'If Only We Were Grown Up'

Going to school has an exciting, mysterious aura to it for youngsters like these two little girls who are not old enough to go. But how they wish they were "grown up" so that they too, could begin the annual trek back to the classrooms today. Thousands of other young people who were old enough today were probably wishing they had never "grown up" as school opened in all local public schools, bringing an end to the lazy summer days and marking the beginning of months of books, homework and exams.

More Than 6,000 Students Enroll In Big Spring System

By noon today an estimated 6,871 students had enrolled in Big Spring's elementary and secondary schools, a little more than 300 below the prediction of 7,200 officials had set earlier.

Of the more than 4,000 elementary school enrollments, 431 had registered at Airport, 408 at Bauer, 365 at Boydston, 255 at Cedar Crest, 613 at College Heights, 214 at Kate Morrison, 175 at Lakeview, 549 at Marcy, 207 at Park Hill and 750 at Washington Place.

The counts at Boydston, College Heights, Marcy and Park Hill were above anticipated figures, while Lakeview was still registering students. Although Washington was under the early prediction, registration there is not complete.

In the secondary schools, Goliah Junior High had enrolled 898, while Lakeview had 61 and Runnels recorded 642. The senior high had a total of 1,085. Goliah enrollment was some 30 over last year's first figures. Lakeview was under by three, but senior high was considerably over last year.

Man Indicted In Rice Probe Surrenders

HOUSTON (AP)—Larence Newman, one of three men indicted by a federal grand jury, investigating misuse of rice acreage allotments, surrendered at the U.S. marshal's office today.

Newman, a Lake Jackson chemical company employe, was indicted Wednesday. The grand jury also returned indictments against two former Department of Agriculture officials.

They are David Stephens of Angleton, fired as the Brazoria County manager for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, and Lucius C. Thornhill of Weller, fired from a similar job in Waller County.

T. C. Slocumb, acting chief deputy U.S. marshal, said, "We will have something on him (Stephens) before the day is over."

Stephens was reported ready to report to the marshal's office with his lawyer.

Wirtz Is Named Labor Secretary Goldberg To Supreme Court; Frankfurter Quits

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today named Undersecretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz to succeed Supreme Court Justice-designate Arthur J. Goldberg as secretary of labor.

Kennedy personally announced his selection at a news conference. The President said Wirtz, 50, has served with distinction as undersecretary since the beginning of his administration.

He added that he is confident Wirtz will carry on what he called the very fine tradition set by Goldberg in the field of labor-management relations.

Wirtz has had long experience in the labor-management field. In 1946, he was chairman of the Wage Stabilization Board.

He also has taught law at Northwestern University and at the University of Iowa.

Kennedy said he made the announcement "with great pleasure." He described Wirtz as an able lawyer with long experience in labor-management relations.

Wirtz has served as an arbitrator in many labor-management disputes. Goldberg has relied heavily upon him for mediation and negotiations in many disputes.

Wirtz is a one-time law partner of Adlai E. Stevenson, now U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ailing Felix Frankfurter, a legal legend in his own lifetime, has handed down a final, sorrowful decision as a Supreme Court justice to retire rather than attempt to carry on at a faltering pace.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ailing Felix Frankfurter, a legal legend in his own lifetime, has handed down a final, sorrowful decision as a Supreme Court justice to retire rather than attempt to carry on at a faltering pace.

Wirtz has served as an arbitrator in many labor-management disputes. Goldberg has relied heavily upon him for mediation and negotiations in many disputes.

Wirtz is a one-time law partner of Adlai E. Stevenson, now U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Frankfurter's retirement and the Goldberg appointment were announced at the outset of a presidential news conference Wednesday.

It could have been no surprise that Frankfurter stepped down from the bench, and little surprise that Goldberg received the presidential nod to step up.

Frankfurter at 79 gave way to the inevitable inroads of mounting years and waning health after his years of outstanding yet controversial service on the high court. He suffered a stroke April 5. His speech was impaired. He has been away from the court ever since.

With a twinge of pathos and a refusal to compromise with principle, Frankfurter wrote President Kennedy Tuesday of his decision.

In keeping with his years of pondering the law and the law books, Frankfurter started off by citing "28 U.S.C. (Sec. 371 B), 68 Stat. 12"—the statute permitting his retirement.

"To retain my seat on the basis of a diminished work schedule," he said, "would not comport with my own philosophy or with the demands of the business of the court. I am thus left with no choice but to regard my period of active service on the court as having run its course."

In a warm letter of reply, Kennedy voted for himself and all Americans "our respectful gratitude for the character, courage, learning and judicial dedication with which you have served your country over the last 23 years."

It was characteristic, he said, that Frankfurter had taken the judgment of his doctors and "set it sternly against your own demanding standard of judicial effectiveness."

The Kennedy reply was delivered by his special assistant on national security affairs, McGeorge Bundy.

Goldberg happened to be at the White House about that time. The President was sending him to Chicago to try to head off a strike of telegraphers against the Chicago and North Western Railway, and they had been talking about the dispute.

Kennedy, an aide said, told the secretary of Frankfurter's retirement, discussed the question of a successor, offered Goldberg the position and received an immediate acceptance.

Goldberg is 54, greying, usually smiling, always bouncing around with seemingly unflagging energy. He was among those mentioned for the Supreme Court at the time Kennedy made his first appointment to the tribunal—a that of Deputy Atty. Gen. Byron R. White.

Collegians Gain Victory Over State Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The story of how the University of Arkansas' mixed chorus went to Europe and won first place in an international competition in Italy came out today.

The chorus financed its trip on a "do-it-yourself" basis after being turned down by a State Department screening agency as "not good enough" for warrant federal assistance.

To make the victory sweeter, the Schola Cantorum was publicly congratulated by President Kennedy in his news conference Wednesday and next Tuesday will sing for him in the White House Rose Garden—just a "lucid holier" so to speak, from the State Department.

The "not good enough" finding was made by the American National Theater and Academy ANTA, which acts as adviser to the State Department on providing aid to such groups going abroad.

Telling the story today, Sam J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said the chorus began planning the trip early this year and contacted him to learn if State Department aid, through the Bureau of Cultural and Educational Affairs, might be forthcoming. A tape was submitted to ANTA which said it was sorry but the chorus failed to meet necessary standards.

After that the chorus embarked on a statewide fund-raising drive giving concerts and seeking alumni assistance.

The chorus raised the money made the trip and won the prize snatching it from 26 other groups. Now the 40-voice chorus is directed by Richard Brothers.

The Webb AFB Youth Fair one of the biggest events for base youth of the year, will be held Friday and Saturday on the baseball diamond east of the armory swimming pool.

The fair will run from 8 to 11 p.m. Friday and from 4 to 11 p.m. Saturday. Proceeds will be used for the base youth activities.

One of the highlights of the fair will be the selection of "Miss Delta" and "Mr. Talon." So far 24 contestants have entered their names.

Judges will base their selections on academics, leadership, community service, spiritual life, participation in the fair, and personality.

The contestants are dependent children of military or civilian personnel at Webb, between the ages of 13 and 17.

Contestants will meet the contest judges at a Coke party Saturday morning, 10 a.m., at the Tumbleweed Terrace Youth Center. The judges are Mrs. Larry Crow, Mayor George Zachariah and Carroll Davidson.

cycle ride, pitching, toss, cake walk, putting green, barbecue, penny toss, dart throw, watermelon patch, ice cream bar, balloons, soft drinks, snow cones, popcorn, grab-bag fish pond, twist contest, pony rides, zoo ride and hay ride.

Maj. Lawrence R. Casey, AF Group commander, is project officer for the fair but has left much of the organization functions to the base youth.

Admission price will be 25 cents per person or five tickets for $1. No charge will be made for children in arms.

Booths For Youth Fair

Anthem's Okay But Ruled Out As A Prayer

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Use of the Star-Spangled Banner as an official school prayer is illegal but, as the national anthem, it may be sung, read, and recited in public schools, the state education commissioner says.

In a formal ruling Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. also said that schools could set aside periods of silence for meditation in place of spoken prayers.

He added that there was no objection to teaching about religions in public schools, although he said the teaching of religion was unconstitutional.

Allen's decision was taken as an official statement of the State Education Department position in the wake of the U.S. Supreme Court's opinion that barred use of official prayers in public schools in New York.

The commissioner had indicated that his ruling in the case involving the Star-Spangled Banner would attempt to provide guides for school boards on what was permissible under the Supreme Court decision.

After the court ruling the Hicks-Board of Education on Long Island had designated the last stanza of the Star-Spangled Banner as a school prayer. It contains the words "in God is our trust."

Allen held that the board's action was contrary to the view of the court. The fact that it was officially adopted by the board, he said, made it an official prayer and thus illegal.

House Passes President's Emergency Public Works Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed President Kennedy's emergency public works program aimed at cutting unemployment and stimulating the economy.

Backers contend it would create as many as 300,000 new jobs, directly and indirectly.

Democratic leaders — shooting for a quick double-barreled victory — were hopeful today they could persuade the Senate to accept the measure as is.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., indicated it might not take too much persuasion for the Senate to accept quickly the $900-million measure which passed the House on a voice vote.

Kerr, author and floor manager of the previously passed Senate emergency public works bill, told newsmen there is a possibility the Senate will agree to the House version without sending it to conference to iron out differences.

The key House roll call vote came on an earlier Republican move to kill the bill by sending it back to committee. The margin was a surprising 29 votes, 221-192. House leaders had been counting on a five-vote margin.

The "Senate-passed" measure would provide for a $1.3-billion program, $750 million for immediate use this year and $550 million in standby authority next year if unemployment stays at 5 per cent or more.

The House bill has no standby authority for next year, but its $600 million for immediate use is higher than the Senate's $750 million. This could be attractive to the generally more liberal Senate.

Rep. John A. Blatnik, D-Minn., shepherded the bill through the House. One of his aides said a key amendment to the House bill brought the measure closer to the language of the Senate bill. The amendment would allow projects in some critically depressed areas to have as much as 75 per cent federal financing.

The limit for federal financing of local projects had been 50 per cent, with localities required to provide matching funds.

The House passed another amendment which eliminated a proposed federal agency, the Office of Public Works Coordination.

Republicans said the proposed $20,000-a-year director would be a "pork barrel czar."

Nineteen Republicans joined 22 Democrats against killing the bill; 148 Republicans and 44 Democrats, mostly Southern conservatives, voted to scuttle it.

Almost any kind of project could qualify under the bill, as long as it could be started immediately and finished in 12 months. These could include water and sewer lines, streets and sidewalks and public buildings—but it specifies no particular projects. Schools are excluded.

