Not Wasting Any Time

Jane Harrington, a sophomore at Howard County Junior College, is making every spare moment count as she starts concentrated study early in the semester. Here she takes advantage of the sunshine to warm up to study of the Calculus book in her hand. Such a sight should be commonplace on the campus soon as students buckle down to the books for another year.

HCJC Enrollment Is Still Climbing

Enrollment continues steadily at Howard County Junior College, leaving no time to get an accurate count of students, according to Dr. W. A. Hunt, president. However, Wednesday's final estimate was about 640 students and more than 100 others are expected to register late. It appears that the projected enrollment of 750-800 students will be reached, Dr. Hunt said. "According to statistics we were not supposed to have a large increase in enrollment this year," he said. "But it appears that we will exceed last year's peak enrollment."

T-Men Arrest 105 On Gambling Tax Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Treasury men barged in on gambling spots across the nation in a series of raids Wednesday that brought 105 arrests. The 18-state drive against gamblers charged with failing to buy $50-a-year federal tax stamps was the eighth in two years by federal tax agents. They raided 96 gambling spots in 50 cities, seizing automobiles, slot machines, pinball devices and $18,500 in cash. Conviction on the charge of failure to buy the gambler's tax stamp could mean fines up to $10,000 and prison sentences up to five years. The government agents hit hardest in Pittsburgh; Newport News, Va.; Los Angeles; San Francisco; New Orleans, La.; Austin, Tex., and Baltimore, Md. The Internal Revenue Service said 67 slot and pinball machines and 19 automobiles were seized by the raiders.

J. E. Smith Dies Today, Rites Pend

John Enoch Smith, 54, supervisor of customer accounting for Cosden Petroleum Corp., died at 9:45 a.m. today in a local hospital. He became ill at 8:30 a.m., after arriving at his office. Funeral services are pending at River Funeral Home.

Mr. Smith, a resident of Big Spring since November, 1956, was born in Bell County, Texas, April 29, 1908. He was married to the former Adelle Qualls Dec. 21, 1929, in Abilene, and was employed with Wilson Packing Co. in Abilene from 1931 to 1955 as office manager. In March, 1955, he joined Onyx Refining Corp. in Abilene and was transferred to Big Spring in 1956 when Cosden purchased the Onyx plant.

Mr. Smith went to elementary school in Salado, and graduated from high school at Fort Stockton. Since his arrival here, he had been active in the Kiwanis Club and was a past director of the organization. He was a member of the Methodist Church. Survivors include his widow; a daughter, Teresa Smith, Big Spring; two brothers, Carl Smith and Bishop Smith, both of Fort Stockton; three sisters, Mrs. Ara Cunningham, Big Spring, Mrs. Elmo Curry, San Angelo, Mrs. Delton Yarbrough, Fort Stockton.

Mitchell County Pioneer Resident Dies Wednesday

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mrs. Nellie Morris Delaney 83, Colorado City pioneer resident, died in the Root Memorial Hospital Wednesday, shortly before noon, following a brief illness. Mrs. Delaney was born April 25, 1879, in Van Alstyne, Tex., but had lived in Colorado City since 1894. She was a member of the First Baptist Church and married William Green Delaney April 26, 1895 in Colorado City. Mr. Delaney died in 1956. Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in the Kiker and Son Funeral Home chapel, with the Rev. H. W. Bartlett, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in the Colorado City Cemetery. Grandsons will be pallbearers. She is survived by one son, Richard Delaney, Colorado City, and two daughters, Mrs. Arlene Morris, Colorado City, and Mrs. N. A. Kelleff, Fort Worth; 13 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

House OK's Bill To Create Padre Island As U.S. Park

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed by roll call vote today a bill authorizing establishment of the Padre Island National Seashore area off Texas. Under the House bill, an 81-mile long seashore area would be administered as a park. A Senate-passed version of the measure calls for an 88-mile long seashore area. The Senate must act on the bill again for acceptance or rejection of differences contained in the House version. Padre Island is a narrow, 117-mile-long island off the Texas coast stretching from Brownsville to the south to the Corpus Christi area. The roll call vote was demanded by Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, an opponent. The House debated and approved the bill by voice vote Tuesday but actual passage was blocked then by lack of a quorum. Estimates of the cost of buying the area range from $4 to $5 million. Conrad Wirth, director of the National Park Service, has asked Congress to act quickly before costs rise. Some residents have urged that the area be limited to 55 miles. Under both bills, the Park Service would first build roadways 5 to 10 miles into the park from the north and south ends of the islands. Eventually the roads would be extended gradually toward the center of the island. However, committee witnesses have said such a roadway would be impractical in places because of hurricane washouts. The State Parks Board last year estimated it would cost $2.87 million to build minimum facilities for a state park on the island. The Texas House turned down 76-54 a 1961 proposal that the legislature request Congress to establish the seashore area.

Kennedy May Speak On Cuba Arms Buildup

May Clear Issue At News Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy was reported today to be planning a forthright statement at his news conference tonight on the Communist military buildup in Cuba.

Sen. Herbert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., gave newsmen this report after a morning White House meeting of Democratic congressional leaders with the President. Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Democratic floor leader, said he was sure Kennedy would have a great deal more to say about the Cuban situation at the news conference.

The congressional leaders said they had a lengthy discussion with the President on his request for standby authority to call 150,000 Reserves to active duty.

A resolution to grant this authority has run into Republican demands in the Senate for tougher and more specific action. Some of the GOP members want to put in amendments calling for strong action against Cuba or any other Communist moves. Humphrey, assistant Democratic floor leader, said he hoped that the Senate would reject these Republican moves.

He asserted that Republicans were trying to make Cuba an issue in the current congressional election campaigns and termed this "mischievous and reckless."

He hinted that Democrats may offer a substitute for varied earlier GOP proposals.

In any event, Humphrey said the Senate plans to call up and pass the Reserves measure before it quits for the day.

Mansfield, in a separate interview, said he hoped Congress would come up finally with a bipartisan approach.

Faced with new proposals, Mansfield sidetracked temporarily the call-up bill. Instead of putting it at the top of the agenda, he scheduled in its place the $500-million mass transportation bill.

Evidently he hoped to use the time to work out a procedure for jettisoning the amendments for now, possibly by sending them to the Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees for later consideration.

Mansfield said he still expects the Senate to approve the standby authority before quitting time tonight.

The measure would permit President Kennedy to call up 150,000 members of the ready reserves without a declaration of a national emergency. Under present law, the President can mobilize up to 1 million members of the ready reserve if he declares an emergency.

Administration sources said the request for the authority was prompted by the international situation without singling out specific areas.

But indications were that the President was more concerned with the Berlin situation than with the Communist flow of supplies and men to Cuba.

But it has been Cuba—and Soviet threats over the Communist outpost—that has attracted most of the fire in Congress.

Soviets Airlift 3 Loads Of Technicians

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has made three special airliner flights to Cuba by way of Gander, Nfld., in the past two months, possibly ferrying Soviet technicians.

Almost simultaneously today Canadian sources here and Royal Canadian Air Force headquarters in Ottawa confirmed reports, published in Canada, that the operation had been carried out. Both said Soviet-speaking RCAF personnel were supplied to aid the Soviet crews.

An RCAF spokesman said the men were assigned to explain procedure and regulations on the later stages of the flight. He added that this is a usual courtesy under the international civil aviation organization.

The spokesman said in cases where Soviet aircraft fly via Britain and Newfoundland to Cuba, the Russian-speaking Canadians board the planes at Prestwick, Scotland. This is the last stop before the plane reaches Canadian territory.

The Soviet Union does not have a regular airline service to Havana although such a service does exist between Havana and Prague, the capital of Communist Czechoslovakia. The Czech and Cuban airlines have been flying transatlantic routes by way of Canadian airports for about a year.

So far as could be determined from Canadian Embassy and State Department officials there had been no Washington complaints to Ottawa about the Soviet flights.

Crash Of Private Plane Is Solved

WASHINGTON (AP)—A downward pressing load ripped the right wing off the company airplane that crashed near Ravenna, Ohio, Sept. 4, killing 13 occupants, the Civil Aeronautics Board disclosed today.

Selective Cuba Barrier Urged By Goldwater

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said today a selective blockade by the United States and friendly Latin-American countries should be the next step in the Cuban situation. Goldwater's comment on blocking any foreign ships carrying Soviet equipment to Cuba came at a press conference preceding a meeting with Richmond area Republicans.

"Every place I travel, Cuba is the No. 1 issue," he said. "The American people are miles ahead of their government as to what should be done. I can tell the President that the American people would like to liberate the people of Cuba and remove the threat of communism from the Western Hemisphere."

Goldwater told a newsman he does not see any valid reason for the President's asking for standby power to call up 150,000 military Reserves.

The Arizona senator said President Kennedy would have been better off by asking for authority for an unlimited callup.

"I can't imagine that 150,000 men are going to scare the hell out of Soviet Premier Khrushchev," said Goldwater.

If the President had asked for authority to call up half a million men that would have had a psychological or diplomatic effect, Goldwater added.

Goldwater said there is apprehension through the country as to what will happen if Cuba is used out of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's said Goldwater.

He said there is only one way in which an all-out war could come "and that is for the United States to keep backing away from areas of trouble."

Peace can be maintained only by this nation's demonstrating to Khrushchev that it is not going to be pushed around and that it does not like shipment of equipment to Cuba, Goldwater added.

"We should tell him in no uncertain terms: 'You stop it or we're going to stop you from bringing it in.'"

Maneuver Land Fuss Near Climax

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army officials said today they would decide within a few days whether to proceed with a big October maneuver in West Central Texas of armored troops from Ft. Hood.

Plans to send heavy tanks and trucks over a 3-million-acre area for a 20-day period ran into trouble when many land owners refused to sign releases. The Army proposed payment of $1 a ranch for a 5-year lease, with agreement to pay for any damages to livestock or other property.

Five Texas congressmen talked over the situation with Paul Ignatius, assistant secretary of the Army for installations and logistics, and Brig. Gen. Fred Weyland. The meeting was in the office of Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., joined in the conference.

Back Together

Mrs. Joyce Allen, of Ft. Myers, Fla., whose two sons, Billy, 3, left, and Kenneth Jr., 4, right, were abandoned in Oakland, Calif., Aug. 21 by Mrs. Iva Kroeger, suspect in San Francisco body burial case, got them back when juvenile Court Judge Allan G. Norris ruled the children should be returned to Mrs. Allen. Mrs. Kroeger is being returned to San Francisco from San Diego, Calif., where she was arrested by FBI agents. The judge said the county would care for the youngsters until they returned to Florida.

Jim Grant's Death Is Ruled Accidental

Jim Clinton Grant, 42, 3210 Drexel, died as the result of an accidental discharge of a pistol, it was ruled today by Walter Grice, justice of the peace.

Grant, who was a native of Big Spring, was found on his tractor at 9 p.m. Wednesday. He was sprawled in the seat of the machine, shot one time just under the heart. He had been dead, Grice said, for several hours when he was found. The tractor, in neutral gear, was running and the pistol was nearby.

Relatives said that Mr. Grant customarily took the firearm with him when he was plowing on the farm he operates 1 1/2 miles east and a mile south of Fairview. Mrs. Grant became alarmed when her husband did not return home

2 Texans Among Dead In Crash

BAKER, Calif. (AP)—A head-on collision on the busy Los Angeles to Las Vegas highway Wednesday claimed the lives of two Texans from Lubbock and two others.

The Texans were James E. Underwood, 20, a Texas Tech student, and Robert J. Strange, 21, a driver of one of the cars.

and went to the farm to look for him.

State highway patrol officers were called to the scene. The body was removed to Big Spring by a Nalley-Pickle ambulance where he was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital. Later he was removed to River Funeral Home.

Mr. Grant was an employee of the Texas and Pacific Railroad and also farmed. He was born in Big Spring June 14, 1920 and had spent all of his life here with the exception of the years he spent in the service during World War II. He was a member of the Prairie View Baptist Church.

Mr. Grant is survived by his widow, Mrs. Inez Grant; three daughters, Mrs. Gerald Davidson, Mrs. Rick Terry and Sue Grant, all of Big Spring; his mother, Mrs. Ella Grant, Big Spring; four brothers, Carl Grant, Jeff Grant, and Jack Grant, all of Big Spring, and Haskell Grant, Leveland; two sisters, Mrs. Lucille Daniels and Mrs. Alden Ryan, both of Big Spring. There are four grandchildren.

Funeral services are to be at 3 p.m. Friday in the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Leslie Kellur, officiating. He will be assisted by the Rev. Dave Craddock. Interment is to be in Trinity Memorial Park with River Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

First Bale At Knott

KNOTT — Bruce Parker, Knott farmer, brought in the first bale of cotton to the Guittar gin at Knott Thursday morning. Willard Rogers is the operator.

The 1,775 pounds of snap-cotton ginned out a 45-pound bale and 775 pounds of seed. It was classed as one-inch middling and the Guittar gin gave a $30 premium. The bale was not sold Thursday morning.

Rogers said that if worms did not get too thick the farmers around Knott would average better than a half bale to the acre.

FRIDAY IS FELT HAT DAY

Writer Test Rides Hovercraft Service

By COLIN FROST
 RHYL, Wales (AP)—From the inside it looked like a distorted airliner, much too wide for its length.

Twenty-four passengers sat in four rows of six. All plainly suffered from lapsed nerves.

The steward's voice came from the speaker system: "Welcome aboard the world's first Hovercraft service. In a few moments we shall be leaving for Wallasey. Your driver is Capt. Colquhoun."

The engines revved up and the kids on the beach scattered. It wasn't raining but Les Colquhoun, 42, test pilot and wartime Royal Air Force hero, switched on his windshield wipers.

He eased back the yellow throttle handle. The hovercraft, an ugly roaring beetle contending for a transport revolution, lifted its 10 tons of the sand and slithered gently over the dunes toward the sea.

The hovercraft was the VA3, one of a dozen under development here. It rides eight inches above land or sea on a cushion of air produced by two gas turbine engines. Two more engines drive rear-mounted propellers to move it forward.

A shower of spray whipped past the windows as the VA3 moved onto the surf and swished up to 50 miles per hour.

The noise was exactly that of a four-engine airliner. The motion was different.

Over the sand the ride was ice smooth.

Over the sea it developed a pitch, something like a plane in slight turbulence, punctuated by heavy jolts as big waves slapped up against the bow.

Even then no seat belts were needed. The passengers faced backwards. The jolts just shoved them deeper in their seats.

Colquhoun headed his craft along the coast and into open water. Wales slipped away and the English shore came through the spray.

Twenty-five minutes after leaving the VA3 edged onto a concrete slipway at Wallasey, 17 miles across the Dee Estuary from Rhyll. By road it is 50 miles and 90 minutes.

The passengers trooped off, all feeling one-up on the watching crowds.

Five years ago none of them had heard of a hovercraft, then little more than an idea in the brain of inventor Christopher Cockerell.

