Runoff Election Comes Saturday

Howard County voters march to the polls Saturday to make their final choice of the men they want for governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, congressman at large, and for county commissioners from two precincts.

Sixteen voting places will be in operation. They will open their doors at 8 a.m. and remain open until 7 p.m.

It will be the Democratic runoff primary election—second round of the elimination contest in political races which began last May 5.

The candidates on which the Democratic voters will voice their final choice Saturday are:

Governor—Don Yarborough and John Connally.

Lieutenant Governor—Preston Smith and James A. "Jimmy" Turman.

Attorney General—Waggoner Carr and Tom Reavley.

Congressman at Large—Joe Pool and Woodrow Wilson Bean.

County Commissioner, Precinct 2—Ralph White and R. C. Nichols.

County Commissioner, Precinct 4—L. J. Davidson and Raymond River.

In the county commissioners races, the voters residing in the particular commissioner's precinct involved are entitled to vote.

The electors in Precincts 2, 9, 10 and 15 for example will vote in the race between White and Nichols. The voters in Precincts 4, 5, 6, 7 and 11 will vote in the contest between Davidson and River.

The other precincts will ballot only for the state offices on the ticket.

Election supplies for a vote of 8,000 have been prepared but even the most optimistic observer does not anticipate any such turnout.

However, in view of the growing interest in the heated race for governor, it is considered possible there may be as many as 5,000 votes polled in this county.

One indication of a sizeable vote, observers hold, are the 325 absentee votes which have been cast. It is regarded in this part of the state as indicative of a sizable election turnout when a heavy absentee vote precedes the day. This year, though, there are many who regard the heavy absentee vote as merely a reflection of the presence of vacation season rather than a highly enthusiastic view on the election.

Frank Hardesty, County Democratic Committee chairman, said Friday that he would like to see every qualified Democrat in the county go to the polls.

"I wish we could have as big a vote Saturday as we had May 5,"

SAMPLE BALLOT

DAVID RATLIFF of Jones County

For County Commissioner, Precinct 2:

RAY C. NICHOLS

RALPH WHITE

For County Commissioner, Precinct 4:

L. J. DAVIDSON

he said. "However, I do not look for more than 5,000 at the most. I do have hopes we will hit that figure."

The 16 voting places in the county are at the same locations they were on May 5.

They are:

Precinct 1, Big Spring Bauer School.

Precinct 2, Big Spring, (Washington Place School).

Precinct 3, Big Spring, (18th and Main Fire Station).

Precinct 4, Big Spring, (Central Fire Station).

Precinct 5, Vincent.

Precinct 6, Gay Hill.

Precinct 7, R-Bar.

Precinct 8, Big Spring (West Ward School).

Precinct 9, Coahoma.

Precinct 10, Forstam.

Precinct 11, Center Point.

Precinct 12, Moore.

Precinct 13, Knot.

Precinct 14, Vealmoor.

Precinct 15, Big Spring (Runeis Junior High).

Precinct 16, Big Spring (Park Hill School).

Hardesty has announced that the same election judges who served at the May 5 primary will be on duty in each of the county boxes.

He has also announced that fewer clerks will be used in the boxes due to the short ballot and the anticipated smaller vote.

Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, will tabulate election returns at her office in the courthouse starting at 7 p.m. She asks that all precinct officials report their count to her office as soon as tabulation is completed.

$250,000 BOND ELECTION

Good Turnout Is Urged By Trustees At Forsan

Trustees today were urging a good turnout for the proposed $250,000 bond election in the Forsan Independent School District Saturday. Officials estimate that 475 persons are eligible to cast ballots for the bonds which will provide additions and improvements to the school plants in Elbow and at Forsan.

If approved, the bonds will "bring the district's school system up to minimum standards," according to Roy Stockstill, superintendent. He said the system needs science facilities at Elbow and a library at the high school, to meet the new state accreditation standards.

Improvements called for under the bond program include a science room at Elbow, a teacher's workroom, principal's office, choral room, visual aids room, and an additional classroom.

At the Forsan building, improvements will include a new cafeteria, music room, girls' physical education room, boys' physical education room, one additional classroom and a visual aids room. Also, the present cafeteria would be converted into a library, the tax office would be enlarged and the present kitchen would be changed to a superintendent's office.

The Forsan district has some 400 students enrolled. The Forsan plant handles grades 1-12 and the Elbow building accommodates grades 1-8. The district's current tax rate is $1.80 per hundred dollars valuation and trustees estimate the bond program will require an additional 13 cents.

Polling places for this election will be in the two school buildings. The polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

Eichmann Goes To The Gallows

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Defiant to the end, Adolf Eichmann walked firmly to the gallows Thursday night and paid with his life for his role in Nazi Germany's systematic extermination of 6 million European Jews.

The young state of Israel hanged the former Gestapo colonel on a minutes before midnight on an improvised scaffold in a third-story storeroom of Ramlah Prison near Tel Aviv.

It was the first execution in the 14-year history of this Jewish nation which counts among its citizens thousands of relatives of Jews whom Eichmann, 36, helped speed to death in Hitler's gas chambers.

Eichmann's body was cremated quickly and the ashes scattered upon the waters of the Mediterranean.

Eichmann was cool and unrepentant as this Jewish nation carried to conclusion its announced determination to record the history of the Nazi pogrom and mete out justice in the name of all Jews.

A faint smile on his face, Eichmann, spurned the traditional black hood, and even chided his jailers for making it difficult for him to stand on the gallows' trap door.

"My belief was correct," the former head of the Gestapo Jewish affairs section declared. "I had to obey the rules of war and my flag. I am ready."

At a command from an Israeli guard, Eichmann stepped to the trap door and plunged to his death almost in a single motion.

Death was instantaneous, prison officials said.

Eichmann was condemned to death by a court-martial.

Hard Rains, Wild Storms Hit South Texas

By The Associated Press

Violent thunderstorms that dropped up to four inches of rain in an hour and tornadic winds lashed South Texas early Friday. The Weather Bureau put large sections of Northeast, North Central and Southeast Texas under a severe weather and tornado forecast.

In the forecast areas were three of the state's largest cities, Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth, and the cities of Beaumont, Port Arthur, Orange, Victoria and Palestine.

The Northeast and North Central Texas forecast area was bounded by a line from Nacoma to Fort Worth, Hubbard and Atlanta. The forecast period was from noon until 6 p.m.

Russia Hikes Food Prices

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union today hiked consumer prices of meat and butter to finance the country's lagging agricultural program in the face of food shortages.

Butter—up 25 per cent—will cost $1.83 a pound; pork and beef—up 30 per cent—will retail for 88 cents a pound.

The effect of the increases is measured against salaries much lower than those in most foreign countries. A semiskilled Soviet worker gets the equivalent of $68 a month, professional and semiprofessional people about $22.2 a month.

The government announcement said that the increased charges were necessary because there was no other means of raising money to pay the increased expenses on farms.

Blame was placed in part upon the United States. The statement said it was not possible to "switch funds to increasing the output of livestock products at the expense of the country's defensive capacity."

The government, as a compensation, ordered decreases in certain other products, notably sugar.

Wilson Files Deviation Suit

AUSTIN (AP)—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson filed a $3,442,000 suit Thursday alleging four oil wells in the East Texas Field were intentionally deviated.

Acting for the Texas Railroad Commission, Wilson filed the suit in 53rd District Court here against Edwin Stanley of Kilgore and H. L. Long, Billy Bridwell, R. H. Hedge and the Petroleum Pipeline & Storage Co., all of Tyler.

The petition states two of the wells were completed in May, 1959, and the others in August and September, 1960. All four are in the Clark Survey in Rusk County.

Wilson contends that each day of illegal production from a deviated well calls for a separate penalty. He asked a maximum penalty of $1,000 a day.

He also alleges that the defendants plugged the four wells and two others in disregard of the railroad commission rules and Texas conservation laws.

The commission began an investigation several weeks ago of rumors about wells being deviated in the East Texas Field in order to produce oil from adjoining leases.

Commission chairman W. J. Murray said May 22 that in the past year 31 East Texas operators' pipeline connections had been severed by his agency. Their outlets to crude oil markets were shut off because they refused to let the commission determine whether their wells were drilled at an angle or curve to pump oil from beneath neighboring leases, he said.

Humble Oil & Refining Co. filed four suits at Henderson last Saturday seeking to force five operators in the field to open wells for checks whether oil was being siphoned illegally from beneath Humble leases. Long is among the defendants.

2nd Day Of Truce

ALGIERS (AP)—Europeans and Moslems mixed peacefully in the streets of Algiers today as the second consecutive bloodless morning drew to a close.

The terrorist European Secret Army Organization continued its mysterious truce in an apparent effort to prove its bargaining power in any negotiations with the Moslem National Liberation Front.

Key Conference Figures

Key figures in the Northwest Texas Conference which ended here this morning at the First Methodist were Bishop Paul V. Galloway, president, Dr. Clyde Smith, center, host district superintendent, and the Rev. H. Dewitt Seago, pastor of the host church. Reading of the appointments by Bishop Galloway terminated the conference which started on Monday.

Methodists Close Out Their Conference Here

Methodists closed out the 53rd Annual Northwest Texas Conference here this morning, choosing St. Paul Church in Abilene as the 1963 conference site.

This was the last action before Bishop Paul V. Galloway read the appointments for the nine districts in the conference which stretches from Big Spring through the Panhandle, and from Abilene to Midland.

There were short items of business prior to the reading of the appointments, the thing which held most delegates through to the last of the meeting which began Monday afternoon.

Adopted was a World Service and conference benevolences budget of $334,851, which was up slightly from the previous year. The Big Spring district apportionment of this was $46,409. Breakdown on the budget shows $172,774 going to general world service, $12,203 to general administration, $7,626 to interdenominational work, $6,992 to jurisdictional expense, a total of $119,596 for these items. The conference budget property amounted to $135,256, making the grand total $334,851.

Committee changes included these appointments:

Committee on investigations, R. Luther Kirk; missions, Tom DeFebach; social concerns, Wilbur Gaede; hospitals, H. L. Thurston, Frank Charlton; pension, Harold Morris; conference relations, James E. Tidwell, J. B. Matthews, Lester L. Hill, Harold Moore (expiring in 1965), and W. H. Watson and Lynn P. Wood (expiring 1963); pension fund, H. M. Walker; urban-rural, Hubert Thompson; wills and legacies, J. H.

Crawford; trustees (expiring 1963) Carl M. Anderson, E. H. Boeker, J. F. Peery; education, Keith Wiseman, W. M. Williams; Methodist foundation, Roy Furr.

Dr. Roberto Pedraza, president of Lydia Patterson Institute in El Paso, a new training station for missionaries to Latin Americans, said that "Christianity of the warm heart" was a bold weapon against Communist infiltration.

America, he said, has a commission to carry the Gospel throughout the world.

At the ordination services, which drew a packed house Thursday evening when 16 deacons and 11 elders received their orders, Bishop Paul V. Galloway told the new ministers and the congregation that the church today may not be

Cantankerous Bulls Are Hard To Ride

By JOE BEYER

After the first night's practice, the Brahma bulls turned in an even better performance on the second night of the rodeo Thursday unseating 10 of 13 riders. A couple of contestants came close to riding out the whistle, but near misses got the same zero score as other failures.

The bareback broncs had their backs greased for the occasion also, as they managed to send five of 11 contestants sprawling in the sand.

A forecast of possible severe weather held down attendance at the 29th annual Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo to between 1,500 and 2,000 spectators. However, the weather was perfect, with a cool breeze blowing from the southwest during the entire show and only an occasional flash of lightning in the southwest.

Two more nights of rodeoing lie ahead and most of the entrants go into their second go-round tonight. Where the contestants compete more than once for prize money, they are paid for the best ride or time in each go-round and for the best average score for all go-rounds. The winner of the rodeo in the event is the person with the best average score or time.

Bob Fraker, Greeley, Colo., proved to be too big for his bronc named "Too Big" and stayed on to register 178 points, putting him in the lead in the first go-round.

Dewey Dunaway, Mojave, Calif., also riding for his first time in the show this year, was close behind

Profit-Taking Slows Down The Gyration

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market cooled off today and declined under a flurry of profit-taking.

Selling by traders who had bought at the week's lows chipped away at phenomenal gains scored in a rally which followed the plunge Monday and Tuesday morning.

The market's drop would be considered substantial under normal circumstances but so far was puny in comparison with the earlier big fall and rise.

Losses of key stocks ranged to around $2 while the more volatile issues took deeper setbacks.

