BUT CONNALLY, YARBOROUGH KEEP CALM

Liberals, Conservatives Are Squaring Off

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The bruising all-out gubernatorial runoff race that looms between former Navy secretary John Connally and youthful Houston attorney Don Yarbrough threatens to renew an old conservative-liberal feud among Texas Democrats.

While they polled less than 100,000 votes of the 1.3 million tabulated, this in itself was not discouraging. They could look also on the more than 100,000 Democratic votes for former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, a John Birch Society member, and hope they might pick up a substantial number of these in November.

Gov. Price Daniel, seeking his fourth term, finished third in Saturday's primary, followed by Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, former State Highway Commission Chairman Marshall Formby and Walker.

Returns from 253 of 254 counties, 169 complete, gave Connally 391,957, Yarbrough 289,083, Daniel 228,850, Wilson 157,215, Formby 130,400 and Walker 125,860.

ly, 45, was for, many years an aide to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. He insisted, however, that the decision to run for governor was his own and that if elected "no one will be at the side or behind the governor's chair."

unsuccessful bid for lieutenant governor. In discussing the runoff, both Connally and Yarbrough shy away from making it a conservative-liberal battle.

But the war whoops that echoed from Saturday's precinct conventions over the state indicated that both liberals and conservatives were ready to pick candidates and do battle.

The fact that 65 per cent of those who answered the pollsters regarded themselves Democrats and only 7 per cent were willing to own up to Republicanism did not phase the GOP strategists.

Odessa's Highway Death Investigated

STANTON — Sheriff Dan Saunders of Martin County and Department of Public Safety officers are continuing their investigation into the cause of death of an Odessa construction worker found fatally injured on IS 20 early Sunday morning.

It appears from general evidence to have been a traffic death, officers said, but there are other factors which could indicate death resulted from a beating. The victim is Joe Gonzalez Leija, 21, of 813 Magnolia, Odessa. Kellas Davis, state highway patrol officer of Big Spring, said the fatally injured man was found on the eastbound slab of IS 20 at 4:50 a.m. It appeared, the patrolman said, that Leija had laid down lengthwise on the slab and had been struck by a car. He died at the Physicians Clinic and Hospital in Stanton at 11:15 a.m. Sunday without regaining consciousness. The man was found 3.8 miles east of Stanton about one-half mile from the Howard County line.

Armed Polaris Hits Its Target

Sizzling Heat Sets New Record, 103

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Polaris missile fired from a submarine in the Pacific dropped its nuclear warhead "right in the pickle barrel," an informed source said today.

This meant the nuclear-powered submarine Ethan Allen probably placed the warhead within a mile of the intended target in the Pacific nuclear test area.

The Navy said it considered the first full test firing of a Polaris test missile with its warhead a complete success. It declined to give any details.

However, it was learned the missile propelled the warhead close to the full range of nearly 1,400 miles and that it exploded in the air.

The missile was reported to have been fired when the Ethan Allen was submerged.

Officials said the test firing was conducted under as close to combat conditions as possible.

In a war situation, the submarine virtually always would fire its load of 16 Polaris missiles from beneath the surface where it would be safer from enemy attack.

The test involved a first generation Polaris missile. It is propelled by solid fuel. A second generation model now approaching readiness will travel more than 1,700 miles and a still later version will be able to hit targets nearly 2,900 miles from the launching sub.

The test Sunday was the fifth nuclear explosion in Operation Dominic—the series of U.S. atmospheric tests. The four previous shots were dropped from planes.

How far the missile darted over the Pacific or how much fallout it carried was not disclosed. A Polaris has a range of about 1,400 miles and its warhead's explosive power is estimated at about the equivalent of 600,000 tons of TNT.

The joint announcement Sunday by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department said the weapon was triggered at about 6:45 p.m. EST in the Christmas Island testing area.

The missile was launched by the Polaris submarine Ethan Allen, but presumably from deep in the ocean but an AEC spokesman declined to confirm this.

Mrs. Formby 'Doing Nicely'

HAMLIN (AP) — Mrs. Marshall Formby, wife of the defeated Plainview candidate for governor, was "doing very nicely" today, recovering from auto accident injuries.

She remained on the critical list, however, a nurse at the Hamlin Hospital said. The Formby car hit a tire and hit a utility pole last Friday, last day of the campaign.

Mrs. Formby's liver was ruptured. She suffered severe chest injuries including several broken ribs. Her two children were cut about the face and head but both are in good condition.

Hamlin is 41 miles northwest of Abilene.

SEC Launches Broad Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first broad public investigation of the securities business since 1934 was launched here today with a promise there would be none of the trappings of a prosecution.

Milton H. Cohen, director of the inquiry being conducted by the Securities and Exchange Commission, said in a prepared statement opening two weeks of public hearings.

"We are here engaged in a special study of securities markets, not in a prosecution or enforcement proceeding against any one or more individuals or firms."

Big Spring Pilot Awarded Trophy For Avoiding Mishap

WASHINGTON, D.C. (SC) — Capt. Paul R. Baker, 31, of Big Spring today received the Koren Kolligian Jr. Trophy for exceptional skill in preventing an aircraft mishap.

The presentation was made by Gen. Frederic H. Smith Jr. and in the presence of Sen. Ralph Yarborough and Rep. George Mahon, as well as Mrs. Baker, the former Sue Nell Nall, Mr. and Mrs. Koren Kolligian Sr., Cambridge, Mass. donors of the trophy, and their other son, Gregory Kolligian, Lincoln, Mass.

Gen. Curtis LeMay, who signed the citation, was out of the city and unable to attend the ceremonies at the Pentagon at 8 a.m. (CST) today.

The trophy has been awarded the past five years by Mr. and Mrs. Kolligian in memory of their son, an Air Force lieutenant, who was killed Sept. 14, 1955 when his T-33 trainer was lost off the coast of California.

It goes to air crew members for extraordinary skill, alertness, ingenuity, fortitude in averting aircraft accidents or in minimizing a serious aircraft mishap.

Baker was flying an RF 101 Voodoo at 500 feet, with an estimated speed of 480 miles per hour, on a simulated photo reconnaissance mission.

He was in the lead of the flight when a large bird crashed through the canopy into the cockpit "with such explosive force that the pilot was temporarily blinded, and deafened by the noise and wind blast. He was severely lacerated by the flying fragments of plexiglass and parts of the instrument panel."

Somehow, he managed to maintain control of his plane and motioned for another craft to take the lead. Then for 30 minutes he followed until he landed his disabled plane at Shaw AFB at Sumter, S. C.

2nd Phase In Exercise

FT. POLK, La. (AP)—The second phase of Exercise Iron Dragon, the Army's two-week training exercise, begins today.

Troops spent the weekend in critiques on the first week's activities. The exercise, largest in the nation, this year with 20,000 troops, ends May 16. Phase one ended Saturday.

The entire water supply at Ft. Polk turned into cocoa Saturday when aggressor forces dropped cocoa mix into the main water tank to signal its capture from friendly forces.

The 49th Armored Division of Texas and supporting units are in the exercise.

Fallen Giant

This is Billie Sol Estes, West Texas financier, who built up a fortune in 11 years, only to have his empire collapse. He is under federal indictment on charges of fraud in connection with sale of fertilizer and equipment. (AP Wirephoto).

Freeman Defends Dept. in Estes Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said today the Billie Sol Estes case and its connection with his department is being balanced all out of proportion to its importance.

He told a news conference that, despite all that had been written and said about the case, the facts boil down to this:

Three department employees have been accused of receiving gifts from Estes. West Texas financier under fraud indictment, but that Estes got no favors in turn from the department.

Freeman said that the manner in which the department has handled the controversial cotton acreage allotments held by Estes has been such that Estes might well complain that he has been sharply dealt with.

Estes, at 37, had built a business empire involving huge cotton holdings and storage of government grain.

Capt. Baker is attached to the 29th Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron on the 363 TR Wing at Shaw AFB.

His father is William F. Baker of McMinnville, Ore., but Capt. Baker calls Big Spring his home. He was born at St. Croix Falls, Wis., and graduated from high school in Diagonal, Iowa.

While stationed at Webb AFB, he met Sue Nell Nall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Nall. Capt. Baker was assigned to England, and after a year, he returned to wed Miss Nall Jan. 11, 1958, and three months later she joined him in England. After two years, they were transferred to Shaw AFB.

The Nalls have another son-in-law, Capt. Everett W. Trusal, who is in the Air Force, now stationed in England. Mrs. Nall and their three children are in Big Spring preparatory of joining him there. Averting a mishap while in flight is not a new experience to Capt. Baker. He had one similar incident happen to him while on a flight off some islands.

Freeman said that the manner in which the department has handled the controversial cotton acreage allotments held by Estes has been such that Estes might well complain that he has been sharply dealt with.

Estes, at 37, had built a business empire involving huge cotton holdings and storage of government grain.

Last month, he was indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of fraud when alleged he sold chaffed mortgages on nonexistent fertilizer tanks.

Among questions that Republicans have raised is whether there was favoritism in Estes' securing of cotton planting allotments—later canceled—from the Agriculture Department.

