet between the puncture and the heart, should be carried out as an added precaution.

Regarding old Diamond Back, the experts say that not only is he the most common reptile hereabouts, he is also the most dangerous of poisonous snakes of Texas. He has a foul temper, too, and usually a furious disposition which causes him to strike rather than to escape when approached.

Commissioners To Open Road Bids Monday

Howard County Commissioners Court will open bids Monday morning for 11 miles of new paving on county roads and 16 miles of seal coating on paved roads.

Contractors have been asked to submit bids to hard surface five miles on the Center Point road; four miles on the Vealmoor to Gay Hill road; one mile from US 87 to the new Catholic church; and one mile on Allendale and Cindy Lane streets in the Worth Peeler addition.

Sealcoating is to be placed on five miles of the Wasson road; three miles of the Moore road; one-half mile on the Knott road; 1½ miles on the Driver road; one-half mile on the Eason nursery road, one-half mile on the Foran road and five miles on the Moss Creek Lake Road.

Work can be started almost immediately on all of the jobs. The new roads, which are to be topped, are ready for the contractor to move in. The roads in need of sealcoating can be started at once.

Topping roads with asphalt cannot be successfully carried out if the weather is not consistently around 80 degrees. The temperature the past few weeks has hovered steadily at that mark.

VA Hospital Men To Lubbock

Representative from the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital were in Lubbock Friday attending the regional rehabilitation clinic for service officers.

Taking part in a panel discussion today were V. J. Belda, hospital director; Dr. Charles H. Miller Jr., admitting physician; and Bob Waters, assistant registrar. The topic for the discussion was "Hospitalization, Medical and Dental Treatment."

J. D. Henderson, state service officer, was present at both days of the two-day session which started Thursday.

The clinic was conducted at the Veterans Administration Office in Lubbock by the Texas Veterans Affairs Commission and various veterans organizations. Also co-sponsoring was the Veterans County Service Officers Association of Texas.

Grand Jury Indicts Three

COLORADO CITY (SC) — A Mitchell County grand jury returned three indictments Friday at Colorado City and adjourned until May 3rd.

Wendell Blaine Dodson, Colorado City, was reindicted for assault with intent to murder, in connection with an alleged incident on Oct. 22, 1961, when he is accused of hitting Marvin Robertson with a toy ball bat.

Wayne Simon, 23, Loraine, was charged with burglarizing the Griffin Truck and Tractor Co. on Jan. 31, 1962 and taking approximately $200.

Bobby Gene Dossey, Colorado City, was charged with DWI second offense.

Stabbed To Death

PORT ARTHUR (AP)—Mary Segal, 27, of Port Arthur was stabbed to death Friday night at a tavern. A man was held.

quest between the puncture and the heart, should be carried out as an added precaution.

Regarding old Diamond Back, the experts say that not only is he the most common reptile hereabouts, he is also the most dangerous of poisonous snakes of Texas. He has a foul temper, too, and usually a furious disposition which causes him to strike rather than to escape when approached.

MEN IN SERVICE

Commendation Medal

Capt. Ralph L. Brooks (left) of El Paso, receives the Air Force Commendation Medal from Brigadier General Boyd Hubbard Jr., 4520th Combat Crew Training Wing commander, in a ceremony at Nellis AFB, Nev. Capt. Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Brooks, El Paso, received the medal for meritorious service as academic supervisor of the USAF Fighter Weapons School at Nellis AFB. The captain, presently right wingman of the Thunderbirds, attended Hardin-Simmons University. He and his wife, the former Lynelle Blum, 1901 Alabama, Big Spring, have four children.

Private James Corcoran, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Corcoran, 109 NE 9th, has arrived for a tour of duty in Korea. He is now with a combat support company, First Battle Group of the 31st Infantry, as assistant gunner with a 4.2 mortar squadron. Corcoran completed his basic training at Fort Carson, Colo.

Airman S.C. Thomas Lennahan, 17, son of Mrs. Myrtle E. Lennahan, 2901 Hamilton, completed the food service course at the Army Quartermaster School, Fort Lee, Va., April 6. During the eight-week course Lennahan received instruction in cooking, baking, meat cutting and was trained to operate a field kitchen.

He entered the Air Force last November and completed basic training at Lackland Air Force Base. He is a 1961 graduate of Big Spring High School and was employed by Wilders Funeral Chapel before entering the Air Force.

PVT. JAMES CORCORAN

and Mrs. Tom S. Hassey of 1435 Park Ter., Albany, Ore., has received a Strategic Air Command spot promotion to first lieutenant in the Air Force. Lt. Hassey is assigned to the 825th Bomb Squadron here as a B-52 pilot.

The lieutenant, a graduate of Albany Union High School, is married to the former Carolyn K. Dimpfl, 1401 Park Ave., Big Spring.

Army Pvt. Ronnie E. Burks, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Burks, 500 Owens, completed eight weeks of military police training at The Provost Marshal General Center, Fort Gordon, Ga., April 6. Burks received instruction in self defense, traffic control and the basic procedures of civil and military law. He entered the Army last November and completed basic training at Fort Carson, Colo. He is a 1957 graduate of Big Spring High School and attended Howard County Junior College.

High Cost For Getting High

A Big Spring man learned Friday that one or two drinks sometimes are expensive.

He was released from the city jail after paying a fine for discharging firearms in the city when he reportedly shot a hole in the ceiling of a house. Officers said he had to be subdued. Once in the receiving tank at the pokey, he tore out plumbing and was billed for this.

Officers went to the house at 1 a.m. Friday in response to a call by a neighbor. They called for help when they learned the man was armed with a .30 calibre rifle and a 12-gauge shotgun. After the rifle was discharged, three officers took the man to jail.

Grass Stripping Is Effective In Controlling Wind Erosion

By M. A. WEBB

Proper grass stripping for controlling wind erosion in skip-row cotton planting has been proved effective in research tests made at the Big Spring Field Station. Dr. Jim Box, superintendent, said that in recent tests with the wind tunnel several of the skip-row systems used on the station reduced soil losses from wind erosion to less than five tons per acre per year.

Man-Made Wind

"Soil losses below this amount are not visible to the human eye," Dr. Box said. "A faint 'dust haze' in the air indicates that soil losses are greater than five tons per acre. Although soil losses below five tons per acre are considered insignificant, losses should be kept below this amount if possible."

The wind tunnel was developed by Dr. W. S. Schepel, an authority on wind erosion. He is stationed with the U.S. Department of Agriculture at Manhattan, Kansas.

Dr. Box, in telling of research done at the field station in Big Spring, said Plains Bristle grasses were planted in various skip-row cotton plantings to determine their effectiveness.

TWOFOLD DAMAGE
"Damage by wind erosion is twofold," he said. "The more productive portion of the soil is removed by the wind, and the remaining portion is more susceptible to later erosion. Thus, as wind erosion continues, the soil becomes less productive and progressively more susceptible to wind erosion. Therefore, research on wind erosion control is one of the more important activities of the station."

"Recently the wind tunnel was used to test a number of systems for their effectiveness in controlling wind erosion. In these systems, one, two or four rows of Plains Bristle grass were planted

This wind tunnel, developed by Dr. J. W. Chepliff of Manhattan, Kans., is used to determine the effectiveness of grass stripping on cotton planted in skip rows. The portable tunnel was recently demonstrated on the Big Spring Experiment Station's farm and showed grass stripping to be practical in cotton farming.

In various skip-row cotton plantings. The areas in the systems in either cotton or fallow are unprotected after cotton harvest and are dependent upon the grass rows for wind erosion protection.

The ratio of grass rows to cotton-fallow rows tested in the systems," he continued, "were varied from 1:2 through 4:8. Standard cotton in 40-inch rows were also tested.

"Soil loss was less than five tons per acre on the 1:2 through 4:4 systems. Losses were close to seven tons per acre on the 1:3 through 4:8 systems. The highest soil loss was on the 2:10 system. The first figure represents grass

City Dads To Consider Ordinances

The city commission, meeting at the new time, 7 p.m. next Tuesday, will consider several items, including three ordinances, discussion of a contract on lowering a 14-inch water line to Moss Creek Lake across property owned by Lloyd Curley, and other problems.

The commission will also hold a meeting Wednesday at 7 p.m. at Cosden Country Club, with Webb Air Force Base officials, regarding utility rates.

An emergency ordinance abandoning and closing a portion of East Sixteenth Street from the west line of Princeton to the east line of Virginia, will be considered. Only one reading will be necessary on this ordinance. The city will close the street because the city's water treatment plant pipe system is on both sides and under the street.

An ordinance amending the zoning ordinance to change property at the intersection of Wasson Road and Parkway Road from 1F-2 - residential, to NS-Neighborhood Service, will be read and considered.

A clarification ordinance declaring the status of alcoholic beverages sold for off - premises consumption in the city of Big Spring will be discussed. The clarification adds a new section under the present zoning for a Retail District.

The section reads: "The sale of alcoholic beverages sold for off - premises consumption is hereby permitted in any Retail District, Commercial District, Central Area District, Light Industry District, Heavy Industry District and the sale of alcoholic beverages for off - premises consumption is hereby expressly prohibited in the Single Family Districts, Duplex District, General Residence District, Multiple Family District, Parking District, Neighborhood Service District. Nothing herein shall be interpreted to permit the sale of alcoholic beverage for on - premises consumption under the zoning classification of this ordinance."

In the tests at the station, the cotton-fallow area was left level, the superintendent said, just as it would be after cotton harvest.

"It is not uncommon for damaging wind storms to occur before the land can be bedded. If the cotton-fallow area had been bedded, erosion losses could have been reduced even more. A number of systems could be devised which would result in a substantial reduction in wind erosion losses. These could be designed to fit a particular farm or farming situation.

"Other types of vegetative covering could be used in place of grass," Dr. Box said. "However, grass has an advantage over annual types of vegetation because it does not have to be planted each year. The use of grass in the skip-row cotton plantings is just one method of controlling wind erosion. Other methods of controlling loss are also being sought in the station's research."

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Local Fishermen Make Good Catch In The Gulf

By M. A. WEBB
A party of Big Spring fishermen enjoyed a big catch of Red Snappers about 60 miles out from Freeport Thursday. They fished about three hours and hauled in around 750 pounds of fish.

Twelve drove down in cars, leaving Sunday afternoon, and eight left Monday afternoon in two airplanes.

Dr. P. W. Malone, piloting Big Spring Aircraft's new Comanche, had C. O. Nalley, R. B. Reeder, and Dr. W. A. Hunt as passengers. Clyde McMahon, pilot, with J. D. Jones, J. D. Elliott, and Clyde Angel, flew down in the McMahon airplane.

Going in cars were Wyatt Eason, Hugh Duncan, H. M. Rainbolt, Mr. and Mrs. Garner, Adams, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Atkins, Joe Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Boone Horn, and Dr. Robert Angel.

"We had a little excitement while there," Reeder said, "but I don't think any of us ever enjoyed fishing any more. Two of the men hooked fish weighing from 10 to 12 pounds and a shark, or barracuda, cut them in half as they were being reeled in. "Then Clyde Angel hooked what appeared to be about a seven-foot sailfish. The fish dived under the boat and tangled with two other lines, then made a run which skidded the brakes on Angel's reel. The fish came up in the air and made a big dive which snapped the line. It was fun watching it but a lot of work was done in a few minutes trying to land that fish," Reeder said. "We were fishing in about 80 feet of water, on the bottom."

The party returned to Big Spring Friday.

Not too much heavy aircraft flying was done in and out of Howard County Airport this week, but a lot of private and club flying was reported, Howard Lloyd said.

Cabot Carbon's D-18 Twin Beech flew in on business this week. Curly Beard of B&D Electric Co., who is taking pilot training, did a dual cross country in Big Spring Aircraft's Colt this week. He, with Lloyd as instructor, flew to Panther Junction in the Big Bend where the company has a project going.

Webb Aero Club's Colt had some activity, with Sgt. Thomas DewLearn making his first solo to Sequin and back; Airman Alan O. Weismantle has been active and will soon be up to get his private license; Mrs. Mary Lou Moech will also try for her license soon. The club's Cessna 150, a new airplane, was used by Capt. Charles R. Lilly, student; S. Sgt. R. D. Jones, student; Airman J.C. Ernie Marks, who will soon be ready for his license; Airman Tim Archuleta, student, and S.

Entire Family Helps Pool In Congressional Effort

Joe Pool of Dallas is one individual who wishes the Easter holidays could continue until May 5.

Pool, who served four terms in the Texas House of Representatives, is seeking the Democratic nomination for Congressman at large.

During the holidays, the entire Pool clan is helping out. Friday they came to Big Spring with Richard, 19, a student in SMU, and Wesley, 11, a sixth grader, as advance crew. Hard on their heels were Pool, his wife, Elizabeth, and two other sons, John, 9, and Joe Jr., 6. While he made his contacts, Mrs. Pool and the two younger boys were passing out cards and drumming up votes.

Joe, said Pool, was his star salesman. When one woman told him she couldn't vote for his father because she wasn't in his district, he replied, "But lady, this is a statewide race." She explained she was from Oklahoma, and said Pool, "you should have seen his face."

As a law student, Pool served in the House. Later he was a law partner of now District Judge J. Frank Wilson in Dallas. He operated a manufacturing business in Houston until 1943, when he entered the army. In 1947 he organized Alden Mills Co., of which he is president. He served as chairman of the House investigating committee and authored the

Hereford Breeders Elect New Officers

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Rancher Sam Thompson, Colorado City, was elected president of the Mitchell County Hereford Breeder's Association Friday night at the Cattleman Cafe. Dub Harkrider, Big Spring, is outgoing president. Other officers include Kelly Treadway, first vice president; Buddy Logsdon, treasurer; and Gus Chesney, treasurer. The 1963 Hereford sale was set for Jan. 8, 1963 at the County's Livestock Barn west of Colorado City. Francis Winn was appointed to head a committee to study the possibility of a "Hereford tour" in the West Texas area.

The group voted to invite Bill Reed, Sterling City, to judge the sale animals and selected Lee Reed, Sterling City, as alternate.

By SAM BLACKBURN

It is spring again in Howard County and the annual appearance of snakes is developing. Local herpetologists—experts on snakes—report that there are many reptiles on the move.

These are risky times to walk carelessly through tall weeds or brushy country. You may hear a dry rattling sound from behind a rock or see a vague gray shape slithering through the tall weeds. Two persons have already been bitten by snakes this spring. Fortunately both survived but there is always a grim possibility that the next victim may not be so fortunate.

A young girl was bitten by a snake early this spring as she walked along the shore of Moss Creek Lake. About two weeks ago, a Latin-American farm worker from Knott community was bitten as he worked at his job.

Snake experts do not believe that this year's crop of snakes will be quite as big as the record one of last year but they are convinced from early checks that there are still an abundance of the things in the country.

DANGEROUS SEASON
They also point out that this is about the most dangerous season for snakes. Not only are the reptiles harder to see, due to the lack of greenery, but their poison is particularly powerful when the first emerge from winter hibernation.

The Texas Almanac says there are 15 varieties of poisonous snakes in Texas. There are nine varieties of the rattlesnake, four species of the copperhead, two kinds of coral snakes, and one species of water moccasin.

This particular part of the state, insofar as local snake students can determine, has but one poisonous snake—the Western Diamond Back Rattler. However, the Diamond Back is the most vicious and dangerous of all the rattlers, and, in this country, he is certainly most abundant.

Rattlesnake hunters such as Alex Walker Jr., Bob Beal, Dalton Carr, Lefty Lomax and others frequently find rattlesnake dens which yield as many as 40 snakes. The climate seems well suited to the big Diamond Backs—they grow to king-sized dimensions here.

Only a few days ago, Carr, Lomax, Truett Thomas, Dr. Bruce Sanders and Fred Thomas killed a Diamond Back on the Modesta Simpson ranch north of Big Spring which was almost record size.

The big reptile measured more than five feet six inches in length and was over three inches in diameter. The skin, which Carr and Lomax saved, is more than six feet long and spreads out to a width of at least nine inches in the midsection. This snake was dull gray in color.

INDUSTRIOUS
Probably the most industrious rattlesnake killer in the county is Alex Walker Jr., a farmer who lives at 1700 Harvard. He has killed 160 rattlesnakes since November and counts it a pretty dull week when he doesn't kill four or five.

He said one of the best hunting grounds for snake dens used to be on Wild Horse Creek, northeast of Big Spring, but that hunters, like himself, have thinned out the population sharply. There are still plenty of snakes on the Buchanan ranch, he said.

There is one big den, he believes, on his mother's farm about 7 1/2 miles northeast of Cosden Refinery. He plans to hit that den pretty soon.

The best haul he says he ever made out of one den was 33. "We find the den," he explains, "and we take a long piece of garden hose and thrust it in the hole. Then we pour gasoline down the hose."

"The hunters have to be quiet. If they don't the snakes will come to the surface, stick their heads out and then go back in the den. If everyone stays real quiet they will come out of the den and you can kill them easy."

He has never been bitten by a snake and doesn't have too much fear of the pests.

Carr tells of an instance when he nearly got bitten. He was walking in the pasture and heard a rattle. He could not immediately locate the snake and while he was seeking it a low flying jet passed overhead and drowned out the rattle of the reptile. Then he saw the snake scurrying through the grass just a few inches from his feet.

It is all very well for those who like to hunt snakes as these fellows do, one expert on reptiles said, but the ordinary person should be extremely cautious in all his dealings with rattlesnakes.

GO AWAY
"If you come upon a snake," said this man, "simply turn and go away. Anyone can outrun a snake."

He also warned the old belief is fallacious that if you "freeze" when you come upon a snake and stand perfectly still it makes you safe from attack.

"Experience has shown," he said, "that body heat rather than movement will attract the snake. Once again, the best idea is to get away from there."

There's nothing to the old theory that a snake has to be coiled before he can strike. A snake can strike from any position.

There are a large number of harmless snakes in this part of Texas. Indeed, only 16 of the 100 species of snakes the state has are poisonous.

The Diamond Back can be readily recognized. In the first place, there is a good chance he has rattles. And if he has rattles, he will sound them when disturbed.

His color varies. He can be chalky white or he can be dull red. He has alternate white and black rings along the tail and brown diamond shaped markings along his back.

SERUMS
Fortunately science has developed serums now which are widely available and which insure that most victims of snake bite will not die. However, speed is an issue and the victim of a rattlesnake bite should be taken to a doctor as quickly as possible. Standard first aid for snake bite including the proper application of a tourniquet between the puncture and the heart, should be carried out as an added precaution.

Regarding old Diamond Back, the experts say that not only is he the most common reptile hereabouts, he is also the most dangerous of poisonous snakes of Texas. He has a foul temper, too, and usually a furious disposition which causes him to strike rather than to escape when approached.

Commissioners To Open Road Bids Monday

Howard County Commissioners Court will open bids Monday morning for 11 miles of new paving on county roads and 16 miles of seal coating on paved roads.

Contractors have been asked to submit bids to hard surface five miles on the Center Point road; four miles on the Vealmoor to Gay Hill road; one mile from US 87 to the new Catholic church; and one mile on Allendale and Cindy Lane streets in the Worth Peeler addition.

Sealcoating is to be placed on five miles of the Wesson road; three miles of the Moore road; one-half mile on the Knott road; 1 1/2 miles on the Driver road; one-half mile on the Eason nursery road, one-half mile on the Foran road and five miles on the Moss Creek Lake Road.

Work can be started almost immediately on all of the jobs. The new roads, which are to be topped, are ready for the contractor to move in. The roads in need of sealcoating can be started at once.

Topping roads with asphalt cannot be successfully carried out if the weather is not consistently around 80 degrees. The temperature the past few weeks has hovered steadily at that mark.

VA Hospital Men To Lubbock

Representative from the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital were in Lubbock Friday attending the regional rehabilitation clinic for service officers.

Taking part in a panel discussion today were V. J. Belda, hospital director; Dr. Charles H. Miller Jr., admitting physician; and Bob Waters, assistant registrar. The topic for the discussion was "Hospitalization, Medical and Dental Treatment."

J. D. Henderson, state service officer, was present at both days of the two-day session which started Thursday.

The clinic was conducted at the Veterans Administration Office in Lubbock by the Texas Veterans Affairs Commission and various veteran organizations. Also co-sponsoring was the Veterans County Service Officers Association of Texas.

Grand Jury Indicts Three

COLORADO CITY (SC) — A Mitchell County grand jury returned three indictments Friday at Colorado City and adjourned until May 3rd.

Wendell Blaine Dodson, Colorado City, was indicted for assault with intent to murder, in connection with an alleged incident on Oct. 22, 1961, when he is accused of hitting Marvin Robertson with a toy ball bat.

Wayne Simon, 23, Lorraine, was charged with burglarizing the Griffin Truck and Tractor Co. on Jan. 31, 1962 and taking approximately $200.

Bobby Gene Dossey, Colorado City, was charged with DWI second offense.

High Cost For Getting High

A Big Spring man learned Friday that one or two drinks sometimes are expensive.

He was released from the city jail after paying a fine for discharging firearms in the city when he reportedly shot a hole in the ceiling of a house. Officers said he had to be subdued. Once in the receiving tank at the pokey, he tore out plumbing and was billed for this.

Officers went to the house at 1 a.m. Friday in response to a call by a neighbor. They called for help when they learned the man was armed with a .30 calibre rifle and a 12-gauge shotgun. After the rifle was discharged, three officers took the man to jail.

Grass Stripping Is Effective In Controlling Wind Erosion

By M. A. WEBB
Proper grass stripping for controlling wind erosion in skip-row cotton planting has been proved effective in research tests made at the Big Spring Field Station. Dr. Jim Box, superintendent, said that in recent tests with the wind tunnel several of the skip-row systems used on the station reduced soil losses from wind erosion to less than five tons per acre per year.

Man-Made Wind

"Soil losses below this amount are not visible to the human eye," Dr. Box said. "A faint 'dust haze' in the air indicates that soil losses are greater than five tons per acre. Although soil losses below five tons per acre are considered insignificant, losses should be kept below this amount if possible."

The wind tunnel was developed by Dr. W. S. Schepel, an authority on wind erosion. He is stationed with the U.S. Department of Agriculture at Manhattan, Kansas.

Dr. Box, in telling of research done at field station in Big Spring, said Plains Bristle grass was planted in various skip-row cotton plantings to determine their effectiveness.

TWOFOLD DAMAGE
"Damage by wind erosion is twofold," he said. "The more productive portion of the soil is removed by the wind, and the remaining portion is more susceptible to later erosion. Thus, as wind erosion continues, the soil becomes less productive and progressively more susceptible to wind erosion. Therefore, research on wind erosion control is one of the more important activities of the station."

"Recently the wind tunnel was used to test a number of systems for their effectiveness in controlling wind erosion. In these systems, one, two, or four rows of Plains Bristle grass were planted

This wind tunnel, developed by Dr. J. W. Chepil of Manhattan, Kans., is used to determine the effectiveness of grass stripping on cotton planted in skip rows. The portable tunnel was recently demonstrated on the Big Spring Experiment Station's farm and showed grass stripping to be practical in cotton farming.

In various skip-row cotton plantings. The areas in the systems in either cotton or fallow are unprotected after cotton harvest and are dependent upon the grass rows for wind erosion protection.

The ratio of grass rows to cotton - fallow rows tested in the systems," he continued, "were: varied from 1:2 through 4:8. Standard cotton in 40-inch rows were also tested.

"Soil loss was less than five tons per acre on the 1:2 through 4:4 systems. Losses were close to seven tons per acre on the 1:3 through 4:3 systems. The highest soil loss was on the 2:10 system. The first figure represents grass

City Dads To Consider Ordinances

The city commission, meeting at the new time, 7 p.m. next Tuesday, will consider several items, including three ordinances, discussion of a contract on lowering a 14-inch water line to Moss Creek Lake across property owned by Lloyd Curley, and other problems.

The commission will also hold a meeting Wednesday at 7 p.m. at Cosden Country Club, with Webb Air Force Base officials, regarding utility rates.

An emergency ordinance abandoning and closing a portion of East Sixteenth Street from the west line of Princeton to the east line of Virginia, will be considered. Only one reading will be necessary on this ordinance. The city will close the street because the city's water treatment plant pipe system is on both sides and under the street.

An ordinance amending the zoning ordinance to change property at the intersection of Wasson Road and Parkway Road from 1F2 - residential, to NS-Neighborhood Service, will be read and considered.

A clarification ordinance declaring the status of alcoholic beverages sold for off - premises consumption in the city of Big Spring will be discussed. The clarification adds a new section under the present zoning for a Retail District.

The section reads:

"The sale of alcoholic beverages sold for off - premises consumption is hereby permitted in any Retail District, Commercial District, Central Area District, Light Industry District, Heavy Industry District and the sale of alcoholic beverages for off - premises consumption is hereby expressly prohibited in the Single Family Districts, Duplex District, General Residence District, Multiple Family District, Parking District, Neighborhood Service District. Nothing herein shall be interpreted to permit the sale of alcoholic beverage for on - premises consumption under the zoning classification of this ordinance."

