Small Cut Made In School Budget

By JOE BEYER

Four hours of discussion Wednesday night resulted in a net decrease of $965 in the proposed budget for 1962-63 for the Big Spring Independent School District.

The tentative schedule was approved by trustees and is scheduled for a public hearing and final approval at the next regular meeting of the board Aug. 14.

It was pegged at $2,677,631 for operational expense with another $271,752 for capital outlay and debt service, bringing the total budget to $2,949,383. All changes made Wednesday night were in operational expenses.

Administration and business increased from $105,635 during 1961-62 to a proposed $120,986 for the coming year. Trustees made two cuts in this area. A proposed raise for Mrs. Josephine Dawes, secretary in the administration office, was cut from $625 to $326 per year. A vacant position with a proposed salary of $5,102 was set at $4,500. The decreases were passed by a 4-2 vote of the board.

Major increase in administration and business comes from the inclusion of the salary of Sebron

Williams, assistant superintendent, into this category in the coming budget. Last year it was carried in instructional costs.

Instructional salaries were first set at $2,025,405 and were adjusted to $2,023,582, a decrease of $1,823. This reflects a difference of $964 between the salary paid to Emmett McKenzie and that agreed upon Tuesday night for Don Robbins, the new head coach and physical director.

Other changes include an adjustment of $1,743 made after placement of a principal at Kate Morrison Elementary School. The only cut made by vote of trustees was elimination of proposed raises of $108 each for two study hall teachers. At the same time, the two positions were eliminated of effective at the end of the 1962-63 school year.

The salaries are a total increase of $115,089 over last year. The increase includes addition of six elementary teachers and three high school instructors, plus the normal $12 a month experience increment for teachers.

Total instructional costs are $2,126,946, an increase of $107,163

Ben Bella Cheered By Oran Crowds

ORAN, Algeria (AP)—Tens of thousands of applauding, slogan-shouting Moslems gave dissident Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella a rousing welcome to Algeria's second largest city today.

Arriving from Tlemcen, Ben Bella visited army camps at the edge of the city before coming into town in midafternoon. Sidelined along his parade route were lined with youth and children's groups and masses of flag-waving Moslem civilians.

The leftist deputy premier, who split with Premier Youssef Ben Khedda's moderate regime on the eve of Algerian independence, made his delayed return to Algeria Wednesday and received a hero's welcome.

Thousands of Moslems turned out to greet him as he journeyed from the Moroccan frontier to Tlemcen, 75 miles south of Oran, Algeria's second city.

His next stop was Oran, where thousands of his armed supporters already were in control. Then he planned to proceed to Algiers and a possible showdown with Ben Khedda over leadership of the fledgling Algerian nation.

In Algiers, Ben Khedda's regime was reported growing increasingly uneasy as Ben Bella demonstrated his hold on the Moslem masses on his journey through western Algeria. But Ben Bella struck a moderate pose.

Addressing a crowd of 6,000 Wednesday in the sports stadium at Tlemcen, Ben Bella made no direct mention of his rift with Ben Khedda. But he expressed hope that the new nation would solve its difficulties through the cooperation of the army, the people, and the government.

Ben Bella spoke from a position of strength. He has the support of the 45,000-man liberation army now returning from exile in Morocco and Tunisia and of a great share of the former Moslem guerrilla units inside Algeria. And obviously he is the idol of western Algeria's Moslem civilians.

"Long live, Ben Bella," proclaimed banners along his route crowded with Moslem men, women and children in their best dress.

UF Chiefs Named, Budget Is Adopted

United Fund trustees Wednesday adopted a budget which will yield more for most agencies and elected campaign leadership for 1962.

Dr. Lee O. Rogers, dentist and immediate past mayor, has accepted the general chairmanship, and Jack Y. Smith, industrial relations manager for Casden Petroleum Corporation, has accepted the vice-chairmanship.

The $102,324 goal recommended by the budget committee and accepted by the trustees is only $840 more than for the current year. Yet it will return $440 more to the participating agencies.

This was made possible by the exceptional record this year, and a modest surplus will be applied to meeting additional budget requests, Jack Davis, chairman, made the budget report.

There are 12 agencies in the fund this year. There are the YMCA, the Lakeview branch of the YMCA, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, West Side Youth Center, Citywide Summer Recreation Program, Crippled Children's (Howard County) Rehabilitation Center, Boy Scouts, Texas United Fund, Milk and Ice Fund, Red Cross, Air Force Aid Society, The Texas Rehabilitation Center made no formal request this year.

Angy Glenn, who managed the office last year, has consented to serve again in this capacity, reported President Marvin Miller.

Financial report of the United Fund showed $92,876 collected so far in the 1961 campaign. As of June 30, agencies had been paid a total of $62,007. Most of them are paid on a monthly basis.

Last year's pledge total included $2,712 paid out to Hurricane Carla relief.

Dr. Rogers, long active in community affairs, retired from public life after serving three terms on the city commission. He has served as an official in several organizations and has participated in United Fund and other special fund efforts.

Smith, also a former city commissioner, long has been a leader in community organizations, having been a divisional United Fund leader. He is president of the State Mental Hospital Development Association and is a past president of the Downtown Lions Club.

The two men will begin shaping their campaign organization soon. Wednesday a trustee meeting drew more than a score of representatives at the Chamber of Commerce conference room.

Pipelines Closed At Deviation Sites

AUSTIN (AP)—The state extended the massive slant-hole oil well probe today to Harris County after ordering pipeline connections severed on all wells on leases where deviated wells already have been found.

The Texas Railroad Commission, attorney general's office and Department of Public Safety have been investigating deviated wells in the East Texas field for several months.

The probe was widened to include the Hawkins Field about a month ago.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson said the probe would be extended to Harris County.

Railroad Commission Chairman W. J. Murray said at mid-morning the severance order had been signed and was being prepared for release to the press.

Pipeline severance means that the wells are shut off from their markets.

He said he did not know exactly how many wells would be affected. "You would have to know how many leases are involved," he said, "and then know how many wells were on each lease."

He said he could not confirm or deny one published report that the number of severed connections in the field would jump from 32 to about 300. "That figure is new to me," he said. "I don't know where they got it or whether it's accurate or not."

The commission along with the Texas attorney general's office, Department of Public Safety, House General Investigating Committee and federal investigators have been probing the drilling of wells on a slant or curve so as to siphon oil from neighboring leases.

Estimates of the amount of "hot oil" pumped through deviated wells have run as high as $6 million a month.

The state has filed suits asking for an injunction to stop the drilling of deviated wells in East Texas needs to be investigated by the committee "for the good of the oil industry, which is so vital to the economy of our state."

The committee announced June 17 it was entering the investigation being conducted by the State Railroad Commission, Department of Public Safety, Texas attorney general's office and by federal investigators.

Turman said: "Inasmuch as the committee is meeting in Austin tomorrow, I am urging that this body conduct an examination to accomplish the following purposes:

"1. Develop the facts in order that the public might be properly informed and rumors and baseless charges be dispelled.

"2. Demonstrate that this is a state problem which we can handle without the need for intervention from without our boundaries.

"3. Lay the groundwork for such legislation as may be needed to prevent a future recurrence."

Turman Asks Panel To Join Well Probe

AUSTIN (AP)—House Speaker James Turman asked the House General Investigating Committee today to join the probe of slant-hole wells in the East Texas oil field.

In a press release, Turman said the drilling of deviated wells in East Texas needs to be investigated by the committee "for the good of the oil industry, which is so vital to the economy of our state."

The committee announced June 17 it was entering the investigation being conducted by the State Railroad Commission, Department of Public Safety, Texas attorney general's office and by federal investigators.

BELIEVED GAS VICTIMS

Ex-Governor, Wife Found Dead In Home

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Former Gov. and Mrs. James T. Blair were found dead in their home west of Jefferson City today. It was believed they were killed during the night by escaping gas.

Their dog also was found dead in the house.

Sheriff Horace Debo said the Blairs, apparently left the engine of their car running in the garage attached to the house and deadly carbon monoxide fumes were sucked through the air conditioner.

A maid called the highway patrol after she reported for work this morning and couldn't get into the house.

Debo said the former governor, who served from 1957-61 apparently realized something was wrong and had tried to get out of the house. Both he and his wife, the former Emilie Chorn of Kansas City, were in their night clothes.

The sheriff said it had not been decided whether an inquest would be held.

The Blairs moved into their spacious new home west of the capital city shortly after his term ended last year.

Recently there had been speculation that Blair, 60, might run for governor again in 1964 but he had never confirmed the rumors.

Blair's death ended a long career in public life. He had served as city attorney of Jefferson City and was a member of the state House of Representatives where, at 28 he was the youngest man ever to serve as majority floor leader. He also was the youngest ever to be president of the Missouri Bar Association in 1930.

Later he was on the Jefferson City Board of Education, served as mayor of the city and two terms as lieutenant governor before becoming governor.

His mother, two brothers, two sisters, a son and a daughter survive the former governor.

Blair served three years overseas in World War II, finishing his active service as a lieutenant colonel.

He was a native of Maysville, Mo., and attended Stanton Military Academy, Southwest Missouri State Teachers College, the University of Missouri and Cumberland University of Lebanon, Tenn., where he got his law degree.

Since leaving the governor's office he had practiced law in Jefferson City.

Rain Effort Is A Flop

It tried to rain again Wednesday night but apparently the effort, insofar as Howard County is concerned was a flop.

The only rain report in the area was in Martin County. Mrs. Bill McLean, who lives on the Wilkenson ranch west of town, said that the ranch lands about six miles to the west of the headquarters only a sprinkle fell. The same sprinkle dampened the sidewalks in town and was officially rated as a trace by the U. S. Experiment Station.

Brilliant electrical displays accompanied the clouds which rolled in with sundown. Gusty winds, particularly to the north and west of Big Spring, stirred up dust storms, it was reported.

The clouds were triggered by an oppressively hot and humid day. The high for Wednesday was 101—three degrees under that of the day before but nevertheless extremely uncomfortable. Low for the night was 70.

Today will be hard pressed to match the all-time record high scored for July 12. That was made in 1909 when the temperature hit 109 degrees.

15 Beauties Seek Miss U.S.A. Title

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Fifteen beauties from New Hampshire to Hawaii and from Illinois to Texas match charms tonight for the Miss U.S.A. title.

They are the survivors from among 40 entrants who paraded before judges and an appreciative convention hall crowd in preliminaries Wednesday night.

The winner will represent the United States in the Miss Universe contest Friday and Saturday nights.

Miss Texas, hazel-eyed Jackie Williams of Waxahachie, cried after she was chosen to remain in the contest.

"What are you bawling about?" somebody asked.

"I am so happy," she sobbed. Then she telephoned her mother, who had planned to accompany her here, but could not because of surgery.

Uncle's Popular

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexicans living along the border still prefer American-made clothing despite an intense national campaign to sell their Mexican-made dresses, suits, shirts and other items, the Clothing Chamber has announced.

Chamber officials said Mexicans buy about 700 million pesos ($56 million) worth of American-made clothing annually.

County Awards Contract For Road Paving

W. D. Caldwell, Big Spring, Thursday morning was awarded contract to pave six miles of newly constructed county roads R E, James Sand and Gravel Company was awarded contract for the gravel to be used in finishing the jobs.

The six miles of road to be paved are in the Lomax area. Joe Hayden, commissioner from the district, moved that Caldwell's bid of $8,005 for the paving, and that of James for $1,612 for the gravel be accepted. Ralph White seconded the motion.

Only two bids were offered for the paving and two for the gravel. Jones Bros., Odessa, bid $11,750 for the paving and West Texas Sand and Gravel Co. $2,025 for the gravel.

Hayden said the roads to be paved, begin at the Lomax store and go west to the Martin County line for three miles; begin at the E. W. Lomax corner and go north two miles to Robb corner and thence one mile east back to connect with FM 818.

Billy Paul Thomas, county engineer, said that county crews have completed work on the roads and Caldwell said he would move in machinery and men at once to start the roads.

Thomas said it should not take more than six or seven working days to complete the paving.

New Balloon Sets Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force said Wednesday a new balloon, designed to maintain constant altitude despite variations in day and night temperatures, has established a new record by remaining aloft for 30 days.

The big balloon, carrying a 50-pound payload of instruments for sampling the air at high altitudes, was launched from Bermuda June 10 and descended about 1,200 miles northwest of Honolulu Tuesday.

It had maintained a constant altitude of 66,000 feet since the launching, traveling meanwhile about 8,000 miles.

The balloon was equipped with a timing device to bring it down at the end of desired data-gathering flights.