TWO SIDES

By E. H. Tarkenton, preacher, Church of Christ, 200 West Highway 80, P.O. Box 1201.

There are two sides to the plan of salvation. One is the Lord's side; the other is man's side. The sides are not quite equal. The Lord's side is on the Lord's side. Yet man's side is necessary. The Lord has made salvation conditional.

The Lord devised the plan. Eph. 1:3 made the sacrifice, and assigned for sins with his blood. Eph. 1:7 and he saves man by grace. Eph. 2:8.

Yet man has a part. He must hear the gospel. Jno. 6:44. He must believe. 3:16. He must confess Christ. That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in that thou shalt be saved. Rom. 10:9. He must repent of his sins. Repent ye therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out. Acts 3:19. Man must be baptized. And now why tarriest thou? arise and be baptized and wash away thy sins, calling on the name of the Lord. Acts 22:16.

He must also be faithful. Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee the crown of life. Rev. 2:10.

Politics May Keep Congress In Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—Politics, which usually speeds Congress to adjournment early in an election year, may keep it in session beyond the end of September this year.

Too many members are vitally interested in primary elections and nominating conventions in the next few weeks to permit any action, at least in the House, on major controversial legislation.

The House has an unwritten but never broken rule that it will not vote on days on which members are involved in primary elections.

There are two such days next week, and leaders plan to schedule no bills controversial enough to require roll call votes. The House may meet only next Tuesday and next Thursday, as many members have Labor Day speaking engagements.

NINE PRIMARIES

The following week finds nine states having primaries, while in the succeeding week New York has a convention and Massachusetts a primary. In the latter, Edward J. McCormack Jr., nephew of Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., is in a battle for the Democratic Senatorial nomination with Edward M. Kennedy, brother of the President.

The tip-off to abandonment of plans for adjournment in September came Wednesday when Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., told the House the annual foreign aid appropriation bill will not be called up until Sept. 19.

Foreign aid legislation is in more trouble than usual this year, and leaders fear that to vote on the measure before all members return from the campaign trail may get into more trouble.

OTHER WORK

Under speed-up procedure, the House could dispose of the aid bill in several days, but it then must clear the Senate Appropriations Committee, the Senate itself and a Senate-House conference committee, and then return through both branches.

Like wise, House leaders don't want to call up the Senate-passed bill to allow the United States to buy 4 N bonds while needed supporters are out campaigning.

Both the aid bill and the bond measure are "musts" on the President's program.

"Showing down" completion of Senate action in addition to the foreign aid bill and a host of annual money measures are House-passed bills revising the tax program and broadening the foreign trade program. Both are highly controversial and both still face hurdles in their final compromise stage.

NO FIXED DATE

McCormack has declined to set a fixed adjournment target date but close associates are talking about Oct. 13.

House Republican leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said he is "hoping" for an Oct. 5 getaway.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Senate Democratic leader, is not Sept. 22 as the adjournment day but conceded that legislators might be held up as long as Oct. 3.

The fever to adjourn is high, since all 435 House seats and 39 of the Senate's 100 will be up for grabs in the November election.

5,000 Deformed By Thalidomide

BOXX, Germany (AP)—An estimated 5,000 German children have been deformed by thalidomide taken by the mothers during pregnancy, a West German health official said Wednesday.

Josef Stralau told a news conference the peak obviously has passed.

Rail Strike Begins In Spite Of JFK's Efforts

CHICAGO (AP)—Operations on the Chicago & North Western Rail way, one of the nation's largest railroads, were halted today by a strike despite personal efforts by President Kennedy to avert the walkout.

Freight and passenger service along the nearly 11,000-mile line in nine Midwestern states was struck at 7 a. m. by 1,000 members of the AFL-CIO Order of Railroad Telegraphers.

It was the fourth strike called by the union since the dispute with the North Western started more than four years ago but the first to go into effect.

At the strike deadline, a spokesman for the railroad said all trains had halted. Pickets appeared at the North Western station, the carrier's general headquarters.

Union officials had said some 15,000 other employees of the line would not cross the telegraphers' picket lines.

The strike started officially five hours after union and railroad officials met in lengthy, last-minute negotiations in an attempt to settle the long dispute.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg was sent to the negotiations by President Kennedy in an attempt to reach an agreement. The government had exhausted all legal means of preventing the strike.

The chief stumbling block in the dispute is the union's demand that no telegraphers or station agents jobs that existed Dec. 3, 1957, be

Felined Collar

Earl Lee of Houston said his cat, Tidbit, hitchhikes a lot. Lee, a refinery worker, said the cat even rode his back on a picket line. Tidbit overcame his humble origin as an alley cat to win a prize as a "domestic short hair" at the North Texas Cat Club's 3rd annual Kitten Carnival in Dallas.

Goldberg Realizing A Boyhood Dream

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg has talked turkey with seamen, resolute the strike-threatened Metropolitan Opera and preached the administration's economic gospel during 19 action-filled months in the Kennedy Cabinet.

Now he's leaving to take the job of his boyhood dreams.

President Kennedy nominated Goldberg Wednesday to succeed Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter, and said of his labor secretary:

"I believe that his scholarly approach to the law, combined with his deep understanding of our economic and political systems, will make him a valuable member of the Supreme Court."

Goldberg's black-haired wife, Dorothy, said "a little boy has a dream—and it comes true." This is something incredible, he's always wanted it.

Goldberg, in Chicago for efforts to avert a threatened railroad strike said "I shall, with the approval of the Senate, dedicate myself with all humility to this high calling."

The solemn silence of the Supreme Court will be a big change for the bespectacled, gray-haired labor secretary. But he's no stranger to its marble corridors.

He has argued many major cases before the high court during 25 years as a top labor lawyer. Born in 1908, Goldberg was the youngest of eight children of a poverty-stricken Jewish couple who came to the United States from Russia. He got his first job at the age of 12, as a delivery boy.

For two years, he went to two colleges at once and worked nights to pay his way. He graduated from Northwestern University Law School, top man in the class of 1929, and got special permission to take the Illinois bar examination before he was 21.

By the mid-1930s, he was counsel for a number of unions. In World War II, Goldberg took a job with the Office of Strategic Services, organizing a giant espionage network of anti-Nazi transportation workers behind enemy lines.

As counsel for the CIO, he won the 1949 court ruling that made pensions a collective bargaining item. He helped engineer the agreement that created the AFL-CIO, and had leading roles in discontinued except by agreement between the union and the carrier. The North Western says this would give the union "an absolute veto over technological improvements and over modernization and increases in efficiency."

Quake Jolts 2 Western States

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—An earthquake shook parts of at least two states this morning. The tremor started at 6:36 a. m. and lasted about 30 seconds.

One resident in Ogden, Utah, about 30 miles north of here, reported that his cement porch was cracked. There were no other immediate reports of damage.

The earthquake was felt at Vernal, Utah, about 170 miles east of here, and at Preston, Idaho, just north of the Utah border.

One Salt Lake City resident said she was in her bathtub at the time the quake hit. "It felt like the bathtub was twisting out from under me," said Mrs. Veda Swain.

Estate Filed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A will under which Mrs. Ida Cantor left her estate to her husband, comedian Fiddie Cantor, was filed for probate in Superior Court Wednesday. The petition gave no estimate of value except that the estate would exceed $25,000.

JFK Cites Nuclear Power Spread As World Danger

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says the possibility of 10 or 15 nuclear powers by the end of the decade underscores the need for an enforceable treaty banning all atomic tests.

The President told his news conference Wednesday he and all the world would welcome a cessation of testing by next New Year's Day. But, he made clear, Soviet objection to international inspection dims the hopes of an agreement.

"I must point out again that in order to end testing, we must have workable international agreements," Kennedy said. "Gentlemen's agreements and moratoria do not provide the types of guarantees that are necessary."

Kennedy warned that when one nuclear weapon goes off, "it may mean they all go off."

"Those who oppose an agreement," he said solemnly, "should consider what our security will look like at the end of the decade if we do not have the agreement."

One of the President's opening statements was on nuclear testing, and he has returned to the subject again and again in a meeting with newsmen that produced these other items:

—Associate Justice Felix Frankfurter, 79 and ill, is retiring after 23 years on the Supreme Court and Kennedy has selected Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg to fill the vacancy.

—The President considers the U.S. foreign aid program "the most valuable weapon immediately that we have on the front lines against the Communist advance," and he finds "it very ironical that those who make the strongest speeches against Communist movements are the ones who want to cut this program the hardest."

—The United States has no evidence that Russian troops have moved into Cuba and Kennedy thinks an invasion of the Communist-aligned Caribbean country would be a mistake that could lead "to very serious consequences for many people."

—Kennedy said he is not familiar with any Russian proposal for a meeting in Berlin of the four occupying powers to discuss the divided city's future, but he said there will be a foreign ministers meeting before the U.N. General Assembly convenes next month.

—In reply to questions on other topics, Kennedy said:

Government agencies are investigating possible dangerous side-effects from the widespread use of DDT and other pesticides; farmers withholding meats and grains from the market are trying to get higher prices, not deprive consumers of their products.

—Pornographic literature is "a matter of concern for parents," but about all officials can do is enforce the laws as interpreted by the courts; the United States strongly supports Cambodia's independence and neutrality; "a very critical situation" would arise if Katanga is not integrated in the Congo.

Kennedy's statement on nuclear testing was in reply to a Soviet proposal in Geneva earlier in the day, suggesting an unpoliced ban on all tests by next Jan. 1.

The target date is reasonable, Kennedy said, but an unpoliced ban on underground tests is not. The United States learned a lesson last September when Russia broke a three-year moratorium and can't "be a party to any renewal of false hopes," he said.

Asked how an agreement signed only by the current nuclear powers would deter other countries from developing nuclear weapons, Kennedy said, "It is our hope that the signing will arrest the spread and not make it essential."

He added: "But it is only a hope."

Weather Does No Damage

By The Associated Press

Turbulent weather that set off a severe thunderstorm alert in sections of Northwest Texas trekked northward into Arkansas Thursday without dealing damage to the state.

Skies were clear to partly cloudy Thursday, but widely scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers were predicted for the southern half of the state. Summer heat was in full force Wednesday when the Weather Bureau issued an afternoon alert that called for severe thundershowers and damaging winds for sections of Northeast Texas and parts of Louisiana and Arkansas.

The Texas area was bounded by a line from DeKalb to Mineola to Henderson and San Augustine. Wednesday's temperatures ranged from 110 at Preston, one of the highest of the year in Texas, to 86 at Lufkin.

