Viet Cong Ordered To Evade Troopers

Armed Intervention

Four of the five-man crew of an armed Vietnamese junk was shown as they took part in training exercise this month near Danang naval base. In the background are other armed Vietnamese junks, the one at left flying a black and white naval flag.

Loyal Fleet Aims At Red Supplies

By HORST FAAS DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP)—The dozen junks drifting idly in a group on Da Nang Bay were to all outward appearances just like the scores of other craft in the water.

Big Spring Week

Neighboring Dawson County has just gone through a trying and tragic week with four dead on its highways. Three were killed in a crash south of Lamesa a week ago Saturday afternoon.

The high school Bible Fund is lagging so badly at this stage that it could fall far short of the amount needed from its solicitations to complete its financing for the 1962-63 school year.

In today's issue of the Herald you will find a page advertisement signed by Gordon Petroleum Corporation employees expressing thanks for loyalty of all who show appreciation by using Cosden products.

Big Spring business and professional men had Webb AFB sergeants as their guests at a get-together Thursday evening. It turned out that a lot of these Air Force old timers also are 'old timers' in Big Spring.

A Rose came here almost eight years ago, and with the exception of a short lapse, has been here since. M. Sgt. J. J. Ameron had the longest continuous duty at Webb S. M. Sgt. Arthur Michel won hands down for longest duty in the Air Force—a mere 25 years.

BAC LIEU, South Viet Nam (AP)—The Communist Viet Cong command in South Viet Nam has ordered its guerrilla units to avoid engagements with government troops at all costs, U.S. military sources said Saturday. The order would explain in part the failure of the big government drive in the deep south, now in its 11th day, to flush any large forces of the guerrillas.

Rain, High Winds Rake Garden City

GARDEN CITY (SC)—Hard rain, hail and high winds caused some excitement here Friday afternoon and evening. No injuries were reported and damage was scattered as rain gauges measured 2.56 inches in town and more than three inches at the Bob Ballenger ranch north of the community.

The wind ripped the roof of Roy Carter's barn and carried it about one block down the street. The roof did not collide with any other object. A 2-horse trailer owned by Bud Hanson was blown 200 feet before striking a fence. Steve Calverley's windmill tower was blown over.

Chalk Area Gets Moisture

As much as an inch and a half of rain fell in southeastern Howard County, around the Chalk community, late Friday afternoon, while only token measurements were recorded in most other areas. The gauge at the Big Spring Experiment Station registered 10 of an inch and at the Texas Electric Service Co. switching station, only .03 of an inch was measured.

The weather front which moved through during the night brought some rainfall ahead of it and some of the dry areas of the state to the south and southeast received heavy rains. Cooler weather hung on Saturday but no more rainfall was forecast for the area.

Jack Cox Due Here Monday

Jack Cox, GOP candidate for governor of Texas in November, will be in Big Spring Monday for a "Meet the Candidates" presentation of the local Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Jaycees plan a similar appearance here of John Connally, Democratic nominee, at a later date. The Jaycees will present Cox at a luncheon session in the Settles Hotel at 2 p.m. in the Settles. Cox will be on hand for a get-acquainted coffee session.

Club members have invited the public to both events. Those attending will be asked to pay for their own meal. Cox will make an address at noon, and will chat informally during the afternoon coffee.

Midcontinent Gets Showers

A drought-breaking, heat-chasing cold front moved across the parched midcontinent Saturday. Showers and general rains broke out along a cold front extending from lower Michigan to the Texas coast. Some northern Michigan areas had one to two inches of rainfall.

let a villager rushed out and shouted: "What are you doing here? The government has landed troops in the vicinity! You must get to the assembly point quickly!" The villager saw an American adviser approaching and began running. He was shot down, and killed. The rangers never did find the guerrilla assembly point. Except for a few towns and villages, the southern tip of Viet Nam has been under Communist control since the end of the Indochina war in 1954.

Venus Probe Made Ready For Long Space Journey

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Technical problems Saturday night forced a 24-hour postponement of Sunday's scheduled attempt to launch a Mariner 2 spacecraft to the vicinity of the planet Venus. The trouble cropped up as the countdown was underway on the Atlas-Agena B rocket. Without support of the high school Bible Fund Saturday.

BIBLE FUND NEAR $2,000

One of the largest number of people in a single day of the current appeal rallied to support the high school Bible Fund Saturday. This pushed the amount raised near the $2,000 mark—or to $1,928.25 to be exact.

Ben Bella Forced Out Of Power

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—A junta of guerrilla colonels forced Ahmed Ben Bella's Political Bureau out of power Saturday and Ben Bella was reported planning to flee Algeria. Thus only 23 days after the leftist deputy premier wrested control from Provisional Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda, the eight-week-old nation faced a new and dangerous crisis.

Despite New Gunfire, Tension In Berlin Appears To Be Easing

BERLIN (AP)—Despite new gunfire on the Communist side of the wall, tension in this tinderbox city appeared to be easing Saturday night after eight days of bitter East-West wrangling. One burst of gunfire in the early morning darkness was apparently aimed at an East German people's army soldier who made it unharmed into West Berlin. East German guards also halted an East German trying to swim a canal to West Berlin and hauled him into a police boat.

ment troops in the drive have not caught up with the major Viet Cong force and they and their U.S. advisers are exhausted from the unrelenting pace in the difficult terrain. The campaign was worked out by Gen. Paul Harkins, commander of U.S. forces in Thailand and Viet Nam, and his staff. Flying 10 hours a day, up to 30 U.S. helicopters have been leaping frogging small Vietnamese units to hundreds of small objectives. Six helicopters have been hit by enemy ground fire, but no casualties resulted. "The enemy is running and Vietnamese fighter planes have been picking off units," one U.S. officer said. "But many officers are disappointed at not having made contact with larger enemy units known to be in there. And govern-

Fidel Blames America For Bombardment

HAVANA (AP)—Sea raiders shelled the Havana suburb of Miramar Friday night, hitting a hotel headquarters of Soviet bloc technicians helping Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government. Damage was slight, but near-panic swept the hotel as sleeping guests were shaken out of bed by the midnight bombardment. Castro promptly blamed the United States and "mercenary agents (Cuban exiles) who operate with impunity from the coasts of Florida."

Lamesa DeMolays Take Prize At State Conclave

DALLAS (AP)—The three top DeMolay degrees in Texas went to chapters in San Antonio and Lamesa Saturday as the Order of DeMolay ended its 32nd annual state conclave. Awards were presented during the grand awards banquet attended by more than 1,600 members.

Rainmaker Gets Award Of $500

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Homer Berry, the rainmaker who claims he brought 1.52 inches of rain to Little Rock Friday, received a check for $500 Saturday from Radio Station KLRA. Scant damage was visible at the hotel. A Czech physician living there said nobody was hit. He said near panic of guests startled from their beds seemed a greater danger than the gunfire. Pictures showed shattered mirrors and glass doors allegedly broken by Yankee bullets.

Despite New Gunfire, Tension In Berlin Appears To Be Easing

M. Ulbricht illustrates "the wretchedness of Germany's fate," A. Lertz said. The Soviets changed their guard at the Red war memorial in West Berlin in record time, using the three armored personnel carriers instead of buses. At the international crossing point of the wall, Checkpoint Charlie, they picked up an American Army escort as ordered by the U.S. commandant, Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II. The convoy sped to the monument near Brandenburg Gate, where the 18 soldiers and picked up the troops being relieved. Checkpoint Charlie was back at Checkpoint Charlie in 32 minutes with a British Army escort. The Russians, who seem to be trying to prove that it is dangerous for them to move through West Berlin after the stonings earlier in the week, attracted little attention.

SCS Scientists Complete Howard County Soil Survey

Howard County soils have been surveyed by Soil Conservation Service scientists in an effort to provide farmers and ranchmen with information concerning planning crops, feeds, and grasses for the future.

Herbert R. Stoner, area soil scientist for SCS, said the last acre was completed on the Vince Brown farm near Vincent this week.

"The surveyor making the soil survey borings, or digs, many holes to see what the soils are like," he said. "A soil scientist, making the survey, examines soils in the field and classifies them. This provides a description of the soils in the county, shows their location on aerial photographs, and tells what they will do under different kinds of management. It is a standard soil survey."

Stoner said the survey was designed to supply more knowledge of the soil as an aid in planning the kind of farming or ranching for good yields.

"The holes are not spaced in a regular pattern," he said, "but are located according to the lay of the land. In most soils, such a boring reveals several distinct layers. Each layer is studied to see how it differs from others in the area and to learn its capacity to support plant growth."

"Information on color, texture, structure consistency, root penetration, and other characteristics of all soils in the county are revealed. It is intended to aid soil users in planning new methods, but is not a plan of management

Dawson County Fair Slated Sept. 19-21

LAMESA (SC) — Details of the 1962 Dawson County fair, to be held Sept. 19-21, were announced this week with the issuance of the show catalog and regulations. L. E. Griffin and Mrs. Welton Blair have been named co-general superintendents.

The fair is open to agricultural products and livestock grown or processed in Dawson, Terry, Andrews, Martin and Howard counties.

Commercial space is being furnished on a rental basis and, except where specified, there are no entry fees for exhibitors.

All exhibits must be in place by 9 a.m. on opening and remain in place until 10 p.m. on closing day. A junior division has been established for members of 4-H Clubs, vocational agriculture classes and home economics groups.

The program for opening day includes judging of dairy cattle, agricultural exhibits, ladies' exhibits, sheep, poultry, rabbits, beef cattle and commercial steers. Swine will be judged Thursday and special events will highlight the day's program.

A carnival will be in operation on the fairgrounds from 7 until 10 p.m. nightly.

Superintendents announced by the sponsoring Dawson County Fair and Livestock Association include Monte Griffin, livestock; Gail Harris, agricultural; and Mrs. V. W. McGee, women's division.

United Fund Gearing Up

The gearing up process for a fast-moving United Fund solicitation this fall has already begun.

Community leaders who have accepted assignments in various division slots have been named by Lee O. Rogers, campaign chairman for this year, and his vice chairman, Jack Y. Smith.

The division chairmen met Friday afternoon and arrived at a tentative timetable for "kickoff" of various groups and accepted quotas which will mean that the over-all goal of $103,324 will be assured. The United Fund collection means grants for operating expenses to 13 youth training and welfare agencies.

The actual campaign will start in early October, with a windup date set for mid-November. Preliminary work, however, already has started under direction of Angy Glenn, office manager, who has headquarters on the second floor of the Permian Building.

While the goal this year is the largest ever, the campaign last year actually raised more. Division chairman Friday voiced complete confidence that the community will respond again this year to its welfare needs.

Phases of the campaign under Rogers and Smith are:

Big Gifts—Douglas Orme and Raymond River. Special gifts—Champ Rainwater and John Currie. Metropolitan division—John Taylor and Mrs. Odell Womack. Area division—Jimmie Taylor and Carlton Chapman. Out-of-town solicitation—R. L. Tollett. Employee division—Randall Polk. City and county employees—Bruce Dunn; State and federal employees—V. J. Belda, Webb Air Force Base—Col. Wilson Banks. Organized labor—D. A. Brazel. Schools and college—Sam Anderson. Service stations—Roy Bruce.

Hungry Burglars Open T&P Car

A box car, located on the T&P siding in the 100 block of Gregg, was broken open sometime Friday night and an undetermined number of cans of peaches and pears taken.

Police Patrolman Bob Armstrong, who investigated the burglary, said both seals on the car doors were broken. The car was consigned to the Hayes Stripling Co., Big Spring.

Armstrong said in his report, that W. E. Holman called police when he found the seals broken. Holman said no one from the warehouse had opened the car.

Forty cans of pears were found on the ground at the northwest corner of the Cactus Paint Co. building, and 21 cans of pears and two empty peach cans were found by the tracks at the east end of the Kimbell Mills and one empty peach can under the east viaduct.

Jim Rockwell Dies Thursday

Jim Rockwell, one of the owners of Rockwell Bros. Lumber Company, died Thursday in Houston after a long illness. He was prominent in Texas lumbermen's affairs.

Last rites were said Saturday at 4 p.m. in the Trinity Episcopal Church in Houston and burial was in the Forest Lawn mausoleum. Mr. Rockwell had been active in the business and had visited here on numerous occasions. He had been forced into semi-retirement due to failing health, and recently he entered St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital in Houston. Survivors include two brothers, Henry Rockwell, Houston, and Cecil Rockwell, Hereford.

