L. J. DAVIDSON

RAY C. NICHOLS

Davidson, Nichols To Co. Commission

A newcomer to the political arena was swept into the commissioner's Precinct No. 2 seat Saturday as Ray C. Nichols upset Ralph White in the runoff contest 939-753. L. J. Davidson, asking for a second term, carried all five boxes in Precinct No. 4 to defeat Raymond River, 735-446.

Nichols polled over 200 more votes Saturday than he won in the first primary, while White did not receive as many as he did in the first go-round.

In the May 5 primary, Nichols received only 609 votes while White had polled 810. Saturday, Nichols carried the big boxes at Runnels Junior High School and Washington Place with handsome majorities. Although White carried the Coahoma and Forsan boxes, his margin was not enough to overcome the bigger lead.

In Precinct 4, Davidson had hefty leads in all five boxes. River lost the biggest box, Central Fire Station, by 456-373, and he received only small support in the other four, all in rural communities.

Both candidates picked up votes from their showing in the May 5 race. Davidson polled 607 in that contest and River got 328.

Nichols is a yard engineer for the Texas & Pacific railroad and for several years has served as sales manager for Trinity Memorial Park. Davidson is a farmer in the Center Point community.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle

Things were poppin' around the town last week. Hotel and motel space was at a premium with the Methodist conference and the rodeo visitors both in town at the same time. Then there was graduation for high school seniors, a record rodeo parade, a barbecue, and a big street dance festival, and Memorial Day observances.

On top of all this, the seasons got all out of joint and we had one of the worst sandstorms of the year. Our area remained untroubled by the rain, but it may be just as well, for those which got precipitation had heavy and devastating hail along with tornadic winds.

Methodists of the Northwest Texas Conference, holding their 53rd annual session here, heard reports of gains in most departments. Bishop Paul V. Galloway, however, warned them that gains were not matching population increases. There appeared to be a new note of aggressiveness, even militancy, which could portend even better days for the churches.

Not everything was on such a high note, for a small core left from a young people's dance caused concern because of vandalism and necessity for calling the law. This was not a school-sponsored affair and not under school jurisdiction. As always, the troublemakers were in a small minority, and most of the young people had the good judgment and respect to leave when things began to get out of hand.

Elsewhere there were reports of vandalism at Moss Creek Lake, where five carloads of officers had to break up a gathering of about 25 carloads of young people. On two subsequent evenings, officials were waiting and made some arrests.

But there is another and much brighter side of the picture, for Tuesday evening Big Spring High School granted diplomas to 211 young people, and among them were the cream of the crop of our community. Jerry Younger was the valedictorian, Chap Smith the salutatorian, breaking a monopoly by the girls on top honors. Just a breath away was Karen Koger, top ranking girl. The seniors did an admirable job in their exercises, and 28 out of the class were recognized for averaging 90 or more during their high school careers. So the fine things young people accomplish do get in print and their names are carried in the paper.

The rodeo, stimulated by a record parade, got off to a good start, although blustery and then chilly winds, cut down on the size of the house. As for the parade, it turned out to be, in our view, the

Yarborough Wins Mitchell

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Don Yarborough edged John Connally in Mitchell County voting Saturday for the Democratic nomination for governor. Yarborough polled 1,039 to 889 for Connally.

It was no contest in the lieutenant governor's race. Preston Smith of Lubbock polling 1,419 to 468 for James A. (Jimmy) Turman.

The margin was even greater for Waggoner Carr, another Lubbock man, for attorney general. Carr got 1,462 votes and Tom Reavley of Austin has 449.

In the race for congressman at large, Joe Pool of Dallas received 1,002 and Woodrow Bean of El Paso 845.

David Ratliff switched the tables on Truett Latimer, his challenger for state senator, capturing Mitchell County in the second go-around 1,907 to 897 for Latimer.

Mary T. Post, wife of Bob Post, a local nurseryman, won the county treasurer's post, getting 1,253 votes to 685 for Mary Lee Moore. Louise Hardison, incumbent, did not offer for re-election. In county commissioner precinct No. 2, Drue Cawthon won with 156 votes to 138 for George Dawson. George Bacon, incumbent, had been eliminated in the first primary.

LAMESA (SC) — Dawson County residents defeated incumbent County Judge R. F. Spraberry Saturday, giving a 1,269-679 majority to Leslie Pratt. More than 2,200 turned out to cast ballots in a better turnout than was anticipated by community leaders.

John Connally led the ticket in the gubernatorial race, polling 1,121 to Don Yarborough's 1,015. Preston Smith picked up a tremendous edge over James Turman, 1,989-168 for lieutenant governor.

In the attorney general's contest, Waggoner Carr led Tom Reavley 1,902-552. Woodrow Bean edged out Joe Pool for the congressman-at-large post, 1,054-1,022.

Jerry Cain carried the county in balloting for State Representative of the 75th District. He polled 1,165 votes to 951 from R. G. Penfield.

O'DONNELL TO INTEGRATE
LAMESA, Tex. (P) — Voters of the O'Donnell school district in neighboring Lynn County voted Friday 113 to 87 to integrate.

The school board will meet Tuesday to set a date. The district has 650 white students and 50 Negroes. Twelve Negro students of the district have attended Black-shear Negro high school of Lamesa.

Yarborough Takes County By 2-1 Vote

Don Yarborough swamped John Connally for the Democratic nomination in Howard County second primary balloting Saturday, tacking up a 2-1 margin.

The vote was 2,894 for Yarborough and 1,433 for Connally. In the first primary Yarborough had polled 2,356 and Connally 1,010.

Voting was less than two-thirds the turnout for the first primary. The total vote was 4,339, and in the first primary it exceeded 6,300.

Two Lubbock men running for state office hogged the county's votes.

For lieutenant governor, Preston Smith polled 2,514 votes to 1,821 for Jimmy Turman.

For attorney general, Waggoner Carr piled up a two and a half to one margin, polling 3,022 votes to 1,313 for Tom Reavley.

Howard County's vote for congressman — at — large went to Woodrow Bean of El Paso. Bean got 2,275 votes and Pool 1,965. Pool picked up sharply, for in the first primary he had polled 1,038 votes whereas Bean got 1,875.

Most of the voting in the state races ran pretty much as observers had predicted.

DAVID RATLIFF

Ratliff Wins Senate Seat

Incumbent David Ratliff carried all but three of the 13 counties in the 24th Senatorial District runoff primary election Saturday to win the Democratic nomination from Truett Latimer.

In unofficial returns, with only a handful of votes still to be counted, Ratliff had collected 17,816 votes, more than 3,000 votes ahead of Latimer's 14,717. Ratliff beat Latimer in the latter's home county of Taylor, 4,491-4,175.

Latimer won majorities in Howard, Nolan and Shackelford counties. Howard gave the loser a spread of 1,000 more votes Saturday than local voters gave him in the first primary. On May 5, only 1,986 were cast in his favor Saturday. Latimer got 2,114 votes in the first primary and increased this to 2,341 Saturday.

In Ratliff's home county, voters gave the state senator a 2,048-761 margin.

Saturday returns were complete except for about 10 votes still to be counted in Stonewall County.

"I am deeply grateful for the support I received in Saturday's Waggoner Carr had a wide margin, too, in the race for attorney general. Carr received 948 and Tom Reavley 125.

The race for congressman at large was spirited with Woodrow Bean of El Paso finally getting the edge 257 to 242 for Joe Pool. Martin County had no district or local races for the runoff primary.

triumph for Vice President Johnson although Johnson took no known part in the campaign.

MIDDLE AND RIGHT
Conservatives and middle-of-the-road voters could take credit for Connally's nomination, for it was to this group that he largely appealed.

Yarborough's unqualified support of the New Frontier marked him in Texas viewpoints as a liberal.

Some ultra-conservatives undoubtedly voted for Yarborough after campaigning for him, hoping he could be defeated easier than Connally by a conservative Republican. This group said both candidates were too liberal.

What effect this segment had on the outcome could not be assessed.

The vote count was made by the Texas Election Bureau, an unofficial ballot collecting and tabulating agency. It first was established by newspapers and now is supported additionally by radio and TV stations.

PEOPLE HAVE SPOKEN
Connally, in a statement from his campaign headquarters in Fort Worth after the Texas Election Bureau announcement, declared:

"I believe the people of Texas, by their vote, expressed their desire for unity of purpose and their hopes for soundness in state government.

"They clearly stated their desire for new leadership—leadership of maturity, experience and responsibility."

Inspection of county-by-county results showed Yarborough held firmly to his East and Southeast Texas support and a scattering of counties in far West Texas.

Connally retained most of the counties in the midsection of the state and scattered areas elsewhere.

But the county totals showed Yarborough gained great masses of votes which went to four other

Winner Calls On All Demos To 'Complete Victory'

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A jubilant John Connally Saturday night called on all Texas Democrats to help him "complete the victory that brings Texas a new day of achievement."

The onetime secretary of the Navy acknowledged his victory in the runoff election for the Democratic nomination for governor by noting that members of his party are "noted for their scraps among themselves" but added "we make up, join ranks and get after the Republicans."

He asked "the thousands of dedicated workers who gave so much of their time and their energy to this campaign" and all other Democrats to support him fully in their vote, expressed their desire for unity of purpose and their hopes for soundness in state government. They clearly stated their desire for new leadership—leadership of maturity, experience and responsibility.

Saying he had learned many things during the two primary elections Connally promised a vigorous campaign between now and November.

Forsan Votes School Bonds

A modest turnout Saturday voted approval to a $250,000 bond issue in the Forsan Independent School District. The balloting gave the school trustees a green light to begin making improvements to the school plants at Elbow and Forsan.

Of some 450 persons eligible to vote in the bond election, 144 turned out and they gave the proposition a whopping 135-9 endorsement. Forsan approved it 94-2, and Elbow passed it by a 41-7 margin.

The improvements to the new buildings will bring the district's two plants up to minimum accreditation standards, according to Roy Stockstill, superintendent. Specifically, a library at the Forsan building and science facilities in the Elbow building were urgently needed.

The Forsan building will get a new cafeteria, music room, physical education rooms for boys and girls, an additional classroom, and a visual aids room. Also, the present cafeteria will be converted to a library, the kitchen will be changed into administrative offices and the tax office will be enlarged.

At Elbow, new facilities will include a science room, a teacher's workroom, principal's office, choral room and visual aids room.

The district has some 400 students enrolled. The Forsan building accommodates grades 1-12 and the Elbow plant, grades 1-8.

The bonds, when issued, will raise the tax rate for the district about 13 cents, from the present $1.80 per hundred dollars valuation.

Woman Wins In Glasscock

GARDEN CITY (SC) — Glasscock County had its first woman county commissioner in prospect on the basis of run-off primary voting Saturday.

Mrs. Lois Blalock, who had made her way into the runoff as a write-in candidate, polled 40 votes to 11 for Henry Hilliger, incumbent commissioner in Precinct No. 4. So far as could be ascertained immediately, she is the first woman to gain the nomination for commissioner.

In state races, John Connally carried the county, getting 105 votes to 87 for Don Yarborough. Preston Smith smothered Jimmy Turman for lieutenant governor, getting 175 to 23.

For Attorney General, Waggoner Carr did almost as well, polling 133 votes to 46 for Tom Reavley.

Woodrow Bean carried the county for congressman-at-large, getting 112 votes to 89 for Joe Pool.

Edge Given To Yarborough

GAIL — Borden County gave a hefty margin to Don Yarborough for governor in the runoff Democratic primary, and then a hefty margin to two West Texans, Preston Smith and Waggoner Carr, running for other state offices.

Yarborough polled 171 votes to 62 for John Connally.

Preston Smith got 194 votes for lieutenant governor, while Jimmy Turman received 40.

Waggoner Carr polled 180 votes for attorney general, and Tom Reavley got 56.

Woodrow Bean carried the county for congressman-at-large, receiving 145 votes to 88 for Joe Pool.

Sassy Animals Help Fire Rodeo Finale

Calves that didn't want to be ridden down, bulls that couldn't be ridden, and broncs that sunfished added interest to the final performance of the 25th annual Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo Saturday night. Over 4,000 persons braved the cloudy, cool weather to witness the finals and see the rodeo queen crowned.

Japce Hatched of Baird was presented as Rodeo Queen from among five contestants. Angela Blount, Midland, was first runner-up, and Lou Ann Hawkins of Stanton second runner-up.

Five cowboys rode the bareback broncs, three riders failed to show, and four broncs dumped their riders in the wet sand.

The Brahma bulls made it tougher with only four out of 14 riders sticking out the eight seconds.

Four cowboys came out with points in the touched bronc riding, while two touched leather and the rest went into orbit.

The steer wrestling event showed some fast horn-grabbing but not quite-so-fast throwing. Nine seconds was the fastest time made, by John Hatley of San Angelo, who came out third in the finals with 19.9 seconds.

Wayne Cornish and his flying white chargers were included in the entertainment features. Cecil Cornish put his Golden Liberty Horses through their paces in the ring showing that they could square dances about as well as humans. He later brought in his trained bull, Dancer, and put him through acts seldom seen in bovines, including a jump through the flaming ring.

Junior Meeks, the clown, got a good roll in his rubber barrel when one of the big bulls took after him after throwing his rider.

The first four final winners of each event were announced Saturday night, with first-place money.

Bob Fraker of Greeley, Colo., took $366.30 on 353 points in the bareback bronc riding. Jim Bausch of Ponca City, Okla., 342; Dewey Frank Freas, Elk City, Okla., 338 points.

Calf roping honors were taken by Clifton Smith, Tell, Tex., 4472.56 with 25.7 seconds. Bill Teague, Creans, 30.4; A. D. Reed, Ackerly, 32.2; and Frank McMullen, Big Lake, 35.6.

Betty Frey of Abilene won tops in the barrel race with 36.8 seconds to take home $211.65. Frances Glenewinkel, Midland, 36.9; Mildred Farris, Iowa Park, 37.2; and Laura Lee McMullen, Big Lake, 37.4.

A Midwest City, Okla. boy, Leonard Lancaster, with 513 points took first money in the saddle bronc riding, winning $345.70. Roy Barrington, Lubbock, 490 points; Marcus Pierce, Okeechobee, Fla., 473; and Brandon McReynolds, Andrews, 342.

Steer wrestling honors went to C. R. Boucher, Burkburnett, with a time of 18.9 seconds bringing him $287.06. Bussy, Kaul, Hereford, 19.5; John Hatley, San Angelo, 19.9; and Dean Myers, Wichita Falls, 23.9.

First place in Brahma bull riding went to Roy Wallace, Midland. He won $578.68 on 250 points. Following were Freckles Brown, Lawton, Okla., 345; Dennis Hall, Canan-

2 Persons Die In Highway Crash

CENTERVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Two persons died and seven were injured Saturday in a two-car crash four miles south of this South Central Texas town on U.S. Highway 75.

One car was occupied by two Ft. Still, Okla., sergeants who were taking their four children to Houston for a summer vacation.

The dead were Sgt. William Crump and Leta DeLores Castelow, 5-year-old daughter of Sgt. Martin Luther Castelow.

Castelow and two sons, Earl, 11, and John, 6, were injured. The younger boy was in critical condition from a head injury.

Crump's daughter, Darlene, 11, suffered a fractured leg and cuts and bruises.

The second car was driven by Roosevelt Smith, 34, Houston truck driver, who was reported en route to Dallas for a funeral. Three persons riding with him were hurt. One, J. D. Turner was in critical condition.

The injured were taken to hospitals in Madisonville and Huntsville.

THE WORLD OF THE DEAD

The curtain which hides from our eyes the world of the dead has been pulled back by the Lord in Luke 16:19-31; and what we see brings many important messages to our hearts. These shall be discussed in both sermons today.

At 10:30 a.m. we shall see there are messages of emphatic denial. The world of the dead denies the doctrines of: (1) "Universalism" (the salvation of everybody), (2) "No hell of continuous suffering for the lost," (3) "A second chance after death," (4) "Purgatory," (5) "Inherited total depravity."

In the sermon at 7 p.m. we shall see strong affirmative messages, on such subjects as: (1) The possibility of falling from grace, (2) The deadliness of the sin of omission, (3) The deceitfulness of riches, (4) The power of environment, (5) The fleeting nature of temporal things.

Be with us. You are always welcome.

Remember the public discussion between the Pharisee and the Scribe in the City Auditorium and us in the City Auditorium, June 10, 1962, evening. God's plan of salvation as taught in the Bible.

Baptist Congress To Be Held Here

The Mount Bethel Baptist Church will be the site of the annual meeting of the Original West Texas District Baptist Sunday School and Training Union Congress Tuesday through Friday.

This is the first time for it to be held here, according to the Rev. Melvin Montgomery, host pastor. Last year it was held in El Paso.

Among dignitaries in attendance will be the Rev. E. Felton Nelson, president of the Congress National and state chamber organizations. The report was prepared by Eugene F. Rinta, director of research in the Council's Washington office.

The two factors cited were a high cost of labor and a repressive tax system. Rinta commented: "If the administration and congress were to give proper attention to these basic problems, the symptomatic problems of unemployment could be largely eliminated," said Rinta.

To the extent that federal labor laws policies and administrative practices have encouraged increases in production costs to the point of pricing goods out of the market, the Council report maintained they have caused unemployment.

"There is a growing recognition of the fact that our economic growth in recent years has been held back by insufficient savings and capital, and the prime factor behind the shortage of capital has been the drain of potential savings for use by the government."

Rinta declared the present need is to get Federal spending under control at a level which will permit the tax reduction and reform that are essential to provide the capital on which the economy depends for its growth.

The Council report also pointed out that the present Federal fiscal situation does not warrant burdening the budget with this additional public works authorization of $600-900 million in fiscal 1963.

Public Works Program Seen As Only A Delay

ARILENE — The President's proposed accelerated public works program was seen Saturday as only postponing the time when the root problem of unemployment can be dealt with by tax reduction and reform of the tax system.

This was the view presented by the Council of State Chamber of Commerce in a report to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and to the 29 other regional and state chamber organizations. The report was prepared by Eugene F. Rinta, director of research in the Council's Washington office.

The two factors cited were a high cost of labor and a repressive tax system. Rinta commented: "If the administration and congress were to give proper attention to these basic problems, the symptomatic problems of unemployment could be largely eliminated," said Rinta.

Church Survey

MEXICO CITY (AP) — About 25.5 million of Mexico's estimated 35 million inhabitants are Roman Catholics, the government statistics department reported today. The report said there are 528,515 protestants and 109,750 Jews.

Industrial Survey Set For Lamesa

LAMESA (SC) — Work on a detailed industrial development survey will be started in Lamesa later this month by experts from Texas A&M College.

Preliminary work will start at the college on June 18. On June 25, B. E. Shelton and Perry Shepard of the college staff will arrive in Lamesa to begin a complete study of the area. The target date for completion has been set for Sept. 15. A month later, a confidential survey is to be completed.

2 Men Killed

ITASCA, Tex. (AP) — Two men were killed and a third critically injured in a head-on collision north of here on Highway 31 Friday night.

Killed were Edwin Vernon Horton, 28, and Raymond Douglas Younce, 21, both of the Naval Air Station at Corpus Christi.

A third occupant of their car, Ralph Feider, 25, was critically injured.

Telephone Calls To Be Transmitted

LAMESA (SC) — A new method of transmitting long distance telephone calls without the use of wire or cable will be placed in operation in Lamesa next year, according to Wayne A. King, local manager for General Telephone Co. of the Southwest.