Stock Split Voted

Stockholders of Zale Jewelry Company have approved a two for one split of the common stock and Class B common stock during a special stockholders meeting in Dallas. The dividend rate on the split shares has been set at 60 cents per share, an increase of 20 per cent compared to the old rate of $1 per share before the split. Distribution of the additional shares will be made on or about May 15, to shareholders of record May 11.

Dentists Will Gather In Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—About 3,500 dentists, their wives, technicians, manufacturers, suppliers, assistants and hygienists are expected to attend the 82nd annual session of the Texas Dental Association April 29 to May 2. The meeting will be at the Statler-Hilton Hotel and Dallas Memorial Auditorium. Rodney Mitchell, chairman or arrangements, said Saturday.

HOUSTON (AP)—Bessie Shelton, 41, was killed by a .22 caliber rifle at her home Saturday. Police held a man, 47.

Entire Family Helps Pool In Congressional Effort

Joe Pool of Dallas is one individual who wishes the Easter holidays could continue until May 5.

Pool, who served four terms in the Texas House of Representatives, is seeking the Democratic nomination for Congressman at large.

During the holidays, the entire Pool clan is helping out. Friday he came to Big Spring with Richard, 19, a student in SMU, and Wesley, 11, a sixth grader, as advance crew. Hard on their heels were Pool, his wife, Elizabeth, and two other sons, John, 9, and Joe Jr., 6. While he made his contacts, Mrs. Pool and the two younger boys were passing out cards and drumming up votes.

Joe, said Pool, was his star salesman. When one woman told him she couldn't vote for his father because she wasn't in his district, he replied: "But lady, this is a statewide race." She explained she was from Oklahoma, and said Pool, "you should have seen his face."

As a law student, Pool served in the House. Later he was a law partner of now District Judge J. Frank Wilson in Dallas. He operated a manufacturing business in Houston until 1943, when he entered the army. In 1947 he organized Alden Mills Co., of which he is president. He served as chairman of the House investigating committee and authored the

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Rancher Sam Thompson, Colorado City, was elected president of the Mitchell County Hereford Breeder's Association Friday night at the Cattleman Cafe. Dub Harkrider, Big Spring, is outgoing president. Other officers include Kelly Treadway, first vice president; Buddy Lagson, treasurer; and Gus Chesney, treasurer.

The 1963 Hereford sale was set for Jan. 3, 1963 at the County's Livestock Barn west of Colorado City. Francis Winn was appointed to head a committee to study the possibility of a "Hereford tour" in the West Texas area.

The group voted to invite Bill Reed, Sterling City, to judge the sale animals and selected Lee Reed, Sterling City, as an alternate.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Local Fishermen Make Good Catch In The Gulf

By M. A. WEBB
A party of Big Spring fishermen enjoyed a big catch of Red Snappers about 60 miles out from Freeport Thursday. They fished about three hours and hauled in around 750 pounds of fish.

Twelve drove down in cars, leaving Sunday afternoon, and eight left Monday afternoon in two airplanes.

Dr. P. W. Malone, piloting Big Spring Aircraft's new Comanche, had C. O. Nalley, R. B. Reeder, and Dr. W. A. Hunt as passengers. Clyde McMahon, pilot, with J. D. Jones, J. D. Elliott, and Clyde Angel, flew down in the McMahon airplane.

Going in cars were Wyatt Eason, Hugh Duncan, H. M. Rainbolt, Mr. and Mrs. Garner McAdams, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Atkins, Joe Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Boone Horn, and Dr. Robert Angel.

"We had a little excitement while there," Reeder said, "but I don't think any of us ever enjoyed fishing any more. Two of the men hooked a fish weighing from 19 to 22 pounds and a shark, or barracuda, cut them in half as they were being reeled in."

"Then Clyde Angel hooked what appeared to be about a seven-foot sailfish. The fish dived under the boat and tangled with two other lines, then made a run which skidded the brakes on Angel's reel. The fish came up in the air and made a big dive which snapped the line. It was fun watching it but a lot of work was done in a few minutes trying to land that fish," Reeder said. "We were fishing in about 80 feet of water, on the bottom."

The party returned to Big Spring Friday.

Not too much heavy aircraft flying was done in and out of Howard County Airport this week, but a lot of private and club flying was reported, Howard Lloyd said.

Cabot Carbon's D-18 Twin Beech flew in on business this week.

Curly Beard of B&D Electric Co., who is taking pilot training, did a dual cross country in Big Spring Aircraft's Colt this week. He, with Lloyd as instructor, flew to Panther Junction in the Big Bend where the company has a project going.

Webb Aero Club's Colt had some activity, with Sgt. Thomas Dowlearn making his first solo to Seguin and back; Airman Alan O. Weismantle has been active and will soon be up to get his private license; Mrs. Mary Lou Moech will also try for her license soon.

The club's Cessna 150, a new airplane, was used by Capt. Charles R. Lilly, student; Sgt. R. D. Jones, student; Airman I.C. Ernie Marks, who will soon be ready for his license; Airman Tim Archuleta, student, and S.

Candidates Have Just Two Weeks

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Staff Writer

If you have a favorite political candidate, you better check his temperature during the Easter holiday.

Upset fever and dark horse messes are spreading fast among Texas political corps. Not to mention an outbreak of financial flu which is particularly virulent among would-be office holders.

Sunday marks the beginning of the final two weeks of voter-chasing before the May 5 primaries. The date also brings up the old political adage:

"If you haven't got it made two weeks before election time, you haven't got it made." A determined attack by a political opponent in the final two weeks may not leave time for counterattack before the balloting.

Actually, voting already is going on. Casting of absentee ballots ends May 1.

Up to now the so-called political experts, opinion polls and voter samplings have been fairly consistent in forecasting the three hot races for governor, lieutenant governor and attorney general.

DANIEL AND CONNALLY?

These gazers into the political crystal ball don't always see the same things but a consensus of predictions points toward Gov. Price Daniel and John Connally as leading the governor's race, James Turman ahead in the lieutenant governor's chase, and Waggoner Carr as the current top man in the attorney general's campaign.

But the forecasters will sleep uneasy until the ballots are counted two weeks from now.

Some questions that will disturb dreams include the effect a voters of Will Wilson's "conflict-of-interest" charges against Daniel and Connally, Wilson's six courts of inquiry into the affairs of West Texas financier Billie Sol Estes, Connally's prediction he can cut state operation costs 10 per cent. Daniel's close tie with statewide anti-horse race betting organizations, Edwin Walker's appearance before a congressional committee, Tom James' and Waggoner Carr's dispute over a 1960 House vice probe, and Jarrard Secrest's charge that James Turman helped backers of a horse race betting bill on election eve.

The list will grow during the next two weeks.

James called a news conference Monday in Dallas where he will air new charges against Carr. Don Yarborough has a 25-station TV speech Monday night. Wilson says he will discuss Daniel and Connally in one and maybe two more statewide television or radio speeches.

Daniel plans at least two more statewide television appeals, including one on election eve, May 4. Connally has statewide TV appearances set for April 26 and on May 4.

Then on May 6 the runoff races start, probably in all three campaigns.

THE WEEK

stickers—or without current driver licenses—were concerned.

Last autumn Jan Stockton of Foran was one of hundreds of Texas high school seniors who submitted essays on employing the handicapped. Last week it was disclosed that hers was ninth in state competition—a mighty impressive showing.

The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce is offering a $100 prize to the person who can come up with what is selected as the best slogan for the city—you know, something swifty like "Big Spring Has Everything." Get in on the fun, but please don't send that mousy one about "a better place in which to live."

Another sort of boosting was getting some support, too. Local business people had raised nearly $550 toward providing signs to steer traffic on to U.S. 80 at Weatherford and El Paso. In addition, communities may erect signs extolling their own resources.

We started to say another sure sign of spring was balking air conditioners, which were pressed into service after a winter's rest. However, politics was an even better barometer. The week brought visits from Gov. Price Daniel and Marshall Formby seeking the governor's office; Les Procter for attorney general; Joe Pool and Warren Moore for congressman-at-large; Otis, Dunagan for Court of Criminal Appeals.

Oil news for the week featured locations rather than discoveries. Ackert-Dean field got a pair of new tests as did the Coahoma field. Couden-Roden No. 1-A was spotted as an offset to a northwest Sterling Wolfcamp strike.

Best information is that the Big Spring High School Band's trip for a trip to the Seattle's World Fair is due to reach the $4,900 goal few projects are still to go and if they succeed, the staff is assured.

Two of three other sizable commercial projects are in the mill and might reach the announcement stage before long. Meanwhile there is a lot of excavating going on in town, and the College Parks shopping center is springing up as if by magic.

No Injuries In Accidents

Accidents investigated Friday by Big Spring police showed no injuries. The first happened at Third and Birdwell. Drivers of vehicles involved were Joe Rex Newham Sr., Rt. 1, and Donald Fred Tinkham, Fort Worth.

Locations of other accidents, and drivers involved, were: 105 W. 3rd, Estella H. Hernandez, 706 N. Goliad, and driver who left the scene; Third and Goliad, Alburn C. Kirkpatrick, 567 Bell, and Selgel Leroy Rogers, 404 Dallas; Fourth and Douglas, Don Lloyd Shirley, 1806 Benton, and Glenda Jean Deshazo, Odessa; 1909 Gregg, Paul Burnap, 416 Ryon, and Dale Bullough, 1600 Indian Hills; Second and Main, Desie Wheat, 1603 Sycamore, and Shirley Warren, 1602 E. 5th.

Fair Opens, Jet Crashes

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — "Let the fair begin!" announced President Kennedy in Palm Beach, Fla., and the Seattle World's Fair swung open to the public Saturday amid cheers and cannonading.

Excited crowds hailed the beginning of the Century 21 Exposition unaware that an Air Force jet fighter plane had crashed into a neighborhood just north of Seattle after flying over the opening ceremonies.

The F102 leveled two houses and damaged two others. Two persons were killed and one hospitalized. The pilot, Capt. Joseph D. Wildt, 33, Cincinnati, Ohio, was rescued unharmed after parachuting into Lake Washington. Officials at Paine Field, 20 miles north of where Wildt was stationed, said he lost control of his plane on the second fly-over.

Twelve thousand early arrivals crowded into Memorial Stadium to watch the opening festivities and hear President Kennedy in a telephoned message hall the opening of the first World's Fair in America in 22 years.

"What we show was achieved with great effort in the field of science, technology and industry," the President said.

"These accomplishments are a bridge to carry us completely toward the 21st century.

"Many nations have sent exhibits and will send their people. We welcome them. This exemplifies the spirit of peace and cooperation with which we approach the decades ahead. May we open not only a great World's Fair, but may we open an era of peace and understanding among all mankind."

Duke Cited For Saving Life Of George Harris

The National Safety Council President's Citation and medal was presented to David Duke at the Malone and Hogan Hospital Foundation Saturday morning.

The award was for saving the life of George S. Harris, with mouth to nose resuscitation, after Harris was knocked from the platform of a drilling rig by an electrical shock.

Duke is a porter at the hospital and witnessed the accident. He rushed to Harris and applied resuscitation. He is credited with saving Harris' life.

The citation and medal presentations are rare and as far as can be learned only one other has ever been presented to a Big Spring resident.

"I am not nervous," Duke said as he received the awards from Harris and Dr. J. E. Hogan, "but I am glad that Mr. Harris is able to be here and that I could have had a part in saving his life."

"It was due to fast thinking and fast action by Mr. Duke that Mr. Harris is able to be here," Dr. Hogan said. Mrs. Duke, who is a nurse at the hospital, and Mrs. Harris, wives of the two men, were present.

"I had made arrangements to be on my way to Houston this morning," Mrs. Duke said, "but I was happy to change my plans."

The incident for which Duke was honored occurred late in the afternoon of July 19, 1961.

India Reds Scrap Over Leadership

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Communist party of India opens a meeting here Sunday that could decide whether Indian Communists look to Moscow or Peking for leadership.

A struggle for supremacy is expected between two factions. One is the relatively moderate group, aligned with Moscow, that appears content for the time being to work through India's parliamentary system. A pro-Chinese group is inclined toward the tougher approach of fighting Prime Minister Nehru's government with strikes and even violence.

The party struggle will begin in an Executive Committee meeting and move Monday into a six-day meeting of the party's National Council. The result could be compromise.

Main business on the agenda is selection of a general secretary to succeed Ajoy Ghosh, a middle-of-the-road leader who died in January. Choice of his successor was delayed by the parliamentary elections in February and by intense maneuvering within the party since then.

In the February elections, the pro-Chinese faction of the party improved its position in its Calcutta stronghold. The group aligned with Moscow lost heavily in the Bombay area, its home territory, and its leader, S. A. Dange, failed to win re-election to Parliament.

Dange was the first important Indian Communist leader to accuse the Chinese of aggression when India's border dispute with her northern neighbor flared into

Rites Pend For John Morgan

COLORADO CITY (SC) — John Franklin Morgan, 33, a Colorado City contractor, died Saturday in Parkland Hospital, Dallas, after a long illness.

He was born Feb. 28, 1929, in Colorado City. He married Miss Ann Neely in Stephens, Ark., in 1948 and lived there until 1951 when he returned to Colorado City. He was a member of the Episcopal Church.

Funeral services are pending at Kiker and Son Funeral Home. Burial will be in Colorado City Cemetery.

Survivors are the widow, Mrs. Ann Morgan, Colorado City; his mother, Mrs. Annie Mary Morgan, Colorado City; his grandmother, Mrs. Frank Layton, Colorado City; three sons, Johnnie Morgan, Houston Morgan and Jimmie Morgan, and a daughter, Susanne Morgan, all of Colorado City; a brother, James B. Morgan; and sister, Mrs. Keith Lester, Stephens, Ark.

Floyd Lias Dies Saturday

Floyd Lias, 58, of Fort Worth, died at 4 a.m. Saturday in a Big Spring hospital after a short illness. He was a cook for the Texas & Pacific Railroad for 20 years.

His body was returned on T&P's No. 8 passenger train last night to Fort Worth for funeral services and burial. River Funeral Home was in charge of local arrangements.

Lias was born in Big Sandy Dec. 7, 1903. He had lived in Fort Worth for 20 years, and was a member of a Fort Worth Baptist Church.

Survivors are the widow, Mrs. Nevater Lias, Fort Worth; five brothers, Johnnie Lias, Phineas Lias, Paul Lias, all of Fort Worth, Tom Lias and Jesse Lias, both of Pottstown, Pa.; three sisters, Luvertha Lias, Fort Worth, Mrs. Sadie Lott, Gladewater, and Mrs. Margaret Jones, Los Angeles, Calif.

Proposes That Govt. Pay For Campaigning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., said Saturday he is drafting legislation under which the federal government would pay the cost of presidential campaigns.

Long said in a statement he thinks present methods of financing, in which large contributors play a major role, "are responsible for more than 50 per cent of all the evil in our form of government."

He said presidential candidates "cannot finance the campaigns themselves, and they have to take money where they can get it."

"When people contribute those fantastic amounts which are not tax deductible, they expect tremendous things in return. If that kind of evil in government is to be stopped, the government must pay the legitimate campaign expenditures of those who run for president," Long added.

Long said he does not believe recent recommendations of the President's Commission on Campaign Costs meet the problem.

The commission proposed a $10 tax credit for campaign contributions, with an alternative provision under which large donors could deduct up to $1,000 annually for political gifts in figuring their tax liability.

The commission's report said such a program ought to be tried out before any effort was made to provide government underwriting of campaign costs.

Firemen Answer Several Alarms

Big Spring firemen were called to a vacant lot north of US 89 East and two blocks east of Birdwell Lane at 1:30 p.m. Friday where a broken power line set grass afire. Power was off in the area for several minutes.

A leaking fuel pump caused a fire which did heavy damage to the wiring on a 1959 car owned by J. R. Simmons late Friday afternoon, three miles out on the Lamesa Highway.

A truck owned by a Mr. Binder suffered heavy damage to the seat as a result of a fire, in the 2400 Block of Gregg, Friday night. Cause of the fire was unknown.

Firemen were called to extinguish a fire on a lawn mower at the C. D. Sanders residence, 813 W. 3rd Saturday. A flooding car-burner was listed as the cause and wiring was damaged.

Transplanting Of Negro Family Draws Criticism

NEW YORK (AP) — A Negro family of 10 arrived here by bus from New Orleans Saturday on one-way tickets paid for by a Southern segregationist group.

The action by the Citizens Council of New Orleans raised a storm of criticism from welfare and equal rights spokesmen here. They said the family was used cruelly as a pawn.

But the father of the family, Louis Boyd, 41, an unemployed longshoreman, said he was glad to be here.

"My wife and children were needing," Boyd said as he stepped from the bus with his wife and their eight children, ranging in age from 3 to 12 years.

"I feel that I can make it a little better in New York. I see a lot of people working here and you don't see much of that in New Orleans."

The family appeared likely to stay in New York. Efforts were under way to find a job for Boyd, or, failing that, to provide welfare or charity aid to the family.

The Travelers Aid Society placed the family in a three-room, $25-a-day suite in the Welcott Hotel for the weekend. The hotel is in mid-Manhattan.

The society said three jobs had been offered for Boyd but that the offers were a bit vague and would have to be looked into.

"They offered me a job and I'm proud of that," said Boyd, wearing a wine-colored shirt and a straw hat, all shabby. "I don't want to go on relief."

The Citizens Council had provided the Boyds with food and $50 in cash in addition to the tickets. George Singelmann, a council board member, said in New Orleans it was part of a plan to send North any Louisiana Negroes wishing to leave the South.

"They made everything convenient for us," Boyd said and told us we had nothing to worry about."

Among those meeting Boyd was Dr. Edward S. Lewis, executive director of the Urban League of Greater New York, who denounced the sponsorship of the trip.

Lewis called it "a very vicious trick on the part of the White Citizens Council, designed to embarrass the North, but we will help them (the family)."

Philip Sokol, New York City welfare commissioner, called it "a very cruel thing to do."

He said the family would not be eligible for relief if it came here simply for that purpose but that if Boyd makes a sincere effort to find work and is unable to do so he may qualify for relief later.

POSTERS ARE TORN DOWN

Political races must be getting rough, according to a statement on the police blotter Saturday morning.

One candidate called and asked police to check a couple of men in a pickup who tore down some of his posters on Gregg.

Police checked and found that subjects tore down one candidate's posters and replaced them with those of his opponent.

San Jacinto Anniversary Is Observed By Texans

HOUSTON (AP) — With a roar of jets, a flourish of drums and a review of the Texas Navy, Gov. Price Daniel led Texans Saturday in an observance of the 128th anniversary of the Battle of San Jacinto.

It was at the scene of the observance, in the shadows of the San Jacinto Monument, that Gen. Sam Houston on April 21, 1836, with an army of 900-odd ragged Texans defeated the main force of the Mexican army and established sovereignty of Texas as a republic.

More than 150 boats, yachts and sailing vessels, passed in review to open the ceremony at the battleground.

Six C119 Flying Boxcars of the 448th (San Jacinto) Troop Carrier Wing at Ellington AFB and a flight of F102 jet fighters from the Texas Air National Guard flew low over the area to contrast modern military might with that of history.

Parachutes from the Galveston Parachute Club, carrying colored smoke grenades did free falls over the area—finally opening their chutes and dropping lightly on the battleground.

More than 300 riders of the San Jacinto Day Trail ride arrived at the parade grounds from Pasadena to end a 3-day ride from Galveston County Park on Texas 3. The ride is sponsored by the Pasadena Elks Lodge.

Daniel boarded the Harris County Navigation District's yacht, the Sam Houston, to review the Texas Navy. Then he led a parade of participants from the Battleship Texas to the San Jacinto Monument.

In his speech, he reminded his audience of the courage of Texans, fighting against overwhelming odds to win their freedom.

GOP Assailed On Steel Price Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey Saturday termed the Republican leadership attack on President Kennedy's actions in the steel price controversy arrant nonsense.

Bailey said in a statement the attack was a "silly and specious bit of partisan exaggeration" and "so clumsy and partisan it is sure to backfire on the Republican party."

Republican congressional leaders Thursday accused Kennedy of using police-state methods to blackjack steel companies into rescinding a $6-a-ton price increase.

The GOP statement charged the President with ordering or supporting actions that "imperiled basic American rights, went far beyond the law, and were more characteristic of a police state than a free government."

The Republicans said they condoned nothing in the actions of the steel companies "except their right to make an economic judgment without massive retaliation by the federal government."

Bailey in his reply said: "The Republican congressional leadership's action in coming to the defense of the big steel companies with a specious attack upon the President for mobilizing public opinion and governmental resources to combat this inflationary price rise demonstrates once again that the Republican party puts the selfish and narrow interests of the few ahead of the welfare of the average American family."

"For 10 days the GOP was strangely silent. They said nothing to protect the public interest and prevent an inflationary spiral. Only when the President, aided by the forces of competition, had safeguarded the public interest did they suddenly decide they could attack him in a crudely partisan manner."

"The Republicans know that it is arrant nonsense to compare the public activities of the President and the executive branch with the secret violence of a police state. The Republicans know that the President's actions did not deprive any American of any freedom, including the freedom of foolish utterance which was exercised by the Republican leaders."

Aggies Stage 1962 Muster

Texas A&M men of the Big Spring area joined their contemporaries around the world Saturday night, in the annual San Jacinto Day "Aggie Muster" — a tribute to the memory of A&M men who have died during the past year.

The traditional ceremony — it's 59 years old — was observed locally with a dinner program at the Cosden Country Club, attended by approximately 75 Aggies, their wives and other guests.

In a serious mood, Aggies answered "Here!" as the names of deceased comrades were called.

The local program also was highlighted by remarks by Dick Johnson, new freshman coach at A&M, who joined the college staff with Hank Foldberg. Johnson told of recruiting results this past winter, and said progress was made in spring training, despite a new coaching system. There is basis for optimism in A&M's football prospects, he said.

E. V. Spence, chairman for the program, called upon Aggies to join in the college development fund, which has a goal of a million dollars this year for academic upgrading.

Ralph Hughes, president of the local A&M Club, presided for the program, and the Muster was conducted by Paschal Odum.

Demos Hoping To Get Action On Major Measures By June

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic congressional leaders are aiming for a June break-through they believe will bring action on some major segments of President Kennedy's legislative program.

Acting Senate Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota summed up an optimistic review of administration prospects by saying Saturday that things will be really humming in June.

He predicted action by one or both houses in that month on medical care for the elderly, a higher education bill, Kennedy's international trade program and tax revision.

LOGJAM

On the other hand, Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., forecast a legislative logjam unless Congress gets into high gear immediately after its Easter vacation ends.

Case said on a television program taped for New Jersey stations he fears "We're going to find ourselves at the end of the summer still in session and still with a workload ahead of us (with) action then being taken under pressure of everybody's desire to finish and not adequate consideration of the very important matters that we ought to deal with."

Kennedy's sweeping new trade program, intended to set up a duty-free partnership on many major products with the booming European Common Market, has been scheduled tentatively for House debate about two weeks after that body reconvenes, April 30.

This ambitious schedule is based on the expectation that Democratic—and some Republican—votes in the House Ways and Means Committee will overwhelm without undue delay opposition to the more controversial parts of the bill. The toughest is probably the concept of aid for individual businesses hurt by imports, in place of exclusive reliance on tariff relief for industries as a whole.

EASTER VACATION

The committee had hoped far but didn't achieve completion of its first review of the bill before the Easter recess. But Democratic leaders, agreeing to a 10-day Easter vacation while the Senate remains in session, indicated they are not perturbed.

"We've got the votes; we may have to do some window dressing," one of them summed up the prospects for the trade bill.

The Senate will be tied up for the next two weeks or longer with debate over a proposal to substitute the requirement of a sixth-grade education for state literacy tests in voting.

Allowing for this, Humphrey said in an interview he expects the wheels to start turning in May and to grind out some results in June.

The Senate Finance Committee hopes to get the House-passed tax revision bill to the Senate by mid-June. If the trade bill isn't delayed in the House, the Finance Committee might send that measure to the Senate late in June.

The Ways and Means Committee, which has been operating at forced draft to dispose of a large proportion of Kennedy's legislative program, also has on its docket for action sometime after it clears the trade bill Kennedy's plan for health care for the aged under Social Security.

Democratic leaders have been making increasingly optimistic forecasts about their chances of cracking this toughest of nuts in Kennedy's domestic basket. The problem is the Ways and Means Committee; if it approves, passage in the House is expected to follow. Lack of committee approval would not kill the bill, but make passage much more chancy.

High Decoration

Former Webb AFB Officer Is Given Legion Of Merit

A former Webb AFB officer has been awarded one of the military's highest decorations for his efforts in behalf of an Air Force economy drive.

Lt. Col. Alvin R. Holman received the Legion of Merit for his promotion of Project Money Tree within Air Training Command (ATC). Money Tree is an Air Force-wide program which seeks economy via improved materiel management and utilization.

