ON HEAVY-HITTING CAMPAIGN IN MICHIGAN

JFK Urges Demo Votes

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT KENNEDY (AP)—President Kennedy carried a hard-punching campaign tour clear across Michigan on Saturday, hooting at Republicans who ignore the name and proclaiming over and over that votes for Democrats are votes for progress.

"Register and vote," Kennedy urged, "register and vote. Vote Democratic."

Kennedy hopped by helicopter across a Michigan countryside already glowing with lavish touches of autumn reds and yellows, from Detroit, to Flint, to Muskegon.

Then it was on to Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn., and a "bean feed" rally Saturday night.

Kennedy had the usual plaudits and plugs for Democratic politics and political hopefuls in a speech prepared for the traditional bean feed rally.

He also swung over to the farm issue, with word that the Democratic party has been true to the farmer and true to its word to help him.

"We have," he said, "helped put money into the farmer's pocket, into his family budget and into the cash registers on main street in the small towns of this and other states."

Then in a kind of reversal of a presidential campaign 10 years ago, when the Republicans were claiming there was a mess in Washington and they had to clean it up, Kennedy contended his administration inherited a farm mess. And, he said, his secretary of agriculture from Minnesota, Orville L. Freeman, "has been cleaning up that mess."

Crowds shouted and waved Kennedy along the way on motorcade routes through parts of Detroit and Flint and at an airport rally in Muskegon.

In a way, this was 1960 all over again—the crowds, the color, the "let's-get-the-country-moving" theme.

Kennedy's Michigan tour started Friday night in Detroit. He made a speech Saturday before flying to Flint.

"Give us some new congressmen!" he cried in a speech to a crowd of 6,000 in front of a downtown hotel on Washington Boulevard.

Kennedy attacked Republicans more strongly than at any other time on this weekend political swing into the Midwest. The President declared he needs every Democratic congressman he can get.

"After the razor thin majorities that we have, or lost, I tell you we need every vote we can get," Kennedy said.

"If you send representatives who say 'no,' then this country stands still. I ask you to vote for those who stand for progress."

West Berliner Shot, Allies' Aid Prevented

BERLIN (AP)—East German police shot down a West Berlin tunnel digger Saturday and then prevented a British officer and two ambulances from giving him medical aid on the East side of the wall.

By barring a British army ambulance which attempted to go to the man's assistance from Checkpoint Charlie and by preventing the British officer from getting closer than 100 yards to the spot, East German authorities challenged the right of the Western powers to move freely in this divided city.

U.S. Army sedans were kept at the same distance.

A West Berlin Red Cross ambulance also was prevented from going to the scene from another crossing point in Berlin's wall.

American, British and French authorities immediately got in touch with their capitals to see what should be done to meet the challenge. The Western allies claim the right under four-power agreement to move freely in all Berlin. They do not recognize the East German regime's existence, much less its right to stop Western military movements.

HELPED REFUGEES

The incident began just before 7 a.m. when East German police shot a West Berliner helping East German refugees escape through a tunnel.

His name was kept secret. A fellow tunnel digger said he was 21 years old, married and known as "Brille" (Spectacles).

Brille and a friend were in the apartment of a tailor, at the East Berlin end of the tunnel, waiting for a group of refugees. The doorbell rang with the expected signal—one short ring one long, one short. At the door were East German police. Brille was shot. His companion escaped through the tunnel.

About an hour after the shooting, orders reached the British ambulance stationed at Checkpoint Charlie. October is Britain's month as chairman of the American-British-French command in West Berlin and the month when the British furnish an ambulance at the crossing point to give assistance to victims of the wall.

BARRIER DOWN

The ambulance moved across the white line that marks the sector border. It was in East Berlin, but the red-and-white striped barrier was down and the East German guards refused to raise it.

Under international law, they told the British, they were responsible for giving medical aid.

For over an hour the ambulance stood there. Then it pulled back. American sedans were allowed to go through, but they were halted after driving over three miles to the East Berlin borough of Treptow near the scene.

Rusk-Gromyko Talk On Berlin, Get Nowhere

Work Begins Monday

The special gifts division of the United Fund campaign will begin work in earnest Monday morning. Team captains selected cards for their workers last week. John Currie (right) and Champ Rainwater (left, sitting) head up the division.

Nothing New Brought Into Long Confab

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko conferred for 3 1/4 hours on Berlin on Saturday but made no progress. Neither advanced any new ideas toward breaking the East-West stalemate.

There is no new or startling development," said Rusk on leaving the new headquarters of the Soviet U.N. delegation on New York's Upper East Side. "It was a general review of the Berlin situation. There is not very much to say."

TO MEET AGAIN

Rusk said he probably would meet with Gromyko again but that no meeting had been set. Gromyko would not comment for newsmen and Soviet aides said he would not issue a statement.

Rusk was Gromyko's guest for lunch. Afterward, they began their talks which a U.S. spokesman said concerned only Berlin.

"Both sides spent the time reviewing the discussions to date on Berlin, each side summing up where they stood in the discussion," said the spokesman, James H. Greenfield, deputy assistant secretary of state for public affairs.

"Neither side brought up anything new. This discussion brought no change in the situation."

SEPARATE TREATY

Greenfield was unable to say whether Gromyko brought up the Soviet threat to sign a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany. Greenfield said there was no discussion of the possibility of Premier Khrushchev coming to the United Nations.

The conference was the first U.S.-Soviet contact on Berlin in this country since Rusk and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin concluded a series of Washington talks last August in which they failed to arrive at a basis for broader negotiations.

Gromyko told the U.N. General Assembly on Sept. 21 the Soviet Union could not agree to "indefinite delays in the conclusion of a German peace treaty" and would sign one alone, with East Germany, if the West refused.

TROOPS MUST LEAVE

He said that after that the occupation troops of Britain, France and the United States would have to leave West Berlin and Communist East Germany would get full control of the routes between them and West Germany.

But he stressed that his government would prefer an "agreed solution"—and the Soviet government had indicated in a statement on Sept. 11 that it was willing to wait till after the U.S. congressional election Nov. 6 to negotiate on one.

Other Divisions Open UF Canvass

In the wake of outstanding starts by several United Fund divisions, three more sections will launch contact work this week, in the new campaign.

The special gifts division, with Champ Rainwater and John Currie as co-chairmen, begin canvassing Monday. Team captains picked up cards for their workers last week and a division meeting is set for 10 a.m. Monday in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Co. to get things rolling.

Actress Kills Her Boy Friend

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—A 24-year-old actress killed her actor boy friend Saturday with a shotgun blast through the heart. She said he had threatened her life.

After the shooting, police reported, Sandra Edwards stumbled from her home crying.

"Oh my God! Oh, my God! I hope this is a nightmare. It's got to be a nightmare. I love him so. I love him so."

Sandra, a striking brunette who has played minor roles in several television series, told police she shot Tom Gilson, 28, after he broke through a rear door and threatened to kill her and four children present. She was booked on suspicion of murder.

Police said Gilson, a television actor, had a 9-month-old son by Miss Edwards.

Sandra said she and Gilson broke up several months ago and he had frequently bothered her since. She said he telephoned Friday night and threatened her life.

Miss Edwards has been living with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davis, her sister and brother-in-law. The actress told police that Davis gave her a 12-gauge shotgun after Gilson called. She said Davis instructed her: "If he comes over, you can use this to frighten him."

Divisions already working their contact cards include Webb AFB, which has three sections already over the quota; big gifts division, which followed a tremendous first day start with almost half the goal in hand by the end of the first week; employees division, which has two sections over their goals; and the remaining sections of organized labor.

Dr. Lee O. Rogers and Jack Y. Smith are campaign co-chairmen of the drive, which has a goal of $103,324. The money raised through this annual effort helps support 13 local youth guidance and welfare organizations.

Students Asked To Help At Ole Miss

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—The Justice Department is quietly appealing to student leaders at the University of Mississippi to help make life tolerable as Negro James H. Meredith remains on campus with a shrinking federal guard.

"We're not asking them to like it," said Deputy Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach.

"But we are hoping there will be some generally respected students who will stand up and say, 'All right, let's knock it off,' when the jeering and catcalls break out."

Katzenbach, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's first assistant, is in overall charge here of the effort to enforce federal court orders for Meredith's attendance at the university.

INTERVIEW

He discussed his plan today in an interview on the Ole Miss Campus, now cleaned up and comparatively deserted.

Students had poured out to their homecoming football game, transferred for safety's sake to Jackson. Meredith had left for the weekend also, his whereabouts a secret.

There has been no violence on the campus the past few days, but Meredith has had curses, obscenities and occasional threats shouted at him during his guarded trips to classrooms and the cafeteria.

However, Katzenbach said he has been sufficiently encouraged by the conversations with the students to arrange for some discussions next week with campus leaders.

"We don't want to tell them what we think they ought to do," he said.

STUDENT EDITOR

"We want to explain to them what we have done, answer any questions they have, and see what their ideas are as to what they, as students, should do."

One of the first students Katzenbach talked with was Sidna Brower, editor of the student newspaper, The Mississippian.

Miss Brower's editorial calling for reason and denouncing the rioters for dishonoring Ole Miss appeared in a Mississippiian extra rushed to press from a tear-gas filled office during the riot.

It has been widely reprinted. Approving letters, most of them from students at other colleges, have filled columns of the campus newspaper.

House Votes $3.9 Million Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress took a big stride toward adjournment Saturday with House passage of a $3.9-billion foreign aid money bill.

The measure was steered to a favorable 171-108 roll-call vote in this unusual Saturday session by Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., who operated from a wheelchair.

Passman fractured his upper left arm and shoulder in a fall in his office Friday and he appeared with the arm strapped tightly across his chest. His performance, hailed by Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., as "one of the greatest exhibitions of dedicated service I have ever seen," overshadowed the final debate on the bill.

157 ABSENT

Despite the importance of the measure under consideration, 157 House members stayed away. The Senate will act on the bill next week.

Passman, 62, long a critic of heavy foreign aid spending, assisted in chopping $1.1 billion from the measure when it was before his House Appropriations subcommittee earlier this session.

A House-Senate conference committee restored $300 million—a sum small enough to put Passman behind the measure Saturday.

The allocation of $3,928,900,000 for economic development loans and grants and military assistance abroad drew the support of 117 Democrats and 54 Republicans. Voting against it were 50 Democrats and 58 Republicans.

Methodist Leader Honored Named For Oil Show

HOUSTON (AP)—Bishop A. Frank Smith, 72, former titular head of the Methodist Church, died Saturday night at his home after having become ill with influenza last week.

Bishop Smith was one of the leaders in the move in 1939 to unite the three branches of Methodism—the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and the Methodist Protestant Church.

Bishop Smith retired in 1960 after having headed the vast Texas Methodist conference 26 years.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday the First Methodist Church, where he was pastor when elected to the Episcopacy in 1930.

Business Gain

AUSTIN (AP)—A seven per cent rise in business activity during August brings on mild optimism for the coming year, the Bureau of Business Research reported Saturday.

Hawaii Welcomes Astronaut Ashore

HONOLULU (AP)—Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. homeward bound from his six-orbit trip around the earth, wound up a quiet three-hour stay in Honolulu Saturday with a spontaneous flurry of signing autographs for a small but enthusiastic planeside crowd.

The spaceman came in from the carrier USS Kearsarge at 10:02 a.m.—3:02 p.m. EST—and took off for Houston, Tex., at 1:19 p.m.—6:19 p.m. EST.

On arrival, he received a brief formal welcome witnessed by a scanty crowd of about 1,000 civilians and an equal number of military people.

It was all rather perfunctory, but the departure was different.

After a quiet private luncheon with civil and military leaders at Hickam Air Force Base, he started through the foyer of the operations building and was immediately mobbed by a cheerful crowd of about 100 civilians.

Shouting, "Hi, Wally," and waving autograph books, they showed their respect with garlands of leis. Teen-age girls squealed with delight as the hero of Wednesday's longest American space voyage signed his name repeatedly.

As he strode to his waiting jet transport, more than half the crowd ducked under ropes and ran to the plane.

Schirra, poised in a plane hatchway, got out his own camera and took pictures of the waving crowd.

The Air Force had prepared to handle a huge crowd of scores of thousands. But it was primary duty in Hawaii, the decision for a public appearance had been announced only Friday night. And the word didn't get around that the public could see Schirra.

Schirra set foot on United States soil again at 10:02 a.m. Hawaii time.

A crowd of about 2,000, half military personnel and half civilians, cheered and applauded as the spaceman stepped onto a flatbed truck for welcoming ceremonies.

An 8-year-old Hawaiian girl in a blue dress presented Schirra with a double lei of red carnations. Attached to it was a tag reading: "From the thousands of little people whose dimes and nickels built Sigma 7, and who very proudly bask in your reflected glory."

Schirra responded: "At last, since 1957 I have a chance to say aloha. I have observed tradition in the past and have thrown away my lei at Diamond Head. This time I'm going to take it with me. It means I'm going to bring my wife back. Hawaii is a very important place to me. I'm home."

Schirra took time out to telephone his wife, Josephine, in Houston, reminding her that he would be home by 1 a.m. Central Standard Time Sunday.

Westex Showers

Showers fell in western portions of Texas Friday night and Saturday—some of them of helpful depth—but dry air moving in behind foreshadowed a dry weekend.

Weather Causes Deaths; Heavy Rains In The East

Tormentous rains in the East caused at least seven deaths Saturday as a rash of bad weather spotted the country.

Slushy snow and hail fell on southeastern Wyoming and northwestern Colorado and early morning fog in the Midwest was blamed for at least three Illinois traffic deaths.

A stalled rain mass kept rain drumming into already soggy New York and New England, flooding streets and snarling transportation.

One of the dead was a Rutland, Vt., lawyer nominated for lieutenant governor of the state, Frederick J. Delany, 41. He was a passenger in a car which collided with another during a storm.

A wide swath of rain extended from the mountain snow area across the Great Plains and Midwest into Illinois and Kentucky. There were spotty showers in the Pacific Northwest.

The central Rockies storm closed U.S. 34 between Estes Park and Granby, Colo., with four inches of snow, and caused Wyoming troopers to halt traffic on U.S. 30 at 8,816-foot Summit Pass between Cheyenne and Laramie, where slush accumulated 6 to 9 inches deep.

In the northeast, 24-hour rainfall measured up to more than six inches, with Providence, R.I., measuring 6.23 inches. Flooded streets disrupted traffic. A boat was used to relieve passengers of a Boston suburban rapid transit train stalled in a flooded section of Brookline.

Methodist leader Frank Smith died Saturday night at his home after having become ill with influenza last week.

Falls Off Boat, Killed By Sharks

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A woman fell off a cabin cruiser and was killed by sharks off Santa Catalina Island on Saturday, the Coast Guard reported.

The Coast Guard recovered the mutilated body of Mrs. Marion Leaf, about 35, Los Angeles, from shark-infested waters two miles east of the island.

Her husband, Gordon, apparently was at the rear of their 36-foot craft when his wife tumbled over the side, the Coast Guard said. By the time he swung the boat around, his wife had vanished.

U.S. Explodes Nuclear Device

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States exploded another nuclear device over the Pacific on Saturday.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the low-yield device—equivalent to 20,000 tons of TNT or less—was dropped from an airplane in the vicinity of Johnston Island at 6 a.m. Hawaiian time.

It was the 29th test conducted in the current Pacific series, known as Operation Dominic.

U.S. Withdraws Men From Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The United States completed Saturday its part of the Geneva bargain, withdrawing the last of 666 military advisers who served with royal forces in the Laos civil war.

So far only 40 of the estimated 10,000 technicians and soldiers from Communist North Vietnam, who served with neutralist and pro-Communist forces, have checked out under supervision of the International Control Commission.

But informed military sources said a large scale withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops and technicians has taken place without any check being made by the commission.

Such a check was stipulated in the Geneva accords designed to make Laos a neutral and independent nation under a coalition government.

The sources said the large scale withdrawal did not mean that all North Vietnamese had left Laos.

Neutralist and pro-Communist Pathet Lao elements in the coalition government now ruling Laos never admitted any major aid from North Vietnam and only agreed after heavy pressure to designate checkpoints at which foreign military personnel on their side would be evacuated and counted.

Only 35 North Vietnamese were withdrawn through the neutralist checkpoint, and five through the Pathet Lao evacuation center.

Maj. Gen. R. H. Tucker, chief of the American Military Advisory Assistance Group was the last of the U.S. advisory personnel to leave.

He flew to Bangkok, Thailand, with 79 other members of his group just a day before the deadline set for withdrawal of foreign military personnel by the 14-nation accord signed at Geneva July 23.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the last two of the 607 civilian Filipino technicians also were leaving Saturday.

Too Frail For Surgery

Three-year-old Marine Anastasiou is shown with a doctor's stethoscope in Washington where he arrived from his native Greece for a heart operation. Marino's mother was told the operation Marino needs would have to be postponed for a year, maybe two. After 10 days of tests, Georgetown University Hospital officials deemed it unwise, possibly hazardous, to operate on the boy until he weighs at least 50 pounds. He now weighs 34 pounds. Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

The United Fund appeal is getting off to an excellent start, thanks to painstaking preparations by Dr. Lee Rogers, campaign chairman, and other leaders. There has been a lot of enthusiasm in various divisions, and already several units at Webb are reporting their quotas and some business firms are reporting 100 per cent. With this spirit of cooperation, this effort can succeed—and promptly.

Reports from the three banks in Big Spring and the one in Coahoma reflected sound conditions. Although the total was down from the year's peak, deposits of $37,034,433 were up by four million dollars over the same time a year ago. Loans also were up by nearly four million to reach $16,872,767, a new record figure.

One cause for increased loans was the heavy amount of poison farmers have had to apply to this year's cotton crop. We got another light rain Friday morning, and this—like one the week before—was just enough to wash off the poison. This year's crop, already spotted and limited, is turning out to be an expensive one.

Frank Neill showed the grand champion barrel at the annual 4-H and FFA Pig Show sponsored by the Big Spring Jaycees. The 205-pound champ brought his exhibitor $1.25 a pound, and David Adkins, Lomax, got $1 a pound (See THE WEEK, Pg. 9-A, Col. 1)

Post Office Site Sought In Coahoma

The Post Office Department is seeking competitive bids for a building to house its postal operations at Coahoma, Postmaster General J. Edward Day announced.

Under the Department's Lease Construction Program, a contract will be awarded to the bidder who designates a building suitable to the department's needs and agrees to improve it or provide a new building, either in accordance with departmental specifications and then lease it to the Department for 10 years, with options to renew for an additional 20 years.

The department's capital investment will be limited substantially to postal equipment. The building will remain under private ownership, with the owner paying local real estate taxes.

Bidding documents will be available about Oct. 15, and may be obtained from V. E. Bell, real estate officer, P. O. Box 1386, Lubbock. He will supply bidding forms, specifications and other information. Bids must be submitted not later than Nov. 15.

