HERE FOR CONFERENCE
Bishop P. V. Galloway, Dr. W. H. Dickinson Jr.

Methodists Form Current Issues Panel

Methodists of the Northwest Texas Conference, meeting in their 33rd annual session here today, approved the naming of a committee to suggest guidelines for dealing with various issues. Communism was one of those mentioned in the discussion, but Bishop Paul V. Galloway made a bristling observation that he knew of no Communist in the Methodist Church and that he would gladly expose any shown to be one. The committee, he explained, would be broader than dealing with this issue, but would help suggest policy for members requesting guidance on other current issues. The bishop scored "hate campaigns" as not being "good democracy and added that "the Methodist Church, through its missions, has done more to defeat communism than any organization I know about." One missionary couple in the Far East has managed to lead people within a 20-mile radius to quadruple their economy within four years, not to mention the spreading of the Gospel, he noted. Stock Market Stages Sharp Rally After Major Decline

Panic Blamed For Shakeup

NEW YORK (AP)—A flood of buying reversed a selling stampede and sent the stock market into a sharp rally late this afternoon. The beleaguered market mounted a partial recovery from its worst collapse since 1929. The advance—mainly involving blue chip stocks which had been hammered down by shattering selling waves—halted, at least temporarily, a devastating plunge. "Buy orders have poured in from institutions and funds all across the country," said Eldon Grimm, vice president of the brokerage firm of Wabston & Co., as he watched the New York Stock Exchange's high-speed ticker tape report sales and prices more than two hours after they had occurred. "A mass of bargain hunters are sending in orders to buy collapsed stocks," he said. Even so, the list as a whole was still a heavy loser after being battered Monday and again this morning, when the slide accelerated. Earlier almost the entire field of prices had melted rapidly as selling ballooned beyond the mas-

Estes Data Destroyed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A private accountant who submitted a rosy audit of Billie Sol Estes' finances destroyed his working papers after a call from someone in Estes' organization, an Agriculture Department official said today. The statement of net worth was presented to the government in January 1961 when the Agriculture Department proposed to increase from $700,000 to $1 million the bond Estes had to put up to store U.S. grain valued at $50 million. The agriculture official, S. R. Smith, administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service, said the audit put Estes' net worth at $13.7 million—more than the amount required to keep the bond at the lower level. He said the audit was made by Winn P. Jackson, a certified public accountant associated with a Texas firm. Jackson has conceded he did not make an adequate audit of Estes' records before submitting the report, Smith said in testimony prepared for the House Government Operations subcommittee. On April 4—one day before Estes was indicted—it was learned that Jackson had destroyed his working papers, said Smith. When an investigator was sent to Jackson's office, Smith said, "Jackson acknowledged that he had destroyed the working papers after a call from an unnamed person in the Estes organization, and that he had not made an adequate audit of Mr. Estes' financial records prior to submitting his report." Rep. Ross Bass, D-Tenn., pointed out that Estes had gotten his first grain contract in March 1959, under the administration of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. "We might have inherited him, but we sure didn't sire this boy," Bass said.

Wilson Delays New Inquiry

FRANKLIN (AP)—Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson postponed indefinitely today a new court of inquiry into the tangled affairs of Billie Sol Estes because "something is bound to happen here." Wilson made the announcement as the Robertson County grand jury continued to probe the mystery death of Henry Marshall, a federal agriculture official. Marshall, 32, was investigating Estes' cotton allotment manipulations. Wilson would not elaborate on his prediction that a break in the case would occur in Franklin. Marshall, an ASCS official looking into the cotton allotment program before his death June 3, 1961, was found shot five times with a bolt action rifle. At the time the death was ruled suicide. Now the grand jury is investigating the possibility he was slain.

SPECTACULAR HIGH ALTITUDE NUCLEAR SHOTS TO BEGIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The most spectacular shots of the U.S. nuclear tests in the Pacific will begin in about three days. These are the high-altitude bursts—up to 500 miles above the earth—whose brilliant glow will be seen for hundreds of miles. The three or four bursts with their high-soaring nuclear fireballs and glittering aurorae may temporarily disrupt some radio communications and radar observations. Militarily, the shots obviously are designed to test the effects of high-altitude blasts on the nation's wartime communications gear—and on electronic monitors designed to detect incoming missiles. The government announced Monday the series will be fired over Johnston Island.

AIR DISASTER

Shrapnel Found In Woman's Body

WASHINGTON (AP)—Metal particles "described as shrapnel" were found in the body of a stewardess killed when an airliner crashed last Tuesday, senators were told today. Forty-five persons died in the crash of the Continental Airlines plane near the Missouri-Iowa border. Chairman Alan S. Boyd of the Senate Aviation Subcommittee said a dynamite explosion apparently blew out a side of the plane. He said he is not yet prepared to say whether it was a time bomb or something detonated otherwise. He declined to comment on whether "a love triangle" may have been involved in the crash. Chairman A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., raised the question, asking Boyd if he could make any comment on a report in a Chicago paper that there was "a love triangle." "No, sir," Boyd replied. He said the CAB has all it can do to figure out what caused the accident and that the FBI has the responsibility for finding out motives. Boyd testified that investigators have found no indication that the crash was the result of any structural defects or anything relating to the aircraft. "This was an extraneous matter," he said, adding it is believed to have been caused by "a high velocity explosion" in the right rear lavatory of the jet airliner. Boyd said there was a "strong residue of sulphur" on some of the wreckage. He did not name the stewardess, but CAB investigators had traveled to Odessa, Tex., to examine the body of stewardess Joyce Rush, 23. Boyd said the stewardess was believed to have been seated in the rear of the plane at the time of the blast, and her body was found still strapped in her seat. "In her body were a number of metal particles which were described as shrapnel," Boyd said. Monroney asked Boyd whether

Sand Storm Roars Through

A roaring sandstorm swept through the county late Monday, rated by old timers as one of the worst in a long time. The visibility was down to zero in town at times and those who were on the highways said that it was almost impossible to drive. Two car accidents were blamed on the dust. Fields on sandy farms were leveled by the blast—deep furrows which had been plowed were filled to the top with blowing dirt. Housewives found furniture neatly coated with a gray layer of sand. Doorways were lined with small dunes. Webb AFB reported that the maximum gusts of wind hit 45 miles per hour. The dust was driven high in the air and hung on for hours even after the gale had diminished. The wind was from the northwest. A sharp break in temperature came on the heels of the storm.

