This Waz A Misstake

Folks around Olympia, Wash., are suggesting the city's street sign painter should be in the front row when schools reopen for the fall term. This unique spelling was used twice at this Olympia intersection.

Body Found In Field Had Bullet In Skull

STANTON — Officers investigating the body found in a field near the Howard County line in Martin County are now convinced of two things:

The man whose badly decayed remains were sprawled in the grass-grown field is Travis R. Hicks, 37, itinerant electrical worker of Denver City. He met death from a gunshot wound.

Pathologists who investigated the case Sunday found a .22 calibre slug in the skull. The bullet had entered just above the left eye.

Since no weapon was found near the corpse, the officers are working on the assumption that Mr. Hicks was murdered. The FBI has been asked to lend a hand in tracking down some clues which could lead to the arrest of the slayer.

Mr. Hicks, last seen alive by relatives Dec. 5, 1961, was a resident of Denver City at that time. He was supposedly en route to Big Spring to enter the VA hospital here. He had been in and out of the hospital many times and had been last discharged from the institution in November, 1961.

More than 7,000 Big Spring public school students are joining the nation today in celebration of Labor Day.

Regular classes, however, will resume Tuesday morning, and enrollment can be expected to skyrocket again as the students begin the 1962-63 school year in earnest. More than 7,100 students attended classes Friday, after a first-day attendance Thursday of 6,871. Experience has shown that there is usually another large jump immediately after the Labor Day Holiday. If the trend holds true this year, enrollment can be expected to top the 7,300 mark which was predicted earlier by school officials.

One other holiday for students is scheduled this month, but the date has not been set. It will be an In-Service Education Day for the faculty.

Relatives said that he suffered from a fungus infection acquired while serving with the military forces.

The autopsy was held in the Arrington Funeral Home mortuary Sunday. Two pathologists from Midland found the bullet in the skull.

Officers from Stanton, Midland and Big Spring were on hand. Clarence Airhart, deputy sheriff for Martin county, said that the

Boy Sought Near Uvalde

UVALDE (AP)—A search was on today for a boy who wandered away from his family while on an outing Saturday.

Hundreds of searchers scoured rugged Garner State Park in South Texas for John Wayne McCandless, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman McCandless of Corpus Christi.

Men on horseback, skindivers and two Air Force helicopters assisted hundreds of searchers who scoured the wooded park.

Sheriff Hugh Emsley, directing the search, asked help of a National Guard unit.

The family of five arrived at the park Saturday morning to camp over the Labor Day weekend.

The boy was wearing khaki shorts and was barefooted when he strayed away.

Herbert Hoover Has A Good Night

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover, recuperating in Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center, had a good night's sleep Sunday for the medical center reported today.

Hoover, 88, underwent surgery last Tuesday for the removal of an intestinal tumor. He is taking more nourishment, sitting up and walking, it was reported.

Holiday Deaths Head Toward New Record

Attacks Are Beaten Back By Guerrillas

ALGIERS (AP)—The Algiers guerrilla command claimed that its troops repelled attacks by regular army forces at two points south and west of Algiers early today.

Lt. Ali Alouache, spokesman of the guerrilla Wilaya (zone) No. 4 controlling Algiers, said the regular forces supporting Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella attacked at dawn at Ain Boucif, 75 miles to the south, and Charon, 150 miles west of the capital.

Alouache said the defending guerrillas put up determined resistance and the regulars withdrew after brief engagements.

The reported clashes continued a pattern of brief, indecisive engagements between the Wilaya 4 guerrillas and regular army troops which entered the Wilaya territory in central Algeria Saturday to end the guerrilla command's rebellion against Ben Bella.

Alouache said the regulars were beaten back by guerrillas in the Wilaya 4 territory in central Algeria Saturday to end the guerrilla command's rebellion against Ben Bella.

More Schools To Open Doors

Classes in five area school districts and in three local parochial schools will begin Tuesday morning.

Schools at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church and the Big Spring Christian Day School will open their doors.

Public school students will begin classes Tuesday in the Lamesa Independent School District, Sands Independent School District, Coahoma district, Center Point common school district, Flower Grove and Grady school district, and in Glasscock County (Garden City).

In all of them except Glasscock, cafeterias will operate and buses will run. In the Glasscock district, students will register Tuesday and receive first assignments, but the cafeteria will not serve until Wednesday. Buses will run Tuesday.

Negro Crowd Threatens Cops

DALLAS (AP)—Two policemen, investigating a minor traffic accident Sunday night, were attacked by a self-styled expert killer and his father while a shrieking throng of Negroes shouted: "Kill them police."

The uproar ended with the arrival of more policemen.

The father and son, both Negroes, were jailed for aggravated assault on police officers. Six of the most vocal members of the crowd of 20 or 30 were jailed for disturbing the peace.

C-City Gets Heavy Rains

COLORADO CITY (SC)—A terrific rain storm, with considerable hail and roaring winds, swept into Colorado City at 6 p.m. Sunday and dumped 2.18 inches of moisture on the town in an hour's time.

Hail, ranging in size from pea-size to lumps of ice as large as golf balls, fell for 10 or 15 minutes. The wind was gauged at 52 miles per hour and a vivid electrical storm accompanied the deluge.

Near the Colorado City Lake, it was reported that even heavier rain fell and there were reports of as much as three inches in that area. The rains were heaviest in the town and in the western part of the county. The south part of Mitchell County had no rain.

There was no damage from the storm of importance.

The rain Sunday followed heavy rains Friday night which had dumped 1.70 inches of water on the town.

MCClelland Trial Set For Tuesday

HOUSTON (AP)—Suspended Probe Judge Clem McClelland and insurance man Jerry O'Brien are scheduled for trial here Tuesday on charges that they unlawfully converted $313 from an estate.

More than 40 witnesses have been subpoenaed, including 15 newsmen and the city editors of three newspapers.

Violence in Texas during the long Labor Day weekend claimed 37 lives with the deadly final hours of the holiday still to come.

Traffic took 18 lives. State police predicted 30 would die during the holiday.

Latest deaths included: Three persons died late Sunday in a head-on collision on U.S. 83 about 35 miles north of Uvalde in Southwest Texas. Four other persons were injured, one critically.

The dead are Anatolio Soto, about 40, of 2710 Freeland, San Angelo; his son, Mario, 13; and his sister-in-law, Nemoria Soto, 40.

Bobby Ray North, 5, a Negro, was killed by an auto Sunday night while crossing farm road 616 near Vanderbilt in Jackson County.

Willie Adair, 24, a Livingston Negro, died in a one-car accident Sunday night when his car crashed on U.S. 90 just west of Livingston.

HEADON CRASH
 A head-on collision on Texas 359 at Orange Grove at 11:10 p.m. Sunday killed John Erschapp, 23, of Orange Grove. Injured were John Freiley of Orange Grove and James Grossman, 20, of Robstown.

A Haltom City youth vanished in a head-on collision on Lake late Sunday after falling from his motorboat. A search was on for the body of Edward Robbins, 19.

Jesus Pina, 14, of Dallas, drowned Sunday in a lake in Dallas. He was swimming with companions.

Robert Cobden, 7, of Pasadena drowned Sunday when he and his sister, 6, stepped into a deep hole while swimming in Galveston's West Bay. Two fishermen saved the girl.

A collision at the intersection of two farm roads midway between McAllen and Mission Sunday killed Mrs. Mary Smith, 71. Randall Carter, 25, of Fort Worth was killed in a dove hunting accident near Decatur, north-west of Fort Worth, Sunday. Carter was shot as he rose from a position just about the time his brother fired at a covey of doves. Accidental death was ruled.

FATAL SHOOTING
 A shooting during a robbery in a Fort Worth penny arcade claimed the life of Willie Shields, 57, Sunday afternoon. Police looked for the gunman.

Jesus Torres, 9, of Crystal City drowned Sunday in the Nueces River near the old Eagle Pass crossing, 10 miles south of Uvalde. The boy was on a church picnic and disappeared while swimming.

Henry Taylor, 4, was killed Sunday by a car on Farm 14 in Wood County near Hawkins. Officers said the child stepped from behind a parked car into the path of an oncoming auto.

Toby Sampratt, 25, of Houston was stabbed to death with a rusty paring knife at his home Sunday. A woman was arrested.

Jack Bagwell, 28, of Pasadena was killed early Sunday when his car overturned on Texas 94 east of Trinity.

MIDLAND DEATH
 Eugene Shaw, 18, was stabbed to death early Sunday in a Midland dance hall. Police held another Negro, 47.

Elton Fondon, 16, of Houston, was killed Sunday in a traffic accident on Texas 6 near DeWalt. Fondon was in a car that crashed through a construction barricade then skidded off a bridge into a gully. A board from the barricade struck Fondon in the face. Six youths, 14 to 18, were injured.

Allen Blue, 18, of Fort Worth was killed when a car struck his motorcycle early Sunday.

BIBLE FUND GETS BOOST

Despite a holiday following Sunday, the high school Bible Class Fund experienced an encouraging boost Monday.

Individuals and a Sunday School class added $135.00 to the total, making $2,536.25 so far raised. This is just over 70 per cent of the amount needed from non-solicited gifts to finance the Bible classes for about 100 students. This must be done privately for tax funds cannot be used, although the course does carry regular scholastic credit.

Please help complete the job this week by mailing or sending your gift to the Herald.

Among those having a part are:

Mrs. C. L. Rose $ 5.00
 Mr. and Mrs. Tom Curtis 10.00
 Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Singleton 10.00
 Elizabeth McDowell Class, First Presbyterian Church 50.00

Evidence Sought In Derailment

GREENWOOD, Ind. (AP)—Railroad detectives and FBI agents today hunted a padlock missing from a siding switch as the key to a freight train derailment which killed one crewman and injured three others.

The switch, normally locked, was open late Saturday night when a 55-car Pennsylvania Railroad train hit it at high speed, leaping from the main tracks and scattering itself across a muddy field.

There is every indication the switch was tampered with," said a railroad spokesman. "Whether it was thrown deliberately to cause the derailment is something else. The lock is missing and we're looking for it."

Millions Move Over Highways

By The Associated Press

Traffic fatalities across the nation mounted today at a pace that threatened to set a new record for a Labor Day holiday weekend.

The National Safety Council said the toll for the three-day period, the final holiday of the summer season, could reach 500 if the highway carnage continues at its present pace.

The traffic toll reached 384 today and traffic officials said they look for the rate of fatalities to increase later as millions of vacationing motorists commence the homeward trek. In addition to traffic deaths, another 19 died in boating mishaps, 31 drowned and 61 died in miscellaneous accidents for an overall total of 495.

Before the start of the 78-hour holiday period at 6 p.m. local time Friday, the Safety Council had estimated between 410 and 490 lives would be lost in traffic accidents. But a sharp increase in the hourly rate of deaths Sunday caused the council to raise its estimate.

The revised estimate of 500 traffic fatalities, if reached, would surpass the record Labor Day toll of 481 deaths in 1951. The holiday period ends at midnight (local time) tonight.

The third six-victim car crash of the holiday period occurred Sunday in a head-on collision of two cars near Roosevelt, Utah. Four persons lost their lives Sunday night when three cars collided on a mountain highway near Craig, Colo.

Earlier, a head-on crash killed six persons in two cars near Litchfield, Minn., and six other persons lost their lives when two cars collided in a driving rain-storm near Weiner, Ark. Five elderly persons were killed in a crash of their car with two trucks in Schuyler, Neb. Three young persons and two truck drivers were killed in a head-on collision between a car and a trailer truck on the West Virginia Turnpike south of Charleston.

Traffic deaths last Labor Day weekend totaled 386, the third time in the last 12 years that the toll was below 400. The record low toll for the holiday in recent years was 246 in 1946.

The safety council said the traffic toll averages 330 for a 78-hour late summer non-holiday weekend. An Associated Press survey of accident deaths in the 78-hour non-holiday weekend from 6 p.m. Friday, Aug. 17 to midnight Monday, Aug. 20, showed 256 traffic fatalities, 43 killed in boating accidents, 54 drownings and 85 killed in miscellaneous accidents for a total of 438.

Hotel Fire Kills One, Hurts 50

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Fire raged out of control for more than four hours in the 300-room Alban Hotel Sunday, killing one person and injuring around fifty.

About 270 guests climbed down stairs and fire escapes or were helped from windows onto ladders by firemen. The flames stopped operation of elevators in the seven-story structure.

The one victim was Stella Bruce, 35, a waitress, whose body was found in a basement employees lounge. Police said she apparently was overcome by smoke and heat.

Rescue units treated about fifty persons, mostly firemen, for smoke inhalation. None were seriously injured.

Some 450 guests registered at the hotel were delegates to the National Association of Letter Carriers convention but most of them were attending sessions elsewhere at the time of the late afternoon blaze.

Estimates of the damage ranged up to a million dollars.

Soviets Fire New Atom Blast

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has fired another nuclear test blast in the arctic atmosphere, the Atomic Energy Commission reports.

The AEC said Sunday night the explosion in the vicinity of Novaya Zemlya was the intermediate yield range, between 20,000 tons and one million tons of TNT. The shot was the ninth announced by the AEC in the current Soviet series.

Motorist Hurt Critically In Accident

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Vance Wilson, 56, whose present address is not known, is in a critical condition at the Root Memorial Hospital as result of a car-truck collision at 2:50 p.m. Sunday.

He has a broken right leg, fractured ribs and internal injuries and his condition Monday was reported unchanged from the time he had been admitted to the hospital.

The accident, which sent Wilson to the hospital, was at 2:50 p.m. Sunday on the west edge of the city.

Police Chief Leon Yeager, who was parked near the intersection at which the collision occurred, said that Wilson, alone in his car, made a left turn in front of a tractor trailer loaded with 30,000 pounds of candy. The big tractor rammed into the car, bending it double like a hinge, witnesses said.

The truck was driven by Wayne Wright, 40, Centralia, Ill., who told officers that he did not know the car was pulling in front of him until it was almost on his front wheels. Wright was not injured nor was his swamper, Leo Kilian, who was asleep in the truck cab at the time.

Mariner Achieves First Of 2 Tasks

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Scientists said today that U.S. spacecraft Mariner 2 has successfully completed the first of two key maneuvers en route to its December rendezvous with Venus.

Mariner swung a yard-wide antenna around Sunday and focused it on earth—sending a powerful radio beam back across the 1.3 million miles now separating Mariner from its home planet.

Space scientists pondered the data coming in from Mariner to decide when to have it perform the next maneuver: the firing of a rocket engine to aim it into Venusian skies. This may be done some time today.

The rocket is needed to correct Mariner's course through space. On its present course it would miss Venus by 233,000 miles—too far for the experiments Mariner is to make as it nears the solar system's most mysterious planet.

The midcourse maneuver will correct the course to bring Mariner only 10,000 miles from the cloud-shrouded planet, according to experts at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena.

The antenna maneuver was performed by Mariner on command of a timer aboard the 447-pound craft.

The midcourse maneuver will be on an order from the ground. An official of Jet Propulsion Laboratory, builder of Mariner 2, said, "The earth acquisition maneuver was carried out successfully, and results are being evaluated."

"Earth acquisition" is the term for pointing Mariner's directional antenna at the earth. The antenna can transmit a narrow beam of radio signals up to 64 million miles—but it has to be pointed at the point in space where the signal is to be received.

Up to now Mariner has been sending signals from an omnidirectional antenna which has a range of only 8 million miles.

Mariner has to travel more than 180 million miles on its long, looping journey from earth to Venus. When Mariner reaches the vicinity of Venus in December it will be 36 million miles from earth.

A Haven For Travel-Weary Cows

This sign along U.S. Highway 80 near Baird, points to the unique "Cattle Motel" which has a steadily growing clientele since it opened. The motel caters to truckers, enabling them to break up long trips to give both themselves and cattle a chance to rest. Local cattlemen also use the facilities for deboning, vaccinating and branding their cattle. (See story on page 9-B.)

