

Plenty Of Moisture Here

This crop of dryland cotton caught more water than might have been expected from rains last month because of an ingenious bit of plowing by Vernon and Jackie Wolf, Vincent. They turned the vacant rows into borders a foot high to catch and hold water.

Borders Valuable In Holding Heavy Rains On Vincent Farm

A little ingenuity can make water stretch a long way, especially where there isn't too much of it anyway. Vernon and Jackie Wolf, who operate a farm near Vincent, are constantly on the alert to conserve water falling on their land. And they came up with an idea which works.

They rigged up two large ditches to make a border plow which could turn up a ridge a foot high. Using the plow they built ridges on the two blank rows which alternate with seeded rows on 300-acre of dryland cotton.

Just as they finished the borders July 16, the rains began to fall, and the bottom almost fell out of rain. In about 45 minutes the soil protected help in much the same way. And once the water is in the soil, care should be taken to use it without loss. Day said he stressed that the surface of bare land, which often reached high temperatures during the day, loses water quickly through evaporation. Cultivation to keep the soil clean can turn up moist soil where the water will evaporate quickly.

Local Civil Aviation On Increase, Says McClung

Aviation on a civilian level is growing rapidly in Big Spring. In 1957 there were only 10 privately owned airplanes in Big Spring. By 1969 when the Howard County airport was opened, the number had increased to 12. Today the number of airplanes owned by individuals and firms in this community and served by the county airport is nearing 40. These were statistics provided the Big Spring Kiwanians Thursday in a brief talk by Ted McClung, manager of the Howard County airport. The program was in observation of National Aviation Week.

More Than One Drug Suspected In Star's Death

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The coroner says more than one drug may have been involved in Marilyn Monroe's death. Dr. Theodore J. Gurphey said Thursday that toxicological researchers are interested in at least a dozen prescription bottles found in the blonde actress' home. He added that an inquest in the case had not been ruled out. Miss Monroe was found dead at her home last Sunday. Death was attributed to a massive dose of barbiturates. Police found an empty bottle that had contained Nembutal tablets on her night stand. The coroner said he will meet today with psychiatrists who are delving into the actress' final days to determine whether she deliberately killed herself. A determination of whether suicide was involved is said to be unlikely before next Monday. Miss Monroe's will, containing bequests for her half-sister, Bernice Meracle, and friends will be submitted for probate within a week the actress' attorney said. Milton Rudin and Aaron Fuchs said the will was executed in New York City on Jan. 14, 1961.

Sad Disappointment
By T. H. Farber, preacher
Church of Christ, 300 West Highway 80, Big Spring, Texas 79627

Christ tells us that his coming will bring sad disappointment to many who think they are ready to meet him, but are deceived. He said, "Many will say unto me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name, and in thy name have cast out devils, and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you; depart from me, ye that work iniquity." (Mat. 7:22-23)

Mistrial, Instructed Judgment Motions Due In School Case

A motion for a mistrial in the school annexation suit involving Center Point and Gay Hill Common school districts will be heard Friday, Aug. 17 at 10:30 a.m. The common schools are asking for a mistrial. Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, said he would hear the motion at that time. He will also hear a motion for a judgment for the defendants—in this instance, the Howard County School Board, and the Big Spring Independent School District. Gil Jones, one of the attorneys for the county board will file his motion for a judgment today. The annexation case was tried in the court two weeks ago. It was an action brought by the two common school districts seeking to set aside an order handed down May 4, 1969 annexing them to the Big Spring Independent School District. The case required a week to try, and the verdict as returned by a jury dealt with answers the panel had made to nine issues presented to it by the court in his charge.

ATTACK VERDICT
The plaintiffs in the case have attacked this verdict, which Judge Caton accepted, in their motion asking for a mistrial. Their first complaint is that the verdict is incomplete. The jurors did not answer the first two special issues submitted to them. They told the court they could not agree upon an answer.

Russians Violate Hemisphere Policy

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The newspaper Excelsior said editorially Thursday that the steady flow of thousands of Russian "technicians" to Cuba was a violation of the non-intervention policy.

It said Cuba must be considered a Soviet base in Latin America as long as Russians move in by the thousands. "The Sovietization of Cuba signifies a true threat to all the continent, and must be treated as a decisive security problem for all our countries," it said.

Test Ban Snag Deepens After Reds Reject Offer

GENEVA (AP)—The East-West deadline on a nuclear test ban treaty deepened today following Soviet rejection of the new U.S. compromise proposal. The Soviets refused even to talk about automatic international inspection on Soviet soil.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin coldly spurned the U.S. plan in a speech prepared even before U.S. delegate Arthur H. Dean gave him a general outline Thursday of the plan calling for fewer control posts to detect illegal nuclear blasts and fewer on-site inspections of suspicious events.

Zorin once again adamantly refused to commit his government to the principle of compulsory international inspection and rejected the entire Western formula as "just the old American position doled up in a new guise to deceive the neutrals."

"From all that we have heard," Zorin said, "it is clear that on the basis of the proposals which Mr. Dean has brought from Washington, no agreement on the cessation of nuclear weapons tests can be reached."

The Western concessions were offered on condition that the Soviets give firm prior commitment to the principle of compulsory on-the-spot checks of suspected treaty violations by international inspection teams.

"If the Soviet Union stops its current series of tests and accepts our offer, we will stop our testing tonight," Dean told Zorin.

Zorin insisted on a recess in negotiations of the U.S.-British-Soviet nuclear test ban subcommittee of the 17-nation disarmament talks.

"There is no sense to go into detailed discussion now," he said, "because the U.S. position has not been changed in principle and there cannot be an agreement on the basis which the United States proposes."

The subcommittee members decided not to meet again until the full disarmament conference devotes a full session to the test ban deadline. The meeting was set for Tuesday.

Afterward, Dean expressed bitter disappointment at the Soviet position but indicated that the West had gone about as far as it would go toward meeting the Soviets on a test ban treaty.

"We spent a tremendous amount of time, effort and money about $50 million, getting this material together to present here today in our efforts to meet the Soviets," he told newsmen. "We are not going to play the numbers game. We are not going to talk in detail about the number of control posts or on-site inspections until the Soviets accept the right of on-site inspections."

