Yep-Summer Arrived On Schedule

Lonnie Tuttle, route carrier for the Big Spring Herald, found the sizzling 100 degree heat of Thursday afternoon difficult to endure. "It's summer, alright," observed young Tuttle, who decided a brief siesta was in order. He is the son of Noah G. Tuttle.

Flight Engineers, Unionists Discuss Proposed Agreement

NEW YORK (AP)—Union representatives of flight engineers for Pan American World Airways and Eastern Air Lines met today to discuss a proposed agreement between the union and Trans World Airlines.

Ronald Brown, president of the Flight Engineers International Association who attended the meeting called the agreement a proposed one because TWA flight engineers have yet to ratify it.

During a luncheon break, Brown declined to say specifically what was being discussed. He said results of the meeting—if any—would be made public in Washington and not here.

Today's meeting of the union executive councils and negotiators for Eastern and Pan Am flight engineers was called shortly after the AFL-CIO Flight Engineers International Association settled on a formula with Trans World Thursday and lifted a strike threat.

The probable course of the meeting would be to study the Trans World agreement, draw up a new proposal and plan further negotiations with Eastern and Pan Am in an effort to get more satisfactory terms than those being put before Trans World engineers for a ratification vote.

The dispute between the engineers and the three airlines has been the same. A strike notice is outstanding against Eastern and Pan Am, but no walkout has been called. The union called a strike against Trans World only.

The union agreement with Trans World, reached in Washington after marathon negotiations aided by Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, provided a formula for cutting jet airliner cockpit crews from four to three men.

Objections to the formula were made by Jack Robertson, chief union negotiator for Eastern engineers, and Paul Chorbajian, chief negotiator for Pan Am engineers, a union spokesman said. Both men said they were speaking for their negotiating teams.

One of their objections was said to be a desire for greater control of the engineers' representation on airline boards.

Stock Market Goes Downward

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market pointed downward again this afternoon after a rally wiped out virtually all of a heavy early loss.

The market, as measured by the popular averages, had fallen to a low level for 1962 Thursday, and the selling pressure continued today.

Trading was heavy with 2.22 billion shares changing hands in the first two hours against 1.5 million in that period Thursday. At one stage the ticker tape trailed floor transactions by 10 minutes.

At noon The Associated Press 60-stock average was off .60 to 205.30 and the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 1.30 to 549.19. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index dipped .12 to 53.47.

This was the fifth losing session of the week in a decline that has been going on for six months.

Early afternoon losses were mostly under $1.

ALGIERS (AP) — Five explosions roared out in Oran today. Smoke billowed up as fire followed the blasts, apparently set by die-hard Secret Army Organization terrorists.

New Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy was reported today to be planning to propose new farm legislation to replace the omnibus bill which the House killed Thursday.

French Airliner Falls On Caribbean Island

108 Persons Aboard Plane

A Boeing 707 Air France liner with 108 or more persons aboard crashed today on a forested hillside of the Caribbean island of Gadeloupe.

Circling search planes reported no sign of life in the wreckage. Debris was reported to have burned.

The $5.5-million plane met disaster as it headed in for a landing before dawn at the airport of Pointe-a-Pitre on a regular flight from Paris to Santiago, Chile.

The U.S. Coast Guard said the air traffic control center at Pointe-a-Pitre Airport reported the big jet had been cleared for its final approach when its radio went dead.

WRECKAGE SPOTTED

A small local plane later spotted the wreckage 3 1/2 miles inland from the north coast of the Basse Terre section of Gadeloupe, the Coast Guard said.

Weather was reported clear at the time, and the pilot had radioed he was making a visual approach to the field.

The Coast Guard in New York said its information was that the plane was carrying 102 passengers and 11 crewmen. The Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington said it was told there were 103 passengers and 5 crewmen aboard.

However, a list announced by Air France in New York showed 109 crewmen, counting the hostesses and stewards.

WRECKAGE SPOTTED

The crash occurred at about 4:25 a.m. local time (3:25 a.m. EST), the hour the plane was due to land at Gadeloupe on a flight from Santa Maria, the Azores.

FIRST WORD

First word that the Air France liner was in trouble came at 6:19 a.m. (EST) when the Coast Guard received this message: "Distress, Air France Flight 117, B707, overdue. . . ."

An all-ships distress signal was flashed to naval vessels, asking them to proceed to the area. Two Coast Guard amphibious planes and a patrol boat were dispatched from San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Senator Case, Road-Water Expert, Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Francis Case, R-S.D., a 25-year veteran of Congress, died today. He was 65.

Case, born in Everly, Iowa, on Dec. 9, 1896, served seven terms in the House and two in the Senate.

He was the ranking Republican member of the Senate Public Works Committee.

Case long had been associated with legislation concerning water conservation and the nation's highways.

He was treated at the nearby Bethesda Naval Hospital in mid-March for what was described as a mild heart involvement after an earlier bout with the flu.

He was taken back by ambulance from the Capitol Thursday night and died at 9:19 a.m. today.

THIRD TERM

On June 5, Case swamped South Dakota Atty. Gen. A. C. Miller nearly 5 to 1 to win renomination for a third term. Case did virtually no campaigning in the primary.

He was to have faced Democrat George McGovern, who quit as President Kennedy's Food for Peace director, in the November election.

Case termed himself a moderate Republican. Miller ran in the primary as an ultraconservative.

Case's death leaves a lineup of 64 Democrats and 35 Republicans in the Senate.

Case, a former newspaper editor, raised Hereford cattle and saddle horses on his ranch near Custer in South Dakota's Black Hills. He was an expert horseman.

It was a Case resolution, adopted in 1939-40 while he was in the House, which produced the studies that led to authorization of the Missouri River Flood Control Act of 1944.

RESERVED POWER

He also authored, and got through Congress, a provision, reserving half of the power generated from Big Bend Dam on the Missouri River for use in South Dakota.

Case was an opponent of backdoor spending practices in government, a form of financing through Treasury borrowing rather than by direct congressional appropriations.

Other programs with which Case was identified included research efforts to produce usable water supplies from brackish and sea water and weather control studies including cloud seeding techniques.

One of the five demonstration plants built by the government in the saline water conversion program was located at Webster, S.D.

Case submitted the first legislative proposal for selling surplus farm commodities to foreign countries in exchange for foreign currencies.

THIRD IN RANK

He was the third ranking Republican member of the Senate Armed Services Committee. Through his two important committee posts, he served as an ex-officio member of the Senate Appropriations Committee for national defense and rivers and harbors bills.

He moved with his parents to Sturgis, S.D., in 1909, attended high school at Sturgis and Hot Springs and held degrees from Dakota Wesleyan (Mitchell, S.D.) and Northwestern universities.

During World War I, Case served as a private in the Marine Corps. He had been a captain in the Marine Reserves since 1937.

He edited newspapers in Rapid City, Hot Springs and Custer, S.D., in 1922-42.

STATE REGENTS

Case served as a member of the State Regents of Education from 1931-33. He made an unsuccessful race for the House in 1934 before being elected to the first of his seven terms in 1898.

Survivors include his widow, the former Myrtle Graves of Mitchell, S.D., and one daughter, Jane. His son, Francis-Higbee Case Jr., died in 1945.

Well Survey Total Is 51

AUSTIN (AP)—Crews hunting crooked oil wells in the East Texas and Hawkins Fields completed three more inclination surveys Thursday, bringing the total to 51.

They also have made 27 directional surveys, Railroad Commission Chairman W. J. Murray said.

Inclination surveys can show whether a well slants or curves more than the permitted three degrees, but it takes a directional survey to determine exactly how much deviation exists.

Thirty-five of the inclination surveys have been on wells whose operators are under court order not to interfere with the probe, Murray said, and 23 of the 32 directional surveys turned up crooked wells.

Murray said oil stealing detected in the East Texas field also may be going on elsewhere.

He said, however, that drilling of crooked holes so as to drain oil from neighboring leases "would not be as profitable in other fields as in the East Texas field."

Some wells in the East Texas field have been drilled more nearly horizontal than vertical, he said.

The commission, attorney general's office, Department of Public Safety and federal investigators have been probing reports of crooked drilling in the East Texas field for several months. Their investigation spread to the Hawkins Field last week.

Estimates of "hot oil" pumped through slanted wells have run as high as $6 million a month.

"One or more trusted employees" of the commission may have been involved, Murray told newsmen. Without giving names, he said two employees have been fired and three have resigned for other than routine reasons.

Rep. Mahon Votes Against Farm Bill

Citizens Will Fete AFROTC Cadets

Big Spring residents will entertain more than 200 visitors Monday evening—Air Force ROTC cadets stationed at Webb AFB for summer training.

The cadets are now in their second week of training. They were divided into seven flights of about 28 members each. Eight of the cadets are seniors and will receive their Air Force commissions at the conclusion of the camp.

Meanwhile, residents were urged to pick up their tickets for the annual AFROTC barbecue, to be held at the Cooden Country Club Monday. A swimming party is slated for 5 p.m., followed by the barbecue at 7 p.m. Tickets may be picked up at the Chamber of Commerce offices.

The barbecue is an annual gesture by residents welcoming the ROTC cadets to Big Spring. It also gives alumnus of the various colleges an opportunity to catch up on the latest news from their colleges, by meeting some of the young men now enrolled.

All plans and arrangements have been completed for the special event. Civic leaders urged residents to call for tickets as soon as possible, in order not to be disappointed.

The cadets came from some 50 colleges and universities. The Texas A&M leads the list with 20 cadets, including: Charles N. Walls, John H. Smith, Thomas J. Ennelly Jr., Peter C. Forester, William A. Holt Jr., Johnnie L. Nolte Jr., Earl J. Anderson, J. D. Brome Jr., James E. Ray, Robert D. Nelson, Charles A. Mills, Lindley R. Pickard, Ellis P. Murphy, Charles H. Maurer, Charles W. Pushing, James L. Murphy, Rooney E. Langer, Halbert E. Hughes Jr., Eugene Miller, and John S. Rogers.

Louisiana State University, with 17, is runner-up; Russell L. Voorhis, Ernest R. Theriot, Harry W. Smith, Sammie C. Simonton, Barry G. Swarts, George N. Gonzales, Wayne J. Arnold, Franklin J. Breeden, Gerald B. Barnett, John E. Boudreaux, Joel T. Pressburg, Guy H. Morgan, Lionel F. Price, Donald W. Lewis, Earl C. Reynolds, Allen W. Landiche, Michael G. Oliver.

On The Double

Processing and getting settled for the four-week grind is, in itself, a job for the USAF ROTC cadets now taking summer camp training at Webb AFB. Here, Cadet Sidney P. Alexander of Baylor University's Cadet Corps, catches his eye on the double.

Laos Princes Agree Again On Coalition

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Prince Souvanna Phouma announced tonight agreement has been reached among the three Laotian factions on all points of difference which have been delaying the inauguration of a coalition government.

Souvanna, who will head the coalition, said the Cabinet will be installed Saturday.

Thus the off-again, on-again plans for establishing joint rightist, neutralist, leftist rule over this troubled land to make it neutral in the cold war appeared once more to be on.

The latest previous compromise agreement among the factions collapsed after less than 24 hours.

Phoumi Vongvichit of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao group told newsmen that Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, leader of the pro-Western right-wing faction, had reversed himself and once more insisted that the royal decree installing the new government include mention of the conservative-dominated National Assembly.

