Arrested

Attorney Bob Looney, right, who won many stays of execution for condemned killer Howard Stickney, and businessman James Goff Hazeline, left, are shown in police headquarters at Houston, after their arrest on charge of possession of $36,000 worth of marijuana and heroin.

Further Action Indicated In Narcotics Investigation

HOUSTON (AP)—Police indicated more people will be jailed in a narcotics investigation that already has led to the arrest of lawyer Bob Looney and James Hazeline. Looney, 38, and Hazeline, 30, were arrested late Wednesday after officers seized $36,000 worth of marijuana and heroin in a search of an office they shared and a car driven by Hazeline. Both were charged with possession of marijuana and heroin. Police Capt. Jack Renois said his investigation was far from finished. He said he has information four more persons are involved and they will be arrested soon. Federal agents entered the probe. Dan Yates, U.S. customs agent-in-charge, said: "We have good reason to believe the narcotics came from Mexico." Looney, twice a candidate for attorney general, spent one night in jail before he was released on $7,000 in bonds. Hazeline, a building supply dealer, was still being held in jail, ineligible for bond as a parolee. He served 10 months of a four-year term for theft by baillee in 1959.

El Paso Gas Co. Refund Is Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Power Commission ordered El Paso Natural Gas Co. today to refund nearly $25 million plus interest to its wholesale customers in four states. The commission said the order also will affect three other pending cases and require the company to refund in addition an estimated $43 million. The order also requires El Paso to reduce its rates in California, Texas, New Mexico and Arizona. About 90 per cent of the refunds will involve California, the commission said. El Paso was given 45 days to refund the $25 million. The commission said the company could defer refunding the other $43 million until after final disposition of the three cases involved. The order allows the company a rate return of 6 per cent on its pipeline operations and 6 1/2 per cent on its gas producing properties. The company had sought 6 1/2 per cent and 9 1/2 per cent, respectively. Two commissioners dissented.

from the decision with respect to the rate of return at the well head. This issue had been remanded to the commission by the 5th U.S. Court of Appeals. Commissioner Harold Woodard, joined in his dissenting opinion by Commissioner Lawrence O'Connor Jr., said: "The practical and legal effect of the majority view is to negate the finding of a court of competent jurisdiction in the matter, the decision of which will not only have a resounding effect on the parties here involved, but will produce unfavorable repercussions that will reverberate throughout the structure of the natural gas industry as a whole." Woodard said there was no question but that a separate rate of return on well-mouth investment should have been allowed. Woodard and O'Connor otherwise concurred in the majority decision of Chairman Joseph Swidler and Commissioners Howard Morgan and Charles Ross. The majority said on the well-mouth issue that it could not find that a separate rate of return was necessary or in the public interest.

Panty Raid Halted

SAN MARCOS (AP)—Several hundred students took part in a panty raid at Southwest Texas State College Thursday night but police broke the raid up before it really got started.

The commission said the four cases involved a total proposed rate increase of more than $80 million a year. It said no estimate is available of the amount involved in the rate reduction ordered today.

Volunteers Honored At State Hospital

A host of volunteer workers who have given extraordinary time at the Big Spring State Hospital were recognized Thursday night at a meeting of the Hospital Volunteer Council. Leading the list of volunteers is Mrs. M. O. Pulliam, who has passed the 5,000-hour mark. Mrs. Robert T. Piner is credited with more than 4,000 hours; Mrs. C. A. Clark, over 2,500; and Mrs. Theo Ferguson, Mrs. R. Hargrove and Mrs. W. B. Riddles, each over 2,000. Special bars also went to Mrs. Walter L. Ammon, 1,500 hours of volunteer service; Miss Hope Leyva and Mrs. Ernest F. Nelson, 1,000. On the 500-hour list are Mrs. R. S. Aldridge, Mrs. W. C. Brown, Mrs. J. P. Carson, Mrs. H. C. Dewlen, Mrs. Dale J. Kirk, D. M. McKinney, Mrs. Nell Norred, Mrs. Ben J. Robinson Jr., Jack Y. Smith, and Mrs. Consuelo Brito. Service pins for 100 hours of service went to the following: Mrs. Jamie Bartlett, Mrs. E. M. Braselton, Mrs. Leah Brooks, Dr. Josh Burnett, Mrs. J. C. Carlson, Mrs. Bill Currie, William R. Davies, Mrs. Buel Fox, Mrs. Emmett Grantham, Mrs. Pauline Hamlin, Mrs. V. C. Henry, Mrs.

Kennedy Reported Willing To Talk With Niki On Berlin

If Soviet Leader Comes To U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is reported to be sending word to Soviet Premier Khrushchev that he is willing to have an informal talk on the Berlin crisis and other world issues if Khrushchev decides to come to the United States in the next few weeks. In a meeting with Khrushchev's foreign minister, Andrei A. Gromyko, at the White House, Kennedy, it was learned today, sought to avoid being either encouraging or discouraging to the prospective Khrushchev trip. His reaction to feelings about a meeting was described as a neutral response. Gromyko spent two hours and 15 minutes in the White House conference with Kennedy, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and a number of advisers on both sides. On leaving the White House, he said the exchange of views with the President on a number of topics, including Berlin, had been useful. Neither the President nor his press office had any comment. Later, Gromyko and Rusk met at a working dinner at the State Department and continued the discussion for four hours and 15 minutes, until after midnight. The talks failed to yield any evidence of possible accomplishment that might come of a Kennedy-Khrushchev session. Gromyko was reported adamant on the Soviet demand that the Western powers abandon West Berlin, and he talked of a need for a Soviet peace treaty with East Germany without indefinite delay. Kennedy and Rusk both tried to impress him with U.S. determination to defend West Berlin and its lifelines from West Germany. The possibility of a Khrushchev visit was discussed only in the White House phase of the meeting. Khrushchev made known through U.S. Ambassador Foy Kohler, whom he received in Moscow on Tuesday, that he was considering coming to the United States and that there were a number of things that he would like to discuss with the President. Although his remarks were casual, he referred several times to his consideration of a trip and his handling of the matter was taken by officials here as a probing for Kennedy reaction. The President is known to have had serious reservations about a meeting. He and his advisers wanted to avoid any action that would build up false hopes for an accord on Berlin. At the same time the President thinks, as Gerhard Schroeder, West German foreign minister, said at the White House on Wednesday, that "talking is better than fighting." He wants to continue U.S.-Soviet exchanges on Berlin. Kennedy is understood to have made it clear that any talk on Berlin with Khrushchev would have to be entirely informal and that Khrushchev would be under grave misapprehension if he thought that U.S. policy in late November would be any different from the present stand on Berlin. The President is also believed to have cautioned Gromyko about the adverse effect on a talk of any action by Khrushchev to change the Berlin situation prior to a meeting.

U.S. Grants New Tax Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government granted new tax depreciation benefits today to the aerospace industry, the railroads and manufacturers of automobiles, machine tools and electrical equipment. Operators of hotels, motels and restaurants also will be aided by an Internal Revenue Service decision to liberalize further the new depreciation policies announced July 11.

More 100 Per Cent For United Fund

More 100 per cent reports came this morning as the campaign effort for the last half push. A 400 per cent increase was reported by administrative workers and CWA Local No. 6101 of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. These employees asked to have their reports combined, which totaled almost $2,000 this year. There are 99 employees in the two groups. The Col-Tex Pipeline group, in the organized labor division, has reported in with 100 per cent. To date, the UF drive has a total of $54,033 toward a goal of $103,324. Almost all divisions have launched drive efforts, excepting one section of the Metropolitan, the Area division, and the Schools. These will begin next week. Proceeds from the annual drive go toward supporting 13 local welfare and youth guidance agencies.

Bring On The Coffee

About 40 Red Cross Gray Ladies help to brighten the wards at local hospitals. Mrs. Robert Hartzog, whose husband is a captain at Webb Air Force Base, shows the enthusiasm with which the Gray Ladies go about their work.

Red Cross Is Prepared To Meet All Emergencies

Many persons associate the American Red Cross with our Armed Forces, but such work is only a part of the undertaking of this nationwide organization. The agency is prepared to meet any disaster which may occur, according to Mrs. Moree T. Sawtelle, executive director of the Howard-Glasscock chapter. A typical example of work done by the Red Cross locally was the restoration of a northside family to a new home after it had been burned out last year. Servicemen daily make use of the downtown office or the branch office at Webb AFB. The local office depends on funds received from the United Fund drive and makes no other solicitations, Mrs. Sawtelle said.

Priests Count Ballots For Council Units

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican priests continued today the counting of votes for members of the Roman Catholic council's working commissions. Results in the voting are expected to be announced Saturday when the council convenes in its fourth session. A French source said counting of votes for the liturgical commission has been completed, and that the 16 positions had been filled. Pope John XXIII must name an additional eight members to each commission, bringing total membership of each to 24. Liturgy will be the first topic before the council when discussions start next week. Presumably, if the liturgical commission has been selected, these discussions could start whether or not voting on the other nine commissions is completed. There had been reports discussions would not start until voting on all commissions had been completed. It is still not known if additional ballots will be required on some of the commissions. Council rules provide that a majority is needed for election on either of the first two ballots, pluralities thereafter. Prelates considered traditionalist, or conservative, have asked Pope John to provide for plurality election on the first ballot, now being counted. Such a move could favor Italians, who make up the biggest national group. The Pope has the power to change council rules. His decision may be announced Saturday.

Applauds Truman

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson applauds former President Harry S. Truman after introducing Mr. Truman as the principal speaker at a $100-a-plate dinner in Kansas City. The dinner was held to raise campaign funds for Democratic candidates in the state.

Medicare Is JFK Topic

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—President Kennedy brought his off-year election campaign here today with an earnest plea for medical aid to the elderly under Social Security. Kennedy has made this point in almost every speech this fall, but he put unusual stress on it here. Only with a Democratic Congress, Kennedy said, can this nation move ahead. He ticked off a list of things the federal government helps in—hospitals, insurance of bank deposits, housing—and said this would be assured with a Democratic Congress. Kennedy got an enthusiastic welcome to Cleveland—a city he carried by a big margin in 1960, even though he lost Ohio. The weather was perfect, a balmy 71, and the crowd, that filled Public Square in the heart of the city, was estimated by police at 60,000. Additional thousands lined Kennedy's route for the 12-mile drive in from the airport.

before an election is bound to political overtones, even if it only means keeping his name and picture before the public. This is Kennedy's second attempt to win Ohio voters during the off-year campaign, and even his best friends point out his task is formidable. GAINING A SEAT Republicans lead in House seats in Ohio, 16 to 7. The state is gaining a seat under the new census. In Illinois, the Democrats are ahead 14 to 11 but the census cuts out a seat. Democrats fear it may be theirs. This presidential trip well illustrates Kennedy's problems, especially in his effort to put more Democrats in the House. Traditionally the party in power loses in these elections. In the seven states Kennedy visits—Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, Missouri, New Mexico, Nevada and Washington—the Republicans hold a slim advantage in House seats, 40 to 39. But 17 of these were won by a margin of 5 per cent or less. Seven are held by Republicans, 10 by Democrats. A slight change in sentiment, or such tepid interest that many stay at home, could bring changes. Thoughts like these keep the President on the move.

Farmers Want A Bright Sun

Howard County farmers would like, now that the showers of Wednesday and Thursday have slowed down, three or four weeks of bright sunshine. "Cotton is blooming like crazy," said one farmer. "If we could have warm sun for a while and hold off on the first hard freeze, we would pull out of the bad crop situation in good shape." Meantime, drizzles Thursday added .25 of an inch to the previously reported total. This brought the precipitation at the U. S. Experiment Station to .71 of an inch for the current wet spell. Apparently the rainfall over the county was close to this average. Lake J. B. Thomas area had half an inch of rain but no appreciable runoff developed.

GOOD WORDS

Kennedy had good words for Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Sen. Frank J. Lausche, both up for reelection Nov. 6. The President talked for only 15 minutes before hurrying by motorcade back to the airport to renew his jet flight, headed for an afternoon visit to Lincoln's tomb in Springfield, Ill., followed by a speech at the state fairgrounds. A speech at an evening banquet in Chicago. Here Kennedy is expected to try to build up more enthusiasm for Rep. Sidney R. Yates, who is attempting to unseat Everett M. Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader. This speech is awaited with special interest. In his official capacity Dirksen drops in on the President weekly when Congress is in session, and at least occasionally supports Kennedy on key foreign issues. Will Kennedy go all-out in demanding Dirksen's defeat? Or will he gracefully couch his phrases in general terms, as he so often does, and simply call the Republicans the bad guys and the Democrats the good guys? TO WEST COAST Before Kennedy returns to the White House, around midnight Sunday, he will have gone all the way to the West Coast, delivered political speeches in six different states and made what has been called a nonpolitical appearance in Seattle. The President closes the World's Fair there Sunday. Since this is officially labeled a nonpolitical act, the taxpayers will ante up for the trip to Seattle and the Democratic National Committee will pay for the side junkets. Travel expense is no small item. Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, says the Democrats pay $2,350 an hour for the big presidential jet when politics are the sole motivation. All presidents, by the way, have the right to decide whether they're acting politically or non-politically. But anything a President says or does only two weeks

Rains Hurt Candy Sale

Rains hampered the Kiwanis Club in its plans to sell Halloween candy Thursday night. Officially the sale effort was called off but a number of Kiwanians had already begun work before the cancellation was announced. Rev. V. Ward Jackson, chairman of the committee, said the workers who were out sold quite a lot of candy. The plan now is for the club members to meet at the Church of God, Main and 20th Street, at 5 p.m. today and immediately set out on their selling campaign in their previously assigned territory. The campaign pushes ahead until 7 p.m. Saturday morning, other workers will be out making house to house stops. The club is hopeful it can sell 2,000 bags of the candy. The assorted candy offered is ideal, the Kiwanians say, for the householder to use when young Halloween pranksters come calling on Oct. 31. Profits derived from the sale go to the club's program for aiding youth.

Market Takes Sharp Losses

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices sank to sharp losses late this afternoon. Trading was the heaviest in weeks. Volume for the day was estimated at 4.2 million shares compared with 3.2 million Thursday. Key stocks fell from fractions to 2 or more points. Losses swept most sections of the list. The market was mixed in the morning but in a million-share second hour the price structure was torpedoed. Tickers ran late. A flutter of recovery got nowhere and stocks fell to new lows of the day as trading again became lively.

Low Demand For Absentee Ballots

There is no brisk demand for absentee ballots for the Nov. 6 general election. So far, the office of the county clerk reports only seven have come into the office to vote absentee and five ballots have been mailed. Absentee voting began Wednesday. It will close on Nov. 2, according to Pauline Petty, county clerk.

Want A Famous Airplane? 'Caroline' Is On The Block

WASHINGTON (AP) — For sale: One airplane, slightly used by young President for commuting. A real bargain at $375,000. The Kennedy family plane, "The Caroline," is on the block. Reason: Declining use. Lately the twin engine Convair 240 has seen little service except on the Hyannis Port run—the family hop between Washington and Cape Cod.

Frederick B. Ayer & Associates of New York, dealers in used aircraft, confirmed Thursday it had been engaged by the Kennedy family to dispose of the Caroline. Ayer said the plane was built in 1948 and was one of several he acquired from American Airlines in 1958. He said he sold it the next year to the Kennedys after negotiations with Joseph P. Kennedy, the President's father. The Caroline was converted from a 40 to 44 seat airliner into an executive transport for 22, Ayer said in a telephone interview. It has regular chairs and couches that can be turned into beds for night flights.

"This airplane could not be replaced for the price that is being asked for it," said Ayer.

After Kennedy's nomination as president, his family—parents, brothers and sisters—turned the plane over to him to campaign in. But since becoming President, Kennedy has rarely used it. Security officials considered it inadequate as presidential transport.

County To Buy New Road Grader

Howard County Commissioners have ordered advertisement for bids to supply the county road and bridge department with one new road grader, Ed Carpenter, county judge, said Thursday afternoon.

He said the bids are to be opened Nov. 12.

The county may buy two graders, he said. The bidders are asked to consider trade in allowance on county graders now on hand. It is possible, the judge said that the two graders will be bought if the trade-in allowances on the old graders are satisfactory.

End Of A Sea Saga

Tonga islanders who survived a shipwreck are rowed in a raft to a New Zealand Air Force plane which rescued them from a reef in the South Seas. A crew member of the rescue plane is in the stern of the raft. The plane rescued 12 Tongans from the reef where they were shipwrecked for 11 weeks. Five companions died in the ordeal.

Governor Candidates Explain Views At Dallas Public Forum

By The Associated Press
Texans should consider leadership, education, more industry and jobs, the two-party system and constitutional government in picking a new governor, three candidates for the office said Thursday.

Speaking in turn, the Constitution party's Jack Carswell, Democrat John Connally and Republican Jack Cox aired their views at a public forum arranged by the League of Women Voters in Dallas.

Except for a couple of barbed remarks by Connally and Cox, it was a solemn discussion of campaign issues. Sponsors estimated there were 1,000 in the audience. It was in answer to questions about whether each will back his party's 1964 platform and candidates that Connally took a dig at his Republican rival.

"I am not a party switcher," Connally said in a reference to the fact that Cox formerly held office as a Democrat.

Cox said that as governor he proposes to demand repeal of a law which "allows a man to run for two offices at the same time." Supporters of Vice President Lyndon Johnson, close friend of Connally and then a U.S. senator, induced Texas lawmakers to pass the measure.

Carswell, a Houston mortuary owner, declared as leadoff man: "This generation has seen some of the most flagrant violations of the Constitution in history. . . . More and more the people have seen what is happening to our state under the domination of the two major political parties."

Effective leadership is the basic issue, Connally said, adding that Democrats "have faced up to the state's problems" in their platform.

"We have a long way to go in the field of education," he said, labeling it the greatest single problem. "We must train them (young people) in a complex society. Industry is going to follow brain power."

Asserting Texas will have to provide 800,000 new jobs by 1970, Connally said: "We must provide the political climate."

Agreeing that the state needs industry, Cox emphasized a view that Texans want a two-party system. He said average per capita income in two-party states is $1,200 a year more than in Texas.