District Meeting Of Librarians Due Here

More than 100 librarians from 33 West Texas counties will be in Big Spring Saturday, Oct. 13 for a one day convention of District 3 of the Texas Library Association.

Mrs. Jan Harris, librarian at the Big Spring High School, is chairman for the third district organization. She said that invitations have been dispatched to 123 librarians in the 33 counties and that it is anticipated a sizeable number will attend.

Mrs. Opal McDaniel, librarian at the Howard County Free Library, said the principal speaker for the day will be Delbert Downing, Midland, popular after dinner speaker and author. He is the author of a popular book "On the Dark Side of Midnight" and will autograph copies of the book while here. This portion of his appearance in Big Spring will be at the Book Stall.

The librarians will be in session at the Couden Country Club. A guest will be Dr. Robert Douglas, president of the Texas Library Association. He is head of the library department in the University of Texas, and is recognized and the part they have in a library.

Kenneth Roach, Howard County Junior College librarian, will discuss "Censorship."

Mrs. McDaniel is to discuss a problem facing many libraries—as is the case of the Howard County Library—where the functions of what is intended as a public library are becoming absorbed as a school library. Many county and city libraries are facing this problem—the principal usefulness of the library being absorbed for school student needs.

Mrs. Ruth Beasley, librarian at Goliad Junior High School, is secretary-treasurer of the district library organization.

Mrs. McDaniel said that all persons in the 33 counties who are associated with the operation of libraries—public, school or institutional,—are eligible to be members of the TLA and participate in the district meeting.

Accuracy Record Is Commended

State Highway Department officials have written a letter to Mrs. Zilah LeFevre county tax collector, congratulating her auto tax collection department on its record for accuracy in filing applications for car titles.

The state office said that statewide, 3.70 per cent of the applications for titles received in the first six months of 1962 were faulty and had to be returned. The Howard County office had a record of only 2.60 per cent error. The office handled in excess of 7,000 title applications in the period. The accuracy record this year is nearly two times as good as the record for last year.

MEMBERS NEEDED

Ballet Is First In Concert Series

Opening of the Big Spring Concert Association series is little more than a week away, and the extensive, colorful Canadian National Ballet company will do the honors.

This troupe has a total of 80, including the dancers and orchestra, to stage and perform amid lavish settings and rich background music.

The concert association, however, is in dire need of response to maintain its position as an agency of bringing the fine arts and other quality entertainment to Big Spring. The equivalent of at least 200 more adult members is needed to underwrite the minimum budget for the season.

Mrs. Clyde Angel, president, has called an important meeting of the board of directors for Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the James Duncan home to discuss possible courses of action to finance the four major attractions under contract.

Other offerings include Basil Rathbone, who is to arrive here Nov. 4 for an appearance the following evening; the First Piano Quartet, an unparalleled example of precision playing by four individual virtuosos who have been performing together for over 20 years; and the renowned Dallas Symphony, rated as one of the top musical organizations of the nation.

Tickets for the series are $9 for adults and $4 for children. Association officials pointed out that the annual programs constitute a civic responsibility to provide for the cultural and quality type of entertainment which distinguishes a city of substance. Many people have delayed taking out their memberships, and they are urgently needed now to insure the continuation of the association's work.

The Canadian ballet, acclaimed by critics as a group performing with indescribable beauty, grace and melody, features Lois Smith as prima ballerina, Earl Kraul as premier danseur, and Walter Babiak as concert master. The offerings here will include the famous second act of Swan Lake, the Concerto Broccoo, and a sequence from Offenbach's "In the Underworld."

Porter Wins Optimist Title

LAMESA (SC) — Mike Porter, 17, Lamesa High School senior, has been named as Dawson County "Young Texan" for October by the Lamesa Optimist Club.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Porter of Lamesa and a letterman on the undefeated Golden Tornado football squad. He has maintained "A" and "B" grade averages.

Porter is a member of the Lamesa DeMolays, president of the high school Booster's Club, participated in Future Teachers of America activities, is a member of the Lamesa Boys' Club and president of the LHS Latin Club. A member of the First Christian Church, he is also president of the Christian Youth Fellowship unit there.

Jim Norris, chairman of the Optimist committee sponsoring the program in connection with the Troy V. Post Foundation, said Porter would be entered in a zone competition for the month.

VA Hospital To Try Foster Home Program

By JOE BEYER

The Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital is about to step into a new program of rehabilitation for patients. Homes in the area will be sought for patients who have none, but are ready to leave the hospital.

This Foster Home Program has been used successfully by the VA system for a number of years. It serves as a tool to make more room for new patients at the hospital and as a way to get persons back into a home atmosphere.

"All patients who leave the hospital under the program have been screened carefully to make sure that they are ready to leave," Tolford Durham, chief of social services, said. "This is a protective measure for both the patient and the family which provides the new home."

The patients are of all types, Durham said. Most are elderly, but they are not entirely helpless. They cannot live alone and take proper care of themselves, but all can leave the hospital if they will receive minor medical assistance and home necessities.

This is not a case of charity, he stressed. The patients pay their own way with income from pensions, social security, part-time work, or a combination of these. Homes for the patients are screened carefully by social workers. Periodical checks are then made to be sure that the arrangement is working out well. All factors, such as religious background, economic status, age, and occupation are taken into consideration in matching the patient and foster home.

The program was started in 1951 out of necessity. The General Medical and Surgical Hospital at the Fargo Veterans Administration Hospital found itself with a growing number of patients whose treatment had been completed and who were ready for discharge pending a suitable home to which to discharge them. It was met with initial success and mushroomed. In 1961 more than 975 homes in the United States were used by 1,273 patients.

There are presently four patients at the Big Spring hospital who are being considered for the program, Durham said.

"They have all been through our program of rehabilitation. We try to approximate home conditions as much as possible, but we can only approximate them," he said.

He pointed out that the first homes chosen will be in Howard County. Especially close checks will be kept on the initial ventures into the program locally and homes near the hospital will facilitate the followups.

CAN A BIRTH BE UNDONE?

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher
Church of Christ, 2000 West Highway 80
P.O. Box 1382

One becomes an heir of heaven by the new birth. "And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may also be glorified together" (Rom. 8:17).

Because of this, some think it is impossible for a person, once saved, to be lost. They ask, "How can a birth be undone?"

As far as it pertains to inheriting, a birth can be undone by death. A dead child never is included in an inheritance. Can a person be born again, then die spiritually? Certainly, Paul wrote to people who had been born again, and said, "Therefore, brethren, we are debtors, not to the flesh, to live after the flesh. For if ye live after the flesh ye shall die; but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live" (Rom. 8:12, 13). Paul included himself in this. He surely was speaking of spiritual death; for men will die physically whether or not they live after the flesh.

"The Church in Her Former Glory" and "A Good Conscience" are the sermons today at 10:30 and 7. You are invited to come, regardless of your religion. —Adv.

LAMESA (SC) — Total rainfall in the Lamesa area in September was 4.86 inches, the most recorded in the month since 1950. With a total of 13.21 inches for the year, the city is ahead of the 11.46 average for the period.

State School Budgets Are Up For Study

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Commission of Higher Education will consider 1964-65 budgets for 20 state-supported schools at a regular meeting Monday.

Representatives from most of the colleges and universities are expected to make presentations, according to Dr. Lester Harrell, commission program examiner.

Dr. Harry Ransom, chancellor of the University of Texas System, is scheduled to outline biomedical programs at the University's medical branch in Galveston and the Texas Medical Center in Houston. The commission has been asked to add to biomedical programs to fill needs of personnel at the National Aeronautic Space Administration Manned Flight Center near Houston.

Harrell said one of the most important items on the agenda is a request by East Texas State College to create its first doctoral programs. The college seeks doctor of philosophy degrees in student personnel services, supervision, curriculum and instruction; educational administration; and English.

The Commission will not consider the thorny question of admission of women to Texas A&M College.

Consideration of the problem Monday was expected after board member Elizabeth Koch of San Antonio asked for the action at a June 5 meeting, adding that "women are the only thing that can be discriminated against in this state."

Commission Chairman Lee Lockwood asked at a July 9 meeting for a delay to allow time for a staff study.

Play Readings Begin Today

Readings for parts in the next Big Spring Civic Theatre production of "The Gazebo" begins today and continue through the week.

David Guy, director for the production, will hear stage aspirants first at 2 p.m. today in the Prairie Playhouse of City Park. Successive readings are set for Tuesday and Thursday nights at 7 p.m., also in the Playhouse.

He encouraged all interested residents to come out for the readings. Experience is not necessary, but it could be a factor in final selection. Residents may try out for parts whether or not they are members of the organization.

"The Gazebo" will be produced in the city auditorium on the nights of Nov. 30 and Dec. 1. The play has nine male parts, three female parts. Arthur T. Clonts, president of the group, is producer.

Deny Release Of Prisoners In Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — Members of the U.S.-based Cuban Families Committee dickered for release of the Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners locked confident and optimistic Saturday. But Miami reports that 1,113 have been freed were authoritatively denied.

Mrs. Berta Barreto de Los Heros, Havana liaison officer for the committee, issued the denial.

She said negotiations which resumed Friday between Prime Minister Fidel Castro and the committee's legal agent, James B. Donovan of New York, have not been concluded.

"Another meeting is scheduled Monday," she said.

Donovan is staying here at the Barreto home. He is the New York lawyer credited with winning freedom for U.S. U2 Pilot Francis Gary Powers last Feb. 10 in a swap for Soviet spy Rudolph Abel.

The current negotiations are the second round. Donovan met with Castro for four hours Aug. 31 and for two hours the following day, then returned to the United States for consultation on certain points. He said then the discussions were progressing favorably.

Castro has asked for $62 million in ransom for the prisoners, seized by Cuban armed forces in the abortive counter-revolutionary attack staged in mid-April 1961. Donovan was reported offering medicine, food and other supplies.

Sees Support For Plan On Water Conservation

AUSTIN (AP)—Harry Provence of Waco said Saturday that wide support has been shown to a constitutional amendment on water conservation.

The amendment, No. 4 on the November ballot, would allow the state to purchase conservation storage space in reservoirs.

Provence is chairman of a steering committee promoting the proposal.

Provence said endorsements had been received from river authorities, trade and professional associations, newspapers, public officials and numerous private individuals.

"Proposal 4 would allow the Texas Water Development Board, which administers the state's $200 million water project loan fund, to acquire storage facilities in reservoirs constructed by federal, state or local agencies," Provence said. "This is a matter on which Texans of all political beliefs can unite in the interest of a stronger statewide water conservation and development program."

Among river authorities passing resolutions of support are the Brazos, San Antonio, Trinity, Guadalupe-Blanco, Sabine, Central, Colorado, and Upper Neches.

Trade and professional associations making similar endorsements include the Texas Electric Cooperatives, Texas State Grange, Texas Water Conservation Association, Texas Society of Professional Engineers, State Bar of Texas Committee on Revision of the Law of Water Rights, Texas State AFL-CIO, Texas Farm Bureau, West Texas Press Association, Texas Water Well Drilling Contractors Association, and Tex-

De Gaulle Takes French Issues To The People

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle Saturday ordered the National Assembly dissolved as a prelude to parliamentary elections, thus carrying his fight for constitutional reform to the people in two separate balloting.

He formally received the resignation of Premier Georges Pompidou and took note that Pompidou's cabinet had been overthrown by the Assembly on the reform issue — De Gaulle's demand for popular election of French presidents. Then he decided to dissolve the Assembly and call elections.

A referendum on De Gaulle's presidential issue already has been set for Oct. 28.

The decree dissolving the Assembly is expected to appear in the official journal early in the coming week. By law, the elections must take place within 40 days of publication of the decree, no sooner than 20 days. First balloting thus might take place Nov. 4, with runoff elections later.

Pompidou was toppled early Friday when the National Assembly adopted a motion of censure condemning De Gaulle's plan to amend the constitution by referendum so that future presidents would be elected by direct popular vote. The present system is for election by a college of about 80,000 persons, including members of Parliament, departmental (county) and municipal officials.

Specifically, the Assembly condemned De Gaulle's plan to put through such an amendment by national referendum rather than by parliamentary action. The opposition, which mustered 280 votes, well above an absolute majority of 241, contended that the constitution itself requires parliamentary approval for any amendments.

Most French jurists agree with the opposition viewpoint. So, according to reliable reports, does a majority of the Constitutional Council, a sort of supreme court which can rule on the constitutionality of all laws. The council's approval, in case of a legal challenge, is required before a law can be proclaimed.

Thus, De Gaulle's plan might win in the referendum but be rejected by the Constitutional Council. This could raise some knotty legal questions.

Record Enrollment Reported By Most Colleges In Texas

By ROBERT E. FORD
By The Associated Press
Educators found encouragement in college and university enrollments which set records almost everywhere in Texas this week.

Many attributed the increases to steady growth of the state population. Others said "it all ties back to the birth rate."

But at East Texas Baptist College at Marshall, President Howard C. Bennett found good news in another quarter in view of the increasing pleas for more and more college students as the United States races Russia, particularly in science.

Said Bennett, "One of the reasons for the increase is a greater awareness of the need of college training."

Bennett pointed the way for other college administrators when he added that a part of the increase could be attributed to recruiting. Bennett's school shows a 17 per cent increase to 538, the greatest climb in a number of years.

Somewhat similar comment came from Texas Christian University at Fort Worth. It reported a record of 6,628 students and attributed the rise to "better work we're doing in undergrad colleges" and "greater expansion of our graduate work."

It said lack of dormitory space hurt enrollment figures.

Grady Anderson, registrar at Del Mar College in Corpus Christi, said he is encouraged by indications that more high school students are continuing their education after graduation.

Temple College set its third straight enrollment record and was required to employ 14 more instructors.

Texas Tech at Lubbock was up nearly 1,000 and projects its increases at rate of 1,000 a year, hitting the 20,000-class somewhere around 1970.

The University of Houston climbed better than 1,500 this year, and attributed this to the fact that it will become fully state supported next year.

Midwestern at Wichita Falls reported about a 25 per cent increase and credited this to state support, as did Houston.

Pan American College at Edinburg found itself so crowded that some students were required to take courses at night.

Arlington State pointed to its 9,197 students this year and 1,322 ten years ago when it was a junior college. Officials there say it may be the fastest growing college in the nation. It is primarily a commuter college, with 85 per cent of its students commuting to classes. Its curriculum is primarily tailored to meet the industrial needs of the Fort Worth-Arlington-Dallas area.

North Texas State University expected 9,000 students to show up in Denton but enrolled 9,735. Authorities credited this to creation of 72 new class sections. Texas Woman's University, also in Denton, has been turning away dormitory applications since last spring.

Only two schools reporting in the survey showed declines. Lubbock

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Residents Urged To Check Homes For Fire Hazards

Pointing to heavy fire losses so far this year, residents were urged Saturday to help Big Spring firemen keep their trucks in the station. The appeal came on the eve of Fire Prevention Week, which begins today and continues through the week.

"We have had some heavy losses," A. D. Meador, fire marshal, said. "It is possible that many of them could have been prevented with proper inspection and precaution. The fire insurance rate is always based on the amount of the losses for which insurance has been paid, and our rate is on the verge of going into orbit."

Meador said firemen would be ready to answer calls to residences where inspections were requested and urged those who were in doubt about hazards to call.

"A lot of people don't know what constitutes a fire hazard. If residents will call us we may be able to save them a costly loss," he continued. "Insurance may cover the replacement cost in most instances, but in others it won't replace items such as antiques, papers, jewelry, or books."

Firemen have distributed several thousand pieces of literature to school children in order to make them conscious of fire hazards and to ask parents to check on their homes and other buildings.

"A lot of children will become concerned about their homes where their parents are unconcerned," Meador said. "If one home can be saved from flames through this literature, and our talks, it will pay for the effort."

"If residents will call us, we will gladly make inspections of the premises and advise them of hazards," he said.

Business houses are inspected regularly by the marshal, and recommendations made for eliminating or correcting hazards. If they are not corrected within a reasonable length of time, he said, steps to force compliance could be taken.

"We don't like to do it, but if it becomes necessary to use our state laws to protect business houses and neighboring property, we will," the marshal said.

Fire Chief H. V. Crocker said the biggest hazards to the city now and through the winter are vacant lots filled with high weeds and trash.

"About the time the first frost hits," he said, "we will have some vacant lot fires which could spread to old buildings nearby."

Under a city ordinance lot owners can be notified to clean up their property he said. If no move is made the city may clean it up and levy the cost against the owners.

Young Bill Kenney Jr., and Virginia Mae Maenner combine their youthful talents to call attention to the first annual coin show to be held Oct. 12-14 at the Settles Hotel. The show is sponsored by the Big Spring Coin Club. Miss Maenner holds a valuable type set of gold coins which is to be given away as a prize at the show.

Club Will Stage First Coin Show

Are you interested in money? If you are, you'll find the first annual Big Spring Coin Club Coin Show, Oct. 12-14, right down your alley.

The show starts Friday, Oct. 12, and continues through Oct. 13 and 14 in the ball room of the Settles Hotel. It will be open and operating from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily Oct. 12 and 13 and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 14.

Judging of exhibits will be at 10 a.m. Oct. 13. Exhibition awards will be made at 11 a.m. Oct. 13 and a big coin auction will be a feature from 2 to 3 p.m. Oct. 14.

The public is invited to visit the show at any time it is open.

DISPLAY
On display at the show will be rare coins worth more than $100,000.

Included will be a complete set of uncirculated standing Liberty quarters from 1916 through 1930, including the extremely rare 1918 issue with the "8" in the date superimposed over the "7". The coin catalogs value this quarter at $1,750 but you won't find any for sale at that price, collectors say.

In the collection of Standing Liberty quarters there will be only 37 coins but their combined value will run into the hundreds of dollars. Least valued of the lot is $11; bulk of the quarters are valued much higher.

This unusual collection is the property of Charles Travis, Pecos, and is one of the few complete sets of these quarters in existence. Another special feature will be a 29-foot display of gold and currency being shown by a collector from McCamey. He will have display counters 15 feet long filled with gold coins and 14 feet of display space hidden by currency.

COIN DEALERS
Thirty-five rare coin dealers are to be at the show. Dozens of local collectors are to have exhibits on display.

The featured local collection will be that of Raymond S. Tollett, president of Cosden Petroleum Corp.

The show is the first sponsored by the Big Spring club which came into existence in March, 1961. It now has 160 active members—men, women, children. The club meets regularly and some fine collections are owned by its members.

President of the Big Spring Coin Club is E. J. Valenta. He pointed out that if this show is popular with the public the club will repeat it each year and develop it into an even bigger event than at present.

The Big Spring club is an affiliated with the Texas and national coin collecting associations. "We want this to be a community event," said W. A. Kenney, who is acting as show superintendent and is vice president of the club.

PUBLIC INVITED
"We want the public to see the collections we have on display, we are being helped by the community in financing the event and we intend to make it a community enterprise—not something just for the club members."

