Fingerprints Found In Mail Case

BOSTON (AP) — Police uncovered three fingerprints on a burned automobile today as a widespread manhunt was set up for the white-gloved bandits who robbed a mail truck of $1.5 million in historic Plymouth Tuesday night.

Sgt. Joseph Leonard, one of a team of crack Boston detectives working on the case, found the prints on a trunk of the car. The automobile belonged to a suburban Revere man who reported it stolen on June 12.

Police attached significance to the car because it contained a four road signs similar to one used by the gangsters in the hold-up on Route 3 in Plymouth. The signs have been turned over to the Post Office Department.

MANHUNT ON

State troopers, police, the FBI and a squad of postal inspectors have set up a round-the-clock manhunt for the smooth-working gang that pulled off the biggest cash haul in the nation's history.

Police have broadcast an alarm for five men and a woman. Descriptions were vague. Two of the men were called "Tony" and "Buster."

The team of investigators is under the direction of Chief Postal Inspector Henry B. Montague, 50, head of the nation's oldest investigation service. The Post Office Department boasts a record of 99 per cent convictions for crimes involving the mails. Montague flew from Washington to take charge.

Washington promised to send the entire force of 1,000 inspectors — if they are needed.

Meanwhile, Chief of Detectives Capt. Michael J. Cullinane of the Massachusetts State Police said, "We have been working together all night checking out various reports."

COMPOSITE PICTURES

The driver of the mail truck and the lone guard came to Boston to help make up composite pictures of the robbers.

Police plan a patient, exhausting use of plastic slides, each with a facial feature. They will be assembled one after another until the composite resembles a face which the victims' feel resembles a robber.

This will be a basis of "wanted" bulletins to be spread around the country.

Postal authorities said there is a standing $2,000 reward for armed robbery of the mail.

Although the estimated $1.5 million loot exceeded that of the 1950 Brink's robbery as the nation's biggest cash haul, the amount stolen might have been even greater.

A Post Office Department spokesman said the truck sometimes carried as much as $3 million on its run from Cape Cod to Boston.

"The robbers must have had inside information," said William F. Gullette, 63, of Somerville, who would have been riding guard aboard the truck except that his vacation started less than 24 hours earlier.

A DISASTER

William F. White, chief postal inspector for New England, said "This is a disaster. It's been 30 years since the Post Office Department has been hit by a big holdup."

The burned sedan, a stolen 1960 brown and white Oldsmobile, was found on an unimproved street in the Mattapan section of Boston. Its trunk held several highway detour signs such as the holdup gang used to block the northbound lane of Route 3 in Plymouth while they ambushed the truck at 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Cullinane said he believes the car was used by the gunmen — one of possibly eight cars used in a smooth, quick, apparently carefully planned stickup.

Police showed interest in a second stolen car that burned in the West Roxbury section of the city but could not connect it with the robbery.

HOURS OF STUDY

The truck crew — driver Patrick R. Schena, 36, of Everett, and guard William F. Barrett, 51, of Mansfield — both World War II veterans — spent hours studying photographs of known criminals on Wednesday and faced more of the same chore today.

Inspector White said Schena and Barrett are not under suspicion. The two men led investigators over the route their truck took from Barnstable on Cape Cod. The truck carried cash from Cape banks consigned to the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston.

Postal inspectors checked every Cape post office for descriptions and valuations of every piece of registered mail in the pouches.

Massachusetts State Police said one of the wanted men — the one in a policeman's uniform had flagged the truck down on the highway seconds before the others closed in with sub machine guns — was called "Tony." He was described as about 40, weight — 200 pounds and six feet tall.

A second man, "Buster," was about 7, middle-aged, stocky with dark hair.

The woman — seen in a sedan following the truck in Randolph, where it was abandoned — was pimply faced and had short hair. The car, a new Chevrolet, bore New York or Pennsylvania plates.

There were no descriptions for the other three, except that one was stocky and middle-aged.

The nation's previous biggest cash robbery was the $1,219,000 looting of the Brink's Inc., strong room in Boston 12½ years ago.

Driver And Guard

Mail Truck Robbed

This is the U.S. mail truck that was abandoned on a highway in Randolph, Mass., after it was robbed of an amount estimated at $1.5 million. The truck was hijacked in Plymouth by the robbers and driven to the spot where it was found with the driver and guard in back of it. The hi-jackers made stops en route and removed mail bags and placed them in automobiles.

Humphrey Emphatically Denies Any Wrongdoing

WASHINGTON (AP) — George M. Humphrey told investigating senators today that charges he and his interests made unfair or improper profits from government nickel contracts are "just baloney."

The vigorous former secretary of the Treasury also flatly disputed earlier testimony that M. A. Hanna Co. records important to the Senate stockpile inquiry had been destroyed early this year.

The Cleveland industrialist left the Hanna firm to become a member of the Dwight D. Eisenhower Cabinet in 1953-57 and is now back as honorary chairman of the board.

He testified as a volunteer witness before a Senate Armed Services subcommittee, studying the stockpile situation. His main themes:

1. The government as well as the Hanna companies made gains from the nickel purchase contract.
2. The nickel, urgently needed during the Korean War, was supplied at prices below the current market.
3. The government got all its money back, with interest, on its other outlays in the arrangement, and also got a domestic supply source for the strategic metal.

Humphrey stressed that the contract was signed in the Harry Truman administration and the negotiations were well under way long before he even thought of joining Eisenhower's Cabinet.

LITTLE TO DO WITH IT

He said he had little personally to do with the $98-million deal, being occupied with a much bigger iron ore operation.

And he vigorously defended his action in holding onto his Hanna stock while he served in the government.

He said he scrupulously stepped aside each time government business came up affecting companies he had dealings with.

His prepared statement left to other Hanna officials, due to testify later, any answer to accusations by government auditors that the nickel contracts involved improper accounting and destruction of important company records.

Of all the stockpile contracts to expand production of nickel needed for the defense stockpiles, Humphrey said "the Hanna contracts involved the most efficient use of the least government money, either per pound of nickel bought or per pound of capacity created, and it is surely one of the comparatively few cases where every cent of its expenditure has already been fully repaid to the government with interest."

The government's total net outlay to accomplish this is the acquisition of the 95-million-pound inventory at a cost per pound less than the present market price, with every cent of additional government expenditure fully repaid with interest," he said.

Humphrey said the deal that launched the nickel mine at Riddle Ore, was negotiated under the Harry Truman administration. He said it was completed a few days before he took office in the Eisenhower administration, and was peanuts in comparison with a very much larger project, embracing the building of the $300-million development of iron mines in Quebec and Labrador on which he was working at the time.

He said the government advanced some $25.6 million to get the project going and has been repaid the whole amount, plus 3 per cent interest.

VOLUNTARILY APPEARED

Humphrey, 72, appeared voluntarily before the special armed services subcommittee, headed by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., which has been probing the $5-billion defense stockpiles.

President Kennedy had urged the investigation early this year, saying some $1.4 billion of surpluses existed and these might indicate abuses or "unconscionable profits."

Humphrey, a member of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's Cabinet from 1953 to 1957, disputed earlier testimony by government auditors and estimates by senators that Hanna profits from nickel operations were $10 to $39 million or more.

He said the net profit to Hanna over the seven-year period was $7,335,000 while the government was acquiring nickel at below market prices and also receiving "income taxes from the Hanna nickel operation of $5.8 million, withholding taxes of $2 million for Hanna nickel employees and approximately $7 million for power from the Bonneville Dam."

PLUS FACTOR

Another big plus factor in the arrangement, Humphrey said, was the creation of the only U.S. facility for producing nickel.

The government's total net outlay to accomplish this is the acquisition of the 95-million-pound inventory at a cost per pound less than the present market price, with every cent of additional government expenditure fully repaid with interest," he said.

He said it was completed a few days before he took office in the Eisenhower administration, and was peanuts in comparison with a very much larger project, embracing the building of the $300-million development of iron mines in Quebec and Labrador on which he was working at the time.

He said the government advanced some $25.6 million to get the project going and has been repaid the whole amount, plus 3 per cent interest.

MARKET PRICE

The total net outlay by the government, he testified, was $67.2 million, which comes to 71 cents a pound for 94.7 million pounds of nickel.

He gave the market price of nickel at 75 to 77 cents per pound.

If Hanna hadn't provided the nickel, he said, the only alternative would have been to go to Cuba or Canada.

Under the contracts the Hanna company developed a nickel mine at Riddle Ore, which produced and delivered ore to the government at a price of $6 or more a ton.

A separate wholly owned Hanna subsidiary smelting company was set up to process this ore at cost, with the government paying some $22.3 million for the plant, and a guaranteed price per pound for the nickel it produced.

Near the completion of the contract the Hanna interest acquired this smelter for $1.7 million last year with government witnesses placing its current value at around $19 million.

GROSS PROFITS

These same witnesses testified that Hanna mining earned more than $15 million gross profits — and more than $10 million of net profit — in the 1954-61 period on the nickel ore production.

They also said a shift of all profits from the smelter to mining company permitted depletion allowances of more than $5 million

Producer Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Ford Bond, 87, former radio announcer and one-time radio and television producer, died Wednesday in St. Croix, Virgin Islands.

State Allowable Stays On 8 Days

2 Had Asked For New Low Of 7 Days

AUSTIN (AP) — The Railroad Commission ordered Texas oil wells held back to an eight-day production schedule next month, the eighth consecutive month for the record low yield.

The order came at the end of the September production hearing.

All but 2 of the 12 major producers and purchasers asked the commission to retain the 8-day scale. Two asked for a new low of 7 days.

The September order sets the total allowable at 2,328,004 barrels a day, up 48,901 daily. The increase is due primarily to one less calendar day in September than August.

The commission order set the 15th record low scale in 17 months. The last 9-day patterns were in December and January.

A 9-day pattern for September would have set the daily allowable at 2,927,344 barrels, up 238,241. A seven-day pattern would have put the statewide allowable at 2,543,664 daily, down 140,439 a day.

NOMINATIONS

Pre-hearing nominations by purchasers and producers totaled 2,537,720 barrels a day, an increase of 40,083 from August.

The Bureau of Mines forecast a September demand of 2,505,000 barrels a day, down 70,000 from this month.

The hearing room was packed for both the proration session and a well-spacing hearing which followed.

Several appeared with signs protesting oil imports by most companies nominating for the September production pattern.

About 15 Negroes were seated in the back of the hearing room waving signs reading "Stop Oil and Gas Pooling," "Don't Railroad the Little Guy," "Oil Equals Jobs, Equals Money." The signs did not indicate who they represented.

Several persons had signs reading "Texas Si, Arabia No," "I'm Tired of Kuwaiting," and "Bury Me Not in a Sea of Kuwait Oil."

A LONG LIST

L. J. Abel, representing the Texas Land Owners and Independent Producers Association, read the commission a long list of figures which he said represented the foreign oil importation of many producers at today's hearing. He said he appeared "to recommend to the commission and those nominating today to voluntarily cut foreign imports of oil 50 per cent or at least 20 per cent next month to give Texas land owners a 12 day allowable."

Commission Chairman W. Murray told Abel "I am beginning to think that it will be tighter mandatory controls to reduce foreign oil imports instead of waiting for voluntary production."

Abel said his group will return to each monthly proration hearing to tell the commission how much foreign oil is being imported by those nominated.

"It's coming to the point where a choice must be made where Texas landowners and oil people will be put out of business or some foreign oil companies will have to reduce their exports."

Murray said that following the September proration hearing, the commission would hold another hearing on its statewide order of wells. The proposed order would require that a well not be slanted more than 3 degrees, compared to the present 3 degrees.

SURVEYS REQUIRED

It also would require inclination surveys for each new well and would provide that a false survey filed with the commission would be ground for cancellation of the well's permit and pipeline severance.

F. P. Cochran, representing Corpus Christi area independent producers, asked for an eight day production pattern.

Company nominations by days were:

Eight day — Indiana	233,000
Sun	105,836
Gulf	213,950
Mobil	230,300
Texas	144,000
Shell	182,500
Humble	398,570
Sinclair	190,500
Standard	33,200
Atlantic	81,300
Seven days — Cities Service	82,500
Phillips	117,650

Commission Gains Support For New Well Spacing Rules

AUSTIN (AP) — The Railroad Commission received support today on its proposal to change statewide oil well spacing regulations.

Men from five oil and gas associations appeared at the special hearing to support the proposed changes.

Walter Koch, representing the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, said technical evidence has proven that "in the majority of cases 40 acres or more spacing furnishes ample wells for maximum recovery."

Koch said since 1951 the commission has issued 1,405 oil well spacing orders and of this total more than half have been for 40 acres. He said that of the 479 orders for less than 40 acres only 134 orders for more than 40 acres have been issued in the same period.

Mayor Clyde Tomlinson, of Longview, representing Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, said his association strongly favors the changes. He called them "an important step to keep pace with advances in the oil industry."

Sidney McClain of Dallas appeared for the Committee for Equitable Development of Texas Oil and Gas Resources. McClain said the proposals "is a step which will discourage the drilling of unnecessary wells, encourage the drilling of more exploratory wells and provide a foundation for sound production of oil and gas for the operator and royalty owner and more tax revenue for state and local governments and for the school districts of Texas."

"It is a step toward the full employment of modern technical procedures which can vastly improve the competitive position of Texas oil production and make for a much more stable oil and gas industry."

James Russell of the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Association and George Anderson of the North Texas Oil and Gas Association also appeared. Both said their groups favor the principle of increasing well spacing requirements.

Injunction Possible At Space Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials met in urgent session today to consider applying for a federal court injunction to stop picketing that has halted work at the U.S. Space Development Center at Huntsville, Ala.

The strike now in its third day, threatens to delay the nation's moon exploration program.

Stuart Rothman, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, discussed with his aides the charges of a Huntsville subcontractor that picketing by members of AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 558, is illegal.

The union has rejected government pleas that it end the work stoppage.

About 1,500 fellow AFL-CIO building trades workers have refused to cross picket lines — halting work on projects designed to help the United States catch up with Russia in space exploits.

It appeared likely that NLRB attorneys would seek a court order to ban the picketing either late today or Friday.

The strike at the Marshall Space Flight Center by 130 members of the AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 558, has caused concern in Washington.

Picket lines were raised at three Redstone Arsenal gates Tuesday as the electricians struck in protest of the hiring of a few nonunion workers by Baraco Electrical Construction Co. of Pennsylvania, Pa.

Most of the 1,500 building trades employees at the Marshall Center and the Army Ordnance Missile Command honored the picket lines Wednesday and Tuesday.

Marshall Center spokesmen said the strike could cause serious damage to the moonshot program if it continues.

One project involves construction of a stand for test-firing the Saturn C-5, booster designed to lift the Apollo space ship on its voyage to the moon.

President Kennedy's Missile Sites Labor Commission urged an immediate end to the picketing, but the request was rejected by the union.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said in Washington he has been assured by government officials that steps are being taken to halt the strike by injunction proceedings under the Taft-Hartley law.

And Marshall Center officials formally asked 18 contractors and subcontractors to resume construction work today.

Gordon Freeman, president of the electrical workers, said the picketing did not violate the non-strike policy for missile and space bases to which his union subscribes.

Freeman said Local 558 "exhausted all available procedures and methods for peaceful settlement of the dispute before action taken."

McClellan said Congress should immediately consider a bill such as he has pending to ban all labor strikes at space, missile and defense installations.

The request for NLRB action was made by Baraco, the firm the electricians are striking. Greenhut Construction Co. of Pennsylvania, and the North Alabama Contractors Association. Baraco is a subcontractor for Greenhut.

REAL BLAST — AND IT WAS LEGAL

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. — A demonstration of a device to determine the amount of alcohol in a person's blood turned into a real ball for four volunteers at State Patrol headquarters before Gov. Terry Sanford and several other state officials.

The four volunteers who insisted on anonymity, were given from 4 to 11 ounces of 100-proof whisky. Then they went to another room to await the demonstration.

Only three came out. The fourth had to be taken home and put to bed. He was not the one who received 11 ounces.

The others were in no condition to drive. State troopers drove them home, too.

Senate Panel Approves Envoys

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's nomination of Charles F. Chip: Bahien to be ambassador to France and of Foy D. Kohler to be ambassador to the Soviet Union were approved today by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The committee also approved these other nominations:

William R. Tyler, also a career officer, to succeed Kohler as assistant secretary of state for European affairs.