HEAVY VOLUME

Trading volume continued heavy but well below the week's three previous sessions. The New York Stock Exchange's ticker tape fell 19 minutes behind transactions at one point but was nearly even with transactions early in the afternoon. In the first two hours 2.32 million shares were traded, compared with 3.71 million in the like period Thursday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was down 5.97 to 608.29 after having advanced 36.43 in the two previous trading sessions.

Among losses were International Business Machines $6.50, Polaroid $3, Xerox 5.87, Litton Industries $3.87, American Telephone $2.87, U. S. Steel $1.75, General Motors $1 and Union Carbide $1.75.

GAINERS

The few gainers included Du Pont 73 cents, International Nickel 12 cents, Texas 37 cents and Liggett & Myers 25 cents.

Buying by institutions, which had been a great bolster to the recovering market, died down.

The securities industry, rocked by severe falls and rises, faces a possible investigation by Congress.

The market propelled its startling rally through a second consecutive session Thursday and more than made up the retreat of Monday and Tuesday morning. However, stock prices, declining since mid-March, remained far below their 1962 highs.

Buy orders swelled to mammoth proportions—a dramatic turnabout from the selling panic that earlier had gripped the market.

HECTIC PACE

Trading continued at a hectic pace, totaling 10.71 million shares. The New York Stock Exchange's ticker tape was one hour and 48 minutes late at the close of trading.

The exchange ordered brokers to have representatives on the floor Saturday to clear the great mass of paper work.

Profit-taking cut into early gains and raised a threat to continuation of the forward march.

The American Pacific Coast and Midwest stock exchanges also recorded big gains on heavy volume.

The congressional investigation was proposed by Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., who asked Congress to appropriate $750,000 for an inquiry by the House Banking and Currency Committee.

"Congress ought to know what influences the stock market and how these influences affect the health of the business and credit systems," Patman said.

PROBE UNDER WAY

The Securities and Exchange Commission is investigating the securities industry and has uncovered some irregularities. Patman said the SEC probe is "good as far as it goes." He added that he wanted the congressional inquiry to be considered and well designed.

Earlier William Cary, chairman of the SEC, had denied a published report that his agency had ordered an investigation "to explore its suspicions that stock market professionals set the stage" for the plunge. He said he saw no evidence that professionals touched it off.

Brokers around the country were attempting to evaluate the sudden onslaught of buying that sent the market spiraling upward.

"The substantial buying is coming from the public, which always has money to buy bargains," commented William E. Ferguson of the Chicago office of the Thomson & McKim brokerage firm.

Suspect Captured

Gayne G. Smith, 24, suspected of killing five persons of a farm family near Martinsburg, Iowa, is searched by officers at Sigourney after his capture. He was taken into custody by officers after a 3-day search of a wooded area. Smith denied all knowledge of the slayings.

death last December by a special three-judge tribunal which found him guilty of acts of unparalleled enormity against the Jewish people and against humanity—the only crime subject to capital punishment in Israel.

The balding, bespectacled Hitler disciple had insisted he was only a minor cog carrying out orders from above in the Nazi campaign for "the final solution to the Jewish problem"—extermination.

But the court declared he actually relished shipping Jews to their deaths by the hundreds of thousands, saying he was motivated by "an ardent desire to blot out an entire people from the face of the earth."

The Israeli Supreme Court rejected Eichmann's appeal against the death sentence Tuesday, declaring even death was an inadequate penalty.

And with unexpected speed, President Izhak Ben-Zvi sealed Eichmann's doom about noon Thursday, rejecting appeals for executive clemency from Eichmann, members of his family and others.

Eichmann was transferred quickly from his cell in Jerusalem, where he had been lodged for the Supreme Court decision, to Ramleh Prison. There, his spiritual adviser, the Rev. William Hull, visited him in his cell.

NO FAITH IN CHRIST

The Canada-born Protestant clergyman reported later that Eichmann was not sad but was defiant. Eichmann, who earlier had expressed a belief in God but belonged to no church, refused to reaffirm a faith in Christ.

"I do not have time to read the Bible," Eichmann told the minister. "I have peace in my heart. I am ready to die."

Eichmann was told of the rejection of the clemency appeals—but not that he was to die that night—about 8 p.m. He asked for and received a bottle of red wine. He drank half of it.

Outside a thick fog set in. Guards turned on flood lights and police set up roadblocks to divert traffic from the prison, a former British fort, on the Tel Aviv-Jerusalem road.

Eichmann learned death was at hand only when guards came to his cell to take him the 50 yards to the gallows. He walked steadily to the execution room handcuffed to two guards. He made only one request—to stop and blow his nose.

NOOSE ON CHAIN

Dressed in brown slacks and a brown shirt open at the neck, he mounted the scaffold by a single step and stood directly under the noose which was suspended over his head on a chain. His hands and ankles were bound with white cloth.

As the noose was fitted over his head, Eichmann half closed his eyes and looked downward at the floor. As the black hood was proffered, Eichmann said: "I don't need that."

Eichmann spoke his last words to a small group of officials, guards and newsmen gathered to witness the execution.

"My belief was correct," he said. "After a short while, gentlemen, we shall all meet again. So is the fate of all men. I have believed in God and I die believing in God."

"Long live Germany. Long live Argentina. Long live Austria. These are the countries with which I have been most closely associated and I shall not forget them. I greet my wife, my family and my friends. I had to obey the rules of war and my flag. I am ready."

Eichmann, the father of four sons, was born in Austria, served Germany and hid out after World War II in Argentina.

Eichmann's wife, Vera, was the only member of his family to see him in prison.

DEATH COMES

Moments before Eichmann stepped Thursday night on the black square marking the trap door, a guard shouted, "Muchan"—the Hebrew word for ready—and Eichmann disappeared from view.

"Jesus, Jesus," repeated The Rev. Mr. Hull, the only clergyman present.

The Israeli government issued a terse communique:

"Adolf Eichmann was executed by hanging today in accordance with the sentence of death passed by the Jerusalem District Court on Dec. 15, 1961.

"The appeal having been dismissed by the Supreme Court on May 29, 1962, and the minister of justice having certified that the president has decided not to exercise his prerogative of clemency, the hanging was carried out.

"The body was examined by a government physician who pronounced life to be extinct at 2:38 hours (11:58 p.m.).

"The execution was witnessed by the superintendent of prisons, a government physician, two police officers who were present in court when the death sentence was pronounced to identify Eichmann as the person who was condemned to death, and a clergyman of the Protestant faith. Two representatives of the local press and two representatives of the foreign press also were present."

Later the government announced: "The remains of Adolf Eichmann were cremated today at 3:45 a.m. on board an Israeli police boat and the ashes scattered on the high seas.

"A similar procedure was followed with the remains of the Nazi war criminals executed by order of the Nuremberg International Tribunal.

"Adolf Eichmann's will includes a request that his remains be cremated."

Eichmann went to his death 2 years and 21 days after Israeli commandos captured him in Argentina and smuggled him to Israel by air, ending a world-wide search by Jewish agents that began on the smoldering ashes of the Nazi empire.

Argentina vigorously protested the kidnapping and demanded Eichmann's back. Other critics challenged Israel's right to try him, noting that Israel was not even a nation in World War II and the crimes were committed far outside Israel's borders.

But Israel refused to give him up. Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion said justice and all the people of Israel demanded that the fledgling nation try "one of the greatest Nazi murderers."

The swiftness of the execution after the rejection of the appeals surprised Israelis and many others around the world. Some leading Jews had urged that Eichmann be spared as a living reminder of Nazi horrors. Many others, however, urged death. Not one Israeli newspaper pleaded for Eichmann's life.

In Argentina, officials ordered extra protection for the Israeli Embassy and at synagogues and Jewish business houses after word was flashed of Eichmann's execution. Antisemitic demonstrations have increased in frequency during the past two weeks in Argentina.

Bobby Asks Red Leaders Be Told To Register

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has petitioned the Subversive Activities Control Board to require 10 persons to register with him as members of the Communist party.

With this action Thursday the government opened another front in its campaign to unmask the party, its leaders and members.

The Supreme Court cleared the way for the Justice Department last June when it ordered the party to register with the board under provisions of the 1950 Internal Security Act as an agency of Moscow. The party appealed but the court last October refused to reconsider.

Kennedy said in his announcement that the 10 persons were elected to the party's national committee in December 1959.

The 10 named in the petitions have 20 days in which to reply. The board then will conduct hearings and its decision in each case will become final only after review by the courts.

The maximum penalty for failure of an individual to register—if he refuses to do so after the board orders him to and the courts uphold the board—would be five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

DEBATING, IS IT RIGHT?

By T. H. Tarbel, preacher, Church of Christ, 5000 West Highway 89, P.O. Box 1385

"Debates" are condemned in Rom. 1:29 and II Cor. 12:20 in the old English version of the year 1511. Yet the same version approves of debating in Prov. 25:9. Hence, it uses the word in both a bad sense and a good sense. The American Standard Version of 1901 (accepted by all groups), only uses the word in a good sense.

It is in the good sense only that we believe in debating. By comparing the versions, you will see that "debate" in the bad sense is "strife." As representative of this church in the forthcoming debate, I promise to keep myself from strife. We propose to have an orderly and friendly discussion of the Bible in the interest of truth and unity, and for the benefit of all truth seekers. We are commanded to "Contend earnestly for the faith" (Jude 3). Paul's example was that of a defender of the gospel (Phil. 1:16, 17). According to the dictionary, meaning of the words used, this is debating.

Welcome to the debate (June 19-21); welcome to all our services. Both sessions Sunday will deal with "Messages from the Word of the Dead" (12:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.). —Ad.

Schreiner Dies At 96

KERRVILLE (AP) — Gustave Schreiner, 96, son of a Kerrville founder and a prominent citizen in this hill country city, died at his home Thursday.

His father, Capt. Charles Schreiner, was called the father of Kerrville and also founded Schreiner Institute.

Gustave Schreiner, a principal donor to the school, had extensive ranch holdings and was active in the Charles Schreiner Bank here. He was born at Comfort.

Survivors include two brothers, L. A. Schreiner and Charles Schreiner Jr., and a sister, Mrs. W. C. Rigby of San Antonio. The funeral service is set for 10 a.m. Saturday at the Schreiner home.

MY THANKS TO YOU

I want to thank you for the honor of serving you as commissioner from Precinct No. 2, and the wonderful reception given me during my campaign. As Commissioner, it has been my aim to serve all of the people of Howard County, as well as the precinct and to work for the best interest of the majority. I have endeavored to contact most of the voters in Precinct No. 2, but due to the many problems and duties that have had to have the attention of the commissioners' court which has required considerable time. I may have missed some of the voters. I ask that if I have failed to contact you that you consider this a personal appeal for your vote and influence. If you elect me to a second term, I promise that I will faithfully fulfill the duties of Commissioner and devote all the time necessary to the office to fulfill those duties.

THANKS.

McCleskys Help Child In Greece

George, age seven, is back in school this year in Corinth, Greece because of the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McClesky, 1407 Aylford. They are helping him and his family through the Save the Children Federation.

George lives with his parents, four sisters and a brother in an unheated hut. There are no conveniences and furniture consists of three beds, a table and two chairs. George's father, an unskilled laborer, earns $33 a month, not enough to cover his family's basic food needs.

This is the third year the McCleskys have been helping George's family. Mrs. McClesky said. Since they began, they have received letters from the family and reports from the Federation on how their money is spent.

"We would like to make a trip to Greece to see the youngster, but that is too expensive," Mrs. McClesky said. "So we send presents or have gifts sent through the Federation whenever we can."

The Federation does not restrict its work to Greek children. It

Lamesa Paper Endorses 3

LAMESA (AP)—The Lamesa Daily Reporter has editorially endorsed the candidacies of John Connally for governor, Preston Smith for lieutenant governor and Waggoner Carr for attorney general.

They are candidates in the June 2 Democratic runoff election.

The Reporter endorsed only Connally in the first primary election. Of him, the newspaper said "Our position has not changed. Our conviction that he will be good for Texas has grown. The choice is even more clearcut in the runoff."

Smith is a graduate of Lamesa High School.

Romulo Heads Philippines U.

MANILA (AP)—Carlos P. Romulo, former ambassador to the United States, was sworn in today as president of the University of the Philippines.

Club Discusses Rodeo Feast

Big Spring Kiwanians devoted their Thursday luncheon meeting to a discussion on the rodeo barbecue the club served on Wednesday and to a discussion of ways to improve the event in 1963.

Bill Johnson, who served as general chairman for this year's barbecue, said that while not all receipts are on hand, it is evident that the project will net a good profit to the club.

The barbecue was so well patronized that the food prepared for it proved inadequate. Later patrons at the city park had to be turned away. Some advance tickets had to be refunded.