"We will have drawings and the prizes will be well worth winning. "One special prize to be awarded is a gold type set—$20, $10, $5 and $2.50 gold coins in near-mint condition—which will go to some fortunate visitor. This type set, which is on display daily in the show window at my shop, is worth at least $175."

He stressed that all sessions of the show are free. No admission is charged at the door. Everyone is welcome to visit the show and inspect the collections. There will be sales of coins and coin collecting supplies, an auction, special exhibits and other events.

County's Big Docket Scheduled Tuesday

A county court jury panel has been notified to report to Howard County Court at 9 a.m. Wednesday but Judge Ed Carpenter is hopeful there will be nothing for the jury to do when it shows up.

Tuesday, the court has set down a docket comprising 463 cases—probably the longest court docket ever scheduled in this county. If all goes as the court believes it will, nearly 100 per cent of these cases will have been dismissed, remanded to other courts or otherwise settled by the time the sounding of the docket has ended Tuesday.

The cases are appeals taken from the corporation court and the two justice of the peace courts. They have been stacking up in the office of the county clerk since 1960.

Of the cases to be called Tuesday, 259 originated in the city police court; 113 in justice of the peace court No. 1 and the remaining 91 in justice of the peace court No. 2.

Wayne Burns, county attorney, was busy all last week going over the files which have been moved from the county clerk's office to Burns' quarter. He said that he regards the bulk of the cases as faulty—either they have improperly signed bond attached or the complaints fail to track the form specified as legal by state law. As a result, he thinks the court will order the bulk of the cases dismissed or remanded. Few of the lot, he feels, are valid appeal petitions and it is doubtful if many will ever actually be tried.

Burns said his office has notified attorneys whose names are connected with the cases and in many cases the defendants themselves of the impending docket. Burns, at an earlier docket where 100 appeal cases identical to these and bearing about the same dates, were before the court, contended the appeals were invalid for the reason most had faulty bonds. Others, he said, were not properly filed. The court upheld him and threw out the lot. Later, an opinion by the attorney general on the validity of bonds drawn as were most of those in the cases on hand, held such bonds to be void.

The cases set for Tuesday, Burns says, are of the same vintage and his study of the files indicates they have the same faults.

State To Open Bids Tuesday On Property

Bids will be opened Tuesday on proposals to purchase a block of land on South Gregg Street opposite the Veterans Administration Hospital.

The tract, formerly occupied by the Texas Highway Department maintenance facilities, is being offered for sale as a unit, together with buildings, or in quarter-block tracts.

Offers will be received at the office of J. C. Roberts, district highway engineer, until 10 a.m. Tuesday, then opened and read aloud. Each bid on the entire tract shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check in the amount of $4,000 made payable to the State Highway Commission of Texas as a guarantee that if successful, the bidder will perform. Bids on less than the entire tract must be accompanied by similar checks in the amount of five per cent of their bids.

The property is the 2300 block between Gregg and Scurry Streets, or block 15, College Heights Addition. Structures still on the property include a 76x31 warehouse, a 20x89.5, building, a 38x56 building, all of sheetiron or galvanized iron construction, plus a 1,000-gallon underground gasoline tank. The property is landscaped and utilities are available. Paving is on all four sides.

Dunn Tells Road Plans

Actual work on IS 20 bypass will probably begin early in 1963, Bruce Dunn, director of public works for Big Spring, told the Big Spring Kiwanis Club Thursday.

Contract for constructing the east half of the bypass is to be awarded Oct. 23, he said. The contract for the west half of the job will be let Dec. 11 under present plans of the State Highway Department.

The east half will represent expenditure of about $2,500,000 and the west half $3,000,000, Dunn stated.

The IS 20 bypass is one of a number of projects now under way; or to start in the relatively near future which Dunn described. He outlined the expenditures so far by the city of the multi-million dollar city improvement bond issue of a few years ago and described other projects which are to be started in 1963 and 1964.

Dunn, a member of the club, was presented by Bill Johnson, who presided at the session Thursday.

City Officials Attend TML

Big Spring will be without a city administration for three days.

The city commission, including Mayor George Zachariah, and Commissioners Paul Kasch, John Stanley, W. L. Thompson, and Arnold Marshall, will be in Fort Worth Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday for the annual meeting of the Texas Municipal League.

Other city officials going are City Manager Larry Crow, Assistant City Manager Roy Anderson, City Secretary C. R. McClenny, and Police Chief Jay Banks.

Mayor Zachariah is a committee member on the league. Beside the general sessions during the Monday and Tuesday meeting there will be five departmental meetings including the Association of Mayors, Councilmen and Commissioners; Texas City Managers Association; Municipal Utilities League; Texas City Attorney's Association; Texas Chapter, Municipal Finance Officers Association.

City Manager Larry Crow said, before he left, that information would be given the members on the proposed trial "de novo" constitutional amendment to be voted on in November.

Arrests Increase

LAMESA (SC) — The Lamesa police department and Dawson County sheriff's office combined last month to log 230 arrests, an increase of 50 over the previous month. City patrolmen, continuing a "get tough" traffic crackdown, issued 143 citations during September. Despite the crackdown, accident increased from 23 in August to 27 during the period.

Meeks Returned To SCD Board

LAMESA (SC) — Bill Meeks, Welch, has been re-elected Zone 4 supervisor on the board of supervisors, Dawson County Soil Conservation District.

Meeks was unanimously re-elected to a third term. He has served two consecutive 5-year terms and a portion of an unexpired term. He was last year named as the county's outstanding conservationist.

Other members of the board include M. R. Stewart, Harold Vogler, Jim Burkett and L. W. Emfinger.

Kennedy To Wage Active Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will step up his campaign for election of more Democrats in a two-day swing next weekend, hitting the important Eastern states of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, as well as Indiana and Kentucky.

It will be his second appearance in Kentucky in eight days. He made a brief appearance at the airport at Covington, Ky., late Friday en route to Cincinnati. He covered Michigan and Minnesota on Saturday.

During the current four-state sortie Kennedy said he wants more Democrats to help him put through his programs. He said also the Republicans have made "no" a political program while he believes in the word "yes."

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower plans to set off Sunday campaigning for the GOP cause in the Far West and Midwest.

A brief announcement Saturday by the Democratic National Committee said Kennedy will participate next Friday in Columbus Day ceremonies in northern New Jersey and in New York City.

This presumably will be in the morning for the announcement said he will fly the same afternoon to Pittsburgh, Pa., for an evening rally.

On Saturday, Oct. 13, Kennedy will tour the Monongahela Valley of western Pennsylvania and return to Pittsburgh. He will fly to Indianapolis, Ind., for a day appearance the same day and then go on to Louisville, Ky., for a night speech.

The announcement gave no details as to the times, and what places he would touch in northern New Jersey and during his tour of the Pittsburgh environs. The committee said details of the itinerary will be announced locally.

Trustees gave the green light last week to plans for five additional classrooms at M. A. R. C. School. Portable classrooms were shifted to this school in September when the enrollment there proved almost overwhelming.

The area Council for Exceptional Children attracted about 70 people here last week to discuss means of more effective help for children who have some kind of disability. Our school system has an exceptional program for these exceptional children.

Our Sabin polio vaccine project is on again, being set for the original date of Nov. 11. The real value of this is in massive participation, and thus we hope that there will be a near perfect response here. Last Sunday Colorado City had 7,747 to take part.

When it was planned and even after it was completed, doubters said that Lake J. B. Thomas, the Colorado River Municipal Water District reservoir, would never fill. Well, it has spilled three times, and Saturday it finally dropped back to spillway level after expelling excess water for exactly one month.

The Jaycees last week tabulated results from a survey designed to reflect community attitudes in a nutshell, people seem to think we are weakest at those points which add plus qualities to living, or at those points which make one place a progressive city instead of another town.

Mobil No. 1 Donham was in the process of completing as a Sprberry strike in northeastern Martin County. Howard County gained an interesting wildcat location last week. Tidewater No. 1 Lockhart three-fourths of a mile southeast of Cabot No. 1 Lockhart, a Fusselman discovery 17 miles north of Big Spring.

The Howard County Court is to have a lengthy docket calling on Tuesday. Attorneys last week were mailed copies of the 13-page case list. It could be that a large number of cases will be purged from the docket, and that a few will be called for trial.

CHARLES COOPER passed away Saturday morning in Big Spring. Funeral services 2 p.m. Sunday, Creagville Methodist Church, Creagville City Cemetery in Grand Salton, Texas.

Farm Bureau Business
Neil Fryar (left), president of the Howard County Farm Bureau, and Delbert Downing, Midland, discuss aspects of Farm Bureau policy during a break in the meeting held on the Howard County fair grounds Saturday. Downing was speaker for the meeting.

Directors Named By Farm Bureau

Eight new directors were elected at Saturday night's dinner meeting of the Howard County Farm Bureau. Six delegates were named for the state convention to be held in San Antonio Nov. 10. New officers will be elected at the directors' meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Delbert Downing, long-time manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, spoke to the more than 250 members and their families following a barbecue dinner.

New directors—two from each county commissioner's precinct—in order, are: Larry Shaw and Durwood Blagrove, Ralph White and Donald Lay, Loy Acuff and R. V. Middleton, R. E. Martin and James (Buddy) Barr.

Delegates named who stated they would be able to attend the state convention and who will carry resolutions from the Howard County chapter, were: Loy Acuff, Lloyd Robinson, Larry Shaw, Durwood Blagrove, Arless Yater, and Neil Fryar.

Another will be named before the convention. Short talks and the annual audit report were made by committee members and directors.

Downing told his audience that "if you want to be a successful farmer you need to grow about four oil wells to the section of land."

"We fought the battle of ignorance for many years on the farms of this state. We have no choice now but to have the greatest respect for education, since it has enabled us to put a man in orbit for six trips around the earth," he said. "Every child needs to go for all the education he can get."

CIVILIZATIONS GONE
He said that the United States comprises the twenty-third great civilization. "Twenty-two of them have passed out of the picture," he continued. "Why?" he asked.

"Every great civilization began by tilling the soil. So long as man was tilling the soil he had faith in God. He planted the seed with faith that it would come up, grow, and make a crop. When the society became so complex that man could leave his farm and make his living doing something else he began to lose his faith in God."

"Science can't teach you how to pray and how to love. That comes from a respect for your fellow man. You can't legislate love and you can't legislate faith. You can legislate both out. Watch it jealously."

Big Crowd At State Fair
DALLAS (AP)—A quarter of a million or more persons poured through the gates Saturday as the State Fair of Texas began its annual run.

A mid-morning parade through downtown Dallas officially launched the fair, although the fairground was well populated hours earlier.

Highlight of the day's events—at least to many persons—was the Air Force Academy-Southern Methodist University football game in the Cotton Bowl on the fairground.

Gov. Price Daniel opened the fair officially after he and other state and local leaders rode in the parade.

Among the visitors were about 100,000 youngsters from schools throughout Texas, here for Rural Youth Day. The fair's vast parking lot was banked almost solid with school buses.

The Air Force spokesman said the ban applied only to tobacco companies and would have no effect on gifts from individuals. He said he did not know how many companies had been giving cigarettes to Air Force hospitals.

Prelates From Soviet Nations Appear In Rome

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Unexpectedly breaching the Iron Curtain, Roman Catholic prelates from Soviet-bloc countries began arriving Saturday to attend the church's Second Vatican Council. One burst into tears of joy.

First to arrive was a nine-member Hungarian delegation including two bishops. It was the first visit of Hungarian bishops to the Vatican in 14 years.

Delegations from Poland and Czechoslovakia were reported on the way. Three more Polish bishops, a Bulgarian and a Lithuanian, now also are expected before the worldwide meeting of the Roman Catholic hierarchy opening five days hence.

The Catholic News Agency also reported that two bishops from Communist East Germany had passed through Vienna en route to Rome.

Vatican officials expected only the Polish hierarchy among Soviet-bloc countries would win permission from Communist authorities to make the journey.

However, the officials were reported uneasy over the probability that some members of the Czechoslovak delegation were coming to keep watch on the others. There has been no contact between the Vatican and loyal Roman Catholic churches in Czechoslovakia for more than a dozen years.

In contrast, President Tito's Red regime placed no restrictions on the delegation from Yugoslavia, the only European Communist country outside the Soviet bloc. All Yugoslav bishops except those unable to travel for reasons of health or age are expected to be on hand.

Is Convicted Of White Slavery
AUSTIN (AP)—A federal jury found Roy Lee Dunn of Orange guilty today in a white slavery trial.

Federal Dist. Judge Joe Fisher set sentencing for Wednesday morning.

The government contends Dunn paid an employe, Raymond Medina, to transport Lynn Willis Young from Altus, Okla., to Dunn's Trade Winds Club near Bryan last year.

The charge against Dunn was under the federal Mann Act, which prohibits the transportation of a woman across state lines for immoral purposes.

The woman testified that Medina drove her from Oklahoma to Texas, but said so far as she knew, Dunn had nothing to do with the trip.

Medina testified that Dunn paid him $150 to make the trip.

Several defense witnesses said Medina tried to borrow their car to make the trip and one swore he heard Medina try to borrow money from Dunn.

Committee To Air Juvenile Problem
Big Spring's juvenile problems will receive an airing by the public health and safety committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Juvenile Officer Bob Darland and Police Chief Jay Banks will be invited to the next meeting of the committee to give their views on the subject.

A proposed building for the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit appears a long way off, according to reports. No progress has been made since the project was presented to agencies involved. The committee will continue looking into avenues through which this building might be obtained.

Connally Calls For Full Support
SAN ANTONIO (AP)—John Connally, Democratic nominee for governor, Saturday called on his campaign workers to "summon your reserve energy, your last ounce of strength" for the campaign leading up to the Nov. 6 general election.

Addressing several hundred area leaders at a barbecue, Connally exhorted the workers not to falter.

Connally outlined problems which will face the state in education, water conservation, and taxes.

Walker Due To Gain Release By Bail

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—A U.S. court order cleared the way late Saturday for former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker to be released on bond from the federal prison and medical center at Springfield, Mo.

Walker said $50,000 bond is being flown to Springfield for his release.

U. S. Commissioner John E. Banks at San Antonio said Saturday night that $50,000 bonds has been posted for the release of former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker from the U.S. Medical Center in Springfield, Mo.

Banks said he had sent a telegram about 10:30 p.m. (CST) to Mrs. Axie Powell, a U.S. Commissioner in Springfield, Mo., saying he had received $50,000 in security bonds from Walker's brother, George P. Walker Jr. of Kerrville, Tex.

Banks said there was sufficient evidence to prove enough property value to George Walker and Charlotte Walker, the former general's mother.

Witnesses said Walker led one of the charges by rioters against deputy U.S. marshals during a bloody outbreak on the University of Mississippi campus last Sunday night.

DENIED
His attorneys denied that he led the charge.

The Texan, who had commanded troops who enforced desegregation of Little Rock schools in 1957, was arrested Monday at a military roadblock on the outskirts of Oxford.

He waived preliminary hearing on the conspiracy and insurrection charges and later was transferred to the Springfield, Mo., Medical Center for psychiatric examination.

The order signed by U.S. Dist. Judge Claude Clayton requires Walker, within five days of his release, to report to Dr. Robert Stubblefield, chief psychiatrist of the Southwest Medical Center, Dallas, Tex.

It specifies that Walker is to be examined by Dr. Stubblefield and another psychiatrist to be selected by the United States and that the results are to be reported to the court.

SECURITIES
Judge Clayton reduced the bond set for Walker from $100,000 to $50,000 and said the bond could be filed with any U.S. commissioner.

Clyde J. Watts, attorney for Walker, said the former general's mother was prepared to deposit more than $50,000 in securities with the commissioner in San Antonio. He indicated that representatives of the general could qualify in Springfield, Mo., also.

The court record on Walker here includes a statement by Dr. Charles E. Smith, medical director and chief psychiatrist of the Bureau of Prisons, including this comment:

"Some of his described behavior reflects... essentially unpredictable and seemingly bizarre outbursts of the types often observed in individuals suffering with paranoid mental disorders."

"DISORDERS"
Dr. Smith's statement also said Walker's past record suggested "functional and psychosomatic disorders."

Pickets marched meanwhile at Springfield, protesting the detention of Walker.

Seven pickets, claiming to represent the "Volunteers to Insure Constitutional Rights for Walker," marched in the downtown square.

Center Gets Building Work Without Cost

Plumbing and electrical work at the new location, the Howard County Rehabilitation Center, 402 Edwards Blvd. has been completed without cost to the center, thanks to plumbers, electricians and suppliers.

When the center building at 8th and Owens was condemned, due to settling of the fill dirt on which it was located, the new location had to be equipped with special wiring and plumbing. In fact, when electricians got into the matter, the building had to be completely rewired to accommodate the special exercising equipment.

Plumbing houses and some individuals each gave $5 for essential plumbing supplies, and J. B. McKinney furnished the labor. Having a part were Fivish Plumbing, Homer Ward, City Plumbing, Gross Plumbing, Beach Plumbing, Carter Plumbing, West Texas Plumbing, Whitefield Plumbing, and National Plumbing.

Donating materials for electrical work were Boss Electric, R. Electric, Chesser Electric, C. & D. Electric, Pettus Electric, Latson Electric, Big Ben Electric, Kitching Electric, Tally Electric, D. & H. Electric. Pitching in to donate their labor on the job were Gene Haston, Gilbert Pachall, E. E. Jones, Johnnie Elliott, Jan Tally, Ross Plant, Don Sawyer, Homer Ward and R. B. Tally.

All possible materials from the previous center building were salvaged by the volunteer workers, some used and the remainder put in storage.

On a statewide basis, the campaign goals tabulated to date come to $25,808,151. Of this amount, 11 United Funds in this area have combined goals of $1,682,275.

Among the goals listed for this section are: Abilene $351,650, Big Spring $103,324, Colorado City $22,101, Lamesa $38,135, Littlefield $22,500, Lubbock $487,969, Midland $223,730, Odessa $208,766, San Angelo $180,000, Seagraves $5,100, Sweetwater $39,000.

In the aggregate, area goals are up by $22,000 over the previous year's goals, although half a dozen of the funds reduced their asking this year.

LOOKS AT BOOKS

FAIL-SAFE by Eugene Burdick and Harvey Wheeler. McGraw-Hill Book Co., Oct. 22. What would happen to the world if, for no good reason or simply by mischance, a high-speed American bombing plane should drop a deadly load of nuclear explosives on the Soviet Union?

This is the plot of "Fail-Safe," a new and unusual novel by Eugene Burdick and Harvey Wheeler which has been named by the Book-Of-The Month Club as its November selection.

Burdick will be remembered as the co-author, with William Lederer, of the best-seller "The Ugly American." Wheeler, originally from Texas, is on the faculty of Washington and Lee University. He has published nothing of comparable interest prior to "Fail-Safe" but it is generally believed this effort will make his name familiar to the entire country.