Cool Weather To Follow Heavy Rains

By The Associated Press
Cooler weather is in prospect for North Texas, the weatherman says, following Sunday's heavy rains that drenched parts of Northwest Texas.

Monday was to be clear to partly cloudy and continued warm. Forecasts call for scattered thundershowers late Monday in Northwest Texas, the Panhandle and North Central Texas. Temperatures are to turn cooler Tuesday in the Panhandle and in the northwest portion of North Central Texas Tuesday afternoon.

Early in the day skies were cloudy over the Panhandle and light rain was falling at Lubbock. Some cloudiness was reported in San Antonio and Austin and along the Gulf Coast.

Rain-heavy thunderstorms splashed much of Northwest Texas Sunday, unleashing strong winds, and causing damage in several areas.

Colorado City and Bowie had some minor flooding. The heaviest rain was around Bowie where some rural homes were flooded.

State police reported strong winds in Stamford that knocked out plate glass windows in the business district. The winds also unroofed a warehouse.

The late afternoon storm raked Colorado City with winds gusting to 52 miles an hour. An estimated 2.18 inches of rain fell within an hour. Power failed briefly.

Loraine, nine miles east of Colorado City, also had a power failure during the storm. Some half the size of golf balls fell and power poles were leveled.

Tells Daddy

President Kennedy listens intently as his daughter Caroline tells him about her three-week vacation in Italy. The President was on hand to greet his wife and daughter when they arrived at Quonset Point, R.I., from Italy via New York City. The President and his family are spending the Labor Day weekend at the home of Mrs. Kennedy's mother in Newport, R.I.

FIGURATIVE LANGUAGE

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher
Church of Christ, 2500 West Highway 20
P.O. Box 1282

Does the Bible contain any figurative language? Yes; a great deal. Some books of the Bible, such as Daniel and Revelations are highly symbolic. The parables of Christ are figures of speech. There are other figurative expressions scattered about in the Bible.

This is not to say, however, that the Bible is primarily a symbolic book. Rather, the language of the Bible is primarily direct and literal. We are not to look for allegorical meanings to every thing. The Bible was not given to confuse us and mock us; but to guide us into all truth (II Tim. 3:16, 17). Christianity is simple

Farm Tour Set Thursday

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Many Mitchell County farmers, ranchers and businessmen will tour Mitchell County farms Thursday, according to Porter Richardson, member of the Tour's Publicity Committee.

The annual event is sponsored by the Mitchell County Soil Conservation District, the agriculture committee of the Chamber of Commerce, the Extension Service, and the Farmers Home Administration.

The group will meet at the Lone Wolf Electric Co-op Thursday morning at 8:30 and will tour the county in school buses. The group is to study water problems, farm animals and farm problems in general, and will return to the electric building for a noon barbecue.

A. V. Sheppard, head of the local Soil Conservation Service officer and chairman of the Tour's steering committee, said that those wishing to attend the barbecue should register with the Chamber of Commerce or the Mahon Feed Store in Loraine.

Airplane Glue Sniffing Fatal

FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP)—Wayne McKowen, 16, was found dead Sunday after inhaling vapors from model airplane glue.

Police said the boy's mother found him with a plastic bag covering his face. Inside the bag were paper towels saturated with the glue.

Medical Examiner Dr. Arthur La Salle said the boy died of trichloroethylene poisoning. The chemical is an ingredient of model airplane glue. An autopsy was ordered.

Russ Statement Of Cuban Aid No News To U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials believe the Soviet Union's announcement that it will send military equipment and technicians to Cuba merely confirms what has been going on for a long time.

The Soviet statement Sunday said arms and technical specialists will be provided to meet "the threats of aggressive imperialist quarters with regard to Cuba." Type and amount of arms and men were not specified.

A State Department spokesman said the Soviet communique appeared to be an attempt to make legitimate what the Soviet Union and other Communist bloc nations have been doing for several months—supplying Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro with military assistance.

"What they say about delivering arms and sending technical specialists to train troops is exactly what they are doing," said the spokesman. He said the Moscow communique seems to mean such aid will continue.

There was no immediate White House comment on the Russian announcement, which came shortly after the departure from Moscow of Cuban Economic Minister Ernesto Guevara and militia leader Emilio Aragonés Navarro.

In other developments on the Cuban situation:

One of the leaders of a group of exiled Cuban students who shelled a Havana hotel last month said his group wants the United States to launch or lead military action against Cuba.

An American attorney reported progress in talks with Castro about ransoming 1,100 prisoners held by the Cuban leader.

Two Democratic senators renewed their demand that the United States launch or lead military action against Cuba.

Moscow's announcement of military aid to Cuba followed recent statements by U.S. officials that some 20 Soviet ships have unloaded a large assortment of military hardware in Cuba.

So far, U.S. officials have said, about 3,000 Communist bloc military technicians have landed in Cuba, but they contend there are no indications that Soviet combat troops are included.

Isidoro Borja, who said he wants the same type of military help for exiled Cuban students, declared on a television program—NBC, "Meet the Press"—"Lots of presses (stories) have called them (Communist soldiers) technicians, but we have to call them troops. I don't think that these troops have been sent there for offensive purposes. But the point is they have been landed there."

Borja, military affairs director of the Cuban Student Directorate, helped lead a foray by 23 students in a cabin cruiser and a PT boat on Aug. 24. The two boats shelled and machine-gunned a Havana hotel for about 15 minutes.

Reports from Cuba indicated there was little damage but Borja said he believed there were some casualties among Europeans in the hotel.

He said the group operated from "an undisclosed base not in U.S. territory," and did not violate the U.S. Neutrality Act.

Borja also said the student group opposes efforts to ransom some 1,100 Cubans captured by Castro in the abortive invasion attempt of April 1961. Castro has asked $62 million for their freedom.

"With the $62 million which could be used to liberate 1,000 men we can free 6 million people," Borja said.

James B. Donovan, a New York attorney, is in Cuba representing the Cuba Families Committee of the United States in an attempt to negotiate the prisoners' freedom.

Youth Rediscovered In Galveston Moody House

GALVESTON (AP)—From all the activity going on around the Moody House you'd think the residents had discovered youth again. The Moody House, once the noted Buccaneer, was a gift last December to the Texas Conference of Methodist Churches from the Moody Foundation. Today, the famed hotel of yesterday is a non-sectarian home for 102 elderly people.

It was presented to the Methodists through Mrs. Mary Moody Northen, a daughter of the late W. L. Moody Jr., Galveston philanthropist and financier and founder of the Moody interests.

At a ceremony last February, Bishop Paul E. Martin dedicated the home "to happiness, hopefulness and health, that it may ever be a place of peace and joy."

Such a place for elderly people was a lifelong dream of Mr. Moody, Mrs. Northen said.

The interests and activities of the residents are almost as numerous and varied as those in a typical youth center.

Within its own boundaries, it comprises a small city. Its tempo is keyed essentially "to happiness, hopefulness, and health," and the residents appear to find it "a place of peace and joy."

The plan and atmosphere of the former hotel lobby are basically unchanged by the conversion, with the exception that a small post office has been installed.

"This is a favorite gathering place around 10:30 every morning," said Rev. William W. Hawthorne, administrator, former pastor of Park Place Methodist Church, Houston, and a former pastor at Central Methodist Church, Galveston.

Each resident has a locked mail box and a lot of hopefulness is visible in the faces of the boxholders as they wait for the mail to be posted daily by Mrs. James L. Beuregard, assistant to the administrator.

An art class is conducted each Tuesday for about 20 persons by Harvey B. Richards, Houston, who said recently that he "finds great satisfaction in seeing the light in the students' eyes when they discover a latent talent or pleasure in working over a sketch or oil painting."

Bridge playing is another activity in which many participate. Mrs. Elsie Perlman conducts a weekly class with about 20 players attending.

The pool at the rear of Moody House affords recreation, and from 15 to 20 swimmers use the pool almost daily. Some of the residents enjoy poolside sun baths. A game room is provided in the solarium and the famed ballroom of the former hotel is now a central gathering place for residents and their visitors. Paul Caldwell, formerly of Houston, recently held a party for 30 relatives and friends in the old ballroom.

The Rev. Mr. Hawthorne pointed out that the dining room, site of the former Buccaneer Club, is another favorite meeting place.

An infirmary on the third floor is at the disposal of Moody House residents. Dr. Lindsay Smith, doing his residency at John Sealy Hospital, is on call 24 hours a day. Dr. and Mrs. Smith maintain quarters at Moody House.

Plans call for a beauty salon, library and a program of occupational therapy, the administrator said.

"One of my main tasks," the administrator explained, "is to see that those who come to Moody House come here to live and not to die, and occupational therapy helps give our residents something to do."

The guests are free to come and go and many own and drive their own cars, and enter into many local civic and cultural activities.

The former Captain's room of the hotel is now a small chapel although regular church services are not held there.

Persons 62 years of age and older are accepted. A minimum charge of $135 per month, which includes board and room, is made, though prices vary in accordance with accommodations.

Says Portrait Will Return

LONDON (AP)—"When the fuss dies down," said Sir Philip Hendy, "I think the painting will come back."

The painting is the celebrated Goya portrait of the Duke of Wellington, stolen from Britain's National Gallery just a year ago.

Sir Philip, the gallery's director, continued, "It's too embarrassing for anyone to keep. I think the cranks who took it are not sadistic and are not likely to destroy it."

There have been three incidents recently in the National Gallery.

One was the action of a deranged man in throwing an ink

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Mon., Sept. 3, 1962 3-A bottle at a Leonardo da Vinci drawing which Britain is buying for the National Gallery at a cost of $2.24 million.

The Goya theft remains as mystifying today as it has been since the night of Aug. 21, 1961, when it disappeared.

Scotland Yard has checked letters, telephone calls, and tips.

"They all proved fruitless," said a Yard spokesman. "They never led us anywhere. We have no idea at all who took the painting."

Scotland Yard leans to the belief that it was not a professional job, however. Indications are that someone stayed in the gallery after the public had left, took the picture and escaped through a window.

What makes the theft the more mystifying is why anyone would want to steal the world-famous Goya. There's no hope of collecting ransom. The government, which owns the painting, won't be shaken down.

The British government bought the Goya from an American, Charles Wrightsman, after he bought it at a Sotheby auction for $392,000. It is so famous there seems no chance the thief could sell it.

The Goya was stolen just 50 years after the most sensational art theft in history—the snatch of Da Vinci's Mona Lisa from the Louvre in Paris.

There was some point behind this—the Italian thief said the painting was by an Italian and belonged to Italy. It was returned unharmed some years later.

Janace M. Kirby Becomes Bride Of Royce A. Scott

Miss Janace Marie Kirby became the bride of Royce A. Scott of Midland in a Sunday afternoon ceremony at the 14th and Main Church of Christ in Big Spring. Thomas E. Cudd, Hamlin, officiated in the double-ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Kirby, 601 West 15th St. Guardians of the bridegroom are his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brown of Patricia.

Vows were repeated before a background of white chrysanthemums, gladioli and lilies arranged in a sunburst arrangement. The scene was lighted by candelabra holding cathedral tapers. Emerald fern trees completed the altar. Pews were marked with huckleberry tied in satin bows.

Traditional wedding selections, "Because," "O Promise Me" and "Through the Years," were presented.

WEDDING GOWN

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal-length gown designed Princess style of peau de soie. The portrait neckline was outlined with re-embroidered Alencon lace and highlighted with seed pearls and sequins. Self material roses were attached to either side of the waistline. The paneled skirt extended into a chapel train. A pillbox hat of self material secured her elbow-length veil of silk illusion. She carried a crescent of strophitis centered with white orchids showered in satin picot streamers.

ATTENDANTS

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Evelyn Summers of Nashville, Tenn. Bridesmaids were Misses M'Lisa Crenshaw of San Antonio and Jane Cudd of Hamlin. They were attired in champagne colored dresses of brocade styled with elbow-length sleeves and belted skirts. Their pillbox hats were of self material. They carried crescents of bronze chrysanthemums showered in streamers of picot satin.

Larry Latson of Big Spring served his cousin as best man. Ushers were Doyle Maxwell of Big Spring, brother of the bride, Elton Masters of Lamesa and Don McPherson of Lubbock. Woodie Scott of Lamesa, cousin of the bridegroom, and Pat Hale, also of Lamesa, were groomsmen.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS

Guests arriving from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Alton Scott of Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. Leland Boydston and their daughter, Nella, and Miss Rita Williams of San Diego, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Weatherly of McCamey, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Burton of Loving.

MRS. ROYCE A. SCOTT

N. M., Mrs. Eula Mae Herje of Pauls Valley, Okla., and others from Lamesa and Patricia.

RECEPTION

A reception for the couple was held immediately following the ceremony at the educational building of the church. Receiving guests were the couple, her parents, his grandmother and the feminine attendants.

The bride's cake was served from a table centered with silver candelabra interspersed with satin streamers and white chrysanthemums holding tall bridal tapers. Serving were Misses Judy Latson, Kay Coleman and Lynda Kay Kirby, sister of the bride. Presiding at the guest register was Miss Rhama Maxwell, cousin of the bridegroom.

What's New In Sweaters?

You'll be "classic" this year in your choice of sweaters if you follow the trend of fashion.

This traditional style is characterized by a flat, less bulky stitch, narrow conservative trim, and a revival of classic patterns such as Argyle and Blazer stripes.

Bulky sweaters are still high fashion though, and promise to remain a top favorite. One in particular has grown in popularity. The West Coast, always a leader in sharp-looking sweaters, has taken this design to its heart and adopted it as its own.

The six button cardigan sweater ranks among the highest in popularity. It carries self piping and contrasting trimming. You'll see more and more of what is called the zip-crew style. The zip-crew is a crew neck with full length zipper closing.

The bride's cake was served from a table centered with silver candelabra interspersed with satin streamers and white chrysanthemums holding tall bridal tapers. Serving were Misses Judy Latson, Kay Coleman and Lynda Kay Kirby, sister of the bride. Presiding at the guest register was Miss Rhama Maxwell, cousin of the bridegroom.

WEDDING TRIP

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride changed into a light wool olive green suit accented with brown lizard accessories. She attached the orchid corsage from her bouquet.

A 1969 graduate of Big Spring High School, the bride will complete work for her BS degree from Abilene Christian College by correspondence. She was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, Student Education Association, Omega Rho Alpha and Keppa Delta Pi, a national education honor fraternity.

The bridegroom graduated from Lamesa High School and is a 1960 graduate of Abilene Christian College. He received his BS degree in accounting and was a member of Knight's Social Club, Circle K and Gamma Epsilon. He is employed by Myron Anderson and Co., Certified Public Accountants, Midland.

The couple plan to reside in Midland.

Blot Shadows

CLEVELAND — Blot out the shadow around your eyes with make-up eraser blended into your make-up. Apply the eraser upward to lighten the area between your nose and the inner corner of your eyes.

The area between your eyes will appear wider and shadows will disappear.

Paris Silhouette

The Paris pea coat silhouette has been picked by makers of children's coats and sportswear. In smaller doses, suits with braided cardigan jackets look very Chanel.

Hammack-Tiler Vows Are Said

Miss Bertha L. Tiler became the bride of Rex L. Hammack Jr. in a ceremony performed at Birdwell Lane Church of Christ Friday at 3:00 p.m. Officiating was Elbert R. Garretson, pastor of the church.

BRIDAL ATTIRE

The bride repeated wedding vows wearing a white shantung sheath with matching accessories. Her headpiece was a white pillbox hat from which fell a circle of white illusion. Completing her wedding attire was a corsage of white gladioli.

WEDDING TRIP

Following the ceremony the couple left for a wedding trip to Mexico. Upon their return they will reside in Abilene where the bridegroom is employed as a chemist for Halliburton Oil Co.

The bride is a graduate of Trent High School. The bridegroom is a graduate of Bayou La Batre High School in Alabama and of Springhill College in Mobile, Ala. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex L. Hammack Sr., 2204 Warren St., Big Spring.