Sherman Smith, reporting on the expenses, estimated that the barbecue had cost around $900.

Soc Walker, one of the members assigned to serving the Rodeo Association guests at the arena, said that about 325 diners were served at that point. Johnson estimated that the total number of persons fed would be around 1,700.

It was indicated the Rodeo Association was well pleased with the Kiwanians' activity in connection with the association guests and that the contract the club had for two years now will be renewed in 1963.

Hoover Predicts Crime Increase

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Prints which are usable for scientific study have been made by Eastman Kodak Co. from water-damaged movie film taken of Navy Lt. Cmdr. Malcolm Scott Carpenter during his three-orbit flight on May 24.

Kodak said Thursday that while new prints of the damaged film are not good enough for publication, they are "adequate for engineering evaluations."

The new prints were sent to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington.

The film, taken from a movie camera trained on Carpenter inside his space capsule, was damaged when ocean water seeped into the capsule prior to recovery.

Memorial Day Traffic Toll 107

CHICAGO (AP)—Traffic accidents killed 107 persons during Memorial Day, two under the record toll for the one-day holiday period in 1956.

A record over-all toll of 201 violent deaths was recorded during the 30-hour holiday period. In addition to the traffic fatalities, 9 persons lost their lives in boating accidents, 38 drowned and 47 were killed in miscellaneous mishaps. The total topped the previous record of 174 set in 1956.

Mrs. Hickson Dies In Dallas

Mrs. D. A. Hickson, mother of Eunice Hickson, 1610 Bluebird, died in Dallas this morning. Funeral is pending at Hugo, Okla.

Sets Record

LAMESA (SC)—Water consumption in Lamesa Wednesday snapped a record that dated back to Aug. 5, 1959, as city residents used 4,302,000 gallons. The previous record was 4,209,000 gallons.

HERE ARE THE FACTS

Statements have been made recently by the opponent of Ralph White in the race for Commissioner of Precinct No. 2 which need to be corrected and the real facts presented. One statement made by this opponent was that taxes have been going up. Other taxes, yes, but not our County taxes. The only increase in County taxes has been by the vote of the taxpayers themselves, and such increase for the improvement of Highway 87 by bond issue. He has also repeatedly stated that this job for which he is asking is a part time job. He knows that he can only spend part time doing this full-time job, due to the fact that he has regular employment, as engineer for Texas & Pacific R. R. Co. and as Sales Manager for Trinity Memorial Park Cemetery. Therefore, you can readily see that he cannot and does not intend to spend full time on the job as your Commissioner. As for compensation for such 'part' time as he has indicated he intends to give, he has never stated that he will receive less compensation than the other Commissioners, but has stated only "Let's elect a man who has the courage to oppose this for the benefit of all taxpayers." Does this 'courage' mean he will cut his salary? He has never indicated such, really, nor how much!

Let the true facts be considered when you cast your vote—
Ralph White, our present Commissioner of Precinct No. 2—
Can spend as much time on the job as will be required.
Has the experience and knowledge to carry out sound government economy.
Is devoted to the welfare of the whole County. Has been a proven leader in our community for many years.
Has given untiringly of his efforts and ability as a devoted servant of the people for good, sound government.
Let's re-elect Ralph White!

Re-Elect L. J. Davidson Commissioner, Precinct 4

I have been unable to personally contact every person in Precinct 4, so please accept this as my personal request to vote June 2. I am a lifelong resident of Howard County and feel that the experience gained in my first term will enable me to serve you even better during a second term. I will work for better government and a progressive growth for the County. I know the problems and needs of Precinct 4 and feel that I can do the job. I pledge my cooperation with the other commissioners and will continue to work in your behalf.

DEAR ABBY Try Another Uniform

DEAR ABBY: I share an apartment with another girl. This girl is absolutely crazy over uniforms! She has lost her head over policemen, soldiers, sailors, marines, airline pilots, ushers and even Western Union boys! Just show her a uniform and she goes limp. She is not a child. She's 29 and ought to know better. She has paid dearly for this weakness of hers. How can I talk her out of it?
BETTER SENSE

DEAR BETTER: You can't. She has a fixation—brass buttons. Introduce her to a Salvation Army man. Maybe he can save her soul.

DEAR ABBY: When a woman deliberately steals another woman's husband, she is robbing her of her means of support, the father of her children and everything of value in that woman's life. So why doesn't the Law step in and do something about it? When a man steals a horse or an automobile, he is made to pay a fine or is sent to prison, yet husband stealers go free. Why? ROBBED

DEAR ROBBED: Because a man is neither a horse nor an automobile, and if he has all his marbles, he has some say about who "steals" him. Now, there IS a law against kidnaping, but I doubt if many women have been found guilty of it under those circumstances.

mind? I can't tell this to anybody but you. POOR ME

DEAR POOR: You may be experiencing a glandular or chemical change, causing doubt, boredom and depression. Be candid with a good doctor. Or you could be banking for a kind of wild and forbidding romance that is especially attractive to an "actress." Don't reach. You could lose your perch. There are many women who want desperately what you already have.

Wonderful things to see in the Western Wonderland and an exciting way to do it

Discover the whole glorious world of the Western Wonderland—a part of our country the entire family can enjoy.

Journey where there are tall snow-capped mountains, mesas on which gorgeous sunsets cast purple, red and gold shadows at dusk. Clear mountain streams, towering trees, national parks, the Grand Tetons. On to New Mexico, truly a land of enchantment... Oklahoma and the Cimarron Country... and Texas, colorful state of contrasts from the Big Thicket to the Alamo, from the plains to the Gulf Coast.

Everyone will enjoy the trip more in a Volkswagen Station Wagon—seats 8 big grown-ups comfortably with plenty of space for luggage, fishing tackle and stuff... and it's all out of your way.

Youngsters love 'em and mom and dad like the idea the trip isn't costing a fortune. You'll get 25 miles per gallon, hardly ever need oil or repairs and 40,000 miles is common on tires.

Comfortable to drive, easy to maneuver... you drive right up front where you can see where you're going. The air-cooled engine in the rear gives greater traction—"eats up" hills and mountains—and keeps cool all the way even on the hottest day... and the longest trip.

You'll discover a whole new wonderful way to travel when you're going by Volkswagen.

A Devotional For Today

A true witness delivereth souls; but a deceitful witness speaketh lies. (Proverbs 14:25.)
PRAYER: Gracious God, our Father, forgive us our sins, especially when we fail to witness to another person about Thy Son, Jesus Christ, at the time we should. Fill us with the Holy Spirit so that we may speak the truth at all times. We pray in the name of the Master, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."
(From The "Upper Room")

New 'Team' Must Be A Strong One

Texas are confronted with an unusually serious responsibility in the Democratic "runoff" primaries of Saturday.
This is because, for the first time in many years, they will be selecting a completely new team of top officials to run things at Austin.
There must be a new governor, a new lieutenant governor, and a new attorney general.
That's a big order. It means, first of all, that every qualified person should make it his or her solemn duty to get to the polls Saturday. Second, it means that the very best qualified men ought to be chosen, because Texas embarks upon some fateful years. A wrong turn now could be a serious setback for our state. The Herald has on previous occasions stated its support for the state officers. Without prejudice to any of their opponents, this newspaper honestly believes that straightforward and staunch leadership can come from John Connally as Governor, Preston Smith as Lieutenant Governor and Waggoner Carr for attorney general. We also have endorsed Joe Pool for the Congressman-at-large position.

We solicit your full consideration of these men. They can, we think, meet any fair test of public service that reasonable and unbiased people would want to pose for them.

But even more earnestly, The Herald urges you to vote Saturday. It is most important that you do.

Others Might Take A Look

Members of the Methodist conference this week voted to tackle a problem fraught with emotion but which needs some cold analytical action. It is the matter of a writer of tiny churches and charges, some numbering as few as 20 members.
Nationally, the denomination had pegged 400 as a desirable minimum member load for a pastor. Statistics of the conference indicated that the 20 smallest churches and charges in a conference would not far exceed that in the aggregate.
In a time of portending shortage in trained ministers, it doesn't make sense that the Methodist Church would waste manpower, nor money represented in tax manpower. Nor does this make sense for other denominations.

One of the greatest economic inefficiencies in church work is the proliferation of tiny congregations, none of which can adequately support a minister, let alone a strong program. Sometimes there are doctrinal differences contributing to these conditions, but most of the time it is a false pride and sentiment. Both could prove costly in the vigorous pursuit of the kingdom of God. We commend to many other groups the study that Methodists are undertaking.

Marquis Childs Meeting The Cost Of Campaigning

WASHINGTON—The sympathetic voice over the telephone says, "Senator, I know you're having a hard fight back home and I wondered if you could use some money for radio and television time?"
The senator replies that indeed he is having a hard fight and his opponent seems to have unlimited amounts to spend. So, he adds with certain cautious reservations, he sure could use some money.

"WELL," the friendly voice goes on, "I think we can find $10,000 for you. But, and there is a significant phrase, "we'd want to feel pretty sure what your attitude is on any move to cut back the 27 1/2 per cent oil depletion allowance. That is, you know, if this comes up as one of the tax loopholes to be closed."

This is not a wholly imaginary conversation. The senator in question said he could not accept the contribution under those circumstances even though he was not sure how the would vote on the question of cutting back that particular tax loophole.

IT ILLUSTRATES what almost any member of Congress will readily admit in private is the most blatant effort at political pay-off. Whether the money comes from a trade union interested in backing an amendment to the Taft-Hartley Act or an airline interested in a new route, the donor to a congressional campaign hopes to get something in return for his money. A conscientious senator or representative will be fearful that he is mortgaging a vote or a whole series of votes by accepting a proffered contribution even though he may be desperately hard pressed to pay for TV time.

WITH THE government handing out large sums of money, as in the farm subsidy program, the temptations are multiplied many times over. The wonder is not that one Billie Sol Estes has come to light but that there have not been dozens of similar instances. The whole fantastic grain storage operation, costing the taxpayer one billion dollars a year, is riddled with favoritism if not outright corruption.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex.) is respected by most of his colleagues in the Senate for his independence and forthrightness. Over a 10-year period of running for state office, Yarborough accepted $7,000 in contributions from Estes. The senator says that he accepted such contributions from many sources to pay for campaigns that in the largest state in the union (with the exception of Alaska) cost a lot. He also accepted contributions to sustain his weekly radio reports, claiming that without such reports he could not maintain contact with the people, since the press has virtually shut him out.

WHAT HE IS SAYING, in effect, is that a diversity of interests supported him and if one contributor turned out to be tainted that is one of the chances you take in politics. The question arising here under the present system, with its implication of pay-off, is one of diversity as against identity of interest.

The contributors to Richard Nixon's private fund, the disclosure of which in 1952 almost cost him his place on the Republican ticket, were virtually all businessmen with substantial interests or lawyers with important business clients. (One of the uses Nixon put the fund to was identical to that of Yarborough—to pay for radio recordings in the Senate-House recording facility.) Did they feel they knew him so well they could be sure of how he would vote in the Senate? It happened that in at least one instance he voted contrary to the request of one of the contributors.

ANOTHER EXAMPLE is Texas's other senator, John Tower, a Republican. As an extreme conservative, Tower had the unquestioning support of business, industry and oil. The contributors to his campaign would not have to call on him since they would know exactly what his position would be on every vote in the Senate.

Something like this can be said of certain senators who get most of their financial support from the unions. This threatens to become a kind of class or special-interest representation that runs contrary to American principle and practice.

AS CAMPAIGNS become more and more expensive with television and the other complex media, the big money becomes more and more important. This was Nixon's constant lament in the 1960 campaign as he inveighed against the wealth of the Kennedys in contrast to the limitations imposed by a government salary.

A month ago a bipartisan Presidential commission reported on the need to correct the present system of campaign spending. It pointed to obvious abuses in putting candidates for high office under direct obligation to special interests. One recommendation was for a federal income tax credit of $10 and a deduction of $100 to encourage many small contributors.

BUT CONGRESS has shown not the slightest sign of doing anything about reforming the system. Along with similar documented reports in the recent past, it goes into the file-and-forget drawer. Perhaps one reason is that a great many can buy a vote.

He Who Helps Himself

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—An alert priest, armed with a mock sword, trapped a would-be burglar who attempted to loot the postbox in the immaculate Heart Church of Phoenix.

The Rev. Dominic Fonseca said he was awakened by the ringing of an alarm he had wired to the postbox. The only weapon he could find was a stage prop sword. The intruder didn't know the difference and Father Fonseca held the man at bay until police arrived.

Cronyns In Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Jessica Tandy and Humie Cronyn, husband and wife in private life, have signed as members of the repertory company that will launch the new Tyrone Guthrie theater here in May 1963.