Cockerell built his first model from two food cans. He showed it to the government's military advisers who put it on the secret list and did nothing more. It took Cockerell a year to get the idea declassified and under government-financed development. Now four major companies are pushing it hard.

Two years ago a small hovercraft called the SRN1 went from France to England. Last July the VA3 started the Rhyll-Wallasey run, making eight return trips daily and always working at more than 90 per cent capacity.

The experiment — it is nothing more, not a serious transportation service — ends next week when Rhyll's holiday clients have returned to the factories of Manchester and the English Midlands.

Even at $5.60 a passenger the service has lost money. This was expected. Vickers Armstrong, the builders, and British United Airways, the operators, hope to reap their dividend later.

They have shown the hovercraft can operate over soft sand and shallows which no vehicle or boat can negotiate. The 17 miles from Rhyll to Wallasey are not far different from the 20-odd miles of the English Channel and its rich tourist and commercial traffic.

The VA3 is about the size of three buses side by side, though it weighs less than one of them.

The channel craft will have to be bigger. Vickers is designing a prototype to carry 200 passengers and 14 vehicles at 100 m.p.h.

"I'm convinced it will," said Colquhoun.

"The craft we're using here was on the drawing board less than two years ago. Now it's in operation with a Ministry of Transport license as safe to carry passengers."

Ron Harfitt, British United's commercial manager, forecasts a channel hovercraft service within five years.

Some questions have to be answered.

One is this: How do you protect the craft from a viciously corrosive spray of salt water and sand?

Another, and more difficult, is how to increase operating height and make it variable.

To tackle the channel in even moderate weather the hovercraft would have to float three feet or more above the waves. In calm weather and over land this height would waste power — it need be only three inches above the surface.

Is the hovercraft a ship, an aircraft or what?

The Ministry of Transport just calls it a vehicle.

When the passenger at the end of the row grabbed for the little brown bag was she airsick or seasick?

Or both?

Economist Has Power In Argentina

By FRANK MANITZAS
 BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Alvaro Carlos Alsogaray sits at an old wooden desk with 34 call buttons and 10 telephone lines. To a large extent he runs Argentina.

Alsogaray, as minister of economy, has widespread control over the things Argentines can eat and do, the way they earn a living today and how they may work in the future.

Few people are neutral about him.

"After more than three months in office, he has distinguished himself by being completely ineffective," the widely circulated Economic Survey said. "This is seriously endangering the country's recovery from its deep economic crisis."

"Now that he is at the helm of the treasury," a U.S. financial expert said, "we are certain that Argentina will go forward."

Ready to listen but eager to talk, Alsogaray speaks to the people at length. His fireside chats sometimes last an hour and a half. He convinces foreign business men there is hope for doing business in and with Argentina. He irritates Argentina's military men to the point of fighting.

Now 49 and pushing 200 pounds, he can never again be a sprint champion as he used to be in the Argentina air force, where he spent 17 years up to 1946. He still pilots a plane occasionally.

His career began with training as an aeronautical engineer. He took no formal training as an economist, but schooled himself — and learns now every day by plowing through books, newspapers and magazines. From his point of view, the best economist is an organization man who can inspire confidence amid people who know economics.

He has polished the science of public relations, but whether this can reflect itself in a likely future politically is open to question. He seems to be more respected abroad than in his own country — partly because he has imposed measures of austerity from time to time.

His program for economic stabilization began in 1958. Eventually he resigned, after a series of frustrations, from President Arturo Frondizi's cabinet. When Frondizi was ousted by the armed forces, President Jose Maria Guido opened the door to Alsogaray's return.

Alsogaray demanded and obtained control of major agencies and departments, placing them under his command in a new machine he called CITES, Consejo Intre-Ministerial Council of Labor, Economy and Services.

Whipstock Bill Finds His Business At A Halt

By FINIS MOTHERHEAD
 DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Whipstock Bill James sat in the sweatbox of a courtroom. He looked worried but somehow he didn't seem to share the gloom of the others there.

There was a somberly intent expression in Whipstock Bill's face, weathered by 45 years in the blistering sun, the rain and the cold of the oil fields.

His main concern appeared to be telling — in terms a layman could understand — how to sink a particular kind of oil well.

Bill is — or was — a driller hired to thrust holes in the ground at slant.

The frequent application of his skilled hands and others who know his trade set off one of the new, great scandals in Texas.

It involves more people than the Billie Sol Estes affair did.

It is called slant-hole drilling, or crooked well drilling, or deviated drilling.

A crooked well is drilled so it will bottom under another oilman's lease. Thus the slant well owner can steal his neighbor's oil.

Authorities claim oil worth $10 million a year is stolen this way.

The state says it has found more than 125 illegally drilled wells. Sixty four were junked by the operators before crews could test them.

Whipstock Bill testified there may be as many as 300 to 350 crooked wells in the East Texas field alone.

Asked how many he had drilled, he first said: "Whew. God only knows." Later he estimated 100.

Whipstock Bill said a driller with the proper skills can drill to beneath a point three-quarters of a mile away and not miss his mark a degree.

The driller gained his name from a device called a whipstock. As Bill described the whipstock, it is a piece of pipe placed in the well. Its top is slanted at a pre-determined angle.

Thus when a drilling bit is rotated in the well, the whipstock nudges the bit a little to one side, slanting the hole.

Whipstock testified in Dallas before a Texas House investigating committee.

Committee counsel David Wilts explained that Whipstock Bill merely did the jobs laid out for him by others.

Gloom clouded numerous faces in the hearing room because the state accuses many of pumping oil from slanted wells.

The Texas Railroad Commission which regulates oil production, has ordered all wells on leases containing even one illegally slanted well cut off from pipelines. This means the oilmen have no way to market even legally pumped oil. Nearly 600 wells were cut off at one time for this reason, although a few connections have since been restored.

Whipstock Bill also described the plastic pipe trick.

Why, asked a questioner, use plastic pipe?

"It was so you could carry oil and you couldn't find it with a magnetic," he said. He referred to mine detector-type devices.

The trick works this way: An oil operator orders a slanted well drilled on a lease that has no oil under it, as a number of dry holes testify.

He tells the Railroad Commission he has found oil with his new well. The commission allows him a daily production allowable (quota) under the rigid control laws.

The operator then has plastic pipe laid to the dry holes and pumps oil from the slanted well into them. He claims he has restored production in these old wells. He obtains more allowable.

Witnesses at the hearing said leases with zero production zoomed to an output of 1,000 barrels or more per month after crooked holes were drilled. At $3 a barrel, a man could get back his investment in a year.

Railroad commissioners say the slant wells could not have been possible without connivance of Railroad Commission employees, two of whom were fired.

In the glare of the public eye, what of the slant-well business? "It came to a squeaking halt," testified Whipstock Bill.

No Love For Wall, Red Leader Says

BERLIN (AP)—East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht says his regime is not "in love" with the wall it has built dividing Berlin.

In a speech to a weekend labor conference in Leipzig, published today, Ulbricht told delegates attending from West Germany:

"The wall will stand until you have reined in the militarists. So it depends on you. No one should think we are in love with the wall. That is not the case."

"Lost, somewhere between sunrise and sunset, two golden hours. No reward is offered, for they are gone forever" — Selected. "Walk in wisdom to ward them that are without, redeeming the time" (Col. 4:5).

FOUND: A soul; valued at more than all the world. Only Christ can save it; and he only promises salvation upon certain conditions. See Mat. 16:26; Acts 4:12; Heb. 5:9; Mark 16:16; Acts 2:38; Rev. 2:10.

FOUND: The Pearl of Great Price; the truth that makes men free. "Who, when he had found one pearl of great price, went and sold all that he had, and bought it" (Mat. 13:46). "Buy the truth and sell it not..." (Prov. 23:23).

FOUND: "... We have found him, of whom Moses in the law, and the prophets, did write, Jesus of Nazareth, the son of Joseph" (Jno. 1:45). —Adv.

Dump Ground Turned Into Picnic Area

BANQUETE (AP)—The sign and the entranceway to John J. Sablatura Park just west of here recently cost Nueces County three times as much as it paid for the 10.9-acre park 15 years ago.

When Nueces County Commissioners wanted a dump ground in 1947 they paid $1,090 for the land on Highway 44.

The high-arching aluminum sign and brick pillars erected this year and decorated with granite slabs and planting boxes cost an estimated $3,000.

It all began when the superintendent of the trash dump began clearing the land. John J. Sablatura, after opening and closing three trash pits within a year, decided it would take long to fill the site.

So when the superintendent, in his spare time, began to plant Spanish daggers and century plants to go with the live oaks, mesquite and prickly pear County Commissioner Sablatura encouraged him.

As it took shape, the commissioner decided portions of the filled land would make a good picnic ground, and gathered material for picnic tables and grills, using materials that he had or could get free. The park was dedicated in 1961.

At the far edge of the recreational area, rubble from Agua Dulce and Banquete is still being dumped, but visitors never know unless they hunt for the dump.

Man Convicted Of Wife Murder

CUERO (AP)—Arthur Baker, 52, was convicted Wednesday of murdering his wife Aug. 31, 1961. He was assessed a 99-year prison sentence.

The jury returned the guilty verdict shortly after 4:15 p.m., after being given the case at 11 a.m.

The trial started Monday, with Dist. Judge A. R. Stout of Waxahachie sitting in place of the ill Judge Howard P. Green.

Baker took the stand and testified that his wife died after twice falling out of a panel truck. He also denied any knowledge of ever harming his wife. The latter was in direct conflict with the testimony of three children who swore he had frequently mistreated his wife for 32 years.

Mrs. Baker died in a Cuero hospital after being taken there by Baker.

Texan Heads Mail Robbery Report Panel

By TEX EASLEY
AP Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—A far cry from the usual congressional committee report is one being prepared by the Government Operations subcommittee headed by a Texas congressman, Rep. Jack Brooks of Beaumont.

million mail truck robbery in Massachusetts.
"We'll get it out as soon as possible," said Brooks. "But right now we're tied up with the economy in government agencies hearings. Meanwhile, we have been assured by the Post Office Department that additional security measures, such as radio controls, are being established to prevent a recurrence of this type robbery."
Brooks' group was in the midst of a series of hearings, in which cabinet members were being called in to discuss how they could cut down on the cost of their departments, when the Massachusetts robbery took place.
Because his subcommittee is supposed to check up on the efficiency or lack of efficiency of departments, the routine economy probe was temporarily set aside. The two men who were held up, the mail truck driver and his helper, came down from Boston to testify.

Although the report and its recommendations are yet to be published, Brooks, in closing the hearing, raised the question as to why a million dollars or more would be hauled about the countryside in a regular mail truck. It developed that money is being transported in similar fashion by mail trucks in many other places.
The report also may reflect the annoyance of Brooks and his colleagues at postal officials from headquarters here who testified about the Boston situation but failed to volunteer the information that money in a mail bag being transported by mail truck from Chicago to another Illinois city had been stolen.

When the bag reached its destination and was opened, said Brooks, a bundle of old papers had replaced some $38,000 in currency. The department, days later, announced the theft as an inside job.
AROUND THE CAPITAL:
Two former Texas congressmen showed up as observers at a Senate Maritime subcommittee hearing. They are John Lyle, who practices law in Corpus Christi and Houston, and Ben Guill, a Republican who won a special Panhandle election a decade ago. After a few months in the House, he served as a high official at the Post Office Department and on the Maritime Board in the Eisenhower administration. He is now in private business here.

Cecil Burney, Corpus Christi attorney and a close friend and backer of Lyle when the latter was in Congress, has been here doing business at the Navy Department.
Ralph Marlatt, aide of Dallas Congressman Bruce Alger, writes in the Capitol Hill publication "Roll Call" a description of an average days work in a law-maker's office. Reciting a varied list of chores that arise, such as obtaining quick permission for a constituent to fly abroad with a supply of rare-type blood needed by a loved one who was stricken while on a vacation trip, he said: "Of course, a congressman is limited by law and the Constitution as to just how far he can go in handling a case, but in this office every legal and ethical effort is made to insure each constituent a fair and impartial hearing for any problem."

Fort Worth Rep. Jim Wright recently got a call from a constituent who asked help in having a youthful sailor flown home from a Pacific area to attend a funeral.
Contacting the Navy in a routine manner first, Wright ran into all kinds of red tape. He then asked to talk with Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth, former Fort Worth banker. In short time the serviceman, Seaman Billy L. Van Zandt, was enroute home to Grandbury. He had been located at sea aboard the USS Haverfield off Guam.

Jury Raises Land Award

A county court jury Wednesday afternoon awarded owners of a small tract of land, located in northwest Big Spring, approximately $5,000 more than the property was valued by a special commission last year.

The case, styled E. W. Ender et al vs. State of Texas, was an appeal from the findings of the special commission on land taken from Enders for right of way needs on IS 20 bypass.

Ender and his associates felt the $18,000 allocated by the commission was not enough. The jury agreed and set the ante $5,000 higher—$23,000. It had been stipulated in the trial that property damage was $9,000. The jury was concerned solely with the value of the land.

Ed Carpenter, county judge, said the jury deliberated about an hour and a half in reaching their verdict.

General Urges Grads Toward Learning Habit

Thirty-three members of class 63-B graduated from pilot training Wednesday night in ceremonies at the Webb AFB Chapel.

Leading the class in honors was Lt. Richard D. Gardner, named distinguished graduate and also recipient of the ATC Commander's Trophy. Col. Wilson H. Banks, 3560th Pilot Training Wing commander, made the presentation.

Guest speaker for the exercises was Brig. Gen. Neil D. Van Sickle, commander of Mather AFB, Calif., and its 3535th Navigator Training Wing.

Gen. Van Sickle spoke to the graduates about their duties not only as officers and pilots but also as citizens and how the two together make one very important job.

"... Your most important role," he told them, "is your role as men, complete men who can catch and field the bombardment of propaganda to which all Americans are constantly subjected."

"The most important single way in which you can exercise initiative, and the most profitable way to realize your capabilities as citizens in formulating an opinion, or an officer capable of seeing the whole while working obediently and executing in his own slot, is to form the habit of learning."

He concluded by telling them to develop the capacity for obedience and also constructive non-conformity and in this way become leaders.

Red Chinese Surround Indian Post But No Fight Reported

NEW DELHI (AP)—The Indian government said today Red Chinese troops have "appeared in the vicinity" of an Indian outpost on the disputed northeast frontier but said "there has been no clash."

Unofficial but reliable sources said an estimated 300 Chinese soldiers invaded Indian territory Tuesday and surrounded a post a mile inside the Himalayan border manned by 30 men of the Assam Rifles.

There was no indication of any fighting. One unconfirmed report from the northeast said the Chinese disarmed the Indian troops and advanced nine miles farther into India.

A spokesman for the foreign ministry announced: "Some Chinese forces have appeared in the vicinity of one of our posts in the area of the tri-junction of Bhutan, the Northeast Frontier Agency and Tibet. There has been no clash."