Local Shriners are making extensive efforts for all children to see the Circus, and are selling blocks of tickets to merchants for distribution to youngsters who might not otherwise get to attend. Shriners are currently offering these tickets. Prices are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

All proceeds from the Circus go into the Suez Temple's benevolence fund. The Temple contributes heavily to crippled children's hospitals.

STATE LVN TEST

Mrs. Muskardin Posts High Grade For HCJC

Mrs. Helen Muskardin is about 15 years late in getting around to her first ambition, but now she's going to tackle it.

She always wanted to be a Registered Nurse, but somehow the glamor of being an airline hostess took precedence. After flying for TWA out of Kansas City for several years, she eventually went into merchandising. It was hard to cut loose from a paying job to tackle a dream—but she finally did it.

She is going to enter training as a registered nurse now that she figures she has a sound foundation. Who can quarrel with that since Mrs. Muskardin was second highest of 710 Texas women taking the latest state examinations for Licensed Vocational Nurse? Her 92.4 was the best yet made by a student in the Howard County Junior College LVN class.

The entire class (which completed its work last November) posted an average of 85.5, which was the third highest of 68 colleges and universities in the state.

There were 636 who passed the state exams and 74 who failed. In the three years that the LVN class has been a part of the HCJC program, there has never been a student completing the course who failed to pass the state tests.

Mrs. Muskardin and Mrs. Ina Davis Richardson, who was in the same class, have decided to go on and train as Registered Nurses. To this end, they have made arrangements to begin their training in September at the Excelsior County General Hospital. As a result of their LVN course, they have also taken other subjects at HCJC and have completed two full years of college work with the required basic courses.

Mrs. Johnnie Amos has been the instructor of the LVN course since it started, and she has one class in training now. This group was capped in May and will receive pins in November. Another course will be started then.

Mrs. Amos, however, is already receiving calls about enrolling in the next class. Instruction at first is heavily academic. As this phase gradually diminishes, the amount of on-the-job training in hospitals increases commensurately.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, HCJC president, was high in praise of the record of Mrs. Muskardin and of her colleagues, and also of the record of instruction achieved by Mrs. Amos.

Individuals Must File For Benefits

Ervin Fisher, director of the Big Spring district office of the Social Security Administration, says that some individuals sometimes forfeit as much as $254 a month because they are not fully advised as to their rights and benefits under the Social Security Act.

"Can you afford to lose $254 a month?" Fisher asks. "This is money that is needed for the necessities of life if a client, who is the family breadwinner, should suddenly become too disabled to work.

"Furthermore, it is money toward which you have contributed by paying Social Security taxes on your earnings while you worked. Your employer also has contributed an equal amount in social security taxes."

July 1962, he said, marked the fifth anniversary of the payment of cash disability insurance benefits under the provisions of the Social Security Act. Now, five years later, 700,000 disabled workers were receiving benefits totaling about $62 million monthly. Another $14 million monthly went to 300,000 dependents of these workers.

Recent surveys have shown that many disabled workers delayed filing claims more than 18 months after they became disabled because they were unaware that cash disability insurance benefits were payable under social security. For every month over 18 that the worker delays applying for disability insurance benefits, he loses a month's benefits.

"If you are disabled now or become seriously disabled in the future," Fisher said, "your local social security office will assist you in the completion of an application and will help you secure the medical evidence and other information to support your claim. The office will also advise you of your rights under the law and inform you of any possible benefits to which you and your dependents may be entitled."

Coast Guard Cadet Tells Of Training

By M. A. WEBB

Cadet 3.C. Michael W. Trammell, U. S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn., is at home on a 20-day leave visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Garnell G. Trammell, 1311 Sycamore. He has just returned from a 70-day cruise in the "Eagle," the only square rigged sailing ship still flying the U.S. flag.

"The ship has quite a history," the cadet said. "When we entered the harbor at Edinburgh, Scotland, on our cruise, old seaman remarked that it was the first sailing vessel to enter the harbor since the visit of the Horst Wessel before World War II when Nazi air force cadets came to Edinburgh."

Cadet Michael Trammell.

SAME SHIP

"The amazing thing about it was that we were sailing the same ship. It was claimed by the United States in 1946 as a part of the war reparations payments from Germany and rechristened the 'Eagle.'" Trammell said. "The ship was built in 1936 by the Germans and named after the Nazi Party hero, Horst."

In addition to the sails, the 265-foot ship has a 70-horsepower diesel engine, of German make, for emergency power.

"The ship was built around the engine and no provisions were made for getting it out of its hold—even in parts."

Cadet Trammell was one of 200 sworn into the Coast Guard Academy class in July 1961, out of 4,900 taking the competitive examinations. He goes back to school Sept. 6 for three more years.

"The Coast Guard Academy is a four-year school similar to academies of the Army, Navy, and Air Force, and was established in 1876. A corps of between 500 and 600 cadets are trained at the academy each year," Trammell said.

NO SPARS

"No, there are no SPARS at the academy," he replied in answer to the question. "There are no women at the school at all. It is located in a beautiful spot on the coast. There is a girls' college around the bend a little while, which makes it sort of interesting, though."

On their yearly visit to the Palace of Hollywoodhouse.

QUEEN

"We also attended a pageant at which the Queen appeared; heard, a Highlander band, and saw a Guard," he continued.

When the ship returned to Washington, D. C. the cadets spent three days getting it ready for President Kennedy and his group to come aboard. Included were Vice President Lyndon Johnson, Secretary of the Treasury Dillon, an undersecretary, and several Senators and Congressmen. High ranking officers coming aboard were Admiral Edwin Roland, Rear Admiral W. J. Smith, superintendent of the Coast Guard Academy, and others.

"We manned the yards as the President came aboard. About 120 cadets, in white, stood at attention on the yards while the President was 'piped' aboard in a band ceremony. The President then inspected the honor platoon, and made a tour of the ship. I was Vice President Johnson's personal guide on the tour," the cadet said.

KENNEDY

"President Kennedy made a short speech to cadets and Coast Guardsmen after the tour," he said. "He said the American people have been too long unaware of the high calibre of Coast Guard Cadets, and he sketched the history of the Coast Guard from the time of Alexander Hamilton and the 'Eagle.'"

"The President then wiped out all punishments due the crewmen for demerits, or difficulties, which made all of us happy."

Cadet Trammell said he plans to make a career of the Coast Guard. He will, when he has completed his four years, be commissioned an ensign. He must remain in the service at least four years after commissioning.

"I hope for a career in the aviation branch and will take flight training as an aviator," he continued.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Pilots To Be Grounded For Military Test Plans

By M. A. WEBB

All pilots will be grounded between 1 and 5:30 p.m. Sept. 2. The military will be using the air during that time in operation "Sky Shield" No. 3—if things go off according to plan.

Crop sprayers, experimental flyers, home-built experimenters, executives, and even big commercial airlines will have to sweat out 4 1/2 hours on the ground.

This also means that Labor Day holiday flyers will have to schedule their flights to cover the necessary distance to be "there and back" in the time allotted.

Traffic has been good at Howard County Airport during the week and Ted McClung says the weather has been perfect. Student flying has picked up, especially in the early morning and late afternoon.

Big Spring Flying Club members making flights in the Club's Piper Colt were Thomas and Norton 8, Joe Clark 4, Doug Warren, John Stanley, Dr. M. A. Porter 2.

Al Eldridge, Toby Cook 2, and Jay Lebowitz.

Webb Aero Club members in the three aircraft were: Cessna—Marks 3, Small 2, Heartsill 2, Brewton, Weismantel, Tri-Pacer—Robinson, Hansen, McMillan 2, Colt—Curtis 2, E. Jones, Downlearn.

A new 63-B Piper Cherokee will soon be at home at the field. McClung said Thursday afternoon that he is waiting on a telephone call from the assembly plant at Vero Beach, Fla.

"If I get the call in time to get there before closing time Friday I will leave immediately. It is supposed to be ready for the flight to Big Spring when it comes off. If it is not ready then I will have to go after it Monday. I'm just waiting," he said.

The new Cherokee has some extra features and improvements over the present model. Baggage capacity will increase from 100 to 125 pounds and the compartment carpeted; rubber pedals will have rubber pads; the control system will have roller bearings for ease of operation; the main door straightened and a positive action latch provided; sun visors of dark plexiglass; cooling system for radios and instruments improved; 36-gallon standard tanks provided with extras to 50; 27-channel VHF transceiver radio; night flying equipment including rotating beacon, and will carry a 950-pound useful load. Four models will be available with 150 or 160 horsepower Lycoming engines. The models will be Standard, Custom, Super Custom, and Auto Flight. Standard prices were $10,990 with the 150 h.p. engine, and $11,500 with the 160 h.p.

Texas Aeronautic Commission's Flight Clinic will be held at Midland in the Sands Hotel, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sept. 8. Aviation experts from airlines, manufacturing companies, weather bureau, and the Federal Aviation Commission will be on hand to discuss weather, including icing, low ceilings, visibilities, and severe turbulence. Latest developments in navigation, radio aids, and communications; air traffic control; the instrument rating flight test; changes in general safety flight regulations; procedures in multi-engine aircraft operations.

The clinic is set to benefit all pilots.

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP)—A 15-year-old boy has been sentenced to 10 years in prison after he said he set the South Gastonia school afire "to do a favor to the other students."

Highway Use Tax Due From Truck, Bus Owners

Highway vehicle owners or operators must pay the federal use tax on motor vehicles, if they fall under heavy categories, and are used on public highways, by Aug. 31. Joseph P. Gordon, Internal Revenue Service officer in Big Spring, said Form 2290 should be used for figuring the tax on any of the 11 categories subject to tax.

These categories include several sizes of trucks, tractors, combinations and buses.

Single units include two-axled trucks equipped for use as single units with actual unloaded weights of 13,000 pounds or more; three- or four-axled trucks equipped for use as single units with actual unloaded weights of 13,000 pounds and less than 16,000 pounds; three- or four-axled trucks equipped for use as single units with actual unloaded weights of 16,000 pounds or more.

Combinations include: Two-axled truck-tractors with actual unloaded weight of at least 3,500 pounds and less than 7,000 pounds; two-axled truck-tractors with actual unloaded weight of at least 7,000 pounds and less than 9,500 pounds; two-axled truck-tractors with actual unloaded weight of 9,500 pounds or more; two-axled trucks with actual unloaded weight of at least 9,000 pounds and less than 12,000 pounds and equipped for use in combinations; two-axled trucks with actual unloaded weight of 12,000 pounds or more and equipped for use in combinations; three- or four-axled trucks equipped for use in combinations; three- or four-axled truck-tractors.

The tax also applies to buses having taxable gross weights of more than 26,000 pounds. This taxable gross weight of a bus is actual unloaded weight plus 150 pounds for each unit of seating capacity provided for passengers and driver.

Gordon said many truck owners did not feel that they came under the categories listed, and that if uncertain, they should check at the office of the Internal Revenue Service.

New Ownership -- New Management -- New Programming --

New Downtown Studios and Offices

KBYG

FORMAL OPENING TODAY

KBYG has been purchased by Big Spring Radio Company, headed by Jack Wallace, and has moved to town. KBYG is now operating in brand new studios and offices at 118 East Third Street in downtown Big Spring.

PLUS The Greatest Plus In All Radio -- NETWORK AFFILIATION WITH NBC

OPEN LETTER TO OUR LISTENERS AND ADVERTISERS

Since entering the radio broadcasting business in Big Spring in 1938, my goal has been to obtain a network affiliation with the National Broadcasting Company, and to join that elite group of stations in the nation that are proud affiliates of NBC. Many times during the past 24 years, and during the 18 years of managing KBST here, I sought to interest NBC in acquiring a Big Spring affiliate, all unsuccessfully. Joining NBC is not easily accomplished for their selection of stations constitutes less than 10% of the radio stations in the nation, and include more top power stations than any network in the world.

It is therefore with great pride and pleasure that I announce KBYG's affiliation with NBC effective Sept. 2, 1962. KBYG now joins such stations in Texas as WFAA, Dallas; WBAP, Ft. Worth; WOAI, San Antonio; KCBQ, Lubbock; and KPRC, Houston, in proudly displaying the NBC banner to El Paso. NBC station along Highway 80 from Ft. Worth to El Paso, exclusively carrying NBC programming to the Big Spring-Permian Basin area. NBC - with the World Series, Football bowl games, and a news staff unsurpassed by any network.