NOT ALL BRIGHT Freeman said that in looking back, he could say that the department investigation and consequent cancellation of more than 3,000 acres allotted Estes in 1961 to grow cotton under a control program could have been handled more expeditiously. The department has held that the allotments had been obtained by Estes in an illegal manner from farmers who had been pushed off their farms by government agencies under the right of eminent domain.

In reply to questions, the secretary said he had mentioned the Estes affair in passing with President Kennedy and had discussed it in detail with presidential aides. He said Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy had taken an active hand in the investigation of the case being made by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

No Correction Is Planned For Error In Vote Counting

Nothing is planned to correct the error in voting Precinct 9 (Cahoon) in which the negative votes against three questions on the primary ballot were not counted, according to Frank Hardesty, county Democratic chairman.

"We will meet at 10 a.m. Tuesday," Hardesty said, "to canvass the vote in Saturday's election. In view of the fact that the questions which were on the ballot were purely 'straw vote' matters and since the outcome was of little issue, we will probably do nothing about the tally oversight." The committee meets at the county courthouse.

He said that it was planned to draw names for places on the second primary ballot at the Tuesday meeting. He pointed out that order for the ballots will have to be placed with the printer at once, since absentee voting in the second primary opens next Monday.

The run off primary on June 2 will not require a long ballot, Hardesty said. The competition in Howard County is reduced to the two elimination races for county commission seats. The only other race of local interest is that for State Senator.

There will also be runoff elections for governor, lieutenant-governor, attorney general and congressman - at large.

The two incumbent county commissioners, seeking return to their seats, drew top support in the primary totals.

L. J. Davidson, commissioner from Precinct 2, polled 607 votes to lead a field of six. Raymond River, former mortician, who polled 338, will be matched against Davidson in the runoff.

Ralph White, running for re-election as commissioner from Precinct 4, polled 810 votes. Second man was R. C. Nichols, who received 699 votes. There were five in this contest.

'Big Spring' May Receive State Marker

The "big spring" may be in line to receive recognition by the State as a historical site worth calling to the attention of tourists, according to Kenneth Pace, assistant manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

"The site was mentioned frequently in discussion of historical sites," Pace said. "And it has enough historical background to qualify for proposed markers to be put up by the State."

The discussion came up at a meeting of County Historical Survey Committees in McCombs Friday afternoon. Pace and Kenneth Roach, librarian of the Howard County Junior College, attended.

The purpose of the meeting was to point up historical sites and structures which would be of interest to tourists and other visitors to the State. Pace said 100 permanent markers would be provided by the State for approved locations and the sites would be placed on all official maps.

Speakers included Dr. Rupert N. Richardson, Hardin Simmons University; Lee Lawrence, state committee member from Tyler; George W. Hill, Austin, executive director of the TSHSC; and Frank Hildebrand, assistant director of the Travel and Highway Department.

10 Scout Troops Get Ribbon Awards

Ten ribbons were awarded to Boy Scout troops entered in the Lone Star District Fair and Exposition held Friday night and Saturday at the rodeo grounds.

More than 450 Scouts, Cubs, and leaders took part in the activities during which contests were held, including Cub Olympics.

An emergency rescue demonstration was staged by members of the Sea Scout Ship 136, just before the campfire ceremony.

"It was one of the smoothest rescue operations we have ever seen," Bill McRee, Scout executive said.

The boys lowered an injured man from the top of the officials' stand at the north end of the arena which simulated a cliff, McRee said.

Those taking part in the demonstration, in connection with Civil Defense operations, were: signaling unit - David Verner, Wesley Wright, Russell Long, and Doug Ernest; rescue - James Beckham, Jim Pierce, Larry Jones, Chip Sweeney, and Jimmy Hines.

Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home furnished an ambulance for the pickup.

Advisor to the Sea Scouts was C. Roy Wright. His assistant, in signaling, was Jim Verner. The sheriff's department representative was Johnson B. Hall.

Scout troops winning blue ribbons were Troop 9, sponsored by the Wesley Methodist Church, Big Spring; Troop 135, Center Point School; Troop 146, Webb Air Force Base; Troop 309, St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

About 50 Take Tours Of VA Hospital

Almost 50 persons registered for tours of the Veterans Administration Hospital Sunday during the Open House scheduled to open National Hospital Week activities at the hospital.

"Forty-eight persons took the tour and many others were present," James Kilgore, administrative assistant, said. "We could not get an accurate count of how many came for the Open House because the visitors were intermingled with regular visitors who came in to see their relatives and friends."

He noted that among persons taking the tour were visitors from Oklahoma and Sudan.

Eight Junior Volunteers assisted with the tours. They acted as guides, helped with registration and served refreshments in the recreation hall on the second floor. Also serving refreshments was Mrs. C. O. Hill.

Two local groups have registered for tours during the week, Kilgore said. He said other groups interested should contact Mrs. Ara Cunningham, volunteer services officer, to arrange the time.

A radio program originating from the VA's closed circuit radio station began today on Radio KHEM at 2:30 p.m. Kilgore was host with Thomas C. Blair, a patient at the hospital, on the piano. Speakers were Telford Durham, Mrs. George Zachariah, Jack Schroeder and Phil Hanigan. They spoke on their own activities to inform the public how they contribute to the treatment and care of patients.

A similar program will be broadcast each day this week.

Lions Select Richardson For Top Post

LAMESA (SC) - Wayne Richardson of Wolfport was named new governor of District 2-T-2 Lions here Saturday to climax the annual convention which opened Friday.

The Lions picked Richardson, a farmer with a wife and two children, over Bert Belcher, Sea-graves, in a close race. Richardson takes the district reins from Jack Strong, Lubbock.

Carol Ann Carter, representing the Lubbock South Plains Lions Club, was crowned the new queen, succeeding Cheryl Poteet, Oilton.

A Lubbock Lions Club, the Hub, won the award for being the No. 1 club in the district and Lubbock was picked as the site of the 1963 convention.

Two other awards went to Ralls and Whitharral for outstanding activities and projects, respectively. Jim Ed Waller, Lubbock, was re-elected as Crippled Children's Camp director and the district favored David Evans, Texas City, over James Curtis, Longview, for an international director's post.

Three Move In Halfway House

Three men Saturday became the first occupants of the Halfway House and three more will move in some time today, according to Desmond Powell, member of the Big Spring State Hospital staff.

The balance of the 10 men expected to occupy the building at Fifth and Lancaster by the end of the week will move in Wednesday and Thursday.

"It takes a few days to get the men furnished and moved," Powell said.

The men are all patients of the hospital who are far enough along the road to recovery that they no longer require hospitalization.

They will live in the home temporarily, with a maximum stay of six months, until they are ready to move out and take jobs elsewhere.

The Halfway House serves a dual purpose. It provides the men a place to stay outside the hospital while they are making the step back as productive members of society, and it gives them a semi-sheltered environment in which to gain proficiency in social skills they may have lost through long hospitalization.

Volunteer workers have helped with providing equipment for the house, but several items still are needed, Powell said. Among the needs are mirrors, end tables, chairs, ashtrays, linen, towels and single beds.

Caton, West Go To Austin

The writ hearing was opened on May 2 and recessed to permit the depositions of Caton and West to be submitted. Gomez and the state are to submit briefs. The court will rule sometime in the next few weeks on the writ.

Oil 'Piracy' Is Seen As Hearing Result

HOUSTON (AP) - A hearing is set for Friday in Longview and some oilmen say it may bring into the open drilling and producing operations that smack of modern-day piracy.

The Longview hearing will be on a temporary restraining order issued against the Railroad Commission last week to stop the regulating body from conducting an inclination survey of oil wells in and along an area from Upshur County southward through Gregg to Cherokee County.

The commission has its own hearing set for May 15 in Austin.

The commission wants to know if wells were drilled within specified limits for hole drift or whether the shafts have been deflected so greatly the wells produce oil from other leases.

A commission rule prevents the downward direction of a well from being inclined more than three degrees. The rule was issued a year ago when rumors of oil stealing became increasingly frequent.

Rangers are already tracking down some rumors in East Texas.

William Murray Jr., chairman of the commission, has said 60 wells are on a check list the commission would like to investigate.

He refused to divulge names of the well owners.

"Some are innocent," he said. "But not as many as when this thing started."

The investigation has already figured in one East Texas slaying. Leonard Dorsey, 44, an unemployed odd jobs man, was shot to death in a Henderson

Mr. Nuckolls was born March 6, 1933 in Breckinridge, and moved to Colorado City in 1957. He was a veteran of World War II and had worked in the post office and as a rural letter carrier since 1945 following his discharge. He was a member of the First Baptist Church and of the Masonic Lodge.

She said Knoblock, a West Point graduate last June, drove from Williams Air Force base in Arizona five consecutive weekends to date her, asked her hand on the fifth and she accepted.

Blough Asks Harmony

HOBOKEN, N.J. (AP) — Roger M. Blough urged harmony today between business and government as the only setting for maximum progress by the economy and the nation.

But Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel Corp., the industry's largest producer, dismissed out of hand any suggestion that even indirect setting of prices by government "can ever serve the national interest in peacetime."