Dean refused to elaborate on the $50 million expenditure but apparently referred to money spent on developing new scientific techniques for more accurately detecting underground nuclear explosions.

It was on the basis of these new techniques that the United States proposed to reduce the number of stations in a worldwide detection network from 180 to 80. The United States and the Soviet Union had agreed in test ban talks years ago that 100 internationally staffed stations were needed for such a network and that some stations should be in Soviet territory. The Soviets subsequently reneged on this agreement.

British Delegate Joseph B. Godber characterized Zorin's rejection speech as "rough, rugged and bitterly disappointing." He said Zorin appears constantly to wish to find points of disagreement instead of points of agreement. His statements are cynical, incredible and almost scandalous.

Soblen May Be On Airliner Tonight On Way Back To U.S.

LONDON (AP)—Britain's second midnight deadline for El Al Airline to ship Dr. Robert A. Soblen to the United States ended today and an aviation source reported a strong possibility the fugitive spy would be aboard the Israeli airline's night flight for New York.

There was no confirmation from El Al, however, and no indication that it would modify its refusal to take Soblen to America.

The Israeli government instructed the airline previously that if Soblen was put aboard a New York flight, the other passengers should be removed and Soblen taken to Israel.

"We have no booking for Dr. Soblen, but there are a few seats remaining," an El Al spokesman said.

"This is an extremely delicate matter involving three governments to divulge anything definite." But he advised newsmen to be at London Airport for the plane's 8 p.m. Eastern Standard Time departure time.

"There is a strong possibility that Dr. Soblen will be on it," he said.

Britain's Home Office set Wednesday midnight as the deadline for El Al to fly Soblen to New York but extended it until tonight when the Israeli government refused to deliver the fugitive to America.

The Home Office gave El Al the option of designating another airline to act as its agent in transporting Soblen. Pan American offered to take him, but El Al said it had no intention of asking another airline to take the convicted spy to America.

The flight of the psychiatrist sentenced to life imprisonment for wartime spying for the Soviets has embroiled the United States, Britain and Israel in a legal wrangle.

Soblen, 61, jumped $100,000 bail in New York in late June and fled to Israel on a dead brother's passport. Israel expelled him as an illegal immigrant and put him on an El Al plane for New York with a U.S. marshal.

The airline landed Soblen in Britain after he slashed a wrist and plunged a knife into his stomach during the flight. Two British courts ruled that he had no permission to remain in Britain and could stay only until able to travel.

Israel has been under heavy pressure from the United States and Britain to return Soblen to New York. But the Israeli government is under heavy political pressure at home from persons who question his expulsion without a court hearing. If he is returned to Israel, he probably will wind up in Communist Czechoslovakia which has offered him asylum.

40,000 Voters Expected For Alaskan Primary

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—An estimated 40,000 Alaskan voters are expected to vote Tuesday in a primary election which has been marked thus far only by an abundance of candidates.

No fewer than nine men, four Democrats and five Republicans, are in the race for the governorship, held by Democrat William A. Egan, a Valdez grocer, the state's first elected governor and a candidate for re-election.

Egan's strongest challenge on the Democratic side appears to be George Byer, a former mayor of Anchorage, the state's largest city. Byer, who claims the support of a large segment of labor, drew an unprecedented 25 per cent of the vote as a write-in candidate in Anchorage's last mayoral election and has been stumping the state hamlet by hamlet in an effort to whip Egan.

Also in the race for the Democratic nomination are Warren A. Taylor, a Fairbanks attorney and speaker of the state House of Representatives, and David Newton Bovee, a perennial candidate from Anchorage Point.

Heading the Republican list is Mike Steposich, who, as an Eisenhower appointee, was Alaska's last territorial governor. He is a Fairbanks attorney.

The remainder of the five-man GOP field includes State Sen. Howard W. Pollock of Anchorage, Dr. Milo Fritz of Anchorage, and Verne O. Martin, an Anchorage attorney.

U.S. Sen. Ernest Gruening, a Democrat and former territorial governor, faces token primary opposition from Robert L. Veach, an Anchorage schoolteacher.

Seeking the Republican nomination to the U.S. Senate are Frank Cook, an Anchorage accountant, and young Ted Stevens, who once served as solicitor for the Interior Department under former Secretary Fred Seaton. Stevens now practices law in Anchorage.

U.S. Rep. Ralph J. Rivers is unopposed for the Democratic nomination to Alaska's lone seat in the House, while Lowell Thomas Jr., son of the explorer newscaster and lecturer, and Henry S. Pratt, an Anchorage insurance man, are trying for the GOP nomination. Thomas also makes his home in Anchorage.

In addition to other state offices, voters will nominate candidates for 10 of the 20 seats in the State Senate and for all 40 seats in the State House of Representatives.

DEAR ABBY Adjustment Necessary

DEAR ABBY: Our 12-year-old boy was born with a harelip (cleft palate) and a club foot. Too it cost us up in the thousands to make him normal and, in our eyes, he is normal. He has a nice personality. He joined a Little League baseball club and was thrilled when he made the first team.

The other boys made so much fun of him it broke my heart, so I made him quit the team and return the suit. Did I do wrong?

UPSET MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Yes, if there are traces of your son's handicaps perhaps he must learn to live with them. Protecting him from unpleasant situations is not helping him to adjust. You want well, but you should have let him slug it out.

DEAR ABBY: Never did I think that a syndicated columnist would put me in second place with my boy friend. He had the nerve to tell me not to fog up his glasses.

Coahoma Cemetery Needs Funds For Clean-Up Work

COAHOMA — Workmen have been busy for several days chopping weeds and cleaning up the Coahoma Cemetery, located a mile south of town.

The burial ground is operated by the Coahoma Cemetery Association, and the only method the association now has to pay for the labor and maintenance is through donations.

The cemetery came into existence when a tract of land was deeded to the association many years ago. It is now owned by the municipality but is solely under the direction of the association. The members of this association are persons who have relatives buried in the cemetery.

Burt Cramer is president and Mattie Miller is secretary.

Ralph White, treasurer, said he will be pleased to receive any gifts from well-wishers. The money is needed to pay for the labor used to clear the tract of weeds and trash. Donations can be mailed to him in Coahoma.

It sets up a fund—$2.5 million in the first year—from which compensation will be paid to veteran employees who lose their jobs because of automation or other technological progress.

