WORST SINGLE-PLANE DISASTER IN AVIATION HISTORY

130 Atlanta, Ga., People Die In Jet Crash In Paris

PARIS (AP)—A chartered Air France liner faltered on its take-off from Orly Field for New York Sunday and skidded into a flaming crash that killed 130 persons. It was the worst single-plane disaster in aviation history. Only two persons, both airline hostesses, survived.

All the 121 passengers were Americans. Most were cultural leaders of Atlanta, members of the Atlanta Art Association heading back to the Georgia capital with happy memories and souvenirs of a three-week tour of European cultural sites and art galleries.

Others who died were eight crewmen and Air France's Atlanta agent. The plane, a four-engine Boeing 707, lifted only a few feet from the runway in a clear, bright weather. Then it pancaked down and, ripping through an airfield fence, thundered ahead for 300 yards toward the hamlet of Villeneuve le Roi.

MISSED HOMES The $6-million airliner, gushing flames, raced across a rolling, wooded slope to a halt at the doorstep of homes in the hamlet. The fuel tanks exploded.

The grieving mayor of Atlanta, Ivan Allen, arrived in Paris today to help identify the bodies of the victims—many of them his personal friends.

The mayor was accompanied by Edwin Stern, assistant city attorney of Atlanta. They were met by officials of Air France, Orly Airport, the Paris city council, the foreign ministry and the ministry of public works.

With tears in his eyes, the mayor told newsmen in an emotion-filled voice that he had come to France under "particularly tragic conditions." He said "the elite of Atlanta" had died in the accident.

of Paris' sunnier days this summer.

The recording of the pilot's last words with the control tower at Orly Field was sequestered by the district magistrate. The magistrate said the pilot's exchange was routine—asking the tower for permission to take off and getting the go ahead.

The inspector general in charge of the investigation said he noted skid marks on the runway which indicated the pilot had his brakes on for about 500 yards. The smoldering wreckage was searched for the automatic recorder which would give a clue to the plane's final fatal seconds.

NO TROUBLE Air France said the American-built Boeing had flown in from New York only a few hours before and had been inspected before the return flight. It showed no trouble on the eastward crossing, officials said.

The death toll of 130 was the worst in a single-plane crash aviation history—exceeding by one the number killed in a 1953 crash of a U.S. Air Force C-124 Globemaster near Tokyo.

In the worst of all air accidents 134 persons were killed when a United Air Lines DC2 jet and a Trans World Airlines Super Constellation collided over New York City.

The U.S. civilian aeronautics board sent a jet expert to Paris to assist French and Air Force officials in the investigation.

It was the fourth crash of a 707 since the big jet went into commercial service in October 1958.

The Boeing airplane Company, builders of the plane, said it has delivered 289 to 26 airlines and they now fly 5.9 million miles a week, carrying 210,000 passengers.

The company said the 707 has "the best safety record of any airplane ever introduced into commercial operation."

MASS PRAYERS The crash cut deep into Atlanta's civic, artistic and cultural life and saddened the southern city as news of the tragedy reached there at church time.

Prayers were said for the victims and thousands swarmed into downtown Atlanta to get details of the disaster.

President Kennedy in a message to the Atlanta Art Association said: "Mrs. Kennedy and I are terribly distressed to learn of the plane crash in France which cost your community and the country so heavily. Please convey our deepest sympathy to the families who experienced this tragedy."

Six members of the family of Mrs. Frederick Bull Sr., elderly portrait painter, perished in the crash.

Among the other victims were Del Paige, president of the Art Association, and his wife; Katherine C. Bleckley, clerk of the Georgia Supreme Court and one of the state's most colorful officials; Robert Pegram Jr., 55, former vice president of the Bank of Georgia, and his wife; Mrs. Davis C. Black Jr., a past president of the Junior League of Atlanta and Margaret Turner, Atlanta Journal club editor.

Connally Margin Is 51.17 Per Cent

Former Secretary of the Navy John Connally, a middle of the road Democrat, demonstrated he could beat a liberal for the Texas governor's nomination. Now he'll battle a Republican conservative for the office.

Almost complete unofficial returns from Saturday's runoff primary gave Connally, 45, his party's nomination by 25,904 votes—or 51.17 per cent of the vote—over Don Yarborough, 37, an ardent backer of the New Frontier.

Final figures from the Texas Election Bureau which compiled the totals showed Connally with 564,731 votes and Yarborough 538,827.

The victory pits Connally, a lawyer-businessman who resigned his Navy post to make the race, against Republican Jack Cox, 40, an oil company executive and ultra conservative, in the Nov. 5 general election.

Connally, although a friend of Kennedy and confidant of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, opposed Kennedy proposals for medical care of the aged and federal aid to schools.

FIRST BID It is the first bid for elective office by Connally, a veteran manager of Johnson's campaigns.

There were mixed views on how the Cox-Connally battle might go in nominally Democratic Texas, where there is a historic rift between Democratic liberal and conservative factions.

Some conservatives campaigned for Yarborough, a Houston lawyer, in the view Cox would stand a better chance against him in the general election.

Another theory—to which Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., subscribes—is that conservative Democrats backed Connally to be sure of beating the liberal Yarborough and now will vote for Cox. Two years ago Cox ran as a Democrat and lost to Gov. Price Daniel in the primary.

Democratic nomination once assured election in Texas, but the state now has two Republicans in Congress—Tower and Rep. Bruce Alger.

"The people of Texas, by their vote, clearly stated their desire for new leadership—leadership of maturity, experience and responsibility," Connally said.

SUCCEED DANIEL The November winner will succeed Daniel, who sought a fourth term and was eliminated in the Democrats' first primary May 5.

Yarborough, refusing to concede defeat, told reporters he would have no formal statement until sometime today.

The Texas Election Bureau, which declared Connally the winner, estimated no more than 1,500 ballots remained to be tabulated.

Conservatives won three other Democratic runoff.

El Paso County Judge Woodrow Bean, 44, who said he has filed no returns for 10 years but paid income taxes through salary deductions, lost in a runoff election to a new congressman-at-large seat to Joe Pool, 50, of Dallas, a former state representative. Pool's GOP rival in the fall will be Desmond Barry, 54, Houston trucking executive.

State Sen. Preston Smith defeated

Early Voter

One of the thousands of early morning voters in Tarrant County was former Navy Secretary John Connally, who won the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in the runoff Texas primary election.

Time Out For Play

Don Yarborough takes time out from a heavy election day schedule to play with his 18-month-old daughter, Inez, in their home at Houston. Yarborough lost the Democratic primary runoff to determine who will be the party's gubernatorial candidate in the November elections.

ed House Speaker James Turman for nomination as lieutenant governor and former House Speaker Waggoner Carr beat Tom Reavley for attorney general.

LATEST RETURNS Other final returns from the election bureau, with less than an estimated 1,000 votes still unreported, and the percentage of the winner were:

Lieutenant governor: Smith 533,344, Turman 502,737, 52.40 per cent.

Attorney General: Carr 610,960, Reavley 445,877, 57.82 per cent.

Congressman-at-large: Bean 448,837, Pool 571,225, 55.9 per cent.

Rail Talks Resume

CHICAGO (AP) — Negotiations resumed today between representatives of the nation's railroads and union chiefs representing 450,000 non-operating workers.

G. E. Leighty, chairman of the committee representing the 11 non-operating unions, said there is a 50-50 chance for quick agreement on pay raises for the workers.

James E. Wolfe, chief spokesman for the railroad negotiating team, declined to comment.

A presidential fact-finding board has recommended a wage increase of 10.2 cents an hour for clerks, telegraphers, shop craftsmen and others in the 11 unions. But management said it was recommending too much and labor termed the increase too small.

Wages for the non-operating employees now average $2.42 an hour. President Kennedy last month said it is up to both sides to negotiate a non-inflationary settlement.

He did not say whether a 10.2 cents raise would be non-inflationary.

The railroads have estimated that a raise of the size recommended by the fact-finding board would cost them $100 million annually.

Under the Railway Labor Act the unions were free Saturday to call a strike but they declined to do so, awaiting today's bargaining session.

Union To Seek Wage Increase

DENVER (AP) — The Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union has decided to seek a 6½ per cent increase in compensation this year for between 90,000 and 100,000 workers in the oil industry. President O. A. Knight announced.

The minimum increase to be sought, he said, will be 17 cents an hour.

The announcement followed a meeting of the union's national bargaining policy committee for oil at its Denver headquarters.

The union is a member of the AFL-CIO.

Knight said the pay boosts will not necessarily take the form of actual wage increases but may include improved fringe benefits.

He estimated that hourly wage rates in the oil industry average about $3.15 an hour and that nearly all employees are in skilled classifications.

The demands, Knight said, cannot be considered inflationary and will not necessitate increased prices for oil products.

Estes Actions Called Invalid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., says he thinks Billie Sol Estes' cotton allotment transactions were "absolutely invalid."

McClellan said Sunday this is one of the most important areas his Senate investigations subcommittee will explore when it looks into the dealings of the Texas operator.

Interviewed by Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., on a television and radio program taped for New York stations, McClellan said he hopes his hearings can open near the end of this month.

Estes is under indictment for fraud. The Agriculture Department has levied a $554,000 penalty against him, charging he violated federal cotton marketing quotas last year with acreage allotments acquired illegally in a series of land deals.

U.S. Dampened

Light rain and showers dampened broad areas of the nation today, duplicating the wet weather pattern of the past several days. Thunderstorms hit some sections during the night.

Nuclear Warhead Falls Into Ocean

Secret Army Truce Holds In Algeria

ALGIERS (AP)—A bid for compromise by Secret Army Organization leaders has been rejected by Moslem nationalists in Algeria, but the city remained quiet as the Europeans held to the truce they invoked four days ago.

Capt. Taleb Boualem turned down the compromise offer in the name of the national liberation army's autonomous Algiers zone command. It could not be determined whether his statement represented the view of the entire National Liberation Front.

The Algiers zone command reportedly has opposed any contacts with the secret army, but other rebel elements were said to favor talks.

Boualem couped his rejection with a warning that the zone command, which controls a half million Algiers Moslems, would call out its commandos again if the secret army resumes its terror rampage.

"There is no question of negotiating with the killers," Boualem told newsmen. "Peace and cooperation have been and will be discussed with France. The killers will be punished."

The Algiers zone command, led by Maj. Si Azzedine, has the best organization in the nationalist setup.

Secret army leaders made their proposal Thursday to halt terror attacks and stop the flight of Europeans who fear for the future when the Moslem majority votes for independence July 1. In return the secret army asked for guarantees the Europeans would be safe under Moslem rule.

The tacit truce appeared to be having its effect throughout Algeria. Authorities reported only two persons killed and three wounded in the entire area as of last midnight. The dead were both Moslems.

High-Altitude Shot's A Dud When Missile Is Exploded

HONOLULU (AP) — A nuclear warhead—intact, or as debris—fell into 720 feet of water off Johnston Island today when a missile carrying it aloft was itself exploded less than two minutes before the bomb was to be detonated.

A Joint Task Force 8 spokesman said he did not know the condition of the warhead, intended as the first high altitude nuclear device to be exploded in the U.S. test series at Johnston Island.

The spokesman had no information on whether the device itself was destroyed when the big Thor intercontinental ballistic missile was deliberately exploded because of a malfunction in the tracking system.

He was unable to tell whether salt water corrosion could set off the warhead if it lies on Pacific Ocean bottom over an extensive period of time. Nor could he say whether the device would give off radioactivity.

"Those are scientific questions," he said. "You'll have to get the answers from Washington."

In Washington there was no immediate comment from the Atomic Energy Commission. But a spokesman indicated there might be information on some such points later in the day.

The Coast Guard said it would not declare the area around the aborted missile dangerous to navigation.

As the Thor neared the firing altitude—believed to be 30 to 40 miles—a safety officer of Joint Task Force 8 ordered the rocket destroyed. The announcement said only that the tracking system malfunctioned.

Radios monitoring the countdown picked up the Thor launch at 4:45 a.m. EST. Then, with one minute and 40 seconds left, a voice was heard shouting "negative, negative, negative." There was no further word.

There had been two hours of delays before launching of the planned sub-megaton blast. A megaton is equal to one million tons of TNT.

The failure followed two 24-hour postponements of the explosion—the first of three or four blasts in the current Pacific series. The postponements were not officially explained but reports in Honolulu blamed cloudy weather and possible technical difficulties.

Joint Task Force 8 had no word on when another shot will be attempted. "They want to analyze this one before they say anything further," a spokesman said.

The United States went ahead with the shot despite a Soviet government charge from Moscow

Sunday that the test would "carry the nuclear arms race into outer space."

The Moscow complaint said the high-altitude blast could disrupt communications, endanger future astronaut flights and "change the weather."

A spokesman for Joint Task Force 8 said, "let them complain. They know more about these tests than we do. That's what we're trying to find out."

Tower Starts Cox's Campaign

DALLAS (AP)—Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., has started the Texas general election campaign between Republican and Democratic nominees for governor falling early.

He asserted Sunday that John Connally, nominated in the Democrats' runoff primary, is a liberal "sent down from Washington to lead Texas into the New Frontier."

"If he is really a conservative," Tower said of Connally, "let him deny his close association with the New Frontier."

The Republican senator predicted Jack Cox, the GOP nominee for governor, will win in the Nov. 6 general election because conservative Democrats will vote for Cox.