Showers were reported in South Texas where Beaumont recorded 33 of an inch during a 24-hour period ending at 6 p. m. Wednesday. Houston had 13 of an inch, Lufkin 67 and Victoria 20.

Tornado Victim

An unidentified victim of a tornado that ripped through Cameron, La., is carried by rescuers into the courthouse which was used as a shelter. Two persons are known dead and many were injured. Over 500 persons died in Cameron in 1937 when Hurricane Audrey struck.

Cameron Starts Storm Cleanup

CAMERON, La. (AP) — Undaunted by its latest battle with the elements, this low-lying coastal town starts today to clean up after a death-dealing windstorm and high waters.

It was Cameron's third severe onslaught by storms and swirling waters in less than five years.

The official casualty list shows two dead and 30 injured. Eighteen were hospitalized. The Red Cross reported 125 families affected by the storm. One home was demolished and 16 house trailers were destroyed or severely damaged.

There were 22 homes with major damage and 76 with minor damage.

"It happened in just a wink," said Deputy Sheriff Norman Labove. Labove went through 1957 Hurricane Audrey which killed about 500 persons, and the backwash of last fall's Hurricane Carla, which took no lives but brought severe flooding.

Everyone who went through the Tuesday night storm agrees it was a tornado. However, the Weather Bureau won't officially label it as a twister.

"You could see Audrey coming," said Labove, "but not that damn tornado I was looking at the wind gauge in the office. It showed 5-10 miles per hour and then suddenly it was up to 80."

This time there was no onslaught by raging waters from the Gulf of Mexico. But water surged in from marshlands and stood three to four feet deep in many sections. Authorities said they expected the muddy water to recede by daybreak.

Judge Conducts Drinking Tests, Urges More

HALIFAX, N.S. (AP) — Dist Judge Harold W. Pope told the Canadian Bar Association Wednesday he and seven other members of the Saskatchewan bar got together with a police officer and a breath analyzer for a scientific drinking experiment.

The judge from Moose Jaw said they drank for an hour to see how much it took to make their breaths go to per cent alcohol on the machine—a Canada's legal criterion for drunkenness.

At the end of the hour, said Pope, two of the eight lawyers breathed more than 85 per cent alcohol.

He urged his hearers to make similar experiments to come to grips with this terrible social problem and stop the murder on the highways.

Polio Cases Up Over Last Year

AUSTIN, AP — Texas polio cases increased this week to 187 for the year, almost four times the number of cases this time last year.

Ten new cases were reported as of Saturday to the Department of Health, including one paralytic case. The total of paralytic cases for the year is 147.

Twenty of 40 cases, including 21 paralytic, were reported this time last year.

The 10 paralytic cases include three in Lubbock County and one each in Dallas, Ellis, Harris, Harrison, Jefferson and Potter Counties.

Tough Bobbysoxer

Never underestimate the power of a woman, particularly when she's a he and a policeman to boot. New York Patrolman Robert Crowley, dressed as a bobbysoxer, holds a knife taken from a mugging suspect he said attacked him in Central Park. Crowley, six-foot 200-pounder, was one of ten husky policemen in women's garb who helped launch a new drive on street crime.

Little Labor On Labor Day

Monday, Sept. 3, thousands of Americans will observe Labor Day—for the most part by staying off the job.
 Monday will be the 80th anniversary of the creation of a holiday which is now legal in all of the states and territories of the United States and is observed in all towns and cities coast to coast.
 It will be Labor Day and here in Big Spring, the 4,000 men and women who carry union cards and are affiliated with one of a half dozen active labor organizations devoted to the advancement of the cause of labor, will be joined by nearly all of their fellow citizens in marking the one day of the year set aside to pay honor to the person who works with his hands.

Thefts Are Investigated

Big Spring police investigated two thefts and a shoplifting Wednesday. Items from a car and a lawn sprinkler were stolen, and several items taken by shoplifters at Gibson's Discount Store.
 The C&W Used Car lot, 1309 W. 4th, reported the loss of a hub and wheel from a foreign make car. A woman who lives next to the lot called police at 11:34 p.m. Wednesday and said two men were prowling. She said they took something from a car and put it in the one they were driving. The manager, Ed Cherry, came to the lot and reported the tire and wheel missing.
 Mrs. Ivory Harper, 805 Wyoming, told police that a lawn sprinkler was taken from her yard while she was away from home.
 Gibson's Discount Store reported shoplifters. Clerks told police that they witnessed the thefts of several items. A 16-year-old girl was said to have taken the items from racks, and placed them in a paper bag carried by a younger girl who then left the store. She was followed outside, stopped, and the articles found in the bag. Both were turned over to the juvenile officer.

No special program or other celebration locally is planned for the day. Some of the more enthusiastic members of the unions here will go to Odessa Monday afternoon to take part in the annual Labor Day picnic which is held in that city's Floyd Gwyn Park. A barbecue dinner will be served and the Odessa District Labor Council will present a program featuring special entertainment and guest speakers.
 From 30 to 40 Howard County residents usually attend these events and the picnics attract around 300 to 400 from the Odessa district.
 Here, as in most cities, the holiday actually will begin Saturday. With five day work weeks a widely followed custom, most of the workers in the area will be off the job from Friday afternoon to Tuesday morning. Many of the countless millions who will take off on Labor Day trips.
 Highways will teem with traffic and the day will be anything but a period of leisure for the officials

ON THE SHELF

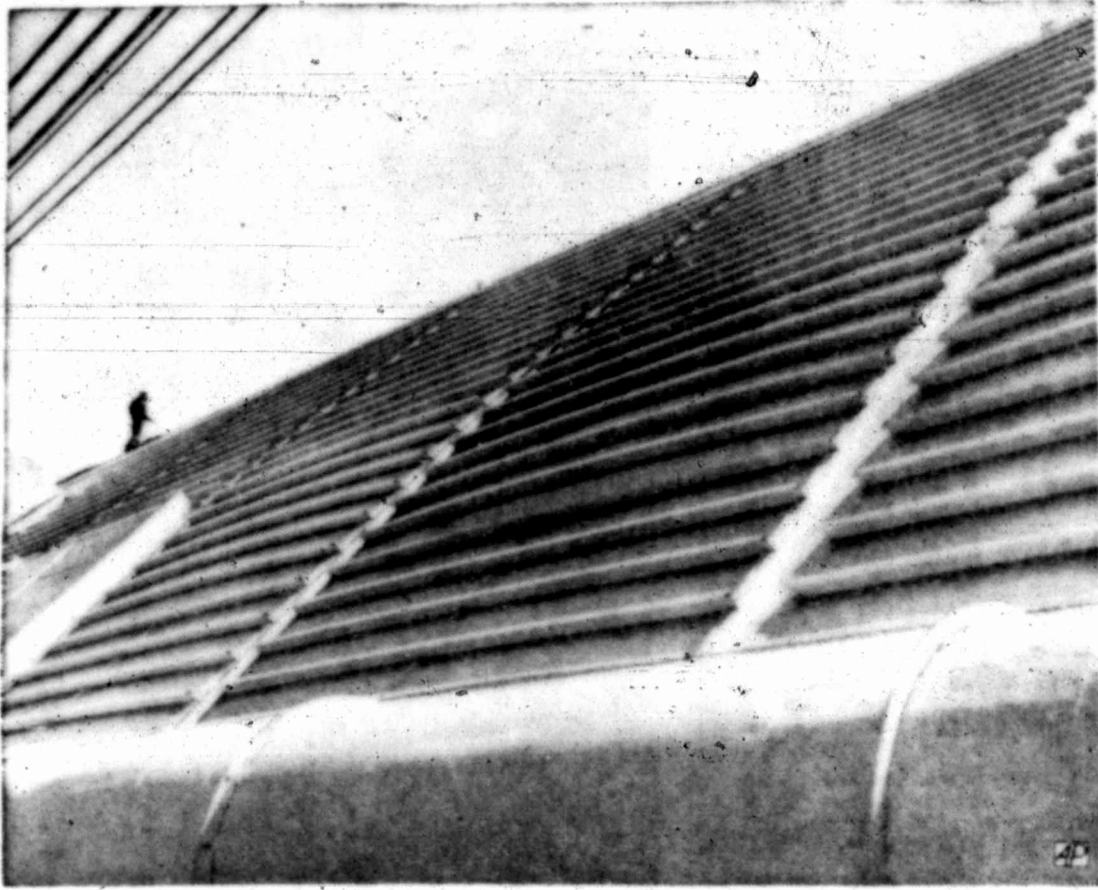

THE TRIAL OF MRS. ABRAHAM LINCOLN. By Homer Crox. Quell. Sloan and Pearce. $3.95.
 By The Associated Press
 It is 1875; the scene is Chicago; the widow of a President of the United States is on trial; the issue is her sanity. This is the dramatic setting for Crox's latest excursion into Americana.
 It is not an unknown chapter of history; but no one else to this reviewer's knowledge has done a better job of resurrecting the story and giving it an authentic treatment.
 The story is starkly told. It is not embellished by author's comment or opinion, and it rarely strays from the courtroom—and yet the conclusion is inescapable that Mrs. Lincoln was in large measure railroaded into an asylum. There is no doubt she was eccentric, but whether she was insane in the modern meaning of the term is very doubtful. At the same time it is apparent that she was incapable of managing her affairs and it is possible that Robert Lincoln, the son who instigated the action, had no other recourse. We could wish that Crox had dealt more at length with Robert's agonizing dilemma.
 Official records of the trial are lacking; all that is known is that they disappeared. Crox turned to accounts in Chicago newspapers and used these contemporary reports as his chief source. He has resorted liberally to a common device: dialogue that he believes "must have been said," a device full of pitfalls which he has not wholly sidestepped.
 But in the main he has developed an account which has the ring of truth; an illuminating story which probably profits from the starkness of its telling.

Time-Saving Discovery Made By Housewife

Late last fall, a Florida housewife wrote to the No-Roach Co.—For years now, I have been adding a cupful of No-Roach to the rinse water when mopping my floors. This has kept roaches, ants, and spiders out of my home. What puzzles me—is why don't you ever mention this?"

Well, dear readers, it just goes to show... The manufacturers of No-Roach had never thought of it before. They experimented, it works, and now this advice is featured on their new No-Roach label. Thanks to a very bright housewife.

If you've got bugs at home, get a bottle of Johnston's No-Roach and try it.

WHO GOT CLIPPED? Tax Men Put Teeth Into Barber's Barter

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The income tax people are putting the bite on Dale Gasper on account of his false teeth. He traded haircuts for the dentures.

The 25-year-old barber got a bill for $45.07 Wednesday, two days after a go-round of more than two hours with Internal Revenue Service agents.