The first season, running through September, is to comprise revival of four period plays, yet to be chosen by Sir Tyrone.

James Marlow Rusk Takes Detour Into Anger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ever since he took office Secretary of State Dean Rusk's press conference remarks have been so calm, unexciting, generalized and obvious that some newsmen have fallen asleep during the sessions.

This was because Rusk, who works in the closest collaboration with President Kennedy, seemed to regard himself more as the navigator of the foreign policy ship than the captain.

There has never been any doubt that Kennedy is the captain. The President has made the big pronouncements.

THURSDAY for a change Rusk showed real irritation at Kennedy administration foreign policy critics, particularly when told Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., had accused the State Department of advocating a "no-win" rather than a "victory" policy in dealing with communism.

After citing all the problems the administration is trying to solve, Rusk called on the critics to offer some alternatives, instead of just criticism, if they have alternatives.

This moment of anger, so contrary to Rusk's policy of deliberate calm, is not likely to be repeated soon. If it were, his news conferences would be a little livelier.

HIS GENERALLY unheated and unemotional dealings with the press have made it a little hard for newsmen to get used to after being exposed for so long to a more colorful and flamboyant predecessor, John Foster Dulles. In his almost year and a half in office Rusk has never once used such provocative—and, as it turned out, empty—statements as Dulles' "agonizing reappraisal" or "massive retaliation."

Yet, both men have had one thing in common: A feeling that they had to move around the world fast and often. But even on this part of his job Rusk used a soft-pedal even before he got it.

In January 1961, when the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was questioning him before approving him, he was asked if he planned to spend most of his time in the department and let ambassadors do the work abroad.

CAME THE typical Rusk statement which closed no doors on whatever he might decide to do. "I do believe that the secretary has an important role in the department, but sometimes has an important role outside it," he said.

And there was this when a senator asked him what the new Kennedy administration planned to do, after it took office, about a couple of American airmen held captive by the Russians:

"I think," Rusk said, "it would be important for the new administration to make every effort possible to obtain the release of these two airmen."

The Russians released them five days after Kennedy took office. When asked why Rusk has refrained from trying to make a more personal impact on the public mind, one of his aides said: "He hopes to be judged not on any single accomplishment but on his total performance so that when it comes time for him to step out he can be said of him that he did a good job."

In short, he has insisted upon operating as a foreign policy technician. This explains why he has been in no fights with Congress—as Secretaries Dulles and Dean Acheson were—or any public-known quarrels with Allies.

YET, HE hasn't had a quiet moment. Always there has been Russia, and Red China, in addition to Cuba, Laos, Viet Nam, Latin America, the Congo, disarmament, nuclear testing.

Hal Boyle Hiring The Corporation

NEW YORK (AP)—Is Joe College getting spoiled?

Many personnel executives think he is.

"University graduates today are not interested in starting at the bottom—they want a job as near the top as possible," grumbled one executive.

"Most of them don't ask what opportunities lie ahead. They want to know 'What's in it for me right now?'" They inquire about pension programs, medical care, bonuses, and all kinds of fringe benefits.

"They don't want to live in small towns. They don't want a job that requires them to travel from home much. They are less interested in what they can do for the corporation than in what they can get the corporation to do for them.

"Sometimes they're so choosy you get the feeling the corporation isn't hiring them—they're hiring the corporation."

There is no doubt that ever since the World War II life has been getting rosier and rosier for Joe College as he makes an almost effortless step from the campus into business life.

A recent survey by the Family Economics Bureau of the Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. indicated 1962 graduates will get starting salaries $20 to $30 a month higher than those of a year ago.

The survey showed beginning salaries ranging from $450 to $500 a month awaited liberal arts or business school alumni. Graduates in engineering or science could look forward to even more—$565 to $580.

And a Ph. D. degree holder with some experience could expect from $600 to $1,000 a month.

Ah, me! Those figures awaken a feeling of wry nostalgia in those of us who were graduated just a generation—30 years—ago.

It was a far crueler world that faced the graduates of 1932. No personnel scouts from big firms stood in line to ask how they could make us happy.

That was still in the pit of the great depression, and no one seemed to want us—our alma mater, our parents, or the outside world. A sheepskin was no automatic passport to employment. You couldn't even look forward to a corner on which to sell apples—the best corners were already taken.

To cite a personal example, it was a full year after graduation that I landed my first job. It paid all of $62.30 a month, and I was so glad to get it I could have cried in gratitude.

Two and a half years after leaving college I had worked up to $100 a month. I had been away from the campus 11 full years before I got up to $100 a week.

Maybe Joe College is a bit spoiled, but maybe that isn't all bad either. It's a wonderful thing to be wanted, and to find a welcome mat waiting for your talent and ability.

The class of 1962 is emerging into a better and more prosperous and exciting world than did the class of 1932—and that's a good thing, too.

To Your Good Health Cataract Operations Highly Successful

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I have a cataract in my left eye, and about all I can do is distinguish light from darkness. Is this likely to develop in my right eye? What are the causes and treatment of cataracts?—E.D.W.

Let's not blink at the facts. When one eye gets a cataract, the other is likely to do so—not always, but usually. However, they don't as a rule develop at the same time or speed. Thus it is possible to correct the poorer eye, and have it serviceable again by the time it is necessary to operate on the other one.

"A cataract" is a cloudy condition of the lens of the eye which lies just behind the pupil. The cloudiness comes on so gradually, it isn't noticed.

Causes are varied, but in general cataracts develop after the age of 50. True, there are "senile" cataracts in children, but they are rather rare. Diabetes and faulty calcium metabolism can be associated with cataracts. Early treatment of these diseases is, hence, very important. Sometimes injury to an eye causes a cataract.

There's a wide difference in the rate at which cataracts progress. Some do not reach the stage of loss of sight—in such cases eye medications to dilate the pupil make up sufficiently for impaired vision.

There is no way, however, to stop development of cataracts once they have started. Where necessary, surgery is the only method of restoring sight, but this is so successful these days that there is no reason to dread having it done.

An eye specialist keeps track of the situation—people with cataracts always should have periodic examination. Removal should be at the doctor's discretion. He will, logically, do it earlier if the patient has to do close work, such as accounting. Another might wait.

It may then be a matter of years, perhaps, before the other eye requires the same thing. Use of glasses makes up for the absence of the cloudy lens. And recently contact lenses have been developed for people having some particular need for that type.

grandson, 12, who turns black and blue very easily, even just wrestling with other boys. Is that bad? Shall I take him to a doctor?—MRS. J. K.

It is something that may or may not be serious, and yes, I would have him checked carefully. Possibilities include lack of calcium, some nutritional matter, or even some serious defect in the blood, as a lack of enough platelets, or particles which are necessary for healing.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can a pregnancy last 11 or 11 1/2 months? My doctor says 284 days is the actual carrying time.—C.A.B.

The usual time for labor to start is about 280 days after the first day of the last period, but since pregnancy begins about mid-cycle, the actual carrying time would be about 270 days.

Around The Rim Don't Forget The Pudgy Prussian

One of the lesser virtues of the American people is our preference for fairy tales over history. This has worked an injustice on one of our greater Revolutionary heroes, and I think it's time something was done about it.

Among our historical fantasies are the ideas that the colonials always stood up bravely before the British, chasing them at will across the 13 colonies; that the British had us outnumbered; that the British had us outmaneuvered; that the British troopers all walked stupidly into ambushes like little wooden soldiers; that all the British generals were idiots; and that the Americans' guerrilla style of fighting was vastly superior to the parade ground tactics of the European armies.

THE FACTS, of course, are quite different: The European style of warfare was worked out by some of the ablest generals of history; these tactics fitted the conditions of the times; Washington's pitiful guerrilla army could hold the backwoods only. The British controlled whichever roads and towns and cities, plus the settled portions of the colonies, that they pleased; they could not hold them all because they were short of troops, being rather busily engaged with the French at the time. The British armies were led by brilliant tacticians, and their troops were the finest in Europe or America; and every time the colonials met the British in open battle, it was the minutemen who fled before the massed bayonets and hard discipline of the British regulars.

ALL THIS IS nothing against American courage, for the Yankees were to prove themselves later; rather, it points up the fact that a trained, disciplined army (save for pure flukes like the Battle of New Orleans) will prevail against irregulars who lack both training and discipline.

The Continental Congress realized the facts of warfare of their day, and its members sought out in Europe those who could help the ragged colonial army form itself into an iron-hard fighting force.

We all know and honor Lafayette, the dashing, romantic, young French nobleman who came to our cause. It was he who taught the principles of tactical maneuver to Washington's officers.

BUT OFFICERS alone could not hold off the British regulars. It was at Valley Forge, at the lowest ebb of the Revolution, that there came one Friedrich Wilhelm August Heinrich Ferdinand, Baron von Steuben, late an officer in the Prussian army. A good-humored disciplinarian, he won the hearts of the men as the drillmaster, and out of the rag-tag mob he created battalions and regiments which, from Valley Forge to Yorktown, were to reverse the situation and prove the equal of the best British units. When Washington marched out of Valley Forge, he had a real army.

WE COULD NOT think of dulling the light of Lafayette's halo one iota, but he does not deserve all the credit. Von Steuben was not handsome or young or dashing, but it was he as much as anyone who gave us our freedom.

So, let's shine up the pudgy Prussian's halo and put him up there where he belongs with Franklin and Jefferson and Washington—yes, and even with Lafayette.

Inez Robb It All Starts In The Home

In the past fortnight there has been a bale of tart mail asking why I haven't had the intestinal fortitude to speak up in behalf of chastity and sobriety for Vassar and college girls in general, not to mention young women in high school, boarding school and finishing schools. And in business.

THE LETTERS, from men and women alike, are outraged that only 52 per cent of Vassar's student body, when polled, supported Vassar's president, Sarah Gibson Blanding, in her dictum that students who engage in premarital sex relations and excessive drinking should leave the college.

Of the 1,040 girls polled, following President Blanding's announcement, 40 per cent disagreed with her. The other eight per cent was undecided.

HOWEVER, Miss Blanding bats 1,000 with the persons who have been angrily prodding me. And, truth to tell, she bats the same with me. But — also, truth to tell — when the story broke three weeks ago in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., site of Vassar, for once in my life, I was left speechless. That may seem incredible. But it's true.

I don't know when I've ever read a story — with the single exception of the announcement that Noel Coward, the latter-day Peter Pan, suffered from rheumatism — that made me feel so ancient and completely dated. In my school days, chastity and sobriety were so taken for granted that they weren't even discussed. Both were acknowledged virtues as surely as the world was round.

THE FLAPPER era had no impact on Idaho, as far as I recall. Girl children were brought up on Oliver Goldsmith's doleful dictum that she who strayed from the straight and narrow had no decent recourse but to die. Promiscuity and drunkenness in a girl there was only one word for that in my salad days: unthinkable.

Yet, in the past few years, the orbit of satellites above us has proved that the world is not really round, but pear-shaped.

Still, chastity is chastity and sobriety is sobriety, no matter how the world changes. But the latter has changed in more than shape. My heroines came out of the public library and were Jean d'Arc, Evangeline, The Little Colonel, "Little Women," The Five Little Peppers and, as I grew older, a raft of heroines out of Dickens, Jane Austen, and Sir Walter Scott.

MOVIE MAGAZINES were never allowed in our home. And the life and times of E. Taylor, Ingrid Bergman, Rita Hayworth, the late Aly Khan and Rubirossa, to mention only a few, were not idolatrously spread over the front pages as family reading matter. In my youth I was spared best-sellers that consist of a litany of four-letter words and actions to match.

The best, not the worst, was constantly spread before my generation as models on which to base our conduct. The cheap and the vulgar were not made glamorous and substituted for grace.

BUT, ABOVE and beyond all that, the adults in our family — my parents, my grandparents and my aunts and uncles — as in all neighboring families, desperately CARED what happened to us and how we grew mentally and morally, as well as physically.

Young people were brought up with love and discipline. We were reared with precept and example. In my youth no parent feared to be stern. And no parent was a pal. A parent was someone who knew right from wrong and intended that his child should learn as quickly as possible. And there was no nonsense about instant obedience crushing the budding personality.

FOR EVERY juvenile delinquent even unto Vassar, check off two adult delinquents in the home that produced the youthful truant. Miss Blanding is on the right track but she ought to schedule whistle stops in the homes that produce her student body.

David Lawrence Memories Of Market Break Of 1929

WASHINGTON — Memories of 1929 are still vivid in the minds of those who watched the precipitate decline of the stock market 32 years ago and heard comments then quite similar to those of today.