John H. Ferguson, Washington lawyer, to be ambassador to Morocco.

William Leonhart of West Virginia to be ambassador to Tanganyika.

Bernard T. Brennan of New York to be deputy administrator for administration of the Agency for International Development.

A&M To Enter Horse Show Business In A Big Way Soon

By BOB GRAY
Editor, The Texas Horseman Magazine
Writer for The Associated Press

Come 1961 and one part of Texas A&M College will enter the horse show business in a big way.

Details aren't all worked out yet, but it now appears that the livestock shows at A&M will stage Texas' first statewide 4-H horse show Aug. 22-23 of next year. It ought to be a whopper.

For the past several years 4-H horse activity has been growing so fast that now even the A&M stationers can keep up with it. But what they do know tells them that it's time to get it all organized so that outstanding young horsemen and women in the various 4-H groups can be recognized at state level.

That's why a recent planning session was called by Dr. O. D. Butler, head of A&M's Animal Husbandry Department. It would take at least a year, the group decided, to get all of the state's 254 county 4-H activities working along the same line as far as horsemanship is concerned.

A series of halter and performance contests are now being recommended to Texas county agents as an outgrowth of the meeting—along with suggestions on how to best form 4-H horse groups in counties that don't yet have them. Many already do.

How fast each Texas county develops its own 4-H horse program has to depend on not only a county agent's initiative, it's clear, but how much support is given the effort by breeders and other youth leaders in each county.

The state 4-H show, as planned, calls for each county to send a number of its top young horse owners to the state meet — the number to depend on the county's total membership. By even the most conservative estimate, this should produce a 4-H youth show involving several hundreds of horses. A total of 15 classes are being planned for the state show.

None of these would be halter classes, the rest performance classes. In the halter division there would be classes for all types and sizes of mares and geldings.

The significance of the A&M show will not be lost on the county agents themselves. This marks the first time that A&M has set up specific guidelines for a 4-H show or has attempted to standardize the events in such a show. Obviously, the state's 254 counties must now use approximately the same horse show events if there is to be equal competition at the state level. This step gives county agents a road map in effect to chart their 4-H horse competitions in the coming year.

The show is also being scheduled in conjunction with A&M's third Tyler plant to double.

TYLER AP — Officials of the U. S. I. Film Products Co. plan to double the Tyler plant. Employment will increase from 300 to 600 per cent in the next year.

The disturbance came recently from three officials of the parent company, National Distillers and Chemical Corp.

The officials also said the Tyler plant will be a joint operation for training employees and that plans are being made to bring technical, research and company representatives from abroad for training here.

The new plans for the U. S. I. Tyler operation came after the sale by the firm to Socony Mobil of all of National Distillers' Kordite facilities except the Tyler plant to Socony Mobil.

Officials discussing the plan in conference with a number of commercial officials and cow-leaders were John Bierwirth, United Distillers chairman, Robert Huse, executive vice president, and Herbert Childs, vice president.

Bierwirth said employees here within 5 years should number 5,000. He predicted the plant will do a business of $50 to $60 million within a decade.

At his coming

By F. H. Tarkenton, preacher
Church of Christ, 200 West Highway 80
P. O. Box 1284

At the coming of Christ, the righteous and the wicked shall be raised and judged.

Christ will recompense affliction to one class, and recompense rest to the other. This will include the wicked persecutors of the early church, who have been long in their graves. Writing to the early church, Paul said: "Seeing it is a righteous thing with God to recompense tribulation to them that trouble you and to you who are troubled rest with us when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ: who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power, when he shall come. II Thess 1:6-9"

All this will happen when He comes. Dead sinners will be recompensed with rest. This means both groups will be raised and judged when He comes. Let us all get ready for there is a great day coming! —Ad-

Work Week Campaign Won't Be Easy Task

By NORMAN WALKER
Associated Press Labor Writer
In AP News Analysis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor union leaders realize better than anyone that their new campaign for a 35-hour work week isn't going to be easy or quick.

"Historically," the AFL-CIO leaders said in Chicago Monday in announcing their new drive, "the great struggles to reduce the working hours of Americans have been long and hard-fought. But the difficulties do not and cannot weaken our determination to succeed."

The unions plainly do not expect nationwide overnight success. They do resolve to put more heat than they have been on employers in behalf of a shorter week at the same pay—with the prospect this will lead to more industrial conflict and strikes.

It remains to be seen just how determined the unions are in carrying out their goal in actual bargaining with employers. Fewer work hours is a demand nearly always made in opening negotiations and nearly always abandoned before settlements are made.

The 35-hour week just may be the issue, however, to rekindle some of the old crusading spirit of the 1930s in labor union ranks. It is certainly true that if a union leader wants to get a rousing cheer from a worker audience he can usually do it by coming out four square for a shorter work week.

Workers apparently have no real longing for more leisure. They do not regard the present normal 40-hour work week as onerous. But they do like the prospect of overtime rates applying after 35 instead of 40 hours of work. Moreover, the AFL-CIO proposes to boost the overtime rate from 1½ to 2 times straight time pay.

It is also true that, with 4 million unemployed, many of the employed are worried about holding onto their jobs. The AFL-CIO argument that government and industry have failed to provide full employment—that the idle rate has exceeded 5 per cent of the work force for nearly 5 straight years—won't fall on deaf ears.

Sharing available jobs thus could come to be regarded as insurance against losing jobs already held.

President Kennedy and his labor secretary, Arthur J. Goldberg, have repeatedly expressed their opposition to any general reducing of the work week. They say resulting increased costs would unbalance the economy and the job ahead for America will require full output on a 40-hour week basis.

Goldberg, however, has been publicly warning of a rising tide of labor sentiment for a shorter work week if unemployment remained.

It is interesting to note that on the very date the AFL-CIO came out with its 35-hour week goal Kennedy was busy at the White House signing into law legislation requiring the 40-hour week for workers on government construction.

The 35-hour week declaration caused raised eyebrows, but the new law signed by Kennedy resulted in no stir. It merely made

Work Week Campaign Won't Be Easy Task

By NORMAN WALKER
Associated Press Labor Writer
In AP News Analysis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor union leaders realize better than anyone that their new campaign for a 35-hour work week isn't going to be easy or quick.

"Historically," the AFL-CIO leaders said in Chicago Monday in announcing their new drive, "the great struggles to reduce the working hours of Americans have been long and hard-fought. But the difficulties do not and cannot weaken our determination to succeed."

The unions plainly do not expect nationwide overnight success. They do resolve to put more heat than they have been on employers in behalf of a shorter week at the same pay—with the prospect this will lead to more industrial conflict and strikes.

It remains to be seen just how determined the unions are in carrying out their goal in actual bargaining with employers. Fewer work hours is a demand nearly always made in opening negotiations and nearly always abandoned before settlements are made.

The 35-hour week just may be the issue, however, to rekindle some of the old crusading spirit of the 1930s in labor union ranks. It is certainly true that if a union leader wants to get a rousing cheer from a worker audience he can usually do it by coming out four square for a shorter work week.

Workers apparently have no real longing for more leisure. They do not regard the present normal 40-hour work week as onerous. But they do like the prospect of overtime rates applying after 35 instead of 40 hours of work. Moreover, the AFL-CIO proposes to boost the overtime rate from 1½ to 2 times straight time pay.

It is also true that, with 4 million unemployed, many of the employed are worried about holding onto their jobs. The AFL-CIO argument that government and industry have failed to provide full employment—that the idle rate has exceeded 5 per cent of the work force for nearly 5 straight years—won't fall on deaf ears.

Sharing available jobs thus could come to be regarded as insurance against losing jobs already held.

President Kennedy and his labor secretary, Arthur J. Goldberg, have repeatedly expressed their opposition to any general reducing of the work week. They say resulting increased costs would unbalance the economy and the job ahead for America will require full output on a 40-hour week basis.

Goldberg, however, has been publicly warning of a rising tide of labor sentiment for a shorter work week if unemployment remained.

It is interesting to note that on the very date the AFL-CIO came out with its 35-hour week goal Kennedy was busy at the White House signing into law legislation requiring the 40-hour week for workers on government construction.

The 35-hour week declaration caused raised eyebrows, but the new law signed by Kennedy resulted in no stir. It merely made a legal requirement what was being generally done anyway by union rules.

About one out of every eight workers already has a regular work week of less than 40 hours through union contract. This is usually on the basis of a 35 or 37½-hour week. New York City electricians won a 25-hour regular week earlier this year.

Telstar Sends AP Picture

NEW YORK (AP) — The Telstar satellite was used Wednesday to send an Associated Press picture of former President and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower from London to the AP's wirephoto network to newspapers and television stations across the United States and Canada.

The transmission marked first use of the satellite to transmit a picture news item to an American newspaper.

The picture transmission to Telstar was received last month in the New York offices of AP and United Press International. This was retransmitted to American newspapers.

Wednesday the radio signal was relayed directly to AP's North American television network and was received instantaneously by more than 400 member newspaper and television stations.

The photo showed the Eisenhower couple looking out from a car window. The former president was making the V for Victory sign made famous by another public figure—Winston Churchill.

The radiophoto and the caption beneath it came through clear and sharp.

AT HIS COMING

By F. H. Tarkenton, preacher
Church of Christ, 200 West Highway 80
P. O. Box 1284

At the coming of Christ, the righteous and the wicked shall be raised and judged.

Christ will recompense affliction to one class, and recompense rest to the other. This will include the wicked persecutors of the early church, who have been long in their graves. Writing to the early church, Paul said: "Seeing it is a righteous thing with God to recompense tribulation to them that trouble you and to you who are troubled rest with us when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ: who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power, when he shall come. II Thess 1:6-9"

All this will happen when He comes. Dead sinners will be recompensed with rest. This means both groups will be raised and judged when He comes. Let us all get ready for there is a great day coming! —Ad-

LONDON (AP) — Former President Eisenhower left London in his World War II private car today for a five-day golfing vacation in western Scotland.

The former president, his wife and two grandchildren will leave Scotland next Tuesday, spend a few hours in Belfast, Northern Ireland, and then go on to Dublin. They will sail for the United States Aug. 24.

First Auction Of Its Kind Sells Atlantic Oil Properties

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A crew, auctioning for Atlantic Refining Co. Wednesday, sold nearly $500,000 worth of oil wells and other interests in two hours.

The auction was the first of its kind in the oil industry. The sale was an experiment by Atlantic to dispose of some Oklahoma and Kansas properties.

Blake Moore and two assistants chattered like tobacco auctioneers to more than 250 oil men who, in general, got an obvious kick out of the sale.

It netted Atlantic $268,341 after rejecting $220,500 worth of bids as being below the company minimum. The next such sale, said Atlantic General Manager Louis Davis, may have some changes, probably minimums being announced in advance of the auction to serve as a guide.

Davis and W. S. Bicknell, land department manager, said they were "neither encouraged nor discouraged" by the auction results. Several major oil company men sat in as observers. Bids were mostly from independents but a few major firms entered offers.

Moore, of Paris, Tex., treated the oil wells like cattle in his staccato manner. He worked closely with his aides in getting one oil man to vie against another.

One oil man said if there had been more bids based on a 100 per cent working interest, the sale would have netted 30 per cent more money.

The largest sale was $99,000 for three oil wells in Ellsworth County, Kan.

Police Help Themselves . . .

ATLANTA (AP)—Atlanta policemen in a hurry were wont to dash across the street in front of the police station in disregard of a revived ordinance against jay-walking.

Atlanta Journal writer J. V. Ard pointed out the ordinance infraction—which police had frowned on in front of the Journal-Constitution building.

A street painting crew soon got busy.

The police now have a newly painted, fully legal crosswalk directly in front of the building—in the middle of the block.

Occupants of the newspaper building still have to walk a third of a block—so a street corner—to cross the street legally.

. . . But Rider Evens The Score

NEW YORK (AP)—It was high noon on Broadway when a patrolman afoot halted a man riding a spirited black gelding.

Tourists gawked and pointed their cameras Wednesday, and local folks stared when Patrolman James McGrath accused the horseman of speeding in midtown at a gallop.

"That's no gallop, that's a single-foot," Frank Patrick, 24, a livery stable exercise boy, said with the knowledge of a professional horseman.

Checking with a passing mounted patrolman, McGrath learned that single-footing down Broadway is not illegal.

"I'm letting you go, but you had better get a bridle or something," McGrath told Patrick in a manner he would tell a driver to have his speedometer checked.

Dutch-Indonesian Dispute Is Settled

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A bitter 13-year dispute over West New Guinea has been ended by an agreement under which the Netherlands will bow out of the big island territory it has ruled for 134 years.

The western half of the island will be transferred first to a temporary U.N. administration and then will be handed over to Indonesia by next May 1. Its final disposition will be decided by a U.N.-supervised plebiscite in 1969.

In the detailed agreement signed by Dutch and Indonesian representatives Wednesday night, the Netherlands government gave up the last bit of its colonial empire in the Far East. Indonesia won independence in 1949.

Representatives hailed the agreement as a major achievement for acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant and his special envoy, former U.S. diplomat Ellsworth Bunker, who negotiated the settlement.

Dutch Premier Jan de Quay took a different tack. In a radio-television address to the Dutch people Wednesday night, he said his government had yielded because the pressure of Indonesian military action "threatened to culminate in a real war" and because "the Netherlands no longer could count upon its allies for support." He obviously referred to the United States.

Thant stepped into the controversy last March after Indonesian President Sukarno's invasion. Preparations threatened a shooting war. Negotiations proceeded amid a background of sporadic Indonesian paratroop landings and military clashes continued until within hours of the signing of the agreement.

Under the approved peace plan, a cease-fire becomes effective at one minute after 7 p.m. Eastern Standard Time Friday.

Although parts of the settlement are subject to approval by the U.N. General Assembly, which meets Sept. 18, it appeared certain the first steps would be taken by Oct. 1 as agreed by the two nations.

This means a U.N. administrator, supported by a civilian staff and U.N. military force of at least an infantry battalion, will arrive in West New Guinea between Sept. 18 and Oct. 1. The Dutch will start pulling out as soon as the U.N. administrator arrives.

Thant pointed out that the U.N. role in West New Guinea would be considerably different from the part it is playing in the Congo and other trouble spots. For the first time in its history, he said, the world organization will have temporary executive authority over a vast territory. He also pointed out that Indonesia and the Netherlands agreed to share the expenses equally.

Under the agreement the United Nations will keep representatives in West New Guinea until the self-determination plebiscite is held seven years from now. The Dutch accepted this as an assurance that the Indonesian government would not be permitted to tear up the plebiscite pledge once it had control of the territory.

Cloture Rule Causes Rash Among Talkative Senators

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Unaccustomed as its members are to speaking briefly, the Senate operating under cloture has an acrid atmosphere that forecasts new troubles for President Kennedy's legislative program.

Under the cloture rule, unused for 35 years until it was invoked by a 63-27 vote Tuesday, each senator is limited to a total of one hour's talk while the administration's communications satellite bill is before the body.

Manfield's point of order that opponents were engaging in "dilatatory tactics" in violation of the cloture rule. Long demanded to be heard but Metcalf said the point wasn't debatable.

"Don't give your colleague Manfield the whole damn floor," Long roared.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., another opponent of the bill quieted Long and the Louisiana senator subsided temporarily.

This and other demonstrations caused some of cloture's best friends, who for years have argued how wonderful it would be to be able to seal up a filibuster inside an iron-clad limitation on talk—to express some public doubts about the way things were going.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating, New York Republicans, pleaded with opponents not to offer fly-speck amendments which administration leaders swatted down with motions to table kill. This motion cuts off debate immediately.

Javits said cloture—which he would like for the Senate to use to pass some civil rights legislation—would be discredited if members voted without even discussing amendments.

Brusard opponents of the bill also complained. Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., got into a yelling match with Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., one of the measure's sponsors, after Pastore announced he would move to table a civil rights amendment.

The incidents are only the outward manifestation of a rasping, nerve-fraying battle in which each side took advantage of every parliamentary quirk to make it tough for the enemy.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., a deft diplomat with rules, cut opponents down with frequent objections and motions.

Kerr will have a major share of the responsibility in guiding through the Senate the administration's tax revision and international trade bill. And Morse already has made some threatening gestures toward the latter.

Gun Incident Along Wall

KRONACH, Germany (AP)—West German authorities today reported the third shooting incident along East Germany's border in less than 48 hours.