Eichmann's Plea Spurned

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—Israel's Supreme Court today rejected Adolf Eichmann's appeal from his death sentence, calling even that penalty inadequate when compared with the enormity of his crimes. The decision left Eichmann only the slender chance of executive clemency to escape the gallows for his part in the Nazi massacre of six million European Jews. That appeal might take another month. The judgment rejected Eichmann's claim that he was a mere cog in the Nazi murder apparatus.

U.S. Traffic Death Toll Up

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's traffic death toll for the first four months this year was 11,360, an increase of six per cent from 10,700 in the corresponding period in 1961.

FPC Examiner Overrules Gas Rate Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—A wholesale natural gas rate boost being collected subject to refund by Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. of Houston was ruled against Monday by a Power Commission examiner. Examiner Joseph Zwerdling denied all but $1.7 million of a $26.6 million annual increase. He also ordered a conference here June 27 to see if an over-all settlement can be reached in this and two other Tennessee rate cases. Rates collected by Tennessee in the three cases since July 14, 1957, and subject to ultimate possible refund, the commission said, totaled about $270 million March 31. A spokesman said there was no way, based on Zwerdling's decision, to estimate the amount the company be required to refund. Zwerdling's decision will become a final commission order if no review is initiated within 30 days.

Berserk Man Slain By Police

CHICAGO (AP)—A passenger aboard a Greyhound bus, who police said went berserk and stabbed the driver and two other men, was fatally shot today by police. Police said the knife wielder, identified as Milo Savo Breklich, 27, of San Francisco, threatened to kill the 40 passengers in the bus. Two persons were hospitalized suffering from shock.

Young Dancers Get Out Of Control, Club Damaged

A dance and party for graduating seniors turned into a near riot Monday night at the Cosden Country Club. Light fixtures were broken, mounted ash trays were torn from walls in the men's restroom, and broken bottles were strewn across the parking area. Police Captain Walter Eubanks was called to the club about 1 a.m. by the club manager, W. E. Ramsey. With the help of other officers the teen-agers were forced to leave. Ramsey earlier had tried to control the unruly ones. Many of the students attending the dance left at midnight or shortly afterward, but the others remained. The club manager finally halted the music. "The entire trouble was caused from having no supervision by adults," Eubanks said. "There has been similar trouble before for the same reason," he explained. Club officials said the youngsters were given permission to hold the dance there, provided

Senate Okays Work Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate, which saved a chunk of President Kennedy's political bacon on the farm bill last week, has come through with a cliff-hanger rescue of his battered public works program. However, Kennedy did not escape a lousy cuffing around Monday by outnumbered Republicans $1.5 billion measure. They plastered "backdoor spending" and "power grab" campaign posters on his original proposal for stand-by authority to trigger public works in a threatened recession. The sum and substance of it all was that Kennedy got part way over a shaky bridge with two major measures of his New Frontier program. But there was no assurance the flimsy structure would not collapse in the necessary encounter with the winds of House action. The first occurred at 5 p.m. about half a mile south of the Ackery turnoff on US 87. Oscar Thomas Maslin, 54, Hobbs, N. M., blinded by the dust, was pulling off the road in his 1954 sedan. Dennis Paul Davis, 18, following Martin, did not see the New Mexican's car in time to avoid a collision. Both vehicles were damaged but no one was hurt. The second dust-inspired accident was at 6:20 p.m., one mile north of Vincent on FM 1205. Mrs. Mary Bryant Gray, 29, Vincent Road, was pulling off the slab to await a letup in the dust. Michael Kim Cockerham, 17, Gail (Lacke Thorn) could not see Mrs. Gray's car because of the dust and rammed his 1962 sedan into the rear of her car. He suffered a cut lip in the collision. Damage was sustained by both vehicles. Highway Patrol Officer Jimmy Parks, called to the scene of the first mishap, said the dust was so heavy on US 87 that he was unable to travel in excess of 10 miles an hour en route north.

Dust Blamed For 2 Wrecks

Two traffic mishaps, miles apart but near the same cause were blamed on the same cause by highway patrol officers—bad visibility due to the raging clouds of dust whipped up by the winds of Monday afternoon.