Thus, on Oct. 25, 1929, after the first big break in the stock market, this writer reported that government officials thought that "the artificial condition of the last year had been cleared up and that business could now proceed on a normal basis."

The customary comment in Washington by Hoover administration officials was that economic conditions "are fundamentally sound." The Democrats took issue with the phrase and used it to chide the Republicans as prosperity failed to come back.

THE HOOVER administration was bombarded with requests for statements that would be reassuring and bring confidence to the business and investment world. Members of Congress implored the President to "do something." This writer predicted on Nov. 16, 1929, that "a depression would mean the loss of the House in the congressional election of 1930."

In November 1930 the Republicans did lose the House. Mr. Hoover tried to restore confidence by issuing statements declaring that the nation really was in a stable condition.

THE CRY was for lower interest rates and stimulating action by the government through various measures, including tax reduction and tariff changes. Congress was hesitant. Many of Mr. Hoover's messages were sidetracked.

The point was constantly made from Washington that the stock market was really not a reflection of business conditions, and it was argued that, while the break in the market was unsettling, an era of "stabilized prosperity" would ensue. The explanation was that securities had merely been "overpriced" or "overvalued"—a familiar comment today about recent developments. There were two or three major rallies thereafter in the market, but the effect on business morale was not lasting.

INTERESTINGLY enough, the Hoover administration tried to get authority to extend the public building program by $175 million, and public utilities undertook expansion programs. But somehow confidence did not return, even though the administration in Washington was friendly to business.

On March 1, 1930, this correspondent reported that President Hoover had issued a statement surveying the outlook and had made a prediction that "within 60 days conditions should begin to grow better."

THERE WERE plenty of statistics to warrant optimism so far as the general business situation was concerned. But the psychology of the business world was one of puzzlement and fear.

By May, 1930, President Hoover, who hadn't been able to persuade Congress to give him the kind of tariff bill he wanted, decided to sign anyway the one it had passed, for it introduced flexible tariff provisions, with a power of veto over tariff commission recommendations. This was regarded as progress.

ALL THESE favorable news stories were based upon governmental statistics which were designed to prove conclusively that business wasn't so bad, after all.

Then came the 1932 election, which was an electoral-vote landslide for Franklin D. Roosevelt. "bank holiday."

THUS, A STOCK market break which started in October 1929—within a few months after Herbert Hoover had been inaugurated as President—was generally held responsible for his defeat for reelection three years later, although worldwide economic factors had really helped to bring on the change in the trend of business.

Miss Lander Marries In Stanton Ceremony

STANTON (SC)—The marriage of Miss Josephine Lander of Tarzan and Ronnie Deatherage of Ackerly was solemnized Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the First Baptist Church, Stanton. The Rev. Harvey Alexander, pastor of the Flower Grove Baptist Church, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lander, Tarzan, and Deatherage is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Deatherage of Ackerly.

Baskets of white gladioli and greenery and spiraled candelabra with lighted tapers formed the altar background. The processional aisle was marked with the white cathedral tapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Blanton sang "Whither Thou Goest," with organ accompaniment.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of delicately patterned white nylon lace, styled with fitted bodice and full sweeping skirt.

The bride's bouquet was a cascade of red roses, hand-styled and showered with picot satin ribbon. This was carried with a white Bible.

For something borrowed, she carried the Bible belonging to Mrs. Edward Pierce; something blue, a garter; something new, the trousseau; something old, a handkerchief provided by the bridegroom's mother.

Mrs. Charles H. Wagner of Las Cruces, N.M., sister of the bride, was matron of honor; Mrs. Mickey Smith, Stanton, bride's matron; and Miss Becky Haggard, Lenora, bridesmaid.

All wore identical pink and blue chiffon frocks, fashioned with scooped necklines, full gathered skirts and cap sleeves. They carried white carnations.

Mrs. Lander was attired in a blue taffeta dress and matching accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. Mrs. Deatherage chose for her son's wedding a two-piece dress of beige lace and pink toned accessories.

J. W. Massingale served as best man to the bridegroom. Other attendants were Bobby Deatherage, his brother, and Jerry Webb.

Ushers were Larry Taylor, Mike Holcomb, Vanny Glaze and Butch Howard. Janice Haggard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Haggard, was flower girl, and ringbearer was Paul Hopper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hopper of Lenora. Tapers were lighted by Beverly Pearson and the bride's brother, Junior Lander.

guests was held afterward in the reception room of the church. The honored couple and their parents formed the receiving line. The refreshment table, spread with white lace over pink, featured a three-tiered cake which was frosted white and embossed with pink roses. Bride and groom figurines were placed on top. Centering the table was an arrangement of white gladioli and pink roses.

Linda Lou Franklin was in charge of the register. Other members of the house party were Mickey Pinkerton, Faye Wagner and Becky Haggard.

WEDDING TRIP
The couple left afterward on a short wedding trip. The bride traveled in a blue cotton taffeta dress and white accessories. Her corsage was taken from the bride's bouquet. She and her husband will return to make their home in the Flower Grove community where he is engaged in farming with his wife's father. Both are 1962 graduates of the Flower Grove High School where he was a member of the football team and she belonged to the FHA.

Paul Anka Self-Made Millionaire

By VIVIAN BROWN

You think poetry is for squares? Well don't underestimate that iambic pentameter. Paul Anka, actor, singer, composer, publisher, hitched his poetry to music and now 200 songs later is a 20-year-old self-made millionaire.

"That's how it began," he explains. "I'd gone from an interest in high school journalism to poetry and piano lessons. One day I found myself looking at the poems, playing the piano and putting a song together."

He was 16 then, a senior at Fischer Park High School in Ottawa and a pretty active amateur entertainer on and off campus. He got permission from his dad to try to market his songs in New York, and arriving there, naively approached the situation in the logical way.

"I looked up music publishers listing in the telephone book, calling the first one that struck my eye, ABC Paramount, and dressed in dungarees and sweat shirt, brought my songs to them by appointment. They listened to me sing and play, and then brought my parents to New York from Ottawa and I signed a contract. It happened that easily," he says.

Republican Woman Is Representative

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP)—A woman who was a British war bride may go to the Washington state legislature.

Mrs. E. Donald Lynch, a doctor's wife, on already call herself State Rep. Lynch. Appointed to fill a vacancy in the 14th District delegation, she must nevertheless run for election this fall before the legislature convenes next January.

As an adopted daughter of the United States, Mrs. Lynch, a Republican, believes she has civic duties and responsibilities. A letter from her father when she left England emphasized these.

"First, remember you are going to a great country, one that has done much for the world at large," he wrote.

"You have it within your power to be a great ambassador for this country, by careful thought and actions you can contribute much to the good of the two countries."

At 16, she rang doorbells in East London, supporting the candidacy of a Conservative Party candidate.

She met her future husband in Paris where she worked for the Red Cross and he served with the Allied Airborne Forces.

Roscoe Cones To Attend Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. C. Roscoe Cone and their daughter, Carol, will leave on Wednesday for Indianapolis, Ind., where they will attend the June 9 wedding of their niece, Miss Judith Ann Cone. Carol will be a flower girl in the wedding.

Miss Cone will marry James Alexander at the First Presbyterian Church in Indianapolis. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Marshall F. Cone, Marshall and Roscoe Cone are brothers and their wives are sisters.

Maxie Romans Are Back From Japan

KNOTT (SC)—Mr. and Mrs. Maxie Roman and daughter, Judy, arrived at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Roman, on Wednesday after spending five years in Japan and Korea. They made the trip home by plane and were met in Midland by his parents and other relatives.

Arriving at home they were met by Judy Roman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cheatham and children, Diane and Randy, Mr. and Mrs. Odell Roman and daughter of Big Spring and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owen of Seminole.

Maxie Roman is a Civil Service employe of the government and after two weeks with his parents he will report for work in San Antonio.

Ellingtons Are Home From Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Sam J. Ellington and children, Kim and Mark, returned home on Thursday from Clinton, Ky. where they visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam F. Ellington.

They also spent time in the home of his brother, Roy, his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Scott, Fulton, Ky. and Chester Riley, his grandfather.

Miss Stovall Plans Marriage

LAMESA (SC)—Mr. and Mrs. DeLacy Frampton of Lamesa are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Nevin Jean Stovall, to Willie Leon Thames, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thames. The wedding is planned for July 6 in the parlor of the First Methodist Church here.

Pointeds For Dress

The elongated, narrow toed shoe, because of its look of graceful femininity, is still queen for evening. It tapers most often on the classic, unadorned pump with soaring heels. However, this season it is also found on slender, middling heel heights. It might be seen on a bright colored patent late-day shoe with a deeply notched throat repeating its pointed shape. Or it might turn up on a silk shoe printed with bright Matise flowers, its heel the tiniest stalk of gold or silver.

Methodist Wives

From left, Mrs. Paul V. Galloway, wife of Bishop Galloway, San Antonio, with new officers, Mrs. Hubert Bratcher of Pampa, president; Mrs. J. W. Butler, Lubbock, vice president; Mrs. J. Lloyd Mayhew, Brownfield, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Wallace H. Kirby, Friona, publicity. New officers of Methodist Ministers' Wives were named during a Thursday luncheon at Cosden Country Club.

Ministers' Wives Hear Mrs. Paul V. Galloway

In observance of their annual Northwest Texas Conference of the First Methodist Church, some 250 ministers' wives and guests were entertained with a salad plate luncheon Thursday at the Cosden Country Club.

Mrs. Paul V. Galloway of San Antonio, wife of Bishop Galloway and the featured speaker, was introduced by Mrs. Rex Mauldin. Mrs. Galloway pointed out that preachers' wives should not stand in the way of their husbands' calls to service. In her speech, "The Trouble With Women Is—," she said, "Wives of ministers are special. We are thrust forward because we are chosen by men who are chosen by God to teach His word. They must not fall short and neither should we."

From the book, The Trouble With Women Is Men, by Dorothy Roe, Mrs. Galloway quoted several verses that brought out the importance of women to their husbands' success.

For special entertainment, Mrs. Carl Bradley, accompanied by her sister, Delores Howard, sang "Summertime" and "The Sound of Music."

Mrs. Clyde Smith introduced wives of district superintendents from Amarillo, Abilene, Brownfield, Lubbock, Pampa, Childress, Stamford, Plainview and Big Spring districts. Mrs. Tilden Armstrong of Pampa gave the invocation while the welcome was delivered by Mrs. H. Dewitt Seago.

Retiring president, Mrs. Burgin Watkins, conducted a short business meeting during which Mrs. Weldon McCormick read the minutes and gave the financial report.

Mrs. Hubert Bratcher of Pampa was named president of the ministers' wives for 1962-1963. Other officers named were Mrs. Weldon Butler of Lubbock, vice president; Mrs. Lloyd Mayhew of Brownfield, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Wallace Kirby of Friona, publicity chairman.

A letter from Mrs. John E. Eldridge of Georgia was read to the group. Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge were in the conference for nearly a half a century before moving to Georgia.

Outgoing officers are Mrs. Burgin Watkins, president; Mrs. Rex Mauldin, vice president; Mrs. Cleatus Beights, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. William Pearce, publicity chairman.

Miss Valjean LaCroix Is Honored At Shower

A former resident of Big Spring, Miss Valjean LaCroix, Dallas, was honored on Thursday morning with a bridal shower at the Cosden Country Club Blue Room. Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. J. D. Jones, Mrs. Jack Y. Smith, Mrs. Escot Compton, Mrs. Cecil McDonald, Mrs. Clarence Percy, Mrs. Barbara Whittington, Mrs. H. G. Adams, Mrs. John Coffee and Mrs. Neil Frazier.

The honoree is the bride-elect of Jan Loudermilk. They plan to be married on June 9 in Dallas. She graduated from Texas Christian University and he from Southern Methodist University, both in May.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Smith. Members of the receiving line were Miss LaCroix, her mother, Mrs. A. C. LaCroix, Dallas, Mrs. Ernest Hull, grandmother of the bridegroom-to-be, and Mrs. McDonald.

Mrs. Coffee presided at the register, signed by 75 guests. The highly polished refreshment table was centered with a large arrangement of white carnations in silver candelabra, in keeping with the honoree's chosen bridal colors, silver and white. Silver table appointments were used, with Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Whittington, Mrs. Percy and Mrs. Frazier presiding at the services.

Miss LaCroix chose to wear a white, yellow and blue silk sheath with black accessories. Her mother was dressed in a black eyeslet sheath. She and her daughter were presented white carnation corsages by the hostesses.

Planters Garden Club Has Special Program

In tribute to Mrs. S. P. Jones, a charter member of Planters Garden Club, a special meeting of the club was called Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Trantham, 1219 Stadium.