He called such an idea incomprehensible.

In a report prepared for stockholders at U.S. Steel's annual meeting, Blough defended the firm's recent price increase; said the action should not have surprised anyone and made no commitment on future pricing moves—a decision he said should be shaped by market-place forces.

He differed from President Kennedy's yardstick on non-inflationary wage settlements, holding they don't merit that label if employment costs are increased.

Blough, who clashed head-on with the President last month when U.S. Steel posted—then withdrew—higher prices, told shareholders: "I do not believe that the public interest can ever be served by hostility between government and business."

Blough said he was encouraged by the President's recent speech to the United States Chamber of Commerce, an address coolly received by the audience of businessmen.

He quoted approvingly a passage discussing the role of adequate business profits as a main-spring of expansion in the nation's economy, and the government's dependence on flourishing business to achieve many of its major objectives at home and abroad.

Blough called for greater understanding of how corporate profits have lagged behind other segments of the economy since 1950, and the extent to which the lag is "weakening our industrial potential."

In this period, he said, they rose only from $22.8 billion to $23.3 billion last year—"or virtually not at all."

By contrast, the nation's wage and job benefits rose from $154 to $303 billion, business taxes jumped from $42 billion to $70 billion and income of the merchant-farmer-landlord segment from $47 billion to $80 billion, blough continued.

AVAILABLE The communique said Washington confirmed it would make available nuclear weapons if needed by NATO. The United States and Britain also gave firm assurances that their strategic forces will continue to provide defense against those threats which are too great for the forces assigned to NATO. The British and American strategic forces have nuclear arms.

The communique again proclaimed NATO's determination to keep open the access routes to West Berlin and to maintain the "Western presence" in the former German capital.

BRUNSWICK, Ga. (AP)—Sometimes this jail escape business can be embarrassing.

Take the case of Grady Hopkins Jr., 20, who somehow obtained a hacksaw blade and cut out a bar from his cell, leaving a nine-inch square opening. He started to wriggle through but found to his dismay that the hole was too small.

Four cellmates disrobed Hopkins and soaped him from head to toe with handsoap, then poured water on him. He still couldn't budge.

Ninety minutes after he got stuck — Hopkins gave up and called for help. The jailer called in a maintenance man who freed him.

Red Forces Take Laos Strongpoint

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Pro-Communist forces have captured Nam Tha, a provincial capital only 20 miles from Red China's border that the royal Laotian government had vowed to defend to death.

Premier Boun Oum's government and Peiping radio today announced the fall of the town to the rebels after a Sunday of fighting.

The United States denounced the rebel attack as a violation of the year-old cease-fire but U.S. officials in Washington generally hoped it would not wreck attempts to set up a coalition neutralist regime to take Laos out of the cold war.

Boun Oum's Information Minister Bouavan Norasing said the 5,000 defenders of Nam Tha had been evacuated and the city was now in enemy hands.

Bouavan said the government had received only fragmentary reports from the area, 225 miles northwest of Vientiane, and gave no details of the retreat.

The only overland escape route from Nam Tha, which had been under siege for four months, was a road leading to Houei Sai, 150 miles to the southwest on the Thai border.

A group of 12 American military advisers with the government forces in the town fled in a helicopter to the royal capital, Luang Prabang. An American officer said the government troops put up a pretty good fight.

Peiping radio said Pathet Lao forces stormed Nam Tha in a fierce counterattack after the royal army — "along with the American" — began a large-scale attack on rebel defense positions.

The New China News Agency dispatch from Xieng Kouang, the rebel headquarters, said the defenders were routed and took flight in great numbers. The dispatch said surrounding areas also were seized.

There was no indication of the casualties in either the government or communist reports.

Nam Tha was the last government stronghold in the northwest Nam Tha Province. Vientiane had been sending reinforcements to make the town a showpiece of resistance.

The doom of the provincial capital was sealed with the rebel capture of Muong Sing last Thursday in an attack in which American military sources claimed about 200 Chinese Communist troops took part.

While Communist reports identified the captors of Nam Tha as Pathet Lao, Bouavan said he presumed the majority of the troops were Red Chinese and from Communist North Viet Nam.

The romance resulted in charges and countercharges, and when the district attorney's office refused to have the charges dismissed, the hearing was continued to May 18.

Soviets Have Warning NATO Is Still Strong

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The Soviet Union today had a clear warning that the Western allies, although divided on some lesser issues, remain united in their determination to defend their freedom by nuclear weapons if necessary.

The 15 member nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, winding up a four-day strategy review that produced some disagreements on Berlin and nuclear policy, reaffirmed in their summing-up communique:

"The purpose of NATO is defense, and it must be clear that in case of attack (NATO) will defend its members by all necessary means."

5 ATOM SUBS Backing up this pledge was a U.S. commitment of five nuclear-armed Polaris submarines to the technical command of NATO.

Foreign and defense ministers of the NATO powers ended the review Sunday. Their meetings had been marked by sharp and pointed words. The final communique reflected some of the debate.

Conference spokesmen had reported that the ministers generally approved Washington's current efforts to sound out the prospects of a Berlin agreement with the Russians. But the communique said only that the ministers took note of the U.S. Soviet exploratory talks. This noncommittal wording was due to French reservations about the value of such talks.

On nuclear policy, the communique said it had "been decided to set up special procedures which will enable all members of the alliance to exchange information concerning the role of nuclear weapons in NATO defense."

This meant acceptance of a U.S. proposal for greater consultation on the use of nuclear weapons so that America's allies can better understand the destructiveness and consequences of nuclear war.

NOT ADEQUATE France, which reportedly would prefer information on how to make atomic bombs, was known to consider the U.S. proposal inadequate.

The new procedure will enable NATO nations to see comprehensive American nuclear studies previously classified as top secret. Actual bomb-making techniques still will be denied the allies.

Informed sources said this U.S. initiative stems from the Kennedy administration's belief that the tactical use of nuclear weapons would almost certainly set off a general nuclear war. The Americans feel that conventional infantry, armor and artillery are needed more than ever, and they hope information on the horrors of the nuclear alternative will spur the allies to speed up fulfillment of their conventional arms commitments.

BACKGROUND The proposal for an independent NATO nuclear force was pushed into the background. While Secretary of State Dean Rusk said he was arrested and charged with two other men in terrorist bombings in Miami. Other men in photo are unidentified.

Meetings Ends Dependents Ban

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—A sailor was to meet his wife and children in England today, the first reunion of a service family in Europe since the lifting of a ban on military dependent travel.

Estella LeMasters, wife of Chief Petty Officer Max E. LeMasters, and their two children Max E. Jr., 12, and Cheryl, 9, left by plane from McGuire Air Force Base Sunday.

LeMasters applied to have his family sent overseas on April 25, the day Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara lifted the ban on dependent travel which had been in effect nearly seven months.

LeMasters had been stationed at a naval air base in Kent, England, since last January. His family had been living in Norfolk, Va.

RELIGIOUSLY RIGHT

By A Christian Writer

Jesus did not come into the world to make men religious; He came to make them religiously right.

When He came into the world, He found men religious, but the fault that He found was that they were religiously wrong.

They worshipped, but they nullified their worship by teaching for doctrine the commandments of men. They honored God with their lips but the heart was far from Him (Matt. 15:8).

The conversions recorded in the Acts of the Apostles were almost always of men and women already religious, but mistakenly so. Read Acts 8, the conversion of the Ethiopian eunuch who had been to Jerusalem to worship; or Acts 9, where you find the conversion of a religiously zealous man, Paul.

Miss Belda Honoree At Coke Party

Noting the graduation of Miss Diane Belda, BSHS senior, a Coke party was given Saturday morning in the home of Mrs. J. E. Hogan, 509 Westover. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Robert Stripling and Mrs. Marion Edwards.

The 50 guests attending the informal affair were comprised of both high school and college students, friends of the honoree. They were received at the door by the honoree and Mrs. B. J. Belda, her mother.

Refreshments were served from a polished table centered with a white globe embossed with the world map in gold. The globe was based in a mass of iris, sagebroom, mock orange, honeysuckle and sweet william. Cakes in a brass container filled with ice, were served by Miss Katie Beas Morgan, Miss Mazelle Graebel and Miss Deane Mansfield were those who assisted.

Entertainment consisted of a game in which each guest told of her plans for next fall. Also, in the garden, each threw a penny over her left shoulder into the fountain and made a wish.

Likes Sweets

Pretty actress Diana Darrin, says that everything that she enjoys eating is fattening. If she loosens the rein on her resistance to those foods, her five-three frame begins to show a gain in weight in a very short time. She lost weight by attending a health school and by staying on a prune and bacon diet on weekends.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Diana Darrin Diets On Prunes And Bacon

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — "Everything I like to eat is fattening," Diana Darrin admitted as she squeezed a few drops of sugar substitute into a glass of iced tea. "I went on a sweets kick not long ago. I ate ice cream bars as I watched TV or nibbled candy as I read and had a wonderful time until my agent told me I lost out on a job because I was overweight. I am five-three and even one extra pound shows on me."

"You look great now," I told Diana, who was working in a "Bonanza" show for NBC. "What did you do to lose weight?"