Stock Market Rallies For Fourth Straight Day

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied for the fourth straight day today, but afternoon trading saw some issues backing away from advances made earlier in the session.

Trading was heavy, partly on news of a number of developments considered favorable to business. Among these was the Treasury's revision of depreciation rules.

Gains by some pivotal issues ran to $1 a share or more, while some of the more volatile growth issues did even better. International Business Machines Corp. had a gain of more than $6.

Scattered throughout the list of key issues were gains of less than $1.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.50 at 221.

The Dow Jones industrial average at the same time was 2.84 higher at 591.90 and Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks also was higher at 58.19, an advance of 46.

Brokers said other encouraging news included the rejection of the administration's proposed withholding tax plan on dividends and interest. Business had been nearly united against the plan.

The early gain was fairly general. Higher by fractions were steels, autos, chemicals, airlines, aerospace, issues, and rubbers. Rails and oils were narrowly mixed.

Volume in the first hour amounted to 1.1 million shares compared with 730,000 in the first hour Wednesday.

Monday's water consumption in Big Spring was the highest, 9,863,000 gallons were metered.

The month's total is 89,001,000 gallons compared to 79,221,000 for the first 11 days in June. Tuesday's figure was 8,009,000 gallons and Wednesday's total was 6,016,000 gallons.

NEW YORK-PARIS CALL NEXT FOR TELSTAR

NEW YORK (AP)—The Telstar satellite, spinning majestically around the earth after a historic television linking of the United States and Europe, is due to perform another first Friday.

This is to be a transatlantic telephone call by way of the satellite between New York and Paris.

Speaking from here will be Eugene J. McNeely, president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., whose laboratories developed and built Telstar.

The demonstration is scheduled between 5 and 6 p.m. (EST). Telephone service across oceans and continents is one of the prime objectives of satellite communications. This is because present submarine cables are becoming overcrowded, and it is extremely expensive to lay new ones. Radio-telephone is subject to fading and even blackouts.

In the initial demonstration Tuesday night, Telstar showed it could transmit television simultaneously with two-way phone calls, pictures and news stories. These transmissions all were to and from points in this country.

Wednesday night the satellite relayed television pictures from the Old World to the New, bringing programs from French and British stations to American homes.

During orbit No. 24 from 6:30 p.m. to 7:29 p.m. (EST) tonight, the telephone company will transmit test material from Andover and the British will broadcast another television program.

During orbit No. 24 from 6:30 p.m. to 7:29 p.m. (EST) tonight, will put on another TV program after transmission of test material by the telephone company.

The material will be made available to the television networks to do with as they choose.

New Zealand Expels Russians

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP)—New Zealand expelled two Soviet diplomats today on charges of spying.

FBI Reports 4 Crimes Per Minute

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI reported today the four major crimes a minute were committed in the United States last year—an all-time high.

Other features of the report: In 1961 there were an estimated 1,926,000 crimes of murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny and auto theft. This was a 2 per cent increase over the previous record set in 1960.

Crimes committed by persons under 18 rose 4 per cent over 1960.

There were 71 law enforcement officers killed last year and 13,190 assaults against police officers were recorded—an average of eight for every 100 officers.

Cadet Graduation Scheduled Friday

One hundred ninety-five Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps cadets will receive certificates of completion Friday during graduation ceremonies marking the end of four weeks of intensive summer training at Webb AFB.

Six of the cadets will also receive commissions as rank second lieutenants and will subsequently enter pilot training.

The future Air Force officers will assemble for the ceremonies at the Base Chapel where the program will get under way at 4 p.m. Cadets awarded the certificates will have completed at least 85 per cent of the annual program.

Maj. Gen. Dwight O. Monteth, Amarillo AFB Technical Training Center commander, will be the main speaker at the graduation exercises.

Serving as master of ceremonies during the graduation exercises will be Lt. Col. Jack H. Crawford, 3560th Pilot Training Group Officer and ROTC Student Commander. Other officials participating in the ceremonies will be Col. Wilson H. Banks, 3560th Pilot Training Wing commander, and Maj. Carl W. Stucki, Commandant of Cadets, who is as-

Pacifists Sentenced

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A federal judge has sentenced three California pacifists to six-month terms for attempting to sail a vessel into U.S. nuclear test zone waters in the Pacific.

U.S. Dist. Judge William T. Sweigert also imposed six-month sentences Wednesday against two officials of the Committee for Non-Violent Action, a pacifists' organization that sponsored the abortive voyage. They are Roger Moss, 23, the group's West Coast office manager, and Samuel R. Byson, 43, co-chairman of the organization.

The judge said the three defendants had conspired to sail the vessel into the test zone waters in the Pacific.

New Policeman

Fritz, a member of the K-9 Patrol Service, officially joined the local police department Wednesday. The trained police dog will be used by night patrolman Walter Johnson, the only local police officer trained to handle the animal. The dog is being used on a trial basis. Johnson is shown holding Fritz and standing in the background, left to right, are Police Chief Jay Banks, trainer Russell Milroy and Mayor George Zachariah.

2 Integration Leaders Freed

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—Integration leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and the Rev. Ralph Abernathy were released from jail today over their protests after someone paid fines for them. King said, "We didn't want to leave but we couldn't stay any longer. It makes us very, very unhappy." They left the City Jail under protest since by serving their 45-day sentences they had hoped to rally sentiment behind their non-violent challenge of segregation in this south Georgia city. City officials disclaimed definite knowledge of who put up money for the $178 fines. Police Chief Laurie Pritchett quoted the desk sergeant as saying they were paid in cash by a well-dressed Negro man but no name was given. King himself said he had no idea who furnished the money to free him. He said he and Abernathy had received fine treatment during their stay in jail. "We didn't want to leave," he said, "but we couldn't stay any longer. It makes us very, very unhappy."

The police chief of this racially troubled south Georgia city made a personal appeal to Negroes Wednesday night to refrain from violence after stones and clods of dirt were thrown at his officers. King's jailing set off protest demonstrations by Negroes, resulting in the arrest of 32 Wednesday and Police Chief Laurie Pritchett's appeal for calm. More protest marches are expected. Officers on duty near the Shiloh Baptist Church where Negroes held a mass meeting Wednesday night, summoned Pritchett after the rock-throwing. The officers began moving as if to cross the street toward the church when suddenly several hundred persons, including numerous youths, came out of the church. Pritchett arrived just then and told the Negroes he wanted to talk with them. Most of them returned inside the building and the tough situation ended, although some officers who accompanied the chief got cat-calls and jeers from some of the Negro youths. Prior to the appeal by Pritchett, Albany Negro leader Dr. W. G. Anderson urged, in effect, that the Negroes prepare to march again and, if necessary, go to jail. "We feel we must confront this evil system," Anderson said. "If it means going to jail, I'll go to jail because this evil system must be done away with."

Air Training Command's variety show, "Command Performance '62," will be at the John H. Lees Service Club at Webb AFB tonight at 8 p.m. Group and individual acts come from seven ATC bases. The cast includes Airman 3.C. Vernon J. Hitt, Sheppard AFB, and T. Sgt. Jesse Tomasello, Airman 2.C. James T. Jeters, Airman 2.C. John W. Parmer, and Airman 3.C. Franklin J. Osgood of Lackland AFB. The vocal group from Laredo AFB, The Satellites, includes Airman 1.C. Reginald Bullark, Airman 2.C. Horace Young, Airman 2.C. Robert Ben. Airman 3.C. Emil Lewandowski and Airman 2.C. Lawrence Sample. Master of ceremonies is Airman 1.C. Sheldon Hayworth, Perrin AFB. Also appearing are Airman 2.C. Duane J. Marks, WAF, vocalist, from Keesler AFB; Airman 2.C. William Roberts, Conally AFB; S. Sgt. Douglas D. Miles, Stead AFB, and Airman 3.C. Cruz Espino, Sheppard AFB.

Two defendants, who were granted probation by Judge Ralph Caton when they pleaded guilty to felony charges less than two months ago, are in the county jail while officers investigate reports that both have violated the terms of the parole. Raymond Cruz Villa, who was probationed on June 19 after having pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with intent to murder, was held in jail on orders of John Dillre, probation officer. Dee Scaggs Jr. who was given a three-year probation sentence on May 29, was arrested after a charge had been filed against him that he assaulted Raymond Oliver Gil Jones, district attorney, said that he would prepare reports on the cases and present them to the court but that he is uncertain when the matters would be called up.

Services for L. O. Coates, 59, who died suddenly at his home here Tuesday night, are to be at 10 a.m. Friday in the Nalley-Pickle Chapel. The Rev. Cecil Rhoades of West Side Baptist Church will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Cone Merritt of Snyder Interment home. Coates, a native of Borden County, had lived in this area most of his life.

Palbearers are to be Gordon Gross, Chester Cathey, Johnny Rogers, Raymond Kelly, Carl Merrick, Carl Young, Pete Cook and Robert Smith. Coates, a native of Borden County, had lived in this area most of his life.

CHARLES DUNNAM

Dunnam Is Named Cashier At 1st National

Charles Dunnam has been made cashier of the First National Bank, Lester Morton, president, announced Thursday. Dunnam, who started his banking career at First National five years ago, has been serving as assistant cashier, Jack Davis, who previously held the post, had been vice president and cashier and now holds the title of vice president. Record and clerical functions of the bank head up through the cashier. Dunnam joined the bank in 1957 upon graduation from Big Spring High School, doing general work and then going into the proofing department. Subsequently he was promoted to teller and then was made assistant cashier. He has studied extensively, having completed nine American Institute of Banking courses, sufficient to earn him both the pre-standard and the standard AIB certificates. Currently he is the Big Spring AIB chapter president. He also is in the Permian Basin chapter of the National Association of Banking Auditors and Accountants. He is vice president in charge of program for the American Business Club, and is a Baptist.

In 1957 Dunnam was married to the former Jolene Reynolds, and they have one son, Craig, 3. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Dunnam, Big Spring.

Medicare Protest Is Considered

REGINA, Sask. (AP)—Premier Woodrow Lloyd and his cabinet are weighing a reply to a citizens rally petition for a new law to replace Saskatchewan's controversial medical care insurance plan. But Lloyd said the rally Wednesday has not changed the Socialist provincial government's stand. The demonstration brought several thousand persons from all parts of the province into the capital. Committee organizers claimed a predicted 30,000 persons came into Regina for the rally. Police Chief A. G. Cookson estimated it at 15,000. But Lloyd said it was no more than 3,000 and declared "the size of the crowd doesn't lend support to claims of overwhelming opposition to the government."

The placard-carrying demonstrators gathered in a picket mood outside the provincial legislature buildings while a 12-man delegation from the keep-out-doctors sponsoring committee presented the petition to Lloyd and his aides. The petition asked suspension of the medical care act that went into effect July 1 and precipitated the strike of doctors, who said it opened the door to government control of the medical profession. The plan, designed to provide medical care for everyone, is financed by single-person and family assessments of $12 and $24 a year and by general taxation. The delegation saw Lloyd for 10 minutes and was told that the government would reply to the petition as soon as possible. Then the delegation joined the demonstrators outside for two hours of speeches. The keep-out-doctors committee sought suspension of the medical care act to allow the striking doctors to return to normal service. This would be followed by negotiations between the government and the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons to draft a medical care act acceptable to everybody.

Federal Judge To Give Tests To Franchise-Seeking Negroes

MONROE, La. (AP)—A federal judge in the first action of its kind in the nation, begins today to administer tests to Negroes who want to vote in a northeast Louisiana parish county where no member of their race has voted in 40 years. U.S. Dist. Judge Edwin F. Hunter said he would test 78 Negroes from East Carroll Parish under the 1960 Civil Rights Act. That act empowers federal judges to process applications—or name a federal referee to do so—if there is no other way to end a pattern of discrimination against potential voters. Hunter's action could establish a pattern in the handling of alleged vote discrimination in the south. The jurist, whose home at Lake Charles is in the opposite corner of the state from East Carroll, will give the Negroes literacy tests, require them to read the preamble of the state constitution and administer a simple citizen test. The requirements are part of long-established state law for qualifying voters. In practice, many parishes in the past have skipped the tests. But the state recently ordered all parishes to comply with the registration laws. The move brought protests from the federal government that tightening of the requirements was designed to keep Negroes off registration lists. The way for Judge Hunter's action was paved Wednesday in Lake Providence when the East leged vote discrimination in the south. She's An Early Bird

Actress Louise King, star of NBC's "Today" show, begins her day at 4 a.m. She says that there is no substitute for a good night of sleep. Her whole set of habits was revolutionized when she began the program.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Louise King Tells How To 'Rise And Shine'

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—Louise King and I met for the first time when NBC brought their "Today" show to the coast for a brief visit. She came to tea looking bright-eyed though her day had begun at four a.m.