Natural Look Is In

A soft, natural look for your figure is the verdict of America's leading designers for Fall '62. It's one that is applauded by the well-dressed woman because she knows that what looks best is inevitably what is most natural.

The "natural" look is precisely the mood most beloved by the American woman—be she city dweller, suburbanite or careerist and regardless of whether her pocketbook is fat or lean.

In fact, the uncluttered concept bears no price tag and whose single requirement is flawless feminine shaping.

The "how" of it lies, of course, in basic foundation wear that molds and secures curves into smooth youthfulness.

On this precise theory, Formfit has designed shapemaking coordinates of paisley printed tricot and lightweight spandex that control with a firm touch that can barely be felt.

The bandeau bra is created of smooth paisley print nylon sheer over tricot with a front band of spandex to guarantee stay-up comfort.

The matching long-leg pantie is all light-but-controlling spandex with matching paisley front and side panels. A waistline design, the pantie insures luxury slimming through hips, tummy and thighs even under the most clinging fabrics.

The paisley print may be had in a choice of pastels from White, Ariel Blue, Petal Pink to Honey Mist and Sparkling Champagne.

Ice Cream Tips

Note to the bride: If you've used part of a pint or quart of ice cream, give the container an extra air-proof wrapping before putting back in the freezer. This over-wrap helps maintain good texture.

Gregory Family Holds Reunion At Phillippses

A reunion of the descendants of S. K. Gregory, was held Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. Phillips, 503 East 13th St. Sons and daughters attending were Mrs. W. H. Gregory of Midland, W. H. Gregory of Westbrook, Mrs. Lora Anderson of Big Spring, Mrs. J. E. Terry 1402 Nolan, R. E. Gregory and family of Westbrook and B. H. Gregory of Colorado City.

Grandchildren attending were Bruce Phillips and family of Rosenberg, Paft Morris and family of Midland and R. L. Patterson and family of Big Spring. Other guests were Mrs. Aubrey Reece of Westbrook, Mrs. Harry Jamison of Colorado City and Mrs. Melvin Phillips of Big Spring.

During the day, the group played games and attended the Big Spring Country Golf tournament, in which a grandson, Jimmy Patterson, is participating. An outdoor barbecue was served during the evening.

S. K. Gregory moved to a farm-ranch near Itan in 1900 from Woodville. He and his family have resided there since that time.

The group decided to hold the reunion next year at the ranch home of R. E. Gregory.

Niece Visits In J. Cook Home

GARDEN CITY (SC) — Mrs. Jimmie Cook has returned from a visit with her niece, Mrs. Franks Barrets, Brownfield.

Dale Bohanon, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Bohanon, broke his right arm Wednesday when he fell from a fence.

Miss Pam Bigby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bigby, had a tonsillectomy at Stanton recently.

Stain Remedy

Rings left from coffee and tea, especially lingering when white china or earthenware cups are used, can be easily removed with a little baking soda.

Home Shows Are Better Than Ever

The next time someone asks, "Would you like to see our picture album?" don't be surprised if he pulls out a screen and projector and puts on a good movie.

For a revolution in home motion picture cameras in the last few years has made candid movie-taking as easy as the box camera did in the old snapshot album days—and twice as professional.

Mom, as well as dad, can now get action movie shots of Junior's progress, family vacations, the tent in the back yard, blowing out the birthday candles, the first day in school, learning to swim, the family reunion, Christmas and graduation.

Three major research developments are chiefly responsible for the increasingly widespread use of home motion picture cameras. The developments include:

The electric eye which automatically adjusts the lens opening to indoor or outdoor light conditions and makes it possible for the camera user to point and shoot—without worrying about whether the film will be under or over exposed. The new 8 mm camera makes automatic light reading even more foolproof through use of a built-in compensating system that automatically opens the lens more than the electric eye setting when it is necessary to shoot pictures directly into bright sunlight.

Take Care In Choosing Coat For The Young Man

The sophisticated young male student is likely to require an all-duty topcoat in his campus and outdoor activities this year. Check on these points when you shop for one.

Does the style suit your young man? If not, he can find one that does. Topcoats today are designed in a variety of styles, all of them excellent fashion. Ranking high are the raglan sleeve fly-front and the trench coat.

Is the coat you want practical for the purpose? A popular choice is the all-weather coat. It offers resistance to rain, sleet and snow. For extra warmth you can zip in a colorful lining. If the weather turns warm, remove it. The lining keeps heat in, cold out, as they say. Without it you also have a raincoat.

What about length and color? Just around-the-knee length is popular for the young college man although any length slightly longer is right. As for colors, most coats are conservative on the outside while the linings run riot on the inside.

Is the coat light in weight? This is an important feature as far as the men are concerned. They give top vote to a cotton gabardine, light in weight, but strong in wear and tearability as well as weather protection.

A little care in selection and you'll be sure to get an exactly right coat that can go everywhere.

7 New Models Included In L-M Offering

DALLAS — Lincoln-Mercury Division of Ford Motor Company will introduce seven new 1963 models to fit into fast-growing areas of the automobile market, Chase Morse, Jr., assistant general manager of the division, said here at a dealer meeting.

The cars will be shown publicly early in October.

Morse made the announcement to more than 400 Texas Lincoln-Mercury dealers and salesmen, who gathered in Dallas to view the 1963 Lincoln-Mercury car lines.

Morse said 1962 calendar year sales for the division were running five per cent ahead of the same period last year. He also noted that 23 per cent more 1962 model Lincoln Continentals will be sold than 1961 models, the introduction year of the newly-styled luxury car.

For 1963, the division offers 35 different models which range from compact to luxury and from bucket seat convertibles to three-seat station wagons.

Eight engines are offered ranging from an 85-horsepower six-cylinder unit to a 405-horsepower V-8. Five transmissions are available—three and four speed manual, two and three speed automatic, and overdrive.

Changes in the Lincoln Continental's styling for 1963 testify to its newness, yet emphasize its continuity of design. Ornamentation changes include a three-dimensional effect on the lower back panel and a new front grille. Performance is increased by major engine improvements, including a new 4-barrel carburetor instead of the 2-barrel offered in 1962. A 40 amp alternator is standard equipment.

Dramatic new styling, highlighted by a unique reverse sloped rear window and roof line, sets the Mercury Monterey apart from all other American cars in 1963. The new power-operated rear window virtually eliminates visibility problems caused by rain, snow, frost or ice.

The standard-sized Mercury Meteor will round out the line with the addition of five new models—two hardtops and three station wagons. The two-door hardtops will be available in the Custom and S-33 series. The S-33 has new bucket seats with a full-length console and unique appointments. The three wagons are the Meteor, Meteor Custom and the top-of-the-line Meteor Custom Country Cruiser with simulated mahogany paneling.

The 1963 Mercury Comet will offer two convertibles—one each in the Custom and S-22 series—and significant, cost reducing maintenance improvements.

Engineers Staying In Katanga

KOLWEZI, Katanga (AP)—After two rounds of Katanga-U.N. warfare, the Union Miniere du Haut Katanga offered to release any of its mining engineers who wanted to return to the safety of their homes in Europe.

It has 700 European employees in this placid company town. Exactly two chose to leave.

This is a place where Union Miniere really counts, at the copper and cobalt mines of President Moise Tshombe's province.

Warnings have been sounded at U.N. headquarters that the world's third largest copper producer will have to cooperate before peace can settle over the Congo. Such storm-cloud declarations seem a long way off as little trains chug out of the open-face mines loaded to the brim with treasures of pale green mud.

Kolwezi is the site of the Union Miniere's three most important copper mines. From here the raw ore is taken by rail to the electrolysis plant and smelter of Jadotville, 75 miles away.

The ore is dissolved in acid solution and transformed by electric current into rough sheets which are thrust into great furnaces. Out of little spots comes the molten copper, 99.5 per cent pure, looking like a sort of iridescent orange juice pouring into a bar mold.

A sharp blow of an African's hammer impresses the company hallmark "UMK" onto the finished bar. Another $90 worth of Katanga copper moves onto the world market.

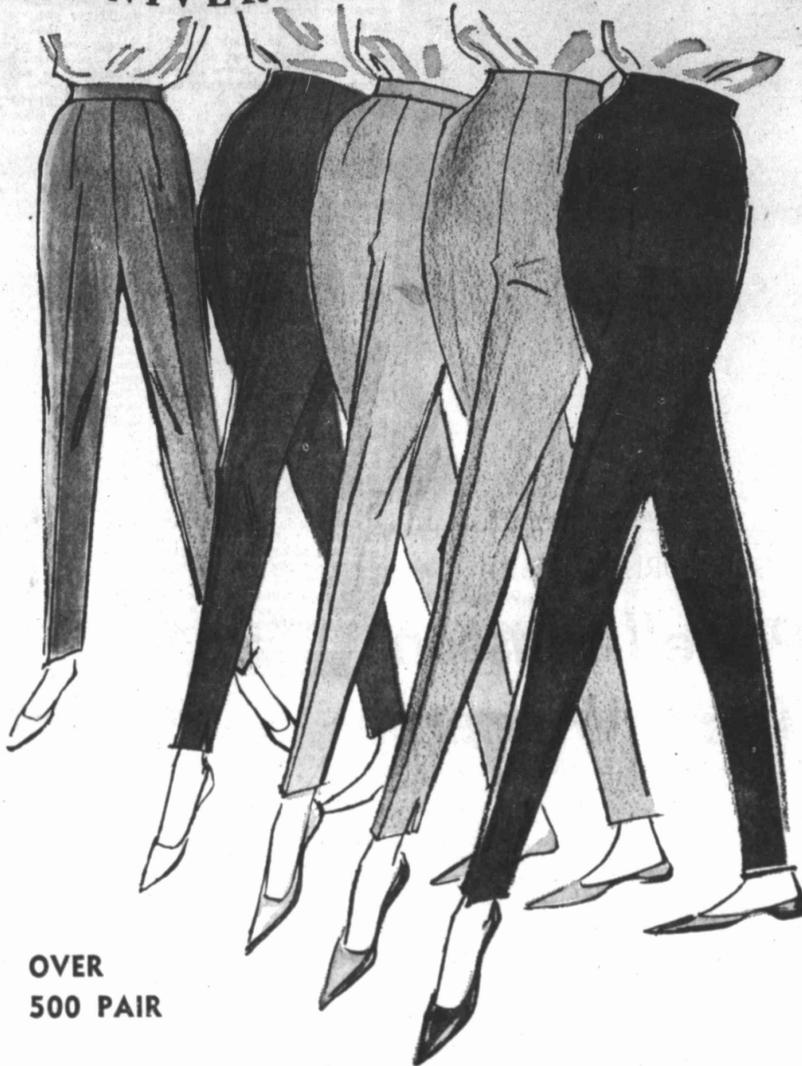

"It's obvious that Katanga and Tshombe wouldn't amount to much without us," says a Union Miniere official. "Where the United Nations and the United States in particular go wrong is in deciding that therefore we—and not Tshombe—thought up the Katanga secession."

That much said, this and most other Union Miniere officials call Tshombe a statesman among African leaders. Tshombe was a businessman before entering politics, they point out.

Highway Safety Champion Killed

HASTINGS, Minn. (AP) — E. Ray Cory, 70, of Austin, president of the Minnesota Automobile Association and a champion for highway safety, was killed Saturday in a traffic accident. He also was a vice president of the American Automobile Association. Cory's wife, Daisy, 61, was fatally injured in the crash.

Change Of Standards For Minister's Wife

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — There's a move afoot to remind church congregations that their minister's wife is human, even if she can't expect to be as fancy free as sisters outside the parsonage.

A national survey is under way and a theological school plans to publish a manual to guide the wives in their behavior and the congregations in their demands.

Mrs. Hugh F. Miller, a parson's wife, is a member of a 12-woman team that seeks to correct any conception of the clergyman's wife as a harried, drab woman with a smile etched on her face.

The women are members of the interdenominational advisory committee of a research program on "The Minister's Wife," being conducted by the Boston University School of Theology under a grant from the Lilly Foundation, Inc. Their mass-interview project will take three years.

"What we want to establish is a factual rather than a high flown ideal," said Mrs. Miller, the wife of the pastor of the Eastwood Baptist Church.

"As things stand, what most people think a minister's wife should be is enough to scare a girl stiff," Mrs. Miller said.

Manuals given wives of seminary students are just awful, she added.

While the factual ideal will help guide seminary students' wives and fiancés, the researchers hope it also will ease the task of parsonage women by reminding the thinking of the country's congregations.

"It's what the church people expect that shapes the life of the pastor's wife," said Mrs. Miller, who has spent nearly 20 years in various congregations.

But certain restrictions make it difficult for the clergyman's spouse to be herself.

She must think twice before buying a high-fashion gown, or trying an exotic hairdo. (Hair coloring is strictly taboo.)

Her children must be models of good behavior; her personal and family plans must be flexible to accommodate the whims of a congregation.

MRS. JAMES DOUGLAS RICHARDSON

Snyder Couple Repeat Vows

Miss Gretchen Short and James Douglas Richardson Jr., exchanged marriage vows Saturday evening in a candlelit service at the First Methodist Church in Snyder. The double-ring vows were read by the Rev. Harry Vanderpool.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Short of Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. James Douglas Richardson of Snyder former residents of Big Spring.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a formal gown of white peau de soie and re-embroidered Alencon lace. The molded bodice of lace featured a scooped neckline and short belled sleeves. A cummerbund of silk accented the waistline. The voluminous skirt, applied with Alencon motifs, was fashioned with a chapel train. Her elbow length veil of imported silk illusion fell from a miniature princess crown of seed pearls. Her bouquet was a cascade of frenched chrysanthemums and stephanotis, centered with gardenias atop a white Bible. She also carried an heirloom lace handkerchief belonging to her great aunt, Mrs. Charles Williams of Monterey, Calif.

Miss Lindie Barclay of Abilene was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Elene Corder of Brady, Thelma Lew Phillips of West Columbia and twin sisters of the bride, Deborah and Daphene Short. All wore identical dresses of gold peau de soie designed with three-quarter sleeves, scooped necklines and bouffant skirts. They carried bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

Best man was Don Powell of Lubbock. Groomsman and ushers were Joe Maddox of Lubbock, Jim Windham of Lawton, Okla., Joe Weaver of Big Spring and Bancher Cade of Odessa.

Junior attendants were Janelle Short of San Antonio, cousin of the bride, and Tommy Anger. Linda Strain, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

Miss Rita Hanback played traditional wedding selections at the organ and accompanied Mrs. Bill McLaughlin as she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

A reception followed at Wesley Hall. In the house party were Mrs. Jack Gorman, Mrs. J. D. Hinton, Mrs. Jimmy Cloud, Mrs. Sonny Harrell, Miss Jane Williamson, Miss Lynda Mize, Miss Susie Free, Miss Helen Joyce and Miss Terry Anger, all of Snyder. Out-of-town members of the house party were Miss Vickie Adams of Colorado City, Miss Rene Monday of Dallas and Miss Jackie Marshall of Angleton.

The bride attended Texas Christian University where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. She will further her education at Auburn University in Auburn, Ala.

The bridegroom attended Texas Tech before entering the service. He is now stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga.

For a wedding trip to New Orleans, La., the bride chose a tweed suit with matching accessories. She attached the gardenia from her bridal bouquet.

The couple plan to live at the Baker Apartments in Columbus, Ga.

Powell-Wasson Team Winners

Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Elmo Wasson retained the Marie McDonald silver trophy award for Club Championship duplicate games, when the session was completed Sunday at the Big Spring Country Club. This award was presented in connection with the Open-Pairs-One Session Labor Day Tournament at the club. Receiving the overall award in the open-pairs event were Mrs. Barney Barnard Jr. and Mrs. Phil Terk of Odessa.

Nine life masters were present Sunday to participate in play. Players arrived from Midland, Odessa, Kermit, San Angelo, Colorado City, Sweetwater, Lamesa, Garden City, Andrews and other towns.