"I've been going to a health club every day. I have a workout in the gym and a steam bath. I've lost two pounds and two inches around my waist on my 'no bloated diet.'"

"I used to be so foolish about reducing," Diana continued. "I thought the fastest way to lose would be not to eat anything at all, and I practically starved myself until I was bloated from malnutrition."

"What about this 'no bloated diet'?" I asked.

"I don't say that it will work for everyone," Diana emphasized, "but for my body chemistry, it gives me a good cleaning out and a slimming down."

"I pick either Saturday or Sunday and three times a day I have 10 prunes and three slices of crisp bacon. I simmer the prunes until they swell, and then I have them hot or cold. If you respond to this diet as I do," Diana pointed out, "it's best to plan to stay at home."

"I have tried diets where I lost scale weight," Diana concluded, "but I didn't get rid of my puffiness, and that's why I find this diet so satisfactory."

It's time to lose those extra pounds and prepare for summer fun! Let Leaflet M-46, Rhonda Fleming's Spring Cleaning Diet, help you. You will look and feel healthier when you rid your system of toxins accumulated over a period of time. Founders Day Noted At Tea

Founders Day of Epsilon Sigma Alpha International was observed Sunday afternoon when Big Spring chapters of Alpha Chi and Mu Kappa entertained with a tea.

Held in the Blue Room of the Cosden Country Club, the tea is given each year especially in honor of ESA's mothers. A welcome was extended by Mrs. Robert H. Mitchell, president of Alpha Chi. She also gave the Founders Day message from Becky Roger, International Council president. Mrs. Roy McMullen talked on "Togetherness," the International Education directors message to all chapters.

Next on the program was a monologue depicting activities of an average chapter. This was given by Mrs. J. W. Dickens, president of Mu Kappa. Mrs. Glyn Mitchell gave special tributes to founders, members at large, local, district, state and international officers, headquarters staff members and to Dixie Palmer, ESA International director.

Refreshments were served to 25 members and guests. The polished table, appointed with silver service, was centered with yellow jonquils and blue candles in keeping with the sorority colors.

Mrs. Mitchell presided at the coffee service and punch was served by Miss Bo Bowen. Mrs. Ronnie McCain served cake.

What's In The Bag?

Fashion and sentiment go hand in hand this Mother's Day. A hand bag is appropriate gift for many reasons: no problems with size, no woman ever has enough handbags, and this year the selection in style, color and finish is the widest—and most beautiful—in many a year.

For a petite mom there are day-time envelopes and late day clutches, soft supple and smooth, suedes, grains and patents. Tall or short "mom" will love a flexible pouch or a squarish box bag in one of the new leathers that accent a summer costume.

If you're not certain, play it safe — get a large handbag. She will love it — particularly if it's stocked with bright leather accessories — french purse, wallet, key case, eyeglass case.

Self Satisfaction Program Subject

In a Friday meeting of the Forsan Home Demonstration Club Mrs. L. M. Duffer based her program on "The person who is satisfied with himself is a has-been; he has accomplished all he can."

Mrs. Hugh Tuck gave a devotion taken from Second Timothy. All members answered roll call with "A vacation I would enjoy."

On May 18 the group will tour Cosden refinery. An all-day meeting has been scheduled for June 15, when members will make pillows.

Mrs. M. M. Fairchild was hostess to the nine members attending.

5 States Plan Primary Elections

By The Associated Press
 Voters in five states make their choices in party primaries Tuesday involving two governorships, two U.S. Senate seats and 54 House posts.
 Elections in Ohio, Florida, Indiana, New Mexico and West Virginia will be spiced with some old familiar political names, and some differences of opinion on how to finance medical care for the aged.
 Ohio Republicans will choose between the sons of two late Ohio senators for the nomination for congressman at large. They are Robert Taft Jr., majority leader of the Ohio House and son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, and State Sen. Thomas Lowell Fess, son of the late Sen. Simeon D. Fess.
 On the Democratic side in Ohio, both Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Sen. Frank J. Lausche have opposition but seem assured of re-election. DiSalle is opposed by State Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy. Lausche by former labor organizer Albert T. Ball of Cleveland.
 John Marshall Briley, Toledo attorney, and James A. Rhodes, former mayor of Columbus, appear to be the leaders in GOP primaries for senator and governor respectively.
 Former Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida, defeated in the 1950 Democratic primary by present incumbent Sen. George A. Smathers, has three opponents in a race for one of Florida's four new house seats. An early New Dealer, he has endorsed the Kennedy administration without reservation.
 Smathers also is running, seeking his third term in the Democratic primary with Robert L. Davis and Douglas R. Voorhees. Emerson Rupert of St. Petersburg is unopposed for the GOP senatorial nomination.
 In four of the six Democratic House primaries in Florida, the President's Social Security plan for financing health care for the aged is an issue.
 Another gubernatorial contest is in New Mexico where four Democrats seek the nod to challenge Republican Gov. Edwin L. Mechem, unopposed in his bid for a fifth-term nomination.
 Indiana has only a congressional primary this year and all 11 incumbents—four Democrats and seven Republicans—appear to be safe bets for re-election.
 West Virginia also chooses only congressional nominees. The only incumbents with opposition are Rep. Ken Hechler and Rep. Elizabeth Kee, both Democrats.

Meg's Man Might Quit

LONDON (AP)—Lord Snowden, Princess Margaret's husband, has been telling his friends he wants to give up his job on the Sunday Times, the Daily Sketch reported today.
 "From what we hear he will be resigning from his post as artistic adviser to that newspaper's color supplement in the near future," the tabloid said.
 Snowden — freelance photographer Antony Armstrong-Jones before his marriage to Margaret — has been working on the newspaper just over three months. His salary reportedly is around 10,000 pounds—$28,000—a year.
 Mark Boxer, editor of the Sunday Times color supplement and one of Lord Snowden's best friends, refused to discuss whether he's most talked about employee wanted to quit.
 The Sketch said Roy Thomson, owner of the Sunday Times, said the report wasn't true, that "Lord Snowden is very happy in his work."
 The Sketch said "one constant source of embarrassment to 'Snowdon' has been the attitude of some of the staff."
 "Unused to colleagues of his rank—a hush falls on a room when he enters—some of them have found difficulty in adjusting themselves to the presence of the queen's brother-in-law."
 The Sunday Express reported Sunday that Snowden is searching for an apartment away from Kensington Palace, where he lives with his wife. He has been to see an apartment in Chelsea—one of his old haunts — but decided it wasn't quite big enough.

DEAR ABBY

Change The Combination

DEAR ABBY: Last year I married a widow. I owned a home but it was too large, so I sold it and moved into hers. She had a mortgage on her home, which I paid off. I BOUGHT her home from her and now it belongs to both of us. My problem is her son. He is married and has been in some trouble with the law. (Burglaries and shady deals.) He carries a key to his mother's house, which means he can come and go as he pleases. I do not trust him, and worry about some of the valuable things (jewelry and money) I have in the house. His mother has asked him for the key, but he only gives her excuses. How can I get the key back? CAREFUL DEAR CAREFUL: Forget the key and change the locks.

DEAR ABBY: I am 17, but look older. I recently met a man (about my father's age) at a drug store where I work on Saturdays. He says he is a movie talent scout and he would like to give me a screen test. No one where I work seems to know who he is. I know I am nice looking because people tell me that all the time. Should I take this man seriously or do you think he is kidding me? HELEN DEAR HELEN: First, give this man a "screening." Invite him to meet your parents. They'll find out in a hurry if he's kidding.

DEAR ABBY: What can a woman of 42 do to get a compliment out of her husband? I have spent hours in the beauty parlor getting a new hair-do. No comment. I bought material and made myself a beautiful outfit in his favorite color—blue. No comment. I use cosmetics artistically and even searched for a subtle perfume I thought he'd like. No comment. Everyone else tells me I am a fine-looking woman, but he never says a word. I know he loves me and our children, but sometimes I think, "Oh, what the heck!"

DEAR NO: You're lucky. Some women get plenty of sweet talk from their husbands, and nothing else. By the way, when was the last time you complimented him?

DEAR ABBY: Please tell the "other women" that if she considers herself the winner, it is all right with me. But she will soon learn that she didn't win anything. All my former worries are now hers. FORMER WIFE

Remodeled

Extensive remodeling continues in the furniture department of Big Spring Hardware Co., 110 Main, where Jack Jernigan has recently been named manager. Modern, contemporary and period furniture by famous manufacturers is offered here on budget planning that gives the customer up to 36 months to complete payment. Home accessories pictured include lamps, pictures, ash trays, pillows and planters. Spacious aisles and controlled temperature allow comfortable shopping always.

Services Held

ATHENS, Tex. (AP)—Services were held today for Charles W. Roberts Sr., 73, who founded and for many years published the Andrews County News. He suffered a heart attack several weeks ago and died Saturday.

Furniture Department Is Remodeled

The furniture department of Big Spring Hardware Company, 110 Main, is putting a new face forward this month.

A great deal of remodeling and restocking is now taking place to make customer shopping at the firm more convenient and enjoyable.