"To be at the studio for a five o'clock call, I had to revolutionize my habits. One thing I discovered is that there is no substitute for enough sleep. I had a free day when I first started this show and I made the most of it. But the camera was quick to reflect fatigue that showed in my eyes, voice, skin and even in my hair."

"Everywhere but your teeth," I said, complimenting Louise's beautiful smile.

"My parents were very strict about having me go three times a year to the dentist, and I was not allowed to eat many sweets. I have good teeth and I try to take care of them."

"My dentist recommended an electric toothbrush, and I'm crazy about it. It costs $20 and is well worth it. It is like a massage. It's wonderful for the gums, and there are four different brushes, so I can always use a dry one. Brushing your teeth indifferently or too vigorously affects the gums, because they either don't get enough stimulation or they are damaged by rough handling."

Louise admitted that she had a new hairstyle designed in Hollywood.

"I am very conservative, and just as I have started using this back-combing method, they tell me it's going out of style," she laughed.

BEAUTY SLEEP
Tension and fatigue are destroyers of beauty. Let Leaflet M-4, "How to Relax," help you relieve fatigue and nervous tension so that you will have eight undisturbed hours of beauty-building sleep. ling. Held at the home of Mrs. Hall, 704 Texas, the coffee hours were from 10 until 12 o'clock.

Mrs. Hensley and her mother, Mrs. Munal, are to leave soon, joining Mr. Hensley in Paris, Texas where they will make their home.

Some 32 guests were served from the silver appointed table, spread with white linen cutwork cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink carnations. Another decorative note was a fruit bowl encircled with hibiscus blossoms.

Out of town guests attending were Mrs. Russell Scott of Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., Mrs. Charles Ford of New York and Mrs. A. Ledbetter Jr. of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Members of the house party who assisted and alternated at the coffee service were Mrs. Adolph Swartz, Mrs. J. E. Hogan, Mrs. Carl Marcum, Mrs. Ed Switt and Mrs. Horace Garrett.

Solar Expert Looks Ahead

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON, AP Newsfeatures Writer

WASHINGTON — Dr. Nancy Grace Roman wasn't exactly indifferent when solar observatory satellites were successfully launched from Cape Canaveral this spring.

But she couldn't quite muster that same pitch of excitement shared by exhilarated friends, the press, and some of her fellow workers at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration here.

Young, 35, strawberry blonde Dr. Roman has her thrills months ago when she, as chief of the astronomy and solar physics program, was assured that the last of technical problems were solved and success seemed inevitable.

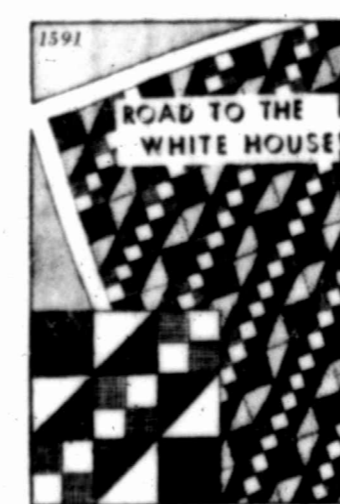

At that stage she always puts a project out of her mind to make room for the next one. In keeping ahead of the busy Cape, the lady astronomer is already wrinkling her brow over launchings not scheduled to take place for four to five more years.

To make sure that science is ready for that future date, she plans, coordinates and institutes the astronomical observations made beyond the earth's atmosphere. Her outstanding job at this won her a coveted Federal Women's Award this year, making her the youngest of the half dozen government employes thus honored.

Jaycee-Ettes To Hold Summer Party

Members of the Jaycee-Ettes gathered in the home of Mrs. Gene Hightower, Tuesday evening to plan a summer party. Two new members, Mrs. R. E. Dodson and Mrs. Kenneth Pace, were recognized.

After new yearbooks were issued, refreshments were served and tables of bridge were played.

Mrs. Nevils NCO Wives President

Mrs. Donald Nevils will head a new set of NCO Wives Club officers during the coming year. The election was held at a regular Tuesday session of the club under the direction of Mrs. William Peterson, retiring president.

Others elected were Mrs. Ralph Bearup, first vice president; Mrs. William Roberts, second vice president; Mrs. Arving Phillips, secretary; Mrs. Charles Bigelow.

Officers will be installed at an installation dinner, July 21 at the NCO Club. The affair, scheduled to begin at 7 p.m., will be hosted by the retiring officers. Reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Nevils at AM 3-6263. Deadline for reservations is July 13.

Members voted to supply new curtains for the nursery at the Base Hospital. Plans were also discussed for the club's participation in the Base Carnival to be held in late August. Mrs. Thomas Curran will represent the NCO Wives Club on the planning committee.

Following the business session, refreshments were served by hostesses, Mrs. Dale Parsons and Mrs. William Peterson.

Crafts Workshop Held By Planters

The Planters Garden Club held a craft workshop Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. H. Hine.

During the workshop, Mrs. Frank Wilson gave a demonstration on making corsages and bird-cages.

Members voted to participate in flower shows this fall. It was announced that Mrs. E. O. Sanderson will be hostess to the group at a luncheon, Aug. 12.

Eight members and two visitors, Sharon Agee and Genie Hine, attended.

Jewelry Cheers The Aged, Sick

By CLAREMAE PIEGAT, Gary Post-Tribune

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. — Audrey Kirkman has a non-profit, but most rewarding hobby.

Several years ago a mental patient—a lonely, troubled woman neglected by family and friends—admired a necklace being worn by Mrs. Kirkman.

What did she do? She took off the necklace and gave it to the woman. The smile on the patient's face was enough reward. Since then Mrs. Kirkman has brightened the lives of thousands of such patients and old people with gifts of jewelry.

She devotes more than 25 hours a week to making jewelry for patients in mental institutions and county homes.

Her goal is to have the jewelry project carried on by clubs. Units have already been formed in several Indiana towns.

This craft, she says, for you learn by doing.

District President

Mrs. P. B. Starke of Andrews will serve as president of Western District of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, replacing Mrs. J. A. DeVoto of El Paso, who is moving to Argentina. Mrs. Starke is selected as her theme, "A Challenge for growth in a Changing World." She will preside for the Western District Board meeting Sept. 15 in Andrews.

Peace Pipe Is Smoked Over GOP Citizen Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller, R-N.Y., said today organizers have pledged the National Republican Citizens Committee will not support any individual candidate for the 1964 party presidential nomination.

Miller, the GOP national chairman, and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, have smoked a peace pipe over the issue.

"Bill Miller is still my chairman," Goldwater said after a conference Wednesday. "But I still think the citizens committee will prove to be a divisive influence in the party."

Miller said in a separate interview he and Goldwater remain cooperative, even though he supports the citizens group and the senator doesn't.

Goldwater's associates had been convinced that the citizens group was being organized to provide a vehicle to draft Richard M. Nixon, former vice president, for the presidential nomination if he wins the governorship of California in the November balloting.

"They regarded the group as hostile to both the senator and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York."

Not so, said Miller.

"It is clearly understood among all concerned that the citizens group will work in complete coordination with the national committee," he said. "There is the clear understanding that they will not support any particular candidate for the President or in the congressional elections, for that matter."

Miller indicated that the views of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had prevailed in establishing the citizens group.

Eisenhower is likely to be even more in demand as signs increase that President Kennedy intends to hit the campaign trail for Democratic candidates.

Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago said after a White House visit Wednesday that Kennedy will speak at a Democratic fund-raising dinner in Chicago Oct. 19.

Medal Of Honor Anniversary Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — A century ago today President Lincoln signed legislation for presentation of Medals of Honor to Army men who distinguished themselves in battle during the present rebellion.

Since then, the highest military decoration—for valor above and beyond the call of duty—has been awarded 2,199 times to Army men who fought in nine big or little wars.

There are 176 living who wear the famous medal and two of that select company were chosen to mark the anniversary today by laying wreaths on the Tomb of the Unknowns in Arlington National Cemetery. The unknowns of World War I, and II, and of the Korea fighting have been awarded the medal.

Selected to place the wreaths were Army Capt. Ola L. Mize, Ft. Benning, Ga., and Luther Skaggs, Washington. Mize was decorated for valor while a Marine private in Korea. Skaggs, national chairman of the Medal of Honor Society won his honor as a private in World War II. He led an assault against the Japanese on Guam.

When the Medal of Honor was created on Dec. 21, 1861, it was for award to the Navy. But, the following July, the Army was authorized to use it also.

The Navy has conferred the medal on 729 Navy men, 278 Marines and one Coast Guardsman.

In addition the Medal of Honor has been awarded under special act of Congress to 10 others. These include Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Maj. Gen. Adolphus Greeley, the explorer, the three American unknowns and those of Belgium, Britain, France, Italy and Romania after World War I.

But it was in the Civil War that the preponderance of Medals of Honor were awarded—1,190.

The Civil War list would have remained even higher if years later, in 1916, a War Department board hadn't reviewed the circumstances of awards. From the Medal of Honor rolls, 911 names were clipped.

After the sifting out, the medal list was confined to those who had fought, and in many instances died, with valor or who otherwise, like Lindbergh, had brought high honor to the nation.

General Lauds 36th Division

NORTH FORT POLK, La. (AP) — Lt. Gen. Carl Jark, commander of the Fourth Army, praised the 36th Division Wednesday for its spirit and military courtesy.

Gen. Jark spent the day in the field where the 36th is winding up two weeks of active duty.

He told Maj. Gen. Selden Simpson, division commander, that he was impressed with "the military courtesy and spirit of the personnel I have seen today."

Gen. Jark said he hoped in next year's training period the Fourth Army "will be able to furnish a little more leisurely training period and that material assistance will be better."

A shortage of vehicles and ammunition, as well as terrain for training, forced the 36th Division to divide its field maneuvers into two shifts for the 2-week encampment.

The 5,000 troopers who bivouacked in the Louisiana boondocks this week will return to the main camp today. The other 3,000 members of the 36th trained in the woodlands last week.

New Titan Test Success

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — America's military and space potential has been strengthened by the second successful test firing in three flights of the mammoth Titan 2 rocket.

The 10-story projectile, most powerful military rocket now planned by the United States, blasted off from Cape Canaveral Wednesday and struck a target 5,000 miles away in the South Atlantic Ocean.

The Air Force announced success of the mission, which duplicated the maiden flight on March 16. The second test failed on June 8 because of trouble with the second stage.

The purpose of the flight was to further evaluate rocket design, propulsion, guidance and other systems.

Initial emphasis will be on developing Titan 2 as a blackbuster weapon capable of delivering nuclear payloads like those designed for Atlas and Titan 1 to targets more than 12,000 miles away.

Once operational, hopefully in about a year, Titan 2 is scheduled to be the booster for the Gemini two-man space capsule, the follow-on program to Project Mercury.

Reds Claim Link With Algerians

TOKYO (AP) — Communist North Korea said today Algerian Premier Youssef Ben Khedda has expressed conviction that cooperation between the two countries will guarantee "success in our struggle against imperialism."

A North Korean radio broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, said Ben Khedda made the statement Tuesday in replying to a telegram sent him when Algeria became independent.

Ben Khedda was quoted as saying, "We are convinced that the tie of amicable cooperation formed between the two peoples in the period of the protracted liberation struggle of Algeria will be strengthened in the future and that this tie will become a guarantee for success in our struggle against imperialism."

Military Out Of Mousetrap Business, Devices Unified

WASHINGTON (AP) — "The military is out of the mousetrap business," a Defense Supply Agency spokesman proclaimed today.

This came to light when a newsman checked a report that the Pentagon's giant purchasing agency had "unified" the rat-and-mouse catching devices used by all the services.

At first, the spokesman said he wasn't up on the mousetrap situation. But he'd look into it.

Sure enough, the number of trap styles had been pared from five to two—one for rats, one for mice.

Looking deeper, the official found that his agency had handed over the entire military rat mouse trap buying responsibility to the General Services Administration.

The GSA is the federal book-keeping agency. It buys office supplies, supervises and maintains public buildings and does a variety of chores for both civilian and military arms of the government.

The Defense Supply Agency shops for uniforms, auto parts and all sorts of similar equipment for the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force.

Generally, federal agencies put up a fight before giving up any of their powers.

But not in this case. An inter-agency committee sat down solemnly to discuss the issue. And the shift went off without a ripple.

Nobody seemed to know how many traps the government bought a year. Nor how much was spent for them.

One GSA official foresaw possible difficulties in limiting the type of traps to two.