Brig. Gen. Carl W. Andrews, assistant for materiel program, USAF headquarters, Washington, D. C., decorated the colonel at the recent Orlando, Fla., World-Wide Money Tree Conference.

Col. Holman is now stationed at ATC headquarters, Randolph

AFB, in the office of the deputy chief of staff for materiel. He served at Webb AFB between September, 1956 and June, 1958 as wing air inspector, group executive officer and group commander.

A native of Burk Burnett, he is a 20-year Air Force veteran, holding a business management degree from George Washington University in Washington, D. C. and a bachelor's degree in education and history from Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene.

Col. Holman left Webb in 1958 and reported to Saigon, South Vietnam as an operations and training chief of the Military Advisory Assistance Group (MAAG). He was assigned to ATC headquarters in July, 1959.

Jury Brings Verdict For Complainants

COLORADO CITY (SC) — A 32nd District jury brought in a verdict of $1,250 in damages Friday night for Brooks Stewart, in a suit filed against the city of Colorado City for operating a dump ground near his home.

The Stewarts, who live in a new home on their farm south of Colorado City, claim that the smoke, odors and flies from the dump has made it unpleasant and unhealthful to live there. They requested damages and an injunction against the city's operation of a garbage dump at the site.

The jury in granting damages ruled that the city did not "act arbitrarily" in selecting the site for the dump ground and District Judge Eldon Mahon did not issue an injunction against the city's operation of the dump-ground.

Perry Barber, Stewart's attorney, said that the damages were for damage to date and that as further damages accumulate, his clients would file new suits. City attorney John Worrell was assisted by Charles Griggs and George Beall of Sweetwater.

Lamesa Lions Will Host Convention

LAMESA (SC) — Lamesa Lions are preparing to roll out the red carpet for area clubs when the District 272 convention is staged here May 4-5. From 800 to 1,000 delegates are expected to register for the two-day session.

District 272 covers 21 counties with 56 Lions clubs and approximately 2,600 members. From the opening luncheon Friday, in the National Guard Armory to the governor's ball Saturday night at Lamesa Country Club, various activities await the visiting Lions.

J. D. McAmis is chairman of the convention program. He is assisted by H. M. Bruner and Bill Corbin of the Evening Lions and C. A. Taylor and J. D. Dyer of the Noon Lions.

Ace Kincaid is chairman of the queen contest; Corbin heads the housing committee; Tim Cook is chairman of the golf tournament; and Ken Edmonson heads the bowling competition.

Dr. Charles W. Jarvis, humorist and philosopher, will be the speaker for the opening luncheon. He is a San Marcos dentist with wide experience as a public speaker.

The queen contest is to be held in the high school auditorium and is open to the public. Following the contest, the scene shifts to the school cafeteria where the "Stunt-town Symfphony" of Lamesa will perform.

Saturday's program kicks off with a "buttermilk breakfast" sponsored by Wolforth Lions Club. It will be held in the cafeteria. The Seagraves Lions Club will sponsor a noon luncheon for club presidents and secretaries at the armory.

The queen's ball is scheduled at the Community Center Saturday night. Bowling and golf tournaments will be held at Lamesa Bowling Club and Lamesa Country Club.

Lamesa Lionesses will sponsor a come-and-go breakfast at the Women's Study Club Saturday. An international luncheon is planned for the noon hour.

Liveliness and loads of fun at a low, low price!

Who ever thought a wagon could have such a compact price—and still be so doggone generous with load space. This one's got a longer load floor than any compact—over 9 ft. with second seat and tailgate down. Plenty of room and plenty of zoom (thanks to the spunky six in this class Nova). And there are two other just-as-roomy Chevy II wagons to choose from—including America's lowest priced 3-seat station wagon.*

* Based on manufacturers' suggested retail prices.

Thoughts of warm weather beginning to whet your wanderlust? Well, the buys are warming up, too, at your Chevrolet dealer's. And what beautiful ways he's got for getting away! Eleven new-size Chevy II models. Fourteen regal Jet-smooth Chevrolets. Plus a nimble crew of sporty Corvairs. So come on in and pick the one for your kind of fun. You won't find a better selection of sizes and sizzle anywhere.

NEW IMPALA CONVERTIBLE—You're in plenty good company if you pick this breezy beauty. It's America's favorite top-down way to travel. And it has the kind of room, richness and Jet-smooth riding comfort that have many an expensive car wondering how Chevrolet does it for the price.

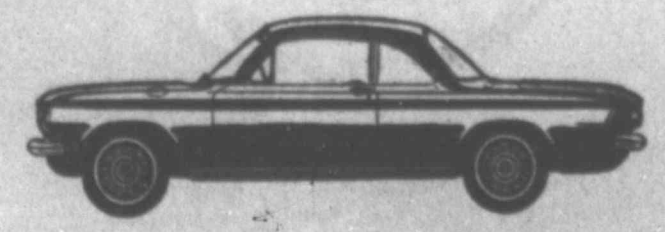

NEW BEL AIR 4-DOOR SEDAN—Get a load of this one's clean-etched styling and spacious comfort, and you've got a good idea why Chevrolet is America's most popular buy. Most popular at trade-in time, too, since Chevrolet traditionally returns the highest resale dollar in its field.*

* Based on used car prices published in the National Automobile Dealers Association USED CAR GUIDE.

NEW CHEVY II 300 4-DOOR SEDAN—Luxury and liveliness never came together so beautifully at such a low price. Room for a full-grown tribe of six—bag and baggage. Plus easy-riding Mono-Plate rear springs and other new ideas that won the Chevy II Car Life magazine's coveted Engineering Excellence Award.

NEW CORVAIRE MONZA CLUB COUPE—It's as easy to handle as it is to own. Rally-proved steering and road-clinging traction. And—included in its budget-pleasing price—are front bucket seats, deep-twist carpeting, fold-down rear seat and a whole raft of sporty features at no extra cost.

DEAR ABBY

Break Up The Harem

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend told me he loved me and wanted to marry me. He said his wife was older than he was and he never loved her. He moved to Dallas and paid my way there so I could be near him while he waited for his divorce.

That was a year ago. Now I find out that two other women beside myself followed him there. One is a brunette about 34. And the other is a gray-headed woman in her fifties who even divorced her husband and brought her grown daughter along!

All this time he has been feeding us all the same line. His wife is not older than he is. She's a nice-looking blonde woman. Should I tell the other women he has made fools of us? (I feel kind of sorry for the old one.) I hate to hurt his wife by telling her, but I think she ought to know what a rat she married. I am going back home, but why should that liar get away with anything?

FOOLED

DEAR FOOLED: Tell the others, they'll get over the disappointment when they learn they have been part of a harem. And his wife should know, too. He's had his three strikes.

DEAR ABBY: I swear my wife has sleeping sickness. We both work to help pay off our house. She gets out of work before I do (half an hour) and falls asleep waiting for me. At supper time she is always the first one through, and she often lays her head on the table and falls asleep while waiting for me and the children to finish. When I finish, I clear the table, put the children to bed, and then I wake her up (at the table) so she can go to the couch and sleep some more while I watch TV. She sleeps on the couch until midnight, and then I wake her up so she can go to the bedroom, get into her nightclothes and go to sleep. She sleeps all night and wakes up at 7:00 a.m. The next day it's the same story over and over again. When we go anywhere, she falls asleep in her chair. Her mother and father both have sugar diabetes and take insulin daily. Could this have anything to do with it? My wife refuses to go to a doctor. I am worried.

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Your wife should see a doctor at once for a thorough check-up. Test on it, and don't take "no" for an answer.

DEAR ABBY: My heart doesn't yearn for wall-to-wall carpeting and fancy clothes, but oh, Abby, how I would love to have my husband bring home some foolish little gift on some unspecial day. He's not a thoughtless guy, but when you have to "hint" it's no fun. He's a grand guy and a wonderful husband, and if he'd only do this little thing to let me know I am as special to him as he is to me, I'd be the happiest woman in the world.

SWEET SUE

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

San Antonio Fiesta Honors Texas Heroes

SAN ANTONIO (AP)— This historic city pays homage to spring and to the heroes of Texas Revolution this week with the 67th Fiesta San Antonio.

services will involve thousands as participants and draw other thousands as spectators during the eight-day observance.

An added attraction is the Texas Open Golf Tournament, a $30,000 contest.

The fiesta, known until two years ago as the Fiesta San Jacinto, usually is held during the week that includes April 21—the anniversary of the battle in 1836 when Texas forces under Gen. Sam Houston routed the army of Mexican dictator Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna and won Texas its independence.

This year's observance was delayed a week to avoid conflict with Holy Week.

The mammoth Battle of Flowers and Fiesta Flambeau parades, the colorful parade of floats on the San Antonio River and the coronation of the queen of fiesta are highlights.

Other events include the Nights in Old San Antonio, the pilgrimage to the Alamo, the Miss San Antonio pageant, street dancing on Alamo Plaza and reviews of thousands of troops and cadets at military schools and bases in the San Antonio area.

Miss Fiesta — Incarnate Word College coed Norma Martin of San Antonio — will preside over the Fiesta Flambeau parade. That parade and the Battle of Flowers always draw the largest crowds.

Graveside Rites Held For Infant

Raymundo Luevano Guzman, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Armando Guzman, 312 NE 9th, died at birth in a local hospital Saturday at 4 a.m. Graveside rites were conducted at 4:30 p.m. Saturday in the City Cemetery, with Father Patrick Casey, Sacred Heart Catholic Church, officiating. Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home had charge of arrangements.

Survivors include the parents; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Juan Guzman, Big Spring; maternal grandfather, C. L. Clemente, Big Spring.

Signing The First One

Mayor George Zachariah signs his first proclamation since taking office, declaring Secretaries' Week in Big Spring. Mrs. James Eubanks, a member of the local chapter, looks on. This proclamation is the first of many that will come during Zachariah's administration as clubs, organizations and other groups will ask that other weeks be given special recognition.

Consultant To Speak At Tech

LUBBOCK — A former special consultant to the Peace Corps will be the featured speaker at Texas Tech's annual foreign languages awards dinner Tuesday. He is Dr. Marshall Nason who is now director of the foreign studies division at the University of New Mexico.

There will be a showing of a 50-minute documentary on the Peace Corps Tanganyika project at 2 and 3 p.m. in Room 11 of the Tech Library.

"The New Dimension in Foreign Service: Accent on Youth" will be the topic of Dr. Nason's banquet speech. The banquet will be at 6:30 p.m. in the West Ballroom of the Tech Union.

Secretaries' Week Is Designated Here

The local chapter of the National Secretaries Association will mark Secretaries' Week in Big Spring starting today and continuing through Saturday.

A special Bosses Night banquet is scheduled Thursday at the Couden Country Club when the Secretary of the Year and Boss of the Year will be named.

Mayor George Zachariah declared Secretaries' Week in his first official proclamation since taking office.

He pointed out that "in keeping with the best traditions of their profession, secretaries are accepting vital responsibilities and performing important roles in commerce, industry and government; that their many contributions to the nation's progress often are unrecognized; to encourage others to enter this career, it is essential that rightful recognition be given to them."

Mrs. Bobby Asbury, president of the local chapter, will preside at the Thursday meeting. Arnold Marshall will entertain. The banquet will have a Gay Nineties theme.

Wednesday has been designated Secretaries' Day in Big Spring.

Currently, some 16 local secretaries are taking special courses at Howard County Junior College in preparation for the certified professional secretaries examination to be given at Texas Tech May 4-5.

The theme for this year's observance is "Better Secretaries Mean Better Business."

Martin Wells Are Getting Heavy Use

STANTON—Almost every irrigation well in Martin County has been pumping 24 hours a day the last few weeks to insure enough moisture for planting. Rainfall has been scant this year, so the wells and irrigation pipe movers are working around the clock.

Some farmers have already started planting cotton, but the big rush is not expected for another few days. Windy weather has somewhat hampered the sprinkler irrigation units, and not all the fields have been covered yet.

Several farmers have been waiting for the soil to warm up before planting. Theral Creech of the Courtney community says that when the early morning soil temperature reaches 65 degree Fahrenheit, it is time to put cotton seed in the ground. The temperature reached this figure a few days ago, so he started planting.

Dryland farmers have no timetable for planting cotton or any other crop, because the fields are too dry. Only a few areas in the north part of the county have sufficient moisture to start a crop.

Phillies Down Colts, 3 to 1

JACK NICKLAUS

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston Colts, bewildered by aging Cal McLish's breaking stuff for six innings, lost their first game before home fans and their third straight to the Philadelphia Phillies Saturday night, 3-1.

Jack Nicklaus Grabs Top Spot At Houston

By MAX B. SKELTON HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)— Jack Nicklaus, a young rookie who has collected money in every tournament since turning pro, used a 2-under-par 68 Saturday to grab the 54-hole lead in the $50,000 Houston Golf Classic.

Lafayette, La. Hebert thus became the first defending champion since 1954 to survive the Classic's 54-hole cut. A score of 220-10 over par was needed for Sunday's final 18 holes and the 22 pros eliminated included Bill Collins, the 1960 Classic champion, and Ken Venturi who lost a 19-hole playoff to Hebert a year ago.

Admiral's Voyage Winner Of Wood

NEW YORK (AP)— Admiral's Voyage was declared the winner of the $10,000 Wood Memorial at Aqueduct Saturday after finishing in a sensational dead heat with Sunrise County and then having his favored rival disqualified.

Giants Topple Cincy, 8 To 6

Podres Shines In Conquest Of Braves

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Los Angeles southpaw Johnny Podres hurled his first complete game in 11 starts since last August as the Dodgers defeated the Milwaukee Braves 4-1 Saturday with a ninth-inning attack led by Tommy Davis and Frank Howard.

Podres stopped the Braves on seven hits in posting his first victory in two decisions this season. With near perfect control, he struck out two and walked only one in handing stumbling Milwaukee its eighth loss in 10 games.

Tommy Davis collected a pair of doubles, scoring after each on hits by Howard.

Field hitless for the first 4-2-3 innings by Milwaukee's southpaw Bob Hendley, the Dodgers picked up a run with two out in the fifth. Willie Davis walked, moved up four straight pitches, and scored on Maury Wills' line single to left.

That tied the count at 1-1. With one out in the sixth, Tommy Davis doubled into the right field corner and scored as Howard lined a hit to left.

Tommy Davis opened the eighth with a double to deep center and came around on Howard's double to the wall in left center. Howard advanced on a sacrifice and scored as Andy Carey dropped a single into short right center.

The Braves put together an infield hit by Hank Aaron, a fielder's choice, a walk and Mack Jones' single to left for their lone run in the fourth.

Willie Davis led off with a single. Howard followed with a sacrifice fly. Podres pitched to Howard in the fourth.

Blanchard's Homer Defeats Tribe, 3-1

NEW YORK (AP)—John Blanchard's three-run homer and Whitey Ford's six-hit pitching gave the New York Yankees a 3-1 victory over Cleveland Saturday, the 18th straight game the Indians have lost at Yankee Stadium since May 12, 1960.

Blanchard hit his homer into the left field bleachers in the first inning after Bobby Richardson and Mickey Mantle had walked.

Gene Green smashed a 420-foot homer into the left field bleachers in the fifth inning. It was the 14th blow hit into those seats in the history of Yankee Stadium.

Ford, a 25-game winner in 1961, won his first of the season after two no-decision starts. The Yankees won both of those games for relief pitchers.

Manager Mel McGaha, striving desperately to break the Indians' long stadium losing string in their first appearance of the year, used five pitchers. Each time the pitcher was scheduled to bat he sent up a pinch hitter. Frank Funk, Jim Grant, Bob Allen and Jim Perry followed Latman, the loser.

Grant was making his first appearance of the season on a weekend pass from the Army. He is stationed at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Fish Prospects Are Improving

Warmer weather should bring out the oil cans to put fishermen's reels in top shape for a fast pickup in Texas fishing prospects for both fresh and salt water fishermen.

Most Texas lakes are reporting heavy runs of White Bass and Crappie, the Game and Fish Commission reports. A light run of Spanish mackerel on the coast received a setback from north winds last week, but warming water is expected to make mackerel fishing hot again shortly.

The conservationist reports improved fishing in Trinity and Galveston Bays. Fishermen braving high winds recently came back with tubs full of croakers and gaff tops, the first of the season.

The newspaper also reports one White Perch take on Turtle Bayou near Anahuac of 16, one weighing 25 pounds. The paper warns that White Perch fishing won't last long.

Friday the 13th was not unlucky for Paris fishermen E. L. Snead. He landed a 74-pound bass in a private lake northeast of Paris.

Game Warden's desk some finger shaking at Texas fishermen over 94 arrests for fishing without a license during March. Wardens arrested 257 persons who were fined $8,899, the Game and Fish Commission said. Fishing licenses are required of all persons between 17 and 65 who fish outside their home county or who fish with rod and reel. They cost $2.15 for residents and non-residents.

The Lake Mathis Fishing Rodeo will open Saturday and continue to May 5.

Bryan state legislators were heaped with Game and Fish Association honors at a recent annual meeting in Bryan of the Fishing reports from around the state: Bass, Crappie and Catfish are furnishing good fishing at Caddo Lake State Park.

Good strings of Bass are being caught at Bonham State Park, Lake Whitney State Park and Lake State Park.

Crappie fishing excellent at Fort Parker State Park.

Good Bass and Catfish catches, with Cats biting Trout lures, are reported at Lake Corpus Christi State Park.

Bass were biting minnows in Bee Creek of Lake Austin last week.

Big Black Bass and Yellow Cat catches are reported at Lake Noworthy, with one yellow Cat weighing in at 33 pounds.

Black Bass, Crappie and Catfish takes are large at Falcon Lake.

One pound Black and white bass catches were reported at Granite Shoals at Kingsland.

O's Shut Out Senators, 3-0

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rookie Art Quirk and reliever West Stock of Baltimore put together a seven-inning shutout Saturday as the Orioles handed the Washington Senators their fifth straight defeat 3-0.

Johnny Temple drove in the game's only runs with a single in the third and a double in the seventh.

Quirk, making his first major league start, retired because of a finger blister after 5 1-3 innings. Stock permitted a base runner each inning, but nobody got as far as second base.

Claude Osteen was the loser. The Orioles scored their first run in the fourth inning on a walk to Earl Robinson, a sacrifice and Temple's single.

They added two in the seventh, Osteen's last inning, after two were out and Gus Triandos was on first with a walk. Stock also walked, and Temple's double to center scored both runners.

Cooper's Cove Catch

Pictured is L. P. Hamm, 902 Lancaster, holding a 21-pound yellow catfish he caught recently near Cooper's Cove on Lake Colorado City. He was using a rod and reel with a ten-pound test line, with shrimp as bait. Hamm was holding another hook when the fish struck and he had to cease what he was doing and go into the lake to retrieve his pole.

PROUD OF IT?

Of course! It's a great day for the whole family when your new car arrives... a day to remember! That day will be more memorable if you've had the foresight to finance at First National. Factors Described For Gas Price Wars

HOUSTON (AP) — The chairman of the American Petroleum Institute says the rash of gasoline price wars that developed last year result from several factors.

L. F. McCollum, president of Continental Oil Co., lists three contributing factors:

A slower growth rate in petroleum demand.

Continued expansion of industry facilities.

Excess refining and producing capacity.

"These factors, together with disruptive marketing practices, produced widespread retail gasoline price wars during the year," McCollum said in Continental's 1961 annual report to stockholders.

Monroe Spaght, president of Shell Oil Co., indicated agreement in his annual report.

"As long as the industry has substantial excess capacities, we can expect chronic oversupply with vigorous competition in the market place," Spaght said.

Depressed products prices, particularly for gasoline, drew comment in numerous company reports on 1961 operations.

Many companies reported increased net incomes and sales volumes but said the depressed prices prevented better records.

The annual report of the Ohio Oil Co. summarized the situation this way:

"Continuing weakness in prices restricted the growth in value of our gasoline sales to 1.4 per cent over 1960 in contrast with a 4.3 per cent increase in gallonage."

K. S. Adams, chairman of Phillips Petroleum Co., said intense industry-wide competition in the U. S., coupled with supplies often far in excess of demands, caused severe product price weaknesses.

Retail prices for gasoline were hardest hit, but other product prices also felt the impact during part of the year," Adams said. M. J. Rathbone, president of Standard Oil Co. New Jersey, said 1961 results were gratifying when viewed against a "background of rigorous competition prevailing in the world oil industry."

"This competition has called for further improvements in our operational and organizational efficiency," Rathbone said.

'PITHOLE USA'

First Oil Boom Town Is On Film

"Pithole, USA," a 13-minute short subject released to theaters, brings to the screen the roaring activity of oil history's first and wildest boom town.

Pithole City, Pa., was born, grew to bursting size and died within the span of 500 days. It was a few miles from Oil City, Pa., (Titusville) where the Drake Well brought in the nation's largest industry.

Today Pithole no longer exists. It is gone from the postal register and the map. Tall grass grows in old cellar holes, all that is left of the hectic days when Pithole was the boisterous oil capital of the world.

Oil was discovered at Pithole, about six miles south of Titusville, Pa., in April, 1865. Within five months a maze of derricks covered the landscape and no less than 15,000 people lived in hastily constructed wooden houses and more than 50 hotels.

More than 3,000 mule skinnners invaded the city to freight oil from the town to Oil Creek. The first oil pipeline in history was the answer to the outrageous prices the mule skinnners asked.

For 500 days the boom lasted. Then the wells began going dry. As oil flow stopped, a fire swept through the most productive portion of Pithole, burning 27 wells. The film uses the still-life-in-motion technique to present the activity of the town in its brief lifetime. It relies principally on pictures made by an itinerant photographer named John Mather, who chronicled the birth and early days of the oil industry much in the way Mathew Brady made his camera history of the Civil War. "Pithole, USA" is produced by United States Steel for its Oil Well Supply Division. The film is available to theaters without charge.

Porter Gets Gulf Grant

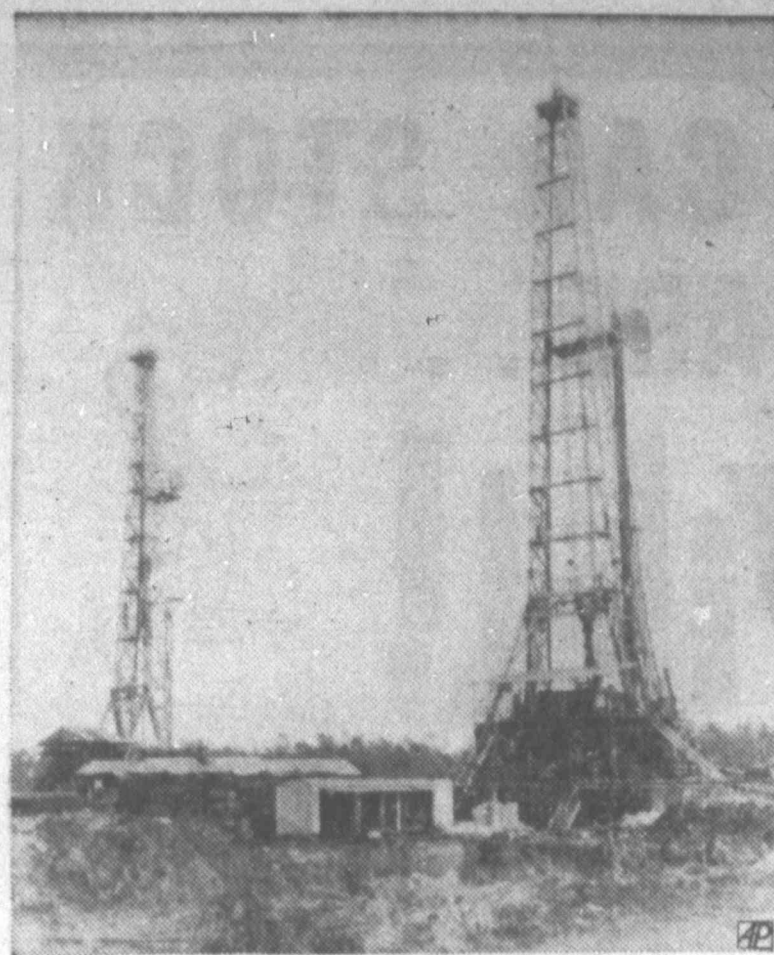

Jimmy R. Porter, instructor in the industrial engineering department at Texas A&M College, has been awarded a $2,500 grant for a special study at Gulf Oil Corporation's Port Arthur refinery this summer.

The study will be in new methods of scheduling maintenance and construction with emphasis on critical paths methods and computer utilization. Much of it will have to do with complex mathematical devices which might enable management and supervisory personnel to stay precisely on top of construction at any given point. This naturally would be valuable in cost controls.

Porter's project will be under the faculty salary supplementation section of the Gulf Aid to Education program.

A graduate of Big Spring High School, Porter was one of the recipients of the Texas A&M Club scholarship. After completing his college work, he was in the armed forces prior to taking the instructorship at A&M. His late father was a skilled brick mason and Jimmy Porter mastered the trade, too, enabling him to earn enough to complete his education.