Mrs. Jones' untiring service in garden club work was noted when she received an engraved gold pin and life honorary membership in the club, presented by Mrs. F. W. Wilson.

The Thursday meeting replaced the scheduled meeting for June. After distribution of year books, Mrs. R. O. Carothers, the retiring president, installed officers.

To each officer she gave a token gift explaining how it could be used in garden club work. Officers installed were Mrs. Trantham, president; Mrs. E. O. Sanderson, first vice president; Mrs. J. W. Dickens, second vice president; Mrs. Wilson, third vice president; Mrs. D. H. Hine, secretary; and Mrs. Cecil Rhodes, treasurer. Mrs. Carothers was named as council delegate.

Refreshments were served from a lace covered table centered with a milk glass bowl filled with roses. Ten members were served and guests were Mrs. James C. Jones, Miss Sharon Agee and Miss Ann Trantham.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Hine, 1412 Tucson Road, on July 11, at 1:30 p.m. This will be a workshop and craft meeting.

Heavyweight Title Bout Set Sept. 25

CHICAGO (AP)—Promoters of the Floyd Patterson-Liston heavyweight championship fight in Chicago Sept. 25 predict it will bring in gross revenues of more than $5 million.

The fight will be staged in Comiskey Park which has 46,500 permanent seats, plus 10,500 temporary seats that can be added. Tickets will range from $100 down to $10, all on a reserved basis, but the biggest slice—an estimated $4 million—will come from closed circuit television shown in theaters across the country with Chicago blacked out.

The estimate on gross revenue—the money received before expenses—was made by Al Bolan, vice president of Championship Sports Inc., the promotion syndicate handling the fight.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Tonto Coleman, the former West Texas who is now assistant athletic director at Georgia Tech, was a member of the winning team which recently won the doubles championship in the faculty tennis tournament there.

"There's nothing to it," Tonto remarked later. "You've got to be a PGPP." "What in the blue-eyed world is a PGPP?" one of the players in the tournament asked.

"Pretty good partner picker," Coleman replied. His partner was Jack Rodgers, a professional, who also coaches the Tech tennis team.

Quite likely, Dexter Pate, Jack Irons and Jerry Tucker of the 1961 Big Spring football team will all wind up playing football under Bum Phillips at Texas Western college in El Paso.

The trio visited New Mexico State as well as the Western campus. Warren Woodson, the NMS coach, must be overrun with good ball players because he never took the trouble to greet the local boys.

The Western team's immediate future looks a little bleak, but you can bet that Phillips will have a stellar team there in time. The talent is so shy out there, all three local boys will probably log considerable playing time as freshmen, taking for granted that they go to school there.

Some one remarked to Emmett McKenzie, the local coach and long-time friend of Phillips, that Phillips had booked only nine games for the Miners this fall.

"He may wish he had only eight," replied Emmett, who has visited the Western campus and seen the school's football material first hand.

Delnor Pass, the local high school basketball coach, says he hopes to run some kind of a summer basketball program here under the auspices of the YMCA, even though he will be busy selling insurance.

It's fairly common knowledge around the sports beat that Joe Kuharich faces a crucial year at Notre Dame this fall. He had bet with the material at hand or start looking for new employment.

National Football League officials are expecting attendance to top 4,000,000 in league competition this fall. Advance ticket sales are up over last year by ten per cent. Last year, 3,966,159 paying customers saw the NFL games.

The New York Giants alone expect to sell 400,000 season tickets (as compared to 380,000 last year).

A survey by a national magazine shows that the average pay of college football coaches is $8,500 per annum, compared to an average of $7,500 yearly for faculty members.

Big Spring's Jimmy Patterson and four other members of the Odessa College golf team will take part in the National Juco Tournament, which is scheduled to be held in Joliet, Ill., June 6-8.

This year, a school will be permitted to enter five players in the meet and count the low four scores for 72 holes of medal play. In the past, the team championship has been decided in two-man team play over 72 holes.

The meet has been held for the past two years at Odessa. The Wranglers emerged as champions each year.

Ray Leos of Toby's pitched the year's first no-hit game in Texas Little League play here Thursday night as he led his team to a 1-0 victory over Campbell's.

Leos fanned 12 and walked only two in the six-inning struggle. In addition, he drove in his team's only run in the initial inning with a single.

The blow enabled Tony Perez, who had walked to reach the plate. Perez stole second and third to set the stage for Leos' blow.

Toby's now has a record of two wins and five losses in league play. One of the games was played under protest.

Leos collected two of the three hits for his team. David Hilarlo had the other one.

Farris Standout In Pirate Win

Jimmy Farris tore into Cabot pitching for four singles as the Pirates won an American Little League game, 12-1, here Thursday night.

In all, the Corsairs collected 11 hits off three Cabot hurlers. Cabot managed only four safeties off Bryan Peay, who helped his own cause with a double.

The Buc scored in every inning but the second. Kyle McAllister managed the losers' lone run in the fourth.

Jackie Cathey also had a two-base hit for the Pirates. Phillip Bartlett was charged with the mound defeat.

Bellaire Faces Corpus Carroll

AUSTIN (AP)—Houston Bellaire will meet Corpus Christi Carroll and Odessa will clash with Lufkin in the opening round of the Texas School Baseball Tournament next week.

The tournament is scheduled Tuesday and Wednesday. There are four teams in each of the two divisions.

The only team returning from last year is Lufkin in Class AAAA. In Class AAA, Seminole will take on San Antonio Lee and Richardson will meet El Campo in the first round.

Finals are scheduled Wednesday night in both divisions. Odessa takes a 24-4 record to the tournament. Lufkin is 15-8, Bellaire 23-9 and Carroll 26-5.

Mize Gets Nod In Hill Duel With Wetsel

Morton's Foods bounced back to defeat Phillips 66, 5-1, and Anderson Music turned McDaniel Construction, 7-3, in Big Spring City Softball league play at the City Park Thursday night.

The win left Morton's with an 8-2 record. Phillips 66 is 2-5. Anderson Music has now won six of nine starts while McDaniel Construction is 2-7.

Cotton Mize and Troy Wetsel hooked up in a pitchers' duel in the Morton's-Phillips 66 game. Mize (8-2) allowed three hits, fanned 11 and walked only one.

Wetsel (2-5) gave up four hits, walked 14 and issued three bases on balls.

Mize pitched shutout ball until collected more than one hit. Anderson Music started off with three runs in the first and led all the way in its game with McDaniel Construction.

John Terry was the mound winner in that one. He is now 2-3 on the season. McDaniel's could get only three hits off him. He threw three strikes past five and surrendered six Annie Oakeys.

Spec Franklin (2-7) was the loser. He was tagged for seven safeties, struck out six and walked three.

Bob Pekar and Smith of the winners and McDaniel's Rickey Terry smashed home runs in the game.

Cincy Reds On Move In National League

By JIM HACKLEMAN Associated Press Staff Writer

It's still the powerful San Francisco Giants and the dazzling Los Angeles Dodgers bunched at the top of the National League. But the surprising Cincinnati Reds, who took it all last year, are on the move.

The Reds clicked again Thursday, beating Milwaukee 7-4 behind steady pitching by Bob Purkey and resurgent slugger Frank Robinson. Purkey became the majors' first nine-game winner with a seven-hitter and Robinson had a double and a decisive three-run homer.

The Dodgers won their eleventh in a row as they pinned the 11th loss in a row on the New York Mets, 6-3, on a three-hit pitching job by Joe Moeller. Ed Roebuck and Ron Perranoski, Philadelphia's Art Mahaffey trimmed the Giants 2-1.

The results left the Giants with a mere half game edge on the Dodgers and the Reds.

In other NL games, Pittsburgh won its fifth straight 5-4 over St. Louis and Houston whipped Chicago 10-6.

Purkey, a 16-game winner for Cincinnati last year was tagged for a homer with one on by Hank Aaron in the sixth and yielded two more runs in the eighth.

Robinson's double got in a run as the Reds scored twice off Carl Wiley in the third and he powered Cincinnati into a 7-3 lead in the seventh with his homer, which followed singles by Don Blasingame and Marty Keough.

The Dodgers played even with the Mets until the sixth, when Larry Burritt broke a 2-2 tie with a two-run triple and scored on a sacrifice fly. Roebuck allowed just one single in his five-inning stint but came out in the ninth after the Mets loaded the bases. They managed one run before Perranoski slammed the door.

Mahaffey stymied the Giants with speed and control before wavering shakily in the late going. He was nicked for two singles in the eighth, then was finally reached for a run in the ninth on Orlando Cepeda's triple and Felipe Alou's single with one out.

The Phils collected four of their six hits and both their runs off lefty Billy O'Dell in the first.

Bob Friend ended a string of five losses with ninth inning relief from Elroy Face and Diomedes Olivo as the Pirates nipped the Cardinals. Friend, now 5-4, and Dick Grove halted in two runs each and Bill Mazeroski's homer proved the winner.

The Pirates rapped Curt Simmons for six of their nine hits and routed the St. Louis left-hander in their two-run second. Lindy McDaniel went the rest of the way for the Cards.

Carl Warwick supplied the ninth-inning clincher for the Colts with a two-run single and Jim Pendleton applied the crusher, a three-run homer. The victory went to Don McMahon. Don Elston was the loser.

New Memorial For Arizona

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP)—America has a new memorial—a gleaming white structure that marks the spot where Japanese bombs sank the USS Arizona on Dec. 7, 1941.

The USS Arizona Memorial of the Pacific was dedicated Wednesday, a shrine to the more than 1,100 sailors and Marines who perished in a few fiery minutes aboard the battleship.

In a speech mixed with emotion, challenge and a warning to Soviet Russia, Rep. Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., said:

"We could, if forced to, destroy half the population and three-quarters of the industrial potential of Soviet Russia within 24 hours."

Teague spoke at the memorial purchased for more than half a million dollars by public donations and state and congressional appropriations.

Teague, chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, said the U. S. weapons potential is "far more consoling than the quite inaccurate idea that we could not compete with world communism in a nuclear war or any other war."

He blasted "super-patriots, so-called, who have apparently lost faith in the democratic processes that made this country great."

"He said they are the extremists 'who appointed themselves guardians of our liberty, wholesale dealers in slander and a bad abuse...'"

He called for an American regeneration to overcome the challenge of this age. "We must start this massive process now and we must start it within ourselves."

Horse Doctor Shortage In Texas May Be Eased

By BOB GRAY
Editor, The Texas Horseman Magazine
Written for The Associated Press

The shortage of horse doctors in Texas may soon be eased.

If so, it'll be good news to thousands of horse owners. In some areas, trained Equine Practitioners (the new handle for horse doctors) are as scarce as buggy whips.

What may change the picture, says the head of the large animal clinic at Texas A&M, is the present boom in horses and horse breeding. It is encouraging a big percentage of A&M's student veterinarians to become large animal specialists rather than cat and dog men.

Dr. William M. Romane reports that about one-half of the 1962 senior veterinarian class will enter large animal practice, with a sizeable per cent specializing in horses.

And it's about time, Dr. Romane makes clear in an article published in the June issue of the Texas Horseman Magazine.

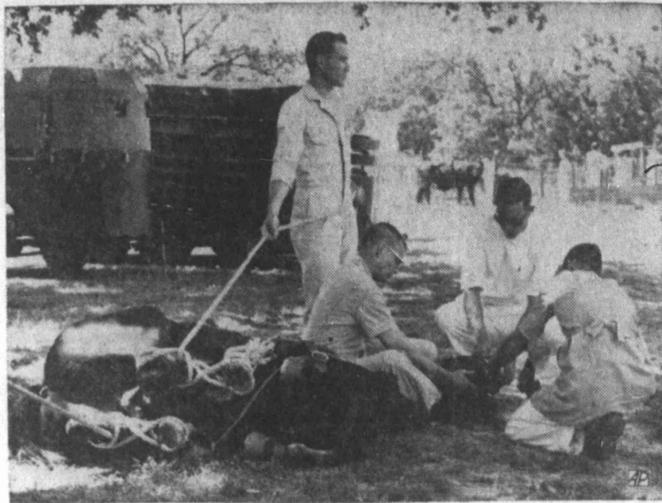

In Texas, a state with nearly a quarter of a million horses, there aren't enough doctors who have actually been trained to treat a horse's ills. There's no mystery why, either. From the early 1940's until the late 1950's veterinary schools across the U. S. de-emphasized the horse.

Dogs were used by students studying anatomy.

"Even when I came to A&M in 1956, it was hard to interest students in horses. But there has been a tremendous change... This new trend is definitely a result of the public's greatly increased interest in horses during the last 10 years. And it's a good sign because our schools were getting away from the horse," Romane points out.