Steel frame towers, used as the means by which radio waves are beamed, will be constructed at sites in and around Lamesa, O'Donnell and Tahoka. A small, 15-foot tower will be constructed on top of General's downtown office in Lamesa.

The tower will be equipped with a parabolic antenna and reflector shield. On calls to the Lubbock area, for example, the antenna will beam a compressed microwave signal against an aluminum shield, which will reflect the signal to a 600-foot tower to be located near O'Donnell. Repeater equipment re-energizes the signal, sending it to Tahoka where it is beamed from another 250-foot tower to the new Hobbs, N. M. — Lubbock microwave net, slated to go into operation on June 15.

Traveling via a fourth repeater station located near Ropesville, the call arrives in Lubbock and enters the Bell Telephone system. The entire procedure takes only a few seconds and as many as 60 toll calls can be handled in a minute.

The system's biggest advantage is its resistance to ice, wind, sand and other elements which play havoc with conventional lines. The microwave network has a reliability of 99.9 per cent.

Photo Of Captured Refugee Stirred Aid Offers—Too Late

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Any camera is capable of capturing people when they are happy or sad, thoughtful or animated, angry or peaceful. But it is up to the person behind the camera to make the picture meaningful. He must select the subject and type of lighting, study the background or surroundings, choose the best camera angle and, above all, must decide on the precise instant of shooting to record the emotion at its very peak.

When all the factors fall into position perfectly and when the emotion pictured is genuine, the photographic result can prove to be gripping beyond words—a visual blockbuster.

Such a picture was recently reproduced in the nation's newspapers.

It showed a weeping Chinese girl holding a ragged cloth over her mouth to stifle almost audible sobs. Her anguish, we learned from the picture caption, was caused by the decision of British authorities in overcrowded Hong Kong to return the girl and other refugees from Communist China back to the place they had fled.

The emotional impact of the photograph was immediately evident. Throughout the country, telephone calls and telegrams were received by newspapers and The Associated Press, distributor of the photo. They came from sympathetic readers with offers of help for the girl. The picture evoked editorials, follow-up news stories, human interest articles by columnists and TV mention.

I talked with several persons who called the AP office in New York after seeing the photo. One woman's reaction was typical. "My family was greatly disturbed last night at dinner thinking of this girl's plight. We would like to offer her a home . . . our home. Can you help me find her?"

Others throughout the country offered to assume responsibility or adopt her, assure her of a job or contribute to any fund set up in her behalf.

Prompt as the sympathetic reaction was, it was already too late.

The picture had been taken by P. C. Lee, a Chinese photographer for the Hong Kong Tiger-Standard before worldwide distribution by The Associated Press. The girl was with a small group of refugees fleeing Communist China. They had managed to evade the border guards and had slipped

Symbol Of Anguish

This is the picture of Lee Ying, 19, which touched the hearts of Americans. Her plight—a refugee from Communist China about to be forcibly returned there—brought many offers of help. They were too late.

through a barbed wire frontier fence at dawn.

Two short miles later, however, they were stopped by British soldiers for illegal entry.

She sobbed out her name, Lee Ying, her age, 19, but not her home village lest it bring trouble to her family.

Lee Ying's group was sent to an overnight British detention camp. Next day she was lost in a mob of 3,000 similar refugees who were trucked back to the border in army vehicles and returned to Red soil.

Lee Ying had vanished by the time the cables of inquiry and offers of assistance from a sympathetic world reached British officials and the U. S. Consulate in Hong Kong.

But Lee Ying's picture remains, a symbol of all the Chinese refugees and their plight. The power of the picture in stirring the world's compassion might yet help save other Lee Yings from a similar fate.

Hong Kong Has Respite, But Flood May Come Again

HONG KONG (AP)—The May flood was stopped but the year-round stream of refugees from Communist China has grown to a river and new floods are possible.

Officials believe 10,000 refugees a month will manage to add themselves to Hong Kong's teeming population by the end of the year—30,000 more than the colony can resettle in the multistory apartment houses being completed at the rate of one every 11 days.

That is the year's forecast if things stay as they are at the present moment, described by government officials as a return to normal after the May crisis. Communist guards have shut the border gates which they opened briefly in May for reasons still unknown. And Hong Kong has put up barbed wire barriers and added more fast police boats to the water patrol.

But if famine strikes, instead of merely threatening, Communist guards and troops would be unable to prevent another border flood without wholesale gunfire. There are some officials here who believe they might not even try to stem it. There are 68 million Chinese living in the three mainland provinces closest to Hong Kong—Kwangtung, just across the border; Hwangshi, to the northwest; and Fukien, to the northeast.

Hong Kong authorities rounded up 62,000 of the refugees who flooded across its border during the first 24 days of May, loaded them into truck convoys and 10-car railroad trains and sent them back to Red China. But almost that many are known to have made good their escape into Hong Kong during the first five months of 1962, more than double the influx rate since 1958.

These refugees are here to stay. Government officials say publicly they will attempt to round up illegal immigrants for return to Red China, but actually no major attempt is being made against them.

The refugees themselves obviously realize they are safely in Hong Kong. Throughout the past week they have waited in blocks of long queues to register as residents and get identity papers that will permit them to work and travel freely throughout the colony.

More than 1,200 were lined up in front of a single registration office one day last week. Many claim they came from Portuguese Macao and have been here several months. No one is fooled, but no one is interfering with the registration.

The U. S. consulate here is processing several thousand—believed to be 5,000 to 6,000—Chinese out of the United States out of the 19,000 who have had visa applications on file since 1954.

Postal Receipts Continue High

Postal receipts for May at the Big Spring post office were slightly ahead of last May's figures—maintaining the record which has prevailed so far in 1962.

E. C. Boatler, postmaster, reported that receipts for last month hit $33,024.90. In May, 1961 the figure was $32,502.56.

Receipts for the year are $8,543.02 greater for the first five months than in 1961.

Boatler said that the receipts for the period January through May, 1962 are $157,835.50. This compares with $149,292.57 for the preceding year for the same months.

Workshop For Journalism Students Set

LUBBOCK—A high school journalism coed from as far away as Pulaski, Wis., is one of 125 students who have indicated they will attend Texas Tech's High School Newspaper-Yearbook-Photography workshop slated Aug. 12-16 on campus.

W. E. Garets, Tech Journalism department head and workshop coordinator, said high school students from as far west as Grants, N. M., and as far east as Oklahoma City have pre-registered for the four-day session.

Advanced registration indicates this year's figure will surpass 172 of last year—the largest of the four workshops.

"Pre-registration is already ahead of last year at this time by 60," Garets said.

Purpose of the workshop is to help high school students improve their newspaper and yearbook publications and to encourage interest in journalism as a career. The West Texas High School Press Association is co-sponsor of the fifth annual workshop.

Garets will direct the newspaper sessions, while Ralph Sellmeyer, assistant professor of journalism at Tech, will direct the photography section. Phil Orman, director of student publications, will be in charge of the yearbook section.

Harrison Felled By Heart Attack

Clyde C. Harrison, about 50, night service man at the city garage in Big Spring, was taken to Cowper Hospital by River ambulance at 9:15 p.m. Friday. He was found by Police Patrolman James Baker.

Harrison had collapsed on the job from an apparent heart attack. He was reported in satisfactory condition at the hospital Saturday at noon, although he will be held for treatment and observation for several days.

Church Plans New Mission

The congregation at Hillcrest Baptist Church will launch a $30,000 bond sale today as they begin working for the establishment of a mission church in the southwest part of the city.

The church is planning a $50,000 plant on three acres of land acquired from W. L. Mead, on the old San Angelo highway across from the Lockhart Addition. The building is to have a 34 by 74 foot sanctuary, a 36 by 76 foot educational wing which can be converted into a fellowship hall, a kitchen and a nursery, according to Rev. H. L. Bingham, pastor. The structure can be added to at a later date.

The building will be financed through the sale of six per cent, secured ABC plan real estate bonds. Rev. Bingham said the congregation hopes to complete the bond sale by June 15 so construction can begin by July 1st.

Members of the building committee are Floyd A. Henderson, Eugene Brand, Terry Carter, W. D. Arnold, R. D. Beard, Mrs. Lillian Carruthers and Mrs. W. D. Arnold.

Frankie Sends British Fans Into Frenzy

LONDON (AP)—Squads of clamoring fans tried to crash a champagne breakfast for Frank Sinatra Saturday after he sang for three hours with only one break at a charity concert in London's Royal Festival Hall.

"There's never been anything like it for us," said a spokesman at the American singer's hotel. "Imagine, fans screaming for you at 4 o'clock in the morning."

Sinatra, 47, gave one of the greatest performances of his career to raise money for underprivileged children.

"An overprivileged American citizen's contribution to underprivileged children," he called it. "Attended by Princess Margaret, her husband Lord Snowdon and a group of friends, the concert began at midnight."

"I don't know where fans go when they are sent," commented critic Stanley Reed in the Evening News, "but I'm sure a terrific lot of them arrived all at once on this memorable occasion."

After a brief cool-off, Sinatra ran a gauntlet of fans at 3:10 a.m. and rode across the misty Thames River to his hotel.

Thirty-five breakfast guests awaited him.

The party was given by California restaurant owner Mike Romanoff who is accompanying Sinatra on the worldwide tour with his 17 shows.

"Alas," the hospital spokesman said, "Princess Margaret and her party couldn't attend the breakfast."

Asked the reason, the spokesman replied:

"Too late for her, I suppose."

Sinatra's tour, which has taken him to Tokyo, Hong Kong, Israel, Athens and other places, has already netted $100,000 in donations for children in the countries visited.

Sinatra is paying his own expenses.

Neighbors Think Billie Sol Crawled Too Far Out On Limb Of Ambition

By JULES LOH
 PECOS, Tex. (AP) — West Texans admire a well-turned phrase, a homely truism a man can take to the fields with him to ponder on, the sort of maxim Billie Sol Estes is so good at coining.

Like this one—a favorite of Billie Sol: "You can shear a sheep every year; you can't skin him but once."

He also liked this one: "You have to walk out on a limb to the far end, because that's where the fruit is. If it breaks, you learn how far to go next time."

Some of his neighbors in Pecos find it hard to believe Billie Sol was out to skin anybody. For one thing, he didn't consider it profitable. They feel a likelier explanation for his downfall was that the limb finally broke because he didn't reckon the weight of his own ambition.

BIG COUNTRY
 West Texans realize how this country can affect a man's ambition.

To a person born under a California redwood or among Maryland's rolling hills or Kentucky's lush countryside the Texas prairie is nothing but a Godforsaken wasteland of parched sand and scrawny mesquite and coarse buffalo grass, a wilderness where even a jackrabbit has a constant fight for survival.

But to a man reared in West Texas, opportunity seems as limitless as the big, big sky which has no end but plays out in a blue-gray haze on the horizon which likewise has no limit. To him there is not barrenness here, there is beauty. A West Texan knows this caliche soil will grow cotton if he can get water to it—water heavily spiked with ammonia, which is as important as the water—and that when he gets the well dug and the ground plowed the land he bought for $40 an acre will be worth $300 an acre maybe more.

TOO BIG
 Billie Sol Estes knew this when he moved to Pecos in 1951, but even this limitless land couldn't contain his ambition.

Before a decade was up he had erected such a huge financial pyramid that when it finally collapsed it spread debris from the Pecos River to the Potomac. It brought out the FBI in task force strength. It reverberated in courtrooms and board rooms and congressional committee rooms. It left a trail of ruin, anguish, perhaps even death. It set the nation wondering just what kind of man was behind it all.

To hear him tell it, he's a man of vision.

He had a basic speech he'd deliver to anyone who would listen. He would take a Negro boy off the street and into a clothing store and outfit him from the shoes up—and tell him to have vision. At the Fourth and Boisdore Church of Christ, or at a political barbecue in the Mexican section, he would quote from Proverbs: "Where there is no vision, the people perish."

STILL JUST A MAN
 Living under that big sky, few West Texans are very impressed by a mere man—even a man with two airplanes, three tennis courts, a waterfall in his living room, and a valet who used to work for Clark Gable.

They knew Billie Sol when he arrived in Pecos, deep in debt, after losing half a section of cotton to hail on his place at Earth, Texas.

His broad-brimmed hat had no crease and his clothes were rumpled and his pudgy 5-foot-8 figure looked something like an unmade bed. He carried a battered old briefcase bulging with Lord knows what all, he had so many irons in the fire. His speech wasn't polished, but certainly nobody minded that.

Billie Sol goes hatless now, and his size 41 suits are well tailored and well pressed. But in Pecos today there isn't much talk about Billie Sol's splendor, only his troubles.

YOU'VE FELT IT, TOO
 Just how much trouble Billie Sol is in nobody knows at this point. Anybody who has ever rushed to the bank with a deposit to cover the check for the rent can get some idea of how it began. Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson said Estes' enterprises—in ammonia fertilizer, grain and cotton mostly, but also in as many as 25 smaller operations—had put him in the middle of such a whirlwind he had to pay creditors three-quarters of million dollars every month just to keep his kite in the air.

Estes himself said he had assets of $20 million and owed $30 million, but even these astronomical figures didn't much impress the people of Pecos. To them, Billie Sol was more puzzling than impressive.

He used to tell them, "Just keep God's commandments and fear no man." He didn't smoke or take a drink, and he quoted the Golden Rule in all its King James literalness: "As ye would that men do unto you, do ye likewise unto them."

TWO SIDES
 He was a soft touch for anybody down on his luck. Every body knew how he bought Ansel Hendricks a new car and a piece of land and enough farm equipment to get Ansel back on his feet after his auto accident.

But his neighbors also knew Billie Sol's other side.

Lloyd Stone, a former manager of Estes' ammonia fertilizer business, recalls the day Billie Sol gave him a lesson in the Estes technique of business expansion.

"The competitors, Billie Sol explained to Stone, 'have all this business just in their hot little hands.' One way to get it, he said, would be to 'work real hard for 15 years.' But there was a quicker way.

"If we hit them," Estes told Stone, "it will all fly up in the air, and when it falls down we'll grab our part of it."

Did Billie Sol hit them?
 "Yes, sir. And it flew."

THE ESTES FIST
 More than one Pecos businessman knew what it meant to be hit by Billie Sol Estes.

During the summer and fall of 1958 he added a half dozen local businesses to his empire in the space of a few weeks. One man who sold out told how Billie Sol sent word that unless he came to terms Estes would set up a rival company and drive him out of business.

There was no question that Billie Sol paid the best wages in town. Carol Wicker said she earned $400 a month as a receptionist, nearly twice as much as she could expect any place else. He gave everybody a ham for Christmas.

But the help never could be sure how long it would last.

"He'd go on hiring and firing binges," Mrs. Wicker said. "He hired me during a hiring binge, and fired me during a firing binge."

A DIVIDED TOWN
 Knowing both faces of Billie Sol Estes, the townspeople of Pecos naturally are divided in their feelings toward him. The division is sharpest among those who know him best.

A year and a half ago some of his friends in the Church of Christ proposed that Billie Sol should be made an elder. About 25 of the 345 members disagreed. They wrote letters saying in their opinion Brother Estes was "not of good report" in the community.

The fight was on. It kept the town of 12,000 buzzing for weeks.

The upshot was that Billie Sol became an elder, and those who were opposed walked out and formed their own congregation. During the hassle Billie Sol fought back hard. For instance, he phoned his lawyer and told him to fire his secretary; she was one of the dissenters. The lawyer complied.

After all that, Billie Sol eventually resigned his church post from his jail cell.

JAYCEE FUSS
 A similar disagreement developed in 1953 when the Pecos Jaycees were considering whether to submit Billie Sol's name to the state organization as one of the five outstanding young men of Texas.

The committee voted no, but one of the members nominated Billie Sol anyway. He was selected, and a few months later was named one of the 10 outstanding young men in the nation.

"Billie Sol bragged to everybody that he was one of America's outstanding young men," said one resident who recalls the episode. "But not many people know he never was voted one of the outstanding young men of Pecos."

The only time Billie Sol's hometown popularity actually was tested by secret ballot happened last year when he ran unopposed for the Pecos school board. A write-in candidate beat him.

TROUBLE BACK HOME
 Estes' national honor may have helped his reputation among his widening circle of out-of-state business and political friends, but in Pecos it only served to deepen animosities. When he came home from the national Jaycee award banquet one of the local banks threw a big barbecue for him but by the time the year was up Billie Sol had been invited to take his business elsewhere.

The Sunday before the 1960 general election Billie Sol fed beef to close to 3,000 guests. Sen. Ralph Yarborough was there and made a speech, and Billie Sol made his "vision" speech. During the campaign for mayor last April Billie Sol bought time on Station KJUN and invited the whole town to a victory celebration at his house, no matter who won. When there was a prom or some similar function at the high school, Billie Sol would have a simultaaneous party for the children of his fellow church members who disapproved of dancing.

THE FARAWAY LOOK
 Billie Sol found it difficult to relax himself, however. His mind was always on business and he didn't make much small talk.

"It's like he was in another realm," said W. W. Teague, a Pecos real estate man who has known Estes more than a decade. One of Billie Sol's former secretaries said it was almost impossible to get his attention when his mind was on something else. Mrs. Wayne Baker, who attended the same church as Estes until the falling out, recalled how Billie Sol said how do you do four different times one Sunday morning in the space of an hour.

With Billie Sol, business was his greatest relaxation. "We have a vacation all the time, the year round," he often said. When he was wrapped up in a business deal he sometimes would phone people at 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning. "When he can't sleep, nobody can," his wife once remarked.

WHY WAS HE HUNTED?
 He was forever on the go—to Dallas, New York, Washington—but he seldom revealed his travel plans in advance. As he explained it, "A deer doesn't tell a hunter where he goes to water."

"This puzzled some of the people too, that he should regard himself as prey.

The way others regarded him was of some concern to Billie Sol.

TRUMAN NEVER CAME
 The last addition was a wing—

actually a separate structure—built as a guest house especially for a visit by Harry Truman, but Truman never came. The guest house, with thick carpets and gold bathroom fixtures, is more lavish than the main house whose most notable attraction is a palm garden with lighted pools and waterfalls at one end of the 50-foot living room.

The evening of March 29 Billie Sol's wife Patsy was in the house quietly watching television with the five children—Pam, 14; Jan, 12; Dawn, 9; Billie Sol Jr., 7; and Joy, 4. Mrs. Estes had just finished rolling the girls' hair and everything was normal, except that Billie Sol wasn't home.

GAUDY HOUSE
 In some respects the house is a reflection of Billie Sol. As his fortune and reputation grew larger and gaudier, so did house.

He's not a man of exquisite taste," said one of his friends.

Developer Bill Scott built the house and lived in it with his wife Estelle until they sold it to Billie Sol shortly after he moved to Pecos. At that time the house wasn't much to look at. Scott built it over an abandoned Army camp swimming pool, which became the basement. He salvaged 350 tempered hardwood ice boxes out of the Army buildings, cut them up, nailed the pieces to the frame and applied a stucco finish.

"Billie Sol has added to that house half a dozen times," said Estelle Scott. "Until the last addition it looked like Noah's ark."

Then the announcer interrupted the program to report that Billie Sol Estes was in jail. The limb had broken.

New Evidence On Smoking, Drinking Fuss

ROME (AP) — Twenty-seven of Italy's oldest men and women—all near or over 100 years of age—gathered in Rome Saturday and gave Italy's medical authorities some things to ponder.