He and Mrs. Porter, the former Leila Fletcher of Forsan, are home for the holidays visiting with their mothers, Mrs. Alice Hill and Mrs. O. W. Fletcher. They have two daughters Dana Sue, 4, and Ellen, 2.

Two At A Time

The large rotary at right is being used to complete a deep gas-condensate discovery from beneath Eagle Lake in Colorado County, in South Texas. The bottom of the well is 2,300 feet east of its surface hole. The smaller rig, in background, is drilling a conventional vertical hole which proved to be a failure. The wells were drilled by James G. Brown and associates of Midland.

FPC Hears Case Involving Mammoth Gas Reserves

WASHINGTON (AP) — A hearing is being held by the Federal Power Commission in a case involving an estimated 6.2 trillion cubic feet of natural gas, all in Texas Gulf Coast fields.

Most of the gas lies under the famous King Ranch. The figure was given Thursday by David Searls, representing the Monterey Gas Transmission Co. of Houston. He said the project "involves the largest volume of natural gas ever dedicated at one time to the service of the public."

The case includes these proposals: 1. Monterey would pay Humble Oil $940,340,155 for leasehold interests in the vast reserves. 2. Monterey would produce, transport and sell the gas to United Fuel Gas Co., a major subsidiary of the Columbia Gas System Companies. 3. United would transport and sell the gas to companies distributing gas in Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Monterey proposes to build a 216-mile, 30-inch pipeline from Clear Lake, near Houston, to the line of Columbia Gas Transmission Co. near Alexandria, La., where the gas would start its long pipeline journey to distributing companies in the Midwest and East.

Monterey would acquire from Humble 330 miles of pipeline, largely consisting of a 30-inch line from the King Ranch to Clear Lake.

Francis Cristman, a senior vice president of Columbia Gas System, testified he knew of no other set of proposals promising greater benefits for the ultimate gas consumer.

Fluid Loss Control Developed By Dow

A new fluid-loss control agent for use in hydrochloric acid has been developed in the research laboratories of the Dow Chemical Company.

This product, to be known by the trademark name FLA, has a dry, free-flowing, powdery appearance, but it is an organic polymer in the form of small beads. When mixed with acid these tiny particles expand about 30-40 times their original size. This expansion takes about one hour.

The expanded particles are globular and flexible. Under pressure they will flatten out, but they return to their original shape when pressure is released. The particles act as a barrier to prevent acid from entering the permeable matrix close to the well bore, permitting acid to react with the formation and establish drainage channels.

The new product has been used at the rate of 50 pounds with 1,000 gallons of acid in some 50 wells in Oklahoma, Kansas and Utah. Results show an average increase in production of three to four times previous production. One well had a calculated 14-fold open flow potential increase.

Also, the tests showed there was no difficulty in cleaning the wells after treatment.

The polymer is virtually inert and does not made or break acid or spent acid crude oil emulsions. API formation damage tests showed a low degree of formation damage and the polymer was found to be compatible with other chemical additives used.

It may be used in acid concentrations from three to 15 per cent and at temperature ranges up to 150 degrees Fahrenheit.

Tidelands Meet Set Thursday

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A conference on tidelands negotiations, obviously an effort to solve Louisiana's financial woes, has been called for Thursday.

Gov. Jimmie Davis confirmed he had called a strategy meeting of some members of the Louisiana congressional delegations and state officials.

He said those invited were Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., Reps. Edwin Willis and Hale Boggs, D-La., state Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion and Mineral Board Chairman William Helis Jr.

"I am convinced that all state officials involved and the congressional delegation share my desire to settle this matter as fast as humanly possible," Davis told newsmen.

He declined comment on a report the administration is seeking release of $50 million of a $400 million federal-state escrow fund tied up in the dispute with the federal government.

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled Louisiana holds title to 3 miles of submerged lands instead of the 10.5 miles claimed by the state.

Conoco Buys Houston Firm

HOUSTON (AP) — Continental Oil Co. said Saturday it has bought the oil and gas producing properties of Royal Blue Ventures Inc. of Houston.

The properties include 24 oil and gas wells in Louisiana and 9 wells in Texas. Production is about 1,000 barrels per day of crude oil and 19 million cubic feet of gas daily.

No purchase price was disclosed. The properties formerly were owned by the Berkshire Oil Co. of Houston.

208 Texas Oil Wells Completed

AUSTIN (AP) — The Railroad Commission said Saturday 208 oil and 107 gas wells were completed last week.

The totals include 13 oil and 56 gas wildcats. There were 23 dry holes.

The oil well completions brought this year's total to 3,062, compared to 2,721 a year ago. The 107 gas well completions boosted this year total to 1,956, compared to 770.

J. Edgar Hoover Discusses Favorite Diversion-Racing

FBI Chief Finds Turf Relaxing After Hard Grind

J. EDGAR HOOVER

DEL MAR, Cal., Aug. 7.—The setting: The Turf Club enclosure at Del Mar. The visitor: J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI and his senior lieutenant, Clyde Tolson. The occasion: For the first time, Mr. Hoover consented to chat with a turf writer on why he is a thoroughbred racing fan, and on the sporting-moral-business aspects of thoroughbred racing.

Question: Why are you a race fan, Mr. Hoover?
Answer: I go to the races every Saturday that I can, and here at Del Mar on certain afternoons in the week while I have my annual medical check-up in the morning at nearby Scripps Clinic in La Jolla. I have found that an afternoon at the races gives me complete relaxation from a grueling week of work in the FBI. It is a complete change of pace and has the advantage of being a colorful sport and outdoors. I have found racing to be a wholesome diversion.

Question: Are there any moral issues involved in thoroughbred racing of which you are aware?
Answer: No, I do not believe there are any moral issues involved. This is a well-supervised sport. It is a clean one and the various states which have racing exert every effort to keep it that way and on a highly competitive standard. The only moral issue that I see is not one of racing itself but of the individual. I think anybody who overbets on the races is a fool. But anyone who overdoes anything is a fool, even to over-exercise. One pays the penalty. Temperance and moderation in everything is the best policy, and in this respect, racing is in the same category as everything else.

Question: Then you don't feel the wagering in racing is objectionable?
Answer: Not if it is done in moderation. Racing has no monopoly on betting. Everybody has a desire to win something. People buy stocks because they hope the stock will rise in value and they can gain. People bet on a horse because they have hopes the horse will win, and they will gain something. Many church groups find bingo a diversion and that also could be classified as gambling, but here again the approach — temperance — is the factor that makes it also a diversion. Actually, from a law-enforcement standpoint, a well-conducted racetrack is a help to a community if only for the reason that the people at the track are finding an outlet for their emotions, are enjoying a diversion, if you will, which time, if they weren't at the track, they might use for less laudable escapes.

Question: What about the so-called scandals of the past in racing?
Answer: There have been some bad people in racing but I think they have been pretty well eliminated. Perhaps the racing people are over-sensitive on this subject. You can take it direct from the FBI that no human activity of consequence that is organized has been free of scandal. We've had crooked lawyers, doctors, bankers. Racing seems no worse than anything else. But look at it this way—the wonderful people who are in racing. (At that moment, the familiar Eton blue and brown cap flashed under the wire in front. The FBI man smiled, and said, "Good! First winner I've had all day"). You take C. V. Whitney. He's done a lot for the sport. And Lawrence Weik was up here just a few minutes ago to say hello. A great band leader, and I understand he is becoming active with thoroughbreds. Through the years, I've come to know many racing people personally and have found them just wonderful. I'm pretty well acquainted in Washington with Sonny Workman. He was a really great rider.

Question: Mr. Hoover, I believe you did something for racing in setting up the investigative arm of the TRA, the TRPB?
Answer: Yes, I was given an inkling of certain problems that racing was facing a number of years ago and recommended Spencer J. Drayton as the man to solve those problems. From my observations, Drayton has done a terrific job, so good in fact, that maybe at times he has stepped on somebody's toes. But any time you do a really good job at anything, that is bound to happen. Drayton has put a lot of people out of racing who didn't belong in it. In so doing, he has at times been damned. But at the FBI, we as often judge a man by who is damning him as by who is praising him. An example, the more the Communists damn the FBI, the better the job we must be doing in fighting them, America's number one menace.

Question: Do you have a favorite racetrack?
Answer: Well, Del Mar has a certain charm and it certainly is a contrast to our tracks in the east. But I don't get to many tracks. On Saturdays in Washington, I usually have friends in for breakfast, then drive to the nearest track racing that I'm fond of all the tracks, of course. I seem extra fun perhaps at I get to Charles Town then, and Marlboro. New York I get out to once in a while. I'm no 2 tracks with this limited race, but Del Mar is something extra special, sure and carefree, and bustle and in every most enjoyable. I might say Saturdays of diverse lax from FBI work (mean that I am out of always arrange it so that be reached instantly in needed).

Helping the Youth Question: I understand familiar with Clint Murchison racing at Del Mar for B and wonder if you have lions on this charity aspect.
Answer: Yes, the 5 America is in its youth most every boy must have it could be Jesse James could be George Washington project seems to be work with the government go share and the boys get profits. Whether it would other parts of the country wouldn't know, but at the idea worked out I inc. is magnificent. From racing goes to the next generation which for the community and sure is worth while for. I know Clint Murchison well and I think he would last person in the count such a plan as a clever business subterfuge. It spoke to Murchison 1 years ago about devoting time and help to youth the charitable corporate. Mar is one of his new work helps directly in the nation study, for Cc penetration is currently mainly at labor organization youth organizations.

Final question: Mr. Have you engaged in sport and are you into other sports besides racing?
Answer: Yes, I try but to play well took 1 time. I took three golf and got high blood pressure not being able to mast swing. I like baseball ball as spectator sport even like to look at the matches on TV. Maybe is or isn't on the up-wouldn't know and I because on TV it's a g and that's what I look a good show.

Wonderful People in Racing Question: What about the so-called scandals of the past in racing?
Answer: There have been some bad people in racing but I think they have been pretty well eliminated. Perhaps the racing people are over-sensitive on this subject. You can take it direct from the FBI that no human activity of consequence that is organized has been free of scandal. We've had crooked lawyers, doctors, bankers. Racing seems no worse than anything else. But look at it this way—the wonderful people who are in racing. (At that moment, the familiar Eton blue and brown cap flashed under the wire in front. The FBI man smiled, and said, "Good! First winner I've had all day"). You take C. V. Whitney. He's done a lot for the sport. And Lawrence Weik was up here just a few minutes ago to say hello. A great band leader, and I understand he is becoming active with thoroughbreds. Through the years, I've come to know many racing people personally and have found them just wonderful. I'm pretty well acquainted in Washington with Sonny Workman. He was a really great rider.

Question: Mr. Hoover, I believe you did something for racing in setting up the investigative arm of the TRA, the TRPB?
Answer: Yes, I was given an inkling of certain problems that racing was facing a number of years ago and recommended Spencer J. Drayton as the man to solve those problems. From my observations, Drayton has done a terrific job, so good in fact, that maybe at times he has stepped on somebody's toes. But any time you do a really good job at anything, that is bound to happen. Drayton has put a lot of people out of racing who didn't belong in it. In so doing, he has at times been damned. But at the FBI, we as often judge a man by who is damning him as by who is praising him. An example, the more the Communists damn the FBI, the better the job we must be doing in fighting them, America's number one menace.

Question: Do you have a favorite racetrack?
Answer: Well, Del Mar has a certain charm and it certainly is a contrast to our tracks in the east. But I don't get to many tracks. On Saturdays in Washington, I usually have friends in for breakfast, then drive to the near-

EASTER IS SPECIAL to Mark Wiley, a five-year-old who is particular to have his shoes shined and his hair combed for the occasion. Don Wiley gives the finishing touches to his son's close-cropped hair before Mark dons his coat. They will soon depart from their home on Cornell to attend morning worship.

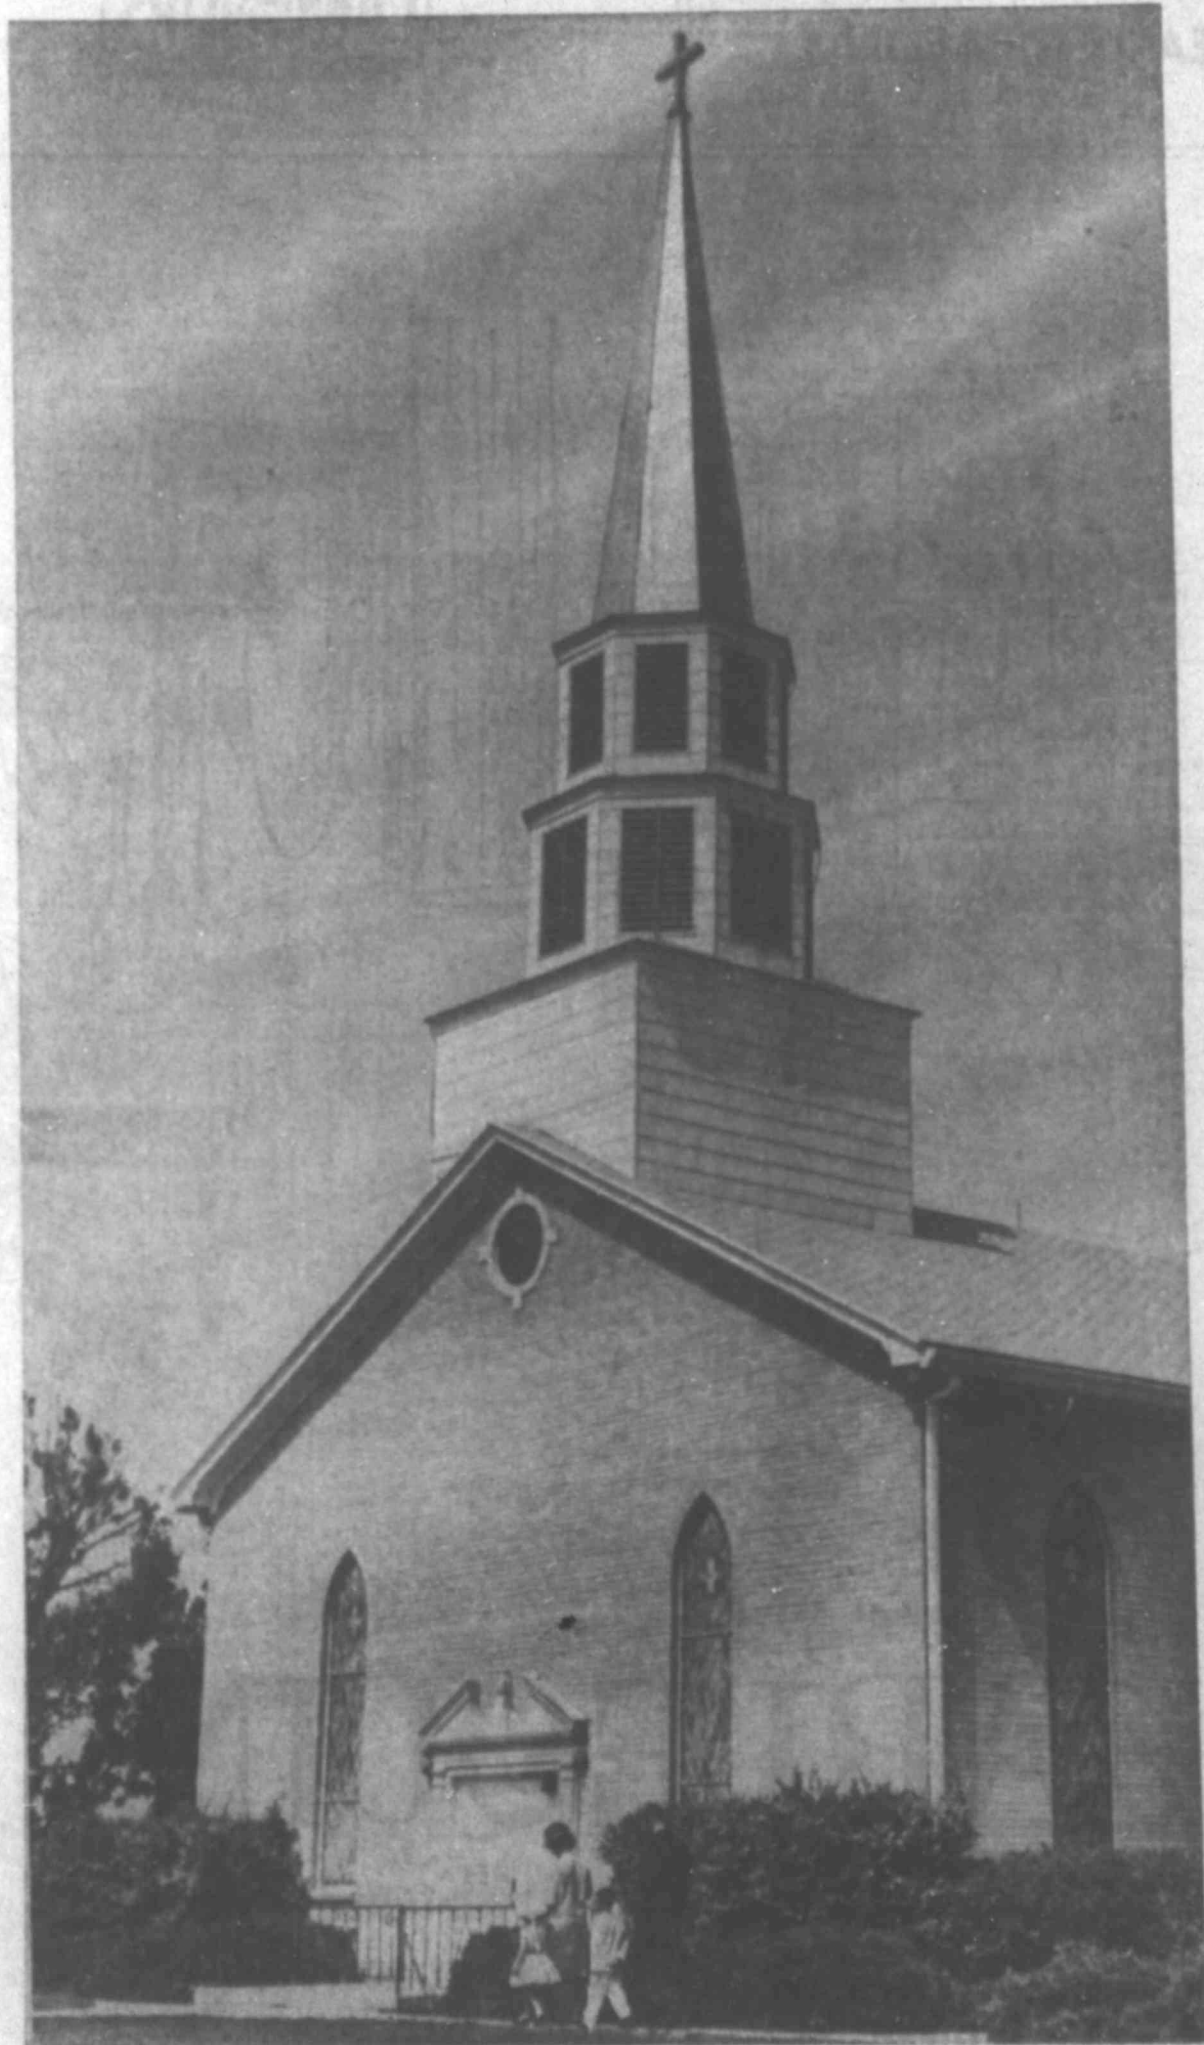

IN HER EASTER BONNET Paula Wiley is the prettiest. Her mother, Mrs. Don Wiley, arranges it just right. Mom made the new velvet trimmed dress which is yellow like the straw in the hat. The black velvet is matched with shiny black patent shoes. Paula, in her finery, will be in step with Mom, who chose a yellow linen suit to wear this Easter morn.

Easter

ARRIVING AT THE CHURCH, Don Wiley assists his wife and children from the family car. Each Sunday they attend worship services at the First Christian Church where Mrs. Wiley is president of the Christian Women's Fellowship, and he serves as a deacon.