Turning to another subject, Tower said union spokesmen had "created a tempest in a teapot" over the fact that the Blue Cross-Blue Shield hospitalization service paid his expenses for recent talks before medical meetings in Austin and Houston.

Jury Decides Not To Ask Full Data In Death Probe

FRANKLIN, Tex. (AP)—A Robertson County grand jury looking into last year's death of Henry H. Marshall decided today not to seek the full Agriculture Department report on the cotton allotment manipulations of Billie Sol Estes.

After conferring with Dist. Judge John Barron, the grand jury said the 22-page partial report furnished it by the Justice and Agriculture departments contains all the useful information from Agriculture Department files.

The judge said, "I find that the excerpts contain all the pertinent information in the report bearing upon activities of Henry Marshall or in any way relating to him or possible motives under investigation in this case."

"None of the other information in the report is relevant to the grand jury's investigation," Barron said that he has been assured by U.S. Dist. Atty. Barefoot Sanders "that any other or future developments known to the U.S. government will be turned over to the grand jury."

The judge reported that the federal government "has been very cooperative" in supplying any information involving the cotton allotment program which Marshall was investigating.

Barron said Sanders had assured him that the government "wants us to have everything remotely relevant to Billie Sol Estes and Marshall."

When the grand jury insisted on seeing the full report, a compromise was reached whereby Barron would read the 173 pages and submit what he considered useful to the jury.

Before appearing before the jury today, Barron told newsmen, "I'll discuss the report with them (the jury), but I don't think there is anything in the report they will need."

Also scheduled to testify today was Mrs. Lois Franklin, who said she sold Marshall a box of 22 caliber shells the day he was shot five times, and Johnnie Turner, who was present when Mrs. Marshall was told of her husband's death.

visiting his mother, Mrs. Nellie Owens.

He said L. M. Owens, brother-in-law of Marshall and Sheriff Howard Stegall came to Mrs. Nellie Owens' home, where Mrs. Marshall was visiting.

Turner said Mrs. Marshall was informed of the death and she began to cry.

"He did it. He did it. And I know why," Turner quoted Mrs. Marshall as saying. There was no information on whether at that moment she believed Marshall killed himself or someone else killed him. Later she hired an attorney to seek to reverse the suicide verdict.

Turner said Stegall told him later that Mrs. Marshall said the death was because of a debt owed Marshall. No record of a debt is known.

Estes has been indicted on fraud and theft charges. His multi-million-dollar fertilizer sales, grain storage and cotton interests are in receivership and congressional probes are digging into charges he traded cash and gifts for preferential treatment in Washington.

The grand jury will receive a report on additional laboratory tests by Dr. J. A. Jachimczyk, Harris County medical examiner who performed an autopsy on the exhumed body.

Jachimczyk said last week that Marshall's death probably was murder but he did not rule out a possibility of suicide.

Marshall was chief of production adjustment for the state agricultural stabilization and conservation office. He had conferred with Estes' lawyer, John Dennison, about cotton allotments.

Texas rangers have found four spent cartridges where Marshall was shot. Clint Peoples says tests show three were fired from a rifle which lay nearby. The other was corroded and could not be tested.

Charles Laughton Enters Hospital

NEW YORK (AP) — Actor Charles Laughton is in Memorial Hospital for Cancer and Allied Diseases.

His manager, Bob Hulter, said "nothing has been settled" and examinations will be made today.

Laughton, 62, entered the hospital Sunday.

Hulter said the examinations involved sacroiliac trouble, for which Laughton has been treated for a number of years, and a collar bone fracture which he suffered in a bathtub fall at Flint, Mich., on tour last January.

Other sources report that Laughton will undergo an operation Tuesday for removal of a cancer-infected kidney.

Queen Honored

Queen Elizabeth II stands with her son, Prince Andrew, who waves from Buckingham Palace balcony in London during a fly-past of Royal Air Force jet fighters. This followed the colorful pageant of troying the colors on the ninth anniversary of the Queen's coronation and her official 36th birthday. The Queen wears a tri-cornered hat and the uniform of the Coldstream Guard. Behind her stands the Duke of Kent. The monarch's birthday actually is April 21, but as London has better weather in June than in the spring, her birthday officially is celebrated on the first Saturday in June.

Nixon Challenge Fires Interest

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Richard Nixon's battle for the Republican nomination for governor and a major campaign effort by political conservatives fired up interest today in California's primary election.

The surprising challenge to Nixon by 43-year-old Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell in Tuesday's balloting overshadowed other races involving the biggest field of candidates in the state's history.

Election officials predicted the Nixon-Shell clash, six ballot measures and spirited competition for eight new congressional seats would bring out better than 65 per cent of the seven million voters.

In all, there are 671 contenders for party nominations for six state offices, U. S. senator, 28 congressmen, 80 state assemblymen and 20 of the 40 state senators.

Final campaign salvos carried a familiar pattern: Shell denounced Nixon and Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Brown assailed Nixon and Shell. Nixon laid into Brown—but said not a word about Shell.

The former vice president has acted throughout on the premise that he'll win the primary and he doesn't want to alienate the Shell vote in the November election. He has ignored Shell's attacks.

With the state registered 4-3 Democratic, it's essential for Republican candidates to hold their own party and get at least 20 per cent of the Democratic vote.

Shell renewed criticism of Brown's budget policies. He accused Nixon of "metooism" and declared he's better equipped than Nixon to defeat Brown.

Nixon, in a statement, characterized Brown as weak and ineffective, with "a compulsion to duck difficult decisions and to put his foot in his mouth."

Brown, opposed only by three minor candidates on the Democratic ticket, said Republican voters have little choice in the primary race for governor.

"They will have to choose," he said in Los Angeles, "between an assemblyman whose philosophy is a century behind the times and a loser from Washington who is running for governor only to position himself for another crack at the presidency in 1964."

Nixon's camp has made no effort to discount the effect of Shell's aggressive campaign. A spokesman has conceded that the Assembly minority leader might draw as high as 40 per cent of the Republican vote.

D-Day Video Show Neat And Thoughtful

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Movie - TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—There isn't much to add to the story of D-Day, when history's mightiest invasion force breached the defenses of Hitler's fortress Europe and landed in Normandy.

The motion picture and still photographers moved on to bloody Omaha and Utah beaches with the troops. The generals have written their memoirs. The experts have presented their views and second guesses.

June 6, 1944, is a milestone in contemporary history—the turning point of World War II. Sunday night, NBC's "Show of the Week" did still another documentary on the familiar subject. It was a neat and thoughtful wrapup showing the scope and intricacy of the Allied landing. It was constructed entirely of motion picture film—including some German material—with a smoothly integrated narration.

One of the interesting film footnotes of the invasion documentary was a sequence showing posturing, stern-faced Hitler at his Bavarian retreat with his mistress, Eva Braun, frolicking and clowning at his side for the benefit of the camera.

After all the promotion, emotion, telephone calls to television writers and appeals for public support, "The Law and Mr. Jones" appears to be—again—on the road to extinction. The lawyer series was dropped once by ABC, then picked it up again after all the fuss.

But now, with ABC's fall schedule just about locked in place, there appears no time for the mild-mannered series starring James Whitmore as an idealistic attorney. One obvious reason for its unhappy fate is the most recent Nielsen ratings—which gives NBC's "Hazel," at the same time, more than twice Mr. Jones' audience.

Meeting Erases De Gaulle Objections To Market Plan

PARIS (AP)—A two-day meeting between President Charles de Gaulle and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan reportedly has wiped away many French objections to Britain's entry into the flourishing European Common Market.

A joint communique issued after the talks ended Sunday said the community of interests linking the two nations must influence negotiations between Britain and the six continental states on British membership in the economic community.

Record Water Usage Reported

LAMESA (SC)—May water consumption, increased by a hot and dry spell, was pegged at $9,926,000 gallons, just short of the record-breaking 91,732,000 gallon rate set last August.

It also followed a record-smashing 24-hour consumption rate of 4,302,000 gallons set Memorial Day. Total 1962 usage is now 268,040,000 gallons.

talks, which placed new emphasis on British-French comradeship, had cleared away many of France's doubts about bringing Britain into the Common Market.

British sources confirmed this as Macmillan returned to London. They expressed satisfaction at the reaffirmation of the long-standing community of interest between the two nations.

France has put up most of the hurdles in negotiations for Britain's market membership. De Gaulle has insisted Britain would have to accept the obligations as well as the privileges of the Treaty of Rome which set up the Common Market.

France and her partners in the economic community — Belgium, West Germany, Italy, Luxembourg and the Netherlands—are lowering tariff barriers to each other's products while erecting a common tariff wall against outsiders.

Commonwealth members fear their exports to Britain will lose their preferred status once the British enter the Common Market.

Officials said the two statesmen, who conferred in the Chateau de

Champs about 12 miles east of Paris, had also agreed on the need for a Western European political union, including its own policy on defense.

They also discussed the general world situation, including West Berlin and U.S. efforts to find a new approach.

School Trustees To Open Bids

Trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District will hold a special noon meeting Wednesday to open bids on installation of a new floor for the High School gymnasium.

The bids will be received at the school business office until 10 a.m. when they will be opened. At noon the trustees will review the bids and award a contract. The noon meeting will be at Cosden Country Club.

Specifications for the job have been drawn up by Acheson, Atkinson and Fox.

Other business for the special meeting will be setting the tax rate and per cent of valuation to be used for taxing during the 1962-63 school year, setting a date for the meeting of the Board of Equalization, approving members for the Board and review of a proposed expenditure for equipment for a science laboratory at Goliad Junior High School.

Newspaper's Control Wavers

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Control of the Times-Picayune and the States-Item, the only two daily newspapers in New Orleans, may pass today to Samuel Newhouse, whose publishing empire already includes 13 newspapers in six states.

Newhouse's offer to buy stock in the papers expires at 2 p.m., and his success in purchasing a majority of the 230,000 shares appeared assured over the weekend.

Four minority stockholders, who had been fighting Newhouse's efforts, announced they would sell.

Because Newhouse offered to pay $150 a share—$15 more than it had ever sold for—it would take more than $21 million to gain a majority.

Mrs. Yorke Nicholson, widow of the Times-Picayune's vice president, and her two daughters announced in a telegram to stockholders Saturday they had "reluctantly" decided to sell their stock. Reliable sources said they own about 37,000 shares.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation #19.

"SOUL SLEEPING"

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher, Church of Christ, West Highway 80, P.O. Box 1383

"Soul sleeping" is a term used to describe a theory to the effect that after death there is no consciousness of either pain or pleasure.

The account of the rich man and Lazarus (Luke 16:19-31) explodes the theory. Here Jesus tells of the good things enjoyed by the righteous dead, and the evil things suffered by the wicked dead.

Some have tried to nullify the teaching of Luke 16 by calling it "just a parable." But if it were a parable, the lesson would not be altered regarding the state of the dead. None of the parables of Christ could be called fables. Every illustration He gave was true to fact. It either happened or could have happened.

II Cor 12:2-4 shows that man can exist outside his body, and also be conscious.

For Paul, to be in the state of the dead was far better than to be alive upon the earth. (Phil. 1: 23, 24).

Remember the public discussion between the Primitive Baptists and us in the City Auditorium, June 15 to 22, concerning God's plan of salvation as taught in the Bible. —Adv.

Moderately Priced

Bassett Furniture Industries, Inc., is celebrating its 60th anniversary this year. Pictured is one of the smartly styled, moderately priced bedroom groups made by the Bassett plants. In Big Spring, this furniture is sold by White's Auto Stores at 202-204 Scurry.

Bassett Furniture Featured At White's

Bassett Furniture Industries, Inc., is celebrating its 60th year of manufacturing in 1962. "We have gone from 60 thousand dollars to 60 million dollars volume in 60 years. With our facilities and people, we are planning for continued growth at a rapid rate," according to J. D. Bassett, chairman of the board. Production of Bassett furniture was begun on a $27,000 investment of Charles and John Bassett back in 1902. They had some of the world's finest furniture wood in their Virginia backyard, a railroad nearby and 65 men who needed work. Neighbors in nearby states were their customers during the first years. In 1907 they began using veneer and introduced their own style of Waterfall furniture. It was heavy and gaudy, and an early favorite. The community of Bassett, Va., was growing up around the plant. By 1912 the plant was turning out furniture suites 14 hours a day to fill their orders. Queen Anne and William and Mary were their best-selling styles. An entire new factory was built in 1917 and business was booming. Two other Bassett companies were formed, one to produce mirrors. In 1922 they were selling bedroom suites for $50. That was about the time the Ford automobile was selling for $500. Through the had times of the next decade, good management kept the company in the black. In the late 30's furniture design in the mass market began to shed the awkward look of earlier decades. Basic style variations were being made—and Bassett was making them. During World War II, Bassett plants were quickly converted to the manufacture of military truck bodies and women first began working in the production lines. Bassett began their 19 best years in 1952. They began making occasional tables which have been in constant demand since then. Their huge $45 million table plant was built in 1959 and through advertising, the Bassett line became known throughout the nation. The universal appeal of Bassett furniture is that it is designed to be easy to own—by millions of American families. There are endless styles for every taste. Bassett looked to leaders in related fields for fine touches, too: Formica tops, Dupont Perma-shen interiors, Pittsburgh Plate Glass for mirrors, Grand Rapids Guardsman and Dupont Daltex for finishes. White's Auto Stores, 202-204 Scurry, is recognized locally as a Bassett furniture dealer. Department manager Troy Ray shows customers the complete line in stock.