West German border police said East German border guards shot one of their comrades, and presumably killed him Wednesday near the East German border village of Rothell.

The Western police gave this account of the incident.

The leader of an East German patrol had just dashed across the border and asked for asylum.

Then one member of the patrol turned on his comrades with a raised sub-machine gun. A shot rang out and the guard collapsed. He was carried away later, apparently dead.

C-City Council Talks Of Paving And Airstrip Lease

COLORADO CITY — Ernest Smith, W. H. Cox and Harold Boney appeared before the Colorado City Council Monday night to request that the 1600 block of Waco Street be included in Colorado City's paving program. They named themselves and Clovis Boren and Vernon Walker as property owners along the block.

Councilman Sam Majors suggested to the three that they talk to their neighbors about paving the block.

Work will begin on 17 blocks of paving in the next few days, according to city officials. The 17 blocks are the first of a possible 50 blocks of paving.

The Council also: Accepted the audit report of the Darrell Knight Company of Abilene; discussed fixed base operations at the local airstrip with Frank Deregis and J. O. Dockrey, who indicated interest in possible commercial operations at the strip; passed a resolution opposing the 'de novo' Constitutional Amendment in the November 14 election; appointed Dr. Ken Cowan as city health officer.

Spacing Rules Are Considered

AUSTIN (AP) — The Railroad Commission considered today three major changes in oil well spacing rules.

Changes proposed by the commission:

1 Doubling the statewide spacing pattern for wells to 40 acres.

2 Changing the footage location of wells from property lines from the current 330 feet to 660 feet.

3 Doubling the distance between wells to 1,320 feet.

Chairman W. J. Murray announced the proposed changes last month.

If adopted, he said, the changes would not mean a deviation in basic commission policy.

"The commission for many years has been increasing spacing as new recovery techniques were developed," Murray said. "Twenty-acre spacing now is relatively rare. You find it usually only in shallow fields."

Murray said the proposed changes in spacing to 40 acres would affect the initial development of new oil and gas fields.

He emphasized that the rule changes, if adopted, would not:

1 Change rules of any field for which special rules already have been adopted, including most of the fields of the state.

2 Change the special rules known as "county regular" in district 9 (Wichita Falls, district 7B (Abilene) and in a portion of 7C (San Angelo).

3 Change the close spacing permitted for piercement type salt domes in the Gulf Coast.

4 Prevent the adoption of either wider or closer spacing for any field once that field has been developed to the point that adequate reservoir data is available upon which to base the spacing rule.

Murray said the change "is recommended on the grounds that it will help make a more uniform and more efficient development pattern for the oil and gas fields of the state."

He said under the present spacing rule during the initial interval of field development wells may be drilled on 20-acre spacing and only 330 feet from the property line and thus only 660 feet apart for offsetting wells.

When the permanent rules are later adopted, he said, "it has been frequently found that the first wells in the field are bunched in such a manner as to substantially interfere with the orderly and efficient development of the remainder of the field."

Murray said most oil and gas fields are being developed on units larger than the present statewide pattern. During the last 18 months, field sizes for 10-acre units have averaged for only two fields, he added.

Other field sizes adopted in the same time include 20-acre units, eight fields; 40-acre units, 167 fields; 80-acre units, 31 fields; 160-acre units, 11 fields; 320-acre units, 40 fields; 420-acre units, three fields; and 640-acre units, 9 fields.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

One of the salient points made in the recent Industrial Seminar here was the fact that the city which offers the best in recreational facilities stands the best chance of getting new industry.

It started more from a few responsible people to thinking that improvements could and should be forthcoming in some of our areas devoted to play and sport.

A favorite recreational spot is the Munny golf course, half of which has a fine irrigation system. No long-range plans have been formed up to complete the job. City officials should be lending thought to the matter, however.

One responsible source said the job probably could be completed for $25,000. It would be money well spent. Critics of such expenditures might urge that the course would never return that sum in revenue.

That may be true, although the cash return on the layout, as it is now functioning, certainly has come up to expectations, according to those who know.

Advocates of the plan to install an irrigation system on the back nine at the Munny could point out that the City Park produces no revenue—yet no one would want to close it for that reason. A facility like a park or a golf course doesn't have to be self-supporting to be valuable to a community.

Supporters of the proposal could also argue that there is plenty of water for irrigation of all 18 holes, plus methods for storing it on the course.

The 31st annual Big Spring Invitational Golf Tournament, scheduled for Aug. 31, Sept. 1-3, will, no doubt, suffer—if only a little bit—because the Big Spring Golf Association has carded a Partnership tournament at the Munny which will conflict with the Country Club show.

Many of the Munny regulars who have performed in the Invitational each year reportedly are planning to compete in the Partnership meet instead.

Officials of the Golf Association say the decision to date the Partnership meet at the same time the Invitational is scheduled was not made to inflict damage on the prestige of the CC links show.

Those BSGA members who desire to go to the Country Club for the four days of tournament activity ending Labor Day, they point out, have every right to do so. No one in the BSGA will hold it against them.

However, the BSGA people say that there are any number of public links players here who feel they can't afford the $25 entry fee being asked of Invitational entries. They also focus attention on the fact that, even though those patrons of the sport don't intend to play at the Country Club, they face a long Labor Day weekend and want to get in some golf time during their leisure time.

In the Partnership meet, they can play 36 holes over a period of three days starting Sept. 1 and become eligible for the merchandise awards. (The Partnership meet entry fee will be $2 a person.)

The Country Club people have legitimate reasons for raising the ante $10 per entry in their tournament. They point out that, despite the fact that the tournament has been drawing massive fields in recent years—325 turned out last year—they have been hard pressed to break even in any tournament. Some of the Country Club members reportedly have grown tired of digging down into their pockets for upwards of $10 each just so an invitational tournament can be staged here.

Some friends of the sport might contend that the Country Club tries to put on "too good" a meet, that officials could get the same results by spending less money.

Be that as it may, the two tournaments are now booked to conflict with each other. The BSGA may have over 100 players eligible for its meet by tee-off time. Just how many will "stay home" is conjectural at this point.

Houston Outlasts Cardinals, 3-1

HOUSTON (AP)—Stan Musial, appearing in a pinch hit role, led the Cardinals to a 1-0 victory over the Houston Astros in a double play to end the game as the Houston Astros beat the St. Louis Cardinals 3-1 Wednesday night.

Russ Kemmerer, appearing in a ninth inning relief role, threw just one pitch to the Cardinal slugger.

The Cardinals had scored one run and chased Houston starter Hal Woodeshick. They had the type runs on base when Musial grounded into the double play.

Woodeshick was the winner for his 5th triumph against 13 defeats.

Ray Washburn, who yielded two bases-empty home runs, was charged with his 6th loss in 16 decisions.

Hal Smith hit his 7th of the season in the third inning and Carl Warwick, a former Cardinal hit his 12th in the sixth inning.

Dukes Are Whaled By Amarillo Sox

Amarillo, 26 games behind and hopeless last in the standings, made like a Texas League leader and whaled Albuquerque 13-2.

League-leading El Paso flashed similar power in whipping Austin 14-8 and runnerup Tulsa nipped San Antonio 6-5.

Bill Carr socked two home runs and Ron Solomoni one for the Amarillo Gold Sox, who clubbed three of the Albuquerque Dukes' pitchers for 16 hits. Frank Cipriani homered for the losers.

A crowd of 3,391 pushed Albuquerque attendance to 119,174 for the season, eclipsing a previous high of 116,950 set in 1948 while the club was in the West Texas-New Mexico League.

El Paso rolled up its exact margin of victory in a six-run sixth inning, which saw Joe Sparks, Jesus Alou and Charles Dees pound Austin starter Bill Holmes for successive home runs. Dees also clouted one in the fifth. An El Paso dust storm halted play in the first inning, delaying the game for an hour.

Tulsa shortstop Bud Bloomfield went hard to his left to spear a hot grounder through the base and rob San Antonio punch hitter Pete Embury of a game winning hit with two on base in the ninth. The Oilers collected 15 hits to offset two-run homers by San Antonio's Billy Cowan and Bill Olt.

Visits Ruidoso Downs

One of America's all-time great race riders visited Ruidoso Downs last weekend. Eddie Arcaro, (above), now retired after 29 years of thoroughbred riding, during which time he amassed over $20,000,000 in wins, stated at Ruidoso that he had never ridden in a quarter horse race... and was sure that it was a riding skill for youngsters. "It looks tough," he stated. Arcaro was astounded by the size of the 1962 All-American Futurity trophy which stands some eight inches taller than the pint-sized jockey great. The All-American Futurity is scheduled to be run Labor Day. Its value is an estimated $225,000.

Acclaim Pouring In For Alonzo Stagg

By HAROLD V. STREETER

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—General Amos Alonzo Stagg, born seven years before the first college football game was played in America, crossed a coveted goal today.

White-haired Stagg, whose University of Chicago players called him "the old man" at 80, who coached football for 70 years, then almost apologized when he stepped down at 98, is now 100 years old.

Acclaim poured in from President Kennedy, from prominent persons in all sports fields, and from some of the thousands of his boys who were taught that football games can be won with clean play and strict adherence to the rules.

But, as birthday dinner celebrations were readied in 12 cities across the nation tonight, perhaps the biggest tribute was paid by the exasperated head nurse at the convalescent home on North Edison where Stagg has been since a knee ailment developed last February.

"That man," she said, "insists upon walking and walking and walking until he has all his nurses just about walked to death." (He was still running prints with his squads in his 80s.)

Over on maple-shaded Euclid Avenue, in the yellow frame home where Stagg had lived with his wife of 68 years since 1933, his beloved Stella, still spry at 87, thumbed through a pile of more than 500 letters from well-wishers.

"And that's not counting telegrams," she said, particularly noting one.

It came too late at night for delivery but I told them not to read it over the phone but just to drop it in a newspaper box.

It was there the next morning.

"To all Americans who love their country," it assured Stagg, "your emphasis on the moral and physical values of the vigorous life have been warmly appreciated." It was signed "John F. Kennedy."

Birthday dinners for the only man ever to make football's Hall of Fame both as a player and coach are being held in:

West Orange, N.J., where Stagg was born, a cobbler's son, Aug. 16, 1862.

Springfield, Mass., where he started his coaching career in 1890.

Chicago, where he coached from 1892 until he had to retire at the age of 70, producing such gridiron giants as Walter Eckersall and beating Fielding H. Yost's great 1905.

Boston; East Hampton, Mass.; Annapolis, Md.; New York, Philadelphia; Seattle; San Francisco; Los Angeles—and Stockton where he closed out his coaching career in 1960.

There will be a three-foot-high cake with 100 candles at the Stockton party in Civic Auditorium. The governor of California will be there.

Dr. Si Benton has come all the way over from Sweden to honor the coach he served as team trainer at the University of Chicago from 1929 to 1931.

The big newspaper question is if Stagg himself will make it.

He has cataracts over both eyes, scarcely can see and his beloved Stella—a twice-a-day visitor to the convalescent home—reads him his fan mail (she also answers it herself on a typewriter).

He has to be supported when he walks. But his mind is alert.

"If he wants to go, he'll make a brief appearance," said his son, Dr. Paul Stagg, athletic director at the University of the Pacific.

"I never anticipated living to 100," says the man who has stuck strictly all his life to a creed of no smoking, no drinking and no swearing.

"I have lived my life day by day and I'm surprised to be here."

Proceeds of the dinners, expected to be attended by around 5,000 at $10 a head, will go into a fund set up by the newly-established Amos Alonzo Stagg Foundation to expand physical fitness at the University of the Pacific. The big idea is to take in as many students as possible.

That's the Stagg way.

Dodgers May Have Had It

By JIM BECKER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Today is an anniversary that is marked in the city of Los Angeles with considerably less enthusiasm than is displayed on holidays or even Walter O'Malley's birthday.

When this day dawned exactly a year ago, the Dodgers were in first place in the National League for the last time in the season, and all was not well.

And when Aug. 16, 1961, was over, the Cincinnati Reds had shut out the Dodgers twice to complete a three-game sweep and take over first place.

When the returns were in, the Dodgers had gone 26 innings without a run and had lost four straight. They went on to lose 10 in a row.

Well, the Dodgers lost their fifth straight Wednesday night, 6-3, to the Pittsburgh Pirates, as their fielding collapsed and their big hitter, Tommy Davis, went hitless for the third straight game.

And the Reds trimmed the Milwaukee Braves 4-3, behind Bob Parkey, who won his 18th. Frank Robinson drove in three runs with two homers and took over the league batting lead with a 342 mark.

The San Francisco Giants remained 1½ games back in second as they dropped a 7-5 decision to the Chicago Cubs.

The St. Louis Cardinals dropped their second straight to the Houston Astros 3-1. And the Philadelphia Phils trimmed the Mets in a doubleheader, 9-3 and 8-7 in 13 innings.

In the American League, the first-place New York Yankees beat Minnesota 9-3, the second-place Los Angeles Angels edged Boston 5-4, Detroit defeated Baltimore 3-1, Kansas City belted Washington, 8-4 and Chicago and Cleveland split, the White Sox winning 10-9 before the Indians won 10-2.

The Pirates jumped on Don Drysdale for five runs in the first three innings, with Bob Clemente and Bill Mazerowski contributing key blows. Drysdale lost his sixth. Bob Friend (13-11) was the winner.

Wally Moon and Willie Davis homered for all the Dodger runs. Moon's came with a man on.

The Cubs snapped a five-game San Francisco winning streak, as Dick Bertelli's bloop single with the bases loaded in the seventh inning broke a 5-5 tie. Willie Mays' 37th homer with a man on followed by Matty Alou's homer in the third built a 5-2 Giant lead.

They're 19th as a career high. He had a shutout until the ninth, when a walk and three singles scored two runs and brought on Jim Brosnan in relief.

Hal Smith and Carl Warwick hit solo homers for the Colts. Hal Woodeshick lost his shutout in the ninth when Bill White, Minnie Mino and Julio Gotay hit singles.

MOON

Ex-Teammate Says Angel Ace No Wild Party Guy

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—One of Bo Belinsky's minor league battery mates says he doesn't think all those things you hear about Belinsky are true.

Belinsky is the no-hit pitcher for the Los Angeles Angels who got into trouble recently because he didn't get home until almost dawn.

He got in even more trouble Wednesday when a girl in Santa Monica, Calif., filed a $150,000 suit against him, claiming he injured her in a fit of anger.

"Sure, Bo's a night man," said Chuck Staniland of the San Antonio Missions. "Show me a good looking unmarried ball player who isn't. But he's no wild party guy who belts away the drinks."

Staniland was Belinsky's catcher and roommate at Little Rock last year. They also played winter baseball together.

"In all the time I spent with Bo I never saw him drunk once," Staniland said. "He usually nurses one or two drinks through a lengthy bull session or party."

Staniland said Belinsky is serious about baseball.

"Get that straight," the young catcher said. "He works hard and he applies himself at all times. Why, he didn't even play baseball in high school."

"He actually thought he could make more money shooting pool. But now he knows better and he's a dead serious, hard worker when he steps on that mound."

The 225-pound catcher said he

Frick Suggests Rule Revision

HOUSTON (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick believes restoration of the old strike zone would be the best solution to speed up present day games as well as cut down on the steadily increasing number of home runs.

At a luncheon given for him by the Houston Colts Wednesday Frick said:

"I believe the best overall solution would be to restore the old strike zone, in place of the one on which we are now operating."

"The old one was from the shoulders to the knees, and I feel partially responsible for the change 12 or 14 years ago, because I was a member of the Rules committee. Now, in effect, the strike zone is from below the armpits to above the knees."

I believe the old strike zone would cut down on the number of home runs because far more often the hitter would have to be hitting the pitch the pitcher wanted him to hit, and the pitcher wouldn't have to be keeping the ball in the fat zone in order to get a strike called."

Reports Of Meany-Reuther Rift Draw 'No Comment'

CHICAGO (AP)—Published reports of a rift between top AFL-CIO leaders George Meany and Walter Reuther drew a brusque "no comment" today from their spokesman.

AFL-CIO President Meany and Reuther, vice president of the huge labor organization and head of the United Auto Workers were closeted in a morning session of the AFL-CIO Executive Council.

A spokesman for the labor leaders snapped "no comment" when asked about reports of a feud between Meany and Reuther over administrative powers of the Executive Council.