When Gasper arrived at the tax office for the interview, in response to a letter headed "Re-examination of Income Tax Return" the first agent he encountered had a year-old newspaper clipping. It told how Gasper, having had teeth and little money, got a dentist to make him a set of uppers in return for haircuts.

"They said I had gained extra income by barter," Gasper related.

"One dentist wanted to give me charity. I asked the agent what would have happened if I had taken the free teeth—could they tax them. He said, 'No, that would have been a gift.'"

"So I said maybe I am a good friend of this dentist who made my teeth and he gave them to me. Then, because we're friends, I wanted to give him some haircuts. Aren't those gifts?"

"The agent said he could check and see whether the dentist and I were good friends."

"So I said: 'You mean I can't cut any hair for free? I've got four boys and I cut their hair. He said I had a point there, but he'd have to check.'"

"I told him about a man who came into the barbershop with a basket of tomatoes and asked if I'd cut his hair. He needed a haircut, so I did. I suggested to the agent that we'd better include the basket of tomatoes as income. They said I was being overly technical."

Gasper volunteered that his dentist calculated the uppers, plus some fillings in his lowers, came to $251. But Gasper insisted he was entitled to deduct wear and tear on his clippers and shears, plus commissions to the shop owner.

The agents agreed and discounted the dental work to $225.40.

"I wasn't trying to beat the government," said Gasper. "I just thought it was an even swap."

AMMAN (AP) — Burying the decades-old feud between their dynasties, Kings Hussein of Jordan and Saud of Saudi Arabia have agreed to merge their nations' military forces, coordinate their economies and present a united front in Arab and world affairs.

Hussein and Saud announced their plans for comprehensive unity of the Western allied Middle East nations in a joint statement issued in Amman and Mecca on Wednesday night.

The statement was released a few hours after Hussein returned to Amman from a three-day visit in Saudi at Tall Saudi, where the two monarchs agreed on complete military unity and the establishment of a common command for the two armed forces, immediately.

Immediacy agreements were also made on economic, political, cultural and other Saudi Arabia will coordinate economic policy and eliminate all restrictions on the movement of persons, goods and capital between the two countries, the monarchs said. They will set up border postiers immediately, they added.

"Negotiation and coordination also were agreed upon in all cultural and administrative affairs and in the field of national guidance and information."

In agreeing to coordinate Arab foreign policy, the monarchs reaffirmed common enmity of Israel. They pledged to act within a unified plan to restore, if all concerned Arab rights in Palestine.

Murphy Denies Estes Arrest Triggered Ag Dept. Crackdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undersecretary of Agriculture Charles Murphy denied today that the arrest of Billie Sue Estes triggered the Agriculture Department's crackdown on Estes' farm and ranch.

Murphy said he never did believe Estes could produce such proof but that the government wound up with an airtight case against Estes because the Peecos, Tex. promoter had these opportunities.

Murphy acknowledged that he sat in on a meeting on March 26—the day before Estes' arrest—which considered whether to permit operators other than Estes to bring third parties into similarly disputed cotton allotment deals in an effort to legalize the allotment juggling involved.

Murphy said he had decided in his own mind that we had gone about as far as we could go in furnishing proof that his deals were legal.

Murphy said he never did believe Estes could produce such proof but that the government wound up with an airtight case against Estes because the Peecos, Tex. promoter had these opportunities.

Slanting Cuts Sharply Into Legitimate Oil Production

DALLAS (AP)—East Texas oil wells angled sidewise to steal from neighboring leases have cut sharply into the crude production of legitimate operators, an expert told inquiring lawmakers Wednesday.

Texas House Investigating Committee received the appraisal near the windup of a three-day hearing yielding these other results:

1. A district court (state) judge found to be part owner of leases with illegally slanted wells testified he knew nothing about the situation. He agreed to think about a lie detector test.
2. For the second time in two days, witnesses accused a discharged state employe, whose job was to help police the oil industry, of receiving thousands of dollars under suspicious circumstances.
3. This same ousted state worker, fired along with one accused of taking $76,000 in bribes to conceal crooked oil well drilling, joined a parade of witnesses refusing to testify on grounds of possible self-incrimination.
4. Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson said "additional evidence of bribery and collusion" will be available for the legislative probes' next session, scheduled here Sept. 10.

CORRECTIVE LAWS

David Witts, the committee's general counsel, and Wilson considered urged the legislators to consider corrective measures which would prevent recurrence of the multi-million-dollar scandal.

Robert Lockwood, economist at the University of Texas, estimated August production alone would have been 12 per cent greater if illegal East Texas wells had been closed down and their allowable output apportioned among the state's legitimate wells.

He said incomplete data shows wells described by drillers as "kicked" or "crooked holes" robbed the others of at least 7,000 barrels a day in prorated production. Currently the market price is about $3 a barrel.

Witts added that 124 such wells have been detected so far and the total probably will amount to 350 wells in the East Texas Field, plus possibly others in smaller fields involved in the probe.

Dist. Judge David Moore of Gladewater, acknowledge he owned fractional interests in a number of oil leases, including two found to contain illegally deviated wells.

KNEW NOTHING

Moore, 46, said one of his partners, F. W. Scates of Tyler, operated the properties. He testified he knew nothing about any law violations until the scandal started developing.

Concerning formal reports at testing the wells are drilled legal

Testifies

Robert Flowers, assistant attorney general of Texas, right, testified in Dallas before the House Investigating Committee probing slant-hole drilling of oil wells, on pay off of Nelson Decker, left, who was discharged from the Railroad Commission last May for refusing to take a lie detector test. Decker was an interested spectator during the testimony.

ly—whereas state inspection later proved they strayed up to half a mile under property of others. Moore said someone else must have prepared and signed such statements.

Scates followed Moore as a witness and refused to answer any questions about their business dealings or other matters. In all, he invoked the Fifth Amendment 29 times.

Much testimony centered on Nelson Decker, 20, an employe of the Railroad Commission until he was fired from his $430 job May 14 as inspector, for refusing to take a lie detector test.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert Flowers testified that about $47,000 unexplained income flowed into bank accounts for Decker or Mrs. Decker and interests in five leases were signed over to Decker from 1957 into 1961. Flowers also said there were sizeable increases in the allowable production of these oil leases after Decker became part owner.

USES FIFTH

Decker used the Fifth Amendment 16 times in contending answers to questions might incriminate him.

L. Dwight Murphy, district engineer for the commission in the Kilgore office with Decker, was accused the day before of collecting $76,000 in four years before he was fired at the same time as Decker. Murphy could not be found for service of a subpoena.

Refusal to testify on grounds of possible self-incrimination likewise came from G. U. Yoachum, A. E. McCubbin and J. Rex Stegall of Kilgore, named as persons figuring in financial dealings with Decker, and W. S. Barber of Kilgore.

Investigators told the lawmakers earlier that a well being drilled for Barber in 1961 apparently strayed into a Shell Oil Co. well next door causing it to pump drillers' mud instead of oil for a time. This incident spurred an investigation of slanted well drilling.

NO ACCIDENTS

"Evidence has shown that deviations such as these could not possibly have been accidental," Witts said.

"All members of a drilling crew had to know that a well was being intentionally deviated. When the number of deviated wells is considered, it is apparent that over the years literally hundreds of men worked on these deviated wells.

"This means that this practice must have been common knowledge in the community, and yet it flourished for years without action either by local law enforcement officers or state officials.

"The evidence shows that in many cases there was collusion by employes of the Railroad Commission, who made false reports of surveys to substantiate the false records made by other parties to the conspiracy....

"Evidence here has shown the violations of the laws of this state on a scale that is shocking, amounting to a complete breakdown in the enforcement of our conservation laws.

FEDERAL CONTROLS

Addressing oil industry representatives in general, State Rep. Dewitt Hale of Corpus Christi warned that the slanted well situation could bring added federal controls.

"The federal government moves in where state government fails," said Hale, one of five members on the investigating committee headed by Rep. Charles Isalman of Borger. "If we allow chaotic conditions in the oil and gas industry to continue, the federal government is going to come in. We've got to clean this thing up here at home."

West Germans, Long Used To Boom, Looking Worried

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—West Germans wonder are they watching their "economic miracle" fade away.

"We have long since ceased to be a model for others," said the influential Frankfurter Allgemeine. "Rather, we are gradually becoming a frightening example."

Many an alarm has been sounded this summer, against inflation, government interference and similar portents.

A few big bankruptcies give some substance to these warnings. The steel and shipbuilding empire of Willy Schlieker ran out of money last month.

The stock market is down 25 per cent from four months ago. Exports and industrial growth are slowing.

So far, the wage earner, has felt no pinch. Jobs remain plentiful. West Germans spend as much as ever. Production and sales of consumer goods remain at high levels.

"I worry about the future, but honestly must say that so far our sales have kept right on, as high as ever," said a small leather goods merchant in Frankfurt.

The latest Federal Bank report shows industrial production growth of 4.9 per cent in the second quarter this year. It would be an enviable rate in the United States, but not in West Germany, whose expansion was twice that for a decade.

Overexpanded companies with shaky finances, after thriving from the force of the boom, feel the pinch.

Schlieker, son of a shipyard worker, handled steel allocations for the Nazi war machine. That landed him before a postwar denazification court, but it also gave him inside knowledge of the steel business. He started on his own in 1949, and became a multimillionaire shipyard owner.

By last year Schlieker's string of 15 companies was doing a business of more than $170 million per year.

German bankers and businessmen, more noted for pessimism than optimism, have not signaled a general economic retreat in the face of Schlieker's difficulties or the bankruptcy of Opel Strumpfwerke, the second largest firm making women's stockings.

They predict a few more companies, not quite strong enough to survive the leveling off, will head for settlement courts.

Schlieker was the latest big entry in German shipbuilding, and

Hoover Can Still Joke

NEW YORK (AP)—In discomfort after a major operation—swooning it out while hospital pathologists work in the laboratory to determine whether his intestinal tumor was cancerous—Herbert Hoover, 88, still can make a joke.

"There will be no canasta to-night," he called out as his two sons—Herbert Jr. and Allan—left his hospital room after a 15-minute visit Wednesday.

The jest brought a laugh all around.

Hoover is a dedicated canasta player, and often played with Allan and his wife, Margaret.

The widowed ex-president's head surgeon, Dr. Rudolph N. Schullinger, reported in a bulletin at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center last night that the patient continues to improve.

"There will be no pathological conclusion (as to whether the tumor was cancerous) at present. It will be released in three weeks."

The tumor was removed in a three-hour operation Tuesday.

TV Surgery Lays 'Em In The Aisles

TORONTO (AP)—Live telecasts of surgery on small animals are laying them in the aisles at the annual Canadian National Exhibition here.