Conflicting unofficial reports indicated the Chinese might be pressing toward Towang, an important Buddhist monastery town 15 miles inside the border. Three years ago the Dalai Lama, fleeing from the Red Chinese across the 14,210-mile-high pass from Tibet, made a stopover at Towang.

The Chinese Communists claim the Northeast Frontier Agency's 36,000 square miles—a mountainous, largely unsettled area—belong to Tibet. India maintains the

Mainsprings Hear Mrs. Horton Talk

Mrs. Louise Horton was guest speaker at a Tuesday evening session of the Mainsprings Auxiliary to the National Association of Letter Carriers, held at the home of Mrs. Don Trupp.

OIL REPORT

A north offset has been filed in the two-well Garza, East (Glorieta) field in Garza County. It is the Forest Oil Corp. No. 1 Ada Webb, about two miles northeast of Post. It is slated for 4,000 feet.

The Martin County portion of the Spraberry Trend also picked up a new site in John L. Cox No. 2-A Wilkinson, set for 7,800 feet about 15 miles northeast of Stanton.

After getting poor results on tests of the Wolfcamp, Roden Oil and Cosden No. 1-E-1 Reed is testing the Wichita-Albany. Operator tested one section of this Sterling County venture and is preparing to test other perforations.

In Dawson County, Standard No. 1 O'Brien reported a trace of gold fluorescence and porosity in lime and shale core cut from 8,373-405 feet.

Lario No. 1 Lindsey, C NW NW NW, section 79-M, EL&R survey, is making hole below 7,130 feet in lime.

Standard No. 1 O'Brien is bottomed at 8,405 1/2 feet and a 25-foot section of lime and shale was cut from between 8,273-405 feet. Operator reported a trace of gold fluorescence and a trace of porosity. Location is C NE NE, section 13-266, Kent CSL survey.

Forest Oil Corp., Midland, No. 1 Ada Webb spots C SE SW SW, section 1-241, HE&WT survey, about two miles northeast of Post. It is a north offset to the two-well Garza, East (Glorieta) field, and is projected to 4,000 feet.

Tenneco No. 1 Graham pumped 30 barrels of load oil and 153 barrels of water in 24 hours from Dean perforations between 8,115-228 feet. Location is C NW SW, section 30-33-3N, T&P survey.

Pure No. 22 Chalk, C SE SW NE, section 125-29, W&NW survey, is digging in dolomite below 2,935 feet.

Teaching Gains Prestige According To Gallup Poll

AUSTIN—If a young man were to ask advice about which profession he should enter—and assuming he was qualified for any of them—which would you recommend?

The American Institute of Public Opinion asked that question in one of its recent surveys and found the top three recommended were doctor, engineer, and teacher, in that order. Ranked below these were clergymen, government career, lawyer, business executive, dentist and banker.

George Gallup, head of the institute, reported teaching had gained in prestige since a similar poll was conducted in 1953. Only 5 per cent of those questioned in 1953 recommended teaching, while 12 per cent did in the current inquiry. Clergymen, lawyers, business executives and dentists (as well as doctors and engineers) ranked above teaching in the poll nine years ago, but now are ranked below it.

When a tally was made of responses of people in the 21-29 age group, teaching moved up to second place, with 18 per cent recomending it. Doctors still led, with 26 per cent recommending that profession.

College educated persons, Gallup reported, were most likely to recommend teaching to a young man.

The survey did not go into the question of motivation. Salaries of classroom teachers, averaging $5,527 last year nationally, had risen 62 per cent since 1953, but income in other professions were higher, too. The Texas average was $5,205.

Despite the status now enjoyed by the teaching profession, approximately 7,000 Texas teachers were issued emergency permits to allow them to teach. The reason is that they do not qualify for standard teaching certificates.

To teach the additional pupils en-

City's Stolen Truck Recovered

A 1962 model pickup—owned by the City of Big Spring—was recovered in San Angelo Wednesday night. It was stolen Tuesday night. Two men were reported in the pickup when it was driven away from the city barn.

San Angelo police arrested one man on a burglary charge and he told them where the truck was left. Both men were escapees from the Big Spring State Hospital. One returned Wednesday and the other will be brought back today.

An inventory was made at Johnnie's Liquor Store, US 87 south, Wednesday following a burglary, and the manager, James Bryant, said liquors valued at $472.01 were missing.

A hole was broken in the 4x6-foot plate glass window in the front of the store some time Tuesday night where entry was made. No arrests had been made Thursday morning.

U.S. Rejects Red China U2 Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has dismissed its propaganda Red China's charges that Americans "assumed direct command" over Chinese Nationalist U2 planes flying over the Chinese mainland.

"Just Chinese Communist propaganda," said Joseph Reap, State Department press officer, Wednesday. He declined further comment.

DEAR ABBY

Both Parents Are Needed

DEAR ABBY: Can you tell me what to do with a husband who travels? He comes home on weekends, lays down all kinds of laws and rules for me to enforce on the children, and then leaves town for a whole week.

I am about to lose my mind. The children are 7, 9, 13, 14 and 16. I tell my husband if he is going to make laws he will have to stay home and see that they are carried out. Am I unreasonable?

UNNERVED
DEAR UNNERVED: Really, now, men who travel for a living cannot very well stay home to discipline the children. If your husband insists on laying down "laws and rules" for the children, he should do it with them personally, explaining meanwhile that their mother must have cooperation in his absence. The enforcement task must be yours. But you are entitled to participation and support from your husband.

DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a girl and want to marry her, but my family objects to her. My parents are rarely wrong and they are very much upset about my plans. They say she is "wrong" for me, but I just don't feel that way. I am 21. Could I be wrong? I have the kindest mother and father in the world. And my sisters, who are also very good to me and want me to be happy, don't like her either. I hate to hurt them by marrying a girl they don't like. Please tell me what to do.

PUZLED
DEAR PUZZLED: WHY does your family object to this girl? They could be wrong—and so could you. But unless they tell you why they think she is "wrong" for you, do you own thinking.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a young woman who, within 30 minutes after being introduced to a young man, asks him his religion, whether he believes in a "double standard" and if he thinks a wife should work?

WILLIAM
DEAR WILLIAM: The young man should reply, "I'm an atheist, the double standard is standard operating procedure for me, and what else are wives good for?"

CONFIDENTIAL TO DOUG: There is safety in numbers, but be sure you don't get your numbers mixed up.

Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of The Big Spring Herald.

SNUFFY SMITH

Cartoonist To Get Silver Lady Award

Moonshiners "Barney Google and Snuffy Smith," who appear in the Herald, are going to New York's famous Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Nov. 1. At least their alter ego, cartoonist Fred Lasswell, is. An added feature of the Silver Lady award will be the presentation to Lasswell of an album of testimonial letters from famous friends and fans from all over the world.

Lasswell has been selected as the 16th annual winner of the Silver Lady Award by the Banishes, the New York luncheon club of men engaged in the newspaper, magazine, book, radio, and TV fields, joining a cartoonist's elite who have won the award previously.

The Silver Lady Award has been considered one of the most significant awards a cartoonist can earn. An added feature of the Silver Lady award will be the presentation to Lasswell of an album of testimonial letters from famous friends and fans from all over the world.

Lasswell's mythical mountain characters have literally become such an institution that many newspaper accounts of illegal moonshine whiskey will allude to "Snuffy Smith and Barney Google."

Lasswell has been irrevocably, except for a WW II break with the Marines, tied up with his gently satirical mountain characters since 1933 when Billy DeBeck, then drawing "Barney Google," took on the 17-year-old cartoonist as his assistant sight unseen on the basis of one poster he had done for a Florida golf tournament. When DeBeck died in 1942, King Features Syndicate, which distributes the strip to some 476 papers, had no doubt that Lasswell had the talent and imagination to take over from the old master and he's been proving them right ever since.

Boy Dies When Iron Lung Machine Fails

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Michael Myers, 21, a polio victim, died Tuesday when the iron lung on which he depended to breathe failed.

His mother, Evangeline Myers, said she went into his room and realized the artificial respirator's motor wasn't pulsating properly. She called a rescue squad and administered mouth-to-mouth breathing, but the rescue crew found him dead on arrival.

The Myers kept an automatic power generator in their garage in event of a commercial power failure. But it was of no use in this instance—failure of the machine.

Michael was stricken three years ago.

Weevils May Be Doomed

COLLEGE STATION — Cotton boll weevils will feed on almost anything that has been dipped in a newly discovered extract of the cotton plant. According to the USDA, the substance that makes the cotton squares appetizing to boll weevils was found in a water extract for the first time by two U.S. Department of Agriculture entomologists.

The extract, when applied to cork stoppers, green beans, wood, and other unlikely substances, attracted the weevils that normally feed on only cotton squares and bolls. The scientists call the substance an "arrestant" and say that though it will not draw weevils a long distance, they feed on anything close containing the extract.

Tests are now underway to see if the substance can induce the weevils to feed and to lay their eggs on plants other than cotton. If this can be done, it may be possible to substantially reduce the boll weevil population, because weevils have rarely been known to survive on any plant except cotton.

Also, chemists are carrying on research to identify the arrestant chemically which might make it possible to produce a synthetic substance or breed cotton which does not contain the substance.

Scientists believe that this discovery could lead to a new method of controlling this insect that annually adds five to seven cents per pound to the price of producing cotton. The number one pest of cotton, it has caused an estimated $10 billion worth of damage since it first entered the U.S. in 1892.

Ticket Sales Brisk For Fall Festival

Ticket sales for the Fourth Annual Fall Festival of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church set for Saturday are brisk and sponsors are expecting an even bigger success than last year.

The Rev. Father Francis B. Beazley, pastor, and Bert Andries are the men in charge of arrangements.

As in years past, the main event of the festival will be the barbecue supper. The festival is to be staged on the school grounds southwest of town.

Prizes are to be given, including such items as a Polaroid camera, a typewriter, luggage, a bicycle, golf cart, trading stamps and other items.

Booths will be operated as special features. These will include a food booth, soft drink stand, penny pitch, bottle throw, grab bag, fish ponds and cake-walk.

The country store will sell home canned foods, and handmade merchandise donated by the women of the church.

Festival officials say the grounds open at 4 p.m. Saturday. The barbecue dinner will be from 6 to 8 p.m. Tickets for the barbecue are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Admission to the carnival ground is free.

The public is invited.

White Sands Testing Due

EL PASO (AP)—A Project Apollo official said Tuesday that space program will spend between $6 and $8 million in testing at the White Sands Missile Range.

The Apollo Project officer for the spacecraft's command and service modules of Houston, J. Thomas Markley, that between 150 and 200 persons would be permanently employed at the test center once it is operational.

Addressing a group of Federal Businessmen's Association members, Markley outlined the role White Sands will have in the development of the Apollo Project, which is aimed at putting Americans on the moon.

White Sands was chosen over about 15 other areas for the tests because of four reasons, Markley said.

The reasons listed by Markley were:

1. Test activity and scheduling interference would be less than at the Atlantic Missile Range at Cape Canaveral.

2. Both the initial missile programs and energy system ground tests could be performed at one locality, eliminating two full service groups.

3. White Sands has a labor market of skilled personnel.

4. The location was remote enough for testing of high energy fuel yet easily accessible to El Paso, Houston and Los Angeles for travel.

Russians Oversee Placing Of Mines In Cuban Waters

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Russian experts are supervising the placing of mines on waters near the Cuban ports of Matanzas, Cienfuegos, Mariel, Bahia Honda, Cardenas, Santiago and the Havana waterfront, a spokesman from an exiled Cuban group said today.

The mines, made in Cuba, are taken out into the sea and anchored at night, a member of the exiled College of Journalists of Cuba said.

Other Russian and Czech demolition experts are working inside the country, the informer said, preparing roads, bridges and public buildings for demolition in in fears of an invasion on the part of anti-Castro forces.

Red Cross Helps Tornado Victims

COLORADO CITY (SC)—The Mitchell County Chapter of the American Red Cross received $1,700 from the National Red Cross organization for Loraine tornado sufferers, according to Jack Walker, of Loraine, chairman of the Mitchell County Chapter.

The tornado struck the negro section of Loraine, July 14, 1962, Walker said, and the Red Cross assisted with clothing, bedding and building materials.

"We replaced three rooms that were swept away in the storm," he said. "We have virtually completed the work here."

Mrs. Bonnie Burt, executive secretary of the local organization, local members of the Red Cross, and Mrs. Hazel Beazley from the Red Cross office in St. Louis, assisted in processing the claims, Walker said.

Reorganization Set For Pack 10

A meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church to reorganize Cub Scout Pack 10. Bill McRee, Scout executive, said parents of all Cub-age boys are invited to attend and help get the pack going again.

Plainview—Here's Looking At You

Plainview Bulldogs Green But Willing

PLAINVIEW—Beaten, 36-0, in their opening game last season by Big Spring, the Plainview Bulldogs will try to avenge that loss in a game here Friday night starting at 7:30 p.m. The loss to Big Spring was one of ten in a row the Bulldogs suffered last year. They yielded a total of 514 points and scored touchdown only against Littlefield, Berger and Pampa. Herman Smith is no longer coach of the Plainview team. He's now helping coach the Big Spring team, as a matter of fact. Herman has been succeeded by Don Williams, who quit a job at Littlefield to succeed Smith here. Seventy boys reported for work-outs under Williams and, although most are green and young, they've given Williams something to work with toward the future. Williams had lauded the Bulldogs' desire and hustle but admits they still have a long way to go. He predicts his club will give a good account of itself in its opener against the Steers. Plainview had seven lettermen back from last season and four of those were starters. They are Timmy Benefield, quarterback; Larry Haydon, halfback; Ray Gonzales, halfback; and Eddie Piercy, a defensive regular. The starting lineup will probably include Benefield, 156, at quarterback, Haydon, 154, at left

Nick Skorich Spends Long Hours On Job As Mentor

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The phone rang twice before Mrs. Nick Skorich answered shortly before midnight. "Is Coach Skorich in?" the caller asked. "If he's sleeping don't bother him." "No," said Mrs. Skorich. "He's working." And so it goes with Nick Skorich, in his second year as head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, working into the late hours of the night preparing for the National Football League opener here Sunday against the St. Louis Cardinals. "I was looking at some Cardinals' films," explained Skorich, "studying their defensive team. They've got a real strong defensive team. They're a pretty hard club for everyone to score on." Skorich pointed out that the Eagles have a film exchange with the Cardinals and the films he was studying were from last year's regular season games. He had previously studied films of the

Whiff Record Was Ancient

By GORDON BEARD Associated Press Sports Writer BALTIMORE (AP) — Tom Cheney often doesn't finish what he starts. But when he does, it's spectacular. Wednesday night was one of those occasions. The 27-year-old righthander of the Washington Senators set a major league record by striking out 21 batters in a 16-inning, 2-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles. It was Cheney's fourth complete game of the season, in his earlier route-going performances he hurried shutouts. At the end of the exhausting 3 hour, 30 minute game, in which he made 228 pitches, Cheney had cracked a record which stood for 78 years. Charles Sweeney of Providence in the National League and Hugh Dailey of Chicago in the Union Association each struck out 19 batters in 9-inning games in 1884. Since 1906, four different pitchers had fanned 18 in a game—Jack Coombs, Bob Feller, Warren Spahn and Sandy Koufax. Koufax and Koufax each reached the mark twice. Koufax, Los Angeles Dodgers left-hander, was the last to tie the previous modern record. He struck out 18 in nine innings on April 24. Cheney struck out the side in the third and fifth innings and at the end of the regulation nine innings had recorded 13 strikeouts. Russ Snyder, Jim Gentile, Dave Nicholson, Marv Breeding and Dick Hall whiffed three times apiece. When Cheney struck out Hall to end the 14th inning, it was strikeout No. 19 and a new modern record. He was given the ball as a memento and also a standing ovation from the crowd of 4,098. Snyder became victim No. 20 in the 15th inning and Cheney completed his masterpiece by getting pinch hitter Dick Williams on a called strike to end the game.