The spokesman repeatedly refused either to confirm or deny a New York Times story that Meany and Reuther argued heatedly Tuesday night at a private meeting.

Textbook Talk Site Is Changed

Announcement was made today that a public meeting at which Mrs. David Kothmann, Mason, is to speak on Texas school textbook problems, will be in the Hill Auditorium and not, as originally planned, in Room 8 at the college science building.

Mrs. Kothmann speaks at 8 p.m. Thursday. She is being brought here by a group of Big Spring citizens interested in presenting her views locally on textbooks. The general public is invited.

Car Wash

called Reuther a liar several times and Reuther threatened to resign as vice president of the merged labor group.

"While no one attending the quarterly meeting of the Executive Council believed that the strained relations threatened labor unity, most were agreed that they impaired the effectiveness of the federation at a crucial point," the newspaper said.

"The way the two camps see the issues that divide them is this: The old CIO men feel that Meany is trying to exercise a veto power over appointments and policy decisions without regard for past practices, traditions and personal sensibilities."

The immediate cause of Tuesday's stormy session, the Times said, was Reuther's insistence that Ralph Heistler, president of the United Packing House Union, be selected to fill a vacancy on the 29-man Executive Council. Heistler would succeed Leland S. Buckmaster, former president of the United Rubber Workers, now retired.

Meany's position, the newspaper said, is that Heistler is not acceptable because of what he termed the packing house union's left wing past.

Meany headed the AFL and Reuther the CIO before they merged.

Argentine Money Taken In Burglary

Argentine money in $10 and $100 denominations could land some culprit in jail following a car burglary in the past 24 hours at the Town House Motel.

J. S. Augstein, Sterling City, reported the Argentine currency was taken while his car was parked at the motel.

Two other thefts reported to police Wednesday included a red English racer bicycle from the home of Tommy James at 1600 Orville and an oil gauge, temperature gauge and gear shift knob from a car owned by Jack Lewis at 1500 W. 4th. The gear shift knob was made from an aluminum racing piston.

James Hogg, 107 W. 18th, reported a transformer, 110-volt input and 15,000-volt output, stolen from his house during the past week.

'SEVENTEEN' TO BE SHOWN FRIDAY
Baptist youth department sponsoring

Most-Screened Religious Film To Be Projected

"Seventeen," the most widely screened religious youth film ever produced, will be shown Friday at 8 p.m. at the First Baptist Church. The film is being sponsored by the youth department of the church.

The movie deals with the story of a typical American high school and what happens when a group of students decide to meet for Christian fellowship and Bible study.

School officials across North America have heralded "Seventeen" for its character building influences, and some principals have insisted that it be brought back year after year for all-assembly showings. Produced by Youth Films, a division of Gospel Films, Inc., of Muskegon, Mich., "Seventeen" is made available for free high school showings along with other releases. The youth department culminates youth week at the church with a dramatic production Sunday evening.

Police Chief Leon Yeager said that the girl's mother had complained to police late Wednesday afternoon and that an investigation had been started by police.

The Mitchell County sheriff's department and County Attorney Frank Gintel since that time. No charges had been filed late Wednesday.

Col. Max Zweibel Returns To Alaska

Lt. Col. Max Zweibel, Chief Dental Surgeon at Wotho for the past two and one-half years, departs for a new assignment in Alaska Thursday. The colonel has spent 5 1/2 years of his 17 years' service in overseas assignments, Europe, Hawaii and Alaska. This is his second tour in Alaska.

Col. Zweibel received his degree from the University of Iowa in 1935 and practiced his profession in civilian life until he entered the service. He is married to the former Miss Betty Snow of New York City. They have two children—Gregory, 10, and Lynn, 8 1/2.

Fiesta To Climax Westernized VBS

A fiesta at 8 o'clock tonight will bring to a colorful climax the two-week Ranch Roundup which has been held at St. Mary's Episcopal Church for children ages 3-12. The public, as well as parents of children who attended the Roundup, is invited to attend the fiesta in the church courtyard.

Western music for the program will be provided by Ace Ball and his Radio Ramblers. All range outfits will present skits, and a square dance exhibition and a sing-along will be held. Roundup awards will be given to youngsters and outfits.

A brief worship service will precede the program after refreshments, and parents may visit each of the outfits in rooms where they have set up their ranch displays.

Gayland Pool, curate of the church and a ranch manager, had anticipated attendance of 60 to 75 for the ranch-type version of vacation Bible school, but never did attendance drop below 100.

Mystery Of Flying Purse Cleared As Juveniles Talk

Four boys, age 7 to 11 1/2 years, were brought before the police and juvenile officer Wednesday after they admitted a robbery at the Silver Saddle Motel, 905 W. 5th.

A maid, who had left her purse in a storeroom as she went to service a cabin, said $2 in cash and some keys were taken from the purse.

Another attendant at the court saw the purse sail over the top of a cabin and land in the driveway. He gave police the name of a suspect. Officers went to the boy's home and were told, by the boy, that he did not take the purse but knew who did.

Juvenile Officer Bob Darland was contacted and accompanied police to pick up the first boy and three others.

The first boy told officers that he had asked three brothers to get the purse. One of them picked it up and carried it into the alley where they divided the money and threw the purse over the cabin.

Take More Water

Wednesday was another of those days which caused laws in Big Spring to drink a lot of water although the official high temperature was only 97 degrees. Water metered to customers reached 10,032,000 gallons as compared to only 8,800,000 Tuesday when the thermometer reached the same 97. Total amount of water metered for the first 15 days of August ran to 127,296,000 gallons.

Earns Eagle

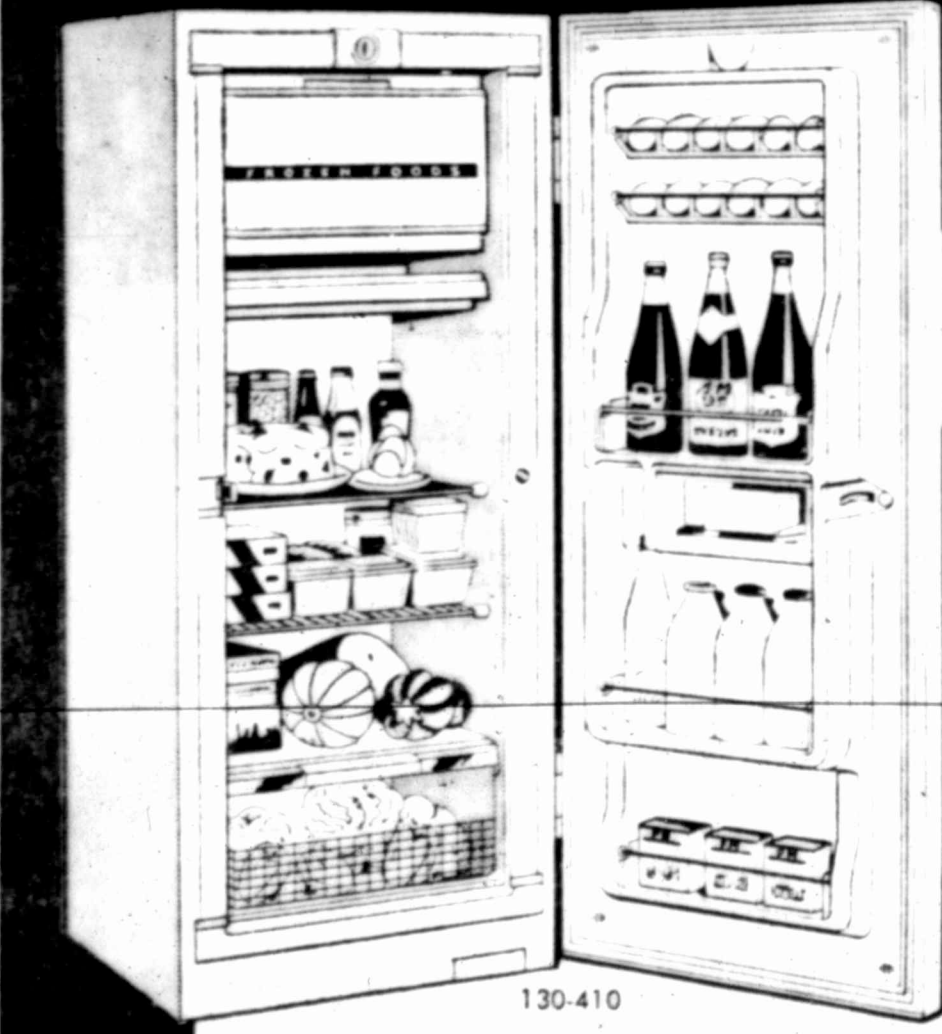

Max Tarbox, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Tarbox, Wednesday was certified by a special board of review for his Eagle badge, the top award a boy may earn in Scouting. Max has been a boy leader in Troop and Post 9 and is due to receive his award at a Court of Honor soon at the Wesley Methodist Church. His scoutmaster is Lester Goswick.

youngsters in grades one through six participated in horse riding activities on Sheldahl ponies. They also took rides on a buckboard which Deputy Sheriff A. G. Mitchell donated. In addition, there were craft sessions in which they made kerchief slides, roundup molds and Texas mosquitoes. Each child was placed in range outfits such as the Circle "S", the Running "T" or the Box "M". These molded size groups were competitive, working for a variety of awards.

Children three to five years old had their own range outfits and were called Junior Ranchers. They participated in the overall activities of the roundup, but had their own program. All groups closed daily with a worship service.

Older youth acted as trail bosses of range outfits and took care of the horses.

RANCH MANAGERS
Ranch managers were Sandra Storz, Ellen Johnson and Ray Pool. Acting as foremen were Sue Burnett, Becky Tucker, Janelle Blomshield, Pansy Brooke, Billy McLaughlin, Sandra Nobles, Barbara Anderson, Judy Talbot, Jimmy Osborne and Tootsie Grantham. Trail bosses were Marilyn Doelp, Rachael Phelan, Brenda Cowper, Karen Crooker, Sheryl McLaughlin and Mary Boren.

Other workers were Jean Harris, Pinky Vaughn, Ann Beauvais, Audrey Cole, Alice Doelp, Alma Young, Norma Wade, Cynthia Randolph, Mary Lou Bull, Bettye Nabors, Cherrye Davis, Barbara Rossiter, Lynette Jackson, Rita Kull, Alan Doelp, Beth Bellow, Diane Hamby, Joyce Crooker and Catherine Penn.

Rev. Donald Hungerford, rector of the church who is on vacation, was the absentee landlord. A telegram from him will be read to the group at the fiesta.

AWARDS
Awards to be presented to the various outfits will be the Order of the Star Ranchers for cooperation, the Heart for group spirit, the Crafts Crown for crafts, the Musical Ranger for participation in singing, the Six Shooter for attendance, the Towering Pine for the outfit which shows the most growth in group spirit, etc. The Swift Arrow for the best rounded group.

Also the Shield to all trail bosses, the Pancho or "Oscar" to the outfit with the best entertainment at the fiesta, the Palate to the outfit with the most artistic display of crafts and talents at the fiesta, the Broom for neatness.

Pilots Due To Visit Base Sunday

Col. Wilson H. Banks, wing commander, has invited the pilot members of the Peruvian Basin Aviation Association to visit Webb Sunday for a tour of the base.

Sterling Tally, president of Peruvian Basin, said that pilots should have arrived at the Howard County Airport by 10:15 a.m. and be on the base by 11:00 a.m.

The tour will include a trip to the line where a static display will be set up. There also will be a visit to the physiological training unit and the flight simulator building.

A Dutch Treat at the Officers' Club will follow the tour.

Strike Threat

BRASILIA (AP)—Brazilian labor leaders threatened today to paralyze the nation with a strike unless Parliament gives Prime Minister Francisco Brochada da Rocha sweeping emergency powers and orders a plebiscite to increase the power of President Joao Goulart.

SS Record Plan Told

Erves Fisher, manager of the Social Security district office in Big Spring, presented a film, "The Social Security Story," to Rotarians at Tuesday's meeting. The film showed the handling of social security card applications, how they are filed in the administration office in Baltimore, Md., how records are kept by alphabetical filing, numerical filing, and by the date of birth, of the card holder. "There is little chance that a person's account can be mishandled," the story said. The records kept are confidential and may not be shown to persons other than the applicant. The card holder may check, at any time, and receive a statement of the amount of earnings recorded in his account. Fisher said any person interested in his benefits may come by the district office in Big Spring and have a check run and may receive information important to him. President Ben Johnson announced the official visit of the district governor Aug. 27-28. A club assembly will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Settles Hotel Aug. 27. Rotarians will be entertained at the same time in the hotel.

Fire Contained

CLAREMONT, Calif. (AP)—A brush fire which officials say was touched off by an arsonist has been contained after burning 2,200 acres in the hills above Claremont.

Crash Landing

A Lufthansa Boeing 707 jet airliner hits the runway during an emergency landing at the London Airport. The plane skidded to a safe crash landing after its nosewheel stuck during the flight from Frankfurt to London. The only injury was suffered by a stewardess who sustained a slight leg injury as she came down an escape chute after the landing. There were four Americans among the 51 persons aboard.

Keep Calm, Support Space Race, Is Von Braun Advice

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP)—Dr. Wernher Von Braun, head of the U.S. program to develop rockets powerful enough to send men to the moon, said today there is no need to change U.S. space plans because of the sensational Soviet dual orbit this week.

On the contrary, Von Braun told newsmen, the nation cannot afford to waste time changing things around.

What the U.S. needs, he said, is not a crash program but continuing public support over a period of years.

"We cannot sit on our hands," he said.

Von Braun gave a detailed report on the Saturn moon-rocket program Wednesday night to 350 scientists who are attending a lunar exploration conference, and more than 2,500 townspeople and students.

The World War II German rocket expert said arrangements are under way for the third flight test of the so-called small Saturn C-1 booster which will be capable of launching an Apollo spacecraft into orbit around the earth.

Von Braun said static testing of the fourth C-1 booster will begin this month. He added that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is studying several proposals for the fourth C-1 flight, including an engine-out test to simulate an emergency.

The rocket will take off with its full eight engines, and then one will be cut off in flight to see what happens.

The C-1 is the first U.S. rocket that will exceed the capability of the rocket that the Soviets have been using. It will be followed by the advanced C-5 Saturn that will carry the three-man Apollo craft to the moon and back.

Von Braun called the C-5 the next seven-league stride forward in rocket development, a very, very major project. He gave this description of the rocket.

It will stand 300 feet tall—taller than the Statue of Liberty—and its take-off weight will be the equivalent of 25 fully loaded 707 jet airliners.

The rocket will be powerful enough to toss the equivalent of one 707 jet into orbit 363 miles above the earth, drive a 40-ton load to the vicinity of the moon, send a twin-engine DC3 airplane all the way around the sun, "or boost a Chevrolet out of the solar system. I am not saying how far the C-5 can send a Volkswagen."

Von Braun said good progress is being made on the rocket stages and the engine.

He said it has been estimated that the program to put American men on the moon will cost $20 billion to $40 billion.

But he said this cost would be returned in benefits of new techniques and new knowledge.

"I have heard that the lunar exploration conference here has split as to whether the moon is hot or cold and its surface is rough or smooth," Von Braun said.

"The only answer is to go there, visit it, and bring the answers back."

Asked as to the U.S. position in the space contest, Von Braun said: "We are ahead in many fields but way behind in well-proven rockets with large payload carrying capabilities — that is our dilemma."

Upwards of 150 Lions and the ladies from the Evening and Downtown Lions Clubs held a joint dinner affair Tuesday evening at Cosden Country Club.

The program was in charge of a group of San Angelo Lions headed by George Cromover and Steward Hawkins. Dr. W. A. Hunt inducted three new members, Dr. Jesse Jackson, Dr. James Tipton and Gilbert White, into the Downtown Club.

Next Wednesday the Downtown Lions will have boys from the West Texas Boys Ranch as their guests at the regular luncheon.

WASHINGTON (AP) — George M. Humphrey first came to Washington with a strong distaste for personal publicity, falderal and government spending.

He learned to expect publicity. And he moves into the spotlight again today as he testified at a Senate hearing on stockpiling.

Humphrey's lack of ceremony and his sense of economy remained intact, however, during more than four years as secretary of the Treasury in the Eisenhower administration.

In one of his first official acts, he ordered the removal of a uniformed guard who kept a constant vigil at the door to his private elevator in the Treasury building.

Thus in one blow he struck at pomp and spending.