Rites, Parade Set For Memorial Day

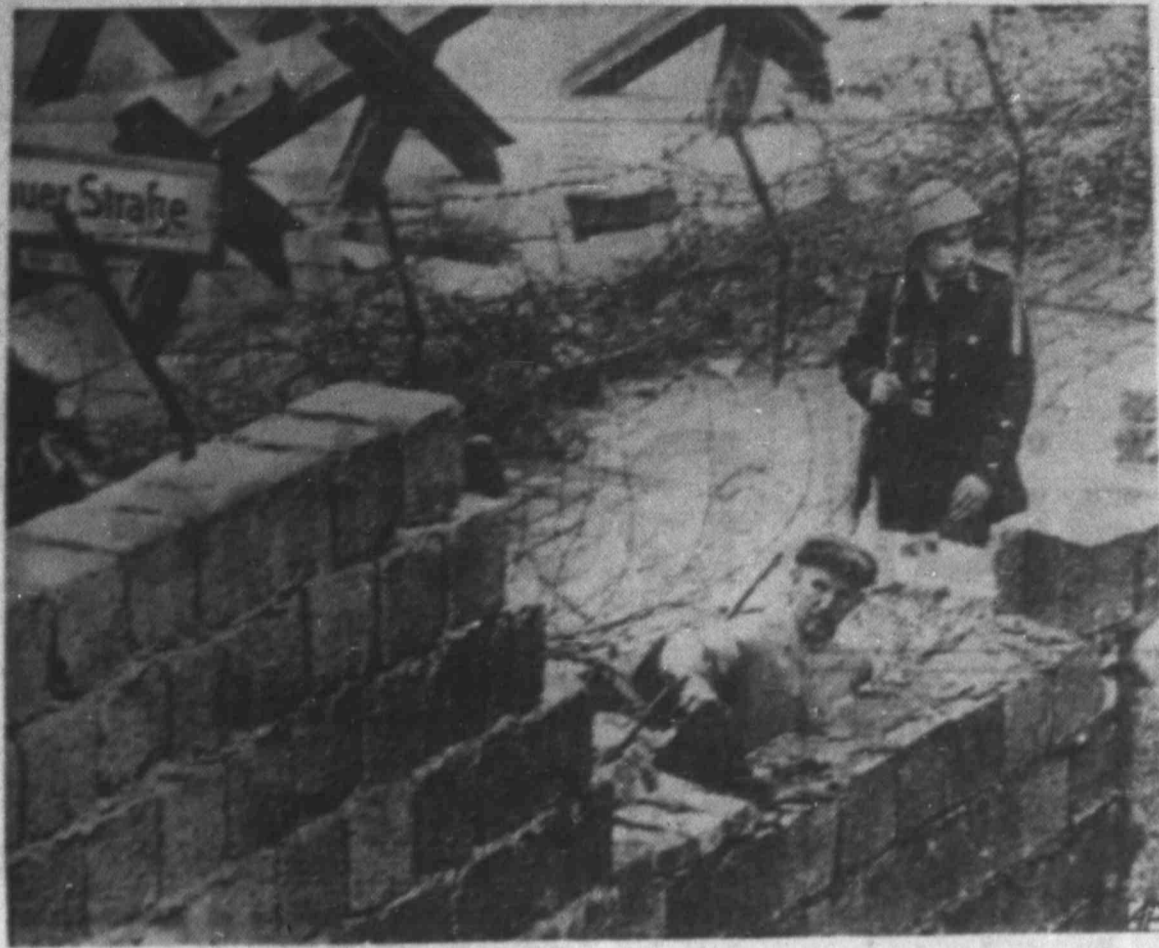

Memorial Day will bring a day's vacation for the majority of Big Spring workers and will result in a general slowdown of activities Wednesday. Nearly all public offices as well as most of the stores and shops will present closed doors. The downtown area is expected to offer a Sabbath appearance in the earlier hours of the day. At 11 a.m. special services honoring the war dead of the county will be conducted at the east door of the Howard County Courthouse. Next item expected to bring folk back downtown is at 4 p.m. when the big opening day parade of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo moves through the area. The parade forms at 11th and Main Street and moves north to Second Street. It will then go across to Scurry and back south to 11th. The route, rodeo officials said, is exactly the same as that followed last year. There will be 11 or 12 special groups of riders from West Texas counties and towns riding in the parade. In addition, there will be a number of high school bands. Floats are also to be featured. The riders and participants in the rodeo will be in the line of march. Officials of the reunion said the parade promises to be one of the most colorful in several years. After the parade, the special guests of the association—the riding groups which appeared in the parade—will go to the rodeo grounds. There, the Big Spring Kiwanis Club will serve a barbecue dinner to the guests. Meantime, the general public is invited to come to the Big Spring City Park and join the Kiwanians at a barbecue dinner there. The dinner will be served from 5 to 7 p.m. The price per plate for adults is $1.25 and 75 cents for children. Kiwanians will spend all of Wednesday at the park cooking the food for the feast. The initial performance of the four-night rodeo opens at 8 p.m. Initial event will be the grand entry in which all of the sheriff's posse and other riding groups which appeared in the parade will take part. A brief special memorial service in honor of the late Tom Good will be conducted immediately after the introduction of rodeo officials. Mr. Good was one of the organizers of the rodeo in 1932 and served continuously as its president from that date until his death last August. No successor to Mr. Good has been named by the Association. The streets of Big Spring will ring with music and the clatter of boots tonight during a western style square dance planned to get the 1962 Annual Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion off to a lusty start. It will begin at 8:30 p.m. on Main, between Third and Fourth streets. The section will be roped off and Jim King and his Cosden Cowboys will provide the music while Harold Graves does the calling. The public is invited. There is no charge. Square dance clubs from the area have been invited.

Veterans Plan Ceremony For Fallen War Heroes

Memorial Day Services, sponsored by the veterans organizations of the county, will be held at 11 a.m. Wednesday at the Memorial marker on the east side of the court house. Conducting the service will be Rev. Donald Kenning, Lutheran pastor. A. G. Goodson will serve as chairman and the colors will be posted by the Webb Air Force Base Color Guard with taps being played by a member of the high school band. Participating organizations besides the Big Spring American Legion and Auxiliary will be the Thomas-Pelton Post of Cosboma, the Big Spring Barracks of WWI veterans and Auxiliary, and the Disabled American Veterans. Reserved seats will be arranged for the Gold Star Mothers and a wreath in their honor will be placed on the marker. Serving on the committee

BEAUTY AID FOR PARADE

Spectators at the grand parade which opens the 1962 Annual Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion will get a preview of participants in the Miss Big Spring Beauty Pageant scheduled for June 16. The 20 young ladies will be riding in the parade Wednesday in open convertibles provided by local car dealers. Five will represent the senior pageant and 15 will be in the junior pageant.

Communists Repair Hole In Berlin Wall

A bricklayer, guarded by East German policemen, works to repair a hole in the wall between East and West Berlin. This section of the wall, in the vicinity of Bernauer Street, was ripped open by one of four mysterious explosions. Barbed wire and tank barriers back up the wall on the East Berlin side.

OAS Waves Communist Spectre Before World's Eyes

By ANDREW BOROWICZ
ORAN, Algeria (AP)—Anti-communism has become the password of Algeria's European settlers opposing the country's independence and its rule by Moslems.

The right-wing Secret Army Organization and its supporters are desperately trying to convince world opinion that the nationalists would pave the way for domination of Algeria by the Soviet East and Red China.

The Europeans cite the nationalists' links with Communist countries, which have been supplying them with arms and funds.

It is too early to say to what extent the nationalists have fallen under Communist influence. Several other Moslem states, while courting the Soviet bloc for financial and practical reasons, have steadily resisted solid Communist penetration.

During their bitter war against France the nationalists turned to all countries for help. The West, allied with France, balked. The Communist bloc promptly offered to help. Two years ago money and equipment started pouring in from behind the Iron Curtain to nationalist bases in Tunisia and Morocco.

Today, the 40,000-man nationalist army, waiting on Algeria's frontiers for Algerian self-determination, is largely armed and equipped by the Soviet bloc and Red China.

In their plans to give the Algeria of tomorrow a new face, the nationalists have mapped a sweeping revolutionary program. They hope that their army outside Algeria will be the main force in carrying it out.