Simple Suggestions For Keeping Carpets Like New

You will never worry about your good carpets and upholstery becoming dull and unattractive if you follow these simple suggestions. Always vacuum clean them thoroughly at least once a week. Use the tools provided with your vacuum — get down in the crevices and under the cushions but vacuum slowly — it saves time and trouble in the end. Too — you can save the nickels and dimes that spill from Dad's pockets when he reclines in that easy chair.

Remember that your vacuuming gets only the loose dirt, so always watch for the soil that it doesn't remove — those dull areas where colors are no longer clear and bright. This is the time when you can so easily restore that new look and remove even hidden soil by using Blue Lustré Carpet and Upholstery Cleaner.

Carver Saves Customers Money

Carver Drive-In Pharmacy, 210 E. 9th, believes that good management can save the customer money. They do not offer delivery service, believing customers would rather pick up their drugs and save money by doing so. In this manner, there are no hidden charges added to the price of the drugs purchased at Carver Pharmacy.

Wise housewives always protect their fine furnishings with only the best premium quality cleaner and more and more of them rely on Blue Lustré for this purpose. This gentle, odorless foam cleaner is free from harsh ingredients or harmful bleaches. It doesn't contain any soap and, therefore, it doesn't need rinsing. Blue Lustré is not just another cleaner but a new and different cleaner that is safe for the finest oriental rugs. It can be applied with a brush or used in any make rug shampooer. You can spot clean those soiled pathways without going over the entire carpet. Since no oily or gummy residue is left to cause rapid re-soiling, carpets stay cleaner longer. Housewives who use Blue Lustré for the first time are usually surprised how colors regain their original beauty and how the pile of the rug or carpet is left open, lofty and fluffy.

No Waiting For Car Repairs

Chuck Atwell, owner of Chuck's Automotive Repair located at 900 W. 5th, has practically eliminated waits for service at his shop. By dividing the working area into stalls with a qualified mechanic working in each, they are able to work on several cars at the same time when they are needed in a hurry. "If your car has been neglected during winter driving, I urge you to bring it in for a complete check before starting vacation," said Atwell. A long trip can sometimes be ruined by car trouble that could have been prevented if looked into ahead of time. The shop specializes in the repair of automatic transmissions and stocks a good supply of parts that many places have to order.

Residents Urged To Use Electric Water Heaters

Is your water heater operating on "borrowed time"? If yours is one of the old-fashioned types that is stuck out of sight in a closet or basement niche, the years have probably damaged it more than you realize.

is by installing a modern flameless quick-recovery water heater. This will give you hotter water faster plus the piece of mind that comes with its efficient, flameless operation. There are no valves to stick, no flames to blow out accidentally, no noise, no soot, no fumes. And because an electric water heater needs no fire, it can be installed anywhere in the house. By being placed close to the point of greatest use, it can eliminate long pipe runs which waste heat from the water.

At Texas Electric Service Co. there is more good news about the new low electric rate for water heating. Only 1 1/4 cents per kilowatt hour for all electricity normally used for water heating by the average family. Call the Texas Electric Service Company, AM 4-6383, for full information. If downtown, you are invited to visit their offices at 224 Runnels and see the display of electrical appliances and demonstrations of their use.

Texas Electric Service Co. personnel have found this to be the case in many homes and are urging residents to check their hot water supply equipment for safety and practicality. As an added incentive, they are making available a $50 installation certificate. This is a company courtesy which will be in effect for a limited time only. The certificate is good for $50 on the retail purchase and installation of a new electric 40-gallon glass-lined quick recovery water heater in any home served by Texas Electric Service Co. These are available now only from your appliance dealer, plumber, or electrical contractor. A spokesman for Texas Electric said the best way to enjoy clean, fast, worry-free hot water service

Termites May Be Ousted

Termites in the County Court house may be in for a shock soon if the Howard County Commissioners Court takes action to have the building treated. They looked over the problem of termite infestation this morning during a regular session.

"There has been no damage yet this year," L. J. Davidson said. He pointed out that termites could damage records and books, but would probably do little damage to the courthouse structure.

Mack Moore, local exterminator, told the court that the north side of the building is infested. He recommended treating the entire exterior of the building. The cost he placed on the work would be $800 for the initial treatment and about 20 per cent of that cost for ensuring.

No action was taken as commissioners desired to study the matter further.

Commissioners discussed progress on paving in the county.

Rains, Hail Hit Texas

Hard rains and hail pounded parts of South Texas and tornadoes spun harmlessly across at least two areas Sunday.

Occasional thundershowers continued Monday in South Central and Southeast Texas. It was at least partly cloudy elsewhere in the state except for clear skies over Northwest Texas.

Two funnel clouds appeared in the Houston area near Winnie. One dipped to earth 3 miles north of Winnie. The Weather Bureau reported, but caused no injuries or damage. Hail rattled on the rooftops in the west edge of Houston.

Richard Van Diber told of seeing a twister spin overhead near his home 6 miles outside Freeburg. Hail ruined gardens in the vicinity, turning the ground white in spots.

An estimated 5 inches of rain deluged parts of Austin, causing some flooding. The driver was helped to safety as a small compact car started to disappear in the muddy water. Hail the size of golf balls fell during the storm. There were forecasts for still more isolated thundershowers Monday or Tuesday in Northwest, North Central and Southeast Texas, plus thundershowers in other sections.

Water Line Ready To Use

The 14-inch Moss Creek raw water line, from the lake to the city's filter plant, has been relocated and is now ready for use, Bruce Dunn, director of public works, said Monday morning.

"The line has been tested and can be put in use immediately," he said. "We will have the final estimates on the cost in a couple of days. We estimated that some 600 feet of the cast iron pipe might be damaged in the relocation job but only 300 feet were damaged."

The line was moved from across property owned by CPE Homes, Inc., east of Birdwell Lane and north of Marcy Drive. New location is along the alley south of Alabama to Miami. Removal will permit development of the property, which has been hampered because of a high ridge along which the pipe was laid. Lloyd Curley is president of the corporation.

CORRECTION

Troy Ray, identified as manager of the Sands Lounge in a Herald story Sunday, explains he does not hold that position. The Herald regrets any embarrassment caused him by this report.

First To Register

Vickie Reeves, left, and Fred Van Orden, both of Big Spring, were the first to register for the Junior Volunteer Orientation course which began this morning at the Veterans' Administration Hospital. They were among 66 persons who came for the briefing. This afternoon, a tour of the hospital was slated before the visitors were to sign if they desired to become volunteers and choose work sections. Assisting with registration at the right is Mrs. Ar Cunningham, director of VA Voluntary Service.

District's May Deliveries Shatter Month's Records

May water deliveries by the Colorado River Municipal Water District shattered all records for the month and made it the third highest single month on record for the district.

Deliveries totaled 1,128,214,000 gallons, second only to the peak in August, 1959 and the second ranking month of June, 1960. May was up 14.43 per cent over the same month in 1961.

Both the member cities of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder and the oil company repressuring projects were up substantially for May, reported O. H. Ivie, assistant general manager.

The cities used 883,525,000 gallons, a gain of 13.8 per cent. Odessa drew 517,993,000 (up 14.54), Big Spring 257,701,000 (up 12.00), Snyder used 77,831,000 (up 10.30).

The oil companies took 244,689,000 gallons, a gain of 16.45 per cent. This was due to a 5 per cent increase by SACROC and by the addition of the Standard-Sinclair unit, which more than offset the reduction of a contract quantity by Lion Oil Company.

For the first five months of the year, the district has delivered 3,778,521,000 gallons of water, an

Radio System For Pipelines

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Atlantic Refining Co. announced today its subsidiary, Atlantic Pipe Line Co., will install a transistorized microwave radio system along nearly 1,000 miles of pipeline in Texas to control crude oil pumping stations.

The firm said Motorola Inc. of Chicago has been awarded the contract for the installation, which it claims will be among the 10 largest industrial communications systems of its kind in the United States.

The system is scheduled for completion in August, 1963. It will cover a 540-mile line from Midland to Port Arthur, a 435-mile line from Crane to Harbor Island marine terminal and an isolated 21-mile segment in East Texas between Zavalla and Nacogdoches.

Mrs. Eubanks will serve as national chairman of the Publicity and Publications Committee of the AIB for the coming year, after completing a year as a member of the committee representing District 6. She is an active member of Big Spring Chapter AIB, serving as second vice president. She has been secretary, treasurer, and publicity chairman.

Commission Interviews Ivan Oliver

The city commission, in a called meeting Sunday morning, interviewed a second applicant for the city manager's position in Big Spring. Ivan Oliver, city manager for Gladewater, appeared at the commission's invitation.

Oliver has been at Gladewater for three years. He was formerly city manager at Victoria and was administrator when the change was made from the alderman type of government to the council-manager form, during which time the city was undergoing a building boom.

Before going to Victoria he was city manager at Marshall for four years. He holds a master's degree in administration from the University of Colorado.

Oliver is married and has two daughters, one married and the other a senior at the University of Texas.

The commission interviewed Larry Crow Jr., former manager at Brownsville, Friday night.

Thirty-nine applications have been received by the commission for the position vacated by A. K. Steinheimer, who took a similar position at Beaumont. A new application was received from a retiring Navy Captain, now in New York, Monday morning.

Mrs. Eubanks Moderates Session

ATLANTA, Ga. — Mrs. James Eubanks, assistant cashier of the Security State Bank, Big Spring, served as moderator of a workshop session last week during the 60th Annual Convention of the American Institute of Banking. The topic was "Chapter Communications."

Mrs. Eubanks will serve as national chairman of the Publicity and Publications Committee of the AIB for the coming year, after completing a year as a member of the committee representing District 6. She is an active member of Big Spring Chapter AIB, serving as second vice president. She has been secretary, treasurer, and publicity chairman.

JUST DOESN'T GIVE A HOOT

Allen Lou Click called police Sunday afternoon and said some bird was snooping around his place and he would like to have him picked up. Patrolman Pete Mestemayer brought the bird back to the police station. Click explained he would like to have the bird back, if no one claimed it.

Monday morning the captive was still at the police station, but didn't give a hoot about anything. It was an owl.

Youth Admits Burglary Here

A 17-year-old boy, who changed his name during questioning by Big Spring detectives, has admitted breaking and entering the Sands Lounge, 2910 US 80 west, Friday night. The coin operated machines, cash drawer, a metal box, and liquor closet were broken open and money and liquor taken.

Detective Aubrey Hurley, who had a statement from the boy who said he was from San Angelo, was continuing the questioning at noon Monday. Hurley said the boy had made a statement admitting the burglary, had given one name, and later changed to another.

He told Hurley that he had hidden a part of the money and liquor near a lake in northwest Big Spring and later borrowed a car, picked up the rest of the money and liquor and threw the latter out of the car on Marcy Drive. A hunt for the liquor failed to show anything.

Traffic Deaths Send Toll To 38

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents causing multiple fatalities sent the violent death toll in Texas soaring during the weekend.

Thirty-eight deaths were listed in an Associated Press tabulation from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday, and 24 of these occurred in auto accidents.

A car-truck crash near Crockett and a collision involving three cars near Paris each took five lives Sunday.

Dr. Dahlberg Plans To Retire

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, former president of the National Council of Churches and pastor of the Delmar Baptist church here the past 12 years, announced Sunday he will retire Nov. 18.

Dr. Dahlberg was president of the national council from 1957 to 1960. He came to the Delmar church of Syracuse, N.Y., after holding pastorates at Potsdam and Buffalo, N.Y., and St. Paul, Minn.

He said he and his wife plan to return to Rochester, N.Y., Mrs. Dahlberg's girlhood home.

Stephanie Apeary Has Best Record

FORT CARSON, Colo.—Stephanie Apeary, daughter of SFC and Mrs. Stephen Apeary and granddaughter of Mrs. R. B. Gilmore, Gail Road, last week won the trophy for the best academic record during the past year at Fort Carson Junior High School.

A seventh grader, she had a straight-A average. Runner-up for the award was her sister Barbara, an eighth grader. In addition to Stephanie's award, both girls were given science awards.

SFC Apeary is mess steward of Company A, 1st Battalion, 10th Infantry.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Marlon Brando cut his foot while chopping wood with a hatchet, he reported Sunday night to the director of his current film.

'Why?' Is Big Question For Grieving Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) — Everywhere people asked "Why?"

That was the city of a million inhabitants as described by Publisher Ralph McGill of the Atlanta Constitution after word spread like wildfire of the disaster overseas that had snuffed out the lives of more than a hundred who had helped make this Southern metropolis an arts center.

"It is an awesome thing," McGill wrote in his column today, "to be confronted with the ancient truth that in the midst of life we are in death."

"When it occurs in the mass, as in a battle... or the explosive smash of aircraft, the shock of it is one which makes a community grow silent and put its mind to the business of trying to understand the swift transition of more than 100 men, women and children from life to death."

McGill wrote that some husbands now are blaming themselves because they didn't accompany their wives to Europe and death.

"They didn't really want to go," some said. "Her husband said he would be damned if he would go across an ocean with a group planning to look at art galleries. She could go," he said. And she went. Now he blames himself.

"It was such a cheap way to go to Europe and they always had wanted to go," McGill quoted friends of others as saying. "So they decided to go with the art association."

The publisher spoke of the busy day for Atlanta's priests and ministers.

"All Sunday afternoon they went about Atlanta visiting homes where grief was," McGill said. "There was no one who did not encounter the sobbing question, 'Why? why? why?'"