Incidentally, the guard was restored to his post on the day the present secretary, Douglas Dillon, took office.

On another occasion, Humphrey displayed his informality by routing directly to President Dwight D. Eisenhower a letter from a taxpayer, without going through the routine step of having a copy made for his own files.

Across the letter, Humphrey scrawled, "Sometimes I think the taxpayers know more about taxation than the politicians."

Very little has been heard of Humphrey, now 72, since he left the Eisenhower Cabinet in 1957.

And, except in the upper reaches of big business, little was heard of him before he joined the government. Eisenhower didn't even know him until two days before he selected him as his first secretary of the Treasury.

"I have never been strong for personal publicity," said Humphrey on the day his selection was announced.

However, the Cleveland businessman moved into the headlines with alacrity when he moved into the Treasury in 1953—and never seemed to mind personal publicity. In fact, he became extremely popular with the Washington press corps.

One reason, no doubt, was his willingness to debate all facets of federal financial operations—even some falling outside his domain. A determined conservative, his clashes with liberals in Congress—and occasionally with "modern Republicans" within the administration—became big news.

On one occasion, he got himself into the position of seeming to disagree with the President. Explaining the new federal budget at a 1957 press conference, he declared that if massive government spending weren't curbed, "You will have a depression that will curl your hair."

Instead of standing four square behind the Eisenhower budget, he commented, "I think there are a lot of places in this budget that can be cut."

Colleagues in the administration were not happy when Congress picked up the cue and went on a cutting binge. But his position as the domestic strong man of the Eisenhower Cabinet never was challenged. A few weeks later, Humphrey and the President, by now his close personal friend, enjoyed a comradely hunt at the Humphrey estate near Thomasville, Ga.

During his Cabinet years, Humphrey was devoted to balanced budgets, tight money policies, curbs on welfare and foreign aid programs and "trickle-down" tax cuts.

A native of Cheboygan, Mich., Humphrey grew up in Saginaw and went into law practice there with his father's firm after graduation from the University of Michigan in 1912.

Moving to Cleveland in 1917, he became general counsel of the M. A. Hanna Co. By 1929, he was president of the mining firm—and enormously successful. Under Humphrey's leadership, Hanna moved from a loss position of $2 million a year to a profit, in 1952, of $22.8 million.

When he joined the Eisenhower Cabinet, Humphrey's annual income from salaries and bonuses (but excluding dividends) exceeded $300,000. His Cabinet pay was $22,500. After four years in the lower income bracket, Humphrey hankered to get back into business, and to spend more time with his wife, three children and nine grandchildren.

He's now honorary board chairman and director of Hanna and is a director and member of the executive committee of National Steel Corp.

Perhaps the man's biggest failure has been his search for winning raceshorses. He owns part interest in a Kentucky breeding farm and keeps hoping for a big winner, though friends say he does not bet himself. He buys the best stock but, invariably, they fail to match his hopes.

Experts Built Own Satellite Tracking Base

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Like to set up your own private space age satellite tracking station?

You can do it with a little equipment and the help of a few specialists in such subjects as astronomy, mathematics, electronics and computer programming.

A group of men at Sohio Research Center, putting hundreds of hours of their own time into a labor of love, have built such a tracking station. By picking up a satellite's radio signals, they can determine the orbit, and tell you where the satellite is now and where it will be when you are finishing your dessert tonight.

The team showed how good it was this week by setting up time-tables for the two Soviet-manned satellites as they whizzed around the earth. Time schedules on orbits were not given out by the Soviets, and it seems likely that the men at Sohio were the only group of hobbyists in the world who had such precise information at their fingertips.

VITAL SOURCE

The center distinguished itself by furnishing information to newspapers, radio stations and some radio-television networks. It was one of the few sources of such information in the world.

Dr. A. L. Jones, who heads the group at the Sohio (Standard Oil Co., Ohio) laboratory southwest of Cleveland, wouldn't say how much was invested in equipment, but he indicated it was a relatively small amount.

"The yield is awfully high for the investment," is the way he put it.

Sohio foots the bill for the hardware, "but the real value is in the talent we have here," said Jones.

Take the little piece of gear Ralph Burhans whipped together to give the precise moment at which a satellite is at the nearest point. The material that went into his piece of equipment designed by Burhans cost only a few hundred dollars, but if you had to buy such an instrument it would cost more than $10,000, Jones said.

Burhans is a chemist and a radio amateur. Dr. Jones has his Ph.D. in chemistry and is interested in astronomy and meteorology. He is director of basic research at the center.

Teamsters In Wild Melee

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A police-estimated crowd of 1,000 rival Teamsters Union members, many armed with baseball bats, bricks and bottles, battled Wednesday night in the streets in a wild melee.

Two police officers and 12 of the crowd were injured, windshields of autos were smashed, two cars overturned and windows broken. Three bullet holes were found in the union office's front window.

Police, Fairmount Park guards, firemen and highway patrolmen were ordered into the area at Front and Spring Garden streets. They forced the men to opposite sides of the streets and set up a cordon of cars and men to hold them apart. Bottles, clubs, stones and sticks continued to fly.

About half an hour after the melee began, officers, aided by police dogs, brought the situation under control.

The disturbance capped a day of tension between Teamsters Local 107 members and members of a dissident group which calls itself the Voice of Local 107.

The Voice seeks to oust local leadership, faithful to the Teamsters international president, James R. Hoffa, and to quit the union to join the AFL-CIO.

The disturbance Wednesday night was started when some 200 dissidents were pushed back by police from a picket line at the Smith Transfer Co., where they were protesting the replacement of Voice drivers by men loyal to the local leadership.

Wild Weather Slams Hard Into S. Texas

By The Associated Press

Wild weather pummelled South Texas with lethal effect late Wednesday and then shifted attention to the Texas Panhandle, where a mild cool front arrived during the night.

Lightning claimed two lives, a tornado struck in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and thundershowers finally put a definite crimp in the state's six-week-old heat wave.

The twister wrecked two houses at the edge of a citrus camp 4 miles northwest of Mission and was followed by an estimated four inches of rain.

LETHAL BOLTS

Lightning flicked from the black clouds and killed Baltazar Mendoza, 43, while he was irrigating a field near Mission.

Another bolt knocked Anastacio Martinez, 17, lifeless as he dashed for shelter in heavy rain near Van Ormy, in the San Antonio area. He had been hoeing weeds in a cabbage patch.

Winds ripping through San Antonio toppled a 35-foot tall poplar tree onto Edward Ayiesworth, 12, and he suffered severe injuries.

Witnesses said an apparent tornado smashed at a San Antonio shopping center, ripping part of the roof and air conditioning equipment off a drug store roof.

Hail the size of marbles helped smash plate glass windows and snap power lines in the vicinity.

Although San Antonio still recorded a 130-degree temperature as its high for the day, the Alamo city's skein of 44 days' without rain was snapped. Nearly an inch of moisture fell in some neighborhoods.

Laredo received its first rain in 47 days. A 26-inch shower dropped the mercury from 100 degrees to 77 in 40 minutes.

HAIL FALLS

Elsewhere in South Texas, hail pelted an area east of Falfurrias and comparatively light showers damped a Beeville, Brownsville and Victoria.

Thunderstorms developed in Northwest Texas as the cool front arrived in the Panhandle.

Marble-sized hail rattled on the rooftops and the wind gusts up to 62 miles per hour as one storm whipped through Amarillo.

Presidio's 105 was the state's top temperature Wednesday. The mercury hit 103 at San Angelo, Del. McEl Paso, Junction and Wink and 100 also at Midland and Waco. Top marks elsewhere ranged down to 88 at Galveston.

Skies were clear to partly cloudy throughout the state Thursday morning.

Association Officers Honored At Knott

KNOTT (SC) — New and retiring officers of the Ex-Student Association of Knott School gathered in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Allred this week for a planning session.

New officers introduced were: Reed Sanderson of Big Spring, president; Delano Shaw, Big Spring, vice president; Mrs. Jimmy Hill, Big Spring, secretary; and Mrs. Bud Hughes, Knott, treasurer.

Returning officers, honored at this time, were Mrs. Juanita Rattenfield, president; Mrs. Allred, vice president; Mrs. John Jones, treasurer; Mrs. James Jeffcoat, secretary.

A weekend party, at the Lake Thomas cabin of Mrs. Cecil Allred, included Mrs. Mildred Adams and her two granddaughters of Marathon Mrs. W. E. Sullins and son of Midland, Mrs. Brown

Bailey and three children of Midland; and Mrs. Durwood Blagaves and son of Ackerly.

Mrs. W. L. Williams of Kossie is a guest in the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Clay. Weekend guests in the Clay home were Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Miller of Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Carl McKee of Vealmoor; Mrs. Artie Williams and son, Ronnie; and Mr. and Mrs. Murel Ringener of Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Reed and daughter and Lavern Lloyd of Coahoma were weekend guests of her mother, Mrs. Minnie Lloyd, and her brothers, Arnold Lloyd and Judson Lloyd and their wives.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Motley were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wright of Colorado City and Mrs. T. J. Castle and son.

Mrs. Cecil Rhodes of Big Spring visited at Knott Tuesday evening and attended night services at the First Baptist Church.

Kirbys Are Hosts To Coin Club

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Kirby received members of the Big Spring Coin Club Wednesday evening in their home for the purpose of planning a coin show.

The show, slated for Oct. 13-15, will be the first such event attempted by the club. Dealers and collectors from Texas and other states are expected to attend.

A special exhibit will be held for those wishing to show some valuable coin or collection of coins. Prizes will be awarded in both adult and junior divisions.

The junior section is for entrants under 16 years of age.

Dub Bryant, auctioneer, will auction coins on the last day of the show. Persons desiring to auction coins should contact Kirby at 1907 East 5th St. The show is to be on the mezzanine of the Settles Hotel.

To Marry

Miss Earlene Trantham's engagement to Kenneth L. Reeves of Houston is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Trantham, 1519 Stadium. Parents of the bridegroom-to-be are Mrs. Louise Lewis, E. 16th St., and Odell Reeves, Houston, Sept. 2, at 2 p.m. is the time set for the wedding, which will take place in the West Side Baptist Church.

Hess Family Home To Del Rio After Week With Parents

Guests for a week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wren, 700 East 14th were L. and Mrs. Stanley R. Hess and children, Wesley and Nancy Dee, of Del Rio. They returned to their home Tuesday.

During their visit, Mrs. Hess's sister, Mrs. Fred Overton accompanied the group to Fort Worth for a family reunion. The Wrens' other children and families, the Don Wrens, the O. T. Stewards, and the Gene Noels were included in the reunion.

While in Fort Worth the party attended the wedding of the Wrens' granddaughter, Jan Stewart to Boyd Ray Branch, Aug. 11. Also attending the wedding were the bride's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Stewart of Big Spring.

Patio Shower Is Held At Cateses

A combination patio breakfast shower was held Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. Bob Cates, 303 West 18th. The com-as-you-are affair was held for Mrs. Jim Woolverton.

"The Flintstones" was the theme for decoration.

Hostesses to the 20 guests were Mrs. Cates, Mrs. D. A. Sellers, Mrs. A. G. Bynum, Mrs. M. A. Dunagan and Mrs. Howard Swinney.

Bachelor Party Honors C. Percy

A bachelor party was held Wednesday night at Carlos Restaurant honoring Clarence Percy III whose marriage to Miss Gracie Welch will take place at Tarzan Aug. 21.

Fifteen guests were served with Billy McDonald, Ronny Hubbard, Buddy Wyatt and Johnny Harrison, hosts for the occasion.

Baptist Class Plans Gathering

A social gathering for members of the Friendship Class, Trinity Baptist Church, will be held after Sunday evening church services. The gathering will take place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Davidson, 1304 Ridgeroad.

Membership Is Goal Of Wives

Mrs. Donald Nevils, newly elected president of the NCO Wives Club, officiated at her first business meeting Tuesday evening when members gathered in the ballroom at the NCO Club.

Plans were discussed to kick-off a membership drive. During the next six months all members will be encouraged to sponsor as many new members as possible, with a prize to be awarded to the individual who is the most successful.

A coffee and dessert, to be given Tuesday, Aug. 28, 7:30 p.m., at the NCO Club will initiate the membership drive. Also, it will honor the newly elected officers.

Of significance at this business meeting was the adoption of the clubs' newly revised constitution. Acknowledgement was made of Mrs. Donald Nevils, Mrs. Eugene Seija, and Mrs. Richard Casimiro for the time they devoted in revising the constitution.

Other matters discussed were the Youth Fair and the participation of the Wives Club in sponsoring the balloon and ice cream booths. Volunteers were secured to operate these concession stands, and all pledged their efforts to help make the carnival a success.

Guests welcomed for the evening were Mrs. Johnnie Clements and Mrs. James Thomas. The door prize was won by Mrs. Maude Dusch.

The Wives Club extended an invitation to all eligible NCO Wives to attend their meetings. New plans, dances, and events are in the making.

Lions Club Meets At Stanton

STANTON (SC) — Bud Jones showed slides taken of East Berlin on his tour this summer, when the Stanton Lions Club met at a regular meeting Tuesday at the Belvue Restaurant.

Bob Deavenport, president, directed the business meeting. Twenty-two attended, including one visitor, Walker Baker.

The Overby family reunion was held at Buffalo Gap at Athene recently. Mrs. O. B. Overby of Stanton was senior member. Others attending from Stanton were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Overby, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Thomas, and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Cox. One hundred and twenty-three registered.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Payne of Tarzan announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Glenda, to Jerry Don Parum, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Parum of Lomax. The couple plans a Sept. 1 wedding at the Tarzan Baptist Church in Tarzan.

'ROUND TOWN With LUCILLE PICKLE

MRS. C. H. YATER and daughter MARY HELEN are back from a summer spent at Irapuato, Mexico to shape arrangements for Mary Helen's wedding here Sept. 1 to LeRoy Cebik. Mr. Yater is the consulting engineer for construction of a carbon black plant at nearby Salamanca, Mexico. He is also in charge of erecting the plant and will take all his supplies from Mexico. The Mexican national petroleum company Irapuato is a small town with lots of people they report. It is a primary agricultural area with irrigation from wells. Location is 250 miles northwest of Mexico City and about 40 miles from the state capital, Toluca, marking the geographical center of Mexico. Elevation is about 5,000 feet so the climate is good. All summer long Mrs. Yater and Mary Helen have been engaged in making the latter's wedding gown.

MR. and MRS. CARL BLOM-SHIELD of Fort Worth returned home Wednesday morning after visiting here in the home of their son, JOHN BLOM-SHIELD, and family. Mr. Blomshield was, for more than 20 years, district manager here for Texas Electric Service Company.

The ELMER TARBOX family left Wednesday evening for Lubbock where they will make their home. The Tarboxes lived in Lubbock before he came here several years ago to establish the Tarbox-Gossett Motor Co.

Before departing from West Texas and Webb AFB, COL and MRS. LEONARD EISENBERG have plans for seeing a bit of Mexico. Where they will go on their first trip across the border, isn't determined, as yet, but within a period of one week leaving Sunday

they hope to absorb much of the Latin American atmosphere and to visit the scenic areas within their allotted time of travel.

A letter from MRS. B. V. PEARSON, Derry, N. H., states that she will leave in September to join her husband, LT. COL. PEARSON in Germany. The Pearsons were formerly stationed at Webb AFB.

Also in the mail a letter from COL and MRS. JOHN F. HOLT, who only recently arrived at their destination, Anchorage, Alaska. The Hols and daughter, Lynn, are now situated at 1578 Primrose St., with a good view of the surrounding mountains and 17 hours of daylight to see them in all for the nominal monthly sum of $250. High utility rates, grocery and clothing prices, and the fact that they live five miles from the base with gasoline 65 cents per gallon have the Hols wishing themselves back at Webb. And there is no telephone service to date.

Space needle dining and exotic exhibits at the Seattle World's Fair held no disappointments for the Ed Edwardses nor for the Leon Tains who have just returned from their 12-day vacation trip. En route to Seattle, the couples went via Salt Lake City. They traveling also included a boat trip to Vancouver Island and a visit in Victoria, the capital. Leaving Seattle they returned through the redwood forests, San Francisco and Las Vegas.