"We stand 28th in average per capita income," Cox said. "I'm not happy about it. I don't want 50 years more of the kind of government we have had in the past 100. I want some changes and the people of Texas want some changes."

Each candidate spoke for seven minutes. After that they answered written questions from the audience, including one about their views on developing the Trinity River.

Connally said he favors the Trinity project and does not consider it a federal invasion of state affairs because the stream is navigable. Cox said he wants to know more about the plan, and in particular who owns the land along the river. Carswell said he opposes spending federal money to make a canal of the Trinity.

There was a 2-1 split on a pair of questions. Cox and Connally both said they favor the state sales tax but want some inequities corrected. Carswell said he opposes the levy. The two major party candidates took a stand for repealing the poll tax and Carswell wanted it retained.

Ben Bella Is Called 'Turncoat'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders—still drumming at administration foreign policy — have criticized Algerian Premier Ahmed Ben Bella for "turncoat activities," which they called a slap at U.S. prestige.

The statement Thursday by three GOP campaign officials was touched off by Ben Bella's visit to Cuba this week in which he agreed with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro that the United States must pull out of its naval base at Guantanamo Bay in Cuba.

On Monday Ben Bella was welcomed by President Kennedy in White House ceremonies that included full military honors and a presidential pledge of friendship to the nation which recently won independence from France.

On Tuesday, Ben Bella was greeted warmly by Castro in Havana and the two put out a communique, noting they had "an essential identity of viewpoints" on world affairs.

These actions were labeled "turncoat activities" in a statement Thursday by Rep. William E. Miller of New York, Republican national chairman; Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, GOP Senate Campaign Committee chairman, and Rep. Bob Wilson of California, head of the Republican House Campaign Committee.

There was criticism also from Sen. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., who called for a break in diplomatic relations with Algeria, and from Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., who urged the United States ignore Ben Bella.

Five Jury Panels Drawn For Duty

Judge Ralph Caton, of 118th District Court, Thursday supervised officials at drawing the names of 510 Howard County citizens for jury duty during the October term of court which opens Oct. 29.

He instructed Wade Choate, district court clerk, to draw five panels of 102 members each from the county jury wheel.

Judge Caton explained that in recent jury sessions the panels have been turning out better than they did in the earlier history of the jury wheel in this county. Judge Caton has been drawing panels of 125 members.

"The way things are going now," said the judge, "I think we can get by on 102."

Since each juror gets $5 per day for reporting for duty, the savings on the five panels reduced by 23 members can be considerable, he pointed out.

Student Editor Is Forced Out

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — The editor of the University of Colorado's student daily newspaper, who printed attacks on Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, was fired by the university president Wednesday.

In announcing the dismissal of Gary Althen, 21, a senior, President Quigg Newton said the editor "had displayed a pattern of editorial irresponsibility that required his removal."

Both Newton and Althen had apologized to Sen. Goldwater for publication of a critical article written by Carl Mitcham, 21, a philosophy student from Dallas, Tex.

BLACKBOARDS AND ORGANS

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher
Church of Christ, 2002 West Highway 80
P.O. Box 1282

Many people think there is as much Bible authority for using mechanical instruments in worship as there is for using a blackboard to illustrate a sermon. The authority for using a blackboard is in the generic command, "Teach." (Matt. 28:19, 20). A command left general may be obeyed many ways, without doing anything more or less than what is commanded. In using a blackboard in teaching, we are not adding to the word (Rev. 22:18); we are doing what is authorized — teaching.

Now, if the Lord had commanded us to make music in Christian worship, and had not specified any one kind of music, then we would be at liberty to use either vocal or instrumental music (or both). But the Lord has been specific; He has said, "Sing" (Eph. 5:19; Col. 3:16; etc.). Playing an instrument is not singing. Playing is something added.

When God commanded Noah to build the ark of gopher wood (Gen. 6:14), he had no right to use pine. The wood was specified, just as the kind of music is now specified.

Be with us Sunday. You will appreciate our carefulness to follow the Bible, and the simplicity of Bible worship. —Adv.

Commissary Blossoms Into Big Business

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — A one-time army commissary has snowballed into the most dominant business unit in Burma today.

Plans for its continued expansion as a government-controlled enterprise have heightened fears of nationalization among businessmen in Rangoon.

The Burma Economic Development Corp., which started five years ago as a cooperative store for military men and their families, now encompasses firms. It is the brainchild of Brig. Aug Gyi, 52, righthand man of Burma's military ruler, Gen. Ne Win. Aung Gyi is the chief economic planner in Ne Win's eight-month-old government. Like most of Burma's leading figures he is a socialist.

While Aung Gyi was acting as chairman of the revolutionary council during Ne Win's recent absence abroad, the military government amended a 1961 act to expand the organization.

The amendment placed the corporation formally under government administration and authorized the military regime to transfer state or semistate enterprises to the corporation.

The revision also specified how profits are to be used. Fifteen per cent is to be allotted to welfare organizations of the defense services, in recognition of the corporation's original objective as a military cooperative. Ten per cent goes into a reserve fund. The government collects 20 per cent in taxes.

The rest is to be plowed back into the corporation.

Recent acquisitions include the Burma Five Star Shipping Line, the State Pawnshop Management Board, the government liquor shops, the pharmaceutical industry and the Mandalay state brewery.

Baby Survives

An 8-pound baby girl delivered alive and healthy a half hour after the mother was killed in an auto accident is checked by Dr. Leandre Beaudoin and two nuns who aided him in an operation at St. Louis Hospital in Berlin, N.H. Sister Demers, left, night supervisor, detected the baby still alive after the mother, Mrs. Cecile Berthiaume, 28, was killed when her car struck a utility pole as she drove to mass. Sister Demers telephoned the doctor, who delivered the baby with aid of Sister St. Andre as the mother's body lay on a stretcher.

Slaying Of Rabbi Stirs Up Populace

NEW YORK (AP)—They buried Rabbi Bernard Eisdorfer, and the people cried for vengeance against his murderer.

His skull had been fractured in a vicious beating as he walked along a Brooklyn street near his home in the Williamsburg section Monday night.

He never regained consciousness. Thursday, Rabbi Eisdorfer, 55, died in a hospital.

The motive for the beating — unknown.

Police said they had no lead on who did it.

It was almost ironic, and the people knew it.

They knew the rabbi had come to this country 14 years ago from Czechoslovakia, where he had survived Nazi persecution during the war. Now he was dead at the hands of one or more hoodlums — not necessarily Nazis, but just as vicious.

And it had happened in a land where he had come to escape from just that type of tormentor.

That was what angered the people, inflamed them into almost hysterical fury.

There were some 10,000 of them, and they gathered on the street Thursday outside the Yeshiva Yetev Lev D'Satmar where Rabbi Eisdorfer had been treasurer.

Some in the crowd sobbed openly.

Their number grew as word of Rabbi Eisdorfer's death spread through the ultra-orthodox (Hasidic) Jewish neighborhood.

The rabbi's body, in the traditional pine coffin, had been carried from his home to the Yeshiva (school) where an outdoor service was held.

Rabbi Abraham Stein mounted a box and called for a complete investigation of the murder so that those responsible "can be given just punishment."

"We came to this land to find freedom," he said. "May God grant that we should yet have peace here."

A hearse then carried the coffin to the neighborhood police station, and the swelling crowd followed.

"Give us more police protection," the people yelled.

A sound truck moved through the area. The announcer kept repeating, "We want our homes to be safe. The streets are not safe."

Six rabbis drew up a telegram. "The entire community cries for and demands immediate protection," it said. Copies of the wire went to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Mayor Robert F. Wagner and Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy.

Rabbi Eisdorfer had come to America with his wife and five children to find peace.

JFK Speech Schedule Is Made Public

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will make six speeches boosting Democratic candidates for Congress and state offices this weekend and make one appearance described as nonpolitical, as he travels through the Midwest to the Pacific Coast.

The White House has made public a timetable for Kennedy's invasion of seven states between takeoff Friday morning and his return late Sunday.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy's visit to Seattle, Wash., would be nonpolitical and, as a result, the government will pay expenses equal to a direct roundtrip between Washington and Seattle. The President will spend Saturday night in Seattle and then take part in ceremonies closing its World's Fair on Sunday.

The Democratic National Committee, Salinger said, will pay all costs above those of a flight to Seattle and back. He said the committee pays a flat rate of $2,350 an hour when Kennedy is aboard the big jet he will use this weekend.

Kennedy will leave at 10:30 a.m. and go to Cleveland, Ohio, where he will speak at the downtown public square shortly after noon, Cleveland time.

He heads next for Springfield, Ill., to lay a wreath at the Lincoln Tomb and speak in the coliseum of the state fairgrounds. In Chicago Friday night, he will address a Democratic banquet at McCormick Place.

Kennedy will leave Chicago Saturday at 10:40 a.m. for a trip to the West Coast that includes an airport speech in Milwaukee, Wis.; another in Clayton, a suburb of St. Louis, Mo.; one in the University of New Mexico gymnasium at Albuquerque, N.M.; and another at the Las Vegas, Nev. convention hall, before reaching Seattle.

He plans to leave Seattle at about 2 p.m. local time on Sunday, returning to Washington about 11 p.m.

Von Braun Sees 24 Men Running U.S. Lunar Base

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Rocketry expert Dr. Werner von Braun predicts the United States will have as many as 24 men manning an observation station on the moon within a decade.

Von Braun, director of the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala., said at a news conference Wednesday the Soviet rockets are superior to America's in "sheer booster power," but inferior as to their reliability.

U. S.-Soviet Talks Fail To Yield Hope Over Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top level U.S.-Soviet talks on Berlin failed to yield any evidence today that a Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting next month could put an end to the Berlin crisis.

President Kennedy spent two hours and 15 minutes in discussion with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at the White House Thursday, and Gromyko then continued the talks at the State Department for 4 1/2 hours—until after midnight.

A department spokesman said there was no change in the positions of either side in the Berlin dispute—positions which are regarded here as putting the Soviet Union and the Western powers on a collision course over West Berlin's future.

The spokesman also said the talks yielded "no perceptible progress" toward an accord and that neither side put forward any new proposals.

TALK "USEFUL"

As he left the White House, Gromyko said he and Kennedy had discussed several important matters, one being Berlin. He did not specify any others. He characterized the talk as useful.

Asked about the prospect of Soviet Premier Khrushchev visiting the United States, Gromyko said, "At this moment I have nothing to say on this subject."

He thus left up in the air the question of Khrushchev's plans. But it is known that the Soviet leader is seriously considering a trip to the United Nations in New York next month and that he would like to talk with Kennedy about Berlin.

Kennedy is understood to have reservations about such a meeting unless there is hope it will result in easing the dispute. However, he has said that if Khrushchev comes to the United States he will see him.

Following the meeting at the State Department Gromyko told reporters that the Soviet position on the German peace treaty problem is the same as has been stated before.

LIFELINE THREAT

This position is that the Soviet Union intends to make a separate peace treaty with East Germany which would, in its view, give the German Communist regime full sovereignty over Western supply lines to West Berlin.

Kennedy administration leaders say they believe a severe Berlin crisis is in prospect for later this year or possibly early in 1963. This crisis could be brought about by the Soviet Union signing a treaty with East Germany if the East Germans—with Soviet backing—then sought to take full control of the supply lines.

Gromyko appeared to be in an easy, even jovial, mood after the White House and the State Department sessions.

Ship-A-Day Rate On Cuban Cargoes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet bloc poured equipment and supplies into Cuba the past month at a rate of more than a shipload a day, U.S. sources said today.

They estimated that about 40 cargo ships—Soviet and chartered non-Communist vessels—arrived at the Caribbean island carrying material to bolster the regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

This compares with about 15 to 18 ships a month in the early phase of the Soviet buildup of her Cuban ally, said the sources. But, according to previous estimates, the sea traffic last month was still well below peak.

The U.S. government reported about a month ago that more than 100 vessels of all kinds were arriving monthly in Cuba ports.

On Sept. 20 American officials said that between 65 and 75 Soviet ships landed cargo there since late July. They said possibly half the ships carried general cargo—including food and industrial equipment—and the rest, military equipment and personnel.

Last week Assistant Secretary of State Edwin M. Martin estimated that over-all aid to Cuba was costing the Soviets more than $1 million a day "above and beyond what they are getting from Cuba."

Soviet military aid to Castro, he said, was running at a rate of $200 million for this year.

The White House said Thursday plans are being worked out for a U.S. quarantine on Cuban shipping but that the details probably won't be ready for announcement this week.

Among other things, these curbs are expected to deny U.S. cargoes to ships and shipping firms involved in carrying supplies to Cuba. The purpose: To make the Cuban buildup as expensive as possible for the Soviet bloc.

Repealing the proposed curbs are running into stiff opposition from foreign shippers who figure they would be hit hard by the U.S. penalties.

Although merchantmen continue to stream into Havana and other Cuban ports, the close U.S. surveillance of Cuba's sea lanes has sighted no Soviet navy fighting ships entering or leaving the ports sources report.

Moscow sends warships on formal, show-the-flag visits to foreign ports, including those in some non-Communist countries, but apparently is refraining now from such demonstrations for Cuba.

U.S. experts believe that the new port in Banes Bay, near the eastern end of Cuba, which the Soviet Union is building may be used primarily to supply and service the extensive trawler fleet the Soviets keep off the Atlantic coast of the United States and Canada. Reports indicate the facilities would be unfitted for handling combatant or large merchant shipping.

In an address Thursday to the Washington Post of the American Ordnance Association Vice Adm. Elton W. Grenfell, commander of the Atlantic Fleet submarine force said Soviet trawlers fish off our banks and support their submarines and gather intelligence.

Although Grenfell did not elaborate on this point, other Navy sources said that while the majority of Soviet trawlers seemed to be on legitimate fishing work, some obviously were designed for snooping on U.S. military ships, radio communications and operations. These trawlers are rigged with elaborate electronic detection gear, including radar and radio interception devices.

No More Interference

BOON, Germany (AP)—West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder said today that he and President Kennedy agreed the West will not accept any further interference in access to Berlin.

Schroeder reported this upon his return to Bonn after five days of consultations in the U.S. capital on the Berlin crisis with Kennedy, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

The foreign minister said that more concessions would lead to only a "wall of paper between the East-West standpoints which could be broken by a mere push of the finger."

He told newsmen three things emerged from his talks with the U.S. President: A unity of interests, a unity of intentions and a unity of preparations.

Schroeder said whether Soviet Premier Khrushchev goes as expected to New York is not as important as the intentions he has for dealing with the Berlin crisis. "These intentions must be met by a firm Western attitude," the foreign minister declared.

Panamanian Ships Barred From Cuba

PANAMA (AP)—President Roberto F. Chiari forbade all ships flying Panama's flag from engaging in any kind of trade with Cuba.

Chiari's decree Thursday night was a major boost to the U.S. campaign to clamp an economic blockade on Fidel Castro's regime. An estimated 8,000 ships fly the Panamanian flag, most of them foreign owned. Foreign owners register their craft in Panama to reap the benefits of lower taxes, lower wage rates and other advantages.

Ships violating the decree will lose their Panamanian registry automatically, Chiari said.

British Female Figures Better, Nude Artist Says

LONDON (AP)—English girls look a sight better in the nude today than they did 40 years ago, says an 82-year-old expert on the female form.

"Girls of today," said Sir William Russell Flint, "have good, strong, square shoulders. They have a more athletic physique."

Sir William is the acknowledged dean of British painters of the untrapped woman. More than a million prints of his nudes have been sold since he started specializing 40 years ago.

Age hasn't slowed his brush. The Royal Academy opened a one-man show of his paintings—nudes and landscapes—Thursday.

"Perhaps at 82 I still feel youthful myself," he said as he looked over one of his nudes on display. "I certainly enjoy the painting. I've always enjoyed painting attractive women. Provided a girl has good features, good bone for-

Are So-Called "Bargain" Eyeglasses Really A Bargain?

Have you ever heard this famous quotation: "Quality Is Remembered Long After The Price Is Forgotten"? This is true. Of course, this doesn't mean that real values shouldn't be looked for whenever they truly exist. But, there is a difference in real value and so-called "bargains"...and this is especially true when it comes to eye care and eyewear.

So-called "bargain" eyeglasses may, in fact, not be a bargain at all. Unknown to the purchaser of so-called "bargain" eyeglasses, some important elements could be left out of the lens prescription, or a special type of bifocal or trifocal lens may be omitted, just to cut the cost of making the glasses. These omissions could result in strained eyes, discomfort and improper vision. Also, inferior quality frames might be used which could reduce the wearing comfort as well as the useable life of the glasses.

There is no good reason for risking priceless eyesight and comfort on so-called "bargain" eyeglasses, when real value in professional eye care and eyewear is available at famous

Texas State Optical. For the past 27 years hundreds of thousands of people throughout Texas have learned to rely on TSO for outstanding professional eye care and finest quality eyewear at reasonable cost.

At TSO, your eyes are carefully examined by an experienced Doctor of Optometry...both for internal evidence of disease or defect and for visual abnormalities. If glasses are needed, an accurate prescription is formulated and they are prescribed and fitted to meet your exact visual requirements, and to give you the best vision and utmost comfort. If you need single vision glasses, your cost is as low as $14.85, including examination, finest quality lenses and frame; if you require bifocals, your cost is as low as $17.85, complete, with examination, lenses and frame. Convenient credit is available at no extra cost.

The next time you need professional eye care and finest quality eyewear, see the dependable TSO Doctor of Optometry in whom you can place complete confidence and trust for the care of your eyes and your vision.

An Incident To Forget

DEAR ABBY: A friend of many years became acquainted with a woman. He asked me to join them one evening, which I did. Later he asked me what I thought of her. I told him I thought she looked like a cheap gold-digger, and I wouldn't bother with her if I were he. Well, shortly afterward he married her. I am so embarrassed whenever I see this couple that I don't know what to do. I find myself going out of my way so I won't have to face them. Should I apologize to him? # Tax Cut Talk Heard As Business Council Meets

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—Received talk of federal tax cuts as an economic booster was heard today as the Business Council opened a weekend series of closed meetings with Kennedy administration officials.

The council headed by Roger M. Blough, chairman of United States Steel Corp., received from its own panel of economic consultants a forecast of continued sluggish business activity well into next year.