Spectators are fainting at the rate of three an operation. More than 60 visitors have been carried or helped out, and a few have required hospital treatment.

The televised operations, performed twice daily on small animals needing treatment, are the chief attraction of a $1 million "vetescope" exhibit put on this year for the first time by Canada's 2,000 veterinarians.

Welcome

TO

WEBB PILOT TRAINING CLASS 64-B

Big Spring and all its people extend the friendly hand of a West Texas welcome to the student pilots of Webb's Class 64-B. These young men, here for a complete course of primary and basic jet-flying instruction, become citizens of our city for more than a year, and it is our earnest hope that they will find here a helpful, cheerful and hospitable atmosphere; and that when they must leave, they will do so with a kind feeling in their hearts for Big Spring, its business establishments, and all its population.

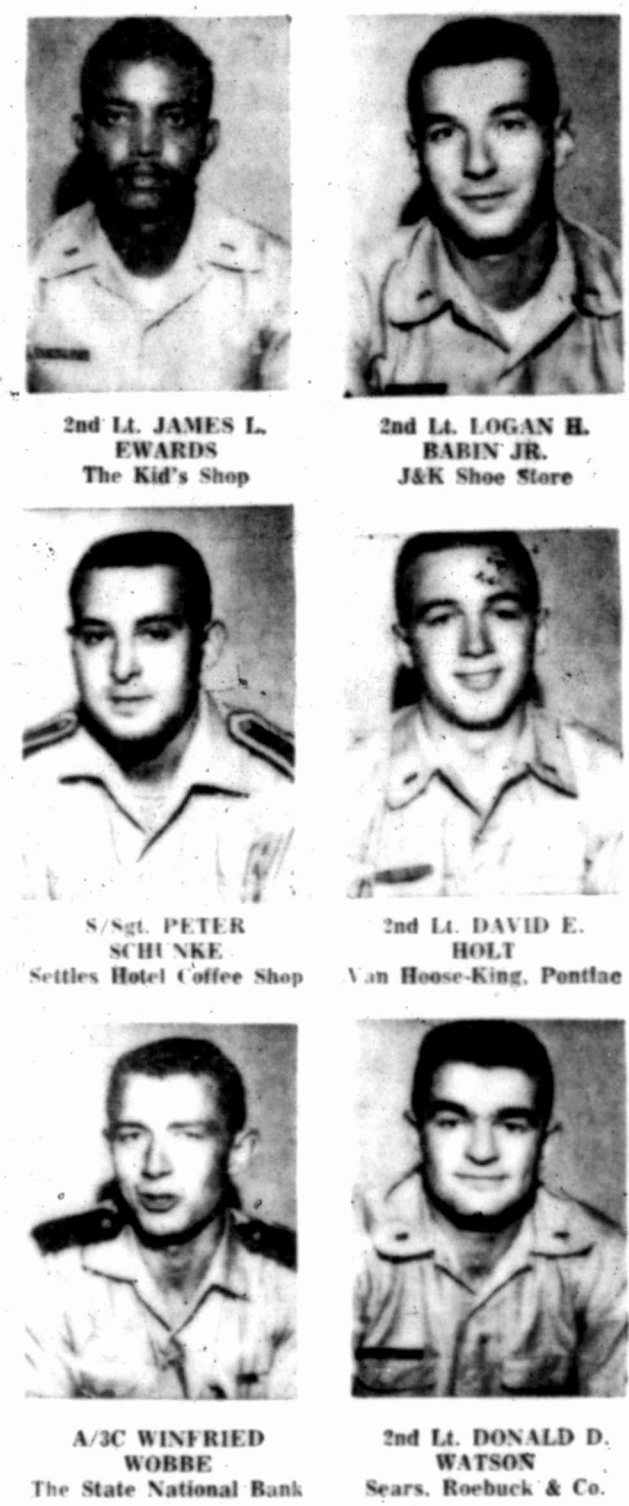

May we urge our new student pilots, as time permits them, to become acquainted with our town, to know about the churches and the schools, the facilities for leisure and enjoyment, the shops and the service establishments.

Particularly do we ask them to drop in and see us, just to let us get acquainted, and say in person what we are saying here. There's no obligation to buy at any time... we want to be of service, and of assistance if we can.

Yes, it's all wrapped up in one wholesome, hearty word... "WELCOME!"

"HOSPITALITY GIFT"
For New STUDENT PILOTS

If the Webb student pilot or his wife will call within the next 10 days at the store or service establishment whose name appears with his under his picture bringing this page with him for identification, he will be given a "welcome gift" by that firm. There is no obligation, and we simply ask that the visit be for getting acquainted. Be our guest!

Judge Rules Girl To Stay With Sister

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A judge ruled today that Rosemary Sheppard, 15, should remain with an older sister, clearing the way for her to start high school instead of attending classes at Taylor.

Rosemary's mother sat alone in the courtroom while her lawyer and an assistant county attorney argued the case. Rosemary walked past her mother without speaking.

Taylor denied defense contentions that Juvenile Court did not have authority to give custody of Rosemary to the sister and that the time until a further custody hearing set for Sept. 26, was unreasonably long.

While today's hearing technically dealt only with custody of Rosemary, the case involved whether she would go to high school or continue to attend classes taught by her mother.

Rosemary left home Aug. 3 and went to Juvenile Court, saying she wanted to attend Webster High School instead of continuing classes under her mother. She was made a ward of the court and released to Mrs. McNeese.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheppard, who have educated their children at home since 1957, objected to the custody ruling and sought the habeas corpus release of Rosemary.

The Sheppards took Rosemary and her twin brother, Roy Gary, out of the third grade in 1956. The parents were convicted of violating the state's compulsory education law, but in 1957 the Court of Criminal Appeals ruled state law did not require attendance at public schools if other education was provided.

Mrs. Sheppard, a business college graduate, then began educating the twins and another son, Ray, at home now 13, in a classroom she and her electrician husband set up in their home.

Four older daughters completed public school.

Mrs. Sheppard says she prefers to teach her children because public schools make everybody conform to a group thinking.

Rosemary said school was not the only issue. She said she was denied normal social activities of a teen-ager and was lonesome. And, she said, in the home classes "I knew I wasn't getting what I should."

The petition to make her a ward of the court called her home life unbearable and alleged she was subjected to almost daily whippings.

Of her mother, she said "What love I did have for her she has killed. I'm just afraid of her."

Officers Seeking Clues To Murder

County and city peace officers, stymied in their initial efforts to apprehend the lawyer of Stanley Williams, 50, sought new leads today.

Two suspects, who had loomed as likely prospects for murder charges, have been able to set up perfect alibis and have been removed from the list of possible suspects.

Officers are now going back to the initial elements in the case—the earlier statements made by Mrs. Stanley Williams, the victim's 84-year-old wife, in search of new leads.

Williams, in a state of shock and said subjected to a beating, had said at the outset of the investigation that the assailant who battered her elderly husband was a Negro man.

Later, she changed this story and what she said led Sheriff Miles Harris and Detective Jack Jones to Dallas where two white men were picked up.

Jones and Harris, however, returned empty handed. They said that not only had the pair been able to satisfactorily undergo lie detector tests, but both had witnesses who related they had not been out of Dallas over the weekend.

Hayden Lists Paving Costs

Joe Hayden, county commissioner, said that he had compiled figures on the total cost of the 6 1/2 miles of county paved road built in the Lomax area of his district and that the cost was $40,710.19.

Hayden said that the cost included complete cost from start to complete and he reported the per mile cost lower than the average for roads in the county.

He also said that the controversial payment for the extra 1 1/4 mile road built in the area has been made by a minute adopted by the county commissioners.

Hayden said that all four of the commissioners voted to pay Caldwell the money due him above his original contract for approximately $8,000. The balance was approximately $2,000 he said.

The matter of the extra paving developed in a somewhat heated discussion at earlier meetings of the commission. Hayden insisted the commissioners had authorized him to pay the extra 1.25 mile of road above the five miles in the Caldwell contract.

There was some disagreement on the matter. Ed Carpenter, county judge, who is now on vacation, did not vote for authorizing the payment of the extra money for the additional road, the minutes show.

Safety Patrol Is Discussed

Members of the Lakeview Elementary School Parent Teachers Association Wednesday discussed safety around the school and methods of making it safer for their children, according to Mrs. Clinton Muse, president.

Sam Fuller, Big Spring Police Department, outlined ways and means of building a better safety attitude in the minds of the children as well as parents.

The school was issued safety equipment for the coming year which includes white safety patrol belts, badges and identification cards signed by Jay Banks, police chief.

Mrs. Muse said that since they had had the safety patrol they have observed less speeding through the school zone and less violations in general.

"We think this safety program is of vital interest to the parents of our children," Mrs. Muse said. "And we appreciate the cooperation of the police department in helping us to establish it."

The next regular meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m., Sept. 4, at which time Bo Bowen, city-county health nurse, and Fuller will meet with them and present "Strangers," a film on sex molestation.

Coach Tells Of Prospects

"If we can't throw we can't go. We can't outman them, we've got to outwork them." A good defensive team won't get embarrassed, we're going to spend lots of time on defense.

"We won't have left side and right side, rather a strong side and a quick side. We'll probably use our split end like last year and operate from a flip-flop offense."

Surrey Wichita Falls is tough, but you don't get stronger playing weak teams. These are some of the observations Don Robbins head coach, made to the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday in describing the outlook for the Big Spring High School Steers this year.

Coach Tells Of Prospects

Robbins introduced his staff in coaching Joe Sibley, Herman Smith, Delnor Poss, R. C. Moore, and Roy Baird, Melvin Lindsey, other member of the staff, could not be present.

Mrs. Ben Carpenter Jr. died at 1:15 p.m. Wednesday in Riverside, Calif. where they resided. She had been ill for three months and died in the Riverside General Hospital.

Services will be held Friday afternoon in the M. H. Simmons Funeral Home in Riverside, and burial will be in San Diego beside the grave of her father, Mr. Carpenter, who died in 1954.

Brushfires A Danger

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Battled exhaust firetrucks today huffed stubborn flares of brushfires raging throughout California, amid warnings the state is a tinderbox.

The U.S. Forest Service cautioned that conditions may get worse over the Labor Day weekend. Six fires already have charred 42,000 acres since Sunday.

In Southern California, gusty winds threatened to carry sparks outside the lines of twin blazes which have burned more than 17,000 acres in rugged mountains on the northern outskirts of Los Angeles.

The Los Angeles County fire chief, Keith Klinger, estimated damage at more than $3 million. "We have one of the fires 80 per cent contained and another 60 per cent contained," a fire official said.