The soldiers in Tunisia and Morocco are being prepared for a new role as pioneers of agricultural reform and leaders of a vast workers' militia. Many Western observers are alarmed by the seemingly Communist form these preparations are taking, but admit that in order to survive, Algeria will need drastic socialist-type reform.

Youth's Death Grist For Extremists' Mill

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The letter to a Mississippi newspaper publisher asked: "Are the Communists so powerful that they can conceal a murder of one who is patriotic?"

It referred to the death of Newton Armstrong Jr., 19, a political science student at San Diego State College.

"This young man, about my age," the writer added, "was murdered—hung, because he was concerned about our country becoming socialistic."

Communications similar in tone—some also implying that news of the death had been suppressed—have come to other publishers and editors in such widely separated states as Florida, Tennessee, Colorado, North Dakota, Washington and Texas.

Post cards mailed from about 20 cities in 20 states have been received in California by Gov. Edmund G. Brown and several others. They bear the single, mimeographed question: "Dear Comrade—Did your Communist friends murder Newton Armstrong Jr.?"

Postal inspectors have declared the cards libelous and defamatory to those addressed, and are investigating.

reached the same conclusion earlier, and no inquest was held. The district attorney's report closed the case.

Armstrong Sr. told newsmen he still thought his son was murdered and that he would seek support for a private investigation. He denied having any part in the mailing of the anonymous post cards to Gov. Brown and others receiving them. He said he felt they would weaken his cause.

Local Teacher To Attend Science Institute

Donald Pat Lawrence, science teacher at Big Spring High School, will be one of 50 science teachers from the United States and Canada to attend an institute in Washington, D.C. The Chemistry-Physics Teacher Institute will be held at the American University, from June 25 to Aug. 10. It is the seventh such institute.

Daniel J. Kallas, Midland High School science teacher, will also attend the institute.

The institute, made possible by a grant from the National Science Foundation, is designed to help secondary school science teachers keep abreast of scientific developments. It will combine classroom work and experience at leading research laboratories in the Washington area, including the National Bureau of Standards, National Institute of Health, and the Harris Research Laboratory.

The program is under the direction of Dr. Leo Schubert, chairman of the American University Department of Chemistry, and carries six graduate credits.

The institute will feature such topics as the structure of matter, nuclear and solar energy, advances in electronics, and the philosophy of science.

The 50 teachers will receive tax-free weekly stipends of $75 for seven weeks, allowances of $15 per dependent per week up to four dependents, plus a travel allowance.

The authorities here have concluded that young Armstrong committed suicide or hanged himself by accident.

Shortly after midnight March 31, his parents, returning to their Coronado home from a visit across the border to Tijuana, Mexico, found him hanging dead from a beam in their bedroom.

The father, retired Army officer, member of the John Birch Society and a candidate for election to the San Diego County Republican Central Committee, declared his son had been murdered. He expressed belief it had been done "by Communists to terrorize right-wing political elements in this area."

Young Armstrong had been a member of a right-wing student group at college, and editor of the group's publication, called "Evoive."

Dist. Atty. Don Keller assigned 19 of his own investigators to the case, and enlisted the aid of Ray Pinker, an investigator for the Los Angeles police department.

Keller concluded, at the end of a month-long investigation: "That decedent, Newton E. Armstrong Jr., came to his death by aspiration due to hanging; "That no other person or persons were present at the time and place of death, or participated in the means of death;" His report accepted the finding of Pinker, the Los Angeles police expert, that: "All available scientific evidence indicates the deceased came to his death as the result of hanging by his own hands."

DEAR ABBY

Case Of The Married Miss

DEAR ABBY: After we were married, my wife talked me into letting her retain her maiden name because she was a school teacher and wanted to be known as MISS. This has created some embarrassing situations over the years. After twenty years, I have had it. She positively refuses to use my name and call herself MRS. because, she says, it will confuse things in the school system where she has been known as MISS for so many years. What is your advice?

MR. WITHOUT A MRS.
DEAR MISTER: Your school-teacher wife has a lot to learn. But you were the foolish one to have let her get away with it for so long. You can't teach an old horse new tricks. And you'll never teach a mule anything.

DEAR ABBY: We have a large family that includes many grandchildren. They are intelligent, active youngsters from 2 to 12. The minute they set foot in our home they start wrecking the place. My husband says, "Well, here comes the demolition crew!" Abby, they jump on the furniture with their shoes, tear up everything they see and in general act like wild animals. All the while their parents sit by and say nothing. I think we should borrow some wild kids and repay our children's visits. My husband says we should tell them off and put a stop to their visits until the kids grow up. What is your opinion?

WHAT NEXT
DEAR WHAT: Evidently your own children could use some advice, so don't spare the horse sense. Tell them if they don't teach their children how to behave in the homes of others, they can play outside or stay in their own homes.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a wife who LOANED her wedding ring to her girl friend so she could get married? Seems like a hurry-up affair to me. On their return, the girl claimed she "lost" the ring. I say they pawned it. I also say if my wife had any love for me she never would have taken that ring off her finger.

IRKED HUSBAND
DEAR IRKED: Your wife was foolish to have lent her wedding ring, but don't measure her love for you by a simple, well-intentioned (though stupid) act of generosity.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BIG DECISION": Any woman who marries a widower who says, "Remember — my children come first," should expect the worst. And she is rarely disappointed.

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of The Big Spring Herald.

What should a Christian do when people mistreat him? Jesus answers: "... Pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you" (Mat 5: 44).

Jesus prayed for His enemies, "Father forgive them; for they know not what they do" (Luke 23: 34).

Stephen prayed for those who stoned him to death, "Lord, lay not this sin to their charge" (Acts 7: 60).

Paul prayed for those who forsake him, "I pray God that it may not be laid to their charge" (1 Tim. 4: 16).

Let us, too, pray for our enemies. They need our prayers.

Tech Confers Degree On Cong. Mahon

LUBBOCK—A leading oil executive urged 995 Texas Tech graduates Monday to "want tomorrow."

Fred H. Moore challenged the graduates to adapt to change, expand their capacities and broaden their intellectual horizons.

He spoke at Tech's 36th annual spring commencement, held in Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

An honorary doctor of laws degree was conferred on Congressman George Mahon of Lubbock and Colorado City during the ceremonies.