In Washington, official concern about the lagging economy was mirrored Thursday in an unusual move by the Federal Reserve Board to increase the lending power of the nation's banks.

The easing of credit will be accomplished by reducing the amount of money member banks must keep on hand as reserves backing savings and prime deposits. The reduction was the first of its kind since June, 1964.

At Hot Springs, some members of the Business Council told newsmen privately they foresee no early recession but believe strong medicine will be needed—most likely a cut in income and corporation tax rates—to shift the economy into high gear.

OPTIMISTIC

Administration leaders here took the slightly more optimistic view that steady if unspectacular gains can be expected for nine months or more.

But some—including Chairman Walter W. Heller of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, who addresses the council Saturday—are known to favor tax cuts deep enough to give a strong stimulus to business and consumer demand.

In a radio interview broadcast Thursday night (CBS—Capitol Cloakroom) Heller recalled that President Kennedy is committed to proposing a substantial tax reduction next year.

"We need it—the economy needs it to make full use of the potential it has," Heller said.

Council members, whose names are among the biggest in big business, took little comfort from Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges' prediction at a Washington news conference that business will be better next year.

OUTPUT UP

Hodges reported that national output—the gross national product, or dollar value of all goods and services produced—rose $3.5 billion to an annual rate of $355.5 billion in the July-September quarter.

This was below the rate foreseen by the council's consultants at their May meeting here, and much below the January forecast made by Heller and other administration advisers.

Whether the council's newest member, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, would enter the economic debate remained to be seen. In two weeks of campaign speechmaking for Republican congressional candidates he has attacked Kennedy's economic and foreign policies.

Eisenhower, elected to council membership last May, will address the group Saturday night.

Undersecretary of Commerce Clarence D. Martin Jr. and James E. Webb, chief of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, are on today's council program. Secretary of State Dean

Rusk speaks at a dinner tonight.

The council's economic policy committee, headed by F. R. Kapel, chairman of American Telephone and Telegraph Co., brought the report of the economic consultants to this morning's session.

The experts, who counsel many of the nation's largest corporations, agreed only that downturns are largely offsetting the uptrends, and that there is no present sign of much improvement.

A few were understood to have forecast a slight recession, giving way to a new rise in the second half of 1963. Others foresaw modest gains. Still others expect a continuation of the autumn trend—a virtual plateau of economic activity.

Under the action taken by the Federal Reserve Board, required reserves will be cut from 5 per cent of deposits to 4 per cent next Thursday in New York, Chicago and other major cities. The reduction will become effective in smaller communities Nov. 1.

This will make an additional $767 million available to the banks. Since they generally may lend $6 for every $1 of surplus funds on hand, this means their lending potential will be increased by about $4.6 billion.

The board said the move will have two effects.

1. Banks will be in a better position to meet heavy borrowing demands that are normal as business picks up with the approach of the Christmas season.

2. More credit will be available "to facilitate the expansion of economic activity and trade."

Refugees At Base Mostly Cheerful

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Cubans living on the Guantanamo Naval Base generally are a cheery lot, free of food shortages and the police-state atmosphere plaguing their fellow countrymen outside.

Reporters who visited Guantanamo recently and spoke to many of them found few with any serious gripes and none who considered themselves prisoners.

The newsmen have refrained from mentioning the roughly 350 Cubans who sought and received asylum at the base. This was because of the possible diplomatic consequences, but the Navy now has acknowledged their presence.

The Navy said Thursday it is sheltering the Cubans but not allowing them to leave the island because—according to Vice Adm. U. S. G. Sharp, deputy chief of naval operations—"nothing in any treaty has given us a legal basis for establishing Guantanamo as a port of exit for Cuban citizens and this would be an issue in any legal consideration of our rights to use this base."

Guantanamo City and other nearby communities outside. Several have contact with the anti-Castro underground in Oriente Province.

These Cubans do not have to stand the harassments to which other workers must submit in living outside the base and crossing into U.S. territory.

These harassments include shakedowns by Cuban guards and the denunciations of their Cuban neighbors outside who support Castro. The Cuban workers are called worms by the Castro supporters.

The workers who shuttle back and forth are permitted to continue working for the Americans because they bring an estimated $5 million a year in much-needed dollars into Cuba.

Although some of these commuting workers are watched by U.S. intelligence men, the Navy commanders of the base vouch for the loyalty of the great bulk of them.

Rear Adm. Edward J. O'Donnell, the base commander, has said there has been no evidence of sabotage, nor any attempt at sabotage, by Cuban workers since relations with Castro began deteriorating about three years ago.

HOW IS IT?

How it is to be an exile at Guantanamo? Some of these Cubans feel closed in. But his is a feeling shared by many Americans stationed there, hemmed in by Fidel Castro's territory. Some of the Cubans also chafe under a way of life circumscribed by military regulations. This, though, appears to be a minor annoyance.

The Cubans are allowed relative freedom of movement around the 45-square-mile base. The only places barred to them are also off-limits to unauthorized U.S. civilians or military personnel.

The resident Cubans are quartered in buff-colored, one-story wooden structures overlooking the blue Guantanamo Bay. The barracks look of the buildings is softened by tropical flowers, bushes and trees.

Like about 3,000 others who pass back and forth through the gates, these Cubans work in a variety of industrial, maintenance and service jobs necessary to operation of the huge Navy installation.

At least two of them prepare and deliver Spanish language broadcasts of news and sports over the base radio station, WGBY, and put out editions of the base newspaper in Spanish.

The radio broadcasts are heard as far as 60 miles beyond the base and serve to give the Cubans outside Guantanamo's perimeter the U.S. version of events in the world.

THEY LIVE WELL

The Cubans generally live pretty well. With the dollars they earn they shop at the post exchange and commissary. And they are welcome at the various open-air movies that dot the reservation.

Some maintain contact with their families on the outside, mainly through word-of-mouth messages carried by Cubans who work on the base but live in

Lyndon Reiterates Cuban Policy

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson says the Kennedy administration "intends to get rid of Castro and the Communist influence in Cuba and not let it spread to this hemisphere."

Speaking to 1,000 persons who paid $25 a plate at a Democratic rally, Johnson said Thursday night: "We do not intend to yield or give up to any Communist aggressor any part of this hemisphere or any part of the free world."

Mrs. Roosevelt Leaves Hospital

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, after a three-week stay at Columbia Presbyterian Hospital, went home in an ambulance Thursday.

Suffering from a lung infection, she will undergo further treatment at her home, and only members of her family will be allowed to see her.

In disclosing the infectious lung condition, a hospital spokesman said the former First Lady does not have cancer.

Midland Minister To Speak To Lutherans Here Sunday

Sunday will be observed as Mission Sunday in St. Paul Lutheran Church, according to the Rev. Clair Wiederholt, pastor. Guest speaker in the 10:30 a.m. service will be the Rev. Allen Brutlag, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church at Midland.

Rev. Brutlag was born in Illinois, and received his elementary education in the parochial school at Woodworth, Ill. Since his graduation from Concordia Theological Seminary in 1947, the speaker has served parishes at Salem, Ill., Clarissa and Eagle Bend, Minn., and Alta, Iowa prior to coming to Midland this year. He received his BA degree from Buena Vista College, Storm Lake, Iowa, in August, 1959.

Rev. Brutlag will speak on "Scattered Abroad to Preach the Word." Another service will be held at 2 p.m. with the Rev. Wiederholt speaking on "Aloofness From Mission Work."

The offerings of the day go for the Mission Program of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, of which the local church is a member. The mission fields are in many parts of the world, including South America, India, Central America, New Guinea, Japan, the Philippines, Korea, Europe and the mid-east. The missions are supported by freewill offerings. Included in the mission offering is the religious television program "This Is The Life" which can be seen each Sunday.

The annual feature of a general

Protestants Give Views On Prospects

NEW YORK (AP)—Three of the eight American Protestant delegate-observers to the 2nd Vatican Council have commented on council prospects in response to an invitation from a weekly Catholic newspaper.

Protestant delegates attended the council, which opened last week, at the invitation of the Vatican, to observe the deliberations and report to their own religious communities.

The Catholic Reporter, which had listed issues expected to come before the council and asked all eight delegate-observers for comment, published the three statements in full.

Concern with "a total disregard for moral standards everywhere" was expressed by Dr. Frederick C. Grant, one of three observers from the Anglican Communion. Dr. Grant added, "I believe the council will be—surely may be—one of the great turning points in world history."

Optimism also was expressed by Dr. J. H. Jackson, president of the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc., the largest all-Negro religious body in the world. "As a result of this conference I look forward to a greater fellowship and understanding between Protestants and Catholics the world over."

Dr. Jackson is the only Baptist delegate-observer at the council.

Dr. Albert C. Outler, professor at Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University, discussed the council's possible effects on the ecumenical movement and said, "No matter what does happen, the ecumenical situation is bound to be altered significantly thereafter—for better or for worse."

The Son of God

HOW THE GREAT FACT OF CHRIST AS THE SON OF GOD IS PROCLAIMED BY CHRIST AND BY THOSE WHO BELIEVED IN HIM IN THE FIRST CENTURY

Scripture—Matthew 16:13-17; Mark 16:45; Luke 19:1-10; John 3:16; 6:35-40; Ephesians 3; Philippians 2:5-11.

By N. SPEER JONES THIS WEEK we study the next logical subject after God Himself—God's Son. The announcement of this fact—that Jesus was the Son of God—comes in the first passage in today's lesson, a passage which has been called "the watershed of Christ's ministry" (Peloubet's Select Notes, p. 393). It laid the foundation for the Christian church.

The setting of this important scene is Caesarea Philippi, a city in northern Palestine at the foot of Mt. Hermon. Long a sacred place, it had been called Panias, after the god Pan, to whom was dedicated a cave there housing a spring which feeds the Jordan. The town was rebuilt by Philip the tetrarch, who named it Caesarea after Tiberius, adding his own name to distinguish it from the port of Caesarea. The time of this scene was 29 A.D., about two and a half years after Christ began His ministry. Some of His disciples had been with Him all that time, and all had been with Him for at least a year and a half, observing His teaching and the stir it had created. It was time for Christ to ask who people thought He was—and, more important, who His disciples thought He was.

Peter's answer brings Christ a sense of joy and relief, for it indicates God's revelation of the fact of Christ's Sonship—human instruction had not taught this. Nowhere else does Christ call anyone "blessed." That Peter answered Christ's question must not be taken to mean that the other disciples did not also realize Christ's Sonship. Rather it is that, characteristically, Peter is the spokesman for the group. The passage from Mark 10, our Golden Text, indicates one of Christ's great purposes in coming into the world—to give His life as a ransom-price for the deliverance of many. The great verse, John 3:16, reiterates this purpose in a slightly different way, indicating the motivating factor for it all—God's love for man.

This is further elaborated in John 6:35-40, where Christ indicates that He has come to do all this as God's will; it is God's will that man shall find salvation. And here we find again how much beliefs do matter, for belief in Christ is the condition of this salvation. As J. Ritchie Smith says, "Here is set forth the ground of salvation, the love of God; the object, the world; the means, the gift of His Son; the condition, faith; the fruit, eternal life" (Peloubet's, p. 395).

The third chapter of Ephesians is a passage too rich and long to be explored in detail here. The major point for our lesson is the importance of the "indwelling" of Christ in man, and its relationship to man's salvation.

This feeling is exemplified in the account of the publican's salvation (Luke 19:1-10). Here we see a selfish man, an extortionist (a publican was a profiteering tax-collector) overcome by Christ's love, so that he realized how unworthy he was—and, more important, did everything he could to make restitution.

A NEEDED LESSON

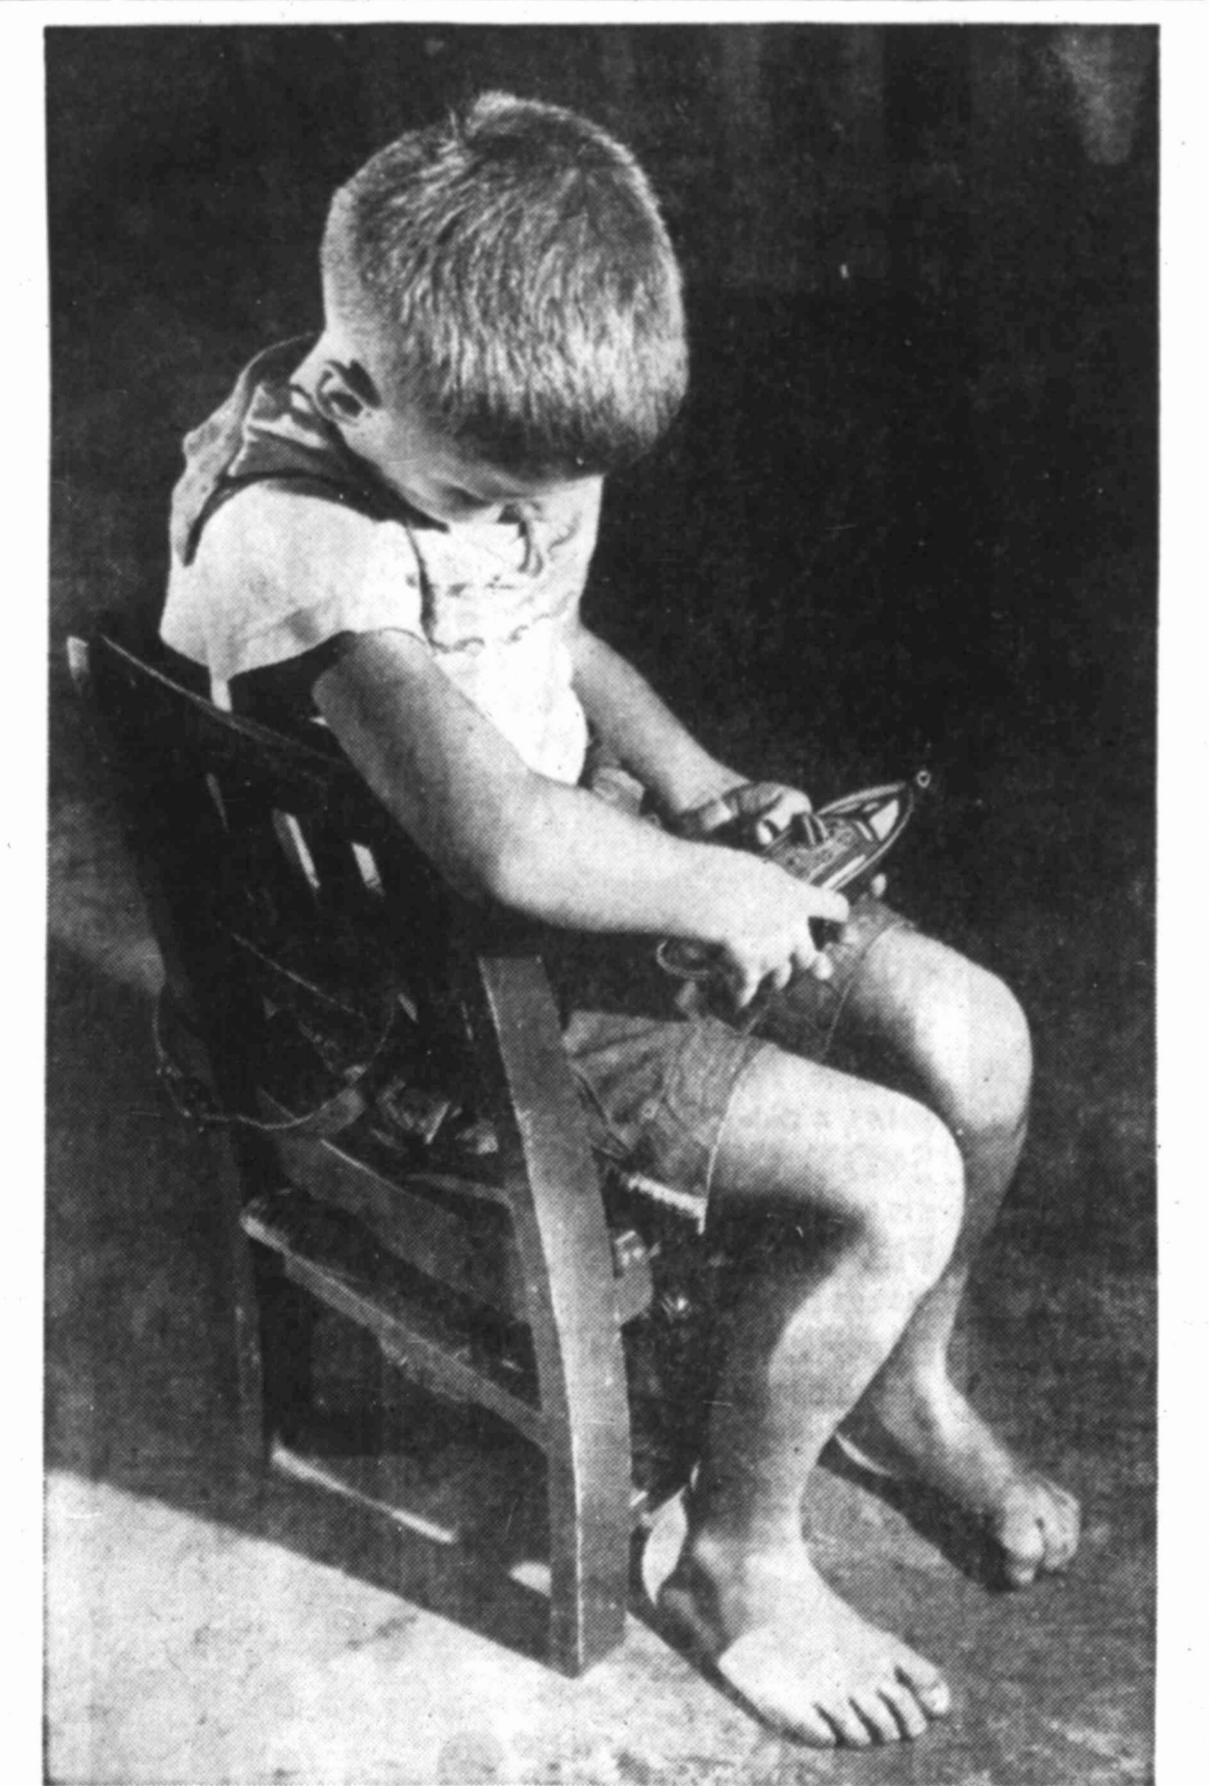

Let me state the truth about 3,000 people who were all baptized in one day; and state it in such a manner, without hesitation and without stammering and without apology, in such a way that it may be clearly understood. The three thousand people of whom I speak were no different in their natures than you and I; they were sinners and this fact had been so forcibly driven into their sinful hearts that they were brought to contrition before God and had simply asked of the apostles, "Men and brethren, what shall we do?" When they asked this question, the answer came forth as recorded in Acts 2:38, "Repent and be baptized everyone of you, in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins—" What did they do? Did they start to mince and mutter, splutter and sputter about it? Oh no. They had no time to fight against God's will; verse 41 says, "Then they that gladly received his word were baptized; and the same day there were added unto them about 3,000 souls."