Vongvichit said in addition a disagreement had developed over two other constitutional points relating to inauguration of the coalition headed by neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma. "The government is to include neutralists, pro-Communists and right-wingers with Gen. Phoumi and Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the Pathet Lao, as deputy premiers.

Vongvichit reported the new obstacles after a one-hour meeting with Prince Souvanna and Gen. Phoumi.

The right-wing leader had announced Thursday night that the three factions had settled their differences and the way was clear for installation of the new cabinet on Saturday, Phoumi said then he had withdrawn his insistence that the installation decree specify that the coalition was taking office after approval by the National Assembly.

The Pathet Lao had balked at recognizing the legality of the rightist dominated National Assembly.

Premier-designate Souvanna indicated the argument had been primarily between the rightists and the Communists.

"As for me, I am an intermediate," he said. "I will accept any reasonable solution."

While the Laotian leaders ironed out their disagreements British Ambassador Sir Frank Roberts conferred in Moscow with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Georgi Puschkin on calling the Geneva conference back into session. Britain and the Soviet Union are co-chairmen of the conference which previously agreed on establishment of an independent, neutral Laos with Souvanna as premier.

The new session at which the Laotians would endorse the agreement may be held about July 2.

Bludgeon Death Of 2 School Girls Probed

MORRIS TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP) — Police waged an intensive investigation today in the bludgeoning slaying of two pretty high school girls whose bodies were found off a lonely road in a wooded area here Thursday.

An 18-year-old youth, an acquaintance of the girls, was questioned for several hours, given a lie detector test and later released.

Prosecutor Frank C. Sierbo said the youth admitted talking to the girls at a soda shop Wednesday night.

The victims were identified as Margaret Ann Kennedy, 16, and Noreen Buckley, 17, both of Morris Plains.

Police said the girls were fully clothed and had not been raped.

Medical Examiner William F. Costello, who performed autopsies, said each died of severe blows on the head.

A tire iron was found not far away from the bodies. Police said it could have been the murder weapon.

Three boys, hiking along a narrow dirt path, came across the body of the Buckley girl. The boys at first believed she had been run over by a car. They rushed to police.

Authorities combed the area and discovered the body of the Kennedy girl about 300 yards away in the woods.

Police said the girls were reported missing Thursday after they had failed to return from a shopping trip to nearby Morristown. The bodies were found about 4 p.m.

Both girls were students at Bailey-Elliard High School, a Roman Catholic school in Madison.

The girls had been last seen about 8 p.m. Wednesday, police said, when several friends had reported talking with them at a soda shop near the center of Morristown.

Jetfire Has Turbo-Charged Engine

Oldsmobile has brought out the new Jetfire, a sports coupe which is the first American production car to be powered by a turbo-charged, fluid injection V-8 engine. A revolutionary concept in engine design, the Turbo-Rocket unit combines supercharging with ultra-high compression for top performance in all driving ranges. It delivers 215 horsepower, utilizing a 16.25 to 1 compression ratio. Available in limited production, the Jetfire is distinguished by hardtop design, and special exterior detailing. There are bucket seats and a center console with turbo-charger performance gauge. There are also optional features. The Jetfire is being shown locally at Shroyer Motor Co.

Administration Revives Coordination Of Statements

WASHINGTON (AP) — After several weeks of watching its officials take conflicting measurements of the economy, the Kennedy administration has revived procedures for coordinating domestic policy statements.

President Kennedy reportedly was concerned, and executives around the tables of corporation board rooms confused, by the spray of opinions from Washington.

Now, according to administration sources, speeches and statements in thorny areas will be coordinated. That means they'll be screened, probably at the White House, to make sure they express consistent policy.

A statement this week by Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, accentuated the situation. It prompted a quick contradiction by Clague's boss, Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

Ever since the stock market took its big dip, administration spokesmen have been insisting the economy is in good health. All of a sudden Clague was quoted as saying a recession is likely next year and the only question really is when it will happen. Goldberg swiftly countered that "the economic facts do not bear out such an assumption." Then Clague issued a statement contending he had been misinterpreted—that he had not predicted a recession but was analyzing economic trends which show a downturn every 3 or 3½ years.

Goldberg's was the first direct, public reaction to a theory expounded by another government official. Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, has said he knew of no clearing system through which recent statements on the economy passed—and the record bears him out.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said on June 4 the administration would recommend "top to bottom" income tax cuts for next year. Two days later stories appeared in several papers that Kennedy had decided to propose immediate income tax reduction, or at least had it under the deepest kind of consideration. The reports obviously stemmed from an administration source, reportedly one in the White House.

More Hot Weather

By The Associated Press

Temperatures climbed in Texas as summer arrived Thursday, and more hot weather was in prospect Friday.

The mercury mounted to 106 degrees at Presidio, a usual hot spot in the Big Bend country. Wink recorded 101 and El Paso 100. Other points had highs in the 90s except for 88 at Brownsville and Galveston.

A few scattered thunderstorms rumbled across the north part of the Texas Panhandle during the night. The Weather Bureau issued a tornado alert for the northeast corner of the Panhandle Thursday evening, but there was no report of damaging weather.

Skies were generally clear throughout the state by morning with the exception of a few low clouds along the Texas coast.

Forecasts promised more warm weather and clear to partly cloudy skies in all sections through Saturday. Isolated thunderstorms were in prospect along the coast and a few evening thunderstorms were predicted in the Panhandle.

The temperatures early Friday ranged from 63 degrees at Dalt to 80 at Galveston.

House Knocks Out Kennedy Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's farm bill is dead. The surprise defeat of the far-reaching bill in the House Thursday night by a 215-205 vote was all the more shocking to administration leaders because up to the last minute they thought they would win.

The sudden death came at 8:47 p.m. in the tension-filled House; 48 Democrats, not all Southern conservatives by any means, helped 167 Republicans do it. Only one Republican—Rep. Phil Weaver of Nebraska—voted with 204 Democrats against scuttling the bill by sending it back to committee.

TO BE COSTLY
The White House immediately issued a statement saying the defeat "will cost the taxpayers of the United States at least an additional $1 billion next year and return the country to the ruinous deficit farm programs with accompanying growth in our already staggering $9 billion surplus."

"It is regrettable that the Republican members of the House, with only one exception, chose to make party issue of this matter instead of voting in the national interest. They will now have to bear the responsibility for the continuing chaos in our agricultural surplus situation."

The statement made no reference to the Democrats who voted against the bill.

The powerful American Farm Bureau Federation, which led the fight against the bill, called the House action a "victory for farmers, consumers, and taxpayers," adding "the only losers were the political empire builders in Washington."

The bill would have placed mandatory acreage reductions and national marketing quotas for the first time on feed grains and wheat. These crops have contributed most to the massive surplus stocks now held by the government.

ONLY HOPE
Such controls were the only hope of reducing costs of federal price support programs, backers of the measure claimed.

The Senate already has passed a bill very similar to the one snuffed out in the House. The Senate measure could be brought to the House floor if it is approved by the House Agriculture Committee. But this did not appear likely because the committee approved its own bill by a margin of only one vote.

Rep. Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., chairman of the House Agriculture

Committee and floor chairman of the bill, indicated it was unlikely the House would act on the Senate bill.

Nor did he show any enthusiasm for a quick attempt to get present emergency feed and wheat programs extended for another year. In the absence of any legislation, the law reverts to the 1958 act of former Republican Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, which the Democrats claim is largely responsible for the present mountainous pile of surpluses.

PLAYED ALL CARDS
There is no doubt the administration played every card it had to try to win passage of its bill. Capitol Hill telephones had been kept jingling with calls from the White House.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman had invested an enormous amount of time and effort to persuade his fellow Democrats to vote for the bill, and spent most of the three-day debate in an office just across a hall from the House chamber. Republicans decided his efforts as pressure tactics and arm-twisting.

Just after Thursday night's vote, Freeman emerged from the office looking stunned and unbelieving. "I expected it to go the other way," he said. "I'm still trying to find out what happened."

House Democratic leaders had been quietly confident all along that they had enough votes to put across the bill.

Post mortems on what went wrong were the order of the day. Observers agreed that it was Kennedy's most damaging setback in Congress this year, and that its adverse political effect could hardly be overestimated. The defeat is bound to lend encouragement to opponents of other major Kennedy bills, such as tax revision, reciprocal trade revision and medical care for the aged.

MOST CHALLENGING TEST
And it was perhaps the most challenging test so far of the new House Democratic leadership of Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts. He obviously failed the test from the administration point of view.

Republicans refrained from crowing, but they murmured approval during the tense roll call as they noted more and more Democrats joining them.

Most of the Texas, Mississippi and Virginia delegations voted with the Republicans, in spite of an arm-long list of amendments accepted by the leadership in an effort to sweeten the bill for their areas.

But some northern and western Democrats classed as party faithful or liberals joined too. They included Neal Smith of Iowa, John Roush of Indiana, Joseph Montoya and Thomas Morris of New Mexico, Leo O'Brien of New York, John E. Fogarty of Rhode Island and others.

WOULD HAVE CARRIED
If only six of these had voted the other way, the bill would have carried.

After it was all over, Cooley asked for a recapitulation of the vote, a rare procedure that gives a little more time.

Speaker McCormack, realizing that a margin of 10 votes was not even close, denied the request.

DEAR ABBY

He Needs A Dentist

DEAR ABBY: Have you ever kissed a man without teeth? Well, I wouldn't wish it on my worst enemy. My husband 'akes his dentures out every chance he gets and he won't try to get used to them. When I put up a fuss he puts his teeth in to kiss me, but most of the time he doesn't even know where they are. He has had his false teeth for over two years and he hasn't given them a chance. What can I do?

DEAR END: Your husband does not give his dentures a chance because they don't fit him. It's not his fault. Tell him to trot back to the dentist who made them and put the bite on him for an adjustment or a new set!

DEAR ABBY: When should a girl start her hope chest?

MARGIE
DEAR MARGIE: As soon as she has "hope."

DEAR ABBY: There is a middle-aged woman who works at the mill where I work. She is what every man wants. What she does is her own business, but now she has a young boy so dizzy about her I am afraid one of these days he will put his hand in one of the machines. Maybe I feel like I do because I have a boy just his age. He is in Korea. Anyway, this trampy woman goes everywhere with this kid and keeps him out until all hours, drinking and twisting. She is no good. Should someone talk to his parents? Or would it be better to talk to the boy? He is just a green kid who doesn't know what life is all about.

WANTS TO HELP
DEAR WANTS: Since you seem eager to "talk" to someone, talk to this woman. If the boy is under age, she can be hauled into court for contributing to the delinquency of a minor. But whoever makes the charges had better be able to back them up with proof.

How's the world treating you? For a personal unpublished reply, assigned back to a place where they are acquainted with a lot of people — like their home town. The department wants them to work with strangers.

"The Department feels it is best for the new men to deal with individuals on a different basis than a friendship basis," explained Sgt. L. C. (Doc) Evans of Texarkana. Sitting with the representatives of the four divisions of the department for the interviews may be a businessman, banker, lawyer, or newsmen.

TEXARKANA, (AP) — The young man stepped up to the desk and took a seat. He faced five men. They included four veterans of the Texas Department of Public Safety and a private citizen.

They were all there to ask questions, observe and make a report of their personal reactions to the young man.

"Now, don't be nervous," said a veteran law enforcement officer. "We simply want to know all about you — your past, what you are doing now, and exactly why you are here."

"We will ask frank questions. Some may be embarrassing. But we want frank and honest answers, so you may as well speak frankly and honestly, because we'll get the answers, anyhow. Now, let's talk about you."

pected evasion, the probing gets a little deeper.