"Maybe," he mused, "we ought to think of an all-purpose model to catch both rats and mice."

Palmer Thrillin' 'Em In Scotland

TRONN, Scotland (AP)—Defending champion Arnold Palmer shot into the lead in the British Open Golf Championship with a record-tying 69 today over the Old Troon course for a 36-hole score of 140.

He had a two-stroke lead over Kel Nagle of Australia with 71-71-142, with about one-fourth of the 118-man field still on the course. One of those was Peter Thomson, Australia's four-time winner who had an opening round 70.

Phyl Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., added a 70 to a previous 75 for 145 and Don Essig, the former U.S. Public Links champion from Indianapolis, fired a 72 for 148. Both apparently were sure of surviving the cut at the end of the day reducing the field to a maximum of 50 for Friday's 36-hole showdown.

Less certain were Jack Nicklaus, the U.S. Open champion from Columbus, Ohio, and the four other Americans in the field. Nicklaus rallied with a par 72 today after a harrowing first round 80 but his 152 score apparently will put him on the border.

Other likely casualties include Gene Littler, the 1961 U.S. Open champion from San Diego, Calif., with 79-74-153, Jack Isaacs from the Los Angeles Air Force Base in Virginia, 76-78-154, and Paul Runyan, 53 World Seniors champion from La Jolla, Calif., with 79-77-156.

Sam Snead, 50, tournament war-horse from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., was one of the late starters. He had an opening round 76.

Palmer, who won the tournament last year at Birkdale, England, took charge when the first round leader, Keith MacDonald, who opened with a 69, skyrocketed to a 77 for 146.

The muscular professional from Latrobe, Pa., thrilled a gallery of 15,000 by nailing an eagle three on the treacherous 11th hole—the "Railway Hole" where other golfers were taking 10s and 15s Wednesday, and by knocking in a 7-foot putt for a birdie on the final hole.

"I felt good from the moment I hit my first shot," said Palmer.

More Entries Needed For Forsan Softball Tourney

FORSAN — Four more entries are needed to round out the field in the Forsan Invitational Softball tournament.

James Blake, who is heading arrangements for the tourney, said that the Forsan Oilers, Forsan All-Stars, Heater's Office Supply and the Garden City Independents are the teams entered thus far.

The fee for entering is $12.50 plus an official ASA Hardwood Ball. Entry may be made by phoning Blake at 501, Forsan.

Bobby Cowley is managing the Forsan All Stars, Fred Blalock the Heater's team, Frank Murphy the Garden City Club, and Bob Hicks the Oilers.

Play will be on a single elimination basis for all places.

Trophies will be awarded to who has been plagued with back miseries and putting troubles. "My back's still a bit stiff but once it got warm it didn't worry me."

"I've got a better touch on the greens today."

Palmer played the back nine in 32 after a 37 going out. The powerfully-built, 22-year-old Nicklaus was in much better form as he sank a six-foot putt for a birdie at the third hole and barely missed an eagle at the 11th, where a 3-foot putt skimmed past the cup. He got another birdie at the 12th with a brilliant iron shot 2 1/2 feet from the cup.

"I am still misjudging my putts," Nicklaus said. "They were first going to the right, then to the left."

Mahaffey Comes Back From Disaster's Brink

By The Associated Press

Just 10 months ago Art Mahaffey's career stood at the brink of disaster. Today the young Philadelphia pitcher is standing at the threshold of stardom.

Hit over the eye by a ball thrown at full force from only 2 or 3 feet away in a game at Cincinnati last September, Mahaffey has made a remarkable recovery, and he is well on the way to fulfilling his great promise.

The 24-year-old right-hander who got off to a predictable slow start won his 11th game Wednesday night, setting Houston down on five hits for a 6-1 Philadelphia victory that propelled him closer to a possible 20-victory season.

The game—the only one scheduled in either league—was the curtain-raiser for the second half of the baseball campaign. It rolls into full swing tonight with an 11-game program.

The lights went out for Mahaffey on Sept. 17 when he decided not to slide in a play at second base and went in standing up. He was out in $100,000 races, is the 2-1 favorite, nevertheless, for the big Monmouth Handicap Saturday at Monmouth Park.

Eleven starters are expected in the 1 1/2 mile event for $100,000. They include Mrs. Katherine Price's Carry Back and Jack Dreifus' 3's Beau Purple. Carry Back knocked Kelso off in the Metropolitan May 30 while Beau Purple did the job July 4 in the Suburban—both at Aqueduct.

John Turner, Monmouth racing secretary, assigned 130 pounds topweight to Kelso who will be ridden as usual by Willie Shoemaker. Kelso twice outdistanced the yearling must concede from six to 24 pounds to his rivals.

Carry Back, who finished fourth in the Suburban, has 124 pounds this time with Johnny Rott up and is second choice at 3-1. Bill Roland, who won the Suburban with a smart eye points Beau Purple a 4-1 shot carrying 117 pounds.

Kelso Picked As Favorite

OCEANPORT, N.J. (AP)—Belmont State's Kelso is the 2-1 favorite for the big Monmouth Handicap Saturday at Monmouth Park.

Eleven starters are expected in the 1 1/2 mile event for $100,000. They include Mrs. Katherine Price's Carry Back and Jack Dreifus' 3's Beau Purple. Carry Back knocked Kelso off in the Metropolitan May 30 while Beau Purple did the job July 4 in the Suburban—both at Aqueduct.

Records Expected

AUSTIN AP—Records all the way around are being forecast for the Texas Coaching School at Lubbock Aug. 2-11 by L. W. M. Conchar, executive vice president of the Texas High School Coaches Association.

Charley's batsmen could muster but a pair of hits off Matlock while the Midland pitchers combined the Big Spring pitchers for seven hits. Charley's had two bobbles ahead of Matlock too.

Billy Paul Thomas gave up only two hits to Odessa Merchants, but one of them was a homer by White, enough to do him in. The other run was unearned.

Phils Whip Houston

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies continued their amazing success against the Houston Colts Wednesday night by beating the Texans for the eighth straight time this season as right-hander Art Mahaffey posted his 11th victory, 6-1, in a five-hit effort.

Roy Sievers drove in four runs with his ninth homer and a double and rookie Ted Savage also connected for the circuit as the Phillies made good use of their six hits off southpaw Hal Woodeshick and right-hander Dick Drett.

It was Mahaffey's third win over Houston this season.

Devils Bunch Hits, Win 5-2

Gary Banks had a perfect night at bat including a double and a homer, but that was not enough to pull his VFW mates through. The Devils bunched three of their hits in the last inning for as many hits and that was enough.

Danny Johnson, mated the VFW to three hits and got credit for the victory as a Lonnie Clanton who was limited only three safe hits was charged with the loss.

Smith, Charley's Lose, Webb Wins

All three of the Big Spring entries in the Midland Invitational Softball Tournament have now lost one game, and one of them will go out of the picture this evening.

Webb AFB came out Wednesday evening beating TESCO of Midland 7-1. Since dropping the opener the Webb club has been playing good ball.

F. C. Smith Construction ran into a two-hit effort by Stephens of Odessa Merchants and came off with a 2-0 drubbing.

Charley's Package Store also stumbled for the first time dropping a 3-0 decision to the highly regarded Matlock Furniture of Midland.

This evening Webb and Smith meet at 7:30 p.m., and the loser will fall out of tournament consideration.

Bob Pekar was a star in the Webb victory, not only pitching his team to a win but also contributing a home run to the effort.

Eleven Pitchers Seek 20 Wins

NEW YORK (AP)—Eleven big league pitchers, led by Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers, are moving toward the 20-game victory mark. Nine are more than halfway home.

The final total is likely to be the highest since 1951 when 13 pitchers won 20 or more games. The major league record for 20-game winners is 17 set in 1903 and equaled in 1920.

Drysdale needs only five more victories to reach his goal. His record is 15-4. Bob Purkey of Cincinnati is next in line with 14 victories, followed by Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers, 13, and Juan Marchal of San Francisco, Dick Donovan of Cleveland and Camilo Pascual of Minnesota, 12 each.

Joe Jay of Cincinnati, Art Mahaffey of Philadelphia and Ralph Terry of the New York Yankees have 11 victories apiece while Billy O'Dell of San Francisco and Bob Gibson of St. Louis have 10. Jay, a 21-game winner in 1961, looms as the only repeater.

8 VICTORIES
Milwaukee's Warren Spahn, 12 times a 20-game winner, shows only eight triumphs. However, the veteran southpaw usually comes on strong in the second half of the campaign.

Whitey Ford of the Yankees and Frank Lary of Detroit, the only others who hit the 20-victory mark last season, have been plagued by sore arms. Ford has won seven games and Lary only a pair.

Drysdale, seeking his first 20-game winning season, has defeated every National League team except the Chicago Cubs. He has whipped Pittsburgh three times; Milwaukee, Houston, New York, San Francisco and Philadelphia twice each; and St. Louis and Cincinnati once each.

BEATEN ALL
Purkey, who has beaten every team in the senior circuit, also has picked on the Pirates most often. He has three victories over Pittsburgh, two each over Los Angeles, San Francisco and Philadelphia and one each against New York, St. Louis, Chicago, Houston and Milwaukee.

The Yankees have been Donavan's chief victims. The Indians for a day game.

In an all-night schedule, the American league-leading New York Yankees, a game in front of second-place Cleveland, invade Los Angeles for a series with the third-place Angels. The Indians will be at Baltimore, Detroit at Chicago, Washington at Minnesota and Boston at Kansas City for a two-nighter.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies continued their amazing success against the Houston Colts Wednesday night by beating the Texans for the eighth straight time this season as right-hander Art Mahaffey posted his 11th victory, 6-1, in a five-hit effort.

Roy Sievers drove in four runs with his ninth homer and a double and rookie Ted Savage also connected for the circuit as the Phillies made good use of their six hits off southpaw Hal Woodeshick and right-hander Dick Drett.

It was Mahaffey's third win over Houston this season.

Lamesa Ousts Big Spring

The Big Spring Legion team, rated hopefully as a club which had the possibilities of going all the way, was ushered unceremoniously out of district contention Wednesday evening at Lubbock.

Lamesa did the honors, 9-1. The evening before the Big Spring juniors had come up against T. Cunningham, a Seminole pitcher drafted by Denver City for the tournament, and he completely shocked them 6-0. Thus, two losers tossed the Big Springers out in the cold in the double elimination tourney for District 19 honors.

The locals had coasted to the southern half title, dropping only one game—their last. They won their first game at Lubbock, then went suddenly cold.

Against Denver City they managed only two hits and 19 batters struck out—six of them watching the third strike over. Roy New, who pitched five-hit ball, was charged with three balks and his mates erred three times.

Griffith, a sensitive, friendly and childlike kid out of the ring, was deeply disturbed over the outcome of the match. The memory is still never far from his thoughts.

NASA Orders Study For 2 Types Of Moon Ships

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's space agency has called for two new types of moon ships.

One would shuttle between a lunar satellite and the moon's surface. The other would take two men directly from the earth to the moon and back.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration asked the aerospace industry Wednesday to send in proposals for development of the first vehicle. NASA Administrator James E. Webb said the agency hoped to be able to let contracts within three months.

Plans for the second vehicle would take longer to study, he said.

In other developments on the moon front, NASA disclosed it has started a study in detail of designs for an unmanned vehicle to provide support for the crews that visit the moon.

The space agency said it is looking for suitable areas for landing spacecraft returning to earth from the moon.

The shuttle or lunar excursion vehicle would be a glass-enclosed cockpit for two men. It would be lodged in the nose of a three-man Apollo spacecraft and would be sent on a 72-hour journey to the area of the moon by an advanced Saturn C5 rocket.

The Apollo, with the miniature craft in its nose, would go into orbit about 100 miles above the moon. Two of the three crew members would climb into the excursion capsule, detach it from the mother craft, and descend to about 50,000 feet above the moon for closer examination of the surface.

If landing prospects appeared unfavorable the capsule would return to the orbiting mother craft. If everything was all right, it could hover directly over the moon's surface and then land.

After the men had explored the moon for two to four days, they would take off, hook up with the orbiting Apollo craft, and blast off for the return trip to the earth.

The two-man craft for the direct voyage to the moon also would be launched by a Saturn C5, but it would not be a part of a larger spacecraft.

The expanding U.S. space program got a vote of confidence in the Senate Wednesday when a shrouded chorus of "yess" passed a $3,829,515,250 spending authorization — more than double the money voted last year.

The measure for the fiscal year that started July 1 now goes back to the House which pared down President Kennedy's requests by $116 million. Actual funds will be voted in a separate appropriation.