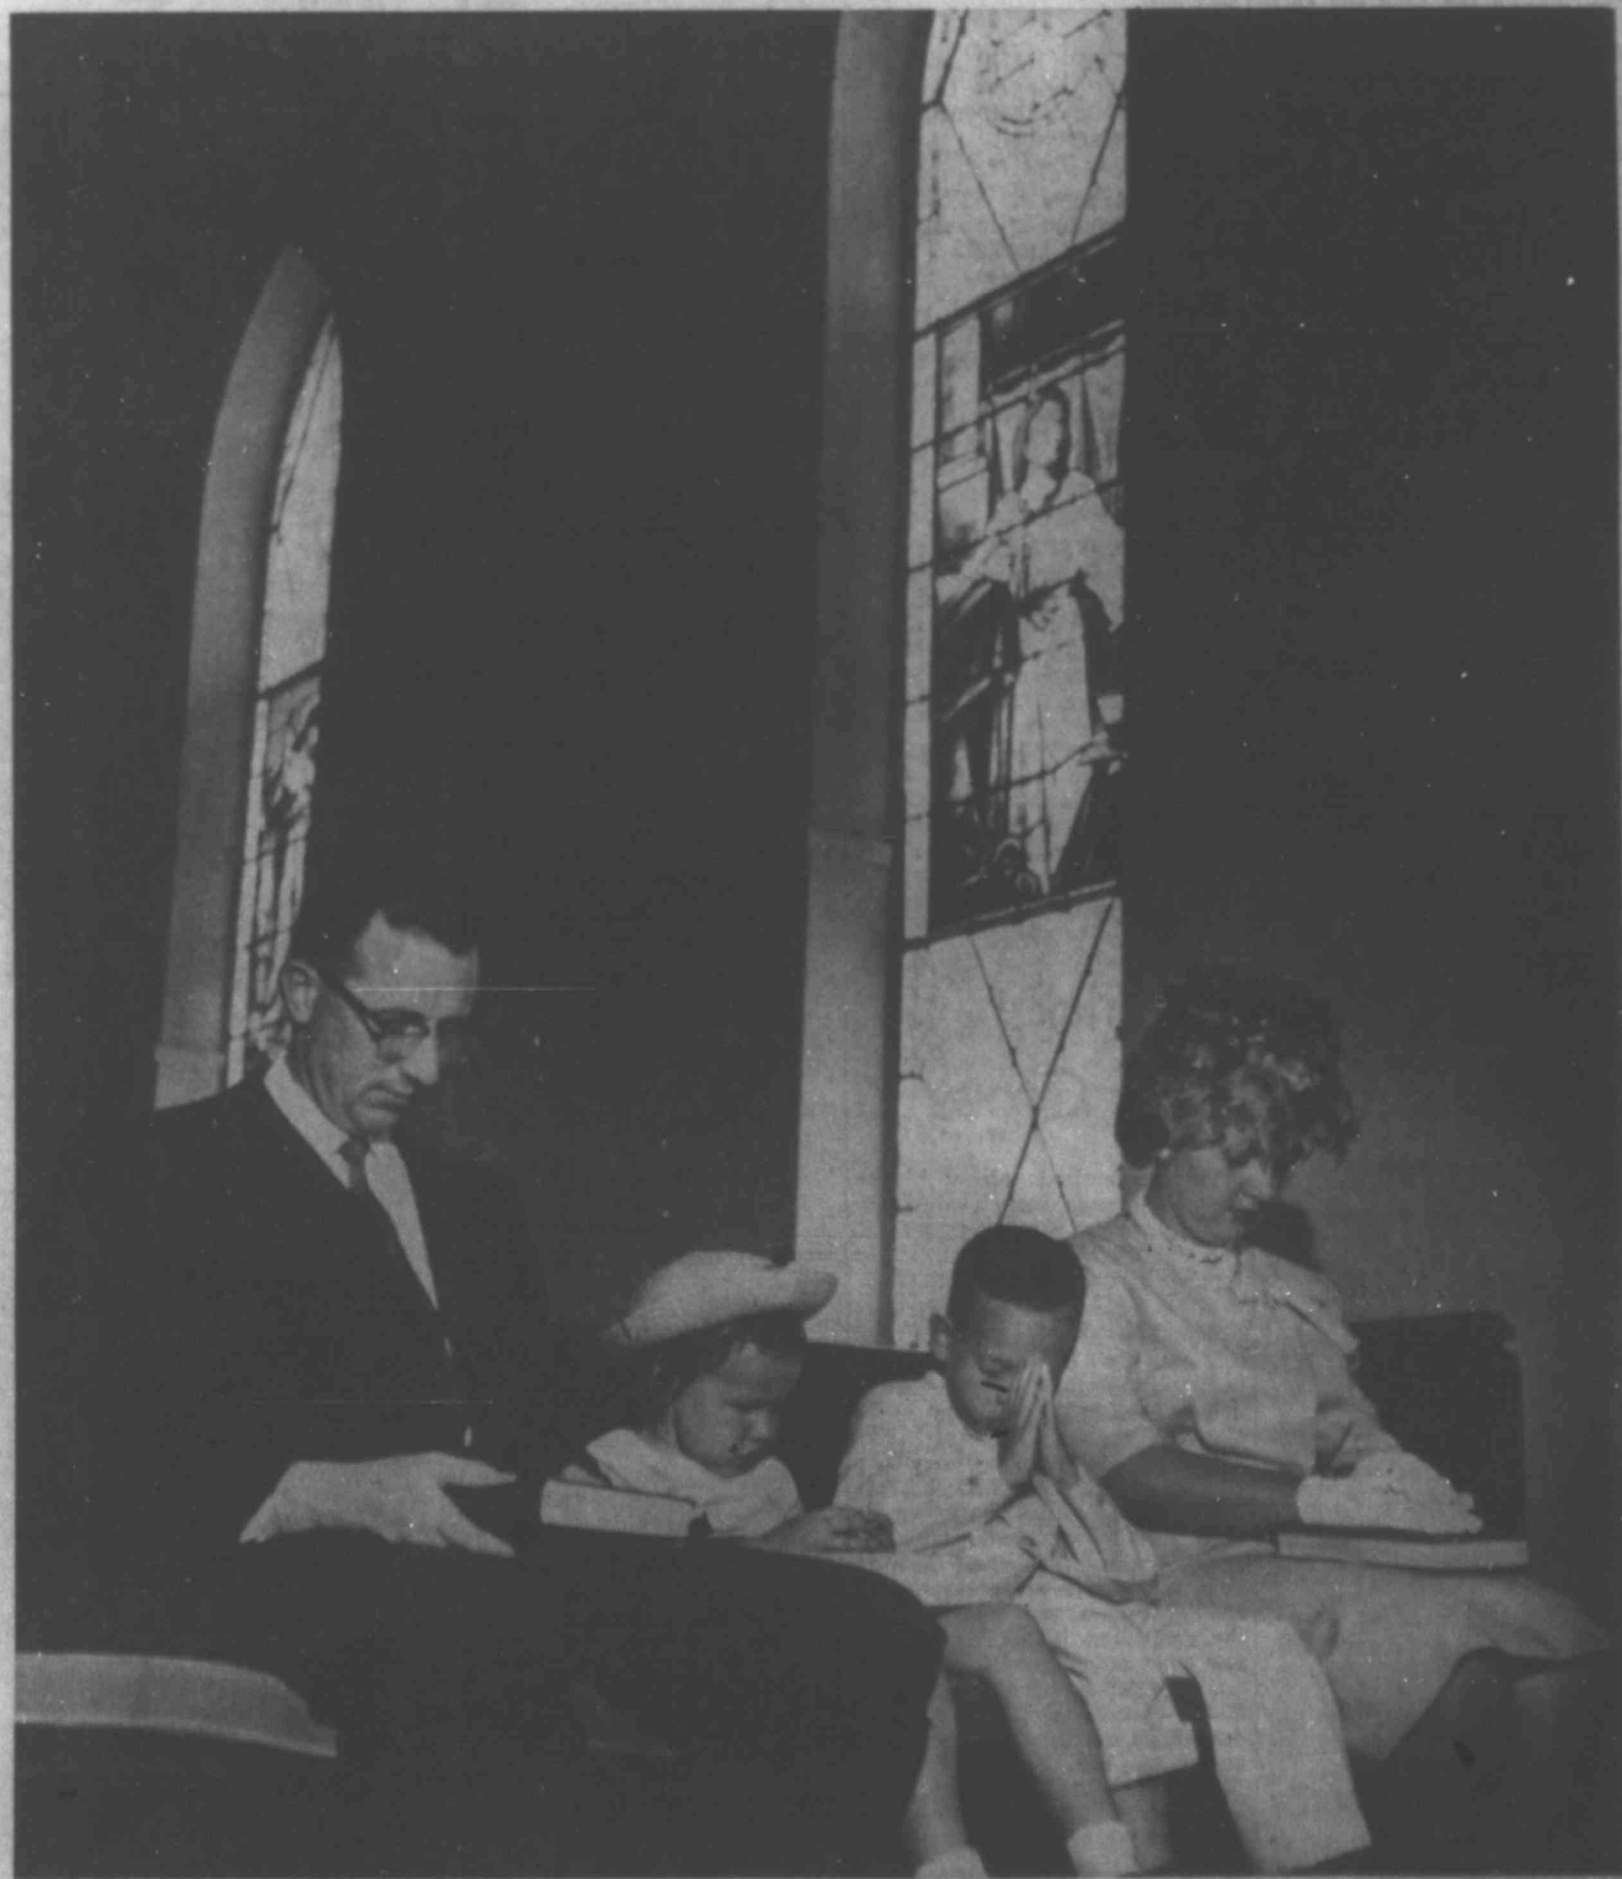

THE STEEPLE AND THE CROSS rising into a wind-swept sky and pointing to the heavens, wonderful and awe-inspiring to the Don Wiley family. The Wileys approach the church with a feeling of reverence and well being. They love and are loved.

A GLORIOUS DAY for the Don Wiley family and Christians throughout the world, heeding the message, "I am the resurrection and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live, and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die"—John: 11-25.

The Zepfs—Minus Dad

Zepf Home Is Unusual With Foreign Items

Mrs. Marvin C. Zepf laughingly says that walking into her home at 18-A Albrook, might be comparable to walking into the League of Nations building. This statement is not so ridiculous as it may sound. She and her husband, Capt. Zepf, who is a pilot instructor at Webb AFB, have lived in so many countries that there is scarcely an item in the house that does not have a story to go with it.

The Zepf family is very unique in its initials. M. C. Zepf's name is Marvin Charles; his wife's is Marian Carter; and their two children, Matthew Clinton who is 3, and Marcia Carol, 4. "Delightful" was the word that Mrs. Zepf used in describing the people of Big Spring. She and her family are not unhappy with the weather here, even the sand storms, which remind them of the "ghibli" in North Africa. The terrain of West Texas reminds them of that in Tripoli.

The Zepfs have just returned from an 18-month stint in Aviano, Italy. They and their children learned to speak Italian. Mrs. Zepf said that they loved Italy and would return there should they have opportunity. She spoke longingly of trips to Venice, which was only an hour away from Aviano. To her one of the favorite aspects of Venice, is shopping from a gondola. She said that Venice is actually just as beautiful as the pictures we see of it.

The Air Force has taken the Zepf family to Tripoli in North Africa for seven months; to Senbach, Germany for seven months; and to Italy for 18 months. Lovely souvenirs from these as well as other places include a mammoth brandy snifter from Spain; a brass set of balance scales from Naples, a huge silver tray from Tripoli; numerous Hummel figurines; cutglass and a sheepskin rug from Germany; white goddess statuettes from Germany; a carved salad set and dining room furnishings from Yugoslavia; and a large leather hassock from Egypt.

Easter Guests In Forsan Homes

FORSAN (SC) — Martha Cowley of Abilene is visiting relatives here from Abilene.

Guests this weekend in the E. M. and Delbert Strickland homes are Mr. and Mrs. Randall Stanton of Peconic; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Strickland and Mr. and Mrs. Quinn Morgan of Andrews. Mrs. D. L. Knight was hostess to the Pioneer Sewing Club in her home with 10 members present. Various types of handwork was done. Mrs. John Kubecka will entertain next on May 1.

Airman S.C. and Mrs. Gary Wiggins and Debbie of Wichita Falls are here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Gooch.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wash and children are in Lamesa for Easter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Archer.

be, a patient, where she was working in an Alabama hospital. They met and married and have been happily engaged in their travels and the rearing of their children ever since.

The Zepfs plan to play a lot of golf and go fishing when time permits. Capt. Zepf's "baby" is his stereo set, which he bought piece by piece overseas, mostly in England.

The family attends Protestant services at Webb AFB Chapel.

Cardwells, Henrys Visit In Big Lake

FORSAN (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cardwell and Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Henry were recent visitors of Mrs. R. L. Shelton of Big Lake.

The Rev. Carl Lee will go to Hobbs, N. M., on Sunday evening to be in a revival in Hobbs Baptist Church next week. Mrs. Lee, Judy and Jason will accompany him. They will visit in Artesia, N. M., with the Rev. Lee's parents.

Sammy Porter and William Hoard are home this weekend from Oklahoma. They were transferred by Continental Oil Company, but their families are remaining in Forsan for the remainder of the school term.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Breithaupt, Beverly and Karen of Odessa are here for several days with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cardwell.

With LUCILLE PICKLE

So early in the morning this Easter, we wonder what the weather will be for the hordes of our people who will be attending the numerous services today at our churches.

With the Easter season coming so very late, it could be a very beautiful day. We have had some most unusual temperatures for this special day, depending on the date. We remember some early ones when the snow fell and chilled the little tykes whose mothers were determined that the baby girls and boys should wear their frilly frocks and short leaved suits. Many's the time the early services at the amphitheatre were attended by young ladies who chose to wear their new spring finery into the early morning cold. The blue of their skin sometimes contrasted violently with the new spring shade of their frocks.

For the first time in our married life we have a beautiful Easter lily for our home... the gift of a sweet young friend. Its presence in the room lends a special feeling of reverence and dignity. I can't remember seeing this type of lily gracing a woman's hat... I hope I don't, if someone has chosen to use it. This type of lily should not be used for anything other than to signify the most beautiful day in the life of Christians.

Speaking of flowers for m-lady's hat, we have some pink hydrangeas that have such huge blossoms they seem to be just ready to place on some fashionable lady's head. Surely here is where the hat designers got the idea of flower hats... although on my head they take on the appearance of my green thumb having a bad bruise.

The RANDALL POLKS departed Saturday morning to drive to Seattle, Wash., where they will visit with her parents, MR. and MRS. DAVE PATTERSON and her sister, MRS. GLORIA HOLT. The visit will, of course, be combined with excursions to Seattle's big attraction, the World's Fair, including its opening. Leaving his wife with her family, Polk plans to fly from Seattle to Anchorage, Alaska, where he will have a few days with his brother, DAMON POLK. The Polks expect to be gone some two or three weeks.

Taking advantage of the holiday the OMAR JONESSES are in Missouri looking over business property.

MR. and MRS. W. W. POSEY and Anne are in Waco for the Easter vacation period.

Spending the weekend at Buchanan Dam are MR. and MRS. ORVILLE SHAPLAND.

MR. and MRS. PAUL RIX and their daughter, MRS. CONNIE WEAVER and her son, Blake, of Odessa visited with us during the week.

Guests of the Sanders family have returned to their California homes after a visit here. They were MRS. WARREN SMITH (Eula Mae) and LT. COL. and MRS. CLIF SANDERS and their children, all of Van Nuys, Calif. They were guests of their parents, MR. and MRS. J. R. SANDERS, DRS. VIRGIL and NELL SAN-DERS and MR. and MRS. HENRY CARPENTER.

MRS. LENA BLANTON, a sister of ALFRED MOODY, left Saturday for her home in San Antonio after a visit of several days with the Moodys.

For the first time in several years, MARTHA KAY BENNETT is back home with her parents, MR. and MRS. DEE BENNETT, for Easter. Martha has been living in Los Angeles, Calif., with her sister. She is back home to stay now.

A. C. (GUS) HART left this morning via train for the T&P hospital in Marshall where he will consult a chiropodist.

At latest reports, JONES LAMAR was continuing to rest satisfactorily at the hospital.

MRS. ZULA REEVES accompanied MRS. CASS HILL on a trip to Oklahoma for the Easter holidays. Mrs. Reeves plans to visit her daughter and family, the CHADD ROCKETTS, in Norman; Mrs. Hill will visit relatives in Oklahoma City.

DR. P. D. O'BRIEN, who comes here this week for a revival meeting, reports from Houston that FORREST GAMBILL is slowly gaining strength, but at best he faces a long and difficult convalescence following amputation of a leg. Cards, letters and prayers have been deeply appreciated, he said. After five consecutive meetings at Colorado City, Alpine, Balingier, Union and Colonial Hill in Snyder and now at Salem, Dr. O'Brien says he is planning to keep at least a week between meetings.

Eliminate Pest Grass

Those oversized green blades peeping through your lovely blanket of lawn are not crabgrass—not yet anyway. That mean little weed is known as wild rye. Crabgrass is not around to bother gardeners until July.

Many yard enthusiasts are truly disheartened when their hours of toil in the soil seem to be literally choking with rye and crabgrass. Is there anything that can be done about it? Of course, there is. Scientists have developed a liquid chemical compound simply called "crabgrass killer." It is sprayed in areas where rye and crabgrass are growing and the compound is not harmful to any other plant growth.

So, gardener, have heart, most of the specimens of wild rye will die out by the time the crabgrass comes up. But, if these dreaded "lawn stragglers" are not killed out, they will take away nine-tenths of the beauty of your lawn.

Serve Pretty Salad

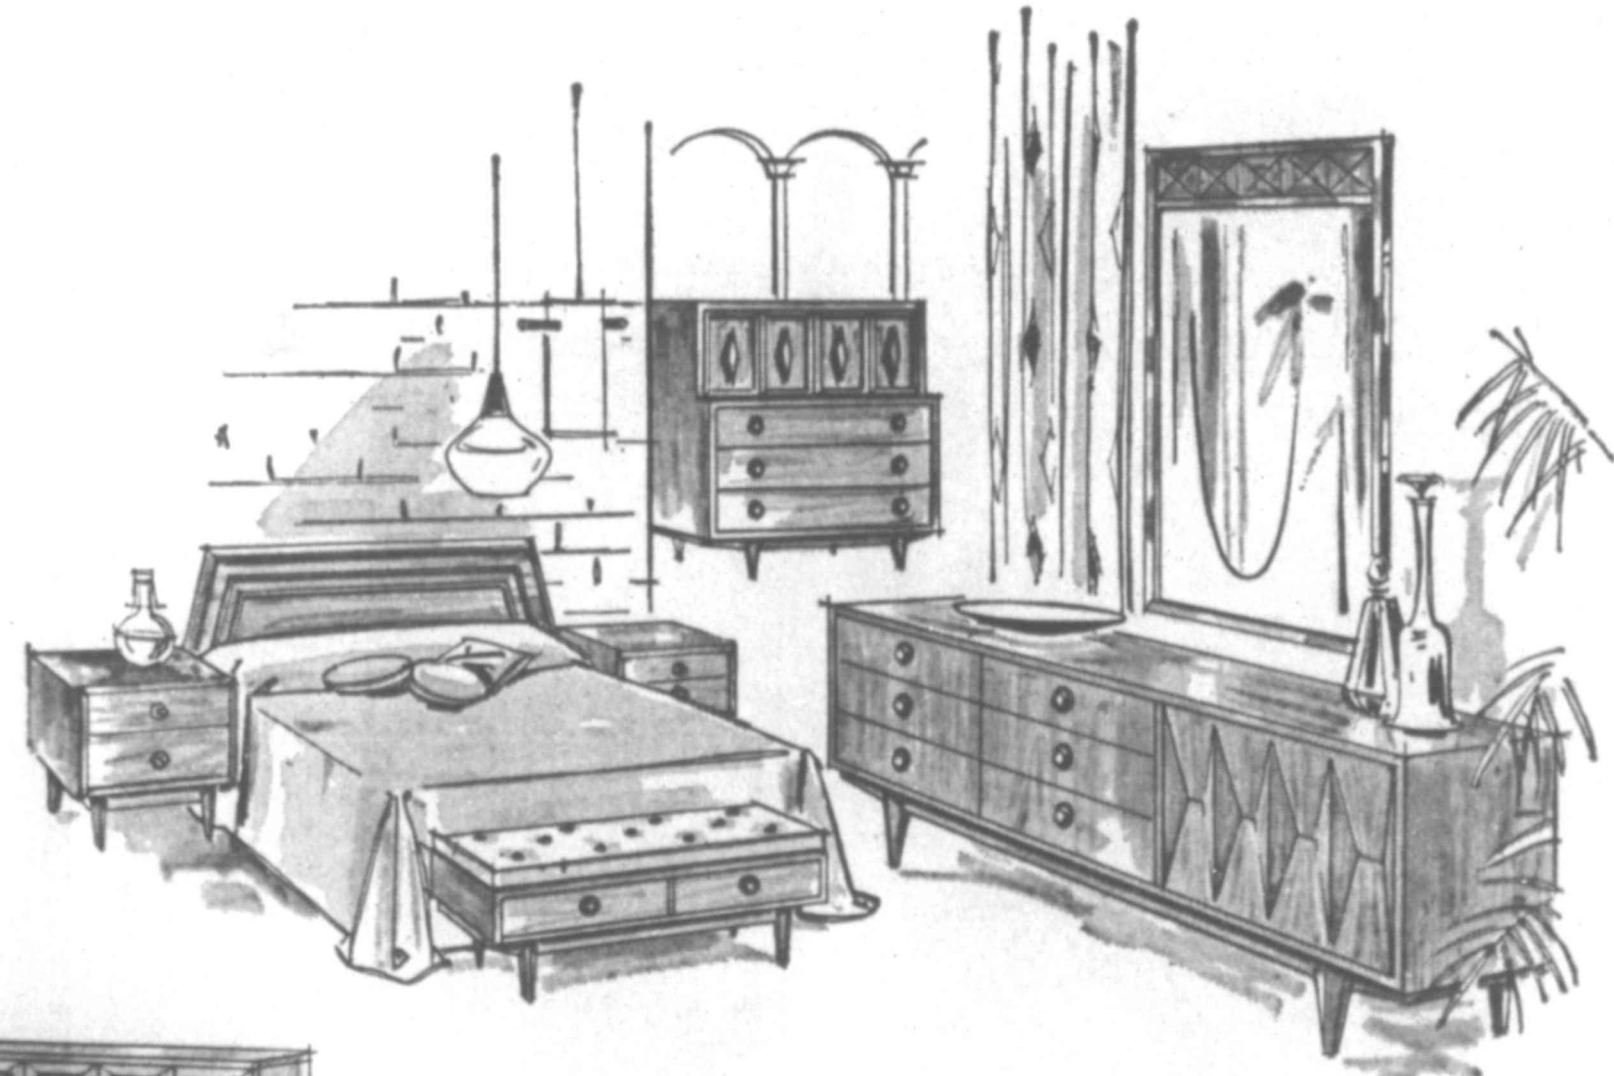

You can usually induce your family to eat tossed green salad (if they're "off it") by adding orange sections, thin fan-shaped slices of red-skinned apple or crescents of avocado.

contemporary correlates of rich-toned walnut with 3-dimensional, solid walnut accents... pieces for every room at modest prices

The doors that give this group its unusual facade are very difficult to illustrate and describe. The doors are concave, sloped to the center from top and bottom and fitted with convex diamonds of polished solid walnut. A striking effect is achieved by the play of light and shadow across the soft finish of the woods. There are many more Harlequin pieces than we have pictured here... pieces for living room, bedroom, dining room. Come see the complete collection. When you see the pieces in person, you'll be amazed by the small price tags.

Happy Is The Easter Day

Blazers and knee length pants, blue slacks and white coat, frills and laces, and little-girl hats on parade today at the Big Spring Country Club. This second annual Toys' Parade features children in their Easter finery, proudly displayed to the tune of "Easter Parade." Kyle and Hayes Stripling III, shown upper right, with a simulated nest of eggs and the traditional Easter bunny. Their blazers are as decorative as the decor itself. . . . Feminine frills and laces, picture upper left, plus a lovely pinafore are becoming to four young ladies, Sharon Godbey, Sue and Ann Garrett and Susan Godbey, left to right. Their piquant hats, flowered bandeau and beribboned pigtails are intriguing. . . . Replendant in short bouffant-skirted dresses, in the lower pictures, are Belle Schwarzenbach and Charlotte Calmes, left to right, with escort. Charlotte's brother, Mike. White rabbits and colored eggs, symbolic of a child's Easter, are noted throughout the club. Music, with Debbie Duncan at the organ was planned to include seasonal selections. Mrs. Charles Rainwater, assisted by Mrs. Hank Godbey, is in charge of the children's event beginning at 1 o'clock during the buffet luncheon for family members and their guests.

Duplicate, Winners Announced

In Big Spring Country Club Duplicate games Friday, 13 tables were in play.

North-south winners were Mrs. Riley Foster and Mrs. Rogers Hefley, first; Mrs. Jack Phinixy and Mrs. Elzie Burleson of Lamesa, second; Mrs. Elvis McCrary and Mrs. Ward Hall, third; Mrs. Truman Jones and Mrs. Charles Tompkins, fourth.

Winners in the east-west division were Mrs. Tom South and Mrs. Hudson Landers, first; Mrs. Travis Reed and Mrs. Hayden Griffith, second; Mrs. C. A. Jones and Mrs. Ayra McGann, third; tied for fourth place were Mrs. William E. Harris and Mrs. Paul Lee, Mrs. R. H. Weaver and Mrs. Gerald Harris.

Roberts-Cramer Vows Repeated In Evening

MRS. MARION MALCOLM ROBERTS

Marriage vows were said by Donna Cramer and Marion Malcolm Roberts Saturday evening in a double ring ceremony in the Coahoma Methodist Church. The Rev. Harold Morris, Bovina, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burrell Cramer, Seenic Drive. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Roberts of Coahoma. The couple repeated vows before an altar centered with a large arrangement of Easter lilies backed by an arch of cathedral tapers in branched candelabra. White wrought iron standards marked the aisle. The altar scene was completed with emerald fern trees. Pews were marked with white satin.

Nuptial music was provided by Louis Loveless, vocalist, who sang "O Promise Me," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." He was accompanied on the organ by Linda Thomas.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white chantilly lace over white satin. The scalloped neckline, trimmed with pearls and sequins, was accented with long petal-point sleeves. A bouffant bustle was formed by lace and satin roses and the skirt extended into a chapel train. The fingertip veil of silk illusion was held by a crown of seed pearls and sequins. The bride carried on a white Bible a bouquet of fringed white carnations centered with white orchids in a shower of picot satin.

For something old and borrowed, she wore her mother's wedding ring; something new, her wedding gown and a diamond wedding bell necklace, a gift of the bridegroom; something blue, a friendship garter, worn previously by Mrs. Lewis Petrecky, for luck, birthdate pennies in her shoes.

The bride's attendants were Johnnie Lou Nichols, maid of honor, and Margaret House, niece of the bride, bridesmaid. They were identically attired in turquoise brocade cotton dresses fashioned with bell shaped skirts and scooped necklines. Accessories were all in turquoise.

Cynthia Roberts, niece of the bride, served as flower girl, wearing a white dress covered with a turquoise organza duster. Ring bearer was Danny Thomas, nephew of the bridegroom.

Jack Burkholder, student at the University of Texas, served as best man. Groomsmen were Butch House, nephew of the bride, and Larry Roberts, nephew of the bridegroom. Taper lighters were Dub House and Phil Cochran.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Charlene Brock, grandmother of the bride, of San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Roberts, David and Evelyn of Marfa; Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Weaver, Susan and Karol of Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edens, of Buchanan Dam.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Robert Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Jody Pederson, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Compton and Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Stanley, all of Midland.

Parents of the couple and the bride's attendants formed the receiving line at a reception held in Fellowship Hall of the church.

The refreshment table was laid with a floor length satin cloth with a net overlay featuring rows of tiny ruffles and white satin bows and streamers.

Engagement Announced

The engagement of Miss Jacquelyn Clark and Robby Allen is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oliver Clark, 2103 Morrison Drive, parents of the bride-elect. Allen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Allen, 1630 East 17th. A mid-summer wedding is planned for July 13, at the First Christian Church.

Squeaky Floors Are Problem To Homeowner

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

One of the most common problems of home owners is that of squeaky floors. While this condition is most prevalent in older houses, it is surprising how many times it occurs in homes which have been lived in a short time.

Squeaks result from the failure of the nails to remain tightly in position as a result of moisture or temperature changes. Loose flooring then rubs against the nails or against itself. The solution, then, is to anchor the flooring more tightly to the subfloor and joists.

For do-it-yourselfers, the usually advocated way to accomplish this is to drive more nails through the flooring into the joists in the areas where the squeaks are occurring. It is recommended that the nails be driven in pairs, each nail slanted towards the other, so that, together, they form a V.

If this is done properly, elimination of the squeaks is likely. But there is always the possibility that further changes in the moisture content of the wood will bring a return of the original troublesome condition.

One way to insure increased holding power and thus prevent future trouble is by using threaded nails. The Wood Research Laboratory at Virginia Polytechnic Institute conducted a series of tests and found that threaded nails not only gave more initial holding power, but had increased withdrawal resistance as the wood became more seasoned. A technical expert on the subject, Arthur Tisch, pointed out that threaded nails can be driven home easier and with less chance of splitting the wood.

MRS. JAMES VAN BUREN MASSEY JR.