"A rector put his arms about a sobbing woman. 'In the inscrutable mystery of life and death,' he said gently, 'there is no glib answer. There is faith or there isn't. With faith one can accept the painful reality of loss. With faith one can accept the finality of death. We are created, we live, we die, we live again. In my Father's house are many mansions. If it were not so, I would have told you.'"

Doll Parade For Beauty Show

LAMESA (SC) — An added attraction, a "Parade of Dolls," has been announced as a new feature of the third annual Miss Lamesa Pageant, set for June 16 in the high school auditorium.

Dawson County "dolls," aged three to five, are eligible to compete in the "parade" and the winner will be determined by audience applause, according to Mrs. Neil Roy, chairman of the pageant committee of the sponsoring Lambda Phi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi society.

Entrants in the Miss Lamesa Pageant include Patricia Beckham, Kay Greenwood, Donna O'Neil, Gay Sprabery, Olivia Beeman, Linda Wright, Katie Neill, Aliene Adcock.

The winner of the local pageant will be entered in the Miss Texas competition, the winner of which competes for the Miss America title. The Lamesa sorority will also award a college scholarship to the winner.

Contestants will be judged on talent, swim suit and formal attire and personality.

"Doll" contestants will be paraded across the stage and five finalists will be selected. These will be asked a single question by the master of ceremonies and the audience will determine the winner.

Pageant tickets are now on sale.

Carol Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Lee, Miss Lamesa of 1961, will crown the beauty.

OIL REPORT

Explorers Staked In Stanton Area

A 8,700-foot-test seeking an unreported plug has been staked about nine miles northeast of Stanton in Martin County. It is the Cities Service Petroleum Co. No. 1 Guerin.

Two other sites were filed. Also in Martin County is Pan American No. 4-B F. D. Breedlove, to be plugged back to test the Spraberry 1 1/4 miles northeast of the one-well Breedlove, South (Spraberry) field. It is a depleted producer in the Breedlove (Devonian) field.

In Dawson County, R. H. Fulton has staked the No. 1 Hemp-hill for 8,000 feet (a north offset to the one-well Britt (Spraberry) field. It is about eight miles northwest of Lamesa.

Midwest No. 1 Currie, a wildcat currently being drilled in Glasscock County, is testing a formation between 4,355-72 feet.

Gen. Haugen Due Here For Visit

Gen. Haugen, USAF military air advisory group chief to Germany, was expected to arrive at Webb AFB this afternoon from Fort Sill, Okla.

Gen. Haugen, on a 12-day visit to Army and Air Force installations, was due at Webb at 4:30 p.m. His visit is for familiarization with military assistance program training and material activities.

Gen. Haugen will leave at 1 p.m. Tuesday for Peterson Field, Denver. While here he will study Webb's undergraduate pilot training activities.

Stolen Car Found In Reagan County

An automobile, reported stolen from Bill Bryant, 701 W. 8th, Friday night, was located 17 miles north of Big Lake shortly after 10:30 a.m. Sunday. The Garden City sheriff's office notified Big Spring police of the recovery.

Officers said the car was in Reagan County and was described as not in running condition. Bryant was notified and made arrangements to pick up his car.

Resting Well

Walter Robinson is resting well in the St. Luke's Hospital (room 314) in Houston following vascular surgery. During the latter part of last week he had a transplant in the lower portion of the aorta. Mrs. Robinson is with him at the hospital.

Police Have Busy Weekend

Big Spring police had a busy weekend investigating vandalism, thefts, drunkenness, and minors in possession of intoxicating beverages.

A 19-year-old boy was arrested on the Big M Drive in parking lot Saturday night for possessing alcoholic beverages; a man was arrested shortly after midnight at the Black Cat Cafe for carrying a prohibited weapon; four hubcaps were reported stolen from a car owned by Kenneth Laso, Rt. 2, while parked at the Stampedee; windows were broken in new apartments at 1506 Virginia and water was left running Saturday night. Two airmen were arrested for drunkenness and one for being a minor in possession; hubcaps were stolen from the back seat of a car owned by J. D. Hiden, 807 Ayford; report of a joy smash-up door in restroom at Coltex No. 1, 2005 Gregg, in which police got license number of car from station attendant.

Four hubcaps were taken from a car owned by Clarence Smith, OK Trailer Park. A juvenile with an air rifle was breaking bottles on south end of Virginia. The air rifle was turned over to the juvenile officer. Corn starch was poured over a car owned by D. P. Thompson, 708 Lamesa Drive, dry milk was poured over seats of car owned by Julian Lopez, Lorraine, while parked in front of 407 NE 9th, and two boys were arrested for drunkenness at Herman's Steak House. One of the latter was being questioned Monday in connection with the Friday night burglary of the Sands Lounge, 2910 US 80 west.

Lionel Hebert Wins Playoff At Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Lionel Hebert had victory in his clutch, fumbled, then retrieved it deftly in the first sudden death playoff hole of the $40,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament.

The Lafayette, La., native rambled in a 30-foot putt on the 19th hole Sunday to grab top money of $6,400 from South Africa's Gary Player and National Open Champion Gene Littler in the three-way playoff.

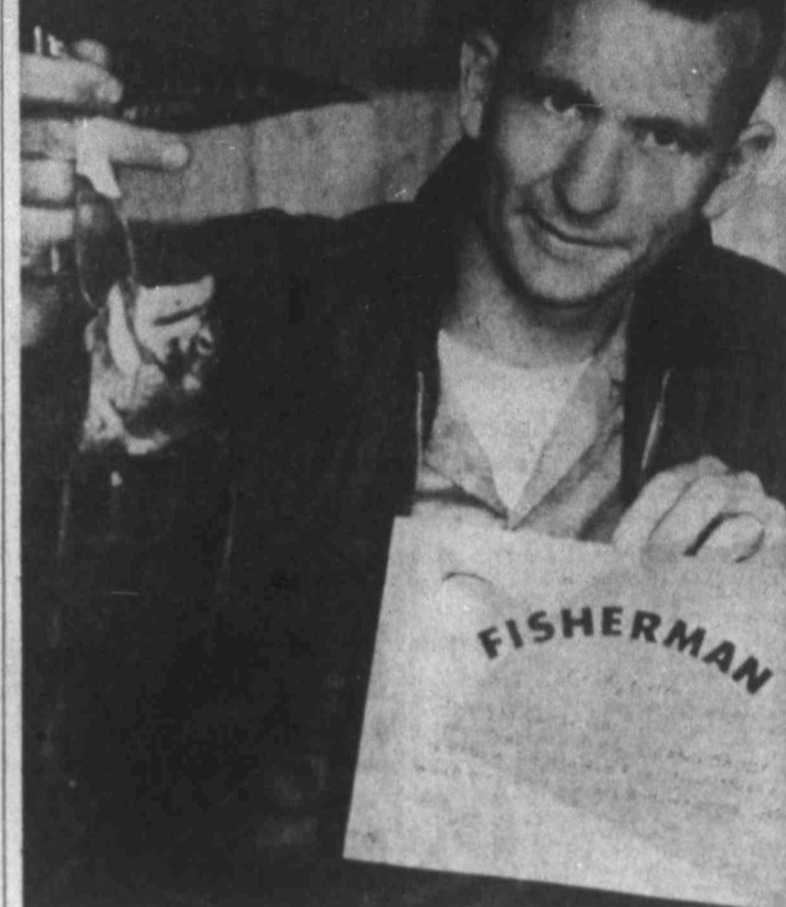

It was a game recovery from bitter disappointment on the last of the regulation holes where Hebert was putting for an eagle and needed a birdie to win. His first putt rolled almost the width of the green and stopped three feet from the cup. The second stroke rolled inches past the mark, giving him a 67. Par for the course is 70.

Player rapped the 18th for a 68 after recovering from a trap. Littler chipped close and dropped a putt to birdie the same hole for a 66 and a spot in the playoff.

On the decisive 19th all three men hit the green in two. To show he still could putt, Hebert whacked a hard one that rolled true to the cup for a birdie. Player ran his putt past the cup and Littler putted his to the rim where it refused to drop in. Hebert, Littler and Player finished the regulation 72 holes at 267. Littler and Player each won $3,050.

Lionel Hebert's brother, Jay, and Bruce Crampton of Australia finished a stroke behind the leaders and won $2,050. It was the first tournament victory for Lionel since 1960.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

After viewing the films of that recent football game between the Big Spring Steers and the Exes, coach Emmett McKenzie stated: "We cannot win with the material as it is now placed." In other words, he plans to make several changes when the Longhorns return to work-outs the last week in August. McKenzie said his pass receivers were missing the ball because "they were hearing footsteps." "We made a great many mistakes in the game," Emmett remarked. "Missed tackles hurt us on defense. Our boys were hitting good, however." One boy who probably won't be with the Steers in the fall is Charley West, a defensive back, who didn't put in an appearance for the game against the Exes. A junior-to-be, Charley could have played a lot of ball for the Longhorns the next two seasons. Bob Davis, who played his high school basketball for Midland High, was held out of competition the past season at SMU but coach Doc Hayes was sorely tempted to use him during the latter part of the campaign due to Davis' rapid improvement. The Midland product was particularly effective in practice when operating on a full court and half court press. Capt. Michael Prokopiak, who used to play quarterback for the Chicago (now St. Louis) Cardinals, recently was named grid coach and athletic officer for Lackland AFB in San Antonio. L. L. (Red) Lewis, the HCJC track mentor, was told by NMMI officials that the Bronchos would come here for the National JC meet only if coaches thought there was a good chance for them to win first place. After NMMI was beaten in Western Conference meets by HCJC, the Cadet mentors elected to end their season there and there. Big Spring's Paul Mosley lost out in the quarterfinals of the recent Stamford Invitational Golf Tournament to the eventual champion, Travis Horton, 2 and 1.

Tigers Could Have Had M. Wills

Bernard Rains says his semifinal match with Jimmy Newsom in the City Golf tournament proved very frustrating because he was playing some of the best golf of his career, yet lost, 6 and 5. The Detroit Tigers could have had Maury Wills for $35,000 a few years ago, yet returned him to the Los Angeles Dodgers after a trial. With Wills in the lineup, the Tigers might have won the American League pennant last year. The late Bill Norman was the fellow who turned "thumbs down" on Wills. "Who doesn't ever hear Oklahoma City in American Association play not long ago, the Bears weren't helped by a home run, though they managed 24 hits. Remember Glenn Cunningham, the great miler? He's now 32 and the father of 11 children. As a breeder, he specializes in wild animal parks at Augusta, Kansas. Efforts are being made here to organize a Big Spring Golf association, which would promote golf activities in this area. Those interested can contact Bill Crocker, Eddie Acri or Charley Bailey. Seminole High School has posted a 45-23 win-loss record in baseball since Chet Morgan took over as coach three years ago. Morgan spent seven years in professional baseball, at which time he was Milwaukee chatter. He was active in the WT-NM league at one time. Jerry Dunlap and Tommy Whitley, teammates on the 1960 Big Spring High School football team, are in the Armed Forces, stationed not far from each other in Germany. Mickey Mantle can outdrive George Bayer when both hit good tee shots, according to pro linker Bob Rosburg. A Noel Orr, the former HCJC athlete, cleared 13 feet 7 inches in the pole vault for Northeast Louisiana State this spring. That effort earned him a tie for fourth place in the Florida Relays. Both Orr and Eugene Franklin, another ex-Jayhawk, won track letters for the Monroe school. The International league hasn't had a 20-game winner since Fred Kipp, then of Montreal, turned the trick six years ago.

Moore To Also Work In Lone Star Loop

Bob Shirey, the ex-HCJC athlete now at Texas A & I, cleared 24 feet 10 inches in the broad jump recently and some observers reason he could go to 26 feet, if he really worked on it. Shirey would be another season of eligibility at the Kingsville school if he wanted it but may pass up athletics next year. He wants merely to concentrate on his studies. Bob's brother, Delbert, also an HCJC ex, recently graduated from Texas Tech and is going to work for General Tire Company in Waco. The betting handle at Ruidoso Downs last weekend was $446,231. Cotton Nash, the stellar basketball player for the University of Kentucky, was something less than a sensation in baseball. He hit 269 and made 12 errors over the campaign—two more than the U.K. record. Nash did lead his club in total bases (45) and home runs (five). Glynn Gregory, the former Abilene High and SMU griddler, is spending the off season on a pony-breeding farm near Bandera. Bobby Keith Drake's first assignment, after he hired out as a coaching aide to Paul Bryant at National JC Track and Field meet here. R. C. Moore, the local coaching aide who has been okayed as a Southwest Conference basketball official, will also act as an arbiter in Lone Star Conference games next game season. A number of area basketball whizzes followed the fix investigations conducted by a legislative committee, hoping that any charges brought might open up new job opportunities to them. Abb Curtis, the major domo of the SWC officiating family, isn't too popular out this way. Some reason he is tactless and uses high-handed methods in his dealings with the arbiters. Max Alvis, who resigned an athletic scholarship at the University of Texas to accept a baseball bonus, is hitting well for Salt Lake City.

Smith Splits Double Bill With Abilene Softballers

Last inning rallies settled the issue on both instances here Saturday evening when E. C. Smith Construction Company split a doubleheader with the Abilene A's softball team. Smith took the first game 6-5, coming from behind with a two-run outburst in the seventh, while Abilene capitalized on a walk, error, wild pitch and its only hit to win the second game 3-2. Abilene jumped to a lead in the opening game and had a 3-1 advantage through the third. Both sides gathered eight hits in this contest. In the last inning, Franklin opened with a single, Hagood was safe on a fielder's choice and Franklin scored on Treadaway's single. Hollis drew a walk and then Poss singled Hagood home.