Telstar Links Europe, U. S.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Telstar satellite linked the Old World with the New Wednesday night by relaying French and British television into American homes.

For the first time in history Americans were able to watch a French television program as it was being broadcast.

Several hours later, a program came to TV screens in this country "live" from Goochilly Downs, England.

While the programs originated in Europe, both came here by a circuitous route to and from outer space. European signals were beamed skyward to rendezvous with the Telstar satellite.

SHRINKING EARTH

The 170-pound, man-made heavenly wonder picked up the signals, magnified them 10 billion times and beamed them down again to the portion of our shrinking earth.

This entire procedure took only milliseconds since television signals travel at the speed of light — 186,000 miles per second — and Telstar is never more than 3,500 miles above the earth.

In less technical terms, the achievement brought French singing, Yves Montand and lovely blonde chanteuse Michele Arnaud onto American screens. The program was so clear it might have been coming from around the block.

The French presentation was taped earlier in Paris for the historic broadcast from Lannion in Brittany and was seen here on all three networks for eight minutes beginning at 6:35 p.m. EST.

PLEASANT MOMENTS

The show opened with Jacques Tardet, French minister of posts and telecommunications, praising American-French cooperation and then advising:

"Relax, you are in Paris. I invite you to spend a few pleasant moments with me."

Marette's words, spoken in French, were translated into English for the benefit of his foreign audience. The program was not seen in France, where the national network was already off the air for the night. It will be shown in France later.

Telstar was on its 15th orbit around the earth, moving from Newfoundland to the English Channel, when it relayed the French signals here. As it moved eastward and out of range at its speed of 16,000 m.p.h., the television picture dissolved into static patterns.

Several hours later, CBS made use of Telstar's 16th orbit to relay history's first live show from England to the United States. The 12-minute program featured British officials explaining the transmitter controls at Goochilly Downs and praising the American achievement.

SECOND VIEW

Shortly before the France-to-America telecast, the British saw a second transmission from the United States via space.

The first time was on Tuesday, when pictures beamed by way of the satellite from Andover, Maine, back to the United States were received unexpectedly in Goochilly Downs. However, the pictures at that time were scratchy, and no sound came through.

Wednesday, the pictures and the sound were described as excellent.

Later, the British station picked up the French telecast via Telstar.

British Broadcasting Co. officials didn't like what they saw this time.

In a television newscast, a BBC commentator accused the French of jumping the gun in bidding to be the first European country to beam an entertainment program across the Atlantic.

PACT BROKEN

The commentator said the French had broken an agreement with the European Broadcasting Union which provided for a joint European television program to be transmitted via Telstar to the United States July 23.

On the same day, the three major American networks will transmit a 15-minute news program to Europe via Telstar.

The date for the exchange was chosen because it is the first on which programs of equal length can be transmitted during successive orbits of the satellite and shown on each continent during normal viewing hours.

The American program will be sent from the giant horn antenna at the Bell Telephone ground station in Andover, to Goochilly Downs via Telstar. The English station will relay the signal throughout Europe.

The European program, to be

Strong Winds Lash Borger

By The Associated Press

Hurricane-force winds ripped through Borger in the Texas Panhandle Wednesday as the rest of the state was in the throes of a searing heat wave.

Winds of 90 miles an hour were clocked at the Hutchinson County airport at Borger where half of the roof of the Jay Aircraft Co. building was blown off.

Heavy rains accompanied the winds and flowed into the air terminal lobby. A half inch of rain also was recorded at Levelland. Elsewhere Texans sweltered as temperatures ranged to a high of 106 at Presidio.

Forecasts through Friday call for little change in the hot, muggy weather that has prevailed all week. Temperatures were expected to be in the 90 and 100-degree-plus range Thursday.

Some isolated thundershowers and thunderstorms are expected to develop again late Thursday in the upper Pecos Valley northward through the Panhandle.

Early in the day skies were clear over most of the Lone Star State. Some sections of West Texas reported partly cloudy skies. Some portions of South Central Texas found some low clouds developing during the night. Temperatures were generally in the lower 80s and 70s.

The temperature range at 4 a.m. was from 69 at Amarillo and Lubbock to 89 at Presidio, Galveston and Dallas.

Webb Open Mess Elects Officers

Major Lawrence R. Casey, 3560th CE Group commander, has been elected to the presidency of the Officers Open Mess board of governors, 1st Lt. John Trimpe, club secretary, announced this week. Maj. Casey succeeds 1st Lt. Clifton L. Bray, 3560th Pilot Training Sq., commander, to the office.

Elected as members of the board were: Capt. Walter H. Baxter III, 3561st Student Sq.; Capt. Howard D. Austin, 3560th Pilot Training Sq.; Maj. Earle W. Brokaw, 3560th Pilot Training Wing; Capt. Dorothy I. Fleming, 3560th USAF Hospital.

Capt. Donald O. Coakley, 3560th Pilot Training Group; Capt. William Richardson, 331st FIS; and Capt. Giede W. Vaughn, 3560th M&S Group.

Also Maj. Lawrence R. Simpson, 3560th Air Base Group; Maj. Glenn E. Hartwell, 3560th Pilot Training Wing; 1st Lt. Teney Takahashi, 331st FIS, and 2nd Lt. Alexander McDermott and David Harper. Lieutenants McDermott and Harper were elected as student officer representatives to the board.

Heart Trouble Grounds Slayton

WASHINGTON (AP)—Astronaut Donald K. (Deke) Slayton has lost his solo flight space wings because of heart trouble.

The 38-year-old Air Force major, a former jet test pilot, bowed reluctantly Wednesday to the prospect of ground duty in Project Mercury.

This will involve engineering and planning work on the Mercury, Gemini and Apollo projects and other programs of the Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston.

James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said Slayton is not definitely ruled out of participation in the two-man Gemini and three-man Apollo flights that will follow the one-man Mercury experiments.

"We are not crossing every bridge in the future," Webb said. "The decision on Slayton virtually assures an Air Force colleague, Maj. Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr., of an early try at space travel.

Cooper, 35, will may be the next astronaut aloft after the forthcoming 6-orbit attempt of Navy Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra Jr. Schirra's flight is tentatively planned for early September and the Cooper mission might be the last on the schedule for 1962.

The grounding of Slayton was announced Wednesday at a news conference by Dr. Robert S. Gilruth, director of NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center.

Slayton's irregular heart action, called atrial fibrillation, came to light last spring shortly before he was scheduled to make an orbital flight. He was replaced by Lt. Cmdr. Malcolm Scott Carpenter.

Gilruth said Slayton's general health is excellent.

Slayton was off fishing in Wisconsin when the announcement was made. "Naturally, I am greatly disappointed," he said. "I'll work wherever management feels I can best contribute to the program."

Story Time's A Happy Time

Four-year-old Lisa Tally thinks she is practically an adult at times, although she is still young enough to enjoy climbing on her mother's lap and hear her older sister, Sharon, read one of her favorite fairyland tales. Also pleasant for Mrs. Tally, these times pose a period of relaxation from her busy schedule.

Mrs. Tally Prepares Down-To-Earth Meals

Just plain 'old-fashioned' good food satisfies the palates of the Raymond Tally family, who live in a lovely split-level home at 1201 Pennsylvania.

Today's cook, Mrs. Tally, finds cooking for her family a pleasure. As the years go by, she discovers ways of pleasing their individual tastes and finds shortcuts to her own advantage. She, like most women who cook for a family, thrives on the compliments she receives from preparing a dish that is perhaps a bit different or different to fix.

Mrs. Tally is not completely alone in her kitchen. Daughters, Sharon, 16, and Lisa, four, lend a helping hand now and then. Lisa's cooking ability is limited to making toast and stirring batters, but Sharon ably produces complete meals. Mrs. Tally tells that Sharon does not spend too much time in the kitchen because of the many teenage activities in which she has part. However, when she does prepare a meal, it is appreciated and quite tasty.

A favorite menu is fried chicken, preferably oven-fried, baked potatoes with sour cream, buttered beans, green salad and ice-cream fruit pie. Chicken tops the list of favorite meats, but meat, loaves, steaks, fish and venison are also popular.

Because of her husband's annual deer hunt, Mrs. Tally always has a good supply of venison on hand and she has learned various ways to prepare it.

Mrs. Tally's Sunday dinners are becoming less frequent during the summer as the result of weekend jaunts to the lake. She enjoys cooking meals for her husband, her two daughters at home, another daughter, Mrs. Don Sakier, and family, and son Jan, his wife and two daughters.

When the family goes to the lake, Mrs. Tally gets a rest from the daily cooking routine. They usually eat hamburgers and beans or sandwiches which are fine just as long as there are plenty.

Simple meals usually monopolize the menu, Mrs. Tally says that she sometimes dresses up a simple recipe with various spices and herbs. Two of her favorites are onion chips and onion salt. A number of her recipes are from the Herald recipe edition published a few years ago.

When Mrs. Tally decides to go on a dieting binge, she strives to keep her meals separate from those of her family, but Sharon says that she forces quite a few salads and plain desserts on the table in place of fruit pies and candies. Mrs. Tally finds that an occasional diet mixed with her favorite sport, bowling, keeps her from being overweight.

Good health is important to the Tallys. Mrs. Tally encourages the family to eat a variety of vegetables and meats. Until she served them Poor Man's Goose, a liver casserole, her family would hardly eat liver. She finds that they enjoy eating liver prepared in this manner. She lists a recipe for this and other favorites of her family.

POOR MAN'S GOOSE.
 1 1/2 pounds beef or pork liver, sliced
 2 tbsps. bacon fat
 5 medium onions, sliced
 5 medium potatoes, sliced
 2 slices bacon
 salt and pepper

Remove skin and veins from liver, then cut liver into serving pieces. Brown slices lightly on both sides in hot fat, about a minute on each side. Sprinkle with salt and pepper to taste. Put liver and drippings into bottom of large casserole. Add onions, then potatoes and sprinkle with more salt and pepper. Top with bacon slices. Cover casserole and bake in a moderate oven 350 degrees for one hour. Then remove cover and bake 15 minutes longer to crisp bacon. Serve hot to five people.

BASIC ICE CREAM
 4 eggs, beaten separately
 1/2 cup sugar
 homogenized milk
 2 large cans evaporated milk
 1 tsp. flour

Slowly add sugar to eggs until smooth, then add flour and enough milk to fill canister. Flavoring can be varied and fruits or nuts added. Make one gallon.

CHOCOLATE
 2 cups flour
 1 cup sugar
 1/2 tsp. soda
 1/2 tsp. baking powder
 1 cup cold water
 1 cup mayonnaise
 4 tbsps. cocoa
 1 tsp. vanilla

Put all ingredients in a bowl and mix thoroughly. Bake in a shallow loaf pan at 350 degrees for approximately 45 minutes, or until well done.

ICING
 1 cup sugar
 1/2 cup cocoa
 2 tsp. vanilla
 1/2 cup milk
 1/2 cup butter
 1/2 cup chopped pecans

Combine ingredients and boil for one minute. Stir as little as possible.

Spicy Carrots
 If you're hurt to add a little sugar and nutmeg to those buttered carrots.

Barbecue Means Easy Fixin', Hearty Eatin'

Drive down any street in suburbia on a summer evening and the tantalizing aroma of barbecue that floats over hedge and redwood fence will almost tempt you to gate-crashing.

Certainly barbecuing has become the most popular form of outdoor entertaining and ambitious cooks are always experimenting with new sauces to add to their repertoire.

Here are a few tips for especially delicious barbecued ribs.

BARBECUED RIBS
 1. Choose the meaty loin back ribs for barbecuing. Remove from the refrigerator until they reach room temperature.
 2. Barbecue time may be cut by barbecuing ribs ahead of time. Simmer for about an hour. This also renders out much of the fat, so there is less danger of flare-up from fat dripping on the coals.
 3. If you're using a spit or skeeter, lace the ribs according to style. Otherwise, lay on grill bone side down. Brush liberally with barbecue sauce and cook slowly until bottom starts to brown. Turn and baste frequently, watching carefully that they do not dry out or burn.

4. Ribs are cooked when they are crispy brown outside, tender and pink (meaty) inside. The meat should pull away from the bone readily.

BARBECUE SAUCE FOR SPARERIBS
 Saute for 5-10 minutes
 1/3 cup Golden Capri Oil
 1/2 cup grated onions
 Add and simmer 10 minutes
 1/2 cup chili sauce
 1/2 cup vinegar
 1 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce
 3 tbsps. brown sugar
 1 clove minced garlic
 1 tsp. salt
 1/2 tsp. paprika

Use Honey In Cooking Vegetables

Every homemaker knows what the "basic seven" means. She has heard of the seven food groups that must be included in every healthful diet.