Webb AFB Garden Club Plans Booth For Fair

The Webb AFB Garden Club reports that members are in the finishing stages of its 1962 booth for the fair. The booth will be one of 42 concessions for the fair. Prizes will be in the form of dried lavender, miniature fruit and flower trees, and other arrangements. Members are gathering every two days to work on their project of prizes and to see the fair. Booths will be set up at 10 a.m. at the fair grounds. The fair will be held at the fair grounds. The fair will be held at the fair grounds.

Former Stanton Girl, Husband In Midland

STANTON (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ward are making their home at 1705 West Indiana. Mr. Ward served with the 49th Army Division at Fort Dick. He is now employed with Southwestern Drug Co. Mrs. Ward is the former Sharon Sale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodford Sale of Odessa.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hedges are the parents of a new daughter, Patricia Fay, born Wednesday at 1:30 a.m. at the Stanton Post-Operative Hospital and Clinic. She weighed 8 pounds and 9 ounces.

The Hedges have one other child, a son, Russell. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hedges and the paternal grandparents are Mrs. William Hedges.

Miss Dick Madison and children visited recently in Lubbock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gray and Angela.

Lois Eubanks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Eubanks of Santa Monica, Calif., has been vacationing for the past three weeks with

Miss Gracie Welch Is Honored At A Kitchen Shower

Miss Gracie Welch was the honored guest at a kitchen shower Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Martin George of Tarzan. Assisting her mother during the informal affair was Miss Rena George.

Tarzan school friends of Miss Welch were served refreshments from a highly polished mahogany table centered with a green and yellow lazy Susan.

The honoree was dressed in a blue and white cotton sheath and pearl accessories. She is the bride-elect of Clarence Percy III. They will be married Aug. 21 at the Tarzan Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Raugh Jr. and Patsy Jan Raugh of Stamford spent several days in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Bridges and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Graves.

Miss Raugh has recently returned after spending 40 weeks at the United Baptist Assembly, Glorietta, N.M.

Esther Circle Has Session At Inkmans

The Esther Circle of First Christian Church held a session Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. W. Inkmans, 1407 Rutledge.

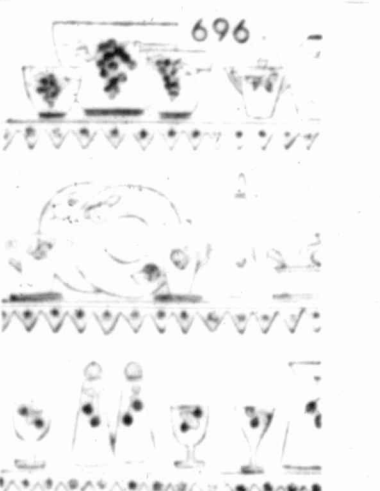

Miss P. B. Bairbridge gave reports from the Christian Women's Fellowship. The discussion was given by Mrs. D. Benson and a new member, Mrs. R. Clyde Hall, was recognized.

Relatives Visit Mitchell Home

GARDEN CITY (SC) — Relatives visiting in the Dick Mitchell home during the weekend were Mrs. Mitchell's sisters and family: Mrs. E. A. Rickes and son, Lloyd, Fresno, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Payne of El Paso; Mrs. Mitchell's daughter, Mrs. William Howard, her husband, and family; and Mrs. Mitchell's sister, Mrs. L. E. Hedges and family.

Brother Visiting With Dennis Willises

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Willis have as their guest her brother, Charlie Cole, here for a three-week vacation. The brother, Mrs. Charles L. Cole, plans to join her son here and will return with him to their home, Fresno, Calif.

PRE-NUPTIAL SERIES

Miss McRee Honored At Dessert Party

The last in a series of pre-nuptial parties, complimenting Miss Kathleen McRee, was held Wednesday. The afternoon dessert-party, given by Mrs. William H. Brigham at her home, 107 Canyon Drive, was attended by 13 guests. Miss McRee is the bride-elect of William Droke.

Featuring a pink and silver motif, the dessert table was centered with a medical symbol, denoting Droke's field of study, and pink caladium leaves.

A hostess gift was presented to Miss McRee, and entertainment consisted of discussions on "How

I Met My Husband" and other related topics.

Miss McRee plans to leave Friday for Denver, Colo., where she will teach in the public schools. Her wedding is planned for the month of September in Denver. Droke, a third year medical student, is presently in the field of research there.

Lady Of Leisure

Mrs. W. D. Lovelace is a lady of leisure when she is not busy cooking, cleaning house, working in the yard or taking part in one of her numerous church activities. She is shown above during one of her spare moments smoking a satin pillow. She spends most of her leisure time making pillows or crocheting.

Former Country Folks, Lovelaces In Town

Five years ago, Mr. and Mrs. D. Lovelace moved to their home 2206 Carl in the Lockhart Addition to get out of town. Today they're definitely in the city limits due to the "renewal" program of homes in suburban areas around Big Spring. However, their home maintains a rural atmosphere in its spacious interior and grounds. Mrs. Lovelace takes pride in making her home look lovely inside and out. Some of her most prized possessions are her house plants, a ceiling fan rubber plant and a tree-like philodendron. She says that she needs to cut a hole in the ceiling or keep them trimmed. Some of her other hobbies are crocheting and making crocheted pillows of all colors and sizes. Like most housewives, Mrs. Lovelace is not a specialty cook—except perhaps for her son's favorite banana pudding. She simply strives to prepare the things that she knows her husband and son, Bill, will enjoy most. Old stand-bys at their home are steaks, French fried potatoes and salads. Sweet's are a must—such as cakes, pies and puddings and a frequent freezer of homemade ice cream. When Mrs. Lovelace's husband and son can escape from their place of business, Motor and Boat Service, they go squirrel-hunting. Mrs. Lovelace accumulates enough squirrel to feed around 25 people and has a party on the patio if it's not too cool. She finds that squirrel is most popular fried, but she prefers it barbecued. Whether Mrs. Lovelace has company or just her family at home, she can count on making a home by serving her homemade preserves and jams. Her orchard in the back yard was damaged in April to the extent that her crop currently numbers three peaches and four apples. She does not have a garden of her own, although she has access to her mother's. Each year she freezes an adequate supply of vegetables, particularly black-eyed peas and squash. Today's cook is an all-around cook. She can cook a turkey, cook on a grill, but freezing ingredients to be used later is difficult. She is a devotee of this sort of that type of cook. Today she lists recipes which she believes readers will find tasty and easy to prepare.

ICE CREAM

- 6 eggs
1 box ice cream powder
2 cups sugar
1 cup evaporated milk
2 teaspoons vanilla
Dash of salt
Beat eggs until fluffy and add other ingredients. Mix well and pour into 1 gallon freezer container and freeze filling with cream. It's ready to freeze.
Note: For richer ice cream use half-and-half milk instead of evaporated milk.

GINGERBREAD

- 1 cup shortening

Lemon Butter Mint Ice Is A Perfect Nic-Nac

Cool refreshment will be yours if you try this water-ice recipe. So easy to prepare because it calls for only a few ingredients, frozen lemonade concentrate, sugar and candy mints plus water. Have you ever eaten ices in Italian neighborhoods? This one has a similar texture to some of the frozen desserts of Italy. Serve it in any of these eight ways:

- Accompany the ice with thin crisp vanilla or chocolate wafers; both these flavors are fine with mint.
Serve it with fresh pears that have been poached in simple syrup.
Pass chilled canned crushed pineapple, syrup and all, with the ice. A No. 2 can, 1 pound and 4 ounces will be a generous amount for the eight servings the ice makes. Or use fresh pineapple if you like, dicing it fine and sweetening it to taste.
Surround scoops of the ice with honeydew and cantaloupe melon balls.
Let the ice center a fruit cup of sliced fresh peaches, seedless green grapes and blueberries; serve this as a first course or as dessert.
Serve the ice, in Victorian style, along with roquefort. The ice should come to the table in sherbet glasses or sauce dishes right along with the meat. The contrast of the cold and hot is delightful. Potatoes and green peas—or another green vegetable—may, of course, also accompany the lamb.
Stick a candy cane in each serving of ice for small fry.
Offer the ice with canned mandarin oranges, and some of their syrup mixed with sliced bananas. The bananas will look pretty if you draw the sharp tips of a fork down them after you have peeled them, then you can cut them crosswise, each slice will have a fluted or scalloped effect.

Fruit Salad Perks Up Appetites

Folks who enjoy good eating appreciate the delightful goodness and fascinating texture of cottage cheese.

It's an ideal summer food, rich in important nutrients, low in calories, and coolingly refreshing. Cottage cheese provides one way to give your body the necessary amount of calcium. On the basis of calcium provided, 11 ounces of cottage cheese is a good alternate for a cup of milk. And cottage cheese is a good alternate for milk in good supply this July.

You'll find a lot of interest in Frozen Fruit Salad, a unique do-ahead version of a cottage cheese and fruit salad.

Let your family enjoy some of this salad just after you've prepared it, and save the rest for a time when meal-making minutes are scarce. Here's how:

- Combine 1 cup cream-style cottage cheese, 1 cup drained cut pineapple, 1 cup halved strawberries, 1 cup drained cut canned peaches and 2 sliced bananas.
Add your favorite chopped nuts, quartered marshmallows and a dash of salt. In a separate bowl, add 1/2 cup mayonnaise to 1 cup whipped cream, then fold cream into the cheese and fruit. Spread the mixture in two refrigerator trays and freeze until firm. Each tray serves four to five.

Cottage cheese, of course, is just one of the many dairy foods in plentiful supply this summer. Check milk, butter, cheeses of all kinds, yogurt, buttermilk, non-fat dry milk, ice cream, and ice milk for summer eating enjoyment.

Leg O' Lamb Is Suggested

If the demands of thinking up something different for meals are getting overpowering, this weekend is a good time to consider lamb.

Legs of lamb, chops, shoulder shish kebabs or stewing, are featured regionally at many supermarkets.

The national chain offers leg of lamb at 53 cents a pound this weekend in its New York City outlets.

In the Midwest, bargains may be found in leg and shoulder roasts because of summer demand for loin ribs and shoulder chops.

Other meat attractions this weekend include beef round roast and chuck roasts in the Northeast and sirloin and chuck steaks in the Midwest.

Pork attractions include loin roasts, steaks and smoked hams. Poultry counters continue to offer bargains in turkeys and broiler fryers. Young tom turkeys are featured on the West Coast.

Hot weather in some areas, especially the Southwest, cut back fresh fruit and vegetable offerings. But most shops continue to feature overflowing stocks of seasonal bargains.

Vegetable choices include green beans, cabbage, carrots, celery, corn, cucumbers, eggplant, lettuce, onions, peppers, eastern potatoes, squash, sweet potatoes, and tomatoes. Regional attractions include beets and green peppers.

For fruit bowls, there are cantaloupes, grapes, peaches, watermelons, lemons, limes and regionally, figs, blueberries and green apples.

How To Iron Sleeves

To iron sleeves without a special sleeve board, put a clean towel around your ironing pin and slip the sleeve over this.

East-West Salad Is A New Idea

Tired of the same old salads? This new offering may beguile you.

The main ingredients for this combination are chicken or turkey, oranges and water chest nuts. For the usual background, spinach or other salad greens and olives are used. The recipe includes a mayonnaise dressing and a special soy sauce and other seasonings.

- 6 cups torn spinach leaves
2 cups hard cooked chicken or turkey
2 cups hard cooked chickpeas
1 cup drained water chest nuts
1 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup soy sauce
1/2 cup sesame oil
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup salt and pepper

In a large salad bowl toss to gether the spinach, chicken, turkey, chestnuts, oranges and peas. In a small bowl mix together the mayonnaise, lemon juice, sugar, soy sauce and salt and pepper to taste. Pass dressing with salad, or just before serving, mix dressing with salad. Makes 8 servings.

Barbecue Capri-Cabobs For Summertime Outings

The best broiling meats are juicy beef loin or porterhouse steaks, thick lamb chops, or tempting meat-on-stick capri cabobs. It was originally made of lamb but may consist of any meat or combination of meats. Since it is cooked for a comparatively short time over dry heat, the meat for cabobs should be as tender as steak intended for broiling.

If lamb is used, leg or shoulder is preferred. They are meater and will cut into more even pieces. Tender cuts of beef or veal may be substituted. Cut meat into uniform 1 1/2 inch squares and marinate overnight in the following mixture:

- 1/2 cup cooking oil
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1 minced clove garlic
Special cabob skewers are handy. However, efficient ones may be fashioned out of unpainted coat hangers that have been straightened out. If you are really roughing it, improvised skewers of slim green branches sharpened at one end work quite well.

Cut into 1 inch pieces green peppers, large onions and tomatoes. If small onions and cherry tomatoes are available, they may be used whole. Alternate cubes of meat and pieces of pepper, onion, and tomatoes on the skewers. Roll in the left-over marinade and broil 3 inches from the heat, turning as meat and vegetables brown.

This same marinade is an excellent tenderizer and seasoner for steaks and chops. Marinate them from 1 1/2 hours, depending on thickness, brush with marinade once more and broil as for cabobs.

Summer Time's Cookie Time

Does your cookie jar need filling? Here's a simple but delicious recipe. Your youngsters will enjoy these cookies with glasses of cold milk for afternoon refreshment.

For both the sake of economy and crunchiness, we used ready-to-use whole bran cereal, these sweetmeats. But not too much bran—just enough to chew on. Sprinkle in too, using a little sauce from your pantry shelf if you like, or make your own. This is how we prepared our sauce for use in these cookies.

Peel and quarter six medium-sized apples. Core. Slice the apples thin into a saucer. Add three tablespoons of water, cover and cook over low heat for 15 minutes. Strain and mix apples are soft. Stir and mix apples a few times during the cooking. Finish mashing fine and add six tablespoons of sugar and three teaspoons of lemon juice. Continue cooking over low heat stirring often, until applesauce is little liquid. Cool and measure the amount needed for the recipe. If you have a few spoonfuls leftover, eat!

SPICY DROP COOKIES

- 3 cups sifted flour
2-1/2 tsp. double-acting baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon
1/2 tsp. ground nutmeg
1/2 tsp. ground ginger
1/2 tsp. ground cloves
1 cup butter or margarine
2 cups firmly-packed dark brown sugar
2 eggs
1 cup ready-to-eat whole bran cereal
1 cup sweetened thick apple sauce
1 tsp. vanilla
Sift together the flour, baking

Watermelon Treat Is Tasty In July

Watermelons have been the summer treat.

Producers have struck the balance between shipping and handling time, so consumers have to wait no longer to enjoy the juicy, sweet refreshment of red-ripe melons just as often as they desire it.

It is a good time to make watermelon treats for informal snacks at formal meals as a special party dessert, or as a dressy salad.

Watermelon hearts—a heart-shaped party idea—chill watermelon hearts. These just become serving trays, cut into 1 1/2 inch crosswise slices and press out fancy designs with cookie cutters. Hearts are especially attractive. Carefully remove the seeds.

Watermelon designs may be served as an appetizer, a dessert or salad. For the appetizer, simply insert wooden picks and arrange attractively on a serving tray. For dessert, combine other fresh seasonal fruits and serve in a complete with a topping of sour cream. As a salad they are radiant atop cottage cheese, pineapple rings, or simply on a bed of salad greens.

String Line On Table

When it's raining and you want to dry clothes, open the cord table, turn it upside down and string the clothesline around the legs. More hanging space can be made by criss-crossing the cords diagonally.

Quick Bread Has Special Flavor

Herbs and seeds add interesting flavor to a quick bread.

- SESAME HERB BREAD
1/2 cup sesame seeds
3 cups sifted enriched flour
1/2 cup sugar
4-1/2 tsp. baking powder
1-1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. powdered marjoram
1/2 tsp. celery seed
2 eggs, well beaten
1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup shortening, melted

Toss sesame seeds until hot or until well browned, stirring occasionally—about 5 minutes. Sift together the flour, sugar, baking powder, salt and marjoram. Stir in celery seed and two-thirds of the toasted sesame seed. Mix eggs with milk and melted shortening, add to flour mixture, stirring only until flour is moistened. Pour into greased loaf pan (about 8 1/2 by 4 1/2 by 3 inches) and sprinkle with remaining sesame seeds. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven for 1 hour or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes before turning out on wire rack; turn right side up. Serve warm or cold with butter.

Use High Temps

Professional chefs usually like to use a high temperature (450 degrees) for baking pastry shells.