Winners in Section A were Mrs. Wasson and Mrs. Powell, first; Mrs. Vandever and Charles Nunn, second; Mrs. R. C. Scott and Paul Dunn of San Angelo, third; Mrs. Malcolm Patterson and Tom South, fourth; Mrs. Harvy Williamson and T. W. Ashley tied for fifth and sixth with Mrs. E. G. Patton and Dan Greenwood.

Section B winners were Mrs. Barnard and Mrs. Terk, first; R. C. Scott and Mr. Jones of San Angelo, second; Mrs. Fred Kasch and Mrs. Truman Jones, third; Marshall Garrett and Mr. Bardon Midland, fourth; Mrs. Gerald Harris and Mrs. Ladd Smith, fifth; Mrs. Mary Frances McGregor and Ben Greig of Midland, sixth.

Overall winners were the teams of Barnard - Terk, first; Scott-Jones, second; Powell - Wasson, third; Kasch-Jones, fourth; Vandever - Nunn, fifth; Garrett-Bardon, sixth.

Teenagers Reversing Situation On Advice

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON Associated Press Fashion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Teaching mothers how to be chic requires plenty of psychology on the part of those hypercritical young ladies, their daughters.

This is Harriet Alpern's observation. As a pretty 20-year-old she has had a few years in which to note that instead of getting, teen-agers are giving advice to elders to tease hair, shorten hems, take off a few pounds.

Since her father Owen Alpern has been manufacturing junior clothes for 25 years, Harriet is in a position to know that almost as many mothers buy these sizes and styles as her contemporaries.

For example, a copy of designer Norman Norell's young America suit with its swiny skirt, short-cropped jacket and wide belt is worn by almost as many 50-year-olds as 15-year-olds.

And, as a psychology major at Finch college, Harriet feels she understands why young girls are encouraging their mothers to be more fashion conscious.

"A youthful, chic mother is a status symbol to girl friends. And to boyfriends a mother indicates what the daughter may look like someday," says philosophical Harriet.

After bull sessions with her friends and some careful psychological study Harriet suggests these ways for daughters to improve their mothers' appearance.

Respect, but manipulate your mother's opinion.

Don't encourage a sister act. Mothers can look younger than they are, perhaps, but not girlish.

Enlist Dad to drop hints and compliments. Emerged in household chores, women lose the incentive to dress up, unless the man in her life notices, and cares.

Don't allow her to be a martyr. Also, a certain neurotic mother type rather enjoys bemoaning that so much clothing money is spent on the daughter none is left for her. Advise this kind that her greatest sacrifice would be to dress so that the family will be proud to introduce her.

If she's dowdy because fashion doesn't interest her, invite her to some style luncheons with you. She'll go for the companionship and may in turn develop a knowledge and interest in clothes.

Still, if collusion, companionship and friendly suggestion gets Mama nowhere in terms of fashion, stop nagging and forget it, urges Harriet. And never, never apologize to her to anyone.

But with Harriet herself mother is not a problem. Mrs. Owen (Ethel) Alpern, a former lawyer and now an interior decorator, is a smartly attired size 11 whose innate good tastes keep daughter Harriet on her toes.

DEAR ABBY Stick To Your Rules

DEAR ABBY: Is a divorced woman supposed to sit home unless she is willing to go as far as her date expects her to? I have been going with a divorced man who behaved like a perfect gentleman the first two dates. But in spite of my efforts to keep him in line I finally had to fight him off. I told him not to call me again if that was the way he was going to act. When he called me again and asked me to go out I assumed he was coming back on my terms. Instead, after another wrestling match, he asked me why I hadn't changed my mind. Does this mean if I want to behave myself I have to sit home? Please answer as this is getting to be the story of my life.

DISILLUSIONED: Don't judge ALL men by the octopus you describe. Once you have told an aggressive date your limits and rules, ASK him if he is willing to stay within them—otherwise no date.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you won't send the man with the butterfly net after me when you read this. My husband and I have been married eight heavenly years. We have five lovely children. Our marriage is solid as a rock. We eloped and had no wedding to remember. I have always envied brides who had white church weddings and a honeymoon. Could I possibly do this now? All I want is to walk down the aisle in a wedding gown and veil, be married by a preacher have pictures taken and go on a honeymoon. (Of course we'd take the children.) Please don't throw this away and call me silly.

STILL ON A PINK CLOUD
DEAR STILL: Why not? Do it on your anniversary. But don't wear white. Make it pale pink to match those clouds.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is impossible to live with. He's a heavy drinker, a poor provider and selfish on top of it. Don't say go to a priest. I have been to seven. And don't tell me to get him to join A.A., as he has joined eight times.

P.S. He says that people who write to you are nuts.

HAD IT
DEAR HAD IT: There is NO help for a man who refuses to help himself. And, unfortunately, it is the woman who has promised to take him for better or worse who gets the worst of it. P.S. If people who write to me are "nuts," it's people like your husband who drive them there.

Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of the Big Spring Herald.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Most Of State Still In Need Of Moisture

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Scattered rains of the past week dented Texas string of scorching temperatures but severe drought conditions continue in most sections. John Hutchinson, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says.

Showers in deep South Texas helped pastures and low water tanks. The cotton harvest is in the final stages in the Lower Valley and the Coastal Bend. Stalk destruction is under way. Plantings of vegetables was slowed by the shortage of moisture.

A bumper crop of rice and cotton is keeping equipment in the coastal fields long hours. The cotton stalk shredding is coming along well and some corn yields are above average. Showers is slow work but helped pastures. Stock water is holding up and cattle are in good condition. The pecan crop is expected to be light.

Showers in South Central Texas lowered high temperatures. The cotton harvest is 70 to 90 per cent complete there and the corn, peanut and rice harvests continue at a fast rate. Ranges are very dry and rain is needed for late summer and winter grasses. Though water is a problem, livestock are doing fair. Plowing for grain and vegetables has begun and some cabbage and carrots are being planted.

BELOW AVERAGE
With moisture short, pastures and ranges in East Texas are below average. Stock are in good condition although 121 screwworm cases have been reported.

A few showers partially relieved the severe moisture shortage in Central Texas. The cotton crop is 25 per cent harvested and corn and grain sorghum is in the final stages of harvest. The pecan crop will be light.

The peanut crop needs rain. Pastures and ranges are dry and some grass fires were reported. Stock tanks are low but cattle are in normal condition.

Central West Texas is very dry. Some areas have not had rain since May. Pastures are furnishing only dry grass. Livestock is losing weight and some producers are feeding. Goats are being shorn and sheep shearing has started. Sorghum is fairly good in several counties but cotton is very short and is defoliating.

WEST TEXAS
Spotted rains helped some in far West Texas but a good general rain is needed. The Edwards Plateau is very dry and livestock conditions are getting worse. Irrigated crops are doing well and last irrigations are being applied. Cotton insects are decreasing.

Cattle are being marketed in record numbers from very dry pastures of Northeast Texas. Cotton is in the early stages of harvest. Sorghum and corn are 20 to 30 per cent harvested. Haying has almost stopped. Vegetables are suffering from low moisture.

North Central Texas needs rain. There is some plowing. The cotton crop is maturing and there is some harvesting. Sorghum and corn yields are fair to good. Some corn is being cut for silage. Livestock are in fair condition. Ranges need rain.

ON PLAINS
Cotton, sorghum and ranges need rain in the Rolling Plains. Irrigation is being used where available. The main cotton harvest will begin in about 10 days. Boll weevils and bollworms are damaging the crop.

Very dry conditions in the South Plains caused severe crop damage. Irrigated crops are making good progress and cotton is being watered for the last time on most farms. Some sorghum is being harvested. Silage is being cut. Moisture in the Panhandle is short but grass and cattle are in good condition. Both the potato and the onion crops have been harvested and cotton is beginning to open.

Housing Facilities Wanted To Serve Elderly Persons

EDITOR'S NOTE—In the 25 years of federal public housing, about seven million Americans have been provided with subsidized low-rent homes. But there's much to be done, housing officials say—especially for the growing number of elderly citizens.

By J. W. DAVIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some old people can't take tub baths. They see too feeble or crippled to climb over the side.

What they need is a walk-in shower with a built-in, substantial seat.

Arthritic hands sometimes cannot turn a wash basin faucet. But they can still press a lever. So, it would be better to put levers on the fixtures.

These problems and solutions are just two small things out of dozens that the Public Housing Administration has learned in providing low-rent housing for the elderly.

The public housing commissioner, Marie C. McGuire, talked especially about housing for old people Saturday as her agency celebrated its 25th anniversary. It was Sept. 1, 1937 that President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the basic legislation.

or 430,000 tenants will be moving into 100,000 new dwelling units now to be added to the program.

Nearly half of the scheduled homes are to be designed especially for use by elderly men and women of low income, a rapidly growing part of the population.

In addition to planning special conveniences for old people, Mrs. McGuire has a dream of making public housing buildings far more attractive than they have been in the past.

"There is no need to limit them to something that is just cheap and waterproof," she told a reporter. "People who live in concrete barracks will react to concrete barracks."

"It won't cost any more money to get attractive, imaginative designs."

"I want it to be happiness housing."

Mrs. McGuire, a dynamic, brown-eyed, silver-haired woman, made a name for herself as a housing expert in Texas—San Antonio and Houston—before President Kennedy tapped her for the top FHA job April 25, 1961.

fare services are among the innovations she envisions.

Such services, as she sees it, could be provided by other agencies, probably a municipal recreation department or similar organization working with local public housing authorities.

In an anniversary statement, she said: "This local-federal program has done much to improve the quality of our national housing inventory over its first 25 years, but there is still a tremendous existing need which must be met."

"As President Kennedy pointed out in his housing message to Congress early in 1961, . . . 14 million American families . . . currently live in substandard or deteriorating homes!"

In the public housing program the federal agency contributes plans and construction loans to community housing authorities. These loans are later repaid with interest at the time the local housing authority finances its project through the sale of bonds. After the homes are occupied, federal financial assistance is in the form of an annual subsidy to enable low rents to be charged.

There has been much opposition, as well as much support, for public housing. The opposition is generally based on the feeling that it is wrong to take money from some people—taxpayers—and use it to help pay the rent for some other people.

Public housing is intended only for those who cannot pay the going rate of rents.

"Real estate lobbies in large measure are still fighting public housing as vigorously as in the past," Mrs. McGuire said. "Yet we are not in competition with them."

Each community sets its own income limit to determine who may be lodged in a public housing unit. The national office figures that, on the average across the country, 65 per cent of elderly persons are eligible because of low income.

Two Charged In Assault

Two brothers, Jerry F. King, 33, and George Z. King, 34, both Big Spring residents, were released from custody on $500 bond each, Sunday after being charged in the court of Justice of the Peace Walter Grice, who set the bonds.

Jerry King was charged with possession of a prohibited weapon and George King was charged with assault on police officers.

During the assault Police Patrolman Robert Husson received a broken left arm above the wrist. Patrolman Sherrill Farmer's glasses were broken also during the assault.

Police were in pursuit of one car, on US 80 West, for reckless driving when a second car passed the patrol car at the high rate of speed. The second car, driven by Jerry King, was stopped in front of the Coca-Cola bottling plant where Capt. Walter Eubanks and Farmer investigated a report that the driver was carrying a pistol.

Villa Rites Are Slated

Services will be held at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday for Leonardo Villa, 58, who died Saturday in a San Antonio Hospital. A one-time long resident of Big Spring, Mr. Villa had been hospitalized there for the past two years.

He was born Nov. 11, 1903 in Valentine and had been a resident of Big Spring 35 years.

Services will be at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church with the Rev. Father Patrick Casey officiating. Burial will be in City Cemetery, under the direction of River Funeral Home.

Mr. Villa is survived by his widow, Mrs. Belen Villa, Big Spring; two daughters, Mrs. Lupe Villareal and Mrs. Elvira DeLaGarza, both of San Antonio; two sons, Manuel Villa, Big Spring, and Elias Villa, San Antonio; and 11 grandchildren.

Others include five sisters, Mrs. Silvestra DeLeon, California, and Mrs. Isabel Villa, Mrs. Delores Lerman, Mrs. Miquela Mendoza and Mrs. Matilde Sotelo, all of Big Spring; and three brothers, Jose Villa, Big Spring, Marejido Villa, California, and Julio Villa, Michigan.

Thousands Die In Earthquake

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Epidemics threatened Northwest Iran today as the horror of a weekend earthquake grew. Red Cross officials estimated the dead close to 10,000 and the injured "beyond count."

American engineers constructing an Iranian army barracks near Hamadan, which was rocked by the tremors, escaped without injury, the U.S. Embassy reported.

The government announced an official toll of "more than 3,316 dead"—but indicated it is expected to be much higher—5,000 injured, 100,000 homeless.

Army water tankers sped across dirt tracks to the devastated area about 100 miles northwest of Tehran. The United States handed over four light planes to fly blood plasma and relief supplies.

An official at the Geophysical Institute here said if the quake had been centered in Tehran "more than a million would have died."

The wail of prayers, screams of terror and the stench of death hung over the mud-house villages. Injured, dug from the debris, were brought to overflowing district hospitals and into Tehran by train, bus and trucks.

The quake lasted only one minute Saturday night with the worst devastation over a 23,000-square-mile area centering around Takistan, 100 miles northwest of Tehran and about 20 miles southwest of the major rail city of Kazvin.

The Iranian Red Cross said the quake killed 3,000 of the 4,000 inhabitants of Dan-Isfahan near Takistan.

The village, set on a foothill of an 8,385-foot mountain, was left a mass of mud and debris. Survivors ran screaming for help as a rescue plane landed on the fringe of the village. Of the 322 houses in the village, only one mosque and one brick building still stand.

A few half-destroyed walls stand as ghostly remnants of the tragedy.

Prime Minister Assadullah Alam, touring the disaster area, said: "Unfortunately the tragedy is bigger and greater than at first reported."

An Iranian newsmen telephoned from Saveh, 80 miles west of Tehran, that seven villages had been wiped out in that area with a death toll of 355.

The injured crowded hospitals and schools in Karaj and Kazvin, on the edge of the disaster area. One train brought 108 injured to Tehran Sunday night.

A critical water shortage was reported in the area. Many wells and underground water systems were destroyed or damaged by the shock.

The quake sent shock waves as far as Tehran, and people fled into the capital's streets.

Prime Minister Assadullah prepared to tour the disaster area.

Only a handful of calls have been received in response to an appeal by Gil Jones, district attorney, and other officers to the public for information which could help in locating the slayer of Stanley Williams, 90-year-old Big Spring resident.

Jones sounded the appeal for help Saturday. He said that all the officers' leads have been checked out and proved of no value.

He added that he and other officials were hopeful someone in the area might have information which could be of help in clearing up the case.

The effort is still under way and a special phone number has been set up to receive calls relative to the case. The number is AM 4-3575.

An official will be on duty daily from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and all information will be treated with complete confidence.

Wants Clearance On Injection Wells

The Texas Water Commission is insisting that all waste water injection wells should have clearance from that agency.

A formal report has been filed by Chief Engineer John Vandertulp of the TWC, with the Texas Railroad Commission, objecting to use of six wells in the Sharon Ridge Field of Mitchell County for salt water injection.

Information on the wells is insufficient to guarantee protection of fresh water zones against pollution, he contended.

Vandertulp argued that the TWC should be consulted on injection wells, regardless of whether the injection is to be back into an oil-gas formation. The commission needs to be assured that the wells are properly cased, etc., to guard against migration of polluted water into fresh water zones. His position, he said, applied to wells in secondary recovery as well as for disposal of oilfield brines.

In questioning witnesses at a hearing, Vandertulp adduced testimony that there was no data on some of the proposed injection wells as to whether or where the production string of the casing had been cemented. On others, it was revealed, no surface casing at all had been set. Jerry Thornhill, TWC fresh water protection chief, and Robert Spence, Colorado River Municipal Water District attorney, led questioning of witnesses at the hearing.

The TWC praised operators in the Sharon Ridge and North Coleman ranch fields in their efforts to comply with railroad commission order regarding cessation of disposal of produced brines into open surface pits.