Clifton Fadiman describes the book as the most exciting novel that he has read in 10 years. He and Wheeler have written "a perfect thriller, machine turned and exquisitely calibrated so as to produce the maximum effect on the reader's nervous system."

Burdick and Wheeler ask the reader to imagine that one day there is an electronic failure in the big board of the Pentagon which controls the maneuvers of our "roving instruments of death." What happens specifically is that one of the tiny condensers in the instrument panel blows out. As a result, a group of six Vindicator bombers are directed past Fail-Safe—"a fixed point in the sky where the planes will orbit until they get positive order to go in"—and thus are sent on an unalterable course to deliver their 20-megaton bombs on Moscow.

The president of the United States is immediately informed. He faces an agonizing decision, for he knows that the flight is a mistake. He promptly gets in touch with Premier Khrushchev on a direct White House-to-Kremlin wire. Khrushchev, for his part, concedes that it is a mistake—but of course he will not sit by and witness the utter destruction of the heart of the Soviet Union. "Fail-Safe" carries on the story to a nightmarish conclusion. Does war ensue in consequence of an electronic failure, the failure of the "ultimate safety factor"? What will the president do? What will Khrushchev do? In the few minutes left them before the onrushing aircraft reach their target, what can they do?

nuclear war touched off by accident, wrote a brief narrative which he titled "Abraham '58—A Nuclear Fantasy." Later, when he had met Burdick, he told him about this short piece and out of it the pair devised "Fail-Safe." In this frankly didactic piece, as Wheeler told Burdick over a luncheon table, an accidental breach of the Fail-Safe mechanism of the U. S. Strategic Air Command places an American President in a terrible predicament. The situation resembles that which confronted Patriarch Abraham when Abraham was told to offer up his son Isaac as a sacrifice—except that the consequences of the President's decision promise to be infinitely more bitter than the death of a beloved son.

"Abraham '58" appeared in Disent, a quarterly published in New York City, with the updated title of "Abraham '59."

"Fail-Safe is conceived as taking place in 1967," the authors declare. "It will be asked whether the specific accident described could actually occur. It is easy for anybody to 'prove' that it cannot occur. We can 'prove' it too. But there seems to be no real disagreement on the fact that some sort of accident—the one we have hit upon or another—could happen. Whatever the cause, the consequences would be disastrous. "Fail-Safe" is, after all, fiction. We hope it will be read as such—and also as a warning."

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Bradley Mills, the Odessa High School football mentor, still regards the District 2-AAAA race as a three-team event between Odessa Permian, San Angelo and Abilene, with Big Spring as a prime contender.

"We certainly aren't overlooking Cooper," Mills said. "They'll probably still be undefeated when we play them in our first district game next week. All of 'em will be tough for us."

Jim Cashion, the Odessa Permian mentor, sees a three-team race for first place involving San Angelo, Abilene and Cooper. . . . Horrace Bostick, who guided Snyder to a 14-8 victory over Big Spring last week, said his Tigers responded with as good a team effort as he's ever seen in his life.

Purdue Hands Notre Dame Loss, 24-6

By JERRY LISKA Associated Press Sports Writer
SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Purdue's "injured" quarterback, Ron DiGravio, fired a 25-yard touchdown pass on his first play of the game near halftime and then guided the Boilermakers to a methodical 24-6 triumph over Notre Dame before a record Irish crowd of 61,296 Saturday.

The partisan crowd, topping the 60,364 record throng at the Army-Notre Dame 1958 game, groaned as no fewer than three apparent Irish touchdowns were cancelled by infractions.

The game broke wide open midway in the third period when the Boilermakers marched 94 yards to score on nine plays with DiGravio's sharp passing guiping up to the 40-yard line.

Texans, Chargers Collide In AFL's Feature Bout

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Dallas Texans, rolling along in high gear behind new quarterback Len Dawson and the ever-superalternative running of halfback Abner Haynes, go against their biggest western antagonist, San Diego, today in the American Football League.

vaulted to the top of the AFL's passing statistics with a fine 66.1 per cent completion mark. He's been successful on 43 of 66 attempts for 673 yards and a 10.4 yard per completion average. Eight of his completions have gone for touchdowns.

Haynes' running has helped Coach Hank Stram's team to the No. 1 rushing offense mark, and the former North Texas star is the top rusher with 288 yards and a 6.4 average. He's scored six times, second best in the league.

The Texans, unexpectedly atop the Western Division with a 3-0 mark, have been an offensive dynamo behind Dawson, a 5-year benchwarmer in the National League. His over-all excellence forced Dallas to trade Cotton Davidson to Oakland after the first game.

Plum, going against the NFL's top pass defense, has the top completion mark (64.6) and a league-leading 9.55 yards per completion, in nailing 53 of 82 for 783 yards and nine TDs. The Packers' Bart Starr, who is not as pass conscious, has an adequate 30 of 52 for 435 yards and a 57.7 mark.

Both teams will be at full strength. Green Bay will have the league's top scorer, Paul Hornung, back after the slight muscle pull that sidelined him last week, while the Lions' Tom Watkins has been given the go-ahead after recovering from an injury.

Except for the defending champions it's virtually all-out conference play this week in the upper divisions of Texas schoolboy football.

Wichita Falls, the all-conquering Coyotes of Class AAAA who won their seventeenth straight game Friday night when they slammed Big Spring 47-6, takes on out-of-state competition next Friday, hosting Lawton, Okla.

Dumas, the Class AAA defending king, engages Muleshoe, a Class AA outfit. The Demons cracked down on El Paso Austin of AAAA 35-8 last week.

Only 19 undefeated, untied teams in Class AAAA and 15 in Class AAA face the start of the big push along the championship trail.

There are 10 districts in each class that have conference games, meaning almost two-thirds of the districts will be at it hot and heavy next weekend. The feature conference test sends Dallas Samuell against Dallas Bryan Adams in the meeting of unbeaten, untied teams in District 6 of AAAA. From this game will come the championship favorite.

Brownwood, the Class AAA title favorite, continues its district competition by taking on Weatherford. That, incidentally, also will match undefeated, untied teams.

Another conference game of note pairs two of the three undefeated, untied teams in District 15—San Antonio MacArthur vs. San Antonio Harlandale.

Jittery Hawkeys Licked By Troy

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Sixth-ranked Southern California turned an Iowa fumble into a first-quarter touchdown and held on for a 7-0 victory over the jittery Hawkeys Thursday.

The triumph in the intersectional football clash was the third straight for the Trojans, who were unable to mount an effective offense, but didn't have to as the Hawkeys lost the ball on fumbles five times and had two passes intercepted.

It was only the second time in 10 years that Iowa had been held scoreless, and the first time in that the Hawkeys were blanked at home.

Southern Cal's touchdown was scored on a 19-yard sprint by second-string fullback Ron Heller. The score was set up when Iowa's Willie Ray Smith fumbled and Trojan halfback Loran Hunt recovered on the Iowa 24.

Iowa played without quarterback Matt Szikowsky in the second half because he was shaken up in the second quarter. While Szikowsky was in the game he managed only 35 yards passing against the rugged Trojan defense.

So the score remained 12-0 in favor of the Owls at half-time. A glance at the statistics should have told the Bulldogs it was time to quit. In the first half Big Lake had run up 202 yards rushing and passing to a total of 43 yards for the Bulldogs.

But the Coahoma squad came out with a fresh outlook in the third quarter and almost made a close ball game of it. They battled the Owls to a standstill for almost a quarter and then Travis Reid, 120-pound halfback, exploded for 43 quick yards through right tackle to pin up six points for the Bulldogs. He picked up a key block at about the 20 and another just before crossing the goal line.

After a quick exchange of fumbles to open the fourth quarter, the 215-pound Franklin took off on his longest run of the night as he went 32 yards to pay dirt. The Bulldogs once got as close as the 12-yard line after that, but time ran out shortly afterwards.

The Owls threw up a defensive wall which seldom gave way, although the Bulldogs frequently skirted the ends for good yardage.

TOMORROW'S REBEL? HELP HIM TODAY... GIVE THE UNITED WAY

Sometimes a boy needs people much more than material things. He needs people who will listen to problems and soothe hurt feelings, people who will explain and reassure and inspire. Our community is lucky to have many people like that: caring for homeless children, watching over the youngsters of working mothers, guiding teen-agers in healthy, wholesome recreation. Please help them carry on this all-important work.

Year's Production Showing Increase

At the end of the first three quarters, 1962 maintains its substantial lead over 1961 in new potential, although it slipped again slightly during September. The month saw 39 completions register 4,462 barrels of new oil, down 240.86 barrels from August.

For the year, production is up 6,620.54 barrels over 1961 as a total of 378 new wells have accumulated 47,996.66 barrels of new potential. Completions are up 36 from the 342 noted at this point a year ago.

Locations, however, are down 37 with 438 staked in the eight-county area by the end of September. Martin County, leader at this point a year ago with 14,107.61 barrels of new oil, leads again in 1962 with 16,720.36 barrels. Dawson County has taken a big jump this year, however, with 15,782.80 barrels of new potential compared to 7,648.98 at the end of the first nine months of 1961.

Extensive drilling in the Welch field gave Dawson County the lead in September with 13 new wells bringing in 1,837 barrels of oil. Martin County was second with 1,041 barrels from seven oilers. Wildcats brightened the picture again this month as operators logged five discoveries for 488 barrels. Operator sought discovery allowable for another well, but it was placed in the Ackerly, Southeast field in Howard County. Howard and Martin Counties each had two discoveries and Glasscock County logged the fifth.

After sailing to the high of the year in August with 69, locations in September dropped to 22, low of the year. This is the lowest figure recorded in at least three years. A county-by-county look at the activity during September follows.

BORDEN
The Fluvanna field registered two completions to account for all 196 barrels of new potential in the county for the month. September was almost a repeat of a year ago, when two completions that month logged 266.92 barrels. One location was set in the Good, Southeast field.

DAWSON
The Welch field, with 10 completions, turned in 714 barrels of this county's total of 1,837 barrels of new potential. There were 13 completions. Two wells were completed in the Ackerly field and a 563-barrel oiler was logged in the Wells field.

The Wells field gained one location. Two wildcats were plugged and abandoned.

GARZA
There were four new wells recorded in September with a combined potential of 459 barrels. Most of this came from one oiler in the Kirkpatrick field. It flowed 340 barrels. The three other wells are in the Post field. One Garza, East site was a duster.

GLASSCOCK
C. W. Guthrie, Big Spring operator, completed the No. 2 John W. Zant as a San Andres discovery 13 miles northwest of Garden City to give the county its only potential logged in September. It came in for 25 barrels from an open hole section between 3,783-828 feet. One prospector was staked.

HOWARD
The county picked up a Strawn and a Pennsylvanian discovery during the month. A Dean discovery was also logged by the operator, but the Railroad Commission placed the well in the Ackerly, Southeast field. There were six wells which had total new potential of 531 barrels. Cosden Petroleum Corp. brought in the No. 1 J. A. Burris for 181 barrels of 40-gravity oil as a discovery about 1 1/2 miles northwest of Vincent. The Strawn discovery is C. T. Robertson No. 1 Harvey Adams, a re-entry which paid off to the tune of 202 barrels of 41-gravity oil flowing from perforations between 9,620-23 feet.

Other completions are two in the Snyder field and one each in the Howard-Glasscock and Ackerly, Southeast fields.

The Howard-Glasscock and Snyder fields each picked up a new site and one Luther, Southeast venture and one wildcat were termed dusters.

MARTIN
Slackening of drilling operations in Martin County's portion of the Spraberry Trend Area can be credited as the reason the county logged only seven completions and 1,041 barrels of new oil. However, the county picked up a dual discovery in Texaco No. 1 DeKalb Agriculture Association.

It was reported Sept. 6 as a Devonian discovery for 33 barrels and Sept. 26 it turned in 47 barrels on initial potential from the section 134-5-H&N survey. Texaco has completed two projects in the Mabee field of Martin County. No. 32-A Mabee NCT-4 pumped 53 barrels of 31.4 gravity oil on potential plus 59 per cent water. Operator acidized with 5,000 gallons. Elevation is 2,899 feet, total depth is 4,785 feet plugged back to 4,737 feet, the 2 1/2 inch casing goes to 4,785 feet. Location is 660 from south and 665 from east lines of section 20-39-G&MM&A survey.

No. 11-A Mabee NCT-4 pumped 90 barrels of 31.5 gravity oil with 10 per cent water. It was acidized with 5,000 gallons. Elevation is 2,897 feet, total depth is 4,747 feet, top of the pay zone is 4,650 feet, the 4 1/2 inch casing goes to 4,646 feet and perforations are between 4,650-58 feet. Location is 1,998 from north and 665 from west lines of section 19-39-G&MM&A survey.

In Mitchell County, Texaco No. 6 Mitchell Fee is a Westbrook field project with a nine barrel per day potential of 25.1 gravity oil and 87 per cent water. Operator acidized with 1,200 gallons and fractured with 35,000 gallons. Elevation is 2,173 feet, total depth is 3,300 feet plugged back to 2,875 feet, the 3 1/2 inch casing is set at 3,300 feet and the project was performed at eight intervals between 2,619-857 feet. Well site is 330 from north and west lines of section 37-29-T&P survey.

TWO PROJECTS ARE FAILURES

Two area projects were reported abandoned Saturday. Humble No. 1 Elizabeth Dossy, a Tex-Hamton (multipay) field project, was abandoned after the operator bottomed the hole at 11,818 feet. Location is C SW SE of section 14-36-4n, T&P survey in Dawson County.

In Mitchell County, Grady Corp. No. 1 Crabtree, wildcat re-entry, was abandoned at 4,455 feet. Location is C SW SE of section 2-26-H&C survey. Attempt was made for Wichita-Albany production.

Awards For Service Due

DALLAS—William J. Goldston, Houston independent oil producer and Dr. Richard J. Gonzalez, Houston, one of the nation's best-known petroleum economists, were named to be the 1962 recipients of Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association's Distinguished Service Awards.

In announcing the decision by a committee composed of former recipients, Association President J. Clyde Tomlinson said the awards would be presented at the closing session of the Association's 43rd Annual Meeting, to be held at the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel, October 8-10.

Long active in petroleum industry affairs, Goldston served as president of Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, the general organization covering eight producing states, in 1959 and 1960. President of Goldston Oil Corporation, which he organized with his brother, Walter, in 1954, Goldston began his career as an independent in 1931 in East Texas.

Dr. Gonzalez, a member of the board of directors of Humble Oil & Refining Company, is functionally responsible for the company's finance and economics.

Basin Activity Reported Down

The weekly survey of activity rotary rigs in the Permian Basin made Friday by Reed Roller Bit Company listed 193 units actually drilling. This was a drop of 12 from the 205 rigs counted a week earlier.

One year ago on Oct. 6 there were 263 active strings of tools in the West Texas-Southeast New Mexico region.

Lea County, N. M. continued in first place among area counties on the latest tabulation with 27 operating units.

The county-by-county survey, with previous figures in parenthesis, include: Andrews 16 (15), BORDEN 2 (7), Chaves 1 (0), Cochran 1 (1), Coke 2 (1), Concho 0 (1), Crane 6 (9), Crockett 3 (3), Crosby 1 (1), DAWSON 8 (10), Ector 14 (13), Eddy 3 (4), Fisher 7 (7), Gaines 12 (15), GARZA 3 (1), Hockley 2 (2), HOWARD 4 (4), Lea 27 (28), Loving 1 (1), Lynn 2 (1), MARTIN 7 (4), Midland 5 (5), MITCHELL 2 (2), Pecos 5 (9), Presidio 1 (1), Reagan 0 (2), Reeves 6 (6), Roosevelt 1 (1), Runtels 8 (9), Schleicher 1 (2), Scurry 2 (2), STERLING 1 (2), Stonewall 1 (1), Sutton 2 (3), Terrell 1 (0), Tom Green 1 (1), Upton 7 (7), Val Verde 1 (2), Ward 9 (10), Winkler 9 (8), Yoakum 4 (4), TOTALS 193 (205).

Oil Demand Outside U.S. Is Booming

HOUSTON (AP)—Demand for petroleum products outside the United States continues to boom. Consumption in other areas is gaining rapidly and may surpass U.S. demand within another five years.

This would be in line with other postwar trends which have seen foreign reserves and production pass those of the United States. Domestic demand for crude oil and natural gas liquids increased 974,000 barrels a day the past five years but total demand in all other areas jumped more than 4,100,000 barrels a day.

World Oil Magazine forecasts another sharp gain by other nations this year. Domestic demand is expected to average a record 10,163,000 barrels daily, an increase of 392,000, but other areas are expected to require 14,740,000 barrels, an increase of 1,217,000.

The magazine's 1963 special report on the world oil market says U.S. demand this year will amount to only 40.8 per cent of total world demand for crude and gas liquids, compared to a dominant 63.2 per cent in 1951.

Other areas are expected to consume 59.2 per cent of 1962's total demand, compared to only 36.8 per cent in 1951. "As nations become more industrialized, higher oil and gas consumption per capita results," the special report said. "Many regions of the world are starting to build good roads and automobiles, mechanize farming and install heating equipment."

The growth in the number of automobiles was cited as an example. Privately owned automobiles in the free world outside the U.S. increased from 12 to 32 million the past 10 years.

"Significantly, the increment of 20 million almost matched the U.S. gain of 21 million," World Oil said. "Outside the U.S. the number of people per car is still high, but is falling rapidly—from 120 to 59 in the past decade."

Editors of the magazine believe total world energy consumption by 1970 may be equal to 65 million barrels of oil daily, 21 million a day more than in 1960.

Investments in foreign oil operations have accompanied the increases in foreign reserves, production and demand.

The free world spent $3.7 billion in 1951 for finding and developing crude oil and natural gas reserves. All but 19.6 per cent was spent in the United States.

Expenditures for such operations in 1960 exceeded $6.5 billion, with 35.6 per cent of it going into foreign areas.

198 Wells Completed

AUSTIN (AP)—A total of 198 oil wells and 55 gas wells were completed during the past week, the Texas Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

The totals bring to 7,858 the total of oil well completions for the year and 2,538 gas well completions. This compares to 7,242 oil and 2,293 gas well completions during the same period last year.

Wildcaters brought in 10 oil and 22 gas wells. Three of the oil wildcats were in Dist. 8, two each in Dist. 4 and 6, and one each in Dist. 3, 7 and 9. Ten gas wildcats were in Dist. 2, six were in Dist. 4, three were in Dist. 3, two were in Dist. 1 and one was in Dist. 5.

A total of 223 wells were plugged during the week, including 117 dry holes.

Average calendar day allowable is 2,687,974 barrels, a decrease of 93,582 barrels from the previous week.