Stock Rough, Riders Eager For Opening Rodeo Show

By SAM BLACKBURN

The stock was rough and tough, the young rodeo performers nervous and stubborn, and this combination produced a lengthy but entertaining initial performance for the 17th Annual Howard County Junior Rodeo Thursday night at the Rodeo bowl.

After years of acting as a puppet at Cleveland while Coach Brown pulled the strings from the bench, the 27-year-old quarterback finally was traded to the Detroit Lions. LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

The Big Spring Steers will be handicapped by a lack of height in basketball next season but that shouldn't be the case in a couple of years.

In Paul Thomas, a Negro youth, they have a young man who already stands 6-foot-8 and is still growing. He'll be in the nigh grade at Lakeview this fall.

Young Thomas has been showing to advantage in the Y's summer basketball program, according to Steer coach Delnor Poss. Paul says Delnor, has already developed quite a hook shot.

Poss reasons that if his junior high and B team coaches can work with Thomas for a couple of years, he'll give the Steers what they haven't had in quite a while—a talented 'big man'.

Linemen Buster Barnes and Walter Minter and back Albert Fierro are being counted on to give the Big Spring griders the leadership they will need to be winners this fall.

Barnes was handicapped by illness in spring workouts but he is expected to come on in a hurry once fall practice gets under way.

Minter, a Negro youth, has accomplished a lot since he reported for workouts with the Steers for the first time last year. Fierro is a rugged youth who is capable of playing just about any position on the team. He proved to be especially rough on defense in spring workouts.

There will probably not be 75 college institutions a quarter of a century from now carrying on the type of athletic program most of us are presently trying to have.

Those words were spoken by Dr. George D. Humphrey, president of the University of Wyoming, at a university presidents' panel discussion during the annual convention of the College Sports Information Directors' association in Chicago recently.

Dr. Humphrey's warning came after he had earlier come out in favor of "progressive amateurism" in college sports, especially football.

The Wyoming man said that no other phase of a university's program does as much to unite students, faculty, parents and alumni as does athletics and pointed out that this interest brings many worthwhile results.

In predicting the demise of college football and athletics in general, though, Dr. Humphrey suggested the formation of a division of the NCAA embracing only land grant colleges and state universities. Behind Dr. Humphrey's proposal was the obvious suggestion that such a group would then work out its own problems; develop its own code without interference from the entire NCAA membership, as is now the case.

In effect, it would set up a separate athletic governing body from schools now classified as "major" in football.

Such well known schools as Notre Dame, TCU, Northwestern, Pittsburgh, Syracuse and Southern California would be left on the outside looking in, if Dr. Humphrey's plan were adopted.

Tom Landry, coach of the Dallas Cowboys, who takes his team home to Dallas to play the mighty Green Bay Packers, says George Andrie, 6-foot-7 and 252 pounds is probably the strongest bet among his new men to stick with the team, as of now Andrie is a defensive end.

sparking three-hitter in a 6-0 triumph over the Los Angeles Angels, Boston and Bill Monbouquette blanked Cleveland 4-0 and Detroit handed Washington its sixth straight loss 8-5. Baltimore at New York was postponed by rain.

Allen produced three singles and a double and raised his average to a season high of .372 in his Detroit triumph over the A's. Rollins, who is now hitting .305, got maximum mileage out of a couple of singles. His four RBI give him 79 thru for the No. 2 spot in the league.

Fisher 4-4 struck out only one but didn't walk a man and retired 21 batters in a row over one stretch in pitching the White Sox past the Angels. It was the first shutout of his career for the 26-year-old right-handed knuckleball specialist. A two-run double by Sherm Lollar and Jim Lendis' Kansas City 12-10 Thursday and regained a share of second place, five games back of New York Chicago's Eddie Fisher threw a Boston's Monbouquette (10-1) spaced eight hits and was tough in the clutch in his shutout of Cleveland. Boston got all its runs in the first inning, with Frank Malzone's two-run single the key hit.

Detroit rookie right-hander Howie Koplitz got major support from Billy Bruton in the victory over Washington. Bruton came up with several spectacular catches among his eight putouts in center field and drove in three runs with a couple of singles.

LUBBOCK AP—All-Star basketball teams clash tonight in a feature of the Texas Coaching School with a sellout crowd of 7,500 assured and a victory by the North freely predicted.

It will be the largest attendance in the 18 years of the All-Star game, breaking the record by more than 1,500.

The North, which holds a big margin in the series—12 victories to 6 for the South—is heavily favored because a marked advantage in height and a higher scoring potential.

Games Tonight

Three games are scheduled today in the Slow-Pitch Softball League. Hesters meets Reeder's at 6:30 p. m. The Herald tangles with Ward's at 8 p. m., and Jones and Laughlin meets Coca Cola at 9:30 p. m.

Palmer Starts Fine At Akron

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
AKRON Ohio AP—Arnold Palmer has a hot putter and an itching wrist and a chance to break his own all-time money-winning record in the $50,000 American Golf Classic.

day with a blazing three-under par 36-31-67 over the tough Firestone layout of 7,165 yards for a two-stroke lead in the 72-hole tournament which ends Sunday.

This is the best putting I've done all year, said Palmer who was strategizing his left arm while breaking the course record over the back nine with a 31 Palmer one-outted 19 greens and took 27 putts in his entire round. He wasn't hampered a bit by a bee sting on his wrist suffered while playing a practice round Wednesday.

Itches a little, otherwise it's okay," said Palmer.

One would think that it's on Arnold's hand also was itching. To date he has won $71,198 this year and could surpass in this tournament the PGA record of $75,282 he set in 1960.

By leading the first round, Palmer picked up an extra $1,000 in the tournament which carries a variety of bonuses and a first-place prize of $9,000. Even if Palmer should finish second, the $4,000 would put him past the record.

Palmer's tremendous round dampened the hopes of Jim Ferrer, George Bayer and Mike Souchak, all coming in with 69s. Ferrer had five birdies and four bogeys while Souchak had three bogeys, two birdies and an eagle three on the second hole, which most of the other leaders birdied. Bayer had the steadiest round, collecting 17 pars and one birdie.