"However," continued the formal statement, "no problem has been solved if injection wells are used which do not afford adequate safeguards to all ground and surface waters of usable quality in the area of the injection wells."

The water commission wishes to state for the record that injection of brine into any formation, whether productive of oil or gas or not, constitutes a potential hazard to water of usable quality in the area if the injection wells are not properly completed."

Vandertulp added that high standards of completion should be met by all brine injection wells, regardless of zone and regardless of whether for disposal or repressuring.

Mr. Vandertulp, 31, for several months, was well known in area athletics, having played guard on the local high school football team as well as serving as a coach at Goliad Junior High during 1960-61.

He attended Big Spring schools and graduated from the local high school in 1947, afterward attending Schreiner Military Institute at Kerrville. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Howard Payne College in Brownwood, and had coached in the Floydada school system. He was an instructor at Schreiner in 1961-62.

A veteran of the Korean War, he was a member of the First Baptist Church.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. V. W. Fuglaar, and a brother, John Slay Fuglaar, both of Big Spring.

Funeral services were to be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home Chapel for Mrs. Verna Mae Johnson, 52, 1902 Hamilton. She died Saturday at 7:25 a.m. at the John Sealy Hospital in Galveston after an illness of about five years.

Mrs. Johnson was born Dec. 8, 1909 in Cherokee County, Oklahoma. Prior to moving to Big Spring in April, 1962, she had been a resident of the Sterling City Route, Big Lake, for five years. She was hospitalized at the John Sealy Hospital immediately after moving to Big Spring.

The Rev. J. S. Culvahouse, pastor of the United Pentecostal Church, and the Rev. Jack Strickland, pastor of the East Fourth Street Baptist Church, will officiate at services. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Palbearers will be L. T. Hillbruner, J. V. Hopper, Eddie Von Guntin, Lee Baker, Thomas Asbill and Bob Adkins. Members of the East Fourth Street Baptist Church will be honorary palbearers.

Survivors include her father, Henry D. Childress, Waco; five brothers, Johnny Childress, Big Lake, Nolan Childress, Big Spring, Lonnie Childress, Longview, Troy Childress, Stephenville, and O. D. Childress, Yuma, Ariz.; and one sister, Mrs. Diane Snipes, Talas Verdes, Calif.

Fuglaar Rites Slated Today

Funeral for J. V. (Pete) Fuglaar, 32, who died at 5:30 a.m. Saturday in a local hospital, was to be held at 2 p.m. today in the First Baptist Church with the Rev. P. D. O'Brien officiating. The Rev. R. L. Polk, was to assist, with interment in the Big Spring City Cemetery beside the grave of his father, under direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mr. Fuglaar, 31, for several months, was well known in area athletics, having played guard on the local high school football team as well as serving as a coach at Goliad Junior High during 1960-61.

He attended Big Spring schools and graduated from the local high school in 1947, afterward attending Schreiner Military Institute at Kerrville. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Howard Payne College in Brownwood, and had coached in the Floydada school system. He was an instructor at Schreiner in 1961-62.

A veteran of the Korean War, he was a member of the First Baptist Church.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. V. W. Fuglaar, and a brother, John Slay Fuglaar, both of Big Spring.

The 7th British empire and Commonwealth games are honored by Australia with two new postage stamps. The games will be held in Perth, Australia. The 5 pence stamp depicts a view of Perth from King's Park with a superimposed representation of the Kangaroo Paw, national flower of Western Australia. The 2 shilling 3 pence stamp features the arms of Perth, host city for the games. The colors in both stamps are black, red, green and blue.

Western Germany commemorates the 150th anniversary of the Bible Society of Wurttemberg with a new stamp, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. The design depicts an open Bible with a religious monogram at left and a chalice at the right. The value of this new stamp is 20 pfennig and the colors are red and black.

Uganda pays tribute to the 100th anniversary of the discovery of the Ripon Falls discovered by Speke. The 30 cent is red and black, the 50 cent is violet and black, the 1½ shilling, green and black, the 2½ shilling, blue and black. Speke's discovery proved to be of major importance to later explorers who mapped the area.

Two nations have issued stamps honoring the Boy Scout Movement. Haiti has issued a set of regulars and air mails honoring the Haitian Boy Scouts. Depicted are symbols and scene plus portraits of Lord and Lady Baden Powell. There are four regular postage stamps in the set and three air mail.

Turkey has issued a set honoring the 50th Anniversary of Turkish Scouting. The 30 Kurus shows Boy Scouts lighting a fire in front of a tent. The 60 Kurus illustrates Boy Scouts with flags. The 105 Kurus pictures Boy Scouts saluting.

Burma Asks World Leaders Suspend Tests

GENEVA (AP) — Burma proposed today that President Kennedy, Soviet Premier Khrushchev and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan join in a personal pledge suspending nuclear weapon tests.

Burmese delegate James Barrington suggested to the 17-nation disarmament conference that the three government chiefs of the nuclear powers put their own responsibility at stake to stop nuclear explosions.

Barrington proposed that the big three issue declarations assuming personal responsibility:

1. That there would be no nuclear testing while a comprehensive treaty banning all explosions is worked out;
2. That their negotiators would continue their efforts to conclude a treaty soon, and
3. That an international scientific commission be formed as soon as possible as the first step in the creation of an organization to administer a test ban.

Western conference sources described Barrington's proposed formula as an uncontrolled moratorium which the United States and Britain so far have refused to accept because of their own vital security interests.

Barrington was not the first nonaligned delegate to suggest such a procedure. Arthur Lal of India proposed last week that the three nuclear powers pledge to restrain themselves in nuclear testing. The Western side interpreted this, too, as an uncontrolled moratorium.

Newest Texas Harbor Dedicated

PORT MANSFIELD, Tex. (AP) — The $7.3 million Port Mansfield, newest Texas harbor, was dedicated Sunday.

The port, built by local and federal funds, is about 25 miles east of Raymondville in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

"It will be a big boost in bringing tourists to Texas," Waggoner Carr of Lubbock, candidate for attorney general, said during the dedication ceremony.

Texas has lost a half million tourists a year since 1957, he said.

"Port Mansfield is one of the 10 best fishing spots in the state," he said.

The 18-foot channel from the harbor to the Gulf with a 26-foot-deep entrance and jetties were

Civilian Payroll At Record High

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's civilian payroll reached a record high of $14,296,000,000 in the last fiscal year, a congressional committee reported today.

The Joint Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures also said the total of 2,443,808 persons on the civilian payrolls was the highest average since fiscal 1954 when it reached 2,436,164.

Texas Girl Leaves For Miss America Contest Sunday

DALLAS (AP) — Penny Lee Rudd, Miss Texas of 1962, left for Atlantic City Sunday and the Miss America contest.

The pretty East Texan flew to Chicago where she had to sit out operation Sky Shield, the military exercise that grounded all civilian planes during the afternoon.

Afterwards she flew to Philadelphia and went by car to Atlantic City.

Penny, 19, a University of Texas student, held a dress rehearsal for her dance number Sunday in Fort Worth.

Her home town of Waskom, population 1,300, staged a big going-away party for her, followed by a parade in nearby Marshall.

Hong Kong Counts 134 Storm Dead

HONG KONG (AP) — The toll from Typhoon Wanda, Hong Kong's worst storm in a quarter of a century, rose steadily today as rescue workers continued digging into flooded and demolished homes.

The government reported at least 134 dead, 41 missing, 515 injured and 46,550 homeless. Local Chinese newspapers estimated more than 300 were killed.

Wanda hit the refugee-crowded British colony with winds of 160 m.p.h. Saturday. Damage was estimated unofficially at between $2 million and $4 million.

The dead included five Royal Air Force men whose bodies were found Sunday night near a camping site on a neighboring island.

Most of the dead were refugees from Communist China. Some drowned when a 6-foot tidal wave flooded their flimsy fishing village shacks. Others perished as winds and landslides swept away squatter huts perched on Hong Kong's steep hillsides.

The tidal wave swept over Shatin, near the Red Chinese border, leaving half the town under water.

The gusts blew down 90 per cent of the huts in one squatter village and destroyed a fishing fleet in the New Territories.

Hong Kong's usually placid harbor turned into a raging cauldron that grounded three ocean freighters, tore seven others loose from their moorings and sank hundreds of sampans and junks.

The storm damaged the homes of many Americans and Europeans as it blew out windows of modern apartment buildings overlooking the harbor. Authorities reported considerable damage to military establishments. Hong Kong Airport, closed down during the storm, also suffered some damage.

Wanda swept on across the nearby Portuguese colony of Macao but caused only minor damage. By the time it hit Red China's south coast, it had weakened to gale force, and there was no immediate report of serious damage on the mainland.

Meanwhile another typhoon, Amy, hovered 540 miles southeast of Formosa. The storm, with 160-mile winds, had remained stationary for more than 24 hours. Weathermen said they could not say yet whether it would head for Formosa or veer toward Okinawa.

Party Chiefs Bounce Bircher Tag

NEW YORK (AP)—The Republican and Democratic national chairmen each attempted in a television debate Sunday to link the John Birch Society to members of the opposing party—not his own.

Republican William E. Miller and Democrat John M. Bailey appeared on the first of eight weekly broadcasts on "The Campaign and the Candidates" over NBC.

NBC newsmen Chet Huntley and David Brinkley asked the questions on the hour-long program, taped in Washington last Thursday.

Huntley asked the debaters to account for the "rather sudden appearance of groups like the John Birch Society."

Miller said he doesn't know whether most of the members of the ultra-conservative Birch Society are Democrats or Republicans. But he said the society has many chapters in Texas and he presumes that many of the members there are Democrats.

Bailey replied: "The John Birch Society and the Republican party are pretty close together."

Miller shot back: "That is not true, and you know it." Huntley asked Miller and Bailey if they disowned the John Birch Society.

Each answered that there is no need for his party to disown the Birch Society — meaning that there has never been any connection to disclaim.

Miller said of the administration's medical care bill: "The program is very bad and I think that is why it was defeated in the Senate by the Democrats and Republicans alike." Miller said 11 Democratic committee chairmen voted against the plan in the Senate.

Miller said his party has supported President Kennedy about 48 per cent of the time in the House and about 40 per cent in the Senate.

Bailey said to Miller: "On the real vital issues you have tied up with the Dixiecrats."

"They are your party," Miller retorted.

Bailey claimed that "since 1961, the country has been run pretty well under President Kennedy."

"That is a purely personal opinion," Miller replied.

Over $800 Taken From Route Truck

Burglary of a cigarette truck, theft of a motor and transmission, and a report of breaking and entering, were investigated by Big Spring police Saturday night and Sunday.

Over $800 was reported missing from a truck, owned by Reginald T. Rives, 1904 S. Monticello, at noon Sunday when he found locks missing from two doors of the truck. He told Patrolman F. W. Pace that his truck was parked beside his home from 8 p.m. Saturday to noon Sunday.

Missing were 60 cartons of cigarettes, and several dollars in change, and currency totaling $862.73.

Carrol A. Trantham, 709 Douglas, reported the theft of a Ford transmission and overdrive, valued at $50. Trantham gave police the name of a man who had paid him part down on the equipment and who was to have paid the balance before getting it. The transmission and overdrive were found at a wrecking yard.

Russell E. Hoover, 1213 E. 16th, reported that the Earl Burnett home, 1606 Lexington, had been entered. Hoover said he was left in charge of the house while the Burnetts were moving. Police Patrolman John B. Scott, who investigated, said screens on front windows had been partially removed, and that entry was gained through a window. Muddy footprints were found on the carpet of the house and in the carport. Nothing was reported missing.

Clyde Harrison, 908 E. 3rd, reported Sunday that someone had taken $170 from his wife's purse at the Rainbow Drive Inn. He said the purse was beside the cash register.

Holiday Leaves Deserted Streets

Big Spring streets, downtown, were almost deserted Monday as most business houses were closed. Highway traffic was fairly heavy on Third and Fourth streets but plenty of parking space was available otherwise.

One business was open and many cars were parked all around it.

Tokyo Flooded

TOKYO (AP)—A sudden cloudburst Sunday dumped four inches of rain on Tokyo's lowlying eastern suburbs and inundated more than 11,000 homes.

Rainmaker Has Retired

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Rainmaker Homer Berry has retired.

Berry said he and his wife and infant daughter plan to vacation soon in Arizona. Then, he said, he hopes to air condition Chicago and drive the smog from Los Angeles. He didn't say how.

Berry, 55, announced his retirement Saturday after receiving $600 from 12 farmers in northeast Arkansas. They had contracted for two inches of rain. They got it.

Previously, a Little Rock radio station paid Berry $500 for a 1 1/2-inch rainfall—badly needed by the city, which went 44 days without precipitation.

Berry said he used chemicals to bring rain from clouds.

The retired Air Force major from North Little Rock said he was getting out of the rainmaking business because farmers who need rain "would worry me to death with orders."

Russians Claim H-Power Headway

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet scientists are solving preliminary problems involved in getting power from thermonuclear fusion, Pravda reported Sunday.

The Communist party newspaper added, however: "No few tasks still face solution (but) the approaches to this problem have already been mastered by us."

Precisely how far the scientists have progressed was not disclosed.

Mystery Blast Behind Curtain

MACAO (AP)—A mysterious explosion on a Chinese Communist island about 500 yards off Macao today rocked this tiny Portuguese colony on the South China coast.

The island is believed to be a Chinese naval base. Several explosions have been reported on the China borders of Macao and Hong Kong in recent weeks. Time bombs were believed planted in food parcels sent to China from the adjoining colonies.

Rough Going In Congress For Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has rough going ahead in final-month attempts to salvage some major segments of his legislative program in a weary and cranky Congress.

Kennedy's lieutenants apparently are going to need the luck of the Irish, plus some fast footwork on compromises, to get approval of eight proposals the President wants wrapped up before members begin belated intensive campaigning about Oct. 1.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, deputy Senate Democratic leader, said he is confident that when the firing is over the Democratic-controlled Congress will wind up with "a solid record of substantial achievement."

But Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said he thinks that what the session hasn't accomplished "is greater than what it has accomplished."

Senators straggling back from a long Labor Day weekend will resume debate Tuesday on the administration's tax revision bill. The few House members expected to put in an appearance will confine themselves to routine chores for the rest of the week.

The tax bill situation in the Senate offers an example of the administration's difficulties in getting most of its major legislation into a final form satisfactory to Kennedy.

The President is being urged to accept an amendment to the measure which would provide for tax deductions for self-employed persons who set up qualified retirement funds. Kennedy, who has been reluctant to back such a provision, has been told that the Senate is going to put it on the bill and he might as well claim what credit he can for that action.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-

Va., said there is increasing opposition within the Senate Finance Committee to House-approved terms of Kennedy's international trade bill.

The committee won't get down to final work on the measure until the Senate takes final action on the tax bill. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said that action could come late in the week.

The administration's battered farm legislation is getting a new going over in a Senate-House conference committee. Most of the controls teeth Kennedy originally proposed have been pulled. Others may be extracted in final compromises.

A House-passed postal rate increase measure is still locked up in Senate committee. It may be combined with pay increases for postal and other federal employees that Kennedy won't be prepared to swallow.

A $900-million public works bill the administration wants to help fend off any recession has to be run through the House mill again because of a minor clerical error. If it is cleared again, the drive will be on to get Senate acceptance.

The administration's foreign aid money bill and the Senate-passed measure to authorize the purchase of $100 million in United Nations bonds are in deep trouble. The House won't even take up the measures until later in the month, when adjournment fever will be at its height.

About the only bright spot centers on the Senate-passed drug safety bill. When it gets around to it, the House is expected to whip through a similar measure.

Ku Klux Crosses Burn In Louisiana

By The Associated Press

Ku Klux Klan crosses flamed in 14 north Louisiana towns and at the state Capitol in a blazing demonstration against integration during the Labor Day weekend. The Georgia hooded order planned a large rally tonight at racially troubled Albany.