"Any family trouble? . . . Why does your wife live in another town from you? . . . Why the separation? . . . Who keeps your children? . . . Why?"

"Why do you want to become a law enforcement officer? . . . What does your wife think about your application? . . . Does she know you'll have to move to another part of the state if you qualify, and your family probably will never live in your home town again?"

This is only one small part of the screening process that weeds out the "haves" from the "have nots" in the Department of Public Safety's program to recruit the highest type men available.

FEW CHOSEN

Many apply. Few are chosen. At the interview tables across the state, the applicants are looked over carefully. The ones with the long side-burns, the cowboy boots, the swag, the evasive answers, the marital problems and the home-town troubles are pretty quickly spotted.

A young man (21-35) who wants to join the department starts the ball rolling when he applies to the training and personnel division. If he meets the requirements, he is notified when the next written examination is given.

They are conducted at 12 different Highway Patrol Headquarters in Texas.

The written examinations are studied. A number of applicants flunk out. Those who show qualifications and promise then take their examination before the interview board.

The applicants are graded, zero to 100, on physical appearance, voice and speech, ability to communicate and apparent ability to get along with others.

FINAL RULING

Then the final evaluation is made by each interviewer. "Not suited." "Qualified for training."

Those who come out with a good record in qualification, written examination, and the oral interview, still face other tests.

A sergeant in the area where the applicant lives makes a personal check.

If an applicant passes these hurdles, he has one of the biggest ones before him — the training school in Austin.

The first phase is a general training school for all candidates, and the decision is made as to the type of work for which the applicant is best qualified. These include the Highway Patrol, License and Weight, Drivers License and Motor Inspection Divisions.

At Austin, the candidates undergo 16 weeks of rigorous physical and mental training — the latter including 35 or 36 courses in different phases of law enforcement techniques, knowledge, and training — conditioning necessary for a trained officer to go into the field and accomplish his job.

MORE FALL OUT

The final phase of the test is so tough that 20 per cent of appointed applicants are lost on the physical examination alone, and less than 40 per cent who are deemed good prospects actually finish the training.

The ones who graduate won't be

Ike Expected To Rip Into JFK Domestic Plans Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans expect former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to rip into the Kennedy administration's domestic program tonight at a $300,000 fund-raising dinner.

Aides of Rep. Bob Wilson of California, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, reported an advance sell-out of 3,000 seats for the $100-a-plate dinner to be held on two floors of a local hotel. Of the funds raised, 75 per cent will go to House and 25 per cent to Senate candidates.

Eisenhower, who seems to be enjoying a political role more than he ever did while in the White House, has emerged as the single national figure around whom all Republicans seem able to rally in their efforts to regain control of the House in the November elections. Senate and House campaigners ruled out any other speaker for tonight's affair.

The former president is getting the kind of national attention with his attacks on the Kennedy administration that Wilson, GOP National Chairman William E. Miller and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., with his large conservative following, have failed to command.

With Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller busily engaged in efforts to get re-elected in New York and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon fighting for the governorship in California, Eisenhower remains one of the few leaders not engaged in what he might like to call "parochial" pursuits.

Beyond this, the former president has displayed a knack of dramatizing his opposition to some of Kennedy's proposals.

In one such instance he was quoted recently by Rep. Catherine May, R-Wash., as saying he would be darned if he wouldn't rather go to jail than buckle to the controls contained in the administration's farm bill.

In another, he offered to be nailed to a cross if it could be shown that his former secretary of the Treasury, George M.

Humphrey, had done anything wrong in connection with defense stockpiling.

Eisenhower has been in tune with most Republicans in declaring himself "deeply concerned about the direction our economy seems to be going" under the Kennedy administration.

He had his party with him in attacking the President's "heavy spending on all fronts" and in criticizing what he called moves to increase presidential authority.

Most, but not all, GOP congressional members supported his position that medical care for the elderly should not be financed by the compulsory collection of Social Security taxes.

Tonight's meeting will be the prelude to a June 30 gathering of party leaders at Eisenhower's Gettysburg, Pa., farm to form an all-Republican conference. Chairman Miller is supporting the project with the idea of establishing a permanent consultative body to give the party a larger forum for advising on party programs.

Then, the questioning begins — and the Texas Department of Public Safety takes another step in the job of picking its men.

"Tell us when and where you were born. Where are you now living? Tell us about your family. . . ."

"Most people spend about eight hours at work each day and about the same amount sleeping. . . . tell us what you do with the remaining hours of the day. . . . what do you do on weekends. . . . at night?"

The questions are rapid and to the point.

QUIZ BEGINS

"Tell us some of the things you and your family do together. . . . do you have any best friend? . . . what do you consider as the basis for this friendship? . . ."

"What church do you belong to? . . . Any civic organizations. Fraternal organizations? . . . Ever been in jail? . . . Traffic violations? . . . ever been arrested for drunkenness?"

A Devotional For The Day

Lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world. (Matthew 28:20.)
PRAYER: O God, I bring Thee thanks for Thy promise that is mine today. Open my eyes that I may realize that Thou art with me and dost walk by my side. Grant me so to live that I can be a witness to Thy presence. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Period Of Awakening

Most economic as well as a majority of political observers believe that the President's blunt handling of the steel price hike triggered the current market decline. A good portion of these same sources figure that the underlying causes were there all along.

The market in general had lost touch with reality when it came to corporate expectations. Fantastic prices were being paid with a record of one to two per cent earnings—in some cases practically none.

Back of this were some other factors. George Humphrey, secretary of the Treasury under President Eisenhower, frequently talked of the great awakening that was around the corner when we discovered that we could no longer sell almost anything anywhere in the world at the asking price. If wages and prices kept going up at the expense of the consumer, the awakening was bound to come, he said.

And there is good reason to believe that he was right. The attrition on our gold reserves is one evidence, and the stiffer and stiffer international market competition is another. The Common Market may even accelerate the trend.

Perhaps the time has come when we awaken to this reality, that the slowing or stalling of inflation is not without its jolts, and that dulcet reassurances or bitter resentments will not move the economic tides. That can be done by rolling up collective sleeves and going to work in the realization that every segment and every group has an equal obligation to sacrifice in the interest of our free and vigorous society.

Grind Slowly And Fine

The city's planning and zoning commission has affirmed an intention of taking ample time to consider aspects of applications for change or deviation.

This is not to say that the commission has acted hastily in the past, but rather that the commission is aware of the increasing pressures to act hastily if not compulsively.

It seems to us that the reaffirmation of policies in regard to ample notice and time possess a lot of logic and wisdom.

Every case which comes before the commission is a special case, especially in the eyes of the applicant. Many of them are meritorious and are entitled to relief. On the other hand, many of them are matters based largely on convenience and have no relation to the over-all objective and purposes of the zoning system.

While it would be silly to have a board and a means of appeal without keeping this avenue of adjustment open in spirit, it would be equally fallacious to be pressured through demands of haste to grant changes and alterations which punch basic holes in the plan. Thus, the commission is performing an added service in putting all concerned on notice that the mill will grind slowly in an effort to grind exceedingly fine.

David Lawrence Controlling Nuclear Weapons

WASHINGTON — Sometimes the obvious is either overlooked or doesn't sink in right away. A case in point is what's happening in America's relations with the Soviet Union.

A "stalemate" is really new in effect. Will it develop into one of those long periods of peace in world history based on the maintenance of a "balance of power" without a big war?

THUS, IT IS obvious that Premier Khrushchev, without signing an agreement with this country, and President Kennedy, without signing an agreement with Moscow, have both come separately to the conclusion that Red China's possession of nuclear weapons could lead to a nuclear war which might destroy every body. If nuclear arms are to be withheld from Red China by Russia, isn't it logical then for the United States, as a balancing factor, to withhold nuclear weapons from France or any other country hereafter? Back of this unwritten understanding emerges, as always in diplomacy, a powerful reason why a given policy makes sense from the standpoint of both sides.

Red China could be an irresponsible wielder of nuclear weapons. This could lead to a nuclear war that could destroy Russia as well as other areas of the world. Hence Moscow is unwilling to build up Red China as a nuclear power.

FRANCE, OF course, wouldn't be irresponsible or go counter to American desires, but if the United States distributes nuclear data and equipment and helps build up other nations allied with it, the Soviet Union couldn't logically withhold nuclear knowledge and weapons from Red China.

Now this doesn't mean that America intends to reduce in any way its nuclear power. Nor is there to be any hesitation about using nuclear weapons if circumstances ever require it. What is planned is to concentrate nuclear power inside the NATO alliance for defensive purposes in Europe and leave the main control to the United States because the truly big missile bases are in this country.

A MOST SIGNIFICANT address on the subject was delivered last Saturday by Secretary of Defense McNamara. It was prepared after the most intensive study by Secretary of State Rusk and officials of all departments concerned, as well as by President Kennedy. There was no mention of France, but the speech was aimed at answering General De Gaulle's argument for a separate national nuclear force of his own. Mr. McNamara, without referring to the Soviet relationship to Red China, made this statement which applies to both sides in the "cold war":

"The creation of a single additional national nuclear force encourages the proliferation of nuclear power with all of its attendant dangers."

to "grow by multiplying new parts in quick succession." If Red China gets nuclear weapons from the Soviet Union, members of the Communist bloc in Europe—Poland or Czechoslovakia—would demand them, too. And if West Germany had a nuclear force of her own, East Germany would want to be protected by some kind of nuclear strength. Even though these might be small forces in themselves, they could add up to an array of national units, any one of which could plunge the world into a nuclear war overnight. Secretary McNamara put it this way in his speech:

"In short, then, limited nuclear capabilities, operating independently, are dangerous, expensive, prone to obsolescence, and lacking in credibility as a deterrent."

MR. McNAMARA mentioned that the United States during the coming fiscal year will spend close to $15 billion on its nuclear weapons. "To insure their adequacy," this is tantamount to saying that a severe economic drain would arise in any country that sought to become a nuclear power. And yet proficiency in nuclear warfare would not be attained.

Hence, the building of nuclear strength for military purposes by any power except the United States and the Soviet Union would be a costly, dangerous and, indeed, superfluous project. Even Great Britain is finding it an expensive undertaking, and her contributions hereafter will be largely supplementary and not independent of NATO. Secretary Rusk has gone to Paris to argue all this out with General De Gaulle, but the McNamara speech laid the main points on the line ahead of time.

PREIDENT KENNEDY has, therefore, developed a sound policy, and since it happens by coincidence to be based on the very same kind of argument that appeals to the Soviet government in its relations with Red China, the world may hope for a period of "stalemate."

It goes without saying that the big task still is to avert a nuclear outbreak as between the Soviet Union and the United States. And this means that monkey business in and around Berlin has to be suspended by Mr. Khrushchev, and the "crisis" atmosphere avoided so that fears of a surprise attack on the nuclear side will be largely removed.

NOW THIS doesn't bar the building up by either side of conventional forces—ordinary armies and navies. The United States wants to strengthen NATO and already has promised some missile-bearing Polaris submarines for the use of the Western Alliance. But, as Mr. McNamara has pointed out, defense in modern wars is not the responsibility of any one power but of all powers in an alliance. It's a necessary strategy, as World War I and World War II proved. Allied rather than individual planning now has been accepted as vital in deterring or preventing a third world war.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Question: Can you avert an economic slump by keeping mum about the possibility there may be one?

The question arises because of Clague, the commissioner of

NEW YORK (AP)—A remarkable number of husbands have noticed how much easier it has been to get along with their wives lately.