We are proud that Big Spring is now an "NBC City". And when anything of importance happens, anywhere, NBC and KBYG will be there. Our goal at KBYG will always be for the best, whether it be radio programming, or the betterment of our community.

Thank you,
JACK WALLACE

Long List Of Witnesses Called For Slant Well Probe

DALLAS (AP) — Legislative probes called a long list of witnesses to testify Monday about slanted hole drilling in Texas oil fields.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson and the House Investigating Committee will conduct the inquiry. Wilson and the committee inquired 87 persons to appear and answer questions. Sixty had been served with subpoenas by late Friday.

Among those on whom service had not been reported is Gregg County Judge Earl Sharp of Longview. A well operated by Sharp in the Hawkins Field was tested last week and found slanted by 30 degrees.

Wilson said the committee "has some evidence that a few individuals obtained some type of information about the committee hearings and, anticipating they would be served, abruptly left the state."

LEASES SEVERED
Where deviated wells have been found, the Railroad Commission has ordered that the entire lease be severed from its pipeline connections. This cuts the well from obtaining a market.

The production from 470 wells severed in the East Texas Field is 6,992 barrels daily. Thirteen wells have been severed in the Hawkins Field with an allowable of 1,851 barrels daily. Oil from this area is worth about $3 a barrel.

The committee said last week that it will hear the witnesses with a view toward recommending legislation on drilling practices.

Wilson's office the Railroad Commission and state police began in May checking on underground oil thefts.

Commission rules allow a deviation of 3 degrees from vertical. Some surveyed wells show deviations up to 66 degrees.

To pay for the expensive survey, Wilson started a fund to accept contributions. Major oil companies provided most of the donation.

FIRST ACTION
Action first began in the East Texas Field, then the Hawkins Field, followed by the Webster

Field in Harris County and the Quitman Field.

Tests could not be completed on a number of "junked" wells where particles were dropped into the well bore to prevent testing.

Railroad Commission Chairman William Murray said some wells tested showed they were drilled nearly as far to the side as downward in an attempt to siphon oil from an adjoining lease.

The hearing will be conducted by Rep. Charles Ballman, Berger, head of the committee. Others on the committee are Reps. Menton Murray, Harlingen; Dewitt Hale, Corpus Christi; Bill Hollowell, Grand Saline; and Bill Pieratt, Giddings.

The attorney for the sessions, which officials indicated may stretch over three days, will be David Wits of Dallas.

SUNDAY MEETING
The committee was scheduled to meet in Dallas Sunday for pre-hearing briefings.

The hearing is scheduled for 10 a.m. in the Civil Appeals courtroom on the sixth floor of the Records Building.

Courtroom followers pondered where the witnesses and newsmen can sit.

The courtroom is small, and obviously all the subpoenaed witnesses cannot crowd into the room.

The courtroom has space only for a maximum of 30 spectators.

There was no indication that the hearings would be televised live.

Baptist Leader Protests Photos Of First Family

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A Colorado Southern Baptist executive has written Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., objecting to published photographs of President and Mrs. Kennedy in swim attire.

"From the pictures appearing in the daily press," the Rev. Willis J. Ray wrote, "it appears that all decorum, dignity and decency has been thrown overboard by our President and the First Lady."

Dr. Ray, executive secretary-treasurer of the Colorado Baptist General Convention, referred in his letter, dated Thursday, to photographs of Mrs. Kennedy in a bathing suit on the beach at Conca Dei Marini, Italy, and the President in swimming trunks in the ocean off Santa Monica, Calif.

"The garb Mrs. Kennedy has on does not reveal that of a First Lady of our great U.S.," Dr. Ray added. "We believe she should honor the position to which the public has elected her husband."

Dr. Ray's letter was published Saturday in the Rocky Mountain News, Denver morning newspaper.

Addressing Sen. Morse, Dr. Ray wrote that "I don't know whether you, the U. S. Senate, the Supreme Court, or anyone else can do anything about it."

District Governor To Visit Rotarians

Floyd Stark, Seminole, governor of district 573, Rotary International, will be in Big Spring Monday afternoon for an official visit to the Rotary Club. He will meet with the club assembly Monday night at the Settles Hotel ballroom and will then speak to the club Tuesday at noon.

FLOYD STARK

Governor Stark will confer with President Ben Johnson and Secretary Douglas Clemens before the 7:30 p.m. assembly.

The club assembly is composed of officers, directors, and committee chairmen. Other members may attend the meetings.

The governor is a retired merchant in Seminole, and is a member and past president of the Rotary Club of Seminole. He was sponsored by the Seminole club for the office of District Governor and announcement made at the Sept. 12, 1961 institute at Lubbock.

He has lived in Gaines County and Seminole for 37 years, moving with his family from Mitchell County in 1905. He operated a hardware business 29 years. Governor Stark is a charter member of the Seminole club and has 22 years of "perfect attendance." He has missed only one meeting since the club was organized. He has also been active in civic affairs, has served on the city commission as president of the Chamber of Commerce, on the school board, in Boy Scout work, and other activities. He is a charter member of the First Methodist Church.

President Johnson said, in speaking of the governor's visit that he is coming here as a counselor and advisor.

He has had broad experience in Rotary and is well qualified to assist club officers in solving whatever problems they may have, and in organizing an effective program for achieving goals in community betterment, raising the standards of business and professions, and in furthering international understanding.

In conjunction with the assembly at 7:30 p.m. Rotarians will hold a reception for Governor Stark's wife in the room adjoining the ballroom at the Settles. Wives of all assembly members and other Rotarians are urged to attend.

Dennis Rites Pending Here

Dick Ward Dennis, 69, who was found in a Martin County cotton field Tuesday with a bullet wound in his head, died at 4 p.m. Saturday in the Shannon Memorial Hospital at San Angelo. Services are pending at the River Funeral Home.

Mr. Dennis was a retired carpenter, a member of the Episcopal Church and the Masonic Lodge. He had lived in the Big Spring area 20 years. He was born Sept. 3, 1892 in Clark County, Ga.

Survivors include a son, Bob Dennis, San Angelo, three grandchildren and two brothers, G. E. Dennis, Dallas; Foster Dennis, New Orleans, La.

A .22 calibre rifle was found in the car with Mr. Dennis last week. Friends said he had been despondent since the death of his wife. He was taken first to Maione and Hogan Foundation Hospital, then moved to San Angelo under the care of a neurosurgeon.

A school eye chart test is not enough...

to determine the condition of your child's eyes

Your child's eyesight is checked annually at school by means of a vision screening test. The purpose of this test, of course, is to discover any visual problems that need professional attention. Yet the simple facts remain—such tests are limited in the defects they reveal; and they should not be substituted for a thorough, professional eye examination. Remember: a child can have 20/20 vision and still need glasses to see comfortably. ■ Make sure your child's vision is what it should be. Have his eyes examined by a competent TSO Doctor of Optometry. At TSO his eyes are examined internally for any evidence of disease or defect; then for visual abnormalities, such as near or far sightedness, astigmatism and muscle imbalance. ■ If your child's visual diagnosis shows the need for glasses, they will be accurately prescribed and fitted for the clearest, most comfortable vision possible. ■ The cost will be reasonable. Single vision glasses are as low as $14.85, including professional eye examination, lenses and frame. ■ If glasses are not needed, there is only a $3.00 charge for the eye examination. ©TSO—1962

Orioles Again Sweep Pair From Yankees

By GORDON BEARD
BALTIMORE (AP) — Russ Snyder's single with two out in the ninth inning gave the Baltimore Orioles a 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees Saturday night and completed Baltimore's second consecutive doubleheader sweep over the slumping league leaders.

The Orioles won the opener of the day-night twin bill 3-6, scoring six runs in the sixth inning. Despite the four losses here in two days, the Yanks still lead Los Angeles and Minnesota by four games. The Angels lost a golden opportunity to cut deeply in the Yankee margin by dropping single games Friday and Saturday.

The Orioles overcame big New York leads to win both games Saturday and extend the Yankee losing streak to five games. Snyder's game-winning blow in the ninth capped extended his hitting streak to 19 games. The single off reliever Luis Arroyo came after a pair of walks by another reliever, Jim Bouten, and a wild pitch by Arroyo.

Brooks Robinson, who had seven hits in nine trips during the twin bill, drove in the other three Oriole runs with a homer in the second, a double in the sixth and a single in the eight—all off New York starter Bud Daley.

Cup Matches Precede Play In Tournament

By LARRY LAWRENCE
Four additional golfers of 26 who registered the past week for the 31st annual Big Spring Invitational Golf Tournament have turned in qualifying scores at the Country Club Golf Shop.

Then of Big Spring; and Jim Davidson, Lakewood, by two strokes. Raymond has been attending summer school in Waco and admittedly hasn't been playing much golf.

First round of the invitational is slated for Saturday. The following 18 will be run off Sunday. The second and third rounds Monday, followed by awards presentations, will close out the event.

Of the quartet, Jack Arrington of Stanton is the pace-setter with 81. Carl Marcum's 84 is a close second. Jay Hatch and Farris Hammond have posted 89 and 92, respectively.

Others who registered this week include Stormy Edwards, Ohio; Bristow, Ted Hull, Elmo Phillips, Wilbur Cunningham, W. H. Smith and Frank McCleskey.

No significant change has been made on the course since last year's event. Drinking fountains are now available on the course, and the parking lot, which accommodated a near 300 autos last year, should easily handle the expected heavy turnout.

No additional entries have been made to the Couden Cup Team race. Top candidates for the local event are Bobby Wright, low man with 280; Jimmy Patterson, W. E. Ramsey, Daryle Hoberz, Sam Thurman, J. R. Farmer, Jack Cook, Gil Jones, David Read, R. S. McCullah and Weldon Bryant.

The Cup event will serve as a prelude to the Invitational. To be held Friday amidst qualifying rounds, it will pit eight locals against a visiting team captained by Barney Bernard of Odessa. Tentatively a portion of Bernard's lineup is Raymond Stoker, Bill Craig, Bill (Red) Roden, Ray Peden, Bobby Blum and Gus White.

Stoker is the defending champion in the tournament, having posted a 12-over par 225 for 54 holes. He beat out Col. John Holt, then of Big Spring; and Jim Davidson, Lakewood, by two strokes.

Billy Pierce Upends Philadelphia, 6 To 1

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The San Francisco Giants retained their hold on second place in the National League Saturday night as Orlando Cepeda and Felipe Alou slammed homers to help defeat the Philadelphia Phillies 6-1.

The Giants were pushed into third for several hours as the Cincinnati Reds edged Houston 7-6. San Francisco smashed out 13 hits against three Phil hurlers, with started Dallas Green taking the loss. The winner was lefty Billy Pierce who gave up only seven hits. It was Pierce's first victory in two weeks. Cepeda smashed his 29th homer in the fifth with one aboard, while Alou collected his 20th in the eighth.

McKinley, Ralston Attain Finals In Doubles Meet

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Defending champions Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston and their Davis Cup tormentors, Mexico's Rafael Osuna and Antonio Palafox, advanced to the finals today at the 24th National Doubles Tennis Tournament.

McKinley and Ralston rebounded after a slow start and subbed Boris Jovanovic and Nicola Pietrangeli of Yugoslavia, 4-6, 6-2, 6-1, 7-5, in the semi-finals.

Flattens Dallas

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — Baltimore shook off pesky Dallas in the second half Saturday night and romped to a 24-10 National Football League Exhibition victory over the Cowboys.

McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., the nation's top singles player, and Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., beat the Mexicans in the doubles finals a year ago but lost to them in five sets in American zone Davis Cup competition last month.

Massengale Leads By Three Strokes

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Don Massengale survived a challenge by Gay Brewer Jr. Saturday and stretched his lead in the $25,000 Oklahoma City Open Golf Tournament to three strokes after 54 holes.

Massengale, 25-year-old Jacksboro, Tex., professional, shot a 2-under par 70 for a 207 total, eight under par for three rounds over the par 36-36-72 Quail Creek Country Club course.

Johnny Pott came in with a 1-under 71 and moved into third place ahead of Doug Sanders. Pott's 71 gave him a 4-under par 212 for 54 holes. Sanders, who was only two strokes behind Massengale at 139 when play began Saturday, soared to 74 and dropped into fourth place at 213.

Cards Split Double Bill

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, who didn't want to play, took it out on the St. Louis Cardinals by beating them, 4-0 Saturday night, on Earl Francis' 3-hitter after losing the opener of a day-night doubleheader.

The Pirates had objected strongly when the Cardinals rescheduled Friday's rainout for Saturday night. The teams have another twin bill Sunday.