Waugh To Box Franklin

Chuck Waugh, former Webb fighter who has been making his mark as a pro, will meet Al Franklin in Amarillo on June 22, it was announced today. Milton McCormies, his manager, said that Waugh promised to be in top shape for the encounter. Franklin is fresh from a split decision victory over Eddie Garcia. Waugh, who was the 1960 Air Training Command lightweight champ, has six wins and three losses in his short pro career. While in service, he was the 1958 champion in Japan. McCormies said that he was looking over another prospect, Jose Cifuentes, who has 28 fights as a pro in Mexico, winning 24 and losing four. He has been in training, winner Decidedly and Prekness winner Greek Money who is trying to get him into shape to see if he still has his sharpness.

BELMONT STAKES

Decidedly, Greek Money Lined Up For Classic

NEW YORK (AP)—The Belmont Stakes will be run for the 94th time Saturday. With the 1 1/2-mile classic for 3-year-olds just six days away, it is about the only thing certain is that Kentucky Derby winner Decidedly and Prekness winner Greek Money will be in the starting lineup. Belmont Park officials are looking for a field of 10, which would make the last race of the Triple Crown series the richest in the history of the event. It's a $125,000-added affair. With 10 starters, the gross value would be $155,800, with $12,050 going to the winner. Decidedly, who races in the silks of the California-owned El Peco stable, came from off the pace and won the Kentucky Derby by 2 1/4 lengths. He was far back in the Prekness. Trainer Horatio Luro blamed the 100-degree heat in Baltimore for his colt's poor showing. Greek Money, from Don Ross'

Famous Sports Announcer Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Clem McCarthy, 79, whose vibrant voice dramatized big horse races and prize fights for more than a quarter of a century, died today in a nursing home. The famed announcer had lived the last several years as a semi-invalid, his onetime fortune depleted and his hospital bills paid by friends. On Kentucky Derby day, 1957, he was in an automobile accident and suffered injuries that left him a cripple for life. He lost the strong voice that once thrilled millions and he talked in a hoarse whisper. He had no close relatives. McCarthy, son of an Irish horse dealer and auctioneer, grew up in the track tradition. He broadcast his first Kentucky Derby in 1928 as a fill-in on a special beam to the Chicago area. He was an immediate success. In the years that followed Clem became a fixture around the big tracks and big fights. He hobnobbed with owners, trainers and jockeys. His staccato style became well-known in almost every household. He lived high. He married an actress, Vina Smith, and became a close friend of sports giants of the golden era—Babe Ruth, Jack Dempsey and John McGraw. Then in 1949 his wife fell ill.

Church League

Three games are on tap in the YMCA Church League this evening. The first round for the softball players will pit Forsan Baptist against West Side Baptist at 6:30 p.m., followed by East Fourth Baptist against First Baptist at 8 p.m. The final game will pit Airport Baptist against College Baptist at 9:30 p.m.

Women's Tourney At C-C Tuesday

A one-day Women's Invitational Tournament is slated Tuesday at the Big Spring Country Club. All women golfers in the area are invited, said Wendy Green, tourney manager. The entry fee is $3.

Schwarzenbach Inks Aggie Pact

John (Red) Schwarzenbach has signed a letter of intent with Texas A&M College for track. A district winner in the shot put event, Schwarzenbach will get a half scholarship and if he comes through on the discus and shot put, he will earn a full scholarship as a sophomore. John has his eyes on a career as a veterinarian, like his father, who also is an Aggie graduate. In addition to his talents for the weights, John was one of the higher ranking students in his class.

Medical bills mounted. She died a year later.

Over the years McCarthy called only one race incorrectly. That was in the 1947 Prekness when Faultless closed with a rush and McCarthy called Jet Pilot, who had been leading and whose jockey wore silks similar to those of Faultless' rider. "Ladies and gentlemen," he apologized, "I have made a horrible mistake. Babe Ruth struck out. Today I did the same. I am in distinguished company."

Tigers Threading Way To American Loop Top

By The Associated Press

The rest of the elite in the American League derby have been all but marking time on a two-week treadmill, Detroit's on-rushing Tigers have been making up ground like a stretch-running colt threading his way through a pack of luring front-runners.

The Tigers gained another length Sunday, outlasting Cleveland 8-6 for the 12th victory in their last 15 starts—a profitable span that has enabled Detroit to pick up four full games and advance from seventh place to fourth, just one game off the pace.

The New York Yankees moved into a first-place tie with the Indians by beating Los Angeles 6-3 on some heavy hitting by Elston Howard. Minnesota further tightened things up with a 7-5 decision over Washington that left the Twins only 1/2 game behind the leaders.

Chicago got by Baltimore's skidding Orioles 2-0 in the day's only other action. The Boston Red Sox and the Athletics were rained out at Kansas City.

Detroit took a 6-0 lead behind Don Mossi but the left-hander needed a lot of help before his fourth straight victory was clinched. The Indians staged a four-run uprising in the eighth inning against Mossi, Ron Klime and Jerry Casale, making it 7-6, but rookie southpaw Ron Nischwitz struck out Willie Kirkland and Mike De La Hoz grounded into the third out, leaving two runners stranded.

The Tigers nicked Pedro Ramos for a run in the first, then routed him with a five-run second. Chico Fernandez led off the inning with a homer. Two walks and Billy Bruton's single loaded the bases. Mossi and the fleet Jake Wood both scored on Charlie Maxwell's 410-foot sacrifice fly. Norm Cash capped the inning with his 14th homer, off Barry Latham.

Howard belted a pair of two-run homers in teaming with John

Houston Clubs Pirates Twice

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Houston Colts swept a doubleheader from the Pittsburgh Pirates Sunday, clubbing Pirate pitching for a 10-6 victory in the first game and a 10-3 win in the nightcap. It was the first doubleheader loss for the Pirates this season and the first game defeat also snapped a seven-game Pittsburgh winning streak.

The Colts hammered four Pirate pitchers for 17 hits in the first game slugfest and then banged out 14 more hits off three Pirate hurlers in the second game. Roman Mejias and Bob Lillis had four hits apiece in the first game, with ex-Pirate Mejias hitting his 13th home run of the year.

In the opener, Pirate starter Harvey Haddix clubbed a three-run homer and catcher Smokey Burgess hit a solo homer. The Colts teed off on Al McBean in the first inning of the second game and didn't stop until they counted seven runs.

Houston (First Game) Pittsburgh (First Game) Houston (Second Game) Pittsburgh (Second Game)

Blanchard to spark the Yankee offense. The Yankee catcher connected off loser El Grba in the second and against Art Fowler in the eighth, both times following singles by Blanchard. Blanchard knocked in the two other runs with a third-inning single.

Roland Sheldon faced only 21 batters through the first seven innings, allowing two Los Angeles singles but being helped out by two double plays. The Angels got to the youthful right-hander in the eighth for their three runs in a rally highlighted by doubles by Bob Rodgers and Earl Averill. Revere Marshall Bridges prevented further damage.

Minnesota cashed in five runs after two were out in the sixth inning for its victory against the Senators. After a double by Bob Allison and a walk, southpaw Jack Kralick singled in the first run, Lennie Greene chased in two more with a single, another scored on an error and Vic Power delivered the fifth with his third hit of the day. Rich Rollins burred with one on for a 2-1 Twins lead in the third off Bernie Daniels, who has lost seven straight since winning on opening day.

Kralick was the winner but failed to finish for the 12th time in 12 starts this year. Joe Cunningham's checked-swing single and pitcher John Buzhardt's blop single drove across the White Sox runs as they pinned the Orioles with the 12th setback in their last 17 games. Chuck Estrada, who gave Chicago only four singles in his eight innings, loaded the bases in the first on a hit batsman and two walks before Cunningham looped a hit to left as he checked his swing on a 3-2 count.

Buzhardt, with a five-hit that made his record 6-4, chased in the other White Sox run in the seventh with his blop hit after a single and stolen base by Mike Hershberger.

Met Diet Agrees With Californians

By JACK HAND By The Associated Press

Feeling tired? Call Casey Stengel. Need a tonic? Call Casey Stengel. The Mets will pick you up.

Both the San Francisco Giants and the Los Angeles Dodgers have been on the Met diet recently. The Giants and Dodgers won 13 of the 15 games that the Mets have lost in a row. Both clubs left the Polo Grounds with new health and wealth.

The five Met dates with the Dodgers and Giants drew a total of 197,393, a brilliant financial coup. But the price was steep. After knocking heads in California and New York with the two front runners, the Mets are embedded in 10th place, with a sorry 12-34 record.

Alvin Dark's Giants completed a four-game sweep Sunday by rallying for five runs in the seventh and a 6-1 victory that left them 2 1/2 games in front of the Dodgers who stumbled in Philadelphia Saturday night and Sunday after winning 13 in a row. The Phillies came from behind and dumped the Dodgers Sunday 7-5.

Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and St. Louis, running third, fourth and fifth, all lost. The Reds, beaten by Chicago, 6-3, now trail by 6 1/2. Pittsburgh, winner of seven in a row, bowed twice to Houston 10-6 and 10-3 and dropped eight games back. St. Louis lost its eighth straight, losing to Milwaukee 6-4, and fell 12 games behind the leaders.

The Mets gave the Giants a good wrestle for six innings. Bob Miller, a non-winner, had struck out eight and allowed only Willie Mays' 19th homer in the run column until San Francisco broke through in the seventh. Miller walked winning pitcher Juan Marchal with the bases loaded, forcing in the tie-breaking run. Singles by Harvey Kuenn, Orlando Cepeda and Ernie Bowman compounded the damage.

The Phillies, who shut out the Dodgers Saturday night behind rookie Dennis Bennett, shocked Los Angeles again Sunday after trailing 0-4. Johnny Callison came through with four straight hits and three runs batted in. Chris Short was the winner although Paul Brown, finished up with five scoreless innings. Johnny Podres, knocked out in the five-run fourth was the loser. Tony Gonzalez homered for the Phils.

Billy Williams, the hot shot in the batting race with a 359 average, and George Altman powered the Cubs' victory over the Reds, ending a five-game Chicago losing string. Williams hit his 11th homer and Altman his 12th as rookie Cal Koonce beat Moe Drabowsky.

Milwaukee hopped on Bob Gibson for five runs in the first inning and moved to within 1 1/2 games of the Cardinals with the help of fine relief work by Hank Fischer who rescued Bob Henderson.

A Winner's Smile

Atlanta Stricken By Air Disaster

ATLANTA (AP) — This Deep South city—at times raucous, always warm-hearted — was in mourning today, reeling from the shock of a Paris air crash that claimed scores of civic and cultural leaders.

The contagion of tragedy spread with the news that 115 Georgians died Sunday in the flaming crash of the jetliner. There were 15 other victims.

The city counted 105 of its residents among the dead in the worst tragedy for Atlanta since the 1946 Winecoff Hotel fire snuffed out 119 lives.

In this church-going city, many heard first word of the tragedy at the morning worship services. One minister changed his announced sermon. Others offered special prayer services for the victims. Then they began the sad task of bringing prayer and comfort to sorrowing families.

LEADERS SHOCKED
State and city leaders reacted with statements of shock and sympathy. Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. took off for Paris to help in arranging return of bodies and gathering information for grieving families.

Allen ordered City Hall closed at noon today and the flags lowered to half-staff. The Fulton County courthouse also was to halt work at noon and display the flag of mourning.

The Georgians, on a tour arranged by the Atlanta Art Association to promote interest in art, left here May 9. Among the victims were some of the city's most prominent society, civic and business leaders.

They included Del Paige, president of the Art Association; his wife and several trustees of the group.

One entire family—representing three generations—was wiped out. The six members of the family were Frederick Bull Jr., 50; his wife Elizabeth, 47; their daughters, Betsy, 16, and Ellen, 10; Bull's mother, Mrs. Frederick Bull Sr., about 80; and his uncle, Robert Newcomb, in his 70s.

State Supreme Court Clerk Katharine C. Bleckley—once honored by Britain's queen for helping British servicemen—died in the crash.

Thomas H. Lanier, president of Oxford Manufacturing Co., and his wife; Robert Pegram Jr., 55, retired, former vice president of the Bank of Georgia, and his wife were killed.

Atlanta attorney C. Baxter Jones Jr., 43, and his wife were among the crash victims. Jones once ran for Congress. Air France district manager Paul Doassans, 42, married only six months, was killed. He arranged the chartered tour for the group and went to Paris to supervise the group's return flight only after his wife decided to go to Omaha, Neb., for her brother's high school graduation.

Eight victims were Georgia artists, including W. D. Cogland and Ellen Seydel, well known in their fields.

The mayor said, "Atlanta has suffered her greatest tragedy and loss. There is no way to express adequately our sympathy to these families."

SYMPATHY
Gov. Ernest Vandiver extended the deepest sympathy of the first family.

"All Georgia has been saddened by the tragic loss of so many of her cultural and business leaders," Vandiver said.

Sens. Richard B. Russell and Herman Talmadge of Georgia expressed their sympathy and grief.

Sam Massell Jr., president of the Board of Aldermen, said he believed it was the worst tragedy to hit any U.S. city.

"It will take a generation to build this leadership back," he said.

French Ambassador Herve Alphand sent an expression of sympathy and the British consulate in Atlanta issued a statement of regret.