All the men said they still smoke, and had done so all their lives.

Almost half the women smoke, although some only a few times a day.

Men and women alike all drink wine in substantial quantities.

And they all profess to be heavy eaters, even now.

The 17 women and 10 men came here for a convention organized by the Italian center for Biologic Research.

For many, it was the first visit to Rome in their long lives. Most came from rural areas or small towns.

Commission Interviews Second Applicant Today

By M. A. WEBB
The Big Spring City Commission, in a called meeting at the Coston Country Club Friday night, interviewed Larry M. Crow Jr., former city manager of Brownsville, on his application for the same position in Big Spring. Mrs. Crow and their daughter were present for the meeting.

This was the first interview conducted in a move to fill the vacancy created in Big Spring when A. K. Steinheimer resigned to take the management of Beaumont May 15. More than 35 applications have been received from men all over the United States.

A second interview will be held today when Ivan P. Oliver, city manager at Gladewater for three years, meets with the commission. Oliver served as the first manager of the City of Victoria when the city manager form of government was established.

The commission had formerly made arrangements to interview

Anyone For Pedicab-bing?

Tom Lovelace, astride the bike, demonstrates to James Pierce, 10, seated with Nancy Lovelace, 9, what fun it is to ride in a genuine Formosan pedicab. The Lovelace youngsters live at 1665 Lancaster. Young Pierce, who is a staunch pedicab fan, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Pierce, 1513 Lancaster.

Profitable Or Not, It's A Lot Of Fun

By SAM BLACKBURN
The Lovelace youngsters, who live at 1665 Lancaster, have gone into business.

They are the proud owners and operators of the only pedicab service in Big Spring. Very likely it is the only pedicab in all of Texas.

You can go pedicab riding for a mere dime, according to the legend that Tom Lovelace, 11, and his sister, Nancy, 9, have attached to their genuine Formosan pedicab. And the strange vehicle was loaded Friday with boys and girls from the neighborhood.

Whether the fares have paid off is debatable.

Tom and Nancy are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Lovelace. The Lovelaces returned only recently from a hitch with the army in Taiwan (Formosa). While there, they made such excellent use of the pedicab to do their shopping and traveling about the island, they bought the thing and brought it home.

A pedicab is a sort of cross between a ricksha, an old fashioned buggy, and a bicycle. Its power depends on the fellow sitting on the bike seat who does the pedalling. The passengers ride on a leather upholstered seat at the rear, shaded by a top which resembles that of a buggy such as was used by granddad. The framework which holds the passenger portion together looks like a ricksha like those used in China. Three or four kids can ride in the pedicab at one time.

Lovelace said that he and Mrs. Lovelace rode the devices wherever they had to go in Taiwan.

"The rental fee for a pedicab and a fellow to pedal is about 25 cents an hour," said Lovelace. "He would take you to the store and watch your purchases while you made others. Then he would pedal you to your next stop and wait patiently until you were ready to go on. It was cheap and comfortable transportation."

How fast did you travel?

"Well," says Lovelace, "not very fast—perhaps less than three miles an hour."

However, he adds, it was very safe and he knows of no one who was ever killed in a speeding pedicab.

The pedicab comes equipped with a warning bell which chimes as a warning to other and slower traffic to get out of the way. Young Tom is quite adept in maneuvering his weird vehicle. Whether the pedicab business will prove profitable is still an undetermined issue.

Thrown Bottle Injures Sanchez

Mike Sanchez, 14, of 107 NE 3rd., was taken to Howard County Hospital at 11:45 p.m. Friday where stitches were needed to close a cut on his head. He was treated and released.

Police Patrolmen Graydon Howell and Bobby Armstrong were called to the Ritz Theatre—a midnight show was in progress—where the accident happened. The officers reported that the boy's head was cut when an unknown person threw an empty beer bottle in the balcony.

Heart Association Sets Annual Meet

Stephen Wilson, president-elect of the Texas Heart Association, will be the speaker for the annual meeting of the Texas Heart Association, scheduled for June 8, at the Coston Country Club.

Mrs. Imogene Lloyd, president, will preside during the meeting. The agenda includes committee reports on 1962-63 budget needs, the budget discussion, report from the nominating committee and election of officers and board members.

Hearings Set By United Fund Committee

First work toward determining the community's responsibility in its welfare and youth development programs a year hence will start this week.

The budget and screening committee for the United Fund of Howard County and Big Spring will conduct hearings with a dozen or more agencies to arrive at an over-all goal for the UF campaign next fall.

Procedure is for the UF group to hear committees from the organizations who present their budgetary needs, to study various cost factors involved in a fund drive, and then to recommend the aggregate figure.

Heading the budget group this year will be Jack I. Davis. Other members are Lewis Price, John Taylor, R. H. Weaver and R. W. Thompson.

Hearings will be conducted in the Chamber of Commerce offices Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, beginning each evening at 6:30, and following this sequence:

Monday—Y.M.C. Air Force Aid Society, Girl Scouts, Texas Rehabilitation Center (Gonzales Warm Springs).

Tuesday—Salvation Army, West Side Youth Center, Summer Recreation Program, Howard County Rehabilitation (Crippled Children's) Center.

Wednesday—Boy Scouts, Texas United Fund, Milk and Ice Fund, Red Cross.

Rash Of Thefts Fills Police Docket

Big Spring police had a busy night Friday and early Saturday morning investigating thefts, and burglaries.

An automobile was reported stolen from Bill Bryant, at 701 W. 8th. He told police he parked his car in front of the house shortly after midnight Friday. He said he left the key in the ignition.

Mrs. Harvey Wooten reported that a large purse containing money, papers, and photographs was taken from her car at 503 E. 2nd.

Chuck's Automotive, 900 W. 5th, was burglarized during the night when the cold drink machine, cash drawer, and a metal box were broken open. Between seven and eight dollars were taken from the machine and about 50 pennies taken from the cash drawer. The Sands Lounge, 2910 US 90 west, was probably the hardest hit. The lounge is managed by Troy Ray, who called police Saturday morning. An unknown amount of money, cigarettes, beer, whisky, and champagne was missing Saturday morning. Entry was gained through a window. Two record players were broken open, cigarette machine robbed, and a door lock and hasp pried off to enter the liquor closet. The cash register was also pried open.

Water District Concerned Over Salt Water Pollution

ABILENE — Directors of the West Central Texas Municipal Water District have decided to ask for cooperation of the oil and gas industry and the public in solving a serious water pollution problem.

Secret Army Asks Parley With Moslems

ALGIERS (AP) — The Secret Army Organization has suspended its bloody terror reign and made preliminary peace proposals to Algerian nationalists, French sources said Saturday.

This was the reason for the precarious three-day truce that for the first time in long months restored a measure of calm to this city of fear, they said.

The secret army now awaits an answer or concrete steps from the National Liberation Front (FLN), or the provisional Algerian executive. The FLN led the long Moslem rebellion against French rule ended by a cease-fire in March. The executive of Moslems and Europeans was set up under the truce agreement.

A sudden return of terrorism in the days to come would imply that the proposals were turned down and that no compromise should be expected, the informants said.

The secret army hopes to obtain additional rights and guarantees for the million French settlers in an independent Algeria. In exchange, it offers to eliminate terrorism and persuade the Europeans to remain in the country, thus preserving its economy, the sources reported.

Official French quarters hope that the common sense will win. They do not envisage an immediate direct deal between the European extremists and Moslem nationalists, but hope that the contacts will make progress, eventually reaching higher levels.

They agree that failure to reach some kind of a compromise would be a shattering blow to the hopes built up over the past three days. It would be likely to start a new wave of panic and flight to France of Algeria's Europeans and further damage the country's shaky economy.

Various representatives of European economic groups were shuttling back and forth between Algiers and the barricaded administrative headquarters of Rocher Noir.

Their aim was to seek amplification of the guarantees given the Europeans in the cease-fire accords signed at Evian, France, on March 19.

The Europeans are also reportedly demanding permission to form a political party that would have its place in the campaign for the self-determination referendum due to be held July 1. The vote is expected to be massively in favor of independence.

operators and the public know about the problem. J. C. Hunter Jr. is head of the board's Salt Water Pollution Committee.

A meeting between the consultants, members of Hunter's committee, representatives of the West Central Texas Oil & Gas Association, Texas Railroad Commission and the United States Geological Survey will be planned.

District directors also favored employment of a full time geologist or an engineer to continue pollution studies above the area of the Hubbard Creed dam now being constructed. Freese and Nichols, engineers, were asked to study feasibility of installing a pipe below the dam in an attempt to draw off salt saturations which by weight might tend to lie along the bottom of the reservoir.

The report of the consultants concluded that the Hubbard Creek Reservoir was naturally clean, but that the chief source of the abnormal chlorides was the industrial brine. Most of this was coming from surface leakage of salt water pits, producing wells, water injection wells, lease lines, tanks, heaters treaters and abandoned dry holes, it said. Seepage of pits was causing contamination of some shallow subsurface water, and salt water pumped into the wells was also causing difficulty as were improperly plugged core and shot holes.

Unless checked, this pollution could result in a saline content in the lake greater than acceptable by the USPH within a decade, the report concluded. The report suggested an appeal for voluntary action to clear up the situation, and then a resort to the Texas Railroad Commission or the courts if necessary.

Reservists' Time May Be Extended

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army planners are proposing a major change in the volunteer reserve training program to give some men more than the present six months of active duty.

Youths volunteering for certain complex specialties would be trained for up to 10 months before returning to civilian life and joining National Guard or Reserve units.

Conversely, men in less demanding military specialties who complete their training course ahead of the six-month mark would be released as much as two or three weeks early.

The tentative plan also calls for trimming the over-all military obligation of men in this program from a maximum of eight years to six years, split between active duty and service with the Guard or the Reserve.

The proposals are being discussed at the staff level and have not yet been finally approved. Congress would have to enact any changes.

A restudy of the five-year-old training program was begun after congressmen claimed it failed to meet the Army's needs for adequately skilled men in the Berlin crisis military buildup last fall.

Under that program men between 17 and 26 may enlist for specific posts in specific Reserve and Guard units. They then undergo six months of active duty training and are exempt from the two-year draft.

After returning to civilian life, these men must drill with their Reserve or Guard units for up to another 5 1/2 years.

Some of the six-month active duty trainees are obligated to spend an additional two years in the inactive Reserve, bringing their total service to eight years. Key Army leaders are willing to waive these last two years.

Complaints arose after Army commanders reached into the Reserve reinforcement pool and took men with two or three years of active duty behind them. This was done because they could not find enough six-month trainees in the pool adequately prepared in certain hard skills to fill out understrength Reserve and Guard units mustered into active service.

Army sources said a man can get only minimum training in his six-month active duty tour, especially if he is assigned to one of the more complex military specialties.

Airman Held In Shooting

COLUMBIA, Ohio (AP) — A 21-year-old airman from Tyler, Tex., was shot and wounded at nearby Lockbourne Air Force Base Friday and base officials arrested another airman pending investigation.

In fair condition at the base hospital was Airman 3.C. Randall Glaspie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn D. Glaspie of Tyler. Glaspie suffered a 22 caliber bullet wound in the left chest.

Base officials said Airman 3.C. Michael Garvey, 18, of Washington, D.C., was held for questioning.

The shooting occurred while the two airmen were working at a maintenance building near the Lockbourne Golf Course.

Hound Dog Over The Desert

An Air Force Hound Dog air-to-surface missile, capable of both high and low level flight after its release from a big bomber, skims over the desert at the White Sands, N.M., Missile Range. The Air Force said this is the first photograph made public of a Hound Dog in such ground-hugging flight.

Wall St. Wonders 'What's Ahead?'

NEW YORK (AP) — With the wildest week since the hectic days of the 1929 crash behind it, Wall Street today looked toward a new week of trading wondering "what's ahead?"

After last week's roller coaster ride, the ups and downs left the market just about where it was before the week began.

Most Wall Street opinion was that trading would simmer down cautiously while the price of stocks stabilized and investors concentrated on actual values rather than wild hopes and pipe dreams.

This, at least, was the opinion of the world's two biggest brokerage houses as the week ended.

YARDSTICKS
Mailed out to customers throughout the world, the "Guide for Investors" of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Inc., largest brokerage firm in existence, said the period ahead should give its clients the chance to apply "more realistic yardsticks which are now being re-established."

Bache & Co. advised its clients: "Do not panic... Hold issues of recognized proven quality... New purchases should emphasize current income and current earnings."

This attitude followed one of Wall Street's most historic weeks, climaxing a five-month decline from the record market peak of last December.

Even though there was no trading on Wednesday (Memorial Day), the week's volume soared to 40,963,230 shares from 22,988,850 from the fall, five-day market week preceding.

LARGEST VOLUME
It was the largest volume for any week since the one ended July 22, 1933 when 42,229,633 shares changed hands.

Members of the American Business Club were given a progress report on concession sales at the Big Spring Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion at their regular Friday luncheon at the Settles Hotel.

The service organization supplies both the concessions and the personnel to sell them at the local western show.

Elmo Phillips, who takes office as club president July 1, presided at Friday's meeting in the absence of Garner McAdams, who was out of town. Phillips reminded the gathering that the National ABC convention was coming up June 17-20 in Atlanta, Ga. He said he hoped the local organization would have a delegation in attendance.

Members of the club's board of governors, who will formally assume office with other officers on July 1, include McAdams, Bob Rogers, Chester Cathey, Bob Johnson, Marvin Callahan and Gerald Oakes.

Appointments Announced

Garth Jones, left, has been appointed Associated Press correspondent at Austin, succeeding David A. Cheavens, right, who has been named chairman of the department of journalism at Baylor University. Jones has been acting correspondent in Austin since August 1961, when Cheavens, veteran AP political writer, took leave of absence to handle a project for Baylor, the university from which he was graduated in 1933.

Even Chance Rail, Union Chiefs To Agree

CHICAGO (AP) — A key labor leader figured Saturday that there is a 50-50 chance the nation's railroads and union chiefs will reach quick agreement on pay raises for 450,000 nonoperating trainmen.

G. E. Leighty, chairman of the committee that represents the 11 nonoperating unions, made that estimation as negotiators in the widely watched dispute prepared to meet Monday.

"There is about a 50-50 chance of reaching an agreement Monday," he told The Associated Press. "A number of things have to be worked out."

There was no immediate comment from the railroads on Leighty's statement or reports that management and labor are close to a settlement.

A presidential fact-finding board on May 3, recommended a wage increase of 10.2 cents an hour for clerks, telegraphers, shop craftsmen and others in the 11 unions.

Railroads termed the increase too much. The labor organizations termed it too little.

President Kennedy, at a news conference May 9, said it is up to both sides to negotiate a non-inflationary settlement — but he did not say whether a 10.2-cent increase would be noninflationary. Wages for the nonoperating employes currently average $2.42 an hour.

A railroad spokesman reckoned the "suggested raise at slightly more than 4 per cent and contended it would be inflationary not a true productivity increase.

But a union spokesman disagreed, and claimed railroad labor's productivity has risen much faster than the general national average.

The basis for that aspect of the controversy was a yardstick fashioned early in the year by the President's Council of Economic Advisers. They held the rate of increase in pay should equal the trend rates of the increase in overall productivity. Some students of the subject have placed the overall increase at around 3 per cent.

The railroads have estimated that a raise of the size recommended by the fact-finding board would cost them $100 million a year.

President James M. Symes of the Pennsylvania Railroad has commented that the carriers would have to reject the recommended raises or be permitted to raise freight rates.

Under the Railway Labor Act the unions were free Saturday to call a strike, but they stood pat awaiting Monday's bargaining session.

Mishap Is Fatal

DALLAS (AP)—A car slammed into a utility pole in Dallas early today killing one man and injuring a woman critically.

Ray Craft, 32, was killed and Mrs. Helen Powell was taken to a hospital with a possible broken neck.

Political Pull

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Bert T. Combs engaged in some odder nonsense Friday, demonstrating his pull by winning a milking contest against State Sen. Alvin Kidwell of Sparta.

The stunt kicked off Dairy Month in Kentucky.

After three minutes, Combs emerged with a pail of milk weighing 6 pounds, 5 1/4 ounces, compared to a mere one-pound, 10 ounces for Kidwell.

"I just want to give all the credit to this fine cow, Elsie," Combs said. Actually, Elsie was the other cow. Combs had Queenie.

Swimming Season Opens

The city's swimming pools were opened officially Saturday and youngsters could be found at all three pools ready for the local "splash day." At the City Park pool, Neil Robinson took a long leap in his eagerness to get his swim suit wet for the first time. Cool temperatures held the crowds down, but attendants are expecting record attendance as the season grows older.

More Storms But No Great Damage

Stormy weather, including tornadoes, buffeted Texas again Saturday. But no great damage was reported. Two twisters touched down in the Fort Arthur area. One hit the Texas Menhaden Co. fish plant at Sabine, 18 miles south of Fort Arthur. Supt. Phillip Mosely of the plant said he saw the funnel cloud approaching over the company's airplane landing strip. It struck the company dock and smashed a small guard house. The storm also damaged a few roofs and garages. The other early morning twister struck near the Carrell grain elevator at Fort Arthur but did no damage. Torrential rains doused the coastal area during the morning. The Lower Rio Grande Valley also was raked by gusty winds and heavy rains. McAllen gauged 1.50 inches during the morning. The wind blew up to 40 miles an hour. The weather bureau forecast scattered thunderstorms for most areas through Sunday. It issued two severe weather forecasts during the day. Both were in effect from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. One area was bounded by Paris, Greenville, Nacogdoches and Center. The other was for an area 60 miles either side of a line from Tyler to 50 miles northeast of Little Rock, Ark. Both forecasts mentioned the possibility of severe thunderstorms with hail and damaging winds. Saturday was the third straight day thunderstorms have plagued Winds dropped out of rain clouds that brought stormy weather to areas in the Southwest, South and the southern half of the Midwest. Thunderstorms rumbled back to Wichita, Kan., hard on the heels of an overnight flood that swept into parts of the city and its suburbs. Rain fell from Oklahoma into eastern Nebraska and from Florida to South Carolina. Tornadoes came out of closets in many cities in the territory from the Great Lakes region westward to the Pacific Northwest. The mercury skidded to overnight lows of 27 above zero in Drummond, Mont., and 30 in Duluth, Minn., and at the Marquette County Airport in Michigan. Early morning readings in the 40s and 50s were common in the North.

Moon Probe May Result

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Research that may lead to developing an instrument capable of analyzing the elemental composition of the moon's surface is under way at Texas A&M College. Sponsored by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Division of Isotope Development, Atomic Energy Commission, the $200,000 study is being conducted by Dr. Richard W. Ward, director of the Texas A&M activation analysis research laboratory. The first year's activity on this project is aimed at determining feasibility of remote automatic neutron activation analysis techniques for learning the elemental composition of the moon. It will involve use of Texas A&M's nuclear reactor and the data processing center by the activation analysis research laboratory. Approximately 27 research engineers, scientists and graduate students will work on the project being conducted for NASA's office of lunar and planetary research and the AEC's isotope development division.

best we've ever had. In addition, it was by far the longest, stretching over 20 blocks in length.

Although not too many citizens took the trouble to join in, Big Spring—thanks to the Gold Star Mothers and the veterans organizations—did pause to pay its respects to the men and women who "gave their last full measure of devotion" for their country. God grant we may never forget.