To train modern horse doctors has meant much expansion for A&M large animal clinic. It is now, in all likelihood, America's biggest and busiest horse hospital. In 1961 it handled some 1,500 cases and each "case" involved from one to 200 horses.

Currently the clinic can handle about 50 horses, although at one time it was treating 135 head. Under construction now is a modern steel and concrete barn with working chutes and 38 new stalls. Here, under guidance of experienced instructors the future horse doctors learn lessons that haven't been widely taught in decades. In fact says Romane, whole areas of horse medicine have yet to be thoroughly explored.

Removes Bad Tooth

Dr. Robert S. Titus, far right, veterinary medicine and surgery instructor at Texas A&M's Large Animal Clinic, College Station, is aided by three vet students and the shade of a big oak tree as he removes a bad tooth from a "patient" at the clinic. Outdoor operations simulate field conditions in which the future horse doctors may have to work.

"When the public lost interest in the horse, almost all research stopped. I would estimate that for 20 to 25 years there has been no basic research done on the horse because the animals were fading out. Now the interest is back and we want to do the research."

"For example, we need basic research on the metabolism and the feeding of the equine. We've had the horse for over 5,000 years and there is still no basic nutrition known for him. I feed oats, because my granddaddy said it was a good horse feed—and it is. But there is still a lot to be learned."

Meanwhile, a steady stream of horses of every size, shape and color pour into A&M's clinic. Each animal, whether worth $100 or $10,000, gets the same attention. Every horse is assigned to an instructor and three senior students who treat or inspect the horse each day.

The charges for such care, are in line with prices charged by veterinarians elsewhere.

"Actually," says Dr. Romane, "a lot of our work here is referred from other veterinarians who either don't have the facilities or don't handle certain operations."

Right now it takes a future horse doctor six years to get his D.V.M. degree—and requirements for A&M admission are stiff. Last year of 140 applicants, the School of Veterinary Medicine could accept only 64.

Comments Dr. Romane: "I don't think our institutions should ever be allowed to de-emphasize the horse again."

Tornadoes Hit Rural West Texas Areas, Inflicting Crop Damage

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes smashed into rural areas of West Texas and thunderstorms rumbled across northern areas of the state Thursday night, destroying several homes and inflicting heavy crop damage.

Threats of still other twisters until a special Weather Bureau alert expired at 4 a.m. Friday afforded only restive slumber for at least some residents over a broad area of the state.

State police reported one tornado wrecked the farm home of Mrs. Irene Crawford, 78, in the Denton Valley community 15 miles southeast of Abilene and razed three unoccupied houses. Mrs. Crawford and a visitor, Bob Walley, 49, of Hannibal, Mo., suffered slight injuries. Walley's wife and two children were unhurt.

Houston motorist Mike McKaughn suffered serious injury as his light foreign car was blown off State Highway 36 near Denton Valley, officers said.

Jack Wiley told of watching from a storm cellar 100 yards distant as a twister damaged a home 6 miles south of Roby in West Central Texas. The dwelling belonged to Mack Blair, who was away from home. The same tornado, accompanied by a 2-inch rain, also destroyed a barn. Damage to wheat and cotton crops was expected to be heavy.

Power company linemen saw two funnel clouds writhe across ranch country near Big Lake, about 60 miles west of San Angelo. One touched ground without causing damage and the other apparently stayed aloft. Heavy hail pelted the area.

Winds knifing from what was believed to be a tornado hit a farm in the Providence community about 14 miles northwest of Lockney, on the South Plains in West Texas. It hit while the Bernard Breland family was away from home, smashing a garage and pump house and damaging cotton trailers.

Bristling thunderstorms whipped across the South Plains and eastward along the Red River, extending far enough south to cause considerable damage at Irving, between Fort Worth and Dallas.

Although hail and wind damage to crops likewise promised to be extensive on the South Plains, up to an inch of rain fell in some desperately dry areas. The rainfall in Briscoe and Dickens Counties halted a billowy dust storm. Hail fell south of Plainview and the wind toppled trees at Paducah.

A brilliant electrical storm lighted the sky at Vernon, which received about 2 inches of rain. There apparently was no heavy damage.

At Irving, police reported damage to some homes, several barns destroyed and power lines down. Mrs. K. P. Guse told of seeing

Air Medal

Mrs. Ralph W. Magee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Hoard, Big Spring, accepts the Air Medal awarded her husband, the late Capt. Ralph W. Magee. The Medal, presented by Maj. Gen. Charles M. McCorkle, left, Air Force Special Weapons Center Commander, was awarded for the effectiveness and courage exhibited by Capt. Magee in the accomplishment of aerial flights under exceptional conditions. In March, 1961, an aircraft in which Capt. Magee was a crew member crashed in Laos. Mrs. Magee, who works as a receptionist in the Kiriland Officers' Club, lives in Albuquerque, N.M. with her children, left to right, Jeffery 4, the twins Janet and Janice 9, and Jay 10. Jordan, age 2, missed the ceremony.

Railroader, 80, Is Still Working

HOUSTON (AP)—Walter Marshall pulled his diesel powered passenger train into the station two minutes early, clambered down out of the high engine cab and sauntered off like a man 55 or 60 years old. Marshall passed the 80-year mark two months ago. He has been a railroad engineer 57 years. "I took a medical examination right after I turned 80 (March 15), and the doctor couldn't find a thing wrong with me. He checked everything from my eyesight to my blood pressure and it was all just right," he said. "He asked me if I'd ever had any stomach trouble. I told him I'd had stomach trouble all my life—I'm hungry most of the time."

Marshall touched the ground with both hands without bending his knees. "If a man can work 344 days a year, there can't be much wrong with him," he said. "When a man's in good health, he's a millionaire, but he may not know it."

Marshall started railroading as a fireman shortly after the turn of the century with the Southern Pacific. He moved to the Cotton Belt in 1905 as an engineer. He changed to the Burlington Lines and was the engineer of the first diesel locomotive Burlington brought to Texas in 1936.

Asked if he would like to see steam locomotives returned, he answered: "Steam was alright in their day, but in the atomic age now, they're not fast enough."

Marshall has kept his own house and room since his wife died. He also does his own cooking.

He has radio, television and an air conditioner but has never been in an airplane.

Marshall says it takes him about an hour and a half to get to town from his home.

"I'm always stopping to talk to everybody. I can part near call everybody by their first name. If you're ever in Teague, stop by to see me. Just drive up to most anybody on the street and ask where Walker Marshall lives."

Marshall attributes his health to the way he lives and what he eats. His favorite meal is turnip greens, cornbread and milk. He neither drinks nor smokes.

"Another thing is I'm not adapted to gettin' upset over things. I always feel—like in the accident where I lost my wife—it's the Lord's will."

His average is two hours and 25 minutes for the 152 mile run, but he has been known to knock several minutes off this when the occasion requires.

"I never have drug my feet," he said. "I always want to be on time. I feel like that is what the public wants and what they pay for."

Gonzalez Opens Doors To U.S. Officials' Hearts

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, (D) San Antonio, a virtual newcomer to Washington, has under way a campaign to make himself known to top government officials.

Not only does he become acquainted with the leaders but he has an opportunity to familiarize himself with operations of their offices.

Gonzalez, 46, won words of appreciation from Secretary of Welfare Abraham Ribicoff when he visited the latter's headquarters.

He said Gonzalez had been the first member of the House to visit him since he became a member of President Kennedy's Cabinet.

Gonzalez entered the House in November as the elected successor to former Rep. Paul Kilday, (D), who resigned to become a member of the three-judge Military Court of Appeals.

Starting with Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, the Spanish-speaking Gonzalez has about gone through the Cabinet and sub-cabinet ranks. When possible, he takes along a member of his staff so he, too, can get a better insight into what makes the wheels of government turn.

Gonzalez, in periodic reports to constituents, isn't hesitant to tell about trips he's invited to take by virtue of his position. Some members are reluctant to report such trips for fear they may be thought of as junketing congressmen.

Gonzalez, in a recent letter to constituents, wrote: "It came as a surprise to me when Secretary of the Army, Elvis Stahr, invited me during the congressional recess to visit in Germany for a working inspection trip along with six other congressmen."

"At first I hesitated about going, for it never was my desire to be what some people call a junketing congressman."

Gonzalez doesn't expect to have much free time in the near future. He plans to have his wife and their eight children join him here when school lets out for the summer.

Mrs. Gonzalez and some of the children, who range in age from 4 to 21, were here to see him sworn in when the new session convened in January. Gonzalez, who was uncertain if he would have an opponent in the May primary in a bid for a full two-year term starting next January, had little choice but to leave his family at home until the future was more certain.

Camp Sign-Up Is Extended

Registration for the Girl Scout Day Camp which begins Monday has been extended until just before time to begin camp. Mrs. Rube McNew, a camp counselor, said. At this point there are just under a 100 persons signed. "Some of the girls are out of town or for some other reason could not register," she said. "We want to give everyone a chance to register for the camp."

Last year 135 girls turned out for the camp at the Boy Scout Jamboree grounds. About the same number is expected this year.

Sixteen adult counselors will oversee the activities at the two-week affair. The Scouts, ranging from Brownies to Girl Scouts, will meet each morning at the YMCA for transportation to the grounds. Camp hours are 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Cookouts, hikes, trail blazing and exploration will be included in the program in addition to regular Scout crafts and ceremonies. A hike will be made to the "Big Spring" and Cooden Lake. Bruce Frazier will be present one day to help the girls identify fossils and plants.

The final night of camp will be an overnight encampment.

Laos Coalition Coming To A Head

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States expects to know within a week if a neutral government can be formed in Laos, removing the Southeast Asian kingdom from the cold war arena.

If the coalition efforts do not succeed, Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a news conference Thursday, "then of course, some very serious problems will be in front of us."

Voters Of Precinct 2

Four years ago, the now incumbent Commissioner of Precinct 2 went from door to door asking the voters to give him the office he now holds. At that time, he knew what the compensation for that office was.

What did he do when the Voters honored him with that office? He used the authority endowed him with that office and voted to raise his own compensation $600.00 a year at taxpayer's expense.

Do we want that kind of Commissioner again? eW don't think so.

Churches Launching Plans For Vacation Bible School

With the public school terms over, the city's churches are busily laying plans for the annual Vacation Bible Schools, scheduled in most churches beginning next week.

The Daily Vacation Bible School of the East Fourth Street Baptist Church will get under way next Friday morning, with preparation day. Pupils and workers will meet at the church at 9:30 a.m. for registration.

The school will then go to Birdwell Park for a picnic and each one is to bring a sack lunch. Cold drinks will be supplied by the church. All children will be returned to the church following the picnic and parents may pick them up there at 12:30 p.m.

Regular classes will begin Monday morning and continue through Friday June 15. The daily sessions will be three hours long—8:30-11:30 a.m.

Parents night is set for Friday, June 15, at 6:30 p.m. All work done by the boys and girls during the school will be on display in each department, and may be seen by the parents from 6:30-7 p.m. The school program is to be presented in the church auditorium at 7:05 p.m. and will be concluded at 8 o'clock.

The Fellowship of Love

THE SOURCE OF LOVE: THE GREAT EXAMPLE OF ONE WHO LIVED FOR OTHERS AND SOME TESTS OF TRUE LOVE

Scripture—I John 3:11-18; 4:7-21; II John; III John.

By N. SPEER JONES
THIS WEEK we continue our study of the letters of the apostle John, who also authored the fourth Gospel and the book of Revelation. This was the "disciple whom Jesus loved," the one to whose care He committed His mother when He died.

This was the apostle who lived to be almost 100 years old, after suffering earlier as a slave on the island of Patmos, thanks to his devotion to his religion. Later in life he is thought to have lived in Ephesus.

John was the most profound thinker of all the original 12 apostles. His philosophy was of such stature that it bears the title, the "Johannine theology." The heart of this philosophy is that the actual Life of God is communicated to man, through the Commandments and our

"is a murderer." Despite the fact that man is made in God's image, he is selfish until this image is matured, through the grace of God which allows man to be born again. It is this second—or true—birth which opens his heart with love and to love. Man must be born again in order to love.

Love is to man's moral life what growth is to his physical existence.

Love itself is such a God-like attribute that it may be considered an essence of God. When man loves, therefore, he does so with the very love with which God Himself loves. Some have said that our life here on earth is our chance to learn love, or to know God.

Man's love always follows the Lord's; it does not precede it. As John says, "we love, because obedience to them, through the Spirit of God (considered by John to be the equivalent of belief in Jesus as God's Son), and through love.

It is this last aspect of God's communication of Life to us that concerns us here. Indeed, love is the aspect on which John himself dwells most, returning again and again to it in his writings. In his first letter, he uses the word "love" itself, as a noun and a verb, nearly 40 times.