Former Gov. Marvin Griffin, again a candidate for the top office, declared a three-day halt to campaigning. Griffin's 14-year-old daughter Patricia was one of the victims in the tragic Winecoff fire.

The Constitution said editorially "nothing could have prepared the city for the catastrophe that occurred in Paris Sunday."

2 States In Spotlight Of Political Scene

By The Associated Press
California and Massachusetts move into the center of the political stage this week. In California former Vice President Richard M. Nixon goes before the voters again, less than 19 months after losing his bid to become president. The first round of the Kennedy-McCormack battle will be waged at the Massachusetts Democratic convention.

Also on tap are nominating primaries in Iowa, Montana, South Dakota, Idaho and Mississippi, and the Republican state and congressional district conventions in Connecticut.

The busy week follows closely on Saturday's runoff primary in Texas in which Democrats chose former Secretary of the Navy John Connally as their gubernatorial nominee. Connally, who supported President Kennedy's administration with some reservations, trimmed Houston attorney Don Yarbrough, who ran as an outright supporter of the President.

CUT DEEP
Yarbrough cut deeply into the big lead Connally had piled up in the first primary May 5, but not enough to win the runoff.

The busy political week starts today with a primary in Iowa and the opening of the Connecticut state Republican convention. It ends Saturday with GOP nominating conventions in Connecticut's five congressional districts.

Most of the attention will be focused on the California primary Tuesday and the Massachusetts state convention which begins Thursday.

Nixon retired to a Los Angeles law practice after narrowly missing the nation's top political prize in 1960. Last September he announced he would seek the Republican nomination for governor of his home state, and that he would not be a candidate for president in 1964.

The former vice president, trying to smooth over a widening breach between conservative and liberal Republicans in California, has concentrated his campaign fire on incumbent Gov. Edmund G. Brown. The governor is expected to walk away with the Democratic nomination over three little known opponents.

egates, he can demand a primary election.
Front-runner for the senatorial nomination is John Lodge, former governor, house member and ambassador to Spain. He is the brother of Henry Cabot Lodge, Nixon's running mate in 1960. He hopes to succeed Republican Sen. Prescott Bush who announced he will retire. The Democrats convene in July.

There are six candidates for the GOP gubernatorial nomination, with John Alsop, insurance company president, and former Rep. Edwin H. May Jr., the leading contenders. A nominee for congressman-at-large also will be chosen.

EXPECTED TO WIN
In the Iowa primary today, Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper is expected to win Republican nomination to his fourth term. Iowa State University history professor E. B. Smith is unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

Gov. Norman Erbe, seeking a second term, has opposition from former Lt. Gov. William H. Nicholas in the Republican primary. State Commerce Commission Chairman Harold Hughes and Lewis E. Lint, former secretary

Dies In Sleep
PORT ARTHUR (AP)—Robert McPhaul, 83, father-in-law of Rep. Frank Smith, D-Miss., died in his sleep Sunday at a nursing home. He had spent most of his life at Brewton, Ala. as a farmer and turpentine distiller.

NIXON ATTACKED
Nixon has been sharply attacked by his primary foe, Joseph Shell, who has questioned whether Nixon can beat Brown in November. Shell, an independent oilman of strongly conservative views, is leader of the minority Republican forces in the California Assembly.

Sen. Thomas Kuchel, who was appointed to Nixon's seat when Nixon was elected vice president in 1952, is expected to defeat two Republican opponents. State Sen. Richard Richards is the leading contender for the Democratic Senate nomination.

Reps. John Rousselot and Edgar Hiestand, the only two members of Congress to state they are members of the militantly conservative John Birch Society, both have opposition in the Republican primary.

The Massachusetts battle for the Democratic senatorial nomination is between Edward M. Kennedy, youngest brother of the President, and Edward J. McCormack Jr., nephew of Speaker of the House John W. McCormack.

A Devotional For Today

Then he which had received the one talent came and said, Lord, I knew thee that thou art an hard man, reaping where thou has not sown, and gathering where thou has not strewed: and I was afraid, and went and hid thy talent in the earth; lo, there thou has that is thine. (Matthew 25:24-25.)

PRAYER: O God, teach us that it is better to fail in a worthwhile effort than never to try. With faith in Thee and devotion to Christ, lead us in the pathway of unselfish service. In His name. Amen.

We Change The Volume Number

Today's issue carries the inscription Volume 35, No. 1. This means that the Herald has completed 34 years as a daily newspaper serving this area; it's continuity as a newspaper (weekly) goes back 58 years.

No 34 years has ever been crowded with more development and growth for this area than those during which the Herald has been a daily. It took the step from daily status in June of 1928 under the hand of a fine newspaperman, the late Tom Jordan. Big Spring was in the midst of a brisk oil boom that had brought much building, including the Crawford, Settles and Douglas Hotels as well as many other buildings. It also had brought Cadden and three other refineries, the T&P railroad shops, a bevy of new schools, churches, and hospitals.

THEN WHEN THE BUBBLE burst and the wave of depression spread out from the New York stock market explosion and eventually gripped this area. Severe drought added to the difficulties. The City Hall and later the U. S. Post Office construction provided needed jobs. By 1937, however, the area had one of its bumper crops and before long Big Spring was successful in securing the State Hospital. This touched off a new wave of confidence that reached new levels with the ideal crop year of 1941. Meanwhile, Big Spring had become something of an air center in the Southwest. The Herald, looking ahead moved to a new plant.

Oil had been discovered in great quantities to the west, but this scarcely made big news until Dec. 7, 1941 when the nation was suddenly plunged into war. Oil came at a premium. So did petroleum products, and Cadden Oil Corporation responded under new management with additional facilities and processes, new techniques for delivering oil.

THE BIG SPRING Bombarrier School was announced in April, and on the anniversary of Pearl Harbor Day the first class of graduates got their wings. These were times of great effort, sacrifice and sometimes heartache.

After the war, Cadden began a magic procession of expansion. Citizens established Howard County Junior College, and secured designation for the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Big Spring got together in a wonderful way in 1949 to celebrate the centennial of discovery of the "spring," and it provided the biggest party in the area's history. From this springboard many other things took hold, such as long-overdue school construction, a new courthouse, more highways. In this period of surging ahead, the reef oil fields were discovered in the area. Cabot Carbons located here.

BUT THE WORST drought on record took hold with four successive crop failures from 1952-56. This period, however, produced two things tremendously significant for the city. Foremost was creation of the Colorado River Municipal Water District and its delivery of first water in 1952 to make possible the second development, the location of Webb AFB. Expressing confidence, the Herald built its present modern plant.

In 1956 the drought began to break. Oil demands generated by the Korean campaign and later the Suez Canal seizure stimulated this trade. Cadden grew and grew, launched into petrochemicals. Eventually Sid Richardson set up another carbon black plant and W. R. Grace, which acquired a majority of Cadden's stock, announced an ammonia facility.

MEANWHILE, BIG Spring voters gave approval of a Master Plan of development and supported it with nearly four and a half million dollars in bonds. More and more churches and schools, including a second junior high, were added. The College established a permanent home and greatly expanded it. The period was accompanied by unprecedented residential development with vast areas of houses springing up to the east, southeast and southwest, not to mention a 460-unit Capehart project immediately south of the air base.

Successive street paving programs were undertaken. Interstate Highway 20 was completed through the county except for the Big Spring loop, and US 87 north was converted to four lane divided traffic. The year 1961 brought the second largest cotton crop on record. An United Fund was firmly established, a YMCA plant was built.

There have been disappointments. Big Spring lost, regained and lost again its division headquarters on the Texas and Pacific railroad. With extreme tightening of the oil situation, some district offices were closed. Perhaps some few industries considered us but located elsewhere.

This year finds us with the largest amount of commercial construction since the boom days, including a million dollar shopping center with the possibility a bank and a savings and loan association buildings, and other structures.

Big Spring has about three times as many people today as it did when the Herald became a daily, and we believe it is many times more a better community. The Herald hopes that it has succeeded in its objective of keeping pace with, and perhaps leading in, the progress of the community. As another volume changes this continues to be our goal.

Holmes Alexander New Man From Missouri

KANSAS CITY — Republicans in Missouri have a big, lucky red-white-and-blue reason for hoping they'll win a Senate seat this autumn. The reason is R. Crosby Kemper Jr., who stands more than six and a half feet high, weighs 250 pounds and was born on Washington's birthday in 1927—and who seems to be gifted with good fortune as well as good sense.

IF KEMPER merely wanted to fill a Senate seat, he could probably get there on his Democratic credentials. His grandfather was the State's Democratic National Committeeman in the 1920's. Young Kemper was Senator Stuart Symington's Jackson County treasurer in 1958, is referred to in the local press as a "former Democrat," and by Symington as a "fool... (who) could have been in the Senate... on a Democratic ticket."

BUT ALTHOUGH he's in the Democratic image of Kennedy, Roosevelt and Harriman as a scion of wealth, Kemper has turned Republican by choice and Conservative by conviction. A few years ago, like Kennedy and Roosevelt, Kemper went to death's door. He lost 70 pounds because of what was mistakenly thought to be abdominal cancer, only to be saved by an exploratory operation. The thinking and reading he did during his illness and convalescence persuaded Kemper that the direct threat to America came from the vanity and egotism of second generation plutocracy and intellectuals. He says:

"There's a passage in Theodore White's 'Making of a President' in 1960' where Kennedy is shown as accepting the adulation of the press."

Norman Walker The Shorter Work Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Suppose the nation suddenly switched overnight from the present 40-hour week to a 35-hour week—as organized labor is advocating. What would happen?

If the change came about without a cut in pay—that is, if the man now earning $100 a week for 40 hours work should continue getting $100 on a 35-hour week basis —labor costs would be increased by one-eighth, or over 12 per cent. How would an employer meet this added cost? There are three ways. The boss could (a) increase prices, (b) reduce profits or (c) install new labor-saving machines. He probably would do some of all three.

A SUDDEN conversion to a 35-hour week, therefore, almost certainly would cause higher prices and thus inflation.

It is for this reason that President Kennedy, in trying to maintain a stable wage-price line, is discouraging any broad-scale changeover to a shorter work week.

Nor is any sudden general switch anticipated. Even economists for the AFL-CIO whose president, George Meany, is talking of a general union drive for the 35-hour week, don't think it is a quickly attainable goal.

Hal Boyle Watch That Blood Type

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Airsickness no longer is much of a problem in the smooth-flying jet age, but it hits five times as many women as it does men.

As airlines get bigger, so do stewardesses. The first stewardesses were little over five feet tall, now they range up to 5 feet 9, weigh up to 140 pounds.

Tip to veterans: Don't rely on the accuracy of the blood type shown on your World War II dog tag. Checks have shown nearly 10 per cent are wrong.

Do you pride yourself because you keep on your toes? Well, settle back, man. It has been found both adults and children have fewer foot problems when they carry more of their weight on their heels.

It can make you sick. Zoologists found caged animals have a higher incidence of arteriosclerosis than those who roam wild and free.

How they got started: Alan Ladd worked in a newspaper circulation department. Frank Sinatra served briefly as a reporter. George Raft sold newspapers on a street corner.

People hate to throw away something they got for nothing. Although match booklets are usually given away free, only about one out of 750 is tossed away before all its 20 matches are used.

Many beauty experts today agree a woman ideally should be an inch larger around the bust than the hips. The Venus de Milo, the perfect beauty of antiquity, would flunk this test.

Her measurements were: Bust 37 inches; waist 25 1/2; hips, 38 inches.

Executive signs: On the desk of I. Jerome Riker of the Hotel Statton: "To handle yourself wisely, use your head; to handle others, use your heart."

History lesson: George Washington, who left an estate valued at $330,000 was considered "land poor" at his death. That same land today is worth more than $20 million.

Challenge to beatniks: The longest beard ever measured belonged to Hans N. Lanoseth, who migrated to North Dakota from Norway in 1912. His whiskers reached 11 feet 6 inches after 36 razor-free years.

It was Henry Wadsworth Longfellow who observed, "It takes less time to do a thing right than to explain why you did it wrong."

Avoid that trapped feeling in do is advise — but he takes pride in giving sound advice.

It would take a week of columns to discuss the whys and wherefores, but I've rounded up that much information, and more, in a booklet, and I think your mind would be eased by getting a copy and reading it. (For a copy of "How To Deal With Varicose Veins," send 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Daily Herald.)

Dear Dr. Molner: I don't have the nerve to take my problem to a doctor personally. I have had offensive breath for so long as I can remember but my teeth are in perfect order and I have used every mouthwash on the market. —MRS. B. B.

Infection of gums or sinuses, and disorders of the lungs or bronchial passages are other sources of bad breath. You are making a mistake by NOT taking this problem to your doctor.

What do you know about your heart? Simply, calmly, and plainly, Dr. Molner's new booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart," tells about the heart and heart troubles — from skipped beats to AV blocks. Write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Daily Herald asking for a copy of this valuable booklet, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

THUS, IF A JOB surplus was created by cutting weekly hours, there would be a shortage of men to take the extra jobs. The government has embarked on an ambitious program to train idle workers in new skills, but it anticipates providing only partial training to a maximum of 100,000 a year.

Many employers, faced with a shorter work requirement, simply would have to work their already employed workers beyond a new 35-hour week limit and pay them overtime, usually at 1 1/2 times the regular pay rate.