Time slips by faster than we realize, and last week it came time for more rotation in the office personnel at Webb. This will send Lt. Col. Jack Holt and Col. Robert Weimer to different posts in Alaska. They had both become almost "home towners" here.

Last week Joe Flock, who had been a trainman and conductor for the Texas & Pacific railroad for over two score years, eased away to eternal rest. Possessed of a magnetic personality and love for children and people, Joe Flock always found time to visit the ill, to say a kind word. We could have no greater ambition than to be loved half as much as was Joe Flock.

Publication by two local banks of the dormant account lists in Tuesday's paper stirred a lot of memories. There were some names long forgotten, not only of individuals but of organizations.

John Clements achieved a notable honor last week. He became the first graduate of the Special School. John has been a faithful student and one full of desire and ability despite a physical disability. That makes us all the prouder of his accomplishment.

Forsan voters gave the green light Saturday to a building program calculated to bring physical facilities up to minimum standards to hold state accreditation. Both the schools at Forsan and Elbow will be improved, including addition of special rooms, classrooms, physical education rooms, a new library and cafeteria.

Ike Fires On Domestic Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) —Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has blazed away at the Kennedy administration's economic program. He said he and other Republican leaders are "deeply concerned about the direction in which our economy seems to be going." Eisenhower opened fire on his successor's domestic policies at a news conference after a political council of war Friday with GOP congressional leaders and eight of his former cabinet members. Too much control is being vested in the federal government, said Eisenhower, and some people seem to be losing faith in the ability of individual Americans to make their own decisions. "No central group can sustain the strength of a free economy and the liberty guaranteed by our founding fathers," he declared. The way to stop the trend, Eisenhower said, is to elect a Republican House this year, "and that is what we expect to do." Repeatedly he struck at what he called administration spending policies and measures such as the farm bill, which he said helped centralize federal control.

Graveside Rites For Youngster

The Rev. Cresencio Rodriguez of Colorado City will officiate. She died in a Big Spring hospital at 1:30 p.m. Saturday following a two-week illness. Survivors include the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Sanchez, Sterling City; a sister, Helen Sanchez, Sterling City; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sanchez, Sterling City; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Augustine Ray Oilton.

Invitation On A Float

It's Vacation Bible School time again, and members of the Trinity Baptist Church are playing up the occasion in a big way. Saturday, these youngsters paraded through downtown Big Spring and the Monticello Addition to advertise its school with a special-made float. The school will begin bright and early Monday morning. About 40 youngsters made the ride, welcoming other youngsters along the route to join them Monday.

turned back the challenge of former state representative Louis Anderson, Midland. Sen. David Ratliff, Stamford, fought off the bid of Rep. Truett Latimer, Abilene. Sen. A. R. Schwartz, Galveston, won over Rep. Maco Stewart, Port Arthur.

Roy Harrington, Port Arthur, a leader of the so-called liberal element in the House, won election to the Senate, defeating conservative Rep. W. T. Oliver, Fort Neches.

Another conservative leader in the House, Rep. Ray Bartram, was defeated by Walter H. Richter, Gonzales.

Among the 39 rough and tumble House races there were numerous defeats of representatives trying for re-election.

WRONG END
In two of three hot House races in Travis County, the incumbents came out on the wrong end of the vote count. Rep. Obie Jones was defeated by attorney Pat Cain. Rep. Charles Sandahl Jr. lost to Don Cavness. Jack Ritter Jr. won over Ed Wendler.

In Amarillo, a 14-year veteran of the House and a leader in the so-called liberal forces, Rep. Ted Springer, went down to defeat at the hands of J. M. Simpson. The almost complete count was 7,824 to 6,404.

In other El Paso races, Rep. Mauro Rosas was defeated by Dudley R. Mann Jr., and Rep. Ned Blaine won over L. R. Downey.

In the Amarillo area, Walter Knapp won over Paul Gaither by a 44-vote margin.

Fritz Thompson of Borger apparently won election to Dist. 86 of the House, defeating Donald Buckner of Foltz.

Bill Clayton of Springlake defeated B. M. Nelson of Dimmitt.

At Tyler, Rep. Ben Jarvis of Tyler won the Democratic nomination for re-election, defeating Herschel Pruitt of Whitehouse.

STEWART DOWNED
In another hotly contested Senate race, Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston, defeated Rep. Maco Stewart, Galveston, by an almost complete total of 21,079 to 16,708.

Two incumbents were defeated in the North Texas area. Rep. Jack Connell, Wichita Falls, lost to former All-America Maurice Duke. Rep. J. C. Wheatley, Haskell, lost to Roy Arledge of Stamford.

At Paris, Rep. George Preston lost to E. M. (Mack) Edwards. On the Plains, R. G. Pendleton of Andrews won the right to represent Dist. 75, defeating Jerry Cain of Taboka.

Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford won the nomination for re-election from Dist. 24, defeating Rep. Truett Latimer of Abilene. The vote from 12 of 13 counties was Ratliff 17,442 to Latimer, 14,518. Raleigh Brown of Abilene defeated Don Norris of Abilene in a House race for Latimer's former post.

CONNALLY WINS

candidates in the May 5 first primary who were eliminated.

But Connally picked up votes Harris County (Houston), which has the heaviest vote in Texas and is a Yarborough stronghold.

IN REVERSE
In a few instances, Yarborough was able to swing former Connally counties to himself.

Among counties where Yarborough obviously obtained many votes from supporters of the four eliminated candidates were: Bexar, where Connally's May 5 lead over Yarborough dropped from roughly 4-1 to 2-1.

Dallas, a shade upturn for Yarborough.

Travis, where Connally led by a 12-9 ratio May 5 and fell to less than 10-9.

Tarrant, Connally's home county, went for the hometown candidate nearly 3-1 on May 5, but the margin appeared less in the runoff.

Connally led in Hidalgo County, one of the top 10 in vote strength, by a 5-4 margin May 5 but Yarborough received a bare edge in the second primary.

In Harris County, Yarborough slipped badly. Where he led Connally by 27,000 a month ago, his margin was running only about 11,000 Saturday.

Yarborough's presence in the runoff was itself an upset. He showed aside a veteran political figure, Gov. Price Daniel, who sought an unprecedented fourth term but ran third and out of the race May 5.

All other statewide candidates were nominated in the May 5 primaries, including Jack Cox as Republican standard bearer for governor.

Also renominated May 5 were all incumbent U. S. representatives, including Bruce Alger of Dallas, only GOP member in the House from Texas. Neither U. S. senator's term expired this year.

The contest for governor was marked by personal attacks with accusations that were difficult to prove. Yarborough also faced the task of picking up 113,000 votes — the margin by which Connally led him in the May 5, six-man first primary.

The line was drawn sharply by Yarborough on the issue of the New Frontier.

NO RESERVATIONS
Yarborough said he backed the New Frontier without reservation.

Woman Injured In Fire, Blast

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. W. F. Joiner, 86, suffered critical injuries Saturday when a thunderous explosion and fire demolished her home in the Caps community southwest of here.

The Rev. Bill Cathey, who lives close by, rescued her from the flaming wreckage. He is pastor of the Caps Baptist Church. Doctors treated Mrs. Joiner for internal injuries and third degree burns on her back. The blast, tentatively attributed to escaping gas, shook other homes in the vicinity and broke a number of windows. It hurled fragments of the Joiner house 150 feet.

New Lows For May Rainfall Expected In State Reports

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — When the weather records for May are released, new lows for rainfall are expected to be set in many areas of Texas.

During the last week of the month beneficial rains fell in Central and in parts of South and North Central Texas but were non-existent or scattered in other areas, director John Hutchison of Texas Agricultural Extension Service reported.

He said reports from district agents emphasized the need for general rains, not only for crops which have been planted, but also for dryland planting, pastures, ranges and stock water. All western, northwestern and southern areas reported a worsening of the situation.

High winds have depleted soil moisture and some ranchmen are moving cattle because of the shortage of grazing and stock water, reported Joe Rothe from Westlaco in South Texas. Dryland grain sorghum yields in the coastal bend counties will be reduced considerably because of the drought, he said. On the other hand, he said irrigated crops, especially cotton, look good.

Joe Glover of Gonzales said rain is needed to prevent drought damage to corn, grain sorghum and broomcorn in South Central Texas counties. Early planted crops in the southwest corner of his district were described as practically a failure.

Farmers in the upper Gulf coastal area welcomed the light rains but more is needed, said Silver Whissett of Richmond. Corn is tasseling but the bottom leaves are firing, he said. Cotton is squaring and some poisoning is being done, he said. Rice planting is near completion. Cattle are in good condition but pastures are browning.

Moisture is short in East Texas and ranges and pastures are below average, R. J. Hodges of Nacogdoches said.

Livestock are in good condition but nine new cases of screw-worms were reported.

Rains were general in Central Texas the past week but were light in some counties, said R. G. Burwell of Stephenville. The moisture will help all crops and pastures but stock tanks are still low and more rain will be needed.

Rain is needed in Central West Texas where row crops are making little growth and stock water is short and pastures and ranges browning. Roy Huckabee of San Angelo reported. Livestock are in fair condition but are losing weight, he said. Sheep shearing is near completion and wheat yields in Nolan and Taylor counties are better than expected.

Only light scattered showers fell in far West Texas and a general rain is urgently needed, said Ray Siegmund of Fort Stockton. Hot winds have damaged growing crops, he added. Livestock conditions were described as fair with feeding on the increase.

Soil moisture is generally short and all crops and pastures need rain in Northeast Texas, reported John Surovik of Mt. Pleasant. Oats are being harvested for hay and the wheat harvest is just around the corner. Insecticides are being applied to early cotton and early corn is getting the lay-by cultivation, he said.

Most North Central counties got some rain but all crops except small grains need more, said Ted Martin of Denton. The small grain harvest was stopped by the rains. He described the condition of pastures as bad. Cotton continues to make fair progress.

All Rolling Plains counties need moisture for cotton, grain sorghums, ranges, and stock water, reported James Simmons of Vernon. Wheat harvest is general and being rushed as farmers try to avoid further storm damage from hail and winds. Several thousand acres have been damaged. Yields vary from 15-20 bushels an acre, Simmons said.

The South Plains are very dry and dryland planting of cotton is waiting on moisture, said W. H. Jones of Lubbock. He said most irrigated cotton was planted but winds were causing some damage in the sandy areas. He estimated that 75 per cent of the irrigated grain sorghum was planted.

Moisture is generally short in the Panhandle and wheat is maturing fast, reported W. W. Grisham Jr. of Amarillo. Some harvesting is expected next week. Cotton replanting was noted in the southwestern counties of the district and most of the grain sorghum will be planted in June, Grisham said. Ranges are dry and need moisture but cattle were described as in fair to good condition.

Castro's Cuba Calamity An Asset To U.S.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Cuba, as represented by Fidel Castro, has become an increasingly valuable asset to the United States in its battle against the Castro-Communist conspiracy in Latin America.

The story of Cuba under Castro and communism is having a telling effect in the hemisphere. Evidences of this have accumulated during a tour this correspondent has made over the last six weeks through the vast area from Chile to Mexico.

There are growing aggravations between the Castroites and the Communist allies. In some areas the impression is growing that the Communists are attempting to disown the Fidelistas. They seem to regard them as nuisances.

MAJOR TROUBLE

One of the major troubles between the Castroites and the Communists is this: Communist activity requires the tightest of discipline, unquestioning obedience to orders from the top, avoidance of risky enterprises which have little chance of success.

But the Castroites are markedly undisciplined and frequently reckless.

In Chile, the Castroites, who align themselves with the extreme left Socialists, are actually embarrassing to the Communists. The Communist party considers them entirely too leftist and too undependable.

In Venezuela, soul searching and self-criticism are going on among the Communists. One reason is a recent leftist debacle, a spectacularly futile uprising of leftist officers against President Romulo Betancourt's pro-United States government.

EXTREMISTS OPOSED

The failure demonstrated that the peasants, who have seen tangible results from the promises of Betancourt, oppose the extremists. They rallied to Betancourt, even were eager to fight for him.

Speeches of Communist leaders in their self-criticism sessions have hinted a deep irritation with adventurers. It was almost as if the Communists were attempting to serve notice that they were disowning such tactics.

In Colombia, the failure of Castro's economy has sunk in among elements where he once had much support—youth and students. Castroism as such may become a major worry again only if there are bad economic setbacks in the country.

Much disenchantment with Castro appears to have set in with Mexicans too, due in large measure to Castro's treatment of the Roman Catholic Church. Another reason is again the unmistakable disaster of the Cuban economy.

CASTRO'S A CLOWN

Many a Mexican man in the street says he now regards Castro as a posturing clown.

With many people in Latin America, nationalism appears to be taking the place of Castroism. Nationalism and communism do not mix well. To the nationalist, communism is another form of imperialism.

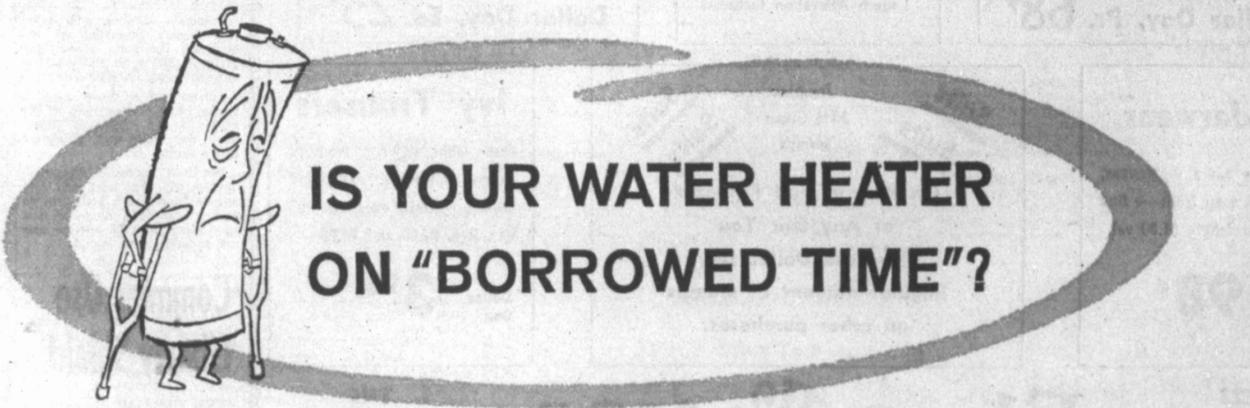

Thus Castro and his government appear to have made the job a little easier for the Alliance for Progress. There seems to be little prospect soon for any noticeable change in Cuban economic fortunes.

The question now may be not so much the Communist-Castroite threat but whether the alliance can save governments from internal collapse. Such a collapse could once again favor the extremists.

William L. Ryan, who speaks both Spanish and Russian, has specialized in a study of Communist affairs for the last 20 years. He was in Havana at the time Fidel Castro took over, and since that time has followed Castro's actions and the reaction to them in Latin America.

Provocative South African Bill Being Pushed Into Law

By RICHARD KASISCHKE JOHANNESBURG (AP) — One of the most controversial pieces

These People Got Well

Headaches

This woman was transferred to us by another Doctor over three years ago suffering from low back trouble with pain into the left thigh, nervousness, headaches at the base of the skull with a slow heart beat and her vital capacity down. Blood pressure was normal at 130 over 84 and hemoglobin of 84%. This grandmother had tried many ways of getting well but, until an analysis had been made of her spine and the offending nerve pressures removed, she had seen no hope. Now, she periodically comes in for a re-check and an adjustment if necessary. The only symptom now bothering her is too much energy which causes her to work too hard and then she naturally tires. No. 306.

Menstrual

This young girl, just entering womanhood, encountered the same difficulty many young girls do in that her cycle caused her trouble. Associated with this was a back ache which was constant in nature in that it persisted all month. There were leg aches and a marked degree of nervousness. She seemed to accept this difficulty as normal until her spine was checked and impinged nerves were located. Originally, she was very much afraid of the spinal adjustment, but when she found out that an adjustment was completely painless, she relaxed and all of her youthful troubles are now gone through having the spine corrected. No. 1542.

of legislation in South Africa's history has provoked street fights and streams of oratorical and editorial debate. It is being pushed toward enactment over the protests of white liberals that it will seriously restrict civil liberties.

Equally controversial is the bill's author and the man who will administer it when it becomes law. He is Minister of Justice Ralhaar Johannes Vorster, 46, a newcomer to the cabinet who is widely tipped as the chosen heir-apparent of his equally tough and controversial boss, Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd. Their joint aim has been announced as the preservation of "white civilization and Christianity on this tip of Africa."

English-language newspapers increasingly refer to the "Vorster bill" but it is officially known as the General Law Amendment Bill. More commonly, it is called the sabotage bill because the government says it is necessary to prevent or quell sabotage and subversion, with penalties including death.

This week the bill passed its second reading in the house assembly at Capetown, 79-50. This means that parliament accepts the principle of it. Passage by the house in the third and final reading and its passage by the senate will take a couple of weeks.

Verwoerd's disciplined National party wields an unbeatable majority. All the opposition can hope for is a last ditch fight for amendments that would, in the words of the United party, "take some sting out of the bill." They would like to confine interpretation of sabotage to actual violence.

People fighting the bill—including leading white bar associations—object most strenuously to its wide interpretation of sabotage, which can include mere trespassing on property.

It provides punishment for such offenses as seeking to further or encourage any political aim the government finds objectionable, or bringing about social or economic change.

People can be jailed or silenced or have their movements restricted for staging political demonstrations—if the government considers this necessary to suppress alleged communistic or other subversive actions.

The government already has the "Suppression of Communism Act" under which Vorster has banned more people in one year than his predecessor did in several.

Vorster says it is essential for the government to have added powers because of "Communist plans to disrupt the peace." He accused opponents of letting themselves be made the tools of Communists. His office banned numerous protest demonstrations against the bill.

Frazier Plans Another Trip Across Mexico

Bruce Frazier is back from one trip and planning on another of his excursions to the Gulf of California on the newly completed transcontinental Mexican railroad. The new rails stretch almost 1,000 miles from Ojinaga, across the river from Presidio, to Topolobamba, on the western coastline.

Frazier escorted a local group on the tour last week, leaving Tuesday and returning Friday. It included six Japanese engineers who are in the city as guests of Cosden Petroleum Corp. They are Chuji Shioe, Masaru Takemura, Kinichi Sakajami, Yoshio Seki, Shunsuke Ishikawa, Tetsuya Maeda, Mitsuo Izumi. The Japanese are associated with the Tokyo Polystyrene Co. and Nippon Chisso. In addition were Marshall Brown and Carl Ribard, both of Cosden, and Maj. Robert J. Schaffer, Webb AFB.

Jimmy Kondo, a student at Howard County Junior College, went along to act as an interpreter. He is in this country as a guest of Frazier.

Francisco Alatorre, who manages foreign properties of the Mexican Railroad, joined the group at Marfa, as well as Ronnie and Roger Hubbard.

Frazier said the group visited a dredge which is channeling out the harbor and a "fiesta of fishermen" was under way, giving the trip a festive air.

The HCJC instructor is planning another trip next week and said anyone interested is invited to go along. Some 14-17 make the best sized group, he said, and the tour will probably leave June 8.

Explosive Barrel Found At Kennedy Beach Home

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A mysterious barrel lying on the beach 15 yards from the mansion of President Kennedy's father was found to contain enough explosives to flatten everything within 50 yards.