Under some circumstances this might be put down as a fit of irrational petulance bound to pass as the economy made the adjustment to living without the threat of inflation. Clague's chief, Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, quickly said in a statement: "Economic facts do not bear out such an assumption."

Then the Labor Department got in touch with Clague by phone, and put out a statement quoting him as saying his remarks were not a prediction. He said he was only analyzing historic trends which, if projected, "indicated an economic peak might be reached sometime in 1963 which might be followed by a business downturn."

Around The Rim Chaos Out Of Confusion

Early in the year 1961, Spain hopefully ended a long siege of revolution and anarchy stretching back to 1962, King Alfonso XIII abdicated, and Spain's Republican Party was elected by a landslide.

But Spain was not to be freed from its tragic heritage. Political elements made up of the army, the rich landowners, and the church opposed any form of democracy. Lined up against these were the now-ruling Republicans, along with such splinter parties as the Regionalists, Separatists, Socialists, New Industrialists, Extreme Leftists, Anarchists, and a scattering of intellectuals.

THE COMMUNISTS were unhappy over not having won seats in parliament, and immediately the country was plagued with strikes. The Republicans suppressed them.

The constitution nevertheless was proclaimed and the inexperienced new government set out to implement its terms. It was one of the most democratic constitutions ever drawn up, including most of the freedoms guaranteed to American citizens.

But it was not to be. Spain had inherited all the old problems, plus a slew of new troubles. Extreme factions went to work and until 1956 kept the nation constantly in turmoil. The economy, already hurt by the world-wide depression, was nearly ruined. Armed uprisings, mostly by extreme leftists, were bloodily smashed.

THE EXTREMISTS had hoped to win the elections of February, 1956. They did not. The people gave the Republicans an overwhelming mandate. The extremists went underground, fighting each other. Strikes, bombings and assassinations were daily occurrences.

There was a break between the moderate left and moderate right of the Republican Party, and the extremists exploited the break with more violence. Finally, with the killing of the conservative parliamentary leader, the moderate rightists, no longer moderate, withdrew from the government.

A GENERAL RIGHTIST uprising was beaten down, except for a small pocket in the southwest led by a general named Franco. Nazi Germany and Mussolini's Italy sent troops and arms, and Moroccan mercenaries came from Africa. The democracies imposed an arms embargo on both sides, an act which succeeded only in hurting the Republicans. The Soviet Union sent some arms supplies, international Communists sent volunteers and mercenaries—and thousands of non-Communist individuals went to fight for the Republic. Spain became a battleground between international extremist forces while the democracies stood idly by.

FOR A LONG TIME, extremists in the U. S. (both Communists and rightists) have been trying to put over the big lie that the Spanish Republican government was run by the Reds. They overlook the fact that the Republicans had beaten down Communist uprisings on many occasions and, upon Franco's revolt, were forced to accept whatever help they could get. (Finland had to accept help from Hitler to beat off the Soviets just a few years later.)

PERHAPS THE BEST and most ironic illustration of the true nature of the Spanish Civil War may be seen in the last bitter days when all but Madrid had fallen to the Fascists, and the city itself was under siege. The Communists chose this time to attempt an uprising (creating a civil war within a civil war) while the Fascists looked on gleefully. The Republicans slaughtered the Reds, and then turned back to be slaughtered by the Fascists. —BOB SMITH

Woman! What an unmitigated trial she is to poor, kind, long-suffering man! We should blush for our delinquencies. At this very instant I am making a stern resolution to straighten up, mend my ways and do my best to be a comfort instead of hardship to that other, that wonderful, sublime, infallible sex.

BUT ON SECOND thought, NO! Woman would only add to man's insupportable burden if she, too, suddenly became wonderful, sublime and infallible. Since the Garden of Eden woman has been unto man the one necessity, and the only one, without which he cannot live. And I don't mean sex.

Man has been known to live without "it"—not happily, perhaps, and with the counter-irritation of a hair shirt and cold showers. What man cannot really live without, in any country or any climate, is a scapegoat.

Adam automatically cast Eve in this indispensable (for him) role when in the garden, he said unto the Lord, "The woman thou gavest to be with me, she gave me of the tree and I did eat."

INDEED, MAN in his instinctive grasp for a scapegoat clearly—or so it seems, in all pieties, to me—plainly pointed out to the Lord that he, Adam, was in no wise accountable for the woman "thou gavest to be with me." Right then and there, Adam washed right out of his hair any and all responsibility not only for eating the apple, but for the woman who enticed him to take a bite.

At all odds, Adam quickly established to his own satisfaction that he was answerable for neither the woman nor the core. And thereby he established for all time man's oldest and handiest alibi.

NODODY HAS been able to pin nothin' on him or his descendants in succeeding millenniums. M-O-M spells Mom, and there she stands while the all-male choir chants, "GUILTY."

My burden of guilt for all the world's wrongs is weighing especially heavily since the current pronouncements of two men, of course. First, we women are wholly to blame for the stock market's recent plummet to the mezzanine and, second, women drivers are somehow responsible for the terrible traffic mess in which New York has wallowed for years. Who else?

It wasn't infallible man who threw in the blue chips that set off Wall Street's Black Monday, May 28, but the little woman who panicked, thrust out the bull and let the bear into Eden. That's what Wilbert H. Tebbe, vice-presy of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, says.

MAN, LOR' LUV him, must have a scapegoat even when the world he made of finance wobbles. Adam long ago discovered that for man the saddest words of tongue or pen are: "There is no one to blame but myself." Tebbe, bless him, is proving himself a true son of the old Adam, who wouldn't have sold Eden short if it hadn't been for Eve.

As for New York traffic, it is one woman's opinion that Henry A. Barnes, whom this city hired some months ago to straighten out its traffic chaos, has enough trouble on hand without attacking women drivers.

FOR MY PART, I think we ought to plead guilty, once and for all, and throw ourselves on the mercy of the all-wise man—our male, too. Natch.

Marquis Childs The Rift Between Business And JFK

NEW YORK—One of the less malevolent anti-Kennedy jokes circulating in the business community here is in the form of a riddle. The three Kennedy brothers, Teddy, Bobby and the President, are in a boat that is sinking in midocean.

Question: Who would be saved? The answer to this rudimentary conundrum is: The country.

THOSE KNOWING from intimate firsthand knowledge the financial-business community not only in New York but across the country say that it would be impossible to exaggerate the resentment, the downright hatred, that is the prevailing attitude toward the President and his Administration. Anyone in the camp who ventures to question the view that the President is anti-business and that his policies have brought on the stock market slide, which reflects the lack of confidence of business, is looked on with suspicion.

A personal survey of more than 50 leading bankers across the country brought the virtually unanimous view that the Kennedy policies were harmful to business and that as a consequence business would suffer. When a mild dissent was entered by rather more sophisticated New York bankers, who pointed out that there was little tangible evidence to support this view, it was considered as a heresy that had best be ignored.

UNDER SOME circumstances this might be put down as a fit of irrational petulance bound to pass as the economy made the adjustment to living without the threat of inflation. In calmer times several Presidents have feuded with business, and the sounds of battle have eventually died away without too much harm to the country.

But today so much turns on an effective cooperation between business and government. Above all, this is true with respect to the outflow of gold and dollars and the need to achieve an effective working relationship with the European Common Market and the new tariff structure the market is beginning to erect.

AMONG YOUNGER executives in the business community there is an awareness ness of the hazards in the current hate-Kennedy attitude. Believing that the pessimism is unjustified by an outward evidence, they nevertheless realize that if it persists it can influence the state of the economy. In short, the fear is that the men at the top can talk the country into a recession which is wholly unjustified.

There is also some awareness that should the President become convinced that the world of business and finance has completely hardened against him he might decide to take the offensive. Thus far he has stood in a posture almost of supplication, with the olive branch definitely held out. But that is a stance which cannot be sustained forever. If the President were, in fact, to become anti-business, he has powerful political cards in his hand which he could play against the business-financial hierarchy. And in turn their hold on public opinion, as the more realistic among them understand, is not very great.

THIS WAS THE point that Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy sought to make at his luncheon meeting for a few of the most influential managers of money and industry. While he believed that he put the point over with them, inquiry here indicated that this may have been merely politeness to an official host.

BOLD INDIVIDUALS—even a few at the top—might be inclined to challenge the prevailing gloom and doom and are understandably motivated by caution. A close associate of the head of one of the biggest investment houses hinted that he thought his boss took a more reasoned attitude toward the President and the policies of the Administration. But he added that this was a carefully guarded secret, since it could cost the firm overnight several hundred million dollars in accounts if it were known.

The irony of this for the President is that a great many people in his own party consider him so pro-business as to have turned against long-term policies identified with the Democrats over the years.

Shoe Dye Kit Is On The Market

AP Newsfeatures To dye a black shoe white used to be out of the question.

To transform a pair of suede shoes into soft, kidlike ones was also considered an impossibility, until recently.

Now a shoe dye kit is on the market which permits an indecisive female to change the color of her shoes every hour, if she wishes. She can switch from dark to pastel, and back to dark, or to vivid. She can use any of 24 prepared shades as is, or she can mix them to match a certain article of apparel, graying down the tones by adding a bit of black.

Or if she's an artist, she can reproduce floral or geometric prints of her costumes on her shoes.

Foot Trouble Prevails In Summertime

Hot and aching feet are the most prevalent summer complaint next to mosquitoes and the humidity. America is a nation of foot sufferers — as evidenced by the staggering bill collected each year by the manufacturers of patent foot nostrums — but seldom more so than during the heat of summer. Eighty per cent of us suffer from some sort of foot disability and summertime abuse brings to life every dormant ache and pain.

This need not be — according to foot specialists. A modicum of common sense applied to your feet will pay dividends in summer foot comfort.

The key to foot health during warm weather is suitable footwear. Shoes which fit properly and evaporate foot moisture quickly and effectively will help to prevent inflammation, chafing, blisters and many other foot discomforts.

Mrs. Cowden Installed As Altrusa President

lard Sullivan and Mrs. Lloyd Wooten were those who conducted the candlelighting service of installation.

Mrs. M. J. Stratton, retiring president, welcomed the new officers and submitted the chair to Mrs. Cowden. The new president, on behalf of the new officers, gave the response. Afterward she presented a gift to Mrs. Stratton. Dinner was served to some 30 members and guests who were introduced as Mrs. Stella Merrell, Mrs. R. V. Middleton, Mrs. Raymond River, Mrs. Hila Weathers and Mrs. Bert Shive.

Spread with white linen, the dinner table featured a blue and white motif using blue crystal. White candles based in blue satin bows were spaced along the U-shaped table. Centering the table was an arrangement of blue carnations, fern and candelas.

Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, Mrs. Ed Black and Mrs. E. W. Dozier were received as new members of the club in an initiation conducted by Mrs. J. B. Apple, assisted by Mrs. A. C. Bass, Mrs. Dorothy Ragan and Mrs. Ruby Billings.

Teen-Ager Continues To Design Own Hair Style

By VIVIAN BROWN AP Newsfeatures Writer

Hairdressers, please note: Teen-agers will continue to set their own hair styles. And they will cut it and bleach it too, thank you.

That's a prediction from hairdresser Michel Kazan who occasionally gets to put a pin curl in the crowning glory of the younger set.

The girls will wear their hair in casual style, not coiffed, use home permanent waves and streak their hair when they feel like it. It's enough to make a hairdresser howl his top.