Serve Your Family Meat Loaf Frances

Grated cheddar cheese. In a mixing bowl, beat the egg slightly; mix in thoroughly the tomato juice, salt, stuffing, green pepper, onion and Worcestershire, then the beef. Rinse an 8 by 4 by 3 inch loaf pan with cold water; pack in meat mixture. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 45 minutes. Remove from oven and allow to stand about 10 minutes to re-absorb some of the juices; turn out on heavy foil; sprinkle top of loaf with cheese; broil until cheese is partly melted and lightly broiled. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Herbert Hoover Jr. ribbed his famous father, former President Hoover, about a remark he said might have been inflationary. The former President told an audience in his home town that he used to pick potato bugs as a boy in West Branch, Iowa, and sell them for 10 cents a hundred.

"I'm sure it was only a penny," Herbert Jr. said.

William W. Cafora, a retired U. S. consul general, says he is returning his Medal of Freedom to Washington because he feels President Kennedy's new medal for distinguished civil service nullifies previous awards.

Kennedy recently awarded Dr. Frances Kelsey a new civilian honor in recognition of her withholding from the market the drug thalidomide, reputed to cause deformities in babies.

Caroran, who received the Medal of Freedom for "a brilliant contribution to the American and Allied war effort," said: "I'm not jealous that Dr. Kelsey received the award. But why didn't they bestow the Medal of Freedom upon her? It was our highest civilian award until now."

Kenich Horie, 23, can't make up his mind whether he wants to stay in the United States.

Horie sailed his 19-foot sailboat into San Francisco under the Golden Gate Bridge after a 93-day solo voyage from Osaka, Japan.

Horie now has permission to stay in the United States—from everyone—including the U. S. Immigration Service and his father—if and when he makes up his mind.

Kay Spreckles Gable, Clark Gable's widow, has been refused a seat on the board of directors that administers the $8-million estate of the late Adolph Spreckles Sr.

Alma de Bretteville Spreckles, widow of the senior Spreckles, was one of five of six present board members who opposed Gable's widow as the seventh.

Carlos Alberto Clulow, Uruguay's former ambassador to the United States, has challenged Dr. Jorge Batlle Ibanez, editor of the Montevideo newspaper, to a duel.

Clulow's challenge was nullified by an honor court that ruled there are no grounds for a duel between an editor and a diplomat whose views clash on foreign policy.

Clulow, despite his government's instructions, voted in Washington last December in favor of a foreign ministers' meeting to oust Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro from the Organization of American States.

Batlle Ibanez accused Clulow in an editorial of having "sold the Uruguayan vote."

Moscow Gets Ready To Honor Its Spacemen

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's first astronauts rested up today and underwent medical tests to determine the effects of their first space flight. Moscow radio reported a giant welcome in Red Square.

The Soviets did not disclose the exact whereabouts of Yuri Gagarin, Nikolai and Lt. Col. Pavel Popovich, who landed six minutes apart Wednesday night and descended to earth in two parachutes.

The Soviet space agency reported that the next six days they will continue to monitor the health of the two cosmonauts. It is expected that the two men will be home in about a week.

Parade preparations have been completed for the two cosmonauts. They will be paraded in Red Square, where they will be greeted by the Soviet people.

Nikolai and Popovich will be paraded in Red Square. They will be greeted by the Soviet people.

A group of Soviet cosmonauts staged a parade of their own Wednesday as word spread that the astronauts had finally landed.

They paraded through the city carrying big portraits of all their Soviet spacemen and cosmonauts with the inscription "Glory to the heroes of the universe."

Moscow newspapers, along with praise for Nikolai and Popovich, and transmitted news that the Communist system was responsible for the amazing feat.

Commentator Gen. A. Zhukov, in Pravda, said President Kennedy admitted in public that the United States was lacking behind the Soviet Union in space exploration, and that the United States is excited over this.

In the eyes of the whole world, this gesture will assure a great step toward the conclusion of an agreement on general and complete disarmament and the establishment of an American-Soviet cooperation in the peaceful exploration of outer space.

TIRES AT THE U.S.
Zbikoff, former chairman of the committee for cultural relations with foreign countries, devoted his long Pravda article to praise for the new astronauts and jibes at the United States.

The Soviet Union has attained such breath-taking heights which were inaccessible to the West, which yesterday was still bogged in its mid-civilization," he wrote.

The pure air of these heights is amazing, favorable for the bold and most daring creative endeavors. Those who must conduct their scientific activity in the stilling old world of the dollar lack the invigorating air.

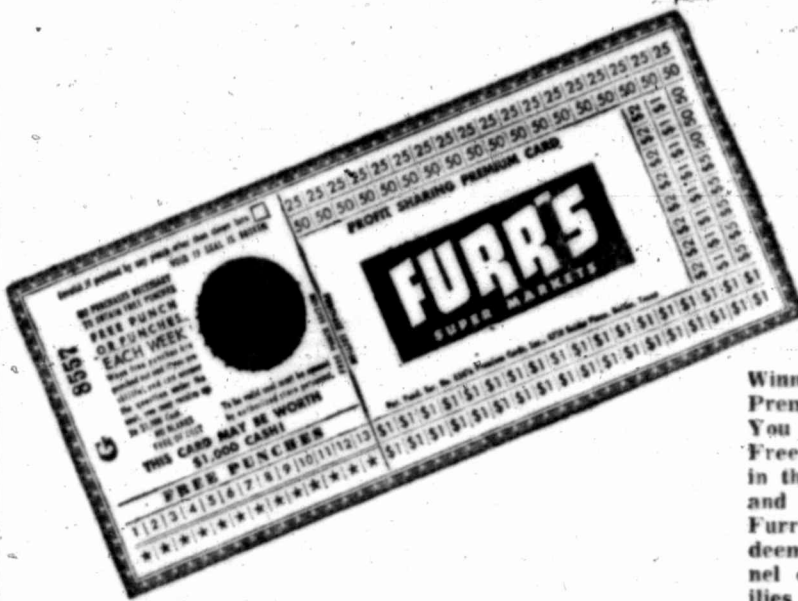

The astronauts were photographed in their spacesuits.

Dawson HD Agent Resigns Her Post

LAMESA (AP)—Jo Crabtree, Dawson County home demonstration agent since December 1959, has resigned her position here effective Aug. 31.

She plans to enter Texas Tech this fall to work on her master's degree in food and nutrition. The commissioner's court here Monday accepted the resignation and adopted a resolution of commendation for her work here.

Snake Hunting Can Be Profitable

By JIM BROWN of the Kerrville Daily Times—
Written for the Associated Press
KERRVILLE (AP)—Warm spring weather brings out two things—people and snakes—usually in just about equal numbers. Snakes in turn, always brings out man's ancient fear and fascination for serpents.

Texas has the dubious distinction of providing just the right climate for snakes in the more remote and rugged areas, they are thick if you know where to look.

It nearly always comes as a bit of a shock to the average person that snakes of all kinds are as afraid of man as man is of them and will do just about anything to stay out of people's way.

SOME HELPFUL.
Naturalists, herpetologists and professional snake handlers have deplored the indiscriminate killing of every snake in sight. Many species are not only harmless to man, they actually devour their less friendly cousins.

"Snake to most Southwesterners means rattlesnake. There is no more typical Western than the ill-tempered Western Diamondback. Here is a critter to be avoided—unless you have had some very specialized training.

There are a select few that eagerly seek out these unlikely creatures for a living. But the profession is not exactly over-crowded, there is actually good money in it, according to one of South Texas' full-time snake hunters—colorful, bearded Tom Shelton.

Former rodeo cowboy, Shelton Brackett has been hunting, gathering, preserving and selling rattlesnakes for seven years.

GOOD MONEY.
He and Kerrville free-lance photographer Casey Williams, a sort of specialist in snake portraits, can get about a buck and a half a pound for prime rattlers. This is pretty good money for most hunters and farmers are only too glad to be rid of them.

Who gives a buck and a half for these creatures, exactly? Several firms that pack exotic, exotic leather goods manufacture snake skins, and animal dealers make up most of the demand.

According to Tom, the demand is always great.
Despite the fact that he gets paid 50¢ or so to make it profitable. He says only the really big ones are worth hunting for.

Both prefer to start their snake gathering expeditions in the early morning. This gives them most of the day to spot the dens and flush out the big ones. Working as a team, they quickly probe the best spots, looking for signs of activity in small wooden crates.

UNCANNY ABILITY.
One reason for Tom's success as a snake hunter is his uncanny ability to get all the rattlers out of a den.

After harvesting the ones near the surface, he gets busy with a pressure-tank sprayer containing like the ones used to spray for insects. He sprays the entrance to the den with gasoline using an extension nozzle. Very cautious working his way in, he saturates the interior as thoroughly as possible.

He then backs out and waits but not for long. The rattlers cause the more reluctant rattlers to come out for fresh air. This is usually when he swoops in for the really choice specimens.

All the while Tom and Casey are working, the entire area is filled with that well-known blood-chilling hiss called rattling by the boys.

WHO'D BELIEVE IT?
When possible, they show their catch to the rancher or farmer on whose land they hunted. Most are astounded that all those snakes could have come from their place.

A good day's hunting will net from 100 to 150 good-sized rattlers.

Casey swears rattlers have distinct and separate personalities as well as pride. He says a proud rattler will always crawl with its rattles pointed straight up. Those not so proud drag their rattles shamelessly in the dirt. They bite, however.

It is well known that a rattlesnake does not always warn of his presence before striking, but he is so well-known that rattlers, when wet, can be shaking like mad and still not be heard.

Both hunters have found that rattlers frequently bite a victim more than once.

DEADLY SUNLIGHT.
Prolonged direct sunlight will kill a healthy rattler in surprising short order.

During skin shedding, rattlers are especially unpredictable. Tom and Casey consider this their most dangerous stage.

Ranchers apparently drink a considerable amount of water. The large water bowls placed in the pits must be refilled each day.

Jake Of All Trades

KINGVILLE (AP)—The editor of the Kingville Record might well be called Jake of All Trades. He is Jake Trasse, who manages to run more than 24 hours a day a lot of people do in a week.

In addition to his newspaper duties, Trasse is sports editor and jazz program director of radio station KINF. He has written two books of poems, at one time directed his own jazz band, writes a column for the community, directed the first two South Texas Jazz Festivals at Corpus Christi and Austin, and has produced a new jazz album in 30,000 copies of music which he sells in 34 days and nights aort.

U.S. Confidence Is Springing Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — The record-smashing flights of the Soviet Union's space twins has drawn a salute from President Kennedy and confident predictions from U.S. space officials that the first man on the moon will be an American.

Once again, Americans were wondering if their country was on the short side of a space gap—and were getting conflicting advice.

The President's congratulations were in a message to Soviet Premier Khrushchev, made public Wednesday by the White House.

It read: "I send to you and to the Soviet people the heartiest congratulations of the people and the government of the United States on the outstanding joint flights of Maj. Nikolayev and Col. Popovich."

"This new accomplishment is an important forward step in the great human adventure of the peaceful exploitation of space."

"America's astronauts join with me in sending our salute to Maj. Nikolayev and Col. Popovich."

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration struck an optimistic note at a news conference in Washington.

"I think that we will make the manned lunar landing before they do," said James E. Webb, the administrator—and before the end of the decade.

And, the deputy administrator, Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, put it this way: "The fact that they may have done one job ahead of us does not mean that they are ahead of us in going to the moon."

However, both Dryden and other NASA officials said it was possible the Soviet Union might make a manned trip around the moon without landing before the United States could do so.

Webb said a crash program could speed efforts to put Americans on the moon, but it would cost more money and "undoubtedly cut into the military program."

It's a question, he said, of changing men from building missiles—and putting them on boosters.

Earlier this week, in a national address, the President declared the United States was behind in the space race and would remain behind for some time to come.

Kennedy said the United States started late in the space race in the 1950s. Wednesday, the man who was president during seven years of that decade, said he does not agree with those who claim the Soviets have a space lead over the United States.

At a news conference in London, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said the Soviets have been indulging in "all kinds of spectaculars, whereas we have been putting all kinds of satellites in the air."

He predicted that the American program would "lead to the moon and it will come about as a matter of course."

"I do not agree that they (the Soviets) have a space lead or that there is a gap," the former president went on. "I'm a little tired of that word gap."

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—That scourge of picnickers — chiggers, also known as red bugs and sometimes by violent names — also attack turkeys.

Joe N. Wakefield of the poultry science department of Texas A&M College, says chiggers on turkeys cause a tremendous loss of income.

Wakefield says turkeys should never be dusted with insecticides because that will poison them. He recommends application of 25 to 50 pounds of sulphur per acre after the grass has been mowed.

How can you determine whether or chigger are present on the ground?

Wakefield says to place a piece of cardboard on its edge on the ground. If any are present they will climb to the top edge of the cardboard and congregate there.

Webb conceded that if the Soviets started to fly with a booster like the Saturn C3 next month, it would have to change my mind about the United States' committing a round trip to the moon first.

In an interview taped for transmission to the British people — a State Dean Rusk said he didn't think the Soviet space success would have any effect — one way or the other — on East-West problems, such as Berlin or disarmament.

Rusk paid tribute to the Soviet space achievement and said: "We were very pleased that the two Soviet astronauts came back safely this morning."

UNIONVILLE, Iowa (AP) — When Addie Hull of Unionville returned from a recent trip she opened her refrigerator and found three roast chickens, a large number of baked eggs and a bin of baked vegetables. All the food had been uncooked when she left.

The mysterious cook turned out to be a lightning bolt which struck a tree near the house. The lightning affected the refrigerator so that the cooling unit became a heating unit and cooked all the food in the box.

I see the unit automatically returned to refrigerating and chilled the cooked food.

Legalizing Estes Moves Sought, Prober Declares

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., says that even after Billie Sol Estes was arrested, the Agriculture Department was still seeking methods by which concessions already granted to Estes could be legalized.

Mundt cited as evidence a department memorandum made public Wednesday by the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

A House Government Operations subcommittee released testimony by an ousted Agriculture Department employee, naming the names of several congressmen to Estes.

Both the Senate and House groups have been trying to determine if the Pecos Tex. promoter benefited from political influence in building a now-bankrupt empire on federal farm aid programs.

John C. Bagwell, the Agriculture Department's general counsel, told the Senate subcommittee Wednesday that a last-ditch effort was made last spring to legalize farm aid cotton acreage allotment deals similar to those of Estes.

The Texas already had been arrested on federal and Texas fraud and theft charges. He now is awaiting trial.

Bagwell acknowledged he had written the memo approving a proposal to bring new third parties and new money into three cotton deals. He said the maneuver could not have helped Estes even if it had worked and that he never suspected Estes was behind the proposal.

Rep. Bagwell said Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman vetoed the proposal. A week later the department canceled the allotments for Estes and others and levied heavy penalties for overplanting.

Mundt said the memo showed the department was trying to find a way for Estes to be allowed to keep the allotments.

The memo, Mundt said, was a "blueprint for a bailout" to excuse Estes from paying the $554,000 fine the department later imposed.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's name came up both in the Senate hearing and in the transcripts.

Additional winners in the week-end Designer-Craftsman Show at Webb AFB have been announced. These were in two divisions not previously listed.

In the Adult (Dependent) Division of ceramics Mrs. Susie Stout's Japanese dolls won best in the open class, and first and second in the open at the Designer-Craftsman Show. She also took third place in the overglaze class.

Mrs. Howard Brown took top honors in the best of ceramics with her mosaic of the Amazon woman in full fighting regalia.

Other winners in the dependent adult division were Mrs. Oma Anderson, first underglaze; Mrs. Jesse Boyd, first glazes; Mrs. Mary Bryan, second glazes; Mrs. Mildred Thompson, second underglaze; Mrs. Paula Makowsky, second overglaze; and Mrs. Shirley Bonnette, third glazes.

In the children's division dependent Errors Cornier was awarded best in open and Richard Lillie, best in children's ceramics. Other firsts went to Kathleen Kemp, glaze; Joey Stout, overglaze; and Richard Lillie, underglaze. Second place spots were shared by Colleen Ryley, David Garbar, Maurice Gunn, and Kathy Head. Third places went to Peggy Brock, Brenda Lee, Christy Thompson.

DEAR ABBY

Better Forgive And Forget

DEAR ABBY: I don't know how a lot of my business I would be something was wrong when he came back from his last trip. He finally broke down and confessed that he had broken his marriage vows. He said I didn't mean anything to him, and I would never happen again. I have a neighbor who is my best friend. I feel he is everything and I feel better if I went out and enjoyed the scene. Before I do anything I wait your advice.