What happened here in Acts, Chapter 2, may be listed as follows:

1. These people were baptized only after they had repented, for according to the command they were told to repent first, namely change your mind and be baptized.
2. These people repented only after they had been convicted of their sinful state. Being baptized is not difficult for the penitent, but repentance is impossible without conviction that one is a sinner.
3. Their baptism was completed on the same day, hence in one day, hence without delay, hence the immediate obedience and thus complete obedience. Some say it was impossible to baptize 3,000 in one day. Perhaps not you but if you have said so, COME NOW, let's think a little, just suppose that only the 12 did any baptizing, although there is no reason to think the work had to be limited only to them, and certainly it is NOT like one priest told me, he said, "The Bible says that Peter baptized 3,000 in one day." Well — he had evidently not read what the Bible says. But just suppose that only the 12 apostles did the baptizing, they could leisurely baptize one a minute, or 720 an hour, and thus in four hours even 3,240 people could have been baptized.

Friends, the greatest need in the world is the WILL TO BELIEVE GOD'S WORD.

Hemisphere Economic Move Planned

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Finance ministers of member countries will be asked to pass on a proposed revamping of the Inter-American Economic and Social Council.

Spokesmen for Brazil, Chile and Colombia called for a shakeup in the system with the aim of speeding the Alliance for Progress program.

Informed sources said private discussions mentioned assignments for former Presidents Juscelino Kubitschek of Brazil and Alberto Lleras Camargo of Colombia in this role.

A working group of the committee reviewing the alliance decided Thursday to change the proposal. This group was composed of representatives of Chile, Colombia, Mexico, Paraguay and the United States.

Unable to agree on the number of Latin Americans and whether they should be called statesmen or experts, the group suggested to the full committee that these matters be left to the American finance ministers who will meet here next week.

The alliance committee adopted a resolution asking the ministers to consider replenishing the social progress trust fund of the Inter-American Development Bank.

This $394 million fund set up by the United States in June, 1961, to provide loans specifically aimed at social progress, has been nearly exhausted.

Rain Falls In Wide Area

Rainy weather hung on Friday in the Panhandle-Plains area of West Texas and eastward along the Red River to near Wichita Falls.

Skies were clear to partly cloudy in most other sections. It was a continuation of the state's mixed weather pattern, which kept North Texas comfortably mild Thursday while humid heat gripped South Texas.

Hard rains Thursday along the Rio Grande brought 1.90 inches of moisture at Sanderson and 1.24 at Del Rio. High water blocked roads near Juno, in the Del Rio vicinity, for a time.

In the Lower Rio Grande Valley, Raymondville caught 1.50 inches of rain in a briefly violent downpour. It caused minor street flooding.

Georgia Congressional Seat May Go To Negro Candidate

ATLANTA (AP)—For the first time since Reconstruction Days following the Civil War, a Negro appeared assured today of taking a seat in the Georgia Senate next January.

However, the issue is so entangled in legal complications that it may be several days before the final outcome is known.

As matters stand at the moment, the Democratic and Repub-

Election Ruling

AUSTIN (AP) — Election supervisors must be qualified voters of the county but not in the election precinct where they serve, Atty. Gen. Will Wilson said Thursday. Co. Atty. Darrell Lochie of Kerrville asked the opinion.

lican nominees from the 38th Senatorial District in Fulton (Atlanta) County are Negroes.

Barring a successful write-in campaign for a white, independent candidate in the November general election, or some future court action, one of the two Negroes seems assured of winning a senate seat.

The 38th is a predominantly Negro district.

District results from Tuesday's Democratic primary, announced late Thursday night by the party's county executive committee, showed Leroy R. Johnson, a Negro attorney, polled a majority of the votes over three white opponents. Results of the primary had been tabulated earlier on a countywide basis, and in that count Johnson failed to win a majority and faced a runoff against Ed Barfield.

The district-only vs. countywide balloting is the key to the situation. A state judge, Durwood T. Pye, has ruled that under present constitutional provisions, balloting for senators must be on a district basis.

The Georgia Supreme Court refused Thursday to intervene in the case at this time. The Georgia Legislature recently reapportioned the Georgia Senate, under federal court orders, to give urban areas representation in keeping with their population. Lawmakers specified that in counties with more than one senator, balloting should be on a countywide—rather than district—basis.

Some lawmakers said at the time that countywide balloting was necessary to prevent a Negro from winning a senate seat from Fulton. The legislature also adopted a proposed constitutional amendment writing the countywide balloting provision into the state's organic law. This must be voted on in the general election next month.

Pye ruled that at present countywide balloting is unconstitutional.

If Johnson's Democratic nomination stands, his Republican opponent in the general election will be T. M. Alexander, a Negro insurance man.

Textbook Law

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Congress is considering a law providing a prison sentence of up to six years for anyone convicted of illegally using the government's free school textbooks.

Smear, Fakery Charges Heat Governor Race

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Charges of smear and fakery today enlivened a California gubernatorial race both sides agreed would be "the dirtiest in California history."

The dispute centers around campaign pamphlets used by opponents of Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who is battling former Vice President Richard M. Nixon to hold the state's top post.

The Democrats accused the Republicans of using "faked photographs, said the GOP was trying to smear Brown, and claimed it was the handiwork of attorney Murray Chotiner, a key Nixon aide.

Republican spokesmen said the Democratic charges were "reckless distortions of the truth" and said Chotiner had nothing to do with the campaign literature. Eugene L. Wyman, Democratic state chairman, called a news conference here Thursday to accuse the GOP of smearing Brown in a booklet titled "Pat Brown and the CDC."

The CDC is the California Democratic Council, termed leftwing by many Republican speakers. Brown has refused to repudiate CDC support but has said he disagrees with some of its policies, including admission of Red China to the United Nations.

Nixon's campaign manager, H. R. Haldeman, said afterward the CDC booklet was prepared by the Nixon organization, not by Chotiner. The photographs, Haldeman added, "were only illustrative of the actual statements made by Brown."

Allies May Recognize Arab Rebels

LONDON (AP) — The United States and four of its major allies may recognize the revolutionary regime in Yemen within a week, diplomatic sources said today.

These informants reported the United States, Britain, France, Italy and West Germany will act together unless the royalists can show quickly they can restore the monarchy in the little desert nation in the southwest corner of the Arabian Peninsula.

Brig. Abdullah Sallal, the revolutionary premier, is putting pressure on the United States and Britain particularly to extend recognition. The Communist bloc has done so.

Veterans Day Planning

Representatives from the American Legion and Veterans of World War I Auxiliaries were on hand Thursday to map out plans for observance of Veterans Day Nov. 11. The planning session was held at the VA Hospital. Left to right are Mrs. J. L. Swindell, Mrs. H. D. Brunton and James Kilgore, administrative assistant to the chief of staff for the hospital.

Plans Mapped For Annual Veterans' Day Observance

A program for observance of Veterans Day at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital was planned at a meeting Thursday at the hospital.

On hand for the planning session were representatives from the American Legion and Veterans of World War I Auxiliaries. Chaplain Capt. A. J. Blasingame, 31st Fighter Interceptor Squadron, will be speaker for the occasion. A band will provide music for ceremonies on the lawn in front of the hospital building. Webb Air Force Base has been asked to furnish a Color Guard.

After the initial ceremonies on the lawn, the program will move into the main lobby. V. J. Belda, hospital director, will welcome visitors.

Time for the program has been set at 2 p.m. to prevent conflict with Sunday church activities. The ceremony is normally held at 11 a.m.

Gold Star Mothers will again be special honored guests. The Disabled American Veterans and its auxiliary will escort wheelchair

Tech Library Dedication Set

LUBBOCK—Texas Tech will formally recognize a major step in its academic development by dedicating its new library Sunday afternoon starting at one o'clock.

The striking two million dollar structure has 72 columns and 68 arches towering five stories high in front of a red tile screen.

The largest building on Tech's 1,800-acre campus, its basement is longer than a football field. The building is completely air-conditioned and has carefully engineered lighting throughout.

An average of 3,000 students, faculty and others have used the building each day since the start of the fall semester, librarian Ray Janeway reports.

All the stacks of the library's more than 500,000 volumes are completely open to users. Twelve staff members are needed to service the facility.

Since all users pass by a final checkpoint, one person can control the operation of the whole building if necessary. The building has an ultimate capacity of as many as 800,000 volumes.

WEATHER

NORTH CENTRAL TEXAS—Cloudy today and Saturday. A few showers in west and north tonight and Saturday. Low tonight 59 to 70. High Saturday 75 to 85.

NORTHWEST TEXAS—Cloudy with widely scattered showers today and Saturday. Low tonight 65 to 74. High Saturday 70 to 78.

SOUTHWEST TEXAS—Mostly cloudy with scattered thunderstorms today and Saturday. Low tonight 65 to 74. High Saturday 75 to 85.

Connally Lowers Boom On G'Water

HOUSTON (AP) — Democrat John Connally reaffirmed his friendship with President Kennedy today and lowered the boom on Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., as an exponent of feudalism and the establishment of an aristocracy in America.

The gubernatorial candidate said he is a Democrat, has always been one and has no hesitancy in standing by his convictions.

"I have repeatedly said I am proud of that friendship with Kennedy," Connally said. "I'm not going to disavow that friendship anymore than I would any other friendship for any political office."

"With respect to Mr. Goldwater — so far as I know — he is for feudalism and for the establishment of an aristocracy in America, and I'm against both."

"This issue was settled in the days of Jefferson and Hamilton, when it was decided this would be a government of the people and not of a privileged class."

"Sen. Goldwater apparently would enjoy living in the 18th Century. I like living in Texas in the 20th Century."

Connally arrived shortly after midnight. He scheduled a luncheon with local labor leaders.

Connally's opponent, Jack Cox, was also in Houston, resting for a television appearance tonight.

Connally took to task GOP candidates in the No. 6 election for what he said was failure to let it be known they are Republicans on the billboards and in their campaign literature.

"These fellows purportedly running on the Republican ticket never even mention they are Republicans," Connally said.

He criticized Cox for his East Texas talks about states' rights and privileges, at a time he said Cox's supporters in South Texas are calling for federal supervision of elections in several counties.

Little shortly will be naming various working committees. He said that the Center's main project for 1963 will be the construction of a permanent home. Treatments are now being given in temporary quarters at 402 Edwards Blvd.

The physical therapist, Jim Thompson, announced that speech therapy will be resumed at the Center beginning Monday. There has been a suspension because of the lack of a qualified instructor. Gilbert Ritchey, speech therapist with the school system, has agreed to do extra work at the Center.

Three Gra-Y football teams meet in competition Saturday morning at the YMCA as the season gets under way.

Boys' team meets Park Hill at 9 a.m.; Airport plays Lakeview at 10 a.m.; and Washington takes on Cedar Crest at 11 a.m. The College Heights team does not play.

An all-star game will be played at the end of the season. The winning team will receive a trophy provided by the Lakeview Branch Y and each participant will receive an award. Another top prize will be a sportsmanship trophy.

The board is to take action this afternoon if a quorum is present.

Also to be considered this afternoon is a question of a permit for enlargement of the Newsom Grocery store building at 1910 Gregg. The building was heavily damaged by fire in September.

The board had formerly granted permission to rebuild, to the same size, inasmuch as not more than 50 per cent damage was estimated which would keep the rebuilding within the city ordinance. Construction was stopped, when the non-conforming building was being enlarged, pending a decision of the zoning board of adjustment.

Another new church will be completed in Big Spring shortly, according to Darrell Shortes.

The Carl Street Church of Christ, to be completed at 2301 Carl in the Lockhart Addition, will be completed in about 90 days. It will cost about $50,000.

The congregation has been meeting temporarily at 3708 Hamilton for the past five weeks. Membership was originally 28 persons and has risen to about 80.

J. V. Davis, Lubbock, will be the preacher for the new church.

Sunday services are Bible class at 10 a.m., worship service at 11 a.m., and evening worship at 5 p.m. Evening worship is also held each Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

The first Pot Luck Supper of the fall season is scheduled Saturday during Family Night activities at the YMCA, according to Francis Flint, general secretary.

The program begins at 6:30 p.m. Persons attending are asked to bring a hot dish and a dessert or salad.

Entertainment after the supper will include a demonstration by baton twirlers, presentation of archery awards and a swimming demonstration by youngsters in the Y's progressive swim program. Free swimming for all will follow the swimming demonstration.

Fair No. 1 Justice Estate, C SE SW SW, section 18-6, H&G survey, is preparing to take drill-stem test No. 7 on an unreported zone between 7,920-65 feet. The project is bottomed at 7,965 feet.

Eisner No. 1 Clark Estate, C NW NW, section 42-35-4E, T&P survey, is at a total depth of 8,059 feet in lime and the operator is mixing mud.

Humble No. 2 Birdie R. Alexander, spotting C SE SE, section 13-5, H&G survey, is to bottom at 2,209 feet in the Dorward (San Andres) field. It is an old well being plugged back. Location is on a 1,600-acre lease about eight miles southeast of Justiceburg.

Dr. Sam G. Dunn has staked four 3,000-foot ventures in the Post (Glorieta) field. All are in section 9-B, H&G survey, on a 160-acre lease about 10 miles east of Post.

The No. 1-B Charles A. Bird spots C SE SE of the section. The No. 2-B Bird is 990 feet

Hurricane Still Menace To Ships

CAPE HATTERAS, N.C. (AP) —Hurricane Ella picked up speed in her center winds and resumed her forward movement today on an Atlantic course that continued to menace shipping.

The Weather Bureau said in its 11 a.m. advisory that the path of the storm would keep its center well off the North Carolina coast.

The eye of the storm was located 315 miles south-southeast of Cape Hatteras moving on an east-northeast course at about 5 miles per hour.

Top winds of 100 m.p.h. were reported over a small area near the center, with hurricane force winds extending out about 100 miles. Beyond that were gale force winds, extending 300 to 350 miles.

The hurricane was expected to continue its present movement during the next 12 hours, with the Weather Bureau predicting a possible turn to the north-northeast Saturday.

reported winds in gusts between 20 to 40 m.p.h.

Waves of eight to 10 feet were reported today, almost double their size Thursday. Tides were running a half-foot to a foot and a half above normal.

The Outer Banks, the promontory where Cape Hatteras sits, was expected to experience whole gale winds in gusts during the night.

The Weather Bureau said tides should range up to two to four feet above normal on the coast from Cape Hatteras north and on the southern and western side of Pamlico and Albermarle sounds.

The storm resumed its forward movement after remaining almost stationary since Thursday.

Residents along the North Carolina coast went about their business as usual, with schools, businesses and offices remaining open.

A hurricane watch was in effect from Wilmington to Nags Head and gale warnings as far north as the Virginia Capes. Small craft warnings were displayed all the way to Cape May, N.J.

BATTEN HATCHES Although the forecasters said no important change in her size or intensity was expected, hurricane-wise coastal residents batted down their hatches. Many recall hurricanes of the past which sat off the coast for days, then turned suddenly inland.

The Navy at Norfolk assigned ships in the harbor to storm anchorages and alerted crews to be ready to move if the storm approached that area. The nuclear powered carrier Enterprise moved away from her regular pier and anchored in Hampton Roads. Liaison parties were sent inland to arrange for safe landing sites for military aircraft, in case they have to be evacuated.

Some flooding was predicted in the Norfolk area.

Ella, apparently lacking the big punch of hurricanes Ione, Helene and Connie of the past, nevertheless was vicious near her center. Navy Cmdr. Joshua A. Langfur, a hurricane hunter based at Jacksonville Fla., flew over her Thursday and reported, "It was just like riding a motorcycle over cobblestone streets."

Langfur, 40, a veteran of 20 years in the Navy, said the storm looked to him like "a washing machine full of suds" as he flew into her center and clocked winds of 90 miles per hour.

SOME EROSION Some erosion was reported along the sandy shores of the Outer Banks area. The pounding surf endangered a temporary bridge built across a new inlet cut across the Outer Banks strip near Oregon Inlet by a storm on Ash Wednesday last March.

The bridge provides access to the mainland for a large number of residents living in villages south of here. School children living in the villages of Rodanthe, Avon, Waves and Salvo were dismissed from school until the storm passes.

All along the coast, fishermen cut short their valuable fall fishing season and secured their boats in harbors. The Red Cross dispersed 41 disaster staff members at points along the North Carolina coast for use if needed.

Two lightships which stand off the Tar Heel coast were brought into ports Thursday. For the Diamond Shoals Lightship, it was the first time in history that she has been sent to port because of a storm. The other ship brought in was the Frypan Pan Shoals Lightship.

FIFTH STORM Ella is the fifth tropical storm of the season. She skirted the upper Florida Coast Wednesday. If she strikes inland she will be the first to do so this year.

In other parts of the nation, generally pleasant autumn weather was reported, although there were some wet spots west of the Mississippi River during the night.

Light rain fell in the northern and southern Plains, the south and central Rockies, the Plateau region and in the Pacific Northwest. Thunderstorms hit areas in the southern Rockies.

Temperatures in the 40s and 50s covered most areas east of the Mississippi River, with 70s reported in the southern half of Florida and Texas and 60s in the other sections along the Gulf Coast and into the coast line of the Carolinas.