A Louisiana Klan spokesman, who declined to reveal his name, said the Saturday night cross burnings were intended to show the KKK has reactivated in Louisiana and is "publicly demonstrating resentment to integration."

"Our forefathers fought and died for their principles and beliefs and we stand ready to do the same, if necessary, to preserve our way of life," he said in a statement given to the Vicksburg (Miss.) Post.

At Baton Rouge, five fire trucks were called out to douse a 4-foot cross that blazed in front of the 22-story state Capitol building. Crosses also flared before three Negro schools and a Negro minister's house in north Louisiana.

In Georgia, the grand dragon of the United Klans of America Inc., said a 7 p.m. rally would be staged in Albany "to show that the white people of the South are tired of federal and northern intervention."

Grand Dragon Calvin Craig predicted there would be more than 1,000 persons at the meeting on private property just outside the city limits of Albany in southwest Georgia.

Craig said Klansmen in Florida, Alabama, Tennessee and South Carolina had been asked to attend the rally.

In another Albany development, eight churchmen who are on the sixth day of a prison fast sent an open letter to President Kennedy urging him to bring Negro and white Albany leaders together in an effort to resolve the city's racial differences.

They were among 75 clergymen and laymen arrested last Tuesday during a prayer vigil protesting segregation. Most of the others posted $200 bonds.

In Washington, 19 Negroes from Hartford, Conn., 12 of them children, said a brief silent prayer before the White House for the Negroes of Albany.

In Spring Hope, N.C., Police Chief Opie Pate was looking for the leaders of an estimated 300 Negroes who stormed the jail in an unsuccessful attempt to force officers to release a man arrested for beating a woman.

Pate said he understood some of the ringleaders "already have gone back to New Jersey." He was bruised and suffered an injured wrist in the Saturday night scuffle.

Both segregation and integration groups picketed an All-Nations Day festival in a segregated amusement park at Woodlawn near Baltimore, Md. About 40 officers were on hand but no arrests were made. Six embassies and the Pan American Union withdrew exhibits from the festival last week because of the park's segregation policy.

The school board at Prince Edward County, Va., has made public a "desegregation plan" which apparently assumes no white youngsters will attend the public schools if they are reopened.

The document specifies the board will pay for schools for 1,250 pupils, provided county supervisors appropriate necessary funds. That number of pupils corresponds roughly with the number of school-age Negroes in the county where public schools closed three years ago to avert court-ordered desegregation. White pupils have been attending private segregated schools.

Reactor Damaged During Experiment

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission says a nuclear reactor was damaged during an experiment with liquid hydrogen in a project to develop a nuclear-powered rocket engine.

Extent of the damage will not be known until after analysis of data and the reactor itself is completed, the AEC said. No one was hurt.

The experiments, known as Project Kiwi, were conducted Saturday at the Nevada test site at the AEC's Los Alamos, N.M., scientific laboratory.

36th Division Holds Reunion

ABILENE (AP)—A memorial service to soldiers who died during two world wars climaxed the reunion Sunday of the 36th Division.

About 400 past members of the division, a Texas National Guard unit, attended the reunion.

The new president of the 36th Division Association is John Green of Abilene. He succeeded John Garner of Corsicana.

Austin was selected as the site for next year's reunion.

Some Areas Get Freezing Weather

By The Associated Press

It was chilly this morning in the northern plains and Rocky Mountain region with freezing weather in some areas.

Seasonable temperatures prevailed in most other parts of the nation. Showers dampened areas in the northern plains and the Southeast.

Northerly winds fanned cold Canadian air into the northern plains and Rockies. The mercury dropped to 32 in Great Falls, Mont., Sunday night and readings in the 30s were general in nearby areas.

In other parts of the country temperatures ranged from the 50s in New England and northern sections of the Great Lakes to the lower 80s along the Gulf Coast and to the 90s in the Southwest desert region.

Who'll Succeed De Gaulle? Frenchmen Are Wondering

By JOSEPH E. DYAN
PARIS (AP)—The hail of bullets that narrowly missed Charles de Gaulle on a lonely street near Villacoublay airfield raised in dramatic form the question: Who and what are likely to follow?

The subsversive Secret Army Organization is scattering handbills calling De Gaulle a traitor who must be "shot down like a mad dog." In other words, other attempts against De Gaulle's life are likely despite the greatly increased security around him.

In any case De Gaulle is 71. If he should decide to run for reelection at the end of 1965 when his term expires, the question of his successor certainly would figure in the campaign.

Many people are thinking of what might happen if De Gaulle dies before then. If the secret army's assassins were successful, it surely would attempt a putsch to install a tight military type dictatorship. It would appeal to extreme right-wing army elements and diehard, fanatic officers from North Africa to help take over.

Amid the turmoil, secret army commandos probably would try to release ex-Gen. Raoul Salan from prison to be their candidate-dictator, and would summon home exiles like Jacques Soustelle and Georges Bidault to give political guidance to the new regime.

Opinions vary as to how successful the commandos could be. Barring a putsch, the most likely sequel would be the emergence of a strong premier under a relatively modest president, backed by a center party agreement to share De Gaulle's impressive powers. Center party leaders met last May to study such a contingency—and are scheduled to confer again this fall.

Only De Gaulle's towering personality, the Algerian upheaval, and widespread public disgust with governmental instability enabled the president to take so much power into his own hands. The constitution, on its face, splits executive power between the president and the premier.

But De Gaulle's stature enabled him to tilt the balance to a point where the premier became a sort of glorified messenger boy.

Algeria was a great help in this maneuver; other politicians were only too happy to let De Gaulle take the rap for a nasty business. Then, too, there was a conviction that under the circumstances De Gaulle was the only public figure with sufficient prestige to carry it off.

If De Gaulle should disappear, the constitution says that the Senate's presiding officer takes over as acting president pending election of a new president by an electoral college consisting of members of Parliament, members of the country councils and delegates from municipal councils.

The Senate president is Gaston Monnerville, 65, a Negro from French Guiana who has represented a county of Southern France in the Senate since 1948. He might replace Premier Georges Pompidou with a much stronger person from middle-road parties. The leaders would then work out some compromise for the presidency, with the premiership probably remaining in the new man's hands.

Last May three ex-premiers, Guy Mollet, Pierre Pflimlin and Antoine Pinay, secretly discussed what to do in case De Gaulle suddenly disappeared. They agreed to meet again before the end of the year. Other leaders who would play a key role include Edgar Faure and Maurice Faure (not relatives) and Jacques Chaban-Delmas.

Any one of these six would be a possibility for the premiership if Monnerville ever has to face the presidential crisis. These same six probably could decide De Gaulle's successor in such a situation.

Jobless Total Big In Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)—Unshaven, worried men loiter about Belfast's windy street corners.

Northern Ireland has 38,000 jobless men—a twelfth of the total labor force. Nearly half have had no job for three months. One in 10 hasn't had steady work in two years.

The shipbuilding and textile industries, foundations of Northern Ireland's economy, are in decline. The aircraft industry is sick. The linen industry is a shadow of past pre-eminence.

Ulstermen seek healthy new industries to replace the ailing ones. A government team has the job of selling Northern Ireland as a site for American industry.

Already 16 American firms have moved in, attracted by cut-rate offers. At least 3,000 Ulstermen are employed in these industries, ranging from nylon stockings to machine tools.

"There are still quite a number of American firms sitting on the fence," said one spokesman. "What's holding them back is the Common Market negotiations. If Britain does join, Ulster surely will become an even more attractive proposition for American industry wanting to move its operations closer to the European market."

A Devotional For The Day

I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. (Romans 12:1.)
PRAYER: O God, help all laymen in the church of Jesus Christ to use in Thy service the great strength which is theirs. In their daily work, may they give hands, heart, and voice for the Master, in whose name we make this prayer. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Labor Day

Today is Labor Day, set aside to honor those who are in the nation's working force.
In a sense, this includes just about everyone in an active status, but this day is more particularly dedicated to those in a non-professional status.
It is significant, however, that the line between professional and non-professional skills narrows and almost disappears in many instances. The mental picture of the laborer solely as an individual with bulging muscles and rolled-up sleeves is no longer accurate. Scores of thousands of laboring men and women today are required to possess and exercise technical skills which would have classed them as engineers a generation ago. Consequently, their educational background frequently is impressive as it is intensive. Perhaps this helps explain how labor has become increasingly articulate. Through the power of organization, labor has not only bargained for a larger share of the productive dollar but has exercised a political influence as well. Some question whether this has always been completely enlightened and in the public interest, but the same can be said of management, too.

Both are people, and people are less than perfect. But people working together can adjust their difficulties, steadily cultivate a sense of responsibility as well as need, and develop a wholesome respect for the indispensable part each plays in the scheme of a free society.

How About Getting On The Team?

"How are you fixed for support?"
If someone were to ask this of the high school athletic department concerning season football tickets, the answer wouldn't be too encouraging at the moment.
Results of the season ticket sale during the first week when previous ticket holders had an option on renewal frankly weren't up to expectations. A lot of people doubtless just put off renewing their ticket bids.

ticket sales, we hope that fans will step up the tempo this week. Some of our neighboring cities have underwritten a substantial part of the football budget through their season ticket purchases. Better still, they have given their boys and coaches a vote of confidence in advance in just about the most eloquent manner. We had a great season last year, and with backing we can have another fine one.

David Lawrence

Where Experience Doesn't Count

WASHINGTON—If President Kennedy had selected to be Justice of the Supreme Court a man who had just been serving for many years as chief counsel of the U.S. Steel Corporation or as a general counsel of the National Association of Manufacturers, what would people say?
If the President had selected to be chief of staff of any one of the armed services a man who had never been an officer in any armed service in his life, what would people say?

YET MR. KENNEDY has just appointed as an associate justice of the Supreme Court a man who has never been on the bench—federal, state or local. He has picked for the post a man who has served as a partisan of the labor movement. As chief counsel for the National Steelworkers Union, he took an active part in its controversial negotiations with management in recent years, and for a long time was also general counsel for the AFL-CIO.

Even though there are today on the bench in the federal, state and local courts several hundred men who have many years of their lives to judicial service, not one of them was found fit by President Kennedy to serve on the Supreme Court of the United States.

OBVIOUSLY, the appointment of Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg was dictated by politics and political considerations. The move was hardly considered. Mr. Goldberg is a good lawyer, and in the course of the next several years he may learn how to be an able judge, perhaps even develop conservative leanings. This happened during the 23 years of service by Justice Felix Frankfurter—originally considered a radical but referred to in recent years as the leader of the "conservative" bloc on the Supreme Court.

BUT HOW MUCH inspiration can it be to men who already have acquired a judicial temperament and who today conscientiously serve on the bench throughout the country, either as district judges or judges on the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals or on state supreme courts, to find not a single one of their number given consideration for the vacancy created by the retirement of Justice Frankfurter from the high court?

President Kennedy himself revealed that he learned on Tuesday of the retirement of Justice Frankfurter and within a few hours selected Secretary Goldberg as successor. His mind was made up in advance. No time or opportunity was given for consultation with leaders of the bar or of the Congress.

WHY DID MR. KENNEDY act so quickly? Because the political requirements had narrowed his field of choice, and the political advantages were obvious. Since Justice Frankfurter happened to be the only member of the Jewish faith on the court, Mr. Kennedy considered it important to nominate a successor of the

What Others Say

We are getting a little tired of the boiler-plate pamphlets that come to a newspaper editor's desk with the bland assumption that neither he nor the newspaper's readers ever heard of (1) the atomic threat to survival of the human race (2) the futility of atomic warfare in which both sides face extinction or (3) the danger of nuclear fallout from bomb tests. We are tired of the intellectual snobbery, of the selfish possessiveness of these pamphlet writers and the organizations they represent.

We do classify them as proponents of appeasement, in the name of negotiation and compromise. We do say it is impossible to avoid the implication that those who disagree with their solutions do so because they do not want peace. By implication they accuse those who do not agree with them of wanting war.

What a tragic approach to the world's problems. Nobody wants war. Nobody wants to see the A-bomb unleashed. Many have learned from history the terrible folly of appeasement—at Munich, in North Korea—the terrible folly of unpoliced disarmament following the Kellogg Pact, the results of one-sided agreements at Yalta and Potsdam. This was an overwhelming faith the great majority of Americans had in the United Nations, in the Marshall Plan and the hope they once had that from Geneva would come at last some show of concern for humanity from the Communist bloc.

Who wants war? Certainly there are only a few troubled minds that want war. The vast majority don't want war. They do want peace—an honest, honorable, indestructible peace that preserves freedom and human dignity. This they want—and they are tired of being told they don't want it by small but articulate groups of fearmongers, some of them aggressors.

A Look At New Movies

British Seamen Fighting Each Other

By BOB THOMAS
AP TV - Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The new movies ...
During the next few months, moviegoers are going to wonder how the British navy ever found time to fight the French around the end of the 18th Century. It would seem that the fleet's officers and men spent most of the time fighting each other.

Don't Do It!

NEW YORK (AP)—It was Labor Day in the year 1997, just 35 years from now.
A great trim white yacht stood at anchor in the East River off Manhattan.
At ease on its deck sat handsome Henry Palmer Bucksboud, the famous business tycoon, smoking a $2 cigar and brushing the ashes from his $450 vicuna sports jacket.
At his feet sat his three current chorus girl favorites—Rosebud Lu Lu, Gloria Glamour and Tawny Hyde.

have sent out the week before. Old J. P. McGrim—he ran the firm said, "I'm glad somebody around this place besides me thinks of something besides play."
"The next week I got a raise and a promotion. That taught me all I needed to know."
"He made me his assistant, then president, and chairman of the board when he retired. When he died he left me his fortune, and I'd have gone to his funeral except it was on the 4th of July—and I felt I should be in the office for fear, even then, he might show up and find me missing."
"What happened to Jim and Amelia?" asked Rosebud.
"Oh, Jim's still in the shipping department," said Henry. "They had six kids. They all work for me now, too."
"Maybe if you had gone to the beach that day with Amelia instead of going to the office, she'd have married you—don't you ever think of that?" suggested Gloria.
"Yes, I do," said Henry. "I saw Amelia at an office dinner last year, and I must admit she has something you girls don't have."
"What?" the three girls chorused.
"Wrinkles," chuckled Henry. "Well, cuties, I'll have to leave you now. I still go into the office on holidays as a sentimental gesture."
"What'll you do if you find a young man working there, just as old Mr. McGrim found you on Labor Day 35 years ago?" Tawny asked. "What'll you do?"
"Fire him, of course!" said Henry Palmer Bucksboud. "You can't trust a man like that."
Moral: Never work on your holidays. Even if it doesn't cost you your job, in the end it will make you old and rich and surrounded by pretty girls.

"Let's go to Southampton for a swim and a lobster dinner, Daddykins," suggested Rosebud.
"Tomorrow," grunted Henry. "Can't today. Have to go to the office."
"But Labor Day's a holiday," said Tawny. "Nobody works on Labor Day except bus drivers, policemen, pickpockets, and—"
"And your Daddykins," finished Henry. "Shall I tell you why?"
The girls looked at each other restlessly. They hated Daddykins' long stories—but, after all, he did buy such nice big diamonds. Dutifully, they leaned back to listen.
"Back in 1962," began Henry. "I was a young clerk in the shipping department. So was my best friend, Jim Broadbeam. We were both courting a secretary, Amelia Bland."
"Was supposed to take Amelia to the beach on Labor Day, but the night before I lost all my money in a poker game. So Jim took Amelia instead, and she was so mad at me that when he proposed to her on the boat ride back she up and accepted him."
"Having nothing else to do, I went into the office that morning to clean up some orders I should fight off infection, of course. Infants are born with temporary immunity against some diseases, but this does not—and for certain technical reasons probably can not—include immunity against all the disease organisms which exist. We go through life gradually building up immunities in varying degrees of permanence against the different germs with which we come in contact. Various cold, flu and gripe germs may be the most numerous. A child starting school, especially if before that time he hasn't had much chance to play with other youngsters, encounters heavy exposure to many kinds of germs. He develops a lot of colds. But with time the number of colds declines.