HEART BROKEN

DEAR HEART BROKEN: If the score is odd or even—you both lose. Don't play this kind of game. Forgive your husband and never mention it again. P.S. Your "best friend's" judgment doesn't warrant the confidences you share with her.

DEAR ABBY: My best girl friend just turned 16 and she received a dress from her boy friend for her birthday. Her mother made her give the dress back. When I told my mother about it she said the girl's mother was right and if I didn't think so I should write to you and ask your opinion.

JUST ASKING

DEAR JUST: The mother was cript released by the House subcommittee.

Bagwell's memo to Freeman said Johnson had discussed the so-called pooled cotton allotment question with Undersecretary of Agriculture Charles S. Murphy. Bagwell testified this was an error; that the discussions had been with Walter Jenkins, one of Johnson's aides.

The testimony released by the House group was given last June 29 by William Morris, who was fired by Freeman for failing to make himself available for questioning on his relations with Estes.

Morris testified that Rep. H. Carl Andersen, R-Minn., asked him not to disclose voluntarily the congressman's dealings with the financier Beside Andersen. Morris mentioned some 10 other congressmen as having known Estes in some degree.

Morris said he gathered from Estes that he knew the entire Texas congressional delegation including Johnson and the late Speaker Sam Rayburn.

Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., mentioned several times by Morris as being friendly with Estes, commented at the end of the printed record "I have not been involved in any way with Billie Sol Estes" although he added he had "seen him a few times over the years in public places."

He challenged several of Morris' statements.

The ousted department employee denied that any agriculture official had ever shown any kind of favoritism to Estes, as Republicans on the House subcommittee have charged.

Rutherford Rival Fails To Keep Name Off Ballot

ODESSA (AP) — A defeated rival failed Wednesday in an attempt to keep the name of Rep. J. T. Rutherford, D-Tex., off the November general election ballot.

The Odessa congressman in Washington hailed the verdict as no surprise. He said the effort was politically inspired.

Dist. Judge John Sutton of San Angelo ruled in Rutherford's favor after an all-day hearing on a petition by Robert Frias, one of three candidates Rutherford defeated in the May 5 Democratic primary.

Frias and his lawyers claimed Rutherford did not qualify as a Democratic nominee because he failed to comply with state law in reporting campaign donations and expenses.

Judge Sutton ruled that the basis of the Frias petition was not in accord with federal requirements of candidates for the U.S. House of Representatives. He added that it was not for the state to amend federal regulations.

Frias' lawyers said Rutherford filed a supplemental report on campaign expenses May 17, two days after it was due.

A contribution in question was $1,500 from Billie Sol Estes, of which Rutherford said he was not aware until after his original report was posted.

Rutherford and Estes both were subpoenaed but neither appeared for trial of the suit. County authorities said they were unable to find Estes. Rutherford's lawyers said the congressman had not been properly served.

No Pressure On The Fire Rates

Encouraging word has been brought back from Austin by City Manager Larry Crow Jr. who had conferred with fire insurance officials. He had gone for a bit of laying the cards on the table which apparently is still the best policy especially when it is backed with a record of making good on promises.

The problem boiled down to this: Big Spring has in its Master Plan bond budget for 1963 the equipment and plants required by the state fire insurance department in order not to impose a rate penalty on the community. If however this work were accomplished all at once

Television viewers are getting an incomplete knowledge of oldtime cattle drives and the chances of their adding to their education are fading. Ninety years ago when they rolled out and headed 'em up for Dodge, the drivers chased cattle with their five senses working hard. They saw, heard, tasted, felt, and smelled steers all the way from the Pecos and the Nueces River to Kansas.

As for smell, well, even in some areas of Texas the home of the trail herd, feedlot operators are spraying deodorants to keep down complaints from encroaching residential areas. The rawhide heroes of long ago would have whooped and hollered and slapped their chaps at the thought.

Around The Rim Maybe They Need Ol' Joe Back In

Dear Congressman, It looks like they done it ta us agin. Them Rushens done sent up more spunks. An they ain't doin it one at a time no more. They send them up by two's to keep each other company. Must have some mighty powerful straightshooters pounthin them scared rider feller on the way.

Now I been hearin all kind of criticism as why we're so far behind in this rat race or sputnik race or whichever, and I been doin some thinkin all on my own. Seems like we shudda knowed a long time ago them Rushens wasn't foolin around. They come out from under the hand o them Zarrs a lookin fer glory. An they ain't stopped since.

WE BEEN BRAGGIN about our own glory a long time and patten each other on the back to show how good we are and now it looks like we been patten too much and workin too little. But this is offen the subjek.

AND THAT BLUBBERING bear been sittin back on his haunches and a laughin at us for about a year while we thought everything was going along honky-dory. Well, congressman, a man cain't take too much of this without lettin out a yelp. When they send up a swimmin pool or a hammock to swing between them capsils we probably still gonna be figgerin out how to get a good-sized capsil off the ground.

It looks to me like the trouble started some time ago, seems like in October of 1957, when that first Sputnik knocked the little fracs in Little Rock clean offa page one. Now that's real peculiar, and coincidental too. About the time, I mean.

I DON'T KNOW who you got workin on these here projects at Cape Canabarral that's supposed to get us caught up, but it sure don't look like they doin much of a job. Mebbe instead of givin em a pay raise and more help now that we been shook up agin, mebbe we oughta give em some kicks in the pants and tellum to start usin brains instid of monkey wrenches in their figgerin.

BUT ANYHOW, IT sure looks coincidental. The minute them Rushens hear ol' Joe is gittin out, they fires up that first Sputnik. Seems like ever since I turned over the reins to somebody else, we been

You been in a powerful position and all, seems like you could write your congressman or somebody and have a lot more influence than I got. Well, see who you can contack about this problem. Jus wanted ta let ya know how I been thinkin on it. A votin constibwheet JOE BEYER.

Inez Robb More Education Helps Our Side

As a graduation present, for its emergence from colonial status to independent nation, the United States has just given Jamaica a gift of $75,000 to be used for scholarships.

Guiana, by far the most hopeful bastion of democracy, politically, economically and socially, in South America, members of the small American colony there urged me to come home and campaign for two props to strengthen that democracy.

Presumably, Uncle Sam will make a similar graduation gift to Trinidad-Tobago at the end of August, when these two nations shook off the colonial past and became the newest nation in the West Indies and the hemisphere.

1—A program of scholarships to bring bright young Surinamese to the United States for advanced education, and

AS A TRAVELER just returned from both South America and a new nation, Surinam, and the West Indies, it is obvious that the United States could not make a wiser gift to the new nations of the Western world than money to be spent on education.

2—The establishment in Surinam of a branch of the United States Information Agency.

From the point of view of both enlightened self-interest and lasting benefit to the new nations a gift scholarship fund is a ten-strike.

"WE NEED THE" latter badly to counter the young Communist party here, said the American diplomat who asked to remain anonymous. There was no Surinam Communist party here until four years ago when returning students from Dutch universities began its organization.

A FEW YEARS AGO, during a television discussion of the emerging nations of Africa, Adlai Stevenson hit the nail on the head when he said that "you cannot have democracy without education."

"At the moment the party is neither large nor influential but it is very active and it is growing. Only eight weeks ago, the Communists opened a night school to train people in Communist disciplines. And when it had its first rally a few months ago, 700 persons showed up."

WHAT THEY NEED now is education at the university level. It has been my experience that with a few notable exceptions Latin American students, educated in the United States colleges and universities return home staunch friends of the United States, its institutions and its people. I have long been convinced that a massive scholarship program to bring such students to this country, would be one of the wisest investments Uncle Sam could make.

"CERTAINLY, THE" pro-Communist groups are beginning to be active in boys' clubs and they are trying to get into the boys' unions. What is more, the Communists are starting to exert influence in the local Lax School and in a couple of radio stations.

J. A. Livingston Just Pass Out $100 Bills

WASHINGTON—Rep Thomas R. Curtis (R-Mo.) is short stocks and stubbornly matter-of-fact.

But where are we going to get the money?

Always politely, always quietly. Never did he once raise his voice, so persistently, that he asked that question.

SEN. WILLIAM PROXMIER (Dem.-Wis.) had musings about the four-for-one assumption. But Mr. Livingston felt certain that people would spend this money or would they save it? He, himself, suspected that a temporary tax cut would not have the same impact as a permanent tax reduction that people could count on—year in and out.

HOW WOULD Rutenberg achieve this four-for-one fiscal tour de force?

Well, answered Rutenberg, if you knew workers, and he thought he did, they'd spend the money, and fast.

He'd reduce withholding taxes by $10 a week for ten weeks for each taxpayer, and taxpayers whose withholding tax is less than $10 a week would be able to apply immediately for a tax refund that would permit them to have a total tax cut of $100. A five-billion cut in one quarter would be tantamount to 20 billion a year.

But, countered Sen. Proxmire, people couldn't employ a short-run tax cut on long-run purchases. They wouldn't contract new installment debt on $100.

"MAYBE THEY'D use the money to pay off old debt," the senator suggested.

That would be fine," responded Rutenberg, "then they could start all over again." Laughter.

Sen. Proxmire unconvinced turned to a new subject.

"Do you think that once the Congress granted a three-month tax reduction it could withdraw it? I'm thinking of the political realities. Wouldn't people expect us to continue it?"

"I WOULD HOPE," responded Rutenberg adroitly, "that the Reserve Board would maintain a monetary policy consistent with economic expansion."

Said Rutenberg, "I think the Congress could review the situation on January 5, 6, or 7, when it reconvenes."

"Then Rep. Curtis got in his licks. He hadn't noticed in Mr. Rutenberg's prepared statement a plan for raising five billion. Do you think the Treasury could sell five billion of E-bonds to the public?"

Why, he could have handled Curtis and Proxmire in one fell rattle-dazzle. Why not just hand every taxpayer, whether he pays $100 in taxes a year or not (for Rutenberg didn't cover this point) a brand-new, fresh $100 bill?

"WELL, THEN," repeated Curtis, "where do we get the money? I'm a member of the House Ways & Means Committee. It's our responsibility to see that the Treasury has the funds necessary to conduct the government's business."

That would help employment at the U.S. Bureau of Printing and Engraving, which would have to print 30,000,000 new $100 bills.

"You and other witnesses have appeared before this Committee and the House Ways & Means Committee and suggested, 'Cut Taxes,' but you don't sub-

IT WOULD HELP to popularize the portrait of Benjamin Franklin, who graces the C-Note. And it would answer Rep. Curtis's question: "Where's the money coming from?" Answer: From the printing press!

To Your Good Health Pinworms A Common Childhood Ailment

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Dear Dr. Molner, I am a young housewife, aged 24, and am very clean with my home and children, and the food we eat. But sometimes we seem to have developed a case of pinworms. I know enough of the symptoms to recognize them.

next door. Children stick their fingers in their mouths and then from a toy or shaker they have happened to acquire a couple of invisible pinworms, the trouble can start. It's that simple.

one color, such as chicken, where even deep potatoes can be eaten cream and white, and a not a balanced diet" and "has no real value. Is this true? Will being every little help me to gain weight?" MRS. D. I.

It doesn't seem to be my fault, but I don't seem to be getting any better. I am very clean with my home and children, and the food we eat. But sometimes we seem to have developed a case of pinworms. I know enough of the symptoms to recognize them.

Therefore, pinworms are no reflection on one's meticulous housekeeping, nor should they be a reason for embarrassment about going to the doctor. He's seen them before, and many have had them in their own family.

The last one gets an initial, almost painless, and a person doesn't select food just by color. Green vegetables and sprouts, vegetables are important, and the more is a good guide, but you could substitute red meat for the chicken and still be healthy.

It's your own embarrassment is due to the fact that I don't know how you got started. I've heard that everyone has them, only they don't get out of hand. And if one person in the family has them, they can spread. MRS. D.

For further details, I refer you to my booklet on "The Commonest Pest Pinworm." It is available to any reader in return for 20 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address inquiries to Dr. Molner in care of The Big Spring Herald.

As to gaining weight, by being well, it contains calories. Calories add weight, but so will loads high in calories. Don't ask me to endorse beer for gaining weight. I endorse calories.

Dear Dr. Molner, For the last six months I've been getting cramps about once a month and there is usually a small whitish discharge streaked with brownish pink. I am 35 and wondered if something is wrong, since I have never had a menstrual period before. MRS. R.

Count your calories, the easy way. You receive a copy of my pamphlet "The Calorie Chart" by Dr. Molner, a part of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long self-addressed stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Dear Dr. Molner, I am a young housewife, aged 24, and am very clean with my home and children, and the food we eat. But sometimes we seem to have developed a case of pinworms. I know enough of the symptoms to recognize them.

Neither I nor anyone else would want to live in a household so rigidly sterile that pinworms could not enter—it would mean such restrictive things as not permitting the children to play with a neighbor's toy, or "rassie" with the kids in public relations, whether it's pounding a shoe in the United Nations or hawking out American labor leaders.

Dr. Molner, a column reader, had but one question: "Due to the tremendous volume of mail daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible."

It's your own embarrassment is due to the fact that I don't know how you got started. I've heard that everyone has them, only they don't get out of hand. And if one person in the family has them, they can spread. MRS. D.

Economic Signs Good

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two important economic indicators—industrial production and housing starts—both showed increases in July.

The Federal Reserve Board reported that the industrial production index rose one point to a record high level of 119 points in July, based on 100 points for average output in 1957.

The Federal Housing Administration reported a 9 per cent gain in housing starts and a slight advance in requests for FHA mortgage insurance.

President Kennedy had cited industrial production as one of the economic indicators showing no need for an immediate tax cut.

The Federal Reserve Board said the index, which measures the production of factories, mines and utilities showed widespread increases. Auto production rose by 10 per cent following settlement of a strike against the Ford Motor Co. which curtailed production in June.

Production of iron and steel and consumer goods held about steady with June figures. Gains were registered in output of industrial commercial and farm machinery, freight and passenger equipment, and most durable and nondurable materials.

Grocers Name C-City Man

HOUSTON (AP)—The Texas Retail Grocers Association has elected its 25th annual three-day convention by electing Roy F. Hodges of Dallas as president. Tusa of Waco was chosen as treasurer.

New directors delegates are: Florian Stolarski of Houston; Bob Bellah, Canyon; Roy Higgenbotham, Killeen; Hal Dean Jr., El Paso; Jimmie Brooks Corpus Christi; Jerry Sandlin Lubbock; Johnnie Alford, Port Aransas; and Raymond Fuller, Colorado City.

Oil Production Is Up Slightly

TULSA (AP)—U. S. oil production increased slightly last week, largely on a boost in Oklahoma, the Oil and Gas Journal reports. Average daily production was 7,247,800 barrels, up 22,675.

Oklahoma production gained 13,100 barrels a day to an average of 525,300 daily. Other increases include Louisiana, up 3,425 barrels to 1,290,500; and Texas up 1,725 to 2,531,650.

Arkansas produced 78,000, Colorado 114,600 and New Mexico 290,500.

Saves Another Man's Son, Loses 2 Of His Own
BELLEVUE, Wash. (AP)—When he saw two boys riding bicycles at the edge of the highway Donald Paul Sanford slowed down.
Then the boys veered into his path. One saw Sanford's car and cut back onto the shoulder. The other didn't.
Sanford had his wife and three children with him.
What did he do?
Sobbing, he gave this answer Monday, just after it happened: "I saved another man's son—killed two of my own children."
Donald Lee Sanford, 9, and his sister, Mary Kay, 2, were pinned beneath the car after their father swerved to miss the cyclist. The car plunged over a six-foot embankment.
Sanford was hospitalized with a broken vertebra. His wife, Virginia, 31, was treated for minor injuries. Their other child, Ted, 7, was unharmed.
"If I had to do it again," said Sanford, "I would have to do just what I did."

Solon Plans Libel Suits
WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. H. Carl Andersen, R-Minn., announced he intends to file suit for libel against certain publications and columnists as the result of printed stories regarding his one-time association with Billie Sol Estes.
Earlier this year, before Estes, West-Texas financier, was indicted for fraud, Andersen said he had sold 40 shares of stock in a coal mine to Estes for $4,000. The small mine, near Seattle, is owned by Andersen, a brother and a cousin.
"I had no reason to believe at that time (early this year) that Mr. Estes was other than a highly respected businessman, interested in a good investment," Andersen told the House.