Runnels Teams Launch Seasons Here Tonight

Runnels Junior High sends its two football teams into action here tonight in the old stadium at Tenth and State streets. Both contingents will be entering Sweetwater. The Eighth Graders play at 6 p.m., the Ninth Graders at 7:30 p.m.

Ticket Sales Mount Slowly

Sale of season football tickets at the local high school continues to mount—if ever so slowly. A total of 574 had been distributed late Wednesday, still well under last year's aggregate. The tickets, good for five home games, will remain on sale until the Longhorns open at home the night of Sept. 23 against Snyder. Tickets for Friday night's game with Plainview, which will be played at the school business office here until noon Friday—after which time they must be returned to Plainview.

The local Ninth Graders will go with a line composed of Mel Daves, 148, and Bobby Baker, 153, at ends; Wesley Ballou, 168, and Troy Hooser, 204, at tackles; Ronnie Smith, 146, and Ruben Martinez, 130, guards; and Freddie Stiehl, 168, center.

In the backfield, it will be Joe Jaure, 142, at quarterback; Tony Saracho, 146, and Rey Navarrete, 150, at halfbacks; and Bobby Griffin, 137, at fullback. Sammy Mims, 132, will also see

Goliad Visits Snyder Tonight

Goliad Junior High's two football teams visit Snyder this evening for their opening games of the 1962 campaign. The Ninth Grade Mavericks, coached by R. E. Dodson, Snyder Lamar play at 7:30 p.m. The Eighth Graders of the two schools open the entertainment with a 6 p.m. contest. The Goliad Ninth Graders will be idle next week but the Eighth Graders play at home against Big Spring Lakeview. The contest starts at 6 p.m. Thursday.

Tulsa Batters Austin, 9-4

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Tulsa's Oilers found the range again Wednesday night and it paid off with a 9-4 victory and a squaring of the Texas League playoff with Austin. The series is tied 1-1 with three more games scheduled here if it requires that many to settle the best of five. Jeff Long and Harry Watts clouted home runs as the big blows of a 12-hit attack. Ray Gomez and Barry Morgan of Austin also hit homers, each with a man on base, but they didn't get help from anybody else and those were the only runs scored.

Gambling Charge

PECOS, Tex. (AP) — A Pecos city councilman faced today a four-count federal gambling indictment. H. W. Garrett, 45, was charged with violating federal gambling laws at Garrett's Cafe in Pecos.

Suicide Ruled

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A county medical examiner ruled Wednesday that the shooting death of Lola Thompson, 50, was suicide. Thompson was found slain, a new pistol by his side, Tuesday in a service station rest room.

Kennedy Back From Tour Of Space Sites

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has returned from a two-day tour of major space installations, determined the United States will be first in space and have a man on the moon by 1970.

The President also made clear during the exhaustive inspection tour ending late Wednesday at the McDonnell Aircraft plant in St. Louis, that he intends to press his challenge to Russia to reserve outer space for peaceful purposes. At the plant Kennedy got a close-up view of the work being done on Gemini spacecraft designed to orbit two men up to two weeks in space in another year or so.

Possibly the highlight of the tour came earlier in the day at Houston where five of the seven astronauts, along with scientists, briefed him on the spaceships designed to take an American to the moon and back. He chose the city, site of the manned spacecraft center, for his only formal speech. Speaking to 50,000 people under a boiling sun in Rice University Stadium, the President declared: "The eyes of the world and its restless millions now look up and out to space, to the moon and the planets beyond. And we have vowed that they shall not see it governed by a hostile flag of conquest, but by a banner of peace."

Promising that outer space will not be filled with weapons of mass destruction, Kennedy said, "The vows of this nation can only be fulfilled if we in this nation are first—and therefore we intend to be first."

Of this nation's lunar ambitions, Kennedy said: "We choose to go to the moon in this decade." This, said Kennedy, is a challenge "we intend to win."

Kennedy also gave short talks to officers and employees at the spacecraft center, again at St. Louis and Tuesday at the Army and space agency installations at Huntsville, Ala., and Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Those were his occasions to speak. The rest of the time he spent listening, seldom commenting, to government and industry rocketry specialists.

Kennedy not only received their analyses and advice but got the feel of how it is to ride a space capsule by climbing into a three-man Apollo model at the Houston

Difference Of Opinion

President Kennedy sits on the speaker's stand at Rice University stadium in Houston unmindful of a sign hanging from the upper tier of the stadium proclaiming another choice for 1964. The sign was removed before the President delivered his address.

center with astronaut Donald (Deke) Slayton.

The purpose of Kennedy's survey was to familiarize himself with operations in the space program and to gather fundamental information in advance of preparing his space budget proposal for 1963-64. He has said that space expenditures are bound to rise above the current budget of $3.4 billion.

9 Men Die In Plane Crash

SEAL BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A Navy P2V Neptune patrol bomber skimmed over rooftops of a heavily populated residential area Wednesday night, then crashed in flames at the naval ammunition and net depot here. The Navy said all nine aboard were killed.

The dead were reservists from Georgia, the Navy said. Identification was withheld pending notification of relatives.

The plane took off from Los Alamitos Naval Air Station, about three miles north of the depot, and crashed a short time later in a vacant field used for storing empty ammunition crates some distance from ammunition deposits.

Several witnesses said they saw the plane, trailing a long ribbon of flame, veer to the northeast in what appeared to be an attempt by the pilot to keep aloft until the bomber cleared the residential area.

The depot at Seal Beach, 28 miles southeast of Los Angeles, replenishes the fleet stationed at the Southern California bases of San Diego and Long Beach. The ammunition is kept underground.

Warm Weather Until Weekend

By The Associated Press
Mid-summer temperatures are forecast for Texas at least until the weekend, with autumn only 10 days away.

Forecasts called for fair skies over all the state except for some patchy cloudiness over South Texas.

Temperatures in the 90s were expected through Friday with overnight lows generally in the 70s.

The long range forecast said the whole state can expect temperatures 2 to 6 degrees above normal through Monday.

Republican Campaigner Here For Rotary Meeting

O. W. (Bill) Hayes, Belton Rotarian, spoke to Big Spring Rotarians Tuesday. He is a candidate for lieutenant governor of Texas on the Republican ticket.

"The United States did not grow to become big because of a centralized government," he said. "We have grown through faith in our communities, states, and nation. We have grown through the courage of our convictions, that we should handle our own affairs. We have not grown because of a welfare state."

"When we become compromisers we breed immorality. We cannot make clear-cut decisions," he continued. "We find businessmen who are afraid to sound off their convictions because of the lack of courage. Many have not been willing to stand up and be counted and have failed to recognize the fact that the decisions about the future of our nation is up to each individual. The old words, 'character and patriotism,' are out of a lot of vocabularies."

Hayes is the son of a Czechoslovakian who chose exile in America rather than the Communist hand in Europe. Three days after the "take-over" the rest of his family was shot.

"I think you should know that the office of lieutenant governor is the most important legislative office in the state," he said. "By these facts you should judge, without considering my attitude: closed door senate hearings on appointees is a breeding place for political corruption; refusal, on 32 separate occasions, of recognition of a senator's right to speak when he rose to the floor; spectators, in the senate gallery, can see and hear a member vote at 10 a.m. but they can't see him go to the clerk five or six hours later, after he has been with others, and request that his vote be changed 'because I didn't fully understand what we were voting on.'"

The speaker was introduced by Ralph McLaughlin.

8 Arrested By Tax Men

By The Associated Press
Internal Revenue agents arrested eight Texans Wednesday as part of a national drive to arrest gamblers who failed to pay proper taxes.

In Jefferson and Orange counties, seven persons were arrested. Raids at Dallas and Waxahachie netted only one arrest.

R. L. Phinney, district IRS director for South Texas, listed arrests in Orange, Beaumont and Port Arthur.

Walter Sekaly Sr., Gerald Bonin and Genevieve Castro were reported arrested in Beaumont. Curtis Oakley and Carl Liberto were arrested at another Beaumont address.

In Port Arthur, wagering devices were found, but no arrests were made. Phinney said D. R. Jones was arrested in a swoop on Jones' Smokehouse in Port Arthur.

James Tuppen was arrested in an Orange raid. Gambling paraphernalia was found at each of the raided sites, officers said.

Nabbed on a Dallas street corner was Nick Jackson, 61. He waived an examining trial and was released on $500 bond. He was charged with accepting a wager without having bought a federal gambling stamp.

Ellis County officers and IRS intelligence men, in a raid at Waxahachie south of Dallas, questioned a man at the raid site but made no arrest.

U.S. Commissioner A. D. Moore Jr. set bond at $1,000 each on the seven persons arrested for gambling in Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange.

Complaints in each case were failure to pay a wagering excise tax.

New Anti-Smog Idea Is Promising

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A possible lead towards achieving victory over "smog" by introducing a cleansing chemical into the atmosphere of smog-plagued cities was reported today.

A team of Lockheed researchers said they had achieved abatement and even prevention of smog—in laboratory experiments—through the use of iodine as a "chain-breaker" of the molecular chain producing the irritant air mixture that bedevils certain cities such as Los Angeles.

They stressed in a report for the 142nd national meeting of the American Chemical Society that the findings—resulting from a three year study—represent only the results of relatively small-scale laboratory tests.

They added that a number of questions still remain to be answered before determination can be made whether the iodine method can be employed in solving air pollution problems on a practical scale.

Lockheed's Dr. William F. Hamilton, who presented the report for the team, said the big question to be answered is whether there would be poisonous effects to human and other life from the reaction products resulting from introducing the iodine into a smoggy atmosphere.

However, he indicated there are some encouraging straws in the wind on that score, including:

1. Past investigations have indicated that trace amounts of iodine already in the atmosphere—in some cases in concentrations higher than in the Lockheed tests—produced no ill effects.

2. The three-decade history of iodine production in a California chemical plant lists no toxic reactions nor sensitivities among employees—even though concentrations of iodine vapor encountered daily greatly exceed the amount anticipated for smog abatement.

Dr. Hamilton said that in the laboratory tests conducted at Lockheed's Burbank Calif. plant, a small amount of iodine vapor—made to combine with ozone—the major ingredient of smog—and other atmospheric pollutants. This, he said, broke the chemical chain that ordinarily results in smog or causes it to persist.

Both natural and artificial "smog mixtures" were studied in a room-sized chamber. Both natural and sunlight and special mercury lamps were used to supply the radiation required to produce "smog" from hydrocarbon chemicals, such as automobile exhaust fumes, in the atmosphere.

Hamilton said the presence of less than ten parts iodine per 100 million parts of smog-polluted air test samples caused almost total suppression of ozone.

He declared the next steps in the research will be to study the effects on laboratory animals—and conduct tests in a large outdoor area, such as a football stadium.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Fidel Castro agents have imprisoned three Western newsmen and are trailing others, a Canadian reporter said upon arriving in the United States.

George Bryant of the Toronto Star said Western newsmen are unable to telephone outside the country due to strict censorship being enforced by the regime.

Bryant said the three correspondents, missing for three days, were jailed, although he did not see them. They are John Blands of Reuters, Paul Casanas of the New York Times and his wife, Sarita Valdes of the National Broadcasting Co.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Pinellas County has gone one day without any new cases of suspected encephalitis being reported.

Health Department officials viewed the development with guarded optimism. Some said they hoped this marked the beginning of the decline of the outbreak in this Florida West Coast resort area.

Wednesday was the first day since July 21 that no cases were admitted to hospitals for observation.

The disease has taken 13 lives in the county. About 180 suspected cases have been reported, with 50 confirmed by laboratory tests.

Encephalitis is a virus which causes inflammation of the brain and nervous system.

Abilene Men Describe Civic Improvements

Had they not had concrete and steel to back it up, the story three Abilene men told here Wednesday would have sounded like a fairy tale.

At the request of the Big Spring Downtown Development Committee, Robert J. Tiffany, Hook Davis and the Rev. Francis D. Benton told how Abilene "put a new heart in an 81-year-old body."

The Abilene downtown resurrection had made that city one of the 12 finalists in the nation in city improvement competition.

One thing leads to another, the speakers agreed.

An informal association of downtown merchants took the bull by the horns, incorporated, and went to work to whip deteriorating physical conditions. The result was a $1,600,000 overhaul of the streets, storm sewers, water mains, and sidewalks.

"Why not do something about the buildings, too," asked Claude Stewart, a former Nazarene preacher who had become enthused about the program while visiting his parents in Abilene. He stayed to spark a development which now has resulted in creation of Downtown Markets, Inc., a one-block shopping unit in the heart of the city with an enclosed, air-conditioned mall and rooftop parking.

And that's not all. Downtown Market's Inc., No. 2 is about to get going on another one-block development to be linked by an over-street traffic bridge.

All has not been peaches and cream, warned Tiffany. Some of the tenants in the new shopping structure vacated other downtown property. For the most part, it's still vacant, and it likely will remain vacant unless and until owners decide to bring the antiquated buildings up to date, Tiffany predicted.

OWN EFFORTS
Improvements which have cost upwards of $3 million to date were all accomplished through Abilene efforts—no outside help, no federal funds. The planning, financing and execution was strictly homegrown.

A weight of public opinion behind the daring modernization was credited by the speakers with helping make it possible. In addition, the Rev. Benton said, "merchants, property owners and community leaders declared their faith in Abilene in a way that counts."

The story began with formation of Downtown Abilene Inc. to attack antiquated paving, drainage and sidewalks. Property owners and others put up about a million dollars, and the city put in $600,000 for new streets, storm sewers, etc., making a $16 per front foot assessment which had been agreed upon. This revolutionized the accessibility of the downtown section, said Tiffany, but it didn't solve the problem of buildings which had become dilapidated, although many alert merchants had renovated their stores and installed new, sparkling fronts.