Francis' shutout was his first in the majors. He did not let a runner reach third.

Larry Jackson pitched a strong five-hitter to outduel Bob Friend in the opener. Julian Javier broke up the game in the ninth with a bad-hop single that struck shortstop Dick Groat and inflicted a cut on the bridge of the nose.

Jack Thomas Speaks At QBC Barbecue

Jack W. Thomas, 25, new head football coach and athletic director at Hardin-Simmons University, will be the principal speaker at the Monday evening Quarterback Club barbecue honoring members of the 1962 Big Spring High School gridder and their coaches.

The meal will be served at 6:30 p.m. in the amphitheater of the City Park. Admission price is $1.50 per person. Children under 12 years of age will be admitted free, if accompanied by their parents.

Medical Center in San Antonio and took that team to the Cigar Bowl at Tampa, Fla.

Thomas is new to West Texas but he's a dynamic soul who has every intention of restoring H-SU to the football heights.

A native of Luling, Texas, Jack attended Baylor University for one year before transferring to Tulsa University, where he got his diploma.

He coached under Rusty Russell at Victoria College in 1953, went to Southeastern Louisiana for one year and on to Mississippi Southern for three. Head coach there was Thad (Pie) Vann.

He played on three bowl teams at Tulsa—in the Sugar, Orange and Oil classics. He was a back.

After finishing college, he put in one season with the Los Angeles Rams before turning to coaching.

Thomas returned to Texas to help Jim Myers coach at Texas A&M, then scouted for the Houston Oilers for a while before signing out as coach at H-SU. The Cowboys have now lost 22 games in a row. Thomas will seek to nip the streak Sept. 15, at which time the Cowboys open against Tulsa in Tulsa. That should prove to be quite a homecoming to Jack.

The booster organization has ordered 900 pounds of choice beef for the barbecue and will do the cooking itself. The meat will be the best obtainable. Wrinkle emphasized.

Beans, pickles, potato chips, bread, onions and Kool-Aid will be other things on the menu.

Thomas has indicated he expects 65 to 75 players when he begins fall workouts at the Abilene school next Thursday.

The barbecue also served to get the QBC's program for the 1962 season under way. Throughout the

Gary Pagan, one of the football players at Garden City High School, must drive 68 miles to and from practice each day. Leo Posada, one-time Odessa outfielder, is now with Toronto in the International league. He was considered big-league material a few years ago. When the St. Louis Cardinals absorbed that 41-14 defeat at the hands of Green Bay in that NFL exhibition game at Jacksonville, Fla. last weekend, Big Springer Charley Johnson threw both touchdown passes for the Red Birds—both to Sonny Randle. One toss was good for 17 yards, the other for 11. Here's the complete NCAA TV football card for this fall, which can be seen locally on the video screen, in case you're wondering:

Rickey Wisener, who'll battle for the quarterback's spot in the Big Spring football lineup this fall, was bigger as a freshman than he is now. Rick may not look like it when on the wing but he's the fastest back on the Steers roster over a 100-yard stretch. Dickie Spier ranks a close second. In a sport writer's poll taken recently, Missouri was voted the team most likely to succeed in Big Eight football this fall but Kansas and Oklahoma were ranked not far behind. Best base runners among major league pitchers, according to their fellow players, are Pete Ramos of the Minnesota Twins and Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Jack Cox Will Speak To Gridders

Boys on the 1962 Big Spring football team were incensed to learn that George Wallace of the Fort Worth Star Telegram picked the Steers to finish no better than seventh in District 2-AAAA. The comments ranged from "what does he know about it?" to "we'll be up there, you can count on that." Wallace foresees a finish which had the Longhorns beating out only Midland Lee. Ray Jacobs, the giant rookie tackle from Howard Payne, obviously thinks much of the help in the AFL is underpaid. He growled recently that he'll address the high school and junior high gridders at the fieldhouse at 11 a.m. that day. QB Club members are also invited. Cox made a rousing talk to the gridders here last year and made many friends among the gridders. When the Steers scrimmage Amarillo High in Levelland Sept. 8, they'll make the trip in a chartered bus rather than in school transportation. Jimmy Carpenter, the former Abilene grid great, is now toiling for an oil company in Montana. Carpenter played on the great 1955 club at Abilene, which the then coach, Chuck Moser, told me recently was woefully short of reserve strength. Many observers think that was the finest high school football team ever put together in Texas. Dr. R. E. Koenig will be the team physician of the BSHS Steers this fall. Chuck Waugh, the former Webb airman, had to pass up offers to fight in Del Rio and Phoenix, Arizona, because he took quite a beating around the eyes in his state title match with Paul Alba in San Antonio the other night. Waugh and Alba shared billing with Ray (Battling) Torres and Art Hayward and the card drew a cash gate of $4,368.50—very good for this day and time.

Betting Handle At Ruidoso Booming

Drops of a chemical called Cordecan are being used to combat the sun glare in the eyes of some football players. In the past, the athletes who play daytime ball have been using a shadow paste which makes them look like Indians on the war path. Asked recently what formation his Plainview team ran off of when he was coach there, BSHS coaching aide Herman Smith replied, "It is hard to say. The only time we had the ball was after the opposition's extra points." Smith, incidentally played on the same TCU ball club with Gilbert Bartosh and Andy Berry. The pari-mutuel handle at Ruidoso Downs had mounted to $9,348,210 through last weekend with nine days still to go. The betting there has been especially heavy in recent weeks. If the average holds—and there's no reason why it won't get better—the total handle for the 1962 season will top $11,200,000. One of the big concerns expressed by the schoolmen attending the 2-AAAA executive council meeting here last week was the indifference which student bodies show at athletic contests in which their schools' athletes compete. The apathy has been apparent for years in road games of the teams but is becoming increasingly evident in home contests now. Odessa Al Gonzales finally gets his chance to fight Zora Foley in Phoenix Wednesday night. Gonzales can vault into boxing's big time by beating Foley. Good Graces, the one-time BSHS athlete is currently grade school principal at Hart, Texas, not far from Plainview. Walt Woffner apparently was left out in the cold when his wife Mrs. Walter Bidwell Woffner died but still hopes to get the authority to direct the business affairs of the St. Louis Cardinals. He was willed a relatively small income from some oil wells by his departed mate. The Dallas Cowboys may train on the West Coast in 1963. They've been conditioning in Wisconsin.

Mourning Dove Crop Poor In State, Says Dodgen

By The Associated Press
Mourning dove hunting will be scattered and generally poor when the season opens for North Zone hunters Saturday. Game Commission Director Howard Dodgen said the statewide dove population is down 15 to 20 per cent but that some isolated areas have excellent dove crops. Doves are abundant from Kleberg County to the Rio Grande in the Red River breaks in North Texas, in Canadian River breaks in the Panhandle and in Collin County, Dodgen said. Reports based on surveys made this week show the dove population generally is extremely low in Central and West Texas. Dodgen said the declining dove population puzzles game experts. Last year they based the decline on a wet, cool summer which discouraged nesting. That was disproved with this year's hot dry weather in central and southern areas. The North Zone is above a line from Kinney County on the Rio Grande near Del Rio east to San Antonio and northeast to near San Augustine. The Texas Masters Invitational Fishing Tournament will open Wednesday for three days of competition for the biggest sailfish, blue marlin and white marlin off Port Mansfield. The Concho Bass Club will be host to an invitational fishing tournament Oct. 6-7 on Lake Nasworthy and North Concho Lake at San Angelo. Top prize will be $150 for the biggest black bass. The Game Commission is mailing 1.5 million hunting and fishing licenses to dealers. The season begins Sept. 1. Hunting licenses sell for $3.15 and fishing licenses for $2.15. A non-resident hunting license costs $25. This year's hunting license has a third or bonus deer tag that may be used for doe or antlerless deer taken by special permit.

18 Men Sign Up As Reserve Police

Eighteen men, the scheduled first contingent, have been signed up for the Big Spring police reserve force, Chief Jay Banks said Saturday. A tentative basic training schedule has been set up for the men, with the first session to be held Monday night from 7 to 10 p.m.

The reserve, authorized by city ordinance, will be used to supplement the regular police force, and the men will serve on a voluntary basis. They will receive no pay and each man will give a minimum of four hours each week in service.

After initial training the men will be put to work with experienced officers and will be under the command of the chief of police who will designate lower echelon men on each shift," Banks said. "This will give the department an opportunity to patrol the city to better advantage, with two-man patrols, during hours needed. We can even put foot patrols downtown for better protection of business houses, and to prevent prowling."

"We will also have men for emergency use when needed, such as traffic direction during peak loads, and at public gatherings and football games, as well as at major accident scenes or disasters," the chief continued.

"We are proud of the caliber of the men who have applied for service to their city on a voluntary basis and believe we will have a better city because of them."

The basic training schedule, as tentatively set up by Chief Banks, begins Monday. Subsequent sessions will be set up when time schedules are determined for the individuals.

The first session, in charge of Banks, will cover: 7-8 p.m., Big Spring Police Manual—procedures, rules, regulations, Code of Conduct, etc.; 8-9 p.m., Authority of Police—laws of arrest, search and seizure (by Assistant Chief Leo Hull); 9-10 p.m., miscellaneous

Big Spring ordinances, by Banks. Second session: 7-9 p.m., Authority of Police—laws of arrest, search and seizure, by Hull; 9-10 p.m., Identification Bureau Uses—booking and handling prisoner's property, by Lt. Robert Bronson, ID Bureau.

Third session: 7-8 p.m., Authority of Police—laws of arrest, search and seizure, by Hull; 8-9 p.m., Crime Scenes—basic instructions on protecting scene, locating witnesses, preserving evidence, and other procedures, by A. P. Hurley and Jack Jones, detectives; 9-10 p.m., Firearms—classroom instruction by Capt. Walter Eubanks and Sgt. Robert E. Dugan.

Fourth session: 7-9 p.m., Liquor Control Laws and Enforcement, by Bill Flynn, Liquor Control Board; 9-10 p.m., Firearms—classroom instruction, by Dugan and Eubanks.

Fifth session: 7-8 p.m., Reports and Court Appearances, by Hull; 8-9 p.m., Firearms—classroom, by Dugan and Eubanks; 9-10 p.m., Mob and Riot Control by Banks. An extra session, from 2 p.m. until dark will be set up at the pistol range where each man can have two hours of practice at the time convenient for the individual, with Dugan and Eubanks as instructors.

Sixth session: 7-10 p.m., Uniform Traffic Code, by Sgt. Ross Kemp, Safety Officer, DPS, Midland.

Seventh session: 7-8 p.m., Big Spring Traffic Ordinances—traffic summons, traffic complaints, by Lt. Stanley Bogard, traffic division; 8-9 p.m., Driver's License Law, by Capt. Joshua B. Hart, driver's license division, DPS, Midland; 9-10 Accident Investigation and Reports—basic instruction on handling accident scenes, locating witnesses, securing help for injured, calling for skilled accident investigators, by Sgt. Dugan.

Eighth session: 7-8 p.m. D. W. I. Investigation—reports, statements, by Sgt. Claude Morris, radio patrol division; 8-9 p.m., Police Driving, by Capt. Lindy Oldfield, radio patrol division; 9-10 p.m., Traffic Direction—signals, handling escorts, parades, by Sgt. Dugan.

Grain Futures At High Level

CHICAGO (AP)—Trade volume in the grain futures market hit its highest level in recent months last week, but prices finished with generally moderate net changes.

.... Help Keep Hot-Rods On The 'Strips'

SHE'S A WINNER in sports car racing, but Mrs. Pat Porter has no desire to race the hot-rods. She just helps to build them. The front axle to go into this model will be that, taken from an English Ford truck.

WHAT'S THE LATEST on the "strips"? Hovered over the new "Hot-Rod" edition are Travis Anderson, Pat Porter, John Huckabee and guess who—Mrs. Porter. Another magazine will go into the stacks of similar copies. They are never discarded. In fact, you have to know someone that knows someone before one can be borrowed.

HERALD PHOTOS
By Keith McMillin

MECHANICALLY SPBAKING the Pat Porters know what they are about. They are in the process of mobilizing what once was a '51 Henry J. sedan. They have found just what they wanted—a reworked '48 motor, which will do the job nicely.

WEBB WINDSOCK

By MOLLIE HARTZOG

Beware the 'ides of March'! This has nothing to do with August, but Caesar's troubles ended then, and ours will end next week — the little ones go back to school. In between today and Sept. 4 we shall enter the frantic yearly race of shoe selecting, book buying, and pencil purchasing along with all the other mothers of grade schoolers.