One of these groups include the green and yellow vegetables so common on every well-planned menu. But to think of new and varied ways to serve these vegetables can develop into a homemaker's nightmare.

Here's a worthwhile suggestion: try serving vegetables with a Honey glaze. Honey brightens up the vegetable, gives them a new and sparkling taste. And it is so easy to do.

To glaze onions or carrots, for instance, simply cook the vegetables until done, then add four tablespoons butter and 1/4 cup Honey. Cook over a low heat and turn until vegetable is evenly browned and well glazed.

For Honey beets, cook the beets until done. Then to a blended mixture of 1/2 tablespoon cornstarch and 2 tablespoons butter add 1/4 cup lemon juice, 1/2 cup Honey, and 2 tablespoons water. Boil this mixture about two minutes and add beets, salting to taste. Heat thoroughly.

And for candied sweet potatoes, Honey really will do the job quickly and prettily. Arrange cooked sweet potatoes sliced in half in a baking dish. Season, then add mixture of 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup Honey, and 1/2 cup orange juice to potatoes. Bake in a quick oven (400 degrees F.) until brown.

Change Family's View On Spinach

Even the staunchest meat-and-potato man won't mind when spinach is given extra trimmings.

MUSHROOM SPINACH
 1 package (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach
 1 tsp. or more butter
 Pepper to taste
 1 tsp. lemon juice
 1 can (3 oz.) chopped mushrooms, drained

Cook the spinach according to the package directions using the amount of boiling water and salt called for. Drain thoroughly, pressing out most of the liquid. Return spinach to saucepan and add the butter, pepper, lemon juice and drained mushrooms. Mix and heat. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Broccoli Gains Appeal From Sour Cream Sauce

That looks good enough to eat. Is this the compliment you receive when you put your vegetables on the table?

Foods prepared to keep their natural color and flavor are always more appealing. If properly cooked, vegetables will add color and taste to any meal.

Cook them in as small an amount of water as possible. Bring water to a boil. Add salt and vegetable. Then bring water to a second boil. Fresh green and strongly flavored vegetables are best cooked without a cover. Others should be covered. Don't thaw frozen vegetables before cooking. To be at their best, vegetables should be cooked only until tender. Longer cooking causes them to break apart, lose their color and nutritive value. Cooking just before serving rewards us with a product that looks and tastes good enough to eat.

BROCCOLI "SMETANA"
 Give variety and tang to prosaic broccoli by serving it with this old Czechoslovakian sour cream sauce.
 2 tbsps. flour
 1 cup commercial sour cream
 1 tsp. prepared horseradish
 1 tsp. vinegar
 2 large bunches broccoli
 Salt and pepper

Add flour to sour cream. Mix until smooth. Cook in double boiler until thickened, stirring constantly. Add horseradish and vinegar. Season with salt and pepper. If desired, add more horseradish. Cook broccoli separately; drain and pour sauce over some of the stalks. Decorate some of the center of the dish as above with broccoli clusters.

Corn-On-The-Cob Is A Versatile Vegetable

This is the season for butter-drenched corn-on-the-cob.

The origin of corn is unrecorded in history. It is unknown in the wild state but most authorities say it all started on the high plateaus of tropical America. Indians were growing it long before white men invaded their domain.

But we can enjoy today's fresh, sweet, juicy ears without knowing its early history. We know it's vastly improved.

Grilled sweet-corn-on-the-cob is a favorite of many.

Try Simple-Do Corn. Husk ears and remove the silk. Brush with melted butter or margarine and wrap tightly in heavy aluminum foil. Grill over hot coals; turn occasionally, for 15 to 20 minutes or until tender.

To make Steam'n' Good Corn: Peel the husks without detaching them from the cob, and remove the silk. Quickly dip the ears in water. Roll husks back over kernels, securing the ends with a piece of the husks or string. Soak the ears in water about 30 minutes. Grill over hot coals, turning occasionally, for 15 to 20 minutes until tender.

Surprise Corn is what the name implies — a real eating surprise. Peel the husks back, without detaching from the cob, and remove the silk. Soak the ears in water for 30 minutes, then drain. Brush with melted butter or margarine, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and wrap with bacon strips. Roll the husks back over the kernels, smoothing down the ends, and wrap each ear in heavy aluminum foil. Cook on the hot coals, turning once, for 10 to 15 minutes until tender.

Whether you eat corn-on-the-cob "round-n'-round" the cob, spiral fashion, or devour it row by row, you'll enjoy every bite. Of course, golden melted butter or margarine and a shaker of salt are "musts." But don't stop there. With a bit of imagination you can add other superb flavor highlights.

Seasoned Butters are just right for summer corn. Spice melted butter or margarine with cayenne, cinnamon, chili powder, paprika, onion salt or anchovy paste.

Crunchy Butter is delightful. To melted butter or margarine add grated onion, parsley flakes, salt and cheese cracker crumbs.

Youngsters enjoy corn-on-the-cob spread with peanut butter. Either crunchy or cream-style will do.

Tangy Corn is easy. Just spoon a hot barbecue sauce over the hot corn as you eat.

No one able to eat that last ear of corn? It's still no loss. Plan to serve corn fritters, puffs, waffles or pancakes. Simply cut the corn off the cob using a sharp knife, cutting downward. Then prepare quick bread batter, baked corn pudding or corn relish using the cut-off-the-cob corn.

Melons On Market Listings

By The Associated Press
 Wait no longer to enjoy summer watermelon, says the USDA. Agricultural Marketing Service.

Prices at Texas markets are so low they hardly pay shipping costs. Plenty of local cantaloupes also are available at reasonable prices.

Other good buys among fresh vegetables this week include cabbage, cucumbers, sweet corn, eggplant, lettuce, peppers, field peas, snap beans, tomatoes, squash and okra.

Cantaloupes, some peaches, celery and lettuce are priced a bit higher than last week but most items, including tomatoes, are slightly lower, as summer output soars.

Some markets report higher prices on oranges and grapefruit as fresh supplies taper off for the season. Stocks of frozen orange juice are unusually huge.

Lemon Pudding Cake Roll Ideal For Summer Brunch

A versatile short-cut to modern cooking is packaged pudding and pie filling mix. Here lemon pudding makes a flavorful filling for an elegant cake roll.

LEMON PUDDING CAKE ROLL
 1 package lemon pudding and pie filling mix
 1 cup sifted flour
 2 tps. double-acting baking powder
 1/2 tsp. salt

When eggs aren't on the breakfast menu, they may well be used at noontime.

MIXED SLAW
 1/2 cup cider vinegar
 2 tbsps. mayonnaise
 1 envelope 1/2 ounce French salad dressing mix
 2 1/2 cup salad oil

4 cups shredded cabbage
 1 cup medium-grated carrots
 1/2 cup minced green pepper

In a container with a tight-fitting cover, shake together thoroughly the vinegar, mayonnaise and salad dressing mix. Add salad oil and shake together thoroughly. Mix 1/2 cup of the dressing with the cabbage, carrots and green pepper. Makes 6 servings. Refrigerate remaining dressing for use on other salads.

Refreshingly Cool And Ideal Drink

Hot, summer-like days call for cool refreshing drinks to quench the thirst and replace the water lost from the body through perspiration. With many people concerned about reducing their caloric intake, it is reassuring to learn that a tall glass of iced tea is virtually without calories.

Crystal clear iced tea is suitable for serving at every meal and as an in-between pick-me-up, too. As for picnics at the shore, in the country or by the pool, when the choice of a cold beverage suitable for young and old often poses a problem, a supply of cold tea concentrate and ice cubes made from fruit juices carried in insulated containers can be the answer.

A Devotional For The Day

The kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost. (Romans 14:17.)
PRAYER: Our God and Father, take away from us all that is not in accordance with Thy will. Let us put self away, as we bend to Thy will for us. Strengthen us for the right, we ask in Jesus' name. Amen.
(From The 'Upper Room')

The Horsepower Binge

As Texans, whose state's economy is heavily dependent on demand for petroleum products, perhaps we should not regret the word from Detroit that automobile manufacturers are poised for another "horsepower race." But the prospect is hardly to be greeted with any enthusiasm.
For the past five years the major automakers have had a sort of gentlemen's agreement not to emphasize higher and higher horsepower in the design and sale of compact passenger automobiles. The compact boom no doubt helped sustain the pact, but now intensified competition for record sales has strained it to the breaking point.
Actually there is not an American car now on the market compact or standard, that lacks the horsepower to exceed highway speed limits by a dangerous margin. With the nation spending billions to net the continent with paved roads of excellent surface and moderate gradient, more power is not needed for anything except illegal speed or for unsafe breakaways from stop signals. Nor, with today's improved engineering, is higher horsepower needed for smooth operation at normal speeds.

Criticism of the prospect of another horsepower binge in the automotive industry has already been heard of Congress and from organized safety groups. But the decisive influence is buyers' attitudes. That raises the question: Is the industry misreading the consumer attitude toward horsepower? There is reason to believe that it is—as it did earlier on the small-car idea.

Support Still A Key Factor

The school board has acted with dispatch in naming a head football coach and athletic director to succeed Emmett McKenzie, who is entering the administrative field as Nederland superintendent. The choice is Donald Robbins, his first assistant during the two seasons that McKenzie was here.

Football has been a central interest of Robbins. He played under his father, then Breckenridge coach and later an assistant at Texas A&M before becoming Odessa athletic director. He got his first coaching experience under Bear Bryant and coached at Port Arthur and Snyder before coming here.

Robbins should be familiar with the system developed during the past two years plus knowledge about the material represented in the high school squad. This is especially important in view of the nearness of the football season.
Graduation hit the squad heavily last year, and the returning material is not nearly so quick. Hence it would be a mistake to expect as successful a season as last year. But we can hope for an exciting one and as the new coach put it a lot of the success will depend on the attitude of the townspeople.

Problems Of World Development

GENEVA — There's a curious assumption prevalent at the conference of the economic and social council of the United Nations which has just opened here. It is that peace lies ahead. Nobody doubts the possibility of war, but almost everybody discounts the possibility.

PLANNING, THEREFORE, becomes ambitious. The "development decade" in the world, which is the theme of discussion here, involves a global concept of such challenging scope that it defies the imagination. The talk, of course, is of the help that the "better developed" countries can give to the "underdeveloped." But, as has often been pointed out, even some of the larger countries like the United States do not concede that they have reached the top stage of their development. Likewise, these so-called "underdeveloped" areas do not all need the same kind of aid or technical assistance, since their resources and aptitudes differ. The word that Paul Hoffman, managing director of the United Nations special fund, uses to describe the task tactfully is "modernization."

BUT IN TAKING a look around the world, some practicalities come in conflict with mere theory. Where is the money to come from? The plans of the specialized UN agencies in the fields of economic and scientific and social development — which are together beginning a month's intensive study here of these phases — cannot be fulfilled unless the financial sinews are available. The main answer is that money will come largely from "soft" loans — long-term and at low interest — and from "hard" loans that are backed by ample security. To supplement this, governments and peoples will make outright contributions especially in furnishing funds for technical aid and assistance in the social and economic fields.

ONE IS impressed not only by the enormity of the undertaking, but by the lack of knowledge within most countries as to how they really can be helped and what can be done to promote natural and normal trade and production.
Nearly every country has resources to develop and a rapidly growing population to think about. Its potential demand for goods and services, and the training needed to build some sort of sustaining economy.

There is no harm in abstract thinking or in objective discussions. It is, in fact, reassuring to find the world turning from talk about fallout shelters and possible devastation by nuclear war to economic studies and discussions about how to make the different countries of the world more productive of goods and services. This is a healthy turn.

THERE IS a tendency of course to think in terms of continents. President Kennedy mentioned this in his 4th of July message.

Accused By Own Lawyer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — When David L. Bennett, 44, appeared in Police Court after his 1960th arrest, he found his attorney, Wilson Beatty, prosecuting instead of defending.
Beatty testified that Bennett had stolen $3.64 in postage stamps from the attorney's office while they were discussing arrest No. 188.
Bennett was found guilty and sentenced to 30 days.

Another Jolly Red Needle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Premier Khrushchev sounds stale and stuck. But, since he's a jolly man with more needles than a dressmaker, he'll probably poke one in the West soon again just to see it jump.
This week in Moscow he talked more than two hours without saying anything new. Yet, just because he's Khrushchev, he made front pages all over America, which is getting pretty good mileage out of a rehearsal.