"We are adding some new lines of fine furniture that are moderately priced, beautifully designed and quality crafted," said Jack Jernigan, newly named manager of this department. Although new to Big Spring Hardware, Jernigan is familiar to many residents due to his association with other local stores.

By extending into what was formerly a storage area at the rear of the store, the show area has been considerably enlarged. This will allow for the customer's complete inspection of all furniture pieces from roomy passageways.

Immediate plans call for arranging and offering furniture in "house groups," thus enabling the purchaser to save when buying everything required for the home in this easy, one-stop shopping manner.

Even the accessories that give a home the "completed" look are not forgotten at Big Spring Hardware. Every type lamp—from bedside to pole is displayed completely assembled. Toss pillows for bed or divan come in luxurious fabrics and pictures of many types to dress up your walls and delight the eye await your choosing.

Anything you purchase at Big Spring Hardware can be bought on convenient monthly terms with up to 36 months to pay. Your Scottie trading stamps (which the firm gives and redeems) can be used in making payments.

Old friends and new customers alike are invited to stop by Big Spring Hardware furniture department (across the street from the appliance store) and let Jernigan show the changes being made which mean better bargains for furniture buyers.

Byron Neel Makes Moving More Pleasant Experience

Most people like the idea of moving because it usually means that they have acquired a new home, advanced in their profession or will be visiting cities or countries that they have never seen before. Yes, the thought of moving is pleasant and the doing so can be, too, by letting Byron Neel handle all arrangements.

Neel learned the finer points of the transfer and storage business from his father, opening his own business in Big Spring in 1947. Neel starts with the best available packing materials which includes specially constructed cartons and tissue for extra padding. Tested and approved methods of packing are always used for furniture, breakable items and personal treasures. The staff at Neels are as careful with your possessions as they would be with their own. Byron's is in charge of many inbound shipments for the government and often is in charge of moving household goods of corporation personnel when they are transferred. When these shipments arrive before the owners are prepared for them, Neel has provided excellent storage facilities. At 106 E. 1st, the company's office site, individual storage vaults have been sanitized for your protection and will be locked for extra safety.

Cone Suggests One Firm For All Insurance Needs

There are countless companies that offer coverage on one or two phases of the insurance field. However, Roscoe Cone, local agent for State Farm Insurance, believes you will be better satisfied and better serviced when you let one company handle all your insurance requirements.

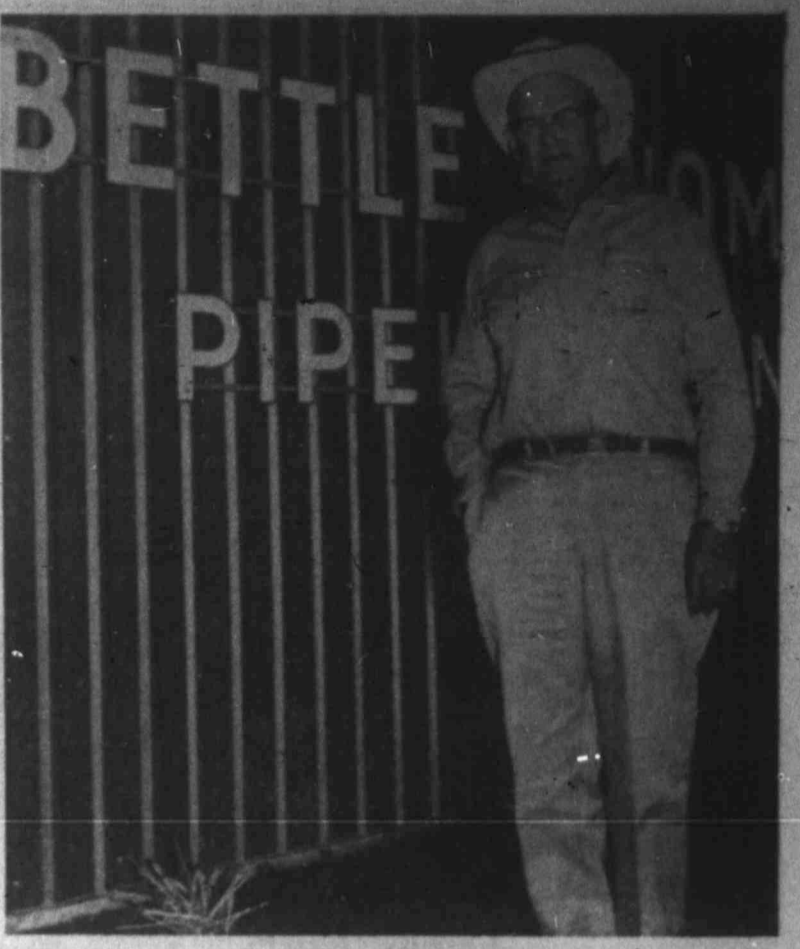

Cone says, "Our agency is equipped to offer all the insurance coverages in automobile, life and fire insurance that any family may need."

He further states that the State Farm Mutual Auto Insurance Company is the largest in the world and insures more vehicles than any other company.

"The State Farm Life Insurance Company ranks in the top 10 per cent in business in force," says Cone, "and the State Farm and Casualty Company ranks in the top five per cent. The company has constantly returned dividends to its customers all through the years and presently are returning 25 per cent on each six month billing."

The State Farm Insurance Agency is located in the 11th Place Shopping Center, where C. Roscoe Cone is always glad to assist you in planning an insurance program.

Overseas travelers like this method of moving. Their possessions are packed and sealed in huge boxes before the customer's eyes—not to be opened again until they are placed in the new home.

Governor-candidate Marshall Formby of Plainview, right, talks with Highway Patrolman E. J. 24 States Spurn Guard Disbanding

WASHINGTON (AP)—Twenty-four states have spurned a Pentagon request for suggestions on which of their Army National Guard units should be disbanded. Of the 26 states which have replied, many are believed to have made it clear they will not cooperate with the National Guard Bureau in a planned nationwide cutback of 475 units which the Army says it no longer needs. The White House meanwhile deferred action on a bid by a governors' committee to plead its case before President Kennedy. The governors' request for a meeting with Kennedy has been handed on to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara for his advice. The White House press office said, McNamara is in Athens for a North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting and is not due back until later this week.

NOT APPROVED
The Army stressed the cutback plan so far is its own and has not yet been approved by McNamara. It says it doesn't want to undercut the Guard and the reserve, but to make them more effective. In a letter to Gov. Norman Erbe of Iowa, Kennedy appeared to back up the Army in principle, saying there is a need to realign American military resources.

Maj. Gen. Donald W. McGowan, chief of the Guard Bureau, triggered a barrage of protests last week when he sent each governor a terse message stating the number and type of unit the Army is thinking of eliminating in each of their states. In general, the objective is to apply an average 10 per cent cut in units. McGowan asked that the governors forward by May 3 their nominations of specific units to be eliminated, along with certain other information on the impact the action would have in their states.

ADD ANOTHER
Asked how many states had responded to McGowan's request, the Guard Bureau said 24 states plus the District of Columbia had not done so.

It said 26 states—and Puerto Rico—had sent replies of some sort. They are: Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina and Wyoming. The bureau refused to tell what was in the replies on grounds it was an official matter but the governors or adjutants general of many of the 26 replying states have made their objections known elsewhere. So far, as is known, not a single governor's voice has been raised in support of the plan.

MUST AGREE
The law stipulates that governors must agree before any units wholly within their states are changed or disbanded. However, some Army officers said that if the Pentagon wanted to get tough, it could withdraw recognition from Guard units it no longer needed and thus cut off their federal drill pay and any first class equipment. They emphasized this probably would be a last resort.

Over-all, the Army wants to trim about 824 of its 8,900 miscellaneous Guard and Army Reserve units to reduce its Reserve-Guard manpower by 58,000 men. The money now spent on paying these men would be applied to increasing training drills for the 642,000 who would remain on the rolls.

The Army said it has a state-by-state plan for spreading the elimination of nearly 350 reserve units, but declined to make it public. The reserve comes wholly under the federal government, so the governors have no say in this part of the reorganization program.

OBsolete TYPES
The outfits to be shucked generally would be types now considered obsolete, such as anti-aircraft gun batteries, or surplus, like certain truck and engineer units. Also ticketed for elimination are some infantry battle groups.

The Army contends its aim is not to save money but to "improve the over-all combat readiness of the reserve components by increasing the strength, amount of equipment, and mobilization of high priority units needed early in any call to active unit."

As a key part of the plan, six picked Guard infantry divisions would be built close to full 14,000-man strength and given top quality weapons and equipment, so they would be in position on short notice to back up the 16 regular Army divisions.

Four other Guard and four reserve infantry divisions would be broken up and their men reformed into more flexible brigades and supporting groups—signal, artillery, transportation and similar elements.

Hit-And-Run Thunderstorms Threaten Several State Areas

By The Associated Press

Hit - and - run thunderstorms broke up early Monday after menacing swipes at several points in the Texas Panhandle.

Briefly torrential rain, accompanied by pea sized hail, caused water to rise knee deep for a short time in streets at Vega, west of Amarillo. Lightning set off several grass fires near Adrian in the same vicinity.