Navy demolition experts said the object was a 55-gallon drum of metallic sodium which, if rain water had beaten into its open top, would have exploded. A brisk shower fell 1½ hours after the Navy men had arrived.

The Naval Ordnance Facility team replaced the lid, took the drum out to sea and exploded it with a time device. As the sodium and the sea mixed together, a continuous, rumbling explosion ensued for about three minutes.

Investigators said the drum was a commercial container that might have fallen off a ship and drifted ashore. A similar drumful of sodium was found Tuesday at Key Largo, south of Miami, and was exploded safely.

The Kennedy estate currently is occupied by only a caretaker. The President, his wife and children, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, have spent many vacations at the mansion.

When Willie McCovey made a catch in right field that Mays might have taken, although it obviously was McCovey's ball, the fans booed. They wanted to see a patent basket catch by Willie.

That was the way it was the night Willie the Kid came home.

In their only start this year, the Tigers dropped a 7-1 decision to the Midland Colts.

Post's Homer In 9th Gives Reds 3-2 Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Pinchhitter Wally Post's two-run homer with two out in the ninth gave the Cincinnati Reds a 3-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs Saturday.

The Reds, held runless on five hits during the first eight innings, launched the winning rally on Marty Keough's third hit, a one-out single after Frank Robinson was retired for the second out. Jerry Lynch doubled Keough across with Cincinnati's first run.

The Cubs pulled starter Glen Hobbie in favor of southpaw Dick Ellsworth, and Post pounded his homer into the left field seats on a 1-1 pitch to give Cincinnati its fifth straight victory over Chicago.

The second game across on Ernie Banks' sacrifice fly.

Clanton Blast Boosts Vets

Lonnie Clanton hit a grand slam home run in the fifth inning to pull VFW from behind and give them a 7-6 triumph over the Cardinals Friday night in the National Little League.

Talons BombarDED By Sabres, 23-9

Gary Irwin struck out 14 and logged a fifth-inning home run Friday night to lead the International Little League's Sabres to a 24-3 slaughter of the Talons.

Others blasting round-trippers for the Sabres were Clayton McKinnon and Bill Borgner, each with a man on base. Gary Bayless jolted a fourth-inning triple for the losers.

Both squads now hold 5-3 records in league play.

By ROBERT MOORE Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Owner Harry Wismer of the New York Titans said Saturday the American Football League will mushroom from its present eight teams to 12 by 1963 and that the expansion will include Washington, D.C., home of the rival National Football League Washington Redskins.

Brady, Jones Lead Yankee Contingent At Chantilly

CHANTILLY, France (AP) — Pat Foy Brady of Reidsville, N. C., and Fletcher Jones of North Hollywood, Calif., led a strong 11-man American contingent into the second round of the French Amateur Golf Championship Saturday.

Roger On Rampage As Hester's Wins

Jimmy Roger drove in ten runs, probably a record for the City Park diamond, as Hester's smashed Reeder Insurance, 18-11, in Slow-Pitch Softball league competition here Friday night.

Roger drove out three home runs while G. Stanfield had two for and Eddie McClain one for the losers.

The game went only four innings. Hester's managed to score at least three runs in every round.

Reeder's started off with a nine-run first inning but could do little thereafter.

D. A. Miller was the winning pitcher. McClain was saddled with defeat. Walter Speker also saw mound action for the losers.

In other games, Montgomery Ward bowled over The Herald, 12-3, while the pace-setting J&L Supply contingent outlasted Coca-Cola, 8-7.

Ward's was kept away from the plate in the first inning but counted in every round thereafter.

Harold Little was the winning pitcher, P. Sanderson the loser.

Winnie Cunningham got the mound win in J&L's game with Coca-Cola after Wayne Henry had started on the hill for the pace-setters.

J&L rallied for two runs in the final inning to pull the game out of the fire. Theibert Camp was charged with the defeat.

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — The Texas A&M golf team, champion of the Southwest Conference, will go to Durham, N. C., June 18-23 to compete for the NCAA championship. John Lively Jr., the conference singles champion; Jim Fetter, the runner-up; Eugene Byrd, Siroman will represent A&M at the NCAA.

Wismer hinted the rival NFL shouldn't bat an eyelash "now when we move into Washington. It isn't against the law."

The ruling by U. S. Dist. Judge Roszel C. Thomsen came after the AFL sought $10,000,000 in damages for the NFL's expansion into Dallas and Minneapolis-St. Paul. Judge Thomsen ruled the NFL did not have a monopoly power to restrict competition and thus owed the AFL nothing.

The judge also held the AFL was not entitled to relief on the question of whether the NFL had conspired against the junior professional major league by granting franchises in Dallas and Minneapolis-St. Paul to increase from 12 to 14 members.

Colts Slaughter Lions, 33 To 0

The Colts extended their undefeated American Little League string of victories to eight Friday night when they slammed the Lions, 33-0.

Winning pitcher Jimmy Wilson allowed only two hits, while leading his team at the plate with three hits in four trips. He belted a three-run homer in the fourth, while teammates R. J. Engler and Bill Burchett chipped in with a triple and double, respectively.

New African Rhythm Lauds Glenn's Flight

ACCRA, Ghana (AP)—A new African rhythm bounced through Accra's shanty night clubs this week as Ghanaian singers swung into "Go, go, go—John Glenn, he said it so."

Everything is going in Ghana's newest high-life number, a particular welcome to the American space capsule Friendship 7 on the first African stop in its world exhibition tour.

Glenn's spacecraft is headlining an all-out campaign to win friends for America in this neutral nation, where a strong party press sings the praises of socialism, Leninism and — most of all — Kwame Nkrumah.

Thousands streamed through an exhibition hall of the Kwame Nkrumah Institute of Pioneering Youth to see the capsule which carried America's first astronaut around the globe.

Tawia Adamafo, who as minister of information and broadcasting is one of President Nkrumah's top lieutenants, opened the exhibition with words of praise for the United States and President Kennedy.

"We in Ghana keenly followed your failures and your achievements," he said. "Now we admire and congratulate you."

Those Ghanaians who couldn't get in to see the Friendship 7 could scarcely miss its presence, with posters plastered around the town and the high-life dance number on the radio and in the night clubs.

The catchy song is in fact a joint Ghanaian-American effort. Bill Davis, a genial Negro officer of the U.S. Information Service, joined one of Ghana's most popular entertainers, Cab Kaye, to dream up the number.

Recordings by Ghana's Broadway high life band were flown to the White House, the Voice of America, and Glenn himself.

The United States and the Communist world are meeting in a propaganda war in this capital, and to all appearances America is gaining ground.

Ever since the Kennedy administration agreed to support Nkrumah's pet project for a Volta River dam, attacks on the United States have been toned down in the party — and thus government — press.

Girl Kidnaped, Another Shot By Red Police

BERLIN (AP)—The wounding of a teen-age West Berlin girl and the seizure of her companion by border guards in Communist East Germany brought angry reaction from Western officials Saturday.

A U.S. spokesman called the shooting incident Friday night, the third in 10 days, callous and wanton. A spokesman for Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin said the seizure of the second girl was just plain kidnaping.

Western commandants and West Berlin officials were reported considering giving West Berlin police tougher shooting orders to protect refugees.

Informed sources said, however, it was unlikely that new orders would go out to the West Berlin police. By order of the Western Allies, the West police must wait until shots reach the West and then shoot a warning before they fire back.

The Western commandants were described as reluctant to give the Soviets any excuse to claim that West Berlin police have permission to fire into East Berlin.

Just what happened was far from clear. The only witness so far was the victim—identified by the police just as 16-year-old Ursula S. She was under sedative in a West Berlin hospital, with a painful but not serious wound in her left hip.

She and her friend—Karin G., 17—fled from the suburban village of Seehof last March. Seehof lies just outside West Berlin, on the city's southwestern border. The girls have been living in the borough of Schoenberg, near the center of West Berlin.

Friday night, just after 9 p.m., they were walking in a field just on the border of their home village.

There were several versions of what happened next. The official police spokesman's account did not give details. There were no West police officers at the scene at the time.

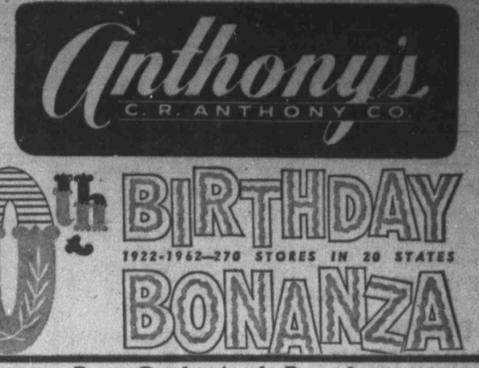

One West police officer said Ursula told them the East German police called over: "Come up to the wire, your girl friend is waiting for you."

According to this story, they came up to the fence, which is built a short way behind the actual border line, inside East Germany. Then, it was said, the East police grabbed Karin but Ursula got away. Two shots were fired, and one hit her.

GI Wounded In Fight With Commie Agents

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—The U.S. Army said Saturday an American soldier guarding the Korean truce line was shot and wounded in a gun battle between troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division and three Communist North Korean spies. One Communist agent was killed.

The wounded American was hit twice in the arms and once in the head but was in good condition, an Army spokesman said.

The soldier's name was withheld.

The spokesman said the action had occurred late Friday about three miles south of the demilitarized zone.

A group of American soldiers preparing to return to their compound stumbled across the three Koreans hiding in holes near the 1st Cavalry Division area, the spokesman said. One of the Reds pulled out a pistol, yelled, and fired three or four times, hitting one American.

The other Americans rallied and began closing in on the Communists. Two of the agents fled after dropping their knapsacks. The third was found dead, apparently killed by his companions.

A large amount of U.S. and South Korean currency was found on the dead Korean.

Attorney General Is Asked To Rule On Appellate Bonds

Was Wayne Burns, county attorney, right in his contention in Howard County court a few weeks ago that bonds filed in corporation court appeal cases were invalid?

A legal debate has been going on steadily among local lawyers since Judge Ed Carpenter, presiding at the appeals hearings, sustained the position of the county attorney and held the bonds were not valid.

Burns cited two or three cases which indicated a bond in a corporation court appeal had to be signed individually by both sureties; that an attorney in fact could not legally sign the name of a second surety even though the signer had a written permit from the other man to do so.

Judge Carpenter threw out 99 of 100 appeal cases before him on the grounds that the court had no jurisdiction to hear them since they were accompanied by bonds which were faulty.

Now the final answer on the isssue is to be forthcoming.

District attorney, Gil Jones, who has made a study of the problem has questioned the ruling that the bonds were invalid. He briefed the question and queried Will Wilson, attorney general, on the matter. His inquiry was dispatched last week. It is likely that the attorney general will hand down a ruling sometime this week.

Meantime, it is agreed by most attorneys that the question is more or less academic. It has since been demonstrated that a majority of all of the several hundred cases appealed from the corporation court have been accompanied by police complaints which everyone (including the city legal force) agrees are not valid.

Police are now using a revised complaint form which does comply with the law as to working and design. The police are also now insisting that any appeal bonds posted comply with the law cited by Burns—that all sureties in the cases sign the bonds in person and not as attorney in fact.

Sgt. York Wants To Return Home

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—World War I hero Alvin C. York wants to go home.

The sharp-shooting Tennessee sergeant was brought to a Nashville hospital Tuesday for tests to determine the cause of internal bleeding which has stopped. X-rays showed no signs of cancer or ulcers.

York, 74, Medal of Honor winner, was reported sitting up and apparently enjoying himself Friday. He said he wanted to return to his home at Pall Mall, Tenn., in two or three days.

'Sleeping Beauties' Mother Ordered To Workhouse

CLEVELAND (AP)—Lillian Fratantonio must serve at least 30 days in the workhouse for secretly feeding her two "sleeping beauty" daughters barbiturates which sent them into near-death coma two years ago.

The punishment for mistreating her daughters, Venita, now 7, and Bernadette, now 5, was handed out Friday against the mother, 30, by Juvenile Court Judge Albert A. Woldman.

The 30 days will be served on Saturdays and Sundays, starting a week from today, the judge said. He withheld a decision on whether she will be required to serve the rest of her one-year sentence. The sentence was imposed more than 16 months ago, and all appeals have been exhausted.

Near tears as a result of the decision, Mrs. Fratantonio, accompanied by her husband, Vincent, and her brother, Richard La Riche, attempted to elude photographers by running out a rear door.

Julian C. Wilson, an Associated Press photographer, was knocked down by La Riche. Wilson was treated at St. Vincent Charity Hospital for a cut on his left knee. Fratantonio grabbed the movie camera of George Hixon of WJW-TV and threw it 15 feet away.

Auditor Says Estes Gave Him Snow Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Texas accountant has testified that Billie Sol Estes paid him a year's retainer—$6,000—to copy over a two-page balance sheet provided by Estes showing him to be worth $13.7 million.

Actually, said Winn P. Jackson of Lubbock, Tex., "as an accountant I would file it in the wastebasket as far as depending on it for anything."

Jackson conceded he did just that—after Estes was arrested on March 29, 1962. He tore up the balance sheets provided by Estes and threw them in a wastebasket, fearing he would become involved in bad publicity.

Jackson's testimony was heard by a House Intergovernmental Relations subcommittee last Monday evening in executive session. The transcript was released Saturday night.

USED IN BOND CASE
Estes used the phony balance sheet, copied over on Jackson's company stationery, to convince the Agriculture Department he was worth so much money that a bond required for his surplus grain storage operations should not be raised from $700,000 to $1 million. Estes now is bankrupt and charged with fraud.

Jackson said he met Estes twice in 1960 and at his second meeting with Estes "he was telling me about all the businesses that he had, how well he was doing, and how much money he was making; and that he was doing this church work also, and he gave a good bit away to charity."

"Gave you a real snow job, didn't he?" commented Rep. Ross Bass, D-Tenn.

"Well, I believe you refer to it as that," Jackson said.

When Estes later telephoned him in January 1961 and asked him if he would put a financial statement on his own stationery for a $500-a-month retainer fee, Jackson said "I managed to squeak out a 'yes' because 'I felt my ship had really come in.'"

REAL "CHRISTIAN"
Jackson said Estes mailed him the balance sheets and he told Estes he would have to check it out.

"He said, 'Well, why?' He said, 'It is all right, there is nothing wrong with it.' He said, 'You know, it's right to the penny.' Everybody thought that he was such a Christian gentleman and, with his wide reputation, I made the mistake of believing him," Jackson testified.

Jackson denied he had done anything misleading because he accompanied the copied balance sheet with a statement that "By reason of the limitation of the scope of our examination as to inventories, no opinion may be expressed as to the fairness of the presentation in the accompanying balance sheet."

He said this disclaimer applied to the entire balance sheet, and denied subcommittee contentions that anyone would take it to mean that only the inventories of Estes' business had not been checked in an audit. The inventories item amounted to less than $1 million on the balance sheet.

ETHICS PROBE
An Agriculture Department official, S. R. Smith, aired this matter at a public subcommittee hearing last Tuesday. Smith said secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman had asked the Texas Association of Certified Public Accountants to examine the ethics of Jackson's action.

And Carl J. Miller, the agriculture official who agreed to let Estes' bond remain at $700,000, said he had relied on the Jackson statement as an accurate audit except for the inventories item, which he said he considered minor. The audit was dated Feb. 14, 1961.

Asked if he felt that an audit couldn't be accepted if it were incomplete, Miller replied: "If you can't, then a lot of people who have invested billions in all kind of companies are going to have to take another look at their annual statements."

Jackson admitted that Estes had told him "The only place it (the balance sheet) is going is somewhere up in the Agriculture Department."

Chairman L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., asked "Did you make any examination of books or records of any kind or nature or description before preparing that statement?"

"No sir, I did not," Jackson replied.

NO DOUBTS
Fountain: "You simply submitted the statement which he had prepared in the form in which he had prepared it and mailed it to him?"

Jackson: "Right. At the time I certainly didn't have any reason to doubt his net worth."

Jackson's accompanying statement said an examination was made in accordance with generally accepted standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in these circumstances, and then added the disclaimer about inventories.

A couple of weeks after mailing Estes the statement, Jackson said he got a check for $6,000—a year's retainer fee—and expected to do other work for him but never did. Fountain commented, "So apparently he was satisfied with his statement."

NO, THANKS

Asked if he had talked with Estes since his arrest, Jackson exclaimed "No sir! Good heavens no! Whew."

When Estes did not ask him to do any more work for him,

Jackson said, "Then was when I began to wonder about what was going on, after a fashion."

The transcript included memorandums of two Agriculture Department investigators who interviewed Jackson about the audit on April 30 and May 1, 1962.

The memos related how Jackson had torn up the "working papers" provided by Estes after his arrest and conceded he did this after someone in the Estes organization called him and convinced him this would be "to our mutual advantage."

He refused to name the Estes employee who called him.

The memos said Jackson told the investigators "he had a feeling that information was being withheld from him" (by Estes). He stated that he started to withdraw from the engagement at one time because his "auditor's sixth sense" told him that something was wrong.

In spite of his feeling that Estes was withholding financial information, Jackson told the investigators he thought "the balance sheet submitted by Estes was 'a true and complete picture of Estes' financial situation at that time."

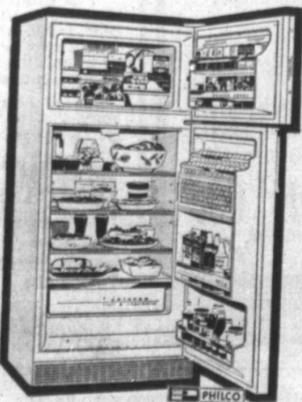

Death Sentence

HOUSTON (AP)—Bobby Louis Stein, 27, of Houston was sentenced Friday to die in the electric chair Aug. 4 for the Dec. 21, 1960 murder of Herman Freilich, 65. A jury found Stein guilty of shooting Freilich to death in his liquor store May 3, 1961.

'ROUND TOWN With LUCILLE PICKLE

Everything is A-OK with LT. and MRS. MARSHALL (SONNY) CHOATE and their three children, Lonnie, Mark and Linda, now that they are safely settled in Casa Blanca where they will make their home for the next few years.

The Choates (his parents are MR. and MRS. MELVIN CHOATE) left New Orleans by plane for New York and on May 9 boarded the SS Atlantic for the seven day trip to their new location. They had expected to disembark at Casa Blanca but were surprised to dock at Tangiers. On the trip over Choate was pleasantly surprised to meet an ex-Aggie with whom he had been in Texas A&M.

According to Mrs. Choate, the former EUNICE FREEMAN, who is also a local girl, they had a funny feeling in tummies, not from the ship's motion, when they passed the Statue of Liberty on the way out of the harbor leaving America for the first time. But the feeling passed as they were in the company of so many other American service families.

They only saw land once and that was the fourth day out when they sighted the Azore Islands. They really looked good to the Choates and everyone else according to Mrs. Choate who, as usual, is the letter writer for the family.

There was much entertainment aboard ship for the children as well as the adults. On the evening of the captain's dinner the "Passenger's Variety Show" was the special attraction. Eunice sang three songs with the ship's orchestra and, according to the purser, she was the star of the show.

When the boat docked at Tangiers they were met by government men and put on a special train made of wood. There were five cars filled which were filled by the new arrivals. In describing the interior Mrs. Choate says it seemed to be something from the late 1900's. The seats were red leather and the curtains looked like velvet but weren't. Each family had a separate compartment. One coach served as a diner and bar. The train stopped parents, MR. and MRS. PERRY JOHNSON and MR. and MRS. R. J. SHIELDS.