HE SOUNDS stuck on three points: Military spending, nuclear testing, and Berlin.
The military spending is using up money he'd like to put into the Russian economy but can't because, as he made clear, Russia is going to keep on increasing its armaments.
Last May the Soviet government boosted meat prices 30 per cent, butter prices 25 per cent to pay for new farm equipment and explained to the people this had to be done because the money could not come out of military spending.

Although the American economy is bumbling a bit, Congress this year voted another $13 billion for missile purchases, and on Wednesday the Senate authorized almost another $4 billion for the space program.

KHRUSHCHEV could save himself a lot of money by agreeing with the United States to disarmament. The trouble here is that the kind he wants the United States won't buy and the kind this country wants he won't touch.
He went through all this in his speech. He wants disarmament without the inspection system that the United States insists is necessary before it agrees to disarm, to prevent cheating.

In mid-June the 17-nation disarmament conference wound up three months of getting nowhere in a barrage of charges and countercharges but will cheerfully resume talks again next Monday without any more sign of agreement than it had before.

NEVERTHELESS, Khrushchev admitted to feeling the economic pinch. He said, "We are by no means happy that we have to spend so much effort and resources on the production of modern weapons."
But, to justify it, he said the West is planning preventive war. And he frankly stated the Soviets will continue building up their nuclear stockpiles.

The Russians last fall suddenly announced an end to a voluntary ban on nuclear testing and began testing.
The reason may have been that they felt the West was getting ahead in the fine art of nuclear destruction and they couldn't afford to be outdone. In turn, the United States not to be outdone either, resumed testing.
Without mentioning what Russia did, Khrushchev denounced the United States for what it did.

LAST SUMMER Khrushchev created a new crisis in Berlin and it turned into an ugly one. He backed away from an explosion. And there hasn't been a settlement. Since this was a setback for him it's no wonder he keeps thinking about it.
In his speech he suggested the Western allies get their troops out of West Berlin and let them be replaced by troops from two Russian satellites, Poland and Czechoslovakia, along with Norwegian and Danish or Dutch and Belgian troops.
By this arrangement, Communist troops would be allowed to get into West Berlin where they weren't allowed before. The thing wrong with this, the State Department said, was that the Russians had proposed it before and were turned down.

All in all, if Khrushchev didn't gain anything by the speech, he didn't lose anything either, which probably explains why he didn't mind making it since his policy for quite a while now has been simply marking time.

Cats Make It Cool

NEW YORK (AP) — When the time for my next reincarnation rolls around, I have already decided what I want to be.
I want to be a cat—a big fat, furry, self-satisfied, self-satisfied cat.
Being a husband in this world isn't a bad life in itself. The members of your family usually allow you a favorite chair to sit in. You are permitted to pick at least one television show a week—provided everyone else happens to like that one. And on your birthday, and Father's Day you always get a necktie and a card that says something like "We're awful glad that you're our Dad!"
But when you get right down to it, a cat lives a richer, sweeter life. With a cat it's the stink all year 'round.

A cat has it made from both. It never has to soil its dainty paws with labor. Its broom is never wet with honest sweat.
I like a dog. It doesn't make an effort to please the human serfs that serve it. Unlike a dog, it doesn't feel guilty if it's caught doing wrong. A cat feels it's all ways in the right. It never gets wrinkles worrying about anybody or anything else in the wide, wide universe.

There are times when I look at our cat, Lady Dottie, with utter envy. She will soon be four years old and so far as I know, never in her entire life has done anything except exactly what she chose to do.
She sleeps when she wants to, prowls the house when she wants to, plays when she wants to—not when you would like her to.
Lady Dottie has my wife, Frances, absolutely buffeted. If Frances puts a new food on her plate, she doesn't like it. Lady Dottie sniffs at it, stalks away on feet of plush, and goes on a hunger strike.
In this contest of feminine wills my wife always loses. After 12 hours she caves in and gives our cat what she wants—warm chopped up bits of beef kidney or liver.
In the morning Lady Dottie likes to stroll out in the hall and watch me step into the elevator as I leave for work.
"That shows she misses you," my wife says.
But I know better. There is a laughing look on Lady Dottie's face that clearly says:
So long, slave! Go earn me a living.

Yes, if I come back for a second life, I want to return as a cat like Lady Dottie. My only trouble will be learning to like chopped beef kidney—but then every existence has some small problem.

To Your Good Health

Pus Is Part Of Battle Against Infection

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain what would cause kidney infection. How do the blood and pus manage to get into the kidneys and make the urine burn? Is there a cure, and does this necessarily mean a form of cancer?—K.M.C.
Germs can appear in many ways, setting up infection. This can result from a cold, tonsillitis, having an infected tooth pulled, etc. The pus forms as part of the body's battle against the infection. And the blood can result because some part of the urinary tract is sore from the infection and irritation.

However, it isn't easy to infect the tract if it is functioning perfectly. Usually some defect gives the infection a chance in, about one case in 10, pressure on the ureters (outlets for the kidneys) is a factor. Women are particularly subject to kidney infection. Or the presence of kidney stones may lead to the trouble. A kink in a ureter is a possibility. Still another is a "floating kidney" which moves too much. It is supposed to move somewhat. Or, of course, it is also possible for infection to start farther down in the tract, and spread upward to the kidney. In about a third of all cases, the trouble starts very gradually, without any acute episode.
Kidney infection most certainly does not necessarily mean cancer. However, a predominance of blood in the urine raises suspicion.

The cure depends on finding and correcting the cause. Blindly treating "pus in the urine" isn't often too successful.
The more exactly the cause can be determined, the surer the prospects of getting rid of the trouble. The treatment may involve removal of stones, correction of a sagging bladder, removing polyps, straightening out a kink in a ureter, taking cultures of such germs as are present, and combating them.
Getting the facts depends on having a cystoscopic examination, plus X-rays and other tests. If I had a kidney infection, I'd go to a urologist at once.

I grant that this isn't an inexpensive, one-visit proposition. The cost, however, is money well spent.
And I'd like to add this: If you are in financial straits at the moment, explain the situation to your doctor. The sooner the tests are started, the easier it is to solve the trouble. From what I read these days, I gather that some critics are trying to make it appear that medicine is a dollars-and-cents business.
If so, there may be some money grabbers in our ranks, but that doesn't apply to the majority. Most of us, while we want to be paid for our work, also want to give service when it is needed, and will arrange for delayed payments when they are required.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it best to eat very little salt except in hot weather? Apparently salt is harmful and causes high blood pressure.—MRS. M.L.
No, salt isn't harmful in any ordinary circumstances, and it does NOT cause high blood pressure. Nevertheless, people with blood pressure and heart disease are often put on low-salt diets.
This is because salt tends to retain moisture in the body—and with heart (or kidney) disease, the body has excessive difficulty in removing water. The low-salt diet is helpful in such cases, but it does NOT mean that salt is harmful to anyone in reasonably good health.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is, and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.
Dr. Molner is happy to receive readers' questions, and whenever possible, uses them in his column. However, due to the great volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets he cannot answer letters individually.

Around The Rim

A Pitch For The Alley

There must be hundreds of reasons why it can't be done, but I wonder why utility lines are not put under the alleys instead of under the streets? Streets are paved and alleys are unpaved, at least most of them in either case.

If water and gas lines were placed in the alley, it wouldn't be necessary to disrupt traffic and rip out good pavement when repairs or replacements become necessary.

Right now, there are many places in Big Spring where the pavement has patches that make the street something less than first class. For some reason, it appears that asphalt streets cannot be patched perfectly. The patch becomes a permanent expense as it is refilled year after year.

WHERE A PATCH is a long channel, it becomes a ditch in the middle of the street. There are numerous examples of this throughout the city, some of them in almost new paving.

Besides the fact that it would be cheaper to dig up an alley than a paved street, it must be cheaper to back fill as well. There is no passing necessary. In addition, there are no motorists in the way and traffic would not be disturbed.

ALLEYS MIGHT as well be made useful, besides a place for weeds to grow and garbage cans to be blown about in. Of course, garbage trucks use them and, in some areas, the adjacent lot owners use them occasionally. This is a small use compared with the streets.

Except for digging up a few weeds, I can think of no disruption of service that would occur if the gas and water lines were placed in the alley. And it would be a great saving to the taxpayer, not to speak of the nerves of the motorist who must constantly drive over a network of patches rather than a paved street.

I THINK sewage lines are placed in the alley, at least in most instances. For all I know, maybe there are some water and gas lines in alleys. Maybe water and sewage lines can't be placed in the same right of way.

Like I said, there must be hundreds of reasons why it can't be done.

—V. GLENN COOTES

Inez Robb

No Place For The Faint-Hearted

By RICHARD STARNES
(For Inez Robb, who is on vacation)
CAMP COBRA, Thailand.—Camp Cobra on the Fourth of July was much like it is on any other day—a jungle-hut, sweltering dusty hell.

If there seems undue delay in forwarding this news, you've got to remember that this U. S. military outpost is just about at the end of the line. From here to Korat, which is a big town that's got a hotel with an air-conditioned room and an elevator, it's 40 miles by jeep.

AND FROM KORAT to Bangkok, which has a cable office, it's an hour by courier plane. Indeed, if all will forgive a personal social note, this is not the sort of place a man would choose to celebrate his birthday.

But whatever shortcomings may be inherent in Camp Cobra, it's the home now of the First Battle Group of the 27th (Wolfhound) Infantry Regiment, whose colors have been carried in more campaigns than Al Smith ever imagined.

THE WOLFHOUSES provide a large part of the muscle of the joint task force which is keeping Thailand from succumbing to the same cheerless fate the Chinese overtook Laos and much of South Viet Nam. It's a hard, combat-ready team of nearly 2,000 soldiers who are learning to fight a radically new kind of war under conditions that would make Devil's Island look like a posh summer resort.

Unrelieved by any breeze or hint of relief, this heat is a palpable gnat presence at your elbow every hour of the day and night. Walk from the air fresco shower to the Turkish-bath tent you call home, and in the two or three minutes the walk takes, the shower has become a useless gesture. It requires no effort to sweat here. You sweat just sitting still and using no more energy than it takes to wonder how in perdition you find yourself in such a place.

AND IF IT isn't hot enough for you, there's always the dust. In spite of the fact that it's supposed to be the rainy season in Thailand, there's been little or no rain, and dust coats everything. Red dust in great choking clouds seeps into eyes, nose, throat, shirts, weapons, including typewriters) and makes a filmy filter of eyeglasses.

Like good soldiers everywhere, the Wolfhounds lament about almost everything: food, which is pretty good under the circumstances, in one free-loader's opinion; the heat; the remoteness of the fleishpots at Korat; the length of the tour here, "We came here for a month and we'll be here forever"; the fact that the ice cream, a big Fourth of July treat, is mushy, and, of course, the harsh drudgery of a training schedule that's designed for men and not boys.

ONE THING you'll hear few complaints about, however, is the lack of rain—dust or no dust. When the great drenching jungle rains come, then also will come the cobras, the huge venomous snakes which can knock a man down with the force of their strike and whose fangs contain one of the world's deadliest poisons.

Camp Cobra said to relate has earned its name. In the first few days here the Wolfhounds killed 17 cobras and they still abound in jungle sloughs surrounding this nest of American power. When it rains, they'll be back, skulking moodily under the duckboards of tents, sharing showers and latrines, cooling coals around temporarily unfilled combat boots.

ALL THIS, of course, is just further evidence that this war is a rough, mean, nasty business. It's a trade in which only full-grown men should aspire because it isn't for the faint-hearted or the squeamish.

Here in Camp Cobra, as in every place I've seen American troops in Southeast Asia, I've been tremendously impressed and proud. They're in a brutal business and are not brutalized by it. They're preparing to fight an impossibly difficult war and they're undaunted by it. It's going to take a lot more than sarapins to chase the Wolfhounds out of this comfy camp ground, and anyone who is foolish enough to doubt it is in for a rude awakening.

Man's Right To Privacy

WASHINGTON — "As I read this regulation," wrote Justice Douglas in his oft-quoted concurrence with the Supreme Court majority in abolishing privacy in public schools, "a child is free to stand or not to stand, to recite or not to recite, without fear or reprisal" when the 22-word, non-forbidden prayer is offered in the classroom.

BUT DOUGLAS did not say, as I think he should have, that the non-conformist child no longer has that freedom. The decision in Engel et al. vs. Vitale et al. deprives him of a valuable protest. Long ago when I care to recall, my grandmother took me to a World War I rally at a Baltimore theater where "The Star-Spangled Banner" was played, followed by "Maryland, My Maryland." Stubborn, then as now, the grandchild stood for the national anthem but sat down and grimly folded his arms for the state anthem. The reason was that my parents, without my consent, had just moved the family from my native West Virginia to Maryland and I hated the Free State with homestead ardor.