With that we shall try to sandwich in All Day Bridge at the Officers' Club August 30. The fifth Thursday is nearly upon us this August which means bringing our partner and 50 cents to the OWC event by 10 a.m. which will give us 500 bonus points. Won't you join us for bridge and lunch? Bridge reservations will be taken by Mrs. Stuart Howerter at AM 3-4263 until noon Tuesday, Aug. 28.

On Aug. 28 there will be a Red Carpet tour for the wives of Class 64-A at Webb. The new Class 64-B reported to the base Thursday, and we'd like to extend a warm welcome to them.

On Aug. 29 at the Officers' Club there will be a gathering of all good bowlers, poor bowlers, and indifferent bowlers. The object naturally will be to discuss bowling and the formation of teams for the fall OWC league. If you prefer to bowl merely as a substitute, you may still come along, just be there by 10 a.m. and give your name to Mrs. William Harris.

Remember Capt. and Mrs. Bob Bales who went all the way to Japan last June. Well, he just returned all the way to Albuquerque, this month, for a conference, after which he will go back all the way to Japan again. Said he'd visit Webb, but didn't know if he could make it "all the way" from Albuquerque or not.

Mrs. M. N. Smith and her daughter, Karin, have flown to Woodmere Long Island to visit her parents, Dr. Smith, one of the flight surgeons at the base hospital, remained home with the dog, Archie. Neither Dr. Smith nor Archie are in the dog house but they aren't in Woodmere either. Mrs. Smith will return to Big Spring in three weeks.

Among the social doings this week at Webb was a coffee to welcome Mrs. C. Skelton into Red Flight. Mrs. Stuart Howerter was hostess for the affair, which was held in her home. Lane chignon and minted iced tea served to dispel the effect of weather. But coffee was also served, because you really can't have a coffee without coffee. At least not at Webb. Mrs. Howerter set her table with a deep green linen cloth, and graced this with a large sterling bowl filled with orange and yellow flowers from her garden.

On the subject of coffee, the next Hall and Farewell Coffee for the OWC will be September 6. See you there if we are still able to toddle after this oncoming week of preschool frenzy.

C. V. Washes At Reunions

FORSAN (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Wash attended a reunion of the Wash family last weekend in Brady at the City Park. They also attended a Crumley family reunion at the park.

Mrs. O. W. Fletcher is home after spending the summer months in Bryan with her daughter, Mrs. Jimmy Porter, and family. Mrs. Porter and daughters came home with Mrs. Fletcher for a few days visit. Other daughters to visit are Mrs. Freddie Stuart and Mrs. Fran Bordsky.

Mrs. Babe Myrick, the former Glenda Prescott, has visited in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Prescott.

The Rev. and Mrs. Carl Lee and children are vacationing with her parents at Lone Star.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Dunn and daughter, Odessa, were Tuesday guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Kubecka.

Mrs. Gene Behymer, Mrs. G. Behymer, Mr. and Mrs. George Haymie, all of Dallas.

Upon leaving the reception, the bride changed to a tan and brown seersucker sheath and matching jacket. She wore a brown feathered hat and other accessories of matching shade.

AFFILIATIONS

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School, Howard County Junior College and North Texas State University. She was an English major at NTSU, where she received her BA degree Thursday August 23.

Argo a graduate of Thomas Jefferson High School in Dallas, finished at H.C.J.C. in 1961. A senior at North Texas State University, majoring in business, he is captain of the NTSU track team.

They will make their home at Avenue D, Denton.

Double Ring Service Read For Cox-Barber

A double ring service was read by the Rev. Roy Honea uniting Miss Jamie Eileen Barber and John Daryl Cox in marriage. The ceremony was performed at the Grace Baptist Church Saturday evening.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Barber, 107 Algerita, and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cox, 1509 Oriole.

An arched arrangement of tapestries, with a basket arrangement of white gladioli and mums, formed the altar scene.

Mrs. Doyle Turney, organist, presented a program of nuptial music and accompanied the vocalists, Bobby Jack Stevenson who sang "Because," and Joe Dan and K. Y. Rowland, whose selection was "Wither Thou Goest."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's white sheath of bridal silk, was worn beneath a bodice of hand clipped lace and a silk organza overskirt. Her veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of sea pearls, and she carried an orchid surrounded with frenched carnations and showered in white satin pilot ribbon.

Miss Sue Lockhart of Gail, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Suzanne Smith and Sue Drake. All were attired in sheaths of orchid polished cotton, styled with organza overskirts. Their veiled headpieces were also of orchid shade. White carnations were the nosegays carried by the attendants.

Kenneth Cox, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. Groomsmen were Jimmy Lockhart, cousin of the bride, and Clarence Henkel, Dick Deerinwater and B. J. DeVoy were the ushers, while Johnny McCullough and Keith Barber, nephews of the bride, were taper lighters.

MRS. JOHN DARYL COX

They were registered by Miss Johnetta McCullough. Other members of the house party were Mrs. D. C. Turney, Mrs. David Duke and Mrs. J. B. McCullough.

Spread with white taffeta and net, the refreshment table, appointed with milk glass, was centered with an arrangement of white flowers. The three tiered, white frosted cake was embossed with orchid tinted roses. Bride and groom figurines were placed at the top.

MRS. JULIA W. HENRY

Professional Helpmate At Home, At The Shop

It's so nice to have a woman around the house—especially if it's Mrs. Julia W. Henry. If the iron goes haywire, she can fix it; if the lamps don't work, she can fix them. She's a female appliance worker and in the women's class—a near expert.

"It was in desperation that I decided to work at the shop," said Mrs. Henry. "We were short-handed." After her husband hired her and taught her how to repair the appliances, she decided to stay on as a regular employee. A vocational nurse at a Big Spring hospital, Mrs. Henry took a leave of absence, and devoted eight hours a day to being a "do-it-yourselfer."

HARDEST JOB

"Once I tried to weld a freezing unit on an icobox, and it came out better than I expected," said Mrs. Henry. She recalled that her hardest job was an ice machine. "We were busy on that thing day and night, but it works now," explained Mrs. Henry. "And that's on my job I'm proud of."

Although she qualifies for being her own man around the house, Mrs. Henry says she leaves the larger things to her husband and that irons are her specialty.

BUSY WOMAN

Mrs. Henry has recently returned to her job at the hospital, but she still puts in a full morning's work at the shop. She says she enjoys the new occupation, which is only one of several. When Mrs. Henry isn't repairing appliances or nursing, she works on the books at the shop. After hours, she is a full-time mother and housewife. On the side, Mrs. Henry finds time to do some painting, for which she has been recognized. Her religious paintings hang in nine churches throughout Texas.

Mrs. Henry is the mother of three sons, Dan and Jim Whitaker, and Jerry Henry. Before taking on her new occupation, she was an active member of Las Artistas, and was on the board of directors for the Texas Fine Arts Association. A native of Big Spring, Mrs. Henry graduated from Big Spring High School and from the School of Vocational Nurses at HCJC.

Allens, Swinneys Visit In Portales

COAHOMA (SC)—Mr. and Mrs. Don Allen and children and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Swinney and children spent last weekend in Portales, N. M., visiting Mrs. Swinney's parents, the Jeff Swinneys, who are serving as house parents for the Christian Children's Home there.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Tindol and boys accompanied by his brother, R. D. Tindol, visited Six Flags Over Texas this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson B. Hall are the parents of an 8-pound boy, named Jonny Jay. He was born in a Big Spring hospital this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stallard and children left this week to make their home in Wilcox, Ariz., where he will be working with his brother on a ranch. Mrs. Stallard, who has been a teacher here for the past several years, will teach school there.

Herman Smiths New Residents

The Herman Smiths are a happier family now than they were last week since their bird dogs are back inside the fence at 2702 Rebecca. The dogs dug their way under the fence upon arrival from Plainview last week and were found last Thursday ten miles away from home. "Just when I get down here where there is good hunting, what do I do?—I lose my bird dogs," exclaimed Big Spring's new assistant football coach.

Accepting the position two weeks ago after resigning as head coach at Plainview, Smith has started working with the staff. He has been assistant coach at Odessa Junior College and Tula and head coach at Sundown and Quannah during the fourteen years of his coaching career.

A graduate of Texas Christian University, he holds his BA and Masters degrees from TCU and his MA degree from Texas Tech. Smith also will teach American History and assist with the Steer track and field team. During his college years, Smith played guard for the Horned Frogs and participated in the Cotton Bowl and Delta Bowl. A native of Fort Worth, he graduated from Fort Worth Technical High School. Naturally, his favorite sport is football; although hunting runs a close second. An avid hunter, he is hoping for a good quail season.

Having arrived only last week, Mrs. Smith, who will teach freshman English at Runnels Junior High, is in the midst of unpacking and having utilities connected. "We'll like it here," she comments. Mrs. Smith is a graduate of Texas Tech where she majored in speech, English, government and history. She holds BA and MA degrees and received her Masters degree at Tech. She taught speech at Texas Tech and Phillips University and English at Odessa Junior College. She also held teaching positions at Sundown, Quannah and Plainview. Her sorority is Delta Delta Delta. Mrs. Smith's favorite pastime is reading; however she says between getting the children and herself enrolled in school there isn't much leisure time.

The Smith's son, Moffitt Dee, will enroll in Texas Tech this fall as a sophomore transfer from TCU. Dee is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity. He graduated from Quannah High School in 1961 where he was a member of the 1959 District championship football team, which his father coached. At present, Dee is employed at Quannah and is expected to come to Big Spring the first part of September before enrolling at Tech.

Susan, who will be seven in September, will enroll in the second grade. Her daddy's greatest fan, she seldom misses a ballgame. While at Quannah, Susan was cheerleading mascot, but now she can't decide if she wants to be a cheerleader or a twirler when she grows up. Susan and her mother have a collection of foreign dolls. Her favorite toy is a giant doll house equipped with electric lights and glass windows. The bird dogs, Buster, Sal and Butch, make good horses for her, when her daddy isn't looking.

The Smiths, members of the First Christian Church in Plainview, hope to find a church home soon.

MRS. DOUGLAS K. DAVIS

Davis-Adair Marriage Solemnized Saturday

The First Presbyterian Church was the scene for the wedding of Miss Sally Adair and Douglas K. Davis, Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Vows were pledged in a double ring service with Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor, officiating. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Wells, 2904 Cactus, and Mr. and Mrs. George R. Davis, 1718 Purdue.

During the wedding prayer the couple knelt upon a prie-dieu, placed centering the altar before a background of white asters, white gladioli and palms. Tapers in candelabra flanked the nuptial setting.

Miss Kathleen Soldan, organist, presented a program of traditional music and accompanied the Rev. Don Ford as he sang "Because and I Love You Truly."

Given in marriage by Mr. Wells, the bride was attired in a day gown of silk embroidered organza featuring scalloped neckline and a full scalloped skirt with rosebud bustle accent. The three-quarter sleeves were pleated, and she wore short white gloves. A crown of rhinestones and pearls secured her veil of silk illusion. Her flowers were gardenias and lilies-of-the-valley carried on a white Bible.

In keeping with tradition the bride wore a diamond engagement ring taken from the Masonic ring belonging to her father, the late Jack Adair, a cultured pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom, a white Bible belonging to her friend, Miss Lynn Clawson, a blue garter worn by her mother at her wedding, and birthdate pennies.

Miss Francine Sayler, Forsan, was maid of honor. Her dress was of blue polished cotton worn with matching accessories. In identical style the bridesmaid, Miss Carolyn Cross, wore yellow. Both carried nosegays of yellow mums. Don Davis, Fort Worth, served as best man to his brother, I. Shers, were Wayne Vaughn, Charles Dungan and Wayne Williams. Shanny Waters and Robert Phelan were the taper lighters.

The sheath skirt flanked by voluminous side panels, extended into a chapel train. A satin rose was attached to the center back. The bodice featured a scalloped neckline, and long sleeves tapered to petal points. Her veil of silk illusion was secured by a tiara of seed pearls. The bride's bouquet was of Japette orchids and white carnations.

In keeping with tradition, the bride chose a white Bibie, her wedding gown, a handkerchief and a blue garter, a gift from Mrs. Clanton.

The frocks of cotton satin, designed with draped necklines, were in pastel colors of orchid, yellow, pink and blue. Their pillbox, veiled hats were the same color as the dresses. They carried single white chrysanthemums tied in a shower of white picot satin streamers.