FREEZING WEATHER New England was the coolest region with freezing weather in some spots. The 40s and 50s prevailed west of the Mississippi, with the 60s extending northward from Texas into Oklahoma, Kansas and southern Missouri and northward into northern California.

Probers Plan Another Look At Slant Holes

DALLAS (AP)—Legislators digging into slanted oil well drilling in East Texas plan another public hearing with Gregg County Judge Earl Sharp as a witness.

David Witts, Dallas lawyer who is general counsel for the Texas House Investigating Committee, said Thursday night the session will be held here Oct. 29 or 30.

Texas Ranger Glenn Elliott handed Sharp a summons to the hearing Thursday in Longview, where the county judge appeared before grand jurors also inquiring into the deviated well scandal.

The lawmakers sought without success to subpoena Sharp earlier for hearings in Dallas, Houston and Austin. Associates told the committee he was under medical treatment at a Rochester, Minn., clinic. He returned home last week.

Sharp and Dist. Judge David Moore, questioned earlier by the lawmakers, went before the Gregg County grand jury as voluntary witnesses. Moore spent 22 minutes and Sharp 13 minutes with the jurors.

State Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has filed suit asking more than $1 million in civil penalties from Sharp and business associates. It alleges they operated an illegally deviated oil well in Wood County from the fall of 1959 until last June 19, when state claims the well was plugged in violation of an official order.

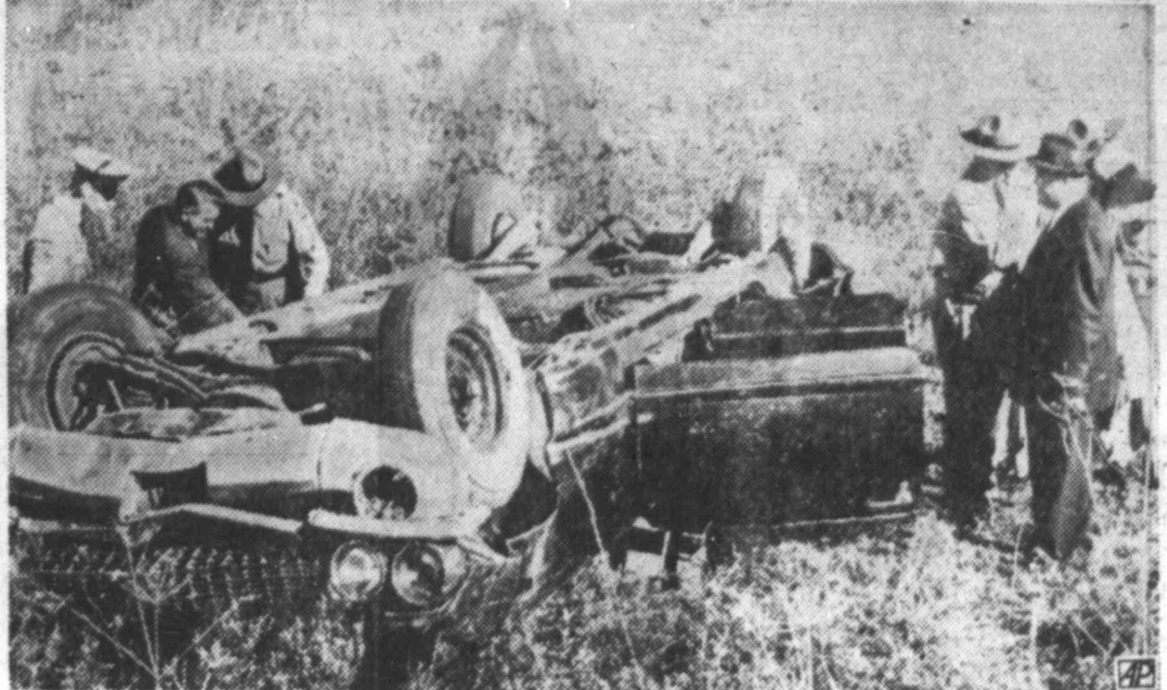

In Longview, Dist. Atty. Ralph Prince said the grand jury probably would finish its investigation of slanted well cases Monday.

$100,000 Fire Hits Refinery

HURST, Tex. (AP)—Initial estimates put the loss at more than $100,000 from fire at the Sal-Tex refinery Thursday.

A crash truck from Carter Field, near this Fort Worth suburb, finally quenched the flames. The blaze consumed thousands of gallons of oil.

Witnesses said what appeared to be a minor fire became a wild inferno in a few minutes. Joe Bell, the owner, said flames started from spontaneous combustion while oil was leaking from a cracked valve on a tank 40 feet tall. Bell said he had just installed new equipment costing $140,000 and the amount of damage was uncertain until the equipment could be tested.

End Of The Chase

New Jersey and Pennsylvania state policemen inspect the overturned car which led them on a chase across the two states. The car bearing registration issued to the Czechoslovakia embassy was forced off the Lehigh Valley Thruway near Easton, Pa. The driver suffered gunshot wounds of the temple and shoulder and was reported in critical condition.

Czech Envoy Slays Wife, Leads Police In Wild Chase

BULLETIN
BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—Karel Zizka, the Czech diplomat who murdered his wife and later shot himself after 110-mile-an-hour chase by police who thought he was a traffic violator, died today.

NEW YORK (AP)—A Czechoslovak diplomat murdered his wife in their Manhattan apartment Thursday, then led police on a wild, two-state auto chase before cracking up his big limousine in Pennsylvania and putting a bullet into his head.

The diplomat, Karel Zizka, about 40, an attaché of the Czech United Nations mission, was in critical condition today in St. Luke's Hospital, Fountain Hill, Pa., outside of Bethlehem. He also has a shoulder wound, inflicted by a Pennsylvania state trooper.

The body of Zizka's brown-haired wife, Vera, 40, a bullet through her head, lay unnoticed in their apartment in the Czech mission on upper Madison Avenue for hours as Zizka, leaving behind a note telling of the murder and his suicide intent, began his frenzied 75-mile flight. He drove a black Cadillac, owned by the mission and bearing diplomatic license plates.

TWO ACCIDENTS
Roaring away from the mission building, Zizka's car was involved in two minor traffic accidents near his home. He got out of them by claiming diplomatic immunity.

Zizka, 6-foot-2 and 240 pounds, then headed the car into New Jersey and stepped on the gas as he sped west on Route 22. Three Jersey State Police cars were after Zizka at speeds up to 110 miles an hour when the limousine crossed the state line, where Pennsylvania highway patrolmen took up the chase.

Near Easton, Pa., Zizka's car roared off the road, down an embankment, and overturned. Cpl. John Uditis, alerted by radio, found the limousine with Zizka lying beside it.

"The man was lying there on his stomach," Uditis said. "He had a cigarette in his left hand and his right hand was concealed from view under his body."

Advancing with gun drawn, Uditis ordered Zizka to bring his right hand into view. But, said the trooper, "he just kept on smoking and kept his eyes trained on me. Upon my second order to bring out his hand empty it came out with a revolver in it. He pointed it at me and I fired."

ANOTHER SHOT
In the next instant another shot rang out. Zizka had put his revolver to his right temple.

Inside the car, police said they found two broken bottles of vodka.

In the Zizka apartment were broken bottles of wine, whisky and gin, and wild disorder. The official Czech statement said: "The flat was in a terrible state and demolished."

Mrs. Zizka, mother of two children still in Czechoslovakia, was clad in a nightgown and lay on the bedroom floor. She apparently had been shot through the head while in bed, then rolled to the floor.

Miles Vejoda, mission counsel, told of breaking down the door to get into the third-floor apartment after Mrs. Zizka failed to answer the telephone or repeated knocks at the door.

Among fragments of broken glass in the kitchen, police said, was "what appeared to be an ice crusher with a little blood on it." Authorities said they saw "no bludgeon marks on the body."

NOTE FOUND
Vejoda, in his office statement, said: "On the table there was a report written by Mr. Zizka explaining that he killed his wife and that he will commit suicide. According to all persons who have known them, the Zizkas' family life was happy and quiet."

"And this tragic event can be explained only by a sudden mental breakdown."

Vejoda claimed that police were notified immediately after the discovery of Mrs. Zizka's body, between noon and 1 p.m.

Manhattan police said they first heard of Mrs. Zizka's death through the U.S. mission to the U.N., which asked the department how a foreign mission went about obtaining a death certificate.

It was at 7:30 a.m. that police reported that Zizka's auto side-swiped one car and failed to stop. Zizka was picked up at 92nd St., and York Ave., when blocked by traffic. As a patrolman approached, Zizka veered around

50% higher dividends now being paid on Allstate Auto Insurance

Last year alone, Allstate paid out nearly two million dollars in auto insurance dividends to policyholders in the Lone Star state.

And as of right now, Allstate is paying dividends at a rate that is 50% higher than last year's rate—to all eligible policyholders. But dividends are just one advantage of doing business with Allstate. Here are others:

- Pay in 3 installments if you wish
- No surcharges
- No "membership" fees.

And, with Allstate, you get claim service no other company can match:

5,000 full-time, salaried people who do nothing but work on claims throughout the U.S. and Canada . . . over 300 Allstate Drive-In Claim Centers for "on the spot" service . . . round the clock help, always as near as the nearest phone.

No wonder Allstate writes more auto liability insurance than any other company in the world! "May we help you?"

THE LITTLE TOY DOG.

By William L. White. Dutton, $5.75.

Most of us have only dim recollections that on July 1, 1960, an RB47 of the U.S. Air Force, flying a legitimate electronics research mission from an English airport, was shot down in the Barents Sea by a Russian fighter pilot, and that the two survivors of the six-man crew were imprisoned for many months by the Russians.

White has reconstructed in very minute detail the story of the two who survived, Capt. John R. McKone and Capt. Freeman B. Olmstead, navigator and co-pilot. Those who died were the pilot—the little toy dog he carried gives this story its title—and three technical specialists.

This was an incident that followed closely on the U-2 affair involving Francis Gary Powers—the distinction being that the United States admitted the U-2 was on a spying mission, whereas the RB47 stayed over international waters. The Russians trumped up a charge that the RB47 violated Soviet territory, and held the survivors for espionage.

McKone and Olmstead were given the full Soviet treatment. They were imprisoned at Lubyanka, which also held Powers, whose "trial" occurred in August 1960. White has compiled a graphic and amazingly complete record of their imprisonment, their resistance to Soviet pressure and the attempts of each flier to communicate with his family.

It should be of considerable satisfaction to American readers that these two fliers resisted the Soviet attempts to twist their stories into confessions. And that by their fortitude they exposed—even to the Russians—the story of the fighter pilot who shot them down as a fabrication.

The author also has a cool and calm analysis of the Powers case, in which he reaches a humane understanding of the flier's dilemma.

The book is a remarkably complete story of an international incident and all its ramifications—human, political, international and ethical.

Students Probe Ole Miss Riots

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — The Student Judicial Council has started closed hearings on charges against at least 11 University of Mississippi students growing out of campus riots Sept. 30.

Sources said Thursday at least three cases have already been heard. The council's recommendations will go to the students affairs dean, L. L. Love, who will inform the students what—if any—disciplinary action has been taken.

No public announcement is expected until after all cases have been heard and decided.

James H. Meredith, the Negro student whose appearance at Ole Miss set off the rioting, ends his third week as a student today. His weekend plans have not been disclosed, although he has left the campus on previous Fridays—presumably to see his wife.

At times Thursday, only one U.S. marshal trailed Meredith as he made his campus rounds. He talked with two male students and a coed for a few minutes at the post office and ate supper at the cafeteria with Angela Sullivan, an assistant to Norbert Schlei, deputy assistant attorney general.

Probe Possible In Duval County

SAN DIEGO, Tex. (AP)—Names of more than 100 persons holding poll tax receipts but thought to be non-residents have been given to federal authorities, a Republican candidate for county judge says.

Dr. E. E. Duniap said Thursday the list was compiled after a review of poll tax receipts.

He said the Republican party fears voting irregularities in Duval County and is "very much interested in absentee voting."

Duniap is opposing Archer Parr, seeking a second term. Parr is a nephew of George Parr, Duval County political boss.

Bond Election

PECOS (AP) — An election on a $1,250,000 water revenue bond issue was scheduled for Nov. 10 by the Pecos City Council Thursday.

A new water field six miles east of Pecos in Ward County will supply up to 10 million gallons daily. A proposed new line would carry up to six million gallons daily.

Mine Disaster

An unidentified miner who had just come from 250 feet below ground tells a peace officer there appeared to be little hope of two trapped miners being alive after a cave-in at a zinc mine near Cardin, Okla. The two trapped men were covered by tons of rock that fell when supports collapsed. Another man was pinned under a boulder, but was freed by rescuers, and a fourth miner jumped clear when he heard the supporting pillar give away.

Council Lets Alley Paving Plan Simmer Some More

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Colorado City's Council pondered both the legal and ethical question of using a part of bond money voted to pave and sealcoat residential streets for paving downtown alleys and decided to let the matter simmer on the back burner for awhile.

The matter was the subject of a special meeting at 5 p.m. Thursday in City Hall. The city would like to pave 10 1/2 blocks of alleys in the business section, with the city's share (15 per cent) coming from a $50,000 bond issue passed in February, 1961 earmarked for 50 blocks of new paving and sealcoating part of the city's existing paving.

City Attorney John Worrrell told the group that the bond issue called for "street improvements" and he was unable to find anything in the law which would prevent use of the bond issue funds for alleys.

"Something could come up, however," he said. "I'm sorry that I can't give you a straight 'yes' or 'no' answer," he continued, "but it's not a simple question."

"The question in my mind," said Mayor H. I. Berman, "is what did we lead people to believe in voting the bonds?"

Councilman Bob Carver said that several persons had called him objecting to the money being used for alleys, when many residential streets still need repairs and sealcoating.

Drug Store Is Lucky Item For Candidate

By RELMAN MORIN
HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Abraham Ribicoff recently returned to Richard Phair's drug store in Canaan, Conn., shook some hands, sipped a soft drink, and thus officially launched his newest political venture.

"I'm superstitious," he says, "and that store has been a lucky starting point in my other campaigns."

This time, Ribicoff is the Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate. If he wins, he will return to Washington six months after resigning as secretary of health, education and welfare in President Kennedy's Cabinet. Before that, he was elected to two terms as governor of Connecticut.

BETTER KNOWN

Consequently, he is better known around the state than his Republican opponent, Rep. Horace Seely-Brown Jr., a congressman for 12 years.

"My problem," Seely-Brown says candidly, "is to become known."

This question, the relative degrees of recognition by the voters, seems to be the only real factor in the election. Speeches about issues, and political duelling do not appear to have people on the edge of their seats.

The pace stepped up a bit this week. President Kennedy and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower both came to Connecticut. Eisenhower spoke Monday in Hartford. Two days later, Kennedy stumped for the Democratic ticket in Stratford, Waterbury and New Haven, all important industrial areas.

STRIKES FIRE

The only issue that strikes obvious fire among the voters is the question of health assistance for the aged.

Ribicoff, explaining the bill he favors, has been getting reactions that approximate an ovation.

Seely-Brown also says, "We must do more for people in the field of health." But he opposes the King-Anderson bill.

Meanwhile, he has been trying to pin the label, "on-and-off Ribicoff" on his opponent. This is a reference to the fact that Ribicoff left the governor's office to become welfare secretary and then left that office to run for the Senate. "What does he really want?" Seely-Brown asks.

WANTS VOICE

Ribicoff's answer is that he wants to have a voice and a vote on the floor of the Senate.

"If anything is to be done in the fields of medical help for the aged, or federal aid to education, it will be done by being in the Senate not in any Cabinet office," he said. "There are two ends of Pennsylvania Avenue, one which offers legislation, the other where that legislation is either passed or killed."

Ribicoff is not "running scared." He looks relaxed and confident, but he puts in long days campaigning. In 1960, Kennedy carried Connecticut by 92,000. Two years earlier, in his second gubernatorial election, Ribicoff won by a record plurality of 246,000.

"This happens once in a lifetime," he says. "I don't expect to do it again this year."

He realizes that he is identified, in the minds of some voters, with the Kennedy administration. Those who don't like it may vote against him. Vice versa, Kennedy's personal popularity may help him.

To "become known," Seely-Brown has been going from door to door, passing out pot-holders, a technique he has used for years in his own congressional district. His name is lettered on one side, with the rest of the GOP ticket on the other.

KNOWS HIS WOMEN

His theory: "Campaign hats, badges and pins usually are thrown away the minute a candidate leaves. But no woman is going to throw away a good pot-holder."

So he is trying to enter the voters' consciousness via the kitchen.

The GOP candidate for governor, John Alsop, also is relatively unknown, politically. He is president of the Mutual Insurance Co. of Hartford, and the brother of Joseph and Stewart Alsop, writers. He opposes Gov. John M. Dempsey, a native-born Irishman, who is completing Ribicoff's term in office.

Kiwanians Discuss Candy Sale, Courts

Kiwanis Club devoted its Thursday meeting to planning its three day drive to sell 2,000 bags of Halloween candy and to the part of the club and its members will have in dedication exercises at the new junior college tennis courts Sunday.

The new tennis courts are to be formally named in honor of the club as a tribute to the part the organization had in spearheading the drive for their construction. The club contributed a sizeable share of money to insure the plan to build the courts would be carried out.

The plans for the dedication call for the ceremony to begin at 3 p.m. All Kiwanis members and their wives are asked to attend. The Big Spring high school band is to be on hand to provide music.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College, is to be master of ceremonies. The Rev. V. Ward Jackson, chairman of the Kiwanis committee which perfected plans for the club's participation in the court project, is to pronounce the invocation. John A. Coffey, a member of the Kiwanis Club, is to speak and Dr. Hunt will lead in brief dedication ceremonies. J. C. Pickle, president of the club, and S. A. Walker, president-elect, will jointly unveil the sign over the courts. The sign reads "Kiwanis Courts." Anna Smith, with the college physical education department, at whose suggestion the Kiwanis voted to spearhead the tennis court project, will introduce the 1962-63 HCJC tennis players. An exhibition game will be played on the new courts.

The tennis court committee, which directed the club's part in the project, was composed of Jackson, Jack Alexander, Walter Eubanks, Lewis Newell and Robert Travis.