Only Jim Ferrer matched par in the field of 98, shooting a 36-34-70. Behind Ferrer was a group of six players with 71s, including PGA champion Gary Player.

This is one of the scuffles that resulted when villagers stormed a British Nazi camp in the English countryside of Gloucestershire in search of the self-styled American fuhrer, George Lincoln Rockwell. The raiders from the nearby village of Gutting Power leveled the camp but found no trace of Rockwell.

Fair And Mild Weather After Outbreak Of Storms

By The Associated Press
Fair and mild weather prevailed across the major part of the nation today after an outbreak of severe storms in some areas.
Two persons were killed and seven others injured Thursday in a severe thunderstorm which pounded the Ozark Mountain region of southwest Missouri. A floating covered fishing dock on which about 20 persons had taken shelter from the rain capsized at the Aunt's Creek Cove of Table Rock Lake at Reeds Spring. A 15-year-old girl drowned.
A 3-year-old girl was killed near Larusell as winds of 30 miles an hour lashed the area. Showers and cool air spread into some Southern sections, bringing relief from the protracted heat wave. Temperatures

Computer Is Used To Turn Out Fast Art

NEW YORK (AP)—Think of all the time wasted by Rembrandt, Michelangelo and the rest of those old-fashioned masters of the brush-and-palette days.
Sketching, mixing colors, daubing away year after year. And for what? Only paintings.
Now you take Raymond Auger, a bearded young artist who in Greenwich Village. He has real know-how.
He has an electronic monster that can whirl out a masterpiece quicker than you can say "Aristotle contemplating the bust of Homer."

Sometimes there's a difference of opinion on just what these masterpieces portray. But the inventor's "automatic art show" in a little shop is drawing quite a few people—some interested, some amused.

The masterpiece maker is a contraption of wires and electronic gadgets that looks like a hopeless tangle.

It's something like a piano. Its actions are dictated by a punctured roll of thick paper running through its "brain." Armature ends in a vicious-looking clamp, which opens and shuts its mouth like an alligator, grabs the brushes, daps them in four paint pots containing black, red, blue and yellow, and revolves on a rotating stand.

All it takes to set the thing in motion is $2—not inserted in a slot like you start a jukebox but placed in Auger's palm.

Auger then turns on the switch. Things get rather incomprehensible as the monster goes into its act with the brushes whirling on the canvas with a vengeance.

But Auger's machine can be moody, temperamental and unpredictable at times.

Once Thursday night it behaved in a distinctly hostile manner. The menacing end of the thing waving around from the canvas to lunge at the spectators.

But with a little manual assistance things were set aright. And, unlike the days of Dr. Frankenstein, there was no gore.

WEST BRANCH, Iowa (AP)—From this peaceful village he knew as a boy, Herbert Hoover called today for a "Council of Free Nations" to work for world peace.

Odessa Firm Gets Seal Coat Job On Lamesa Streets

LAMESA, S.C.—Jones Bros. of Odessa was the low bidder here Wednesday on a large sealcoating project. The bid of $16,702.50 was about $9,000 below the estimated cost for 250,000 square yards of sealcoating and the City Council authorized additional projects added to the contract.
Under the Jones bid the cost per square yard was about 66 cents and will enable the city to sealcoat an area equivalent to 250 city blocks.
Other bidders and total bids on asphalt material and labor, crushed rock or gravel material and labor and extra pneumatic rolling labor include: L. A. Partrell of Lubbock, $17,573.50; Abilene Paving Co. Inc., $25,852; F. W. Cope of Lamesa, $18,975; Cen-Tex Paving of San Antonio, $17,240; Mid-San Paving Co. of San Angelo, $22,150.

Hoover Calls For Council Of Nations

WEST BRANCH, Iowa (AP)—Failed to give us even a remote hope of lasting peace instead, it adds to the dangers of wars which now surround us."
The Communist countries, he said, "have destroyed the usefulness of the United Nations to preserve peace."
In suggesting a Council of Free Nations, Hoover made it clear he did not intend that it should replace the U.N. But, he said, it "should step in" when the U.N. fails to act or is "prevented from taking action" to preserve peace.
"The time is here when, if the free nations are to survive, they must have a new and stronger worldwide organization," Hoover said.
For purposes of this discussion I may call it the "Council of Free Nations." It should include only those who are willing to stand up and fight for their freedom."
Hoover said he would not have the council replace the United Nations but would design it to step in when the United Nations is

Library Dedicated To Ex-President

WEST BRANCH, Iowa (AP)—Back in 1937, when he helped dedicate the Harry Truman Library in Independence, Mo., a gushing matron asked Herbert Hoover what ex-presidents of the United States do with all their time.
"Madam," he said wryly, "we spend our time taking pills and dedicating libraries."
Today, on his 88th birthday, Herbert Clark Hoover was not noticeably spending much time on pills. But he was dedicating still another library—his own this time.
Today the 31st and 33rd presidents of the United States were in Iowa in reverse roles. This time Hoover starred and Truman played a supporting role as a kind of a reciprocation among friendly library-dedicating ex-presidents.
The Hoover Library, a handsome stone-faced building, stands on a 28-acre park near the two-room cottage where he was born in 1874 near the muddy creek he swam in and the hill where he rode sleds as a boy.
It was here too that Hoover was orphaned at the age of 10 and from here was moved by relatives to Oregon with a total wealth of 20 cents in cash and a wardrobe limited to the suit he wore.
The library now tells much of the long remarkable career that followed. There are memories of Hoover's world-wide travels as a mining engineer. There is one worn, full of holes, light sack. The floor had been sent to Europe when Hoover was food relief administrator during the First World War.
The sacks now in the library were ornately embroidered and sent back to Hoover by grateful Europeans.
There is an elaborate scroll of thanks sent Hoover by a grateful Communist government of Russia in 1923—a gesture the Russians have since denied making. But Hoover can prove down to the box and wrapping the scroll came in.
There are documents and mementoes of Hoover's career as secretary of commerce and as president from 1929 to 1933. Hoover was the first president to keep a telephone on his desk in the White House and both the desk

MORE TONS OF DIRT SLOUGH FROM EXCAVATION SIDES
Water complicates work for construction crews

Crews Troubled With Hole That Wants To Get Bigger

More trouble has been encountered in excavating for the main building and pumps at the site of Big Spring's new sewage disposal plant. The sloughing off of the banks continued Wednesday when several hundred yards fell into the hole where water has caused trouble.