Then came the idea of Claude Stewart to buy up an entire block, demolish the old buildings, raise a modern shopping complex on the spot. This was done through stock sales. (Many property owners traded for stock, and some took part stock, part cash.) Stewart then peddled leases to a dozen national and local firms. In July, the center was opened and drew 60,000 in three days. While there is an air-conditioned mall with planters, fountain, benches, etc., in the center, all stores also open to the street sides. On the road, 314 additional downtown parking spaces were provided.

In addition to a second block now marked for similar development, another block was acquired in similar fashion and will be devoted to a million dollar downtown motel. Several others in the area have built new facilities, too, including two parking garages.

Interestingly, most downtown Abilene merchants now will validate parking for any shopper at most of the parking centers. Thus, the shopper parks off street for free.

Abilene's tax rate has been going down instead of up—four cents off this year, three cents off last year.

Dr. J. E. Hogan, chairman, presided at the meeting at the Settles Hotel.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It's registration week at the University of California at Los Angeles. So it wasn't surprising when 400 coeds checked in at a campus table where a sign proclaimed: "Frosh Women Register Here."

The table was manned by two 19-year-old students, Steven Chodos and Fred Fryden.

Each of the coeds was asked to sign her name, address and telephone number.

The table and the young men had nothing to do with registration. It was just their way of getting some female phone numbers.

Mass Murder Evidence Bared

LAKE YAMANAKA, Japan (AP)—Firemen found the bodies of 10 persons with crushed skulls today in the smoking ruins of a partly burned mountain villa at this famed vacation spot 100 miles from Tokyo.

One police official said the dead, all adults, appeared to have been victims of a mass slaying.

Many foreigners vacation at Lake Yamanaka, but first reports said there was no indication that any foreigners were among the victims.

Confirmed

Thurgood Marshall poses in his New York home after Senate confirmation of his year-old nomination to the Second U. S. District Court of Appeals.

This Radar Trap Is For The Birds

HUNTINGTON, N.Y. (AP)—In case you were wondering, the black-capped chickadee has a top speed of 17 miles per hour.

An ornithologist has learned this for certain by borrowing a trick from the police. He's been using radar.

Dr. Wesley E. Lanyon, resident director of Kalbeisch Station of the American Museum of Natural History in nearby Dix Hills, has been testing the same kind of radar used by police in clocking the speed of your car.

Lanyon aims his radar set at various birds on the reservation and times them over 2.4-second segments of flight while taking such factors as wind speed into consideration.

The birds don't know they're being clocked any more than unsuspecting motorists do, so they fly merrily along.

Lanyon also has taken his equipment to Florida, to the shore of Long Island Sound and to private hunting clubs, where he observed the speed of birds under fire, certain that they were doing their best.

Lanyon is primarily concerned with long-term studies of animal populations. He was testing the radar to learn how feasible it would be to use such equipment for clocking bird speeds on a wide-scale basis.

"It's terrific," he said today, adding:

"Previously, people would time the flight of birds by pacing them with a car or using a stopwatch to see how long it would take them to fly a known distance. This certainly wasn't very scientific.

"The radar system can show a bird's top speed and how he slows down when he's about to perch. "I'm hopeful this equipment will be placed in research programs throughout the nation."

The fastest bird clocked thus far is the ring-necked duck, a hot-rodder capable of up to 66 m.p.h.

Less speedy but more shifty is the black duck, which can do 55 m.p.h. and can dodge a hunter's aim by decelerating from this top speed to 44 m.p.h. in 1/4 seconds.

The wild turkey is pretty wild for a bird of its cumbersome appearance and can do 31 m.p.h. when it's really trying.

The herring gull can do 29 m.p.h., the blue jay 26 and the house finch 21, while the white-throated sparrow is tied with the black-capped chickadee for last place at a slowpoke 17.

The cool, by the way, belies his name. It travels at a safe and sane 37 m.p.h.

Mattox Re-Elected To ASCS Post But Removes His Name

PECOS (AP)—W. P. Mattox was re-elected to the Reeves County Agricultural and Stabilization and Conservation Service Committee Tuesday, but asked the state committee Wednesday to remove his name.

Mattox had been suspended for allegedly accepting a plane trip to Washington and hotel expenses from Billie Sol Estes.

He was re-elected by write-in votes.

In a telegram to the state committee, Mattox said, "I appreciate the confidence of the farmers in the county in naming me although I did not run, however I wish to save any of my friends from embarrassment."

Mattox, a Reeves County farmer, testified recently that he had been suspended because Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman "sought a victim to protect himself."

T. R. Chenoweth of Pecos was re-elected chairman of the County ASCS Committee and Loy Kilgore vice chairman.

Fall Is Fatal

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A construction worker died Wednesday when he fell about 15 feet from the roof of a warehouse under construction. He was Patricio Samaniego, 21.

Medical Group Attends Fall Fashion Showing

Autumn colors and styles were shown during a Tuesday evening event at Webb AFB Officers Club. Simplicity was the keynote for the fashion show, given for wives of the Webb Medical Group. Mrs. Walt Shaffer was the commentator.

Double knits, afternoon frocks, suits and sportswear were presented by Caudill's Dress Shop. Models were Mrs. Ross Simpson, Mrs. Thomas Seeb, Mrs. Clint Lavender and Mrs. J. Hevel.

Reds, blues and beiges were predominant in the array of women's wear. Also included were two evening ensembles; one was embroidered faille, and the other, white brocade.

Miss Darla Seeb and Mrs. C. D. Peters were introduced as guests. New members were the wives of Drs. Milton Engel, Jerome Wensing and Lynn E. Healy.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Members have been asked to note the July 8 edition of Family Weekly, which features "New Hope for Parents Without Partners."

If you are a single parent you are invited to attend the Friday meeting. Jan Housewright will speak on "Community Theatre Backstage Activities."

Individuality A Gift, Child Study Subject

"Children are loaned to us to prepare them for life, and we should encourage them to be individuals, instead of conforming to a patterned way of life," said the Rev. Don Hungerford, speaking to members of the Child Study Club Wednesday. His subject was "Individuality—God's Gift to Our Children."

Mr. Hungerford pointed out that children should be prepared for the tasks which they want to accomplish, and prepared to make their contributions to others and to the world. He continued by saying, "They must have a personal God."

Held at the home of Mrs. O. H. Ivie, the meeting featured the

Study Club Distributes Yearbooks

Yearbooks were distributed and reviewed, when Spoudazio Foru Study Club members met for a salad supper, Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Don Farley, 1503 Kentucky Way.

A tentative date for the annual rummage sale, which the club holds to finance charity work, was set for Oct. 20. Mrs. Charles Lusk and Mrs. Hulan Harris will supervise collection of rummage and make up the work schedule.

Mrs. Dudley Jenkins, Mrs. Oliver Cofer and Mrs. J. W. Dickens were asked to investigate possible welfare projects, and to make recommendations at the next meeting.

Guests during the social hour were Mrs. C. B. Glenn and son, Bryan, of Houston.

Mrs. Bob Clark, 2103 Morrison, will be hostess for the next meeting on Sept. 25.

M. Elmore Bride Of Williams

LAMESA (SC)—The Aug. 31st wedding of Mary Phyllis Elmore and Carl Wayne Williams in the Central Church of Christ in Canyon is announced by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Elmore of Allison. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Carl V. Williams of Lamesa.

Bob Ware of Canyon officiated in the double ring ceremony, before an arch of lighted tapers, palm branches and colonial arrangements of white princess gladioli flanked with baskets of snowball mums centered the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle over satin, designed with a scalloped V-shaped neckline and long tapered sleeves. Her veil of tulle was attached to a lace semi-crown outlined in seed pearls and sequins.

She carried a bouquet of stephanotis surrounding a white orchid, tied with white satin ribbon and streamers.

Gail Sargent of Stinnett was maid of honor. Ronald Dean Williams of Lamesa, the bridegroom's brother, was best man.

The bride is a senior at West Texas State College, and the bridegroom received a degree from WSTC. The couple will reside in Canyon.

Projects Are Planned By Forsan P-TA

FORSAN (SC) — The Forsan P-TA met Monday night in the school cafeteria to discuss projects for the coming year.

Mrs. Tom Kirkpatrick presided, and the devotion was worded by Tom Spell. Roy Stockstill, superintendent, extended a welcome to the 61 persons present.

Elected to the projects committee were H. C. Tidwell, Howard Dodd and Hamlin Elrod. They will look into the possibilities and prices of air conditioning and a time clock, as projects for the year.

County Council delegates elected were Mrs. Ray Shortes and Mrs. Pearl Klahr.

Mrs. Robert Rodman was in charge of the program.

Methodist Circle Has Mission Meet

The Sylvia Lamun Circle of First Methodist WSCS heard a program on "Today's Missions in A Modern World," Tuesday, given by Mrs. Rex Baggett. The group gathered in the home of Mrs. Harold Jones, 1504 Dayton.

A guest speaker was Mrs. Frank Ficklin, who recently returned from Bolivia. She told of her experiences while in that country. Yearbooks were distributed.

Plans for a fall luncheon for all circles of the church were announced. It will be held Sept. 25, 12:30 p.m., in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Molina, Mrs. L. D. Gilbert, Mrs. Y. O. Wade, Mrs. Inez Velquez, Mrs. Toni Chavez, Mrs. L. D. Jenkins and the Rev. Fathers Francis Beazley, Patrick Casey and Robert McDermott.

Mrs. Basden, deanery president, reported the progress of nine committees, and announced that the Big Spring Deanery Board meeting will be held at the Immaculate Heart of Mary School, Sept. 24, with mass and luncheon. Parishes from Stanton, Snyder, Coahoma, Colorado City, Tarzan and Hermleigh will be represented.

Evening activities for the first day included the social hour and banquet, with an address by Mrs. James Adams, Dallas director of the National Council of Catholic Women. The Most Rev. Father Thomas J. Drury, D. D., Bishop of San Angelo, made the presentation of Family of the Year award to the Leroy Beaches of Millersview.

Miss Vasquez and Mrs. Basden represented Big Spring in the fashion show, featuring the Catholic woman's appropriate dress in her role as mother-teacher, civic, religious and social leader.

Mrs. Dehlinger, Diocesan Youth chairman, conducted a workshop on family, home and school. Bishop Drury joined in the discussion and stressed the importance of fostering vocations by being a living example.

The final event was the election and installation of officers. Elected were Mrs. Thomas Egan of Ballinger, president; Mrs. John Garcia of Big Spring, vice president; Mrs. Frank Ulrich of Rowena, secretary; Mrs. Fred Ekin of San Angelo, treasurer.

Music Study Includes Musical Comedy Magic

The Magic of American Musical Comedy made up the opening program of the year for the Music Study Club, at the home of Mrs. J. L. Christensen, 2509 Lynn, Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Elsie Willis presented an introduction to the year's study, which will be taken from Leonard Bernstein's "The Joy of Music."

Mrs. H. M. Jarratt, this month's leader, introduced the performers.

The first number, "Somebody Loves Me," by Gershwin, was played by Mrs. Harold Fischer, illustrating the type of music in the revue. Operetta numbers were performed by Mrs. C. B. Marcum, who sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," from Naughty Marietta by Herbert; Mrs. L. L. Beauvais, who sang "If I Loved You," from Carousel by Rodgers and Hammerstein.

Numbers from a musical comedy included "I'll Know" from Guys and Dolls, sung by Mrs. Rene Brown, and "I Could Have Danced All Night" from My Fair Lady," sung by Mrs. Carl Bradley.

Mrs. Verdel Turner and Mrs. Fischer assisted Mrs. Christensen as hostesses.

A Devotional For The Day

Whatever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the scriptures might have hope. (Romans 15:4.)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for Thy Word which can speak to us according to our need. We ask that Thou wilt strengthen our minds and enlighten our hearts as we search Thy Word. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

Continuing Paving Program

The trial balloon for a continuing assessment program sailed through unscathed at a public hearing Tuesday, and this project is due to get off the ground promptly.

In effect, this will be a sort of open-ended assessment, permitting other blocks to be added as there is a demand. Hereafter, under the conventional assessment programs, the city has had to either accumulate funds or provide them through bonds or warrants. Some paving has been done on a voluntary basis, that is a 100 per cent sign-up. Where, however, there is less than a total participation, the assessment routine has proven the only practical answer.

While costs may run slightly higher than under conditions where great numbers of blocks are signed up for major assessment programs, there is the offsetting factor of paving now—not several years hence.

As a general proposition, few physical improvements can add more utility or contribute more to the comfort and appearance of a city than good paving.

Bridging A Gap

The Big Spring School Board has ordered the shifting of four portable classrooms to Marcy School in an effort to deal with a space problem.

Presumably, this will put facilities for about 120 youngsters in an area where congestion has tended to be the greatest. It is not a total panacea for the situation created by unprecedented enrollment. In time, the Marcy temporary housing will be replaced by permanent structures, and the portable units will be available for use elsewhere.

To be sure moving the units costs money, but they were acquired for just such a purpose. Their value is in their flexibility. They offer the advantage of not only bridging emergencies, but frequently they can also provide a period in which stability of enrollment can be tested.

Opinions vary concerning them in relation to permanent, fixed construction. It should be kept in mind, however, that these are not makeshift affairs. They are well constructed and comfortable. Those who can remember a few years back when we were woefully short on pupil housing can recall when classrooms were packed to the sills, and then classes were run on double day sessions.

David Lawrence Vacillation Could Lead To War

WASHINGTON—Vacillation, indecision, irresoluteness and a policy of wavering from day to day by the Western powers brought on World War I and also World War II.

History may be repeating itself. The West is again giving the impression of weakness. The United States, the most powerful military force in the West—without whose aid World War I and World War II could not have been won by the Allies—is wobbling in its policies. This could lead to a gross miscalculation by Nikita Khrushchev, just as indecisiveness on the part of Washington misled Kaiser Wilhelm in 1914 and Adolph Hitler in 1939 as each assumed that the United States would not go to war over any European question.

TODAY THE situation seems to be growing more serious, as it is being assumed in Moscow that the United States will not even go to war over an American question—the taking over of control in Cuba by the Soviets, who are supplying military equipment to the Cuban regime under an open agreement between the two governments.

This defiance of the Monroe Doctrine has been ignored by President Kennedy. He has made no public protest over Soviet Policy. He has announced, in effect, that he agrees with the Soviet viewpoint that Cuba is merely engaging in a "defensive" operation with Soviet help.

This startling change in America's historic policy has apparently been accepted by supporters of the administration in Congress, though here and there some exceptions are noted.

THE PRESIDENT, in his public statements, shows that he considers the Cuban situation not to be an American question by itself, but as somehow directly related to the Berlin crisis. The Soviets may be interpreting this stand to mean that Mr. Kennedy is hesitant to do what he would perhaps like to do in Cuba for fear that the Soviets might intensify the East German problem and might be tempted to take chances on a belligerent move against West Berlin.