Half an inch to an inch of rain fell at Vega and Adrian. Another heavy shower drenched Channing.

Small dust storms and isolated thundershowers dotted the South Plains area around Lubbock.

The moisture came from a line of thundershowers 20 miles wide which swept across the Panhandle, dissipating after midnight.

By early morning the skies were generally clear throughout the state except for a few patches of low clouds in South Central Texas. There was ground fog at Houston and Lufkin before sunrise.

Forecasts called for occasional afternoon and evening thundershowers in the Panhandle-Plains sector and a few thundershowers elsewhere in West Texas.

Some of the hottest weather so far this year sent the mercury soaring Sunday. Presidio in the West Texas Big Bend recorded 105 degrees. It hit 103 at Snyder and Wink and 100 at Wichita Falls. Palacios, on the coast, was among the cooler spots with a high of 79.

Readings before dawn Monday ranged from 58 degrees at Lubbock up to 79 at El Paso.

Airliner Crash Kills 10 People

VENTNOR, Isle of Wight, England (AP) — Ten persons were killed and seven injured Sunday when a two-engine DC3 airliner crashed in heavy fog and burst into flames on this English Channel island.

The Ministry of Aviation said there were 14 passengers and 3 crewmen aboard the plane, which was en route to Portsmouth from the channel island of Jersey off the French coast.

Brew loose-packed Morton's Tea for minimum of five minutes, preferably in earthen pot as the British do. Cool until tepid to touch, then fill refrigerator ice tray and freeze into "tea cubes." Later, when ready to serve, brew another pot of tea, fill glasses with "tea cubes" and pour fresh-brewed tea over them. Absolutely 100% Morton's Tea flavor... no dilution because the very "ice" itself is full-flavored. Morton's Tea also! A Devotional For Today

Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it. (Proverbs 22:6.)
PRAYER: Our Father, Thou who showed Thy love for little children, we pray that Thou wilt bless the homes around the world. Guide parents as they try to lead their little ones in Christ's footsteps. Send the Holy Spirit to dwell among us that we may be faithful witnesses for Thee through our homes. In Christ's name. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

May—Month Of Motion

May is a month of motion. If you don't believe it, just get caught up in the great rush to complete many undertakings before the summer season arrives. The events pointing to and surrounding the close of another school and college year are like a whirlwind mounting in tempo until it suddenly will blow itself out. Then there are many other affairs, many special weeks which fall on the May calendar for observance, plus the National Junior College track tournament. There will be Armed Forces Day, a major undertaking in our community and area. Then there will be Memorial Day, and on this same day the opening of our annual rodeo — the oldest continuous show in West Texas with the exception of Pecos and Stamford.

In between there are perhaps a dozen other things that we haven't mentioned. So gird yourself for the rush, give it all you've got to accomplish a lot before the tempo suddenly breaks. Maybe June will bring vacations and respite.

Importance Of Good Music

Among our favorite special weeks is National Music Week. It has been an instrument through which our music clubs have sharpened our focus on the importance of good music to our lives. Few things have the power to still the soul as the soothing, sweet and majestic tones of music. This is the tranquilizer for the masses who love to sit and listen to the works and to the passages which move us from the turmoil and tension of current storms into the placid calm that recreates our very beings. Nothing can quite stir our imagination or our feelings as music, full and deep rooted. Nothing can so establish a mood or a sense of emotion as well-conceived and executed music.

And perhaps nothing can so lift us like music from the hum-drum of the ordinary until we stand on the threshold of inspiration. It is beyond calculation how many masterful works in poetry, literature, art and speech have been first stirred by the inspiration of good music.

The Main Issue Is Being Ignored

WASHINGTON — It's strange how often deep-seated issues are avoided or glossed over. The President appoints a labor-management advisory committee. It is asked to study "free and responsible collective bargaining and industrial peace." The committee is composed of prominent citizens representing labor, management and the public. A report is filed after months of study. It makes a few worthwhile suggestions about amending the procedures leading to the use of the Taft-Hartley Act injunctions, but it does not recommend any way to get rid of the monopoly power that brings on major strikes.

ALMOST AS BAD as a strike itself is the threat of it. Today, the American people are paying the bill for the artificial speed-up of steel production in the last six months which grew out of the threat of a strike. Inventories were increased in anticipation of shortages. Workers who were hired in that period now have been laid off. The threat, however, of another strike in steel, with a dislocation of production schedules, is due just a few months hence.

President Kennedy himself avoids this basic issue. He talks eloquently about the "public interest" and how the economy must be kept moving steadily. He goes before the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and speaks of the things he has recommended for transportation and the appeals he has made for "non-inflationary" settlements in wage contracts. But he has uttered not a word in explanation of the tactics of coercion he used against the steel industry to interfere with the setting of prices based on economic factors, though the President has no power under any law to fix prices. Now Mr. Kennedy is represented as wondering why he got a chilly reception at the Chamber of Commerce meeting.

IT WILL TAKE a long time to undo the injury that has been done in recent weeks to the free-enterprise system by the administration. Confidence will not return on the basis of mere promises to treat labor and management alike in the future. The truth is that, if the President the next time adopts a course of intimidation with respect to a national labor union comparable to that which he employed against steel, he will be compounding his error.

For the real issue that is being evaded is whether the economy of the United States shall continue to be operated under a formula by which federal laws restrain management but not labor unions.

THE FUNDAMENTAL QUESTION today is monopoly power. The President's labor-management advisory committee, which filed its report last week, did not come forward with a study on this question. It was, instead, postponed for future consideration. Both Henry Ford II, chairman of Ford Motor Company, and Joseph L. Block, head of Inland Steel Company, attached their views to the formal report filed with the President. Mr. Block said

We Aren't Entirely Free

WASHINGTON (AP) — What have you done for me lately? This is something neither labor nor business mentions when they howl in protest against government interference with their freedom, particularly their freedom to deal with each other.

President Kennedy's troubles with labor and business are piling up just when, luckily for him, his troubles with Premier Khrushchev are quieting down a bit. His hope of persuading labor and management to keep wages and prices down to avoid inflation got another jolt Sunday from Walter Reuther, president of the AFL-CIO Auto Workers.

IN A REPORT to the UAW convention Reuther rejected Ken-neddy's hope—sometimes called a formula, although it's pretty vague—as a long-term goal. He called for higher wages than Kennedy has in mind.

The free enterprise system hasn't been completely free—real freedom must also include freedom from depending on the government for help—since the first Congress passed the first tariff act to protect American producers from foreign competition.

The desire for this kind of government help, or protection, is still there. Last week a strong group at the U. S. Chamber of Commerce meeting tried to undercut Kennedy's proposals for federal aid to companies and workers damaged by rising imports under the pending trade expansion program.

VARIOUS SEGMENTS of business, just like the farmers who want government price supports, are glad to get government subsidies, tax benefits or other help.

Labor, which always talks vigorously about freedom in dealing with management, was delighted with the 1953 Wagner Act which interfered in labor-management relations by saying employers must bargain with a union.

Labor wants all the benefits it can get, like government insistence upon a minimum wage, a 40-hour work week or less.

Add up all that both sides want in the way of government help—which invariably means government intrusion in their affairs—and they are not talking about the principle of absolute freedom.

They're talking about not wanting to give up any more freedom than they can help, without government intrusion. Very often this is a myth, too.

THERE HASN'T been a steel labor settlement for years without the government's having to take some part in it because the union and the industry couldn't reach solutions themselves.

Last Feb. 28 a presidential railroad commission—made up of labor, management and public members—issued a report after studying for many months union-railroad troubles. The commission blasted both sides for their failure to get along, use their heads and modernize themselves.

Last week a Kennedy-appointed three-man board, while recommending a pay raise of about 10 cents an hour for 450,000 railroad employees who don't work on trains, also criticized both sides for their failure to settle their own problems without involving the aid of outsiders.

ALSO LAST week an advisory committee appointed by Kennedy—made up of labor, management and public members—figured it was about time the government should butt into labor-management relations a little more by creating fact-finding boards to recommend settlements.

Where The Boys Are

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail.

With most federal prisoners it's a matter of "out again, in again." Within five years after their release, 65 per cent are back behind bars.

Girls, if you want to go where the boys are, go to college. Enrollment of boys outnumber girls in the ratio of 13-10. The big reason: most parents still think a sheepskin is more important to a son than to a daughter.

Did you know you spend about 45 per cent of your waking time listening?

Another 25 per cent is spent in talking, reading and writing. Odd regulations: In Sweden youngsters under 18 must have a letter from the king in order to get married. West German police must carry knives equipped with corkscrews. An Oregon law once banned motorists from driving with their shoes off.

Health hint: If city fumes choke you, move to a desert. The cleanest air in the nation is found over deserts.

Latest news from the farm: Cows that lounge on foam rubber mattresses gave more milk than those that are bedded on straw. Our quotable notables: "I have suffered from being misunderstood, but I would have suffered a hell of a lot more if I had been understood."—Clarence Darrow.

Paging Horatio Alger: Starting at the bottom of the ladder has its penalties. Some studies show that kids who had to struggle all the way up to top managerial positions wind up in poorer health than those who stepped from college into a fairly good post.