"Many Americans, including many young people, seem convinced the world is falling into ruin and chaos," said Moore, who is Mobil Oil Co. president. "The New York City oilman observed that he and his fellow classmates felt similar uncertainty when they were graduated from Texas Tech at the start of the great depression in 1930."

"Many economists of that time believed the nation was doomed to permanent economic stagnation," Moore said. "Yet during the intervening three decades, we have achieved technological, economic, social and political advances few dreamed possible."

"These advances took place," he said, "because some men were willing to make difficult decisions and to take positive action to resolve their problems. These were the men who wanted tomorrow."

The Mobil Oil president offered young people suggestions for helping bring about similar progress in years ahead.

MEN IN SERVICE

Airman Basic Charles S. Krebs, son of Horace G. Krebs, Big Spring, is being reassigned to the Air Force technical training course for administrative specialists at Amarillo AFB.

Airman Krebs, who has completed his basic military training at Lackland AFB, was selected for the advanced course on the basis of his interests and aptitudes. The airman attended Monterey High School in Lubbock, Tex.

Air Force Capt. Paul R. Baker, Big Spring, participated in Exercise "Quick Kick" recently completed in this area.

Capt. Baker, a pilot, was on temporary duty for the joint training maneuver which tested the conventional warfare capabilities of air, land and sea forces of the U. S. Atlantic Command. He is permanently assigned to a Tactical Air Command unit at Shaw AFB, S.C.

The captain is married to the former Lou Ann Nail, 1305 Scurry St.

Airman 2.C. Ronald E. Stubbs of York, Pa., has been selected Airman of the Month in the 55th Field Maintenance Squadron here.

Airman Stubbs, a U. S. Air Force aircraft fuel systems mechanic, was selected for the honor in recognition of his outstanding conduct and performance of duty.

The airman, son of Karl E. Stubbs of 151 Willis Lane, York, is a graduate of New Cumberland High School. He is married to the former Eleanor G. Camp of 8630 Lakemere, Dallas, Tex. His wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Camp, live at 1200 E. 17th St., Big Spring, Tex.

John R. McCoy, commissaryman third class, USN, son of Mrs. Sam Parker, 605 Main St., is serving aboard the attack cargo ship USS Seminole, a unit which took part in the joint Navy-Marine Corps amphibious operation dubbed Operation Pelican Hook off the coast of Southern California.

Edwin L. Faubian, son of Mrs. K. E. Faubian, 205 Mobile, has re-enlisted in the Army for assignment to the recruiting station at Dallas. Spec. 4 Faubian has completed an overseas tour in Korea where he was attached to the Military Advisory Group. Prior to entering the Army, he attended Big Spring schools. His enlistment was through the Army recruiting station, 207 1/2 W. 4th.

Peace Corps Career Urged

CULLMAN, Ala. (AP) — Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy, wife of the attorney general, urges young people to consider service in the Peace Corps or a career in the U.S. Foreign Service.

Addressing the graduating class of St. Bernard College Sunday night, Mrs. Kennedy mentioned her recent trip around the world with her husband and said: "If there was one thing we learned from our trip it was how crucial the need is for bright, energetic and dedicated representatives of the United States to staff our 99 foreign service posts around the world."

Mrs. Kennedy was awarded an honorary degree of doctor of humane letters by St. Bernard, a Catholic college operated by the Benedictine Order.

A Story In A Name

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — You can hear all sorts of stories about the origin of the name of Wichita Falls.

One story is that an Indian chief named Wichita was wounded or killed here and someone said "Wichita Falls."

Hal Carpenter, a long-time resident, tells a different version. He says that when he came to Wichita Falls about 54 years ago he asked someone where the falls were in the Wichita River that he assumed gave the city its name.

He was standing in front of a wagon yard near the river talking to a man who obviously was an old timer.

"There's your god-durned falls," said the old-timer, pointing a finger at a small stone building.

"The man that owns that wagon yard wanted something to build an office with, so he took a team and wagon down to the bed of the river one year when it was almost dry and he hauled off all the rocks that made the falls."

What is left of that little stone building may remain in the area, which now is built up with a variety of businesses.

WAGNER Cast Iron GRILL

for Outdoor and Indoor Use

- Exclusive grease trough drains off excess fat. Foods lower in calories, easier to digest.
- Grease drains from trough into well.
- Handles are raised for easy, safe lifting.
- Hole in handles for hanging of utensil.
- Ribbed bottom prevents warping, prevents range finish.

Big enough for five medium steaks or a dozen hamburgers, the WAGNER Cast Iron GRILL is just the thing for "party cooking," indoors or out. None of that "greasy taste" because excess fat and calories drains off into trough and well. Extra-thick cast iron bottom spreads heat evenly and prevents hot spots, burning, sticking.

Candidates Use Big Guns Again

By The Associated Press

Sharp words flew between John Connally and Don Yarborough again Monday in their battle for the Democratic nomination for governor.

The verbal cannonading appeared certain to continue until Texas voters go to the polls for Saturday's runoff primary.

"It is an inescapable conclusion," Connally asserted at an evening rally in Texas City, "that my opponent is laying the groundwork for a state income tax, which would result in a terrific economic setback for all of Texas but is in keeping with the political philosophy of the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA)."

Yarborough, in San Antonio, once more accused Connally of being afraid to meet him in a campaign debate, declaring: "Connally is shooting from ambush and pulling back into the bushes behind his public relations men. He is too fearful and timorous to meet the challenges facing Texas in the 1960s."

In Houston and Texas City, Connally asserted that "irresponsible and scurrilous statements" were cutting into the ranks of Yarborough's supporters. He said if as many as 750,000 votes are cast, he was sure to win. With the statement Connally coupled a prediction that more than one million persons will vote.

Connally said he has been spending less money than Yarborough on the closing weeks of the campaign. He added that his total for both primaries probably would not reach $400,000 and said he believed Yarborough's expenses would run nearly as much.

Predicting there would be a rising tempo of wild charges, Connally said of his opponent: "I'm not going to mix it up with him."

Yarborough, in turn, declared Connally "is making reckless attacks on my program because he knows we are pulling ahead—we are already the front runner."