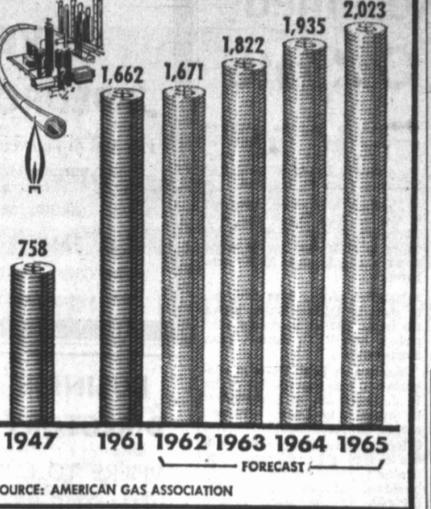

Pure Discovers Big Gas Flow

The Pure Oil Company No. 1 W. C. Tyrell, Central Pecos County deep prospector, has encountered gas in a fourth formation—the Wolfcamp. This explorer, nine miles northwest of Fort Stockton, is contracted to 18,500 feet. It is 1 1/2 miles northwest of the shallow Fort Stockton field and 660 feet from south and east lines of section 2, block 115, GC&SF survey.

Cabot Completes Wolfcamp Strike

Cabot Corporation has re-entered, plugged back, and completed as a new pay discovery from the Wolfcamp No. 1 Humble-Stat, northwest Lea County, New Mexico wildcat.

Hole was drilled to 9,835 feet and plugged back to 8,710 feet. The Wolfcamp was perforated 8,668-79 feet and 8,694-89 feet. On potential it flowed 180 barrels of oil per day. Oil gravity tested 50.8-degrees and gas-oil ratio measured 1,651-1. Flowing tubing pressure registered 1,225 pounds. Flow was through an 11-64-inch choke.

Originally completed in the Pennsylvanian, which was making oil and water, project turned mostly to water then quit flowing. The possibility exists that the casing collapsed. Operator has no immediate plans to re-work the Pennsylvanian. Location is 650 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines of section 23-11s-30e, eight miles southeast of Caprock.

FRED I. FRANKLIN

This is the 15th in a series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and varied services of these employees who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the company.

When W. R. Grace & Co.'s Nitrogen Products Division formally dedicates its ammonia plant here next week, one of the proudest spectators will probably be Fred I. Franklin. The plant is operated by Cosden Petroleum Corporation personnel, and Franklin was chosen last December as one of its four Operators No. 1.

June 20, 1962, marked Franklin's 15th anniversary with Cosden. His experience has been varied — from yardman to loading rackman to yard driver, then into operations at such vital points as the catalytic cracker. Immediately prior to his present post he was an operator at the alkylation unit.

A native Big Springer, Franklin is a 1946 graduate of the local high school. His wife is the former Betty Wozencraft of Midland, whom he married May 21, 1948. They are members of Hillcrest Baptist Church, and he is in Staked Plains Masonic Lodge No. 598.

Franklin's background includes a four-year period with the Air Force as an instrument specialist. When there is leisure time he takes his choice of water skiing, fishing or spectator sports. In Little League he helped manage the team supported by his seven-year-old son, Fred Jr., a second grader at College Heights; the youngster is a fielder who aspires to be a pitcher. An interested fan is Lynda Gayl, 3. The family resides at 2404 Main.

Harvest Resumed Over Part Of State

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Autumn-like temperatures and generally clear skies this past week dried fields enough so harvesting operations could be resumed in most areas of Texas. Director John Hutchison of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service also reported noticeable improvement in soil moisture. The critically dry areas were materially reduced in size, he said, and are now limited to parts of South Texas and spots in Central, South Central and Central West Texas.

Recent rains in the Panhandle left moisture adequate and range and livestock conditions above average, reported agent W. W. Grisham Jr. from Amarillo. He said 80 per cent of the wheat crop is planted and up to a good stand and grain sorghum was turning. Moisture and cool weather slowed cotton development and harvesting in the southern counties of the South Plains district where W. H. Jones from Lubbock said hot dry weather is needed. Early planted wheat looks good. More rain in the rolling plains delayed cotton harvest and seeding of small grains until late this past week, reported James Simmons from Vernon.

TEXANS' VOTE IN CONGRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — How Texas members of Congress were recorded as voting on recent roll calls fall are Democrats except Texas and Alger. Republicans — continued to improve moisture conditions and a late frost or freeze would see grazing prospects greatly improved, said Ray Siegmund from Ft. Stockton. Moisture was much improved in Central West Texas, said Roy Huckabee in San Angelo. Stock water is still very low in some areas. Cotton is about 25 per cent harvested.

Moisture ranges from adequate to short in Central Texas where the cotton harvest is nearing completion, said R. G. Burwell from Stephenville. Moisture in East Texas is adequate but pastures were rated by R. J. Hoges Jr., at Nacogdoches an average to below. Livestock are in fair condition.

Ranges have shown a tremendous change since the rains and livestock are generally in good condition, said Joe Glover from Gonzales in the South Central Texas district. Moisture is adequate; cotton harvest is about over; machinery stands ready for harvesting the anticipated second or stubble crop of rice and corn harvesting is making rapid changes in south-east and the upper Gulf coastal area, reported Silver Whitsett from Richmond. All counties in South Texas received some moisture but the northern counties of the district remain critically dry, said Joe Rothe from Weslaco. Many farmers are now planting oats and other temporary winter pastures while a considerable acreage is being sprigged to bermuda grasses.

WILL AMERICA BE BEHIND THE

America is the world's leader in many fields—in science and invention, in business and trade, in moral influence on world affairs. But can we hold this lead?

Only if we continue to develop the leaders that are needed to handle the problems America faces. But this may not be possible unless we back higher education. Today colleges are in a squeeze. Many face shortages, and in 10 years applicants will double. We need more and better laboratories and many more qualified teachers.

They Have A Yen For Yarn And A Knack With The Needle

HOOT OWLS AND SQUIRRELS, remindful of the harvest, add a humorous note to an ornate holiday cloth being made by Mrs. B. F.

Yeargin, wife of Lt. Col. Yeargin, Webb AFB. Scissor work and beading are also being used by Mrs. Yeargin for a December cloth.

KNITTING NOTES AND NEEDLEPOINT tell a story in the home of the Logan Bakers, 405 E. 10th. The lacy pattern of a rose-toned afghan form a background for Mrs. Baker who is knitting a sweater for her grandchild. The footstool at the right is topped with some of her needlepoint art.

JEWELLED AND SEQUINED the white sweater, shown by Mrs. Harold Parks, has only recently been completed. With each knit and pearl, a sequin was picked up in intricate design. A sweater requires about one month to make, and Mrs. Parks has made numerous knitted garments.

CONSTANTLY CROCHETING, Mrs. Pauline Hamlin always has some article in the making, whether it be a stole, an afghan, a sweater or lace edging for linen. Presently she is working on a bulky sweater made of crocheted squares.

Knack With Needle? Tendin' To Your Knittin' Good Medicine

When evenings grow long and the air is chilled there is contentment, being at home. Many can remember the kerosene lamp, the open fire and grandmother in her rocker knitting, tating, crocheting, piecing quilt blocks or just darning (elegantly executed) the children's stockings. Little time would pass before her head would nod; spectacles would ease themselves onto the tip of her nose; and her eyelids would close. She was sound asleep; completely relaxed. Today we refer to such as therapy; then, it was a way of life. Whatever the handwork, women found pleasure in it, and strived to improve upon it; to make it more serviceable and beautiful.

No more, the kerosene lamp, but there are those who have learned this secret of evening relaxation. Needlepoint, knitting, crocheting and beading seem to be the most prevalent types of handwork today; however there is a recent trend toward old-world embroidery such as the Swedish work and the Crewel, currently popular in patterned bags, wall scrolls, etc. Too, there are those who continue to piece, quilt and tack those beautiful coverlets and comforters. One such example is proof of how to stay happy and remain young.

MRS. "SUSIE" HORNER

A QUILT A WEEK

One quilt a week makes four a month or 48 a year. Over a period of 67 years the total quilts is 3,216. It's a simple math problem, but a lot of quilts, and the holder of a record could easily be Mrs. John F. "Susie" Horner. She has been making quilts since her mother taught her the art at the age of 15. She was 82 on her last birthday. Today she turns out some of the prettiest quilts ever at the rate of one a week.

Mrs. Horner doesn't know exactly how many quilts she has made, but she does know that she has worn out three thimbles in the process. Mrs. Horner's quilts have made many a present for her grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Each has six of her masterpieces. She has given them to organizations for worthy causes, and has been known to give them to several people after their possessions had been destroyed by a fire.

Through four generations the quilting art was handed down from grandmother to granddaughter, with the fifth generation still being a little young to handle it, but having interest.

Grapefruit Salad

If your family eschews grapefruit for breakfast, mix grapefruit and orange sections and serve atop salad greens with a favorite salad dressing. Serve the salad, of course, for lunch or supper.

Mrs. Horner's mother, the late Mary DeLoach, taught Mrs. Horner's daughter, Mrs. M. O. Hamby, how to quilt at the age

Custard Is Coffee-Mate

Much as we love fancy cakes and pies, a rich mellow custard remains one of the most endearing desserts. Like a fragrant cup of coffee, a good custard has an inviting quality about it. This is why it seems so suitable for that most hospitable of parties, the kaffeekatsch.

This coffee doughnut custard is one of the dressier varieties. Cinnamon doughnuts are floated on top and baked into the delicious coffee-flavored custard. For party fanciness, you can rim the custard with whipped cream just before you pour the steaming coffee.

3 tbsps. butter
4 eggs, slightly beaten
8 pkged cinnamon doughnuts
2-3 cups sugar
2 1/2 cups milk, scalded
2 1/2 cups strong coffee
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. nutmeg
2 tps. vanilla
Melt butter. Combine with eggs, milk, coffee, sugar, salt, nutmeg and vanilla. Stir until sugar dissolves. Pour into buttered two-quart casserole. Float doughnuts on top. Set casserole in pan of hot water. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour, or until knife inserted near edge comes out clean. Chill. Makes 8 servings.

of four. Mrs. Horner, in turn taught her granddaughter, Mrs. Dub Bryant. And now it is left up to Mrs. Hamby to teach her granddaughter, but she says Mrs. Horner will probably get the job, because she never was very good at quilting.

Mrs. Horner came to Howard County in 1923 from Floral, Ark., and lived on a farm with her late husband for three years. She now resides with her granddaughter, Mrs. Bryant, at 1602 Tucson.

WORKED HARD
Quilting may seem hard to some, but to Mrs. Horner it is an easy job when she remembers how she worked when she was a teenager to support herself and her mother. She made two cotton and corn crops during those years on their farm in Arkansas. She also grew a large vegetable garden every year and chopped wood for the fire. Sometimes she would swap out work with neighbors. Then they would help her with her chores. She also saved logs to take to the mill for lumber.

Mrs. Hamby is Mrs. Horner's only child, but she reared a niece during her teenage years. She loves children, and has been pleasantly accused of "charming them." For 16 years she kept the nursery at Wesley Methodist Church, and in 1958 received a plaque for her services. She is now a member of the Kentwood Methodist Church.

Mrs. Horner says she is so thankful that her grandchildren and great-grandchildren didn't have to go through the hard times she spent as a girl. The World Wars and the depression are all a chapter in her biography, and she marvels at the space age. The witty, white-haired woman is proving that it is an accomplishment to grow old, and she is still accomplishing something every week.

Ever Eat Marinade Cauliflower Dish?

Ever serve cauliflower in a salad marinade? Worthwhile!

CAULIFLOWER SALAD
1 large head (3 1/2 to 3 3/4 lbs.) cauliflower
1 1/2 cups boiling water
3/4 cup salad oil
1-3 cup wine vinegar
1 1/4 tsps. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1 clove garlic

Separate cauliflower into large flowerets and wash well in cold water. In a 12-inch skillet cook cauliflower, covered, in boiling water just until tender; drain. In a wide shallow container, mix the oil, vinegar, salt and pepper; add garlic cut in half and inserted on a toothpick. Cut cooked cauliflower-ets into halves and add to marinade, turning to coat. Cover and refrigerate several hours or overnight, turning cauliflower in marinade a few times. Remove garlic. Cauliflower may be served on salad greens if you wish and sprinkled with paprika for color. Makes 8 servings.

'ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

Our little garden is ripe unto harvest and never did vegetables taste so good. . . the turnip patch, tho' small, has produced enough of the greens to supply us with at least two good meals. Of course our okra, like many other okra patches, has been prolific, and now we are getting some very elegant squashes of the crookneck type. We also have some handsome bean vines but it now appears that they have lived and well may die, only vines with no beans to speak of.

BRIDAL GOWN

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white silk organza over net and taffeta. Fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, outlined with appliques of white Chantilly lace, the basque bodice featured long, tapered, petal-point sleeves. Chantilly appliques were hand-sewn to either side of the voluminous skirt. Her finger tip veil of silk illusion was edged with scalloped lace. The veil was attached to a scalloped crown of sequins and pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with white carnations and lilies-of-the-valley, showered with picot satin. Articles of sentiment were a linen handkerchief edged with lace, belonging to the bride's aunt, Mrs. Irene Winn; a blue garter; and pearl earrings, borrowed from Mrs. Merel Ringener.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Emily Garretson, maid of honor, was dressed in a frock of blue silk organza over blue taffeta. It was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, elbow-length sleeves and a bouffant skirt. Her hat of blue tulle featured a flared brim. Her nosegay was of white chrysanthemums. Bridesmatron, Mrs. Bill Blalack, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was attired identically to the maid of honor.

Jimmie Kelley was best man, while Bill Blalack served his brother as groomsmen. Ushers were Freddie Blalack, brother of the bridegroom, and Billy Plew, brother of the bride. Bruce Blalack, nephew of the bridegroom, lighted the tapers.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Dial of Ralls, uncle and aunt of the bride, and Lewis Ritchey of Ralls, cousin of the bride.

RECEPTION

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Receiving guests were the wedding couple and their parents. A three-tiered, white frosted bride and groom figurines, was served from a table laid with white lace over blue. The centerpiece was composed of the feminine attendants' nosegays. Crystal and silver appointments were used in serving by Mrs. Billy Plew, sister-in-law of the bride.

Autumn Sets Theme Of LGA Fall Luncheon

Fall foliage, pumpkins, bronze and gold mums with other harvest reminders decorated the dining room of the Big Spring Country Club, where Friday the Ladies Golf Association resumed the monthly luncheon and business sessions.

Brown linen, detailed with autumnal leaves, covered the U-shaped luncheon table which was centered with a banked arrangement of bronze and yellow spider mums. Hostesses for the season's first event were Mrs. Harvy Williamson and Mrs. G. H. Wood. Mrs. Ova Mae Edwards of Ruidosa, N. M. and Mrs. D. H. Hopkins were guests.

Concluding the luncheon hour, business was conducted by the president, Mrs. Jack Irons, who announced plans for the annual Mr. and Mrs. golf tournament, Oct. 14, at the club. She called for committee reports which included a report on the newly formed junior duplicate group, given by Mrs. Elmo Wasson. Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow told of plans for completing the landscaping program in November.

Mrs. Irons requested that members give due consideration to a change of meeting date, and attend the November meeting with a definite opinion so that the matter may be voted upon and the December meeting set accordingly.

Mrs. Wood's proposal for replacing the copper service, which was part of the club's fire loss, was accepted; and a plan for carpeting a portion of the ballroom will be submitted to the club's board of directors for approval.

After the door prize was won by Mrs. Wasson, members adjourned for an afternoon of bridge.

Ready-to-serve meats will keep a week if properly refrigerated, while dry and semi-dry sausage will keep several weeks. All ready-to-serve meats should be kept wrapped or tightly covered when refrigerated, as exposure to air causes unnecessary drying of meats.

Which Is Which?

Two frequently confused terms in meat cookery are pan-frying and panbroiling. Actually, both methods are used for tender cuts of meat, and in both the meat is cooked in a heavy frying-pan. However, in pan-frying, fat is either added or allowed to accumulate in the pan, and is not poured off during cooking. When panbroiling meat, the fat is poured off as it accumulates.

Raders Are Residents

Pictured above are Maj. and Mrs. Robert Rader and the younger of their two daughters, Suzanne. The Raders have recently been stationed at Webb AFB after a three-year tour in Yokota, Japan.

Major Rader, Family Glad To Be In U.S.

"There's no place like the United States," says Maj. Robert Rader, who with his family has recently returned from a three-year tour of duty in Yokota, Japan. Although the Raders cultivated an appreciation and respect for foreign culture, love for their native country grew even more.

Maj. and Mrs. Rader and their 4-year-old daughter, Suzanne, reside at 60 Chanute. Another daughter, Dianne, who is 21, is a junior student at Texas Tech in Lubbock.

In relation to the language barrier, Dianne, who attended college for 18 months at International Christian University, sponsored by American Protestants, served as a go-between for her family. On the other hand, the family concentrated on learning the Japanese language. Dianne reads, writes and speaks Japanese fluently. Her association with the Japanese was more direct than the rest of her family, because she lived in a Japanese home prior to her assignment to a college dormitory. Even then, she roomed with three Japanese girls.

Suzanne gathered fond memories during her stay, the highlight being a hike to the top of Mount Fuji, which took her two and one-half days. A horseback riding enthusiast, she rode a bus for three hours in order to take one-hour riding lessons from her instructor.

a Japanese cavalryman. In her opinion, American teenagers are far ahead of the Japanese. She says that in Japan, teenagers lack the independence and entertainment facilities available here, causing them to be socially immature. She says, "Besides that, they can't dance and don't have Coke machines in the schools."

Between teaching school, taking Japanese language courses and instructions in painting (from the late brother of Japanese actress, Miyoshi Umeki), Mrs. Rader stayed busy. Although she has specialized in water-color art for the past 10 years, she has done some oil painting. One of her favorite paintings, done while in Japan, is a rice field scene.

In his sixteenth year in the Air Force, Rader is mess secretary at the Officers Club. He and his wife both enjoy party bridge; although he lists golf as his hobby. In his opinion, the courses in Japan are the most beautiful in the world. The fairways are not groomed as the ones in the U.S.; they are "manicured" by a crew of 150 lovely Japanese girls.

The Raders hail from Dayton, Ohio, where he graduated from the University of Dayton. The family attends services at Webb AFB Chapel.

Although the Raders have only lived in their new home for two weeks, they feel they've been received with warm hospitality.

WEBB WINDSOCK

By MOLLIE HARTZOG

With regard to last week's column, we sincerely hope we did not frighten away any potential buyers of safety pins and starch from the Base Exchange. These items were not missing from the shelves, and in spite of everyone looking their best at Thursday's OWC luncheon, there is a plenty of pins and a satiety of starch still to be bought.