Program Thursday was a short talk by Dr. Cal Williams with the Veterans Administration Hospital. He described his recent big game hunt in Alaska. He was presented by Dr. W. B. Hardy, program chairman of the day.

Cosden, Hamby Sign Settlement

Cosden Petroleum Corp. and M. O. Hamby, former distributor of motor fuels, signed an agreed settlement Thursday which terminated a suit for damages brought by the oil company.

Under the terms of the agreement, Hamby is to pay Cosden $45,941.32 actual damages plus $100 exemplary damages. In return, the company agrees to drop the suit against Hamby.

The suit stemmed from the alleged removal of a quantity of gasoline from the Cosden refinery by Hamby without the consent of the company.

The case was slated for trial Thursday but when it was called, announcement was made no trial would be needed.

The signed agreement was filed with the district court clerk late Thursday.

Another Suit Is Settled

An agreed settlement, in which the terms have not been announced, was reported reached in a lawsuit for compensation brought by Frank Escabado against the Massachusetts Bonding and Insurance Co. et al. The case was one of those tentatively announced ready at this week's term of court. Judge Ralph Caton was advised an agreement had been reached and struck the case from his trial docket.

He was also informed that a settlement was being worked out in the case of William H. Bethell vs. Dudley Allen Gullett. This was a suit for damages and had been set in the fourth spot on the docket. Judge Caton said he was not told that the case had been definitely settled but that the litigants informed him that they were working toward an agreement. This brought the week's docket to a termination without a single case being decided by a jury.

From secret springs comes a finer beer

To get to the bottom of Pearl's better taste, you have to go back to the springs. These nameless natural fountains on the Edwards Plateau are the source of Pearl's great brewing water. From the springs, the water flows into streams, and then underground into solid limestone. It stays in the stone, filtering southward for 100 miles, until it reaches Pearl's artesian wells, a quarter-mile beneath the brewery. This rare water comes up as clear and clean and untouched as it was in the spring. It brings out the delicate flavors you often miss in beer. And it gives Pearl life you can see! The bubbles that rise when you fill your glass are the "pearls" of life that gave this great beer its name.

Adjusting To Automation

The binding arbitration award of a special presidential board in the Chicago and North Western Railway-AFL-CIO Railroad Telegraphers dispute is viewed in some quarters as a turning point in the economy-wide controversy over labor-management relations policy in this era of automation.

The three-man board recognized the railroad management's right to lay off telegraphers whose jobs have become obsolete or unnecessary, provided it gives advance notice to the union and negotiated layoff benefits to the affected workers. That is a compromise of the prevalent industrial conflict between job security and technological progress, and perhaps it is practical.

Through many months, this so-called "featherbedding" issue has been run through a special presidential commission, the regular federal mediation machinery, and, in the telegraphers' case, a White House emergency board. The trend of findings through all that negotiation and mediation, research and hearings, pointed to the two-to-one decision by the arbitration board that represented the public interest, management and labor.

This binding arbitration award applies, of course, only to the management and union of the railroad involved in this case. However, it may be taken to indicate the trend of public policy toward automation-vs.-job security disputes in industry generally.

It is a decision that sooner or later had to come. This nation's continuing economic growth, and its world leadership in technological progress, requires that the labor force adjust to the job changes involved in automation. It should be a corollary of public policy to assist that adjustment so as to minimize individual hardships, so far as is practicable. The principle laid down in the Chicago and North Western Railway case at the moment appears to be sound and essential to the nation's maximum economic development and goal of full productive employment.

Pure Subversion

Another cherished illusion about male superiority has been dealt a severe blow. This is a serious matter, because women are getting enough of an edge over men as it is. Men need all the illusions of superiority they can muster.

The one most recently clobbered is that darling of the masculine ego: Men are more logical—more rational, if you will—than women. They are clearly not as pleasing to the eye, they may not control the family purse strings, they may not in truth be the stronger sex except when it comes to crass muscle power, but logical and rational they are. Thus the illusion.

The fact, says a research outfit which studied reaction to commercials on television, is otherwise. Conclusion Number One is that "men do not respond well to logical presentations." There is more, but that is enough.

To clinch it, this blunt observation from the report: "In the folklore of western civilization men are traditionally responsive to logic, practically and the nuts-and-bolts explanation. Our evidence suggests quite otherwise."

We regret to have to provide this kind of argument ammunition for the ladies. But the truth must out.

Marquis Childs Nixon's California Campaign

LOS ANGELES — Richard M. Nixon, campaigning for governor of California with all his old verve and intensity, tells his audiences a homely little story that illustrates, perhaps better than he realizes, his situation.

HE AND HIS WIFE, Pat, as he tells the story, and their daughters, Julie and Tricia, went out one evening to the nearest drugstore to buy school supplies for the girls who were returning to school. As they stepped onto the sidewalk—it was almost dark—a passerby spotted Nixon and soon a line of 10 or more autograph seekers had formed. As the last one came up and Nixon signed, he looked first at the signature and then at the former vice president and said with frank disappointment:

"Aw, I thought you were a movie star."

HAVING BEEN for eight years the No. 2 man in Washington and before that a senator and highly controversial member of the House who made himself a figure known around the world, Nixon is campaigning as though he were running for sheriff. And his biggest problem is how to get the attention of the people of California who are pre-occupied with their own problems and with the problems related to this state's fabulous growth and who seem on the whole contented with the relatively high prosperity prevailing here.

Now and then when he has the right kind of audience Nixon delivers a homily on the importance of government and the need for men and women able and willing to carry the load. But if, as he tells them, the public's business should be everybody's business they are apparently paying very little heed to his admonition.

IN THE NOW widely accepted technique of go out and find 'em, Nixon is making the rounds of the shopping centers. You see him in a big Montgomery Ward's in the Honor Plaza Shopping Center in Orange County. Followed by a train of teen-agers, a few stray dogs and some admiring adults, he makes his way from counter to counter.

"Who is it?" people inquire as he is surrounded by his followers. "Why it's Richard Nixon."

THE MAN who made world headlines by his encounter with Premier Khrushchev in the kitchen of the American exhibit in Moscow stops at the wig counter.

'SO I'LL CHOP A HOLE TO LET THE WATER OUT'

Cynthia Lowery

Berlin Tunnel Story Fictionized

NEW YORK (AP)—Amid the international hullabaloo over NBC's plans to show a film about a Berlin escape tunnel, CBS (which dropped its show on the same subject after a nudge from the State Department) can feel a little smug.

But Robert E. Costello, producer of CBS' "Circle Theatre," now in its sixth season, is feeling vindicated. He is preparing a "dramatized documentary" on tunnel escapes from East Berlin for broadcast Nov. 7, and nobody has any objections to a fictional treatment of an explosive, delicate subject.

The producer has in recent seasons been growing increasingly restive about the way CBS treated the program.

"SEVERAL YEARS ago, before CBS plunged into night-time public affairs shows—before the Federal Communications Commission became so interested in public affairs shows—the network seemed thrilled with what we were doing, let us alone and permitted us to do what we wanted."

This halcyon period came to an end when CBS took away Douglas Edwards, a staff news reporter who had been doing the narration on the shows, on the ground, Costello said, that the network news department had no control over the content of the show.

"Then the squeeze started," he continued. "On several occasions we were told we couldn't use a person on our show—we wanted Adlai Stevenson to talk about slavery under communism for one show. We couldn't. When we wanted to do a story about corruption in one particular city police department, we found ourselves harassed and hamstrung in a vague area of program practices."

"CIRCLE THEATRE'S" problem has many facets. First, the show is the product of an outside packager (Talent Associates). Most important, it is in a programming never-never land—based on truth but often dramatized with considerable license to cover a lot of ground and to make an entertaining story.

We aren't going to see slim Mary Tyler Moore, who plays the wife in "The Dick Van Dyke Show," running around the house in slacks much longer. It seems that a financially interested party to the show has passed down the word that, although housewives do wear pants a lot in some effete sections of the country, most women stick to skirts, and suggests that if Miss Moore does too, it will be easier for the average homemaker to identify with her.

Recommended weekend viewing:

Tonight — "Sing Along with Mitch," NBC, 8:30-9:30 Eastern Daylight Time—Salute to Hawaii.

The Beam In Thine Own Eye

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Those who are happy themselves, psychologists have found, are best at judging correctly the qualities of others. The unhappy man tends to see his own faults in the other fellow.

Women, generally, are also better than men at sizing up other people. Exception: Love blinds them to what's wrong in their own husbands.

Many doctors now agree that the first signs of an approaching illness often show up in a dream, long before the actual physical symptoms appear.

An old ruling in Washington, D.C., made it illegal for a man to marry either his grandmother or his mother-in-law.

Our quotable notables: "The more a man knows, and the farther he travels, the more likely he is to marry a country girl"—George Bernard Shaw.

During the 18th century, homes of the European wealthy often had two tubs in a bathroom—one for washing with soap, the other for rinsing it off.

Fewer than 10 per cent of those who diet to lose weight manage to keep it off. The simplest way to keep your weight constant is to cut down the amount of food you eat one per cent each year after the age of 25.

Can you name the only man who signed these four crucial documents in early American history—the Declaration of Independence, the U.S. Constitution, treaty of alliance with France and treaty of peace with England? He was Benjamin Franklin.

The Journal of the American Medical Association notes: "Scientists now tell us there are 1,600 things a married man can worry about; a bachelor has only 1,100 things to worry about."

Paper money was invented by the Chinese, but the world's most highly valued notes are those of $100,000 denomination issued by the U.S. Treasury and bearing the portrait of President Woodrow Wilson.

There is poetry in words. Our words muscle comes from the Latin term "musculus," meaning "little mouse," for the ancients truly observed our muscles move like little mice beneath the rampart of our skin.

A whale can dive a mile beneath the surface. A dog's noseprint is as individual as one of your fingerprints. Ants will eat practically anything people will.

It was Oscar Wilde who observed: "We live in an age when unnecessary things are our only necessities."

Male Sterility Operation Not Always Perfect

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: My son-in-law had an operation several months ago so he and my daughter would not have any more children. His doctor has told him three times that he is sterile, but my daughter is now pregnant and he threatens her with divorce.—MRS. C. S.

That's one of the dangers of such an operation. It involves cutting or tying the vas or tube through which the sperm, or male reproductive cells, must pass. Usually it is completely successful—but...

The following possibilities may occur, however. First, there can be an accessory or extra passage, which is a quirk in development.

If this was not detected by the surgeon and closed off, a wife's pregnancy would be possible.

Second, there is a reservoir of sperm cells called the seminal vesicles. The cells can live there for several months and pregnancy could occur from that source even though the operation was successful.

Third, the pregnancy could have occurred before the operation.

The son-in-law, in this unhappy case, should be set right on these possibilities before he undertakes to destroy a marriage.

I've had a number of other questions on this same operation—called a vasectomy. "Does it affect one's health, or sexual desire, or make the man effeminate?" one person asked. The answer is no.

In fact, aside from the inability to reproduce, there is absolutely no detectable difference.

Another question: "Is it legal in the state where I live? And who should I see about having it done?" Ask your doctor, because he will know whether it is legal in your particular state.

I try never to mention this operation without emphasizing the danger of changing your mind about it later.

I know beyond doubt that this happens because I keep getting letters from readers saying, "We have changed our mind now and would like at least one more child. Can the operation be undone?"

Perhaps at times it can, but success is entirely unpredictable. In many instances there is no possibility of undoing what has been done. It should therefore be regarded as a step from which there is no turning back afterward.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the difference between a migraine headache and just a regular one?—N. R.

Which kind of "regular" headache? For there are many kinds. Your question, you see, isn't as simple as you thought. I've tried to round this up briefly but intelligibly in a booklet, "How to Tame Headaches." This devotes a good bit of space to migraines, among others. The booklet is available in return for stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling costs. Address requests to Dr. Molner in care of The Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Molner: My 12-year-old daughter has a yellowish vaginal discharge. I have taken her to doctors but nothing helps. Could a small suppository do the trick?—MRS. J. J.

The cause must be determined. It could be infection, or a fungus, or even possibly a foreign body. Smears, cultures or direct examination should reveal the cause. Have you taken the youngster to a gynecologist? Suppositories are merely a means of conveying medication. You have to know what you are treating before you can choose the right medication.

The Angry Myth

One of the fallacies to come out of the race riots at Clinton and Little Rock has culminated in two murders at Oxford, on the Old Miss campus.

The myth grew up among the more rabid segregationists that the "Yankee press" was painting distorted pictures of the South's racial troubles, that the wire services were Yankee-controlled, and that many Southern newspapers published these distorted views along with all the Yankee papers. The same charge was made against radio, television, newsreel and magazine reporters.

THE STATE OF MIND of the extremist does not allow for an objective reading of the news; he automatically rejects anything that does not fit his own pet theories; any other, though unbiased, factual reporting, is regarded as "distorted."

Most Southern newspapers took a dim view of the extremists and, along with the wire services and other major media, reported the events as honestly as they knew how. Many if not most Northern news media handled their stories objectively, although in all fairness it must be pointed out that some Yankee publications certainly do have distorted opinions of the South and act accordingly. (Not that some Southern papers aren't just as contrary.)

COVERAGE of the Oxford riots was almost entirely in the hands of Southerners. They came from Memphis, Dallas, Houston, Jackson, Little Rock, Nashville, New Orleans, Baton Rouge, Mobile, Atlanta. These were the men representing the wire services, magazines, a nd broadcasting media. In addition, there were staff members from individual newspapers, also mostly Southern.

There was a sprinkling of non-Southerners, only a few of whom properly could be called Yankees.

THE STORIES were written by men who know and are of the South. Their stories, in essence, were representative of Dixie's moral viewpoint, a factor reflected in the editorial pages of the vast majority of Southern publications.

Yet, the extremists believed their own myth, took vengeance on the newsmen at Ole Miss, severely beat several reporters, smashed equipment, and murdered two men.

I only wish General Lee could have been called back from the place where his spirit resides, and had been given command at Oxford. There would have been a polite and civilized request to the citizens to retire to their homes; but when the shooting started, he would have run down every last one of the fanatics.

AS HIS KINSMAN, through family tradition I know he would have felt about our modern fanatics just as he felt about those of his own day. Southerners are and always have been among the most decent of people, and this fact is reflected in the accurate reporting and editing of racial stories in the Southern press.

Of course, there are and always have been the other breed. There was a time when the gentle class kept the rednecks in their place. If this still were true, two reporters would still be alive.

Time To Stand Up For Grace

In the United States, the guardian of the weak and the friend of the oppressed everywhere, getting ready to abandon to the tender mercies of French customs officials and tax collectors a beautiful representative of American womanhood, Princess Grace of Monaco, nee Kelly of Philadelphia?

IS THERE no chivalry in government? Is Washington going to turn its back on this lone girl fighting so valiantly for home, for country and chemin de fer?

First things first. It is high time the Kennedy Administration quit fooling around in odd corners like Laos and Vietnam, which are halfway round the world, and began to concentrate on Monaco, which is just across the pond.

ARE THE STATE and Defense departments prepared to face the consequences if we refuse to help brave little Monaco in her undeclared tax war with France? Can we afford to let Monaco seek aid of the Soviets? Russian roulette, indeed! Russian Bank has long since infiltrated Monte Carlo, preparatory to the big takeover. Enough said! We must not waver!

Most of us Americans, no matter how much we read, can't tell who's on first in Vietnam, much less Laos. But we all know Princess Grace, the home girl who made good in Hollywood and is now playing the palace circuit in Europe.

IT IS HIGH time that Foggy Bottom addressed a note or an aide memoire to Gen. Charles de Gaulle, telling him to pick on someone his own size. Some one should tell the general for his own sake that no man ever really wins a fight with a pretty woman.

What is needed now is a show of strength to reinforce Princess Grace's hand, which has been pat so far. What she needs is a Foreign Legion, preferably from Las Vegas.

On the other hand, there is a fighting motto that might raise an ever larger levy of troops, i.e., "Tax Dodgers of the World, Unite. You Have Only Your Shirts to Lose." For years Monaco has been a haven for men and women who entertain an indignant antipathy toward payment of taxes in the United States, Argentina, Belgium, Canada or any other global point they call home.

THESE EXPATRIATES feel such repugnance toward paying their fair share of the tax load in their native lands that they are willing to sacrifice their personal comfort and live in Monaco, where the livin' is easy, the tax burden nil and the money piles up.

If General de Gaulle should really get tough and send a dozen of the Garde Mobile over the border into Monaco, these tax dodgers, American division, would first flee home for protection and then clamor for Uncle Sam to arm the Monagasques and support a counter-attack.

IT IS ONLY fair to point out that Monaco existed as a tax haven long before Princess Grace mounted the throne. Furthermore, blood is thicker than bacarat. She is one of us and we cannot let her down.

So my final proposal is one in which all Americans can participate. Remember Bundles for Britain! As of now, I am organizing a campaign that can be called either Moola for Monaco or Packages for the Princess. It will enable all of us to clean out the attic or basement while simultaneously warning General de Gaulle to stop pushing around the American Dream Girl. Who does he think he is? Cary Grant!

Monroe Doctrine Has Been Scuttled

WASHINGTON — What really is the policy of the Kennedy administration in relation to the Communist occupation of Cuba?

The President has not made it clear on the stump. Nor has the Department of State made it clear in its public statements.

But the Soviet government on its part has made very clear what has happened to America's historic policy known as the Monroe Doctrine. Here is a news dispatch by United Press International a few days ago from Moscow:

"THE KREMLIN Sunday listed Premier Fidel Castro's Cuba among the Communist nations for the first time and gave it precedence over Yugoslavia and Communist China in listing the traditional slogans for the 45th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution on Nov. 7."

For all practical purposes, the Soviet government has set up its system in Cuba and transformed that country into a Communist colony.

President Kennedy has made no public protest to Moscow. Nor has Congress done so. The resolution adopted by both houses merely cautions the Communists not to carry out any armed attack or military offensive against any other nation in this hemisphere. It's apparently all right for them to keep on doing what they have been doing in Cuba. No steps are indicated to prevent the Communists from carrying on their activities in other parts of Latin America unless they try to use armed force to achieve their ends.