"My campaign is definitely pulling into the lead," the Houston lawyer said at another point, "with one of the major reasons being Connally's insincere stand regarding the Kennedy administration. He's trying to fool both the liberals and the conservatives, and it's catching up with him."

After speaking at a steak dinner, Yarborough went to what he calls his "hilar room" headquarters in San Antonio, doffed his coat and told precinct workers:

"We are going to carry Bexar County. We cannot lose it by 100 votes. This county is not going to be won by big money—it's going to be won by hard work... If you work as hard as I do the last four days, we will win. I'm going to sleep four hours a night, and I'm asking you to sleep six, but no more."

Jack Cox, who already has won the Republican nomination, found occasion to assert neither Connally nor Yarborough was acceptable to conservatives. He said news stories and editorials had implied he would support one of the pair in the Democratic runoff.

"I am asked," Cox said at Dallas news conference Monday, "if either of the two candidates would be more acceptable or the least objectionable to Texas conservative voters... Both Democratic candidates are disciples, and devout workers for the Kennedy New Frontier political machine. Neither of the two would be acceptable to those who believe in conservative constitutional government."

In the lieutenant governor's race, Preston Smith and James Turman each took verbal digs at the other.

Smith, in Austin for an evening rally after visits in Fort Worth and Dallas, said he thinks Turman should repay expense money from the state for a Chesapeake Bay yacht trip on which Turman assertedly was the guest of an Austin lobbyist.

Turman, in San Angelo after campaigning up the Rio Grande Valley through Laredo, said Lubbock theaters owned by Smith are displaying films unfit for Texas Tech students in their audiences.

Tech Expansion Plans Mapped

LUBBOCK (AP)—Expansion plans to meet expected growth of Texas Tech the next three years were mapped by the school's board of directors Monday.

The board said it would ask the Legislature to increase the present annual Texas Tech Appropriation to $10.5 million for the 1963-64 school year and $10.8 million for 1964-65.

It voted to apply to the Housing and Home Finance Agency for a loan on two new dormitories, one for men and one for women, expected to cost $7 million to $7.5 million.

A study to determine if a law school should be established at the college was authorized.

The board also approved plans for new speech and psychology buildings and a new beef research center near Amarillo.

Enrollment at Tech this year has been 19,212. It is expected to reach 11,000 next fall, 12,400 in 1963-64 and 13,500 by 1964-65.

Tropical Storm

MANILA (AP)—Tropical storm Iris headed for Okinawa today after dealing a glancing blow to the northeast coastal areas of Luzon, the Philippines' biggest island. Five Filipinos were reported to have perished in the storm.

Unwanted Squatters

A disgusted W. R. Richard of Houston, an airlines representative, wonders what it is about his car that would attract a swarm of honey bees. Richard was about to step into his car parked on a downtown street only to be met by the buzzing bees. Police sent an expert to get the swarming bees to move elsewhere to make their home.

Wild Winds, Tornadoes Hop Over State; Rain, Hail Fall

By The Associated Press

Wild winds—and possibly a few tornadoes—lashed much of Texas through the night with a mixture of heavy downpours, slashing hail and blinding dust storms.

It was the fifth consecutive day of violent weather in the state, and in a number of areas the sorely needed rainfall more than offset property losses.

Police in Austin said at least one baby twister bounded eastward across the state capital in early morning, dipping into two sections on the east side of the Central Texas city.

First the wind knocked down a driven theater screen and shoved a heavy moving van off a parking lot into a street at Austin's Delwood shopping center. Half a mile across town the storm tore the roof off the home of Julius W. Holmes and ripped a porch from the house of Julius C. Burdges next door. There were no injuries.

The Weather Bureau reported a tornado funnel appeared earlier near Rocksprings, in ranch country 150 miles west of Austin. Hail stones up to 3 inches thick fell in the same area.

There was comparatively minor damage at a number of places as thunderstorms in bands 20 miles wide and 150 miles long marched across the state during the evening and well into Tuesday morning.

A cool front stirring up the turbulence caused winds up to 70 miles per hour to raise giant clouds of dust from the Texas Panhandle-Plains far southward into the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Late Monday afternoon the dust cut visibility to zero at Levelland in West Texas, forcing motorists to drive with headlights on.

Forecasters issued a series of tornado and severe thunderstorm alerts for various parts of the state.

One warning against possible tornadoes was in force until 5 a.m. Tuesday for the area 60 miles each side of a line from 50 miles south of Junction to Longview. Another 120-mile wide sector from 50 miles southwest of Texarkana to near Columbia, Mo., was covered until 6 a.m. by a thunderstorm advisory.

Tornado forecasts expired earlier for a Central Texas area inside lines linking Paris, Llano, which included Dallas and Fort Worth; for the northeast corner of the Texas Panhandle, and for a strip 120 miles wide centering on a line from Abilene to Ponca City, Okla.

Strong winds took the roof off a business building in the Oak Cliff section of Dallas and damaged several cars. Police said it might have been a miniature twister.

At Irving, between Fort Worth and Dallas, the wind ripped roofs from the Plymouth Park Baptist Church and an automotive store and shattered many plate glass windows.

Winds estimated at 60 to 80 m.p.h. damaged boat houses and sank three boats at Lake Brownwood in West Central Texas.

Heavy hail pounded San Angelo.

Church Dedicates New Educational Building Sunday

STANTON (SC)—Dedication service for the new education building of the First Baptist Church was held Sunday morning with the formal opening in the afternoon. The Rev. Tom Parish, vice president of Wayland College, Plainview, was guest speaker.

The new $150,000 structure contains 11,000 square feet and joins the annex of the Church. It was designed by Peters and Fields, architects from Odessa, and was built by Leon Burke, San Angelo general contractor.

It was financed through the sale of bonds under the direction of B. F. White and Eugene Brand. On the building committee, headed by J. C. Sale, are Floyd Sorley, White, Delbert Franklin, Carlos Brantley, Gene Clements, T. R. Louder, Carl Hamilton and Jack Ireton.

The Rev. W. H. Uhlman is pastor of the church. Education director and minister of music is Judson Nowatny.

Out of town guests for the ceremonies included the Rev. Mae Richardson, Abilene, whose first ministry was at the First Baptist Church here in 1918. Others were Mr. and Mrs. Jolynn Fields, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Burke, Midland; and Nelwyn Smith, Llano.