The drag-line operator pulled his machine away from the hole after the big cave-in and put on a drag bucket to try to get enough out of the bottom for pouring quick-set concrete.

Shifflet Bros. of Abilene, contractors, started work on the excavation May 24. At about 15 feet the crew hit water which has had to be pumped out constantly. When the depth reached 25 feet, the sides began sloughing. Continued digging has brought more of the same.

Kiwanis Gov. Due Aug. 17

Big Spring Kiwanians, joined by delegations from other Kiwanis Clubs in this part of West Texas, will meet at the Cosden Country Club Aug. 17 for a special dinner to honor J. D. Fountain, Texas-Oklahoma Kiwanis district governor, and Mrs. Fountain.

The Lawton, Okla., Kiwanian, on a swing over his huge district, will be here for the dinner and will address the meeting.

Big Spring Club, as home of the lieutenant governor for the 23rd Kiwanis Club division, was selected by the District Governor for his official visit. Jack Alexander, a member of the local club, is the lieutenant governor for Division 23.

J. C. Pickle, president of the Big Spring Kiwanis Club, notified members Thursday that no regular luncheon will be held by the club Aug. 16. Instead, the meeting at the Cosden Club will be a ladies night affair.

It is anticipated that delegations from all of the Kiwanis Clubs in this area will be on hand for the visit of the governor.

Space Pictures In Film Library

AUSTIN — Thirty motion pictures on space and space exploration, including one on Col. John Glenn's orbital flight, are among motion pictures available to schools and adult groups through the film rental library of the University of Texas Visual Instruction Bureau.

The Bureau has just issued a selected listing titled "Exploration of the Universe," describing the films in detail. Free copies of the leaflet are available from Visual Instruction Bureau, Division of Extension, University of Texas, Austin 12.

The VIB film library contains some 4,500 prints of 3,500 sound motion pictures on a variety of subjects. A total of 20,000 bookings were made last year, including 5,000 on the University campus.

Health Unit Plant Viewed

Members of the public health and safety committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and city and county commissioners journeyed to Sweetwater Thursday to look at a new public health center.

From the county were Judge Ed Carpenter and Commissioners Joe Hayden and L. J. Davidson. Mayor George Zachariah and City Commissioner Arnold Marshall, Lige Fox, supervisor of the local health unit, Kenneth Pace, assistant chamber manager, and Fran Flint and V. J. Belda, on the public health and safety committee, also made the trip.

The new Sweetwater Nolan County Health Unit was completed early this year, at a cost of just over $100,000, including the cost of equipment, site and parking area. The center has 4,682 square feet of floor space.

Artus Gauthier, director, took the men on a tour of the facility. It includes an assembly room for public use, a lobby, doctor's office, examination room, nurses office, waiting room, laboratory, washroom, incubators, sanitation section and is completely air-conditioned.

Site Of Aztec Fall Obliterated

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The fall of Mexico City to Spaniards 437 years ago will be observed Monday at the Medical Center—because the site of the actual battle has been converted into a housing project. It is the first time the celebration has been held anywhere except at Santiago Tlatelco, the last Aztec bastion.

Zone Panel Grants Three Requests For Deviations

Three requests for zoning changes were granted, one was referred to the city commission, and a plat for one lot in the Highland South Addition was accepted, following public hearings and a meeting of the Planning and Zoning Commission Tuesday evening.

A 14-acre tract, known as the Thomas Property, at the intersection of Wasson Road and the Webb AFB housing area road, was approved for a zone change from IF-2 residential to Planned District for retail purposes. No action was taken at a former meeting, pending further study, when a public hearing was held. The area is proposed for development of a shopping center.

A two-acre tract, owned by Lee Porter, just west of Toby's on Wasson Road was approved for a zone change from IF-2 residential to planned district for neighborhood service.

Hank McDaniel, who owns the triangular piece of property between Wasson Road and the Coronado Hills Addition, requested a change from multi-family zone to neighborhood service so that he might locate a service station just north of the Park Inn. No one but the owner appeared at the public hearing and the board considered the property unsuitable for residential zoning. The change was granted.

Chester Coffman, who owns Lot 12, Block 4, Jones Valley Addition, sought to move a residence from another area onto the lot. Under the light industry zoning now in effect, residences are not permitted. Remodeling or rebuilding for residential purposes are also prohibited. The request was made for a change from a light industry zone to commercial to permit use for residences.

The commission took no action but referred the request back to the city commission with a recommendation that an exception be granted in Coffman's case or that a large segment of the area be rezoned. The Planning and Zoning Commission felt that spot zoning of the area was not feasible. The city commission could make the exception or could amend the zoning ordinance to permit residential use of a light industry zone.

Ike Robb presented a plat of a single lot in Highland South Addition. The lot is located west of Goliad and was the first platted on that side of the street in the addition. The plat was approved.

Instruction Costs Account For Most Of Budget's Gain

(This is the first of a series of three articles explaining the proposed Big Spring school budget for the 1962-63 fiscal year.—Ed.)

The largest budget in the history of the Big Spring Independent School District will be presented in public hearing Tuesday night.

Pegged at $2,949,383, it is $61,447.75 above the $2,887,935.25 budgeted for the 1961-62 school year. Last year's budget was also higher than any before it.

Despite an increase in tax revenues, the budget is expected to turn up with a balance of only $10,765. This year's anticipated cash balance is $39,000 in the general fund.

Increased enrollment, along with about a three per cent inflation factor, accounts for most of the increase in the budget.

Instruction costs represent the major increase in the proposed budget. These were pegged at $2,019,783 last year and have been kicked up by $107,769 to $2,127,552 this year. The only expense which rose in this category was instructional salaries. They rose by $115,089 from $1,906,493 during 1961-62 to $2,023,582 in the proposed budget.

Travel, teaching supplies and library and audio-visual equipment are all cut.

Library and Audio-visual equipment, pegged at $26,655, is down $225; teaching and office supplies, at $48,025, is down $4,625; and travel and other expense is set at $29,040, down $1,370.