A late weather forecast called for an influx of moist sea air which might make firemen to fully contain the blazes by tonight, he added.

Ecuadorian Fire
Kills 20 Persons

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador (AP)—Twenty persons died and 30 were injured Wednesday in a fire which destroyed a square block of homes in a poor section of this port city. At least seven of the dead were children.

Seven hundred other persons were left homeless.

Withholding
Bill Downed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has turned down President

Kennedy's proposal for a withholding system to wipe out tax evasion on dividend and interest income.

The defeat had been conceded in advance by administration leaders struggling to put the watered-down tax revision bill through the Senate.

But the size of the vote Wednesday was a surprise even to the little group of Democrats who tried to keep it in the bill. Only 19 Democrats and one Republican, John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, supported the President. 34 Democrats and 32 Republicans opposed the provision.

There's a chance the proposal will be salvaged in conference because the House included it in passing the measure in March. But the strongest advocates of the plan said their hope is slim.

The Treasury estimated the dividend and interest withholding plan would bring in about $900 million a year in taxes now evaded by failure to report about $5 billion of such income.

This was to be the biggest item in paying for the major feature of the bill—an investment credit to spur U. S. business to buy new machinery and equipment.

Without withholding, the bill is estimated to mean a substantial annual deficit to the Treasury.

The measure contains a substitute provision requiring fuller reporting of dividend and interest payments by corporations and savings institutions.

With the withholding fight and a controversial expense account issue cleared away, the bill's floor manager, Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D. Okla., said he is reasonably sure the Senate will complete action by tomorrow night.

But Kerr said "all bets are off" unless Democratic leaders succeed in killing a proposed amendment to permit self-employed persons to set up tax-deductible private pension funds.

This proposal, long sought by doctors, lawyers and other professional people, is to be offered as an amendment by Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana announced he will try to kill the amendment with a tabling motion. But he told newsmen he did not know whether he had the votes. Dirksen flatly claimed victory.

Retiring Justice Kept 'Em Stirred

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—But not long ago a lawyer general sat on the empty chair on the bench of the Supreme Court and remarked: "What a dull day when Frankfurter isn't around. He stirs some of the other justices up."

Felix Frankfurter, 79, who kept the court stirred up for 23 years—from New Deal to the New Frontier—won't be around any more. The bright-eyed energetic justice who sometimes whistled "The Stars and Stripes Forever" in the tribune's marble halls has resigned because of failing health.

Many lawyers who quaked in their boots at the "razor-tongued" Frankfurter's bench-jockeying no doubt greeted the end of an era with relief.

Frankfurter is a man of many images, of blazing contrasts.

To his admirers his many sides were the facets of a brilliant diamond.

To others they were pieces of a jigsaw puzzle.

He was gay, waspish, scholarly and sometimes downright rude.

To those who met him socially, Frankfurter could be the life of the party, willing to discuss—and argue—any subject except Supreme Court business.

Joseph A. Faneli, a Washington lawyer who studied under Frankfurter at Harvard, has commented that Frankfurter's "greatest genius is for friendship. I'd cut off my arm for the justice."

Franklin D. Roosevelt, who appointed him to the court, once said:

"Felix has more ideas per minute than any man in my acquaintance. He has a brilliant mind but it clicks so fast it makes my head fairly spin. I find him tremendously interesting and stimulating."

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Something in the Black Box kept tripping switches that weren't supposed to trip, the X15 pilot said after his heat test flight Wednesday.

Air Force Maj. Robert Rushworth was referring to the Stability Augmentation System on the sleek black craft. It's designed to shut off the yaw damper, which curbs side-to-side motion. Instead, the roll damper went off Wednesday.

Rushworth switched to an auxiliary system and landed without further incident.

It was the third straight such incident on X15 test flights. Officials said an investigation is under way.

The stubby-winged rocket ship shot up to 97,000 feet and 3,443 miles per hour. Temperatures on its steel alloy skin reached 1,100 degrees, 180 below the ship's high reported to date.

British Fascists Mostly Just Noise

LONDON (AP) — A rotten tomato splashes against the side of a young policeman's face, knocking off his helmet.

Fist fights break out around a platform where chest-thumping fascist speakers are marooned in a pulsing swarm of angry humanity.

Somewhere in the crowd a pretty young woman screams her hatred of long-dead Hitler and faints. She is passed from one pair of hands to another over the heads of the throng like a limp rag doll and receives treatment in an ambulance parked in a side street.

These are incidents in Britain as Sir Oswald Mosley, leader of Britain's strutting prewar Blackshirts, tries for a comeback and other rightist groups voice their demands.

These small but noisy groups preach an anti-Jewish, anti-Negro political line.

Mosley himself has been man-handled in the frequent street fighting in the island kingdom which prides itself on orderliness and tolerance.

The violence is causing increasing public concern. Pressure builds up on Prime Minister Macmillan's government to ban fascist street meetings. Some people also want the 1936 public orders act amended to provide stiff penalties for preaching racial hatred.

Yet this is a field where a democratic government must tread carefully. Home Secretary Henry Brooke asserts.

The problem turns on how to preserve the right of free expression of opinion while effectively discouraging wanton incitement to racial hatred. Brooke says.

Aware of the government's dilemma, Mosley claims to be defending free speech and insists that the police protect him.

The new fascism in its various forms commands the whole-hearted support of probably no more than a couple of thousand people in the entire country. These men are recognizable types. Many enjoy painting racial slogans on walls at night and marching to the sound of drums.

Their enemies, the militant anti-fascists, include Communists, Socialists, nuclear disarmers and probably even a few people who vote for the Conservative Party.

Among the extreme rightists Mosley is best known.

Mosley, 65, is a baronet, or hereditary knight, and lives in one of London's most fashionable squares. At first glance he might be taken for some peppery retired colonel.

His British Union Movement is less theatrical than its prewar predecessor, the British Union of Fascists. Its members refrain from appearing in public in black shirts and jackboots—such reminders of Hitler are believed to harm the movement's image.

Mosley disclaims anti-Semitism or even a color bias. His enemies call this a sham. He himself says he wants laws which would make Jews, Negroes and most foreigners want to live somewhere else.

Two other groups go in strongly for right-wing politics. They are the British National Party led by wealthy Andrew Fountaine and the break-away National Socialist Movement. They say they want to protect the racial purity of the peoples of northern Europe.

Wage-Price Guides Doubtful

By NORMAN WALKER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The guides for wage-price restraint, posted by President Kennedy early this year have turned out to be an interesting experiment.

Whether they have been effective, however, is doubtful.

Not too much is heard currently about the guideposts, leading to the suspicion hereabouts they are dead.

They are dead, at least, from the standpoint of the widely held belief that the Kennedy administration was ready to enforce them with public pressure or sanctions of some sort.

That idea got around because of Kennedy's sudden power drive in rolling back the steel price increase.

The impression was erroneous, Kennedy said from the start that the guides were mere suggestions for proper economic behavior in the national interest.

They were an attempt to persuade the men who set the nation's key prices and wage rates to make their decisions in the light of classic economic precepts rather than the traditional what can we get out of it approach.

Basically the guides advised that wage-price changes as a whole should be confined to the steady gains in productive efficiency or productivity. This productivity improvement rate was calculated at about 3 per cent a year.

There was nothing new or particularly controversial about this concept. It was, in fact, the chief economic rule of the Eisenhower administration. But Kennedy's economic advisers spelled it out in a report to Congress last January a little more urgently and specifically.

Some high administration officials now feel the guides were too specific. They contend that if the government starts fixing rules, even vaguely, on how much business and labor should charge for their products and services, the government should be in a position to enforce those rules.

Otherwise it is too confusing. Rules honored only by breach are demoralizing.

Certainly inflation has remained in check. Wage and price increases by and large have been moderate. But this probably was due more to a sluggish economy than to the self-restraint doctrine preached through Kennedy's guides.

This is not to say that the administration's advocacy of wage-price moderation in the national interest was without result. It undoubtedly had some steadying influence.

On the other hand, there is also evidence the guidepost theories have somewhat distorted the natural working of a free economy.

Director William E. Simkin of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service has pointed out, for example, that through misunderstanding or deliberate distortion of the guidepost policies, some employers normally able and willing to give more than a 3 per cent wage increase now contend that is all the government wants them to pay.

Similarly, some labor unions, Simkin said, claim that a 3 per cent raise is the least they can expect—that they are entitled to that much as a matter of right.

Cafeteria Managers Strive For Nutritious, Attractive Meals

Where else can a child buy a half-pint carton of milk for two cents that at his school cafeteria? Nowhere. According to Mrs. John Annen, director of Big Spring school cafeterias, that is the price set for milk this year; although teachers and other adults will be charged five cents.

Cafeteria managers, Mrs. James Porter, Senior High; Mrs. Roger Miller, Goliad Junior High; and Mrs. E. R. Williamson, Marcy Elementary, work with Mrs. Annen toward producing health-giving beverages, such as milk, and meals that are essential to a growing child's diet.

Mrs. Miller says that in her 10 years of cafeteria work, she has noticed that children are prone to eat "what they like" when they are away from home. This sometimes results in omitting many of the important nutrients they need.

For that reason, the staff has developed camouflage desserts such as "beetnik" cake, chocolate-potato cake, carrot-pineapple cake and Vitamins A and C gelatin. Not only are these desserts good for them—they are delicious.

Cafeteria personnel strive to make meals attractive in appearance as well as tasty. Mrs. Porter states that no matter how much expense or effort has gone into the meal or how attractive it is, there are those who still prefer a hamburger. A hamburger plate is served daily. It is composed of foods as nutritious as the regular menu.

COMPARED TO HOME
How does cooking for a large group of children differ from cooking for a family?

Mrs. Williamson finds that the equipment makes a remarkable difference. She believes that the quality of the food depends greatly upon the type of equipment available in her shiny kitchen at Marcy. She has access to giant mixers, silver steam kettles which will hold three large turkeys, steam tables and of utmost importance, the stove with their vast ovens. A dishwasher and garbage disposal are prized luxuries to her and her staff. When any of the equipment at any of the cafeterias are in need of repair, the competent maintenance crew is on hand.

Mrs. Miller finds choice and variety of foods makes cafeteria eating more interesting than that in her kitchen. She says that where she uses perhaps six ingredients in a salad at school, she would ordinarily stop at about three at home. The different kinds of meat dishes makes cooking and eating the meals more interesting.

Mrs. Porter remarked that in her opinion quantity is a worthy point to consider. Where she would use about two cups of flour for bread baking at home daily, she uses 49 pounds for hot rolls alone each day. Mrs. Williamson uses 42 pounds and Mrs. Miller uses 40 pounds, making a total of 134 pounds of flour per day.