MRS. FRED CROSLAND and daughter, MARY LOCKE, left Thursday for Boulder, Colo., where Mary Locke will attend summer school at the University of Colorado.

PAT FISHER who has been stationed in El Paso instructing at Fort Bliss, left this morning after visiting friends here. He will return to California soon for re-assignment.

Word comes from BILL SEALS in Cleveland, Ohio, that he has successfully undergone the Beck operation on his heart and his condition is good.

MR. and MRS. JONES LAMAR have returned from Galveston where he had surgery and other treatment. According to the family he is doing well after many months of illness.

Aberegg-Nichols Vows Pledged On Saturday

Miss Sandra Nichols and Royce D. Aberegg were united in marriage in a Saturday evening ceremony in the Sand Springs Church of Christ. The single-ring service was read by Eddie Swinney, Pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Nichols, Big Spring, are the parents of the bride. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Aberegg, Coahoma.

Vows were repeated before an improvised altar featuring sunburst arrangements of gladioli. White wrought-iron standards marked the aisle and the pews were marked with white satin.

Mrs. Truman Pherigo sang nuptial selections, "Because" and "Whither Thou Goest."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white street-length sheath of embroidered organza. The square neckline was enhanced with tiny scallops. A white satin belt tied at the waist. Her shoulderlength veil of silk illusion was secured by a crown of pearls and sequins. She carried a white Bible topped with an orchid.

Traditional items chosen by the bride were something old, her Bible; something new, her bridal dress; something borrowed, her veil; something blue, a garter. She wore birthdate pennies in her shoes.

Maid of honor was Miss Jon Ellen Ford, Sand Springs. Bridesmaid was Miss Margie Appleton, Vincent. They were dressed identically in yellow dotted swiss dresses trimmed at the waist with white and yellow cummerbunds. They carried single chrysanthemums tied with white ribbons. Jimmy Mays, Coahoma, was

Chapel Wedding Unites Miss Beard, J. G. Cobb

Miss Sue Alice Beard's marriage to Jimmy Gene Cobb of Corpus Christi, was performed Saturday at 8 p.m. in the chapel of the First Baptist Church, Corpus Christi. The double ring service was read by Dr. John W. Cobb, the bridegroom's father.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Beard of Coahoma. His parents are Dr. and Mrs. Cobb, Corpus Christi.

The altar was banked with coral colored gladioli and alabaster chrysanthemums flanked by white tapers in arched candelabra.

Mrs. Frank Ing, organist, included in her program of music "In Dulce Jubilo" by Dupres and the liturgical prelude, "Come Thou Joyful Day of Days" by Bach. She also accompanied her husband, the vocalist, who sang "The Lord Is My Shepherd" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of silk organza over taffeta trimmed with Alencon lace scallops. The fitted bodice featured a square neckline and cap sleeves. The princess skirt was designed with hipline accents and cascades of Alencon lace which extended into a full, sweeping train. Her silk illusion veil was worn with a queen's crown of pearls and the bridal bouquet was a crescent of coral fashionette roses with white stephanotis.

Miss Mary Ruth Bruton of Sherman was maid of honor. Bridesmaids, cousins of the bride, were Miss Jamie Kate Byrne and Miss Letitia Beard, both of Victoria.

The three attendants wore identical dresses of coral silk organza designed with scooped necklines and short sleeves. Their draped bell skirts were styled with self-fabric bows at the hipline. All wore matching accessories and carried bouquets of coral tinted glamelias.

John W. Cobb Jr. of Lubbock, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsmen were Joe Cobb, Dallas, the bridegroom's brother, and Billy Noakes, Callallen. Ushers were Kenneth Moseley, Corpus Christi; Dan Fowler, Burk Burnett; Charles Baldwin, Spring Lake; Don Davidson, Corpus Christi; Ed Creager, Corpus Christi; and McClamroch Battise, Livingston.

The bride's mother was attired in a sheath of embroidered bone cotton, matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses. For her son's wedding, Mrs. Cobb chose a moss green silk sheath, white accessories and white rose corsage.

RECEPTION
The honored couple, their parents and the bride's attendants received guests in the church parlor after the ceremony.

The L-shaped refreshment table was skirted in tulle over taffeta and laid with an embroidered nylon cloth. The center arrangement consisted of coral tinted carnations. A double-ring cake was topped with a cluster of gossamer wedding bells. Mrs. Gene Gent, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Joe Cobb served.

Mrs. Kenneth Moseley presided at the register which was placed on a table covered in similar fashion to the reception table and

MRS. JIMMY GENE COBB

T. Bratton and Mrs. R. H. Wilkins.

WEDDING TRIP

AFFILIATIONS
A graduate of Coahoma High School, the bride attended North Texas State University and is now a senior at the University of Corpus Christi. She is a piano major and a member of Tau Delta Delta, a social club.

Moore's Pleased With New Home, Neighbors

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Moore and their 17-month-old daughter, Donna LaVoy, feel that Big Spring is their first real home since their marriage. Their home at 1704 Laurie is the first place they have ever owned, and they say that the spaciousness and beauty of it is quite a boon to them after living in apartments.

Today's newcomers, natives of Portales, N.M., moved to Big Spring from Amarillo where he attended a Phillips Petroleum Co. training program for the last year. Moore, a sales representative for Phillips, works out of Big Spring; he also services surrounding territories.

Mrs. Moore likes life in her new home except for the fact that her husband is unable to be at home as much as she would prefer. Mrs. Moore says that caring for LaVoy, keeping house, keeping the laundry and ironing done and working in the yard actually keeps her day occupied. She is always glad for neighborhood women to drop in and she finds that they are the most friendly group she has ever met. They are teaching her to play bridge and one of the favorite pastimes in the neighborhood is taking children for strolls, which both she and LaVoy enjoy.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore married in August, 1960, preceding their senior year at New Mexico University. Life was not luxurious during that year before graduation, but they feel that it was worth while to finish school. Mrs. Moore worked in an office during and following graduation while her husband picked up any kind of work available on campus in order to stay in school, although an athletic scholarship paid part of the way.

Moore majored in business administration and marketing. He was a member of the varsity football team and the Alpha Sigma Omega fraternity. A general business education major, Mrs. Moore belonged to the Kappa Delta Alpha sorority, the Student

One Still Moment

Mrs. W. A. Moore, above with her daughter, LaVoy, and two-year-old bulldog, Bobbie, cannot understand what is causing her energetic playful daughter to sit still. The only answer she can derive is her fascination with the photographer's camera. LaVoy and Bobbie are usually chasing one another through the house and around the yard.

Education Association and the Accounting Club.

During leisure hours, Mr. and Mrs. Moore's primary pleasure is playing with LaVoy. They do enjoy waterskiing, boating, playing miniature golf, bowling and visiting with their neighbors. Mrs. Moore, an accomplished seamstress, makes all of her daughter's clothing and part of her own. At present, she is interior decorating her new home and deciding what kind of curtains she wants in which room.

Members of the Church of Christ, the Moores are visiting the different churches of their faith before selecting their church home. Mrs. Moore says that they are accustomed to small churches and hope to find one here. Everywhere they have visited people have been exceptionally friendly.

The gown was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and long tapered sleeves ending in petal points over the hands. The molded bodice came to a point in the front.

Sale Twins Are Brides In A Double Ceremony

STANTON (SC)—Miss Sharon Sale and Miss Sandra Sale, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James Woodford Sale, 1101 N. St. Peter, were married in a double ceremony performed Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the First Baptist Church at Stanton.

Miss Sharon Sale was married to Larry Joe Ward of Fort Polk, La., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Ward, Sulphur Springs. Miss Sandra Sale exchanged vows with Charles David Baucum, Amarillo, son of Mrs. R. G. Baucum and the late Rev. Baucum.

The Rev. W. H. Uiharn read the double ring service for both couples before an arch flanked by spiraled candelabra holding white cathedral tapers and baskets filled with white gladioli, chrysanthemums and pom-poms. White satin covered the prie-dieu centering the altar.

The church foyer was lighted with white hurricane lamps adorned with white satin bows and palm fern. Reserved sections of the church were designated by white satin bows and palm fern.

Tapers were lighted by Patrick Johnson Springer and Michael Jackson Springer of Lenora, twin cousins of the brides.

Mrs. Ernest Hock of Stanton presented a program of organ music which included the processional and recessional marches from Wagner's "Lohengrin" and from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream." She also played "Traumerel" by Schumann; "O Promise Me" by De Koven; "I Love You Truly" by Bond; "Because," D'Hardelot; and "Always" by Berlin. Miss Anna Gayle McNeerlin of Monahans, cousin of the brides was soloist. She sang "Whither Thou Goest," "The Wedding Prayer" and "I Love You."

The brides, given in marriage by their father, were gowned in chapel length dresses fashioned of imported white Alencon lace over silk taffeta. The fitted bodices were styled with scooped, self-scalloped lace necklines and long tapering sleeves which were closed with self-covered buttons and ended in petal points at the wrists. The fitted, tailored sheath skirts had bouffant rindagete overskirts of lace over silk organza, net and silk taffeta. The overskirts, edged in lace scallops, extended into soft folds which formed the chapel length trains.

The brides' headdresses were tiaras, accented with seed pearls and iridescent sequins, which secured their fingertip veils of imported silk illusion.

Both brides carried cascade bouquets of white majestic roses and white sweetheart roses.

ATTENDANTS
The sisters were honor attendants one to the other. Their other attendants were Miss Carolyn Stone, Miss Marilyn Sale, their cousin, Mrs. Royce Boyce of Midland, Mrs. Dwayne Thompson of Ranger, Miss Carol McDaniel of Dallas, and Miss Stephanie Sale, their cousin of Bryan. All wore white eyelet dresses over yellow. The fitted bodices featured scooped necklines and elbow length sleeves; skirts were bell shaped. Completing their ensembles were matching yellow shoes, short white kid gloves and yellow bandeaux crossing at the center back with yellow bows securing illusion veils. Each carried a nosegay of yellow roses and greenery tied with ribbon of variegated green shades.

Ward had as his best man, Charles David Baucum. Roland Griggs of Fort Polk, La. was usher. His other attendants were Timothy Maurice Kelly III of Sulphur Springs, Clarence Harold Richie of Dallas, and Robert Keith Sale, the brides' cousin.

Baucum's best man was Ward, with Clarence Edward Ham of Perrin, the usher. His attendants also included Henry Frank Canady of Dallas, John Morris Caruthers, Sulphur Springs, and Cathy Ronway Ryals of Amarillo.

RECEPTION
A reception was held afterward in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Guests were received by the two couples, their parents and the brides' attendants.

The brides' oval shaped table was covered with floor length white organdy cloth over white satin. The oval shaped cloth was bordered in hand applied lace. Appointments were of crystal and silver and the centerpiece was styled of nosegays which were carried by the brides' attendants.

Guests for the double wedding were registered in two guest books placed on tables spread with Venetian lace cloths over yellow and adorned with vases of yellow rosebuds. Mahon Amendment Would Give Farmers An Option

WASHINGTON — Rep. George Mahon announced Saturday that he is drafting a series of amendments which he proposes to offer to the farm bill which is scheduled for consideration by the House at an early date. The Senate, on May 25th, passed a farm bill which provides for a mandatory control program on feed grains in the event two-thirds of the feed grain producers voting in a referendum favor such mandatory controls. The bill provides for a multiple-price system on wheat and has other provisions, none of which affect cotton. The most significant provisions in both the Senate and House versions of the bill are those affecting feed grains. Mahon's amendments provide that cotton farmers would have the option of planting feed grain on cotton allotment land in the event the cotton is destroyed so late in the season that replanting is impractical. The amount of feed grain planted could not exceed the total of the cotton and feed grain allotments on the farm.

Another proposed amendment provides that the feed grain allotment of cotton farmers, who chose the Choice "B" route during the 1959-1960 crop years, would not be reduced as a result of such action.

Mahon proposes to offer an amendment to raise the percentage of the national feed grain allotment set aside for new growers in order to provide more relief for farmers who have put new land to feed grain since 1960. The House version of the bill proposes to set aside a total of 3 per cent of the national allotment for new growers, hardship cases, and other adjustments.

The House version of the bill provides that if 2-3 of the feed grain growers in a referendum do not vote for mandatory controls there will be no support program on feed grain in 1963 and thereafter. Mahon will propose that if quotas are voted down, a 50 per cent-of-parity support loan shall be provided in order to give the producers a less drastic alternative to mandatory controls in the event farmers vote down the control program.

Under the pending bills feed grain allotments in 1963 would be based on planting during the 1959 and 1960 crop years.

Mahon said that in his opinion West Texas feed grain farmers would prefer to continue in 1963 a feed grain program similar to the 1961 and 1962 programs. He believes the present program would be more acceptable to milk farmers than the proposed new program.

Mahon pointed out however, that there is mounting resentment against the payment of huge sums for the storage of surplus grain and that members of Congress from non-farm areas tend to support the position of Secretary Freeman that if meaningful support loans are to be provided on feed grain crops an effective control program must be adopted.

The proposed legislation would establish for feed grains a control program in some respects similar to the control program which has been in effect for cotton for a number of years. A principal difference would be that for the next three years feed grain producers would be paid for acres diverted from feed grain. The proposed feed grain pro-

Snake Is Sneaky Bedfellow

Della Ruth, 7; Sheila, 3, and Etrich, 4, children of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Williams, 700 Ohio, inspect Snavely the Snake (in the jar). The three youngsters were taking a nap Wednesday when the snake crawled onto the bed and joined them.

Slinky Visitor Interrupts Nap-Time Of 3 Children

By SAM BLACKBURN
Three-year-old Sheila Williams, awakened from an afternoon nap, toddled into the front room and told her father, E. P. Williams, 700 Ohio:

"Daddy, there's something in bed with us kids."

Williams was not impressed. He merely patted Sheila on the head and made some kind of mumbled reply like "That's nice."

A few minutes later, Della Ruth, 7, came into the room and repeated essentially what Sheila had said. Williams decided to investigate.

And there on the bed, where Della Ruth, Sheila and Etrich, 4, had been napping was "something"—a snake, no less, very much alive. The children said they had awakened to find their slinky visitor stretched out alongside young Etrich. The bed was already crowded and the invasion of Snavely the Snake was not exactly welcome.

Williams, who is in the medical detachment at Webb AFB, found a pair of gloves and went into action. The snake crept off the bed and crawled out of sight under it.

Williams, aided by Mrs. Williams (who provided advice from a safe distance) trapped Snavely and plunked him squirming into a half-gallon fruit jar. He is still in the jar.

Herpetologists at the base who saw the reptile reported it is a bull snake. He is about 14 inches long and does not like residing in the jar. If you come too close, he strikes as viciously as though he was a rattler. Mrs. Williams said her husband intends to keep the reptile.

"As far as I am concerned," she said, "I wish he would take him outside and kill him. We got no room for a snake here."

And since there are Mr. and Mrs. Williams, plus their six youngsters, plus a number of neighbor children, in the small cottage it would seem she has a point.

None of the kids who were on the bed was excited over their odd bedmate.

Orientation Monday For VA Volunteers

Work In X-Ray

Sara Beth Homan and Bob Dawes are shown working with the film used by X-ray machines in the Radiology Service at the VA Hospital. After they have learned the work, Junior Volunteers do every phase of the laboratory work.

By JOE BEYER

A full day of activities is slated for prospective Junior Volunteers at the local Veterans Administration Hospital Monday during an orientation program.

Chiefs of various services will explain work in their areas to the Juniors during the morning session. The afternoon will be taken up by a tour of the hospital, refreshments and scheduling for a work area.

Recruitment of Junior Volunteers began in schools before the end of the semester, according to Mrs. Ara Cunningham, director of VA Voluntary Service. Special films on volunteer work were shown and displays told of opportunities in VA Hospitals as well as about voluntary work.

"Many of the Juniors who worked last year are returning again this summer," Mrs. Cunningham said. "Some have even continued working on an occasional basis during the entire year." The work affords an opportunity to work with trained personnel in an important field. By actually doing the work for a summer, the volunteers can find out if they wish to pursue the work later in life.

At the same time, the youthful atmosphere imparted by the high school students gives a lift to patients, Mrs. Cunningham said. "If the volunteer does no more than sit and chat with a patient, the time spent has been worthwhile," she said. This is the third year the hospital has used Juniors extensively, Mrs. Cunningham said. However, beginning in 1958, a few from Midland were allowed to work.

The program has now grown and additional services have been added for Juniors. About 100 volunteers can be used in the service areas, she said. Any person 15 years of age or older may qualify for the work.

The uniforms for volunteers, already familiar to many patients at the hospital, are a white sport shirt and cotton trousers for the boys and a red candy-striped pinafore and white shirtwaist blouse for the girls.

Briefing the volunteers on work in the various sections will be Philip Hanigan, registrar division; John Ritenour, supply; Henry Dirks, laboratory; Roy Reeves, radiology; John Crow, engineering; Mrs. Evelyn Zachariah, dietetics; Rex Bishop, physical medicine and rehabilitation; Tolford Durham, social work; Bessie Love, nursing service; Mrs. Marie Peay, ward nursing service; and Mrs. Ara Cunningham, VA Voluntary Service.

Wends Brought Customs But Soon Gave Them Up

By ED SYERS

Once upon a time, in what is now East Germany between Dresden and Berlin, there was a tiny kingdom known as Lusatia. This little country reached its prime when Slavic tribes drove into the land of the Franks well before the year 1000. Charlemagne drove them out, leaving Lusatia an ethnic island: speaking the Slavic tongue of Wendish—not quite Polish or Bohemian—in a Teutonic sea.

All this is history, as will be the Wends themselves very shortly. As a distinct nationality with a distinct language, they are disappearing by absorption in three areas of the world: Germany, to begin with; southern Australia, and one other land to which they emigrated for freedom of religion in the Lutheran faith.

This other land is Texas. Specifically it is post oak and black-jack-timbered Lee County in Central Texas and its seat of government, Giddings. Near Giddings is almost-deserted Serbin, the first colony and wellspring of Wend culture in the state.

DEEP CUSTOM

Of all the waves of immigrants which flooded Texas for three decades after 1836, none brought deeper custom than the quiet Wends.

You can stop at the Giddings Star, a first-line, friendly paper. Albert Miertschin runs the composing room now, as he did when the Star had a sister paper, Das Volkblatt, which carried in its German pages inserts printed in Wendish. Mr. Miertschin is about the only American who can set his type in Wendish; and the Star, edited by Walter A. Schulz, is America's only paper with the type fonts to do it.

Quiet, studious Mr. Miertschin is not only a linguist (when he speaks Wendish, Giddings' Germans can't understand him, but La Grange's Czechs can), but he is a historian. He traced the pilgrimage of the Wends from their 20 German cities to Galveston, then Houston and finally Rabbs Creek and Serbin, named for the Old Country. As was the case with most Europeans unready for the frontier, their first years were an ordeal of drought, starvation, illness, death and near despair. Their spiritual leader, Johann Kilian, virtually a Wendish Moses, brought 600 of them through to the erection of a parochial school and the Mother Church of all Texas Wends, St. Paul's Lutheran at Serbin. The Wends brought their old-world customs.