President Kennedy doubtless hoped to give an impression of resoluteness when he asked Congress for "standby authority" to call up 150,000 Reservists. The trouble with the move is that it implies vaguely that sometime in the future he might use the troops somewhere—he doesn't say whether in Berlin or in Cuba. The Reservists aren't actually being ordered up now. Mr. Kennedy says he might call them up if matters get critical somewhere.

THIS AMBIGUITY in American policy implies that the United States isn't really acting on principle, but is feeling its way expediently from one crisis to another while it waits for its adversary to continue step by step with its aggressive course.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader, gives the reasoning back of the administration view.

HE WHO BEARS THE WEIGHT

James Marlow The Justices Are Only Human

WASHINGTON (AP)—Can a Supreme Court justice be unprejudiced? That's a nice ideal but it's hardly human.

The ideal was expressed again this week by Arthur J. Goldberg, former secretary of labor who was named to the court by President Kennedy and awaits Senate approval.

He told a Senate committee:

"I would regard it as my first task as a justice to be on guard lest my prejudices and predilections are erected into legal principles."

GOLDBERG HAD been a labor lawyer most of his life but severed all connections with unions even to the point of declining a pension when he became secretary.

A justice faces "no more serious task" than to put aside personal views, even those felt deeply or expressed strongly in the past, he said.

But a justice, being a human being, must have toward life and living a number of definite views which are the product of his parental background, environment, education, association and experience.

Hal Boyle Talking Machines

NEW YORK (AP)—Science is excited about the future of machines that talk.

Cooler heads are more concerned with what the machines will have to say. They also raise the question of whether the potential market for mechanical talking machines isn't rather small.

To many of us, a verbal robot falls pretty much in the same category as a talking horse, bird, dog—or wife. When you've heard one, you've heard 'em all. The first feeling of astonishment quickly gives way to ennui as you discover their vocabulary and observations are, on the whole, limited and repetitive.

For example, the world-record feathered conversationalist was probably "Sandy Pauls," a yellow-brown-headed budgerigar, which died in Middlesex, England, in 1959 at the age of 7.

This talkative bird—it will surprise few to learn that "Sandy" was a female—could speak more than 300 different words and recite 12 nursery rhymes.

A cursory glance at the latest edition of "Bartlett's Quotations," however, fails to find that "Sandy" ever said anything truly memorable. And how many days in a row would you like to be awakened by a brown-headed budgerigar squawking "Mary had a little lamb, or 'London Bridge is falling down'?"

It is quite likely, of course, that science can come up with a metallic talking machine with a really large vocabulary, one capable of making original remarks and perhaps even able to give us sound advice.

But, again, who really needs it or wants it?

People have a built-in resistance against taking sound advice, and they resent cleverness and wit in others. Any electronic wisecracking robot that tried to be the life of a cocktail party would quickly be silenced by having sand flung in its gears, or gin poured down its vocal hinges.

There might be some value in a talking machine that would listen to what we had to say, but restricted to our own conversation to phrases of agreement and encouragement.

Sample sentences:

"I feel exactly the same as you do about the whole matter, but I could never hope to say it as well."

"I couldn't agree with you more."

"No, I insist. You bought the last round. This one's on me."

"You're absolutely right. They are all crooks."

"Your trouble is—you're too good to them. But do they appreciate you? Not them!"

"But such a machine in time would develop rust spots and wear out. It then would break into your tale of woe with such insane chatter as:

"You couldn't agree with me more!"

"Your trouble is you appreciate you too much."

"You're all crooks. I bought the last round. This one is on you."

And all you could do would be to hit it with an ax—and send it to the junk heap.

No, the world doesn't need better automatic talking machines. What man needs is simply more silent machines that will do more of his work for him—and keep their big mouths shut!

To Your Good Health First Aid For A Stroke Or Heart Attack

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: What should a layman do while waiting for a doctor in case a person has just had a stroke or heart attack?
—R. H. B.

A good question. It is not likely that a layman would know exactly which had happened, but he should do the same things anyway.

In either stroke or heart attack there is apt to be marked pallor and sweating. The stroke victim will have facial grimaces, breathe heavily, perhaps slump to the floor whether he has been standing or sitting. He will probably be unconscious, but in the early stages of a stroke paralysis of arm, leg or face may not be evident even though it may appear later.

The heart victim unlike the stroke sufferer, will usually complain of severe pain in his chest or upper abdomen—often mistaken for indigestion. He much more likely will remain conscious, but will be very apprehensive, realizing that something serious is happening to him, and he will be having trouble getting his breath.

The less the patient is moved, the better, but gently make him comfortable, whether lying on a sofa or the floor. Loosen necktie, collar, belt, girdle, to make breathing easier.

If there are convulsions, as is liable to occur with a stroke, a pencil, piece of wood, hard eraser or some such thing between the teeth will keep the patient from biting his tongue.

Don't try to force fluids, not even water, because the patient may be unable to swallow and will choke. And don't give alcohol because it does no good in either case.

Patients should be kept warm. After the sweating they have done, there is risk of a chill.

There probably isn't much use in saying, "Keep calm," but that's important if you can remember to do so under alarming circumstances. Panic accomplishes nothing—and the heart patient, if conscious, is alarmed to much as it is, without adding to his fears. Just assure the patient quietly, "The doctor is on his way, and things will be all right."

If you can't reach a doctor, then get an ambulance (police or fire department is the likeliest place for quick help if others are not available).

And remember this: In the early stages of a stroke or heart attack calm attention is all that is required. Effective treatment, even by a physician, is possible only after the acute episode has quieted down.

no biological objection to marriage of second cousins. For first cousins, since they have common heredity to a large degree, even minor weaknesses may appear, in much magnified form, in their children.

Dear Dr. Molner: Are there any exercises to restore good eyesight? I am a little farsighted and would like to better my vision before paying for an eye examination. I do not wear glasses yet.—D. D.

Only for very specialized types of eye disorders are exercises of any help at all. Farsightedness is something that comes to most of us with age—we have to hold fine print farther and farther away, until at last our arms aren't long enough. The only answer to this is reading glasses. So my advice is to hop along for an eye examination.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald for your copy of his booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim Not Always An Easy Answer

If more of us spent more time attending the meetings of the school board, the city commission and the county commissioner's court, I believe we would be more hesitant about criticizing their work. Some of the reports heard on the street following the meetings of these official meetings are far from what actually occurred. But they are passed along with all the solemnity of a factual report.

QUITE OFTEN I have been asked if such-and-such happened last week at the meeting. Most often, the answer must be "no" or severely altered. As a matter of fact, the meetings of all three of these boards are open to the public and advance notice of the time and place are carried regularly in the Herald. Any resident is free to attend the meetings and there is no admission charge.

It is sometimes suggested that these officials casually meet, swap a few jokes, approve a ready-made agenda and then go home. Such is far from the case.

THIS WEEK, the school board was faced with a particularly thorny problem. Enrollment is much higher than anticipated, more room is needed, bonds cannot be voted due to litigation. The problem appears as an impasse.

But by slipping a few corners here and there, saving another dime over somewhere else, transporting youngsters to another building, and moving a few portable rooms, the problem is solved, for the moment anyway. There were other alternatives, which involved a bigger transportation problem or a big risk on the financial side.

BUT THERE WAS no time to study and consider the problem. The surplus students are in the system today; the extra room is needed now. So a decision was made after several hours of consideration of every alternative.

Previously, the administrative staff had dealt with figures for days in an effort to arrive at a workable recommendation. Undoubtedly, there will be complaints from some patrons of the district, who are dissatisfied with where junior is attending school. But these would come probably, no matter, which course of action had been selected.

THIS PARTICULAR problem was one of many this board, and others, face every time they meet. The solutions are never easy to find, but they never are, no matter who is sitting in the various chairs.

Perhaps all of us occasionally are vexed with the actions of our governing bodies. Perhaps we should temper this with a bit of consideration for the complexity of their jobs.

May There Be No Moaning About The Monet

For the past six or seven years, any scant half hours I have spent in my doctor's inner sanctum have been brightened by an exquisite Claude Monet landscape. All the tender greens of early summer smile from this canvas by one of the leading French impressionists.

A few years ago, when I expressed surprise that he had chosen to hang the picture in his office instead of his home, the doctor said, "Nothing is too good for my patients," and let the subject drop.

So the joyous picture will still there a few days ago when I went for my annual check-up.

"LOVELY, LOVELY," I murmured at this glimpse of eternal summer. And then, in view of all the recent art thefts here and abroad, I added the pious hope that the doctor had adequately insured the Monet.

"Yes," he replied, and there was a bit of twitch about his mouth. "Yes, you can rest certain that it's adequately insured for every cent it's worth."

"Your patients ought to be grateful to you for hanging it in your office instead of your home," I added.

"Well," the doctor replied, "I originally did intend to hang it in my home."

"THE MONET," he continued, "was willed to me by an old lady who was a patient of mine for many years. She had a delightful collection of French impressionists that she and her husband had collected before his death. Whenever I made a house call, I always felt that just seeing the collection was an extra bonus."

"One day she asked me which picture was my favorite. I told her the Monet, because no matter how tired or busy I was, it always gave me a sense of rest and peace."

"Three or four years after that conversation," the doctor continued, "she came to my office for a routine examination. She told me she had just come from her lawyer's office, where she had made a new will. To my amazement, she announced that she had willed me the Monet.

"SHE INSISTED she wanted me to have it, and that was that. She lived another 18 years, and no mention of the picture was made by either one of us. But you can be certain that in that 18-year interim, I never again sent her a bill. You can't send a bill to a little old lady who has willed you a masterpiece!"

"Some weeks after her death, the lawyer called and said I had been left the Monet. The day it arrived at my home was a red-letter day for both my wife and myself. She was crazy about the picture, too, and, like yourself, practical. She said we must have it appraised and insured at once."

"SO I TOOK IT to a museum expert and left it. About 10 days later, the expert asked if I would drop by his office. I did. And, to make a long story short, he told me that my Monet was a fake. An exceptionally clever fake, but a fake nonetheless. He had consulted two other experts, and all three men agreed that my picture, plus its beautiful frame, was worth about $300 instead of $75,000."

"Do you think the old lady knew it was a fake?" I asked.

"No, I don't," the doctor said. "I think some sharpie sold it to her and her husband. And what I have wondered ever since is whether all her other pictures were equally as spurious. Anyway, I brought the picture to the office. And never a year goes by that some rich patient doesn't try to buy my 'Monet'."

"But," he laughed, "in the nick of time, I always remember my Hippocratic oath."

Holmes Alexander Military Subordinated In Space Program

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Americans, I take it, would be very disturbed to learn that the Kennedy administration is practicing voluntary, unilateral disarmament in nuclear weapons. Yet this seems to be the effect of the hold-back policy, as recently stated by Deputy Defense Secretary Gilpatric, on orbiting H-bombs in space.

Mr. Gilpatric admitted that both the United States and the Soviet Union have the capability of arming their satellites and space vehicles with H-bombs. He has said that the U. S. will not do so unless Russia does so first. We chose to run second in this arms race, and to hope for the best.

IT IS THE SAME policy we elected when both Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy practiced a voluntary moratorium on atmospheric testing of nuclear weapons. By delaying nearly three years, during which time no agreement was reachable with the Russians, we managed to let the Soviet Union go first and the United States come second. Now we have decided to do the same thing in space armament.

This second-place policy is firmly built into our organizational structure for space activities, and it is there despite many out-spoken misgivings in Congress. In April, 1961, three months after President Kennedy took office, the Senate held hearings on amendments to the Space Act, and there were these comments on the new President's policy:

SEN. BRIDGES: "(The Russians) have now subordinated the Soviet Academy of Sciences to the military and put a lieutenant general in charge of the whole program. . . I do not think. . . we can ignore its significance and implications."

Sen. Symington: "Whether controls space will control the world. That statement involves a military concept of space, which I am not sure is reflected in this proposed legislation. From that comes my apprehension."

There were similar statements in the House hearings, but the new President was pretty much allowed to have his way. Dr. Edward C. Welsh, whom Mr. Kennedy named as our first executive secretary of the Space Council, was under instructions to oppose an amendment which would have put a military member on the Space Council. A revision of the Space Act designated the vice president, rather than the President, as Council chairman, and this struck some senators who were questioning Dr. Welsh as a further de-militarization of space.

SEN. HOLLAND: ". . . the President is himself the commander in chief, while the vice president would not be. Do you figure that that would make any difference in the celerity of approach between the organization which you head and the armed services?"

Dr. Welsh: "I do not, sir."

In his role of administration spokesman on space, Dr. Welsh has stressed the President's insistence on keeping military men and ideas on the periphery of space discussion and decision. Speaking April 25 before the American Rocket Society, Dr. Welsh said this:

"It was suggested that I might talk about the role of the military in space. I chose, however, to rephrase that subject to read, 'National Defense and Our National Space Program.' That may seem like a mere matter of playing with words without purpose—but the fact is that I had a basic purpose in mind. I want to emphasize not the military per se, but national defense."

IN SPEAKING BEFORE another military-minded group, the Air Force Association, Dr. Welsh said last Sept. 22:

"I believe that the Defense Department's space vehicles such as ICBM's, Midas, Samos and others, in the hands of the United States, are designed for peaceful purposes. . . we have space missions to help increase our ability to live well in peace."

Thus, even in the conclave of rocket-makers and rocket-shooters, the administration conjures up an atmosphere which is conducive to dreams of peace and disarmament. It seems a dangerous delusion.

Computers Like The Ladies

MOUNT BETHEL, N. J. (AP)—Electronic brains are no fools—they get along with women much better than with men. That's the verdict of the Burroughs Corp. electronic components division here.

"We use women in preference to men," said general manager Saul Kuchinsky, putting together minute parts under exacting standards takes manual dexterity and spatial perception, Kuchinsky explained. Many male workers have these, but women seem to have one thing extra: more patience.

The women are less easily irritated by working with tiny parts for computers. "We have determined this from experience," Kuchinsky said.

Sanders Took 8 Years To Victory

By DON McKEE
 ATLANTA (AP)—Youthful, ambitious Carl E. Sanders took eight years to vault from raw campaigner to Georgia's governor-to-be and maintain a perfect victory record in politics.

The 37-year-old attorney keynoteed his vigorous campaign on honesty and decency in government; he promised to lead Georgia up a road of progress and prosperity.

"Segregation isn't an issue—it's a problem," Sanders said in reply to the main theme of his chief opponent, former Gov. Marvin Griffin.

Sanders, pledging to maintain segregation, said little about racial problems but urged law and order as the best course for Georgia.

When his nomination — tantamount to election in this state — became a reality Wednesday night Sanders said, "This is a great victory for the people of Georgia."

"It shows that the people of Georgia want to keep their affairs within the framework of law and order," he said in a victory statement.

Sanders has no Republican opposition in the November general election.

He stumped the state to appeal for votes and denounce Griffin's 1955-58 tenure as years of graft and corruption in government.