"I can understand that they want to use home permanent waves, but they should read directions," explains Michel. "It's difficult to get a point over to a teen-ager though; they think they know everything. The result of a home permanent can be damaged hair when they make up their own methods."

WHY LONG HAIRDOS? Their method of cutting hair is primitive, he says.

"They snip and chop, ruining the hair as they go. Hair should be cut in a proper way to maintain the beauty of the hair, otherwise the natural body of the hair is lost."

Michael has asked a few girls why they wear long, stringy hairdos, avoiding anything that looks fashionable, but he doesn't dig the answers he's been getting. One girl replied to his question:

"I object to being fashionable because it is too difficult to look well. When your hair is long, it gives you security. You just shake your hair to cover your face, if you want to. You can flirt better with long hair when it dangles around you. But when you date a college boy, you must look impressive. I look at pictures of glamorous types until I find a hair style I like. I set it and hope it turns out that way."

THEY AVOID EFFORT Beauty parlor visits require strenuous effort on the part of teen-agers Michel says, so they avoid it. He has a group of girls who visit him about once a month for a hair cut and set. They let him style their hair on the first visit, but after that they style their own, he says.

One girl who has acquired eyeglasses told him she thought it would be an inspiration to have a new hair style as her old hairdo made her head look squashed when she wears the glasses. She plans to thin her bangs and put her hair behind her ears.

HOW FADS SWEEP CAMPUS Hair bleaching is a teen-ager's described by Michel as "some dab of cotton soaked in peroxide on the hair and a session in the sun." This bleaching method often results in yellow and orange streaks, dry hair, broken and damaged hair. He doesn't approve of teen-agers bleaching or dyeing the hair.

From Michel's inquiries into the hair habits of teen-agers, he learned how a hair fad sweeps the campus.

"There are always 17-year-old girls in school," one 17-year-old girl told him, "and they are always dreaming up new hairdos. We watch to see how successful they are with the hairdo. If it clicks, we all get it."

OVAL FACE DESIRABLE It is fine for young girls to style their own hair, says Michel, but they should wear it in proportion to their face and body contour, if they'd get the most out of it.

"They should learn that the oval face shape is the most desired and that hair as well as makeup contribute to the shape. A thin face may need width, a round face may require height or a certain length to give the illusion of an oval face. But any girl must brush, brush, brush her hair to bring out the luster, no matter what the hair style," he says.

CONTACT LENSES... A Revealing Story About The Price and Quality

Do you know that single vision contact lenses, when fitted by most practitioners, cost $150 or more? Not so at Texas State Optical. The very finest single vision contact lenses are fitted by TSO. Doctors of Optometry at a cost of only $65, including a professional eye examination.

Impossible, you say? Famous Micro-sight Contact Lenses are produced in our own scientific laboratory. Having our own laboratory greatly reduces our cost, whereas most other practitioners must buy their lenses from outside laboratories at much higher cost. Too, we are afforded the opportunity of reducing our own cost by serving so many patients in TSO offices throughout Texas. In addition, we expect only a reasonable profit, not an exorbitant profit from each fitting. These factors add up to real savings to our patients.

What about the quality? In processing contact lenses, our laboratory uses the most advanced production techniques known to Ophthalmic science. Continuous research has greatly improved the design of the lenses, as well as the edging, finishing and polishing methods, thus assuring maximum wearing comfort and minimum adaptation problems. Our Doctors of Optometry have fitted over 26,000 patients with contact lenses, an experience which assures more precise fitting and more comfortable wearing. Nowhere can better made, more accurately fitted contact lenses be obtained, regardless of how much they may cost.

What do others say about TSO Contact Lenses? If you would like to have an unbiased opinion of TSO Contact Lenses, don't ask another practitioner who seeks your patronage, but ask someone who already wears contact lenses. Such a person will tell you how really wonderful TSO Contact Lenses are. We understand that, because our price is so reasonable, some practitioners (competitors) have said that our contact lenses are made of inferior material. The truth is that we use only the finest acrylic plastic obtainable at any price; that the cost of this plastic material is very small; that the important cost factors are: the time of the professional contact lens specialists who fit them, the skilled technicians who make them, and the investment in precision machinery and instruments used in processing the lenses. The Doctors of Optometry and contact lens specialists who fit and make our contact lenses are experienced and skilled, and our laboratory is equipped with the most up-to-date processing machinery and instruments.

What about bifocal contact lenses? TSO now fits new Micro-sight BIFOCAL Contact Lenses at only $130, complete with professional eye examination. These BIFOCAL contact lenses are the very latest, most improved design, patient tested and proved. If you wear bifocal glasses, you may want to be fitted in Micro-sight BIFOCAL Contact Lenses.

Why not see Texas State Optical about contact lenses for you? CONSULT YOUR TELEPHONE DIRECTORY FOR THE MOST CONVENIENTLY LOCATED TSO OFFICE.

Philippines Claims British N. Borneo, Asks Parley

MANILA (AP)—President Diosdado Macapagal today claimed Philippine sovereignty over British North Borneo and proposed that Britain and the Philippines begin negotiations to settle the issue.

Macapagal told a news conference he had received a note from the British government asserting British ownership and sovereignty over the disputed territory.

"I have today instructed the acting secretary of foreign affairs to hand a note to the British ambassador embodying our position which is to assert ownership and sovereignty to North Borneo," the president said.

Macapagal discounted the idea that the Philippine claim might have disturbing effects in Southeast Asia.

He said the Philippines and Britain have always maintained friendly relations and "the government of the Philippines believes any dispute between the two countries can be settled amicably."

The Philippine claim is based on the contention that the sultan of Sulu leased and did not sell North Borneo to founders of the British North Borneo Company in 1878. The British contend the territory was sold.

Philippine congressmen have been urging the government to press the claim.

British North Borneo covers an area of 29,387 square miles at the northern end of the big island of Borneo.

Mountaineers Found Safe In Himalayas

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today the mountaineering party that includes a grandson of Woodrow Wilson has been found in Nepal. All four in the group which had been unreported for weeks were reported safe but weak.

The White House said Army headquarters in Katmandu received word at 4 p.m. today (Nepal time) that the three Americans and one Swiss had been located at a village called Khum Jung in the area of Namche Bazar.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger said the cable received by the White House and State Department described the four as "in weak condition."

They have requested evacuation by helicopter. The U.S. Embassy in Katmandu is trying to arrange for a helicopter flight, Salinger said.

One of the quartet is Woodrow Wilson Sayre, grandson of the late president and brother of the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., dean of Washington Cathedral. He is a Tufts University professor.

The others are Norman Hanson, Boston lawyer; Roger Alan Hart, a Tufts research student, and Hans Peter Duttler, a school teacher who has Swiss citizenship.

Nothing had been heard from the climbers since they left their base camp in eastern Nepal May 2 for the final attempt to ascend Gya Chungkang peak, 29,100 feet high on the Nepal-Tibet border.

The peak had never been mastered. It is situated 12 miles east of Mt. Everest.

The White House had no details. It was not immediately known how the climbers had been found nor what contact had been made with them.

Adjustment Board Okays 2 Variances, Tables One

Two variances to the zoning ordinance were granted, another was tabled following a public hearing on all three during a meeting of the Zoning Board of Adjustment Thursday afternoon.

Ollie McDaniel, who owns a lot at 103 Lincoln, sought a variance to build a carport on the rear of a short lot where the carport slab was built before the present ordinance went into effect.

The board was informed that the foundation for the addition had been built before a building permit was requested.

Members visited the site, before calling for a public hearing, which is mandatory under the ordinance and the board's by-laws. An inspection Thursday afternoon showed the building completed—still without a permit.

Gang Members Being Sought

Juvenile Officer Bob Darland and Police Detective Jack Jones were out Friday morning rounding up members of the young gang that attacked and robbed Ronnie W. Joplin, 19, Wednesday night near the telephone company building on Runnels Street.

A 17-year-old boy involved in the gang activities, and two more younger members, were being sought.

Darland said Thursday that charges would probably be filed in County Court on the 17-year-old, and that juvenile court action would involve the younger members, one of whom has more than 20 crimes listed on his police record.

All but one of the five other boys had been in trouble with police two or more times.

Questioning of all the boys will determine the action taken, Darland said.

More Charges Against Estes

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Fresh criminal charges piled up Thursday against Billie Sol Estes, the West Texas promoter whose chemical fertilizer, grain storage and cotton growing operations involved millions of dollars.

A federal grand jury indicted Estes, 37, on charges of mail fraud and conspiracy from one state to another.

There are 29 counts in the indictment, which also named three other men and a business firm. The same grand jury accused them earlier of fraud through mortgages on fertilizer tanks, charging some of the tanks never existed.

Estes' varied enterprises are in the hands of a court-appointed receiver. He testified last week that his debts exceed assets by about $17.5 million.

Creditors are studying a plan to reorganize and operate the businesses in hope of getting all their money back. Otherwise they have been advised the federal court will order bankruptcy proceedings.

Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson said in Austin, at about the same time the indictment was returned here, that he will dig deeper into Estes' affairs in a court of inquiry at Pecos, the promoter's home town.

Wilson has sought information about Estes' grain storage and cotton allotment dealings and his relations with Washington officials in six previous courts of inquiry. He has given notice of intent to file a state antitrust suit against Estes.

U.S. Dist. Judge R. E. Thomson said he would not require additional bond of Estes, who posted $10,000 bail on the other federal indictments, returned April 5.

The court's ruling also applies to the other defendants, free under smaller bonds. They are Harold Orr, 31, and Ruel Alexander, 36, of Amarillo; and Coleman McSpadden, 45, of Lubbock.

Orr is president of Superior Manufacturing Co., the firm named in the indictment. Alexander is secretary and McSpadden is a director of the tank building firm at Amarillo.

The latest indictment charges a scheme to defraud by selling fertilizer tanks and other equipment with promises for future delivery while the equipment never was built.

In Washington, U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said additional and better information on the case provided a basis for the latest indictment. The grand jury was discharged after advising Judge Thomson its investigation of Estes had been completed.

Seven or eight witnesses were being summoned for the court of inquiry at Pecos, Wilson said. He would not disclose their names or discuss what phase of Estes' operations would be probed.

Mundt Tosses Out Dare In Estes Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Carl E. Mundt, R-S.D., invited President Kennedy today to speak out on what Mundt called an attempt by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman to thwart a Senate investigation of the Billie Sol Estes case.

Mundt and Sen. Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska, the two Republican members of the Senate Investigations subcommittee probing Estes' dealings with the Agriculture Department, Thursday accused Freeman of trying to intimidate them.

The two senators made public a sworn statement to subcommittee investigators from Thomas R. Hughes, Freeman's executive secretary, acknowledging that Hughes had ordered his staff to dig out of the department's files copies of all correspondence with Mundt and Curtis, but not the letters of any other Congress member.

"I am almost certain that at the time I made the request for the correspondence I informed Secretary Freeman," Hughes' statement said.

"I felt that this material would be useful to Secretary Freeman in connection with his appearance before the subcommittee," he said.

Hughes said the idea was his own and that he was curious about the department's experience with the two Republican senators in connection with rapid amortization of grain elevator construction and grain storage matters.

Mundt and Curtis both said flatly they didn't believe this explanation. They said they had learned the department planned to leak out distorted versions of the correspondence to newsmen "closely affiliated with the White House."

In a joint statement they described the search for correspondence as an "attempt to intimidate the minority members" of the subcommittee, an effort to thwart the investigation, and a foredoomed move to "curry favor with the Democratic members" by not looking over their correspondence, too.