Computer Threads Needle Through Keyhole In Sky

Threading a needle through a keyhole in the sky is ticklish business.

This is especially so when it must be based on split-second calculations, explained Charles Beil, Big Spring representative of Burroughs Corporation, which made the ground guidance computer for Scott Carpenter's entrance into space.

This was more than just hitting a bull's-eye, explained Beil. Because the speed of the rocket can vary, the "keyhole" is not a fixed target, but a point in space at which a given speed and a given course will produce the planned orbital flight. The computer must not only make changes in the course of the rocket, but in the location of the target, too.

While the Burroughs computer was adjusting the Atlas' course to hit this elusive keyhole, it kept track of the spot the capsule would have landed in case of an abort and a parachute descent of the space craft during the powered portion of the flight.

As the booster engines ignited and the rocket lifted from its pad, the Atlas was self-controlled for about two minutes before a radar system "locked on" to the rising rocket and began to relay signals to and from the computer. In fractions of a second after the radar made contact, the computer compared data with the pre-planned course and sent commands back to the Atlas. The first command was to shut off booster engines, which lifted the 224,000 pound vehicle and drop them. As the sustainer engine took over, the computer began to send commands to the Atlas' steering devices to alter the yaw and pitch and keep it on course.

Once on course, the Atlas accepted final changes until it reached the "keyhole." At this point, the computer sent a cut-off signal to the sustainer engine. The spacecraft separated and orbital flight began.

Beil stated the course to the keyhole was recorded on plotters which mapped the rising Atlas' pitch and yaw error, flight path angle, altitude and speed. When all corrections were made and pre-planned conditions were met, it was mathematically certain that the spacecraft would go into proper orbit.

Dressing Up

Kitching Electric Company, 902 Gregg, owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Gene Haston, is dressing up to welcome rodeo visitors. Regular customers can expect the same friendly atmosphere the rest of the year. Kitching Electric prides itself on providing guaranteed wiring service at fair charges. Stop by the shop when you need light fixtures or electrical supplies. Six electricians are employed and qualified to do all types commercial and residential wiring.

Haston Has 20 Years Experience

Kitching Electric Company, 902 Gregg is completing its first year of operation under the ownership of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Haston. The firm, however, is an old-timer in Big Spring and Haston was associated for years with Joe Kitching in the shop before he became its sole owner. A great deal of the new wiring done by Kitching Electric has been contracted for in the new housing developments. Proper wiring is essential to a well-built home and today's homebuilders demand convenient wiring for the many appliances deemed necessary for comfortable living. They want adequate electrical outlets both inside and outside the home full year after the date of completion. Haston employs five qualified electricians. Small or large jobs receive prompt attention, careful workmanship and are priced fairly. Quality material is always used to insure safety in the home. Mrs. Haston is office manager and bookkeeper for the shop. She is assisted part-time by Ann Daily, a DE student. They are available to assist customers who want information by phone or help them choose from the large selection of beautiful light fixtures on display. At Kitching Electric, electrical supply stocks are complete. You'll find wire, plugs, switches and other items needed for a good electrical system. Haston reminds residents that his electricians can make appointments now to properly wire air conditioners. Don't wait for that miserable night when it's too hot to sleep. Call Kitching Electric now at AM 4-5103.

Security State Is Convenient

The Security State Bank is a young and vigorous institution reflecting the progressive outlook of its officers and staff. The plant has thrived since its formal opening on July 14, 1956. The masonry and glass building is located at the corner of Fifteenth and Gregg where adequate paved parking facilities have been provided for its customers. Two drive-in windows offer the same banking services that are available inside. Conventional counters with waiting space for five tellers surround the spacious lobby inside the attractive building. Just off the center area are offices and a conference room where officials are glad to discuss banking matters with customers in complete privacy. They can apply the wisdom gained from their years of banking experience in helping customers make many important decisions in regard to financial matters. The bookkeeping and other fiscal and mechanical operations of the bank are located in the basement area. A recent innovation is the use of checks which bear the customer's picture and also a private watermark. These are safeguards which help prevent forgery attempts on such checks. Bank customers may have pictures made at the bank or provide a black-and-white snapshot if they prefer. Besides conventional drive-in service, the night depository is an added convenience. It is located next to Gregg Street in the western wall of the building. Security State Bank is proud of its friendly service and the motto, "It's easy to do business with the Security State." They invite customers to see for themselves how true this is. Officers of the bank are C. T. McLaughlin, chairman of the board; G. W. Dabney, president; Larson Lloyd, executive vice president; Chester C. Cathey, cashier; Jane Eubanks and Oneta McDaniel, assistant cashiers.

Sportsman-Toyland Center Has Complete Fishing Stock

The spotlight is on the sportsman this week at the Sportsman-Toyland Center where Joe and Lou Bunch know that lots of people with fishing fever are itching to catch some big ones. Bunch invites browsing through the sports department where you'll want to try every one of the fancy new lures he has in stock. One old favorite which has been off the market for three years is now available again. It's the "Shimmy Wiggle" by True Temper that practically guarantees fishing at its finest. Why dig fruitlessly for worms or search for minnows when you can buy the "Fly Fly" and "Crap-buster" lures in all colors? Bunch can show you a bucket of artificial "worms" and when you touch those soft little fellows you'd believe they were real. Bunch suggests you try the Kost-master metal lures, spinners and spoons that sparkle enough to attract any hungry fish. If you plan to spend a day or week at the lake, it can be more fun if you stop at Sportsman-Toyland first and get properly outfitted for the water. Right now life belts are on special. These are top quality at bargain prices. Swimming is a lot more fun for the youngsters if they can have really good swim fins and a properly fitted mask for exploring beneath the surface. Some children (adults, too) may need nose-clips or ear plugs. Bunch has these plugs made of soft rubber and sized for proper fit and he says some people buy them who simply need quiet when they sleep. For the younger crowd who still do their swimming in the backyard, Sportsman-Toyland has fine plastic pools that range in price from $3.99 to $9.99. One of these has the metal frame that opens to make a six foot circle. To go with these pools are all sizes of beach balls and toys to play with in the water. In case a puncture occurs, you can get "Dab", the liquid plastic repair that makes the balls good as new. The snorkel tubes stocked by the shop are the kind that are truly safe for youngsters. An automatic float valve keeps out water should it be submerged. In the toy department, a new shipment of "Nichols" guns has just been unpacked. These are the top quality shooting irons made in Jacksonville, Texas for real little cowboys. The boys will like these detective pistols and side arm sets. Bunch saw some marvelous new toy ideas at the last Dallas market. Many of these have been ordered so you can expect some amazing items for the youngsters soon.