As John says, love "is the message which you have heard from the beginning," not only since Christ's ministry, but away back in Genesis 4, when a child of the world's first family killed his own brother from lack of love (Genesis 4:1-8).

One who has no love "remains in death," and one who hates

He first loved us" (I John 4:19). Our faith does not come before His love leads us to it.

Another attribute of love is the complete absence of fear. "There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear, because fear hath punishment; and he that feareth is not made perfect in love" (I John 4:18). Fear, in other words, comes from self-accusation, or a guilty conscience. Fear towards God means we are not living as we know we should. When we live in love, we automatically do those things which are pleasing to God, and have no room or need of fear.

John also reminds us that the proof of love is in the doing, not the saying. "Let us not love in word, neither with the tongue; but in deed and truth" (I John 3:18).

"Let us not love in word or speech, but in deed and in truth."—I John 3:18.

DOES IT REALLY MAKE SENSE?
Many years ago Carl Vogt said, "Evolution turns the Creator out of doors." It is indeed a strange thing that human beings would be egotistical and priggish enough to think they can erase the evidences in both nature and grace and in the human conscience of the Creator. I am sure that one of the primary transgressions of the human family is to strut; his knowledge is meager but sufficient to inflate him and turn his head. And yet man has erred from God; by his own volition he has gone astray. He dies because of the original sin of Adam. If he does not precipitate his own death earlier he will still speed out his time and a tale that is told. It does indeed seem so foolish for man with immortal soul shrouded with mortal body to be vain glorious against God. Ernest Haekel said, "Evolution is the non-miraculous origin of the universe." This is strange that men would so freely and so proudly disdain the Holy Scripture. It is "so wicked and free" and Lindsey said in "Simon Legree" "And the devil said to Simon Legree: 'I like your style, so wicked and free.' But are they so free who dare to deny the authority of Holy Writ and turn by atheism against God? Nations that have thus done, and our land is no different if we turn from reading and following the Bible, suffer from an increase of hoodlums and suffer from hunger, hostility and slavery." "The sins ye do two by two ye must pay for one by one"—Kipling. Joseph LeConte declared that "evolution is a continuous progressive change by fixed laws by resident forces." This would deny them the power of God to create and declare in the same breath that everything is upheld by the majesty of its own power and not by the power of God. This is the contemptible philosophy of many in our own land and across the earth today; here is the source of self-sufficiency, pride and egotism which causes people to turn from their God and Maker in manners so "wicked and free."
Col. 2:8 declares, "Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit; after the tradition of men; after the rudiments of the world and not after Christ;" with the frankness and probity of this in mind look to Col. 3:16: "—and let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom.—" Here too is strength for the soul of man, "O the depth of the riches, both of the wisdom and knowledge of God, how unsearchable are his judgments and his ways past finding out." But God has revealed His will to us; and it contains "all truth." John 16:13. Most religious organizations today possess an authoritative creed statement, book or ritual. Others follow the latest vision of their earthly prophet or leaders and thus it is that the Bible is relegated to the corner and seldom heard and appreciated, believed and obeyed. Infidelity and atheism, evasions and departures in all of their hapless, hopeless and unscriptural forms ought to be avoided as men turn again to God and to His written Word for their counsel and guidance; it may all sound old fashioned and yet it is as new as the morning sun. The fact is they need the truth of God, old fashioned or not. The cult of fashion shall not rule the day. Some people are "scared" to death to be called out of style, hence the modern brazen spirit to sin and the disposition to be in style and appear wicked and loose and go with the breeze and live for kicks; in all of man's false colors and camouflage, I ask for his own good, where has gone his ability to blush at shame and the fear of the consequences of sin????

COMMUNION CHALICE

Sculptor's Work May Become 'Holy Grail'

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—Sculptor Oskar J. W. Hansen is fashioning what he hopes will become a second Holy Grail. He wants nations to compete for the prize in the name of peace.

It is to be a communion chalice of gold and precious jewels which he plans to give to the world to promote peace.

Hansen, a native of Norway, has completed the focal heart of the chalice, an image of God carved in a 5074-carat piece of rose-colored beryl—a stone as big as a golf ball.

A New York mineralogist and gem broker has appraised the carved gem at $100,000, Hansen reported.

The Smithsonian Institute has written Hansen that it would be interested in acquiring the jewel through a donor. The Smithsonian has others of his carved jewels.

Hansen said that to his knowledge no one else has ever portrayed the Deity in a jewel. He added that he did not think the Deity had been portrayed directly since Michelangelo painted his creation scenes in the ceiling of Rome's Sistine Chapel.

The carved beryl has some 200 facets, any of which picks up light and reflects it through the face of the Deity.

The jewel will be the node of the chalice, he said, placed low on the stem just above the base. When a communicant bows his head to take the sacrament his eyes will meet the image.

Since 1942 Hansen, now 69, has worked in a studio in his home on Pottops Mountain east of here.

The best known of his works include the massive Winged Figures of the Republic at Boulder Dam and the 13-foot figure of Liberty atop the Yorktown Victory Monument.

Hansen estimates that the chalice will take two or three years to complete. He will not bind himself to a date because it must be done between other sculpturing work.

The chalice, to be about a foot high, will have an outer shell of gold open work, an inner pure gold shell or liner, and space between containing carved jewels, Hansen said.

The image of Christ will appear in the cup itself, he said, and the cup itself will be carved with scenes from the life of Christ.

Beryl, a stone of the same family as emerald and aquamarine,

"Talking Bible"
NEW YORK (AP)—The John Milton Society, Protestant agency for world-wide service to blind people, has released a "talking book edition" of the New English translation of the New Testament. Recordings of the new translation were made by Dr. Robert J. McCracken of New York's Riverside Church.

is so hard only a diamond will cut it.

The image is carved in relief on an inverted triangular surface. The letters alpha and omega are at either side—the first and last letters of the Greek alphabet, symbolizing God as the beginning and end.

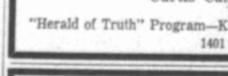

The eyes of the face are open or closed, according to how the stone is turned. There is a beard, but it disappears at another angle.

At each turn of the stone a different expression or mood appears on the face. It may appear somber, sorrowful, understanding, thoughtful or compassionate.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Lonely, gnarled, and neglected, but a thing of beauty, isn't it?

We know that trees are functional, that is, they hold the soil, the good earth, the rain. But more than that, each tree, in loneliness or forest, sings out the praises of its Creator, God.

Much more so, does man reflect the glory and image of God. He too then, must sing out the praise and honor to God, his Creator. There is a place for that worship and honor; it is your church. Whether lonely, solitary, or in crowds, He awaits you... to hear and to answer.

Philippines May Claim N. Borneo

MANILA (AP) — Government sources report the Philippines will soon make a claim to British North Borneo.

Whether the claim will be to sovereignty or merely in support of private rights of ownership apparently remains to be decided.

North Borneo is included in the proposed Federation of Greater Malaysia. President Diosdado Macapagal was reported weighing the possibility of merely endorsing the claims of the heirs of the sultan of Sulu to proprietary rights over North Borneo. Britain maintains that the sultan sold the territory to the founders of the British North Borneo Company back in 1878. The heirs of the sultan contend the sultan merely leased North Borneo and never relinquished ownership.

For Short Week

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) —The International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union (AFL-CIO) has endorsed a 35-hour work week as a nationwide standard, despite the Kennedy administration stand for a 40-hour week.

Hoggard Conducts Midland Symphony

MIDLAND—The Midland Symphony Association has announced the appointment of Dr. Lara Hoggard, as the new conductor of the Midland Symphony Orchestra.

Dr. Hoggard, has appeared as guest professor, lecturer and conductor throughout the U. S. In Texas, he has appeared at the University of Texas, Southern Methodist University, Baylor University, North Texas State University, East Texas State College, Hardin-Simmons University, Texas Western College and Texas College of Arts and Industries.

As an instrumental conductor, he has had two performances with the Oklahoma City Symphony and three with the Birmingham Symphony.

He also has guest-conducted more than any other conductor for the All-State High School Choir for the Texas Music Educators Association and twice conducted the instrumental ensembles at NTSU. Last year, he conducted both the All-State Band and Choir in Dallas.

He has conducted more than 300 workshops, festivals and other types of choral performances throughout the nation and has been a guest instructor at more than 50 universities and conservatories.

ON THE SHELF

By The Associated Press
LET MY PEOPLE GO. By Albert Luthuli. McGraw-Hill. $5.50.

Chief Luthuli won the Nobel Peace Prize last year. It might be said that his contribution to international peace was in setting an example for forbearance.

His book is autobiographical. But because Luthuli has been at the heart of the resistance to the white supremacy policy of the South African government, it is more than one man's story. It is a view in perspective of a rising movement that has not yet reached its goal.

Luthuli tells about his Christian upbringing and his first career as a teacher, his call to become chief of his native village and his eventual leadership of the African National Congress.

He believes in nonviolent tactics, but he has gone through many periods of banishment in behalf of his ideals, and he has learned thoroughly the rough road of political maneuvering among the African people.

He knows his economics, or at least the economic consequences of South Africa's repressive measures. He presents in very calm terms the nearly incredible pressures used to keep Africans, Indians and colored (mixed races) "in their place."

Of course American readers will study this narrative with thoughts of integration versus segregation in their minds. Possibly some of them will reflect that racial problems in the United States seem less gigantic when compared with the smoldering fire in Africa.

The author says he does not delude himself into thinking the last ditch stand of white supremacy will stop short of terrorism. "But white South Africa is at last becoming aware, with surprise and embarrassment," he says, "that it does not hold all the keys to its own future. It has tried to be isolationist, but it finds itself on a rapidly awakening continent and in a world that watches it closely."

This is a very timely book.

Women Cry For Uplifting Of Standards

LONDON (AP)—An itch under Jeannie Buchan's brassiere has budded into a demand for the British government to set up a ministry of consumer protection.

The demand was voted by 500 women leaders of the Labor party after hearing how comely Mrs. Buchan, 35, tried in vain to get back the money she paid for a brassiere.

Remused by an advertisement which suggested that almost any girl would stop traffic in a bra of this brand, Mrs. Buchan invested 16 shillings—$1.22—in one of them. "It itched," she told the women's conference in Blackpool. "It was so scratchy that within two days I had to discard it. I know why the girl in the advertisement stopped the traffic—she had to take her bra off. Well, I complained to the makers."

"Correspondence went backward and forward. The firm told me they sold this product in 33 countries, 13 of them English-speaking. "What the language spoken has to do with the quality of a brassiere I never did find out."

"I returned the brassiere to the makers, but they mailed it right back to me. So in the end I had to write the price off as 16 bobs worth of experience."

Bobs is British slang for shillings.

The conference agreed with Mrs. Buchan that the complaint of an individual consumer carries too little weight to get much action out of a big company. It formally resolved that a government department should be created to deal with such beefs.

Legion Committee Names Delegates To Boys' State

Four high school juniors will represent Big Spring in the annual American Legion Boy's State beginning in Austin, Monday. They are Tommy South, James Bowen, Dickie Spier and Dan Cone.

Announcement was made by Roscoe Cone, Legion Americanism committee chairman, following a brief meeting held at the Cosden Country Club Tuesday. Selection was based on scholarship, leadership, Americanism and outstanding traits of character.

Three of the boys are sponsored by the Howard County Post of the American Legion with the other by the American Business Club. They will join some 400 other Texas youths in the week-long session where practical experience in government is taught by actually organizing and serving in all capacities from precinct through the state offices. A sports program is also included.

Briefing the boys was Johnnie

Cone, an alumnus of last year when he successfully campaigned and was elected to a state office. Others at the meeting were Cone, James Bowen, Chester Cathey, Dr. Halvard Hanson and George Zachariah, all members of the sponsoring committee.

The Big Spring group will be picked up at 8 o'clock Sunday morning by the Legion 19th District charter bus carrying representatives of most West Texas posts. The stop will be at the Herald Office.

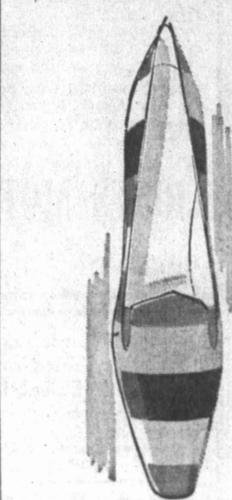

The preliminary briefing was initiated this year to enable the boys to be prepared with advance knowledge toward getting the most of the week's educational advantages and to organize early for the political campaigns.

Boy's State is held at the University of Texas and instructors as well as coaches will be on hand to operate the program.