The same thing happens with babies. They may have light exposure to some germ, and acquire a gradual immunity. Or they may encounter heavy exposure to some germ for the first time—and the result can be tragic.
That's why, if you are wise, we don't take a tiny baby where there are crowds of people, why hospitals are so strict about visitors in maternity wards, why we ourselves stay away from a baby if we come down with a heavy cold, why a mother with a cold wears a gauze mask while handling baby.
We can't keep babies "wrapped in cotton wool." But we can take reasonable precautions to let them come gradually into contact with the germ-inhabited world. It's a problem which, for the most part, is highly dangerous only to the very young infants.

"They're always a little ratty" may not mean a respiratory infection. It may be allergy, and your doctor, by observation, can reach a conclusion on that for you. Allergies are a nuisance and at times can be harmful, but they are rarely deadly, such as can be true of sudden contact for the first time with some germ or other.

Dear Dr. Molner: Five weeks ago I was operated on for prostate trouble and have not had normal urination since. Is there a chance for me to return to normal?—W. W.
Yes, indeed, but this sometimes takes a little time.

To Your Good Health

Respiratory Infections Dangerous To Babies

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.
Dear Dr. Molner: We hear so much of infants dying suddenly from a respiratory ailment. Just how careful do we have to be with our children? My boys, one two years old and the other two months, have had respiratory troubles since birth and although they are under a doctor's care, they're always a little ratty.—MRS. L. R. W.
I'm sure you are aware of the worry that once existed—and not so very long ago, either—over babies who supposedly were "smothered by blankets in their cribs."
This did not seem reasonable to many physicians who recognized that even having the face covered with a blanket does not shut off all air. There is enough to breathe.
Investigation of these cases then disclosed the real cause: the babies were victims of sudden, overwhelming respiratory infections. This is the principal cause of sudden death among very young children.

Usually the infection is unsuspected. If it developed more slowly, at least two factors would then work in the babies' behalf. First, treatment would be possible for the wee ones to muster their own small defenses against it, for the body always tries to NOTE TO W. G. H.: I have no objection to milk of magnesia when it is needed. And I've written ten favorably a good many times about diethyl sodium sulfosuccinate as a softening agent, especially useful for older people who have developed some constipation trouble. But I decline to recommend one trade brand over another.

Song Titles That Fit

They say life can be better, if you do it with a song. If that be the case, then let's all sing along with these people, real and imagined, using the titles of songs actually on the market:
The ambitious bank robber, No. 11 on the "most wanted" list, who aspires to rate the top ten—I WANT TO BE WANTED.
The lament of the Big Spring housewife, downtown on Dollar Day—NO PLACE TO PARK.
RICHARD NIXON, crooning to John F. Kennedy following his narrow defeat in the last presidential election—I'LL BE BACK, JACK.
The harried neighbor, clad in pajamas, knocking on the door of a householder at whose place an all-night party is in progress—LONGEST NIGHT IN THE YEAR.
The Alcatraz inmate, lamenting the fact that he talked too much in court—ME AND MY BIG MOUTH BLUES.
The slightly-scared individual who had to walk through a tough neighborhood on his way to work—WHO SHOT THE HOLE IN MY SOMBRERO.
The locomotive trainman passing the sweating motorist changing a tire on the free-way—NEXT TIME TAKE THE TRAIN.
The housewife, her nerves frazzled by misbehaving children, joining her husband for a duet at the door, after he had arrived home following a tiff with management at his office—WHAT KIND OF A DAY HAS IT BEEN.
The graceful young thing, after having her toes stepped on repeatedly by an awkward swain at a dance—LET'S SIT DOWN.

THE FARMER, to the transient laborer who had wondered aloud if perhaps he shouldn't have taken a job nearer his native land—YOU'RE PICKING IN THE RIGHT COTTON PATCH.
The student, to his teacher, after dueling with a subject and leaving the issue in doubt and expressing concern over the possibility that the instructor might notify his parents by telephone how the pupil fared in his grade—PLEASE LET ME BE THE FIRST TO KNOW.
THE BASEBALL MANAGER, to his relief pitcher, after the guy had been sent into a game with the bases loaded and yielded a home run on the first pitch—CHECK THE YELLOW PAGES.
A passer-by at a zoo, to an attendant who had tipped-toe into an animal cage to complete a chore, hoping not to disturb the regular tenant—THE LION IS AWAKE.
THE HARDY PERENNIAL, standing before the judge after being arrested the night before—I DON'T DRINK TO GET DRUNK.
One Eskimo to another—KEEP THEM COLD, ICY FINGERS OFF ME.
The man, appealing to the court to change his name from John L. Smith to John Joseph Smith—LONESOME IS MY MIDDLE NAME.

Pattern Theory For Stock Market

Plutarch never heard of Wall Street but he laid the foundation for stock market techniques with this wise observation: "It is no great wonder if in the long process of time, while fortune takes her course hither and thither, numerous coincidences should spontaneously occur." Or, as the proverb has it, history repeats.

Three sea epics will be sailing into the nation's theaters and will inevitably face comparison with each other. The first of the films, "Billy Budd," sets a fast pace.
Coming up is the dramatically titled "Damn the Defiant!" with Brits Alec Guinness, Dirk Bogarde and Anthony Quayle. This is reported to be well-done sea stuff, complete with stiff-backed officers, muttering crew and stirring battles.
England, too, has a big hurdy into release before the end of July—"Mutiny on the Bounty," hits the market. The prior two were filmed probably for little more than a tenth of the "Bounty's" $20 million cost.

SMITH CONCLUDED that weather—atmospheric environment—influences the derring-do of men.
"Sunlight has health-giving effects, both mental and physical," he notes. "Those whose temperaments are the most affected may be optimistic all day, only to be changed, in the hours from midnight to day they fail to find oblivion in sleep during these sunless hours. Death occurs more often in these pre-dawn hours than at any other time of day."
SMITH RELATES "aspects of the business cycle" to "various weather phenomena" and arrives at a decennial pattern of behavior—human behavior. Some years are propitious for speculative expansion; others will bring hesitancy. Wiesenberger applies the Smith decennial pattern of behavior to the stock market in the decade which began last year as follows: "A declining first year (1961); a declining, then rising market in the second year (1962); a slide in the third year (1963); a rally in the fourth year (1964); a very strong fifth year (1965); a topping out in the sixth year (1966); a decline in the seventh year (1967); a very strong eighth year (1968) and ninth year with prices topping out late in the year (1969), and a declining tenth year (1970)."

No decennial pattern can be rigidly applied to any particular year. Nevertheless, we can at least allow our imaginations to run and see if the result, the pattern, makes sense—at this stage of economic development.

SO FAR THIS YEAR, we've had a decline and a subsequent rise—as called for in the pattern. It's possible that the decline foreshadows a recession, which could bring a 1963 setback in the stock market. Wiesenberger anticipates this. These observations have an economic as well as a decennial basis. In the early postwar years—1945 to 1950—the American economy vaulted upward—on pent-up demand—a legacy of wartime austerity. Then came a period of slower growth—periodic pullbacks, recessions.

NOW WE'RE entering the Age of Nubility. The bumper baby crop of the war and early postwar years will be marrying, forming families and buying homes. This could burnish the "golden sixties."
Meanwhile, Wiesenberger & Co. concludes that "the recent rise in stock prices may in part be explained by the theory of the 10-year pattern. ... Enough domestic and international uncertainties ... suggest that the period of wide-swinging markets has not ended. A policy of building up reserves as prices advance should work out satisfactorily." In short, the rising market of the second half of '62 becomes a falling market in '63.
WHETHER YOU accept this conclusion or no, the decennial pattern is useful. It's nice to have a mind's-eye view of the future—against which to check your own.

Difference In Military Concept

WASHINGTON — "Heartily know," wrote Emerson, "when half-gods go, the gods arrive." You could call this aphorism the Kennedy Administration's hope and motto for the multi-billion dollar Alliance For Progress in Latin America. Happily, if the demi-gods of military dictatorship ever depart from Central and South America and the Caribbean islands, the true deities of democracy will take their place. It is a consummation greatly to be desired.

Clay or Admiral Rickover to militarize our programs in Space?
THE SECOND presence which cannot be denied is the living proof of almost everywhere that the Free World has faltered, the military men have stepped in to hold the line. We may not like generalissimo in power, but Spain and Nationalist China would have been gone long ago with Franco and Chiang Kai-shek. Unwilling as the State Department is to admit it, General De Gaulle has saved France, General Ayub Khan has saved Pakistan, Colonel Nasser has prevented Egypt from moving a lot farther than we would like from the Western orbit in hatred of Britain and France, which once sat on the necks of the Middle East countries.

BUT IT IS fatuous to believe that anything of the sort can take place in the Sixties. If we hope in our lifetimes to change the order of four centuries, we are unrealistic. We will surely be disappointed. Our programs for economic and political uplift will be frustrated. Our policies will collapse. We will be left holding a large and empty bag. Moreover, if we persist at home in an arbitrary downgrading of the American military, on the mushy intellectualist premise that American men-in-uniform are incipient dictators, we are closing our eyes to American history.

As to Latin America, the military has moved to power in several dominant nations there. It is all very well to quake with the thought of what happens next, but communism will not come as long as the armies are in charge because the armies may be subject to political graft but they are capitalist. We have excellent reason to believe that if Communist China ever shakes off its Red regime, it will be because the Army has come to the succor of the starving and regimented Chinese people. Even Khrushchev fears his military leaders.

TWO CONSPICUOUS presences stand out against these assumptions which the Administration seems to hold. The first presence is the living proof that American military officers, bred to democracy and civilian control, are faithful servants and not enemies of representative government and of the status quo. The second is that, with the world at war between communism and anti-communism, the foreign military is almost everywhere on the side of the latter.

MUST WE CALL the roll of American military heroes from Washington through Jackson and Lee to prove again the loyalty of such men to American principles? The question should answer itself. Did Roosevelt hesitate to put Gen. Leslie Groves (whose book, "Now It Can Be Told," tells all about it), in charge of the Manhattan Engineering Project for the development of the atomic weapon? Did Truman hold back in using General Marshall as Secretary of State and Secretary of Defense, although in the latter case he had to have the law changed to allow it? Was there anything dictatorial in Gen. Eisenhower's two presidential terms? Can President Kennedy go wrong in calling on Gen. Schriever, Norstad,

Commissaries Try For Control In Chile

By JOSE M. ORLANDO

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Two years ago the Communists almost won the presidency of Chile. Two years from now they will try again. An interim test of their strength occurs today as they back a Roman Catholic candidate in a special congressional election.

Seemingly full of confidence, the Reds are making their bid in a traditionally Conservative district.

The candidate they are backing is Sergio Recabarren, 43, a lawyer running in a three-way contest to fill a House seat vacated by the death of a Conservative deputy.

President Jorge Alessandri's right-of-center coalition government is supporting Gustavo Monckeberg, 49, a doctor and conservative who is a political newcomer. The third candidate is Bernardo Leighton, 53, a moderately leftist Christian Democrat and minister of labor and education in previous governments.

The Alessandri government, with a clear working majority in the House of Deputies, is not threatened. But a Communist victory—or even good showing—could give the Reds a propaganda boost for 1964 elections.

Recabarren himself is a member of the National Democratic party, a former neo-Fascist group which joined the leftist Popular Action Front set up after a Communist-Socialist coalition barely missed winning the 1958 elections.

Predicting a pro-Communist government will take over the government in 1964, Recabarren says: "Marxist and non-Marxist parties are joined in the common goal of dislodging, by democratic means, the present minority government and satisfying the anguish and needs of the Chilean people."

"Everybody has the duty to participate in this urgent task—the Freemason, the atheist Marxist and the practicing Roman Catholic as well."

The Communist leadership, in supporting Recabarren, has openly declared it aims to establish a regime in Chile patterned after Fidel Castro's Cuba.

Like Castro at the beginning, the Reds in this predominantly Roman Catholic republic claim there is no incompatibility between communism and the Catholic Church.

Recabarren has taken a slightly softer line than the Red hierarchy in an attempt to attract votes of independents but his basic platform follows the Communist line. He wants nationalization of industries, the biggest being the American-owned copper and nitrate industries. He also urges redistribution of wealth among the poor.

Recabarren denounces President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress program as "just a good wish" and declares: "As St. Paul said, hell is full of good wishes."

The contested congressional district covers Santiago City, and is thus a stiff challenge for the Communists. They have shown most strength in the country where poverty has made the people receptive to propaganda.

The Communist party was outlawed 12 years but became legal in 1952. It is a small but well-oiled political machine. The Communists have a majority—but not absolute control—in the leadership of the labor union movement. They get support among university students, young intellectuals and peasants.

There are only 16 Red deputies in the 147-seat House. However, the Communist-backed presidential candidate, Senator Salvador Allende, was beaten by only 34,000 votes by Alessandri in 1958 out of a total ballot of 1.25 million.

Allende is expected to make another try in 1964 with backing from the popular action front.

40,000 Men In Recovery Chore

HOUSTON (AP)—Recovery plans involving about 40,000 men are being made here for astronaut Walter Schirra's six-orbital trip later this month.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration managed a spacecraft center here said Saturday the recovery force will be almost twice as large as that used for astronaut Scott Carpenter's three orbit mission earlier this year.

Schirra's landing goal is in the Pacific Ocean, 100 miles east of the International Date Line. Earlier American space flights have used the Atlantic Ocean.

Baird's 'Cattle Motel' Is Proving Popular Venture

BAIRD, Tex. (AP)—Callahan County's exclusive "Cattle Motel," two miles west of Baird on U.S. 80, has been in operation about three months.

It has had a steadily growing clientele, says Jake Collins, Baird cattle trucker, one of the owners and the man credited with the idea for the unusual enterprise.

Not since the opening in early spring has the place been without some "in transit" cattle, Collins said. The highest number was 618.

The place has had an average of about 100 head since the opening. These include some cattle which area buyers purchase and bring to the motel for holding until they have accumulated enough for a load.

The number also includes some cattle belonging to Collins and his partner, Jimmy Parker, an Abilene order cattle buyer.

The cattle motel has 10 holding or rest pens, 5 working pens, a double-decker loading chute, doctoring chute, scales and an auxiliary or over-flow pen. The plant has facilities for handling a total of 1,000 cattle, Collins said.

The place has a combination office and bunk house with accommodations for 10 men and cots for 6 more in case of an overflow.

The rest pens are used by truckers who transport cattle from the South and Southeast to Arizona and the West Coast.

Drivers unload, feed and water their cattle, get some rest themselves, clean out their trucks, put in new hay or sand bedding, load up and continue their trip.

The partners are planning to build feeding pens with self-feeders, construction of truck service facilities and a restaurant where the drivers can eat during their lay-over.

Collins said: "Parker and I talked over the project for three or four years. We put in a lot of study on the idea. We selected the site west of Baird because it is in the sand. We have added crushed rock and caliche to the sand in the pens so that we would never have a mud problem in case of heavy rainfall. We also picked the site because we have plenty good well water available."

A man is on duty at the motel 24 hours a day.

Collins said the place and its facilities are available to area cattlemen who do not have facilities for dehorning, vaccinating, branding or doctoring their animals.

They can truck their cattle in and use the equipment for a small service charge, he said.

In Navy Plane Crew

Lt. Richard C. West, of Washington, and Chief Aviation Ordnanceman Marshall A. Pickett, right, of District Heights, Md., were identified as two of the three crewmen of the Navy anti-submarine tracking plane which the White House said was fired on by two ships in international waters north of Cuba. West was co-pilot and Pickett the radar operator.

President Visits His Ailing Father

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—President Kennedy interrupted his Labor Day weekend today to take a helicopter flight to Hyannis Port, Mass., for a visit with his ailing father, Joseph P. Kennedy.