The luncheon - fashion show was preceded by a mock fashion parade of some of the dowdiest, worst-dressed ladies ever seen, even by a salesman arriving at 8 o'clock in the morning on a Monday. Mrs. Fred Hover was gowned in a wretched mu-mu and pink curlers, while Mrs. Perry Duncan went to the other extreme in satin and rhinestones. Mrs. Charles Goodell ambled around wearing a brown house-dress and Mrs. Charles Head went striding by in socks, striped culottes and bandanna, leading a dog and yelling to her friends. Mrs. Bedford Underwood, in silk slacks, Egyptian earrings and spike heels, munched refreshments unceasingly, particularly in the receiving line. Not taking any chance on the wrong attire, Mrs. Thomas Irving wore a straw sun hat and a blue suit of about 1937 vintage with a sagging hemline suggestive of a wet pancake. The whole skit was aptly named "A Comedy of Errors."

The Thrift Shop at Webb will have an anniversary open house serving coffee and cake and showing many, many bargains on Saturday, Oct. 13th from 9 until 2 p.m. All military, dependents and civilian workers at Webb may shop at the Thrift Shop which is operated jointly by volunteers from the NCO wives and the Officers wives.

There was much planning in the air this past week by those preparing to journey to Dallas for the Air Force Academy vs. SMU football game, and trying to dovetail plans for dining out, meeting friends and managing to squeeze in some shopping.

Not to be outdone, we journeyed to Dallas last weekend and still didn't manage to squeeze in any shopping. Our three-day holiday was telescoped into one day - a Sunday at that - but my husband managed to shop, and bring home a somewhat battered 1954 Jaguar, affectionately known as the "Tomato Can" due to its unfortunate shade of catsup red. Our neighbors have changed overnight from smilers and wavers to side-holding, thigh-slapping laughers, but we are afraid the "Tomato Can" is here to stay.

Staying in Canada and delighted with it, are Maj. and Mrs. Frank Snyder who recently departed from Webb. The Snyders report they are settled in a rambling old-fashioned house with plenty of room for the whole family and more closets than they can fill.

The September issue of the magazine "U.S. Lady" carries a full page spread of Lt. and Mrs. L. L. Patton. Although the photograph was not taken at Webb, it was taken at a base in the Air Training Command, and is used in this instance to depict the obvious pride and joy of a young Air Force family at the moment when those silver wings are finally pinned into place. A year's subscription to "U.S. Lady" was one of the door prizes given at the OWC October luncheon, and was won by Mrs. Bob Wray.

Many favorable comments have been forthcoming about the buffet dinner, held each Sunday evening in the Officers Club from 4 until 6 p.m., preceded by two hours of cartoons for the children. The enthusiasm of those families at the club last Sunday afternoon should persuade the rest of us that we are missing something when we do not attend the excellent Sunday buffet.

Junior Assembly Will Be Organized Here

Letters of invitation are being sent out soon to boys and girls in the sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth grades who might be interested in the newly organized Big Spring Assembly which will feature a season of dancing classes and parties at the Cosden Country Club.

The season will include a two-hour session once each month, beginning in October. The dates of these dances will be Oct. 18, Nov. 15, Dec. 20, Jan. 31, Feb. 15, March 8, April 5 and May 2. The sixth grade sessions will be from 1:30-7:30 p.m. and the seventh, eighth, and ninth grade sessions will be from 8-10 p.m. Each of these is scheduled for a Thursday or Friday evening.

The purpose of the assembly is to develop social graces; create a feeling of ease; to teach assurance and naturalness; and to teach the art of good dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Tito Montilla, who have taught ballroom dancing for many years, will instruct the classes and conduct the monthly dances.

The participants are expected to arrive on time so as to go through the receiving line. Girls will wear party dresses (Sunday school) and white gloves and the boys will wear coats and ties.

A committee of five sponsors and their husbands is to serve as host for each event. Girls and boys are to be taught to shake hands with the sponsors before entering the dance floor, and speak to the hosts again before leaving. Boys will serve refreshments to the girls.

Parents are asked to be prompt to pick up the students. Members and guests may not return if they leave the ballroom. There will be no dates or corsages.

Miss Josephine Montilla, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Montilla of Manila, The Philippines, and Glen D. Bunn, son of Mrs. Ruby Bunn Miller of Fort Worth and the late B. O. Bunn of Big Spring, will be married Oct. 13 at the Sacred Heart of Mary Catholic Church in Big Spring.

Zale's Jewelers is proud that Miss Montilla is one of the lovely brides-to-be that is registered in their bridal book.

Miss Montilla has chosen "Severn" by Castleton as her china. The complimenting silver is "Chantilly" by Gorham and the crystal is "Awakening" by Tiffin.

These patterns have been registered in her name at Zale's. The bridal book may be used at any time to assist in the selection of gifts for the wedding or for future anniversaries.

Open Installation Held By Order Of Rainbow

"The starlike sky to shine on our pathway toward Heaven" was the theme for an open installation of officers for the order of Rainbow for Girls. The ritual for Big Spring Assembly No. 60 was held at the Masonic Temple, with Barbara Daily installed as the 50th worthy advisor.

Miss Daily, dedicating her term to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Daily, chose as her colors—yellow and silver; her flower, the yellow rose; emblem, the star; song, "The Stars"; and her motto, "Let us shine as the brightest star." She chose as scripture, Daniel 12:3.

BARBARA DAILY

Daily, Rainbow dad; and Mrs. D. D. Dyer, choir mother.

NEW OFFICERS
New officers entered through a wrought iron star studded archway, carrying white Bibles and Rainbow streamers. They were introduced by Beverly Dobbins, junior past worthy advisor. Those presented were Miss Daily; Sara Homan, worthy associate advisor; Carol Hughes, charity; Sara King, hope; Sheri Andre, faith; Merry Lee Dibrell, recorder; Lana Satterwhite, treasurer; Judy Daniel, chaplain; Regina Rhoads, drill leader; Freddie Kay Woods, love; Marsha Stark, religion.

Also, Kay Trupp, nature; Arlene Nixon, immortality; Ann Howard, fidelity; Deanna Morris, patriotism; Nancy Thomas, service; Carla Chapman, confidential observer; Terry Landy, outer observer; Sheri Alexander, musician; Susan Guller, choir director; Sharon Bell, prompter; Kim Burchell, mascot; Mrs. M. K. Moelling, mother advisor; O. H.

installing musician; Merry Lee Dibrell, installing recorder; Mrs. Marie Daniel, adult installing officer. All were introduced by Mrs. Ervin Daniel.

The invocation was given by A. A. McKinney, and special music was presented by Glenn E. Faison. Mrs. F. C. Gambill addressed the assembly, after which merit awards were made by Mrs. John W. Howard. The Rev. Robert F. Polk offered the benediction.

Concluding the evening, refreshments were served in the dining hall, with members of the advisory board as hosts. A doll replica of the new worthy advisor centered the refreshment table. Committees and their members are: Paraphernalia committee: Sheri Andre, chairman, Freddie Woods, Regina Rhoads, Lanna Satterwhite and Terr Land; refreshment committee, Carla Chapman and Rita Saunders, for October; Regina Rhoads and Janina and Donna Watts, November; Sheri Andre and Freddie Kay Woods, December; Barbara Daily, January.

Doll-Making Is Passtime

There's nothing quite so much fun to make during summer as a vegetable figurine to enter in the flower show in your town or city. All sorts of vegetables are in the garden and in the market now and they have all sorts of shapes.

It's those shapes that you want to notice, for these will look like some animal or part of animal; some person or part of a person. And that's how you start your figurine—with a vegetable of the right shape to become all or one part of it.

A squash bird could be made mostly of one squash the right shape to form body, neck, head and bill with only wings and feet needed to be "toothpicked" to the squash to complete the bird.

A Hawaiian dancer would have carrots for legs and body, beans for arms, a small tomato for a head and lovely corn silk hair. Her skirt would be made of grass, of course, for that's the style in Hawaii.

A plump lady would have a potato for her upper body, beans for arms and corn silk hair. Her hat could be the top of an acorn squash; the bottom of the squash should be cut off and turned upside down to stand solidly and form her skirt.

Take a trip to the garden or to the market with your eyes wide, wide open and you're sure to find lots of vegetables to give you lots of ideas for vegetable figurines.

Recipes Roll In Herald Contest

The recipes are rolling in, and it appears that when The Herald's special collection is issued late this month, home makers will find a profusion of tasty dishes, to bring new zest to their meals.

"Tastes O' Texas" is the name of the collection, and recipes are invited from everyone. They must be the home-developed, family-treasured type of recipe, and not the pre-mix, box-top kind. Every recipe will be published in a special section to appear in The Herald, and additional copies will be printed for general sale.

In addition, there are prizes for the best recipes. In seven categories of food items, there will be a $10 cash award each. Then, there is a grand prize of $100 cash. Home economic authorities will do the judging.

Women (men, too, if they wish!) are urged to get their recipes in quickly, as deadline time is approaching. All details, full information, and the rules of the contest appear in today's Herald on page 9-A. Be sure and read this carefully, then send in your recipe—right away.

Separate Muffins

Use the tines of a fork to break apart English muffins. Don't cut them into halves with a knife or you'll spoil the texture—it's supposed to be rough.

Zippy Spread

Add both chili sauce and curry powder, in discreet doses to soft cheddar cheese, for a different spread. Serve with crisp crackers.

Muffin Variation

Diced preserved citron and light-colored raisins make plain sweet muffin batter extra special. Greeted lemon rind won't hurt either!

Murderers Face Stern Rap, Average Sentence 30 Years

By SAM BLACKBURN
It is often said that juries in Howard County are extremely lenient with persons charged with murder.

"You can get away with murder easy," is a widely quoted expression.

Well, widely quoted or not, the statement is not true.

Murderers in Howard County face a pretty stern rap when they are brought before the court for their crime. The record for the past eight years shows the average murderer convicted in the 118th District Court has drawn an average sentence of 30 years. Nationally, the statistics on sentences for murder break down to far fewer years than that.

EIGHT YEARS
Gil Jones, district attorney, who wound up eight years service in that office Oct. 4 and who is now starting on his ninth year as chief prosecutor, does not feel that murderers get off lightly in this county.

"My files show that I have prosecuted 13 murder cases in the eight years I have been in this office," said Jones. "Juries returned 12 verdicts of guilty. The defendants were assessed 261 years prison time, plus one life sentence, and one sentence of death. The life sentence, if estimated as equivalent to 99 years, brings the total years assessed to 360. This would make the average punishment per individual 30 years."

"The matter of murder," Jones observes, "is one of high interest to the public. More correctly stated, the matter of homicide is of high interest. Not all cases where one person takes the life of another constitutes murder. Indeed, most of the killings which come before my office are not murder."

HOMICIDES
"During the eight years, there have been numerous homicides which I have laid before grand juries and where the grand juries, after considering the evidence, have declined to vote indictments."

"Some of these were obvious instances where a slaying was in self-defense. One or two have been where a homicide grew out of an attempt by the victim to break into a house."

"There is a sharp distinction between murder and the simple fact that one person has taken the life of a fellow being. And the 12 persons we have convicted were individuals whose offense was clear-cut cases of murder with malice."

Jones said he had asked the death penalty for a defendant in only one case—that of fairly recent history. It was in the trial of Rusk of John Edwin Myers, charged with the highway killing of a hitchhiker. Myers is now confined in the county jail here waiting outcome of his appeal from the death penalty.

Jones became district attorney of the 118th District Court by appointment from Governor Allen Shivers, that was Oct. 4, 1954. The 118th District Court has had only two prosecutors and two judges in its history. The court came into existence in October 1949. The late Charlie Sullivan was its first judge, serving until his retirement. He was followed by the present judge, Ralph W. Caton.

Jones' predecessor was Elton Gilliland, who is now practicing law in Odessa. He left the office in 1954. Jones has been twice re-elected and had no opposition in either campaign.

A check of the statistics for the eight years that he has been in office shows that he has tried 600 criminal cases. He achieved 686 convictions—only four times in the eight years, he heard a jury inform the court it found the defendant before the bar "not guilty."

"One of the acquittals was in a murder case," Jones recalls.

2,678 YEARS
Of the defendants tried, 428 were ordered confined in the state penitentiary for a combined total of 2,678 years. In addition to the penal sentences, other defendants were committed to the county jail for 2,382 days.

There have been a total of eight life sentences recorded. One of these was for murder. Others were for habitual criminal charges and narcotics offenses.

The records show the four acquittals were in a murder case, a case charging violations of the state narcotics law and two for indictments where DWI second offense was alleged.

Murder is actually the least frequent crime with which Jones has to cope. Only 1.5 per cent of all offenses handled by his office fall in that category.

What is the most common crime in Howard County?

FORGERY
Forgery leads the list. Twenty-nine per cent of all cases tried in the court are for forgery. Jones has a perfect record in this group with 200 cases tried; 200 convictions. Of this number, 124 drew prison sentences; their average prison time is 2.9 years. Fifty-five have been granted probation and 21 given suspended sentences.

It should be pointed out that Jones is a most effective employer of the idea of having felons enter guilty pleas rather than having to try them before a jury.

"It saves time and money," he said. "It speeds up the administration of justice and, very often, a defendant who pleads guilty to a charge stands a better chance to become a rehabilitated person than if we had to prosecute him and let a jury rule on his fate."

Actually, there have been only 53 jury trials for criminal offenses—less than seven a year for the eight years, Jones has been in the DA's office. In that same period, 636 pleas of guilty have been entered in felony cases.

BURGLARY
Burglary is the No. 2 crime with which the office has to cope. In the eight years, there have been 148 burglary cases tried with 142 convictions. Ninety-one of these defendants were sent to prison for average terms of 3.3 years each. Fifty-one have been granted either probation or suspended sentences. Burglary accounts for 20 per cent of the crime which is investigated by the district attorney.

Theft is next with 14 per cent. In the eight years, there have been 97 convictions out of 97 cases tried with 48 defendants sent to prison to serve average terms of 3.5 years.

Drivers who operate motor vehicles while intoxicated and who have already been once found guilty of this offense account for 14 per cent of the felony cases in Howard County. Eighty-eight defendants out of 90 indicted for DWI second offense in the eight years have been found guilty. Bulk of these go to county jail or pay fines and serve out probation sentences. The average fine is $215.

ROBBERY
Robbers in this county account for five per cent of felonies and of 35 tried and convicted, 27 have gone to prison to serve average terms of 11.7 years.

Worthless check writers, whose activities involve checks for amounts $50 or more, match the robbers in percentage contributed to the crime story. Thirty-three worthless check writers have been tried and convicted with 22 going to prison for average terms of 2.6 years.

Narcotics violations (mostly concerning the sale or use of marijuana) provided 22 cases in the court in the eight years. Twenty-one were found guilty, nineteen going to prison for average terms of 10 years each. One was acquitted.

ASSAULT
Assault with intent to murder—a crime which appears to be extremely common on the local scene—has led to 22 prosecutions with 22 convictions for three per cent of the total crime in the county. Twelve of the offenders have been sent to the state penitentiary for average terms of five years.

Murder, with 1.5 per cent of the crime total, brings the total to 33.5 per cent of the felony violations in the county. The remaining 6.5 per cent covers a wide assortment of offenses—such crimes as sodomy, perjury, murder by auto, swindle, assault with intent to rape, child desertion, misapplication of public funds, failure to stop and render aid, rape, fondling, indecent exposure, concealing mortgaged property, unlawful possession of a hypodermic syringe, ex-convict in possession of a pistol and arson.

RARE CRIME
"Arson is a rare crime in Howard County," Jones comments. "I have had only one arson case since I have been in this office and it turned out the court held that defendant to be insane."

Jones believes in probation sentences for first offenders and feels that under careful supervision, many potential criminals are rehabilitated. He has recommended probation for 107 offenders in the eight years he has served. He has proposed suspended sentences for 157 others.

While fines do not play a major role in the operations of district court in criminal matters, there have been $19,477 in fines assessed in cases where such penalties are provided by law.

Jones said he is deeply appreciative to the court and law enforcement officials for help in the handling of his duties and to the citizens for their loyal service as grand jurors and as petit jurors.

He also cited the work of his special investigator.

"Bobby West became my personal investigator shortly after I took office," said the district attorney, "so he will soon celebrate his eighth anniversary, too."

"He has been of invaluable aid to me in the work we have to do in this office."

DOCKET
How far behind is the criminal docket at this time?

"We now have 47 cases pending on our criminal felony docket in Howard County," Jones said.

"Actually, of these 47 cases, only 12 are entitled to be described as 'active.' The other 35 probably will terminate ultimately in dismissals."

"The cases which will probably be dismissed are primarily composed of cases still pending against persons who are already in the penitentiary on other charges but are cases I do not feel advisable to dismiss at this time."

VA Volunteers To Meet Monday

A meeting of the VA Voluntary Service Advisory Committee is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital.

It was set for the evening instead of the usual noon hour to enable leaders of civic, service and welfare organizations to attend. They have all been invited, according to V. J. Belda, hospital director.

The committee will take up plans for Christmas and other holiday activities. A need for more volunteers will also be pointed out. There are currently 144 adult volunteers, but more are needed.

MOSCOW (AP)—President Tito will visit the Soviet Union in December, the Soviet news agency Tass reports.

Rides, games, food and fun will be on tap this week when the Downtown Lions Club, in cooperation with a number of other civic organizations, sponsors Fun-O-Rama.

The carnival-type amusement center will be set up between Third and Fourth Streets immediately east of Birdwell Lane, starting Monday and continuing through Saturday.

All of the Downtown Lions share will go to its welfare fund. Virtually all other participating agencies will earmark their earnings for charities, etc.

Included in the outlay will be approximately a dozen rides such as the big ferris wheel, tilt-a-whirl, rocket ride, small roller coaster, plus a variety of rides for tiny tots.

Upwards of a dozen and a half games and booths to test the skill of customers will be operated by different clubs in town.

Besides these, there will be five food concessions operated locally. James Tidwell, president of the Downtown Lions, said that members of the club had volunteered to furnish manpower, and this is true of members in other organizations which are participating.

Voting Machine All To Himself

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — On election day, Edward J. Meyer will have a voting machine all to himself.

Meyer is the only registered voter in the downtown 8th District of Rochester's 5th Ward. The city Board of Elections said last week that election law requires that Meyer be provided with a separate voting machine.

Is Our Community Too Corny?

The Big Spring Concert Association needs your help.
It's that simple. The current membership enrollment has fallen short by the equivalent of 200 adult members.
Cancelling would cost as much in forfeitures as the amount yet needed. But cancelling would be unthinkable. It would be like putting the pistol to the head of an agency which has struggled over the years to establish an appreciation of finer entertainment in Big Spring.
Granted that not all programs will appeal to everyone, there are scores of people here who can afford to support the goal of finer entertainment in Big Spring by obtaining memberships. If they can't or do not care to attend a program, they doubtless have friends who would. There may be business concerns who would invest in a few extra memberships for customers and other friends.

It is ironic that recently while a committee of our Chamber of Commerce explored ways to promote cultural affairs in our community, friends of quality entertainment have been voting against it by keeping their hands in their pockets.