"I don't think they're going to buy them off this easily," Mundt said.

Following with a statement of his own, Freeman said there never was any intention to make public any material in the file, "but rather to review matters of concern to the senators by examining inquiries they have directed to the department."

The secretary also said: "I have not personally reviewed the files or discussed the matter with Mr. Hughes since he first mentioned it several weeks ago. I am surprised at the violent reaction of Sens. Mundt and Curtis to the department's review of their correspondence."

He added that if Mundt and Curtis want the correspondence made public "the department will try to accommodate them."

ennial champion Yankees went into a tailspin to fourth place. It was beginning to look like the year the Yankees lost the pennant.

Renfro To Quit After '62 Play

ARLINGTON (AP)—Ray Renfro, the former North Texas State star, will give pro football one more year.

TOP-SEEDED NETTER

Ronnie Fisher Is Twice A Winner

EDINBURG (AP)—Top-seeded Ronnie Fisher of Houston met stubborn resistance but moved through the first two rounds of the Texas Sectional Tennis Tournament Thursday.

Fisher was seeded No. 1 in the men's singles as play started among the seniors after all other divisions had been cleared.

He beat Bill Novak of San Antonio 7-5, 9-7 and took out Kenny Roach of Midland 6-3, 8-6.

In women's singles, first-seeded Lynn Haines of Dallas defeated Elsie Everest of Conroe 6-1, 6-1.

Leo Laborde of Dallas became the boys 18 singles champion Thursday when his opponent in the finals, Lamar Roemer of Houston, defaulted because of illness.

Roemer took the first set 8-6 and Laborde won the second 6-2. Laborde was leading 4-1 in the third when Roemer became ill from an upset stomach.

Ronnie Fulwiler of Abilene won the boys 16 singles title because of Roemer's illness. In boys 16 doubles, Scott Dody of Corpus Christi and Greg Hilley of Beaumont won the title because Roemer had to default there also. He was teamed with Johnny Pryor of Houston.

In boys 18 doubles, David Nel-is watching Mantle, the switch-hitting Yankee star. Mickey is going to make the best test of his aging legs in Detroit tonight.

Ford's 3-0 effort over Baltimore marked his first victory since May 9, and ended a five-game Yankee losing string. The win pulled the Yanks to within three games of the top when leading Cleveland lost to Boston 3-1.

The Los Angeles Angels scrambled into second place, four percentage points ahead of Minnesota, on the strength of a 3-1 triumph over Kansas City while the Chicago White Sox beat the Twins 6-2. Detroit stopped Washington 6-3.

Art Mahaffey's five-hit shutout brought Philadelphia a 3-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs in the only National League game scheduled.

Mantle has made only three pinch-hit appearances since he was injured May 18.

"I know I'm not 100 per cent OK," Mantle said. "But I've been sitting around for five weeks doing nothing now and it's got so I want to find out just where I stand on this thing. I want to find out once and for all about this knee so I can really go somewhere and take care of it."

Ford didn't leave much to guesswork in his effort against the Orioles. He allowed only three hits before developing a blister on his pitching hand. He retired after 8 2/3 innings and Marshall Bridges finished up.

Clete Boyer and Hector Lopez drove in the first two New York runs and Bill Skovron's 10th homer finished up the scoring.

Earl Wilson and Dick Radatz combined for a three-hitter against Cleveland. Wilson (5-2), the Red Sox starter, got credit for the victory.

Chicago jammed in four runs in the first inning, then retreated behind the excellent relief pitching of Eddie Fisher (3-1) to beat the Twins. Fisher allowed only two hits in 7 2/3 innings of relief.

A two-run double by Al Smith was the key hit in the White Sox big first inning.

Bo Belinsky, the Angels' colorful lefty, pitched Los Angeles into percentage control of second with a seven-hitter. Belinsky got help from Billy Moran's run-scoring triple and Felix Torres' homer.

Fernald Gody's single in the seventh drove in the run that broke a 3-3 tie and put the Tigers ahead to stay against Washington.

The Senators got homers from Chuck Hinton and Harry Bright, with Mike Roarke and Norm Cash hitting homers for the winners.

Mahaffey's shutout snapped a five-game Cubs winning string and evened his record at 8-4.

The Cardinals came from behind with two runs in the sixth inning to edge the Devils, 9-8, in a National Little League game here Thursday night.

Dean Gilstrap and Ricky Brown scored the runs that enabled the Red Birds to win, after Gilstrap had led off the inning with a double.

The Cards collected a total of nine hits while the Devils got to two. Red Bird hurlers led six. Three of those were off the bat of Albert Cardenas.

The Devils counted in only two innings, the third and the fifth, getting four in each round. Cardenas and Danny Johnson each counted twice for the Devils, as did Gilstrap, Rick Brown and Tom Wood for the winners.

Wright Fires 73 In West Texas

LUBBOCK—Bobby Wright of Big Spring qualified for the championship flight in the 1962 Men's West Texas Golf tournament here Friday with a 73.

Medalist Larry Lot of Lubbock, who fashioned a five-under par 67, Gary Littlejohn of Midland came in with a 69.

Cutoff for the 54-man championship flight was 75.

Cotton Fanning, Big Spring, shot a qualifying score of 77 and was placed in the first flight. Another Big Spring player, Woody Houston, came in with an 80 and rated the second flight.

Footballer Lost By Detroit Club

DETROIT (AP)—Lost: One 246-pound linebacker—Dave Lloyd. If found, notify the Detroit Lions promptly.

"We might even have to offer a reward," said Bud Erickson, assistant general manager of the National Football League club.

"We've sent wires, letters and tried to call Lloyd at several places and just can't locate him,"

Belinsky Says His Training Rules Improve

KANSAS CITY (AP)—"I'm definitely a changed person," said Bo Belinsky, the young no-hit pitcher for the Los Angeles Angels just before he took the mound Thursday night to win his first game in a month, 3-1 against Kansas City, to put the Angels into second place in the American League.

The Athletics had him in hot water early but he wriggled out of it and capped the victory by retiring nine men in order over the last three innings.

It was his seventh try for his seventh victory of the season and his first since some all-night partying got him in $250 worth of trouble with Manager Bill Rigney.

A losing pitcher in the minors, Belinsky catapulted to baseball fame when he pitched the season's only no-hitter against Baltimore in mid-May. He had a two-hit, 1-0 shutout against Boston on May 20 but then went into eclipse —as a pitcher. Show business took him up in a gaudy whirl when the Angels returned to Los Angeles just before Memorial Day for a long home stand.

Bo and Dean Chance, another Los Angeles rookie flinger, left a party for Eddie Fisher at 4:45 a.m. in Bo's red convertible. At 5, Gloria Eves, 33, a cashier in a Hollywood steakhouse, ran from the convertible to a police car and complained Belinsky was beating her. Belinsky and his date, Bridget Whitaker, 33, said Miss Eves became belligerent. Bo ordered her from the car and she bumped her head getting out.

Miss Eves had a cut on her left eye but declined to press charges. The Angels fined Belinsky and Chance $250 apiece for being out after hours and Manager Bill Rigney read a riot act to them in front of the squad.

Legion Club Meets Post

Fresh off their fifth straight District 19, South Half, victory, the Big Spring American Legion baseball team will try to make it six in a row in a 2 p.m. engagement with Post in the Teen-Age park here Saturday.

Post is the South Half contingent of the locals haven't met. Big Spring has beaten Coahoma twice and Lamesa, Denver City and Brownfield once each.

Bowman Roberts will probably pitch for the Big Springers Saturday. Roy New will be available in event he's needed, however.

The locals wind up formal play July 6. If they finish on top the South Half standing, as expected, they will engage the North Half titlists for the District 19 title.

Waters, Holmes Lead In Golf

The team of R. W. Waters and S. K. Holmes, with a won-loss record of 5-1, leads in the partnership golf tournament currently under way among employees of the local Veterans Administration Hospital. Each team must play the other 10 in competition.

Other standings are in third place, R. L. Arnold and A. M. Mendez, and F. G. Hammond and P. Hanigan, with four won and three lost; in fourth place, V. J. Belda and W. L. Bell, Dr. H. J. Zinn and S. C. Lagourney, and C. Gonzales and F. A. Puckett; in fifth place, Furlong and Hoover, and in last place, E. A. Pierson and J. S. Ritenour, and J. S. Kilgore and C. B. Alexander.

Texans Dominate NCAA Tourney

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—It's Texas against the field today as the NCAA Golf Tournament plays its quarter-final round.

There's a Texan in each of the four matches. In fact there are so many Southwest swingers still around the Duke University Golf Course that one match pairs a couple of North Texas State teammates.

Medalist Kermit Zarley of the University of Houston, was matched with comeback kid Jim Ewing of Southern California in the opener. Don Wilson of North Texas State, a rangy 6-foot-2 who is dwarfed by 6-4, 235-pound teammate Bill Garrett, met him in the second match.

In the lower bracket, Jim Ferriell of Louisville drew the red hot Homero Blancas of Houston and Tom Shaw of Oregon moved against Mark Hopkins of Houston. Quarter-final winners move into semifinals this afternoon, with the title match over 36 holes Saturday.

Zarley, not sharp enough last year to win a place on Houston's tournament team, has been playing at near peak form here this week. His 146, 3-under-par, total for 26 holes over the Duke course

Smith's Turns Back Anderson, 4 To 0

Before packed stands, E. C. Smith's Construction hurled Anderson Music, 4-0, in a first round game of the Big Spring Invitational Softball tournament here Thursday night.

Action will be resumed at 7 o'clock this evening, at which time Charley's Package Store of Big Spring squares away against Matlock Furniture of Midland.

The loser of that game returns to competition at 9 p.m., at which time it plays Anderson Music. There will also be an 11 p.m. contest, pitting Smith's against the winner of the Charley's-Matlock game.

The tournament winds up Saturday night, at which time two, and possibly three games will be played. Two defeats are required to eliminate a team.

Ed King gave Smith's all they could handle for a while Thursday night. He held the Contractors at bay until the fourth, when they finally broke through for two runs.

Billy Paul Thomas and James Hollis crossed the plate after getting base hits.

Smith's spotted again in the sixth on Scott Cockrell's home run, which came with one out.

In the seventh, Troy Wetzel, the winning pitcher, singled and eventually legged a home run.

Wetzel and Billy Thomas, who pitched the final inning, surrendered only one hit between them. That was a third inning single by Bill Cubbin.

Smith's got to King for eight hits, including two singles by Marion Tredaway.

Pos, of course, coaches football here until he's released for his basketball duties on or about Nov. 1. He won't have time to think much about anything else until that time of the year rolls around.

Incidentally, Delnor is connected with the Amicable Life Insurance people here. He'll work out of an office at Seventh and Main streets.

The 1962 Texas A&M football team won't have many West Texans on it.

One of the few is a senior from Andrews named Ronnie Brice, who played quarterback last fall and was moved to halfback this spring.

Hank Foldberg, the Aggie mentor, changed Brice to a halfback to take advantage of his running ability. As a passer, he tossed 24 times and completed 13 for 149 yards and two touchdowns. He had one pass intercepted.

As a runner, Ronnie picked up a net of 63 paces in 36 carries. However, you've got to remember he was down behind the line numerous times while trying to pass. His gross ground gains amounted to 115 yards.

The only other boy from this immediate area on the Aggie squad this fall will be Melvin Simmons, who local fans will recall was a stellar tackle for Odessa High a couple of years ago.