Administration and business salaries have been increased by $15,351. Total figure set up in the proposed budget for that account is $120,986, compared to $105,635, last year. The biggest increase here comes through moving the salary of the assistant superintendent in charge of curriculum into this category. That accounts for $11,750. Last year this was carried under instructional salaries with a different job title. That position this year is to be filled by an elementary coordinator with a salary of $9,000.

Attendance service costs were estimated at $16,495, down $2,148 from the $18,643 budgeted for 1961-62. The athletic budget underwrite which placed at $20,000, down $2,500 from that budgeted a year ago. However, last year gate receipts were higher than anticipated and only $26,500 of the underwrite was needed.

Operation of the school plant remained stationary at $193,900, as did fixed charges at $54,700 and the city-wide recreational program at $1,000.

Other categories rose slightly. Health service, set at $22,748, is up $232; transportation is up $2,900 to $27,750; and maintenance of the plant is $82,500, up $4,400.

The total current operational expense budgeted is $2,677,631.

Capital outlay is placed at $80,267, compared to $140,707 last year, and debt service is $191,485, compared to $193,981.25.

Born in Ellis County, Texas, Mr. Mitchell came to the vicinity 75 years ago. He was a retired rancher and had been a member of the Masonic Lodge for 53 years. His father was the first sheriff of Fisher County, Tex. Recently, he has been making his home with his son, Dick Mitchell, Garden City. Other survivors are three daughters, Mrs. E. A. Ricks and Mrs. W. G. Davis Jr., both of Fresno, Calif., and Mrs. R. M. Payne, El Paso; nine grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Headon Collision Fatal To 2 Men

ODESSA, Tex. (AP)—A head-on car-pickup truck collision 17 miles south of here on U.S. 385 killed two men and injured three others Thursday.

Killed were Grady Vaughan Jr., 45, of Coleman and Vernon Adams, of Odessa, the driver of the pickup. Vaughan was alone in his car.

Three passengers in the pickup were injured. In critical condition was Ralph Fuson, Odessa, in serious condition was James Argobast, Odessa, and listed in good condition was Raymond Adams, son of the dead man.

All were in an Odessa hospital. Highway patrolmen A. J. Reynolds and Robert Taylor said the two vehicles met on a curve, with one of them on the wrong side of the road.

Methodists Have Visitors, Baptists Consider Plans

Two Methodist ministers figure in the church news of the coming week.

Dr. Carl Keightley, editor of the Texas Methodist, is to be the First Methodist speaker Sunday, and during the week, the Rev. Calvin Froehner, Lubbock, will lead in revival services at the First Methodist Church in Coahoma.

Two important matters are up for a decision at the First Baptist Church on Sunday. The church will consider a call to an education-music minister on recommendation of a special committee. At the evening worship, the congregation will be asked to give instructions to the building committee regarding preliminary plans for a new church plant. The initial presentation of the plans was made three weeks ago.

Dr. Keightley will preach at morning worship services in the First Methodist Church Sunday. Dr. Keightley spent much of his younger years in Little Rock, Ark. where he attended high school and junior college. He received his B. A. degree from Hendrix College, Conway, Ark., and his B. D. degree from Garrett Biblical Institute. He holds an M. A. from Northwestern University and was awarded an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree from Texas Wesleyan College in Fort Worth in 1961.

Dr. Keightley has been in the ministry since 1923 and has served in the Colorado, St. Louis and the North Arkansas conferences, as well as in several Texas conferences. Among his pastorates in Texas have been associate minister at Highland Park Methodist Church in Dallas, pastor, University Methodist Church, Wichita Falls, and master of the First Methodist Church in Irving. He assumed his present position in June, 1959.

The Rev. Froehner, pastor of the St. John's Methodist Church of Lubbock, will be the guest minister at a revival at Coahoma Methodist Church Aug. 12-17. Sunday evening services are at 7:30 p.m.; Monday through Friday services will begin at 8 p.m. Rev. Froehner is a graduate of Trinity University and Southern Methodist University. He has served pastorates in Blue Mound, Garwood, and Midland as well as an associate in the University Methodist Church of Austin and the First Methodist Church in Dallas.

Active in civic affairs, Rev. Froehner is the past president of the Lubbock Ministerial Association, a member of the Mayor's Committee for the United Nations, as well as other groups. Louis Loveless, director of music for St. Paul Presbyterian Church of Big Spring, will be in charge of the music for the week.

Ezekiel Urges Repentance

THE CALL OF THE PROPHET EZEKIEL AND SOME OF THE GREAT TRUTHS HE WAS COMMANDED TO ANNOUNCE TO JUDAH

Scripture—Ezekiel 1:1-3; 2:1-7; 3:1-6, 10-11; 11:16-19; 18.

By N. SPEER JONES

WHILE JEREMIAH was preaching in vain to the people in Jerusalem, urging their submission and repentance, another prophet was doing the same thing among the leading Jews who were taken to Babylonia in the captivity of 597 B.C. (along with King Jehoiachin).

This prophet was a priest named Ezekiel. At the time of the captivity he was probably about 25. He settled with other exiles in Babylonia by the Chebar, a canal southeast of the great city of Babylon.

He was there for about five years before God's call came to him—"the heavens were opened, and I saw visions of God." This was still about six years before the frightful destruction of Jerusalem in Nebuchadnezzar's siege.

The assignment given Ezekiel mainly in Jerusalem. These two groups soon showed their particular identities to each other, however. Apparently the Jerusalem Jews taunted the exiled brothers for the fact that they were now living far from the center of Judaism—i.e., God's sanctuary. This shows up keenly the superficiality of their religion; they felt that their physical proximity to God's chosen spot automatically included them in God's favor; there was no inward penetration of God in these people, no proximity of their souls.

A reference to this attitude is found in Ezekiel 11:16, where in God says He will be "a sanctuary for a little while in the countries where they are come."

The 18th chapter of Ezekiel is considered by many to be the greatest Old Testament chapter

GOLDEN TEXT
"Repent and turn from all your transgressions, lest iniquity be your ruin."—Ezekiel 18:30.

by God was far more difficult than that of a missionary in a foreign land. He was not sent among strangers speaking a foreign tongue, but among his own people, who spoke the same language; nevertheless, his own people were farther from him than foreigners, for their hearts were hardened. Although they could understand him, they would not.