TWO HOLY DAYS

The two great holy days, Easter and Christmas, were celebrated for not one fully day but three in succession. More recently this has relaxed to two. No Wend-wedding was a jumped-up affair. First, all friends (which meant the colony and environs) were to be invited orally by bride and groom. The formal church wedding, once adjourned to the bride's home, became a three-day celebration, during which time neither bride nor groom could leave.

"But three days!" I said to Mr. Miertschin. "That's rough on new-ljweds."

"We're lucky if we hold them six hours now." Dress is relaxing with the Wends, also. The old days, women's clothes were severe—black or white. Bonnets were standard. Dress-up bonnets were white muslin for summer, black silk for winter.

Shoes? The tops were leather but the soles were wood. Death in the family was mourned in black for six months at first. Now, the men wear black hatbands, the women, black bonnet ribbons for one month.

I asked Mr. Miertschin about the legend that the loss of one in the family required oral notification of all the family's domestic animals. He wasn't familiar with it. Just with the practice of opening wide all doors and windows. That allowed easy exit for the soul.

The Wends practiced their form of frontier cure-alls, but these were steeped in the dim past of their European heritage. Carrying a black cloth cured cramps. A man bitten by a dog literally took the hair of the dog that bit him. The hair was burned, dissolved in water. Carrying a hazelnut filled with quicksilver prevented disease. So did burning herbs or cedar.

SELDOM MISSED

One that seldom missed was the "Lebenswecker" or "life awakener." It was a device that let fly a spring-driven array of needles to puncture the skin. The skin was then rubbed with oil imported from Germany. This handled anything from mumps and pneumonia to insect bites and rheumatism.

Care of stock? One treatment was to run around the ailing animal five or six times, praying on the dead run; then finishing with a stout jerk of the tail. Or, you could bleed a horse, wind the bloody cloth around a stick and lodge it in a tree. This would heal the horse immediately.

Miertschin admits that the Wends were intrigued and delighted by itinerant medicine peddlers and doesn't doubt for a moment that the pleasure was mutual. All this is gone now, custom and language alike, and Mr. Miertschin supposes, it's the same in Germany and in Australia. Wends speak their adopted language.

Here, where they have spread northwest to Copperas Cove and Vernon, southeast to Houston and Port Arthur, and heavily throughout Central Texas, the young ones all speak "Texas."

A Devotional For Today

As the hart panteth after the water brooks, so panteth my soul after thee, O God. My soul thirsteth for God, for the living God. (Psalms 42:1-2.)

PRAYER: Dear Father, we thank Thee for the living water which we find in Christ. Help us to be good channels of living water to many thirsty souls. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

Keep Going Until The Job Is Done

It's been a frightfully busy week in Big Spring, perhaps too busy for much effectiveness in our cleanup campaign.

What with an election, a rodeo and a Methodist conference, the community's mind may have been on other things. Thus, we would like to suggest that the cleanup effort be extended through this week or better still — until we get the job done.

It's difficult to make the town look neat under the best of circumstances, particularly so during an extremely dry year when so many yards have been allowed to turn brown, and no attempt has been made at flowers.

Yet, there is one advantage — a cleanup now will have a good chance to prolong its results. Apparently, there won't be any weeds to bother us.

So, if you have not given your premises a good tidying, please make this a top item of business this week.

How To Get An Industry

An industry due to employ about 75 people has been announced for Abilene. How did our neighboring city obtain this fine addition to its industrial community?

Simple, some Abilene businessmen bought the assets of an electrical appliance company in Wichita, Kans. and decided to move the plant to Abilene.

This is illustrative of how a lot of industrialization comes about for certain communities. On a national basis, about nine-tenths of industry is home-grown or home-financed. Either the industry is started modestly and grows steadily into something larger, or it issues naturally from an existing complex.

Usually, the start of a new home industry is not so impressive as the Abilene addition, but the fact remains that most starts come about because local investors see some potentials and are willing to invest some of their savings in a business that may not only pay off for them but also for the community.

And this goes for businesses in general as well as for industry. The community which does not produce a progressive, perceptive business leadership willing to invest in the future is a community which is apt to have tough sledding.

We have been fortunate here in the splendid record of Cosden, and in the industries issuing from it or clustering around it. We have some other splendid examples of men who have built up vigorous operations here, but too often we have seen a spirit of wait-and-see. The community or business which waits too long may find the parade has gone off and left it.

The Problems Of More Population

WASHINGTON — As though from a conspiracy of silence the thousands upon thousands of words printed on the explosion of refugees from the Hong Kong border have rarely mentioned Red China's greatest failure — the failure that as much as anything else explains the hunger and the push behind the exodus.

IN 1955, the Chinese Communists launched a large-scale campaign for birth control. This required, as the Population Reference Bureau pointed out at the time, some ideological contortions, since the doctrine of Marx rejects the whole philosophy of the need to restrict the growth of population if famine and war are not to be the inevitable result of natural increase. In the Marxian doctrine birth control is a bourgeois device to cloak the inability of capitalism to produce plenty.

The Chinese effort with the active assistance of Chou En-lai went all out. The best evidence is that it failed to make any appreciable dent on China's teeming fertility. And if only because the ruling clique in Peking could not acknowledge failure, it was called off and even put into reverse after a year or two. At the same time, however, birth-control information is made available and there is an effort to discourage early marriage.

BUT THE staggering fact that outweighs all other considerations is China's continuing overpopulation. It must be a guess but the experts estimate that it is between 12,000,000 and 16,000,000 a year. The very effectiveness of Communist measures to eliminate insect and other pests and to increase cleanliness is believed to have reduced the death rate and thereby has boosted the net growth in recent years.

In past centuries the terrible scourge of famine put a brake on this increase. Today with tight centralized control by totalitarian techniques food is severely rationed throughout the great Chinese land mass. All, or nearly all, are hungry but, if reports out of China have any value, few if any are starving.

THE POPULATION upsurge in Asia, Latin America and Africa is like a spectre present at every conference on foreign aid. It threatens to nullify the billions of dollars that the United States is pouring into the effort to raise the level of development in these areas.

In India the government is making a serious attempt to curb the population increase. But the effort is on too small a scale to be effective. Robert C. Cook, president of the Population Reference Bureau, pointed out at the time of Prime Minister Nehru's visit here last November when aid to India was very much to the fore.

THE WARNING signs are glaringly evident. In 1959 the Indian government released a report on the food crisis and the steps to meet it, sponsored by the Ford Foundation. With another 40,000,000 to 45,000,000 added to the population in five years the yearly increase in the food supply of two per cent was too small. By 1965 there would be a shortage of 28,000,000 tons.

Even if surpluses elsewhere — as in the United States — could be used to make up part of the deficit, the task of transporting grain in this volume would be all but impossible. It would take at least 2,500 freighters of 10,000 tons capacity, and docking facilities in Indian ports are simply not available on that scale.

THE REPORT warned that by 1967 — five years away at the most — "civil disturbance" can be expected to result from the mounting shortages. Civil disturbance is a polite phrase to signify rioting, disorder, pillaging — the kind of mass drama that occurred on the Hong Kong border. When a government is hard pressed by internal discord, and this is above all the lesson of China, the temptation is always strong to seek an escape in a foreign adventure.

Recently the Center for International Economic Growth in Washington published a report on overpopulation and poverty. The conclusion was that mounting population pressures mean that violence and war are in prospect. Japan is almost the only country in the world that has succeeded in reducing growth from a postwar high of two per cent a year, which is roughly the worldwide average, to one per cent.

AMONG SOME who take these warnings to the utmost seriousness, the tendency is to blame the Kennedy Administration for not assuming responsibility to help underdeveloped countries cut down their population increase. They recall that when President Ayub Khan of Pakistan was here a year ago he made a public appeal for that kind of help, pointing out that unless he could check the rate of increase it was useless to try to raise levels of living. The Agency for International Development has issued a directive that no contraceptive material may be supplied to any country.

But President Kennedy is a political realist. While he has taken an active interest in the problem he knows that any direct move would bring down the wrath of powerful religious groups. With the world's population just having reached the three billion mark, by United Nations calculation, time is running out.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

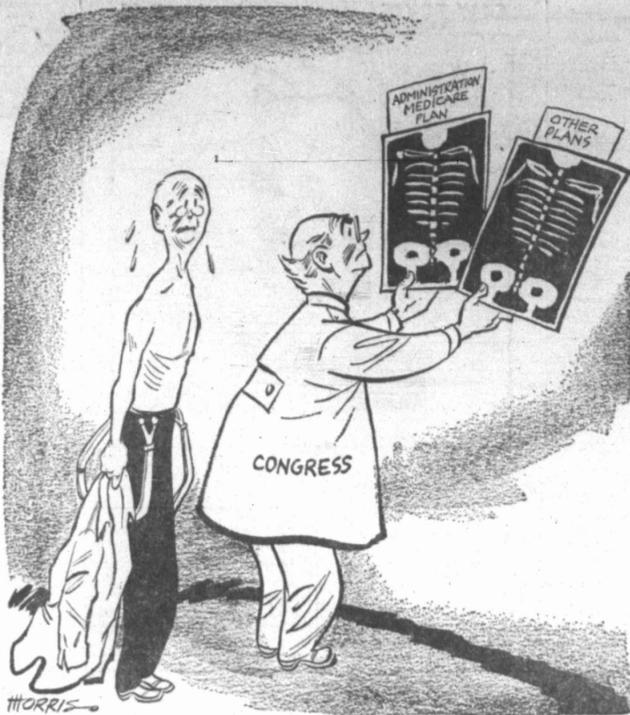

It is becoming more and more difficult for persons who attain the ripe old age of 65 years to realize that they are only fit for the scrap heap, and that their days of usefulness in this space age are no longer needed or desired. In place of some useful occupation, the directors of recreation devote their energies in promoting shuffle board contests, dancing parties, etc. Far too many of our beloved elderly citizens approach the respectable age of 65 with the expectancy of retiring to a life of ease and pleasure. Unfortunately far too many of them failed during the age of production to provide the most important part of retiring in leisure — the solid foundation of an ample nest egg to supplement a pension, Social Security, or a plain and unadorned old age pension. And alas, when illness, the infirmities of age or senility enters their life, there are no supplementary funds to bear the burdens.

In this age of spending every cent in sight there is little to encourage a saving program, that should start with the first dollar earned, and stick with us to the last. The temptation to spend may be hard to resist, especially with credit cards and with the government urging us to spend. Another important factor in life is to own a home and have it paid for before the age of 65 overtakes us. The best assurance lies with our ability to save against the day when retirement is forced upon us.

Texas Employment

Teen-Ager Applicants Hit Labor Market

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas teenagers will flood an already over-crowded labor market in the next few weeks in their annual exodus from schools.

They will seek jobs — fighting against four-to-one odds — at grocery stores and massie plants to cause what the Texas Employment Commission administrator calls "a very real problem."

The problem is one of an over-abundant supply—close to 50,000 June graduates will not enter colleges—for fast-diminishing types of jobs.

The jobs are being cut off by mechanization, the minimum wage requirements and an increase in demand for skilled workers. Many firms channel jobs directly to executives' relatives and acquaintances.

To meet the problem, communities such as Tyler and Marshall are promoting "made-work" projects. The Texas Employment Commission (TEC) is beginning a youth coordination program.

Why are summer jobs hard to get? TEC Administrator R. L. Coffman lists students' drawbacks:

"They are available for only 60 to 90 days, they have no skills to take advantage of the increased technical labor market, they have to be paid the same minimum wage as a permanent employee, and they usually can qualify only for unskilled jobs—which are fast disappearing."

These drawbacks are multiplied by the fact that the age group of summer job hunters—16 to 18—is at a peak from the "war baby" influx.

Sample reports from TEC district officers reflect a gloom forecast for this summer:

Orange—1,800 job seekers in the 16-18 age group, far exceeding the number of jobs open.

El Paso—2,000 graduates, up 200 from last year. Employers are hiring fewer youths.

San Antonio—4,000 will graduate this month.

Fort Worth—The number of 1961 summer job applicants will be exceeded this year.

Coffman said the students' best chances are in the area of services.

"With our high economic return, there is a demand for more services. This area of employment has probably increased more than any other," he said.

This will mean more job openings for students at auto service stations, laundries, theaters, summer camps and root beer stands, Coffield said.

But gone are the opportunities, undesirable as they may be to city youths, of once-popular agricultural jobs such as harvesting.

Traveling Scholar

AUSTIN (AP)—Dr. Ernest Haden, University of Texas linguistics professor, has set aside a part of his paycheck for some new luggage.

And none too soon.

He has been to Columbia, Yugoslavia and Greece during the past year. He spent the 1954-55 academic year in Italy, the summer of 1958 and several months of the 1959-60 school year in Japan. He toured bases in the Air Force Caribbean Command in 1957, starting at Panama, and had a 10-day stint in Mexico in 1956.

Dr. Haden epitomizes the scholar as international traveler and demonstrates the universality of the university.

If you doubt that the world of scholarship recognizes no boundaries, examine a top professor's passport, walk across the campus and count the number of languages you hear, or visit the University Post Office and observe the volume of foreign mail, outgoing and incoming.

When Dr. Haden travels, his stock in trade is the technique of teaching English "as a second language." At home, he trains English-speakers to teach foreign languages such as French, Spanish, German, Russian, Arabic, Thai, Korean and Swahili.

Basic techniques are essentially the same, whatever the language.

The recent demand for Haden's services abroad grows out of the fact that English is an international language and is coming to be the most important one.

Some of Haden's journeys are sponsored by government agencies, others by private foundations. None are made with appropriated funds from the pockets of Texas taxpayers.

Mechanization has wiped out such jobs.

Of the remaining jobs for students, applicants outnumber openings almost four to one.

TEC statistics for last year show that the 45,000 high school graduates served by the commission, 16,000 applied for jobs, and 5,000 were placed. Of those, 1,838 were for summer jobs.

To better deal with the job of students, commission teams go to schools during the spring to organize teenage job hunting. It has also placed "youth coordinators" in Dallas and Houston and hopes to have them in all major offices to work with communities.

The solutions of two small cities, Tyler and Marshall, are based on "made-work" programs. Each city's civic groups join to sponsor city beautification and clean-up programs, for which participating students are paid. Coffield said the cities considered the programs a success last year, and plan to expand them this summer.

A similar program in Dallas was discontinued two years ago when it got too big, Coffield said.

Coffield says the problem is "one of many" the commission faces, but he does not underestimate it.

"We began working on this problem five or six years ago, at the same time the federal government became interested," he said.

"It is a very real problem, especially in small communities, and it becomes more important with the increasing number of students."

Bell's Palsy Is Paralysis Of Facial Nerve

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I have Bell's Palsy. It started with a mild earache and watery right eye, then a sort of numbness across my cheek bone. Why do the tears from my eye burn so much? How long does Bell's Palsy last, and what can I do for it?—M.J.

Your description is quite typical of the way Bell's Palsy sometimes starts. Some cases, however, are much more painful than others, and the numbness is preferable.

The ailment is the result of a disorder of the facial nerve, and it can be caused by infection, injury, from surgery in the mastoid area, a generalized illness such as diabetes, and (some believe) from such things as cold, since many cases seem to follow exposure to a cold draft. I doubt whether cold does it alone, but it may trigger a case that is ready to start anyway.

Bell's Palsy usually comes on suddenly but doesn't always depart the same way. I regret to say, Duration varies: Some cases clear up in a matter of weeks, some take many months or more. Recovery may be hastened by warm applications to the face, Vitamin B, massage, electrical stimulation and other forms of physiotherapy that your doctor may prescribe.

comes on one side of the face usually does not close completely, the eye tends to dry, and the stinging is the result of the body trying to protect it by a flow of tears. It is important to protect the eye, especially at night. Your doctor may suggest moistening the eye with a bland oil, and often a patch is worn to protect the eye from injury.

In particularly painful cases that go on and on, specialists sometimes paralyze the nerve temporarily by injections, which sometimes is referred to as "changing the pain for numbness."

In extreme cases, sometimes the nerve is cut for the same purpose, but this leaves permanent numbness and is a last resort rather than an early one.

Be thankful that your case is not one of the extremely painful ones, and keep after the measures that speed recovery.

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes brown spots on the skin when in the 60's? I also get red spots, as big as pin heads. Please ask me what they are and I can't tell them. Is it lack of vitamins?—MRS. R. J.

Both spots are common enough, and harmless—and if you look carefully, you'll see that others your age have the same things.

Brown spots of pigment accumulate in the skin, especially among people who have been much exposed to sun and wind. Pin-head red spots are accumulations of fine capillaries, or very small blood vessels. They are just skin blemishes that don't really matter. No, they aren't caused by a lack of vitamins.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have one of those wonderful but stubborn husbands who insists on me and the children seeing the doctor at the slightest pain.

For three months he has had a cold that has gotten progressively worse — we go through this every winter. The new problem is that he has been perspiring profusely.

Please tell me what to do. My husband keeps asking me what's wrong with him.—MRS. J. D.

Your husband ought to see his doctor and have X-ray. Tuberculosis, although gradually being suppressed, is not an obsolete disease. A lingering cough from a "winter cold" can be a sign of lung cancer or some lesser disease.

It's ridiculous that a man can be so solicitous about his family and yet refuse to go to the doctor himself. He should, and soon, for his family's sake.

Among some of the lofter literature to come across the desk lately is a "Guide Book and Dixie Dictionary," designed to make rebels out of everybody who breathes.

Among the problems that Southerners have had for a long time is getting damnkees to understand the language. The booklet to which I refer has attempted to help clear up a few major words and phrases, and in behalf of a greater understanding, some of the definitions from this dictionary are herewith reproduced:

AUTO (Should) — "I auto go to work, but Ahm tard."

AX (Question) — "I ax you this."

ASTER (Question) — "I aster last night."

ABODE — A piece of wood, as "han me a bode to hit this rule."

BUD — what wobbles sweet in the springtime.

BARN — (Hatched) "I was barn in South Carolina."

BRAID — (Lot braid) What you eat when you run out of biscuits.

CAD — (Toted) as "I cad ma bride over the threshold."

CAW — What you ride in, like a Fode cav.

CHEER — What you set on. "Pull up a cheer and get down."

DID — (Not alive). "He's did as a doah nail."

FOE — What comes after three.

FUSSED — What comes before second.

FUR — A what comes, as "a fur piece."

FARM — To take off the payroll. "If he don't do his job, farm."

GULL — A young female human.

HEP — Assist, as "Hep stamp out ignorants."

KEY-YARD — A heavy piece of paper, as a "post key-yard."

LOT — Not dark. "Jeannie with the lot braown hair."

MOW — Additional. "Pass me some mow lasses." (Fussed time, say pass the lasses.)

PIN — What you keep haws in.

POKE — A bag. Don't buy a pig in a poke.

ROT — Satisfactory. "It's awl rot with me."

RAT CHEER — An immediate place. "Lay it rat cheer where I can reach it."

STOW — A place that sells merchandise.

SHOW — Emphatic affirmative. "Show ah'll go."

SHORE — In some sections, used same as show.

THUD — What comes after second, as "this is only my thud mint julip."

YAWL — Not me. You.

Oh, well, this may not appear to be enlightening at first blush, but yawl keep readin', and yawl may see that this makes some sense.

The author of this particular listing of words is listed as Col. J. Beuregard Horsepasteur, who either served Conf. Corps, or had a pappy who did. So theah!

Time To Lead From Strength

WASHINGTON — Scott Carpenter's orbital flight was not extraordinarily spectacular or newsworthy as such things go, but it may be a convenient check-point at which we can say that history has now definitely entered a new epoch.