How they got started: Yul Brynner was a trapeze performer. Dick Clark first aspired to be a banker. Bandleader Xavier Cugat was a newspaper cartoonist.

Money talk: During the middle ages India used fish hooks as currency. All the world's stock of mined gold could be put into a room 30 feet high and 30 feet square.

Nature notes: A waving green flag will annoy a bull just as much as a red one. A cricket an inch long can make a chirp loud enough to be heard a mile away. You can hold a queen bee in your hand in perfect safety—all she will sting is another queen bee.

It was Miguel de Cervantes who observed, "Everyone is as God has made him, and often a great deal worse."

Tips On What To Do About Poison Ivy

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Poison ivy, poison oak and poison sumac are the common names of several kinds of harmful vines, shrubs and plants. Poison ivy and poison oak have only three leaflets and can be easily distinguished from non-poisonous Virginia creeper, which has five.

For the sake of clarity, I will refer to poison ivy only.

Poisoning is an allergic reaction to the oil in ivy.

Walking through a patch of it can bruise the leaves and stems enough to release this substance. You can come in contact less directly: clothing, whether yours or someone else's; an animal's hair or fur; smoke from a fire in which ivy is burning, etc. Pollen, blossoms and roots of the plant all carry the poison.

Roughly about half of all young adults are sensitive to this stuff. After 60 the sensitivity usually disappears, but not always.

I have found that a solution of "ammate" sprinkled on the plant kills it. Doubtless there are other effective chemicals, too.

Aside from avoiding the plant, there are numerous methods of prevention or treatment: Immediately after contact, wash thoroughly with laundry or kitchen soap. This often prevents or nearly always minimizes trouble. Calamine lotion or antihistamine drugs ease itching. Skin preparations containing zirconium oxide tend to make the poison inactive.

Dilute bleaching solutions, applied early, also may inactivate the poison.

If blistering occurs, compresses of borax, potassium permanganate, Burrow's solution, or cold salt solution will be soothing. But remember that the permanganate will stain.

In very severe cases, steroid drugs are given by mouth to ease or shorten the discomfort, but this must be under a doctor's care.

While patent preparations may help, their over-enthusiastic use may actually aggravate some sensitive skins.

For prevention, various degrees of success have been reported by injection of weak solutions of poison ivy extract, in the same way as hay fever desensitization is performed.

The Indians made a tea from the leaves. And more modern methods have resulted in an alcohol extract taken in small doses six or eight weeks before the poison ivy starts.

Any of these preventive measures should, of course, be done under a doctor's supervision—and remember, also, that the injections are not to be used after you've broken out with an ivy rash. It's too late then. This sort of preventive procedure may be tried only for extremely sensitive people.

For the rest of us—be careful wash with strong soap if we have come in contact with the poisons; use one or another of the soothing applications if the rash becomes too itchy.

Dear Dr. Molner: What can be done for a 6-year-old tongue tied boy? An operation?—L. H. H.

If the condition persists into the sixth year, surgery is usually necessary.

NOTE TO MRS. B. H.: It is illegal to have an operation to make you sterile without the consent of both you and your husband in writing.

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? For answers, read Dr. Molner's helpful booklet, "How to Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim A Few Soreheads Everywhere?

This and that: Several communities around the nation have copied the famous sign outside Stanton, which reads: "Welcome to Stanton, home of 2,500 friendly people and a few old soreheads." Or words to that effect.

One of the latest imitators is Milford, Texas, which has raised a sign outside its city limits that proclaims: "Milford, Texas, A Friendly City of 750 People and 3 or 4 Old Grouches."

Milford is located not far from Hillsboro on the Ennis highway.

HEAR ABOUT that frustrated London businessman who abandoned his car in a nonparking area and left this note: "I have circled this block 20 times. I have an appointment and must keep it. Forgive us our trespasses."

Returning 40 minutes later, he found this note pinned to his steering wheel: "I have circled this block for 20 years. If I don't give you a ticket, I'll lose my job. Lead us not into temptation."

AND HOW ABOUT the story of the two stenographers who were talking to one another. Said one: "I'm going to stop dating that sales man. He knows too many rude songs."

"Does he sing them to you?" asked the second.

"No, but he whistles them."

YOU MAY BE bothered with noise in confined places but it's always advisable to use caution in trying to reduce the decibels being hurled down upon you.

Take the case of the fellow in Fribourg, France, named Jacques Dutailis, who had forgotten his ear plugs on a train trip and found he couldn't sleep. He filled his ears with chewing gum.

Next morning, he discovered his ears had been cemented. Had to undergo surgery before he could hear again.

I LIKE THE STORY about the two sales representatives who met in a railway station restaurant. After a few casual comments, one said: "For two months you haven't seen me and you don't even ask how's business?"

"O.K.," replied the other, "how is business?"

To which the other retorted: "Don't ask." —TOMMY HART

Time For Harry And Ike To Resist

Both Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower have served this nation with distinction and deserve its gratitude and honors.

But I respectfully submit that they have done this nation a great disservice by ignoring the extremists' charges that both are Communists or agents of the Communist conspiracy.

OF COURSE, the charges are absurd; it is difficult to say whether they are the height or depth of the ridiculous. I can only presume that these two former soldiers and Presidents of the United States shrugged off the charges as the product of diseased or evil minds; charges that would gain no credence among sane persons.

Ordinarily, that would be the correct diagnosis of the charges, and the proper way for prominent citizens to treat such contemptible mouthings of the faceless Birchers and other hate-merchants.

But these are not ordinary times in which even a former President of the United States can afford to wrap himself in the deserved mantle of his dignity and respectability and be silent. Former President Eisenhower and former President Truman could do their country no greater service at this time than to make their accusers prove their charges in a court of law.

THE EXTREMISTS of the right only know and practice lynch law. They set out to lynch anyone they hate or whose ideas don't coincide with theirs by spreading the word that he is a Communist or a Communist sympathizer. Animated by hate, they do not care whom they ruin, as witness their attacks on Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Truman.

They keep adding other prominent citizens to their pro-Communist roster, and they will be encouraged to keep doing so until some citizen decides to stand and fight on the grounds of criminal libel. In this instance, no action would be more salutary or let more air into the noisome activities of this extremist riffraff than for two former Presidents of the United States to decide that they have had enough and demand justice in a court of law.

NO ONE can besmirch the reputation of either President Truman or President Eisenhower any more than the extremists can befoul the name of the late Gen. George Catlett Marshall. But it would restore a large measure of sanity to the nation and security to other persons not quite so prominent if men such as Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Truman would bring their detractors to account.

The extremists, be they Birchers, Minute Men or whatever, are a divisive element in a nation that needs unity as never before. We face a powerful implacable Communist foe and it is probable that we shall have to face him indefinitely. Organizations pledged to divisive tactics, to setting neighbor against neighbor and American against American, to planting suspicion and fomenting doubt about our government, our leaders and each other, are despicable.

UNDER COVER of anti-communism and while piously wrapping themselves in the flag, these extremists are, in fact, a group of angry men and women who do not understand the 20th Century, who cannot cope with it and who are, in reality, interested primarily in destroying its economic aspects.

We have at last in this country a splinter party whose doctrine is pure fascism. Let's stop pussyfooting and call it what it is and start exposing it as we long ago started exposing Communists and communists.

Dwight Eisenhower a few days ago said something for every citizen to paste in his hat: "Only Americans can hurt America." (Copyright, 1962, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Bobby Looks At Washington Crime

WASHINGTON — On April 17, 1962, Attorney General Robert Kennedy traveled four blocks down Pennsylvania Avenue to the new Federal Court House, where he lunched with U. S. District Attorney David C. Acheson and his staff.

The meeting has much deeper significance than it was accorded. It had the appearance of a ceremonial visit, the nation's top law officer calling upon a respected subordinate. But, in fact, Kennedy, Acheson and the staff members worked through luncheon and all afternoon on a major problem — crime in the capital city.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S visit was routine in one way, unusual in another. He had already visited 47 of the 91 federal district attorneys around the country. Whenever he makes a trip for other purposes, Bob Kennedy arranges to have federal prosecutors come together with him somehow and go over their work and their problems. He has undoubtedly given this part of his job more personal attention than his predecessors ever did, but there is no reason why the "general" should not occasionally make an inspection of the field troops.

IN WASHINGTON, however, the situation is very different in that there is no state law or government here. The federal government is all, but that often means a round robin of internal buck-passing, during which the responsibility gets farther and farther from the man in charge.

By taking a direct interest in Washington crime, which is what Acheson's office is set up to handle, the Attorney General gives the matter an importance it never had before. The following is what was discussed:

HOW BAD IS D. C. crime? Acheson tried to show that the Washington crime statistics are not much worse, or any worse, than those of comparable cities — Baltimore, Boston, New Orleans and St. Louis were used as criteria. In 1961 Washington, with 88 murders, had the highest per capita score of the comparable cities. In reported rapes, however, St. Louis, with 217, topped them all, and Washington was lowest on the list. In aggravated assaults, the District was high, but in larcenies and auto thefts it was low, in burglaries it was average. Kennedy was not impressed by what all this proved about Washington, except that it showed too much crime of every sort.