The Community Attitude Survey

The Jaycees have completed a sampling with the objective of ascertaining community attitudes toward certain facilities and services. An estimated 6.6 per cent of the population answered questionnaires, checking their impressions under very good, adequate, inadequate and don't know.
This is not a scientific survey, nor are the conclusions reached necessarily accurate. However, it must be conceded that these do reflect what the title infers—some community attitudes.

Ranking right at the top in public approval are postal service, water supply and medical service.
Ranking at the bottom are recreational opportunities, storm water drainage, public transportation inside the city, lack of downtown restroom facilities, and job opportunities.

Rating 80 to 90 very good or adequate were utilities (electricity, gas, telephones), dental services; rating 70-80 or very good and adequate were sewage disposal, newspaper services, fire protection, law enforcement, hospital services, traffic regulation, library, hotels and motels, shopping facilities. Rating 60-70 were television and radio, sidewalks, swimming facilities, golfing facilities, picnic areas, service and repair facilities.
Recent flood damage must have been fresh in the minds of those answering for 66 said storm water drainage was in adequate and another 10 were uncertain.
Here are some other things about which people were extremely dubious (adding inadequate and don't know): welfare services (72), recreational opportunities for teen-agers (70) for older people (80), public meeting places for teen-age socials (71), playgrounds (61), meeting places for large groups (61), cultural opportunities (65), school buildings and equipment for primary grades (65) for junior high grades (61), public restrooms in business district (81), job opportunities for persons under 18 (84), ages 18-29 (65), ages 40-60 (84), ages over 65 (95), community planning and development (60).

Well, what conclusions may be drawn from all this?

Perhaps the most consistent picture is that the people think we are lagging (or at least are not convinced that we are doing a good job) in those plus human services such as recreational opportunities, public meeting places, downtown restrooms, intracity public transportation, welfare services, cultural opportunities. There seems to be a strong feeling of doubt about employment opportunities.
Perhaps one other conclusion may be drawn, namely this: If certain enterprises and institutions are doing a good job, they are falling miserably in telling their story convincingly. When a third or more people answer "don't know" to about 40 per cent of the questions, this can be a disturbing thing within itself. Maybe this is the worst symptom of all so far as attitude goes.

Marquis Childs Berlin Showdown Coming Soon

BERLIN —In every Western capital the conviction is widely held that a showdown with the Soviets over West Berlin is bound to come in the next three to four months. A crisis more grave than any since the end of the war will be resolved—if it is resolved—just short of nuclear conflict.

AT EVERY STOP this reporter has made—London, Paris, Brussels, Rome, Bonn—it has been the same. Soviet diplomats have been telling anyone who will listen that this time Premier Khrushchev means it. After nearly four years of delay following his first ultimatum he intends to turn authority over to the East Germans and force the Western garrisons to leave.

When this will happen no one can be sure. But the following timetable, which pushes ahead the final showdown a month or six weeks beyond recent estimates, is taken as probable.

AFTER THE American elections in November there will be further East-West talks. The Soviet goal in pushing these talks is to be able to say when the showdown comes that they exhausted every possibility for a peaceful settlement.

Whether this will include a confrontation between President Kennedy and Khrushchev is one of the great uncertainties. The hints Khrushchev has been throwing out to various visitors indicates he would like such a meeting. But the American view, as understood here, is one of great skepticism. Without advance assurance of some shift in the Soviet position, Khrushchev would merely fit a futile confrontation into his propaganda buildup.

IN DECEMBER a separate peace treaty with East Germany will be signed in Moscow with all possible fanfare. The language covering West Berlin and the authority of the East Germans over the access routes with West Germany will be deliberately fuzzy. This will usher in the phase of greatest tension.

Then in January will come the first overt move—a determined effort to put a stop to the military traffic on the access routes and thereby to freeze out the American, British and French forces to the number of about 12,000 garrisoned here. The last was the purport of an interview given by West German Ambassador to Moscow, Hans Kroll, after a six-hour talk with Khrushchev as he left his post to take a new position as adviser in the foreign office in Bonn. While no one takes the erratic Kroll too seriously, Khrushchev has expressed the same intention to at least three other persons with whom he has talked.

AT THE SAME time the stream of civilian traffic would be allowed to continue carrying the cargoes that add up to a trade of $700 million to $800 million a year between the two Germanys. Part of the gambit is obviously to hold out the bait to West Germany that the relationship can continue if only the token military forces are removed.

This would bring the showdown, since for the West the presence of the garrisons is a minimum requisite for the guarantee of Berlin's integrity. What form the showdown would take and at what point it would approach a nuclear ultimatum no one ventures even to guess.

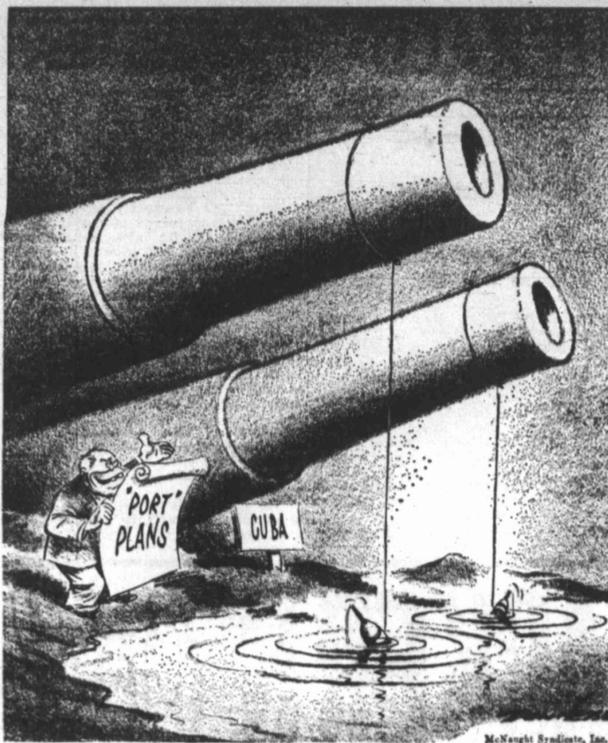

THE IDEA that the Soviets in the first phase might rely on East German troops is not taken seriously in Bonn or Berlin. Without the presence of Russian divisions immediately at their back they could not be relied on and at the slightest setback they would defect en masse. In the course of lengthy interrogation in the defense ministry in Bonn the highest-level defector yet to come from the East said that the East German command was kept from all knowledge of the rocket emplacements that in the course of a program developed over the past two years have been sited along the East-West border and the access routes.

IT IS PRECISELY here in Berlin, now enjoying the kind of warm summer weather that never came in July and August when all records for cold and rain were broken, that it is hardest to accept the credibility of this grim prospect. The city is busier and brighter than ever before. The net loss in population that occurred after the wall went up in August, 1961, has now been replaced by a net gain.

AT HIS HASTILY called press conference when he returned from Germany last week Secretary of Defense McNamara said what has been so often said before—that the United States will use nuclear weapons to defend Berlin. This is reported to have reassured West Germans who may have had doubts about American intentions.
But if the present confidence, the familiar absorbed German business, is based on this kind of assurance, it is questionable whether many Germans comprehend what such a defense would mean. As in the fable, the call of "Wolf! Wolf!" has come so often that Berliners at least cannot bring themselves to believe the worst will ever happen. Once more the threat will pass, and the Western garrisons—a brave token display of a total force well under a division surrounded by probably 25 Russian and three of four East German divisions—will still be happily visible.

WHAT FINALLY must be said is that no one, probably not Khrushchev himself, knows what will really happen. As one of the brilliant younger men in the defense ministry in Bonn put it to this reporter: "The wall was totally unexpected. You may be sure that what they do in December or January will also be something that we do not expect."

'NOBODY HERE BUT US FISHERMEN'

Report From A Traveler Madeira Found To Be Lush, Attractive Land

By HOUSTON HARTE
FUNCHAL, Madeira — The luxury liner Santa Maria, last pirate ship of this century, was tied up along a new dock in Funchal's enlarged harbor as passengers from the SS Independence rode a rolling tender to the Funchal, quay which opens onto the principal square of the city.

It seemed appropriate that the namesake of Columbus' flagship, the Santa Maria, was in this largest and most southern harbor of the Madeira islands. It was here Christopher Columbus married Felipa Perestrelo, daughter of the 15th century governor of these islands.

THE 21,750-TON Portuguese liner is the flagship of the considerable Portuguese merchant fleet. Its last year's experience gave publicity that has helped fill its cabins. It is fully air conditioned and piles a regular schedule from Lisbon down the west coast of Africa and across the Atlantic to South America.

Portugal has close ties with Venezuela, Brazil and Argentina. THE SANTA MARIA sailed on its famous voyage from Lisbon on Jan. 9, 1492. She was seized from within on the high seas on Jan. 21 by a band of Portuguese rebels opposed to the regime of President Antonio Salazar whose 25-year-long dictatorship had ruled Portugal. The daring capture was engineered by Henrique Galvao, an erudite Portuguese who at one time had been a candidate for President against Salazar. As you look up at this sleek liner you know you were looking at history.

Madeira actually is made up of eight islands which all carry this general name. They lie 340 miles west of the northwest coast of Africa. The main island of which Funchal is the principal city is 35 miles long and from 3 to 15 miles wide. Tall mountain ranges make up a considerable part of the islands. At least one of the peaks is 6,000 feet high. The climate is almost an exact duplicate of that of Hawaii.

THE ENGLISH realized possibilities of Madeira soon after the Portuguese discoverer Joao Zarco and Tristao Vaz ventured out in the Atlantic, which in that day and time were believed to be infested with monsters capable of swallowing a ship and its crew at a single gulp. Their official discovery is recorded as having been made in 1419, 73 years before Columbus knelt on San Salvador. Madeira played its part in the discovery of the Western Hemisphere. Columbus was among the sailors who visited Madeira.

FUNCHAL IS A CITY of from 90,000 to 100,000. The islands have a population of about 300,000. This is the same as it was in 1923 when we were here. Its population is the most dense of any in Europe. The people of these islands are small. They look like they would average no more than five feet tall and weigh 150 pounds.

Food is plentiful and cheap and the Madeirans appear energetic. The warm Gulf Stream provides a climate that produces any fruit or vegetable and the waters about the islands teem with every sort of fish, from tuna to eels. There is a sizeable tuna canning plant here.

Principal exports are the famous Madeiran wines, sugar, bananas, many other fruits, vegetables and embroidery. The airplane plays its part too. There are six airlines that stop at Funchal, even more than this at Casablanca.

THERE IS A RAINY season, but almost every week the hills get thunder showers. The terraced land with its permanent roads and canals, turns this surplus water into reservoirs behind concrete dams, using it later for irrigation and some water power.

Supplemental irrigation has made Madeira one of the world's most fertile islands for over 400 years. THE INTRICATE stone-lined canals are called levadas. These canals bring water from the high interior to the very shore of the Atlantic. They make available afternoon mountain showers for crops in need of moisture in the dry summers. One of the levadas bores through the mountain range and spreads prosperous water to the dry side of the island. One of the main ditches is 70 miles long.

Wages are cheap here no matter what the job. It is the basis of the embroidery trade that provides the principal handicraft export. It also offers a retirement haven away from the wars of Europe where an old soldier on a modest pension can gradually fade away in a luxury enjoyed in few other places.

Reid's Palace Hotel sits on a sheer bluff overlooking the Funchal harbor. It has grounds that afford great climbing bougainvillea, hibiscus and blue hydrangeas. The passion flower and flowering frangipani bloom in profusion but were out of season in September. Reid's guests look out on beautiful vistas from its spacious drawing rooms and its wide verandas.

PORTUGUESE and British passenger ships have stopped at Funchal for years. Now the long and short cruises of the American Export Line's Independence and Constitution have made Madeira a regular stop on both east and westbound voyages. When the ship comes in it is a big day in these isolated places. The American Export Lines has done more for Casablanca and Funchal than all the other lines combined because its two big ships make almost 50 stops a year.

The terraced land with its permanent roads and canals, turns this surplus water into reservoirs behind concrete dams, using it later for irrigation and some water power.

Supplemental irrigation has made Madeira one of the world's most fertile islands for over 400 years. THE INTRICATE stone-lined canals are called levadas. These canals bring water from the high interior to the very shore of the Atlantic. They make available afternoon mountain showers for crops in need of moisture in the dry summers. One of the levadas bores through the mountain range and spreads prosperous water to the dry side of the island. One of the main ditches is 70 miles long.

Wages are cheap here no matter what the job. It is the basis of the embroidery trade that provides the principal handicraft export. It also offers a retirement haven away from the wars of Europe where an old soldier on a modest pension can gradually fade away in a luxury enjoyed in few other places.

Around The Rim Some People Are Just Upsetting

The well-adjusted people are always saying that you shouldn't let little things upset you. But the well-adjusted have never experienced the sheer delight of blowing a gasket, then gradually simmering down to a state of normalcy.

It takes a bit of doing to have a real flash temper, the kind that can touch off a rocket on a second's notice. Masterful rage is a wonderful thing to behold, and the fireworks that scatter all around during a performance is enough to make people tremble for hours, and to remember the rest of their days, like the first time they ever went to a circus.

ENOUGH OF the philosophy. I am acknowledged by those who know me well to be a remarkably even-tempered man—one who stays in a foul humor all the time. So I just got to thinking about some instances that do blow off my safety valve. Sure enough, they are little things.

I HAVE ALWAYS longed to have the fortitude to do something about the auto driver who pulled up right back of me at a red traffic signal, then sat on the horn almost before the light got through changing. What I have really wanted to do is to calmly set the brake of my own car, get out and walk back deliberately to the other's vehicle, open his car door, then bust him on the side of the head. Even when the impatient driver behind is a woman, I have to stifle the same impulse.

There's another driver whom, one day, I may surprise. He is the one who comes screeching up to the pedestrian crosswalk, and slips the front of his car about two-thirds across this walk. This is when I am the pedestrian.

WHAT I HAVE wanted to do is to have on heavy hob-nail boots, to be methodical, to climb up and tramp right across the hood of the car, and step down the other side, leaving scars that will never come off.

The other driver who will one day feel the full vent of my wrath is the one who slips into the last parking space on the block, just as I am cutting the wheels of my own car to get in there. Actually, though, this is a kind of a game, and the loser is entitled to sulk for awhile, but not really get mad.

THERE IS one other character that I long to get my hands on. He is the guy who put those itchy-bitly loop arrangements on the collars of men's sports shirts, thinking that in some way the collar could be fastened.

I want to see this guy, and find out if he is mad at buttonholes, or something; or if he is trying to undermine the whole style of buttoned collars. I defy him to get one of those loops over a collar button in less than 34 minutes. (My best time) and without (a) turning red in the face from lack of circulation; (b) choking into a prolonged fit of coughing; (c) yelling for the wife to come help button the d-mned thing; and (d) saying the h-l with it, get me a shirt with a decent collar on it.

SAY, SINCE I got to writing this, dander has raised, and I am thinking about all kinds of nuts who upset the even tenor of my life. May even take another chapter to write about them. All the venom isn't gone.

David Lawrence Employing Moral Force

WASHINGTON—In a troubled world and in a troubled nation, it is heartening to report a simple incident which furnishes a symbol of hope.

Fifteen United States senators gathered one day this past week to pray together and to ponder the lessons of a spiritual heritage. This breakfast group, in varying numbers and including some former senators, too, has been meeting for nearly twenty years on Wednesday mornings when Congress is in session. What is said behind the closed doors is not for publication. This writer, who happens to be a member of the group, has listened for many years now to some of the most impressive talks on spiritual matters, which he wishes could have been published. These discussions are not clouded with sectarianism but with the broader phases of religious life. They come spontaneously from the heart and consciences of men who have faith in God.

WHEN THE SENATORS gathered this week for the last meeting of the year, events in the background were more challenging than ever before. As they arrived at the private dining room in the Capitol, they had just heard over the radio the first few minutes of news about the sending of another American into outer space. The Senate, along with the House, has been deeply concerned legislatively with the ventures of the United States astronauts into space.

It is not easy to put aside as mere science the miracle of man speeding through space at 17,500 miles an hour, nor to forget the possible military implications of the space contest in the midst of a "cold war." Nor can feelings over the tragedies and controversies in the life of the nation be swept aside as mere emotion without full understanding.

ON THE BASIC point is whether man can triumph over himself—over the evils of a man-made environment. Can the "cold war," for instance, be won? Why is it that, despite the billions of dollars spent each year for foreign aid and the hundreds of billions expended in the last decade for defense, the battle is far from won, and there are skeptics who even question whether it ever will be?

Why in the war of words is truth distorted and brushed aside? Why have so many tens of millions of persons been taken behind the Iron Curtain year after year under a dynasty that doesn't believe in God? These are questions in the minds not only of the men in public life in America, but in the minds of peoples throughout what we call the "free world."

MORAL FORCE isn't, of course, mere pacifism or non-resistance as against the basic law of self-preservation. Moral force is the combined power of individuals who are ready to make the supreme sacrifice for what they feel is right. This means a search for truth and the courage to pronounce it, and communicate it around the world.

But to convey truth requires a sense of conviction. Unless the champion of truth is himself free from the evils of ambition or selfishness—or of the prejudices of self-interest that make it difficult to perceive truth—moral force cannot gain its victory.

THERE MUST BE millions of persons behind the Iron Curtain who know they cannot rely on themselves but must seek the guidance of a higher being. There must be millions on this side of the Iron Curtain who are ready to crusade for truth and the righteousness of their cause.

War and its bloodshed may come again, as it has in the past, but man can pray persistently to God for guidance and have faith in the willingness of a supreme being to bring light to a darkened world. War comes as a result of the acts of misguided cliques and regimes. Peoples have been slow to exert their concerted power to establish their will without combat.

MORAL FORCE may some day be better understood than it is today. It is significant, however, that men in high places are constantly praying to God for guidance, even as our forefathers did when nearly two hundred years ago they made their sacrifices and founded the American republic. Holmes Alexander Popularity Is Not Leadership

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy's ability for leadership, as well as his personal popularity, are at stake in Mississippi, and the first is of far greater importance than the second.

For if Mr. Kennedy cannot lead the nation any better in this domestic upsurge than he has in foreign affairs, we are in the kind of a fix that we were in under such weaklings as Madison and Buchanan, who permitted non-presidential figures to drive the country into disastrous wars and disunion.

POPULARITY, however, is nothing, except as a character test. In these days when politicians fearfully watch the foolish polls and model their behavior on them, and when a winning smile and empty rhetoric count too much, it is probably better for a President to be politically disliked than otherwise. What we needed most under Mr. Eisenhower, and now under Mr. Kennedy, is a Chief Executive who dares to be unpopular, as great leaders have often done, rather than to bend a principle or shirk a duty.

To the extent that the President dares to do this, we should hope that the American people will love him for it, and that the people will treat with proper scorn the low-minded attacks upon his private household, his religion and his honest mistakes.