The foreign people among whom the Jewish exiles lived, incidentally, are one of those referred to in the Old Testament as "the nations"—a designation used to distinguish the heathen from God's chosen people (see Ezekiel 2:3).

Oddly enough, Ezekiel's messages do not concern specifically the Jews in exile, with whom he was living; their particular circumstances or problems are not often mentioned. Rather, he speaks still to all the Jews, both those in exile and those still remaining in Jerusalem.

This proverb had been very popular with these Jews, for through it they could exonerate their own guilt, blaming all their misfortunes on the sins of their fathers. Ezekiel makes it clear to them that they themselves are responsible for their condition, and only they can change it, by repenting and reforming.

on the subject of man's soul. Here God makes it clear that the old proverb of the sour grapes setting the children's teeth on edge (i.e., the sins of the fathers condemning the children) is not to be considered valid. Every man will be held accountable for his own deeds. A righteous father will still be so judged by God, though his son may be an evildoer; moreover, a son may prove himself righteous though his father may have been a dreadful sinner.

Vatican Council Gets Elaborate Preparation

By BENNETT BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The casual visitor to St. Peter's Basilica these days might wonder momentarily if he had strayed into an ornate sports arena.

Two grandstands face each other across the center aisle and stretch more than half the 700-foot length of the vast basilica. They will provide seats for 2,800 participants in the Second Vatican Council, scheduled to begin Oct. 11 under Pope John XXIII.

Roman Catholic bishops around the world already are studying copies of the 2,000 pages of topics, preparing for discussion and debate.

SPECIAL SEATS

To seat the council participants, workmen have joined miles of steel tubing and wooden planks into the grandstands that climb 10 tiers up the vaulted main pillars of St. Peter's.

Onto this skeleton went foam rubber cushions covered with tapestries and carpeting in red and green—the council's colors. Small desks and kneeling benches were built into the grandstands.

The double structure extends almost to the huge main altar of St. Peter's—the confessional altar that rises in the apse with four twisting golden columns supporting a baldacchino roof.

Pope John will sit, his back to the confessional altar, on a throne atop a platform 25 feet high. Directly in front of and below the Pope will be nine assistants — Msgr. Pericle Felici, the council secretary-general, and his aides.

CARDINAL SECTION

A separate section of seats, desks and kneelers for 86 cardinals has been built between the papal throne and one bank of grandstands. Before the other bank is a portable altar for the council's religious ceremonies.

The council, the first in 92 years is making full use of modern technology.

Each participant will have a desk microphone tied into an amplifying system. Telephones on an internal circuit will let participants confer swiftly and privately with one another while deliberations are going on.

Flanking the sides of the confessional altar behind the Pope will be technicians to record on tape every word of council proceedings. An electronic computer will tabulate in split-seconds the votes of the vast assembly.

LATIN SHORTHAND

Latin, the official language of the Catholic Church, will be the language of the council. For months, 42 young priests and seminarians from the seven continents have been training as Latin stenographers.

The four permanent galleries that surround the basilica's confessional altar lend themselves

Conduct Singing

Members of Primitive Baptist Church of Big Spring met Wednesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Gaskin in Knott for an old-fashioned singing session. Leading the singing was Elder Ben Howe, Estes Smith and Alton Lewis. Wayne Allen led the group in prayer. Thirty-three attended.

WHAT RIGHTS DO YOU HAVE?

"Give to every other human being every right that you claim for yourself." This right is proper in the realm of personal liberties correctly stated by Inglesoll. The issue before the world has been, "Is and shall be that of Liberty and personal rights are your rights are most important to YOU. Let us consider your rights in a religious sense. your rights in religion to teach your rights, to preach or to baptize. In Baptism has most correctly stated: "Perfect conformity to the will of God is the sole sovereign and complete liberty. Men ought not to draw around themselves the thinnest curtain of personal ease to merit, 'do as I please.' All authority in heaven and on earth" has been and is from God through Christ but He who has this power to subordinate and keep man under or to place man at His beck and call does not choose to do so by coercion or by force. Yet, though He has not made man his own master, He nonetheless has set up the rigid standard of His Word for men to follow. The rights in religion which you have are the rights which I have also, consider these rights from the standpoint of human authority. Here is a realm of conscience where man does not enter, cannot invade and has no rights of religious authority over his fellow man. Consider your religious rights from the standpoint of God. Here God is supreme, all authority is His. His Word, the Bible, is complete and final. Yet God does not coerce, compel, nor force as some religious institutions would begin to do. You are NOW. And to the extent their power increases to that extent they dominate." "LET us here on earth cease and are not to enforce our will by civil laws or by earthly claims of powers which belong only to God." I might discuss with a high reason with him, lay out cogent arguments or even lay before him some unfounded arguments on what he believes in religion but neither you nor I nor any religious order can compel him to believe and follow. Before God what rights do I have to teach? My rights are inherent in what is taught; I have liberty before God to teach His Word and that all but no man has the right to try to forcibly stop another by physical force, coercion, domination or physical coercion if he does not follow the truth. Our liberty is to try to teach him or anyone else the truth and that is all. What rights do you or I have to baptize? Unlimited and unbounded so far as the powers of man are concerned, but before God Himself the liberty is hedged in as to what is taught in the Bible. God gives us right to baptize the taught — Matt. 28:19, those who believe — Mark 16:16, those who repent and gladly receive the word — Acts 2:41 and God gives us right to baptize by "immersion" in order to obtain "the forgiveness of sins" and only by what "baptize" means namely immersion. Man has no right to try to enforce it by physical power or obtaining civil authority but God's Word is right and final and we will all be judged thereby — John 12:48.

Other Nations Join U.S. In Worrying Over Economy

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Uncle Sam is about to have company in his heretofore exclusive club. Joining him in worrying because good times aren't getting better fast enough are some of those he has been envying, such as paragon of booming economies as West Germany, France and Japan.

But one and all have the consolation that if the bloom is off their boom, at least they're a lot better off than the Soviet Union and China, where mounting troubles are becoming plain for all to see.

In the United States, worrying so far has concentrated in Washington and Wall Street. The rest of the country mostly has gone along doing business about as usual and planning to do more business in the future.

But in Washington the debate ever what to do about an economy that isn't growing as fast as hoped is at a peak, both in and out of Congress.