THUS HAS the Monroe Doctrine been scuttled. Communist activity—and even the Communist takeover of any other Latin American country—is, in effect, sanctioned today by U. S. policy. Only it must not be done by military means.

Actually, the Soviets didn't openly assist in the military operations that set up the Castro regime in Cuba in the first place, but now they have supplied 5,000 military men to help Castro maintain himself in power.

AS LATE as April 1961, the Kennedy administration was willing to help by military means the Cubans who tried to liberate their homeland. But after the expedition was bungled and the President at a crucial moment withheld military air support, the administration retreated still further by declaring publicly it will intervene only if Cuba attacks some other country. The Communist occupation of Cuba is, therefore, accepted by the State Department just as the Berlin "wall" was accepted.

There is, of course, an appeasement faction in this country which has a considerable influence with President Kennedy. This school of thought insists that the Monroe Doctrine isn't "international law," or that it has become outmoded because the United States has from time to time stationed troops in Southeast Asia and in Western Europe and in Korea.

BUT IN EACH case the United States had taken the measures of military defense at the request of the existing governments or by an agreement of allies. The Soviet Union can contend that it is doing the same thing in Cuba. While this may satisfy Moscow's policy makers, it doesn't diminish or modify the responsibility of the United States under the Monroe Doctrine. This Doctrine was recognized explicitly in the covenant of the League of Nations as international law by agreement. The covenant was ratified by most of the nations of the world, including the Soviet Union, and the Monroe Doctrine is as much a part of international law today as any regional arrangement. In fact, the charter of the United Nations explicitly recognizes regional arrangements as not in conflict with its own purposes.

WHAT HAS actually happened is that the United States government has retreated before the world and given up that section of the Monroe Doctrine which commits this country to resist any attempt by European powers "to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere."

This means that, in the face of the Soviet occupation of a country only 90 miles away from our shores, the United States government acquiesces in such an encroachment on the Monroe Doctrine by the Soviet government. Thus, as Winston Churchill once said, surrender or unwillingness to fight for what is right when the military odds are in one's favor leads eventually to a big war in which the risks are greater and the involvement is far more dangerous. The Cuban policy of the administration is properly an issue for speakers in the current congressional campaign.

Golden Anniversary Is Noted By K. Schaedels

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Schaedel of Brownsville are here to observe their 50th wedding anniversary with their son, Henry A. Schaedel, and family at 1702 Alabama. A family dinner is planned for Saturday at the Cosden Country Club to mark the occasion. The Henry Schaedels and daughter, Lynn, and the Karl Schaedels of Beaumont with son, Keith, are expected to be present.

MR. AND MRS. KARL SCHAEDEL

The couple has lived in the U. S. for the past 40 years. They were born and reared in Germany. Married at Bremen, Germany Oct. 19, 1912, he served his country during World War I, and it was soon after that he and his wife came to America. They lived for a brief period of time in Chicago, before going to Brooklyn, N. Y., where their son, Henry, was born. Later they moved to New Jersey. Mr. Schaedel was employed there with General Chemical Co until his retirement. Now Mr. Schaedel is a citrus grower and shipper of the Rio Grande Valley.

Night Out Is Dinner Plan

A "Night-Away-From-Home" was the plan of the Forsan Study Club when members entertained their husbands with dinner and games at the Cosden Country Club Blue Room Thursday evening.

A Halloween theme was used in table decorations combined with various fall flowers. Mrs. Bill Conger was mistress of ceremonies.

Mrs. L. B. McElrath conducted games. The committee arranging the affair was composed of Mrs. Leo Parker, Mrs. Glyndol Snodgrass and Mrs. Darrell Flynt. Forty were present.

The next meeting will be held on Nov. 1, 7:30 p.m. at the Forsan High School music room.

Chaplain Hope And Family Will Visit

Lt. Col. Holland Hope, Army Chaplain, Mrs. Hope and their son, Wyatt Ralph, are expected here Saturday for a visit in the home of her sister, Mrs. Fred Beckham. The Hopes will also visit her father, I. W. Ramsey, in Westbrook.

The Hopes have just returned from a four-year stay in Germany, with the U. S. Army where he has served as a paratrooper with the special forces group. After their visit here the family will reside in Clarksville, Tenn., where he will serve at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

Old Town Has An Old Grave

GREENUP, Ky. (AP)—The grave of the first settler born west of the Allegheny Mountains is at Old Town in Greenup County. Mrs. Lucy Virgin Downs was born near Uniontown, Pa., in 1769. She lived in Old Town for about 40 years before her death in 1847.

COAHOMA EVENT

Police Work Discussed For Mary Jane Club

Activities and responsibilities of the police were discussed by Big Spring police department members for the Mary Jane Club of Coahoma Thursday morning at a meeting in the education building of the Presbyterian Church.

Patrolman Sam Fryer presented the film, "Signal 30," showing actual pictures of automobile accidents in which fatalities occurred.

Capt. Walter Eubanks took narcotics as his subject, and with the aid of slides illustrated the various types of narcotics. In breaking down the methods for procuring drugs illegally, Capt.

Eubanks said 50 per cent, smuggled in; 25 per cent, obtained in robberies; and 25 per cent, through forged prescriptions. He also showed the film, "Seduction of the Innocent," which deals with the beginning of drug addiction in young people.

Refreshments were served from a table, covered with white cut-woven linen and centered with an arrangement of gold and bronze chrysanthemums. Appointments were of milk glass and silver.

Thirteen members were present with the guests, Mrs. Ray Swann, Mrs. Charles Read, Mrs. Ed Carpenter, Mrs. Allie Rae Adams, The Rev. Jack McClendon and the two speakers.

The next meeting will be held on Nov. 1 in the home of Mrs. James Coats. The group will have a crafts day program and a covered dish luncheon.

Sidewalk Show Is Club Plan

Las Artistas Art Club, Thursday night in the studio of C. D. Reeder, made plans for a sidewalk show Nov. 10, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Chairman for the show, to be held on the east side of the Court House, is Flynn Wright, who will be on duty all day Saturday.

The sidewalk show, an informal affair, is planned to acquaint and interest the public with work being done in the area. Artists or craftsmen may submit as many entries as they wish, setting up their own displays and being responsible for them. There will be no judging of entries or awards given. Anyone is eligible to exhibit—it is not limited to art club members or Big Spring painters.

Further information may be had by calling Mrs. Don Bohannon or Mrs. Bill Unger.

New members, Flynn Wright and Mrs. Don Hale, were introduced. Also presented was an associate member, Mrs. J. R. Howard Forsan.

After the business session, members and a guest, Bennett Brooke, began the weekly workshop. Linda Carter was model.

Work Day Is Held By A SS Group

Quilting was done by the Hannah Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church Thursday at the church. A quilt was made for a needy family. Also four quilts were packaged and mailed to the Baptist Children's Home at Round Rock.

Luncheon was served to 20 members and two guests, Mrs. F. W. Bettle and Mrs. E. A. Rogers. Mrs. Bettle gave the invocation.

Afterward officers were elected, with Mrs. W. A. Stall named as president; Mrs. Irene F. McKinley, vice president; Mrs. C. S. Berryhill, treasurer; Mrs. B. H. Tingle, secretary and recorder. Installation will take place in the home of Mrs. J. E. Brown, 1906 West Oct. 25 at 7:30 p.m. The next meeting will be held at the church, Nov. 15.

Patrol leaders were named and projects discussed Wednesday when 14 members of Girl Scout Troop 336 met at the Wesleyan Methodist Church with their leaders, Mrs. Dean Forrest and Mrs. Dudley Jenkins.

During the business hour announcement was made of the WSCS becoming sponsors for the troop. The girls also talked of new projects on which to work. Elected leader of patrol No. 1 was Jan Forrest, with Virginia Jenkins as her assistant. Patrol No. 2 elected Patricia Macklin, leader, and Karen Butz, assistant.

After touring the church and Sunday School departments, Gwen Bonner and Karen Butz served refreshments.

Gold Star Mothers Plan Apron Sale

Gold Star Mothers were guests in the home of Mrs. F. H. Talbot Thursday morning. Seven members were served refreshments, preceding a brief business session.

Officers were re-elected to serve the ensuing term, and an apron sale planned for increasing funds to be used in VA Hospital work.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Domingo Abreo.

Travis Averages Maverick Loss

SNYDER — Snyder Travis gained revenge for an early season defeat at the hands of the Big Spring Goliad ninth graders by winning a 20-6 decision in the rain here Thursday night.

Goliad lost golden scoring opportunities on two occasions by yielding fumbles inside the Travis ten. When the game ended, the Mavericks were on Travis' two-yard line.

Danny Kirby scored Goliad's lone touchdown in the third on a 32-yard run.

The defeat left Goliad with a 3-2 won-loss record for the season.

Terry Smith, a fullback, looked outstanding on offense for Goliad while Robert Gentilli, Gary Phillips and Ronnie Caldwell stood out on defense.

Halfback Gary Earhart re-injured his ankle in the game and may be lost to Goliad for some time. Tackle Eddie Crittenden developed a blood clot in his leg and also had to go to the hospital.

Nat'l Rating Due A Major Shakeup

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's only one thing certain about this weekend's major college football games: There'll be some changes made.

Four of the nationally ranked teams test each other in a couple of Saturday games that could have a vital bearing on the No. 1 spot in the nation, the Southwest Conference title and the Big Ten championship.

Those match seventh-ranked Arkansas against top-dog Texas at Austin and sixth-ranked Ohio State against No. 8 Northwestern on the Buckeyes' home field.

Since it figures that someone is going to lose in those two, the national rankings are due for a shakeup for the fifth week in a row.

Mighty Alabama, edged out of the No. 1 spot this week, is counting on just that—a shakeup—in its hopes to regain the top spot. But to do so, Bear Bryant's defense-minded Crimson Tide has to get past Tennessee, which is much tougher than its 0-3 record would indicate.

That one is due for regional television coverage, as are Oregon (3-1) at Air Force (3-1) and Rice (0-2-1) at Southern Methodist (0-3).

The weekend program opens to-night with Maryland (4-0) at Miami, Fla. (3-1). It features a clash of two of the nation's top quarterbacks, George Mira of Miami and Maryland's Dick Shiner.

Other games Saturday involving nationally ranked teams include California at third-ranked Southern California, No. 4 Louisiana State at Kentucky, No. 5 Mississippi vs. Tulane at Jackson, Miss., No. 9 Washington at Stanford and Iowa at No. 10 Wisconsin.

The Texas-Arkansas affair figures to be the big one. Should Arkansas pull off the upset (Texas is favored by 5½ points), the Razorbacks would appear to be in good shape to claim a fourth straight title. They were co-champions last season.

The Ohio State-Northwestern clash at Columbus shapes up as scoring circus. Ohio State (2-1) owns the nation's best ground attack and Northwestern (3-0) claims the best passing attack. The Buckeyes rank as a one-touchdown favorite.

Alabama (4-0) the defending national champion, will need a decisive victory over Tennessee to regain the top spot, and Tennessee has long been an Alabama jinx when playing on the Vols home field.

Southern California (3-0) doesn't expect major trouble from California (1-3).

Louisiana State (3-0-1) is a 14-point choice over Kentucky (1-2-1), and Mississippi (3-0) is a similar pick over winless Tulane (0-4).

Washington (3-0-1) is favored over Stanford (2-2). Wisconsin (3-0) is a narrow favorite over Iowa (2-1).

Other major games include: East-Virginia Tech at Army, Navy at Boston College, Richmond at Boston University, Harvard at Columbia, Holy Cross at Dartmouth, Villanova at Delaware, Rutgers at Lehigh, Syracuse at Penn State, Brown at Penn, UCLA at Pittsburgh, Colgate at Princeton, Cornell at Yale.

Midwest — Colorado at Iowa State, Oklahoma at Kansas, Illinois at Minnesota, Oklahoma State at Missouri, Kansas State at Nebraska, Michigan State at Notre Dame, Michigan at Purdue.

South—Georgia Tech at Auburn, Duke at Clemson, Vanderbilt at Florida, Florida State at Georgia, North Carolina State vs. Southern Mississippi at Mobile, South Carolina at North Carolina.

Odessa Holds Decided Edge

Until Big Spring broke the drought with a resounding 28-13 victory last year, Odessa High had won 14 games in a row over a period of 20 seasons from the Steers.

The Longhorns have edged the Red Hosses only twice in history. The first time the two clubs ever met, back in 1939, the Steers made off with a 7-0 victory. The two clubs played a scoreless tie the following year.

Rickey Wisener (11) of Big Spring appears to have out-maneuvered Midland Lee's Dan Harris in the above picture, taken during the Steer-Rebel football game here last Friday. Wisener played a leading role in Big Spring's 19-7 victory. He's the Steer quarterback.

victory in an 8 o'clock game here tonight with the bruising Odessa Bronchos.

A wet field — it rained much of yesterday — would seriously handicap the resident eleven. The Bronchos averaged just at 190 pounds per man on the line and boast a 195-pound fullback in Gary Howell.

The Steers average only 178 pounds up front. Coach Don Robbins figures to pass a lot but the Steers may have no choice but to stick to the ground if the field is wet.

Each team boasts a 2-2 won-loss record. The Steers have bumped Plainview and Midland Lee and have lost to Snyder and Wichita Falls.

Odessa has trounced Lubbock High and Abilene Cooper and dropped relatively close decisions to Amarillo High and Borger.

Howell and quarterback Billy Parks do most of the ball carrying for Odessa. Howell has lumbered across for four of the Bronchos' seven touchdowns. Parks scored on two occasions while halfback David Matejovsky got the other one.

Overall, the Odessans have made 44 first downs to 47 for the opposition, 489 yards net rushing to 575 for the foe and 112 yards passing to 177 for the enemy.

They've thrown only 15 passes in the four games and completed six of those. Two of their touchdowns have come on aerial bombs.

The Steers, who don't lean upon one man as the Bronchos do Howell, have made 48 first downs to 44 for the foe, 635 net rushing yards to 497 for the enemy and 453 passing to 186 for the opposition.

Their total gains would be 1,068 yards, compared to 683 for the enemy.

Big Spring has completed 25 of 69 passes, the opposition 15 of 46. Coye Conner apparently has won a starting berth at end for Big Spring. No other changes were foreseen by the coaches.

Big Spring has defeated the Odessans only twice in history. Against Cooper last week, Parks attempted only three passes but completed two of them for 84 yards and one touchdown. He scored another on a one-yard dive play.

Odessa held Cooper to 33 yards rushing and five first downs.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

In 26 games involving local football teams from the varsity Steers down through the eighth grade contingents at Goliad and Runnels junior high schools, the provincials have registered 18 victories, compared to only seven defeats and a tie, Thursday's results excluded.

The city's two most successful teams have been the eighth and ninth grade clubs at Runnels. Coach Dan Lewis says he has his finest ninth grade team at Runnels and those who have seen the Yearlings play are inclined to agree.

The Yearlings play for keeps. They like to hit. The talent runs deep, too. There's quite a football revolution going on here.

Chuck Moser, the former Abilene coach who is now director of athletics in the public schools there, has been quoted as saying that Mike Love, the Permian fullback, is a better football player than was Byron Townsend, the Odessa High great of the '50s.

Some may disagree, pointing out that Townsend led the Bronchos to a state championship. However, I'll go along with Chuck. Mike can do more things than Townsend did. And he's about as valuable on defense as he is on offense. Without him, Permian probably wouldn't win half its games.

Rival coaches in District 2-AAAA can thank their lucky stars that Love completes his eligibility this season.

Age-wise, Mike could have played another year for the Panthers. He's only 17, won't be 18 until November.

Mike is the son of a football player. His father, Herbert Love, now minister of the Coahoma Church of Christ, was a guard-fullback on some of Eck Curtis' better teams at Ranger years ago.

Mike was born in El Paso, lived here for about three years when very young. He started the first grade in Odessa, however. When the family resided here, the father was minister of a Church of Christ at Fourth and Benton, where Coker's Restaurant is now located. That church has since moved to Birdwell and 11th Place.

Mike has been a rugged physical specimen ever since he was a toddler.

On some of his first report cards brought home to his parents, Mike's teachers wrote, in substance, "Mike plays very rough and hard with the other kids, without trying to be vicious."

He was quite a Little League star a few years ago but later gave up baseball to concentrate on football and track.

Quite probably, he will wind up at Abilene Christian College, although a lot of pressure will, no doubt, be put on him to attend classes elsewhere. He may study for the ministry. He has every intention now of trying it with the pros, however, if they want him.

Mike's parents have seen him play only twice this year and, in both instances Permian got beat.

A. G. (Barney) Barnard, who captained the visiting team to victory in the last Cosden Cup golf matches at the Big Spring Country Club, stays busy each fall officiating football games.

He'll be in Denver City this weekend for the Denver City-Spur game.

Barney says one of the most improved clubs he's seen is Fort Stockton, which knocked off Monahans last week.

Barney says he makes reasonably good money officiating football games every fall but doesn't know whether it's worth the worry. Coaches, pressured by their superiors and fans alike, are making it increasingly tough on the arbiters.

Barnard recalls that when he first started in the business, coaches of both teams in a game were inclined to drop by after a game and offer thanks for his efforts. Now, it is very rare when either mentor takes the trouble.

Pender Says He'll Quit Ring Soon

NORTH FALMOUTH, Mass. (AP) — Paul Pender punctuated preparations for the Nov. 2 defense of his partial middleweight crown today by announcing he'll retire after three more fights.

The outspoken ex-fireman, who once condemned the fight game and said he tolerated it strictly for the money, risks his share of the 160-pound crown at Boston Garden against unbeaten Jose Torres next month.

"Just three more bouts, and I'll quit," said Pender, 23, as he honed his sharp left hand at his Conamasset Golf Club training camp. "I'll fight Torres, the winner of the Gene Fullmer-Dick Tiger match (next Tuesday) and then one more.

"And that'll be that. This is no way to live. A man can't be away from his family for two and three months a year and like it. Boxing has been good to me, but you have to know when to quit.

"Before I do, I want that single-title bout with Fullmer or Tiger. There shouldn't be any trouble getting it either.

"What's held it up so far has been television. Sponsors won't televise any title fight this year, but it should be different next year."