BUT THIS MATTER of his leadership as demonstrated in Mississippi sets JFK squarely before the Judgment Seat of our own time, and of history, too. The question of an American community's right to be different, and to be free of Federal intimidation and brute force, is without exception the most important issue ever had. No sooner was George Washington out of the presidency than the issue was joined by the Federalist party on one side and the Republic (later Democratic) party on the other.

ALL OF MR. KENNEDY'S early political forebears—Jefferson, Madison, Monroe—were on the side of the States and against the Federal authority. They were on the side that Mr. Kennedy now opposes in Mississippi. Jefferson wrote the Kentucky Resolutions and Madison the Virginia Resolutions, both of which, in 1798, proclaimed a State's right to "interpose" its authority against Federal meddling with local affairs, and there is historical evidence that Monroe, as Governor of Virginia, prepared the State for armed resistance against the John Adams Administration.

ALL THIS MAY not mean that Mr. Kennedy is today compelled to believe what Jefferson, Madison and Monroe believed in their day. But the beliefs of these former Presidents are a form of political holy writ, and I say they deserve respect at the White House and in the Justice Department, and that they should have imposed a restraint upon this Administration and should command far more consideration than the yowling of the race-leveling fanatics.

A BETTER historian than Mr. Kennedy was Henry Adams, who dealt with this same matter in his biography of John Randolph, and elsewhere, and dealt with it in depth. Adams conceded that the States' Rights position was often defended by demagogues, and that its sanctity was injured by an unnatural association with slavery. But Adams wrote that the States' Rights doctrine was what the Constitution intended and what the party of Jefferson believed, and that "the opposite doctrine . . . was merely the old despotic sovereignty of Europe, more or less disguised." And Adams wrote that, while Americans shrank from an appeal to arms against the central government, this was their right—or else they had no rights at all.

THE TRUTH is that Mississippi does have the moral right to resist the registration of one whom it considers to be undesirable in its University. Mr. Kennedy does not understand the problem at all unless he understands this. And lacking the understanding, he cannot be convincing as a leader of all the American people. To Your Good Health Surgery Suggested For Varicose Veins

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Every so often a couple of letters arrive at the same time and one answers the other. Like this pair:

"Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has varicose veins and recently I noticed an open sore near his ankle. He said it pained him very much but he is afraid to go to the doctor.—MRS. D. H."

The other letter:
"You had a letter from a person with 'milk leg' and you suggested surgical attention to varicose veins. You are so right, Dr. M."

"I saw a miracle take place in my own home last fall. My mother had milk leg for years; she could hardly walk and had an open sore on her ankle.

"She had heard of surgery but was afraid of how much it would cost. Finally the doctor said she might be unable to walk at all unless she had the operation.

"Believe me, the surgery was not real expensive. We are common people and could not have afforded it if it had been.

"In four to six weeks she was walking very easily and is so thankful she had the operation, and to all of our family it seemed like a miracle.—M. Z."

But it's NOT a miracle. It's a matter of applying knowledge that has been accumulated over many years.

Phlebitis and varicose veins are not exactly the same thing, but they have a great deal in common—they impede the circulation severely, veins become distended and blood returns only sluggishly to the heart and lungs. Hence fresh blood is equally slow in flowing to the area.

Removing or tying off the distended veins forces circulation into other veins. The rate of circulation becomes brisker, and with this fresh blood supply "varicose ulcers" at last have a chance to heal.

This is explained in much more detail in my booklet, "How to Deal with Varicose Veins." If you're interested, the booklet is available to anyone in return for 20 cents for printing and handling costs, plus a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Send requests to Dr. Molner, care of the Big Spring Herald.

Welcome TO BIG SPRING

WEBB PILOT TRAINING CLASS 64-C

Big Spring and all its people extend the friendly hand of a West Texas welcome to the student pilots of Webb's Class 64-C. These young men, here for a complete course of primary and basic jet-flying instruction, become citizens of our city for more than a year, and it is our earnest hope that they will find here a helpful, cheerful and hospitable atmosphere; and that when they must leave, they will do so with a kind feeling in their hearts for Big Spring, its business establishments, and all its population.

May we urge our new student pilots, as time permits them, to become acquainted with our town, to know about the churches and the schools, the facilities for leisure and enjoyment, the shops and the service establishments.

Particularly do we ask them to drop in and see us, just to let us get acquainted, and say in person what we are saying here. There's no obligation to buy at any time . . . we want to be of service, and of assistance if we can.

Yes, it's all wrapped up in one wholesome, hearty word . . . "WELCOME!"

A "HOSPITALITY GIFT" For New STUDENT PILOTS

If the Webb student pilot or his wife will call within the next 10 days at the store or service establishment whose name appears with his under his picture (bringing this page with him for identification), he will be given a "welcome gift" by that firm. There is no obligation, and we simply ask that the visit be for getting acquainted. Be our guest!

HCJC Student Officers Selected In Elections

By MARILYN GUM
Election fever rose to a high this past week around the HCJC campus as elections for Student Government Association, class officers, and cheerleaders took place.

Results of the election are as follows: Conroy Lacy, SGA president; Roger Hubbard, SGA vice president; Cheryl Jones, SGA secretary; Charles Driver, SGA treasurer.

The sophomore class elected the following officers: Kenneth Windham, president; Bill Thompson, vice president; Kay Crownover, secretary.

Elected from the freshman class are Charles Driver, president; Anthony Rhodes, vice president; Marilyn Gum, secretary.

Representatives to the SGA are sophomores Janie Harrington, Gary Pickle, Neal Brinson and freshmen Alice Long and Billy Horne. There is to be a run-off between Hedy Gaida and Lloyd Senn for freshman SGA representative.

Cheerleaders for the year are Sammy Blake, Eric Brewster, Hedy Gaida freshmen; Donna Percy and Larry Mauldin, sophomores.

Kay Crownover and Janie Harrington from the yearbook staff, Neal Brinson and Marilyn Gum from the newspaper staff, and its sponsor, Miss Elizabeth Daniel leave this morning for College Station. The two HCJC student publications, The Jayhawker and El Nido, will be represented at the tenth annual conference of the Texas Junior College Press Association, of which HCJC is a charter member. More than a hundred journalists from the twenty member colleges are expected to attend the sessions which close at noon on Tuesday.

The Texas Recreation Federation for College Women will convene on the campus of HCJC next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 11-13.

The convention theme "Let '62 Bring Sports To You" will be carried throughout the convention.

Clinics will be held on Friday morning in basketball, archery, and track and field.

Miss Sherley Oswald, Abernathy High School, will conduct the Archery Clinic. During her tenure at Abernathy (1957-62) her varsity team has won two state championships, two district championships, and has been runner-up in the district for two years.

Mrs. Natalie Russell of Amarillo College will conduct the Archery Clinic, while Miss Ouisa Molen of San Angelo High School will serve as consultant for the Track and Field Clinic. Both Mrs. Russell and Miss Molen are outstanding in the field of recreation, and both are prominent in their home cities as recreation leaders.

Sponsors and delegates will arrive in Big Spring on Thursday afternoon for registration which begins at 4:00 p.m.

Kay Crownover, HCJC, president of the Women's Recreation Association at HCJC, will preside at the general assembly and will chair all business meetings of the convention.

Pat Saunders, vice president, will chair the Constitution Committee meeting and will serve as hostess throughout the convention.

Janie Harrington, secretary-treasurer, will be in charge of registration.

Homecoming Activities Take Place Saturday

By BONNIE SIMPSON
The nominees for Homecoming Queen were chosen from each class. The nominees were: senior—Lanell Overton; junior—Dena Parker; sophomore—Orveta Fryar; and freshman—Jody Dodd. The exact selection for Homecoming Queen was revealed at half time during the game.

Students were greatly relieved Friday, as final touches were put on six weeks exams. First and second period exams were taken Wednesday, third and fourth periods were taken Friday.

Students got into the spirit of Homecoming by having a bonfire and pep rally. It was held Friday at 6:30 p.m. at the football field.

A work schedule for Homecoming was outlined by the Student Council. Members are responsible for clean-up after Homecoming.

Junior and senior magazine sales came to a close Tuesday. High salesmen in the senior class was Sharon Klahr, who received a trophy for her efforts, and high salesman in the junior class was Bernie Sudday.

Thirty eager girls came out for the first day of basketball practice Monday. Carla Jo Hughes and Lanell Overton, both guards, were elected co-captains of this year's team.

Tuesday, at noon, a student council meeting was held. Plans were made to take a yearly subscription to National Geographic Magazine. These issues will then be bound and placed in the school library.

Next week Student Council members will start selling the community birthday calendars.

In the Student Shop, new pencils, ball point pens, and white scarves with "Forsan High" stamped on them can now be purchased.

The Coin and Stamp Club had a show Thursday afternoon in the science lab. Displays of coins, stamps, approval sheets, and "for trade coins" were shown. The show was considered a success.

High salesmen in the magazine sales for the first day were Linda Manning, Nancy Williams and Carolyn Springer.

Six weeks' tests are scheduled for next week. Students are urged to put forth their best effort on these exams.

The band has selected its officers for the year. They are Jimmy Barhill, president; David Owen, vice president; Beverly Tucker, secretary; Larry Ratliff, librarian; Mary Wilson and Judy Barnhill, reporters.

Give God A Chance—God Will Open Doors For You!

Short of the Goal

Larry is a fullback. You ought to see him finding those holes in the line ... driving off tackle ... slashing through the secondary. Oh, Larry has scored a dozen touchdowns!

But he can't kick an extra-point! The cross-bar is too high, the goal posts are too far away.

Just give Larry a year or two—with lots of practice. Then we'll win those close ones ... 7-6 ... 14-13 ... 21-20!

Never worry about failure when its cause is being overcome. Don't lower the goal ... keep trying. Grow stronger. You'll reach it!

That's one of the lessons of life that Larry has learned on Sundays when he goes to church with his family ... one of many lessons that help us achieve our best every day of the week.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'Judgment At Nuremberg' Heads The Week's Playbill

What Makes A War Criminal?

Stanley Kramer's widely discussed and highly honored "Judgment at Nuremberg," which has won some of the highest critical acclaim ever accorded a motion picture besides winning two Oscars and a special award for its producer, makes its long-awaited local appearance today when it opens at the Ritz Theatre.

World-premiered in anxiety-filled West Berlin some months ago before an international audience, this United Artists release stars Spencer Tracy, Burt Lancaster, Richard Widmark, Marlene Dietrich, Judy Garland, Maximilian Schell and Montgomery Clift, and it is Schell who captured the Academy Award for the Best Actor of 1961 for his performance in this picture. Abbey Mann took the award for Best Screen Play from another movie, and Kramer won the highly coveted Irving Thalberg Award for Motion Picture Achievement.

Critics in cities where "Judgment at Nuremberg" has already played at exclusive two-day engagements, were almost unanimous in acclaiming the excellence and the courage of Kramer's direction of a story which, while it deals with a trial, is anything but a static courtroom drama.

The story is based on the scene, or lesser known, of the Nuremberg trials held just after World War II in which it was the grave responsibility of three American judges to fix or reject the guilt for Nazi excesses upon four German judges who sent hundreds to their deaths in interpretations of the then prevailing Nazi laws.

Tracy plays the role of the chief of these American judges, and Lancaster plays one of the German judges who refuses to accept the jurisdiction of the court, and upon whose trial most of the action revolves. Tension mounts as the battle of wits between the American prosecutor, played by Widmark, and the defense attorney, played by Schell, proceeds, but it is the relentless pursuit of the truth by the judge played by Tracy which lends the picture its power, force and deep human drama.

Miss Dietrich plays the role of the aristocratic widow of a Nazi general found guilty and hanged by an earlier tribunal, while Miss Garland plays Frau Irene Hoffman, victim of a notoriously vicious mis-arrangement of justice by one of the defendants. Clift was singled out by many for the excellence of his performance as a pitiful sufferer of Nazi brutality and it is worthy of mention that he was so impressed with the role when he read it in the script that he refused to accept recompense for it.

Among the honors achieved by "Judgment at Nuremberg" are Best Screen Play and Best Actor (for Schell) by the New York Film Critics; over 30 places in the "Best Ten of 1961" by newspapers throughout the country, and a "Best Ten" by the National Board of Review.

In addition, the picture won the coveted "Bell Ringer" Award of Scholastic Magazine, and before it won its two Oscars achieved an almost record eleven nominations for the Academy Awards.

LADY AND THE TRAMP
A wonderful dog's life

provides the ingenue interest. There's "Tramp," the soldier of fortune from the wrong side of the tracks who handles the heroics in a manner worthy of Rin-Tin-Tin. And there are others: "Jock," "Trusty," "Boris," "Toughy," "Bull," Pedro" and "Dachsie," all famous in the Disney album of animated personalities. And here's a special mention for "Peg," the ex-showdog who almost stops the show with her torchy delivery of the hit ballad, "He's a Tramp."

The musical score is by Oliver Wallace with featured songs by Peggy Lee and Sonny Burke. The score is rounded out with "La-La-Lu," a lullaby; "Siamese Cat Song," performed by two destructive Siamese cats aptly named "Si" and "Am"; "Peace on Earth," a Christmas carol; and "Bella Notte," a romantic love song dedicated to the beautiful night that Lady and Tramp fall in love.

Aside from writing the lyrics to the songs, Peggy Lee provides the vocal characterization for four of the animated characters and finishes up her busy stint by singing the songs on the sound track with all four of her voices.

Other vocal chores are turned in by such top radio stars as Verna Felton, Bill Thompson, Barbara Luddy, Stan Freberg, Larry Roberts and the world famous "Greek Ambassador," George Givot. "Lady and the Tramp" is Walt Disney at his creative best with a wonderful story, exciting characters, in color by Technicolor and CinemaScope. Buena Vista releases.

Who Killed Her Husband?

Kim Novak, Jack Lemmon and Fred Astaire are teamed in the Fred Kohlar-Richard Quine production, "The Notorious Landlady." Columbia comedy returns Wednesday to the Jet Drive-In Theatre.

"The Notorious Landlady" is a comedy about a young American career diplomat stationed in London who rents an apartment in the fashionable private home owned by a beautiful young woman. He learns his lovely landlady is suspected by Scotland Yard of having murdered her husband, but he falls in love with her anyway, to the complete dismay of the State Department.

Miss Novak has the title role. As the enigmatic beauty, Miss Novak is said to record, for her, a series of screen firsts: her first screen bath, and her first fight, with a burly female opponent. She also designed the succession of dazzling gowns she wears in "The Notorious Landlady."

Lemmon is again playing the bright-young-man-in-a-fix, the sort too, even though he has to become a "horizontal lieutenant" to do it. Based on Gordon Cotler's novel, "The Bottletop Affair," the Euterpe Production was directed by Richard Thorpe — with tongue in cheek.

New French Star Featured

One of the newest imports from French films is Francoise Prevost, olive-skinned and shapely. Currently she shares star honors in Allied Artists' "Payroll" drama crime which is due to open next Thursday at the State Theatre.

In this picture, based on Derek Bickerston's best-selling novel, Miss Prevost is cast as the wife of a mousy accountant who leaves her husband to enjoy the passions of an illicit affair with the handsome leader of a robber gang. Cast in the role of her lover is Michael Craig, British actor, who is suave and charming as well as beautiful and murderous as the gang chieftain.

Others who star in "Payroll" are Billie Whitelaw, a blonde beauty cast as the young widow who single-handedly tracks down the killer of her mate, and William Lucas, the weak accountant who betrays his employer and paves the way for the bold robbery of an armored truck carrying a heavy payroll in cash.

The George Baxt screenplay was directed by Sidney Hayers, with Norman Priggen holding the production reins on the picture.

New Comedy Fumbles Into Public View

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic
NEW YORK (AP) — There's Carroll Baker, a blonde cutie, for the guys — and Van Johnson, a blond beauty, for the girls.

That about sums up the better side of "Come on Strong," an attempt at comedy which ingloriously fumbled into public view last week on the stage of Broadway's Morosco Theater.

One other thing, Time signals, right down to the second, punctuate every scene shift. They don't really contribute anything to the affair, but they are well done. Garson Kanin, the author and director, has put together two old plots for Miss Baker and Johnson to scramble through as best they can. One is the boy-meets-girl routine, the other is what-price-Hollywood-fame?

Miss Baker goes about her chores in a bewitching assortment of nighties, flimsies and similar scanties—the work of designer Oleg Cassini—without ever revealing a believable character in her race to stardom.

Johnson, baring his chest and snapping pictures like mad, is a male equivalent of ambition. But what he's after, other than evading the bonds of matrimony while enjoying its rewards, never becomes clear.

The action and dialogue jerk in arbitrary fashion from farce through melodrama to awkward satire. Merle's role is involved in the four-year narrative with negligible effect.

"Come on Strong" does add one small footnote to the annals of theatrical history. As the curtain rises for the first time, the stage remains completely dark for several moments. A burst of applause by the first nighters greeted the stygian situation. Perhaps they sensed what was coming.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — The Soviet Union and Yugoslavia have proclaimed their "friendly relations and all-round cooperation" and called for peaceful coexistence in the world. Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev, concluding a 10-day goodwill visit, and President Tito issued a joint communique stressing their broad agreement in the international field. But they also made clear that Yugoslavia does not fully support the Soviet Union in the signing of a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany. The communique did not mention the possibility of a separate peace treaty — which has been threatened repeatedly by Soviet Premier Khrushchev unless the West bows to Soviet demands to make West Berlin a "free" city.

DEAR ABBY: My advice to people who want to meet someone, object matrimony, is to GET OUT OF THE HOUSE. Go where folks gather. Join hobby groups, go to the "Y" or take dancing lessons, or get active in church activities. Don't just sit around the house. The only person who will ever ring your doorbell is someone who wants to sell you something. "LUCKY"

DEAR ABBY: I met my husband on the beach. If a girl wants to meet a nice man all she has to do is fix her hair real nice, get a good-looking bathing suit and go to the beach. It is best to go alone. Why bring your own competition with you? GOT MINE

DEAR GOT: True! No point in bringing your own competition; it is usually already at the beach when you get there.

DEAR ABBY: She had been "spliced" several years before, and I had been a widower for years. She was lonely and so was I. To make a long story short and sweet, she complained that her plumbing was giving her trouble, so "Handy Andy" offered to turn off her valve. She reciprocated by turning on her charm and, believe me, she had it. One thing led to another and we have been happily married for several beautiful years.

IN THE SEVENTIES

DEAR ABBY: Tell the girls who want to know how to trap a man for trouble. And they usually find it. TRIED BOTH

DEAR ABBY: Back in 1897 I was a young man who wanted to see the world. So I left home and traveled far and wide. I looked them all over, but never found the one for me — UNTIL I returned home. And there she was, right next door. The hunting is not always best in distant fields. Tell your readers not to run all over the world for something that could be just around the corner. GRANDPA H.