WHERE IS the solution? The District police force is being raised to 3,000 officers, but not being raised fast enough to keep abreast of the population increase. Crime breeds among the 20,000 jobless employables, 90 per cent of them unskilled, 70 per cent of them Negro. The figures on school drop-outs, jobless youth, juvenile offenses, all show that unskilled, unemployed Negroes commit most of the crimes. Kennedy has about $10 million a year from Congress to stimulate prevention-and-control plans on juvenile delinquency. It is a city-by-city, almost precinct-by-precinct campaign to substitute training for temptation, leadership for punishment. He has already awarded grants to three cities which have submitted suitable plans — Houston, New Haven and Cleveland. Los Angeles, Philadelphia and Minneapolis are next in line for Federal funds. Where is Washington? It is a year or more behind the nearest comparable city.

HOW LARGE IS the race element in Washington crime? With a 54 per cent colored population, the District certainly has more Negro criminals than other cities of its size. But Acheson, by studying Boston, where the colored population is only 9 per cent, finds that in both cities a few Negro outlaws do a disproportionate amount of the violence, and give the entire race a worse name than it fairly deserves.

The overcrowded juvenile court: Until recently, this court had but one judge. The docket was so loaded that an apprehended juvenile offender often had to wait weeks for a trial and months before a disposition of his case. Although Congress has now authorized two additional juvenile judges, they have not been appointed. It was proposed at the Kennedy meeting to loosen up the procedures by which juveniles who repeat their crimes are tried as adults in the regular courts.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S personal interest has called public attention to Washington crime, and will speed up some remedies. But the complicated factors of job-scarcity in a non-industrial city, of population increase, of accumulated neglect, do not make for any foreseeable prospects of improvement by the slow methods of education and welfare.

Unless the Attorney General is willing to take drastic measures, such as the use of military police, the crime problem will be lamented and lived with for a long time to come.

Audubon Lived Here

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP)—The famous naturalist, John James Audubon, was co-owner of a general store here in the early 19th Century. He roamed the Kentucky hillsides sketching pictures of wildlife for several years, before bankruptcy caused him and his family to move.

Oran Warning

An effigy symbolizing the local military force called for in the cease-fire agreements hangs over a street in Oran, Algeria, where the Secret Army Organization has been particularly strong. The local force, consisting of Moslem soldiers in the French Army, has not yet appeared on the scene. Europeans opposing Algerian independence are suspected of hanging the effigy as a warning to the Moslems to stay out of the city's European quarter.

Still Dry Areas Despite Good Rains

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — growing crops and for planting in Central Texas. Grains are heading but prospects are only fair. Corn and sorghums made good progress. Cotton is mostly planted. Pecans are blooming, pastures are good, livestock are in normal condition and sheep shearing is on.

The rains were widespread, but varied from light showers to heavy deluges which in some instances were accompanied by high winds and damaging hail. The benefits greatly exceeded the damages, Hutchison said. The continuing rains are causing grass and weed problems in crops in the wetter sections but pastures and ranges are coming back strong and livestock are improving in condition, Hutchison said.

WILL BENEFIT

Northwest counties of the South Texas District received from one to five inches of rains and crops and pastures will materially benefit. Other counties of the district still need moisture. Squash, green beans, potatoes, onions, carrots and cabbage were harvested in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Screwworm cases are increasing.

Good rains fell in all counties in South Central Texas. Ranges and crops are making good growth and livestock are in good condition. Some insect damage to cotton has been reported.

Before the rains, farmers in the upper Gulf Coast area were busy plowing crops to control grass. Most field work was stopped by rain. Corn, cotton, grain sorghum and rice are looking good and are growing rapidly. Pastures and livestock, as well as vegetables and home gardens, are also making real improvement, he noted. Watermelons are beginning to vine, he said.

SURPLUS TOO SHORT

Moisture ranges from surplus to short in East Texas. Most of the corn is planted; about half of the cotton seeded; pastures were average and livestock were in good condition. Moisture is now adequate for

GRASS VARIES

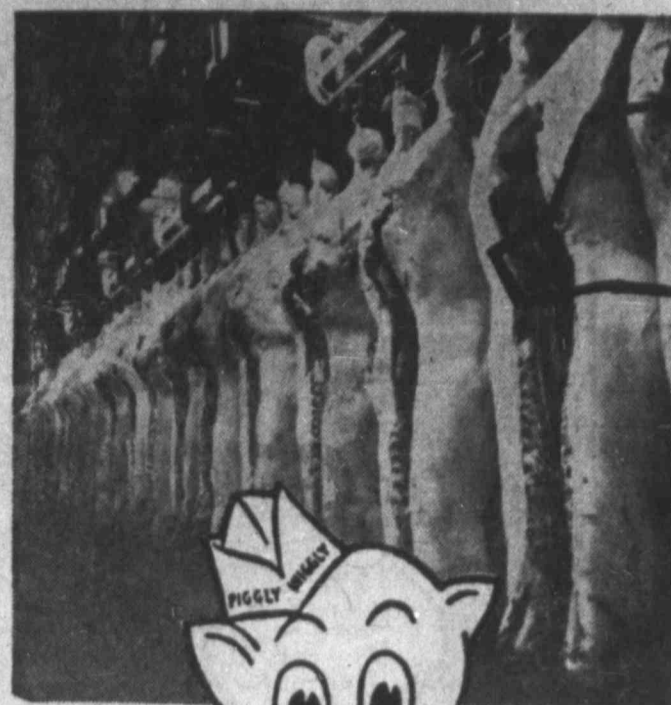

Moisture is short west of the Pecos River and fair to good in the eastern counties of far West Texas. Grass growth was excellent in the counties with adequate moisture but very slow in the drier western counties. Cotton is generally coming up to a good stand and grains are heading. Goat shearing is complete and sheep shearing is continuing.

Hail winds and rain stopped field work and delayed the strawberry harvest in Northeast Texas. Tomatoes are going to the fields, peach orchards are being sprayed and farmers are planting and fertilizing pastures when weather permits. Crimson clover yields in prospect. Livestock are in good condition and grazing is plentiful.

Rains kept field work at a minimum and farmers in North Central counties would welcome sunshine to complete planting. General conditions are good.

GOOD MOISTURE

Rains from showers to three inches fell over the Rolling Plains and left 16 counties with adequate moisture. Six others need rain. Cotton and sorghum planting is 1 to 50 per cent complete. Early crops are up to a good stand. Stock water is short in few counties.

Harvey Mecom, Oil Pioneer, Dies

HOUSTON (AP) — Harvey Mecom, a pioneer in the Texas oil business, was to be buried at Liberty today.

but rallied and had expected to go to his ranch near Laredo next week.

A native of Caldwell, Tex., he was an associate of the founders of such oil empires as Texaco, Humble, Gulf and Magnolia. Mecom got his start in the famed Spindletop Field.

He built pipelines, rented mules, built streets and highways and developed a strain of cattle.

Election Of New President Shakes Ruling Italian Party

ROME (AP)—Election of Christian Democrat middle-roader Antonio Segni as president of Italy threatened today to jar loose the props under his own party's new left-leaning government.

The lean, 71-year-old pro-western foreign minister finally won the nation's highest office Sunday night after an unprecedented nine parliamentary ballots that ended in fist fights.

Voting against him to the bitter end were left-wing rebels of his own party and the solid strength of all three other parties that figure in the Christian Democrats' new experiment with a government that leans on Socialist support.

A scattering of Christian Democrat votes that previously had gone to retiring President Giovanni Gronchi finally swung over to Segni and put him 15 votes over the required 423 majority. Also backing him were the Liberals and the Monarchists and Fascists of the right.

Against him were the Communists, Socialists, Democratic Socialists and Republicans. The Democratic Socialists and Republicans are members of the Christian Democrat coalition government. The Socialists have pledged the support the alliance needs for a parliamentary majority.

Democratic Socialist party leader Giuseppe Saragat, Segni's close opponent in the presidential race, pointed bluntly to the "dangerous fracture" that might result.

In a letter to Christian Democrat party chief Aldo Moro, Saragat refused to withdraw his candidacy and throw his party into support of the Christian Democrat candidate. He said he would withdraw only if the Christian Democrats dropped the conservative Segni for someone else.

Saragat said, too, he thought he should be elected president. He remained Moro that three parties involved in the center-left agreement were backing him, and only one party in the coalition backed Segni.

Segni will be sworn in as the third president of the Italian republic May 11. The term of office is seven years, with an annual salary of $20,000 and an official residence in the historic Quirinal Palace.

The post is largely ceremonial. His chief political function is to sound out the various parties when a government resigns and select leaders to try to form a new government.

Titov On TV Says Nothing

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Cosmonaut Gherman S. Titov, during Sunday evening's NBC program in which he appeared with astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., jocularly mourned his lack of training for public appearances.

This came just as many of us were feeling that although the Russian major smiled and talked a lot, he carefully was not saying very much—certainly nothing we had not heard or read often before. Usually, in fact, he avoided answering direct questions and just talked around them.