HOW MUCH?
How much does all this food

When a herd of school students rush into Big Spring cafeterias, it is up to the managers to see that they are all fed and that they eat well prepared and attractive meals. From left to right, Mrs. James Porter, Mrs. Roger Miller and Mrs. E. R. Williamson, have been getting ready for the openings of their cafeterias during this past two weeks. Now, they're operating in full swing.

Mrs. E. R. Williamson, have been getting ready for the openings of their cafeterias during this past two weeks. Now, they're operating in full swing.

state convention in San Antonio. Mrs. Annen plans to attend the national convention scheduled for October in Cleveland, Ohio. They always acquire new ways to improve their individual units. They are all members of the local chapter of TSEFA of which Mrs. Williamson is currently president. The managers offer home recipes for today's readers:

TEXAS CHILI
2 pounds ground beef
4 teaspoons chopped garlic
1 tablespoon shortening
2 teaspoons ground cominos
1/4 cup chili powder
2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon pepper
3 cups water

CHOCOLATE POTATO CAKE
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
1/2 cup scalded milk
1/2 cup shortening
2 cups sugar
4 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped pecans
Line three-inch cake pans with waxed paper. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Grate chocolate and add to milk, stirring until melted. Cream shortening, gradually adding sugar, then beat thoroughly. Stir in chocolate mixture. Add dry ingredients and blend. Add pecans. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into batter. Pour into cake pans. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 30 minutes. Cool, frost with butter frosting.

BUTTER FROSTING
1/2 cup butter
1 pound confectioners sugar
1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup cocoa
1/2 cup cream
Combine butter, sugar, egg yolk, vanilla and 1/2 cup of cream and mix thoroughly. Spread approximately one cup of frosting between layers. Add remaining 1/2 cup cream and cocoa and frost top and sides of cake.

PEAR SALAD
Pears Salad is a popular, old standby favorite. Halves of pears are boiled in juice or other salad greens, may be flavored with grated sharp cheese and French dressing, mayonnaise mixed with chili sauce or catsup, sour cream or plain cooked dressing.

CIRCUUS SALAD
Or for a low calorie pear salad that's sure to please, prepare a Circus Salad. It's a merry assortment of red and yellow. Just place a soup of cottage cheese on a bed of green lettuce. Wash and core several fresh unpeeled pears with a clear yellow skin and red apples. Cut fruits into wedges and press alternating red and yellow slices in a striped canopy arrangement in the cottage cheese.

PEAR HONEY
Pear Honey for waffles or hot cakes is so delicious you'll want to put some in jars for the long winter months ahead. Simply wash, core and chop fine about 8 cups of pears. Slice one scrubbed lemon into thin circles, then combine lemon, 1/2 cups sugar and 1 teaspoon ginger in sauce pan along with about 1/2 cup water. Bring to boil, add chopped pears and simmer slowly until thick. Pour into hot sterilized jars, seal and store for future use. This recipe yields a generous quart of pear honey.

TANGY SOFT CREAM DIP
1/2 pkg spaghetti sauce mix
1 pt thick sour cream
And the spaghetti sauce to the sour cream and mix well. Simmer for several hours in refrigerator. Makes about 2 1/2 cups mixture.

Stuff The Peppers For Party

For supper on the patio, baked peppers stuffed with a hearty flavored ground chili con carne with beans makes mighty good eating. To add a light touch to this food, study in green and brown, criss-cross strips of cheese over tops of peppers, about five minutes before baking is completed, so cheese can melt. It looks appetizing and tastes good.

In cool contrast to chili stuffed peppers, serve a chilled salad of crisp greens, fresh orange sections and raw onion slices. As for the bread accompaniment, hard rolls are best.

STUFFED CHILI PEPPERS
6 medium green peppers
2 (15 1/2 oz) cans chili con carne with beans
2 strips American cheese
Cut off stem end of peppers. Remove seeds and membrane. Cook peppers in boiling salted water for 8 minutes. Drain well. Set oven at 350 degrees F. Open cans of chili and divide among the green peppers in shallow baking pan and bake for 20 minutes. Meanwhile, cut cheese into strips. Remove peppers from oven. Place cheese strips over top of each pepper. Return to oven and bake 5 minutes more.
Makes 6 servings.

Entertain Your Friends With A Picnic Party

What do you do if your parents will not let you entertain at home? That's the dilemma in which one girl finds herself. She writes: "It is embarrassing to be entertained by everyone and never be allowed to have a party in your own house because of the expense and the mess."

Many girls find themselves in the predicament where there are too many in the family or the house is too small for the shenanigans of a young crowd.

A simple solution can be a party away from home—a picnic. It is an ideal way to pay off all friends who've entertained you in one swoop—it can be more fun than any other kind of party, and expenses can be kept to a minimum by working over a menu until it's compatible with your finances.

EGGS ARE FILLING
Old-fashioned cooking can keep expenses to a minimum so that parents may be willing to foot the entire food bill.

Instead of buying expensive sandwich meats or store-prepared picnic foods, cook low-cost chicken for instance, and serve it cold or heated up at the picnic grounds. Sandwiches of thinly sliced cucumbers have great boy appeal.

Eggs are cheap and just as filling as any food that can be taken on a picnic. Serve eggs hardboiled and deviled, if you like, and offer them generously before you bring on the main dish. Deviled eggs may be taken to a picnic by packing the filling in jars (and keeping it in a cooler) and spooning it on top of the halved whites when it's time to serve.

Poor-boy sandwiches could be a novel solution to a picnic, and they are filling. Use a loaf of Italian or French bread for each person or half-loaf if the bread is very long. Slice it lengthwise and fill it with combinations of favorite meats, fish, cheese, tomatoes or whatever strikes your fancy. Wrap individually and serve one to a guest.

BOX YOUR LUNCH
A box lunch is one way to limit the amount of food you serve, and know exactly what you'll need. A local bakery shop or shoe store might supply boxes which can be covered with gift wrapping paper if you have time. That way you can put in the quota of food so that a guest doesn't limit himself to the main course. The idea is a little bit of everything for everybody. An apple and cupcakes make inexpensive desserts.

A typical box lunch (for a hungry crowd) could be three hard-boiled eggs, one tomato, two cucumber sandwiches, two pieces of chicken, an apple and two cup cakes. If you put emphasis on the filling foods, you can keep the cost down.

Young people have great thirsts and the most expensive part of a picnic could be the drinks. Experiment with a punch until you find a good zippy one that will intrigue your crowd. Lemons of every kind are inexpensive and a good punch-stretcher. Add carbonated beverage or ginger ale to give the punch some sizzle. Put it in a cooler with a spout if you have one.

If you haven't boxes for lunches and still want to portion out food, wrap the lunch items individually in a paper plate and cover the plate with saran foil or wax paper, tying it with a pretty rubber band for a gay note or gay red bandanas that can be used as the napkins may be wrapped around the plate and knotted on top.

Meat Turnovers Are Good For Any Meal

A reader asks for this recipe and no wonder! It's delicious.

MEAT TURNOVERS
2 cups flour
1 1/2 tps salt
1 lb plus 2 tbsps sweet butter
1 cup cultured sour cream
Meat filling
Stir together the flour and salt in a mixing bowl. With pastry blender, cut in 1/2 pound of the butter until the size of small peas. With fork work in the sour cream mixing lightly as for ordinary pastry. Roll out on prepared pastry cloth into a 15 by 12 inch rectangle. Dot with the 2 tablespoons butter cut into bits, fold into 3 layers, press edges together, roll out again, fold into 3 layers, press edges together. Wrap tightly, refrigerate for a couple of hours.

Roll and cut into 12 by 9 inch rectangle, cut into 12 4-inch squares, tag ends of dough from cutting will make another 4-inch square. Add a little of the Meat Filling to each square, fold over to make triangles, brush edges with water and press together with fork tines. Bake in moderate oven 375 degrees, oven until golden brown — about 20 minutes. Serve hot.

Meat Filling: Cook 1/2 pound ground beef in 2 tablespoons butter in a skillet, crumbling with a fork until meat loses its red color. Add 1/2 of a small onion finely chopped, 1 chopped hard-cooked egg, salt and pepper to taste, 1 teaspoon flour and 1/2 cup water. Cook lightly, stirring cool.

Jewel-Like Pears Are Versatile In Kitchen

Pears were once like rare jewels. The ancient kings of Persia gave them a special place in their courts. But, now, everyone can enjoy a tasteful and juicy pear. They're plentiful.

From the splendor of Persia's courts the pear was transplanted to northern Europe where it became a favorite with French nobility. But after sailing to America in the 18th Century, the pear lost its nobility. The Bartlett, Anjou, Bosc, and Comice species were planted on both shores of the country.

The Bartlett pear is a universal favorite with homemakers. It has a soft yellow appearance, often flushed with red, and can be quickly recognized by its classic pear shape.

Fresh Bartlett pears can be offered in a variety of dishes. Salads, steamed pears, baked pears, fried pears, peaches and marmalades are just a few.

Pears Savoy are easy to fix and have an out of this world flavor. Preheat oven to 300 degrees, very hot, then wash, halve and core fresh pears. Arrange pears in baking pan, sprinkle with sugar and pour teaspoon butter in the cavity of each pear half.

Cook in oven until sugar is caramelized or about 15 minutes, and baste with softened butter as needed. For variety, extra flavor and color, add cinnamon candies, cinnamon sticks or other spices to the syrup while cooking. Serve piping hot with heavy cream or cold with cream or cottage cheese.

Pass A Tray Of Dips At Informal Get-Togethers

Nibble a little, sip a little, talk a little and so the cycle repeats during a happy gathering. For the nibblers, pass a tray with a variety for guests to choose. Such appetizing snacks as dill-flavored carrot sticks, dry roasted peanuts with their herb-peppercorn coating, and fresh-cut apples, are appealing to many guests. For those that prefer dips, include tax colers, chunks and crackers for dipping into a mixture of sour cream and complete spaghetti sauce mix. With the sauce, serve a chilled fruit punch or refreshing iced tea.

Whether you serve these refreshments late in the afternoon or late in the evening, these snacks take but a few minutes to prepare and add a warm, hospitable accent to any gathering.

1 pt thick sour cream
And the spaghetti sauce to the sour cream and mix well. Simmer for several hours in refrigerator. Makes about 2 1/2 cups mixture.

San Antonio May Regain Air Fame

By TEX EASLEY
AP Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—A runner-up in the hot competition won by Colorado Springs for the Air Force Academy, San Antonio bids fair now to win recognition as the home of a permanent school turning out half or more of the Air Force's new officers.