Larry Hall of Ackerly was best man. Groomsmen were Alvis Harry of Big Spring, brother of the bridegroom, Pat Griggs of Ackerly and Ed Billingsley of Ackerly served as groomsmen.

Ushers were Neil Buckalew of Lamesa and Buster Griez of Big Spring.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, AUGUST 26, 1962

Weather, Insects Cause Drop In Crop Estimates

By SAM BLACKBURN
Insects and the drought have caused a sharp difference in the cotton crop estimates for this county as compared with a year ago, according to the Texas Employment Commission.

Early season guess for Howard County is around 30,000 bales. The TEC admits this could even be a little higher than the real figure. Last year's cotton crop was 45,557 bales.

First bale of 1962 cotton has already been ginned in Howard County. Cecil Long of Lomax brought in Bale No. 1.

TEC said that some cotton pulling has begun in both Glasscock and Martin counties. A few bracos are at work in these areas. The cotton being harvested is on irrigated land for the most part.

FORECAST
The agency has forecast a harvest of around 9,000 bales for Glasscock County this year. Last year's crop was 12,975.

Martin County harvested 79,224 bales in 1962. This year, TEC anticipates a maximum yield from the county of 50,000 bales. The agency reports that insect damage and rust is creating a problem in this county particularly in irrigated cotton.

TEC reports that more farmers all over this part of the state are shifting to strippers this year. The problem of getting braco help, always annoying, has been increased materially this year. It has become more costly, too, and as a result, this season will undoubtedly see more machines in the field than ever before.

A braco has to be paid not less than $1.50 a hundred for pulling or $2.50 a hundred for picking cotton. Or he must be paid at a rate of 70 cents an hour—which ever system produces the most money for the worker.

RAIN NEEDED
Meantime, the problem of insects continues in Howard County but is overshadowed to a considerable degree by the worry farmers feel over the need for immediate general rains.

The war on insects continues. Poisoning went on apace in all parts of the county last week and will continue according to Herb Helbig, county farm agent.

Thursday Dr. John Thomas, district entomologist for the Texas Extension Service, was in the county. He said that conditions in the fields he visited do not justify any great alarm, that he has found insect problems in other counties in the area much more threatening than what he saw in the fields here.

Dr. Thomas, out of the Lubbock office, said he found cabbage loopers, cotton leafworms, cotton bollworms and beet armyworms in the local fields. The fields he saw were in the Fairview community. He was met at the D. F. Bigony farm west of the Fairview sign by a large group of cotton farmers, eager to confer with him on their problem.

He saw freids on the Bigony farm which had been previously poisoned and similar cotton owned by Charles Nichols near by.

SLOW DOWN
Helbig said that there is a slight slowdown in bollworm activity at this time. A new crop of eggs is likely to hatch this week, however, which will give the worm threat new impetus. Meantime, there are fields, the county agent said, where the ravages of the other insects are becoming serious.

Dr. Thomas said the wise thing to do is to keep close watch on the fields and poison promptly when threat of worms increases or appears.

Heavy concentration of insects seems to be in the north and northwest parts of the county. However, the problem is common to all parts of the county.

In a letter to farmers issued Saturday Helbig made the following report on insect infestation.

Knott and Fairview—This is the area most heavily hit this week with all four worms being found and a lot of poisoning being done.

Salem Church area and Coahoma—Leafworms and cabbage loopers primarily in dryland cotton, with a small amount of bollworms however some not being mistler heavily enough to warrant poisoning. Irrigated spots show a bigger buildup, warranting control. Beet army worms are also being a problem in some fields.

Luther, Gay Hill and Vincent—These areas show a light buildup and in spots all three major worms are present. Egg deposits were a day or two later than the Fairview area and need for poisoning is questionable, except in spots.

Lomax and Elbow—Leafworms, a light bollworm infestation, and loopers in older cotton. Dryland cotton, which is late, has a light infestation generally, bringing the question of its having time to produce, as well as dry conditions which exist. Answers to these questions would make the decision much easier.

The need for rain became more than critical during the week.

Some farmers who have late cotton just now beginning to show blooms and early squares were particularly distressed by the prolonged dry weather.

They are soon to face a decision whether to take a gamble and spend precious dollars on poison or to throw in the sponge.

Their decision will have to be made on whether it is to their advantage to fight the insect pests and possibly salvage a few bales from their late cotton or whether it is economically best to let the fields go by the board.

COSTLY
Poisoning is costly. Each time the farmer has to poison, he is forced to spend from $1 (which is the lowest possible figure) to $2 for poison per acre. Since poisoning has to be done several times as a common rule, the cost becomes high.

Farmers are becoming disturbed, Helbig said, by another development.

Helbig pointed out: "Some reports have been received and checked out where there was doubt concerning sufficient kill of some of these worms. We would like to point out that a 100 per cent kill is unusual. A poison program will give only control, not a 100 per cent kill, and occasionally, there is a need, if 5-7 days, where the eggs have just hatched out. There are exceptions, such as a seasonable tolerance, requiring a change from 3-10-40 or 2-1 spray. Re-application of 15-20 pounds of dust and 1-2 quarts of 2-1, however, will more than likely do the job."

Dr. Burnett Moves To Temple Station

Dr. Earl Burnett, who has been headquartered at the Big Spring Field Station since May, 1957, is being transferred to Temple, by the Agricultural Research Service.

Dr. Burnett served as superintendent of the Big Spring Field Station from May, 1957, until January, 1962, when he was promoted to Research Investigations Leader. The announcement was made by Dr. J. R. Johnston, chief Soil and Water Conservation Research Division, Southern Plains Branch. During his tenure, the Big Spring Field Station has made notable progress in soil and water conservation research. Major emphasis in the research effort has been placed on wind erosion control, moisture conservation and soil compaction. Several research publications have been issued concerning the results of this research.

In recognition of these accomplishments, Dr. Burnett was cited for outstanding service and awarded a certificate of merit by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in 1960.

Dr. Burnett will continue to maintain close contact with the research at Big Spring since he has technical responsibility for soil management research in the Southern Plains. He will also continue to conduct much of his personal research at this location.

The change in headquarters will be effective Sept. 17. However, the Burnetts are moving to Temple immediately in order that their son, Dusty, may enroll at the beginning of the school term. The Burnetts have taken an active part in church and civic affairs while in Big Spring. Dr. Burnett has been president of the Brotherhood at the First Baptist Church, president of the Texas Little League, member of the Downtown Lions Club and a worker in the United Fund. In addition to her church work, Mrs. Burnett has been active in several phases of garden club work, having served as secretary of the Spaders Garden Club.

"We sincerely regret leaving Big Spring," Dr. Burnett said. "We have made many friends and have enjoyed living here as much as any place we have ever been. We hope that our friends will stop by to see us when in the Temple area."

A Devotional For The Day

Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house. (Matthew 5:15.)

PRAYER: Dear God, we thank Thee for the good light that has come from Thee through faithful witnesses in Christian history. Forgive us for those occasions when we, claiming to be Christians, have failed to honor and glorify Thee. We pray that what we do and say today may be an expression of the good news. Create in us clean hearts, O God. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Settle It And Let It

There is a probability that bids will be asked in October for the eastern part of the Interstate 20 loop to swing along the northern part of Big Spring.

One impediment after another has been overcome, but apparently now the way is open for letting this portion of the multi-million dollar project.

So far as we can ascertain, the only real obstacle in letting the entire project is in closing an agreement between the United States Department of Agriculture and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads for right of way across the USAD experiment station. This also involves some land clearances and relocations as well as land.

However, this has been in the mill for four years and it seems to us that this is more than ample time for two major agencies to have come to a formal agreement. Basic understanding was attained on the matter a long time ago, and now all that remains, apparently, is for final agreements to be blessed and signed in Washington.

The Texas Highway Department and USDA officials here have acted expeditiously and are more anxious than most to have this matter settled.

We trust that some way can be found to attend to this matter promptly at the final levels. There is little logic in undertaking half of a loop when all it might be accomplished at the same time. Why have things torn up and the public inconvenienced at two different intervals, and why has part of a loop dead-ended for a year when there is no real need for this delay?

Young Lives Can Be At Stake

Police have expressed concern about youngsters riding double on bicycles.

And well they and the parents of bike-riding children ought to be concerned. Bike safety is difficult enough to maintain when a child is in full and sole control, but the added uncoordinated weight of another child can make turning and stopping awkward and dangerously slow. One child adjusting weight and balance, can avoid many difficult spots; if there is a tugging at his waist by a passenger, an obscuring of vision by someone on the bars ahead, or the shifting of weight the wrong way at the wrong moment, disaster can result.

Therefore, we hope that parents and others responsible for the safety of children will see to it that there is no double riding of bikes. Young lives could be at stake.

Marquis Childs
The United Nations Bond Issue

WASHINGTON—Tightened up by the Foreign Relations Committee, the measure authorizing the President to purchase United Nations bonds is coming up shortly for action by the House. The road has been long and rough and the ending is still uncertain as the UN comes close to exhausting its credit to finance peace-keeping activities in the Congo and in Suez.

THANKS IN NO small part to Minority Leader Everett McKinley Dirksen, the bill was passed by the Senate by a vote of 70 to 22 nearly five months ago. As originally put forward, the measure provided for purchase outright of $25,000,000 in UN bonds, with the President authorized to advance another $75,000,000 to match what other UN nations put up. Dirksen and Majority Leader Mike Mansfield joined in a substitute leaving the method, rate and duration of the financing up to the President in the full $100,000,000.

AS REVISED BY THE House committee, the bill specifies that bonds may be bought only in amounts matching other purchases. For several reasons Administration officials have not been too concerned about this provision.

In the first place, 17 countries have already put up $25,540,000. On this list are members such as Ireland and Sweden that have contributed manpower for the perilous Congo operation. In addition, another 31 member nations have pledged $45,260,000. No one doubts that sooner or later the total will be close to the hundred-million mark.

BUT ANOTHER reason why the House version is considered even preferable to the Senate bill comes down to the balance of power in the UN and the attitude toward the United States in the world organization. With this country paying so large a share of the bill, some members—and particularly the smaller and newly independent states—have looked on Uncle Sam as an easy target who could always be counted on to pick up the tab. While failing to assume their share of responsibility they nevertheless reserved the right to put the blame on the United States for any failing. This attitude, together with the rapidly swollen membership list and each nation having one vote in the General Assembly helps to explain the opposition to the UN that has been especially vocal on the extreme right. By putting the loan on a matching basis all members will be held responsible for a share of the burden.

DEFEAT OF THE Administration proposal would be considered a repudiation of the UN. Chief American delegate Adlai Stevenson, who has taken a shrewd and realistic approach to the tangle of power politics in the world organization.

CORN STARCH
COLUMB'S Ohio — Marketing specialists at Ohio State University claim the sugar in sweet corn starts turning to starch shortly after the corn is picked. This change takes place more rapidly at higher temperatures.

Around The Rim
Let's Keep It In Simple Terms

As one whose general philosophy is that the world has been on its way to h-1 in a handbasket for some time, I must lament one of the trends that go along. That is, the more sophisticated we get, the more words we dream up to use, and a poor guy who thought that McGuffey's Reader had the last word just can't keep up any more.

A WRITER discussed the other day some of the terms developing because of the space age. Here's a sentence that came from one of the smarties supposed to be keeping up with the Russians: "The cost effectiveness figure of merit for boost systems is dollars per pound of payload in operation. By the techniques of operational analysis, both current and cumulative values of this parameter can be estimated at various points during the projected useful life of a hypothetical boost system for a specific mission or range of missions."

IN OTHER WORDS, if you don't get her off the ground, boys, she ain't gonna go. There are such words creeping into the language—not mine, but somebody's—as parameter, interface, definite and cybernetics. We'll get back to that last one in a minute.

Big words have an attraction for some people. I always had it drummed into me that the most effective writing was that which used the shortest, most easily understood words, but then I wondered why the dictionary had so many big ones in it.

You know, there's no use saying "indignity septuagenarian" when you could say "poor old man." Or why say another character is afflicted with a "magnitudinous nasal promontory" when all he has is a big nose?

TRUE, UNUSUAL words have an attraction to the intellectually curious. That feature in the Reader's Digest that gives you a choice of definitions for a list of words is, I think, quite popular, and a person always feels self-satisfied when he checks and sees that he passed the test (and no peeking!) with a better-than-average score.