The President planned to join his father for a cruise on the family yacht, Marlin, and return to Newport late in the afternoon. The President went to sea Sunday despite rain and clouds, boarding the Coast Guard ocean racing yacht, the 62-foot yawl Manitou, with Mrs. Kennedy and a large party of guests for two hours on the water.

The voyage aboard the Manitou took him out to the area where the yacht races for the America's Cup start Sept. 15, with an Australian challenger, Gretel, meeting the U.S. defender, Weatherly. The Kennedys attended Mass at St. Mary's church where they were married nine years ago. A crowd of 500 was on hand, held back by police ropes, as the President and Mrs. Kennedy entered and left the church near downtown Newport.

Afterwards the President took a swim in a heated pool at Bailey's Beach, which fronts on the ocean in the section filled by Newport's famous mansions. Mrs. Kennedy wore a yellow dress for church, and donned a bright yellow slicker for the sail. Sailing party guests included Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., with his wife and daughter, and Mrs. Kennedy's half-sister and half-brother, Janet and Jamie Auchincloss.

The President issued Labor Day statements lauding the achievements and goals of American working men, and announcing an international conference to provide more trained manpower for economic development of other lands.

The international labor conference is to be held in Puerto Rico Oct. 10-12 under sponsorship of the U.S. Peace Corps.

Soblen's Lawyers Present Note

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Robert A. Soblen's lawyers today presented a 20-page memorandum from the fugitive spy to Home Secretary Henry Brooke.

Although the contents were not disclosed, Soblen presumably was making a last-ditch attempt to stave off deportation to the United States, where he faces a life sentence as a wartime Soviet spy.

The 41-year-old psychiatrist presumably asked Brooke either to grant him political asylum in Britain or to allow him to leave Britain for some country offering him asylum, as Communist Czechoslovakia has.

Sleeping Sickness Outbreak Causes Cleanup Campaign

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Citizens planned a yard-by-yard cleanup of old tires, tin cans and other mosquito breeding places today in a campaign against an encephalitis-sleeping sickness epidemic.

Ten persons have died in Pinellas County and four deaths, not yet officially attributed to sleeping sickness have been reported elsewhere.

Residents of the shore areas met Sunday and formulated plans for their campaign against receptacles which could hold stagnant water.

Elimination of possible breeding places of the culex mosquito—suspected carrier of encephalitis—"is the only thing the individual can do in the fight," said Dr. W. C. Ballard, director of the Pinellas County Health Department.

John Mureman, director of the Bureau of Entomology of the State Board of Health, said this West Coast county has "one of the densest populations of birds in the nation."

Health authorities say birds harbor encephalitis and mosquitoes carrying it from them to humans.

LBJ Pressured For Greek Aid

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Premier Constantine Caramanlis conferred today, and the Greek premier reportedly put on more pressure for new American aid commitments.

The Greeks are openly disappointed over a $20 million cut in U.S. aid ordered last July.

The vice president flies to Rome Tuesday.

Blair, Radar Inventor, Dies

FAIR HAVEN, N.J. (AP)—William R. Blair, 87, the inventor of radar in the United States, died Sunday. Blair, a retired U.S. Army colonel, developed a pulse-echo radar device in 1937 while serving as director of the U.S. Army Signal Corps laboratories in Ft. Monmouth, N.J. Twenty years later he was granted a patent on the device and was recognized as the inventor of radar.

Two Ex-Champions Still In BS Tournament

By TOMMY HART

The only thing certain about the 31st Annual Big Spring Invitational Golf Tournament ending today is that, for the fourth straight year, an out-of-town player will wear the raiment of the champion.

The man with the youthful short irons game, Bill Craig of Colorado City, saw to that Sunday afternoon when he ended the title hopes of youthful Tommy Wilkerson, 4 and 2.

Wilkerson was the last home-based player to rate the quarter-finals, favored Bobby Wright having been ousted by Charley Hopkins of Post in the morning play, 2 and 1.

As the semifinalists lined up for play this morning, the odds were 50-50 that (1) a former titlist would prevail and (2) that someone from Odessa would take home the championship loot. Raymond Stoker, the reigning king, and young Larry Roden are the Odessans still in the field. Craig, who won here in 1955 and again in '59, and Fort Worth's T. A. Avarelo Jr., were the other semifinalists.

In the 8 a.m. matches today, Stoker tangled with Roden while Avarelo took on Craig.

Stoker, who complained of rustiness when he arrived because he had been concentrating on his law studies at Baylor, beat Eddie Don Harris, Big Spring, 1 up, and Barry Minke, Midland, 3 and 2, in that round to survive.

Harris gave Stoker a terrific tussle but Raymond birdied three of the last five holes to finish in front.

Roden, who was born here, ousted Jack Wallace of Big Spring in the morning, 2 and 1, and then went 19 holes to defeat his father, four-time champion Bill (Red) Roden, in the afternoon, 1 up.

Young Larry lost two of the first three holes in his match with Bill but had pulled even by nine.

On the back side, he seemed destined to close out the match relatively early, but lost a ball on the 18th and Red carried him to the 19th. Bill fired an eagle on No. Two. For the round, Larry was two over par. He won it with a birdie on the first extra hole.

One of the real shockers occurred when Hopkins, a Post school teacher, sidelined Wright in the morning. The two fought tooth and nail until the fourteenth, when Bobby lost a ball. He was never able to pull even after that, and Hopkins closed it out on the seventeenth when Wright missed a ten-foot putt.

Hopkins then came a cropper in the quarterfinals when Avarelo took his measure, 1 up.

Avarelo, who had manhandled Lester Morton of Big Spring in the morning, 6 and 5, went ahead on fiftees in his match with Hopkins, which he won with a par. T. A.'s ball hit the pin on that hole or it would have gone in. As it was, he won the hole, anyway.

Hopkins needed a birdie on 18 to stay in contention but he didn't get it.

In his match with Wilkerson, Craig had a bogie on five and a buzzard on 15 but still won by a comfortable margin.

He was four up through eight holes. Wilkerson recovered to win the ninth but his rallies were short-lived.

Craig fired birdies on two, six and 16 and fought an even battle with par for the round.

In taking out Big Spring's Son Powell in the morning, Craig was three under par. His margin of victory was 6 and 5.

Wilkerson advanced to the third round when Frank Mackey of Fort Worth, an ex-champion here, had to default due to illness. Minke earned the right to play Stoker by kayaking Jack Cook of Big Spring, 4 and 3. Larry Roden dented Jack Wallace, also of Big Spring, in the morning, 2 and 1. Bill Roden measured Roy Peden, Kermit, in his morning test, 2 and 1.

Gus Barr of Big Spring, a fifth flight player, had his best round ever in turning back Ray Phillips of El Paso, 2 up. Barr fashioned a 78 for the round.

Not since Luke Thompson beat Ray Ferguson of Breckenridge in the 1958 finals has a local player won the Invitational championship.

Drysdale Finds Home In Chavez Ravine

By JIM HACKLEMAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

If the Los Angeles Coliseum was

Nightmare Alley for Don Drysdale, splendid new Dodger Stadium in Dream Street for the sideline right-hander.

For the four seasons that the Coliseum served as temporary home for the Dodgers, Drysdale complained loud, long and often about the weird baseball layout at the mammoth arena—particularly by the notorious left field screen, just a chip shot away from home plate. He claimed he couldn't win there, and while this was stretching things a bit, it is a fact Drysdale spent those four years trying futilely to live up to his potential as one of the game's very best pitchers.

In the Dodgers' sumptuous new setting in Chavez Ravine, Drysdale has blossomed. He spun a neat five-hitter Sunday, beating the Milwaukee Braves 8-0 for his eighth straight victory at Los Angeles. That made his home record for the season 12-2 and ran his overall 1962 mark to 23-7.

It also reinstated the Dodgers' National League lead at 3 1/2 games over the San Francisco

Giants, who move into Los Angeles for a vital four-game series opening today. The Giants kept pace by trimming Cincinnati 6-4 last night.

Joe Christopher's two-run homer in the ninth inning.

Joe Christopher's two-run pinch single in the ninth gave the New York Mets a 4-3 decision over St.

Louis and Houston took eighth place away from Chicago with a

3-1 victory over the Cubs. The Pittsburgh Pirates and Phillies were rained out in Philadelphia.

In the American League New York's front-running Yankees edged Kansas City 2-1; Los Angeles beat Washington 4-2; Minnesota defeated Boston 5-2; Chicago outlasted Detroit 10-8; and Baltimore swept Cleveland 4-1 and 2-1.

Drysdale, registering his 18th complete game of the season but only his first shutout, struck out five, did not allow a walk and delivered two singles against the

Braves. The Dodgers nipped loser

Bob Shaw for one run in the second inning, then jumped on the right-hander for four more in the fourth—two of them coming in on a single by Drysdale.

Maury Willis stole two more bases, making it 7-6 for the mercurial Dodger shortstop, only four shy of the league record set by Bob Bescher of Cincinnati in 1911.

Alou clinched the Giants' victory when he blasted one of re-son singled in one run and Leo Cardenas doubled in two more.

Billie O'Dell won his 16th, giving up 11 hits but going the distance. The loss dropped the third-place Reds 7 1/2 games back of the Dodgers.

An error by St. Louis second base man Julio Gotay helped the Mets lead the bases in the ninth, setting the stage for Christopher's game-winning hit off Bobby

Shantz. Gene Oliver tagged Al

Jackson for a homer in the last of the ninth but the New York southpaw struggled through with a complete game. One of the 12 hits he allowed was a pinch single to Stan Musial, who moved ahead of Trip Speaker into the No. 2 spot on the all-time hit parade with 3,516. Ty Cobb is the record holder with 4,191.

Rookie Ken Hubbs of the Cubs set a major league fielding mark for second basemen but sloppy fielding still cost the Cubs their game with the Colts. Houston scored its three runs—all unearned—in the eighth on Carl

Warwick's single, an error by pitcher Bob Buhl, Johnny Temple's punt and doubles by Roman Mejias and Bob Aspromonte.

Hubbs went through his 74th consecutive game without an error, bettering the old mark for second basemen set by Bobby

Doerr of the Boston Red Sox in 1948. The 20-year-old Cub infielder handled seven chances, extending his errorless string to 206, 18 short of Doerr's listed record.

George McAllister and Harold

Bavis, the chief officers in GANCO, a Big Spring-based concern that specializes in supplying math lab equipment for schools, are also the dealers in 14 West Texas cities for one of the better golf carts manufactured.

Davis is the former HCJC and Texas Western basketball coach and field at HCJC for one year and more than any other individual is responsible for the fine track plant at the HCJC campus.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

By TOMMY HART

A recent vacation trip Louis Stallings took to Jacksonville, Fla., coincided with the appearance there of the St. Louis (football) Cardinals.

The Cards happened to be playing Green Bay Packers. Green Bay's muscle impressed Stallings but Big Spring's Charley Johnson, who performs for St. Louis, kept throwing strikes all during the game.

Stallings says the Cardinals moved the ball when Johnson was in the game. When regular Sam Echeverry played in the "man under" slot, the Red Birds bogged down.

Johnson threw a couple of touch-down passes in the contest, had a couple of others picked off by Green Bay for touchdowns.

According to Stallings, the Cardinals have grave problems in their interior line and

Special Session
 TONHO, (AP)—Parliament ended a special 30-day session Sunday approving a government bill to pay back a $400 million post-war aid debt to the United States.

14-B Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Mon., Sept. 3, 1962

ON THE SHELF

NEW YORK (AP)—For the American reading public, the controversial "Tropic of Cancer" by Henry Miller is being followed by his "Tropic of Capricorn." Which might lead to more controversy.

Miller wrote "Tropic of Cancer" while living in Paris in 1931 and 1932. It was his first published work, brought out in France by Obelisk Press in 1934. As many know by now, it was a description of a young American bumming around Paris, and it has a lot of autobiographical material in it. Also a lot of four-letter words.

The same French publisher brought out in 1939 "The Tropic of Capricorn." It too was autobiographical, but not exactly a sequel. It went back to an earlier stage, when Miller was growing up in the United States. It also contains some pretty blunt words.

Both books were under a customs ban in this country for many years. But this was lifted on Aug. 10, 1961, shortly after Grove Press, New York, brought out an American edition of "Tropic of Cancer."

The American publisher soon found that two things were happening: "Tropic of Cancer" sold well, but it ran into court battles. Grove Press has defended more than 50 court cases in 21 states. Shortly after winning a favorable decision in the highest Massachusetts court, it announced the first American edition of "Tropic of Capricorn" for Sept. 5.

"Capricorn" deals with the author's home and family in Brooklyn (he was born in the Yorkville section), the immigrants who reached this country before World War I, his jobs with a telegraph company and others, the bright city lights and the frenzy of the 1920s.

Besides the "Tropic" books, Miller has had many others published in this country and abroad. Returning to the United States in 1940, he settled at Big Sur, Calif., in 1945 and now at 70 still lives there.

Sky Shield Called Of Lasting Benefit

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Mock air battles waged at supersonic speeds over the North American continent will be of lasting benefit to defenders of the United States and Canada, says the commander of the North American Air Defense Command.

More than 1,600 aircraft carried out the grim make-believe warfare Sunday in Operation Sky Shield III while virtually all civilian planes were cleared from the air from 2 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. EST.

This is the third time in as many years that Norad has matched its intricate defenses against the might of a simulated aggressor employing fleet bombers and mythical intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Norad and Defense Department officials never have made known their highly classified evaluation of the exercises. But they say each Sky Shield operation has led to the development of new techniques and electronic devices that improve the defense posture of the free world.

Gen. John K. Gerhart's statement came at the end of a 5½-hour exercise in which U.S. and Canadian interceptors, directed from Norad's headquarters here, tacks carried out by B52 and B47 bombers of the United States Strategic Air Command.

In case any aggressor nation might have picked the time to make a real attack, about a third of SAC's bombers were held ready for action.

Some 40 mythical ICBMs were launched at North American targets, complicating the problem of defense forces.

In an accident not related to the defense exercise, a civilian aircraft crashed at Everglades, Fla., killing its two occupants. The crash occurred during the time when non-military aircraft were supposed to be grounded.

It was the only report of mishap during the drill, in which a Norad spokesman estimated 3,000 sorties—single plane flights—were flown. More than 800 Norad units were active, including electronic detection stations on the Distant Early Warning, the Mid-Canada and the Pine Tree lines along the top of the continent.

The spokesman said a quarter-million men and Army, Navy and Marine units of the United States and Canada participated.

The maneuver was based on a three-prong striking force of 1,000 bombers and support craft streaking along the East Coast, into the heart of the continent and down toward the Rocky Mountain region and Pacific Coast.

A few civilian craft on essential missions were permitted in the air during the exercise. These included planes fighting forest and brush fires in California, a plane hunting a boy lost in a boat near Ottawa, Canada, one plane in the East directing heavy automobile traffic caused by the Labor Day weekend and three mercy flights in the Southeast.

Military estimates were that 130 commercial flights in the United States were cancelled or delayed, along with 130 in Canada and 31 of foreign airlines.

Air lines took the opportunity in many cities to hold open house celebrations, inviting the public to inspect commercial planes.

Dawson Farm Income Higher

LAMESA (SC)—For the average farm in Dawson County, 1961 was a better year than it was for farms in most parts of the United States.

Gross agricultural receipts in Dawson County, according to the Standard Rate and Data Service, amounted to $30,069,000 before deducting operating expenses.

Related to the number of people on local farms, this represented a gross income of $7,710 per capita. The Texas average is $3,748. Ninety-two per cent of the receipts were from crop marketings, and eight per cent from sales of livestock and livestock products.

Lamesans Name Board Nominees

LAMESA (SC)—Ten nominees for Lamesa Chamber of Commerce director posts have been announced.

Selected as nominees by the general membership were Charles Bruton, David Fry, Bill David, Henry Norris, Hal Boyd, Donnell Echols, Buddy White, Dave Knapp, Skeet Noret and Ronald Bennett.

Four of these will be chosen by the general membership, and four directors will be appointed by the Board of City Development.