Melvin, 220 pounds and standing 6-feet-1, won his freshman letter at A&M last season. He was named one of the outstanding sophomores in spring workouts.

Both Brice and Simmons are studying engineering.

Spike Dykes, who grew up here but who went on to become an outstanding football lineman for Ballinger High School, has turned to golf.

He recently lost in the finals of the third flight consolation in the Coleman Invitational Tournament.

Cinder racing tracks in West Texas used to be as rare as Chinese pagodas.

Now they're in evidence all over the area. Voters in Crane only last week authorized the construction of such an oval at their high school.

Hitting "for average" is becoming a lost art in the big leagues.

Al Kaline's .309 is the highest lifetime average in the American League, one percentage point higher than the average owned by Mickey Mantle.

In 1921, the Detroit Tigers batted .316 as a team—and finished no better than sixth in the league.

Harry Heilmann led the Tigers and the league in batting that year with a mark of .394.

Eight World Records Are Threatened In AAU Meet

WALNUT, Calif. (AP)—Eight world championships with several world records endangered, go on the line tonight as the National AAU track and field carnival starts a two-night run.

More than 400 athletes are gathered for this 74th annual meet and such world title claimants as Dallas Long, Frank Budd and Robert Hayes are scheduled to compete in the opening program.

The site is Mt. San Antonio College's Memorial Stadium, a 12,000-seat arena tucked away in the rolling San Jose hills near Los Angeles.

Meet director Hilmer Lodge listed no less than eight world records which he feels are in danger, including tonight's 100-yard dash, the 120-yard high hurdles, the shot put and broad jump.

Other final events tonight are the 440-yard hurdles, the javelin and the 6-mile run.

Dallas Long, who has a claim in for the world shot put mark at 65 feet, 10 1/2 inches, and Gary Gubner of New York, with a best of 64-11, dominate the event.

The 100 features Frank Budd, who holds the world time of 9.2; Hayes, who has tied 9.2, and Harry Jerome of Oregon, who hopes to improve his best of 9.3.

The 120-yard high hurdles might well be the top race of the evening. A veteran of 23, Hayes Jones, from Detroit, faces tough opposition from Jeff Tarr of Oregon. Tarr has a best mark of 13.3 this year.

Polio Victim Shows Champ

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—"I learned the hard way," says Jeri Lea Fields, 10, a blonde polio victim.

She learned well, because Thursday she won the three-gaited pony blue ribbon in the Kentucky Classic Horse Show.

When Jeri gets a pony show ribbon she accepts it with her left hand, because her right hand is partially paralyzed.

"I'm kind of used to winning now," said Jeri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Fields of Hartford, Ky. "I guess I've won about 600 ribbons."

Jeri began riding at the age of 4 1/2 with a brace on her right leg. Her right side is still partially paralyzed from polio that struck when she was about two.

"She's got that (the polio) almost mastered. I always expect her to win now," said Mrs. Robert Hudson of Hartford, Jeri's grandmother who accompanied her to Louisville.

Midway Church Schedules New Building Dedication

Dedication of a new educational building at the Midway Baptist Church has been set for 2 p.m. Sunday, according to the Rev. Darrell Robinson, pastor. A noon meal will be served after the morning worship and the dedication will follow.

The Rev. H. B. Graves, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Coahoma, will deliver the dedication message. The public has been invited to attend the special events. The new annex was completed at a cost of about $11,000. It has classrooms for nursery through junior departments. It contains about 2,600 square feet of floor space and has a capacity of about 150 pupils.

The Midway Church is just over one year old. It was organized May 21, 1961 in the Midway School gymnasium under the sponsorship of the First Baptist Church of Coahoma. It had 48 charter members and now has 120 members with 150 persons enrolled in Sunday School. The church is on a two-acre site four miles east of Big Spring on US 80.

Missionaries Planning Visit

Rev. and Mrs. Sidney R. Goodwin, recently appointed Assemblies of God missionaries to Ghana, West Africa, will conduct special missionary services Sunday at the First Assembly of God Church, 4th & Lancaster at 10:50 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The Rev. A. N. Trotter announced today.

Rev. Goodwin whose parents are also missionaries to Ghana, spent several years of his childhood in that country of some eight million people. The Goodwins, graduates of Southwestern Assemblies of God College in Waxahachie, will be working in Northern Ghana, evangelizing in the more primitive areas.

The Ghana government has asked that the Assemblies of God Mission provide religious instruction in the public schools and the Goodwins will be working with the schools in addition to their other responsibilities.

Rev. and Mrs. Goodwin and their daughter, Gwendolyn, age 2 1/2, are now traveling in the interest of the Mission in Ghana. The Assemblies of God, the first Protestant mission to enter Northern Ghana, now has 229 churches and preaching points supervised by 97 ordained and lay ministers in Ghana. They also maintain two national workers training centers and eight elementary day schools. The Rev. and Mrs. Goodwin plan to leave for Ghana in the latter part of July or August.

Rev. Rea Organizing Silver Hills Church

The Rev. Carl Rea is an old hand at establishing churches and he is at present in Big Spring organizing the Silver Hills Missionary Baptist Church. Rev. Rea came here three months ago from Amarillo, (where he had been pastor of Forest Hills Baptist Church) and helped the membership purchase the old Axtens Building on US 87 South.

Since that time the 70 members of the church have been working voluntarily to remodel the building.

"We are building an auditorium to seat 200 and our Sunday school will probably accommodate around 150. The church will have nine rooms," he said. Sunday and Wednesday services are being held in the building while work is being done on it.

REV. CARL REA

Rev. Rea also holds another job in Big Spring. He has been a sanitation inspector for the city and county since April 1.

Originally from Canton, he attended Jacksonville College and Seminary, then went to Oklahoma where he established several new churches. He went to Snyder later to organize a church and then to Amarillo.

Rev. Rea and his wife, Mary Ann, have been married 13 years and have three children, Kenneth, 11, Lynette, 8, and Andy, 5. Kenneth is working at the YMCA this summer, helping at the snack bar. "We expect to finish work on the church in about two months," Rev. Rea said. In the meantime, the church members are planning to hold a revival July 8-15 at the church with Chester Bullock, Temple Baptist Church at Pampa, preaching.

Weathers To Attend Seminary

Ray Rowland Weathers, 1102 N. Nolan, has been approved for admission to the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Fort Worth, according to Dr. Robert E. Naylor, president.

Orientation and registration procedures for new students begins Sept. 6 and will mark the beginning of the 55th year of operation for the seminary, the largest evangelical seminary in the world. Dr. Naylor will address the student body on Sept. 11 and Dr. T. B. Maston, professor of Christian ethics, will deliver the formal opening address on Sept. 12.

CHURCH BRIEFS

DES MOINES, Iowa — Some form of "church unity or union is inevitable," Methodist Bishop F. Gerald Enslay of Des Moines told a meeting here.

"We are moving irresistibly to some form of ecclesiastical unity. We can't stop it. What form it will take, I don't know. How can we bring peace in the world if we don't get together?"

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — A racially integrated society would produce better mental health among its people, Dr. Robert M. Metcalfe, head of a Crossville, Tenn., medical clinic, told a Methodist conference here.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah — Southern Baptists in Utah and Idaho have set November 1964 as a target date for forming an independent state convention.

The two states now have 32 Southern Baptists in Utah and 23 missions. The Southern Baptist Convention requires a region to have at least 10,000 members in 50 churches before authorizing financial aid to it as an independent state convention.

The Kingdom Triumphant

THE UNIVERSALITY OF CHRIST'S REIGN AND THE FINAL GLORY HE WILL CONFER ON THE REDEEMED
 Scripture—Psalm 100; Revelation 1:4-6; 15:3-4; 21-22.

By N. SPEER JONES
 THIS LAST lesson in the second quarter (devoted to "Letters of Faith, Counsel, and Courage") concludes very aptly with the description of the eternal life of the redeemed in the Holy City of God.

The opening Psalm, known popularly as the "Old Hundred," belongs to the series of Psalms, beginning with the 88th, in which the author's hopes extend far beyond his own locale. The two major points emphasized here are God's loving kindness and His paternalistic relationship to us. Just because we are His children, God grants us grace and peace, whether or not we come anywhere near deserving them. (See Revelation 1:4-6). Grace is God's "unmerited favor"; its result is peace in our hearts.

GOLDEN TEXT
 "The kingdom of the world has become the kingdom of Our Lord and of His Christ, and He shall reign for ever and ever."—Revelation 11:15.

the feeling which reflects a good relationship between ourselves and our God. These gifts are given freely; all we have to do is receive them.

In Revelation 15:3-4 is envisioned the singing of two songs by the redeemed in heaven. One is the song of Moses, celebrating God's deliverance of His people from the Egyptians. (See also Exodus 15 and Deuteronomy 32.) The other song is "the song of the Lamb," or of Christ Himself; it intimates the exaltation of Christ and redemption through Christ's blood.

The first eight chapters of Revelation 21 serve to introduce the description of the Holy City which follows. They also issue the great promise of man's home in this City, a promise which ranks as one of the most exalted passages of the Bible.

The "sea" which is to be "no more" is the sea of unrest, a divider of nations. The Holy City is a term which has often been applied to the city of Jerusalem in the Bible previously—in fact, the adjective "holy" is never used to describe any other city in the Bible. Here, however, we have for the first time a "new" Jerusalem, the true Holy City.

Here, too, we have the ultimate development of God's tabernacle with man—that early temporary meeting place in a tent constructed by Moses where God met with him, now transformed into a permanent and eternal meeting of God with all the redeemed.

The Alpha and Omega referred to in the sixth verse are of course the first and last letters of the Greek alphabet. Everything begins with God and returns to Him—so indeed does the Bible, perfectly constructed with the paradise of Eden at the beginning, coming full circle and more to the paradise of eternity, without any possibility of evil or sorrow.

The rest of the book, up to verse six of chapter 22, is devoted to a description of the Holy City, supposedly 1,500 miles in each direction, either a cube or pyramid. The Jasper, now meaning a kind of quartz, may have meant diamond; the sardius is literally "the stone of Sardis," capital of Lydia, thought by many to be the ruby.

The Bible's closing words urge more stress God's grace and salvation, inviting us but to accept them.

"BURIED IN BAPTISM"

The scriptures of God are not intended for refutation, nor exploitation. They are pure and real; the unimpeachable testimony of God's will to mankind. The scripture is not a text book on science and yet it is scientifically correct; the Word of God is precise, clearcut and unerring.

All of the aberration, laxity, mistake, heresy and misjudgment falls on the side of man. Man has bungled, and stumbled and slipped and tripped; he is so often led by mirages and falsely impressed by his own self-deception.

The divine remedy, which Jehovah has provided, known as the gospel, offers man to pardon and forgiveness of his sins at the point of his rising from a burial called "baptism"; this is from a Greek word "Baptizo," meaning to plunge beneath, cover, submerge, overwhelm, dip or immerse. The scriptural proof of forgiveness at the point of baptism may be seen in Acts 2:38, Acts 22:16, Gal. 3:26-27, Mark 16:15-16, 1 Peter 3:21, John 3:5, Rom. 6:3-4, Col. 2:11-12 et al.

Compare Rom 6:4 and Col. 2:12 and note the term, "Buried with him by baptism" and that men are raised from baptism to "walk in the newness of life." This comprises the new creature spoken of in 11 Cor. 5:17—if any man be in Christ he is a new creature. Note this is "in Christ"; But the Scripture declares that we are baptized into Christ, Gal. 3:27 "For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ". Man has no rationality, profundity nor caliber that will permit him to throw overboard this eternal truth!