Nevertheless, one feels a little more comfortable around familiar words, and the old favorites ought to do for us run-of-the-mill citizens. Saw a list of words the other day that a smart writer would avoid. They include trauma, palpable, ambivalent, contumacious, aficionado, collate, meretricious, denigrate, infrangible, duplicitous, viable, atypical, and atonal.

YOU CAN COUNT on my avoiding them, because for all I know some of them are not to be used in mixed company. And others might get you in trouble with the Justice Department. As I say, with the world headed in the direction that it is, there's little time left to delve into the dictionary.

HOWEVER, I did run across that "cybernetics," and I can't even find it in the dictionaries around this office. So now, I am curious I would like, with a great show of confidence, to work it into a conversation some evening, but hesitate to because it may be reserved for medical groups or space scientists. If you know what it means, you might let me know. But don't call until Monday, and don't call at all unless it's a nice word. We got too many big ones, and dirty ones, as it is. —BOB WHIPKEY

We're Not Laps Behind In The Progress Parade

Statistics don't always lie, but half-stated, they are apt to mislead.

Thus John F. Kennedy keeps lamenting about the slow rate of economic growth. He did it as a candidate during the Presidential campaign. He does it now as President.

We've been losing about $30,000,000,000 a year in output because of under-utilized manpower and plant capacity, he says. Our rate of growth has been inadequate—only about 3 per cent a year.

And now Gunnar Myrdal describes ours as a stagnant economy. If enough people say it, too many people will believe it. Myrdal is an internationally known Swedish economist whose book, "The American Dilemma," did a great deal of good in the U. S. It was published in 1944. Subsequently, Myrdal served in the Swedish cabinet and became executive secretary of the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe in Geneva.

In a recent interview in the New York Times Myrdal set 5 per cent to 6 per cent a year as a desirable growth rate for the U. S. "SLUGGISHNESS" OVERSATURATED. To achieve this he prescribed a "practical economic package," a massive increase in public expenditures on schools and slums, an agreement by labor to demand no wage increases for a year and a half tax cuts for persons in the lower and middle-income brackets, and an agreement by private industry to invest, coupled with a big cut in taxes to spur such investment. This is an easy order from someone outside the U. S.

Unquestionably, in the postwar period the economic growth of this country has lagged behind that of many Western European countries. For this there are explanations. One: Our factories and industrial organizations were not destroyed. Our postwar take-off was from a much higher level relatively to what it was prewar. Two: We did not have as much reconstruction and rehabilitation to do, requiring vast capital outlays. Three: We ourselves, contributed greatly to the development of Western Europe and Japan through direct grants, loans, and economic and technical assistance.

which spurred their growth vis-à-vis ours. Four: As the freemost industrial nation in the world, we were pace-setter. Others could copy and emulate. We had to innovate. French, Italian, and Western German manufacturers had examples of such. U. S. consumer products—refrigerators, washing machines, etc.—which opened up an entire new world of convenience to overseas housewives. SWEDEN BEHIND U. S. These economic influences cannot be mentioned too often—nor laughed off. They cause these statistics. Here's the record of percentage increases in production since 1948:

COUNTRY	Pct. GAIN 1948-62
United Kingdom	68
Belgium-Lux	77
Sweden	129
West Germany	142
France	169
Netherlands	169
Norway	195
Italy	205
UNITED STATES	271
Japan	295

By no means is this proof that we're growing as fast as we ought to. But it does show that we're not laps behind in the progress parade.

The way you put statistics together—the date you choose for measurement—often controls the result. And nineteen-thirty-eight was a lull year in the U. S. It raises subsequent gains slightly. But it was the earliest year for which I could get acceptable data for all the countries.

Recent dissatisfaction with U. S. growth is traceable to the slowing down in the rate of recovery this year and the slump in stock prices. But recent indicators have turned favorable. Auto sales are strong; durable goods orders rose sharply in July, and the rate of business failures—which was prophetic in 1958—has dropped markedly. Prosperity isn't ready for last rites.

Imperfect the statistics are. Yet, looking at them we can justifiably ask: are these gains stagnant?

MIAMI, Fla. — Terry Watkins, 18, University of Miami freshman, collected better than $2 per hour for sitting. He wasn't baby-sitting. Watkins sat cross-legged in the traditional Yoga meditation pose for 48 hours on a dormitory table and won $100 from doubting classmates.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can a person have a borderline case of diabetes that would not show up in the usual urinalysis? If so, how would it be discovered? —W. L. S.

Yes, it can happen, usually in people over 50 in whom the urine must not show sugar, although the blood sugar is too high. In case of any suspicious sign, a blood sugar test is always essential for positive determination of diabetes. If the result is doubtful—as can happen—a "sugar tolerance test" is performed, which shows the answer.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have neuritis in my legs. The doctor gave me some pills but they only help a little. Is there any cure? —MRS. M.V.

Neuritis comes from "neuro," meaning nerve, and "itis," meaning inflammation or disease. Naturally there are different

WASHINGTON—If official reaction to the Cosmonaut tandem flight is any indication, the world is going to end for us not with a bang or a whimper, but with a yawn. The President has sent congratulations to the Russians. Defense Secretary McNamara has declared himself "satisfied" with the American second-in-space position. NASA Administrator Webb has called a press conference and expressed confidence that we will beat Russia to the moon.

NOT UNTIL A full week after the Cosmonauts had flown was there anything that approached the alarm that this event deserved. Senator Cannon 'D-New' prepared a press release lamenting the Pentagon's lethargy and the Administration's "fixation" on peace-in-space, dating it as a story for Monday, August 20. But one of the wire services, sensing something new here, broke the story a little in advance.

Cannon received a phone call from Secretary McNamara, shouting in tone from anguish to anger, as if to say, "How dare a Democrat do this to us peace-lovers!" There followed a lively go-round on the Senate floor in which Goldwater, Cooper, Stephen Young and Proxmire agreed that Cannon, who is on both the Space and Armed Services Committees, might have something there.

WELL, IT SEEMED about time for somebody to sound the alarm. In writing several columns on the subject, I was reduced to digging into the past to find authoritative warnings of what it would mean if Russia beat us to the establishment of a military force in Space. Apalling for the seven days following the proof that Russia had a capacity to outflank us with Space ships and Space platforms from which they could riddle us with H-bombs from unreachably distances, the official reaction in Washington was one of ho-hum.

NOW, PERHAPS, we will get cracking.

but this is far from certain. The President seems to have his mind on the Congressional elections which, if they go hard against him, could isolate him in history as a discredited one-termer. The Vice President, although chairman of the Space Council, is headed for another good-will tour abroad. It will take many more speeches like Cannon's, and many more columns than mine, to stir this Administration from its dream of peace-and-politics, and to mobilize the nation for the mightiest war effort of them all.

Since we need to start somewhere, I have continued to search the records for a launching platform from which Congressional action might be mounted. Back in 1950, a Senate subcommittee on Government Organization for Space Activities compiled 747 pages of testimony on what's wrong with our Space effort. I use the present tense because everything that was wrong three years ago is still wrong—only more so.

AT THE FINISH of the hearings, the subcommittee made these general findings: "Space research should be conducted with a sense of urgency and with high priority support. The distinction between civilian Space activities and military requirements is difficult to determine. The challenge the Soviet Union has given us, calls for hard work and sacrifice. "SOVIET SCIENCE and technology are making great strides and picking up momentum with passing time. They are already ahead of us in rocket engines." Two Congresses, two Presidents, two Defense Secretaries have had these warnings before them. "Urgency, priority, hard work and sacrifice. . . Words without actions." Bipartisan Coalition Saves Us

WASHINGTON — There certainly is a "mess in Washington," these days. It is due almost entirely to the fact that the Democratic party is split into a radical—or so-called "liberal"—faction and a conservative faction.

Actually, the record of recent years shows that a Democratic-controlled Congress gets along better with a Republican president who tends to be conservative than with a Democratic president. For the radical wing of the Democratic party produces an unstable and confusing situation. Claims were made during the 1960 election campaign that because the nation had experienced an era of "divided government," it would be better to have both the legislative and executive branches of the government in the hands of the Democrats. But this has not turned out to be a remedy, either.

SOME ASPECTS of the whole problem of presidential leadership at a time like this were interestingly discussed the other day by the conservative Democrat, Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, often referred to as one of the most powerful men in the Senate. He is a forthright individual who expresses his convictions clearly and sticks to them. He led the fight against the President's legislative proposals on medical care for the aged. Sen. Kerr was asked on an NBC program, "Meet the Press," whether he and other members of the Democratic party in Congress were "going to be dictated to from the White House." He replied:

"WHY CERTAINLY we are not going to be dictated to by the White House, any more than the White House is going to be dictated to by us. No man in the Senate respects or loves the President of the United States any more than I do. And I shall act on that basis. But I love the people of Oklahoma more than I do the President of the United States."

Mr. Kerr was also asked by Richard Wilson of the Cowles publications the following question: "Do you feel that it is appropriate for a man who represents one state to insist upon his point of view above the point of view of a man who is elected by all the people of all the states?"

"WELL," replied Sen. Kerr, "if a man doesn't represent the viewpoint of his constituents, they will get rid of him and send somebody here that will. You know when this government was set up and the Constitution was written, it was written so that each state would have two senators. And there was a great divergence of interest at the time that that Constitution was written and the first 13 states sent their representatives here. The divergence is even greater today. "But remember this, Mr. Wilson, that that divergence between all of the economic groups in this country and the sum total of their welfare is what makes up the strength, the economic progress, the position, the growth and development of this country. And certainly the Constitution said, 'No man shall be denied the right of petition to his Congress,' and that means whether he is a worker, an employer, a farmer, a trucker, a railroader, a power man, an oil man, a manufacturer, a lawyer, a doctor, or whatever his business is. "THE SUM TOTAL of all those economic interests make up the sum total of America. And the men in the Congress represent those various interests. And God grant that they always do, because if they didn't, then you would have one group of Americans superior over another and then we would cease to be a democracy and lose the benefits of a representative form of government, because, to make that work, we must represent all the people in this country. "WHAT REALLY has happened to America is that "public interest" is often interpreted, even by a President, as synonyous with political interest. Party responsibility, which was emphasized for decades in American history, has not been fixed in recent years because of rivalry between factions within a party. A bipartisan coalition for more than 30 years now has controlled a majority in both houses of Congress. This has saved America from radicalism.

To Your Good Health Research Goes On To Help Asthma Sufferers

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
A $125,000 contrivance called a "climatron" is being used at the University of Pennsylvania to try to find out what incites or affects asthma attacks. The machine is in fact a "climate control chamber" big enough to live in. Two teenage girls recently spent a couple of weeks in it.

Doctors can provide any kind of climate they choose: dry moist, cool warm, high or low barometric pressure. The flow of air, even the humidity of the atmosphere which appears to have distinct effects on people. We know a good deal about asthma of course. Allergy is its basic cause, swelling the tissues and constricting the air passages for breathing. We have convincing evidence that emotional disturbances often trigger attacks but we don't know what physical connection exists. We just know this happens. We can ease many asthma cases by finding out the things to which the patient is allergic and teaching him or her to avoid them. Some drugs ease attacks of wheezing.

Dr. Eugene A. Hildreth, in charge of the "climatron" work, remarks that "some cases of asthma are simple to understand and manage. For example, a patient may be sensitive only to ragweed pollen and we can give medication prior to the season to prevent or minimize the attacks. For other, there is no clear-cut factor. Attacks can be triggered by almost anything, from laughing at a comedy scene on TV to stepping from a hot room to the cold outdoors."

A "heavy" atmospheric day bothers some. Is this because of barometric pressure, or because strong hangs more densely? A good many different kinds of patients, no doubt, must be tested before any patterns begin to emerge, but every scrap of information will add to our total ability to control asthma.

It should be of interest to patients to realize how much one case differs from another. I hope it will be of some comfort and encouragement, too, for them to know that research continues steadily in many medical centers.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have neuritis in my legs. The doctor gave me some pills but they only help a little. Is there any cure? —MRS. M.V.

Shingles, being a virus infection of a nerve, is one form of neuritis. Bell's palsy, or paralysis of a facial nerve, is another. Sciatica, stemming from pressure on the sciatic nerve, sometimes from a damaged disc in the spine, is still another. Alcohol and certain chemicals can cause neuritis. Passing infections usually clear up by themselves, with the use of medication to help over the more painful period. If pressure is causing the pain, then the pressure must be relieved by correcting whatever has gone wrong.