The Air Academy output is some 600 officers annually. The output at San Antonio under a program set into operation only a couple of years ago is more than 2,000 a year and is expected to reach 5,000 by 1965.

Relatively unknown to the public is this new Air Force Officer Training School which may regain for San Antonio prestige enjoyed before World War II when Randolph Field was called the West Point of the Air, and nearby Kelly and Brooks fields shared fame.

Lindbergh and Doolittle were but two of the famous fliers who trained in San Antonio.

Only college graduates are eligible for admission to the new Officer Training School. After 90-day courses they receive second lieutenant commissions as non-flying officers.

They must sign up for three years' service.

Revel of San Antonio's lofty aeronautical status was told here by Maj. Gen. John H. Foster, a San Antonio insurance man when not on active duty in the Air Force. He is national president of the Reserve Officers Association.

With Maj. Starr Kealhofer, a reservist who is assistant manager of the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, Foster came to Washington to back up a recommendation by the Air Force and President Kennedy's budget bureau that $3,827,000 be appropriated for new buildings at the San Antonio school.

The House Appropriations Committee knocked the item out of the military construction money bill, Foster and Kealhofer were here trying to get the money restored by the Senate.

"The training school at San Antonio will move right along notwithstanding this particular appropriation, because the new buildings it is intended to provide should assure the permanency of the school."

If provided, the money would be used to build on "Medina Base," near Lackland AF Base, a military and professional training building at a cost of $1,287,000; a headquarters, $400,000; quarters for 576 cadets, $1,570,000; a mess hall, $400,000; and a sewage treatment plant, $80,000.

The current OTS class of approximately 500 is being trained partially at Lackland and partially at some of the existing buildings on Medina Base—an installation erected on a quadrangle layout a few years ago for highly hush hush joint Atomic Energy Commission-military operations.

Under the broad plans outlined by Foster, the AEC would be provided buildings at Lackland to compensate for some $6 million worth of existing facilities at Medina diverted to OTS use.

Foster and Kealhofer were confident of enthusiastic support from San Antonio Rep. Henry Gonzales and Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., who is reserve colonel.

Not so sure about Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., they went to his office and emphasized a point they trusted would strike home—economy.

"This new program will save the taxpayers untold millions of dollars," said Kealhofer.

All of these boys who enter at Medina will have gone through four or five years of college at their own expense and obtained their degrees.

After just 90 days of concentrated tax-paid training, they are commissioned.

"It cost $50,000 a year to put a boy through the Air Academy. They turn out 600 a year, we're to turn out 5,000 about half the Air Force yearly officer intake requirement. That is a lot of saving."

Tower listened attentively, then remarked: "I think I'm inclined to back you up."

Soviets Not Doing Well In Africa

By WES GALLAGHER

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—How is the Soviet Union doing in Africa? The answer is not very well. Nor are the Russians likely to do much better in the future. In fact, there are indications the Communist world is taking a second look at Africa and proceeding with caution.

This does not mean the Western world will win any popularity prizes. But its economic and educational ties far outstrip the East and show no signs of diminishing. For the long haul, Africans seem determined to remain African without solid ties to the East or West. The cold war is looked upon as an excellent opportunity to get free help from both sides.

GOOD FROM BOTH

Africa must take what is good from East and West. It is my belief that despite over 50 years of evils and merits of European civilization, African societies remain the same. It is utter nonsense for either East or West to think that Africa could be made part of Russia or, for that matter, the West.

These quotations from an African columnist in a Kenya magazine reflect general African attitudes. The writer was discussing reports that Soviet agents were trying to buy the allegiance of union officials and legislators in Kenya, Zanzibar, Uganda and Tanganyika.

He added: "There is no place for Communist domination in the African society, and there is little or no hope of their spogees ever attaining much more than meager support."

The Soviet Union made a swif, massive grab for the Congo during Patrice Lumumba's regime, but its frustration there has led to more limited efforts. There are other competitors for influence in Africa, such as President Gamal Abdel Nasser's Arab bloc and Red China.

LOT OF DOING

It would require billions upon billions of dollars in capital investment and many generations before Africa could become an industrialized society or exert any sizable influence in world affairs. Kager Africans desiring to leapfrog into the 20th century ought want and on a scale and at a pace neither Moscow nor the United States can possibly meet.

At the same time, various forces were working against the establishment of states viable enough to provide a framework either for Western or Eastern influences to work on fully.

A reasonable minimum requirement for survival of many of the newly created states would seem to be the future hope of economic self-support plus enough ordinary self-interest of the people concerned to insure political stability. Yet some states, like Burundi, are composed of hostile tribes in a small barren land boasting a half mile of paved road and one full vote in the United Nations.

SHARPLY DIVIDED

Africa has 200 million people speaking more than 900 different languages and dialects, divided by religions as diverse as Christianity and idol worship. This cultural separatism is being intensified as the continent is split and Balkanized on a scale and speed unprecedented in history.

And while economic survival would seem to be the first order of the day, many Africans are so fascinated with their new position in politics that they tend to overlook the plodding hard work needed to establish minimum economic stability.

Such factors not only limit the effectiveness of any aid furnished, whether by East or West, but they are likely to compound confusion by a high mortality rate among states and governments and forms of government on the continent. The one place that the Soviet Union has spent relatively large sums in foreign aid, Ghana, is not turning out any better for them than some of the underdeveloped areas of Southeast Asia have turned out for the West.

LOT OF MONEY

It is estimated the Soviet Union has poured $196 million into little Ghana with its population of 6.7 million. They have the sympathy and support of Ghana's leftist-leaning President Kwame Nkrumah, who has jailed his political opponents and runs a one-party state.

Nkrumah inherited a better than self-supporting country about five years ago but managed last year to run over a $100-million trade deficit despite Soviet and Western aid. He has imposed higher taxes and forced savings, both highly unpopular.

The only other area where the Soviet Union has made any inroads is in small, poverty-stricken Mali and tiny Guinea. Even in these countries Soviet meddling in local affairs, plus disappointment with the amount of Soviet aid, has caused local leaders to take a second look at communism.

There is poverty and misery everywhere in Africa, such as the vast 100-year-old slum in Lagos, where over 2,000,000 people live in a 20-block area of shanties without sewers or running water.

COMMUNICATION

Communism has usually capitalized on such conditions but there are difficulties for the Soviet Union other than just the vast sums of money needed. For instance, there is the matter of communication. Radio and television are not much good if the vast bulk of people have no receiving sets.

In both the spoken and written word there is the problem of language. Over 900 languages and dialects are spoken. Illiteracy is very high. Politics in Africa follow family and tribal lines where customs and feuds are more important than support or non-support of modern ideologies. If one tribal leader favors communism, opposing tribes would be inclined automatically to oppose it.

Politicians heading the new nations are intensely nationalistic. So are their followers. They are not inclined to dilute this nationalism by submitting to outside discipline such as communism demands. Racism also is strong and in Africa you can't tell a white capitalist from a white Communist. Both have the same disadvantages in trying to influence anyone.

ECONOMIC TIES

Economically there are other difficulties for the Communist countries. Long-time colonial ties have solidified trade channels from most of Africa to the European countries. The colonial powers also manufacture goods that fit African needs and back them up with a pipeline of spare parts.

The Soviet Union has a brotherly competitor—Red China. In Accra the Chinese held a trade fair and built a pavilion. Afterwards the Chinese gave the pavilion to the government as a gesture of friendship. This spurred the Russians to build a bigger pavilion for a bigger fair and this also will be given to Ghana as a friendly token.

Much has been made by the Soviet Union of its Patrice Lumumba University in Moscow for African students but here, too, they seem to be a poor runner up.

Even in Ghana, the proportion of university students going abroad each year breaks down about as follows: 1,500 to England, 1,000 to the United States, 300 to the Soviet Union, and 10 to Red China. Several hundred others are dispersed in Western European universities.

NOT ALL CONVERTS

And, those coming back from Moscow are not all converts. Many complain on two counts. In the Soviet Union they say they encountered both segregation and discrimination. They were segregated in Lumumba University with other Africans for study, instead of being spread among several universities. Because the Russians want them to return to Africa as leaders, they don't make it easy for African students to mix with Russian girls or make a career in the U.S.S.R.

Another competitor in the "educational" field is Nasser with his African Association, formerly the African Institute in Cairo. Nasser's aim is to try to promote

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., August 30, 1962 7-C

Pan-African unity or the unity of the Arabs in North Africa with the Africans to the south. Nasser has had trouble achieving his goal of Arab unity and there are few indications his African Association has been any more successful with African youth. In sections of Africa the status symbol and fierce desire of any tribe or family is the ownership of land.

DEAR ABBY

Take Him To A Doctor

DEAR ABBY: My husband has started something new lately. He calls me every hour to see if I am home. If I happen to be out only the grocery store or to do some household errands, he starts calling all my neighbors to find out when they last saw me. I have four children who keep me very busy and I have no time for any money business. I have never given my husband any reason to doubt me. His constant questioning of the neighbors as to my whereabouts has made me look like a woman who can't be trusted and who neglects her children. I am 38 and he is 55. Could his age have something to do with it?

would you do about it? She was chairman of the Bake Sale.

DEAR BURNED: This was a lot of crust! Tell her she owes the bake sale seven dollars.

DEAR ABBY: I didn't marry my wife to sit in the front seat with another man while she sits in the back seat and yaks with her girl friend. Whenever we go for a drive with another couple, I'm stuck with the other man in the front seat while my wife and the other lady sit together in the back. I don't have anything to talk to the man about, but what am I supposed to do? STUCK IN FRONT.

DEAR STUCK: Tell your wife you prefer her company to the husbands of her friends. She should chat with her lady friends in the afternoon.

DEAR ABBY: I am a teen-ager, and this little question helped me a lot. Maybe it will help others. If someone gave you a dime for every kind word you said about someone, and collected a nickel for every unkind word, would you be rich or poor? AN ABBY FAN

Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of the Big Spring Herald.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

CHECKED ON

DEAR CHECKED: Possibly. Men, as well as women, experience glandular and chemical changes between 50 and 60. Your doctor can tell you whether it's his age or not.

DEAR ABBY: A church-going woman asked me if I would bake a dozen cherry pies for our Ladies Aid Bake Sale. I am famous for my cherry pies and everyone who has ever eaten one goes crazy over it. I told her I would do it if they were sold for no less than 75 cents each as each pie serves eight and is a real treat. She promised and I made the pies.

I later found out that she didn't even put my pies out for sale. She took them home and put them all in HER OWN FREEZER. Then she put $2.00 in the register. What