To Your Good Health Too Much Money Spent On 'Food Supplements'

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Dear Dr. Molner: Is it true that it is essential to take minerals along with vitamins? A representative of a company selling a combination of the two said we need them together. — B. W.

No, it's not true.

The U. S. Food & Drug Administration is making vigorous efforts to curtail the immense amount of money being spent by the public on "food supplements" they don't need.

Of course we all need vitamins and minerals, but just read two paragraphs from the government's pamphlet on "Food Facts and Fallacies."

I quote: "The American food supply is unsurpassed in volume, variety and nutritional value. By patronizing all departments of a modern food store we can easily supply all of our nutritional needs."

And from another page of the same pamphlet: "Nutrition authorities agree that the best way to buy vitamins and minerals is in the packages provided by nature — vegetables, fruits, milk, eggs, meats, fish, and whole grain, or enriched bread and cereals. The normal American diet now includes such a variety of foods that most persons can hardly wait to have an ample supply of the essential food constituents."

Only when there is some radical departure from normal diet do we need special sources — or "supplements" — of vitamins and minerals.

The Food and Drug Administration points out that "the competent physician will not overlook such 'musts' as calcium during pregnancy, or Vitamins C and D for babies and young children."

And above all don't be misled by any nonsense that it is "essential" that minerals be taken along with vitamins. It just isn't so. The only important thing is that you get them — preferably from eating a perfectly normal, well-balanced diet.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have had varicose veins for 30 years. My doctor advised having them stripped but said it must be my decision. One friend said she'd never do it again; another said she had it done because she was afraid of clotting. Is there a greater danger of clots if they are not removed? —MRS. H. B.

Certainly there's a danger of clots, and of varicose ulcers, and of aching legs, and thrombophlebitis. One friend says yes, one says no. Your doctor "advised" that you have it done. That's two to one.

Now you've asked me and the vote becomes three to one, he says doctors don't advise surgical procedures without having a good reason. Certainly it's your decision. No doctor can order you to have anything done. All he can do is advise — but he takes pride in giving sound advice.

It would take a week of columns to discuss the whys and wherefores, but I've rounded up that much information, and more, in a booklet, and I think your mind would be eased by getting a copy and reading it. (For a copy of "How To Deal With Varicose Veins," send 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Daily Herald.)

Around The Rim Be Kind To Expectant Fathers

Utterable utterances:
DR. GERALD CAPLAN, Harvard University:
"Never tease an expectant father. You are undermining his inherent role as a father figure, planting built-in seeds of hostility and jealousy toward the unborn child and making him feel inferior to his wife. It could lead to disaster."

A new BRIDE, after she had been asked by her husband the cause of the grittiness in her first cake:
"Well, the recipe calls for three whole eggs and I guess I just didn't get the shells beaten up fine enough."

SYDNEY HARRIS, columnist:
"We make positive judgment about men, and negative judgments about women, in a sense that a good man is known by what he does, but the good woman is known by what she doesn't do."

DISRAELI, one-time British prime minister:
"If a traveler were informed that such a man (a political foe named Lord Ann Russell) was leader of the House of Commons, he may well begin to comprehend how the Egyptians worshipped an insect."

MONTGOMERY ADVERTISER:
"All the newspapers dutifully record and photograph their cities' first born of the New Year. You see a mother and a child exuding happiness because the baby clocked in at 12:01. What you don't see is a morose father wringing his hands and cursing his luck because some thoughtless story barely deprived him of a year's income tax exemption."

NICCOLO TUCCI:
"The best form of civil defense is to make oneself worth defending."

HUGH ALLEN:
"One fellow who is getting along in years tells us he is suffering from the S-B complex—Baldness, Bridgework, Bifocals, Bay Window and Bunions."

E. W. HOWE:
"Half the promises people say were never kept, were never made."

G. K. CHESTERSON:
"The more a man looks at a thing, the less he can see it, and the more a man learns a thing the less he knows it."

Inez Robb Yipes! The Drinks They Drink!

The more I travel through the United States the more I am convinced that we who live in New York have an overwrought and ill-earned reputation for sequined sophistication.

By and large, we lead lives of quiet dedication to home and hearth, far from the purple distractions of the country and so-called service clubs. In the simple matter of alcoholic preference, for example, New Yorkers are a staid and unimaginative lot.

I HAVE LIVED in New York more than half my life, and yet it took my recent swing through the nation to be offered, as a before-luncheon cocktail, something called a "Pink Squirrel" and a before-dinner mixture called "Bull Shot."

In Manhattan, at least, we are plain meat-and-martini people. Or steak-and-Scotch. Or Bourbon-and-roast beef rare. Or vodka-and-veal.

"What is a Pink Squirrel?" I asked the lady in Pittsburgh who offered me one before luncheon.

"WELL, I'M NOT quite certain," she said. "But I like it because it doesn't taste like liquor."

When the Pink Squirrel arrived, it was served in a stemmed cocktail glass that gave it the appearance of a short-snot strawberry ice-cream soda.

"Take a sip," my hostess said with true hospitality. I did, and my vitals turned over and played dead.

"WHAT IS IN IT?" I asked the barman. He said, with admirable self-control, that it contained (1) white creme de menthe, creme de almond and cream (cow).

For some reason I don't quite understand, cow cream mixed with liquor and served as a cocktail has always withered my intestinal tract. For cooking, sir; for drinking, NO!

"Why don't you try a White Squirrel?" asked the lady across the table. "It's simply lovely. It's white creme de menthe, brandy and cream."

REASON REELED and I clung to the table as I contemplated this mixture. But another woman said, "Why don't we order an Angel's Kiss for Mrs. Robb. I'll bet she'd love it."

"What is that?" I whispered, as hope fled.

"Well, it comes in a tall glass," said the Angel's Kiss enthusiast. "And it's made of white creme de menthe and real cream and something else. And they float a rosebud on top."

AS MY HEAD went into orbit in one direction and my stomach in another, I heard yet another woman say, "Rum is the other ingredient, Agnes. And at Christmastime, Mrs. Robb, it's called a White Christmas because they float a little sprig of holly on top."

As compared with Pittsburgh, even St. Louis and its addition to what-to-a New Yorker—had seemed exotic drinks because cab in retrospect. How can a "Turkey on the Rocks" (vodka and cranberry juice) compare with a Pink Squirrel? Or a "Bull Shot" (vodka, beef bouillon, lime and seasoning) hope to rival a White Christmas with holly afloat?

WE WANT to change the public image of Pittsburgh, one of the ladies was saying sweetly when I came out of my contemplation of St. Louis's conservative habits. "If the past we've always been known as a 'Bellmower' town—you know, a shot of whisky with a beer chaser."

"But we're going to change all that," another woman said, sipping a Pink Squirrel.

And heaven help Pittsburgh. I don't doubt it!

David Lawrence The 'Profit-Squeeze Panic'

WASHINGTON — What's been happening in the stock market probably can be described as the "profit-squeeze panic."

For the key to an understanding of the decline, as well as a clue to possible recovery, can be found in the operations of the age-old law of profit or loss in a free-enterprise system.

The investor in stocks has not been attracted by dividend rates as such in the last year or so, for he really could get a better income on his money simply by buying bonds. What the investor has been betting on is a steady increase in the profits of the companies themselves. This would mean a capital gain for him, because securities go up as profits rise. They are usually valued on the ratio of a certain number of times their earnings.

THUS, IN EARLY 1958, in computing value, the ratio was about 15 times earnings. The hope that dividends would grow as profits grew caused the ratio to rise recently to an average of 23 times earnings. This was at the end of 1961. The prices paid for stocks, therefore, reflected a high appraisal of future earnings.

It was the expectation of a recovery from the recession of 1960 and the good reports coming from several lines of business that caused the stock market to attain its peak of prices on December 13, 1961, when the Dow-Jones Averages on all stocks reached 735.

THEREAFTER as it became apparent that the labor unions were going to insist on higher and higher wage demands, the financial community began to bear reports of a "profit squeeze." The increased volume of business transactions didn't mean an increase in the rate of profit on sales for the corporations. The market consequently drifted downward from 735 to about 700 on April 6, 1962. This wasn't a severe drop, relatively speaking, as the figure of 685 had been recorded in January 1960. So a change of 35 points was not enough in itself to cause a loss of confidence in the future.

THEN CAME President Kennedy's dramatic intervention in the process of price-making in the national economy. His press conference of April 11 shocked the business world. He threatened reprisals. He implied that the U. S. Steel Corporation had done something illegal, and PFI agents were ordered into the act. The net result was a feeling that the administration would use any means, legal or otherwise, to halt any price increases but that it would not restrain the increases in wage costs which the unions were demanding.

Everything the President said in speeches of reassurance to businessmen was compared with the pronouncements of labor leaders who began urging the 35-hour week at the same pay as that received for 40 hours of work. Despite a few gentle words of disagreement from the White House—which the labor leaders ignored—the whole system of price-making in large industries had become demoralized. A "profit squeeze" was clearly indicated as the inevitable trend perhaps for the next few years.

WHEN WAGE COSTS go up while price increases are taboed, there can be only one consequence—a narrowing of the profit margin. When that happens, the dividend rate cannot be increased. In fact, even continuance of the same dividend rate as before sometimes becomes imperiled.

Many investors thereupon took a realistic view of what was happening and determined to sell their stocks. From April 11, when the President declared war on the steel companies, through Monday, May 28, inclusive, the stock-market averages fell from 695 to 577. This was a drop of 118 points in 47 days, or more than three times the decline in the 119 days prior to the steel episode. Indeed, the drop in values before the steel controversy was about $24.4 billion, whereas after the President's announcement of his price policy it fell by another $93.3 billion, for a total of $117.7 billion since the preceding December.

AT THE END of the trading on Thursday, May 31, the market had recovered somewhat, but the total loss since last December still remained between $80 and $95 billion.

Stock-market fluctuations may continue with wide swings in either direction, just as happened in 1930 and 1931 after the sensational break of October 1929. But the important factor, which in the long-range situation will be definitive, is the measurement of profits. If business is to be held down on prices, if labor unions are to go on forcing an increase in wage costs, and if the administration continues to exclaim that it is helpless to do anything about labor's behavior, then the jig is up. The profit squeeze will continue and investors will see little hope for stocks to rise in value or to pay good dividends.

IF THE PRESIDENT now would ask Congress to give "equal protection of the law" to companies in business, and if something were done by law to rid the country of conspiracies practiced by nationwide labor unions which "restrain trade" constantly and impair interstate commerce—as the principle is set forth in the antimonopoly laws that govern business—the opportunity for better profit margins would arise overnight. The whole economy would then be healthier. Expansion could be planned on the basis of reasonable expectations. More jobs would be created. Unemployment would be substantially reduced, if not eliminated, as a factor. The road to prosperity would then be clearly marked for all to see.

Conservatives In Legislature Lose

AUSTIN (AP) — Conservatives in the Texas Legislature lost more ground in Saturday's Democratic runoffs.

Traditional conservatism of the Senate, given a jolt in the May 5 primary, received another as three more seats went to liberals — Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston, Walter Richter of Gonzales and Roy Harrington of Port Arthur.

Three conservative House leaders lost in bids for Senate seats. They are Ray Bartram of New Braunfels, Truett Latimer of Abilene and W. T. Oliver of Port Neches.

Eleven of the 18 House members who progressed to the second Democratic primary met defeat. Three incumbent senators won hotly contested races.

The five Senate and 40 House nominees picked Saturday join other Democrats chosen May 5 in contesting 14 Republican Senate and 87 GOP House nominees in the Nov. 6 general election. The ballot will carry names of one Senate and three House nominees of the Constitution Party.

Among House members defeated in re-election efforts were Rep. Ted Springer of Amarillo, a 14-year liberal spokesman; Tom Andrews of Port Aransas, a conservative; Ben Glusing of Kingsville, a candidate for speaker of the 1963 House; Miss Virginia Duff of Ferris, one of three women in the 1961 House; Obie Jones of Austin, a long-time supporter of state employe pay raises, and Charles Sandahl Jr. of Austin, who is credited with helping design the new state sales tax.

Maurice Doka, former All-American guard at the University of Texas, defeated Rep. Jack Connell of Wichita Falls.

Here is a complete list of the legislative winners by district:

Polio Drive

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A mop-up campaign on San Antonio's massive Sabin oral polio vaccine inoculation drive brought out 44,679 more persons Sunday, pushing the total to 583,683. Health officials estimated there still are 150,000 persons in the county not inoculated.

DEAR ABBY

Don't Mention The Money!

DEAR ABBY: I have had so much "advice" that I am dizzy. My husband died three years ago and left me a nice business. All my friends are afraid some man is going to marry me for my money. Every time a man shows an interest in me, someone tells me to watch out because he is after my money. I am getting tired of hearing it. You would think I had nothing else to offer. I am lonely, but I don't have to buy a husband yet. How can I tell for sure if a man is interested in me or my money? NOT BAD

DEAR NOT BAD: Tell him you are broke.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you won't think I am dumb but I am in love with a girl who lives in another city and I want to write her a letter asking her to marry me. I am no good at writing letters. Abby, I call her every Sunday instead of writing. Please write a letter I can copy and send to her. And make it so good she can't turn me down. DICK

DEAR DICK: When it comes to the kind of a letter, you will have to do it yourself. No matter how poor you think you are at writing letters, she'll think this one is the most beautiful letter she's ever received. (If she loves you, that is. If she doesn't, my flowery prose won't help.)