Give God A Chance—God Will Open Doors For You!

SHARING

Sharing isn't one of those things that come naturally. It takes a fair bit of "character building" before two youngsters get to the point where they're happy to go fifty-fifty on so much as a bottle of pop!

Fred and Marilyn, as it happens, have learned a lot about sharing in church. For, many years ago, Christ clearly demonstrated that man should be neither selfish nor greedy, and that to live successfully he must learn to give not only of himself, but of his possessions.

In a small, childlike, but completely joyous way, Fred and Marilyn are putting these teachings into practice — just as in many more serious ways, they will be putting other teachings of the Church into use, throughout their lives.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

GEORGE HARMON DAUGHTRY

Early Birthday Party Today

George Harmon Daughtry is celebrating his 100th birthday a month early today, in the home of his daughter, Mrs. V. C. Barber, 1103 East Magnolia, Midland. Friends are asked to call between 3-5 p.m.

Daughtry, a resident of Big Spring, was born Sept. 27, 1892 on a farm in Alabama. He is observing his birthday a month early, as his children can be with him now.

He married Miss Lola Harrison in 1894. Their children are Mrs. R. J. Findley, 1810 Owens, and Johnnie Daughtry, who died in 1926 in Alabama. Daughtry married again in January 1903. The five children from this marriage are Mrs. Duffie Daughtry Seldon, Jodie Daughtry, who is deceased, Mrs. W. M. Cartwright, Mrs. Curtis Brown and Mrs. Barber. He has 24 grandchildren, 43 great-grandchildren and six great-great-grandchildren.

Daughtry remained a resident of Alabama until 12 years ago, when he moved to Big Spring to live with Mrs. Findley. He was a farmer in Alabama until his retirement in 1936. His age has not prevented trips to his home state, and he goes back once a year. Daughtry talks about his youth and life in Alabama. He was too young to fight in the Civil War.

LOOKS AT BOOKS

A TIME IN THE SUN by Jane Barry. Published by Doubleday and Co.

Clifton Fadiman calls Jane Barry's new novel A Time in the Sun "a western for readers with grown up minds." The description seems to fit and perhaps this is why the Book-of-the-Month club chose it as one of its double selections for September.

The novel has an Arizona setting and the time is 1870. The territory is still primitive and into this scene, the author injects Anna Stillman, a gently reared American girl, who is captured by the Apaches. The capture takes place near the frontier settlement of Tucson as the girl travels to join her fiancé at a military post. Anna's traveling companion, a Mexican girl, Ysabel, is also taken by the Indians.

The Apaches agree to release Ysabel for a sizeable ransom but they refuse to surrender Anna the "white-eyes nina", as they call her.

The complex story Mrs. Barry tells revolves around the reasons the Apaches have for not wanting to surrender Anna, and the efforts of Linus Degman, her fiancé to rescue her.

Degman turns to a rugged veteran of the Confederacy John Shafter in his search for help in his rescue attempts. Shafter, a drifter and a loner, who knows the mountains and deserts almost as well as the Apaches, sets out with two of his cronies and finally rescues Anna.

But during her captivity Anna has fallen in love with Joaquin, a half-breed with the swarthy skin and the black hair of his Apache mother and the blue eyes of his white father. Far from welcoming her release, Anna fiercely resents it and begs Shafter, the only man trusted by both the Army men and the Indians, to take her back to Joaquin.

In his critique, Fadiman says: "That a woman should have written A Time in the Sun is confounding. Her heroine is interesting enough—that celebrant of the primitive, D. H. Lawrence, might have liked her. But, to tell the truth, she is a lay figure when set against Mrs. Barry's Army men, veteran scouts and desert sun-fighters. These shaggy specimens the author appears to understand from the inside. Their fanatical masculinity, their love of violence, their bewilderment when life confronts them with situations unresolvable by action, their dependence on absurd yet touching codes of gallantry, their special brand of understated humor, their stoic reticence, the unquestioning reliance of some of them on the doctrine of racial superiority—all of this Mrs. Barry exposes not only with skill but with an intuitive sympathy surprising in a woman."

It will also be apparent to readers that Jane Barry has more than a superficial acquaintance with the Southwest. As a matter of fact, she has called New York state home for most of her life. She explains this:

Hemingway Story

His home town turns out to welcome a returning hero, the fictional Nick Adams, in "Adventures of a Young Man," film story that parallels the youth of the late, great Ernest Hemingway, and based on several of his stories. The film, which opens today at the Ritz Theatre, already has gleaned some of the world's top motion picture honors.

Starred with Little League Bryan Russell

Maris, Mantle Star In Movie

A story of big and Little Leaguers, Columbia Pictures' "Safe at Home" brings Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris of the New York Yankees to the Ritz Theatre screen Thursday. More than baseball action figures in "Safe at Home" it is a film for ardent or casual baseball fans and to their wives, daughters and girl friends, as well. On the baseball side, M and M play themselves as do Yankee pitcher Whitey Ford and Yankee manager Ralph Houk. The Little Leaguers are led by young Tom Vand and Steve Ritch, the budding "luckiest kid in the world" because of his role. He is who pretends to his own teammates that he knows the big leaguers, his baseball and he is forced to try to make good. He runs away to the Yankee training camp at Fort Lauderdale, and ultimately gets to meet Mantle and Maris. However, they will have no part in his deception, they send him home again to admit the unpleasant truth to his friends. "Safe at Home" ends happily, of course. Co-starred in the new film are veteran actor William Frawley, as a Yankee coach and Don Collier, who provide the film's romantic interest. "Safe at Home" is based on a story by Bryan Russell who today is being called the "luckiest kid in the world" because of his role. He is who pretends to his own teammates that he knows the big leaguers, his baseball and he

'Butterfield 8' Advances Laurence Harvey's Career

Laurence Harvey is a slender, dark haired, personable young man with a seductive voice and a deceptive manner. If he gives the impression of dapper nonchalance at first meeting this reflects a philosophy which has brought him success. He says, "You are what you think. To be big, one must act big. For Harvey, this mental attitude towards success has paid rich dividends. For two consecutive years, he has been voted England's top actor. He was nominated for an Academy Award for his performance in "Room at the Top" and with his role opposite Elizabeth Taylor in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's film version of John O'Hara's novel, "Butterfield 8," he advances another major step along the frequently rocky road he set out on a dozen odd years ago. Harvey was born in Lithuania. He moved to South Africa with his parents when he was six, served with the British World War II forces in Italy and Africa, and on his discharge landed in London, bent on becoming an actor. The British equivalent of the GI bill gave him an income of seven dollars a week. With this he set out to conquer the theatre. A brief association with the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts in 1946 proved mutually disenchanted. He did, however, appear in the graduation play and was offered a seven-year contract with Warner Brothers. "I was not ready and I had the sense to know it," Harvey said. Instead, I went into the Manchester Repertory Theatre. A year later, the J. Arthur Rank organization offered me a similarly complimentary contract. I turned it down to continue in the theatre. I felt it was a matter of not how much I knew about my craft at the time, but how little!" Harvey's decisions were not easy to make in his restricted financial circumstances. But as a result he obtained a thorough training in the classics. By 1952, he was invited to Stratford-on-Avon for the season, and returned for another season two years later. When he appeared at the Royal Court Theatre, critics called him the logical successor to Sir Laurence Olivier. Between theatre engagements, Harvey appeared in motion pictures. Although Hollywood was an ultimate goal, he was in no hurry. He was tested for a role in "Yankee Doodle" but nothing happened. Warner Brothers then cast him in "King Richard and the Crusaders." While the film failed to advance his career, again he was offered a contract. And again he turned down what on the surface seemed like a golden opportunity. Then came "Room at the Top." "It was the motion picture I had been waiting for," he said. "The war was worthwhile."

Three Stooges Meet Martians In New Film

Before the Martians can invade Earth, they must first do away with America's strangest weapon—the Three Stooges. Actually, in "The Three Stooges in Orbit," Thursday at the Ritz Theatre, the irrepressible zany trio demonstrate the secret weapon so much as they are its witless guardians. The weapon itself is a happy combination of submarine, helicopter and tank, the creation of an eccentric professor who is the Stooges' landlord. The Three Stooges in Orbit is a wild story tailor-made to the comedy specifications of its zany star trio. Their ineptness around the new invention during its demonstration for the armed services, their cowardly approach to the Martian spy setup, and their desperate efforts to prevent the seizure of the all-purpose machine contribute to the new Columbia picture's laugh getters.

Some brief scenes result from use of the new Artiscop process, an invention of producer Norman Maurer. Artiscop permits the filming of "live" action—action—and translates those scenes into line drawings, cartoons without the need for artists. Artiscop pops up toward the film's close. Carol Christensen and Edson Stroll are featured in "The Three Stooges in Orbit." Edwina Ullman penned the screenplay. From a story by Maurer, who also produced the film, a Normandy production, Edward Bernds directed.

The Lone Star Flag of Texas could well have been hoisted over Universal-International Studios in Hollywood during the filming of "To Hell and Back." Big Technicolor adventure being brought back for an encore showing at the Jet Theatre beginning Saturday. The first war hero to portray himself on the screen, Audie Murphy, most decorated soldier of World War II, is the star of "To Hell and Back." This dramatic thriller is based on Murphy's autobiography which tells of his exploits which began when he was a youngster on a poverty-stricken farm in Northeast Texas, and right up to the memorable day when he received the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Luckiest Kid In The World

"The luckiest kid in the world" was the title accorded 9-year-old Bryan Russell when he was chosen from among hundreds of youngsters to play baseball with Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, and other members of the New York Yankees, during Spring training in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Young Russell appears with baseball's M&M in the new Columbia Picture, "Safe at Home!" William Frawley, Patricia Barry and Don Collier are co-stars. For all his youthfulness, Bryan has a somewhat enviable record as an actor, and here too the phrase about being "the luckiest kid" may be applied. He soon will appear with James Stewart and Debbie Reynolds in "When the West Was Young," and with Laurence Harvey and Claire Bloom

In Right Place On Both Counts

Star of TV's "Outlaw" series, Don Collier currently co-stars in Columbia Pictures' "Safe at Home!" The Mickey Mantle-Roger Maris film, Collier, who is six foot three and weighs 190 pounds, formerly attended Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, on a football scholarship. He majored in physical education, but doubled with the college drama group.

His stepfather is a mechanic for the Foy Dunlap Service Station here.

Bike Hit Car, Check Reveals

A report in Wednesday's Herald, taken from the Big Spring police activity sheet, regarding a collision between a car, and a bicycle ridden by two boys, stated that the bicycle was struck by the car. Investigating police said evidence showed that the bicycle ran into the side of the car driven by Mable Beauchamp, 1214 E. 15th, on the College Park Shopping Center parking lot.

No report of the incident will be entered on police records because it occurred on private property.

"When an officer is called to a scene on private property he may make a written report to show that he was present," Chief Jay Banks said. "Traffic laws don't apply when it happens on private property and we do not enter the incident on our records."

DEAR ABBY

She Should Forgive All

DEAR ABBY: I have two daughters. One is 28, married and has two children. The other is 23 and single. The single one was employed by my son-in-law for two years. All this time they carried on a secret love affair. The other one found out about it and started divorce proceedings. I got upset and forbade my unmarried daughter to enter my home again. Now, the other one is being courted by her husband again and it looks like they are going back together. She says if I have anything to do with her sister she will never speak to me. I love them both, Abby. The other one blames her sister—and her husband—for what happened. What should I do?

BROKEN-HEARTED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Your older daughter is wrong to demand that you have anything to do with your younger daughter. I can't blame her for feeling resentment toward her sister, but she has it in her heart to forgive her husband. She should forgive her sister, too.

Drummer Boy Is A Pro At Age 3

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Drummer boy Jimmy Bradley Jr. is a professional now.

He has a three-year contract which will run until he's an old-timer 7 years of age.

It was approved by Judge Ben Koenig.

In California, minors' contracts must get court approval.

After court, the bouncy little

4-year-old put on a demonstration which rocked the courthouse to its steel-and-concrete core.

Jimmy's contract is with Paramount Television. It calls for 26 weeks' work a year at $100 a week. It will pay him $200 a week in the third year, if all options are taken.

The boy's father, James Sr., said that Jimmy started beating out perfect rhythms with two pencils in his crib when he was only 17 months old. James Sr., a professional drummer himself, said that Jimmy is now better than he

Anderson County Atty. R. E. Swift asked the opinion.

The opinion said the city charter was amended by Article 667-B of the state penal code.