Miss Hinton Marries In Afternoon Service

An afternoon ceremony at Watson Chapel, University Baptist Church, Fort Worth, united Miss Deidra Suzanne Hinton and James Van Buren Massey Jr. The 4 o'clock service was read by the Rev. James G. Harris, pastor of the University Church.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph French Hinton, 804 Main, has been making her residence in Fort Worth. Also of Fort Worth, Massey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James V. Massey of Waco.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride entered the chapel wearing an original Bianchi designed sheath of ivory reem-broidered Alencon lace over peau de soie. The fitted bodice was styled with demi-scoop neckline finished with scallops of lace. Also scalloped, the cap sleeves complemented long imported kid gloves. Iridescent detailed the bodice and the waistline was defined by a contoured inset of peau de soie with peau flower to one side. The sheath skirt was cut with scalloped hemline. A coil of Alencon lace secured the shoulder length veil of illusion. Her jewelry was a pair of cultured pearl earrings and a gold wedding band which belonged to her great-grandmother.

With a lace covered Bible, she carried sprays of valley lilies. Miss Pat Wallis of Dallas, maid of honor, was attired in moss green silk organza styled with scooped neckline, short sleeves and bell-shaped skirt. Her short gloves were of white kid and her headdress, also moss green. She carried a nosegay of violets.

RECEPTION
A reception was held at the Junior Woman's Club in Fort Worth. The bride's table was spread with floor-length cloth of nylon tulle over taffeta with swags of matching tulle. Appointments were of silver and the wedding cake was three-tiered, frosted white and embossed in green. An all-white arrangement of spring flowers formed the centerpiece.

Serving in the houseparty were Mrs. Joe R. Sherrod of Fort Worth; Mrs. James B. Sberburn of Norman, Okla.; Mrs. Harold Thomson of Breckenridge; Miss Marie Massey of Houston, a sister of the bridegroom; and Miss Evelyn Quinn of Fort Worth.

Leaving afterward on a wedding trip to Jamaica, British West Indies, the bride chose for travel a pink-colored silk ensemble with harmonizing accessories. The couple will return to reside at 2908 Prevost, Fort Worth.

A graduate of Ahlens High School and North Texas State University, the bride is a member of the Advisory Board of the Fort Worth Delta Gamma Alumnae Chapter and a member of the Junior Woman's Club, Fort Worth. She was formerly employed at Big Spring Herald in the woman's department. For the past four and one-half years she has been reporter and fashion writer at the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Massey graduated from Waco High School and Texas A. and M. College where he was president of the student chapter of the Institute of the Aerospace Sciences and Student Engineering Council. He was also named distinguished student at A. and M. He is now a senior structures engineer at General Dynamics, Fort Worth.

Mrs. C. L. (Pete) Cook is completing her term as president of the 1953 Hyperion Club. Born in Fort Worth, Mrs. Cook completed public schools in that city and continued her education at Texas Tech where she received her degree in business. It was at Tech where she met and married her husband. Both were graduated in 1950. They are the parents of two children, their son, Cliff, who is 11, and daughter, Cynthia, aged 8. The family resides at 1606 Runnels and attends First Methodist Church. Mrs. Cook is immediate past president of The Potpourri and the Lions Auxiliary; past vice president of College Heights P.T.A.; co-leader for the Goliad Ninth Grade Tri-Hi-Y; and a YMCA youth committee member. She and her husband are members of the Cotillion Club.

Rebekah Lodge Has A Session

KNOTT (SC) — Knott Rebekah Lodge met Thursday evening at the IOOF Hall with six members present. Mrs. Alton Chapman, Noble Grand, presided.

Mrs. W. M. Nichols is a patient in the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jeffcoat and Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Nichols visited her on Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Little have returned from a clinic in Temple.

Friday Breakfast Is Annual Event

The Fairview Home Demonstration Club members were guests at a Good Friday breakfast in the home of Mrs. W. H. Ward. She has made an annual event of the breakfast for more than 15 years. Group pictures were taken of 24 members and guests, including Mrs. A. D. Dodson and Mrs. Maude Holcomb of Snyder.

The Tom Spells Visit Parents

FORSAN (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. Tom Spell and daughters and his sister, Gloria Spell, are with their parents for the holidays in Stephenville.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Ferguson and Patricia are in Shep with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Hanson.

Mr. and Mrs. James Blake and Scottie are with their parents in Brownwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Glyndol Snodgrass and daughter are visiting their parents in Brady.

Mrs. Joe T. Holliday and Helen are in Midland for the Easter holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Glenn.

Politicians In Homestretch For First Primary Votes

By SAM BLACKBURN

Politicians, with the first primary election just over the hill, are girding themselves for the last minute push for votes.

Office seekers at the county level are depressed by the low-level interest being displayed by local voters. They complain that other than for themselves, no one seems interested in the outcome of May 5 voting.

The last 12 days before the first primary will be of particular importance. Voters, politicians feel, who have not as yet worked up any enthusiasm for the election, may now feel faint stirrings of interest.

The final political rally of the campaign is to be on Saturday night, April 28. It will be a big barbecue at Forsan, sponsored by the Forsan Service Club. Every candidate for local office plans to be on hand for this event.

Ballots are on hand for both the Democratic and Republican voting on May 5. The Republican ballots list the party's state office candidates and has a blank space for all of the local offices which are at stake. The suggestion that the Republican voter write in his choice for these posts is evident.

54 ABSENTEE VOTES

Through Friday there have been 54 absentee votes cast. Of this total only three were Republican voters. Deadline from absentee voting runs through May 1.

Meantime, some of the voting booths which are to be used for the first time in this county at the May 5 primary have been delivered. The Commissioners Court ordered 54 booths and two have been set up in the clerk's office for use by any absentee voter who desires.

Ralph Hughes, County Republican committee chairman, said that he has contacted the members of his party whom he has asked to serve as precinct officers and workers. The Republicans are holding their first primary election in this county this year.

Hughes has arranged with the county judge to allocate four rooms in four corners of the court house for the convenience of Republican voters. One room will serve residents of each of the four commissioners precincts.

Frank Hardesty, county Democratic committee chairman, said that all preliminary arrangements for the May 5 voting by his party have been completed.

He called attention of candidates to the law which requires that a sworn statement of election campaign expenses be filed with the county clerk on April 25.

16 BOXES

All officials for the Democratic primary voting have been named and will be on duty. The voting, as usual, will be in the 16 voting boxes in the county. Both the Republican and Democratic voting places will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. on election day.

Warning has been sounded to all voters who have moved from the precinct in which they were residing at the time their poll tax was paid to obtain a transfer to their new voting district.

Political observers are puzzled on how to predict the possible vote turnout. Total number of potential voters as shown by the official poll tax report is 9,519. This is a slightly larger total than in 1960 but nowhere near being a record.

This year, the state is electing a new governor and usually the interest in this race is enough to materially accelerate the voter turnout.

In Howard County, local political interest seems to be low and what little there is focuses on the county judge's race, the two county commissioners court seat races.

In recent days, increased attention has been centered on the race for judge of the 118th District Court.

The two candidates for this post are waging a vigorous campaign and are regarded by many veteran observers as remarkably well matched as campaigners.

CANDIDATES

Ralph Caton, who is now judge and who is seeking his first full elective term, is opposed by Harvey Hooser Jr., local attorney. Hooser is a former county attorney and is an active campaigner. Caton, too, has been extremely active in pursuit of votes. Three counties are served by the 118th District Court — Howard, Martin and Glasscock. However, the outcome of the election will be in the hands of Howard County voters where the bulk of the population is found. Hooser is a lifetime resident of Howard County. Caton formerly served as county attorney of Martin County.

Another race attracting some interest as the deadline nears for the May 5 primary is the contest between Ed Carpenter and David Read, contending for the 78th Legislative District seat.

Here, too, more territory than this county is involved. The district includes Howard, Martin, Sterling, Glasscock, Reagan, Coke and Irion counties.

Read is present legislator and seeks re-election. Carpenter is now county judge. Both men are making vigorous campaign efforts.

USUALLY LAGS

Political enthusiasm usually lags in elections where the office of sheriff is not on the ballot. In such years, the voters usually manifest most interest in the county commissioner's races. This seems to be the case in this election. The sheriff's office is not at stake and two county commissioners are being nominated. The two vacancies to be filled are Commissioner Precinct 2 and Commissioner Precinct 4.

Both incumbents are running for re-election and both have drawn sizable fields of opponents. Ralph White, commissioner from Precinct 2, is running against four opponents — R. C. Nichols, John Nutt, Dwight B. McCann, and Max Thomas.

L. J. Davidson, commissioner from Precinct 4, has five men after his job — R. S. (Red) McCullah, C. L. (Jack) Roden, John W. Ray Sr., E. C. Reeves, and Raymond River.

These contests, naturally, are confined to the territorial boundaries of the respective commissioners districts which reduces the vote total under that in county-wide races. However, in this county where each of the county commissioners districts cut deeply into Big Spring, the vote potential is sizeable.

In the 1960 general election when commissioners from Precincts 1 and 3 were elected, the vote was slightly more than 2,000 in each of the precincts.

IS CHEATING DISHONEST?

Students Give Surprising Answers To Questionnaire

By LYNN CLAWSON

Are most of the students in Big Spring High School dishonest?

Consider these replies to a questionnaire recently answered by 59 per cent of the students now enrolled. Names were not signed.

Asked if they had ever cheated on an examination, 85 per cent said yes. Another 73 per cent said they would cheat again if they had the opportunity.

Seventy per cent of those answering the questions said they would copy another's homework, if given a chance, and nine out of 20 replied they would lend their homework to another student to be copied.

In spite of these replies, 76 per cent of the students stated they believed themselves to be basically honest; 15 per cent consider themselves completely honest; only five per cent call themselves dishonest.

As the student progresses in high school, apparently his outlook toward honesty changes as well.

For instance, one question asked: "If your neighbor needed help on a test and you knew that you could aid him without being caught, would you do so?" Eighty-one per cent of the sophomores would lend the neighbor a hand; 79 per cent of the juniors would assist; but only 70 per cent of the seniors admit they would help out.

Asked if they ever had copied another student's homework, the answers indicate it may be just a matter of learning the ropes.

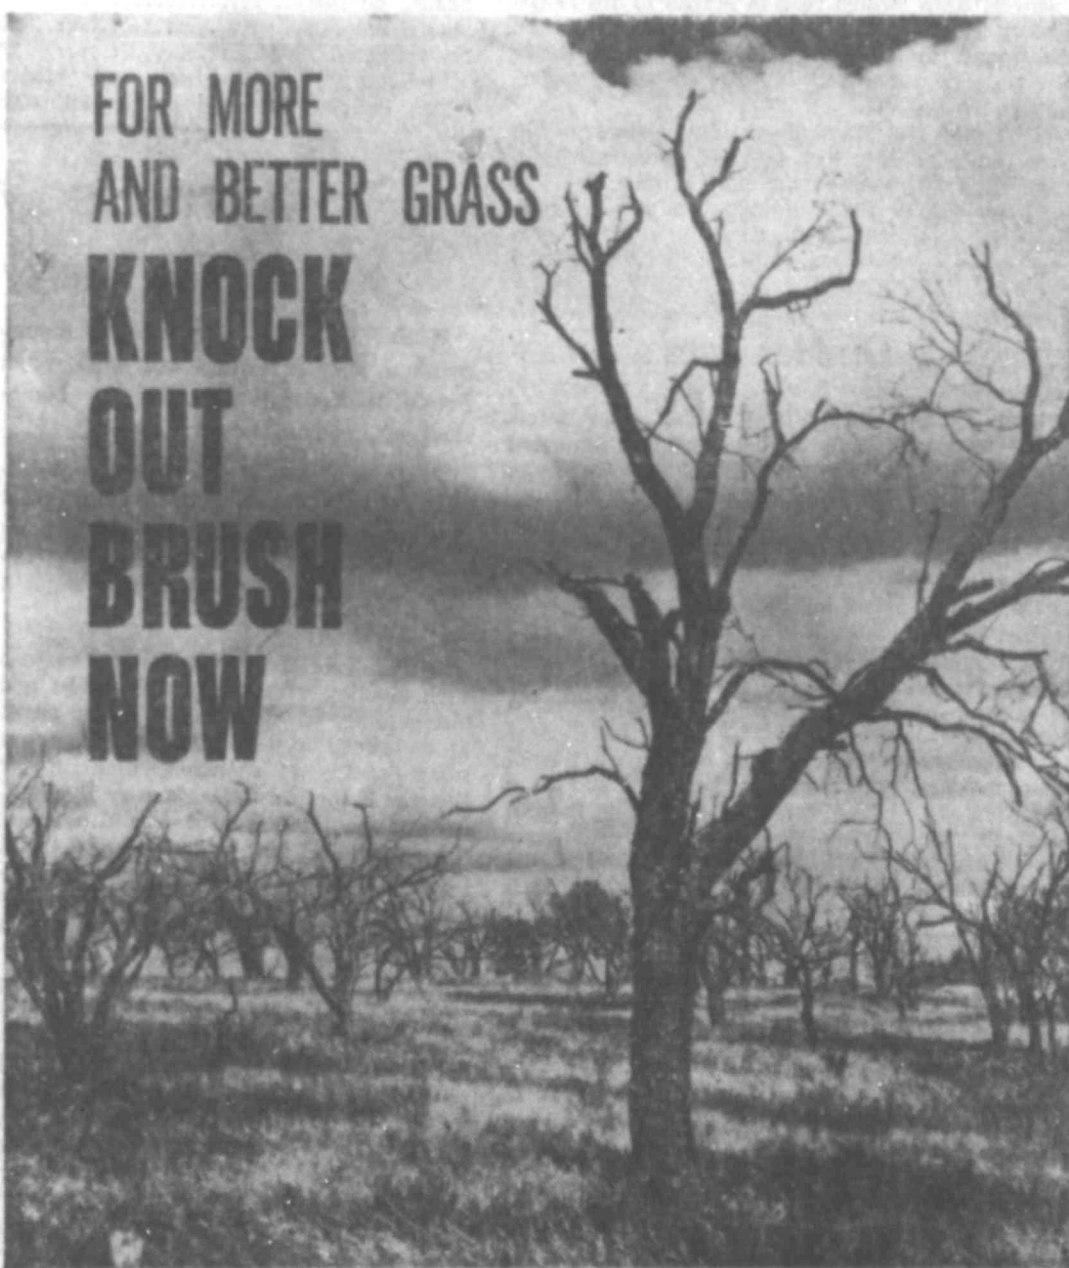

In the sophomore class, 22 per cent have never received help; in the junior class it is only 18 per cent; and it drops to 16 per cent in the senior class.

Turning to borrowing and lending homework, only 52 per cent consider it dishonest. Asked to explain this, a variety of answers were given.

In remarks for their answers, students had these things to say: "It is . . . helping . . . following the golden rule . . . a way to make a good grade."

A large number said that it was not dishonest, but it would be cheating.

This brings up another question entirely — is cheating no longer dishonest?

2, 4, 5-T HERBICIDE FOR BRUSH AND WOODY PLANTS

Rangelands and pastures produce more grass when brush control is practiced as a part of range management. R-H Brush-Rhap, applied by airplane or ground spray equipment, provides economical and practical control of mesquite, shinnery oak, prickly pear, catclaw, tasajillo and other brush that is injurious to stock and robs the soil of precious moisture and plant nutrients.

R-H Brush-Rhap contains 4 pounds 2, 4, 5-T acid equivalent per gallon. It is formulated for convenient application in oil or water. Shinnery oak and mesquite can be controlled with 1/2 pound per acre, allowing good release of perennial grasses the first year after spraying. For more and better grass, knock out brush now with R-H Brush-Rhap. Available through better dealers everywhere.

Adult Classes To Begin This Week

Adult informal education courses begin at the Big Spring YMCA almost every day this week, according to Francis Flint, general secretary.

Advanced bridge begins Thursday at 10 a.m. Mrs. Elmo Wasson will be the instructor. The course is for experienced players who are interested in developing a more complete knowledge of bidding and fundamentals. The fee is $5 for Y members and $10 for others.

The Rev. Al Seddon will teach a class in advanced Spanish Thursday at 7:30 p.m. It is for persons who have just completed the beginner's course or who have some reading or speaking Spanish ability. It is free to Y members and costs $6 for non-members.

Ballroom dancing classes will be held each Friday at 7:30 p.m. Instruction includes the tango, fox trot, twist, rumba and waltz. Mrs. Ora Burson will be the instructor. The fee is $6 for each Y member couple and $12 for other couples.

Women may enroll in a fashion design course to be taught by Mrs. Glen Earhart. The class will be conducted each Thursday at 7:30 p.m. There is no fee for Y members, except for materials. Non-members must pay $6, plus materials.

An advanced ceramics class is planned, but the date to meet has not yet been set. Persons interested should call the Y for information, Flint said. It will probably be held on Monday's or Tuesday's.

Other classes already in progress are a ladies trim - fit class, ladies learn - to - swim, ladies advanced swim and the adult physical fitness clinic. For information on these courses, contact the Y.

Sgt. Young Gets Outstanding Award

T. Sgt. Roy M. Young, of the Consolidated Aircraft Maintenance Squadron, at Webb AFB, was recently awarded the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award, for serving with 618th Tactical Fighter Squadron.

Working as flight chief with the squadron for over five years, the sergeant was honored at ceremonies in the office of Lt. Col. Leonard R. Einstein, M&S Group Commander. The 618th Tactical Fighter Sq., was home based at England AFB, La., and deployed on a NATO exercise to Greece. The sergeant served with this unit from 1955-60, just prior to his Webb assignment.

A Devotional For Today

He is not here; for he is risen, as he said. (Matthew 28:6.)
PRAYER: O Savior, grant us the blessing promised those who have not seen Thee, yet believe Thou art risen. Make Thyself known to us in the breaking of our daily bread. Take all our labor into Thy sacramental hands and use it for the feeding of many souls, to the glory of Thy name. Amen.
 (From The 'Upper Room')

Yet There Is Hope

Each age breeds its own urgencies, and each current crisis rises on the ashes of the old. Each day's doom seems deeper than the one before; each new despair the tallest peak of all.
 And thus in our fleeting flash of history, our tiny fraction of time, the compression of man's failures, his fears, his foibles and frustrations.
 In all that we face, how easy is the cynic's out, the shrug to yield in submission to the great dead-end of time.
 Yet there is hope.
 And hope can keep alive the fires of righteous fight, the powers of victory.

Hope can make a man much bigger than he is and help him rise above the shackles of his time. Hope can strike his spark to eternity.
 In this Easter Day there is the endless gleam of hope, the assurance that life is on either side of death, that those whose faith is pure are not born to fear.
 While each age may hear the trumpet to retreat and feel the urge to cease the fight, the waves of hope which ring from out the empty tomb can stir us to stand . . . to stand in pride that God cares for us, yet humbly stand in gratitude of His eternal love.

Disposing Of The Appealed Cases

Only a real concern for the public welfare is going to bring about correction of the state of affairs which has created the pile-up of appealed cases — nearly all of them on traffic violations — from the corporation court to the county court.
 The defendants are happy with the situation, because the longer their cases go, the less the odds for a conviction. The lawyers are happy about it, because they have accomplished with a minimum of work what they were supposed to accomplish — protect their clients' interests. The public officials (other than the policemen who do the arresting and see their work go to naught) can't be very unhappy about it, because it has meant little work.
 In fairness to all concerned, there has been a difference of opinion as to where the responsibility lies in the handling of these cases.

 The attorney general has ruled on the question, and the answer is at hand. So the county judge and the county attorney are faced with a chore which goes with duties of their offices.
 This is not to single out our own officials. The flood of traffic appeals growing in every Texas county, and the unfortunate "merit system" on automobile insurance can take most of the blame. This statute itself, in our opinion, ought to be corrected.
 Meanwhile, city court convictions are here, appeals have been filed, and every essence of fairness in law enforcement, in effective jurisprudence and in the public good demands that they be disposed of. It's a forbidding task, but our conscientious public officials can be expected to tackle it, with vigor and with promptness.

How Far Does President's Power Go?

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy tried in his Wednesday press conference to "butter up" American business, including the steel companies. He said there was no ill will toward anybody and that there was no room on either side for "any feelings of hostility or vindictiveness."
 But, unfortunately, the President nullified much of what he said when he refused to answer a reporter's question as to how he would treat labor unions if they do the same thing the steel companies did — namely, if they make demands for wage increases that go beyond the administration's formula for a "hold the line" or stabilization program.

THE REPORTER'S question was as follows:
 "Assuming that a price increase in steel would eventually be necessary and justified, do you have any thoughts as to how this price increase should be reached? And, secondly, if some major labor union made excessive demands for wage increases, would you move as sharply against that union as you did last week against steel?"
 The exact record of what the President said in reply was as follows:

"WELL, TO TAKE the second part first, we had worked very closely with the steel union in an attempt to persuade them that it was in their interest and the country's interest to meet the standards set by the Council of Economic Advisors, and it was done. And that is why this matter came into particularly sharp focus last week."

Mr. Kennedy pleaded that he doesn't really have the "power" to restrain wage increases. Actually, he has no legal power to restrain price rises either. Mr. Kennedy seemed to sidestep the point made by one of the reporters that, by holding the line, he was actually fixing prices.

THE PRESIDENT insisted that he had merely attempted to put before the parties on both sides the importance of the public interest, and he did say that the interrelationship of various factors makes the public interest "mandatory" in these matters.

Mr. Kennedy nevertheless did not hesitate last week to use all the pressure and power of the United States government to force the steel companies to reduce from their announcement of a price increase. There is no power to do this under the law, but he applied it nevertheless.

MR. KENNEDY'S remarks were particularly unsettling, however, when he discussed future profits and productivity. He gave the impression that shareholders should be content with a record of high returns on their investment during the last few years. He said nothing about the current situation, in which the value of the stock held by U.S. Steel shareholders is approximately $63, compared to $100 two years ago.

 Mr. Kennedy also seems to think that the steel industry would get a $500 million increase in profits when steel production goes up to 85 or 90 per cent of capacity. But nobody in the steel business expects any such result as this for a long time to come. In fact, the realistic experts among them say that what's important is not the total amount of profits, but the return per shareholder. They also say that a better way to measure progress is by the rate of return on sales which the steel companies receive. The industry figures show that in the last four or five years these percentages have been steadily going downhill.

A NEWSWORTHY piece of information in the President's press conference was his admission that at no time during the administration's discussion with the steel companies, before the decision was reached to raise prices, was there any assurance given that there would or would not be a price increase. One of the reporters had asked whether such assurances were given, either directly or indirectly, because the day the contract was ratified the President had stated that the settlement was "non-inflationary." Mr. Kennedy replied finally that they "were not asked and they were not given."

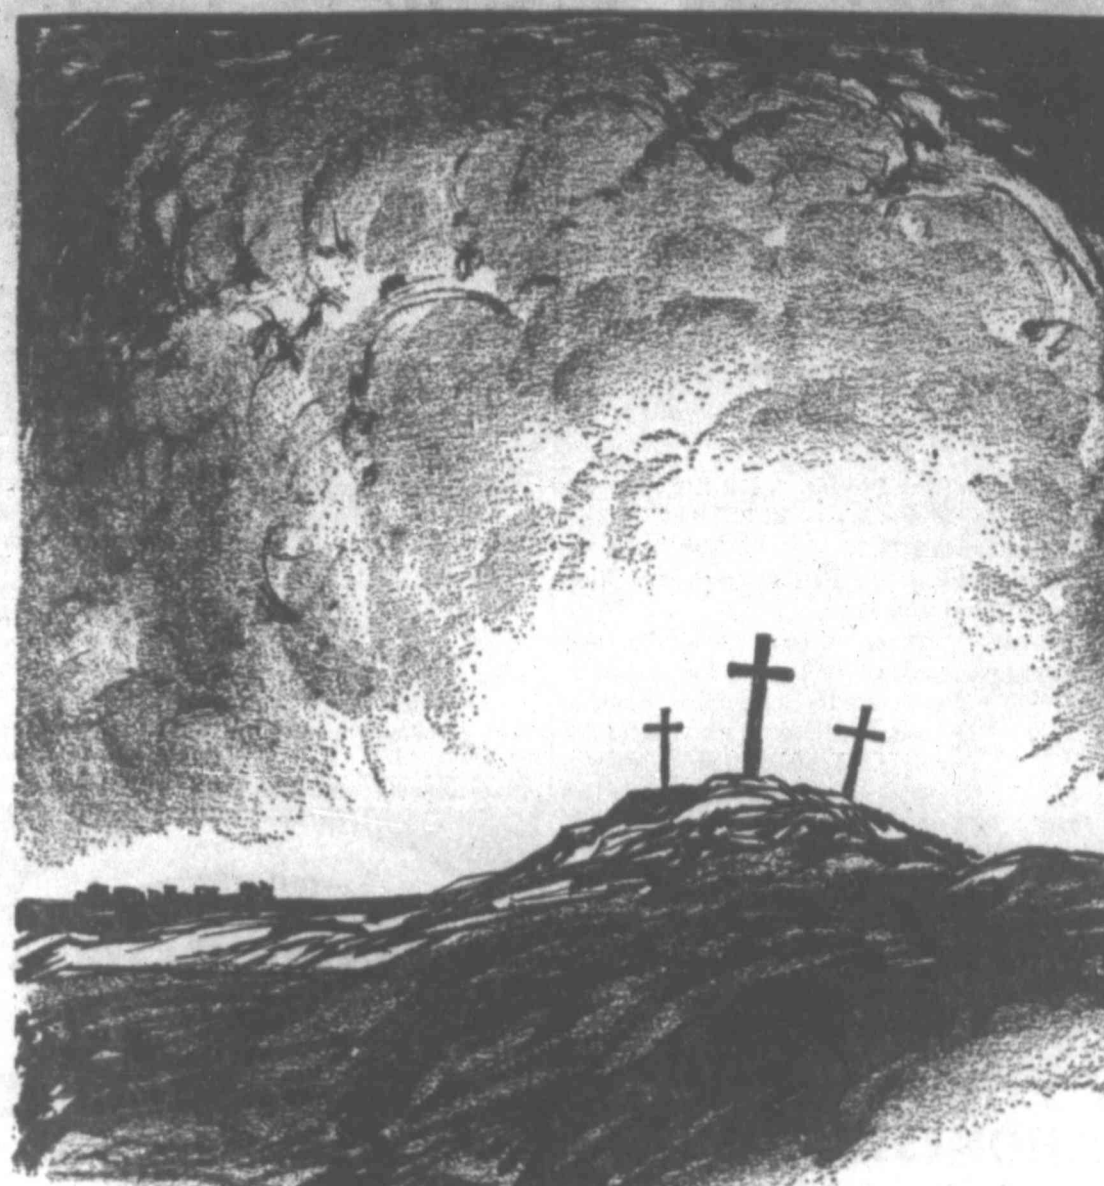

The foregoing is an example of what American business is up against. The President himself hasn't revealed clearly just what happened in his attempts to get a "non-inflationary" settlement, or the kind of pressure he used in coercing the steel companies to withdraw their price increase.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Joseph R. L. Sterne, writing from Nigeria, tells the story of Charles L. Davis, an American poultry specialist, a Negro who once taught at Princess Anne on the Eastern Shore. For the past two years, sent out by the American Agency for International Development, he has been a one-man task force bent on revolutionizing poultry raising in Nigeria.
 Here, as in most of the under-developed countries, food supply for the ordinary people is skimpy and badly assorted. Here, as in most of them, it is not lack of land but ignorance that holds down production; ignorance of the principles of good husbandry plus bad seed for planting and scrubby blood lines in farm animals.