DEAR ABBY: A lady we know was recently discharged from a T.B. sanitarium and, frankly, we are not quite sure how close to get to her. She visited my home yesterday and after she left I sterilized everything she touched. Now I am worried about my children catching T.B. because she hugged them. Is there any danger? WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: A "T.B." patient is discharged only when he is "negative." You are safer by far in the company of ex-"T.B.ers" than with those who have never been tested for it. An ex-T.B. patient KNOWS he is negative of infectious germs. Unless one has periodic tests he can never be positive that he is negative.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "G I N WIDOW": Better to have a husband who plays it than drinks it.

How's the world treating you? For a personal unpublished reply send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of the Big Spring Herald.

"We cannot expect the Americans to jump from Capitalism to Communism, but we can assist their elected leaders in giving Americans small doses of Socialism, until they suddenly awake to find they have Communism."

Loyal Forces In Control In Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Loyal forces were reported in control of Puerto Cabello today after a weekend of bloody fighting to crush a Communist-backed revolt against President Romulo Betancourt's government.

Betancourt said more than 100 persons and possibly 200 had been killed in putting down a rebellious marine garrison in the port city 65 miles west of Caracas.

Unofficial reports of casualties ran as high as 400 dead and 1,200 wounded, with losses heavy on both sides.

The government announcement that the rebellion had ended came with the surrender of top rebel navy officers, but fighting still raged in the old city.

Communists, other left-wing extremists and marine diehards held out with automatic weapons in 19th century buildings put up originally to withstand pirate attacks.

The government clamped a dusk-to-dawn curfew on the Caribbean port. Betancourt said 3,000 loyal soldiers, sailors and airmen dominated the situation in the city of 23,000.

The situation was still tense in the country. Sabotage and terrorism were reported in Caracas and several other Venezuelan cities.

Newspapers said a railroad bridge was blown up on the line to the industrial city of Valencia. An oil refinery was reported sabotaged in Punto Fijo.

Three small bombs exploded in Caracas—one at the La Rinconada horse track during the races.

The Ministry of Education closed secondary schools in the capital and Valencia University was shut down.

The uprising of the 400-man marine garrison at Puerto Cabello was the second military revolt against the government in a month. A leftist-inspired mutiny at the marine base in Carupano last month was quickly squelched.

The Puerto Cabello rebels put up a stiff fight in the bloodiest yet of Betancourt's three-year-old regime.

Graham Says Americans Teeter On Edge Of Abyss

CHICAGO (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham addressed the largest crowd of his 19-day Chicago crusade for Christ Sunday and said Americans "are at the edge of an abyss and are about to fall in."

An estimated crowd of 44,000 jammed McCormick Place to hear Graham speak on the Lord's role in history. Officials of the Graham organization announced 915 persons made decisions for Christ when the evangelist called on his audience to receive God.

Preaching on Biblical significance of the course of the world's history, Graham likened present society to Sodom and Gomorrah, claiming, "The sins of Sodom are our sins."

Graham asserted that Americans live in the same false security that caused God to destroy the twin cities in the Bible. He attacked Americans' economic and military securities and our trust in science.

He collectively termed these false securities, and symbolically spoke of them as the abyss Americans are about to fall into.

Graham said another sign of Sodom was sinful merriment and he charged Americans with being equally guilty.

"The Bible finds no fault with joy. Paul wrote, 'Rejoice! Rejoice!' but we are not finding the true joy. True joy, peace of mind, and peace of heart comes only from God."

"Another sin attributed to Sodom was being too busy for God. Isn't this one of the sins of America? We believe in God, but we only give Him one hour a week. We have no real dependence on God."

Mrs. Franks Dies Sunday

Evening Affair Held Honoring Two Couples

An evening party given Saturday by Dr. and Mrs. Carl Marcum, honored Lt. Col. and Mrs. Leland Younklin and Lt. Col. and Mrs. John Holt who will soon leave for new assignments. The Younkins will go to Japan and the Holts are to be stationed in Alaska.

Mrs. Camp's Article Is Published

Mrs. Curtis Camp, 1200 East 17th, is one of the featured writers in the June issue of Christian Woman magazine, a national monthly for church women published in Abilene.

Mrs. Camp's article is entitled, "Coping With Emergencies," and it fits in well with general June theme, "The Minister's Wife."

The wife of the minister of the Church of Christ, 14th and Main Streets, Mrs. Camp is active in the programs of the congregation.

Christian Woman magazine is now in its 30th year of publication and is issued by Fidelity Press of Abilene reaching all 50 states and in some 40 foreign countries.

Thirty-four guests attended and were served from a buffet table which featured a centerpiece in keeping with the military assignments. Before a background of mums and bird-of-paradise interspersed with sprigs of cherry blossom, was a Japanese scene. Opposite this were an igloo, snowballs and ornaments symbolic of the Alaskan locale. In the living room was featured another arrangement of yellow mums and bird-of-paradise placed on the coffee table with a tall brass candlestick holding a yellow candle.

Engraved silver bowls were received by Mrs. Holt and Mrs. Younklin from their host and hostess.

Families Visit Flags Over Texas

FORSAN (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Lamb and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Heideman and daughters, Susan and Dianna, are in Fort Worth to attend the Six Flags Over Texas.

Mrs. Roy Stockstill and sons, Billy and Rusty, were visitors in Plains for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Griffith left Sunday to visit with their daughters and families in Denver and Frasier, Colo., and in El Paso.

Wilma Dunn of Odessa is here for the week with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Kubecka.

MRS. JIMMY LEONARD HALLMAN

Hallman-Nichols Vows Pledged At Coahoma

Vows of marriage were exchanged by Miss Johnnie Lou Nichols and Jimmy Leonard Hallman in a double ring service performed Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The nuptial rites were read in the sanctuary of the Coahoma Methodist Church by the Rev. Darrell Robinson of Midway Baptist Church. Altar arrangements included an arch of huckleberry flanked by gladioli and centered with a large fern tree. Pews were marked with satin bows.

The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Nichols of Big Spring and Mrs. Mamie Hallman of Coahoma.

Tommy Gilmore, vocalist, sang "Wither Thou Goest!" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied at the organ by Miss Linda Thomas.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white Chantilly lace over white satin. A scalloped neckline accented the fitted bodice which was styled with long petal point sleeves. The scalloped edging was also noted in the lace of the hooped skirt. A fingertip veil of silk illusion was secured by a crown of seed pearls and sequins. For something old, the bride wore her mother's gold wedding band; something new, her wedding attire; something borrowed, a white Bible; something blue, a friendship garter previously worn by Mrs. Lewis Petmecky and Mrs. Malcolm Roberts. Birthday pennies were placed in her shoes. She carried the Bible and white glamelias showered with French carnations tied with picot satin ribbon.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Malcolm Roberts, matron of honor. Her dress of light mint green shade was designed with gathered skirt, boat neck and short sleeves. She wore matching accessories and carried a white carnation satin ribbon. Mrs. Lewis Petmecky, bride's matron, wore identical attire to that of the matron of honor.

Tonya Dephane Nichols, Odessa, niece of the bride, wore a light green full skirted dress and hat. Ring bearer was Kelly Jay Leigh of San Angelo, cousin of the bride.

Edward Reeves of Coahoma was best man; Jimmy Watts of Coahoma, groomsman; and Malcolm Roberts, Odessa, and Jimmy Mays of Coahoma, ushers.

The bride's mother wore a silk sheath of navy with white accessories and a white corsage. The bridegroom's mother chose a silk sheath of beige with beige accessories and a white corsage.

The refreshment table was spread with a lace cloth over light green, centered with nosegays carried in the wedding by the bride's attendants. A three tiered cake, frosted white, was embossed with mint green roses and bride and groom figurines on the top tier.

Quinett Reid of Coahoma was in charge of the register. Other members of the house party were Glenda Haney, Coahoma, Texas and Sandy Nichols, Big Spring, and Mrs. Jackie Leigh, San Angelo.

WEDDING TRIP
Leaving afterward on a wedding

DATE BOOK

A meeting of the Big Spring Garden Club will be held Wednesday evening, 7:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow, 304 Hillside Drive.

trip to New Orleans, La., the bride wore a pink sheath dress of tweed linen, beige hat and other accessories. Her corsage was the glamelia from the wedding bouquet.

New Orleans is where the couple will reside.

AFFILIATIONS
After graduation from Coahoma High School in 1961, the bride completed her business education at Columbia Business College in Odessa. She has been employed by Batjer Claim Service in Big Spring.

Also a 1961 graduate of Coahoma High School, the bridegroom is presently in the US Navy stationed in New Orleans.

OUT OF TOWN GUESTS
Guests attending the wedding from out of town were Mrs. Mel Jensen and daughter, Cindy, Santa Monica, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Nichols Sr., Mrs. Jackie Leigh and children, all of San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Nichols and children, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Roberson and daughters of Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hallman and children, Mrs. Lizzie Hallman, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold House, all of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robertson, and Mrs. Lula Robertson, all of Colorado City.

Miss Pearson Is Bride Of Herman Lander Jr.

STANTON (SC) — Marriage vows were repeated by Miss Beverly Pearson and Herman Lander Jr. on Friday evening in the First Presbyterian Church, Big Spring. Dr. R. Gage Lloyd officiated before a background of white gladioli.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pearson, 1609 Avion, Big Spring, are parents of the bride. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lander, Lenorah.

The bride's aunt, Mrs. Carl Pearson, provided a series of organ selections.

The bride was dressed in a blue lace street-length dress and white accessories. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Carol Monroe was maid of honor and Jack Webster, Lenorah, served as best man. Cousin of the bride, Sandra Pearson, lighted the tapers.

RECEPTION
Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pearson, aunt and uncle of the bride, hosted a reception for the couple in their home. The couple and their parents made up the receiving line.

A three-tiered wedding cake embossed with blue tinted roses was served from a table covered with white lace. Crystal appointments were used.

Sister of the bridegroom, Faye Wagner, presided at the guest register. Other members of the house party were Sandra Pearson, cousin of the bride, Mary Webster and Mrs. Ronnie Deatherage, sister of the bridegroom.

WEDDING TRIP
For a wedding trip to Carlsbad, N.M., the bride chose a black and white dress with white accessories. She wore the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

A 1959 graduate of Big Spring High School, the bride was a member of the Future Homemakers of America and is presently employed by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

The bridegroom graduated from Flower Grove High School in 1958 where he was a member of the Future Farmers of America. He is an employe of Delta Electric Corp.

Upon returning from their wedding trip, the couple will make residence at 2612 South Monticello St.

Lawrence Fox And Wife Visit

Lawrence Fox, brother of Mrs. Halvard Hansen, and Mrs. Fox have been visiting in Big Spring. Having just received his masters degree in engineering at A&M, Fox was on his way to Peoria, Ill., where he will work in planning and development at Caterpillar Tractor Co.

Local Pair Win Honors In Bridge

Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Elmo Wasson, Big Spring, won the over-all prize in a two-session charity bridge game at the Colorado City Country Club Sunday afternoon. With 28 tables playing, the couple received a silver trophy for first place in the night session as well as another trophy as the over-all winners.

All proceeds in the game went to the national charity of the American Contract Bridge League.

Also attending from Big Spring were Mrs. J. D. Robertson and Mrs. J. H. Holloway.

Bride's Cooking Tip

Note to new cooks: dip that cutter in flour before cutting out biscuits with it. Lift the cutter from the dough, don't twist it.

Miss McNeese Married To G. A. Neel

The marriage of Miss Gehneal McNeese and Airman Gary Allen Neel took place at 6 p.m. Friday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. McNeese, 2409 E. 25 St. The Rev. L. J. Powers, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, officiated.

The couple left afterward for Youngstown, Ohio, to visit the bridegroom's parents Mr. and Mrs. Allen Neel.

They will make their home at 1511 1/2 Main. Airman Neel is stationed at Webb Air Base.

Vacationers Back From Ozark Trip

H. T. Lucas and daughter, Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., and Mrs. Tom Lucas have returned from vacationing in the Ozark Mountains of Arkansas and Missouri. They visited in St. Joseph, Mo., the town of his birth, and in Eureka Springs, Ark., an Ozark resort town.

Cosden Has Duplicate Session

Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow and Mrs. Truman Jones took first place in the north-south division of Cosden Duplicate Bridge competition Sunday. Tied for first place in east-west play were Mrs. Fern Durham and Mrs. Lloyd Nails and Mr. and Mrs. Ladd Smith. Twelve and one-half tables were in play.

Other north-south winners were Mrs. Vera Collins and Mrs. Jo McCullough, second; Sgt. Ed Hartstein and Lt. R. A. Bomwell, third; Mrs. Elvis McCreary and Mrs. R. D. Smith, fourth.

Third place winners, east-west, were Mrs. Ward Hall and Mrs. Hayes Strippling. In fourth place were Mrs. Jack Irons and Mrs. Lula Ashley.

Sutherlins Reunion Is Memorable

For John Sutherlin of Big Spring, Carlos Sutherlin of Overton and Mrs. Bertie Christian of Odessa, June 3 was a memorable day because it marked the first time the two brothers and sister had seen each other since before World War II.

At a family reunion at the home of the John Sutherlin family 36 people gathered for a barbeque and a session of watching movies of the family. Seven of Mrs. Christian's family were present.

Coming from Corsicana were the families of Herman and Bill Christian; from Midland were the Dennis Christian family and the Clifton Christian family. Also from Midland were Carmen, Bertie Mae and Patti Christian. The Rufus Christian family of Frost was present also, and from Tennessee Colony was the Ernest Pugh family.