And Wall Street had its say in May and June when stock prices broke sharply to bolster recession fears.

Stock market slides also were the first outward sign of trouble in West Germany and Japan. Stock prices in England and France have moved pretty much in sympathy with Wall Street also, as is natural in a world growing ever more tightly allied financially.

But signs of industrial slowdown are now reported in the Common Market nations that of late have been cited as shining examples of the way to get a boom started and keep it going. Their fiscal policies—ignoring orthodox treasury deficits, as these are understood in the United States, to keep economy planning humming—are being studied by American financial experts for tips on how Washington might change its fiscal ways.

While Washington is studying the European examples, West Germany reports a slowdown in the pace of several of its heretofore fast-growing industries. This has been dramatized by a drop of about 25 per cent in stock price averages in the last four months.

Japan's flashy stock market ran into trouble some time back. Now France is beginning to fret about an economic development that has plagued the United States most of this year—a slowdown in capital goods investment.

Some see all this as proof that the old economic cycle is far from being as dead as many had hoped. Others see it as a challenge to try new ways, here and abroad, to get the non-Communist world moving faster again—especially as troubles in the Communist world mount.

Rainbow Car Wash

Barbara Ann Daily, incoming Worthy Advisor of the Big Spring Chapter of Rainbow Girls announced that the group will have a car wash Saturday. This will begin at 8 a.m. at Sixth and Main, and work as long as there are cars. The project is to raise money for the installation service and for the Christmas formal.

Elections Give Kennedy Chance To Decide Issues

EDITOR'S NOTE — Three months from now the entire House of Representatives and more than one-third of the Senate will be up for re-election. At that time the American people will have their opportunity to express their judgment on the administration's record to date. The outlook is examined by AP reporter Reiman Morin in this fifth and concluding article on Kennedy at mid-term.

By REIMAN MORIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy already is sniffing the heavy scent of the campaign trail, three months before the off-year elections.

It's not only because he enjoys campaigning. This year he has some special interests. He wants to try to elect Democrats who will support him in Congress, to give him what he would consider a true working majority. And he wants to discuss, from the public platform, those issues on which he says "the American people are rather evenly divided."

In November, the entire House of Representatives and 39 senators (five filling unexpired terms) stand for re-election. Along with his judgment of the individual candidate, the American voter will have the opportunity to express his opinion of the President's program, especially the controversial portions of it.

These include health assistance for the aged, the farm bill, the proposal for a department of urban affairs, and the general education bill.

Conservative Democrats joined with the Republicans in blocking this legislation.

Kennedy recently was asked if he will take "reprisals" against such Democrats. He answered "no" and said most of them come from "one-party areas." He went on to say:

"I'm going to help elect Democrats who support this program. The areas I'll be campaigning in are . . . where there will be a very clear choice between Republicans who oppose these actions and Democrats who support them."

At present, there are 263 Democrats and 174 Republicans in the House of Representatives. The lineup in the Senate is 64 to 36.

That looks like a working majority for the President. But he frequently points out that the tally on some key measures has been very close and that a switch of only two or three votes would have changed defeat to victory.

GOP IS GLEEFUL

The Republicans, meanwhile, gleefully remind him that when the Sen. called "Medicare," 21 Democrats, including a number of the committee chairmen, voted against the bill. They hoot at his description of this total as "a handful."

Kennedy says that if the Democrats lose five seats in the House in November, his working majority, "such as it is," will be gone.

"He would like to gain five seats, and to pick up 10 would be 'wonderful.'"

His advisors, who demonstrated considerable political acumen during his own campaign of 1960, say it will be a victory if Democratic majorities hold at the present levels—in short, if they can break even.

Four principal imperfections bear on the outlook for November.

One is the economy. A recession, whatever the dimensions, would give the Republicans added ammunition. They already are calling the break in stock market prices the "Kennedy crash."

PERENNIAL QUESTION

A second is the perennial question: Can a popular president invest the candidates in his party with some of his popularity? Polls indicate that Kennedy's stock is high now. But not even former President Eisenhower's immense popularity was enough to give him a Republican Congress.

The third impermissible pivots on the ability of Kennedy and other Democrats to explain complicated legislation, and to fire the voters to indignation over what Congress did to specific measures.

The proposal for a department of urban affairs, for example. How many people understand what its functions would be and why the administration says such an agency is needed?

Health assistance for the aged is another case in point. The pros and cons of the various proposals on it are not easy to understand. The White House mail reportedly shows that a majority of the writers favor Kennedy's proposal, but not by any overwhelming margins. Anyway, since letter-writing campaigns can be organized, the mail is not necessarily a reliable barometer of public opinion.

POLITICAL HISTORY

And finally there is the factor of political history.

In all the mid-term elections of this century, the party holding the White House made relative gains in Congress only once. In 1934, during Franklin D. Roosevelt's first term, the Democrats picked up 10 Senate seats and nine in the House. Otherwise, the "ins" always lost ground. Thus, Kennedy frequently says, "history is against us."

This year however, the Democrats hopefully advance a proposition that can be termed the "fat theory."

It is based on the proposition that when a president is elected by an overwhelming majority he pulls in with him numbers of congressmen who would not have made it on their own. They constitute that "fat" and are most likely to be defeated in the mid-term election.

THIN MARGIN

Kennedy came to the presidency with a razor-thin margin, not a great majority. Therefore, the reasoning goes, there is no "fat" among the Democrats in Congress now and therefore history may not run true to form next fall.

Q & D

Charles Halleck, R-Ind., the House minority leader, expresses cautious optimism about the outlook this year for the GOP.

"We're making inroads," he says. "But the South is solid and it may be tough in the big cities. A lot will depend on the economic situation, business failures, unemployment and so on."

He scoffs at the idea that "Medicare" will be a great issue. "It will be far down on the list," he said.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., chairman of the GOP Senate Campaign Committee, says "I think we have a good chance to take the House. It just better every day Kennedy's stumbling won't help his party."

JFK'S POSITION

Kennedy summed up the position in these words:

"If the American people are against these programs, they'll vote Republican and we will have a state of where the President believes one thing and the Congress another for two years and we'll have inaction. They will choose either to put anchor down or to sail. So we'll see in November."