What Mr. Davis is doing is to correct that in Nigeria so far as poultry is concerned. . . Mr. Davis is showing the Nigerians how to raise Rhode Island Reds, and the results of his demonstration are spreading in concentric circles.
 In a land where eggs and broilers are often a drug on the market, this may seem a small thing. In Nigeria, it is a big thing. It adds protein to an unbalanced diet greatly in need of it. It starts a new cash crop. It takes peasant farming a step beyond the struggle for mere subsistence. It starts minds working and dispels suspicion and hostility.

There is glamor in the plans for equipping countries like Nigeria with steel mills, great dams and aluminum plants. But their appeal is more to the ruling elite in these new countries than to the humble. There is glamor, too, in the arrival of shipsloads of food labeled "Aid from U.S.A." But for the hungry and ignorant chained to a life of bare subsistence on the land there is greater glamor still in the elementary revelations of men like Mr. Davis. This is the kind of aid that brings fast results at minimum cost.

HOPE AND STRENGTH FOR 2000 YEARS

J. A. Livingston

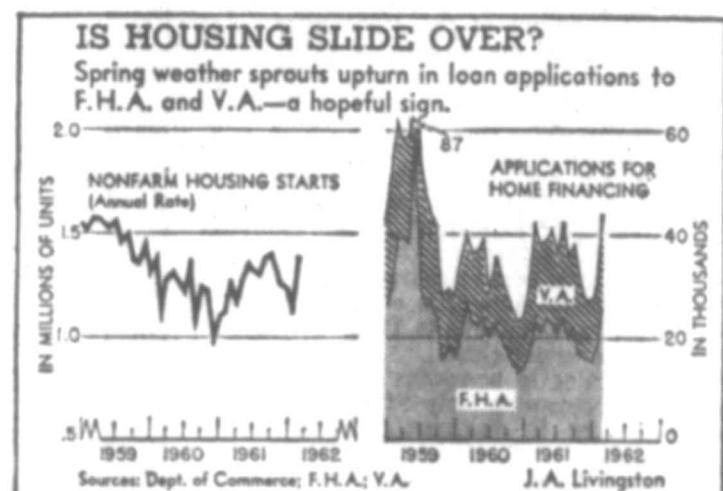

Long-Term Prosperity For Steel?

During a heated argument over President Kennedy's handling of United States Steel Corp.'s attempt to boost steel prices $6 a ton, a housewife kept nodding her head approvingly.
 Declarations that "President acted like a dictator" or "played too rough" disturbed her not a bit. And when someone said "Big Steel got exactly what it deserved," she piped up:
 "I HOPE they read about this in the Soviet Union. Then, at least, Khrushchev will know we have a man in the White House who can organize his forces, attack, and get what he wants."

Though President Kennedy can be criticized for practicing price control without a license, he has to be praised for never losing sight of his long-term objective. The same cannot be said for Roger M. Blough, chairman of United States Steel.
 Blough was so anxious for steel to "catch up" to the profits parade that he forgot the far more important desideratum of price stability, not only for steel but for the country.

BACK IN September 1959, during the steel strike of that year, Blough stated the case to me in Big Steel's conference room on the 20th floor of 71 Broadway, New York:
 "We as a corporation want to live within our own means, our own capabilities, without price increases. We ought to have price reductions. The members of the union would be better off if cost decreases induced price reductions. And unless we can achieve this, our competitive position with respect to other materials and with respect to foreign producers is bound to get worse."
 It's vital for U. S. Steel and other steel companies to modernize. But it's even more vital for them to be competitive. What's the use of installing new equipment if you are pricing your product out of markets?

THE PRESIDENT took the long view. Since 1958, wholesale prices have been virtually steady. And the cost-of-living index has risen only narrowly. Inflation—as a practical matter—has been under control, and an era of stability was possible.
 The President and Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg wanted to nail down the possibility. They concentrated on steel wage negotiations — to moderate David J. McDonald's demands and so stop a price advance from rippling through the economy into automobiles, typewriters, furniture, roadways, bridges, industrial structures, tin cans and children's toys.

THE STEEL PRICE standoff reaffirms a broad general conclusion I have mentioned before: Inflation in the U. S. is in the grip of anti-inflation forces with which President Kennedy is determined to come to terms:
 1. Tougher competition from modernized plants in Common Market countries. This militates against price rises here.
 2. The pull on U. S. gold. This demands noninflationary policies at home—both financial and economic.
 3. Excess plant capacity. No longer are industrial countries of the world struggling to make up wartime shortages. Basic materials are in plentiful supply. This, in itself, acts as a price repressant, and explains President Kennedy's comment that the steel industry could realize better profits from a higher operating rate than from higher prices.

REPUBLIC STEEL Corp's earnings in the first quarter support the President. The company realized 99 cents a share versus 37 cents in the first quarter of 1961. Will U. S. Steel's report—due for release Tuesday after the close of the stock market—ditto this?
 Meanwhile, housing starts and applications for VA and FHA loans have shot up sharply (see chart), a hopeful auspice for the ailing residential-construction industry.

Not only that but people are doing with money what they always do. They're spending. Personal income has shot up to a peak in March at $19,300,000,000—more than a billion dollars higher than March a year ago. Department store sales also set a record.
ALL THIS implies a further advance in industrial production, which rose in March to 116 in the Federal Reserve index, also an all-time peak. Record sales imply reduced inventories and reordering.

The outlook for prosperity in 1962 has definitely been strengthened by the steel episode.
 Price stabilization is a genuine long-term economic gain for consumers, workers, producers and investors.
On Her Toes
 NASHVILLE — An international ballet star has admitted with unprofessional frankness what the non-dancer has believed all along: toe dancing can be hard on the toes.
 "Dancing is not really a natural thing for the body but we have to make it look natural," said Toni Lander, blonde beauty who was born in Copenhagen, lives in Paris and dances with the American Ballet Theater.
 "Many times our legs get tired and our toes hurt."
 The remedy, she said, is universal:
 "We soak our feet. But if we don't have time to worry with them, we just grin and bear it."

To Your Good Health

'Don't Get Caught Dead Sitting On Your Seat Belt'

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
 Now that the effectiveness of seat belts has been proved beyond any question, one added fact of vast importance is being proved, too:
 Seat belts don't help a bit unless they are fastened.
 "Don't get caught dead sitting on your seat belt."
 End of today's sermonette.

Dear Dr. Molner: My five-year-old daughter has had a stye on her eye for a month. The doctor gave her some ointment but after two weeks she still has the stye. What should be done and what causes a stye?—MRS. M.G.
 A stye is an infection of the eyelid. When a stye ruptures, another one can be started from the infectious material which escapes. Hence the avoidance of rubbing, and the use of an antibiotic ointment, are the logical treatments. Usually a stye runs its course in less than a month.
 If in your case the "stye" has not changed, it may not be one, but perhaps a cyst or chalazion or small tumor. It is a minor operation to remove these. So I'd say go see your doctor again now.

Dear Dr. Molner: A diabetic of some years standing has been changed from insulin to pills—four a day. He is perfectly well, but his eyes are bothering him and his glasses should be changed.

 The blood sugar is about 140. How high may it be safely?—MRS. W. T.
 In some instances, especially if the insulin dose is not too high, say over 30 units, suitable cases of diabetes can be controlled by pills instead of insulin.
 However, many diabetics of long duration may find this will not work and will have to return to insulin.

The blood sugar figure of 140 depends, for its significance, on the time at which it was taken. After a meal, that level is considered satisfactory. Taken when fasting, the figure would be regarded as a borderline high.
 One can't say how high a blood sugar may go "safely." The figure isn't the whole story. Other factors tending toward acidosis, as fluid loss or excessive loss of sugar and minerals in the urine, have considerable significance.
 By the way, that changing eye situation should be carefully analyzed. It may have been time for new glasses anyway — but with diabetes, eye changes can be important.

Dear Sir: Every evening on retiring I experience considerable discomfort (heartburn?) when I lie on my right side. It seems to exist for several hours after eating. Occasionally food has a tendency to regurgitate. When I lie on my left side there is no discomfort. Coffee and highly seasoned foods aggravate the trouble. Can this be ulcers?—L.T.H.

 Yes, sir, it might be. But it might also be a hiatal hernia. My suggestion: have X-rays.

NOTE TO J.B.: There are quite a few new surgical techniques for the restoration of hearing. They can help some people. While your own ear specialist may not be a surgeon, get his opinion concerning an operation before spending the money to dash off to one of the big medical centers.
 Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald for the booklet, "Ear Noises—Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

They All Knew Something Happened

Ever wonder about those characters on the fringe of the Passion Drama of 1932 years ago?
 My name is Barrabas. I went to the brink of execution, then escaped it by what must be a kind of a marvel.
 Yes, it is true that I led a revolt against the authorities, but if you had seen the kind of oppression I saw, perhaps this wasn't such a black crime. And it is also true that in this action against the tyrants, I was involved in a melee in which another was killed. So they branded me a murderer as well as an insurrectionist.

THUS, I WAS destined to pay the penalty. I had tried to prepare for this, arranging what things a man can arrange under such circumstances. All avenues of appeal were gone, and it was my time—And then, suddenly, the jailers came and said, "You're free." In my utter astonishment, I could only stammer, "But how? Why? What has happened?"

JAIL GUARDS are not given to talk. About all I learned was that Pontius Pilate had given a clamoring crowd his choice between prisoners who were destined for the Hill, and the crowd kept shouting "crucify him!" talking about other fellow. I had heard something about him, but most of it sounded pretty strange. Jesus, his name was.

They call me Simon. I'm from Cyrene. I was in Jerusalem for the Feast.
YES, I GOT CAUGHT in a procession out of the city toward Golgotha. I was just an onlooker, but the first thing I knew a couple of burly soldiers pulled me out of the crowd and said, "Here, you—take this man's cross and bring it along." The man they were referring to had tried to lift this weight. He struggled, but he just couldn't do it. I'm a big man with much muscle, and it was a real task even for me. This man was in pitiful condition.

THE ODD THING seemed to be that he wasn't too concerned about his physical pain. It looked like he had an inner anguish. It made you want to cleanse yourself, and then hasten to lift him up. I didn't understand it, but I know this man was paying a terrific price, and carrying the timbers was just a small part of it.

I'M A CENTURION in the Roman army. I was one of those assigned to handle the execution of the three that day. It at first seemed to be just a routine job—unpleasant, but having to be done.
 But that individual on the cross in the middle—this was different. He talked to Somebody Higher Up, which showed he was not like the others stretched on the crosses. He even told one of the others they could go together to Paradise.

AND THEN CAME this utter, utter darkness—an all-enveloping thing which was as if the whole world had fallen into an eternal pit. And the earthquake! You've never seen such a furious, frightening thing! This occurred just as this man—they called him Jesus—gave up the ghost. And right after that, things changed all around. It was as if somebody else had taken charge. It seemed like a new world.

YOU CAN SCOFF if you want. What I saw was a miracle, and there was enough going on there to convince me that this Jesus truly was the Son of God, like he said.

The Gallup Poll

Public Would Ban 'Featherbedding'

PRINCETON, N. J.—With increasing pressures for automation in U. S. industry, one of the major issues of the next decade will center on the practice of "feather-bedding" or "make-work" by the labor unions.

If unions choose to follow the practice of requiring business to keep employees who are no longer needed, it is not likely to help their standing with the American public.

AT THE present time, in fact, a majority of Americans would be in favor of enacting laws to stop the practice of having more men than are actually needed on a job.

Gallup Poll reporters put the issue to the public by asking this question of 1,618 adults—including in their proper proportion the nation's businessmen, professional people, and both white and blue-collar workers:

IN ORDER to provide work for union members, some unions require more workers than are actually needed on a job. How do you feel about this—should there be a law against this practice or not?
 The current vote:

Should be law	Per Cent
Should not be	55
No opinion	23
Findings like these bear out others which indicate that the public—although	22 approving in principle of the labor union movement—has serious reservations about some of their practices.

DESPITE ALL of the recent trouble incurred by the steel industry in their attempt to raise prices, surveys would suggest that labor unions also have a serious public relations problem.

In a Gallup Poll published last October, for example, about one-fourth of the public (26 per cent) said they felt that the laws regulating business corporations were not strict enough.

IN THE CASE of labor unions, however, 42 per cent believed the laws regulating them were too lax.
 Further insight on the climate of opinion prior to the steel price controversy is offered by another Gallup Poll of just over a year ago.

In January, 1961, the public was asked whether they felt higher prices were caused by labor's demand for higher wages or management's desire for higher profits.
 The results indicated that the public believes both business and labor are about equally to blame:

WHO'S TO BLAME FOR HIGHER PRICES?
Jan., 1961	Per Cent
Business	31
Labor	26
Both are	29
Don't know	14

At The Mercy Of A President

WASHINGTON — We entered a momentous hour of history last week when President Kennedy exploded his bombshell of personal power.

Much good and much evil can result. This country has a right to expect that the unleashed force of Mr. Kennedy's anger will be hurled against America's enemies and used to kindle a fire beneath our laggard Allies.

SHOULD THE President have another such meeting with Khrushchev as he had last summer at Vienna, JFK's fury ought to be aimed at the Russian dictator, a worse enemy of mankind than Roger Blough. If the West Germans or the British show a false face or a cold heart in the next crisis, Mr. Kennedy ought to let them feel the heat of his temper and invective, as well as the sharp goad of his midnight riders who went into action against the steel makers.

The President's smashing victory in steel can carry over into foreign engagements and can tilt the scales impressively in our favor. Khrushchev has good reason to fear American might if it is wielded by an American leader with Mr. Kennedy's proved capacity for anger. The Free World has lacked an aroused leader since Churchill stepped down, unless we concede that in acting tough for France, De Gaulle is acting for us all. The President can cross the threshold of great events, only if he now steps fearlessly in the right direction. History trembles in the balance of his next significant moves.

THE EVIL that flows from excessive power is all too familiar in our times. Mr. Kennedy, who says he abhors "extremism," now has a chance to prove it. By moderate application of the lightning in his fists, he can perform miracles in moving this country forward, to use his own campaign language.
 The first blow has been struck at inflation, but this monster will not die of a single stroke. If greed for profits pushes up the cost of living and of doing business, so do the feather-bed contracts, the overstuffed government offices, the habit that is growing on us to do a minimum of work in the fewest number of hours for the largest possible amount of money and side benefits.

IN SHORT, the President is now positioned to lead a movement in Capital, Labor and Youth back to the Spartan ideals that were once synonymous with American life. He can do this best, not by repeating the tough tactics of the steel battle, but by pointing to the useful results of that victory. He should call, with generosity, eloquence and, perhaps, a note of warning, for voluntary contributions, or else. This would be a moderate use of his power.

But if the President becomes an "extremist," as so many rulers in our times have done, his win over the steel-mongers could be the costliest battle in which this country has ever engaged. The fear of Caesarism which obsessed the Founding Fathers has never yet proved a reality because the Executive power is hedged on every side by Congress, by Courts and by the People in the last resort.

BUT MR. KENNEDY proved last week that he has a weapon for which there is no effective political defense. He stooped to a quick show of class warfare. He illustrated how easily a popular President, by playing the demagogue, can set consumers against producers, wage-earners against profit-seekers. The ignorant against the informed. In a flash, Mr. Kennedy bared the blade of Executive authority against which, in this hour, it is very doubtful that a majority of Congress and the Supreme Court would dare do their Constitutional duty.
 That leaves, as a last resort, the People. Are we still capable of indignation and resistance against a paternalistic leader? Public opinion in our country has been so often manipulated that a more accurate term is mob psychology. Theoretically, an informed electorate makes dictatorship impossible, but what if the electorate is not only misinformed, but bribed and brainwashed?

IN THE DAYS after Mr. Kennedy's victory, people in Washington were asking whether the next phase in steel would not be nationalization. Why not? If private companies cannot make the profits and attract new private investments, socialism might seem the only alternative.

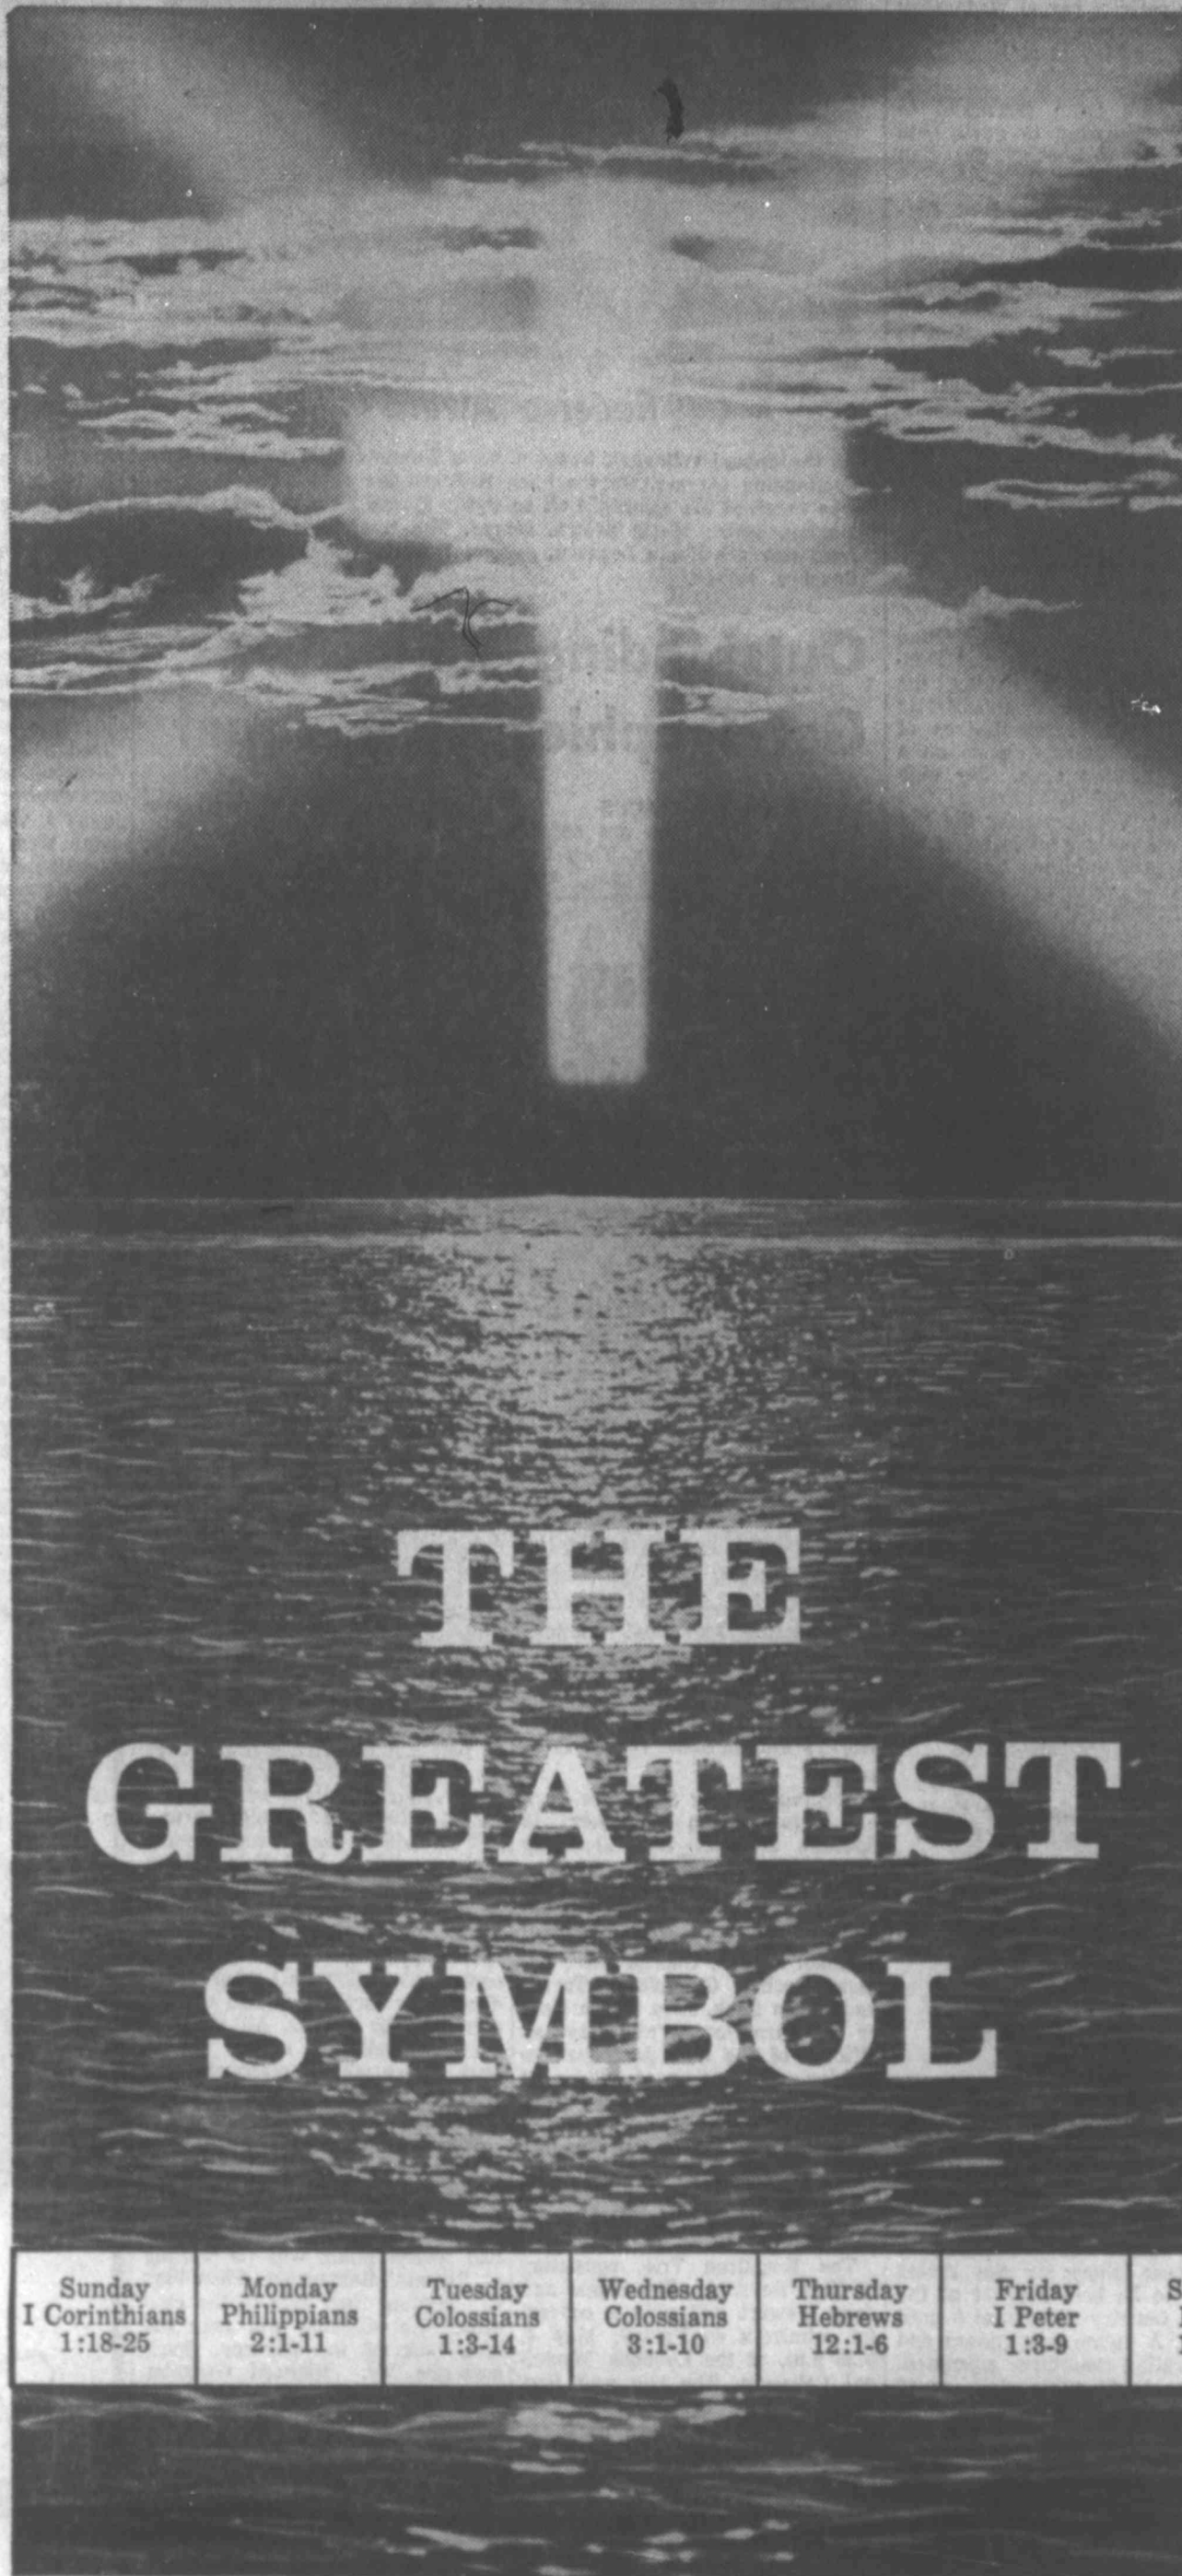

If this were clearly true, the country would know where it stands, and might be expected to battle for private enterprise. But, again, manipulation of public opinion by professional mind-twisters has taken place. It could be our undoing. Over last weekend, AFL-CIO Vice President Walter Reuther called for a law that would require the steel industry leaders to give 60 to 90 days advance notice on a price hike and, in effect, to defend the price increase before a quasi-judicial Court.