Carpenter proved that the previous flights of Shepard, Grisson and Glenn were not just lucky accidents and that the USA can go on doing these things as long as we like—and do them better than any nation on earth.

THIS LAST WAS something we had reason to doubt back in the days of the first Russian Sputnik and Space penetrations. But now that we have put our minds and money to the work, we have every right to feel that ours is a better country and a better system than Russia and Communism, and that the system which cracks under the stress of competition is far more likely to be theirs than ours.

And Communism is cracking—the signs are everywhere. We know that Khrushchev has all but ruptured the Soviet economy in achieving the first showy scientific victories and maintaining a glutinous military machine. We know that the East German satellite has its hand out to the West for alms and that the whole attempt to make Soviet "colonies" of Eastern European states is a failure.

MORE SENSATIONALLY, Red China is coming apart. Famine has resulted from the grandiose plans of collective agriculture. Industrial production in Continental China is reliably reported to be sinking. The Communist experiment in Cuba shows the same symptoms of failure that are evident in the big Red concentrations of Europe and Asia. These, in correspondingly, these are times when all short, are hard times for the Marxists, and the free, capitalist nations, East and West, are prospering.

BUT IN THE MIDST of life there is death—and these happy circumstances for the West there is danger of swift reversal of fortune. The peril takes two conspicuous forms—first, that the Free World's success gives encouragement to pacifist-coexistence spokesmen; second, that the pitiful plight of starving Communist nations appeals to our sentimentalists. The Fulbright Memorandum of last year remains the chief encouragement of statesmen who feel that, both at home and abroad, we should not be fiercely anti-Communist. This attitude, usually described as "the soft line," is scornful of persons and ideas that are too much for free enterprise and too ardent in patriotism.

THE SENTIMENTALISTS, or the bleeding hearts, are already back in the saddle of Administration policy after taking a hard tumble when the President ignored them and resumed atmospheric nuclear testing. But the admission of "a few thousand" hungry refugees from Red China is a bad sign.

The easiest thing we can do is to offer food and hospitality to Communist victims, but it is not the best thing. We would have done the best thing for Hungary in 1956 if we'd had the nerve to overthrow the Red regime instead of flying a few hundred fugitives to New Jersey. We would have served humanity better if we had supported the counterattack against Castro in 1961 instead of wallowing in "humane" projects like tractors-for-prisoners and more recent forms of ransom.

AT THE MOMENT, the enemy is weak and we are strong. Will we use this opportunity to push strong policies? Or will we use it to mush around with soft ones? (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Time For Free Enterprise

WASHINGTON — What ails America? Why have one hundred billion dollars in values in the stock market been wiped out? What can be done now to produce a truly healthy and prosperous economy?

This isn't a time for wishful optimism or moody pessimism. It is a time to take a realistic look at what's causing the whole economic system to shudder—and to find the remedy.

Basically, the American system—which Nikita Khrushchev is happy today to see in a trouble condition—is either going to be permitted to develop a sense of responsibility on its own, or the people will clamor for a socialistic state to rescue them from economic chaos.

THE PRINCIPAL trouble today with the economic system that has in the past given this country its prosperity and high standard of living is excessive governmental intervention—an interference with natural laws. Some of it is inspired by honest but misguided thinking. Some of it is the simple consequence of inexperience—an unfamiliarity of administration advisers with what makes a system of people's capitalism function.

Today the use of the word "profit" is regarded in the precincts of "liberalism" as sinful. The theorists condemn as selfish and reactionary those persons who actually believe that money borrowed must be paid back and who recognize that funds, to do this must come out of annual profits.

EVEN SO prominent and powerful a person as George Meany, head of the AFL-CIO, challenged last week the management representatives at the White House Conference on National Economic Issues to tell him how profits could create jobs. This is elementary economics, but many people besides Mr. Meany don't know it. Unfortunately, beginning with President Kennedy, the feeling is that to win votes nowadays you have to accuse a group of businessmen of being contemptuous of the public interest when they attempt to set a price in the field of supply and demand.

THE ADMINISTRATION can and should by sound measures stimulate the operations of the profit system. Unhappily, the government, by means of inequitable tax laws, has been frustrating progress in the creation of jobs.

The revision of tax rates is sorely needed. There is no incentive to the enterprising businessman as he realizes that 52 per cent of his company's earnings and up to 80 or 90 per cent of his own income have to be paid out in taxes. The development of an incentive psychology has long been needed. One sure way to create jobs is through increasing the profits—so that old factories can be modernized and industrial plants expanded to take care of an increasing demand for goods.

PROFITS ARE not just a form of selfishness or greed or inhumaneness, as the radicals in our midst would have the voters believe. Profits are a means of paying wages to investors of capital or of repaying borrowed capital.

The stock market decline in due time may, in large part, be offset by a substantial recovery. Considerable recovery already has been made. But the nation has been given a shock by the Kennedy administration, which has fallen victim to the same kind of misinterpretation of the profit-and-loss system that plagued the Roosevelt administration under the "New Deal" in the 1930's. Government control of the economy didn't work then and will not work now.

THE ROAD to socialism is plain to see. The administration, however, can shift its course and start in earnest to travel the road of sound capitalism and free enterprise. It cannot assume the function of an omniscient supervisor with a club in his hand. If must let the laws of supply and demand and of competitive influence operate.

This can't be done by gimmicks or slogans, by "pump priming," or by honeyed words. It can be done only by recognizing fundamental principles and letting the free-enterprise system function. America has not done so badly under that system in the last half-century.

A noisy cooler can get you a fine of $500 or 60 days in jail.

The weather has been kicking up frequently as far as flying is concerned. Monday the dust cut down on visibility, and on other days, including Friday, the air had a lot of bumps in it and the surface winds were rough and changing directions as rapidly as a scared coyote.

In spite of the weather a lot of flying has been done by local pilots. Troy Barnes, Bruce Dunn, Dr. M. W. Talbot, Roger Brown, Bill Eysen, Bert Andreas, Wallace Clark, J. D. Registration for Day Camps sponsored by the YMCA this summer should be made early to insure getting into the camp. Joe Leach, physical director of the Y, urged parents.

There are now seven boys enrolled in the Indian Day Camp which begins June 11. About 25-30 can be accommodated, Leach said.

Stick 'Em Up

German soldiers capture a band of commandoes in this scene from "Guns of Navarone," returning today to the State Theatre. It is the story of a tiny band of men on a suicide mission during World War II and, although based on a wheezy old plot, comes out as one of the best war movies of the year, thanks mostly to the competence of cast and crew.

Magnificent 7

Yul Brynner has the lead role in the Western adventure drama, "Magnificent 7," returning Saturday to the Jet Theatre. The story, an Occidental version of a famous Japanese Samurai incident, tells of a group of American hired guns who defend a helpless Mexican village against marauding bandits.

Persuasion

Dorothy McGuire uses some womanly softness on her headstrong son as father Gary Cooper looks on, in this scene from "Friendly Persuasion," returning today to the Jet Theatre. It is the warmly human story of a family of Quakers caught up in the violence of a Confederate invasion of Union territory, and their struggle to retain their pacifist beliefs in face of the angers and hatreds that tore our nation asunder 100 years ago.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH AP Newswriters

To mark the opening of the 1962 Near East International Fair, Israel has issued a special commemorative stamp, reports the Israel Philatelic Agency in America.

Before World War II, this particular fair traditionally was held in Palestine. Now Israel is the host nation for the countries of Asia, Africa, Europe, North and South America. The fair opens June 5 and will close July 5. The site will be the Exhibition Gardens in Tel Aviv.

The new multi-colored stamp will depict the emblem of the Near East Fair - the same as in the 1930s - the Flying Camel. Also appearing will be an abstract rendering of slender columns. The writing will be in Hebrew and French.

San Marino has issued a new set of 10 stamps honoring the "History of Aviation." Illustrated on the stamps are: the Wright Brothers' first plane (1903), Ernest Archdeacon's plane (1907), Albert and Emile Bonnet-Labranche plane (1908), Glenn Curtiss plane (1908), Farman plane (1909), Louis Bleriot plane (1909), Hubert Latham plane (1909), Alberto Santos Dumont plane (1909), Alliot Verdon Roe plane (1909), Faccioli plane (1910).

Denmark commemorates the 50th anniversary of the "Selandia," the first ocean-going motor vessel, by issuing a new 60 ore blue stamp. Depicted on the adhesive will be a view of the "Selandia." The size of the stamp will be 1 1/2 times larger than that of the ordinary stamps issued by Denmark.

Greece has issued a special set of stamps honoring the NATO Ministerial Conference held in Athens, May 3-5 at the Zappion Exhibition Hall Building. There are four values, each of different design. The 2.50 drachmas shows

Terhune's Classic 'Lad: A Dog' Based On True Feats Of Collie

The real life adventures of one of the world's most famous collies, Lad, as set down in book form by Albert Payson Terhune in "Lad: A Dog" have been brought to the screen in the Technicolor presentation opening Thursday at the Ritz Theatre.

Peter Breck and Peggy McCay are starred in the Vanguard Production of Terhune's classic, which has gone through more than 70 printings since it was first published. The film is a Warner Bros. release.

It was in 1960, 41 years after the book was published, that Terhune's widow was finally persuaded to give Producer Max J. Rosenberg permission to put the story on the screen. For four decades motion picture companies had attempted to obtain the rights to the story of the Terhune collie.

Breck portrays Stephen Tremayne, the owner of Lad and this was a neat piece of type-casting since Breck owns four German shepherds.

Peggy McCay, another newcomer, plays Tremayne's wife, Elizabeth. She, too, coincidentally is a dog lover and dog owner. Although "Lad: A Dog" marks her motion picture debut she has appeared on

PEGGY McCAY & LAD Could be, he likes that racket

TV and the New York stage. Eight-year-old Angela Cartwright, regularly seen on the Danny Thomas TV show, is featured as a young girl whose paralysis is surmounted because of her devotion to Lad.

Months were spent in searching for a collie capable of duplicating the amazing accomplishments of the real Lad of 30 years ago. A beautiful collie, Lord Byron, was found in a private home in the San Fernando Valley. Renamed Lad, the collie was trained for months by Pat LaCoss and learned to perform with the almost human understanding of his namesake.

In addition to Lad and his "screen" wife, Lady, and their pups, "Lad: A Dog" includes dog show scenes that spotlight four champion Samoyeds and a champion Yorkshire terrier.

Kirk Douglas Calls In B'way Star When He Needs A Foe

Walter Matthau, sophisticated Broadway leading man, who portrays the sheriff in his co-starrer with Kirk Douglas, "Lonely Are the Brave," Universal release now at the Ritz Theatre, says: "Kirk always sends for me when he needs a screen enemy."

Douglas took a liking to the Broadway star years ago when the two met in a swanky New York bar. The Hollywood star enjoyed the bite of Matthau's talk, not only what he had to say, but the way he said it. Matthau pulled no punches.

Douglas signed him for "The Indian Fighter" in which Kirk pulled no punches. One of those he didn't pull was on Matthau. It was Walter's first film fight. Douglas knocked him out, not only in the story, but in the flesh.

"He enjoyed it so much he keeps calling me back," says the droll legit star. More recently Matthau was co-starred with Douglas and Kim Novak in "Strangers When We Meet." Douglas did not knock him out in this one. "Lonely Are the Brave," which offers Kirk no chance to plant a fist on Walter, since Matthau chases him through half the movie without ever seeing him, is the New York celebrity's second film for Universal, which releases this Joel Production for Douglas' company.

A ONE-ARMED FIGHT Kirk Douglas has to be fair

Matthau appeared several years ago as the crooked union organizer in U-I's "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue" with Richard Egan.

An actor of top stature and a critics' favorite in Manhattan, Walter, who refuses to take himself seriously in public, is fond of boasting that he made his reputation on flops. In five straight seasons he starred in 15 plays which closed right after they opened. His most recent Broadway appearance, "Once Upon a Russian," which hit the boards a few months ago, suffered the same fate.

"Lonely Are the Brave," with Douglas Matthau and Gena Rowlands in the top starring roles, is based on the novel by Edward Abbey. Directed by David Miller and produced by Edward Lewis, the Joel Production is a Universal-International release.

State Will Try Second ROW Appeal

The state will make another bid Tuesday to persuade a Howard County Court jury the valuation set by a special commission on three tracts of land it took for IS 20 bypass needs was excessive.

Two weeks ago, the state went to bat with a similar case in the county court here and when the jury had reached the verdict, the price on the land had been upped $500 from the value set by a special commission.

This time, the property taken was owned by Charles Creighton, Big Spring rancher. The state condemned one tract of 248 acre in Section 29, Block 33, township 1 north, 508 acre in Sections 29 and 30, Block 33, township 1 north, 96,999 acres in Sections 30, 31 and 27 in Block 33, township 1 north. A special commission was appointed to fix value on the land and assess damages caused to the owner.

On May 10, 1961, E. P. Driver, George O'Brien and Malcom Patterson, the special appraisers, reported to County Judge Ed Carpenter, assessing the state $35,140 for the property taken.

The state immediately gave notice of appeal.

The court has set the hearing to begin Tuesday, June 5. A jury panel of 72 has been notified to report for duty to the court at 10 a.m. on that date.

Two assistant attorney generals are slated to represent the state in the hearings.

At the first appeal hearing, a jury awarded Sherman Smith $22,500 for his property which was an increase of slightly more than $500 over the valuation set by the special commission.

Cattle Diseases

MEXICO CITY (AP)—An outbreak of cattle disease in Central America puts Mexico in a good position to increase its meat sales to the United States.

The newspaper Excelsior said Mexican cattlemen felt that they would considerably increase last year's sales which gave Mexico about 12 per cent of the United States foreign purchases.

DEAR ABBY

This Is Not The Answer

DEAR ABBY: I am heartsick. Our 17-year-old son got a 17-year-old girl in trouble. We know her parents well. This girl has been boy-crazy since she was 14 and has given her parents lots of heartaches. Since this girl claims our son is responsible for her condition, our son proposed marriage, but she turned him down. Then her father called my husband and suggested they get together and talk things over. My husband met with him and agreed there should be a wedding. Our son asked her twice again and was refused. Her father said okay, no wedding, but we must pay the hospital bill, which we agreed to.

In the meantime, the girl said she was marrying an old sweetheart of hers. Well, that marriage never took place and now, all of a sudden, in her eighth month, she is begging our son to marry her to save her from disgrace. He wants to, but his father won't let him. I say let them marry, even if it ends in divorce. Please, Abby, what should be done about this mess.

MOTHER IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR MOTHER: The purpose of a marriage is not to "save people from disgrace." It is a serious lifetime contract. These 17-year-olds appear ill-prepared for such responsibilities. Unless a clergyman can give them a crash course in what is expected of the holy sacrament of marriage, which I doubt, I would not push too hard for a wedding. Furthermore, your boy offered to do "the right thing" when it made sense.

DEAR ABBY: There is a lady who lives in our neighborhood who is a real problem. She doesn't know how to drive and she can't park a car. Either her back end is sticking out in the street or else her front wheels are up on the curb. She has even parked on the sidewalk, and I'm not kidding. I swear I don't know how she got a driver's license. When people see her driving down the street, they pull over and give her the whole road. Shouldn't someone tell her to learn how to drive or to stop driving? I think she is a menace.

CONCERNED
DEAR CONCERNED: I'm surprised the local police haven't offered to give her a few lessons. Tip her off in the name of friendship and public safety.

DEAR ABBY: What on earth is wrong with a person who either has to monopolize the entire conversation or else stays completely out of it? She also breaks into the conversation when others are talking and changes the subject to suit herself.

F. S.
DEAR F. S.: The behavior you describe is typical of a person with defective hearing. Unless she does all the talking, she feels "out of it" because she can't hear what's going on. Encourage your friend to have her hearing tested.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TOO YOUNG TO WED AND IN TROUBLE": Tell your parents the truth IMMEDIATELY. I promise you they will help you.

How's the world treating you? For a personal unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of The Big Spring Herald.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Bar Association Favors New Court

The Howard County Bar Association is wholeheartedly in favor of establishing a county court-at-law in this county.

The attorneys, at a recent meeting of the bar, endorsed the proposal and agreed to lend every assistance to the county commissioners and to the members of the legislature in efforts to bring the court into existence.

Bill Eysen, president of the bar, said that attorneys have been contacting the individual county commissioners this past week on the matter. These conferences, he said, have been to assure the commissioners of the interest and enthusiasm the bar has for the plan.

It is possible, Eysen said, a committee of attorneys will appear before the county commissioners court Monday to discuss the matter further with these officials.

The matter of a county court-at-law for this county grew out of action by the Howard County grand jury last month. The grand jurors, in a lengthy report to the district court, pointed out that there is a heavy congestion of untried cases on the county court criminal docket.

It reported a study had been made of county courts-at-law operated in other counties and that this study had shown that such courts function to keep county criminal dockets current and at the same time are important revenue sources to the county where they exist.

The grand jury suggested that the county bar cooperate in drafting a suitable legislative proposal to establish such a court in this county. The report emphasized that the judge of a court of this nature should be a licensed attorney and that the salary should be set sufficiently high to attract well qualified men for the post.

Eysen said that the majority of the bar members favor the court and believed it would help to speed up litigation in the county.

Several years ago, another attempt was made to create a court-at-law in this county. This effort was spearheaded by the bar association. No actual results developed but the matter was discussed extensively.

Officers To Attend Meeting

Big Spring Police Chief Jay Banks and Capt. Walter Eubanks are planning to attend the 63rd annual convention of the Texas Police Association in Dallas June 10-13. Headquarters will be in the Baker Hotel. Eubanks will be on vacation at the time of the convention.

Speakers during the convention, according to the general chairman Charles Batchelor of Dallas will include Frank Crosby, agent-in-charge, FBI, El Paso; Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director Texas Department of Public Safety; Dr. Fern C. Stukenbroeker, FBI Washington, D.C.; Vincent O'Leary, director of parole supervision, State Board of Pardons and Paroles, Austin; and Dr. Willis M. Tate, president, Southern Methodist University.

Sunday's activities will include registration and the president's reception. Monday will find the delegates busy with law enforcement studies. The final session, June 13, will include committee reports, election of officers, and selection of the convention city for 1964.

Membership in the association includes over 2,700 officers representing various Texas law enforcement agencies.

Cadillac

How to pay for a Cadillac—and not get one!

There are several ways that a man can pay the price of a new Cadillac car—and find himself in possession of an automobile of far less stature.

Because there are many motorists currently considering the purchase of their next car, we would like to enumerate these ways of going astray.

1. Assume that the purchase price of a new Cadillac car is higher than it actually is. (There are eleven models of other makes that this year cost more than the lowest-priced Cadillac model.)

2. Fail to appreciate that the basic price of a new Cadillac includes important things that are extra on many other cars. (Including automatic transmission, power steering and power braking.)

3. Neglect to find out from a Cadillac dealer what your present car is worth in trade. (He is especially anxious this spring to welcome new owners.)

And if you take one of these detours, think of all the unique pleasures you could be missing.

There is Cadillac's styling—so majestic that it attracts attention wherever it goes.

There is Cadillac's comfort—so wonderful that every journey becomes a brief vacation.

And there is Cadillac's performance—so great that it is without rival on the world's highways.

So we suggest that you play it safe—and get all the facts from your dealer soon.

You might be closer to a Cadillac than you think.