SEEN A ROACH? BETTER BUY JOHNSTON'S NO-ROACH
Solved - Carpet Cleaning Problem
Science finally has the answer to carpet cleaning. Blue Lustré, a new development, is mixed with water and brushed into carpet or upholstery. It's amazing the way forgotten colors spring out. The nap is left open and lofty. It's easy to apply. One-half gallon of Blue Lustré cleans three 9x12 rugs. Available at Big Spring hardware, 115 Main St.

Memorial Day

Revere those who sleep 'neath the sod, who fought for freedom,
 flag and God.
 They, like the Master,
 died for men,
 Lord, rest their souls,
 we ask. Amen"

GSA To Take Over Camp Bowie Area

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The General Services Administration will take over 1,925 acres in the Army's old Camp Bowie near Brownwood, a spokesman said yesterday. The transfer will be effective July 1. A 69-acre tract will be kept for use as a Texas National Guard training area. The camp has not been used by the Army since 1949. The land presumably will be sold, the spokesman said.

Public Hearing Held On Paving Assessment Plan

COLORADO CITY (SC)—The Colorado City Council met Monday night in a public hearing to hear protests of property owners affected by the assessment paving program for downtown alleys and city streets.

Following the hearing, which 43 persons attended, the council passed an ordinance closing the hearing and assessing the property in question. A court stenographer made a record of protests and according to City Secretary Ford Merritt, the council will study the information given at the hearing and may grant relief in hardship cases.

The paving in residential areas will cost the property owner from $3.74 to $4.43 per front foot.

Carpenter Gets College Degree

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter received today the college degree he won by orbiting the earth three times last Thursday.

The nation's newest space hero got a bachelor of science degree in aeronautical engineering during a 90-minute ceremony honoring him at the University of Colorado.

In 1949, as a senior, Carpenter dropped out of the university on the assumption he was failing a course in heat transference.

The university's recognition medal will accompany the degree, to be presented by President Quigg Newton.

This town where he was born and grew up at 7th and Aurora streets—which he remembered by christening his space capsule Aurora 7—has named a new park for him. Mayor John P. Holloway declared the occasion Malcolm Scott Carpenter Day.

LOOKS AT BOOKS

THE REIVERS by William Faulkner. Random House. (June 4, 1962)

Few will dispute the statement that William Faulkner is one of the most original American writers of the century. What is not frequently recognized is his gift for comedy. A strain of robust, indigenously American humor runs through much of his work and nowhere is it more evident than in his latest novel, "The Reivers." This novel has been selected by the Book-Of-The-Month club as its July selection. It will be published by Random House and goes on sale on June 4.

The word "reiver" is derived from an old Scottish word "reive" which means to rob or despoil. Thus a "reiver" would be a robber or a plunderer. Faulkner's use of the word, though, is more affectionate than literal. The "reivers" in his book are an 11-year-old boy, Lucius Priest, and Lucius' two companions, one Boon Hogganback, a burly chauffeur and handy man, who has the mind of a child; and a shrewd, philosophical Negro who always introduces himself as Ned William McCaslin Jefferson Mississippi.

The time is 1905. The scene at first is Jefferson, in that famous fictional part of Mississippi created by Faulkner and dubbed Yoknapatawpha County.

One day when Lucius' parents are away from home, Lucius and Boon decide to borrow the grandfather's primitive automobile and go on a trip to Memphis. Boon is the inventor of this wonderful plan but Lucius is willing to go along. Ned, the cagey Negro, also wants to go to Memphis and hides out in the back seat as a stowaway. He does not show up until the trip is well under way.

"Boon turned and reached back and flung back the lumpy and jumbled mass of the tarpaulin which had filled the back of the car. Ned sat up from the floor. He had on the black suit and hat and the white shirt with the gold collar stud without either collar or tie, which he wore on Sunday . . .

"I wants a trip too," Ned said. "Hee hee hee."

In 1905 a motor trip anywhere in Mississippi was a major undertaking. Standard equipment for the traveler was a block and tackle. You had to be prepared to get out and push your automobile through mud oozing up to your knees, and the flickering oil-lit headlights warned others that you were approaching but did little to illuminate your way.

As Faulkner tells the story, it is when the trio reaches Memphis that the situation gets out of hand. Ned, a born operator, can never resist a gamble, however high the odds. He soon trades the stolen Winton for a racehorse, also stolen. His reasons are somewhat devious, but not illogical. However, before all are safely back home in Jefferson, Boon has acquired a wife, and Lucius finds himself as jockey to a reluctant steed in one of the most unorthodox horse races ever run below the Mason-Dixon

YOU AND HEALTH

Low Back

This local man came to the office complaining of tension and pain in the neck and shoulders, primarily in the left side. We examined him and nerve pressure was found which was the possible cause. Also a low back condition was located by the nerve instrument. He stated that he did not think anything could help his low back so he had already had treatment for it. During the seven treatments given for the neck and shoulder condition we added treatment for the low back. He was happy that he obtained relief and correction of the trouble in the upper part of the body but when the low back condition was relieved he was thrilled. "The help you have given me for this low back condition is worth more than anything. Dr. Hansen, especially after I had planned to keep it all the rest of my life." was his parting remark and according to his son, the back is still doing well. No. 726.

Child

This four-year-old girl was brought to the office when she became so irritable that her parents had reached the end of their rope. Examination showed nerve pressure in her neck and with a few treatments the child changed from a crying, fussy child to a happy child — much as your car runs better after a tuneup. The nerve pressure threw her nervous system off and irritability resulted. No. 1493.

Soviet Newsmen On Moon Flight?

TOKYO (AP)—A Soviet newsmen who accompanied cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin on his visit to Japan reportedly said a Soviet newsmen probably will accompany the Soviet Union's first manned flight to the moon.

Kyodo News Agency said Nicolai Denisov, editor of the Soviet magazine Aviation and Space Flight, told a Kyodo reporter that he himself might get the assignment because he has been a test pilot.