How I enjoyed that gesture! How underprivileged is the modern school child when deprived of his freedom to disapprove of prayer written for him by the paid minions of the school board!

SO HERE IS one side result of the Supreme Court decision—a definite deprivation of individualism and liberty. Sen. John Tower (R-Tex.), minority member of the Committee on Labor Welfare which handles educational matters, and from 1951-60 professor of political science at Midwestern University, Wichita Falls, tells me:

"This latest attack on our public school systems will accelerate the trend toward private schools. While I abhor the school's decision, it may prove to be a mixed blessing if it does, in fact, encourage the formation of more private schools."

MANY PARENTS have already been driven by the Supreme Court's integration decision of 1954 to set up private schools. The multi-front assault by the federal government on local control of the school and college system is a very powerful incentive for the return to private education.

I write "return" because, of course, the original school system in the American Colonies was denominational, parochial and private. Schools and colleges were offspring of the Protestant sects and the Catholic Church. So much so that it's doubtful if the First Congress, largely dominated by the Founding Fathers, had public schools in mind when the First Amendment was added to the Constitution. The language, "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion" meant that the U.S.A. must never have an established church like the Church of England. The Justices have absurdly tortured this simple intent, and have tied the country's religious thinking into a Gordian knot which will take years to unsmash, if unsmashing is possible at all.

PRIVATE SCHOOLS are proper institutions for our affluent society. Their increase should allow Americans to go into the market place and make a selection. The laws of the market place would soon show educators what sort of schools are needed. To whatever degree private schooling expands, it will free our education from the insulting assumption that busy-body reformists in Washington know best.

Not that even a stampede of pupils into schools run by local church groups or community leaders would achieve whole and lasting freedom from federal interference. The reformist zeal to enforce conformity has lately entered men's private clubs which, in Washington, at least, are under constant pressure from persons named Kennedy, their friends and imitators to open up membership to women, Negroes, and all the family of man.

PERHAPS THE LAST untaken castle is this thing called privacy, and it should be defended for dear life.

Depreciation Ruling A Help To Business

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — American business today has new arms to fight two of its pressing battles. The relaxation in depreciation rules for tax purposes is expected to help American industries fight rising costs at home that crimp profits. It also should help them battle foreign competitors who have better equipped plants.

Industry spokesmen may question whether the new Treasury rules are adequate to do the whole job they want. But the easier terms should help.

The immediate result of letting corporations deduct more for depreciation of their equipment, the government says, will be a $1.25 billion tax relief.

The longer aim is to encourage American industry to further modernization—to catch up in a field in which it once led the world.

In recent years its rate of replacement of old machinery has trailed that of industries in Western Europe and Japan. And this has been one of the reasons these nations have been giving American producers stiffer competition in world markets. Depreciation rules and other tax laws in other countries have mostly been more favorable to such updating of equipment than in the United States.

Some companies say they have been waiting to study the new rules, promised for some time now, before placing new orders. Machine tool makers, builders of plants, and others who supply business expansion are hoping that the new rules will spur a rise in orders. The administration says this could help the entire economy, and particularly its rate of growth.

A corporation can finance new equipment in four ways. It can sell more stock, it can borrow money, it can retain profits that otherwise would be paid to stockholders as dividends. It can use depreciation funds. Usually it uses more than one of these means.

Since funds set aside for depreciation of old equipment are deducted from pre-tax earnings, the tax collectors have rules covering them.

The old rule in force since 1942 covered some 5,000 types of equipment, ranging from delivery trucks to blast furnaces. The life of such equipment varies, so that depreciation is spread over a varying number of years. But the average life expectancy in the Treasury rules was just under 20 years.

Businessmen say this was unfair, because machinery grows obsolete much faster than that today, and also the amounts they could deduct wouldn't cover new machinery that costs so much more than a few years back.

The new schedules are aimed at cutting the classifications sharply, reducing the life expectancy of most equipment, and setting up general standards in relation to the purchase price of all depreciable property.

Earnest Funeral Is Held Today

Nephews of the deceased served as pallbearers for the services of F. E. (Frank) Earnest, Colorado City, conducted at 2 p.m. today in Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home Chapel. The Rev. L. J. Powers of Trinity Baptist Church officiated and burial was in City Cemetery.

Mr. Earnest, 76, was a retired coppersmith with the Texas & Pacific Railroad Co., and had lived in Big Spring from 1910 until the past several years. He died in a Colorado City hospital Tuesday night after a short illness.

Gen. Monteith Speaker For Webb Graduation Rites

Maj. Gen. Dwight O. Monteith, Amarillo AFB Technical Training Center commander, will be the speaker Friday at the Webb AFB AFROTC Encampment graduation exercises.

A 26-year Army-Air Force veteran, Gen. Monteith's service career began in 1936 when he was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy and commissioned a second lieutenant in the Corps of Engineers.

He was assigned to the Army Flying School at Randolph Field and earned his pilot wings in 1937. He then transferred to the Air Corps.

After earning his wings he was assigned to Albrook Field, Canal Zone where he flew P-12s and P-26s and eventually became commander of the 29th Pursuit Squadron.

The general's career has taken him from pre-war duty as a pursuit pilot through many operational command jobs both in combat and in peacetime. He has held important staff and planning assignments, and negotiated with the Chinese Communists for safety of downed air crews. He has held advisory and liaison jobs with NATO SHAPE, and the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Monteith, as 20th Bomber Command Staff advisor, flew in the first heavy bombardment strike against Japan. With Major General Richard H. Carmichael, then commander of the 48th Bombardment Group, he dropped the first fire bomb of the war on the Japanese homeland of Yawata, Kyushu on June 15, 1944.

Gen. Monteith assumed duties as Chief of Staff, Air Training Command on July 27, 1959. Promotion to permanent rank of brigadier general came in March, 1961. In September, 1961, Gen. Monteith took command of the Amarillo Technical Training Center. He was promoted to the rank of temporary major general on Jan. 30, 1962.

Merle Oberon Returns To Films

By BOB THOMAS
 AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Merle Oberon is making a screen return after an absence of six years—too many, it might be added. She remains one of the rare beauties of the movie world, after 30 years in films. The wide, high forehead and porcelain-like face match the portrait painted of her in the 1930s. The figure is slim as a girl's.

These observations were made at her Beverly Hills mansion, where she lives a portion of the year surrounded by works of art by old and new masters. She had just returned from her homes in Mexico City and Cuernavaca where she had made her film return.

"We shot on location in my houses," she reported. "What could be more convenient?"

The film is called "Of Love and Desire" and she made it with Steve Cochran and Curt Jurgens. She plays a nymphomaniac.

That's right, the same Merle who was the romantic Cathy in "Wuthering Heights," George Sand in "A Song to Remember," Empress Josephine in "Desire."

Well, styles have changed in movies," she explained, "and you have to keep up with them. Our picture isn't lurid or in bad taste.

it is the story of a woman with a problem: she likes men too much."

This was Merle's first film since her marriage to international financier Bruno Pagliai.

"Bruno has been very nice about it," she said. "He wants me to be happy, and he knows that acting is a part of me."

"Until now, it has been difficult for me to schedule anything. We spend a part of the year in Mexico, part here, part in Europe and a month or six weeks in New York. I didn't want to interfere with Bruno's work."

"But there are times when he works very hard, and I see him very little. That leaves me at home as housewife. I think I manage that job very well, but I would also like more of a challenge. So I may be doing more work from time to time."

How does Merle stay in such excellent trim?

"I work at it. I exercise in the pool every day. I don't drink or smoke—not that I deny myself those things. I don't enjoy them. I eat sensibly."

And, needless to say, she enjoys life.

Janet Leigh Gets Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—It took actress Janet Leigh just five minutes to convince a judge she deserved a divorce from Tony Curtis.

Miss Leigh, in winning the divorce Wednesday, testified that "Tony didn't want to be married any longer."

She also said Curtis criticized her dresses, their home, her activities and her friends.

Judge Orlando Rhodes granted the interlocutory decree after witness Jacqueline Gershwine corroborated Miss Leigh's charges.

But, said Judge Rhodes, the testimony was barely sufficient to support a charge of extreme mental cruelty in Berlin and did not contest the divorce.

The settlement gave the 35-year-old actress the family home, half of the community property and custody of their two daughters, Kelly, 6, and Jamie, 3.

'INHERIT THE WIND'

Little Theatre Plans For Next Production

Fresh from the successful production of "Picnic," the Big Spring Civic Theatre is launching still another major production — "Inherit the Wind."

This fourth play of the year will be staged Sept. 7-8 in the auditorium of Howard County Junior College. It will have the largest cast ever put on stage under the auspices of the local little theatre group — 42 people.

BSCT leaders are encouraging a good turnout of prospective members for the cast Saturday and Sunday, when the director, Dave Brinkley, will hear readings for parts. These will be held at 2 p.m. both days in the Prairie Playhouse of City Park.

Actress Files Separation Suit

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actress Jill St. John, charging mental cruelty, filed a separate maintenance suit Wednesday against Lance Reventlow, millionaire son of heiress Barbara Hutton.

The 21-year-old actress asked a court order restraining Reventlow, 26, from selling any of the couple's community property.

Miss St. John told newsmen that she and her husband had fought during their two-year marriage over his liking for fast cars.

Lance has taken up his racing license again," the actress said. "A big fight resulted."

The complaint said she and Reventlow separated July 2. The couple married in San Francisco in May 1959. They have no children.

"We are particularly encouraging newcomers to join the organization," Art Clonts, president, said this morning. "We feel the little theatre here has a good start and it is doing its part toward bringing cultural events to Big Spring. Our plays are well done and are enjoyable for our audiences, as well as the people who pitch in and help put them on."

In addition to the production plans, the BSCT board has launched a workshop program, a plan often discussed but rarely achieved in the local organization. The first workshop concerns set construction — designing, building, painting, and actually putting it on the stage. Future workshops are planned for makeup, lighting, costuming, etc.

Other standouts, according to McMillan, were Peter Stone, Ray Hoover, Lois Davis, Lida Fiveash, Jeannie Clonts and Martha Conway.

In the last year, many new names have popped into the casts of BSCT plays, bringing experience and talent to the local stage. Others have been trained here in drama. As a result, future directors have a wealth of talent to draw from, meaning a better evening of entertainment for the audience.

It might be a new era for little theatre in Big Spring. —VGC

Indonesian Troops Reported Beaten

HOLLANDIA, Dutch New Guinea (AP)—Dutch authorities said today about 250 to 300 Indonesian troops are still at large in Netherlands New Guinea—wandering in the jungle without food, weapons or medicine.

These men are all that remain of about 1,000 Indonesians dropped in coastal areas earlier this year, the government claimed.

It said large numbers of Indonesian paratroopers had surrendered in the past two days and that the rest were being pursued by Dutch forces in the south and southwestern coastal districts.

Sir Winston In Good Condition

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill slept late this morning after a tiring day with visitors Wednesday. Middlesex Hospital attendants said he had a comfortable night and his general condition was good.

Reliable sources said the 87-year-old former prime minister may stay another two weeks at Middlesex and then recuperate on the French Riviera after a few days at his Chartwell country home in Kent. Churchill broke his thigh in a Monte Carlo hotel June 28.

STAND STILL LIKE THE HUMMINGBIRD, By Henry Miller, New Directions, $4.

There are essays, prefaces, reviews and pamphlet pieces in this collection, spanning a period of more than two decades.

Miller says in his preface that "if my view of life—my philosophy if you will—has altered somewhat since my 'Tropic of Cancer' days, my views of society have not."

These selections, incidentally, are virtually free of the dirty words of "Tropic."

Miller's view of society is not altogether an approving one. He thinks it is little short of horrible. His philosophy seems to take into account both Christianity and the pathway of Zen, combining them in a flurry of admissions that man must look inside himself to discover the truth.

American readers will be a little ruffled by an essay which argues that an intellectual cap breathe real air only in Europe. But they will feel better over his views on Thoreau and Whitman.

There is a long essay on "Money and How It Gets That Way," in which the author strives terribly to impress the reader with his clever virtuosity, but only succeeds in being tedious. It was written in 1936 and presumably Miller has relaxed in his later years.

The author is a self-centered centered person who delights in extolling obscure authors. He exhorts the reader, grasps him by the lapel and bombards him with provocative questions.

You have to credit him with scolding conformity long before it became fashionable to do so, and he has been consistent at it. His concern is with individual freedom, and he argues powerfully for it.

It doesn't matter much whether you agree with Miller. In his garulous and sometimes snooty way he has written some stimulating things. —Miles A. Smith