THIS IS rabble-rousing of the rawest order. Yet if steel were to pass from private ownership, the transition would take some tricky form such as this. And America could find itself "socialized" before Americans knew it.
 Such calamities have suddenly become possible. We lie, as never before, I think, at the mercy of a President's restraint and discretion.

Since the first Easter, the Cross has remained the one great and enduring symbol of Christianity because it best expresses the meaning of faith. Like a precious jewel, the Cross shines with many facets of truth.

† The Cross signifies the hope of faith. It reveals God's love for us in the sacrifice of His Son. It is our assurance of His promise of salvation.

† The Cross signifies the challenge of faith. It reveals God's love for all men which we must share. It is the motivation of Christian action.

† The Cross signifies the victory of faith. It is the pledge of God's loving purpose in saving the world. It is the source of peace.

What does the Cross mean to you? On Easter — this greatest festival of our Faith, will you come to Church and discover its message?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Jr. High Track, Volleyball Meet At Flower Grove

By CAROLE WADE
FLOWER GROVE — The Flower Grove students were very happy to see the Easter holidays arrive. School was dismissed Thursday evening at 2 p.m. and will take up Tuesday morning. The holiday has left the school year with four weeks to go. Many students are trying to make a passing grade to add a credit to their transcripts. I hope it isn't too late.

Thursday was a big day around Flower Grove. Junior high had their annual district track meet here. The meet included both races and field events. Among the teams which participated in the meet were Gayhill, Gail, Greenwood, Grady, Courtney, Union, Klondike, Dawson, and Flower Grove. There was a plaque presented to the team which won the meet. Gail received the trophy. Flower Grove second place and Dawson third place. An award of a gold miniature track shoe was presented to the high point boy in the track meet. It was presented to a student from Dawson.

The district junior high volleyball tournament was also held at Flower Grove Thursday. The same schools participated in the tournament as in the track meet. It was for the girls and the track for the boys. A plaque was presented to the Courtney girls' team for first place. Gail placed second in the tournament.

The senior class sold pops and sandwiches at the meet. They were trying to make money for the trip.

The junior high students presented an Easter program in an assembly Thursday morning. The students put on a play called "The Blind Shall See." The members of the cast were Jack Webb, Doyle Oakes, Sandra Davis, Diana Massengale, Faye Langston, Rosita Sazador, and Barbara Blanton. The group was sponsored by Mr. Blanton. The play was very fitting for the Easter holiday.

The date for the Athletic Banquet was announced last Friday in the school paper. The date is May 1 in the Flower Grove gym. This banquet will be to honor students who participated in any sports this year.

The student body listened to a lecture Tuesday morning presented by the Lyntegar Electric Cooperative. This was one of three lectures to be presented. Everyone seemed to really enjoy the demonstrations.

Last Saturday, students from Flower Grove attended the regional track meet and literary events. Students who participated in the track meet were Ronnie Deatherage, Burt Oakes, Dan Lemon, Beaver Ramsey, Pablo Perez, and James Howard. Mr. J. W. Massengale coached the boys. Beaver Ramsey placed fourth in the high hurdles in the final event. Betty Sue Hollandsworth entered the ready writing contest; Carole Wade and Butch Howard, debating; Lee Roman, number sense; and Dan Lemon, typing. Our debating team placed fourth in the meet. Mr. Robert Waldrop sponsored the group while they were in Lubbock.

This will be a very exciting week at FGHS. The Junior-Senior

Honors Day Set For Wednesday

By LYN CLAWSON
The Easter holidays began at the close of classes Thursday. Classes will resume at 8 a.m. Tuesday morning. There are only about five weeks remaining in this semester.

The honors day has been postponed until this Wednesday. There is a list of students on the bulletin board in the foyer of the main building who are to be honored. Check to see if your name is on the list.

Final exam schedules are available in the office. The tests are due to begin on May 17. Schedules for the summer sessions are also available now.

Several members of the honors English class spoke to the Rotary Club at noon Tuesday. Steve Blair, Neal Brinson, Pat Clark and Gary Pickle spoke to the group on Mark Twain's Huckleberry Finn. Mr. R. A. Brewster teaches this class.

The tennis team had matches with Clarendon here Thursday afternoon.

In the intramural volleyball tournament Glendia Haney's team beat Marilyn Bigham's 15-3, 9-15 and 5-3.

The Motet from the H.C.J.C. choir sang for the Lion's Club at noon Wednesday. It is composed of Lameta Carr, Cleta Newsom, Jackie Clark, Dorothy Wheeler, Mrs. Ewing, Sharon Martin, Robert Heard, Wayne Jennings and Wayne Williams.

The Phi Theta Kappa met during the activity period Wednesday to discuss the party which is planned for May 12 at Lake J. B. Thomas.

The track team journeyed to Lubbock Thursday to participate in a meet with Lubbock Christian College and Texas Tech.

The golf team played at Borger Thursday.

The SGA met Wednesday to discuss changing election procedures. Anyone having a suggestion to make concerning this is asked to contact a member.

The Kiwanis Club was host to the girls in the athletic department at noon Thursday.

Last Tuesday evening the Circle K was reorganized. The group met at Coker's and elected Danny McCrary president; Paul Fannin, vice president; Durward Rutledge, secretary - treasurer. Placed on the Board of Directors was John McRae, Durward Rutledge, Charles Dunagan, Paul Fannin, Doyce Wilhite, and Danny McCrary. Next Friday the group will meet with Dr. Melvin Crawford and representatives of the Kiwanis Club to decide on a regular meeting time. The club is open to all H.C.J.C. boys.

A Junior Volunteers for the Big Spring State Hospital is being organized at this time. Anyone interested is asked to contact Mr. William Dawes.

Receive Awards

At the annual volleyball banquet these Rannels girls were named outstanding players. On the back row are the eighth grade girls who received the awards. Left to right: Margo Polanco, set; Judy Dunlap, spike; Marie Brown, server. The freshman girls on the front row are Paula Leonard, spiker; Beverly Womack, set; BIBI Sanchez, server.

Outstanding V'Ball Girls Get Trophies At Banquet

By CANDY BACUS
We hope all of you are enjoying the Easter holidays. They began Thursday at 2:45 p.m. and school will resume Tuesday morning.

The Rannels junior high volleyball team took the consolation championship last Saturday in the Snyder tournament. They defeated Goliad by a 49-13 count. The girls had a bad start when Lamesa defeated them 50-15, but they took Snyder Lamar 39-14 with Linda Fields spiking 13 points. The team ended its season with the Snyder tournament. The girls had a 6-3 record.

Tuesday night at the Cosden Country Club, the volleyball girls had the annual parents night banquet. Mrs. Patsy Tunnel, art teacher, was the speaker. The subject of her talk was "The Bridge to Happiness." The feature of the night was when the outstanding players were presented with trophies. In the ninth grade Paula Leonard was top spiker, BIBI Sanchez, server and Beverly Womack, set. In the eighth grade, Judy Dunlap was best spiker. Top set was Margo Polanco and Marie Brown was top server. Congratulations, girls!

The track boys from Rannels did very well at the Big Spring Junior Relays held at the Memorial Stadium last Saturday. Approximately 600 boys from Snyder, Abilene, Lakeview, Lamesa, San Angelo, Big Spring and other towns participated in the meet.

In the seventh grade, the Rannels track boys came in fifth with 12 points. The eighth grade boys came in third with 12 points and the freshman did not score.

This year the Spring Formal will be held at the Cosden Country Club. It will be held May 4 from 8 to 11 p.m. The cost is $1 stag or drag. Boys are asked to wear dress pants, white shirts and sport coats. No levis will be accepted. The girls will wear party dresses or formals. Music will be furnished by KBYG. All students from Rannels are urged to attend. There will be elaborate decorations, a photographer and refreshments.

The eighth grade Science Club is going to Carlsbad Caverns tomorrow on a field trip. They will leave the school about 8:15 a.m. and will drive straight to Carlsbad where lunch will be waiting at Blounts' Restaurant. Then they will resume their trip to the caverns. The students will take the long tour of the caverns. Sponsors are Mr. Richard Gonzales and Mr. George Dier, both of whom are science teachers at Rannels. The students will arrive back about 9:30 p.m.

The eighth grade Science Club had a meeting last Thursday in which Mr. Doyle Sparks, biology teacher, was the speaker. He presented a talk on "Biology, the Science of Life."

ior Banquet will be this Friday at the Settles Hotel. Beaver Ramsey attended a track meet at Andrews Friday. He entered the high jump, broad jump, high and low hurdles. Coach Massengale made the trip with him.

The Father - Son Banquet sponsored by the FFA boys is to be May 8. This banquet is to be in the Flower Grove lunchroom. The guest speaker will be announced at a late date. The purpose of the banquet will be to honor the FFA Sweetheart also.

We hope everyone enjoys the Easter holidays.

BS Man Honored
Don Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Anderson, 1505 Kentucky, has been cited as an outstanding dormitory resident at the University of Alabama. Fourteen men so nominated by their halls were honored at a dance last weekend and each had his name engraved on a plaque. Don was chosen by Fitts Hall.

BSSH Cheerleaders

Donnie Reid Wins

Donnie Reid, a senior at Coahoma High School, is this week's winner of the record given away through the Megaphone. He may pick up a certificate at the Record Shop to receive the gift.

In addition to a free 45-r.p.m. to be given away each week, Oscar Glickman, owner of the Record Shop, will offer a longplaying record as a bonus once a month.

Student Council Discusses Plans For Spring Formal

By ROXANNE BOLTE

It's that time again! Yes, it's time to choose next year's cheerleaders — three from next year's eighth grade and three from next year's ninth grade. Girls trying out for eighth grade cheerleader are Susan Daniel, Donna Reed, Nora O'Bannon, Mary Huff, Elaine Miller, Donna Smith, Tanis Hogue, Janille Stone, Carol Morris, Becky Frazier, Carol Jones, Linda Williams, Linda Cochran.

Also, Andrea McCain, Donna Cobb, Sally Wade, Beverly Peters, Kay Statser, Pam Gould, Doris Weaver, Linda Robertson, Linda Kirby, Karen Brown, Paula Langston, Sheryl McLaughlin, and Johnnie Nernigan.

Trying out for freshmen cheerleaders are Pam Luting, Laura Martensen, Marilyn Meacham, Janet Jones, Gene Ann Peacock, Donna Pendergrast, Edith Jackson, Tommie Touchstone, Brenda Mize, Jackie Jones, Jean Watson, Jackie Crawford, Sue Burns, Kandis Long, and Henri Perry. Good luck to all of you!

The track season ended April 14 for Goliad at the Big Spring Track Meet. Seventh grade trackster Paul Waggoner placed fourth in the 75-yard dash, second in the 50-yard dash, and third in the broad jump. Eighth grade trackster Terry Smith broke the junior high school high jump record with his 5 foot 3/4 inch leap, placing himself first in this event. Eighth grader Harrell Newton placed second in the high jump.

The student council met Monday to discuss plans for the spring formal to be held May 11 at the Cosden Country Club from 8 until 11 p.m. A theme was chosen and a decorating committee appointed. Tickets are 75 cents stag, or 50 cents drag. Membership cards, designating members of the student council, were distributed before the meeting.

Freshmen wishing to run for the high school student council were to pick up their petitions Tuesday from Mr. Ivey. To be eligible to run, a student must have no grade lower than a C, must have attended Goliad for at least one year, and have several teachers and students sign his petition. Three representatives from Goliad will be chosen.

Goliad's volleyball season was drawn to an end April 14 at the Snyder Tournament. Snyder Travis placed first, Lamesa second, Rannels third, and Goliad fourth. Awards were given to members of the All-Tourney team. Schools represented on the team were Snyder Travis, Lamesa, Rannels, and Snyder Lamar.

GARDEN CITY — The Garden City 4-H and FHA style show on April 13, resulted in two Glasscock County dress review winners. The senior division winner was Betty Jo Schraeder, a junior. Betty's winning model was a fitted beige cord dress, with a rounded neckline and no sleeves. Betty's accessories were beige shoes and purse, multi-colored necklace and dazzling orange gloves. Betty has been in 4-H eight years, and was last year's president of the St. Lawrence community 4-H group.

Paula Hardy, a seventh grader, hit the high mark as junior division winner. Her dress was of pink baby check cotton, with bias-binding of same material and white lace to decorate the full skirt. The dress also featured a square neckline and short sleeves. Paula chose white as her accessories. Paula has been in 4-H three years. Mrs. Mildred Eiland is the 4-H leader in Glasscock County.

Recently several students took a mathematical association of America test. The test presented all kinds of math problems. The winner of the school, with the highest score was Sonny Phelps, a junior, who received the MAA pin.

Junior-Senior Banquet Staged

By CAROLYN WILSON

COAHOMA — Last Wednesday, the 1962-63 juniors and sophomores elected class officers. The future seniors were unable to elect their officers because in their previous meeting they had to spend all their time planning the Junior-Senior Banquet. The next year's officers for the juniors are: president, Vernon Long; vice president, Linda Nichols; secretary, Charlotte Batten; treasurer, Dan Sheltburne; reporter, Linda Thomas; parliamentarian, Dwayne Fraser; student council representatives are Beatrice Torres and Weldon Self. The future sophomores elected Olen Fryar as president; Phillip Reid, vice president; Norma Long, secretary; Marilyn Bedell, treasurer. The sophomores voted Shana Fryar and Larry Newman as their student council representatives.

such questions as: What does Easter mean to the average person? Is Easter commercialized too much? The panel consisted of: Dwayne Allen, Delores Bender, Larry Newman, Jean Newman, Lath-an Wood, and Marilyn Bedell. Horace McPhearson moderated the panel. This program presented much inspiration, enjoyment, interest, and information that everyone should have enjoyed and taken heed to.

FHS Elects Cheerleaders

By BONNIE SIMPSON
FORSAN — The seniors have been having a count-down on the number of school days until their senior trip. There are only nine days left. They leave May 2 instead of May 14 because of a mix-up in reservations.

Monday, April 16, the cheerleaders for '62-'63 were elected by the student body. The cheerleaders for next year will be senior: Head Cheerleader Carla Jo Hughes; junior: Bettye Conger, Dena Parker and Paula Gordon. Two majorettes were picked by the Pep Squad after try-outs. They are Glynda Roberts and Joy Flynt.

It seems like grades as a whole have dropped this six weeks. Everyone remember that finals are at the end of this six weeks and don't get behind!

In the regional meet last weekend, we are proud to report that our volleyball team placed first. They beat Bronte and then Imperial to take the championship. We are looking forward to playing Imperial at the state meet next weekend in Abilene. The only track boy who qualified at the regional meet was Walter Fields. He won second place in the pole vault but he lost the flip and does not get to go to state.

Thursday, during the regular assembly time the freshmen presented a program on "The Real Meaning of Easter." They had a panel discussion which discussed

Congratulations to Jan Stockton, who won honorable mention in a state wide contest for her essay, "The Role of the Community in Employment of the Handicapped."

Follow That Dream

First, he was a warbler, of sorts; then, he broke into movies, like westerns and musicals; now, Elvis Presley turns his hand to comedy in "Follow That Dream," now showing at the Ritz. Produced by the same company that made "The Apartment," Elvis' latest film is all about a kooky bunch of homesteaders in Florida who have to fight Mother Nature and just about everybody else to lay their claim.

5 Golden Hours

George Sanders, Cyd Charisse, and the late Ernie Kovacs co-star in the satirical comedy, "Five Golden Hours," now showing at the State Theatre. The film is double-billed with another comedy, "The Happy Thieves."

Pharaoh's Woman

John Barrymore and Linda Cristal are co-starred in an historical drama, "Pharaoh's Woman," starting Thursday at the State Theatre. It is on a twin-bill with "Twenty Plus Two."

Twenty Plus Two

David Janssen, Jeanne Crain, and Dina Merrill co-star in "Twenty Plus Two," starting Thursday at the State Theatre. The plot follows Janssen's attempt to track down a missing heiress as he stumbles over 20 hidden clues and two murders.

'State Fair' Combines Old, New Talents In Big Musical

Rodgers and Hammerstein's "State Fair" will open Thursday at the Ritz Theater. This 20th Century-Fox CinemaScope-DeLuxe Color extravaganza co-stars the fresh talents of Pat Boone, Bobby Darin, Pamela Tiffin, Ann-Margret, Tom Ewell and marks the return of the wonderful Alice Faye to the motion picture screen.

A LILT AMID THE LAUGHS Singer Pat Boone, dancer Ann-Margaret

Pat Boone portrays "Wayne Frake," a farm boy with a yen for hotrod racing and a pretty girl; while singer Bobby Darin is seen in the role of a fast-talking Easterner who undergoes a change of character when he meets the "sweetest gal on earth."

'Suzie Wong' Makes Return Showing Here

"The World of Suzie Wong" will open up a new world to movie fans who see this moving, colorful romance, which returns Wednesday to the Sahara Theatre. Suzie Wong's world of love-for-pay is set within the colorful, kaleidoscopic world of Hong Kong (where the picture was filmed), a world of teeming congestion, wealth and poverty, beauty and ugliness, eye-filling, ear-splitting — altogether fascinating.

The Ray Stark production, released by Paramount, stars William Holden as an American artist who has given himself a year on a limited budget to try his hand at painting. He rents a room at the second-rate Nam Kok Hotel, frequented by "yum yum" girls who use it as a rendezvous for playing their trade. Such a girl is Suzie, portrayed by Nancy Kwan, a beautiful Eurasian who becomes a top star with this, her first film role.

Also co-starred are the English actress, Sylvia Syms, as the banker's daughter who also loves the American artist and who tries to win him away from Suzie, and Michael Wilding as one of Suzie's married "customers." The various girls who meet their "dates" at the hotel are unusual types, all good performers who add to the color and interest of this exceptionally entertaining and memorable film.

WEEK'S PLAYBILL

Table listing weekly playbill for Ritz and State theaters. Ritz: Sunday through Wednesday 'Follow That Dream' with Elvis Presley, Arthur O'Connell and Joanna Moore. Thursday through Saturday 'State Fair' with Pat Boone, Bobby Darin, Alice Faye, and Pamela Tiffin. State: Sunday through Wednesday 'Happy Thieves' with Rex Harrison and Rita Hayworth; also 'Five Golden Hours' with Cyd Charisse and Ernie Kovacs. Thursday through Saturday 'Twenty Plus Two' with David Janssen and Jeanne Crain; also 'Pharaoh's Woman' with John Barrymore and Linda Cristal.

who was seen in "Summer and Smoke" and in Billy Wilder's "One, Two, Three," plays "Margy," the sunflower that melts Darin's hard-hearted exterior. "State Fair" is her first musical and marks her singing debut. Ann-Margret portrays "Emily," the girl who's been around and almost feels she has found "true love" in the arms of Boone.

Veteran comedian Tom Ewell plays "Abel Frake" and the role returns him to the type of characterization he delineates best.

To many the star of "State Fair" will be Alice Faye, who plays "Melissa Frake," Ewell's wife and the mother of Boone and Tiffin. Once the "Queen" of the 20th Century-Fox musical comedies, she can give a song bounce and spirit, such as when she sings to her daughter, "Never Say No (To A Man)." "State Fair" marks the debut of Richard Rodgers as a lyricist for a motion picture. He has written words and music for five new songs. "This Isn't Heaven," "It's The Little Things In Texas," "Willing and Eager," "More Than Just A Friend" and "Never Say No." Also included are such Rodgers and Hammerstein favorites as "It Might As Well Be Spring," "Our State Fair,"

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH AP Newfeatures A beautifully designed set of five new semi-postals has just been issued by the Netherlands. The additional values on these stamps will go for the benefit of the Netherlands National Health Institutions, social welfare work and various cultural groups. The stamps will help promote the International Congress of Museum Experts to be held in that country July 4-11. The 4 cents plus 4 green depicts a Roman sculpture. The 6 cents plus 4 gray shows a fossil. The 8 cents plus 4 violet illustrates a pendulum clock. The 12 cents plus 8 bronze features a beetle. The 20 cents plus 10 indigo shows a painting by Frans Hals entitled "Repast of the Officers of St. Jorisdoelen." The designer of the stamps is Cor van Weele of Amsterdam.

Many readers of this column have written to inquire how to obtain first-day covers of new United States stamps. They will be glad to know that a 15-page booklet entitled "Guide for the Selection of United States Commemorative Postage Stamps" is now available from the Post Office Department.

The pamphlet tells the procedures to be followed and outlines the standards adopted by the 11-member Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee governing their issuance. Copies of this guide may be obtained free of charge by writing to the Special Assistant to the Postmaster General, Post Office Department, Washington 25, D. C.

Art Thieves Give Police Merry Chase

Rita Hayworth is Rex Harrison's un-fair lady in their first co-starring movie. "The Happy Thieves," which opens today at the State Theatre, through United Artists release. Co-starring Joseph Wiseman, Alida Valli and Gregoire Aslan, the romantic suspense comedy-drama concerns a trio of happy art thieves who, moving in the top circles of international society, blithely steal museums and castles in Spain with equal facility. John Gay wrote the screenplay from Richard Condon's novel, "The Oldest Confession." "The Happy Thieves" was made during the past year, when, coincidentally, news of actual art thefts flashed almost monthly from headlines around the world. ... among them a canvas by the famous Spanish artist, Francisco Goya. It is Goya's "The Second of May" that the happy thieves of this merry movie's title set about to steal, after successfully appropriating Velazquez' "Venus of the Mirror." The fact that the Goya canvas measures 8 x 11 feet does not phase Messrs. Harrison and Wiseman, although Miss Hayworth is constantly agitated at the prospect of robbing and then blackmailing the Spanish government.

NEW YORK (AP)—Mary Martin is adding a new talent for her next Broadway project, the musical "Blood and Thunder." She is learning to play the trumpet. The show is based upon a book about a famous theatrical couple of an earlier generation, playwright Charles A. Taylor and actress Laurette Taylor. The musical is due next season. For her previous appearance in "The Sound of Music," Miss Martin learned to play a guitar.