"The most shameful four years in Georgia's history," he said.

Usually reserved and quiet-spoken, Sanders tore into the campaign with a fervent, emotional opening speech in early July. But from there, he gradually developed a cool, though forceful approach.

Sanders, broad-shouldered and erect, campaigned with the energy that made him a star high school football player and won him a football scholarship at the University of Georgia. He served as a bomber pilot-instructor during World War II, but saw no action.

He smiles easily—even in the thick of political debate. He takes defeat with good grace—although aside from legislative setbacks, Sanders doesn't know much about losing.

The Augusta senator got into politics after his wartime service and completion of college work. He married Georgia's first Maid of Cotton—the former Betty Bird Foy—and opened a law practice in Augusta.

In 1954, Sanders was elected to the House in the state legislature and two years later captured a Senate seat. His popularity gave him three consecutive terms in the upper House.

Sanders began laying groundwork for his biggest political venture while serving as president pro tem of the Senate last year.

A man of deep religious convictions, Sanders has taught Sunday school for 14 years at the Baptist church where his family attends.

The Sanders' have two children, 10-year-old Betty Foy and 8-year-old Carl Jr.

Stiffer Mental Requirements For Guard, Reserve

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is ordering its reserve and National Guard to apply stiffer mental requirements for new recruits.

The will bring reserve-guard standards in line with higher qualifications maintained by the Army. Planning for this move has been under way for about two years.

Army officials said it has no direct connection with plans to streamline the guard and reserve for a more effective response to crises such as Berlin.

However, one effect of the upgrading will be to make it harder for the guard and reserve to maintain the 700,000 total that Congress has decreed.

Reserve units have been told to install the higher mental standards Oct. 1, with the guard due to fall in line about a month later.

The new requirements will not affect men already in the guard and reserve, only recruits and youths volunteering for six months of active duty training to be followed by service in the guard and reserve.

Pretty Cook

Mrs. Jackie Touchstone is today's cook of the week. She is self-taught, and enjoys cooking for her husband whom she describes as a "heavy eater." She also takes a big interest in interior decorating. She is shown looking through a magazine for new ideas.

Mrs. J. Touchstone Is Gifted Cook Of Week

What happens to a young girl when she gets married and has never cooked a meal in her life? Does she open a can of beans for every meal and serve them with sandwiches? Does she try to impress her husband by preparing a difficult meal, resulting in complete depression, because she burned the roast?

Some may, but not Mrs. Jackie Touchstone. She was one of the lucky new homemakers who had the natural ability to cook, although she had never prepared a meal before she married five years ago.

Today she is an old hand in the kitchen. She is thankful for that natural ability, which was probably influenced by the well-prepared and properly served meals in her parents' home. However, she was not allowed to be the second cook in her mother's kitchen.

Mrs. Touchstone uses the "plan ahead" system in her kitchen. She always buys enough food to last several meals, and prepares it in quantities; then stores it in her food freezer. Pies and cakes are no exception. She may prepare as many as a dozen at a time and freeze them. She has to do this, because the kitchen is not her only job. She is a fulltime PBX operator at a Big Spring hospital, but she doesn't allow the job to take away from the family meals. She feels that meals go a long way in keeping a family together. They can also bring a general feeling of contentment and good humor.

Mrs. Touchstone, who resides at 1205 Ridgeroad with her husband, an employee of Texas Electric, has two small sons, Ricky, 3, and Russell, 16 months. So, she actually has three different types of meals to prepare. She and her husband prefer her Mexican and Italian meals, while Ricky had rather eat sweets and dips. Naturally, Russell has to have some lighter baby food.

Because her husband has to take his lunch to work she always strives to prepare something besides sandwiches that he can carry with him easily. She has found that putting her Italian dish in a thermos jug will keep it hot, and he will have a heartier meal.

The Touchstones always have friends over for backyard cookouts. They enjoy preparing steaks with all the trimmings. Mrs. Touchstone delights in serving her Milky Way cake to visitors. The recipe was originally a pie recipe, but she changed it up for a cake, something she does often to old recipes.

She has listed several of her favorite recipes:

MILKY WAY CAKE

4 eggs
8 Milky Ways
2 sticks margarine
2 cups sugar
2 1/2 cups flour
2 tps. vanilla
1 cup buttermilk
1 cup pecans
1/2 tsp. soda
Melt 1 stick margarine and candy in top of double broiler; let cool. Cream sugar and second stick of margarine. Add candy mixture. Add vanilla and pecans. Bake 2 hours at 275 degrees. Use large loaf pan.

BUTTER-PECAN BREAD

2 1/4 cups flour
2 tps. baking powder
1/2 tsp. soda
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup pecans
1 egg (beaten)
1 cup buttermilk
2 tps. margarine
Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and spices. Stir in sugar and nuts. Combine remaining ingredients; add to flour mixture, stirring just to moisten. Bake in greased loaf pan at 325 degrees for 40 minutes.

THOUSAND ISLAND DRESSING

1 cup mayonnaise
2 tps. chili sauce
2 finely chopped sweet pickles
2 tps. chopped olives
2 tps. chopped pimento
1 tsp. finely chopped green peppers

GUACAMOLE DIP

2 ripe avocados
1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese
2 tps. fresh lime juice
2 dashes tabasco
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. worchestershire sauce
Peel avocados and cut into chunks. Cream cheese into avocados, add remaining ingredients and blend. Use as dip, for raw vegetables or fried tortillas, or heap on a lettuce leaf and serve as a salad with Mexican food.

ITALIAN SPAGHETTI

1/2 cup margarine
1 tps. olive oil
1/2 lb. ground chuck
1/2 lb. ground veal
1/2 lb. ground round
1/2 green pepper
1 large onion
1/2 can mushroom soup
1 can tomato paste
1/2 tsp. worchestershire sauce
Salt and pepper to taste
Dash cayenne pepper
Melt butter and olive oil in large pan. Add ground meat and onions and simmer for approximately 3 hours. Serve over boiled spaghetti. Serves 8.

CASSEROLE

1 average size fryer
1 tsp. paprika
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1-3 cup flour
2 tps. fat
1/2 cup onion
1 tsp. parsley
1/2 tsp. butter flavoring
1 can asparagus soup
1 can biscuits
Salt and pepper to taste
1 cup water
Place floured chicken in skillet, top with onion and parsley flakes. Cover skillet and brown. Place meat in large casserole dish when brown. In skillet used for browning, add water, butter flavoring and bring to boil. Pour over chicken. Then spoon asparagus soup over chicken. Bake covered in hot oven, 400 degrees for 1 hour. Remove casserole cover and top with biscuits. Bake uncovered until biscuits are brown.

ITALIAN-STYLE SALAD

1 can (1 lb., 4 oz.) white kidney beans
1 can (7 oz.) solid white-meat tuna
3 tps. olive oil
3 tps. white vinegar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. white pepper
4 scallions (green onions) finely chopped with tops included
Salad greens and sliced tomatoes
Drain kidney beans into a strainer; rinse well with cold water and drain again; turn into a shallow container. Drain tuna lightly and add to kidney beans, separating into rather large pieces. At one side of container, beat together with a fork the oil, vinegar, salt and pepper; mix gently with beans and tuna. Cover and refrigerate for a few hours to allow flavors to blend. Serve on salad greens; sprinkle with scallions and garnish with tomatoes. Makes 4 large servings.

Cornmeal Is Used In Changed Recipe Of Old Southern Dish

By The Associated Press
Some of our friends use some of their spare time to dream up new ways to make old dishes taste extra-good.

We had never happened on a popover made with cornmeal until we tasted the combination at a friend's house. She made hers in an electric blender and substituted a quarter cup of cornmeal for a quarter cup of flour in a standard recipe.

But cooks cannot leave well enough alone! We found you could substitute as much as one-third cup cornmeal for a bit more of that old-southern flavor. To do this we use three eggs, rather than the usual two called for in a standard popover recipe. If you use only two eggs, the popovers will probably have too many moist layers inside and won't puff really high.

Because there's a high proportion of liquid to flour in a pop-over recipe, the batter can be beaten thoroughly without toughening the hot bread to any appreciable extent.

Should popovers be put into hot pans, as old-fashioned recipes direct, or into cold, as modern recipes suggest? Take your choice. Experts in experimental cookery say the temperature of the pans makes little difference in the finished product.

Make sure your popovers are thoroughly baked and that they feel firm when you take them from the oven. Rush them to the table, we beg you, so they can be eaten—slathered with butter—while they're still deliciously crisp.

CORNMEAL POPOVERS

2-3 cup sifted flour
1-3 cup enriched yellow cornmeal
1/2 tsp. salt
3 large eggs
1 cup milk
1 tps. salad oil
Sift together the flour, cornmeal and salt into a mixing bowl. Add the eggs and milk. Beat with a rotary beater (hand or electric) until smooth; with electric beater at medium speed this will take 1 1/2 to 2 minutes. Add the oil; beat 1/2 to 1 minute.

Pour batter into 8 well-greased 5-ounce heat-resistant glass custard cups; each cup should be about one-half full. Bake in a very hot (475 degrees) oven 15 minutes; reduce heat to moderate (350 degrees) and bake until golden-brown and quite firm to the touch—about 35 minutes. Remove from cups at once and rush to the table. Serve with butter.

Cheddar Cheese Featured In Special Rabbit Dish

The cheese rabbit holds a distinctive position as a meal in itself, although it originally came to being in a different way. It is said that it first became known as a "rabbit" when unexpected guests dropped in on a hunter while he was cooking game he had bagged that day. To stretch the short meat supply, he added a concoction of melted cheese and told his guests that they were being served "Welsh Rabbit." Some, however, prefer to call it a "rarebit." Call it what you will, but for best results follow this recipe accurately. Serve immediately over golden-brown toast points. To round out the menu, serve baked rained tomatoes stuffed with canned mushrooms.

DINNER SPECIAL RABBIT

(Makes six 1/2-cup servings)
1/2 cup hot water
3 (8-oz.) bars natural cheddar cheese
1 tsp. dry mustard
Dash cayenne pepper
Dash Tabasco sauce
1 egg, well beaten

Butter the inside of double boiler top. Pour in hot water. Add shredded cheese. Place over hot, not boiling, water. Cook, stirring vigorously with a wooden spoon in one direction until the cheese is melted. This is important for best results. Blend in seasonings. Continue to stir while very gradually adding the beaten egg.

Quickly pour into chafing dish which has been warming over gently bubbling hot water. To serve, spoon over golden-brown toast points. Rabbit is at its best when served immediately after cooking.
NOTE: If desired, a large cast iron skillet may be used instead of the double boiler. In this case, prepare the rabbit according to directions, placing skillet over low heat.

Save Jam Cookie Bars For Snacks

Store these cookie bars in a tightly covered container and they should last for a few snacks!

JAM COOKIE BARS

1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. cloves
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1/4 cup milk
3/4 cup very thick jam
Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon and cloves. Cream butter and sugar; beat in egg thoroughly, then milk. Gradually stir in sifted dry ingredients until blended. Turn about half the batter into a buttered pan (7 by 11 by 1 1/2 inches); spread evenly. Carefully spread small spoonfuls of the jam over batter with a small spatula. Spread remaining half of batter over the jam, using the same technique. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven 25 minutes. Cool on wire rack; cut into bars and remove with spatula.

Prepare This Dessert Quickly

Short on time? You can make this old-fashioned dessert just before serving.

BLUEBERRY DUMPLINGS

1 cup biscuit mix
1 1/2 tps. sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
2 cups washed drained blueberries
1 tsp. grated lemon rind
Grated nutmeg

Stir together the biscuit mix and sugar; stir in milk with a fork. In a deep 8-inch skillet with a dome cover, stir the sugar and water together over low heat; add the blueberries and lemon rind and bring to a boil. Drop the biscuit dough in 6 dumplings, over the blueberries. Cook tightly and simmer 15 to 20 minutes or until the dumplings are cooked through. Sprinkle dumplings with nutmeg. Allow to stand off heat for about 5 minutes and the blueberry sauce will thicken. Serve at once with cream. Makes 6 servings.

Add Ham To Soup

A little left over ham in the refrigerator? Chop it fine and add it to a beef stew. You'll be surprised at the good flavor!

Celery And Chicken

Dice celery fine and add to creamed chicken, ham or eggs for a crisp texture contrast.

Liver Should Be Served At Least One Time A Week

It's wise to serve liver once a week, and this is a delicious way of varying the cooking method.

LIVER WITH CREAM GRAVY

1 lb. baby beef liver (sliced about 1/2-inch thick)
1/4 cup flour
1/4 tsp. salt
Pepper to taste
3 tps. butter or margarine
4 scallions (sliced thin with green tops included)
2-3 cup light cream
Seasoning salt and paprika
Cut liver into about 1 1/2-inch pieces removing any membrane and tubes. Roll in mixture of flour, salt and pepper. Brown liver in butter in a heavy skillet, cooking just until it loses its red color inside; remove from skillet and keep warm. Add scallions to drippings and brown lightly; add cream, cooking gently to reduce and adding seasoning salt and paprika to taste. Surround liver with sauce; serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Apples On Market In Abundance

By The Associated Press
More apples are appearing in Texas markets this week. Wholesale prices on better-quality apples are about steady, reports the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Best-buy fruits are bananas, Tokay and Thompson seedless grapes, peaches, pears and plums. Tokay grape prices are lower than a week ago. Peaches and plums are slightly higher, as soft fruit volume has passed the seasonal peak.

Vegetable best buys at most markets are cabbage, carrots, celery, eggplant, greens and green onions, yellow onions, potatoes, radishes, sweet potatoes and tomatoes. Honeydew melons and cantaloupes also are in good supply at attractive prices.

Vegetables priced higher are cucumbers, iceberg lettuce, celery, okra and yellow squash.

Cabbage prices dropped. Potatoes are slightly lower. Pumpkin and pineapple supplies are increasing. Coconuts are in many retail stores.

Broiler-fryers and turkey meat are abundant at economy price levels. Egg prices hold firm.

Wholesale red meat costs have risen quite steadily in recent weeks, but supplies are ample. Milk and all dairy foods are plentiful.

Pinto Horses Have Taken Upward Step In Public Eye

By BOB GRAY
The Texas Horseman Magazine
Written For The Associated Press

Paint or Pinto horses—call 'em what you like—have taken two more major steps up the road toward wide public recognition.

The big Houston livestock show, one of America's largest has just decided to set up Paint stock horse classes for 1963. Furthermore, the Houston show next February will be the first U.S. livestock show in history, as far as is known, to feature an auction sale of Paint horses. That sale has been scheduled for March 3, 1963, at 2 p.m. Between 50 and 60 Paints are expected to be sold.

The significance of these events won't be lost on horse exhibitors and breeders. Fort Worth's livestock show—the nation's biggest western horse gathering—admitted Paints to its horse judging classes this year. With Houston opening the door next year, other stock shows can be expected to follow suit. And this recognition by two of the three major city shows in Texas will do much to put Paints on the horse breed map all over the country, as well.