Sprinkling officially dates from the Roman Catholic Council of Ravenna. Using the word "officially" to mean the date, not official. Authority from God! For God's word has not changed! John Calvin, Presbyterian, attested baptism as a burial in these words, "The word baptizo signifies to immerse. It is certain that immersion was the practice of the early church. Martin Luther said, "Baptism is a Greek word, and may be translated 'immerse'. I would have those who are to be baptized to be altogether dipped." John Wesley (Methodist): "Buried with him by baptism—alluding to the ancient manner of baptizing by immersion." "Rantizo" is the Greek word for "sprinkle". But even though you do not know about "Baptizo" or "Rantizo" you may still read the Bible correctly and know to be "buried in baptism" for the divine reason and thus do God's will.

Give God A Chance—God Will Open Doors For You!

Two centuries ago a glassmaker in Pennsylvania provided the land for the erection of a church. But he attached a string to his gift. Each year the congregation must pay to him, or to his descendants, one red rose, forever.

Annually in a traditional service the members of that church fulfil the terms of their deed. In the words of a reverent visitor, "God's rent is paid in coin more worthy than man's."

What strange thrust of imagination devised such a price. Certainly it was more than a man's love of roses . . .

Wisely he realized our tendency to take for granted our blessings. Fer- vently he prayed that we would forever treasure the privilege of worship. Gently he reminds us that there is beauty and happiness in every sacrifice for the support of God's House.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

FCC Grants Approval To KBYG Sale

Assignment of license of Radio Station KBYG by its present operator, R. B. McAllister, to Big Spring Radio Company has been announced by the Federal Communications Commission in Washington, D. C. Effective date of the transfer will be July 1. Sale of the station for $75,000 had been awaiting FCC approval.

Big Spring Radio Company is headed by Jack Wallace of Big Spring, in association with Frank Junell, Lubbock, and Howard Barrett, Abilene. He will operate KBYG as general manager.

Barrett is president and general manager of KNTT in Abilene, and formerly was general manager of KRBC radio and TV in Abilene. Junell is executive vice president of the Citizens National Bank in Lubbock, and has a wide experience in the field of radio and television.

Wallace said formal announcement will be made soon as to new plant, personnel and program changes of the station.

Here's A Rundown On TV Jargon For This Season

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Television, like other occupations and businesses, has its own jargon—special use for words. But it is a swinging thing, subject to change from season to season.

Herewith, then, a quick updating of some of the recent twists and turns of television-ese:

"Interview in depth"—Any talk session lasting more than two minutes, including the routine identification, occupation, are-you-married and how-many-children questions.

"Dramatized documentary"—A play about narcotic addiction or juvenile delinquency.

"Adult drama"—Not a western or private-eye and the characters will use one or two mild swear words.

"Topical humor"—Wisecracks about anybody named Kennedy.

"Instant news special"—Leisurely and fuller repetition of material used earlier on a regular news show but with a different sponsor.

"Selected re-runs"—We need 13 shows to fill out the season, Charlie, pick up a batch from the vault and give me a list of the titles.

Sunday night's Ed Sullivan Show—a really big one because its 14th anniversary show closing the season—has so many stars (largely appearing in taped sequences) that they have had to list them alphabetically. The list runs from Steve Allen to Kate Smith (with names like Benny Crosby and Lucille Ball in between).

But Sylvia Sullivan, Ed's attractive wife for 32 years, will be watching, as usual, a television set in the couple's apartment in a Park Avenue hotel.

"I don't think I've seen the program from the studio more than three times in all the years," Mrs. Sullivan reflected. "After all, it's made to be seen on television and that's the way I like to see it—anyway, I'm always nervous about how it will go."

There are advantages and disadvantages in being the wife of a popular television star, she confessed. Advantages include best tables and service in restaurants.

"One big disadvantage is that I can't complain when I occasionally run into poor service in stores or rude clerks," she said. "I have to remember that it will reflect poorly on Ed and the show."

'Raiders' Claim 2 Trains Wrecked

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The "Cuban Raider Command" claims credit for wrecking two trains in Castro Cuba.

Capt. Santiago Perez, head of the anti-Castro exiles raiding unit, said Thursday three of his men got safely out of Cuba after derailing one freight train at Guanabacoa and another at Central Hershey. Both sites are in Matanzas Province, east of Havana.

The Castro government radio recently told of a freight derailment at Guanabacoa. The broadcast said the Camaguey-bound train's engineer was killed and its fireman was injured.

No word of a derailment at Hershey has been heard.

Wall Street Man Accused Of Absconding

NEW YORK (AP) — Jacques Sarlie, financier and art connoisseur described as a Wall Street associate of Edward M. Gilbert, who fled to Brazil, has been accused of fleeing to France and leaving a $754,000 stock order unpaid.

The Dutch-born Sarlie, 47, was sued in State Supreme Court Thursday by the brokerage firm of McDonnell and Co., Inc. The firm contended Sarlie fled to Paris June 9 or 10 to defraud creditors and to avoid payment for stock purchased during an attempt to gain control of Celotex Corp.

Gilbert, who flew to Brazil June 13, had been buying up Celotex stock and seeking a merger of Celotex with E. L. Bruce Co., the wood flooring concern of which he was president and a director. Gilbert faces claims arising from his admittedly unauthorized withdrawals of $1,953,000 from E. L. Bruce.

TO HELP ARTS

Sarlie, who came to America in 1940, amassed a personal fortune and, in 1960, collected $1,203,160 from a London auction of 51 of his paintings, most of them Picasos. He said at the time he would use the money to encourage the arts.

The court complaint against Sarlie stated that he ordered 17,800 shares of E. L. Bruce stock and 11,700 shares of Celotex between May 31 and June 8. On May 28 the stock market suffered one of its sharpest declines since 1929.

John E. Hoffman, attorney for McDonnell and Co., said in court he believed that Sarlie was an associate of Edward M. Gilbert in trying to acquire control of the Celotex Corp.

Sarlie, after serving three years in the U.S. Army in the 1940s, formed a shipping firm with a partner, Herbert Klotz, that bought up surplus military vessels and converted them to cargo ships. The ships were sold abroad at good profits.

Sarlie, although the son of a wealthy diamond merchant in Holland, built his own fortune. He started in stocks by purchasing Loft, Inc., stock at one dollar a share and selling it later at $16 a share. The company now is part of Pepsi-Cola.

AFFIDAVIT

Francis Farr, an employee of McDonnell and Co., said in a court affidavit that he talked by telephone with Sarlie on June 13, the day Gilbert arrived in Rio de Janeiro after fleeing New York. Gilbert's attorney, Arnold Bauman, returned from Rio Thursday and told newsmen that Gilbert was undecided as to whether he was going to return.

Bauman said Gilbert is living in "an unbelievably tiny apartment. He has repeatedly stated that he does not have in his possession one cent of the corporation's money."

Before he fled to Brazil, Gilbert, 38, admitted making unauthorized withdrawals by check from E. L. Bruce since May 28. A Bruce official said the money had been used by Gilbert to protect his interest in Celotex Corp., a Chicago manufacturer of building materials.

Kennedy Has Uphill Fight

By SAM DAWSON AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—President Kennedy seeks to make deficit financing a respectable term in a changing world. He has an uphill fight on his hands.

To most Americans a Treasury deficit is a bad thing—unavoidable in a war or other national emergency, but unfortunate under any circumstances.

The President's argument is that the United States is entering a new world where deficit financing can be a virtue. His aim is to use it as a tool in building the economy to assure full employment and full use of industrial capacity.

Treasury deficits aren't new. There have been 11 of them in the 17 years since World War II. And the 11 total some four times as much as do the six surpluses.

Americans have been brought up to compare the Treasury deficit to one in the family budget when unpaid bills pile up in excess of current income. When the creditors won't hold off any longer, the family borrows to pay the bills—or goes bankrupt.

The Treasury meets its deficit by borrowing to pay its bills and by asking Congress, year after year, to raise the legal limit of the permissible federal debt.

But economists see a difference in the Treasury's and a family's deficit and borrowing. In the United States the Treasury usually borrows by tapping the banking system for funds. This means expanding the supply of money and credit, as distinguished from borrowing through sales of U.S. Savings Bonds to individuals, which doesn't inflate the supply of money.

Orthodox economic doctrine is that expanding the supply of money and credit may trigger economic growth by making it easier for business to expand its activities or plant, but that in the long run this inflation of the money supply leads to rising prices and wages.

Treasury surpluses, on the contrary, are held by orthodox economists to deflate the supply of money and credit, to put a brake on runaway booms, even to invite recessions—since the Treasury is taking more out of the economy in tax collections than it is putting back by spending.

President Kennedy challenged this orthodox view in his speech at Yale. He points out that Treasury surpluses after the war—$754 million in the 1947 fiscal year, and $8.4 billion in 1948—didn't prevent a big spurt in the cost of living.

Orthodox economists reply that these surpluses were chicken feed compared to the huge inflation of the money supply during the war, the real culprit in the postwar rise in prices and wages.

PRICES UNHURT
The President also points out that Treasury deficits in the last few years—a peacetime record of $12 billion in the 1959 fiscal year—left wholesale prices unscathed while retail prices rose very little.

Orthodox economists hold the real reason was that much industrial capacity was idle, and what was in operation faced fierce competition, holding prices down at the expense of contracting profit margins.

A few more Treasury deficits, the President says, could help the economy expand faster and in time mean higher tax collections, bringing the budget back into balance.

Also, he charges that the formal budget in use shows a deficit because it includes as current spending loans which will be repaid, so that what looks like a deficit may be only a bookkeeping one. He further says that worry over the size of the federal debt is overdone, since it is now much less in proportion to the total national output than it was 17 years ago.

JUST EXCUSE
His opponents charge that such reasoning is just an excuse for more government spending. They think the best way to pep up the economic growth rate would be to cut both taxes and spending and get the budget back in balance—or even better to run a surplus so as to cut down the burden of the record federal debt. They say this would stimulate both business and consumer spending and do the economic growth job much better than the government can.

Loan Approved

Maritime Pact Reached
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Contract agreement was reached in the West Coast maritime dispute Thursday night, nine days before the end of an 80-day Taft-Hartley cooling off period.
The nine-month quarrel erupted in a four-week strike in March and April that idled some 60 ships and several thousand men, caused a shortage of some food supplies in Hawaii and brought on presidential intervention.
James J. Healy, special mediator and President Kennedy's personal representative, announced the agreement at a news conference and said representatives of the ship owners and the unions would submit it to their respective memberships, with recommendation for approval.
Healy, former Harvard professor, said the proposed contract runs to June 15, 1965.
J. Paul St. Sure, president of the ship owners organization—Pacific Maritime Association—said the proposal provides:
1. A 2 per cent across the board wage increase for some 10,000 seamen retroactive to last Oct. 1. That would add about $15 a month to the pay of able-bodied seamen.
2. An immediate increase in paid vacation from three days a month to five days a month.
3. A pension increase in October from $125 a month to $150 a month.
St. Sure, Healy and Morris Weisberger, spokesman for the three unions involved, declined to give further money details pending the votes of the memberships. The unions are the Sailors Union of the Pacific, Marine Firemen and Marine Cooks and Stewards.
Negotiations that began last year deadlocked this spring and the unions struck on March 16. President Kennedy invoked the Taft-Hartley law on April 11.