Pender really wants Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, in the postponed middleweight showdown because Paul still feels he beat Gene seven years ago in Brooklyn, N.Y., despite the fact he suffered a broken right hand.

Goliad Defeated By Travis Club

Goliad's eighth graders, despite a second half surge, yielded a 22-6 football decision to Snyder Travis here Thursday evening.

In the second quarter, Goliad drove to Travis' one-foot line but couldn't score. Travis led at half time, 22-0.

Following Travis' goal line stand in the second, a Snyder player broke loose on a 99-yard scoring jaunt. Paul Waggoner scored late in the fourth period for Goliad from the 30-yard line.

Standouts for Goliad, in addition to Waggoner, included Don Jones, Kirby Horton and Johnny Arrick.

Elbow, Gay Hill Teams In Split

GAY HILL—Basketball teams representing the Elbow and Gay Hill elementary schools split a doubleheader here Thursday night.

The Elbow boys won, 37-22, after the Gay Hill girls had prevailed, 26-11.

For the Elbow boys, Ray McKinnon counted 25 points while Jack Ellis had six. Glendennin and Foster each tallied six for Gay Hill.

Claudia Davis scored eight for the Elbow girls. Murphy tallied 13 and Strum 12 for Gay Hill.

The four teams play again next Thursday at Elbow.

Crane Invades Stanton Tonight For Big One

STANTON — Biggest crowd of the 1962 football season is due to gather here tonight, when the two favorites for the District 7-AA championship, Stanton and Crane, tangle at 8 o'clock.

Crane brings a 3-3 won-loss record to Stanton. In their last start, Dan Anderegg's boys walloped Wink by a score of 35-12.

The Golden Cranes have played most of their season without their star quarterback, Calvin Kirkham, who has been favoring an injury. Kirkham is almost sure to be ready tonight, however.

Stanton will have a decided weight advantage. The Buffaloes boast one of the biggest lines in West Texas.

This will mark the first time Stanton has competed for the 7-AA championship. Last year, the Buffaloes were in 3-AA.

Stanton has won three of its five starts and has looked outstanding on occasions. Fort Stockton, an AAA school, beat the Buffaloes in 3-AA.

Crane's wins have come over Plains, Rankin and Wink. Stanton has humbled Merkel, Coahoma and Seagraves.

Porkers Get Chance To Lash Top Club

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Arkansas will be trying to perpetuate a jinx that has hovered over Southwest Conference football for the last 20 years when the Razorbacks clash with Texas at Austin Saturday night in the big game of the season.

History records that each time a conference team was rated No. 1 during the campaign it got upset. Texas of 1941, Southern Methodist of 1950, Texas A&M of 1957 and Texas of 1961 all gained the No. 1 rating and they fell almost as soon as they got it.

Texas of 1941 was tied by Baylor and beaten by Texas Christian and knocked out of the top rating and the Rose Bowl. Southern Methodist of 1950 was whipped by Texas. Texas A&M of 1957 fell before Rice. Last year Texas was kicked from its perch by Texas Christian.

This time, however, it would not be regarded as a tremendous upset should Arkansas take down Texas because the Razorbacks are undefeated and untied and generally conceded to have a stronger offense than the Longhorns. But Texas has just been rated No. 1 and Arkansas is No. 7 and it would have to be an upset.

The Texas-Arkansas clash, due to draw almost 65,000 into Memorial Stadium, heads an all-conference schedule Saturday.

Rice and Southern Methodist, each winless for the season although Rice has one tie, open the conference race at Dallas Saturday afternoon.

Texas A&M, winner of the only conference game it has played, couldn't get across the double stripe.

In the first period, Rannels drove 47 yards in 11 plays for a TD. Joe Jaure pushing eight for the tally. Rey Navarette added the two extra points on a run.

In the second, Jaure returned a Lakeview punt 55 yards for a touchdown and Sammy Mims ran the two extra points.

Again in the second, Mims intercepted a Rocket pass and returned it 35 yards to Lakeview's 25, only to see his team penalized 15 yards. Undaunted, the Yearlings scored four plays later when Jaure passed to Tony Saracho for 20 yards.

Lakeview pushed across a touchdown in the fourth but it was whipped Southern Methodist 10-0 last year when SMU was a stronger team than it is now but Rice also was better. It has been five years since Texas A&M beat Texas Christian. Last year the Frogs came through 15-14.

Three out of five last week out the average. Here they are this week:

Texas-Arkansas — Texas is too tough defensively and has the kicking to back it up, so it's Texas by the skin of its teeth.

Rice-Southern Methodist — an SMU victory would be no upset but it doesn't seem to be in the books.

Texas Christian-Texas A&M — The Aggies can't handle Sonny Gibbs' Texas Christian by a couple of touchdowns.

Baylor-Texas Tech — Baylor's passing will carry it through.

A combination eighth and ninth grade football team representing Rannels Junior High downed Big Spring Lakeview, 22-0, in a game played on a muddy field here Thursday night.

The game will go into the records as a win for the eighth graders.

The Yearlings did all their scoring in the first half. Lakeview had several chances to tally but couldn't get across the double stripe.

In the first period, Rannels drove 47 yards in 11 plays for a TD. Joe Jaure pushing eight for the tally. Rey Navarette added the two extra points on a run.

In the second, Jaure returned a Lakeview punt 55 yards for a touchdown and Sammy Mims ran the two extra points.

Again in the second, Mims intercepted a Rocket pass and returned it 35 yards to Lakeview's 25, only to see his team penalized 15 yards. Undaunted, the Yearlings scored four plays later when Jaure passed to Tony Saracho for 20 yards.

Lakeview pushed across a touchdown in the fourth but it was called back due to a rules infraction.

Near the end of the game, Lakeview recovered a Rannels fumble on the Yearling three. The Rockets tried to punch it in, only to lose seven yards in the next four plays.

Both Rannels teams play Snyder Lamar clubs next week.

Bob Pratt Leads Ontario Field

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — A newcomer to golf prominence, Bob Pratt of Las Vegas, Nev., led the way today into the second round of the $25,000 Ontario Open with a one-stroke lead.

Pratt, 25, former Houston University amateur, shot a 5-under par 66, the lowest competitive round of his life, scoring 31-35 for the par 36-35-71 Whispering Lakes Golf Club.

Jerry Steelmink, Glendale, Calif., was in second place with a 35-32-67, while Bob Goalby and Canada's George Knudson were tied at 68, each with 34-34.

The 69 group included Jack Fleck, Charles Sifford, Sam Carmichael, John Ruedi, Tony Lema and Al Geiberger.

San Francisco Is Favored To Win

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Balance, the name of a forecaster's existence, has begun to show itself in both the National and American Football Leagues. It is now time for the femme fatale to enter — namely, Lady Luck.

Injuries may have a definite bearing this week on success or failure of the Green Bay Packers and New York Giants while the return of absence of end Del Shofner and questionable status of halfback Paul Dudley, plus Lions' big defense will be the difference.

Philadelphia over Washington — King Hill takes over quarterbacking for Eagles, whose ground offense showed signs of reawakening despite drubbing by Dallas last week. Norm Snead may be running out of miracles and Philly's fierce desire to win to keep glimmer of title hopes should make the difference.

Pittsburgh over Dallas — This may be the Steelers year and running of John Henry Johnson and Joe Womack. Bobby Layne's quarterbacking, plus that huge defense too much for Cowboys. Baltimore over Chicago — Lenny

Moore is back at flanker for the Colts and quarterback Johnny Unitas is back in the groove with his passing. These two, plus improvement of Tom Matte and R.C. Owens, too much for Bears.

Cleveland over St. Louis — Jimmy Brown will play with a sore wrist but even the Browns have more all-around talent than do Cardinals, who again go with soph quarterback Charley Johnson.

Los Angeles over Minnesota — Rams at home and Jon Arnett back for full service means end to five-game losing streak Vikings also 0-5, improving but will have to wait for another day.

NFL
San Francisco over Green Bay — Packers are expected to be without halfback, place kicker and top scorer Paul Hornung because of an injured knee. After 13 consecutive victories, including a toughie and a breeze in last two games, Packers could fall to momentum 49ers have gained from running of J. D. Smith and Bill Kilmer and passing of John Brodie.

Detroit over New York — Not by much but absence of end Del Shofner and questionable status of halfback Paul Dudley, plus Lions' big defense will be the difference.

Philadelphia over Washington — King Hill takes over quarterbacking for Eagles, whose ground offense showed signs of reawakening despite drubbing by Dallas last week. Norm Snead may be running out of miracles and Philly's fierce desire to win to keep glimmer of title hopes should make the difference.

Pittsburgh over Dallas — This may be the Steelers year and running of John Henry Johnson and Joe Womack. Bobby Layne's quarterbacking, plus that huge defense too much for Cowboys. Baltimore over Chicago — Lenny

Moore is back at flanker for the Colts and quarterback Johnny Unitas is back in the groove with his passing. These two, plus improvement of Tom Matte and R.C. Owens, too much for Bears.

Cleveland over St. Louis — Jimmy Brown will play with a sore wrist but even the Browns have more all-around talent than do Cardinals, who again go with soph quarterback Charley Johnson.

Los Angeles over Minnesota — Rams at home and Jon Arnett back for full service means end to five-game losing streak Vikings also 0-5, improving but will have to wait for another day.

AFL
Boston over San Diego — This American Football League game tonight will keep Patriots in thick of Eastern division fight while Chargers' youth policy may backfire.

Buffalo over Oakland, Saturday night — New Oakland Coach Red Knigkright finds out what Marty Feldman knew all along. Raiders still aren't able to compete with more established clubs. Bills big win over Chargers last week finally got them untracked.

Denver over Houston — The Broncos' Frank Tripucka has supplied all the offensive answers so far and the defense has been exceptional. Return of Billy Cannon to Oilers' backfield will make it tougher.

Dallas over New York — The Texans Len Dawson and Abner Haynes should romp over the Titans bedraggled defense.

Cubs Edge Fish
WACO (AP) — A 76-yard drive that ended in a touchdown with a minute and a half left to play gave the Baylor University Cubs a 10-7 victory over Texas A&M freshmen Thursday night.

Rigney Named Pilot Of Year In Jr. Loop

INDIAN WELLS, Calif. (AP) — There was a tinkling of cocktail glasses and happy talk in the background as Bill Rigney was called to the telephone in the lounge of the Indian Wells Country Club.

The call advised Rigney that he had been named the 1962 Manager of the Year in the American League in the annual poll by The Associated Press.

The vote was overwhelming for the pilot of the Los Angeles Angels, whose third place finish this year might be termed the critics' No. 1 conservation of the year.

They had overwhelmingly picked Rigney's Angels to finish well in the second division in this, only their second year in major league baseball.

Of the 108 votes cast by members of the Baseball Writers Association, 80 went to the Angel skipper.

Sam Mele of the second place Minnesota Twins was second, with 25, and Ralph Houk of the World Champion Yankees was third with three.

The reaction of Rigney, who is playing here in the annual major league ballplayers' golf tournament, matched the merriment in the background of the lounge.

"Naturally," Rigney led off, "I am very honored. I can only say at first that there are other managers in the league. Sam Mele, Houk—who deserve this honor as much as I do."

"A lot of our managers did remarkable jobs, so I am particularly happy and pleased. I feel wonderful."

Throughout the season Los Angeles baseball fans and writers used such adjectives as "amazing" and "astounding" for the Angels, and "remarkable" was the favorite for the 43-year-old Rigney.

For the remarkable actually led the league on the traditional July 4, they were still tough and in contention by Labor Day.

In the final two weeks Los Angeles trailed off and wound up 10 games behind New York and five behind Minnesota.

Yes, said Rigney, the 1962 Angels were indeed an inspirational team.

Boykin Agrees To Be Envoy To Washington

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Rep. Frank W. Boykin, D-Ala., has agreed to be Alabama's Washington emissary.

He made the announcement to about 300 Mobile businessmen Thursday night at a $12.50-a-plate banquet honoring him with a "Mobile Citizens Award."

His announcement came only a few hours after he was arrested in Mobile on a federal conspiracy indictment returned at Baltimore, Md.

The indictment charged the congressman with conflict of interest and conspiracy. He posted $10,000 bond.

Boykin appeared jovial and relaxed at the white tie affair and referred only jokingly to the indictment. He says he is innocent and that he has no doubt but that he will win in court.

Boykin was presented with a 10-foot tall plaque which read in part:

"Be it known that the honorable Frank W. Boykin, having enshrined himself in the hearts of Mobilians and all Alabama, the constituents of these do endorse and present him this first and only Mobile Citizens Award in testimony whereof and as evidence that all are in agreement of the deservedness of this award, we the undersigned do attest."

The plaque was accompanied by a 40-foot scroll signed by about 2,000 persons.

Gov.-nominee George Wallace asked Boykin to serve as emissary after his defeat in a congressional race.

Boykin was retired to private life earlier this year in a low-man-out congressional race. Alabama chose this system of reducing its House membership from nine to eight in keeping with the 1960 census.

Boykin was dean of the Alabama congressional delegation, having served in the House since 1935.

Four Men Die When Autos Meet Headon

ELECTRA (AP)—Four young men died as their car and another collided head-on in the north edge of Electra Thursday night.

Police Chief Jack Green said their auto veered to the wrong side of State Highway 25 for no apparent reason. The other driver suffered critical injuries.

Green identified the dead as Larry Davidson, 22, and Maurice Hobb, 18, both of Electra; Eddie Yount, 22, of Rawlins, Wyo., and Darrell Switzer, 22, of Stillwater, Okla.

Officers said Yount and Switzer were believed to have been working for Goodman Construction Co. of Denison. The firm is building rural electric lines near here in Northwest Texas.

Moon Rocket Attempt Fails

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The United States' third straight attempt to scout the moon by television has failed—possibly because of damage to the Ranger 5 lunar rocket by radiation from recent high altitude nuclear blasts.

The 755-pound camera-toting spacecraft, launched Thursday from Cape Canaveral, Fla., ran out of electrical power eight hours and 44 minutes later.

Scientists said this meant it would be unable to correct its course and would miss the moon by 300 miles.

It also meant Ranger 5 would not be able to operate its television camera nor to land a quake-measuring device on the moon's surface.

Pasadena's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which built Ranger 5 and is tracking it through space, said the spacecraft apparently failed to draw electrical power from its wing-like solar panels to operate its instruments.

WENT DEAD
 Its only source of power then was a small reserve battery with a life of eight to nine hours. That battery went dead just as scientists were trying to command the spacecraft to fire a small rocket that would re-aim it at the moon.

Cause of the failure of the solar power system was not announced, but there was unofficial speculation by some space experts that the craft's delicate solar cells could have been damaged by radiation from recent high altitude nuclear blasts over the Pacific.

"It's too early to say what went wrong," a laboratory spokesman said. "We may never be sure. All we know at the moment is that the spacecraft failed to get power from its solar panels."

CRASH-LANDED
 Ranger 4 crashed landed on the back side of the moon last April but failure of a timing device prevented it from sending back television pictures.

Ranger 3 gathered too much speed at launching last January and missed the moon by 22,000 miles. Rangers 1 and 2 were test vehicles not aimed at the moon.

Four previous moon shots, in the Pioneer and Able programs, failed in their missions to rocket a payload to or around the moon.

With each Ranger launch running about $16 million, total cost of the nine failures was estimated to exceed $150 million.

DELAY FORESEEN
 A source at Cape Canaveral said the sixth Ranger spacecraft, scheduled for launching in January, probably would be delayed while the string of failures is studied.

If all had gone well, the Ranger 5 would have taken more than 100 pictures of the moon Sunday morning at a distance ranging from 2,600 miles down to 15 miles.

At that altitude it was to have ejected a balsawood cushioned capsule designed to crash land on the moon and record moonquakes and meteor hits for about a month.

Without electrical power on board, Ranger 5 cannot eject the capsule. Instead, scientists said, the spacecraft will shoot past the moon and go into an orbit around the sun.

A small radio transmitter in the capsule that was to have landed on the moon is still operating. For practice, scientists will track this signal as far as they can but it is not designed to carry much farther than the quarter-million-mile distance to the moon.

Cities May Tip Scales In Election

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas' big population centers may tip the balance in the Nov. 6 general election, and neither the Republican nor Democratic state chairman is hesitant about claims on the powerful areas.

The only agreement between the chairman—Ted Smith for the GOP and Eugene Locke for the Democrats—is that Republicans are strong in Harris and Dallas counties.

"He is in better shape than any Democrat running against a Republican in a hotly contested race in the last 10 years," Locke said at a news conference to questions about chances of the party's nominee for governor, John Connally, in Dallas county.

Asked if he thought Connally will carry the county, Locke replied: "I wouldn't say that."

Smith predicted that Jack Cox, the GOP candidate for governor, will take Dallas by a "sizeable margin."

"We are in better shape than a month ago," Locke said of Harris County. "It will be one of our tough counties. We hope to carry it but I don't want to make any predictions."

Smith predicted Cox will take Harris County "by a big margin."

Locke said Connally and his Democratic running mates will win in El Paso and Bexar counties. Smith asserted the GOP will take Bexar County by "an edge."

Smith said Cox and Des Barry will be elected by carrying at least 25 of the largest 35 counties. Berry is GOP nominee for congressman-at-large.

Locke said the vote will be close in many South Plains and West Texas counties. Smith included several of these—Lubbock, Ector, Midland, Tom Green—in the GOP column.

Locke said that the larger the vote the better off Democratic candidates will run. Smith said Cox will win regardless of whether the total is 1.5 million votes or 1 million.

It happened 100 YEARS ago

The oldest incorporated trade association in the country, the United States Brewers Association, was organized in 1862... the same year that

IN TEXAS... a new governor, Francis Richard Lubbock, guided a bankrupt state through that bitter Civil War year. Cotton, exported through Mexico, brought desperately needed foreign gold. Homefront industries were established. Comforts were few, but morale stayed high... and there was good Texas beer, enjoyed then as now.

For then, as now, beer was the traditional beverage of moderation—light, sparkling refreshment that adds a touch of Southwestern hospitality to any occasion. Texans have always enjoyed the good fellowship that goes with every glass.

TODAY, in its centennial year, the United States Brewers Association still works constantly to assure maintenance of high standards of quality and propriety wherever beer and ale are served.