The Houston Paint sale may also set a trend for the price of these horses. Time was, half a dozen years back, when all Paint stud colts were gelded and there wasn't much market for the rest, except as kid ponies. Now everybody is looking for good stock-type, ungelded colts and good-made Paint mares often bring as much as their Quarter Horse and Appaloosa counterparts.

This is a source of both pleasure and amusement to many Quarter Horse breeders. Most of the major breeding farms have periodically turned up with a colt that couldn't be registered as a Quarter Horse, even though from registered sire and dam, because of a touch of unexpected white on his body.

So it is that some of the most skilled and experienced Quarter Horse folks have over the years acquired some beautifully made Paint horses of Quarter conformation and ability. This type of horse is what The American Paint Stock Horse Association of Gainesville, Tex., is working toward in its registration program. And it's the kind that classes are being created for in the forthcoming Houston Show.

The first public test of what a good Paint horse is worth will actually come this month at Ro-sharon, Tex., when the Paint Stock Horse folks are selling a choice handful of registered champions. A total of five Paints—four mares or fillies and one gelding—will be sent through the auction ring at the Oak Tree Ranch, Sept. 29, immediately following the "Big Q" (for quality) Quarter Horse sale there. The word has been sent

Paints In Costume

Costume classes, like the one shown here recently at Gainesville, will be on display at two of the state's major livestock shows in 1963. Paint horses were accepted at Fort Worth in 1962, and the Houston show has just decided to install Paint classes—and stage a Paint horse sale in 1963.

out that all of the five Paints have won either championships or reserve championships at the Paint shows that have appeared in growing numbers this year and last, in both Texas and Oklahoma. Nobody will be much surprised if some of these five bring prices of $1,000 or more. Buyers of the Paint horses will be able to exhibit them at a Paint show, also at the Oak Tree Ranch, the following day, Sept. 30.

Another phase of horse activity recognized by the Houston show in 1963 will be Youth Activities. A special youth horse school is being planned, one that will provide classes for just about any kind of horse that a youngster may wish to bring. There will be both halter and performance classes—so that if Johnny doesn't own a halter winner he may still be able to train that horse to win something on the basis of ability.

Only one thing concerns Houston show officials about adding these divisions for Paint horses and the Youth Activities: They could bring such a flood of entries that it will be difficult to stable or accommodate all the horses.

Commented one official: "Man, this could easily double the size of our horse show next year."

Congressman Powell May Hit Snag On Trip Expenses

WASHINGTON (AP)—If Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., spent any appropriated funds on his recent tour of Europe, he may run into difficulty trying to get reimbursement.

Powell, chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, returned recently from a trip to Europe with two women members of the committee staff. His trip ostensibly was made to study the European Common Market and equal job opportunities for women.

A spokesman for the House Administration Committee, through which vouchers dealing with expenditure of appropriated funds by traveling congressmen must pass, said Powell's committee has no authority to travel abroad at the taxpayers' expense.

Early in the present Congress, the House Rules Committee and the House itself approved the customary resolution authorizing Powell's committee to make studies and investigations of matters within its jurisdiction.

While equal pay for women is within the committee's area, matters stemming from the European Common Market lie in the jurisdiction of the House Ways and Means Committee.

The resolution that gave Powell's committee authority to make studies and investigations of matters within its jurisdiction. It did not authorize travel to foreign countries.

The Administration Committee spokesman said the committee cannot approve for payment any vouchers that Powell may submit covering expenses not paid for out of counterpart funds. Counterpart funds are foreign currencies owned by the United States and made available to traveling congressmen by the State Department.

The Administration Committee has no control over the spending of counterpart funds.

The Administration Committee has sent to all committee chairmen a notice that in the future more justification will be required before employment of special consultants on a contract or per diem basis is approved.

The action reportedly stemmed from complaints by some congressmen against employment by Powell's committee of Herbert Hill, labor secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The Washington NAACP office said Hill still was employed by the organization's New York office. Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, said Hill is being paid at the rate of $10,000 per year on a contract basis by Powell's committee.

Profit - Sharing For Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Adolfo Lopez Mateos is expected to give quick approval to a constitutional amendment empowering the government to force Mexican and foreign firms to share profits with Mexican workers.

Congress sent the amendment to the president Wednesday night following its ratification by a majority of the 29 state legislatures. Congress first unanimously approved it last winter.

The amendment authorizes a special government committee to decide whether a firm must share profits with employees, and if so how much.

Lopez Mateos, who pushed for the legislation in the last congress will name the special committee. It was uncertain how soon it would start to operate.

Business leaders have urged the government to let them take part in plans to set the legislation in motion.

"I can't get particularly alarmed about it," said McNeil Stringer Jr., president of the American Chamber of Commerce. "It all depends on how it's carried out."

The U. S. Commerce Department estimates U. S. business investment in Mexico at $822 million. Other foreign investments are estimated at $300 million. The Central Employers Association of Mexico City has charged the measure "casts the shadow of a totalitarian state over Mexico." The Mexican Confederation of Workers said "a long-awaited dream is about to be realized." Congressmen have been seeking enactment of the measure for more than 10 years.

Gas Pipeline Sets Stage For Price Increase

DALLAS (AP)—Temporary authorization for a new natural gas pipeline facility in Victoria County Wednesday set the stage for a vital increase in gas marketing in the South Texas area.

Lone Star Gathering Co. received the go-ahead from the Federal Power Commission and will begin construction as soon as producers have accepted the temporary authorization.

A network of gathering pipelines in adjoining counties is included in the $1 million project, long awaited by the area.

The FPC also authorized producers with whom Lone Star has gas purchase contracts to sell gas to the gathering company upon completion of the pipeline facilities.

Officials anticipate an upswing in royalty payments of more than $400,000 annually when the facility goes into operation. Headquarters will be 12 miles north of Victoria on U. S. 87.

Some of the more than 40 supply wells in the area have been shut in for more than two years and are expected to begin serving a new market during the coming winter.

Officials said an average of 40 million cubic feet of gas will be gathered in the counties daily. Then it will be delivered to another pipeline in Victoria County for ultimate use in interstate commerce.

The gathering company facilities will have a maximum initial delivery capacity of 60 million cubic feet of gas a day. Lone Star will construct approximately 23 miles of 14-inch transmission pipeline and about 121 miles of gathering pipelines of various sizes.

The gathering company initially is scheduled to purchase gas from Monsanto Chemical Co., Rodney Delange, O. Neathery Jr., G. R. Schimmel, Ralph E. Fair Inc., the Jupiter Corp., Lagloria Oil and Gas Co., Humble Oil and Hawkins and Co.

Also, George A. Musselman, Kemp D. Solcher, Sun Oil, Gasoline Production Division H. B. Zachry Co., Francitas Gas Co., Cities Service, Gulf Oil, Continental Oil, R. H. Engelke, Lone Star Producing Co.

Also, Roy Smith, The Lipscomb Estate, Superior Oil Co., Alfred C. Glassell Jr., Gene Woodfin-Trustee, George R. Brown, Frank Stanton, Sheller Rock Development Corp., Ralph E. Fair, Texas Star Oil & Gas Corp., Chiles Drilling Co. and Bartessa Oil Corp.

Bold Young Man Wins Georgia Vote

ATLANTA (AP)—Carl E. Sanders, a bold young man who entered the race last April while veteran politicians scoffed, has won the governorship of Georgia by derailing the comeback drive of an old political warhorse, former Gov. Marvin Griffin.

The 37-year-old state senator, making his first bid on a statewide basis, called it a great victory not for himself but for the people of Georgia.

Sanders had 360,095 votes and Griffin 208,507 in returns from 1,213 of the 1,826 precincts in Wednesday's Democratic primary.

Three other candidates drew a smattering of votes.

This was the first popular vote primary in Georgia in 54 years. Federal courts earlier this year knocked down the state's county unit system, which concentrated political power in rural areas.

Griffin, 55, who campaigned on the racial issue with promises to stem the tide of integration, issued no statement of concession. Nomination means election as the Republicans have no candidate.

Sanders too is a segregationist, but throughout the campaign he said he would never permit turmoil and disorders—taking a stand similar to that of Gov. Ernest Vandiver. The governor, ineligible to succeed himself, has charged that inflammatory statements made by some during the campaign were the cause of Negro church burnings and other recent racial incidents.

Starting with virtually no organization, Sanders ignored the courthouse machines and took his campaign directly to the people. Largely it was the vote in the big cities which will send Sanders to the executive office for four years next January.

Sanders said he was very proud that he carried Dougherty County, in which Albany is located. That southwest Georgia city of 88,000 has been torn by racial strife since December.

The primary returned U.S. Sen. Herman Talmadge and Rep. Carl Vinson to Congress. They were easy winners over token opposition. Talmadge was running for a second term. Vinson, the dean of the House, has been in Washington since 1914.

Indications were that final results will show Sanders would have won even under the unit system, voided in April by a court which ruled that it discriminated against city voters.

Sanders, a lawyer, lives in the East Georgia city of Augusta. He and his family are Baptists.

Ships Bearing Red Gifts To Cuba Stop In Greek Port

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Soviet and Greek ships carrying Communist supplies to Fidel Castro's Cuba stop to refuel in the southern Greek port of Pylos, the Athens newspaper Ehnos reported today.

The U.S. State Department issued a memorandum last week calling on its North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies to stop chartering ships to carry Soviet supplies to Cuba.

Cox Lashes Out At Administration

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Gubernatorial candidate Jack Cox charged here Wednesday night that "official Washington" is interfering in Texas' election.

Referring to President Kennedy and Vice President Johnson's trip to Houston, Cox told a dinner meeting of doctors here. "The cozy coincidence of the Washington official visit to Texas at this particular time confirms that (John) Connally is the Washington-controlled candidate in this race for the governorship of Texas."

"The Associated Press reported that they had a 'long hotel room talk,' and quoted Connally as saying, 'it was a nice, warm, friendly visit.'"

"The best that can be said about the entire episode at Houston is that it has been so flagrant it has proved beyond all doubt that official Washington is interfering in our state election," Cox said.

Killed By Car

BEAUMONT (AP)—Boyd Appleman, 28, an auto dealer, was killed Wednesday by a car while he was crossing a street.

Time-Saving Discovery Made By Housewife

Late last fall, a Florida housewife wrote to the No-Roach Co.—"For years now, I have been adding a cupful of No-Roach to the rinse water, when mopping my floors. This has kept roaches, ants, and spiders out of my home. What puzzles me—is why don't you ever mention this?"

Well, dear readers, it just goes to show... The manufacturers of No-Roach had never thought of it before. They experimented, it works, and now this advice is featured on their new No-Roach label. Thanks to a very bright housewife.

If you've got bugs at home, get a bottle of Johnston's No-Roach and try it.

Soblen Inquest Is Postponed

LONDON (AP)—An inquest, convened today into the death of Dr. Robert A. Soblen, was adjourned until Oct. 4 after a pathologist testified he was unable to give the cause of the fugitive spy's death.

Dr. Donald Teare, who performed the post-mortem after the 61-year-old psychiatrist died Tuesday in Hillingdon Hospital, said: "I have a considerable amount of work to do yet."

Another witness at the brief session was Detective Supt. James Mackay of Scotland Yard, who said he is still making inquiries into the case.

Scotland Yard seeks to find how Soblen obtained the massive dose of barbiturates he gulped down a week ago to escape deportation to the United States to serve a life sentence for wartime spying for the Russians.

ON THE SHELF

SEVEN DAYS IN MAY. By Fletcher Knebel and Charles W. Bailey II. Harper & Row. $4.95.

By The Associated Press

It's a thriller about a seven-day crisis in the White House in the 1970s. By the fifth day of this narrative the reader can't stop.

President Jordan Lyman has negotiated with Russian premier Feemerov a treaty for nuclear disarmament, and has managed to get it ratified by the Senate, but has become unpopular with a worried public. Meanwhile, in the top levels of the armed services there is a conservative, anti-treaty clique that has become increasingly restless under civilian control.

At the center of this clique is the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. James M. (Gentleman Jim) Scott, a popular public figure who has definite ideas about the next presidential race. The reader soon learns that a power-hungry senator and an ultraconservative broadcaster also are involved with the clique.

An earnest Marine colonel at the Pentagon catches the first whiffs of what is in the wind—a military coup, timed to coincide with a practice alert, with Congress away from the Capitol and the vice president overseas. Lyman, not knowing how far the disaffection has spread, has to fight the plot with a handful of confidantes.

The story idea, thus telescoped into a few sentences, sounds pretty fanciful. But the authors (two veteran Washington newsmen) have managed to make the situation sound sufficiently plausible to carry the action along. There is a lot of "inside Washington" color—maybe exaggerated a trifle here and there, but with a realistic ring.

Here is excitement plus. Peril and politics, a bit of sex and a lot of skulduggery, it makes an exhilarating story.

Two Brothers Fall To Death

NEW YORK (AP)—Two brothers fell 11 stories to their deaths when a scaffold broke as they painted window frames of a new apartment house Wednesday.

The victims were Ludwig Sigus and his brother, Alfred, both in their 50's.

They were at work on a 16-story building at Sixth Avenue and West 53th Street, four blocks north of where four window washers were killed May 29 in a 21-story fall.

Tshombe Says Incident Has Destroyed Faith In U.N. Plan

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—President Moise Tshombe says a new clash between United Nations troops and gendarmes of his breakaway Katanga Province has destroyed his faith in the U.N. plan to unify the Congo.

The suspicion arose that Tshombe was using the incident as a pretext to prolong his secession.

Claiming U.N. Indian troops triggered the clash Wednesday and killed two of his gendarmes, Tshombe told newsmen the incident was an "imbecility" coming at the moment when U.N. ministers were examining the U.N. plan.

A delegate at U.N. headquarters in New York expressed belief

Tshombe faked the casualty claim as a pretext for rejecting the U.N. plan to bring his province and its mineral wealth under the authority of the central Congo government. U.S. officials in Washington expressed similar views privately.

Tshombe showed newsmen the bodies of a gendarme corporal and a private at an Elisabethville morgue, claiming they were killed in the clash. He charged U.N. troops opened up with machine guns after ordering his men away from a roadblock near the U.N.-controlled Elisabethville airport.

"If the United Nations want war they can have it," Tshombe said. "It won't be child's play like (the U.N.-Katanga flareups) last September and December."

"I do not believe in (U.N. Acting Secretary-General) U Thant's good faith any longer," said Tshombe, "nor in the Western nations—the United States, Belgium and Britain—who guaranteed the implementation of Thant's plan."

"These imbeciles of the United Nations... they would be better returning to India and the other nations they come from."

Eliud Mathu, U.N. representative in Elisabethville, gave a different version of the clash. He said 100 Katanga gendarmes surrounded and opened fire on a U.N. patrol of 20 Indian army Gurkhas and the Gurkhas "had to fire back."
